Reagan Visits With Gandhi

CANCUN, Mexico (AP) — President Reagan, arriving in Mexico for the first summit conference of 22 nations rich and poor, held diplomatic talks on sensitive issues Wednesday with India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and China's new leader, Premier Zhao Ziyang.

The president also conferred with Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo, host of the meeting on this Yucatan Peninsula resort island.

Reagan and Zhao met for about 90 minutes, discussing differences over proposed U.S. weapon sales to Taiwan, according to a senior administration official. Zhao accepted an invitation to visit the United States sometime next year, said the official, who declined to be identified.

In his meeting with Mrs. Gandhi, "there were frank exchanges" over India's concern about growing U.S. military ties with Pakistan, including a proposed sale of F-16 fighter jets to Pakistan, the official said.

The sessions marked Reagan's first meetings with the Chinese and Indian leaders.

On the eve of the conference's formal opening, the official made it clear that the Reagan administration opposes an Austrian proposal to create a "Marshall Plan" of massive assistance for the Third World.

The official said the United

Diamond Jubilee Issues Available

A historical edition of The Hereford Brand, the Diamond Jubilee newspaper published Aug. 23, 1973, will be available for 50 cents a copy at The Brand office as long as they last.

Readers who were not in Hereford at the time, or those who did not save a copy, might be interested in having this "collector's item."

The Brand printed a number of extra copies of that edition and they have been kept for historical purposes. The 140-page issue includes many pages of history and old photos concerning Deaf Smith County.

Since The Brand will be moving to its new building in the near future, we are hoping to sell the remainder of the issues rather than move them.

A few copies of the Brand's Recipe supplements of 1978, 1979 and 1980 are also available at 20 cents each. The supplements have many good recipes contributed by local cooks. All these issues are on a first-come basis; no telephone orders, please.

It's "Mighty Maroon Week" in Hereford and we welcome all Hereford High exes back for Homecoming festivities! Mayor Bartley Dowell has proclaimed "Mighty Maroon Week" in a salute to the undefeated Whiteface football team, other teams now in action, and all the spirit groups at HHS who support the athletic program in such a fine manner.

One of the moving forces behind the special week was the Band and Orchestra Booster Club. The members have been active this season with a number of activities, including passing out balloons to Herd fans last week at Plainview.

We encourage Hereford fans to support the Mighty Maroon Band as it goes to the contest in Canyon Saturday in quest of its 24th consecutive Sweepstakes Award!

To those exes who have not seen a game this season, we want to let you know you'll see a Whiteface team that is well-coached, well-conditioned, well-trained and a close-knit group that is not over-confident.

If you get worried about the score in the first half, just remember that the opera is not over until the fat lady sings!

One more note on the thrilling victory at Plainview last week: It seems the Plainview newspaper published a photo which, they indicated, showed pass interference against Hereford that was not called.

The sports writer at Plainview called the photo to the attention of Coach Don Cumpston, who had remembered seeing the play on the game film. He ran it back in slow motion several times, and the flash of the camera could be seen in the film. The flash occurred, however, as the ball bounced off the intended receiver's hands, which would indicate the hit was made after the ball arrived.

It was much ado about nothing, but you can't blame the Bulldog fans for looking for reasons they lost. You can always look back and say, what if...but, the score is still, 9-6 and Hereford won.

One of our Brand staff members has been nominated for inclusion in the forthcoming Who's Who of American Women. That's a nice honor, but what really makes this noteworthy is that the nominee is Mauri Montgomery.

If you don't know Mauri, he is a member of our advertising sales staff, a former sports editor, and a former standout middle guard for the Hereford Whitefaces. Those folks in Chicago must think the name Mauri sounds feminine!

If it wasn't for the honor of the thing, Mauri had just as soon forget the whole matter!

Homecoming Hopefuls

One of these HHS beauties will be crowned the 1981 Homecoming Queen tomorrow. Vying for the title are seniors (seated from left) Sharon Skaggs, Brenda Straffuss, and Brenda Garcia. Attendants are junior Stephanie Foster (kneeling left) and sophomore Dana Cab-biness. The Queen will be crowned at a pep rally tomorrow afternoon, and she will be presented, along with her court, prior to the football game that evening. (Brand Photo by Kelly Cherry).

Homecoming Queen Coronation Friday

By LAVON NIEMAN
It seems that "Maroon Madness" has seeped into every home, school and business in Hereford this week as the entire town prepares for homecoming and the all-important football game against the Monterey Plainsmen Friday night.

Mayor Bartley Dowell proclaimed Oct. 19-24 "Mighty Maroon Week" as a commendation of all the performers who have so well represented Hereford High School this year. Everyone is urged to wear maroon Friday.

The three homecoming queen candidates have been chosen by the student body at HHS and the winner will be revealed at the pep rally which has been set for 2:15 Friday at the HHS gym.

Queen candidates are Brenda Straffuss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Straffuss; Sharon Skaggs, daughter of J.R. Skaggs; and Brenda Garcia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Garcia. Junior class attendant is Stephanie Foster. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Foster. Chosen from the sophomore class is Dana Cabbiness, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cabbiness.

Due to a district ruling about crowning queens during the half time show, there will be a pre-game ceremony beginning promptly at 7:10 p.m. The queen and her court will be presented. While on the field, the Mighty Maroon Band will play the school song and the national anthem.

The homecoming parade will begin at the east parking lot of HHS at 3 p.m. Friday. It will continue down Union to Avenue F; down F to Park Avenue, then to Avenue B and Main Street where it will turn and continue down Main Street. It will disassemble at Second and Sampson.

There will be approximately 40 entries in the parade. All classes are entering floats, along with various organizations. Also scheduled to be in the parade is the giant bull from the Big Texan Steak House in Amarillo, fire trucks, the homecoming queen and her attendants, cheerleaders with the victory bell, bands from HHS, Stanton Junior High and LaPlata Junior High and the HHS drill team, flag corp and pep squad.

Kick-off time for the big clash with Monterey will be 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Walcott School Census Higher

The Walcott Independent School District has experienced a 10 percent increase in enrollment this year with 46 students enrolled at the school as of Oct. 1 according to superintendent Eddie Derr.

Derr made his report to the WISD school board at their regular meeting Tuesday evening. The WISD had 42 students at this time a year ago, and the prospects for even more growth is evident.

"Our projection for kindergarten students shows that we will gain 11 students next year, and I can see where our enrollment will get up between 55 and 65 students and level off," Derr said.

To help prepare the quality education WISD students receive each year for those students growing up in the area, the school board appointed a local accreditation committee at their meeting Tuesday.

According to Derr the committee will "assess and establish the educational philosophy" for the school district, looking at strengths and weaknesses within the system, pointing those areas out, and then setting prioritized needs for the district.

The accreditation process is one every school district goes through Derr said, and is done on a five-year cycle.

Those named to the accreditation committee included Gaylon Jack, Phyllis Boston, Mike Brumley, Linda Brown, and Jan Perrin.

In other action, the board appointed the textbook selection committee for 1981-82. Derr will chair the committee, which will also consist of Cindy Feldman, Ms. Boston,

After Brinks Robbery

Underground Members Face Charges

NANUET, N.Y. (AP) — Two members of the radical Weather Underground of the 1960s were identified Wednesday as being members of a gang accused of killing two policemen and a guard in a $1.6 million robbery from a Brink's armored car.

They were identified by authorities as Katherine Boudin, 38, who disappeared after a bomb factory in New York's Greenwich Village blew up 11 years ago, and Judith Clark, 31, who served time for a conviction involving disturbances in the 1969 "Days of Rage" in Chicago.

Miss Boudin, Miss Clark and two men were seized when their getaway cars were stopped at a roadblock that was set up after the shootout with three Brink's guards Tuesday afternoon, police said.

One Brink's guard was killed and two wounded in the first shootout and two police officers were killed and one wounded in a second exchange of fire at the roadblock. All the suspects have been charged with murder.

Between two and four more suspects were sought, among them the men who killed the policemen with a spray of automatic rifle bullets.

Rockland County District Attorney Kenneth Gribetz said fingerprints revealed the woman who gave her name as Barbara Edson when she was arrested after Tuesday's holdup actually is Miss Boudin.

FBI spokesman Joe Valiquette in New York said the bureau had determined that Miss Clark was the same Judith Clark who once was in the Weather Underground and is now a figure in the Socialist Workers Party.

