County begins budget process

By CINDY POTTORFF
Staff Writer

Deaf Smith county commissioners heard budget requests from several county departments Monday in a budget workshop for the 1990-91 fiscal year.

The county's new fiscal year will begin Oct. 1.

Sheriff Joe Brown requested an additional $55,000 for his department, and a $56,000 request for vehicles because the department needs four more vehicles. Brown told the commission that a smaller increase will be adequate if the department uses his Bronco instead of buying another vehicle, and commissioners agreed that would be a good idea.

The County Extension Service requested a $17,000 increase to buy a new pickup. The pickup now being used has 112,000 miles, a rear back panel is torn up, the tires are worn out, the front end is getting bad, and the engine is not good.

Commissioners decided that the county could fix the engine, tires, front end, and body for about $2,500.

Another increase questioned by the commission was a $12,000 increase in Deaf Smith County Library's budget to purchase and install the hardware for another public access terminal. The terminal would be connected to the card catalog. The old card catalog is still in place but is not updated.

The library's computer system is part of a network throughout the Panhandle and is purchased from the Harrington Foundation. A representative from the Harrington Foundation will explain the system to the commission on May 14.

The commission is considering terminating the computer programming service provided by Hart Graphics. About six months has passed and Hart Graphics has not yet provided a computer program to the county.

The county is a little over six months into this year's budget. On April 30, the commission will hold another budget workshop to work on the 1990-1991 budget and discuss the general fund.

Clyde charges dropped

State District Judge Marvin Marshall of Plainview has dismissed charges of sexual assault against local attorney David Clyde.

Clyde is a former assistant district attorney for the 222nd Judicial District.

District Attorney Danny Hill, of Amarillo, special prosecutor for the case, asked that the charges be dismissed because the complaining witness no longer lives in Texas and is unable to travel.

District Judge David Wesley Gulley and District Attorney Roland Saul recused themselves from the case because of their association with Clyde while he was serving as assistant district attorney. Judge Marshall was appointed to the case April 10.

Clyde was indicted for sexual assault by the 222nd District Court grand jury on March 31, 1989. The attack noted in the indictment allegedly occurred on Nov. 22, 1988 in a Hereford residence.

Clyde had resigned his post as assistant district attorney more than a month prior to the Nov. 22 indictment. His resignation was offered after he was charged with Class C misdemeanor assault by Randall County authorities in connection with a separate incident.

Discovery lifts off

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - Discovery blasted off today on the long-delayed launch of the $1.5 billion Hubble Space Telescope, an astronomical marvel that will enable man to peer deeper into the universe than ever before.

The shuttle roared through a thin bank of clouds on a 700-foot column of flame at 8:34 a.m. EDT, carrying five astronauts and NASA's most complex and costliest payload.

"Liftoff of shuttle Discovery, our window on the universe," said NASA launch commentator George Diller.

The launch was delayed three minutes with 31 seconds to go on the countdown clock when an indicator showed a fuel valve closed instead of open. The problem was quickly corrected.

At two minutes, six seconds into the flight, Discovery's two solid-fuel rockets burned out and dropped into the Atlantic Ocean. The spacecraft continued upward on the thrust of its three main liquid-fuel engines.

At 8 1/2 minutes into the flight, Discovery reached an elliptical orbit of 374 miles at its highest point. By firing thrusters, the astronauts were to nudge the shuttle six miles higher to a final orbit of 380 miles, where the telescope would be safely above Earth's obscuring atmosphere. That was the highest a shuttle could reach with such a heavy payload.

The previous record orbit for a shuttle was 309 miles, by Challenger in 1984 when it deployed a science satellite.

Hubble has been waiting to take its place in space since 1983, delayed by technical problems and the 1986 Challenger accident.

Discovery's first launch attempt two weeks ago was scrubbed four minutes before liftoff because of a faulty hydraulic power unit on the shuttle.

Columbia, which journeys into space next month with the Astro observatory, sat on a launch pad 1.6 miles from Discovery's pad.

