

Enjoying Small-Town Life

By LINDA CAUDLE
Family News Editor

After living in Dallas for nine years, Hereford is quite a change, according to Pat Holcombe. She and her family moved to Hereford a year ago, and now reside at 149 Nueces. "We are enjoying living in a small town," says Pat, and adds that "the people here are very friendly." Her husband, Pete, is Manager of Operations at Arrowhead Mills.

The Holcombe's have three sons. Jay, who is 13, goes to school at La Plata Junior High and is involved in football there. Wade, 11, goes to West Central Elementary School, and Brandon, who is five, attends Northwest Elementary School. They also have a small brown dog named Rosie.

Pat is a homemaker now since moving to Hereford. She had worked as a secretary for an engineering firm in Dallas for five years prior to their move here. Although she enjoyed working very much, Pat likes it better not working in a small town. She feels that it gives her more freedom to get involved in her church and other activities, and to spend more time with her family.

Pat and her family are more involved in church activities than most anything else. They are members of the Church of the Nazarene where Pete is on the church board and is in charge of keeping the books for the building fund. This is keeping him pretty busy at the moment, as the church is in the process of finishing their new building right now. Pat sings in the church choir, which isn't new to her, as she has always enjoyed singing.

In Dallas she was involved in an octet, which appeared on a weekly television show. This fall Pat auditioned for the Hereford Chamber Singers, and is now enjoying singing with the group as it is preparing for Christmas with "The Messiah" and other Christmas selections. Pat says she was delighted to find a choir such as the Chamber Singers, with such a professional sound and varied membership, here in Hereford, and she is excited to be a part of the group. Pat also expressed admiration for the director of the group, Mr. Bill Devers.

Besides her interests in music, Pat also enjoys a variety of crafts. She is a talented seamstress; as evidenced by the fact that she made a wool suit for herself last year. She also mentioned that she has modeled for the Pants Cage several times since coming here.

Pat enjoys doing macrame, and has several wall hangings, plant hangers, and other pieces in her home for decoration. She likes to crochet, and has made several articles such as hat ad gloves, baby blankets, and afghans.

Ceramics is one of Pat's favorite crafts. She enjoys making original gifts for friends and family, and says that she can make gifts less expensively than if she had bought them. She takes her ceramic pieces to the Texas Gallery to fire them after she finishes shaping them. One craft that Pat is interested in learning, but has not yet tried, is making silk flowers.

Another activity that Pat is presently involved in is leading a "jazzercise" class three days a week at Larrymore Studio. She describes "jazzercise" basically as "calisthenics to music," and says that it involves "slightly more strenuous exercise than aerobics, which consists primarily of dance steps." The exercises usually run about 45 minutes without stopping. She has been teaching the class about three or four months, and had been going to the studio to take classes since January. Pat looks forward to the class, saying that the exercise is enjoyable, and it makes her feel good to know that she is doing something that is good for her. She also has a Rebounder, which is a small round trampoline, upon which to do exercises.

Cake Demonstration Given to Club

The Bippus Extension Homemakers met last week in the home of Mariellen Homfeld.

Juanita Perrin, president, called the meeting to order with roll call answered by unusual cakes members have made.

In the business meeting, the luncheon for the Chamber of Commerce women on the 25th was discussed and a Thanksgiving supper in November was mentioned.

The club still has pecans for sale at $4.15 a pound, it was announced.

Mrs. Homfeld demonstrated cake decorating and the members were allowed to try.

Refreshments were served to Ms. Perrin, Lynnis Clark, Lou Hall, Margaret Hall, Flora Homfeld, Kate Bradley and Bernice Blasingame by Mrs. Mariellen Homfeld.

New Arrivals

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Kendrick are the parents of a son, Kip Daniel, born Oct. 11. He weighed 6 pounds, 11 ounces. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Blasingame of Hereford, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Kendrick of Cookville.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

You have to understand, I was born in an era where the human body was not real. Oh, sure, everyone had one, but if you asked anyone to describe an organ like the heart, they'd draw a picture of a valentine with an arrow through it.

I loved being naive. The stork stories were such fun. When my babies were born I was given a sedative which knocked me out until the kids were entering first grade I had no reason to believe a giant bird did not make the delivery.

