Jail renovation to be within budget

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

Enough reductions have been spotted to have the proposed $1.55 million Deaf Smith County Jail renovation project be completed within its budget, county officials hope.

Three county commissioners and Sheriff Joe Brown went to San Antonio Thursday to meet with the architectural firm in charge of the project. The visit was made to find ways to cut the original renovation plans by about $300,000.

"It was really productive," said Austin Rose about the meeting with Gondeck and Associates, Inc. "We think that we can get the work back down to within the money we started with."

Brown said the proposed renovation plan "is looking really good." He explained most of the cuts agreed upon were items not necessary for the remodeled jail to meet state requirements.

One area from which money can be saved is in the jail's kitchen, Commissioner Bill Bradley said. Gondeck and Associates agreed cost reductions could also be made for proposed lighting fixtures. Paint labor would be handled by the county, Bradley said, which allows more cost cuts.

Some changes need to be made to the jail prior to its renovation, the four county officials learned Thursday. A recreation area must be provided and feature sunlight, Brown and Rose said.

According to Brown, the garage located on the jail's north side is to be closed, with windows replacing the garage door. Therefor, inmates would have a place to occasionally walk around and be struck by a little natural light, he said.

The temporary recreation area idea was okayed Thursday, Brown said, by Jack Crump of the Texas Commission on Jail Standards. Bradley said he appreciated Crump coming down to San Antonio rather than insist the county officials see him in Austin.

Officials from county confirm in San Antonio

Neither Brown nor Rose knew what steps are next to be taken in the renovation project. Presumably, bids are again to be let once architectural plans are finalized. The bids received in late May and June have been formally rejected by the county commission.

In June, the lowest combined bid turned in for the project was for about $1,827,000. It reflected the total of the lowest offers received for detention equipment and general construction work.

