

Whitefaces, Wildcats Evenly Matched

By BOB NIGH
MANAGING EDITOR

LUBBOCK - The Hereford Whitefaces will be aiming at a first-ever state finals berth when they meet the undefeated Richardson Lake Highlands Wildcats (13-0) in a Class 5A semifinal football clash here at Texas Tech's Jones Stadium tomorrow night.

Hereford, also 13-0 on the year, is riding the crest of a 16-game winning streak over the past two seasons, and the two teams are so evenly matched that the game has been rated a toss-up.

"It's going to be a classic," Hereford coach Don Cumpston said this week. "Both teams are very similar in philosophy, and I think it'll come down to just who can whip who."

Based upon performances this season, a winner is indeed hard to pick. The Herd, depending upon a solid running game with sharp passing interspersed, has scored 350 points this year while allowing but 98.

Lake Highlands, a ball-control team which likes to stick to the ground, has tallied 330 points in 15 wins this year while allowing just 93.

"They're big and strong, but probably their greatest asset is their consistency," Cumpston said. "They make you beat them; they don't beat themselves."

As an example, the Wildcats earned their semi-final berth last week by taking advantage of two crucial Grand Prairie turnovers late in the contest. A 14-14 deadlock was broken when Wildcat halfback Alvin Rettig scored two fourth-period touchdowns to lead Lake Highlands to a 28-21 decision.

The 'Cats like to give the ball to Rettig out of their Wing-T formation, letting him move behind the blocking of an offensive line that averages 300 pounds.

"Rettig is their main man," Cumpston said. "He doesn't have great speed, but he's a great power runner."

The one advantage Cumpston feels his team may have over the Wildcats is in overall speed. The tall, rangy Wildcats have a slight edge in weight, but take a back seat to the Herd in quickness.

"They don't really have any weaknesses," Cumpston sighed. "But, I think our quickness may offset their size advantage."

Cumpston looks for an entirely different type of game than the Whitefaces had last week against Ft. Worth Eastern Hills: a game which saw wide-open offensive play.

"I think this will be a real defensive struggle," the coach said. "Both teams have excellent defenses, and the kicking game may play a very big part in deciding the outcome... a break here or a mistake there will determine the winner."

Lake Highlands runs a 3-3 defense with noseguard Rodney Beucham (200) anchoring the line along with tackle John Abbot (207) and Eric White (203). Defensive end Todd Tachant (212) is virtually on even par with HERD stand-out Aubrey Richburg, while linebackers Bobby Kinder (212) and Danny Burgess (207) help thwart the running game.

Rettig (185) starts at one cornerback spot, and the secondary is led by free safety Thomas Jefferson (190). Jefferson and Kinder propelled the 'Cats to their win last week with key recoveries of Grand Prairie miscues in the final stanza.

Offensively, quarterback Steve Hurst (160) is coming off a

Ma Bell Unsatisfied With Record Increase

By KEN HERMAN
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Minutes after they won the largest rate increase ever granted a Texas utility, Southwestern Bell officials said they would go to court to challenge the order and soon would be back to ask for more.

The Public Utility Commission voted 2-1 Thursday to grant the $343.7 million record-increase recommended by hearing examiners. It means $1.70 more per month for residential service, probably beginning in January.

Consumer groups said their constituents won one and lost one Thursday.

The consumer victory was the denial of Bell's controversial request for "local measured service," according to Carol Barger of Consumers Union.

Don Butler, representing the Texas Municipal League, said it is unfair to bill for local calls on a measured basis.

"It's not like burning electricity," he said.

The $1.70 a month increase was a loss for consumers, Ms. Barger said.

The telephone giant lost a round when the commission approved a 10 percent increase in increasing long-distance rates, a hike the company fought because of increased competition.

Household rates actually will drop for many customers who have been paying increased rates put into effect under bond in October. Refunds will be made by crediting bills.

PUC Chairman George Cowden and Commissioner Monk Rollins voted for the increase. Perpetual dissenter Garret Morris, in his last case before being replaced, said the company was due $182 million less. Morris offered a different way to calculate Bell's income taxes.

Paul Roth, Bell vice president, said the company needs the entire $480.8 million hike it requested. Bell wanted $5.45 more per month for residential service.

"It's not nearly enough. It falls far short of our documented financial needs," he told reporters. "I feel quite certain we'll have to be back (in 1982) for another rate hike."

Reagan Recalls U.S. Citizens from Libya

WASHINGTON (AP) - By urging 1,500 U.S. workers to return home from "imminent danger" in Libya, President Reagan apparently is trying to position himself to deal forcefully with Col. Moammar Khadafi if necessary.