Today, through the miracle of curiosity and malpractice suits, we are in an era where we are forced to know everything there is to know about the human body. Sometimes, I think it's more than we can handle.

Like the man in Arizona who wrote that his wife was going into the hospital for some "simple repair" work. He said she was in great spirits. She hadn't thought about a new will, burial arrangements, putting things in storage, calling everyone she knew for a last goodbye, or even having a quick affair with her hairdresser.

Then the hospital sent her a release form to sign and return to the office. The words leaped out at her from the page: POSSIBILITY THIS OPERATION WILL NOT HELP...POSSIBLE TO HAVE WORSE PAIN THAN YOU HAVE NOW...COMPLICATED BY BLEEDING AND INFECTION...DAMAGE TO STRUCTURE...WEAKNESS...PAIN...NUMBNESS IN LEGS, THIGHS AND FEET...NERVE DAMAGE.

The only possibility they didn't mention was the cardiac arrest when she read the release form.

His wife fell apart and it was all he could do to get her to go through with it.

The human body is tough. It's the mind that's very fragile and given a choice I'd opt for a doctor who lies between his teeth.

I once had a pediatrician who could give a common cold a future you didn't want to hear about. I needed a man who would tell me there was nothing wrong with my child that a laxative wouldn't fix, that his measles probably weren't the kind that spread to the entire family just before Christmas...or that we didn't have to talk orthodontists until my husband's raise came through.

I just don't want to see this truth-in-surgery get out of hand. Can you imagine the panic if every mother-to-be was given a list of the hazards and side-effects of prolonged child-raising?

She might survive the delivery, but the depression she could die from.

St. Anthony's Announces Policy on Meals Program

St. Anthony School announces its policy for free and reduced price meals for children unable to pay the full price of meals served under the National School Lunch Program.

Local school officials have adopted the following family size income criteria for determining eligibility for free meals: (The number in parenthesis indicates the number in a family and the amount of dollars signifies how much the family earns annually: (1) $5,600, (2) $7,400, (3) $9,190, (4) $10,990, (5) $12,780, (6) $14,570, (7) $16,370, (8) $18,160, (9) $19,950, (10) $21,740, (11) $23,530, (12) $25,320.

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels listed are eligible for reduced meals: (1)

$5,601-$7,970, (2) $7,401-$11,530, (3) $9,191-$13,080, (4) 10,991-$15,630, (5) $12,781-$18,190, (6) 14,571-$20,740, (7) $16,371-$23,290, (8) $18,161-$25,840, (9) $19,951-$28,390, (10) $21,741-$30,940, (11) $23,531-$33,490, (12) $25,321-$36,040.

Application forms have been distributed to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in the school. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year. A simple statement of income and family size is required, plus a signed certification by the parent or guardian that the information provided is correct. The Social Security Number of all adult household members must also be listed on the application form.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals and milk for them, it should contact the school.

Under the provisions of the policy the principal will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis. If he wishes to make a formal appeal, he may make a request either orally or in writing to Rev. Xavier Butler, Pastor St. Anthony's Church 115 N. 25 Mile Ave., Hereford Texas 79045, telephone 806-364-6150.

for a hearing to appeal the decision. The policy contains an outline of the hearings procedure.

If a family member becomes unemployed or if family size changes, the family should contact the school to file a new application. Such change may make the children of the family eligible for reduced price meals, or for additional benefits such as free meals, if the family income falls at or below the levels shown above.

In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, color, creed, or national origin.

The St. Anthony School has a copy of the complete policy which may be reviewed by any interested party.

Ann Landers
Pro-Abortion or Pro-Life?

DEAR READERS: Recently I devoted two columns to the testimony of Dr. George Ryan (President of the American College of Ob-Gyn) against the Human Life Bill. I expected strong reader reaction. But I was completely unprepared for the tally. Those who supported Dr. Ryan's (and my) position ran 30 percent ahead of the opposition. Neither Dr. Ryan nor Ann Landers are pro-abortion. We are PRO-CHOICE. We believe that a woman or child who becomes pregnant, whether through chance, carelessness, ignorance, rape or incest, should be free to choose whether that fetus is carried to full term.