Lawmakers want schools to stay open

AUSTIN (AP) - Lawmakers and lawyers are maneuvering to make sure schools stay open even if the Legislature doesn't meet a May 1 court deadline for reforming the public education finance system.

The Texas Supreme Court - which last year found unconstitutional disparities in funding available to property-rich and property-poor school districts - said state aid to schools should stop May 1 unless the finance system is overhauled.

But on Monday, Attorney General Jim Mattox said he'll go to court to force schools to keep operating through the end of the school year, even if lawmakers and Gov. Bill Clements don't meet the deadline.

In another effort to forestall the possibility of school closings, the House Appropriations Committee endorsed a bill to give schools their nearly $500 million May payment at the end of this month.

The measure - backed by Clements, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Speaker Gib Lewis - goes to the full House for consideration.

Schools currently aren't scheduled to get their May state payment until the 25th of the month. Mattox noted in a letter to State District Judge Scott McCown.

"Because this office is concerned about the continued provision of education to the school children of this state, and because no serious economic disruption will occur within the school districts until the end of May, we will seek from the court temporary injunctive relief... against any school district in this state that attempts to suspend school operations prior to the normal end of the school year," Mattox said.

YUCK!

Oat bran ice cream, and more, is in the near future

BOSTON (AP) - Impossible as it sounds, a food scientist says he's invented just what the world's been waiting for: Ice cream that's good for you.

Not only does this stuff contain almost no fat, it might actually lower the body's cholesterol level instead of raising it.

The secret ingredient is a fluffy white powder made from that darling of the food conscious, oat bran. Its principal inventor, George E. Inglett of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's research labs in Peoria, Ill., calls it Oatrim.

If his predictions are correct, in two or three years it will be an ingredient in all sorts of otherwise high-fat foods, including mayonnaise, cheese spreads, salad dressings and margarine.

"It has a double whammy," Inglett said. "It will replace animal fat, such as cream, in deserts. And it acts in the body to lower blood cholesterol."

To be successful, Oatrim will have to compete against other fat substitutes that have been under development longer, and it will have to overcome doubts that have arisen about the powers of oat bran to lower cholesterol.

The first of the substitutes, called Simplesse, was approved by the Food and Drug Administration last month. It is made from egg whites and milk protein. Others, made by Kraft and Procter & Gamble, are also under consideration by the FDA.

Whether oat bran actually lowers blood cholesterol was called into question by a study conducted last year at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston. Doctors concluded that cholesterol levels fall when people eat lots of oat bran - but only because they are too full to eat high-fat foods that raise cholesterol.

Oatrim is produced when enzymes are used to remove water-soluble fiber from oat bran or oat flour. When mixed with water, it takes on the consistency of cream cheese but has almost no taste.

Inglett unveiled his product Monday at a meeting of the American Chemical Society. He handed out samples of English muffins covered with an Oatrim cheese substitute. It was sweet and bland with a mild taste of cheddar cheese.

While he did not show off Oatrim ice cream, he said that in taste surveys people rate it between ice milk and ice cream. When whipped up by a soft-serve machine, tasters describe it as "delicious, excellent, wonderful and marvelous," he said.

In one respect, it is clearly different. Four ounces of fancy premium ice cream contain about 300 calories, 22 grams of fat and 85 milligrams of cholesterol. Oatrim ice cream has 135 calories, virtually no fat and four milligrams of cholesterol.

The "gremlins" were at work in our photo darkroom over the weekend. Which is another way of saying that somebody goofed in developing the film and hates to admit it. So, we lost photos of the "Fly to Hereford Day" at the municipal airport, construction at the Amistad Housing project, and junior high students of the six weeks. The latter two can be rescheduled, but it may be a long time before we see the unique planes that flew in here Saturday.

How much of our annual salary goes to pay taxes? Well, if you dedicate very cent as you earned it to pay local, state and federal taxes, you would work 118 days this year before making enough money to pay your taxes.