Meanwhile, New York City police and the FBI said one of the getaway cars used in the robbery was traced to Eva Rosahn, who was arrested recently in a violent demonstration at Kennedy International Airport against the South African Springboks rugby team. Police said Ms.

Santa Fe Announces Closing of 11 Offices

By JERI CURTIS
Staff Writer

The establishment of a regional freight office in Amarillo will result in the closing of 11 Santa Fe agencies in the panhandle, including Hereford, railway officials said here Wednesday.

The Hereford station will remain open as a regional yard office staffed to support the regional office in Amarillo, as will Pampa, Dumas and Canadian.

Agencies being completely absorbed are Friona, Bovina, Kings Mill, Panhandle, Elter, Stratford and Kerrick.

At the Hereford meeting Wednesday, B.K. Perry, assistant general manager in Amarillo, explained that instead of customers doing rail business at the stations, they will place car orders via a toll free telephone number.

Perry said the method would actually increase service, since the small agencies have a limited staff and are only open eight hours a day. The Amarillo office will be open round the clock.

Through the telephone, Perry said, the shippers will have a direct contact to the computers which locate and assign rail cars throughout the district. He said response time will be quicker and efficiency would be greatly improved.

"It might keep rates from going up," Perry told the group.

Total implementation of the computer system is expected in six months to a year, maybe longer, according to Perry.

He said the same managers and administrators in Amarillo would remain in charge when the system is installed and no local agents would be out of a job.

Hobby Pushing For His Plan

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby says he has no idea how many Republicans and Democrats his proposed Senate redistricting plan would elect but he is almost certain it would produce the first black senator since 1973.

Hobby said he hopes the five-member Legislative Redistricting Board will approve his plan — instead of one to be offered by Comptroller Bob Bullock — when it meets Sunday.

Bullock, who ends treatment for alcoholism in California on Friday, is expected to recommend a plan that would pair two senators in East Texas and two in West Texas.

Hobby's plan, released at a news conference Wednesday, creates no districts where two senators would run for the same seat in next year's elections.

Liberal Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas, and George Korbel, attorney for Texas Rural Legal Aid, a Mexican-American organization, immediately criticized the lieutenant governor's redistricting plan.

South Texas and West Texas districts would resemble

Appraisal District To Meet

The Deaf Smith County District Tax Appraisal Board will take action on bids for paving the district's parking lot, and will consider action on a computer for the office as well when they meet at 7:30 tonight in the board room at 402 W. Fourth.

Also on the agenda are a report by chief appraiser Fred Fox, ratification of bills through Oct. 15, and a review of the district's current budget.

Members of the district board include James Gentry, Dan Hall, Melvin Jayroe, Bruce Coleman, and Frank Zinser, Jr.

Search for Escapees Moves to North Texas

CLEBURNE, Texas (AP) — A search for three men who escaped from a Texas Department of Corrections unit in Madison County has moved to North Texas after police said an Irving man identified one of the men as a gunman who stole his car near here.

Johnson County Chief Deputy Larry Young said the victim identified the escapee as the robber after seeing a photograph released by the prison system Wednesday afternoon.

Young said the man told officers the man, who had two accomplices, threatened him with a .38-caliber pistol in the restroom of a roadside park about 12:20 a.m. He said the man and two accomplices took the victim's car, his checkbook, and his wallet, which contained $35.

Jury to Determine Damages In Case

CINCINNATI (AP) — A federal jury, which ruled an Indianapolis, Ind., developer wrongfully used development plans of a Dallas, Texas, developer for a $40 million skyscraper must now determine damages.

Judge Carl Rubin set Nov. 16 for a second hearing in U.S. District Court for the jury to consider the demand of $8 million by B.W. Morris, president of Unit Inc., against the Hunt Development Co.

The jury ruled Wednesday that plans, analyses and drawings provided by Morris were used by Hunt without proper compensation to Unit.

The 20-story Atrium One, completed recently in downtown Cincinnati, is the new headquarters of Cincinnati Bell Inc.

Morris, who maintains a Cincinnati office, said he worked for the development of the project expecting to be paid $8 million, or half the profit for the development.

Morris claimed David Warner, president of Hunt, agreed to an oral contract but never followed through with a written contract which Morris said Warner had promised.

Armstrong Sets News Conference

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong scheduled a news conference today, presumably to announce for governor in the Democratic primary election next May.

Armstrong, 48, would be the second Democrat to announce for governor. State Sen. Peyton McKnight, D-Tyler, told the State Democratic Executive Committee on Saturday he would seek the party nomination.

Gov. Bill Clements, who in 1978 became Texas' first Republican governor in over 100 years, has said he will announce for re-election in November.

Other possible Democratic candidates include former Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Attorney General Mark White and former Attorney General John Hill, who lost to Clements three years ago.

Armstrong defeated incumbent Jerry Sadler for land commissioner in 1970, tailoring his campaign to attract the conservationist vote.

Armstrong, a lawyer, had served in the Texas House. In 1976 and 1980 he was co-chairman of the Jimmy Carter campaign in Texas.

One Killed, One Injured In Refinery Fire

PORT ARTHUR, Texas (AP) — A flash fire ignited in a Gulf Oil Refinery here Wednesday afternoon, killing one man and injuring another, company officials said.

Killed was Gavin O. Comeaux, 60, of Port Arthur. Mike Watkins, 19, of Vidor was listed in stable condition late Wednesday night at Baptist Hospital in Beaumont with first- and second-degree burns.

The fire broke out in a de-coking unit, which separates petroleum from coke, according to Gulf spokesman Jim Gatton. Gatton said it was unknown what set off the blaze.

The blaze started about 2:40 p.m. and was extinguished by company firefighters about an hour later, said Gulf spokesman Mike Kumph.

The extent of the damage was not immediately known.

Talking Change

Mayor Bartley Dowell, left, and Dennis Wosnitzky, Continental Grain, listen to B.K. Perry, center, explain the agency changes anticipated by Santa Fe Railway. Perry, asstant general manager, Amarillo, was in Hereford Wednesday to inform rail customers and civic leaders of the new system which will close all agencies in the panhandle.

Paul Harvey News Tax Cuts Hurt

President Reagan, having won budget and tax cuts, is now setting about to cut some costly, cumbersome government regulations.

Each government regulation was enacted in the first place to please somebody, but the resultant intrusion and enforcement of this snooper-ism costs everybody.

Possible cutbacks include such regulations as:

The one which says schools must spend as much money on girls' athletic programs as on boys' athletic programs.

And the one which prescribes how much lead in gasoline.

And how far we should go in perpetuating specific species of fish.

Abraham Lincoln said that government should do for people that which has to be done and which they cannot possibly do for themselves and leave them otherwise alone.

What's being decided now is "that which has to be done."

That does not include protecting snail darters.

There is no way to cut a budget painlessly. Of course we are hearing some hollering.

Whether it's the federal budget or your family budget, when you tighten the purse strings - it hurts.

Murray Wiedenbaum, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, says the most a budget-cutter can hope for is "a uniform distribution of dissatisfaction."

Columbus, Ohio, is where the Beavers - grandpa and grandma Lutehr Beaver - have been selling drugs to customers who come to their house.

But they explain. They say their "Social Security income was not enough."

Social Security was never intended to be "enough."

Social Security was instituted in the beginning as "supplemental income."

Americans were expected to save and invest for their retirement. Social Security income was intended to supplement that.

But somehow since its beginning, politicians have misrepresented it to be a happy-ever-after for everybody.

That is why it is not able to live up to their promises.

That is why President Reagan is encouraging Americans who can and want to continue working past 65 to do so without penalty.

And that is why this President is allowing us to divert more of our tax dollars to private retirement plans.

On a related subject, Robert Orben has this reminder for President Reagan: "Be kind to retired people, Mr. President. Remember you were old yourself once."

Woman Arrested For Shoplifting

Hereford police arrested a woman for shoplifting Wednesday and are still investigating another shoplifting incident.

Officers report that the first subject took a wind-breaker from TG&Y and will be charged with theft over $5. The second subject left the store and a warrant will be issued for her arrest.

Police issued two traffic citations.

Hobby

ble those in the plan vetoed by Gov. Bill Clements. Most of the differences are in the eastern half of the state.

