

Both sides claim triumph in debate

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG AP

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — George Bush contended he'd "turned it around" for the Republican ticket, while Geraldine Ferraro claimed "Two out of two ain't bad" after the vice presidential candidates engaged in a sharp duel for campaign momentum that drew favorable reviews from the tops of their tickets.

The vice presidential debate covered both domestic and foreign policy, and the two candidates sparred over issues ranging from taxes and abortion to terrorism and the depth of their experience. It was their only debate of the campaign.

An Associated Press panel of seven debate judges scored Bush the winner. Four of the debate experts called him the winner outright, one called it a close victory for Ms. Ferraro, and two scored it a tie. The same panel called Walter F. Mondale a clear winner over President Reagan in their debate last Sunday.

The first hint of public reaction to their 90-minute debate at the Philadelphia Civic Center came from an ABC News poll that said

AP panel says Bush prevailed

Bush was named the winner by 42 percent and Ms. Ferraro by 33 percent, while 25 percent called it a tie. A total of 681 people were contacted in the hour after the debate, and the poll had a margin of error of plus or minus 4.5 points.

Another poll, commissioned by USA Today, also showed a plurality of those surveyed thought Bush had bested Ms. Ferraro.

Bush and Ms. Ferraro each stepped on the stage with a clear mission as they debated four days after Mondale's strong showing against Reagan in the first of two debates. Reagan and Mondale will debate again Oct. 21.

Bush, seeking to reverse the momentum gained by Mondale, took an aggressive stance, often aiming his attacks at the presidential nominee rather than Ms. Ferraro.

In the aftermath of the Mondale-Reagan debate, the Democratic ticket had gained a few points in polls and Mondale's leadership ratings in surveys rose dramatically.

Using a more subdued style, the New York congresswoman sought to demonstrate she was qualified for the nation's second highest office and could assume the presidency if necessary.

"I will be a leader," she said when asked whether she thought the Soviets might try to take advantage of the fact she is a woman. "If the Soviet were to ever believe they could challenge the United States with any sort of nuclear forces, or otherwise, if I were in a position of leadership in this country they would be assured that they would be met with swift, concise and certain retaliation."

Bush said the Democrats were offering only "weakness, despair, disrespect" while Reagan had "brought America back" and created "a new enthusiasm" across the country.

After the debate, Reagan telephoned his vice president and a White House spokesman, Marlin Fitzwater,

Strain pleads guilty to three counts

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

Robert Strain, convicted of theft last May by a Deaf Smith County trial jury, pleaded guilty Thursday to three of the 16 indictments remaining against him.

The county district attorney's office followed the jury's example in recommending a probated sentence and fine, with Strain agreeing to withdraw his appeal of the jury's conviction.

The plea bargain agreement also called for the other 13 indictments to be dismissed and for Strain to begin serving his probated sentence immediately. The 53-year-old farmer had not previously been placed on probation pending outcome of the appeal.

Judge David Wesley Guley of the 222nd District Court accepted District Attorney Roland Saul's recommendation of concurrent seven year sentences in each of the three cases, and a fine of $5,000 in one of the theft charges.

In all, Strain is faced with four concurrent seven-year prison terms, probated, and fines totaling $10,000.

The former Democratic party county chairman was indicted Sept. 1, 1983 by a Deaf Smith County grand jury after law enforcement officers raided his barn near Hereford and broke up what appeared to be a multi-county fencing operation.

To convict Strain, the prosecution had to convince jurors that Strain knew items he bought from Thomas Martinez of Lubbock were stolen.

Martinez, also indicted by the grand jury, pleaded guilty to theft charges earlier this year. He testified for the state during the two-week trial, which also included testimony from farmers whose homes and barns had been burglarized.

At the close of the hearing Thursday, Saul issued the following statement:

"There are many factors which went into the decision to allow Robert Strain to plead guilty to the same punishment that he received from a jury at his prior trial.

"First, this is what the jury thought he deserved. Under our system the man was entitled to a trial by his peers and this is what he received.

"We were able to present to the jury all of the evidence from all of the other cases involving the property that we knew to be stolen. The jury heard from approximately 60 witnesses and saw hundreds of items of evidence.

"We asked them to send the defendant to the penitentiary. They chose to place him on probation. We did our job and they did theirs, and I don't think it is my place to disagree with their decision.

Probation, fine suggested

"In fairness to the jury, there are some facts in the case which indicate that the defendant began doing business with these people innocently and was in over his head before he knew what was going on. This does not justify what he did but could certainly be considered a mitigating factor.

"Secondly, it is not clear under our law that he could be tried again on the same facts which were presented to the jury once before. The defendant has raised a constitutional issue called 'Collateral Estoppel.' Because of some recent cases in our state, abolishing what was called the 'Carving Doctrine' and because of the fact that the jury did hear all of the evidence from all of the other cases under some rules of evidence peculiar to a receiving stolen property case, this is a very real issue.

"This is probably not the best case to use to plow that new ground with the Court of Criminal Appeals.

"Thirdly this case would almost surely have to be moved to another part of the state to be tried on a change of venue. There were approximately 70 witnesses subpoenaed in the first trial, which lasted two weeks.