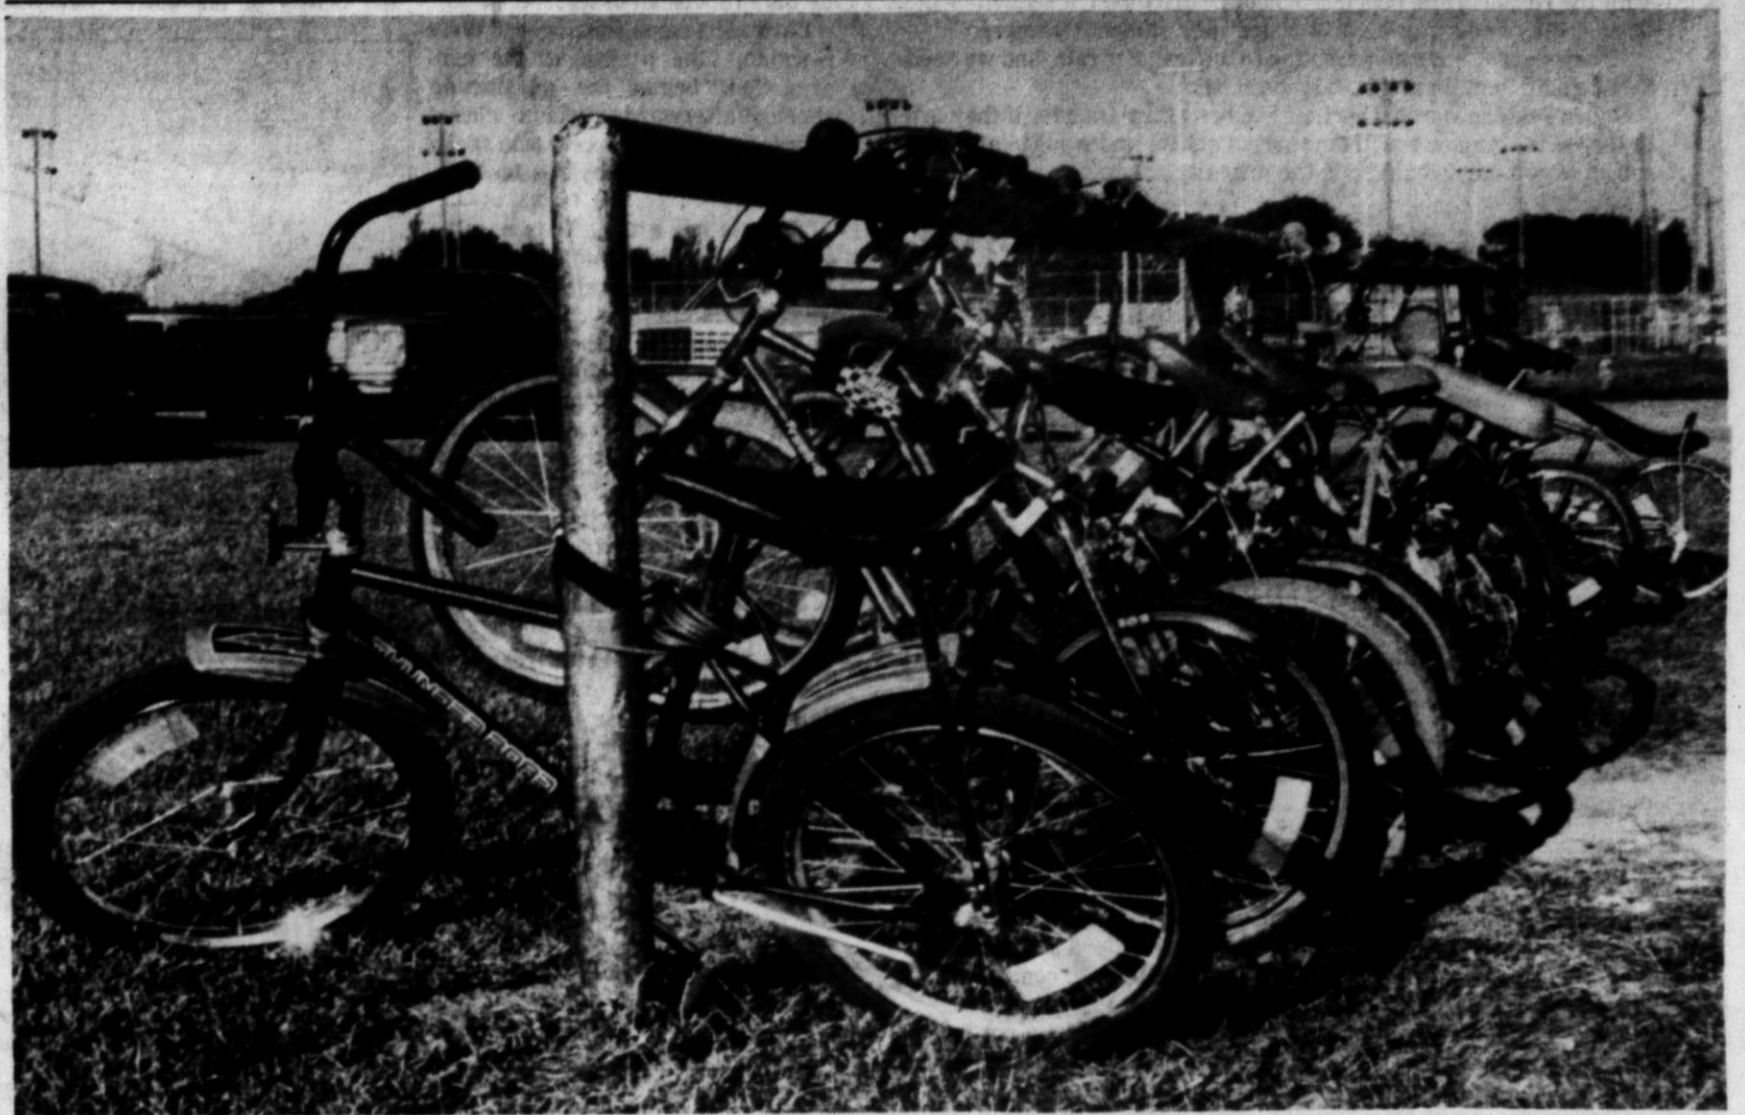

A July 18 meeting with Gondeck prompted Commissioner Bill Bradley to comment, "I think Mr. Gondeck finally understands we're not going to spend ore than we started out to."

The San Antonio firm agreed to meet with the low bidders and see what costs could be trimmed. According to Rose, negotiations resulted in only a $150,000 reduction.

At their their most recent meeting, on Aug. 27, commissioners told Gondeck over the telephone they would not authorize any payment exceeding $1.55 million. Commissioner Bruce Coleman claimed the architectural firm had "guaranteed" the project would not cost more than Gondeck had estimated.

The amount of architectural fees charged by Gondeck and Associates is not to change even though the company has revised its original drawings. According to Vesta Mae Nunley, county treasurer, Gondeck and Associates is to receive $112,000-plus for its work.

Coleman was with Bradley, Brown and Rose Thursday in San Antonio. Glen Nelson, county judge, and Commissioner James Voyles were unable to attend due to health problems.

Jerry Smith's trial scheduled Oct. 22

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

Aggravated perjury and official misconduct charges against Hereford attorney Jerry Smith are set for trial Oct. 22 in 222nd District Court.

District Clerk Lola Fae Veazy said the date was given to her over the telephone this week by 154th District Judge Pat Boone Jr. of Littlefield, who is presiding over the case.

Smith was originally to be tried the third week in August, but was granted a continuance because both he and his attorney, Jim Brown of Canyon, had conflicting court schedules.

Faces perjury, misdemeanor charges

Smith was indicted March 31 by an extended term grand jury that spent several months on an extensive investigation funded in part by a special appropriation from the Deaf Smith County Commission. Assistant Attorney General Linda Walden served as special counsel to the jury.

The perjury charge against Smith is a felony, while the two official misconduct charges are class A misdemeanors.

The perjury charge is based on statements made by Smith March 8, 1983 in 222nd District Court. During a pre-trial motion hearing involving the State of Texas versus Abelardo Tijerina case, Smith allegedly testified under oath that he did not engage in criminal defense work.

The grand jury investigation revealed that Smith had represented Jim Bullard of Hereford, who had been arrested on a speeding charge in Parmer County.

The misconduct charges stem from Smith's defense of Bullard and of Refugio Enriquez, who was later indicted on manslaughter charges in connection with a fatal traffic accident. In addition to hearing testimony from a number of subpoenaed witnesses, the grand jury considered results of a fraud audit made on financial records at the Hereford State Bank and the First State Bank of Vega.

Smith has also been singled out by the State Bar of Texas which filed a lawsuit Jan. 9 asking that he be reprimanded, suspended or disbarred. A similar suit is pending against Deaf Smith County Criminal District Attorney Roland Saul, for whom Smith worked as an assistant and law partner at the time the alleged offenses occurred.