If the appeal is successful and all Americans leave the North African nation, Reagan will have averted the potential for them being used as pawns in the festering dispute between Libya and the United States.

Fears for the safety of the Americans and fresh memories of the seizure of U.S. hostages in Iran effectively have barred the administration from considering a wide range of options up to now, including an oil embargo.

However, the only firm that immediately ordered its workers out of Libya in response to the president's request was Marathon Oil, which had just eight employees there.

Occidental Petroleum said it has told its employees they are free to leave if they wish.

Others had no immediate comment.

State Department officials were to be available to discuss the Libyan situation with oil industry representatives today and department spokesman David Hall said several company executives were expected to accept the offer.

State Department travel warnings issued as early as last May have had little effect in reducing the numbers of Americans in Libya. Many say they have well-paid jobs and do not feel they are in danger even though all U.S. diplomatic posts in the country have been shut down.

The travel warning was upgraded to a travel ban Thursday in conjunction with the plea for U.S. citizens already there to return. No other country is the object of such a ban although the government advises U.S. travelers to stay away from several other countries where relations are strained.

The action came as border guards kept close watch for two purported Libyan assassination squads said to be trying to slip into the United States. A notice posted at check points on the U.S.-Mexican border gives descriptions of members of both teams and declares their aim is to kill Reagan and other U.S. officials.

Some of the officials presumed to be possible targets (implied that the travel ban may be only a preliminary move).

Halg said the United States is not bent on "victimizing Libya" but is simply taking "prudent steps in light of Libya's terrorist activities."

A senior administration official, briefing reporters under the ground rule that he not be identified, said negotiations have been held and that the government "is a part" of the situation continues.

Sen. Republican Robert Howard H. Baker Jr. of Kentucky said Reagan's strategy is to get the Americans out first and then determine whether strong actions are needed.

What with folks going to the Herd's state playoff game in Lubbock Saturday and pheasant season opening in the area, it sounds kinda' scary.

Think about it—there'll be 7,000 or 8,000 people leaving town and another 7,000 coming to town with guns!

Lubbock officials were estimating this morning that the Hereford-Dallas Lake Highlands game may draw about 20,000 fans. We don't have the records, but it will be the first semifinal game played in this part of the state in many years.

Hereford will be the home team for the semifinal contest Saturday night at Jones Stadium in Lubbock, which means Whiteface fans will use the west side.

Because Texas Tech has a basketball game with West Texas State in the coliseum Saturday night, Tech has asked football fans to park on the east, south and north. Tickets will be sold only on the east side of the stadium.

Hereford fans, however, can enter at the northwest gate if they have their tickets. Whiteface fans can enter on the east and have easy access to the west side of the stadium.

Larry Wartes, assistant superintendent, has suggested that Hereford fans with tickets might want to use the shopping center parking north of the stadium and enter by the northwest gate.

Should Hereford win this game and vie for the state championship, where will the finals be played? It depends on the schools involved and is usually determined on a home-or-home basis or neutral site. For the home site, a team usually named a big stadium close to home.

The other two possibilities are Houston Yates and San Antonio Churchill. Just to get a feeling for the situation, we've asked a number of fans about their preference. Most of the ones we've talked with would opt for the home-or-home route, hoping to have the game at Lubbock.

Going the neutral site method takes away the chance of having to play down state, but some fans would rather take the chance and hope to play close to home. Texas Stadium is a good bet for the neutral site, but there are no specific sites in football playoffs.

No one is counting the chickens before they hatch, but all four schools remaining are already in contact with each other and discussing the possibilities.

Senate Breezes Toward Passage of Spending Cuts

By CLIFF HAAS Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Republican-controlled Senate, sweeping aside a succession of Democratic amendments, is breezing toward final passage of $4 billion in new spending cuts sought by President Reagan.

Following House approval Thursday of a huge stopgap bill, the Senate worked late into the night in an attempt to finish the measure and send it to the president for his promised signature.

But several Democratic senators said they needed more time to prepare their amendments and the Senate recessed to resume deliberations today.

That was after the Republican majority in the Senate already had defeated more than a half-dozen Democratic amendments Thursday night aimed at restoring money for various social programs.

Republican majority strength was expected to prevail again today.

Six Men Indicted By Grand Jury

The Deaf Smith County grand jury met Thursday and indicted six men for trial.

Those indicted were Henry Casias, 340 Lake, for burglary of a motor vehicle in October 1981; Leslie Carroll Blyant, aggravated assault stemming from an incident at the Deaf Smith County Feed Yard; and Frank Garcia, Joliet, Ill., forgery of a check in February 1980.