For the average American, Tax Freedom Day comes at the end of this workweek, Saturday, April 28. The idea of observing this day is a symbolic way of expressing the financial "bite" that comes out of your paycheck every year. And, it should come as no surprise that Tax Freedom Day comes later and later every year.

Broken down another way, we spend 2 hours and 35 minutes of each eight-hour workday to pay taxes, estimates the Tax Foundation, a private research and non-profit group. That same 8-hour shift can also be divided up in terms of how much of our work goes to paying for our other obligations.

Just to maintain your household costs one hour and 25 minutes in a workday. For many Americans, 57 minutes of the workday is spent to pay for food and tobacco; and we toil 46 minutes to pay for health and medical care.

Those are not very cheering statistics. It's like figuring up how much a house really costs when you add the interest payments over 25 years--it's frustrating to see the total!

Mrs. Allen promotes more donors

Barbara Allen was the featured speaker at Tuesday morning's Pilot Club International meeting. Barbara, a liver transplant recipient, told the group about her transplantation experiences.

April 22-29 is Organ Donor Tissue Awareness Week. The Pilot Club International became a sustaining member of the American Council on Transplantation in 1984.

Mrs. Allen received her liver transplant October 7, 1989 at Baylor University Medical Center in Dallas. She suffers from a rare condition known as primary biliary cirrhosis, which causes her own immune system to attack her liver.

Despite the gravity of receiving a liver transplant, Barbara Allen approached the topic with levity.

She explained the major incision made for the transplantation is called the Mercedes-Benz incision, because it is shaped like an upside-down Mercedes-Benz sign. "It also costs, too," Barbara said. "My husband, Bill, likes to remind me that we could buy two Mercedes-Benz for the cost of the surgery."

Getting her new liver has given Barbara a new lease on life, despite frequent checkups and seven types of medication she takes to prevent rejection.

Many people in the Panhandle have received major transplants. Justin White, who lives in Dimmitt, needs a liver transplant.

Mrs. Allen's advice to Pilot Club members was to take care of themselves and push until they got an answer if they suspected a medical problem. Consideration of organ donation is a possibility if the condition is life-threatening, although organ donation is not for everyone.

She urged persons considering becoming organ donors to discuss the issue with their families. If just one family member does not want one to become an organ donor, it will not happen.

Mrs. Allen asked Pilot Club members to consider organ donation. Organ transplant donor cards are available from Pilot Club and Lions Club members in Hereford.

Letter to the Editor

Dear editor,

It is always interesting to read the remarks of folks concerning economic development who have never had any experience in that field. It is so easy to throw out solutions when you are not responsible for their outcome.

It has been suggested that "there are several other avenues available for financing economic development, including grants and private endowment funds."

If a community is to have a successful long term program it must have funding that it can depend on year after year. Those who make the suggestion that there are grants and private endowment funds out there just waiting to be taken, are just not in touch with reality.

The suggestion has been made that "Due to the highly competitive nature of economic development, it is a traditional strategy to keep the identities of target industries secret." The implication here is that there is something sinister about respecting the confidentiality that an individual prospect may require in the initial negotiations. I have been involved in several such negotiations through out chamber of commerce and how there could possibly be any conflict of interest because of any such negotiations being made by a board that is funded by public funds is beyond me. There always comes a time in such negotiations before any commitments are made that many people in the community are made aware of the pending deal.

Not everyone in our community is going to agree with any industry that is brought in. There were folks, good folks, who thought that Holly Sugar Corp. would not be good for this area. I have been to several industrial development seminars in the past few years and one of the many things I was taught was that, if requested, confidentiality must be granted up to a point.

The voters of Hereford have a very simple decision to make; either they want a well-financed professional long-term effort to give our community an opportunity to compete for future growth and prosperity, or they don't. As a city commissioner, a past chairman of the Industrial Development committee of the chamber of commerce and as volunteer, part-time director of the Hereford Area Economic Development Council, I wholeheartedly recommend Proposition One to the voters.

In the economic development arena in the 1990s, volunteers and the possibility of donations, grants and endowments will not get the job done.