The Human Life bill proposed by Sen Jesse Helms (R-N.C.) and Rep. Henry Hyde (R-Ind.) would confer personhood from the moment of conception. This would allow the states to treat abortion as murder. The majority of those who wrote to disagree with Dr. Ryan and me were threatening, hysterical and vituperative. Some letters, however, were thoughtful and intelligent. I would like to share one of the latter with you today.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You are the most widely syndicated columnist in America. I feel you took advantage of that position to promote your own views on a topic that is intensely personal.

Abortion is not a religious issue as you described it. It involves moral, ethical and philosophical concepts. Anti-abortionists can be found in every group - even atheists. They, too, have rights, you know.

Dr. Ryan said, "A few cells do not constitute a human life." I disagree. All life begins with a single cell, and if these cells were left alone they would surely develop into a human being. The pregnant woman is not carrying a whale or a cow. The fetus in her womb is a child.

I believe the interruption of any pregnancy is wrong. Our Down's Syndrome child is a joy to us. She was born before the Supreme Court decision of 1973. Thank God, we had no legal choice at that time or we may have missed the richest experience of our lives. -Wife Of A Physician

From Houston: You Murderess: I wish you could watch just one abortion. Your mind would be changed mighty fast. I assisted during surgery when a nine-week-old baby was thrown in the "tissue sink." She had fingers, toes, eyes and yes, a little smile on her face. I hope you burn in hell for this one. This letter from Muskogee, Okla., is an appropriate response.

DEAR ANN: I am a pediatric nurse in a metropolitan hospital. I wish those Pro-Lifers could work at my side for just one day. They would see children battered black and blue, cigarette burns on their faces, broken arms and legs. Their eyes are filled with fear whenever an adult approaches. These children were unwanted. Their mothers could not get an abortion for financial or religious reasons. Most of them will grow up and abuse THEIR children. I know how an unwanted, abused child feels because I was one myself. At age 30 counseling saved my sanity. Hang in there, Ann. You're sure to get plenty of heat but you are on the right side!

From New Jersey: DEAR ANN: Bless you for your courage. If abortion is made illegal in this country, it once again will create a lucrative underground network for quacks and butchers. Please God, let us never go back to the days of the coat hanger!

ATHLETIC SAFETY TIPS

In the past, there has been a controversy as to whether a soft tissue injury (sprains, strains, muscle pulls or bruises) should be treated with heat or cold treatments. The generally accepted opinion today, is that cold treatments (ice packs) are the best methods of treatment. Ice packs retard the pain and swelling associated with soft tissue injuries, while heat aggravates these symptoms.

Cabbiness, Arroyos Pace Teams

Improvement Continues For Whiteface Harriers

The first look at the course that will be used for the district cross country meet proved to be one of mixed responses as the girls and boys cross country teams from Hereford finished fifth and 14th in their divisions Saturday at the Lubbock Invitational Cross-Country Meet.

For the girls, Dana Cabbiness and Kellie Howell continued to lead the squad, while George Arroyos and Fernando Carrasco were the top finishers for the boys. Cabbiness, who completed the two mile circuit in 13:02, finished ahead of all district competition for the first time this fall, and Coach Martha Emerson said it won't be the last time.

"Dana has been getting closer and closer all year and this time she beat the top girl from both Coronado and Monterey by a couple of seconds," Emerson said.

A tenth place finish by Cabbiness and the 30th place by Howell paced the girls to a total of 175, but the Coronado team still finished ahead of the local team.

Deborah Rogers, who entered the race as the third best Hereford runner, failed to finish the run, which caused Hereford to move its sixth runner up into the point counting, which caused Hereford to lose some in the overall total.

Molly Keating, a freshman at La Plata turned in the third best time for Hereford, as she ran a quick 13:35 to finish second in junior varsity division and teammate Cindy Morgan, also of La Plata, was seventh with a time of 14:15.

Other girls to finish in the varsity running were Olga Alaniz with a time of 13:41, Yolanda Alaniz with a time of 13:49, Allyson Thomas with a clocking of 15:01 and Cheri Barker with a time of 15:16.