"Transporting and housing 70 witnesses and all of the court personnel for a two week trial would be very expensive for the taxpayers. This has to be considered with the other matters.

"The case would probably have to be moved to a metropolitan area in another part of the state for convenience of transportation. If a Deaf Smith County jury did not think the man deserved to be sent to the penitentiary, then I seriously doubt whether a jury in Dallas or Houston or some other metropolitan area of our state would be inclined to send him to the penitentiary.

"Next, the defendant is dropping his appeal in the first case and has agreed to cooperate with the law enforcement officials in retrieving any other items of property that he can, and in any other investigation concerning these matters.

"Also, in spite of all of the publicity, this case is not necessarily an easy case to try. In order to prove the defendant's guilt, the state must prove that the defendant knew the items of property were stolen when he bought them.

"In essence, the entire state's case rests on the testimony of Thomas Martinez, a convicted felon who is presently in the penitentiary.

Because he has a right not to testify about anything which might incriminate him, the only cases which we could prove are the four cases in which he had already pled guilty. He has steadfastly refused to testify concerning any other matters.

"The jury which heard the first case quite naturally had some questions concerning Mr. Martinez's credibility.

"On the other hand, there were certainly some reasons for trying Robert Strain in another case. In fact, we had some very personal reasons to want to retry him, such as to dispell some of the rumors concerning this case.

"However, our duty is to see that justice is done and in the final analysis all things considered, I had to do what I thought was right, and that was to go along with the jury which heard the evidence."

Banquet scheduled Saturday

Culminating the local celebration of National 4-H Week is to be the annual 4-H Achievement Banquet at 7 p.m. Saturday in Hereford Community Center's banquet room.

The affair is to recognize 4-Hers and their supporters in Deaf Smith County.

County sent road work funds

Deaf Smith County was recently sent a little more than $32,400 from the state treasurer's office for road construction and maintenance.

According to the treasurer's office, each year it disburses money appropriated by the state legislature for what is called the "Lateral Road Problem." The purchase of right-of-way for construction and maintenance of lateral roads, farm-to-market roads or state highways is the project's primary purpose.

In order to determine what amounts are to be given where, the office uses a formula based on county area, rural population and road mileage, according to Treasurer Ann Richards.

Harris County received the biggest allocation, pulling in more than $466,000. A distant second was Bexar County, which had $137,000-plus, while next largest was the nearly $127,000 mailed to Montgomery County.

Bicycles stolen from Eades

Three kids' bicycles worth $110 apiece were stolen at approximately 8:30 p.m. Thursday from Roger Eades' 108 Elm St. residence. Hereford police reported this morning.

One of the bikes was in the open garage while the other two were on the front porch, Eades told police.

Rick's Exxon, 741 W. First St., was victimized at 2 p.m. Thursday when its front window was broken. The crime was valued at $250.

Meanwhile Thursday, police investigated the theft of 140 gallons of diesel fuel from a local company. Also looked into were one incident apiece of assault, suspicious person and minor vandalism.

Of the two arrests made Thursday, one was for the combined charge of public intoxication and disorderly conduct. The other was for no driver's license nor insurance.

THURSDAY'S HIGH: 74 (normal: 75 record: 91 (1975))
OVERNIGHT LOW: 54 (normal: 47 record: 29 (1989))
PRECIPITATION: .11 inches (7 a.m. Thursday through 7 a.m. today)

OUTLOOK: Thirty percent chance of thunderstorms tonight, which is supposed to have a low in the lower 50s. Winds are to initially be from the southwest at 10 to 20 miles per hour, then later become northerly and gusty.

Saturday is to have a 50 percent chance of more precipitation, a high near 70 and winds of 15 to 25 miles per hour - sometimes gusty - from the north.

Country singer highlights benefit show

Wanda Jackson, a long-time country music singer, is to headline a concert here Nov. 10 to benefit the March of Dimes, an organization devoted to combatting birth defects.

Future Homemakers of America students from Hereford and Vega are selling tickets for the event, slated to be held at 7:30 p.m. in Hereford High School's auditorium.

According to promoters, the evening is to include Jackson performing some of her top-selling country songs, re-enacting her old radio show and singing some of her country gospel favorites.

Internationally-honored Jackson

Expected to last about an hour and 45 minutes, the show is to also feature gospel singer Carla Deaton-Dehart, the daughter-in-law of Westway's Ken and Della Dehart.

A native of Oklahoma, Jackson has been a country music entertainer since she was in her teens. She was reportedly discovered by Hank Thompson, another entertainer from the Southwest.

Much of Jackson's fame has been enjoyed overseas. In 1971 and the following year, she received "Favorite Female Country Music Singer" honors in the Scandinavian countries of Denmark, Norway and Sweden. In the late 1960s, she performed in front of Japanese, Philippine, Korean and other Far Eastern audiences.

More recently, Jackson went on tour in Europe in 1980 and 1981. She also made a trip to sing in Australia and New Zealand.

Jackson has also been twice nominated for "Best Female Performer" at the Grammy Awards, for which she sang during its first televised show.