Key features of Hobby's plan include:

Creation of a minority district in Houston, where likely candidates would be Reps. Craig Washington and Al Edwards, both black Democrats. No incumbent lives in the district, and there has been no black senator since Barbara Jordan went to Congress in 1973.

"It is a reasonable assumption that we will have one black senator," Hobby said.

Establishment of a new 9th District containing Waco, southern Dallas County and the conservative Democrat farming counties of Ellis, Navarro, Henderson, Hill, McLennan, Limestone, Freestone and Falls.

A tighter clustering in Republican Sen. Betty Andu-jar's 10th District to "increase the voting influence of blacks and Hispanics."

Protection of all incumbents who plan to seek re-election from pairing with other incumbents. The district of Sen. Dee Travis, R-Garland, who plans to run for Congress, was combined with that of Sen. John Leedom, R-Dallas. In Harris County, the district of Sen. Walter Mengden, R-Houston, who is running for United States senator, was merged with GOP Sen. Mike Richards' district.

A deviation of no more than 1 percent from the ideal of districts of equal population.

Incumbents would not be running in 1982 in four districts - the Harris County minority district, the new 9th District, the 2nd District represented by Sen. Peyton McKnight of Tyler, who is running for governor, and the 10th District, whose Sen. Bill Meier of Euless is not seeking re-election.

Hobby declined to say what impact his proposal would have on the political party composition of the Senate, which now has eight Republicans and 23 Democrats.

"I don't know, and nobody else will know until November 1982," he told reporters.

Mauzy criticized the Hobby plan for giving liberal Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, the booming Republican suburbs centered on Round Rock in Williamson County. He said the move "doesn't make any sense" and would create problems for Doggett, "which may be the purpose of it."

Mauzy also said he could not understand why the district of labor-backed Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Wrthur, was extended into parts of Montgomery and Harris counties.

Korbel predicted Hobby's plan, if adopted by the board, would not gain the required approval of the U.S. Justice Department because, in his view, it weakens the political power of Mexican-Americans in Houston and in the South Texas district of Sen. John Traeger, D-Seguin.

"A number of fairly drawn plans drew a Hispanic district in Harris County," Korbel said.

In Traeger's district, he said, some areas with high Mexican-American concentrations were replaced with counties that "are marginal or low Hispanic."

"I think it was just a favor done for Traeger," Korbel said.

The board also must draw new House districts, replacing those struck down by the courts, by midnight Oct. 28. Hobby said Speaker Bill Clayton and Bullock will offer House redistricting plans.

Charges

Rosahn was being sought for questioning.

Another suspected getaway car was traced to an address in East Orange, N.J., where police found a 9mm automatic, shotguns, "bomb material, a bomb manual and floor plans of six New York police stations," New York City Police Commissioner Robert McGuire said.

McGuire emphasized that there was "no hard evidence that radical factions have joined forces" or that the Weather Underground has resurfaced to rob banks.

Walcott

Bernice Blasingame, Lavelle Bronniman, and Wally Feldman.

The board also cast equal votes for the board members of the Deaf Smith Tax Appraisal District. Receiving the votes were Dan Hall of Walcott, Melvin Jayroe for the City of Hereford; Frank Zinser, Jr. for the Deaf Smith General Hospital District; Bruce Coleman for Deaf Smith County; and James Gentry for the HISD.

The next WISD board meeting will be at 6 a.m. Nov. 16 at the school building.

Talks

States favors private investment to promote growth instead of a foreign aid plan such as that provided to Europe after World War II.

The gang members who escaped after Tuesday afternoon's robbery had to leave the money behind in six bags, according to Chiefs Thomas Coffey and Robert Schnakenberg, of the Nyack and Clarkstown police, who briefed reporters in Nanuet.

Gribetz said the other suspects identified themselves as James Hackford, 33, of New York City and a man who gave his name first as Solomon Quienes, then as Sam Brown, 41, no address.

Each was charged with three counts of murder, Schnakenberg said. He said, "There were" remarks by them at a.

He said he had no information about where Miss Boudin had spent the past decade and told reporters there was no information about whether the case might be related to political terrorism, although "we haven't ruled it out."

Miss Clark was arrested by the FBI on Dec. 17, 1970, at a movie theater in New York City on charges of crossing state lines with the intention of inciting and participating in a riot during the "Days of Rage."

Those riots followed the violent confrontations between anti-war demonstrators and Chicago police during the 1968 Democratic National Convention there. She served a short prison term in New York City.

Miss Boudin had been on the run since March 6, 1970, when she and Cathlyn Platt Wilkerson staggered naked from the blast-leveled Greenwich Village townhouse of Miss Wilkerson's vacationing father, James Wilkerson.

Clements Appoints Two Task Forces

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements has appointed two task forces, one to look into the problems of worker safety and another to investigate barriers faced by small businesses.

Clements on Wednesday named Richard McBurney, vice president of health and environment for Diamond Shamrock Inc. in Dallas, as chairman of the Task Force on Work-Related Accidents. Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, was selected vice chairman.

"More and more people are coming to Texas to work," Clements said. "The private sector and industry need to work together to insure the working environment is safe."

The governor has expressed concern about Texas' high rate of on-the-job deaths.

He made no other appointments to the task force Wednesday. The committee will develop "specific goals and objectives that both government and industry can use to aid in reducing the number of deaths and injuries that take place at work," according to a release from the governor's office.

The 15-member task force will report to Clements before Jan. 1, 1983.

Clements picked former Eagle Pass Mayor Arturo Flores as chairman of the Task Force on Small Business. Flores owns an import-export company.

No other appointments to the 25-member panel were announced Wednesday. The task force also will report to Clements before Jan. 1, 1983.

"Texas' population is going to increase about 50 percent by the year 2000," said the governor. "If this state is going to be as healthy economically in the future as it has been in the past, we have to show our support for the small businessman and the free enterprise system."

The task force will identify state laws and regulations which could hinder development of small businesses.

Presidential Assistants In Amarillo For Reception

Special Assistant to the President for Political Affairs, Lee Atwater, and Republicans Jim Collins, Walter Mengden, and Don Richardson will be in Amarillo, Saturday night at a reception at the Hilton Inn.

Lee Atwater will discuss the policies and goals of the Reagan administration and be available for questions about appointments. Atwater received his appointment from Reagan in recognition of his success on behalf of the Reagan campaign.

A native of South Carolina, Atwater worked as Campaign Director for Reagan in the primary in his home state. In the general election he served as Regional Political Director for Reagan-Bush in Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and West Virginia. Atwater now serves as Special Assistant to the President for Political Affairs, working directly under Lyn Nofziger. In this position he has played an important role in the selection of key administration officials and served as Political Clearance Officer for more than 2,500 key federal jobs. Lyn Nofziger has recently designated Atwater as the Administration's point man in the 1982 Republican Congressional campaigns.

Collins, Mengden, and Richardson will all be official candidates for the U.S. Senate seat in the Republican Primary as of Saturday. Congressman Jim Collins is presently serving his eighth term as the U.S. Representative from the Dallas area which makes up the Third Congressional District. He was first elected to Congress in a special election in 1968 and received almost 80 percent of the vote in 1980.

Collins serves on the Energy and Commerce Committee and is the Ranking Minority Member on its subcommittee on Telecommunications, Consumer Protection and Finance.

Senator Walter Mengden is serving his third term in the Texas Senate. He was elected to the Texas House of Representatives in 1970 and the Senate in 1972. His reelection to the Texas Senate in 1976 saw him receive more votes for state Senator than anyone in the history of Texas. He was re-elected without opposition in 1980.

As an elected Republican office holder, Mengden worked for Ronald Reagan in both the 1976 and 1980 primaries. Mengden is known as a champion of the Pro-family, Pro-Life causes and likes nothing better than to rattle liberal cages. This is illustrated by the fact that his floor speeches in Austin are regularly interrupted by heckling, jeering, booing and screaming liberals. He was named "The Most Outstanding Member of the Legislature" for both the 64th and 65th sessions by the Texas Lawman, the official publication of the Sheriff's Association of Texas. Mengden was also honored as "Law Enforcement's Strongest Supporter in the Senate" for the 66th session by the Texas Prosecutor, the official publication of the Texas District and County Attorney's Association. Don Richardson is a West Point graduate with a Masters Degree in Mathematics from Texas A&M, who has been in the computer science industry since 1959. He grew up in Dallas and entered the Army Air Corps in 1946 as an enlisted man. After two years of service he won a Regular Army appointment to West Point. After graduation from pilot training, he served seven years as a fighter pilot and spent three years with the Defense Intelligence Agency in Washington. During the Vietnam War he flew C-130 ferry mission to the Far East and in 1971 he retired as a Major from the U.S. Air Force Reserve. A fiscal conservative, Richardson is for limited government, private property rights, free enterprise, and a strong national defense as a safeguard for national security.