Also indicted were Antonio Cervantes, 214 Hereford, for burglary of a motor vehicle, 311 Hereford, for aggravated assault with a deadly weapon, from an incident late month.

Jimmy Leon Weathers of east Seventh Street was indicted for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Weathers allegedly took a plane for a joyride in September.

Sen. Tower Says U.S. Over-reacted to Plot

WASHINGTON (AP) - The threat of a reported Libyan assassination plot against American political leaders is real, even though foreign officials say the U.S. over-reacted to it, Sen. John Tower said.

"I'm convinced there is a serious threat," said Tower, who told a news conference Thursday his information on the purported plot came from intelligence briefings and "various reliable channels."

The Republican, who is chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said several other congressional leaders also have been told of "evidence" President Reagan said he has of a plot by Libyan strongman Moammar Khadafi to kill Reagan or other high American officials.

Slain Oilman Feared Plot

DALLAS (AP) - Fear of an attempt on his life kept Ole Glenn Jameson on the road, and it was in the trunk of his Cadillac that police found the mangled remains of his bullet-riddled body this week.

Jameson, 51, warned friends and neighbors more than a year ago that someone wanted him dead. That was when he began moving from hotel to hotel to elude his imagined pursuers and kept a loaded pistol under his pillow.

His body was found Tuesday by police at Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport. Of-in this regard, Tower said. Evidence that the threat exists cannot be revealed for security reasons and full disclosure will likely never be forthcoming, said Tower.

Investigators are now trying to place together the events leading to his death, while family members sort out Jameson's tangled affairs in the wake of his funeral Thursday.

Airport police Capt. Tom Sheehan said Wednesday that investigators have not determined why Jameson was killed, but have ruled out robbery.

Convicted Killer Gets Second Life Sentence

COOPER, Texas (AP) — For the second time, State District Judge Lanny has sentenced convicted killer Billy Ray Wallace to life in prison for the murder-for-hire slaying of the former dairyman's wife.

Wallace was sentenced by the judge Thursday after the jury that convicted him of capital murder could not reach a decision on his punishment.

Ramsey, who declared a hung jury Thursday afternoon, assessed the maximum penalty allowed under Texas law when a jury is deadlocked in the punishment phase.

Wallace, 40, who admitted killing his wife, Janyth K. Wallace, pleaded guilty to murder in December of 1979 and was sentenced to life in prison by Ramsey.

Mexican Jet Crashes, No Injuries Reported

LAREDO, Texas (AP) — A twin-engine Mexican jet carrying 10 people crashed on an airport runway late Thursday and skidded off, spilling fuel from a ruptured tank but causing no injuries, officials said.

The accident closed one runway of Laredo International Airport to incoming air traffic, said Laredo district fire chief Manuel Meza. Damage to the DC-125 aircraft was estimated at more than $800,000, he said.

The plane, owned by Sena Same of Monterrey, Mexico, slammed onto the runway at 5:42 p.m., then skidded into a grassy area.

The pilot encountered a wind shear and lost control of the aircraft, Meza said. The shift of wind direction caused him to nearly miss the runway, and the plane lost power, he said.

About 300 gallons of jet fuel leaked onto the runway, but firemen hoed down the area and there was no fire, Meza said.

He said seven passengers were arriving from Monterrey for a hunting trip.

"We checked the pilot, copilot and everyone else for injuries, but no one was even scratched," Meza said. "They were just shaken up, but very lucky."

Salvador Esquina was piloting the plane and Jesus Guillen was co-pilot. A stewardess, Anna Maria Perez, was aboard. All are Monterrey residents, Meza said.

from zero in large cities to $3.25 per month in smaller towns.

Jon Dee Lawrence, Bell lawyer, said, "We're going to the courthouse as soon as we can get there."

Lawrence said the lawsuit would, among other things, challenge the refunds ordered by the commission. The rates put in effect under bond were $1.10 per month higher than the rates approved Thursday.

Lawrence said there is a discrepancy in the total amount to be refunded because Bell was not allowed to charge bonded rates for long-distance calls. State law allows a utility to charge increased bonded rates only in areas where hikes have been requested. Bell sought no long-distance increase.

The controversial local measured service battle is a skirmish sure to be fought again. Bell wanted to allow customers to choose to pay for each call based on duration, time of day and distance, similar to long-distance billing. Roth said it's a good alternative to raising monthly bills for flat-rate service.