Arroyos, who finished in 26th with a time of 16:47 for the three mile race, led the boys' to their finish of 14th and a point total of 348. Carrasco was 59th, with a time of 17:27.

Other runners of the Whiteface varsity included Edward Flores with a time of 17:29, Eliseo Ramirez with a time of 18:48, Chris Kahlich with a time of 19:01 and Kyle Schuder with a time of 19:30.

The boys were without the services of Cesar Valdez, and Kahlich ran after missing the week's practice due to an injury.

"We had a hard time in this meet," Emerson said. "It was hard for the guys to run as good as they had, due to the size of the field. I think they said that there were about 578 runners in all, with more than half of them boys, so its hard to finish in 69th place and mentally run as hard as you can."

El Paso Burgess won the boys title, while the girls race was won by El Paso Belair.

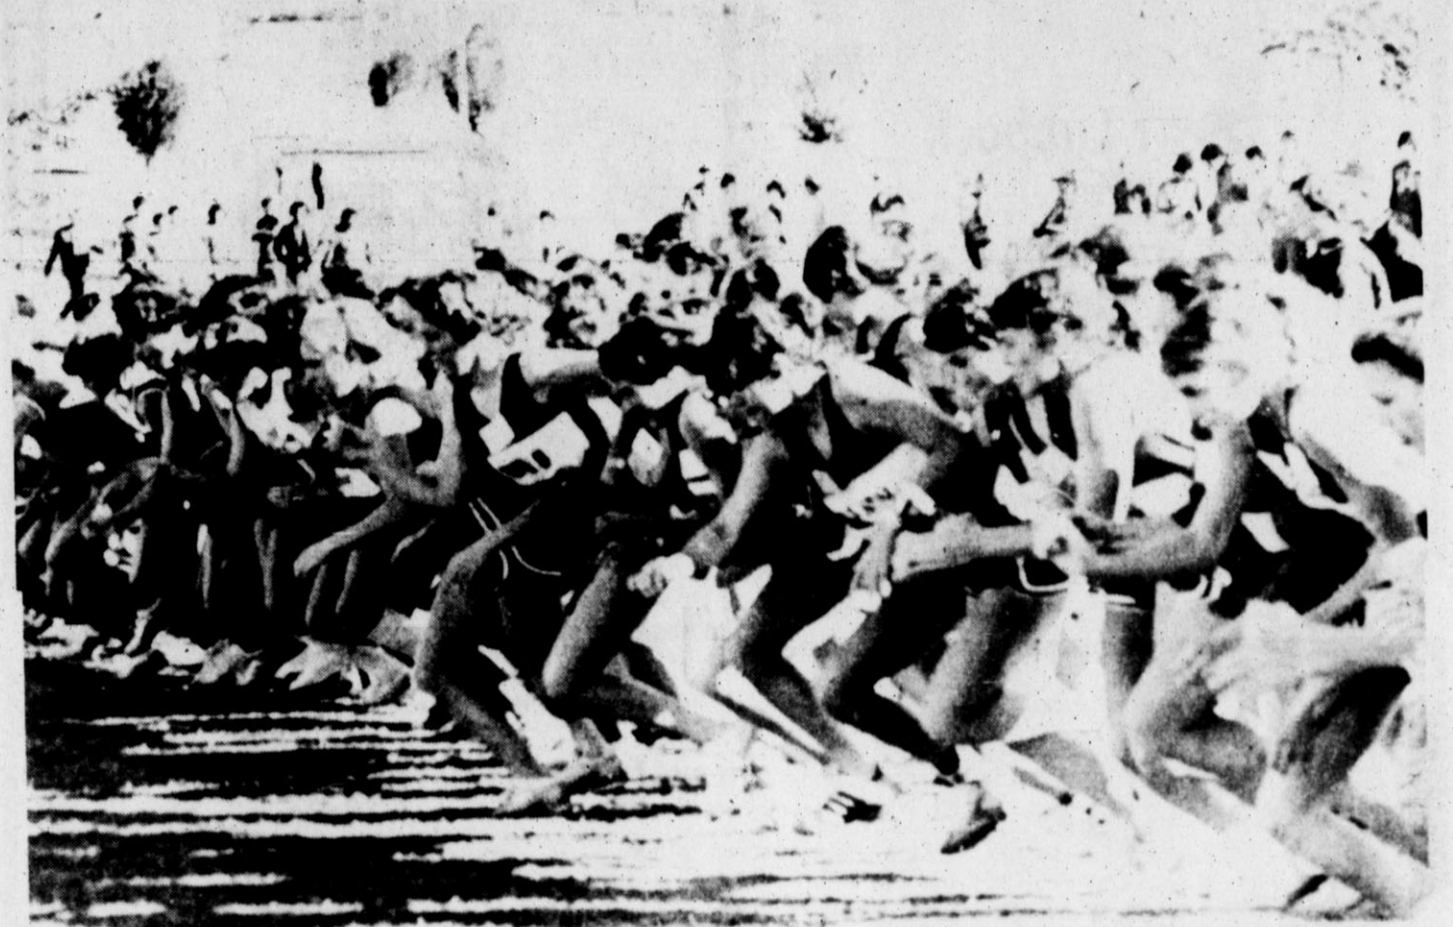

"We had some bright points in the race," Emerson said.

"First of all the team got to see and run on the course that they will run on in two weeks and for the girls, Dana beat the district and Kellie ran her best time ever on this course, which is pretty tough."

Next week the team will travel to Tulia to run with Hereford having a chance to win both divisions according to Emerson.

And They're Off

The start of the varsity girls division of the Lubbock Invitational Cross Country Meet looks like mass confusion, but the Hereford girls do a good job of weaving and winding through the crowd as they finished in fifth place out of a total of 35 teams. (Brand Photo)

Monday's Ninth Inning Homer Makes Him Hero

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP
Special Correspondent

When Rick Monday hit the ninth-inning shot into the right-center field stands of Montreal's Olympic Stadium to move the Los Angeles Dodgers into the World Series, perhaps no one was more excited than the New York Yankees' Tommy John.

"You can't play seven years with a team without getting close to the guys," said the crafty All-Star pitcher with the restructured left arm. "Like Tom Lasorda, I still bleed some Dodger blue."

If he actually bleeds Dodger blue, it oozes through Yankee pinstripes, because John, 38, is one of owner George Steinbrenner's big weapons in the championship series, beginning tonight at Yankee Stadium.