A reception for these men will be held Saturday, Oct. 24 at 7:30 p.m. in the Ballroom of the Hilton Inn. Anyone wishing to attend may make reservations by calling Christy Richardson at 372-6180. The charge is $10 per person. Refreshments will be served.

Now You're Cookin'

By LINDA CAUDLE
 Family News Editor

When the days start getting shorter, and there's a cool nip in the air, it seems the perfect time to start a fire in the fireplace and fill the house with the aroma of freshly baked cake.

Autumn and baking just seem to go together, says Mrs. Lois Lemons, a long-time resident of the Hereford area.

With four grandchildren, ranging in age from one to 10, who come to visit often, caramel corn and fresh baked cookies are favorites, especially in the fall.

Lois and her husband Edgar, who is a farmer, have lived in town for eight years. Before that, they lived about 16 miles northeast of Hereford. Their daughter and son, and their families, also reside in Hereford.

Although she enjoys the conveniences of living in town, Mrs. Lemons says that she does miss living in the country sometimes.

She and her husband are avid football fans, and traveled down to Plainview last weekend for the game there. They are looking forward to the homecoming game this weekend.

Mrs. Lemons enjoys cooking and baking, especially when the weather is cold, and she cannot be outdoors as much. "I like trying new recipes," she comments, and adds that many times she varies or adapts recipes.

For some dishes, such as her chili, she doesn't even have a written recipe. She says that she just adds "a little of this and a little of that until it's what I want."

Mrs. Lemons enjoys baking from scratch, and says she does more cooking from scratch than from prepared mixes.

She makes other things she makes with other people. She is actively involved in the ministry of First Baptist Church through volunteering her talents to help prepare meals for the families of someone who has died or is in the hospital.

She also helped with the Meals on Wheels program when it was active in Hereford.

Mrs. Lemons is a member of the Hereford Garden Club, and enjoys learning about planting, caring for, and arranging flowers. She explained that the club takes care of several rose gardens in town, including the one at First Baptist Church and the high school.

Next month the club will have a bazaar, where they will sell handicrafts and baked goods. Mrs. Lemons plans to help with the baking for this event.

The two cake recipes below are especially good in the fall. "Lots of people, especially children, don't think they will like cake if it contains pumpkin or carrot, but if they will try it, many times they really like it," comments Mrs. Lemons.

These cakes are moist and spicy, and go especially well with a cup of hot coffee or spiced tea on a cool autumn evening.

Also listed are two more of Mrs. Lemons' favorite recipes. The mandarin orange cake is a good choice when you're in a hurry, as it utilizes prepared cake and pudding mixes.

The chicken casserole is sure to be a favorite any time of year.

Film To Feature Joni Eareckson

"Reflections of His Love," a new film featuring Joni Eareckson, star of the film, "Joni," Eareckson, will be shown Sunday at the Dawn Community Center at 2 p.m. The film is being sponsored by the Dawn Baptist Church.

tian faith.

Joni is now a singer and an artist. She has produced a line of greeting cards and wall plaques which feature her drawings. She draws with a marker held in her mouth.

Since her accident, Joni has spoken at Billy Graham crusades, and co-authored several books. Recently she has devoted much of her time to special ministries for the handicapped.

Jim Hickman, pastor of Dawn Baptist Church, invites persons of all faiths to this free presentation.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

Now that women are making business trips, someone did a survey on who was missed the most when they went out of town. Men or women?

It came as a complete shock to me that overwhelmingly it was the man who missed the woman. Women loved the luxury of not having to cater to men's schedules. They could eat a bowl of popcorn for dinner, have onions on their hamburgers and paint their toenails in bed.

But the men said their loneliness had nothing to do with meals. It had to do with the companionship of having someone there at the end of the day, sharing what happened to them and providing a house bustling with activity.

I would have been willing to bet that my husband could watch me being eaten by a sofa and still remain silent.

I don't know how many of you are married to men who are non-talkers; but I learned early that my husband spoke only six words a day...none of them to me.

At first, I loved the strong, silent image. I told that to a tropical fish one day after I had tried to initiate a conversation with my husband for two days.

He is of the old school: Talk only when you have something to say.

I am of the popular school: Keep chattering and something worth saying might just come out and surprise everyone.

The other night my husband was following his flight pattern getting ready for his descent into the lounge in front of the TV set.

"Is there anything nicer than being home?" I chided.

"Ummmm."

"At least the luggage arrived with the plane."

"Ummmm."

"The mail really stacked up this time."

"Ummmm."

"Any news?"

"Ummmm."

"Exhausting trip."

"By the way," he said, "where did you go?"

"I didn't," I said. "You did."

See what I mean.

Large Group Of DCCW Meet Here

St. Anthony's Women's Organization hosted the 45th annual Diosesan Council of Catholic Women meeting in Hereford Tuesday and Wednesday.

The meeting was held at the Community Center. There were 247 women who attended Tuesday and 150 attended the Wednesday programs.

Theme of the meeting was "A Time to Rejoice."

Mrs. George Glover of Lubbock was awarded the honor of Woman of the Year. Msgr. Snyer presented her with a plaque and corsage. She received the honor in token for her many years of service to her parish and the diocese of Amarillo.

In 1920, the US Bishops, through the National Catholic Welfare Council, called a meeting to form a federation of Catholic women's organizations. The Bishops had seen clearly the service and accomplishments of Catholic women during World War I. So they organized the Council of Catholic Women.

Ann Landers

Listen To Father

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 22 and getting a divorce. My parents insist that I take half of everything my husband has. All I want is enough money to cover my lawyer's fees and custody of our two small children.

My father and I have had some very heated discussions over this. He despises my husband and says, "That dirty rat should be responsible for the support of his kids until they are of legal age, and unless the law makes him do it he won't give you one cent."

My husband loves his children and I'm sure he will support them whether it's in the divorce agreement or not. Everything is settled except the money part. My husband says, "Of course I'll do it but I don't want to be forced by law." My father's stubbornness on this point is making me miserable. All I want is OUT. The money part isn't important. Please tell me I am right.—Pennsylvania Heartache.

DEAR P.H.: Sorry, Lamb, you are wrong. If your husband is resisting "the money part" now, what makes you think he will be more generous in the future? A 22-year-old mother of two small children needs all the help she can get. Listen to your father. He is talking sense.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I quit smoking pot two months ago, and now I have a new lease on life! I gave up cigarettes 10 months before, but the smoker's cough hung on. Well, when I went off pot I got rid of more than just the cough.

All the years I was into grass I kept telling myself I needed it to help me relax. I now know this was not true. I was really hooked.

The first change I noticed when I stopped smoking pot was that I slept through the night—peacefully. No wild dreams. Second, my sex life

Thames Speaks On Drugs

Las Afflatus Estudio Club met in the home of Aileen Montgomery and Lucile Hughes Tuesday afternoon.

During the business meeting the club voted to take an offering during the month of November to send to Wichita Falls State Hospital Auxiliary to buy Christmas gifts for patients who have to stay there over the holidays.

Ms. Montgomery, president, conducted the business meeting. Della Stagner read the club collect and the roll call was answered with quips and sayings.

Pet Ott introduced John Thames, a local pharmacist, who spoke on the use of various drugs.

The club's next meeting will be Nov. 3 in the home of Pet Ott.

Other members present were Allyne Johnson, Madeline Bell, Alberta Higgins, Mary Williamson, Lydia Hopson, Gennie Terrell, Ora Morgan, Opal Elliston, Eva Gilliland and Presa Hale.

has improved a lot. My wife is thrilled with the "new me." The hacking cough is gone. I have a lot more energy and am exercising regularly which I never did before.