Man gets five-year probation

An Amarillo man has been sentenced to five years probation, under the deferred adjudication provision, after pleading no contest to charges of failure to stop and render aid.

The case stemmed from an April auto accident that killed an 18-year-old Hereford woman.

Gaye Raymond Freeman, 48, who turned himself in a few days after the accident, was the driver of a pickup that struck a car driven by Dave Blea of Hereford and carrying Norma Jean Perez, who died instantly. The driver and his brother, Obed Blea, were not seriously injured.

Freeman, who appeared Thursday before 181st District Judge George Sowlen, was also fined $500. Under deferred adjudication, there is not a finding of guilty. If probation is violated, however, the defendant can be returned to court, found guilty and made to serve the entire sentence.

The accident occurred early the morning of April 17 at the southern edge of Amarillo, where the pickup driven by Freeman crossed the median and plowed into the car in which Perez was riding.

Two arrested for shoplifting

Hereford police arrested two women for shoplifting Thursday at a local discount store.

One woman was accused of taking less than $30 worth of items while her accomplice was caught with a toy valued at $10.99.

Police also made two arrests on related charges on warrants from the county court. A woman was taken into custody for allegedly committing theft by check and a man was charged with hindering a secured creditor. Another person was picked up for driving while license suspended and having no liability insurance.

Police investigated a possible minor theft at the municipal swimming pool and vandalism in the Hereford High School parking lot. A radio and cassette player were reportedly stolen from a car parked in the 200 block of Harrah Street.

Finally, a woman shopping at a local grocery store complained to police that a man tried to run over her in his car. She did not get a license number and said she did not recognize her assailant.

Building permit figures given

The City of Hereford issued 11 building permits during the month of August, for a total value of $544,780.

Of that figure, $450,000 was for a new Hereford Senior Citizens Center to be located on Ranger Street.

Desegregation suit has deadline

HOUSTON (AP) - After 28 years of litigation, attorneys for the NAACP and Houston schools could reach an agreement ending a school desegregation case.

The lawyers have been haggling over wording in the document since a tentative settlement was reached Aug. 30. They were told Thursday by U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor that they would have to come to terms or the case would be taken to trial Monday morning.

"I merely want to resolve the matter and will do so by trial if I need to," O'Connor said.

Patrice Johnson, a volunteer attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the group was at odds with the Houston Independent School District over a section of the 22-page out-of-court agreement concerning student transfers.

"They want to have an exception to the transfer rule, and we need it to be sufficiently narrow," Johnson said.

Under guidelines in the section, students may transfer if they are in the racial majority at their current school and want to attend a school where they would be in the minority.

Benefits program to be honored

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Mark White said he has been assured by Texas Department of Corrections officials that a benefits program for some prison employees will be made to comply with state law.

However, the governor said curbing inmate violence is the state's first priority in the prison system.

White's comments came Thursday after a state lawmaker declared that the TDC should immediately halt the program that provides subsidized food, laundry and other services for some prison employees.

"Since May, this (TDC) board has been wringing its hands trying to figure out how to continue this ridiculous ripoff of the taxpayers for the benefit of a select few employees at TDC," Rep. Ray Keller said.

Keller, R-Duncanville, is chairman of the House Law Enforcement Committee.

In a letter to TDC board chairman Robert Gunn, Keller said the prison board should take "whatever steps are necessary" at its Sept. 10 meeting "to cease at once the blatantly illegal aspects of the TDC emolument program."

Statue receiving mixed reviews

GRANBURY (AP) - Plans to build a 100-foot statue of Christ atop Comanche Peak and stage passion plays on the life of Jesus are getting mixed reviews from residents of this quaint north central Texas town.

But those are the plans of 13 men determined to buy a portion of the scenic mesa and turn it into an outdoor amphitheater for a musical rendition of the life of Christ.

"I think it's a great idea. It's a beautiful location, and it will bring in more tourists," said Nadine McCrary, a potter who makes the ceramic mugs sold at the town's candy and fudge shop.

But the shop's owner, Sue Collins, grimaced at the thought. "It will ruin Granbury," she said. "Can you imagine a 100-foot statue of Christ on top of the peak, looming over us. It sounds like they want to build a religious amusement park out there. Somebody called it 'Six Flags Over Jesus,' and that's what it sounds like."

Reagan vacations, Mondale attacks

President Reagan is taking a day off from campaigning while Walter Mondale, after accusing the president of opening his arms to those who would "impose their own beliefs on other people," charged the administration is trying to emasculate Social Security.

Mondale is in Georgia today for meetings with supporters in Atlanta, including one-time campaign official Bert Lance, and for a speech to a college audience.

The Democratic presidential challenger is on what has become a weekly trip into the South, and as soon as his plane touched down Thursday night he accused Reagan of planning an assault on the Social Security system if re-elected.

He said Reagan promised in 1980 to protect the program, "and he broke that promise immediately after the election and tried to emasculate the program and cut benefits substantially, by merely 80 billions of dollars."

"I'm strongly for Social Security. They can't keep their hands off the program," Mondale said.

Reagan was planning a weekend at Camp David with a political trip Sunday afternoon to Doylestown, Pa., outside Philadelphia, for a Polish festival.

Country singer Tubb dies

NASHVILLE (AP) - Honky-tonk music pioneer Ernest Tubb, who died after a long bout with emphysema, was remembered as "the last of the cowboys" who helped launch the careers of many country superstars.