Deaton-Dehart makes her home in the same state as does Jackson: Oklahoma. She began her gospel singing career in early 1981 and recorded her first album last January. In 1983 she signed with Praise the Lord Enterprise to open shows for Jackson and also unleashed her vocal chords for the Masters

Kennedy says Ferraro qualified

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Ronald Reagan might turn out to be the Thomas Dewey of 1984, U.S. Sen. Ted Kennedy predicted during a campaign swing through Texas for Democrat Walter Mondale. Kennedy, in San Antonio Thursday to watch the Geraldine Ferraro-George Bush debate, made the remark before a wildly enthusiastic crowd of about 1,500 Democrats.

The Massachusetts senator was referring to Reagan's large lead in the polls. Dewey had been expected to win the 1948 election, but Harry Truman won the presidency instead.

"Actually, I think Ronald Reagan might turn out to be the Dewey of 1984," Kennedy said at a rally after watching the debate.

Kennedy, who is on a multi-state campaign trip for Mondale, was to travel to Carrizo Springs for a breakfast early today, then appear in Harlingen before leaving Texas.

He said Ms. Ferraro won the tilt with Bush.

"Geraldine Ferraro not only demonstrated tonight she is qualified to be a vice presidential candidate, she also demonstrated she is qualified to be president," Kennedy said to a screaming, sign-waving crowd.

White against legalized betting

AUSTIN (AP) — Although the state may need extra tax revenue next year to make ends meet, Gov. Mark White says he doesn't want the Legislature to legalize parimutuel betting to help do it.

Besides, he told his weekly news conference Thursday, he is not among those who think any tax increase will be needed.

"I think there are ways in which we can meet the service needs of the people of our state, hopefully without any additional tax," White said.

The governor says a number of moves are being taken to avoid another tax increase, which would come on the heels of a $4.6 billion, three-year hike approved during a special legislative session this summer.

The state is facing a potential budget shortfall, and on Wednesday a top lawmaker predicted that the Legislature will approve parimutuel wagering on horse racing next year rather than vote for more taxes.

"It's obvious that we're getting ready to face a serious situation in this state," said Rep. George Pierce, R-San Antonio. "The revenue has got to come from some place."

Girl's verdict possible tonight

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A verdict could come as early as tonight in the case of a 12-year-old Benbrook girl who says she accidentally killed her best friend and hid the body so she wouldn't go to jail, attorneys say.

Appearing tiny and tearful in the witness chair, Patricia Dempsey recounted Thursday how she killed 11-year-old Kerry Thomas and why she told no one about the shooting.

The juvenile court jury of six men and six women was expected to get the case today and perhaps reach a verdict before nightfall, attorneys say.

The jury must determine if the Sept. 8 shotgun slaying was accidental, as Patricia says, or intentional, as prosecutors contend.

The case took an unusual turn late Thursday when Judge Scott Moore cleared the courtroom of reporters and spectators and listened behind closed doors to the testimony of two state rebuttal witnesses.

He did not determine at once if their testimony was admissible but both sides rested pending today's jury deliberations.

Wholesale prices decline again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices, down two months running, fell 0.2 percent in September, the government said today. The drop was the sharpest since January 1983 and marked the first time in eight years that prices fell for two straight months.

Today's good news meant that, for the first nine months of the year, prices at the wholesale level rose a minuscule 1.9 percent, surprising economists who had forecast an inflation rate approaching 5 percent for all of 1984.

Much of the credit for last month's performance went to lower food and gasoline prices.

Food prices fell 0.4 percent, the fifth time in the last six months that those prices have dropped. Prices for pork and eggs continued their sharp declines while the costs of fresh vegetables and fish were also off.

Gasoline prices declined for the fourth month running, although the 0.5 percent decline was off sharply from the previous month's 4.2 percent drop.

End of Congress further delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, its ranks thinned by the early departure of senators expecting a congressional adjournment, rejected vital legislation to raise the national debt limit early today, prompting a new government financial squeeze and further delaying the end of the 98th Congress.

Military aircraft were dispatched at the request of Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr. to bring back the missing senators for another vote on the debt limit today.

The Senate rejected the measure 46-14.

High absenteeism, combined with a Democratic gesture of political defiance to protest spiraling federal deficits under the Reagan administration, provided the margin of negative votes that torpedoed the bill.

The bill would raise federal borrowing authority by $251 billion, to $1.824 trillion. The Treasury Department has been blocked from borrowing money because its debts have reached the limit allowed by current law: $1.573 trillion.

International

Superpowers construct arsenals

LONDON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union are building up their submarine missile capability, and weapons tests indicate both superpowers are planning to increase their nuclear arsenals, the International Institute for Strategic Studies said today.

International economic troubles and the rising costs of high-tech hardware have forced a "significant slowing down of the arms race on a global scale," the authoritative London-based research center said in a summary of its 1984-85 Military Balance report.

Nevertheless, it said, the pattern of new weapons systems testing indicates the United States and the Soviet Union plan "further expansion later in the 1980s."

Noting the emergence of weapons with improved accuracy, mobility and concealment, the institute said: "It is a trend that will make it very difficult to negotiate verifiable constraints in future years" and that "will undoubtedly complicate future arms-control negotiations."