I used to think I was more creative when I smoked pot, but now I know I was like those people who think they can solve all the world's problems after a few drinks. I feel so much happier and physically fit. What a fool I was to have wasted all those years being a pot-head. Please tell everybody how much better life can be without all that junk.—Fit As A Fiddle In Lubbock

Stepdaughter Of Murder Victim Testifies Against Own Mother

By MIKE COCHRAN

Associated Press Writer

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — A state judge was expected to reject two critical defense motions today and continue testimony in the suddenly bizarre Vickie Daniel murder trial.

Visting Judge Leonard Giblin entertained motions this morning for a mistrial and an instructed verdict of acquittal in the slaying of former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr.

Attorneys said privately that they expected him to overrule both.

The case took an unexpected twist Wednesday with a series of disclosures surrounding the Jan. 19 shooting death of Daniel, 39, namesake son of a former Texas governor.

His widow, Vickie, 34, is accused of firing the fatal shot during a bitter brawl at the couple's ranch-style Liberty home.

Mrs. Daniel, while never denying she shot her husband, insists it was an accident.

In a stunning turn of events, Mrs. Daniel's 13-year-old daughter testified for the first time Wednesday that she saw her mother with a rifle and heard her twice threaten Daniel moments before the shooting.

She said she neither saw nor heard shots fired, but when the ambulance arrived that rainy winter night, she realized, "My Mama shot Price."

Kimberly Moore, Mrs. Daniel's daughter by an earlier marriage, said she saw her mother come out of the kitchen with a rifle after the couple had quarreled fiercely.

She said Daniel apparently was descending the steps of an attic stairwell with a small white paper sack when she heard Mrs. Daniel say:

"Put that sack down or I'm going to shoot."

Speaking in a whisper, her eyes clouded with tears, Kimberly recalled herself saying: "Please don't."

The next thing she heard, she said, was her mother again threatening Daniel.

"If you don't believe I'll shoot, I will," she quoted her as saying.

Kimberly said her mother told her to go to her room and shut the door. When she next saw Mrs. Daniel, she said her mother had a rag over her mouth.

DEAR LUB: I HAVE been telling them—for at least 15 years. Maybe you were too stoned to notice. Welcome to the land of the living and thanks for the testimonial.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Friday night four of us went to a nice restaurant for dinner. We are high school seniors, who behave like ladies and expect to be treated decently.

The food was terrible, the service was rotten and our table was by the kitchen. The waitress was downright rude. She tried to rush us out, even though she could see we wanted to stay and talk. Finally she said, "Others are waiting." We decided to leave her the kind of tip she deserved—four pennies. When she saw the tip, she ran after us, threw the pennies in our faces and yelled, "I don't take insults."

Was she wrong? Were we wrong? Please decide.—The Quads in Quad City

DEAR QUADS: You should have left nothing. The waitress' conduct was inexcusable. That restaurant doesn't deserve your business in the future.

Mrs. Daniel's lawyers endeavored to show on cross-examination that her slain husband's father and sister might have persuaded Kimberly to change her story. Kimberly said they did not.

Almost overlooked amid the courtroom motions and melodrama was the fact that the state, after little more than a week's testimony, rested its case. It called a total of 17 witnesses, but none like the final one.

Like she was sick?, a prosecutor asked.

"Yes," she replied. Mrs. Daniel told her to keep her two young sons by the slain speaker in their room, Kimberly said, but added that she saw her mother once more that night.

"I saw her kneeling at the foot of the attic stairs like she was praying," she recalled.

Relatives escorted the children to the home of Daniel's brother, Houston, later that night, and medical aides rushed the hysterical Mrs. Daniel to a hospital.

Later, at the hospital, Kimberly said her mother asked if she had told the couple's divorce lawyer, Andrew Lannie, about seeing her with the rifle.

The teenager said she had not.

"Why didn't you tell Andrew Lannie the truth?" a prosecutor asked.

"I was scared to," she whispered.

On both direct and cross-examination, Kimberly said her mother and Daniel fought at least three times that night and twice, "I shoved Price off her."

The defense pointed out major deviations from a sworn deposition Kimberly gave last March and asked specifically when it was she first told a portion of the new story.

"I believe it was when I went to take a lie detector test," she replied.

The defense, at the bench, moved at once for a mistrial, contending the polygraph reference was so damning in the minds of jurors that it could affect the outcome of the trial.

In many instances, the mere mention of a polygraph test is grounds for a mistrial under Texas criminal law. But it is not a hard-and-fast rule and judges may consider each case individually.

Energy Plans Vs. Public Lands?

NEA/Mark Gabrenya

This map shows the public lands administered by James Watt, the controversial interior secretary whose pro-development policies have made him a frequent target of environmental groups. Watt has announced plans to increase offshore oil drilling and to make more coal available for leasing; meanwhile, he wants to shift spending from the purchase of additional parklands to the maintenance of existing facilities. Critics see the fundamentalist Christian, politically conservative secretary as an avowed enemy of conservation who is willing to sacrifice the wilderness to business interests. Watt, in turn, labels environmentalists "a narrow special-interest group that deserves no special consideration."

Prevention For Pneumonia

Despite the advent of antibiotics, the 20th century "wonder drugs," pneumonia is the fifth most dangerous killer in the nation, says the Texas Medical Association (TMA). Death from pneumonia follows right behind the four major killers: heart disease, cancer, stroke and accidents. Among patients over 50, the death rate from pneumonia, is close to 50 percent.

Pneumonia is an infection of the air sacs of the lungs. It can be caused by many different viruses, bacteria, fungi, toxins and chemicals. The disease sometimes develops as a complication from a cold or the flu, and it even can be caused by inhaling noxious gases.

The most common form of pneumonia, pneumococcal pneumonia, is a potentially fatal type. The number of cases in the United States is estimated to be 500,000 a year. Of these, five to 10 percent are fatal, according to the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases.

However, the death toll from pneumonia has been reduced in the past three years, thanks to new pneumonia vaccines. Several million people have already received the vaccine since its introduction over two years ago. It has been shown to be 80 percent effective in preventing many types of bacteria pneumonia.

Vaccinations are recommended for use before the colds and flu season begins—usually during September and October, says Charles Webb, MD, chief of the Bureau of Epidemiology at the Texas Department of Health in Austin.

"The vaccine is recommended by the federal government for all high risk people," Dr. Webb says. "This includes the elderly, people whose spleens have been removed (and are therefore more subject to infection), those with chronic respiratory or heart diseases, diabetes, cirrhosis and Hodgkin's disease," he states.

The pneumonia vaccine has been recognized as an important preventive health measure, especially for the elderly. The federal government has recently made the vaccine one of the very few preventive health benefits that is covered by Medicare, making it more affordable for the older citizen.

Vicious Fire Ants Causing Problems in State

DALLAS (AP) — Almost like a biblical plague, vicious imported fire ants have begun building their foot-high nests above ground in order to escape from soil soaked by recent rains.

And, officials say, that makes it easy for people to stumble into them — with painful and possibly lethal results.

"They have a hell of a temper," Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown said Tuesday during a telephone interview from Austin, "and their sting can be life-threatening. We feel that some cases of heart attack may have come from fire ant stings."

Scientists believe 1 percent of the population could be killed by stings from the tenacious red insect that invaded this country from South America in the late 1930s, Brown said.

"They were introduced accidentally at Mobile, Ala., and now cover 230 million acres over nine southern states," Brown said.

The ants spread southwestward, covering 25 to 30 miles a year, Brown said, and reached Texas in 1956. Now they infest about 105 of the 254 counties in the Lone Star State, and are found as far west as San Angelo, the agriculture commissioner said.

"This year's outbreak is the worst ever in Texas, because of the rain," Brown said. "We have a real war here — and the ants are winning."

The commissioner added he's taking the threat personally.

"I was at the State Fair in Dallas last week and we had to move the speaker's stand because there were ants all over it," Brown said.

So far, four chemical control agents have reached the market place: Heptachlor, Mirex, Ferriamicide and AMDRO. But, Brown said, pressure from environmentalists led to the banning of the first two and Federal refusal to certify the third.

"We have to have an understanding by the public that we've got to fight these insects or they'll win," the agriculture commissioner said, "and we need a crash program of continued research to find a better way to control them," he added.

One researcher working on the problem is Texas A&M entomology expert Brad Vinson. He says the ants — known as "Solenopsis invicta" in scientific jargon — pack a double-whammy in their tiny stings.

"There is a potent alkaloid compound in their venom which causes pustules," Vinson said. "But they also have a protein that can cause anaphylactic shock in some people who are extremely sensitive to the protein."