As a Dodger, he appeared in three games against the Yankees in the 1977 and 1978 show-downs, winning one and losing one. Now, as the starter in the second game Wednesday night, he could face his old teammates twice before the series is decided over the next 10 days.

"I'll break my knuckles trying to whip 'em," John vowed.

Someone asked the tall, lean Hoosier from Terre Haute, Ind., if he thought his long association with the Dodgers would give him any sort of a pitching edge.

"No, that's kind of ridiculous," he said. "It will be the same as if we faced Montreal or some other team. With no designated hitter, I don't know how I'm going to pitch to Burt Hooton," who may be the Dodgers' starting pitcher in Game 2.

Tommy was delighted at the prospect of a Yankee-Dodger series, predicting that it would do more than anything else to heal some of the negative aspects of the six-week strike that chopped the season in half and disenfranchised millions of fans.

"These are two of the most highly recognized teams in baseball, both of them with a great tradition," he said. "They represent the financial, commercial and entertainment capitals of the East and West Coasts."

No two teams are more publicized. Like Notre Dame and Southern Cal in football, both have a big national following. The series is a natural. It's a bonanza for the TV network (ABC) and the commercial sponsors. But mainly it is terrific for the fans.

John said he had found some striking similarities in the two longtime World Series rivals, but also some marked differences. "The Dodgers are more conservative and more public-relations minded," said the veteran pitcher. "The locker room is looser. There are no off-limits in the clubhouse. The Dodgers give the press wide latitude and demand that players be cooperative with fans and the press alike. They are proud of the nice-guy Dodger image and do everything possible to preserve it."

John said the Yankees were just as possessive of their image but treated it in a different light.

"The Yankees are more austere," he said. "They say, 'Look, we are the best, the kings — you come to us if you want anything.' And the press does."

Last Week Of Football Set For YMCA

The Chargers and Browns of the YMCA flag football AFL division will meet this coming Saturday to determine the round-robin champion, since the Browns knocked off the previously undefeated Oilers in last Saturday's matchups.

