Although the All-Girl Rodeo had to be postponed and the Jubilee Junction was moved from Dameron Park to the Bull Barn, local residents didn't let the rainy weather keep them away from the Town and Country Jubilee festivities this weekend.

Many donned raincoats and carried umbrellas for the Saturday morning parade down Main Street, which was tainted only by a slight mist, and the sun managed to peep through the clouds that afternoon, providing a nice day after all.

Entries in the 1984 jubilee parade were judged by Garth Thomas and Argen Draper, and awards were presented in the categories named below.

The best theme, or "co-chairmen's" award was presented to the Deaf Smith County Home Extension Council.

The agri-business division was represented by Jake Holster Inc., "Sodbusters" award in the farming category; Hereford Bi-Products (Local Used Cow Dealer), "Cattlemen," ranching; Case Tractor and Equipment, "Reapers," farm equipment; George Warner Seed, "Rogers," seed growers; and Frito Lay, "Taste Bud," food processors.

The commercial awards included Swift Independent, "Wall Streeter," and Larrymore Dance Studios, "Buttons and Bows." The Hereford Fine Arts Association received the patriotic division "General Washington" award; the Mormon Church's Family of the Year float earned the religious division "Bishops" award; and the Oak community division "Special" award.

In the youth division, Cub Scouts Pack 54 from St. Anthony's Church received the "Golden Den" award; Boy Scout Troop 50, "Valley Forge"; Lawrence Carlson and family, "Mold Board." Young Farmers; Hereford High School cheerleaders, "Pepper Uppers"; Hereford High School band, "High Steppers."

Representing service clubs, the Hereford Lions Club received the "Gavel" award; and in the study club category, Deaf Smith County Home Extension Council was presented the "Encyclopedia" award.

The hobby club division awards went to S.C. Brewton, "Tin Lizzie," antique cars; Hereford Charrros Riding Club, "Golden Stallion," riding club; Panhandle Road Riders, "Golden Wheels," motorcycle club; and Merry Mixers, "Golden Slippers," square dance.

Following the parade, crowds headed to the Bull Barn to feast at the annual Kiwanis Club barbecue and numerous other food booths featuring sausage and kraut, hamburgers, Mexican food and homemade ice cream. Activities such as the dunking board sponsored by the Nazarene youth group and Scout Troop 155 pony cart rides overflowed to the outside lots surrounding the Bull Barn, while the in-

Herbicide hearing set Oct. 15

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN

A public hearing to consider the regulation of the herbicide 2,4-D has been set for Oct. 15 by Deaf Smith County Commissioners.

That action came during Monday's regular commission meeting, when a discussion about use of the chemical was attended by farmers from Deaf Smith and Parmer counties and representatives of the Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA).

Damage to cotton fields in the two counties has been investigated by the TDA, which says at least 30,000 acres of the crop have been partially or completely damaged by 2,4-D. Cotton growers in Parmer County, where the damage appears to be heaviest, claim the substance drifted onto their crops after being sprayed in Deaf Smith County.

Parmer County farmers make request

Spectators filled the county courtroom, where the Parmer County delegation made its request that "ester" formulations of 2,4-D be banned in the county from April 1 to Nov. 1, the cotton growing season.

Commissioners heard remarks from several cotton growers, including Billy Wayne Sisson, who has land in both counties.

"I still believe a man ought to do what he wants to on his own land, but don't hurt your neighbor," Sisson said. "Let's forget about suing this and suing that. Let's solve the problem in a gentleman-like way."

A decision to sue for damages was made by cotton farmers attending a meeting in Friona recently, with the group selecting a Houston attorney who has worked on herbicide litigation to handle the class action lawsuit.

Patrick Redman, an attorney with the legal division of TDA, told commissioners they should set a hearing date and make sure the meeting is well publicized.

"Let the people involved air their concerns," he explained. "Then you can issue an order based on the information you get."

Commissioner Bruce Coleman told Redman that prior to the hearing, he wants commissioners to be advised of the ramifications of regulating the chemical. He said he wants to know what the restrictions would cost farmers in time and money and whether the ban could really be enforced.

"I would hate to see some of us unnecessarily saddled with regulations we don't need," Coleman stated. "Every nation that has put its farming in the decision of the bureaucracy has failed to feed itself."

Mubarak points finger at Libya for sea firings

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Hosni Mubarak says Libya alone may be responsible for the mysterious attacks on shipping in the Red Sea, which have brought requests for U.S., British and French military aid from both Egypt and Saudi Arabia.

Lloyd's of London's Shipping Intelligence Department says 16 vessels in the Red Sea have been hit by mines in the past two months.

At a news conference Monday Mubarak said: "I believe the Libyans did it, but until now we are waiting to find a mine to confirm our suspicions."

Last week, Mubarak had voiced suspicions about both Libya and Iran, but he said Monday: "I hope Iran is not involved." Both Libya and Iran have denied involvement.

There was no official explanation for his changed stance toward Iran, although there was speculation Mubarak might be seeking to enhance an Egyptian role as a peacemaker in the Iran-Iraq war.

Aid requested

Mubarak brushed aside claims of responsibility by a group calling itself Islamic Jihad (Islamic holy war). Some Western intelligence sources have linked this group with Iran, but others have said more than one extremist group may be using the name Islamic Jihad as a cover.

The British Embassy in Cairo said four British mine hunters would enter the Suez Canal today and begin their search for mines in the Gulf of Suez on Wednesday.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said four U.S. Sea Stallion minesweeping helicopters were due to reach the Red Sea aboard the transport ship Shreveport by midweek, as requested by Egypt.

Two French minesweepers and a support vessel were also en route to the Gulf of Suez to join in the international effort at Egypt's request, and Italy is considering sending help.