Extension homemakers host meeting

Deaf Smith County Extension Homemakers hosted the recent District I Texas Extension Homemakers Association Spring Meeting in Hereford at the Community Center. Belinda Goode, District I TEHA Director conducted the meeting. Welcome was given by County Judge, Tom Simons to the approximately 220 attending. Colors were presented by the Hereford Camp Fire Council - Horizon Group.

Betty Billington, State TEHA Treasurer reported on the financial picture of the organization.

Keitha Stevenson, Texas Representative to the National Family Community Leadership Federation, spoke to the delegation to encourage them to develop full potential and "Be All You Can Be." The humorous and inspiring speaker emphasized key points to assist one in reaching leadership potential.

Luncheon entertainment was provided by Steve Sobczak, Minister of Music at First United Methodist Church and Frances Parker, serving as accompanist for the collection of songs from the 40's through 60's era.

The business meeting included the presentation of candidates Johnnie Messer of Deaf Smith County, Leatha Wieck of Randall and Helen Gheen of Ochiltree County. Gheen was elected to serve the District I Director position for 1991-1992. The traveling plaque was awarded to Moore County for having the most out-of-county participants present at the meeting. The Cultural Arts contest winner was Peggy Cudd from Ochiltree County. Judges for the Arts contest included Dean Bradley, Jean Lyles and Grace Covington.

Afternoon workshops included Citizenship and Legislation by Helen Gheen, State Citizenship Chairman; Cultural Arts and International Understanding by Charlotte Kizer, State Art Chairman; and National Resources and Community Resources presented by Johnny Beall, Refuge Manager, Buffalo Lake National Wildlife. The delegation honored 4-Her Chris McClesky of Dallam Co. with a scholarship and honored 50 year members. Deaf Smith E.H. members honored with 50 year certificates were Tillie Scott and Winnie Wiseman.

Deaf Smith County E.H. members hosted a Homemakers College on Monday preceding the Spring meeting.

Keitha Stephenson spoke on "Goose Training" or "How To Fly With The Flock" with emphasis on leadership potential, change and involvement in family, community and leadership style. Additional workshops included Levi's and Lace by Alby Peters, Potter County Extension Agent, a tour of Arrowhead Mills, conducted by Margie Ford, Closet Secrets by Joyce Cry of Amarillo and Window Treatment by Lona Jo Jolly of Kress.

Mary Blinderman of Southwestern Public Service Company presented a session on Tex-Mex Cookery with a Light Touch.

Evening activities included a tour of the Waters Home in Vega and three concurrent workshops presented by Jean Everett of Stratford on Paper Twist Creations, Susie Wall of Texas Galleries on Art Deco and Kimberly Moore on Scherenschnitte.

The 1991 District Spring Meeting and activities will be hosted by Ochiltree County at the Exposition Building.

DOG'S FOR DEFENSE

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You have printed several letters about which way toilet paper rolls should be placed on holders. Then, not too long ago, you ran a letter that said the producers of toilet paper had settled the dispute by making the cardboard core larger so that it would roll only one way.

Is everyone missing the real reason for the larger core? Don't people realize that now the consumer is getting less paper for the same inflated price? This is a perfect example of deceptive packaging. Most people are unaware that they are being cheated.

It used to be that when you bought a pound package of bacon, you got a pound of bacon. Now the same size package contains only 12 ounces. A ham used to be a ham; now it's ham with all the water they can force into it to increase the weight. Look at the containers for many consumer products. Why do you think they put them in long, flat tins? Because it makes them look impressively large, but actually they don't hold very much.

In the past, when you bought a bag of potato chips, you got a bag of potato chips. Now you get a huge bag of air with a handful of chips at the bottom.

DEAR HUB: You have a point, but alert shoppers don't get fooled. There are any number of truth-in-packaging regulations designed to protect the consumer against getting gyped.

Government regulations make it mandatory that the weight of the contents be printed on the outside of the box or can. The wise shopper cannot be hoodwinked by clever packaging. These days anyone who can read can get a fair shake.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently our small office advertised for part-time help. After interviewing 34 applicants, it became clear to me why a lot of people are out of work.