Tubb, 70, known for such hits as "I'm Walking the Floor Over You," died Thursday at Baptist Hospital. He had been in poor health for about two years, and had been hospitalized since Aug. 10.

Minnie Pearl, who worked with Tubb for nearly 40 years on the Grand Ole Opry, said a part of country music's foundation died along with Tubb.

"I think all of us who were here back 45 years ago when this thing started feel that every time we lose one of the old-timers, we lose part of the foundation and I think that's what he was," she said.

"He was part of that early experience in the country music business. I know he's gone someplace where he's singing 'Walking the Floor Over You' and they're loving it."

Man executed in Florida

STARKE, Fla. (AP) - Ernest John Dobbert Jr., convicted of killing two of his children and abusing two others, was executed today in the electric chair for the "heinous" torture and strangulation of his 9-year-old daughter.

The U.S. Supreme Court, which had rejected three previous appeals from Dobbert, had refused to grant a stay, voting 6-3 against his latest appeal.

Dobbert, 46, was the 22nd person executed since the Supreme Court reinstated the death penalty in 1976 and the sixth put to death this year in Florida.

Dobbert reacted "very stoically" when told that a federal appeal court in Atlanta had refused Thursday to extend a 27-hour stay it granted Tuesday, said Corrections Department spokesman Vernon Bradford.

He spent his final evening with his attorney and ministers, his mother, Catherine Dobbert, two sisters and a daughter, Honore Vinglemann, Bradford said.

He was awakened at 4:30 a.m. for breakfast and final preparations, but he refused to eat, turning down both a regular prison meal and any special last meal offered condemned inmates, the spokesman said.

VATICAN CITY (AP) - Four days after condemning Marxist elements of "liberation theology," the Vatican today questioned a Franciscan cleric from Brazil who is a proponent of the movement that aims at aiding the world's poor and oppressed.

The Rev. Leonardo Boff entered the Vatican's Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith this morning using a side entrance, Vatican sources said. Boff, who often is photographed wearing layman's clothes, was dressed in the traditional hooded brown robe that is used by his Franciscan order.

Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger of West Germany, the prefect of the congregation, began the questioning shortly afterwards behind closed doors, added the sources, who spoke only on condition they not be identified.

"This is not a trial, it is a colloquium," Ratzinger told a news conference at the Vatican earlier this week, explaining the questioning of Boff. It is considered the most important Vatican questioning of a liberation theologian since the movement began two decades ago in Latin America.

Boff, given to colorful quotes, said the talk will amount to "a global judgment of our church, that goes into the cellars of society and attends to the outcasts, the miserable and the poor."

The 45-year-old Franciscan has spent the last few days in linear seclusion in Rome, honing his defenses of his book, "Church: Charisma and Power."

The book accuses the Vatican of elitism and of failing to take a firmer stand in defense of human rights and politically sensitive issues. Ratzinger, who heads the Vatican's chief watchdog body on religious teaching, will question Boff about possible doctrinal errors in the Brazilian's writing.

The questioning of Boff is part of a major campaign Pope John Paul II has been waging against Marxist elements in liberation theology.

Liberation theology is a movement that attempts to use the Gospel to justify nuns' and priests' social activism. It was born in Latin America in the 1960s and has spread as far as Africa, India, the Philippines and parts of the United States.

In latest ploy

American, Delta match fares

By SCOTT McCARTNEY
AP Business Writer

DALLAS (AP) - If Braniff Inc.'s latest ploy does not succeed in drawing travelers, the six-month-old resurrected airline will try dropping its fares and service even further and become a no-frills "People Express-type operation where you pay for your food and your baggage service," he said.

Meanwhile, American and Delta airlines said Thursday they will match Braniff Inc.'s new cut-rate fares, with certain restrictions.

Industry analysts had termed Wednesday's Braniff announcement as a "last-ditch" effort to succeed. After 22 months of bankruptcy proceedings, Braniff resumed operations March 1 with a $70 million investment from the Hyatt Hotel Corp.

Foley, a Hyatt executive who was dispatched to Braniff by Hyatt Chairman Jay Pritzker, said Hyatt would keep Braniff flying "until it's successful."

He tried to allay industry fears that Braniff was headed down the same route that forced Braniff International into reorganization in 1982, saying the new Braniff "is a cash-rich company."

"We've got between $30 million and $40 million and there are assets we can sell and other places we can get money," he said.

"If you look at our history, we've never had a failure and we're not

Myra A. McDaniel

Woman first black Secretary of State

AUSTIN (AP) - Noting that increased voter registration has done a lot for blacks and women, Texas' new secretary of state nominee says she plans to emphasize voter registration in her new office.

"I feel it's most important that every citizen expresses his or her views. You can only do that at the voting box," said Myra A. McDaniel, a 51-year-old lawyer named Thursday by Gov. Mark White as the first black secretary of state.

Mrs. McDaniel, who served as general legal counsel to White before entering private practice earlier this year, said the power of the ballot has been used well.

The theology includes highly theoretical studies carried out by scholars in the United States and Western Europe.

In Latin America, the United States, the Philippines and Tanzania, it includes tens of thousands of "base communities," groups of several dozen lay people each that strive to heighten social awareness in conjunction with New Testament teaching. Some also teach the poor to read and write and instruct them about their voting rights.

A legendary liberation theologian was the Rev. Camillo Torres, a priest who took up guns and joined the rebels of his native Colombia before dying at age 37 in a shootout with the army in 1966. He became a kind of martyr for the Latin American left.