The Oilers, who had gone into the game a half game in front of the Browns, and tied with the Chargers, never got their offense untracked as the Browns completely dominated the game to win 26-6.

The Chargers remained on top of the standings with a 5-0 record as they slipped past the Dolphins. In other AFL action, the Jets improved their record to 2-3 in a win over the Colts, and the Steelers used a safety to win over the Raiders, 2-0.

In the flight for the top spot in the NFL division, the Cardinals maintain a slim half game lead over the Packers. Saturday, the Cards tied the Bears, 6-6, while the Packers used a fourth quarter touchdown to slip past the Rams, 15-12.

The other game in the 3-4 grade group had the Lions and Cowboys tie 6-6. The final week of play will have the Packers and Cardinals going against each other to determine the round-robin winner, while the Bears will faceoff against the Lions and the Cowboys play the Rams.

A single elimination tournament will take place in each division following the completion of round-robin play.

Wayne High Named Player of Week

Hereford's Wayne High was named this week as the Amarillo Daily News offensive player of the week for his efforts in the Plainview game last Friday.

High who leads all area rushers with 747 yards through seven games, provided the tying touchdown as he burst 69 yards around left end early in the third quarter.

High finished the game with 170 yards in 24 carries to carry the brunt of the Whiteface rushing attack.

High has gone over the century mark four times in the season.

Defensively, the Whitefaces' Barry Josseland and Matt Collier were named runners-up to Stan Sherwood of Plainview as the defensive player honored. Josseland led the Herd defensive front with some tough line play and Collier provided an interception late in the game to preserve the win for the undefeated Whitefaces.

Spikers Face Mustangs

The Hereford High School girls volleyball team faces one of its toughest challenges of the year tonight as they host the district leading Coronado Mustangs in the opening of second half play for the Whitefaces.

The Mustangs, who won the first half of district play, bring a perfect district record into the match. The Whitefaces went 3-1 for the first half, losing only to Coronado.

Game time for the varsity is approximately 7:30 tonight at the high school gym. The junior varsity contest will precede the varsity action.

Mantle-- Yankee Legend -- Turns 50 Today

By FRANK LUKSA
Dallas Times Herald
DALLAS (AP) — Autumn has crept into the life of one of the boys of summer. Mickey Mantle turned 50 years old Tuesday.

It was exciting for Mantle to hit 536 career home runs in 18 seasons for the New York Yankees and a record 18 more in the World Series. It was thrilling to be a three-time Most Valuable Player. It was wonderful to play 2,401 games for the Yankees, more than anyone, even Lou Gehrig. It was a high compliment to be selected to 20 All-Star teams.

Best of all, though, was to have lived past 40. Don't even mention 50. None of Mantle's immediate forebearers were alive at 40. His father died at age 39 of Hodgkin's Disease, cancer of the lymphatic system. Mantle's grandfather and his two brothers were struck down in the same manner. Too young and by the same form of cancer.

So when Mantle is asked how he feels at 50, he is able to smile and say:

"I feel lucky in the first place. I wasn't supposed to make it this far. If I'd known that I was gonna live this long I would have taken better care of myself."

On the surface, Mantle has resisted aging in quite handsome style. Sure, there's some gray on the sideburns. There are a few creases on the face, too. All they've done is alter his looks from perennially boyish to boyishly mature. With a smile the years fall away and he's almost once more the kid from Commerce, Oklahoma.

Nor can the years disguise what Mantle was built for on a baseball diamond: power and speed. Above the waist, a torso of obvious strength is topped by sloping, heavily muscled shoulders and thick neck which strain against his shirt. The legs still look supple and trim, which is sadly misleading.

Here we come to Mantle's lone concession to age. It's his 100-year-old right knee.

"It's getting worse and worse," he said, during an interview at his North Dallas home. "That's the only thing that makes me feel like I'm getting old. My legs. Otherwise, I don't feel any older than 10 years ago when I was 40."

Always the bum right knee. It afflicted Mantle almost from the outset of his major league career. It helped chase him from the game prematurely at age 36. It is the source of one of the few regrets he will always harbor about his life and times.