Hearing Examiner Bob Gillespie recommended a test of local measured service. The commission vetoed the recommendation and banned local measured service.

However, the commission ordered Bell, in conjunction with other interested groups, to survey customers to see if there is any interest in local measured service.

It's a concept whose time may come as flat-rate service gets more expensive, said Cowden.

"I'm not going to be terribly surprised if the day many not come when some of us who have today expressed ourselves against local measured service... might be saying this might be a pretty reasonable thing to do," he said.

Ms. Barger said, "We won't be big on local measured service." But she cautioned that "the ravages of AT&T will eventually be felt."

"They will wear us down," she predicted. "The war is not over."

She said the $1.70 increase for household phones was unfair.

"The overall result of the case will be a severe blow to residential users. They are taking an unprecedented amount of the increase in this case," she said.

Ms. Barger also said the 47 percent increase in service connection charges — from $18.80 to $27.50 — is too steep.

Tower

will not "lend a very sympathetic ear to shy further cuts to defense," cuts Tower said would seriously impair the president's defense modernization program.

Any additional defense spending cuts, said Tower, "would tend to undermine our objectives, both in the theater and global nuclear policy."

On other topics, Tower said:

— He is uncommitted on the move to censure Sen. Harrison "Pete" Williams Jr., D-N.J. Williams was convicted of bribery and conspiracy charges in the FBI's Abcam operation.

— The budget may be balanced by 1984. "A great deal of it hinges on the success of the Reagan economic policy, and we have great reason to think this will be the case. It's happened in six of the last eight times that taxes have been reduced."

— Gas decontrol debate is looming in 1982, with an attached windfall profits tax. Tower said he favors gas decontrol, but will strongly oppose a windfall profits tax in spite of congressional support for both.

— Social Security should not be reduced, except for possible changes in the way cost-of-living increases are calculated.

— He will support the conference report on the farm bill in the Senate.

Senate

passage of an emergency bill which expires at midnight Tuesday. The new measure would expire on March 31, or halfway through the 1982 fiscal year.

Under the plan, hundreds of domestic programs will be cut by 4 percent, with the exception of defense, government benefit payments such as Social Security and food stamps, medical care for veterans, revenue sharing, law enforcement activities and the judiciary.

However, nearly $500 million of the $4 billion in cuts comes from administrative accounts for Social Security, Medicaid and unemployment insurance, and Republicans conceded those savings might evaporate later in the year if expenses are higher than expected.

The measure also contains a provision giving the lawmakers a previously approved tax break a year earlier.

Under the old law, a member of Congress could claim a tax deduction — just like any businessman — for reasonable amounts spent for transportation, entertainment and similar business-related expenses in Washington. Unlike businessmen, however, the lawmakers have been limited to $3,000 of such deductions a year.

Herd

shoulder separation, but is expected to be ready for the Herd. "He runs the option well, and is a good thrower," Cumpton said of Hurst.

The Whitefaces are expected to be at near full strength tomorrow night. Cumpton reports that all the "Faces are in good shape physically, and that minor injuries to key players like Richburg, tight end Don Delozier, and tackle Barry Joaseraud have been healed.

Delozier, who hyperextended a knee in last week's quarter-final victory, is expected to be at full strength. It is not known, however, whether or not he will handle punting chores as he did throughout the season until his injury last week.

If Delozier is not able to punt Charles McDowell, whose key run on a fourth down last week kept a Herd drive to a touchdown alive, will fill in again this week.

HHS quarterback Alan Wartes will again take snaps from center Tim Martin, who came off a broken arm to return to action last week against Eastern Hills. Martin, a right-hander showed his determination last week, making the snaps to Wartes with his left hand throughout the game.

"Tim and Alan both did well with the change," Cumpton said. Martin continued to run and keep in shape after the arm was broken against Lubbock Coronado, and began immediately to practice snapping the ball with his left hand.

"Somehow he knew he was going to get to play again," Cumpton said. "He practiced his snaps every day, and you really couldn't tell he had made the change last week... that's quite a tribute to him and Alan both; they both did a heck of a job."

Herd tailback Wayne High will be out to extend his single-season rushing mark against the Wildcats tomorrow night. High moved ahead of James Harris on the all-time list for Hereford, and now has 1,416 rushing yards this season. Alfred Ball (821 yards) and Jeff Coupe (451 yards) will add to the HHS attack as well.

Delozier leads the Herd in receptions this year with 28 catches for 408 yards and four touchdowns. Split-end Mike Mason has 16 receptions for 243 yards and three scores as well.