The Vatican said elements of liberation theology also can be found among priests working for the poor in parts of India.

In a major report released Monday, the Vatican used the term in the plural, referring to "theologies of liberation." Apparently to show the sometimes imprecise nature of exactly what the movement includes, the report stated:

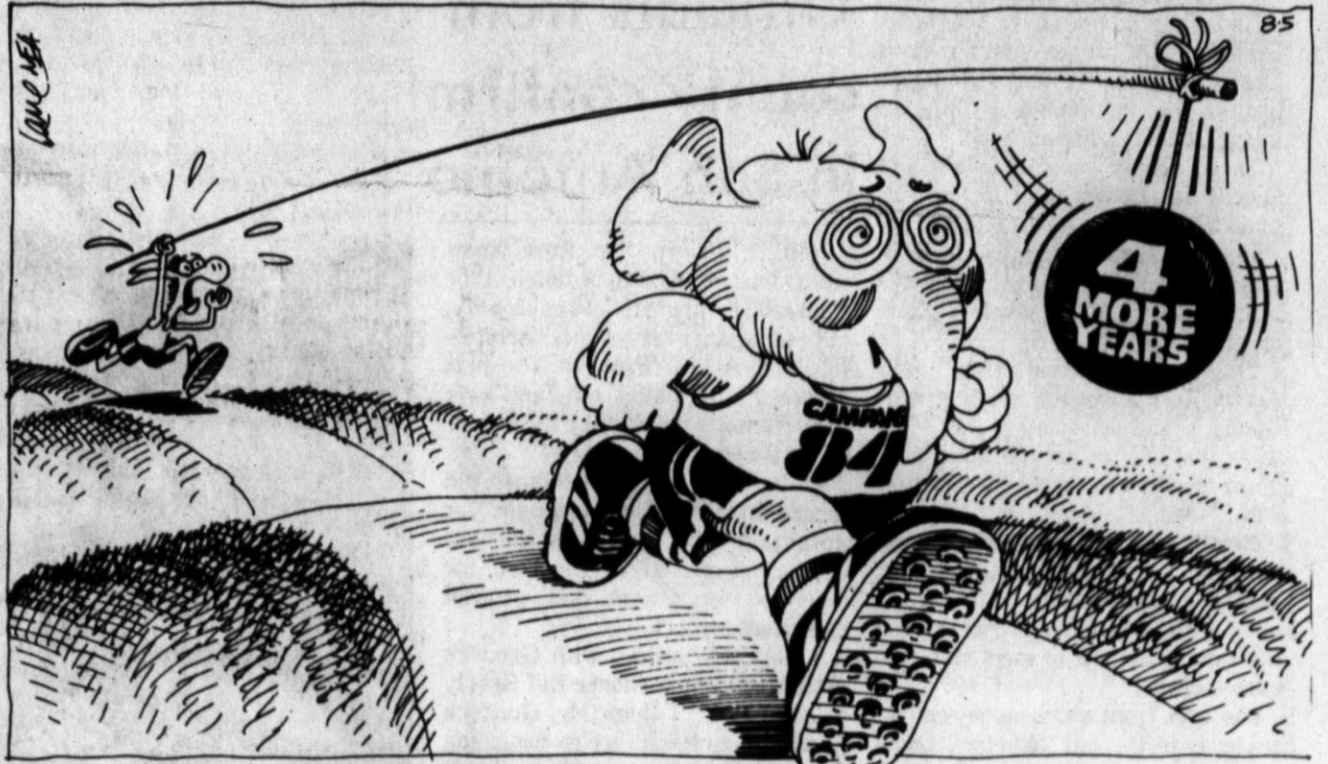

"As with all movements of ideas, the 'theologies of liberation' present diverse theological positions. Their doctrinal frontiers are badly defined."

The Vatican report, prepared by Ratzinger's congregation, took pains to emphasize the Roman Catholic Church's concern for the poor and oppressed.

But the Vatican objects to what it sees as a heavy influence of Marxist "class struggle" mixed into liberation theology's aims of freeing the poor from wealthy landowners, military dictators and even "the savage practices of some foreign capital interests."

In its report, the Vatican said such Marxist principles "directly threaten the truths of the faith."

Negotiations at virtual standstill

By BARRY SCHWEID
AP Diplomatic Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Barring the unexpected, President Reagan will complete his current term in the White House with negotiations with the Soviet Union — nuclear and otherwise — at a virtual standstill.

Not only are the Geneva talks to reduce nuclear weapons indefinitely suspended, there is almost no chance of a meeting in Vienna to head off a race in space. The Soviets are demanding a test ban in advance. The administration refuses to agree to the precondition.

The only bit of ongoing diplomatic business concerns the lapsed cultural exchange agreement between Washington and Moscow. Even talks on opening new consulates for the Russians in New York and the Americans in Kiev are bogged down over a Soviet bid to resume U.S. flights of Aeroflot.

Indeed, contact between the two governments is being stepped up. Secretary of State George Shultz will meet in New York at the end of the month with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and they probably will hold a second round, in Washington in early October.

Reagan may also see the Soviet official, whose role in shaping Soviet foreign policy appears to be at an all-time high.

However, there are no predictions of a breakthrough, or even a new surge of cooperation between the superpowers.

For more than a year, U.S.-Soviet diplomacy has focused mostly on the routine, through the customary ambassadorial channels. The last special U.S. emissary, Brent Scowcroft, went to Moscow in March. He tried to deliver a letter from Reagan to Soviet President Konstantin Chernenko, but was shunted off to a lower-level official.