The ants grab their victims with their jaws and then sting them repeatedly, said Mark Trostle, the fire ant specialist with the Texas Department of Agriculture in Austin.

Trostle recommends baking soda paste or perhaps a dab of chlorine laundry bleach to help ease the pain of the pustules caused by the ant stings.

But if the victim reacts violently to the protein in the venom, only hospitalization can save them, Dr. Vinson said.

But the ants pose other problems, too.

"They build mounds about a foot and a half in diameter and a foot high. When they dry out they get just like concrete and can damage agricultural machinery," Agriculture Commissioner Brown said.

Each year, the state spends hundreds of thousands of dollars to find ways to stop the pests that Brown said are spreading every day.

"We're putting about $200,000 a year from my department into research at A&M and the same amount at Texas Tech — and we're finding out more about the imported fire ant all the time," Brown said.

For one thing, scientists have learned that the ants spread by riding everything from wind currents to pickups.

"The males and females fly hundreds of feet into the air to mate," Dr. Vinson said.

The females then drift down, landing on the ground or on cars or trucks and eventually dig into the dirt and start a new colony. And evidence that the imported fire ants are hitchhikers can be found in the pattern of new mounds.

The U.S. Dept. of Agriculture and the Texas Department of Agriculture have both quarantined areas infested with the imported fire ants.

Shipments of nursery and floral stocks and heavy-duty earth moving equipment are supposed to be inspected to make sure the ants aren't spread, Trostle said. But a lack of personnel to enforce the quarantine, and the willful or ignorant lack of compliance with the restrictions has caused a problem, he added.

"They're still spreading. We've added five more Texas counties in the last month," Trostle said.

What can be done about the pest?

The only effective bait officials recommend is AMDRO, corn grit soaked with soybean oil and a slow acting poison. Since the ants are voracious eaters, they grab up the protein bait and take it back to the nest. There they feed some of it to their queen.

Aerial applications are the most effective, Trostle said.

"AMDRO can be dropped from an airplane, bounce three times and the ants grab it right away and haul it home."

While the time for results is estimated at two to six weeks, Trostle said it can work as fast as 48 to 72 hours.

Right now, the Texas Department of Agriculture is planning to provide financial help and expertise to treat counties with AMDRO.

With No Protection

Stolen Oil Guessed at 10 Percent

FLORESVILLE, Texas (AP) — Cattle stealing used to be a hanging offense on the Great Plains, but there's no way to stamp a brand on Texas crude, and modern-day rustlers are making off with thousands of dollars in "hot oil."

Some state regulatory officials estimate that 10 percent of all Texas oil being sold to refineries is stolen.

Other officials do not believe thievery is that widespread.

Willie Steed, director of regulatory enforcement for the Texas Railroad Commission, which regulates the oil and gas industry, said the 10 percent estimate "seems like a high figure."

"We pump a quarter million barrels a day. I just don't believe it's that high," he said.

Crude oil sits invitingly in unlocked tanks on remote ranches all over Texas, awaiting truck transport to refineries. Usually no one is on guard or even suspicious that oil is being stolen.

Authorities say much of the oil may be disappearing in water trucks which regularly drive on and off the oil leases to pick up the salt water that's pumped from the wells along with the crude. The trucks would find it easy to simply fill up at the oil tank instead of the water tank.

"One man can drive a 40-barrel vacuum truck right up to a battery (of tanks)," said Gene Wright, chairman of the theft control task force for the Texas Independent Producers and Royalties Owners Association, commonly called TIPROA. "He can walk right up the ladder and drop that thing (a vacuum hose) right into the tank and in 10 minutes, 15 at the most, he can have that 40 barrels loaded — and not spill one drop of oil."

Rail commission and oil industry officials say oil theft has become rampant. The Texas Rangers — who boasted "one riot, one Ranger" in early oil boom days — admit they have neither the manpower nor expertise to stop it.

State Rep. Tommy Atkisson, D-San Antonio, has called for a statewide investigation of the oil rustling and says the rangers and other investigators "are out there chasing bull elephants with fly swatters. The petro pirates are running over them with impunity."

Last May, 24 producers from 11 counties in south central Texas set up their own five-man private police force, the Giddings Oil Field Security Association.

The North Texas Oil and Gas Association at Wichita Falls is paying for special prosecutors to help district attorneys go after the thieves, executive vice president Tom Haywood said.

"This is the only way you're going to get anything done. This is where law enforcement is breaking down," Haywood said. "Over the years officers have gone out and they bring the evidence in and nobody gets prosecuted."

"So we're putting our money where our mouth is," he said. "We'll pay the bill for an attorney to come in and support (the district attorney) to frankly throw the guys in jail."

In addition, several Texas petroleum associations have set up a "hot line" to take reports of stolen oil and equipment.

A 1980 TIPROA study estimated anywhere from $10 million to $50 million worth of equipment and oil are stolen in Texas each year, but Haywood said those figures were way off.

"That estimate is a year old," he said. "Since that time, the number of calls coming on the hotline have made it clear that the theft of crude oil...is much, much more than anyone would have imagined six months ago...We're beginning to realize that many, many millions of dollars worth is being stolen."

There are just 91 Texas

Rangers. The railroad commission has 120 field investigators. Its district office in San Antonio has six field men for 43 counties.

These are reasons why rancher Jimmy Van Winkle of Wilson County spent $30,000 to hire Pinkerton detectives and attorneys last year when he suspected his oil was being heisted.

Van Winkle, 36, said he never suspected theft until some potential buyers from Maryland suggested his four wells should be producing more than the 80 barrels a day he claimed.

Van Winkle now is suing Petrolia Oil Co. of Birmingham, Mich., and Associated Services Inc. of Pearsall, Texas, for $360,000 worth of oil he alleges was stolen over three years.

He has check stubs showing how his production and royalty payments doubled last year, from 80 barrels a day and about $9,000 a month to 160-200 barrels a day and more than $20,000 a month, after he pressured Petrolia to fire a worker who kept the pumping records and to get rid of Associated.

Several Schools Called 'Racially Identifiable'

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — An education expert has testified in federal court that several schools in this West Texas city can be labeled "racially identifiable," suggesting a pattern of segregation throughout the last decade.

Gordon Foster, professor of education at the University of Miami in Florida, said Wednesday that he analyzed 1981-82 enrollment figures and conducted interviews with school officials to determine that two high schools and several junior highs were perceived as predominantly minority.

Foster said he spent 12 days researching what the U.S. Justice Department has alleged is a historical practice of segregation in the Ector County Independent School District.

Testimony continues today in the lawsuit, lodged in 1970 against the school district by the Justice Department and a minority group.

Plaintiffs charge that the district has operated a "dual school system" for the past decade that assigns white faculty and students and black faculty and students to separate schools.

The district's busing policy came under fire Wednesday by government attorneys who claimed that officials perpetuated segregation by busing minority students to minority schools, sometimes bypassing schools closer to the students' homes.

ECISD Superintendent Bill Holm denied the charge, saying that students are bused where space is available.

About 4,000 students currently are being bused, 20 percent of the student population.

Norma Solis, an attorney for one of the intervenors in the case, produced figures on the educational background and teaching experience of the teachers.

Ector was one of the schools earmarked by Foster as "racially identifiable."

Law Will Not Insure All Motorists On State Roads Will Be Covered

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The chairman of the State Insurance Board says it would be "unrealistic" for Texans to assume the new mandatory car insurance law will mean all drivers will be covered.

"That's why I think motorists should be encouraged to continue to carry uninsured-underinsured motorist protection," Bill Daves said in a statement Wednesday.

He said that even if all Texas motorists obey the law and buy liability policies, "there are so many out-of-state drivers on the highways that no one could be completely sure they won't be injured by an uninsured motorist."

The law, requiring motorists to have $20,000 coverage against medical expenses and $5,000 against property damage, takes effect on Jan. 1.

The Department of Public Safety will ask drivers for their policies or other proof of coverage when investigating accidents and stopping cars for traffic violations.

Both 1-0 In District Play

Plainsmen To Test Balanced Whiteface Express

By MARC HERRING
Staff Writer

Last week Monterey coach James Odom said that his Plainsmen would be a contender for the district title, and while most people wondered if he was crazy, Monterey proved he was right by completely controlling the ball and game against Lubbock High last Friday to move into a tie with Hereford atop the district standings.