Nancy Reagan feels

Drug abuse fight succeeding

By SHEILA ALLEE Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — First Lady Nancy Reagan brought her campaign against drug abuse to San Antonio today, saying she thinks her efforts are paying off.

Mrs. Reagan, on the last leg of a five-state journey, made the comment in an impromptu news conference after arriving Thursday at Kelly Air Force Base.

The First Lady was to spend the night at a downtown hotel, then meet with fourth and fifth graders at Winston Elementary School early today. She was to discuss inhalant abuse with the students before having lunch with them in the school cafeteria.

"I think it's helped," she said of her personal campaign. "There's a more awareness of the depth of the problem, of the width of the problem and the tremendous gravity of the problem."

"I see more programs on TV about drugs and more well-known people coming forward about it," she said.

The First Lady said her visit is not campaign-related and should not be interpreted as such.

"It (drug abuse) is the most democratic of all problems," she said, adding that it crosses geographical and racial lines.

When asked how important Ronald Reagan's age is in the current campaign, Mrs. Reagan said the matter is not an issue.

"That's not an issue," she told reporters when asked about her husband's age of 73. "They've been saying that since he first ran. I think they should stick to what the issues are — the issues of (Walter) Mondale taxing and spending and my husband doing just the opposite," Mrs. Reagan said.

President Reagan's age has been discussed this week after polls showed he did not do as well as Walter Mondale in the presidential debate Sunday. Mrs. Reagan defended her husband's performance in the debate.

"I think he did just fine," she said. "If you read the transcripts he answered all the questions just fine."

The First Lady said she did not think the debates would be a key factor in the election.

"Historically the debates haven't made a difference," she said.

After her appearance in San Antonio, she was scheduled to fly to Austin to deliver the keynote address at the Texans' War on Drugs Leadership Conference.

Two killed, 24 injured

IRA claims it bombed Thatcher's hotel

By MAUREEN JOHNSON Associated Press Writer

BRIGHTON, England (AP) — An IRA bomb exploded early today at a hotel where Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher was staying, killing two people and injuring 24, including a Cabinet minister and a member of Parliament. Mrs. Thatcher was not hurt.

The Irish Republican Army, in a statement issued in Dublin, claimed responsibility for the blast and said it was an attempt "against the British Cabinet and the Tory warmongers."

Mrs. Thatcher, at the seaford Grand Hotel along with most of her 22-member Cabinet for Conservative Party's annual conference, said the explosion blew out the windows of her second-floor room. She was taken to a police station in this English Channel resort and told reporters: "I'm very well, thank you."

The injured included Mrs. Thatcher's trade minister, Norman Tebbit; the Australian ambassador to Britain, Alf Parsons; and the Conservatives' whip in the House of Commons, John Wakeham.

Mrs. Thatcher said she was still awake when the blast occurred at 3:10 a.m., working on a speech she planned to deliver to the conference today. Her husband Denis was in bed. "All the windows went, and the bathroom was extremely badly damaged. We were very lucky," Mrs. Thatcher said.

Six hours after the blast, Mrs. Thatcher kept her eyes firmly closed as the conference convened on schedule with a prayer for the dead and injured.

"We intend to continue with our conference ... because those who wish to intimidate democracy must be shown that whatever means they use, those means will in fact fail," party chairman John Selwyn Gummer said, his voice breaking with emotion.

The delegates then went on to the scheduled debate on strife-torn Northern Ireland.

Home Secretary Leon Brittan told a news conference that police officials determined the explosion was caused by a bomb containing 15-20 pounds of explosives. "It is clear that the incident was caused by an explosive device from inside the hotel," he said.

The explosion blew out a huge section of the eight-story hotel's front wall, with the hole rising upward from the fifth floor.

Emma Nicholson, a vice chairman of the Conservative Party who fled from the hotel in her dressing gown, said: "There was an enormous explosion, then the smell of acrid smoke. It was horrid."

The closing session of the four-day Conservative conference was to debate a resolution praising police and the British army in violence-wracked Northern Ireland, where the mainly Roman Catholic Irish Republican Army has been fighting to drive the British from Northern Ireland.

"It's obviously an absolute ghastly outrage of the kind that we've seen quite a number of," Brittan told reporters. "This is a particularly shocking one in terms of casualties."

However, he said total security is not possible in a free society.

The hotel has been under heavy guard since the start of the conference on Monday.

Sixth teen kills self, counselors offer aid

HOUSTON (AP) — A 14-year-old boy who crouched by the exhaust pipe of his family car in a closed garage became the fourth teenager to take his life in the past week and the sixth in two months, officials said.

Darren Thibodeaux's death Thursday came the same day psychologists spoke to students at a nearby high school, trying to prevent any more suicides in the Clear Lake area south of Houston.

Psychologists and school officials were to meet with reporters at 10:30 a.m. today. Officials said they were still unable to substantiate rumors of a pact in which between 20 and 30 teen-agers agreed to kill themselves in a six-week period.