Big Splash

The Rev. Bob Huffaker, pastor of Hereford Church of the Nazarene, takes a big splash as the ball hits the bull's-eye at the dunking board sponsored by the Good Guys Youth Ministry of the Nazarene Church. Even though the Jubilee Junction had to be moved to the Bull Barn because of last week's rains, events such as this one could still be held outside on the parking lot as the weather warmed up Saturday afternoon.

Fund established for Collier

A medical fund has been established in Hereford to benefit a former resident injured recently in an automobile accident.

Rusty Collier, 21, suffered a broken back as a result of the wreck near Roswell, N.M. He and his wife Lisa are Hereford natives, though they moved to Almagordo about a year and a half ago.

The funds are at Hereford State and First National Banks as well as at Hi Plains Savings and Loan and Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union.

Police investigate 11 thefts

Ten minor thefts occurred here since Friday, while a $1,870 crime resulted in the arrest of a juvenile, Hereford police reported this morning.

The major theft involved a purse taken from Julia Chavez of 509 Grand Ave. Inside her handbag were several watches and about $450 cash. Lupe Chavez, the county juvenile officer, said this morning he was not certain whether all the items had been recovered.

Meanwhile, police investigated three burglaries and one incident apiece of assault with a deadly weapon, disorderly conduct, harassment and vandalism, among other things. Weekend arrests included eight for driving while intoxicated, four for public intoxication and one each for drunk in control of a motor vehicle, minor in consumption and urinating in public.

There were also five non-injury motor vehicle accidents handled by police between Friday and this morning.

Future of placard not known

DALLAS (AP) — An anti-Republican group says it hasn't decided yet whether to remount a mammoth paper sign that Dallas police ordered taken down from a chain-link fence around the site of the GOP national convention.

The Dallas March and Rally Committee put up the 250-foot brown paper sign protesting "Republican Ethics, Greed, War and Bigotry" on a security fence outside the Dallas Convention Center.

But before workers finished, two city policemen asked that the demonstration be stopped until a dispute over the sign's legality is resolved.

The two sides were still at an impasse Monday night, although committee spokesman Joe Murray said the group had taken the sign down for the night.

He was quick to add, however, that the sign wasn't removed because of police pressure.

"We're taking it down because we're done for today," he said. "As for whether we're going to put it up tomorrow (Tuesday), we have to bring the issue before our steering committee first."

Woman seeks help to end debt

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Armed with a copy of "Who's Who in the South and Southwest," Margaret Wick is calling on prominent citizens to help pay off the nation's trillion-dollar debt.

Last year, the Zapata woman mailed out 6,250 letters asking for donations to a debt reduction fund.

There are no figures available on how well her efforts have paid off. But in fiscal 1983, the Treasury Department reported contributions totaling $911,179 to pay off the national debt.

Six months into fiscal 1984, contributions totaled $1.3 million.

Mrs. Wick, 71, is the one-woman Texas branch of the Debt Retirement Network, a national grass-roots organization whose aim is to reduce the nation's overwhelming debt.

Kay Fishburn of New Berlin, Wis., founded the organization and recruited Mrs. Wick to help out. Mrs. Wick volunteered after Ms. Fishburn sent out letters to newspaper editors nationwide asking for help.

"A lot of people complain that the people in Congress are being paid to keep a balanced budget and that having a huge debt is no way to run the country," said the Zapata woman.

Debate over debates continues

AUSTIN (AP) — Republican U.S. Senate candidate Phil Gramm and Democrat Lloyd Doggett have accepted invitations to debate — but at different sessions.

Gramm on Monday said he has accepted a September debate invitation from two San Antonio groups. Doggett said he has accepted invitations to six sessions in October and that he is willing to debate Gramm in the Republican's hometown.

The two are battling for the seat being vacated by retiring GOP Sen. John Tower.

Gramm said he accepted an invitation to participate in a debate proposed for Sept. 11 by the San Antonio Bar Association and Bexar County Medical Society.

"I believe this debate will provide an excellent forum for the people of San Antonio and of Texas to see the clear-cut differences between the positions of Mr. Doggett and myself on the key issues facing Texas and the nation," Gramm said.

Mondale talks 'sensible defense'

NORTH OAKS, Minn. (AP) — Walter F. Mondale, making his third campaign trip in as many weeks to the South today, is preaching "a sensible defense" policy and criticizing President Reagan for free spending on big-ticket weapons.

Despite his attempt to put the focus on military issues this week, Mondale is being dogged by questions about the finances of his running mate, Geraldine Ferraro.

Mondale was beginning a two-day, four-state trip with a flight to Little Rock, Ark., for a "citizens forum" to answer questions from the public.

He was going on to Memphis, Tenn., to greet supporters later in the day.

Stops were planned Wednesday in Louisville, Ky., and Macon, Ga., before a return flight to Minnesota.

A CBS-New York Times poll released Monday shows Mondale-Ferraro trailing Reagan and Vice President George Bush by 54 percent to 38 percent, with the Democrats behind in all regions. The survey of 1,188 registered voters was taken Aug. 5-9 and has a margin of error plus or minus 3 percent.

Jurors to hear argument tapes

KEOKUK, Iowa (AP) — Jurors in the trial of a chiropractor charged with killing his wife and cutting her apart with a chain saw will hear a tape of a "terrible domestic argument" the woman secretly recorded before she vanished, a defense lawyer said.

District Judge James Havercamp said he will keep court in session today until 32 potential jurors are questioned and a 12-member jury selected to consider first-degree murder charges against Dr. James Klindt, 36, a former Davenport West High School track star.

Authorities allege Klindt cut up the body of his wife, Joyce, with a chain saw in March 1983 and dumped the pieces into the Mississippi River.

Klindt contends that his wife moved away because of their marital problems.

Attorneys interviewed 17 potential jurors Monday, the first day of jury selection, asking if their judgment would be affected by "more than unpleasant" pictures of the torso or a videotape of the autopsy.