This week, Odom will get a chance to prove once again his team is a contender as they come to town to face the Whitefaces in a homecoming battle with a very tough Hostile Herd.

The showdown between the Plainsmen and the Whitefaces always means excitement on the playing field. As an example, last year the Herd went down to Lubbock and defeated the Plainsmen 15-14 by blocking a punt and returning it for a touchdown in the waning minutes of play.

Monterey is led by a talented backfield that includes quarterback Darron White, and running backs Rock Rickel, Vance Singleton and Jack Averitt. This group of runners have given Monterey an average of 203 yards per game. In the passing category, the Plainsmen have gained 303 yards.

For the Whitefaces the statistics are weighted very much to the positive. Hereford leads the district both offensively and defensively with a 326 yard average per game moving the ball, and yielding an average of 129 yards per game.

Individually, Wayne High leads the district with a 5.3 average per carry while Monterey comes in with the fourth best ball carrier in Rickel with a 3.9 average.

The one possible edge Monterey has is in the field goal kicking, where Stewart Barnn is the third leading scorer for the district, on the basis of five field goals and 10 extra points.

Hereford coach Don Cump-ton believes that this will be a typical matchup between Hereford and Monterey.

"This game is always a tough one for both teams, regardless of records," Cump-ton said. They are probably the biggest team that we have faced this year."

"They are real big on the defensive front, Cump-ton said. They are not as quick as we are so maybe that will offset some of their size, but I don't know how much."

Monterey's game plan all year has been to control the ball on offense and make the other team's defense spend a lot of time out on the field.

Cump-ton noted that they don't throw the ball that much, but their quarterback is averaging 14 yards per throw.

"Their defensive backfield is young, but they have played real well. I think that they have intercepted eight passes this year, so they are doing pretty well."

As far as injuries, the Whitefaces expect to be completely ready. Middle linebacker Ken Cosper is nearly 100 percent and will be ready to start.

In the other district matchup tomorrow night, Coronado will face Lubbock High, while Plainview will be idle. Coronado starts district competition this week, while the Westerners are 0-1 after falling to the Plainsmen 22-0 last week.

Also participating in the event were Mike Butcher, Chad Mason, Jenness Self, Kirk Sparkman, Shawn McConnell, Joel Smith, Chet Burrows, Clifton McElhaney, Brett Baldwin, Brian Lady, Kim Lovvorn, Scott Wilcox, Cary Van Landingham, and Jerry Baker.

The next rodeo will also be at Canadian on Oct. 31 and Nov. 1.

Line 'em Up, Move 'em Out

The Hereford Whiteface offensive line is set to continue their onslaught of the record books as they offer protection for the backfield. Going into Friday's game, the offense is leading the district with an average of 326 yards a game, in large part due to the front line.

Tennis Team Goes 2-2-1 In Tourney

Tennis is the sport of the gentleman and the lady—ha. Gentlemen and ladies do not play tennis matches at 2:30 in the morning—at least not of their own choosing, but that is the case last weekend as the Hereford High School tennis team competed in the Region I Team Tennis Tournament in Lubbock.

The HHS netters began their 130 set marathon Thursday afternoon, and after fighting with conflicting schedules and rain the local players concluded their five team odyssey Saturday at midnight.

The first match against the number two ranked team in the state, Abilene Cooper, was one of learning for the team as Cooper swept the dual with an 18-0 score.

Hereford came back to face El Paso Eastwood Friday afternoon and then broke for the football game at Plainview. Due to the weather delays, the coaches had decided to play around the clock so that the matches could be finished by the Saturday midnight deadline. Because of this decision, the HHS netters played Tascosa Saturday morning at 12:30, after the game at Plainview.

At the end of the doubles competition, Hereford and the Rebels were tied at 3-3. According to the rules of the tournament, the boys were to take the courts next and Tascosa built an insurmountable lead to win the match 10-5. The duals were cut short of the regular 18 match complement due to the delays.

In the Saturday matches, the Whitefaces completely dominated the Odessa High team to win that dual 11-3. Leading the squad with victories were the doubles teams of Trent Thomas and Kelly Cassels and Donny Anderson and Monte Hutto for the boys and for the girls both doubles teams won. Carol Zinser and Lisa Snyder won their match 6-0, 6-1 and Kim and Vanessa Sims won theirs 6-0, 6-0.

In singles, the girls swept all six matches, with everyone winning in straight sets.

The final match of the tournament had the Herd set to face the team from El Paso Bel Air, but at match time, the El Paso team failed to show so the Whitefaces won the match by default.

District foe Coronado won the tournament by beating the Abilene Cooper team in number of sets won. Monterey was just eliminated from state playoff competition by coming in fifth in the 18 team tournament.

The final fall schedule for the Hereford netters has two dual matches scheduled for next week with Amarillo High and Palo Duro.

Resident's Grandson NM Player of Week

Kerry Walsh, a junior at Portales High School, was named the Globe-News New Mexico Player of the Week. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kriegshauser of Hereford and comes to Hereford quite often.

His mother is the Kriegshauser's daughter and is a graduate of Hereford High School. His father, Dick Walsh, is a professor at Eastern New Mexico University.

In the newspaper clipping about Walsh, it said the 5-7, 145-pound junior wingback started out replacing another player and turned out to be the most effective tool in the win over NMML.

carries and one touchdown in the game. "Pound-for-Pound, he's one of the best players we have," his coach said. "He's just a hard-nosed little ol' football player. I think he's gained a lot of confidence this year and has developed into a good player."

Cowboys Ready For Stretch Run In NFC East Division

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) - Dallas Coach Tom Landry sometimes talks about the National Football League season like it was a horse race.

Landry doesn't go to Oaklawn Park or Louisiana Downs but he can pretty well handicap his Cowboys.

He's talking about "jockeying for position" now to make a second-half stretch run against the Eagles, who are a furlong ahead in the National Conference Eastern Division.

"The (29-17) victory over the Rams was important because it got us into position to make a run for it," said Landry.

The Cowboys historically start out strong, drop back during the middle of the season and charge to the wire.

Dallas is 5-2 with Sunday's game against Miami in Texas Stadium closing out the first half of the season. The Cowboys are a game behind Philadelphia.

The Cowboys won their first four games then dropped two in a row. Landry was worried the Eagles would get too far ahead to catch.

"The Eagles finally found out that you don't play 16 good games in a row in this league," he said. "We just need to stay close until we can make our move."

The longer the season goes the more Landry has a tendency to return to things that have worked well for him. Landry has decided to all but junk his sideline signal system to quarterback Danny White.

The Cowboys used the tight end shuttle for the most part against Los Angeles Sunday.

Asked if was afraid somebody was stealing Dallas' signals, Landry said "Anybody could break the code if they took the time to do it...We will not completely junk the hand signals...but we will continue now to operate with the tight end shuttle."

Landry said he did not think any team had intercepted Dallas' hand signals which are relayed from Landry to assistant John Mackovic to White.

"I wish I could use it (the signal system) as an excuse for the way we had been playing," said Landry.

Landry had good news for the Cowboys Tuesday, saying wide receiver Drew Pearson, who was hospitalized Monday night because of blurred vision, was improving rapidly.

Pearson was accidentally poked in the right eye during the Ram game.

"We hope Drew will be ready to play but Butch Johnson could open in his position," Landry said.

Ranked HS Teams Fall in District Action

By The Associated Press
 The upper positions in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll were dangerous locations last week with four teams with No. 5 or higher rankings suffering from defeats.

The No. 1-ranked teams in each division escaped unscathed however, leaving Port Arthur Jefferson in 5A, Huntsville in 4A, Refugio in 3A, Forney in 2A and Motley County in A as the leaders.

High-scoring Brazoswood, ranked No. 3 in 5A last week, was shocked by Fort Bend Dulles 3-2 in an upset that moved Dulles into the No. 9 spot this week and eliminated Brazoswood from the Top 10.

Tuloso-Midway registered the big upset in Class 4A by upending No. 2-rated Gregory-Portland 16-14. The loss dropped G-P to No. 9 this week.

Caldwell, ranked No. 5 in 3A last week, fell from the top 10 after a 37-6 loss to Rosebud-Lott and making way for the appearance of Wylie as the No. 10-ranked team.