Scowcroft returned with the undelivered message and the conviction that there is no "paramount leader" in charge in the Kremlin. A number of officials at the State Department share his view that the Soviets are operating under a rigid, cautious collective leadership that has trouble making decisions.

Reagan, meanwhile, hasn't made it easy for the Soviets. Besides periodically attacking their system of government as "evil," he set conditions for reducing medium and long-range nuclear weapons that former Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. described in his memoirs as "not negotiable."

Last week, the State Department was abuzz with speculation that Chernenko might be seriously ill, further paralyzing the decision-making process in Moscow.

Ann Landers

Reader isn't nuts

Dear Ann Landers: I sympathize with the person who was upset by her noisy neighbors. She said she couldn't afford to live in a better building. You advised her to move.

Several years ago I had the same problem. I lived in an old building. It was bad enough just listening to the pipes clank when someone in another apartment turned on the water, but the worst problem was noisy neighbors. The man next door slept all day and played the drums all night. When I complained to the landlord he said, "Everybody has a right to his own lifestyle." Finally I called the police. That stopped the drummer—for a few minutes. He started up again a half hour after the police left.

When you don't have much money it's hard to move. I don't mean it's hard to move to a better place—it's hard to move to another dump because even the crummy buildings demand a security deposit plus the first month's rent.

Finally, I scraped together the money to move. It was quiet for a few days. Then someone moved in downstairs under my apartment. My new neighbors were fond of playing loud music at all hours of the night—2 a.m., 3 a.m., 4 a.m. I complained. It did no good. I didn't have the money to move again, but finally I did move—into a mental hospital with a nervous break down.

You'll probably say the noise didn't give me the nervous breakdown, there must have been a lot of other problems, and you're right. But noise, excessive noise, consistently assaulting your eardrums can bring a half-sick person to the breaking point. Or am I completely

nuts?—Ear Plugs Give Me Headaches

Dear Friend: No, you aren't nuts. I do not doubt for a minute that the relentless noise drove you around the bend. It wasn't the reason, but it could have caused a rip in the fabric already weakened by other factors.

Thank you for writing. Your letter won't solve the problem, but it will make a great many people feel better. And that in itself makes it worth printing.

Dear Ann: My wife and I were invited to a 60th wedding anniversary. The guests were asked to come between 2 and 5 p.m. The flowers were lovely and the food was marvelous. One could see that a great deal of effort and love (as well as money) went into the plans. Every guest who came through the door had his picture taken for the couple's scrapbook.

The three hours went by rapidly and everyone had a grand time. Promptly at 5:00 the door bell rang and the hostess greeted a couple we all knew. My mouth fell open when I saw the man wearing a short-sleeved shirt, no tie, printed pants and a pair of sandals. He looked as if he had been working in the yard and his wife said, "I forgot to tell you that we have to go to a 60th wedding anniversary party! Come on!" So he jumped in the car and came the way he was. The host and hostess were embarrassed and I believe relieved that this couple didn't show up while a large number of guests were there.

Why would people do this?—Bewildered in Detroit

Dear B in D: I don't have the foggiest notion. Perhaps your version is right on. Or maybe they didn't realize the affair was going to be so elegant. No excuse is good enough, however. The appearance was an insult to the honored couple.

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex—Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois.

La Plata defenders barely grab a Canyon Valley Veiv runner as he sweeps left end Thursday. After only a short time practicing,

Junior highs, junior varsities

Locals successful in football

Hereford took two of two junior varsity games Thursday, the Maroon J.V. blanking Canyon 26-0 in Hereford, and the White J.V. beating Amarillo 26-12 in Amarillo.

In other action, La Plata eighth grade downed Canyon Valley View 3-2 in a scrimmage while the ninth grade won five touchdowns to one, also in a scrimmage. Stanton eighth and ninth grade also scrimmaged against Canyon and Canyon Valley View, respectively, but scoring was not a part of the contests.

In J.V. action, Trent Layman ran for one touchdown and kicked two extra-points to lead the Maroon attack. Kyle Streun, Mike Kellum and David Ankeney also ran for six pointers.

Kellum scored on a long run, coach Eddie Richardson said.

"We played a real young Canyon team," he said. "Most of them probably were sophomores."

The White J.V. scored once in each of the first and second quarters and twice in the third quarter. Amarillo was held in check until the fourth quarter, but scored twice to make the final score.

"The kids played real well," coach T.R. Sartor said. "(They played) real good defense."

Spikers delayed, then fall to Pampa

Pampa was a little late getting to Hereford for Thursday night's volleyball game, but Pampa's team wasn't slow or late in putting points on the board, taking four games from the Herd.

Hereford's varsity bowed 15-12 and 15-7, and the junior varsity lost 15-2, 15-7.

"We just kind of stagnated," coach Cindy McMillan said. "Too many mistakes. You can't win until you get your serves in."

The coach reported Cindy Pruitt had six points in both games to lead the varsity spikers and Susie Tanez scored four for the junior varsity.

The Herd opens district play Tuesday night in Hereford when Caprock is in for a J.V. and varsity game.

Outlook not bright for SWC teams

By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer

There are only two games on the Southwest Conference football schedule Saturday and oddsmakers said Rice and Baylor were underdogs in both of them.

Minnesota, with new Coach Lou Holtz, formerly of Arkansas, making his debut was a field goal favorite to defeat the Owls and their new Coach Watson Brown.