Walesa mobbed on anniversary

GDANSK, Poland (AP) — Stirred by a priest's declaration that Solidarity's ideals will outlast its enemies, hundreds of supporters cheered Lech Walesa after a Mass marking today's anniversary of strikes that spawned the now-banned union.

Walesa, who helped establish the union four years ago, and about 2,500 other worshippers raised their hands in victory signs during the Mass Monday evening in St. Brygida's, the parish church for the Lenin Shipyards where Solidarity was formed in 1980 as the Soviet bloc's first and only independent trade movement.

"Working people should be able to unite in the trade unions of their choice," said the Rev. Jerzy Popieluszko in his sermon as Walesa sat at the side of the altar.

"Solidarity remains an ideal in the heart of the nation," Popieluszko said. "Nobody can defeat this ideal because it is strongly rooted in the hearts of millions and many paid a high price for it."

Authorities imposed martial law in December 1981 to suppress, then outlaw Solidarity and discourage bold sentiments of freedom inspired by the union's existence.

Reagan remark draws criticism

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — While Democratic presidential hopeful Walter Mondale criticized President Reagan for joking that the Soviet Union was about to be bombed, White House officials sought to learn the cause of the slip-up that allowed the joke to be recorded by news networks.

CBS and NBC aired their recordings of the President's remarks on Monday evening's news programs, two days after Reagan told the joke while testing a microphone prior to his regular Saturday radio address from his ranch near Santa Barbara.

As recorded by CBS, the President said, "My fellow Americans, I'm pleased to tell you today that I've signed legislation that will outlaw Russia forever. We begin bombing in five minutes."

A White House official, who spoke only on the condition that he not be identified, confirmed the President had made the statement, but said it was merely a joke by a man who likes to tell jokes.

"It's unfortunate that it got out," he said. He added that the White House was investigating to see how the slip-up occurred and to make sure it didn't happen again.

But Mondale, speaking in Minneapolis, said of the joke, "I don't think it is very funny."

"When the world hears those sorts of things, maybe some will dismiss it as some kind of joke; others may think it means something."

Officially, administration spokesmen continued to decline all comment, insisting that anything the President said before he went on the air was off the record.

Rep. Geraldine Ferraro, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, also criticized the comment.

"I don't know how you feel, but I don't think it is a joking matter," she told a campaign audience in Los Angeles.

There was also criticism abroad. The opposition party in West Germany, the Social Democrats, issued a press release calling Reagan "an irresponsible old man" and the leftist Green Party said the "perverse joke... makes the blood of every reasonable person run cold."

The prestigious Paris newspaper Le Monde headlined its story about the comment, "Gaffe."

COUNTY

Commissioners approved the appointment of Karen Poston to the District Advisory Committee of the Hereford Family Services Center. She replaces Diane Rowton, who served two terms on the committee.

The commissioners court also decided to donate $1,000 to the High Plains Food bank and appointed Bill Johnson to serve on the Child Welfare Board. Johnson will replace Beverly Jayroe, who has moved to Amarillo.

Commissioners met in closed session with representatives from the district attorney's office to discuss possible litigation. Commissioner James Voyles said no action was taken as a result of the meeting.

County Auditor Alex Schroeter, who has been asked to oversee the county's efforts to come into compliance with the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, provided the court with copies of grievance procedure for handicapped persons.

As mandated by Section 504 of the act, the grievance procedure explains how people who feel they have been excluded from participating in federally funded programs can complain about the matter.

The U.S. Office of Revenue Sharing has told the county to come into compliance with the act in order to continue receiving revenue sharing funds.

Tax plank centerpiece of GOP discussions

By TERENCE HUNT Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Republican platform writers are arguing over the final shape of a plank stronger than President Reagan wanted but not as tough as conservatives sought that "categorically" rejects tax increases to shrink huge federal budget deficits.

A proposed draft of the GOP platform was released late Monday in advance of the start today of a line-by-line review and revision of the document by the 106-member Platform Committee. The panel is expected to wrap up its work later this week and offer the platform for ratification Aug. 21 at the Republican National Convention.

The document largely reflects positions Reagan has espoused over the last 3½ years and sidesteps many issues over which Republicans are divided. In contrast with the 1980 platform, the proposed document omits calls for military superiority over the Soviet Union, abolition of the departments of Energy and Education and insistence that future judicial appointments "respect the sanctity of human life."

The tax plank, the focus of a battle among the White House and Republican conservatives and moderates, is intended to provide Reagan with campaign ammunition against the claim of Democratic challenger Walter Mondale that tax increases are inevitable next year regardless of who wins the election because of deficits nearing $170 billion.

"Democrats claim deficits are caused by Americans paying too little in taxes," the draft GOP platform said. "Nonsense. We categorically reject proposals to increase taxes in

"We therefore oppose any attempts to increase taxes which would harm the recovery and reverse the trend to restoring control of the economy to individual Americans," it said.

The categorical rejection goes beyond the statement Reagan had urged the platform writers to accept, that he would go along with a tax increase only as "a last resort."

At the same time, the proposed plank was not as toughly worded as the language advocated by Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., who told platform writers Monday, "We must emphatically and unambiguously close the door upon tax increases, however defined, both now and in the foreseeable future."

Kemp said his language "leaves the door obviously open for any president under unforeseeable circumstances" to raise taxes, but added: "There is no reason I can see — and it can be said unambiguously — to raise taxes."

Rep. Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., urged similar language, arguing that Republicans should tell Americans "we ain't going to pass tax increases unless there's a major national emergency."

All sides agreed that a compromise would be worked out acceptable to the White House and platform writers, avoiding a floor fight at the convention.

"We don't want to do anything the president would have to disavow or publicly repudiate," said Sen. Robert Kasten, R-Wis., chairman of the economic progress subcommittee responsible for shaping the tax statement.

He said regardless of how ironclad the anti-tax statement is, some will see it as containing an escape hatch. "Whatever we say, somebody's going to say, yeah, but," Kasten remarked.