The position involved clerical work, and we also wanted someone who could deal with the public. The ad mentioned that some experience was required and requested applicants to send resumes and references.

Several people phoned and babbled about past employment, bragging about what a great job they had done for so-and-so. They said they'd sent A-1 references, but none arrived. A few applicants sent Xerox copies that were unreadable and semiliterate letters written in pencil or notebook paper or legal pads. A former teacher's letter of application had four misspelled words. A high schooler came in, wearing jeans, sporting a punk hairdo and chewing bubble gum.

We finally hired a woman with no experience except homemaking. "But I can learn," she said. She turned out to be terrific.

Please, Ann, tell job applicants to prepare a resume. Books from the public library will tell you exactly how. Wear clean, neat, attractive clothes. Focus on what you can do for the business, not what the business can do for you. -- I Live in Boston

DEAR BOSTON: And now may I add a word? People who strike out repeatedly on interviews should go back to some of the places where they failed and ask the person with whom they spoke why they weren't hired and how to make a better presentation. If they are sure to improve their chances.

Herd falls to Pampa, 8-1

The Pampa Harvesters handed the Hereford Whitefaces their seventh straight loss Monday with an 8-1 decision at Whiteface Field.

The game, which was postponed from Saturday by wet field conditions, was the Herd's sixth consecutive setback in District 1-4A.

"We played better than we have the last couple of games," Herd coach T.R. Sartor said. "We made a couple of errors that cost us two runs and they got some hits right down the line that, if we field, are outs."

Sartor added that lack of hitting continued to be a major problem for the Herd.

"We hit the ball fairly well, but the hits came at the wrong time. We only had one with a runner on base."

The Harvesters put up two runs in each the first, fifth and sixth innings while adding single scores in the third and seventh.

Pampa leadoff man Chris Roden reached base all five times he came to bat and scored three runs. Zac Thomas added a fourth run to Roden's column when he pinch ran for the shortstop and scored in the fifth.

Brandon Knutson added three more runs with a two-for-three day at the plate while Tory Peet drove in two runs with a double and a triple.

Brett Confer provided half the Herd's offense with a single and a double that drove in the only Hereford run.

Quincy Williams went the distance on the mound for Pampa to pick up his second win of the year over the Herd. The righthander allowed a single run only four hits and a walk while striking out eight.

Chad Brummett took the loss for the Herd, giving up five runs on seven hits with five walks and four strike outs in four-and-two-thirds innings.

The junior righthander issued four of the free passes, including three straight, in the fifth. Brummett also Jason Walterscheid relieved Brummett and succeeded in getting the third out without further damage.

Walterscheid ended the game having allowed three runs on two hits with no walks or strikeouts. The senior also hit two batters.

Hereford picked up its only marker of the day in the fourth with the Harvesters leading 3-0. Hathaway bounced a ground-rule double over the leftfield fence and Confer followed with another two-bagger down the leftfield line.

the Harvesters' 8-1 District 1-4A win over the Herd at Whiteface field.

The loss drops the Herd to 2-9 in district and 3-16 on the year. The Harvesters, who are two games behind first-place Estacado and one back of second-place Dunbar, stayed in the playoff race with the win, upping their record to 10-2 in league play and 17-2 overall.

Allison in I-4A semis

Kristie Allison was the only member of the Hereford Whiteface tennis team Monday to advance to the semifinals of the Region I-4A tournament in San Angelo.

The two-time District 1-4A girls' singles champion drew a bye through the first round before surviving a three-set marathon with Fort Worth Brewer's Rita Gomez in the quarterfinals. Allison claimed a 6-1, 3-6, 9-7 win in a match that lasted about three hours.

Allison was to play a yet-to-be-determined opponent at 9 a.m. today in the semis.

Other Herd netters at the regional tourney did not have Allison's luck, however, as four entries were defeated.