Baylor, although it upset Brigham Young last year, was a six-point underdog in their return match at Provo, Utah. BYU stunned Pittsburgh last week.

Texas A&M nipped Texas-El Paso 20-17 last weekend in the only other game involving an SWC team to be played in the young 1984 season.

Baylor Coach Grant Teaff won't reveal his starting quarterback until the kickoff against BYU but said both Tommy Muecke and Cody Carlson will log considerable playing time.

Teaff said the Bears will have to outgun BYU much as it did last year in a 40-38 victory. It was BYU's only loss of the season.

and third quarters on runs of 65 and 40 yards. Mark Artho also scored twice, in the second and third quarters, first on a 40-yard run and then on a 30-yard interception return.

La Plata coach Bill Talley said he thought the junior highs had a good team effort.

"The eighth grade had only practiced three times," he said. "Really, I was pleased."

Stanton coach James Salinas also expressed his pleasure with Stanton's teams.

White relegated to punting duty

'Pokes sign receivers

By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Danny White will do the punting and Doug Donley and Mike Renfro will start at wide receiver for the Dallas Cowboys against the New York Giants on Sunday.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry cut barefoot punter Jim Miller on Thursday and signed free agent wide receivers Harold Carmichael, an old foe from Philadelphia, and Waddell Smith, a former Canadian Football League star.

The Cowboys needed wide receiver help because of Tony Hill's separated shoulder.

White, who lost his starting job to Gary Hogeboom, was delighted to be taking an active role on the squad.

"I've said before I'll do anything I can to help this team," said White. "I told Coach Landry I'd be happy to punt."

Gil Brandt, player personnel director of the Cowboys, said the 34-year-old Carmichael signed a one-year contract while the 29-year-old Smith signed a two-year pact with a one-year option. No salary figures were given.

"It's wild being here, just wild," said a happy Carmichael who was dropped by the Eagles after the 1983 season following a 13-year career. Carmichael tried out with the New

Jets get too much Woodley, not enough points in NFL loss

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP)—David Woodley was too much for the New York Jets . . . and the Jets' offensive line just wasn't enough for Pat Ryan.

Playing only five days after suffering a concussion against the Kansas City Chiefs on opening day, Woodley picked the Jets apart with intelligent play-calling and passing Thursday night, leading the Pittsburgh Steelers to a 23-17 National Football League victory.

The Jets, meanwhile, hurt themselves with poor offensive line play that allowed Ryan little protection at quarterback.

"We knew coming into the game that the Steelers had a fine pass rush," said Jets coach Joe Walton. "They blitzed us quite a bit and we obviously had trouble picking it up."

Ryan was sacked four times for a total of 27 yards, some of them in crucial situations. Rushing his passes quite a bit, Ryan had three intercepted, including two by Sam Washington that stopped Jets' drives in the final quarter.

"Inexperience hurt me," said Ryan, making only the second start in his NFL career, both within the last week. "There were just a lot of dumb plays on my part."

In all, Woodley hit 14 of 25 passes for 187 yards and two touchdowns. Gary Anderson provided the rest of the Pittsburgh offense with three field goals—although uncharacteristically, Anderson also missed a 27-yarder and a 30-yarder in the fourth quarter that could have made Pittsburgh's job a bit easier.

The Jets, playing before a crowd of 70,654 in their first regular-season home game at Giants Stadium after moving from New York's Shea Stadium after last season, lost their first game after an opening-day victory over Indianapolis.

On Sunday, it's San Diego at Seattle; New England at Miami; Buffalo at St. Louis; Dallas at the New York Giants; Denver at Chicago; Detroit at Atlanta; Kansas City at Cincinnati; Minnesota at Philadelphia; Tampa Bay at New Orleans;

DON'T KISS $8,938 GOODBYE

That's how much you could lose just on resale value if you don't buy a John Deere

Looking for a big discount when you buy a tractor? Don't get stuck with an even bigger discount when you want to trade.

Always consider resale value when you price a field tractor. Because the differences among brands may sometimes be bigger than ANY purchase incentive.

Compare John Deere with our two leading competitors. According to the Spring 1984 Official Guide of the National Farm and Power Equipment Dealers Association, the average 5-year-old John Deere 4440 sells for 106 percent of its 1979 list price. One leading competitor averages 87 percent of its 1979 list price. The other averages 73 percent.

What's that mean in dollars? Add the John Deere gain on original price to the competitor's loss. The John Deere advantage is as much as $8,938!

Is this only true of one model? No. Every 40 Series 90- to 180-hp tractor has an average resale price that's higher than its new price five years ago.

Is resale your only John Deere advantage? No. Don't forget the remarkable fuel efficiency of today's 50 Series John Deere Tractors. And don't forget our unmatched reputation for high quality and high reliability. See your John Deere dealer. He'll be happy to explain the big difference between a low-price tractor and a low-cost John Deere: 100-hp 4050, 120-hp 4250, 140-hp 4450, 165-hp 4650 or 190-hp 4850.

NOTE: Average resale prices taken from Spring 1984 Official Guide of The National Farm and Power Equipment Dealers Association.

Herd to host Central today

San Angelo Central football players are expected to arrive in Hereford this afternoon, healthy and eager to meet the Whitefaces in a 7:30 p.m. game at Whiteface Stadium.