Eastland took a big fall in 2A, dropping from the No. 2 ranking out of the top 10 after a 32-7 loss to DeLeon. Tenth rated Winona was Eastland's numerical replacement.

Runge, ranked ninth in A last week, fell from the rankings after its second loss of the season, a 19-18 decision to Navarro.

Other teams receiving voter consideration included: 5A, Lewisville, 29 points, Brazoswood, 19, Angleton 12, Sherman 10; 4A, Fort Worth Brewer 18 including one first place vote, Gonzales and Beeville 13 each; 3A, Cameron 21, Barbers Hill 20, Manor 16 including one first place vote, Sweeney 13, Gilmer 11; 2A, Eastland 14, Plains 10; A, Rankin 10, Riesel 8.

Key Matchups In SWC Set For Weekend

DALLAS (AP) — There is no guarantee that this weekend's four Southwest Conference football games will clarify the championship race.

SWC leader Southern Methodist, 3-0 in league play, hosts fifth-place Texas, 1-1. But the in-between teams pose confusing possibilities.

Rice and Texas A&M each sport SWC 2-1 marks entering their Saturday game, and Arkansas is 2-1 going against Houston in the only night game. It's possible there could be one, two or three conference leaders by Sunday morning.

Here is a thumbnail sketch of each game involving SWC teams, in order of starting times:

Texas (4-1, 1-1 at Southern Methodist (6-0, 3-0), 1:30 p.m. SMU is ranked eighth in The Associated Press poll, Texas 10th. That makes this the first time the teams have met as Top 10 members since No. 7 Texas defeated No. 1 SMU, 23-20, Nov. 4, 1950. Texas is looking for milestone 600th football victory this week. Despite last week's 31-point loss to Arkansas, Texas still leads SWC and ranks sixth nationally in total defense at 221.6 yards per game, leads SWC and ranks 11th nationally in pass defense allowing 113.4 yards a game, and is third in SWC and 15th nationally in rushing defense at 108.2. Mustang offense is eighth nationally in rushing (296.2 yards per game), third in scoring (39.3 points per game).

Texas Christian (2-3-1, 1-2) at Baylor (4-3, 2-2), 2 p.m. Last year's 21-6 Baylor win put Bears on top of SWC chase to stay, leading to their 1980 championship. Leading characters from that contest are back this year, with TCU quarterback Steve Stamp just eight shy of the league's all-time touchdown mark. Baylor's Walter Abercrombie has jumped to fifth on the all-time SWC rushing chart with 3,289 yards. He could climb to second with 415 yards in four remaining games. Stamp is third nationally with 273.3 yards a game passing.

Texas A&M (4-2, 2-1) at Rice (3-3, 2-1, 2 p.m. Transfer quarterback Michael Calhoun has paced Owls to three straight wins and ranks third in SWC passing. Aggies playing everything close — four A&M games have been decided by a point, one by two points. Calhoun and A&M QB Gary Kubiak are two-three on the SWC total offense list with 177.7 and 174.3 yards per game.

Houston (3-3, 1-2) vs. Arkansas (4-1, 2-1) at Little Rock, 7:30 p.m. Razorbacks moved to 12th in AP poll after knocking Texas out of No. 1 ranking with 42-11 victory. Cougars surrendered nine turnovers in 38-22 loss to SMU.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Texas got a new Secretary of State, the Democrats failed to settle on a consensus opponent for Gov. Bill Clements, and the Redistricting Board laid out the end-game schedule last week at the Capitol.

Clements announced the appointment of his general counsel, David Dean, to replace Secretary George Strake, who quit earlier this month to run for lieutenant governor against Bill Hobby.
Described by Clements as "a tower of strength in our administration," Dean, perhaps more than any other staffer, has shaped the political direction of Clements' term, particularly with policies to lure disenchanted conservative Democrats.

Dean, a former Democrat, was general counsel to former Democratic Gov.
Dolph Briscoe. Following Briscoe's 1978 primary defeat at the hands of John Bill. Dean led a contingent of Briscoe supporters into the Clements camp.

The group has been credited with tipping the scales to give Clements a narrow victory over Hill. Dean became deputy campaign manager for Clements, even though he still called himself a Democrat. Now, he says, he's a Republican because the liberals still maintain control of the Democratic Party.

Future Candidate?
His promotion moves the experienced young counselor one step closer to a possible political candidacy. As chief elections officer of Texas, he will doubtless learn what little he doesn't know already.

And his experience as counselor, campaign treasurer and campaign manager for two governors, plus his tenure as head of Criminal Justice System make him well equipped to run someday for attorney general.

An assistant secretary of state under Strake, David Herndon, will replace Dean
as general counsel.

Strake, meanwhile, said last week he will spend whatever amount is necessary to defeat Hobby.

Consensus Candidate
Campaign financing is also on the minds of Democrats, particularly state party chairman Bob Slagle who wants to avoid an expensive, bloody primary.

Last week Slagle suggested a mini-convention might pick a consensus candidate from the top five gobernatorial contenders. At first, all five potential candidates were willing to consider his idea to pick from among Briscoe, Peyton Mc-Knight, Bob Armstrong,
Mark White and Hill.

Then Armstrong and Mc-Knight backed off the idea, which was enough to kill the plan in Slagle's mind.

His stated intent was to set up a method whereby the party could concentrate its best efforts on beating Clements, not itself, and if only one candidate was reluctant, then the agreement could not work.

Redistricting Schedule
The Redistricting Board must reach an agreement on new districts by Oct. 29 or turn the task over to the courts, and tension is mounting as the panel approaches its deadline.

The initial vote is expected to be taken on Oct. 25, leaving four days to work out a compromise among the different maps which are to be submitted.

Hobby says he has completed his plan for the Senate, and it does not pair any of the incumbent senators.

House Speaker Bill Clayton, who has a number of alternate House maps, apparently has not decided on a final version. Neither has the staff of Comptroller Bob Bullock, working on plans for both chambers.

For a dramatic flourish,
Bullock will return on Oct.
23, in time to vote on the issue. He has been undergoing treatment for alcoholism at a California clinic, and has missed all the preliminary jockeying.

The return of the brash, macho Bullock has several individuals a bit nervous about their political fate at the hands of the majority of the board.

Pen Registers
A small device called a pen register has civil libertarians up in arms at the Capitol. The device, which can be attached and used to record the telephone numbers of calls made from any telephone, is apparently legal, an oversight of the Legislature which passed the wiretap bill last session.

There is no legal prohibition against use of the pen register, and Department of Public Safety officials take that as a green light to use the device against criminals.

However, it's a simple matter to attach a wiretap to a pen register and listen in on a conversation, and that is what alarms wiretap opponents.

The Legislature will doubtless be considering this issue in the January, 1983 session.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

What type hemorrhoids?

DEAR DR. LAMB — I need to know whatever there is to know about treatment for hemorrhoids, short of surgery. I have been having a problem with them lately as I am a secretary and sit from 9 to 5. I'm becoming desperate. I cannot afford the time or money for surgery. I have not had this job very long and it is my only means of support. I'm a widow and am barely able to take care of the essentials.
The essentials are utility bills and taxes, not food and clothing. I'm sure there must be some treatments that I could try first before having to consider surgery.
Please help me. What are the latest discoveries or treatments for them?

Others who what this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio
City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Some internal hemor-roids can be treated by injections. The method involves injecting a scleros-ing chemical around the hemorrhoid vein. As the tissues scar from the irritation, they contract and obliterate the dilated vein. Others can be treated by banding the internal hemorrhoid with rubber bands. You should see a proctologist for good advice in your case.

Your bowel habits have a lot to do with how comfortable you are. Straining at the stool is a major factor in causing problems with hemorrhoids.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am doing exercises for my body and am firming up, but nowhere do I find anything for the face. My neck is getting very flabby but I need information for everything above the neck. Do you have any suggestions?

DEAR READER — Face
and neck muscles are like all other muscles in the body.
They will get slack, small and weak if they are not used. And they get strong and enlarge if you exercise them under load. This is hard to do because of the way these muscles are attached to the head and neck.

Isometric exercises that involve consciously contracting your facial muscles as strongly as you can and then relaxing them are about the best you can do.
This is similar to making faces. Also tense your jaw muscles and hold them in a state of contraction a few seconds, then relax them.
Repeat each of these exercises about 10 times at one sitting each day.