In girls' doubles, Gina Alley and Misty Reed topped Everman's Rikki Conley and Pam Strickland in the first round before losing in the second. The Herd duo was knocked out by the tourney's third seeds, Carol Rogers and Jennifer Hines of Andrews, 6-4, 6-3 in the quarterfinals.

Both Herd entries in boys' doubles were sent packing in their first matches. District champions Jeff Eades and Randy Robbins drew a bye through the first round, but teammates Torey Sellers and Eric Cortez were beaten by Andy Swanson and Shawn Copeland of Brownwood 3-6, 7-5, 6-1. Eades and Robbins then ran into Taylor's David Daniel and Kelly Spiller, the top seeds in the draw, losing a 7-5, 6-0 decision.

Hereford's second entry in girls' singles, Brenna Reinauer, got by the first round with a 6-1, 6-0 win over Brownwood's Elizabeth Merriman before losing to third seed Stacey Fox of Justin Northwest 6-4, 6-0.

Padres rip Giants, 13-3

By The Associated Press
Even the rain couldn't stop Joe Carter from reigning for the San Diego Padres.

Carter finally broke loose Monday night, driving in a career-high seven runs and hitting his first National League grand slam as the Padres routed the San Francisco Giants 13-3.

Carter came to San Diego in December in a trade that sent prize rookie Sandy Alomar Jr. and two others to Cleveland. But Carter, who averaged 31 home runs and 108 RBIs for the Indians the last four years, did little in his first 12 games for the Padres, batting just .213 with one home run and six RBIs.

But against the Giants, Carter stood tallest of all. He hit his fifth career slam in the first inning, added a two-run single in the fourth and an RBI double in the sixth. He went 3-for-4 and left in the seventh to rest.

"I watched a film of myself. I hadn't been swinging the bat with any kind of authority. Basically, I was just a one-dimensional hitter," Carter said. "I told myself today, 'Look for your pitch. Look for your area. And try to drive the ball.'"

A pair of rare rain delays threatened to wash out Carter's slam. The game was halted for 20 minutes in the second inning and for another 45 minutes in the third because of showers.

In the only other NL game, St. Louis beat Pittsburgh 7-4.

Carter capped a five-run first inning against Eric Gunderson (0-2) with a long drive over the center-field fence.

"I started him with a fastball. Then I got a change-up out over the plate," Gunderson said. "When I pitched (See NL, Page 6)

Grijalva fourth, team fifth in Region I-4A golf

Naomi Grijalva of the Hereford Lady Whiteface golf team finished the first round of the Region I-4A tournament at San Angelo in fourth place, six strokes off the lead and four behind second.

Grijalva carded an 86 on the Bentwood Country Club course to lead Hereford to a team total of 398. Paula Britten added a 98 for the Herd while Krystal Sims and Cecelia Albracht both shot 107. Jennifer Prater shot 117 for the round.

The 398 put the Lady Whitefaces in fifth place in the 11-team field, 58 shots behind tourney favorite Andrews. The Lady Mustangs burned up the course with a 340 to hold a 29-stroke lead over second-place Snyder.

Andrews, paced by medal leader Lisa McQuatters' 80, had all five players among the top 10 in the medal standings. Jen Galloway, tied at 82 after the first day with Belton's Jean Hamrick, gives Andrews a shot at sweeping both individual berths to the state tourney.

Jays come back on Cleveland

TORONTO (AP) - Tony Fernandez doesn't like to reflect on the past. So when his chopper deflected off the second-base bag in the sixth inning and drove in the go-ahead runs Monday night, revenge never entered into it.

The two-out, two-run single off reliever Cecilio Guante capped a comeback from an early seven-run deficit and sent the Toronto Blue Jays over the Cleveland Indians 12-9.

Guante was the pitcher who almost ended Fernandez's career last season when he hit him in the cheekbone with a fastball. Fernandez underwent corrective surgery and missed more than a month.

"I don't like to think about the past," Fernandez said. "All I'm thinking about is winning a ballgame."

Said Toronto manager Cito Gaston: "It may have crossed his mind. But Tony isn't the kind of player to let something like that linger."