Ann Landers

Single earrings for men

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please explain the significance of men wearing a single earring. Also, what does it mean when the earring is worn in the left ear? or the right? I have seen a lot of this sort of thing recently and figure it must have some special meaning to those who are in the know.

Thanks for being around, Ann. I am sure a lot of people (like me) ask you things they would never ask anyone else because they're ashamed to admit they don't know. — Waterloo, Iowa

DEAR LOO: Single earrings are worn by straights as well as gays, which answers the question you didn't come right out and ask but I'm sure you were wondering about. Those single earrings are just a fad—like a crewcut, a ponytail or a Mohawk.

When a man is straight, whether the earring is in the left ear or the right ear, it has no special significance. With gay males, however, I am told there is a specific meaning. An earring worn in the left ear signifies the wish to be the dominant party in a relationship. When the earring is worn in the right ear the male is making it known he prefers to play the submissive role. I am told that this code is said to be understood by homosexuals all over the world.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Those of us who work with children with special needs—because of physical, mental or developmental disabilities—were pleased to see the letter in your column, "Musings of Parentless Children."

We would like to assure your readers that there are many such children available. Some of these youngsters have been waiting for years for permanent homes. The National Adoption Exchange is the only national resource that matches children and families from all parts of the country. This organization has existed since October 1962, and is funded with a $350,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. We are very proud of the wonderful work they do. Can you imagine the differences they have made in the lives of the children they have placed?

People who are interested in adopting children with special problems should contact the National Adoption Exchange, P.O. Box 1996, Philadelphia, Pa. 19105.—Gloria Hochman, Director Of Communications

DEAR GLORIA: Only extremely generous and loving people are willing to adopt children who have physical or emotional defects. I'm sure there must be a special seat at God's right hand for these patient and selfless folks. I hope the response is so heavy your mailman gets a hernia.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My grandfather passed away last week. He left me some books. In one I found "Thoughts" written in his own hand. I'm sure they were his own creation. "Thoughts" made a big impression on me. I'm saving them for when I have children. Here they are:

Some things never come back. Make them count while you have the chance.

The spoken word.

The sped arrow.

Time wasted.

An opportunity lost.

The chance to say "I love you."—Don R. (age 140, Kentucky)

DEAR DON: Your grandfather must have been a wise man. And you must be pretty smart, too, to appreciate his wisdom.

Drugs? How much is too much? Is pot OK? Is cocaine too much? If you're on dope or considering it, get Ann Landers' all-new booklet, "The Lowdown on Dope." Today in History

Today is Tuesday, Aug. 14, the 227th day of 1984. There are 139 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On Aug. 14, 1945, Japan announced it would surrender, ending World War II.

On this date:

In 1900, International forces, including U.S. Marines, entered Peking to put down the Boxer Rebellion, which was aimed at ridding China of foreigners.

In 1917, China declared war on Germany and Austria at the start of World War I.

In 1932, the Los Angeles Summer Olympics came to a close, with the United States placing first in total points scored.

In 1935, the Social Security Act became law.

In 1941, after meeting on board a ship off Newfoundland for four days, President Franklin D. Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston S. Churchill issued the Atlantic Charter, a statement of principles concerning war and peace.

In 1951, newspaper publisher William Randolph Hearst died.

In 1973, the U.S. bombing of Cambodia came to a halt, marking the official end to 12 years of American combat in Indochina.

Ten years ago: The Cyprus peace talks broke down, creating the threat of new fighting between Greek Cypriot and Turkish troops on the island.

Five years ago: Secretary of State Cyrus Vance reprimanded UN Ambassador Andrew Young for meeting in July with a representative of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

One year ago: President Reagan visited Mexico, where he received both a welcome and a word of caution from President Miguel de la Madrid. The Mexican leader cautioned against "shows of force," an apparent reference to Reagan's Central America policy.

Today's birthdays: Newspaper columnist Russell Baker is 59. Actress Alice Ghostley and singer Buddy Greco are 58. Rock singer David Crosby is 43. Jockey Robyn Smith is 40. Actress Susan St. James is 38.

Thought for today: "In War: Resolution. In Defeat: Defiance. In Victory: Magnanimity. In Peace: Good Will." — Sir Winston S. Churchill, British statesman (1874-1965).

Hernandez receives diploma

Rosa L. Hernandez, assistant manager of the Allsup's store at 529 Ave. H, recently received her diploma for fulfilling the requirements of the company's assistant store manager training course.

The class, held at the company's home office in Clovis, is a requirement for all Allsup's assistant managers. According to Gary Whittington, instructor, the training covers proper food handling, cooked food procedures, store cleanliness and maintenance, as well as public relations.

RELAXED AND ECONOMICAL

HOUSE DESIGN
by Larry Farnsworth

Here is a home which offers an incredible amount of imaginatively planned, good living space within its 906 square feet.

Model BB906 is a nice long, low look, it has an attractive front gable, good looking vertical siding and an impressively paneled front door. Note, too, the pleasant planter beneath the kitchen window and the plant ledge gracing the other front windows.

A small but separate entry, complete with beside-the door coat closet, leads to a central hall. Now note especially how the well-designed central living area perfectly defines and separates the living room, dining area and kitchen, yet never the less combines the three into a most spacious whole.

The front-of-the-house parallel kitchen is generously equipped with counter and cabinet space, the dining area enjoys a beautiful view of that big living room fireplace with its oversized raised hearth, and the living room extends to outdoor living areas beyond its big sliding glass doors. A door in the dining area gives inside access to the large double garage.

Both bedrooms of this model have thoughtfully been located at the back of the house for maximum tranquility. Note especially the master bedroom. It has its own makeup counter, complete with vanity, in a luxurious dressing area which boasts two full walls of wonderful closet space. And see how cleverly a single bath has been planned to do the work of two by the simple addition of a second door leading to the master bedroom dressing area.