Thibodeaux's 17-year-old sister found the body lying by the rear of the car shortly after 3 p.m., said Lt. Russell Williams of the Friendswood police department. Williams said the car had stalled, but its ignition was on, and said officers believe the boy died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Police said the boy had stuffed towels under the garage door.

"As far as we know at this time, it is a suicide," Williams said.

Thibodeaux was a ninth-grader at Clear Creek High School, which is in the same school district as Clear Lake High School, where three other teens have killed themselves in the last week.

James Larrabee, deputy superintendent of the Clear Creek Independent School District, said psychologists met with students in groups of 800 to 900 Thursday.

Paul Harvey Steel Industry

When Uncle Sam does his shopping for cars overseas—it means fewer jobs for auto workers in the United States.

And shoes and textiles and steel... The steelworkers union membership in the United States is down 50 percent in 10 years.

USW President Lynn Williams fears we'll lose what's left of the steel industry "unless there is vigilant import protection."

Certainly it sounds plausible. If Americans would stop importing foreign stuff, it would mean more home-front jobs.

It's not quite that simple. Sen. Richard Lugar's home state, Indiana, is our nation's biggest steel producer—yet he votes against reducing steel imports.

Here is his rationale: If we quota steel imports—if we limit the amount of foreign steel coming into the United States — it is possible 40,000 American steelworkers might return to work. But...

Many more Americans would lose their jobs due to foreign retaliation against our exports—especially our agricultural exports.

In other words, many nations trade with us only because we trade with them. They could buy their wheat elsewhere—and would if we stopped buying their steel.

And that is but one repercussion of boycotting foreign steel. Without that competition, prices for steel manufactured in the United States would go up — and up.

While I might make some steel companies profitable again, it would also increase prices for all products made of steel and automobiles, farm machinery — everything made of steel — would soon cost more — and more.

Another thing: U.S. trade representative Bill Brock says trade barriers, quotas, would cripple some high-debt countries to where they could not even pay interest on their loans to the U.S. banks — and each of our nine major banks has more than 100 percent of shareholders' equity at risk in loans to four countries: Mexico, Brazil, Venezuela and Argentina.

They default, international banking is in chaos.

(By the way, three of those four countries export steel to us.)

What is true of steel applies alike to other industries but the way out is best explained in terms of one industry at a time.

In the long view, American steel will become competitive again when American steelmakers streamline and modernize their facilities.

Tax legislation of 1981 is gradually assisting that objective.

The transition will involve some dislocation. The American steel industry will never again employ 1½ million workers.

But with what's left of our steel industry made competitive again, at least half that number will enjoy a degree of job security they have never known.

Caribbean islands

Quita Sueno Bank, Roncador and Serrana are islands in the Caribbean between Nicaragua and Jamaica. They are uninhabited. A U.S. claim to the islands was relinquished in a treaty with Colombia, which landed on the islands in force on Sept. 17, 1981. Navassa, a Caribbean island lying between Jamaica and Haiti, is reserved by the U.S. for a lighthouse.

Ann Landers

It is reality

DEAR ANN LANDERS: It's time to rerun that terrific column on elderly parents. Here it is. My sisters and a brother need to see it.—A Cleveland Fan

DEAR CLEVELAND: I will indeed. Thanks for asking.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: So many children feel guilty when they must take an aged parent to a nursing home. I read something recently in the Daily News-Tribune (LaSalle, Ill.) that gave me an entirely new slant. Please print it, Ann.—Anonymous Friend

DEAR FRIEND: Herb Hames, editor of the LaSalle News-Tribune, gave us permission to reprint the piece as it appeared in "Open Forum." I do so with pleasure:

"I had to take my mom from her home for safety's sake because she was no longer able to be alone and care for herself.

"The others in the home, like mom, had to be brought here, unless someone could move in and watch them 24 hours a day.

"I pity those who are ill and suffer with pain, but a lot of those old folks are like my mom. They don't suffer—they are senile.

"These are the people who reach out to you as you walk down the hall. Don't pity them because they appear to have no interest in life. They live in a world that is very interesting to them.

"My mom sits in a chair doing nothing, but she isn't in that chair at all. She is visiting with her mother, or perhaps she's out to a dance. One day she may be playing with her sister or brother. The next day she may be raising her family, doing her housework, cutting up Fels Naphtha soap.

"Far-fetched? The last time I left her room Mom said happily, 'I'm going to visit mama's today. We're going to have cookies and milk.'

"I replied, 'Enjoy yourself—and say hello to grandma.'

"Old age robs people of a great deal but it leaves them the precious gift of memories of days long gone. They are able to recall something that happened 70 years ago, but they can't recall what they had for supper.

"When you see a very old woman smile for no reason, or nod and greet an imaginary 'friend,' don't think she is crazy. She sees someone you don't see—a loved one from way back.

"Mom doesn't have any stress and strain in her life. She has been through all that. Now is her time to relive her life with pleasure.

"We younger people live for today and tomorrow, but mom lives each day in the past. Who is to say that is so unpleasant?

"Many people believe when we die we will be reunited with our loved ones, but my mom has already been reunited with hers. She sees them every day. This is the way I prefer to think and it has helped me to accept this last phase of her life.