"I know I could have set a lot of records if I could have played like Willie (Mays), Stan Musial, Hank Aaron or Pete Rose. All those guys up in the record books played until they were 40 or 42. If I could have played until I was 42 my name would be on a lot of those records. That's the only thing that bugs me."

What if Mickey Mantle were a free agent today? If the Yankees paid $20 million for San Diego outfielder Dave Winfield, what might they bestow on a present-day Mantle? The question amused him.

"Compared to what they're making today?" Mantle asked. "Let's see. Before he signed his contract what did Winfield hit270 with 20 home runs and 80 RBIs (actually .276, 20 homers, 87 RBIs)? Now if I'd done that when (general manager) George Weiss was running the Yankees..."

"Let me give you an illustration. In 1956, I led the league in everything. I was making $30,000 and Weiss didn't want to give me but a $10,000 raise. I'd won the MVP Award. Hit 52 homers. Had 130 RBI and a .353 average. The owners (Del Webb and Dan Topping) made him double my salary. In fact, they made him give me $65,000 for playing in '57.

"In '57, I hit .365, around 40 homers (actually 34) and 94 RBI. The first contract I got for the next year was for a $10,000 cut. Weiss said I didn't have as good a year as the year before."

Mantle, however, doesn't begrudge the commercialism that permeates the playing ranks. That's management's fault, he believes. They've forced the hired hands to think in those terms.

Mantle may scorn today's player for a lack of decorum but there are many he admires for their skill. Among them: Graig Nettles, Ron Guidry and rookie Dave Righetti, Rose, Mike Schmidt, Andre Dawson, Winfield and yes, even you-know-who.

"I get a kick out of Reggie (Jackson) because I love to see that long ball. And he goes for it," Mantle said. "Sometimes when I'm doing a question-and-answer, a guy will ask, 'Didn't you strike out a lot?' I say, 'I sure did. I struck out 1,710 times but every one of them was almost a home run.'"

By the way, one of Mantle's homers was the longest measured home run in major league history. It was a tape-measured 585-foot rocket off Chuck Stobbs that sailed out of old Griffith Stadium in Washington.

Since retirement, Mantle has been interviewed about his now-and-then circumstances. At least once, he made a poignant remark about how it feels when the cheering stops. He said he could sympathize with a movie star grown old, her once radiant beauty now faded and marred by wrinkles.

In a financial sense, though, Mantle said he has done well. Since 1972, he's held an executive title with Reserve Life Insurance Co. of Dallas, with public relations the major duty.

Mantle lives with the woman with whom he will celebrate a 30th wedding anniversary on Christmas Day. Mickey and Merlyn Mantle have lived in the same house that Merlyn bought 24 years ago while Mickey was away playing baseball. The house includes a trophy room crowded with memorabilia of Mickey's career.

Did those 18 years seem to pass in the blink of an eye, Mickey, your days of summer in the outfield sun?

"Ah, hell, yes," he said. "It didn't seem like I was there five years."

Lions Rip Bears With 3rd String QB

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — The Detroit Lions, beset by quarterback injuries and inconsistencies, were looking for a shot in the arm offensively. And they may have found it in Eric Hipple.

Hipple, a second-year quarterback the Lions drafted in the fourth round out of Utah State, concluded a storybook week Monday night by leading Detroit to a convincing 48-17 National Football League victory over the Chicago Bears in a nationally televised game.

Making his first NFL start and playing in just his second regular-season game, the 6-foot-1, 196-pound Hipple completed 14 of 25 passes for 336 yards and four touchdowns, including three in succession on the last three passes he threw. And he ran for two other touchdowns as the Lions ran up their highest score since defeating the San Francisco 49ers 48-7 in 1954.

Hipple was the Lions' No. 3 quarterback when the season started, but second-stringer Jeff Komlo was unsteady in two starts — both defeats — after regular Gary Danielson dislocated his left wrist. So Coach Monte Clark decided to give Hipple a start.

"He could be the glue to put this puzzle together," said Leonard Thompson, the Detroit wide receiver who hauled in Hipple's last pass in the fourth quarter and turned it into a 94-yard touchdown — the third longest touchdown pass play in Lions' history.