Adjoining the bath, for maximum plumbing economy, is an excellent laundry-utility room. Note, too, the two extra hall closets offering additional space for linens and general storage.

"Nice to come home to" is certainly the perfect theme song for the wise homebuilder who selects Model BB906. Optional basement plans are also available.

You may purchase house plans, material lists or House Plans Catalog from Larry Farnsworth, Box 1841, Las Vegas, Nevada 89125 or call (702)384-4202 for fast service.

1984 Olympics

Organizer accomplishes 'miracle'

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sound the trumpets. Raise the flag. Play the anthem. It is time to award the final gold medal of the 1984 Olympic Games and it goes to Peter Ueberroth, president of the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee.

The man pulled off a full-blown miracle, easing an administrative match of Carl Lewis' athletic feats. He took an orphaned Olympics, an overblown extravaganza that nobody — not even Los Angeles — wanted, and made it a smash hit. He maneuvered it around a Soviet boycott that could have put a large-sized dent in his show, and produced the most widely attended, best-run Games of recent memory.

Mexico City's legacy from the 1968 Olympics was the medal-stand demonstration of two American runners — a testament of those troubled times. Munich in 1972 will be recalled for the terrorist attack on the Israeli team and the callous decision to the continue the Games in the wake of the horror, as if nothing had happened. Montreal will still be paying the enormous bill for its 1976 Olympics well into the next decade. Moscow's Games were boycotted by 62 countries, led by the United States.

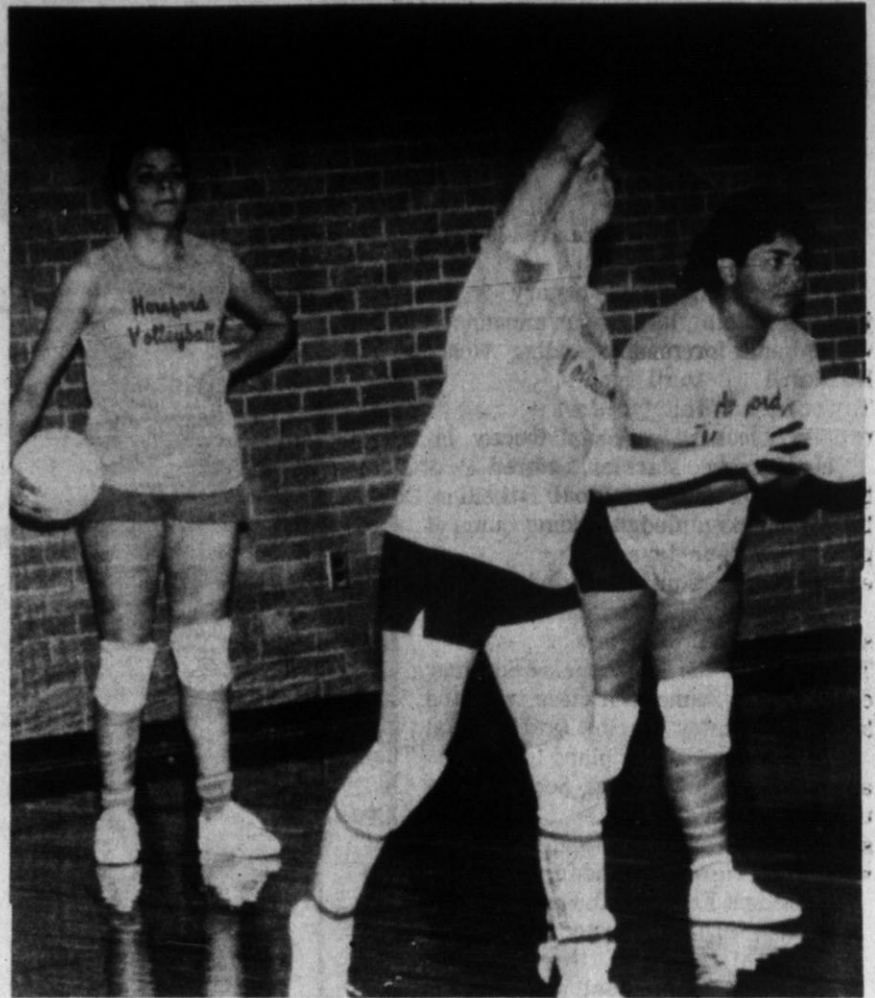

Clearly, the Olympic spirit was taking a pretty good beating and it is completely understandable that the world's cities weren't exactly knocking down the International Olympic Committee's doors, begging for a chance to play host in 1984.

When Los Angeles surfaced as a possibility, the idea was put to a vote and the city's citizens said, "Sure, go ahead. Just don't try using any of our tax money for it." That was the birth of the world's first private sector Games, and Ueberroth was the man who pulled it all together against enormous odds.

He needed help and he got it from a cross-section of American industry, which paid hefty rights fees to be designated everything from the official snack food of the Olympics (M&M's and Snickers) to the official rental car (Budget), the official airlines (United) and the official gasoline (Arco).

Major League roundup

Sandberg injured in Cubs' loss

HOUSTON (AP) — The Chicago Cubs may have lost more than a baseball game depending on the seriousness on an injury to All-Star second baseman Ryne Sandberg.

As if the hip bruise suffered by Sandberg, the National League's third leading hitter, in a first-inning collision with Houston first baseman Enos Cabell weren't bad enough, the Cubs went on to drop a 2-1 decision to the Astros on Jerry Mumphrey's ninth-inning run-scoring single.

"It was a bruise above the hip and it's pretty sore, but we don't think it's serious," said Manager Jim Frey. "Whether he can play (Tuesday) will depend on how sore it is. We'll find out (Tuesday). I would guess he will probably play."