"I won't know if I'm right until I, too, reach senility, and when I do, I will probably be too confused to tell others about it. But I hope those who come to visit me will believe as I do. It will make life easier for everyone.—A Daughter"

DEAR DAUGHTER: It should be comforting to know that the authorities on senility say the world these folks live in is the only world they know. To them it is reality. Your mother is having a ball.

World Series resumes

Tigers open home stint

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers say they have the San Diego Padres right where they want them — and the Padres would like the chance to drag the Tigers back to San Diego.

"We'll go back and get 'em in our ballpark," Detroit right fielder Kirk Gibson said, looking forward to the next three games in Tiger Stadium, starting tonight.

"It might go seven games; it might go five," added Tigers catcher Lance Parrish. "Who cares? We're going back to our park now and we've got a good ballclub. I still like our chances."

"Obviously they're tough when they're at home," chipped in John Grubb, a former Padre. "Now we'll see how they play at our ballpark."

For a while, at least one of the Tigers was beginning to believe it might go only the minimum four. Detroit won the opener 3-2 and before the Padres even came to bat in the second game, the Tigers led 3-0.

"We were naturally thinking 'sweep,'" said Darrell Evans, Detroit's cornerman (first base on Tuesday night, third base on Wednesday night). The Padres rallied on Kurt Bevacqua's three-run homer in the fifth inning to win 5-3 and tie the Series at one victory apiece.

"They came back and won it with some of the best relief pitching I've ever seen," Evans said.

Tonight, Tim Lollar (11-13, a 3.91 earned-run average and only three complete games among 31 starts) goes for the Padres.

Dick Williams, the San Diego manager, was asked if he was concerned that the lack of effective starters might ultimately catch up with the Padres — particularly with the bullpen.

"I have to be," he said. "Then again, we only have a maximum of five games left, with two off-days."

A five-game Series would end matters Sunday night.

"Our main concern right now is just taking it one game at a time," said Tony Gwynn, the Padres' right fielder and National League batting champion. "But we'd like to get the Series back to San Diego. That's our overall goal."

Gwynn will be in right again when the Padres take the field tonight — which pleases him greatly.

There had been some speculation, fueled by Williams, that he might shift Gwynn (batting .400 in two games) to center field, install Bevacqua (.571), the designated hitter in the first two games, in right field, bench center fielder Bobby Brown (.000), and turn the DH job over to former Tiger Champ Summers, a left-handed batter who could shoot for Tiger Stadium's short right-field fence.

"I promise you that Kurt's bat will be in the lineup — and maybe his glove," Williams said when asked

Baylor hosts SMU

By CHARLES RICHARDS Associated Press Writer

If his Baylor Bears hope to beat Southern Methodist Saturday in Waco, they must keep the Mustangs' offense on the sidelines, Coach Grant Teaff says.

"We have to get them off the field offensively. Hopefully it won't be two plays and a touchdown, but three plays and a punt," Teaff said.

SMU, the nation's No. 7-ranked club, is off to its sixth straight 3-0 start, after beating Louisville 41-7, North Texas State 24-6 and Texas Christian 26-17.

"We'll be severely tested in every area, but I'm sure this team will respond to the challenge of playing a great team like SMU. We're well aware of how good they are," Teaff said.

Baylor is 1-3 after losing to Houston last weekend, 27-17, in a rain-drenched game that the Bears lost after taking a 10-0 lead. Teaff said the loss "hurt about as much as any loss we've had the last couple of years."

Las Vegas oddsmakers have made SMU an 8½-point favorite.

In other Southwest Conference games Saturday, Arkansas is favored by 7 over Texas Tech at Little Rock, Houston is favored by 3½ points over Texas A&M in the Astrodome, and TCU is favored by 21 over Rice in Fort Worth.

Williams also said he'd never thought seriously about allowing Lollar, a .221 hitter with three home runs during the season, to bat for himself, although he'd floated that rumor before the Series began.

With left-hander Lollar pitching for San Diego tonight, Tigers Manager Sparky Anderson said he will revert to the lineup he used in Game One.

"My 16 T-L's haven't needed a service call in 5 years."

Bud Story
Wolf Island, Missouri

If you don't figure the down time and service costs of an irrigation system before you buy, odds are you'll come up short in the long run.

That's why Bud Story recommends considering T-L.

Unlike the stress-producing, start-stop movement of electric systems, T-L systems move continuously, increasing gear life. And minimizing untimely—and costly—breakdowns.

T-L hydrostatic drive features basic agricultural hydraulic components, so if you can hook up the hydraulics on your farm equipment, you can perform nearly all the service your T-L system will ever require.

It's that simple. And that safe.

Bud experienced the difference between hydrostatic and electric drive, which is why he now operates 16 T-L systems, and just 3 electric.

Compare the difference for yourself. You'll see that the choice is simple. T-L.

Herd to meet Clovis today

The Hereford Whitefaces play host to the Clovis Wildcats at 7:30 p.m. today in a non-district battle at Whiteface Stadium.