The game, which marks the season opener for both teams, probably will feature a defensive battle. Seven starters return for Central from a defense which allowed only 11.6 points per game last year. Five starters on defense return for the Whitefaces from a squad allowed a mere 7.6 points per game in 1983.

Both Hereford High School coach Jerry Taylor and Central High School coach Jimmie Keeling believe the game will be low scoring.

Central is in District 4-5A, tabbed a "little Southwest Conference" by many because of such powerhouses as Odessa Permian and Midland Lee.

Six players for the Whitefaces' will miss tonight's action due to injuries. Chet Bunch, DB-Rec., Andy McCathern, DB-Rec., Danny Castillo, DE-RB, Freddie Gamboa, DB-G, Albert Tijerina, LB-G, and Dennis Chandler, T-T, are expected to be out.

Taylor expects to attempt a running game against the Bobcats. Central has a weight advantage of nearly six pounds per player over Herd's defense. Likewise, Central's defense has a three-pound advantage over Herd's offense.

Cross country team opens slate Saturday

Hereford High School's cross country team begins the season Saturday when the athletes travel to Levelland for four meets.

The junior varsity girls will run first on a two-mile course, followed by the varsity girls on the same course. Junior varsity and varsity boys are to be next, respectively, both teams running a three-mile course.

Coach Martha Emerson said she is expecting good results, especially from her girls' team.

"We should have a pretty good girls' team," she said. "Four of them ran last year on the district championship team."

"We don't have many guys out for the team. But they've got a shot at it."

Emerson added that school had not been in session long enough for team members to be at their best. She said a full junior varsity boys team was not complete. Selma Moreno is one of the better hopes Hereford has to advance beyond district. Moreno was fifth in last year's state meet.

"I'm hoping, of course, she can win district this year," Emerson said. Saturday's meet begins at 10 a.m. in Levelland City Park.

Plainview bites Estacado, 14-0

The Plainview Bulldogs of District 3-5A put a mark on the winning side of the ledger Thursday by blanking Estacado 14-0.

Bulldog running back Scooter Billington scored on one-yard runs in both the second and fourth quarters. Jason Wheeler added both PATs.

Top teams tangle in college football

By BARRY WILNER AP Sports Writer

From what they say about their teams, you would think football coaches Danny Ford of Clemson and Tom Osborne of Nebraska were headed for disaster this weekend.

Instead, Ford and Osborne are at the helms of two of the top three teams in the nation as college football gets into full swing Saturday. Clemson, ranked third and coming off a 40-7 romp over Appalachian State, visits Virginia in an Atlantic Coast Conference night game. Nebraska opens its campaign hosting Wyoming. Neither the Tigers or Cornhuskers figure to have many problems Saturday — though you'd never get that feeling by listening to the coaches.

"If we're going to have a reputation for being a great team, we've got to be good enough to back that up," said Ford, who was unhappy despite last Saturday's rout of outmanned Appalachian State. "Sometimes I don't think the players listen to me when I tell them an opponent's going to be tough."

"But I keep telling them Virginia's a good team."

Panel members occupations told

The Hereford Brand's annual grid contest began this week, with the Fearless Forecasters featured Thursday.

Members of the panel include the Brand publisher, O.G. Nieman, and sports editor, Dennis Ball. Other members are Helen Higgins, Betty Martin and Butch White.

Higgins is owner of Helen's Youth Shop in Hereford, Martin owns Louise's in Sugarland Mall and White owns Boots and Saddle Western Wear, also in Hereford.

Martin and Ball are new to the panel, while Nieman, Higgins and White were members last year.

COWBOYS

York Jets but was cut in training camp.

"Carmichael looked good catching the ball," said Brandt. "He is not in real top shape and it will take him a week or 10 days to get into shape. He is not overweight, he just hasn't been running a lot. He looked good."

The Cowboys feel they found a sleeper in Smith, who was Warren Moon's No. 1 target with the Edmonton Eskimos.

"Smith is a very, very fast guy and did an excellent job in Canada," Brandt said. "We've been watching him. He came down to the NFL this year and was the last cut of the Los Angeles Raiders."

"He has pretty good hands, I'd say above average hands. He caught it very well."

The 6-8 Carmichael was the all-time leading receiver for the Eagles and always had big days against Dallas. The Cowboys broke his NFL record streak of 127 consecutive games with a reception when cornerback Dennis Thurman knocked him out on Dec. 21, 1980.

"I never dreamed I'd be here, it's just unreal," said Carmichael. "I'd like to apologize to the Cowboys for some of the heated games we've had."

The 225-pound Carmichael has 589 catches for 8,978 yards and 79 touchdowns in the NFL.

The 6-2, 180-pound Smith spent 7 years with Edmonton.

Hernandez elected festival queen

Patricia Hernandez won the title of Queen for 1984-1985 for Fiestas Patrias, a festival celebrating Mexico's independence from Spain.

The festival will be celebrated Sept. 14 and 15 and serves as a fund-raiser for San Jose Church. The title of Queen is determined by who raises the most money during the fund-raiser.

Hernandez, 19, raised $7,494. She is a student at Hereford High School and enjoys bike riding, playing baseball and singing.

Hortencia Cavarrunio, 18, was elected Princess after raising $3,630. She also attends Hereford High School and is interested in tennis, volleyball and band.

Esmeralda Arellano, 17, was chosen as Duchess after raising $1,860. She attends Hereford High School and is a member of Saint Anthony's Catholic Church. She enjoys tennis, bike riding, band and swimming. She is currently employed by Mr. Burger.