Dodgers 9, Mets 2

Mike Marshall's tie-breaking single drove in the first of the five seventh-inning runs and Greg Brock capped the uprising with a three-run homer. Meanwhile, Bob Welch went eight innings and scattered five hits. He struck out nine and retired the last 19 batters he faced before Jerry Reuss pitched a perfect ninth.

Cardinals 5, Reds 3

David Green tripled to touch off a four-run uprising in the fifth inning against Mario Soto and Bruce Sutter recorded his 31st save to preserve rookie Ricky Horton's seventh victory.

Twins 5, Brewers 1

Kent Hrbek and Randy Bush hit consecutive homers in the Twins' five-run fourth inning, but it was Minnesota pitching that has impressed Milwaukee Manager Rene Lachemann.

White Sox 5, Rangers 3
Greg Walker and Roy Smalley hit solo home runs to back the combined seven-hit pitching of Floyd Bannister and two relievers. Bannister, 11-7, retired the first 13 batters and had a no-hitter until Buddy Bell singled to left with one out in the seventh.

Indians 6, Yankees 5

Joe Carter's 11th-inning single drove home Brook Jacoby, whose fourth hit of the game, a single, started the winning rally. It was Carter's first hit of the game after Sunday's two homers — including a grand slam — and six RBI. The rookie left fielder also made two throwing errors in Monday's game.

Royals 6, Red Sox 1

Bud Black scattered seven hits to snap a personal four-game losing streak. Black, 11-10 but 0-4 in six starts since the All-Star break, struck out six and walked one as the Royals ended a three-game skid.

Watson shoots for slam

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Tom Watson wants this one, the title in the PGA national championship, more than any other.

"That's my goal. Until I win it, it will continue to be my goal," Watson said.

"I want the Slam."

And Watson, the outstanding player in the game for the past decade, needs only the title in the 66th PGA, which begins Thursday, to become the fifth man to score a career sweep of golf's Big Four titles: the Masters, U.S. and British Opens, and the PGA.

He won the Masters in 1977 and 1981, the U.S. Open with that historic chip shot at Pebble Beach in 1982 and was denied a sixth British Open crown last month at St. Andrews, Scotland, by Seve Ballesteros.

Taylor sets three goals for Herd

By DENNIS BALL
Sports Editor

Accomplishing three primary objectives within the next couple of weeks looms foremost in the mind of Hereford football coach Jerry Taylor, as his Whitefaces are to start two-a-day football workouts Monday.

Class 5A schools are not allowed to begin non-contact football drills before Monday. Coaches may begin practicing their teams in pads no earlier than Aug. 24.

"Next week, we're going to be in shorts and helmets working out," Taylor said. "We want to work on conditioning, our agility and the kicking game."

The Hereford coach plans to take advantage of the opportunity to practice his team two full weeks before school begins Sept. 4, especially the week of in-shorts workouts.

Taylor said he and his staff will be pleased if the Herd can accomplish the objectives the coaches have set for the first week of two-a-days.

"We will have spent some good time if we can get these areas (conditioning, improved agility and the kicking game) down," he said.

All three of the areas can be interwoven, with conditioning being the principal benefactor of the workouts, Taylor said. He explained that by working on agility drills and kicking, players must spend some time running.

"At Hereford, we take pride in being in (good) condition," he said. "You know, fatigue tends to make cowards of us all."

The kicking game often can make the difference between winning and losing a football game, Taylor said. A good kicking game, therefore, is a must if the Whitefaces are to be competitors in 1984.

No individuals were mentioned as top candidates for kicker and punter duties, and Taylor said he would not make a final decision on his kickers until practice starts.

"It depends on who wants it the worst," he said.

"In a new season, you always have some good ones (players) returning, and then you usually have some surpluses. I'm looking forward to that."

The number Hereford posts in the win column of the season record also depends on "who wants it the worst," Taylor said. The Whitefaces were facing one of the toughest schedules in the school's recent history.

The Herd opens Sept. 7 with San Angelo Central, picked by most observers of Texas high school football to be at or near the top in District 4-5A. Central also is listed number one in Top-O-Texas Football magazine's Class 5A top 10 schools.

Things don't get any easier for Taylor, either, as five more of the remaining nine opponents are listed in the magazine's Top 10 Class 5A schools: Palo Duro, third; Amarillo, fifth; Plainview, sixth; (Lubbock) Coronado, eighth; and (Lubbock) Monterey, 10th.

Taylor said several 3-5A teams have a shot at winning the district crown.

"Monterey, Palo Duro, Plainview and Amarillo High all are contenders," he said. "Amarillo High may have one of the best teams it's ever had. The players had a good spring training, they're extremely large, and they've always been known to play good defense."

"We can be in the thick of things if we stay healthy."

Three probable starters for the Whitefaces have been lost to injury the last three weeks. Seniors Chet Bunch, wide receiver, and Dennis Chandler, defensive tackle, are out with broken arms. Junior defensive end Danny Castillo also is injured.

"It's going to be difficult for us to repeat what we did last year (an 8-2 regular season record and a share of the 3-5A crown)," Taylor said. "We have to have some good things happen to us."

"I'm looking forward to it (the start of practice)."

In preparation for two-a-day workouts, Hereford football players should report to Whiteface Stadium at 6 p.m. Wednesday to receive shoes and socks.

Players should bring completed physical examination forms with them to the first workout.

"Newcomers are welcome," coach Jerry Taylor said.

Hereford falls in football

Quarterback Felix Mungia connected on 13 of 25 passes and Matt Morgan and Fabian Ruiz each caught three, but the Hereford Warriors bowed to the Amarillo Rustlers 19-0 Sunday in semi-pro football action in Amarillo.

"I want to give our offensive line a lot of credit," Morgan, the player-coach, said. "They kept us as close as we were."

After a scoreless first quarter, Amarillo scored just before the half to take a slim lead at intermission.

The Rustlers scored once in each quarter of the last half for the final score.