In the other American League games, Baltimore beat Kansas City 8-5 and Detroit downed Minnesota 6-3.

The Blue Jays, trailing 9-2, scored six times in the fifth. Fernandez put Toronto ahead in the sixth and Fred McGriff and Kelly Gruber homered in the seventh.

The Blue Jays began their comeback in the fifth against John Farrell, getting eight hits and six runs to make it 9-8. Gruber led off with a single and later capped the uprising with a two-run single. In between, John Olerud hit a solo home run, his second of the season.

Pete Harnisch pitched six strong innings and host Baltimore won for the first time in five career decisions against ex-Oriole Storm Davis.

Harnisch (2-0) allowed just one hit through six innings. He left after Willie Wilson's RBI single in the seventh made it 6-2.

Jay Aldrich got his first save despite allowing Wilson's three-run homer with two outs in the ninth.

Davis (1-2) gave up six runs, five of them earned, on eight hits in five innings. The first five Baltimore batters reached base and four of them scored, two on Sam Horn's single.

Tigers 6, Twins 3
In Minnesota, Frank Tanana got his 199th career victory.

Noland, Lewis win Hereford all-around

Burt Noland, Mickey Gomez and Regina Lewis gave the Hereford High School rodeo team a near-sweep of the all-around prizes at the Hereford Tri-State rodeo, held Saturday and Sunday at the Rope & Dally arena near Canyon.

Noland and Gomez finished 1-2 in the boys' all-around race while Lewis was the high-point girl both days to claim the girls' top spot.

Lewis won the goat tying both days to go along with third in both barrel racing and pole bending and fifth in breakaway roping Saturday while placing third in barrels and fourth in poles and breakaway Sunday.

Noland posted only one win over the two days when he took Sunday's team roping with River Road's Twister Cain, but finished in the money both days in steer wrestling and team roping along with Saturday's fourth in ribbon roping and Sunday's fourth in calf roping.

Gomez was also a consistent performer, placing both days in ribbon roping, team roping and steer wrestling.

against him in San Francisco I threw him a lot of change-ups. I think he was ready for it this time."

All of the Padres seemed ready to hit as they beat San Francisco for the fifth time in seven games this season. They got 17 hits, including three each by Carter, Tony Gwynn and Bip Roberts, who also homered.

Carter's two-run single with the bases loaded in the fourth came against Dan Quisenberry and made it 8-0, and he doubled in the sixth off Andy McGaffigan. Each of Carter's hits came after Jack Clark walked.

Cardinals 7, Pirates 4

John Tudor won for the third time in three starts as St. Louis ended a four-game losing streak and stopped Pittsburgh's four-game winning streak.

Pedro Guerrero hit a two-run homer and Willie McGee got four hits as the Cardinals won for the first time in six home games.

Tudor (3-0) gave up three runs on five hits in eight innings. Those are the only runs he has allowed in 21 innings this season.

Guerrero's third home run of the season came in the third against Bob Walk (0-3) and put St. Louis ahead for good at 3-2.

BLONDIE

by Dean Young and Stan Drake

Panel 1: Bumstead, you look exhausted.

Panel 2: I had a really rough night, boss.

Panel 3: Last night the remote unit on my TV set broke.

Panel 4: Every time I changed the channel I had to get up and walk to the set.

Panel 5: Hello, A-1 Electric? How soon can you come over?

Panel 6: Not for three weeks? But this is an emergency!

Panel 7: Besides that, we're old customers!

Panel 8: How about two weeks?

Marvin

By Tom Armstrong

Panel 1: Today would've been perfect except for one little thing.

Panel 2: What was that?

Panel 3: Not what but who.

Panel 9: I found it was simpler than constantly trying to pick up after him.

Panel 10: Obstacle course.

BEETLE BAILEY

By Mort Walker

Panel 1: I don't believe Otto is really an attack dog.

Panel 2: Haven't you seen him in action?

Panel 3: Attack, Otto! Attack!