Clovis enters the game ranked No. 1 in New Mexico football, winning the past three state championships. Hereford High School Jerry Taylor has said he expects Clovis to be just as formidable again in 1984.

"Frankly, I think they're headed for their fourth straight title," he said earlier this week.

Hereford has not won at home this year, nor has it scored a point. If Hereford can win today's game, the Whitefaces will have a .500 season mark for the first time this year at 3-3. Clovis looks to keep its unbeaten record in tact. Currently, the Wildcats sport a 4-0-1 mark.

The Wildcats are riding a four-game winning streak, while Hereford is coming off a big win against previously unbeaten-league-play Coronado last Friday. Both teams are to field healthy athletes for the contest, Hereford's lineup remaining virtually unchanged from a week ago and Clovis' roster having only one certain change on it, Clovis football coach Eric Roanhaus said.

Roanhaus plans to use Lance Langan at defensive end for an injured Sean Burch.

Earlier in the season, the Wildcats tied Palo Duro, of District 3-5A, 0-0 in Clovis. The offensive production of Clovis in that game was held to a minimum, only 163 yards.

Clovis and Hereford operate from the same primary formations on both offense and defense. The teams run from veer formations on offense and from 5-2 sets on defense.

Coronado defeated Hereford in varsity action 15-1, 15-10, to up the Mustangs' District 3-5A record to 10-1. Meanwhile, Hereford falls to 2-8 in league play.

Texas, seeking to hold onto its No. 1 national ranking, is a 2½-point favorite over No. 3 Oklahoma.

Arkansas was shocked by TCU 32-31 in Fayetteville last week, while Tech upset A&M in College Station 30-12.

TCU's Horned Frogs, off to their best start in a dozen seasons, host a Rice team that was beaten 38-13 by Texas last weekend in Houston.

SMU boasts the league's No. 2 rusher in junior Reggie Dupard, who is averaging 128.7 yards a game. That's ahead of the 113.5-yard pace that won him the rushing title a year ago.

He'll be tested by the league's best defense against the rush. Baylor has yielded only 99.2 ground yards per contest.

At the same time, the Bears rank last in the SWC in passing defense, giving up 236 yards a game.

"It's obvious that if we could solve some problems in the secondary, we'd have a great defense. Nobody in the league is playing the run as well as we are now," Teaff said.

The Mustangs haven't been a serious threat in the air thus far. While SMU has had the league's second-best rushing game so far, at better than 302 yards a game, the Ponies rank last in passing, averaging only 145.7 yards a game.

Likewise, Baylor's Ron Francis is fourth in rushing with 91.5 yards a game, but the Bears have no one in the league's top 10 in either passing or receiving.

Baylor's two losses before Houston were by 34-15 to Oklahoma and 47-13 to fifth-ranked Brigham Young. The Bears beat Texas Tech 18-9 for their only win.

"We're very, very close to being a good football team, maybe a really good football team," Teaff said. "We've worked to improve, and we've done just that in most areas."

Hereford - People Helping People

In 1900, people were coming from all walks of life to Hereford - looking for a better way to live. These pioneers were looking for a small community that would survive the hard times. They wanted to raise their families in a safe environment and be able to retire with their spouses, secure in the knowledge that their children would have the same opportunities for success which they had.

When our bank was chartered, we made a commitment to Hereford and the surrounding community. We still hold that same strict policy. We've set out to become a part of Hereford and a part of the people in the Texas Panhandle. We believe that a strong community needs a strong bank. That's why people have counted on the First National Bank of Hereford for over 84 years. It's this kind of dedicated service that has made us the bank with the pioneer spirit.

Allen speaks at Tuesday meeting

Members of the Hereford Fine Arts Association met in the Art Room of the Community Center Tuesday evening for their regular monthly meeting.

June Owens opened the meeting with a prayer after which discussion ensued concerning the activities of the coming months. Homemade Christmas gifts will be exchanged by members at a Christmas party.

A nominating committee consisting of Mary Aguirre, Shirley Wyssman, Venita Wear and Linda Minchew was appointed by the executive committee to nominate officers to serve for the 1984-1985 year. These officers will be installed at the Christmas party.

A suggestion of a membership drive was offered and will be discussed in length at the next meeting.

Linda Minchew introduced the guest speaker, local CPA, Bill Allen.

Allen gave a very informative discussion on art and taxes. Tax laws as applied to art work in any form are very complex as a line must be drawn whether or not the artist has a hobby or is actually in the business to make a profit. It was noted that in a hobby no losses may be taken but any profit on sales must be reported to the Internal Revenue Service.

It was also pointed out that in the case of a painting or piece of art being contributed to a charitable organization only the cost may be deducted, not the appreciated value. On the other hand a piece of work purchased and held as an investment, then donated to a charitable organization may be deducted at its appreciated value.

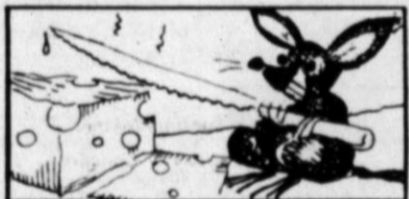

Several points were listed that are used by the Internal Revenue Service when reviewing a tax return to check whether or not activities are engaged in for profit. Allen suggested that it is a good idea to follow the advice of a reputable accountant before filing a tax return when buying, selling or donating pieces of artwork.