Ruiz had two interceptions, and Americo Gomez had one to lead the Hereford defense.

Budd claims innocence in Decker's tragedy

LONDON (AP) — Zola Budd, the young South African who ran for Britain in the Olympics, says she wasn't responsible for Mary Decker's fall in the 3,000 meter race and wants to forget about the track tragedy that may have cost both of them a medal.

In an op-ed article in the Daily Mail of London, Budd wrote, "All I want to say about the whole thing is that I am convinced I didn't do anything wrong."

"There's no point in trying to apportion blame but I can understand Mary's frustration and anger," Budd wrote. "She says it's my fault. I'm not saying it's her fault."

NFL teams cut rosters to 70 players; office adds to player relations staff

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

While National Football League teams made wholesale cuts to reach their roster limits of 70 players, the NFL office increased its staff by one.

Mel Blount, who retired prior to this season after starring at cornerback with the Pittsburgh Steelers for 14 years, was named Monday as the league's director of player relations, replacing the late Buddy Young, who died in an automobile accident last September.

Blount, 36, played on four Super Bowl championship teams with the Steelers and was selected to the Pro Bowl five times. His 57 interceptions tie him for seventh place on the NFL's all-time list.

"One area I would like to concentrate on is finding off-season jobs for the players to make sure they are ready for a career after football," Blount said. "Playing professional football is a short-lived career. Not everyone is as fortunate as I was to play 14 years."

One of those who may not even start an NFL career is quarterback Bruce Grant, the son of former Minnesota Vikings Coach Bud Grant.

A free agent from the University of Minnesota-Duluth, Bruce Grant was one of three players cut by the Vikings. His father resigned as coach of the Vikings last winter after 17 years in the job.

Several other players were placed on various exempt lists to enable the Vikings to reduce their roster to 70, with former New York Giant linebacker Brad Van Pelt put in the "did not report" category.

The St. Louis Cardinals obtained second-year linebacker John Harper from the Atlanta Falcons for an undisclosed draft choice, veteran defensive end Brison Manor was traded by the Denver Broncos to the Tampa Bay Buccaneers for an undisclosed future draft choice, tight end Jerome Barkum, cut by the Giants after walking out of camp, signed with the Washington Redskins and the San Francisco 49ers signed veteran quarterback Joe Montana to a new six-year contract.

Montana, one of the NFL's leading passers the past four years, reportedly will receive more than $6 million over the course of the contract, with his 1984 income to include $800,000 in salary and a $200,000 signing bonus.

The Giants cut eight players, including eight-year veteran receiver Johnny Perkins, veteran wide receiver Mike Miller and sixth-round draft pick defensive end James Scott. Perkins spent almost all of last season on the injured reserved list, while Miller was released by the Green Bay Packers last season.

Olympic coach dies in wreck

ALBANY, Ore. (AP) — Anne A. Hefty, a 26-year-old member of the U.S. Olympic tennis and water polo coaching staff, was killed in a car wreck on Interstate 5 south of this Western Oregon city.

The woman's father, Charles Hefty of Salem, said his daughter was en route home from the Olympics in Los Angeles.

MIRACLE

The building budget was kept small with existing facilities used as venues. USC and UCLA dorms provided the athletes villages, a capital project that helped break the bank for the Montreal Games. The only new construction was a $3 million swimming pool paid for by McDonald's Restaurant Corporation and the $4 million cycling velodrome, underwritten by the Southland Corporation.

ABC pitched in with a tidy $225 million to broadcast the Games, and the Organizing Committee, in a burst of goodwill, even tossed in the rights to press conferences as part of the package.

Fifty thousand citizens volunteered to work on the Games. Their payoff was two gumdrop colored pastel uniforms, a daily box lunch and access to the venues.

School buses were commandeered to provide transportation. The weather cooperated with perfect conditions from Day One. The smog seemed to go on vacation for the duration and many Californians may have decided to do the same thing because the anticipated traffic jams never really developed. For these two weeks, freeway gridlock was a thing of the past.

As he pulled the pieces together, Ueberroth attracted the attention of major league baseball, which had scouts out searching for a new commissioner. The barons of baseball liked his organizational abilities — and this was five months before the first school bus went steaming down the street — so they gave him the job.

Now our last medal winner has a new challenge. He inherits a sport with problems to solve — different-sized leagues playing with different rules on different playing surfaces and teams with player salary budgets that would make Montreal's Olympic deficit seem strictly minor league.

Ueberroth moves to his new job on Oct. 1. Will that be enough time to get an official sponsor for the World Series?

The Seattle Seahawks, playing the Los Angeles Rams in a 1979 game, set a National Football League record with minus seven yards gained.

Consumers can save money by purchasing seconds, irregulars

COLLEGE STATION — Careful shopping for seconds and irregulars can save consumers money, if they know how to look for signs of quality, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist.

Many manufacturers set standards for their products, says Bonnie L. Piernot. When those standards aren't met, they don't discard the items. Instead, manufacturers label the imperfect product a "second" or an "irregular" and direct stores to sell it below regular retail price, she explains.

A factory irregular is usually only slightly below the manufacturer's standards, says the home economist. Irregular stockings, for example, may be not quite standard size. Irregular towels may be not quite perfect in color or weave and there may be a slight oil spot on an irregular shirt.

"Often you won't be able to spot the defect in a factory irregular," says Piernot.

In general, you're more likely to find damaged goods among products labeled as seconds, she observes. A second is often broken, torn or poorly made and the defect is easily identified.

But it can pay to carefully examine seconds, says Piernot, because sometimes they are perfect. Occasionally a company wants to clear out some goods at sale prices without having to lower prices on similar items. So the company calls the goods seconds and sells them at a lower price.

To get irregulars or seconds that meet their needs, consumers should determine the marks of quality for the product they're buying, advises the home economist.