Panel 4: He's eating pop-corn! He tends to attack what I attack.

Panel 11: Sarge and Lugg love this deal, all you can eat for $10.

Panel 12: Tell the chef to keep it coming.

Barney Google and Snuffy Smith

By Fred Lasswell

Panel 1: Today I got to mend the fence, patch the roof.

Panel 2: Cut a new ax handle, sharp the saw, an' uh--

Panel 3: Like my paw used to say-- "Fust things fust"!!

Panel 4: Sit!!! I don't doctor dogs!! Then I'll take my cash money somewhere else!!

Panel 13: Open wide an' say "Aahh"!!

Panel 14: ...so that's why the grass is greener.

The Wizard of Id

By Brant Parker and Johnny Hart

Panel 1: This man is accused of impersonating a public official.

Panel 2: What gave him away?

Panel 3: He made good on a campaign promise.

Panel 15: Where do you want this load?

Panel 16: On the other side of the fence.

Panel 17: ...so that's why the grass is greener.

Social Security

This year's celebration of Older Americans Month will honor the achievements of the older Americans Act and the many positive changes it has made in the lives of the Nation's elderly. Tim Talbot, Social Security district manager in Amarillo said today.

The theme chosen for the month is "Celebrate America's Coming of Age. The Older Americans Act 1965-1990. Silver Anniversary -- 25 Years of Achievement." Events during the month will center around this theme.

Virtually every elderly American has benefited in some way as a result of passage of the Act. People have received home delivered meals, homemaker and home aide services, health screenings, employment assistance and many other services through funds provided by the Act.

The Social Security Administration has a formal agreement with the Administration on Aging concerning services for elderly citizens, and the two agencies work together to meet the needs of the Nation's older population. For 50 years, Social Security has provided its beneficiaries with a monthly retirement income to help them after they leave the work force. It also makes payments to the elderly who have limited income and resources, as well as to disabled and blind people.

Deadline Wednesday

The American Legion Auxiliary will be presenting a $250 scholarship to a graduating Hereford High School senior girl.

Deadline to turn in applications is 4 p.m. Wednesday.

For additional information, contact Patsy Giles, HHS counselor; Troyce Hanna, 364-1932; or Argen Draper, 276-5263.

The applicant must be a daughter of a veteran (father or mother must have served in WWII, the Korean War or Vietnam War); must list dates of military service; and must provide grade average for the last seven semesters.

Hereford resident to attend seminar this weekend

Amarillo will host the annual Texas Panhandle Hugh O'Brien Youth Leadership Seminar April 27-29 at the Camelot Inn. The seminar is held for outstanding sophomore students.

Representing Hereford High School is Jim Bret Campbell.

The seminar will be conducted in 84 locations across the United States with the purpose of bringing a select group of students together with groups of distinguished leaders in business, government, education, and the professions so they can discuss present and future issues, using an informal question and answer format. The specific goals are: to seek out and reward leadership potential in high school sophomores; encourage and assist students in their quest for self-development and self-identification; introduce potential leaders to recognized leaders of today through give-and take discussions on a variety of current and critical topics; and provide through this exposure the opportunity to explore America's incentive system and our democratic process.

Seven seminar sessions will be conducted with a panel of speakers with evening management games and talent show. Junior Counselors include Karen Schulte of Easter.

Texas bike ride set May 5

The American Diabetes Association will host The Great Texas Bike Ride in Amarillo on Saturday, May 5, to help raise funds for diabetes. The event will begin at 1400 Coulter at 8 a.m. The length of the ride will be 12, 25, or 50 miles.

Participants of The Great Texas Bike Ride raise funds for diabetes by enlisting sponsors, who donate a certain amount of money for every mile the participant completes on the day of the event. Participants will be eligible for exciting prizes, including locally donated gifts and the state grand prize, a $1,000 travel gift certificate.

For information on participating in The Great Texas Bike Ride, contact Byron Riddle at 352-2056 or pick-up an entry form at Amarillo bike shops, sporting goods/shoe stores, and grocery stores.