Hostesses for the meeting were Jolene Bledsoe and Norma Hendon who served applesauce cake and muffins with hot spiced tea, using Halloween decorations on the serving table.

Members attending included Wear, Melba Dillard, Minchew, Hendon, Bledsoe, Jean Lyles, Euman Lyles, Gary Hammett, Aguirre, Mildren Furhman and Owens.

Recognized as guests were Allen, Cindy Smith and Rita Simons.

Allen speaks at Tuesday meeting

Members of the Hereford Fine Arts Association met in the Art Room of the Community Center Tuesday evening for their regular monthly meeting.

June Owens opened the meeting with a prayer after which discussion ensued concerning the activities of the coming months. Homemade Christmas gifts will be exchanged by members at a Christmas party.

A nominating committee consisting of Mary Aguirre, Shirley Wyssman, Venita Wear and Linda Minchew was appointed by the executive committee to nominate officers to serve for the 1984-1985 year. These officers will be installed at the Christmas party.

A suggestion of a membership drive was offered and will be discussed in length at the next meeting.

Linda Minchew introduced the guest speaker, local CPA, Bill Allen.

Allen gave a very informative discussion on art and taxes. Tax laws as applied to art work in any form are very complex as a line must be drawn whether or not the artist has a hobby or is actually in the business to make a profit. It was noted that in a hobby no losses may be taken but any profit on sales must be reported to the Internal Revenue Service.

It was also pointed out that in the case of a painting or piece of art being contributed to a charitable organization only the cost may be deducted, not the appreciated value. On the other hand a piece of work purchased and held as an investment, then donated to a charitable organization may be deducted at its appreciated value.

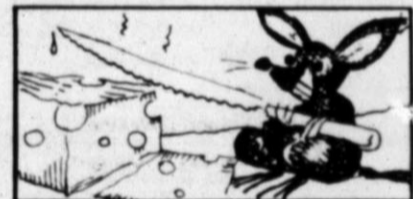

Several points were listed that are used by the Internal Revenue Service when reviewing a tax return to check whether or not activities are engaged in for profit. Allen suggested that it is a good idea to follow the advice of a reputable accountant before filing a tax return when buying, selling or donating pieces of artwork.

Hostesses for the meeting were Jolene Bledsoe and Norma Hendon who served applesauce cake and muffins with hot spiced tea, using Halloween decorations on the serving table.

Members attending included Wear, Melba Dillard, Minchew, Hendon, Bledsoe, Jean Lyles, Euman Lyles, Gary Hammett, Aguirre, Mildren Furhman and Owens.

Recognized as guests were Allen, Cindy Smith and Rita Simons.

FBI investigating school

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — The FBI has begun investigating the Lubbock State School for the mentally retarded in the wake of inspections that turned up major violations of state health standards, officials say. Larry Hawes, FBI spokesman in Dallas, confirmed Thursday that the bureau is conducting an investigation of the school. "We have an ongoing investigation. That's all I can tell you," Hawes told the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. Also on Thursday, state health inspectors returned to the school for the third time since August to see if the school had corrected a number of serious violations. In the first two visits, officials cited the school for a number of health violations and put on hold more than $600,000 in federal funding. Health officials gave the school until this week to correct the deficiencies or face complete suspension of funding.

In Thursday's inspection, a health team issued a clean bill of health to the school and recommended that its funding be reactivated. But the health department's findings have not ended the controversy surrounding the school. The commissioner of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation this week appointed Dr. James G. Armstrong interim superintendent of the school to replace Dr. John Gladden, who was fired last week. Commissioner Gary Miller refused to give specific reasons for Gladden's dismissal, but association president Robert A. Peggram has written a letter to Miller asking why Gladden was fired. In his letter to Miller, Peggram noted that the parents "want and feel we have the right to know the reason for the firing." He also invites Miller to visit the school to "discuss this matter with the parents."

Bill Binegar, treasurer of the parents association, said he was aware of Peggram's plans to write Miller and agrees with the intent of the letter. "There is a genuine concern by several of the parents as to why Dr. Gladden was dismissed," said Binegar, whose son has lived at the local school since shortly after it opened in 1969. According to Binegar, the letter was written because several members of the association have tried unsuccessfully to contact Miller by phone to ask about Gladden's firing. Armstrong became superintendent in Corpus Christi July 1, 1978, about a week before the school underwent a state investigation of alleged staff abuse of the clients. The investigation by a legislative committee was launched after two of the school's employees were convicted of assaulting a resident.

HOW TO BE WISE

If you would learn how to be wise
Don't stuff your stomach so.
When you are stuffed 'til you can't breathe
This hinders your blood flow.

When you blood does not flow freely
And you just want to sleep
You cannot think or hardly try
So sleep is all you reap.

So push yourself up from the table
Don't just sit and eat and eat
Exercise your muscle and brain
And smile at those you meet.

And you will learn where great joy is
And find how to be wise
Just eat enough and smile a lot
And get more exercise.