Whether the product is a kitchen appliance, sweater or carpet, there are specific indicators of quality that can guide the purchase decision, she points out. Reading about the product in consumer books or magazines and comparison shopping in person or by catalog can help consumers discern these quality features.

Health

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Exercise helps

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband and I are in our late 50s and are interested in weight control. We walk at least two miles every day and also count calories.

I have a few pounds to lose in the midsection and my husband has a "beer belly" but rarely drinks beer. He isn't overweight anywhere else. We are aware and concerned about possible heart problems. Could you recommend an exercise to help correct this problem?

DEAR READER — Evidently you agree with the old adage that the longer the beltline, the shorter the lifeline. Since being overweight increases the chances of having high blood pressure and high cholesterol levels, it is certainly important.

Men tend to accumulate fat over the abdomen while women are more likely to accumulate fat over the thighs and buttocks. But that is a generality.

Regardless of what exercises your husband uses, he will not be successful in trimming his waistline unless he eliminates the fat he has accumulated. The walking process you are following and counting calories is very good for this. There is about as much fat inside the abdomen as there is outside the abdomen and you can't compress it by simply tightening the abdominal muscles.

But you can tighten up slack abdominal muscles some. Situps and voluntary contracting and relaxing of the abdominal muscles helps. So does developing good posture. Leg lifts are good for the lower abdominal muscles, but I like to have people do these with the knees bent to prevent putting too much strain on the lower back. Straight-leg leg-lifting can be harmful for weak backs.

I have outlined an exercise program to help control the waistline in The Health Letter 17-12, Winning the Battle of the Bulge, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Strengthening your abdominal muscles also helps to prevent back problems. The strong, firm abdomen helps to support the back and relieves back strain.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Seven months ago I had angina. A coronary arteriogram disclosed that one artery was 95 percent blocked and another 60 percent blocked. The doctor performed an angioplasty procedure, which was successful in unblocking the artery that was 95 percent blocked. Now he wants to do another coronary arteriogram to re-examine the arteries.

I have run marathons in recent years and I'm now back to running four to seven miles a day in training for a marathon. I have no pain or symptoms at this point. I am 43 years old and have been a vegetarian for the past year. I am taking Procardia. Do you think I need another arteriogram?

DEAR READER — Yes. Your ability to run long distances without pain does not prove that you do not have blockage of a significant degree in one or more of your arteries.

Don't Blame Your Age For Poor Hearing.

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest hearing aid Beltone has ever developed will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

It's yours for the asking, so send for it now. It is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. The actual aid weighs less than an eighth of an ounce, and it fits completely into the ear canal.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Although a hearing aid may not help everyone, more and more people with hearing losses are being helped. For your free sample write today to: Department 59817, Beltone Electronics Corporation, 4201 West Victoria Street, Chicago, IL 60646.

Highlights Of Jubilee Week

The annual Town and Country Jubilee parade and activities at the Community Center drew crowds this weekend despite the wet weather. Although some parade participants carried umbrellas, the Troy Don Moore family, Hereford's Family of the Year, braved the heavy mist. The Community Center was the site of the Jubilee of Arts which included a quilt show sponsored by the Hereford Senior Citizens. Mrs. Vernia Elliott is pictured browsing through the exhibits.

4 Around the County

By SUSAN RANEY
County Extension Agent

Sept. 1, 1984, marks the beginning of a new 4-H year and the start of a new age policy for membership into the 4-H program across the state of Texas. The new statement in the Texas Agricultural Extension Service Handbook will read as follows:

"Any youth may become a member of 4-H when he/she has reached nine (9) years of age or has entered the third grade. A youth's last year in 4-H shall be the calendar year in which the 19th birthday occurs."

This new policy will allow all third graders to be eligible to join 4-H, whether they are 8 or 9 years old. Thus peers can join 4-H together and not be separated by an age difference.

In Deaf Smith County, any youth below the third grade may still join the 4-H program as a "Pee-Wee 4-H'er" and participate on a local and county level in all activities but are not eligible for district level competition.

As a reminder to all 4-H parents and leaders, the 4-H recruitment night for all old and new 4-H members will be held on Thursday, Sept. 6, at 7 p.m. in the Community Center Banquet Room. Anyone interested in joining 4-H should attend this recruitment night.

Also, this is the time for other 4-H'ers to fill out enrollment forms in order to be considered a 4-H member. No matter how long a 4-H'er has been in the program, he or she must get this enrollment form filled out or they will be dropped from the mailing list and the 1984-85 enrollment.

Engineers use new techniques

HOUSTON (AP) - Some dollars raised through state and federal tax hikes will pay for a new patching technique on Houston's freeways that can extend road life up to 20 years, a highway department official says.

Plans to revamp the city's freeways include resurfacing with 4-inch layers of high-strength concrete this December, said Bill Ward, an engineer-manager with the state Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Construction delays are common on Houston freeways and will continue to be because the roads are simply wearing out under the heavy traffic load, Ward said.

He added that roadbeds designed for 20-year lifetimes are now more than two decades old.

"Looking back on it, what we wish we'd done is design for much longer pavement life," he said.

The new process should add close to 20 years to the life of the treated sections of freeway, Ward said. It takes from eight to 12 hours for the concrete to cure before it is ready for traffic.

Some sections will include steel fibers, each the size of a pin, mixed in with the topping, he said.

Ward said most of the new tax funds in Houston - which will augment new state highway construction funds - will be used to rehabilitate the freeways and to build an outer Houston loop, to be called Beltway 8.

Officials say 3.75 miles of Houston's North Loop will be overlaid for about $7.5 million. That section of road already has been in use for 21 years.

"There will be a whole lot of construction going on in this town despite the complaints, the rock-throwing and the name-calling," said department spokesman Dennis Smalley.

Smalley said 30 to 40 detours are required on each repair project and nearly 30 percent of the project expense goes for traffic management.