Hard receiver Rudy Hernandez is the only player who will not play this week. Hernandez, who broke a jaw against Lubbock High on his fifth touchdown catch this season, is not quite ready for action yet according to Cumpton.

A crowd estimated at near 20,000 is expected to be at Jones Stadium for the 7:30 game tomorrow night, and Cumpton hopes the Whitefaces will have a definite advantage in supporters.

"I can't say enough about the great fans we've had this year," the coach said. "Even traveling 400 miles last week I believe we have more people than Eastern Hills did, and they only had to drive 20 miles."

"Our players are looking forward to the game with a lot of confidence," the coach added. "And, we're looking forward to another big show of support from not only Hereford, but the surrounding area as well."

bery in his death. Jameson's wallet with $5 cash and his .387 magnum pistol were recovered from the car.

"There's no telling who did it or why they did it," Sheehan said. "It could have been a professional job or it could have been someone who just got angry at him."

Jameson's wife, Carol, said the discovery of the slain oilman's body after a month-long disappearance did not surprise her. Jameson, president of Olex Enterprises Inc., was reported missing Nov. 11, four days after he was last seen, by Julie Jameson, his wife of three weeks.

A major merger of Olex was pending that would expand its market and its $1.5 million in assets. But family members said the former Alabama farmboy who moved to Dallas five years ago had accumulated massive debts.

Carol Jameson celebrated her 18th wedding anniversary just before the oilman founded his company. She said she spent 31 anguished days trying to find out why he disappeared. Hours before he vanished, he telephoned to say that he loved her.

"I don't know who killed him," she said. "I don't care who killed him. I mean, the man is dead."

Texas Trees Advantageous

COLLEGE STATION — For a real Texas Christmas this year, be sure your Christmas tree is a genuine Texas product.

What could be more fitting than to find that longed-for western belt or pair of boots underneath a Texas-grown Christmas tree? Those gifts plus thousands of others will find their way under some 75,000 Texas-grown Christmas trees this year.

"Texas-grown Christmas trees offer a number of advantages," says Dr. Mike Walterscheid, forestry specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "They are fresher, more fragrant and usually less expensive than those shipped in from other states."

More than five million Christmas trees are sold in Texas each year, imported mainly from northern and western states. So the growth potential of the Texas Christmas tree industry looks good, notes the specialist. Growers have planted about a million seedlings each of the past several years.

While the availability of Texas-grown trees continues to increase, most shoppers will likely have to go to the larger cities in Texas or to smaller communities in eastern areas where most of them are grown, says Walterscheid.

Many Christmas tree farms operate on a "choose-and-cut" basis in which the shopper selects the tree he wants, cuts it himself and takes it home. Walterscheid says that this restores the old-fashioned idea of making the selection of a Christmas tree an outing the entire family can enjoy.

Anyone interested in a Texas-grown Christmas tree can contact their county Extension agent for a listing of tree farms, adds the specialist.

"Texas-grown trees are mainly Virginia pines which are native to the Appalachian area of the southeastern United States," explains Walterscheid. "These do best in the acid, sandy soils of East Texas. Another species, the Afghan pine, is now being grown in central and western areas of Texas where alkaline soil and drier climates prevail."

Christmas tree production has a lot of potential in Texas, but it also requires a lot of hard work, says Walterscheid. There are such regular operations as planting, weed and insect control, and twice-a-year shaping during the trees' third and fourth years.

Anyone interested in a Texas-grown Christmas tree can contact their county Extension agent for a listing of tree farms, adds the specialist.

Mexican Male Arrested In Theft

A 28-year-old Mexican male was arrested Thursday for theft of gasoline at Big Daddy's truck stop and charges are pending in that case.

The man allegedly paid for $4 worth of gas and pumped $30 worth into the tank.

Alton Fraser, 301 Union, reported that during the last week someone had gone into his workshop, south of Continental Grain and stolen $500 in tools and batteries. Taken was a battery charger, two truck batteries and a valve grinding machine and accessories.

Johnny Flores, 606 Avenue K, reported that sometime

Thursday morning someone broke into his car while it was parked at 506 25 mile Avenue and took about $300 in goods. Missing were his battery, a cassette player, 12 cassettes and case.

Police issued 12 citations Thursday.

Hereford firemen drove 20 miles north of town Thursday night to fight a grass fire on the Don Brooks farm on North 365. Firemen received the call at about 8 p.m.

At about 9:50 p.m. the crew was called to a vacant back-rack on Domingo Street in the labor camp to douse a burning mattress.

In-law To Receive Passport

Soviet Hunger Strike Succeeds

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet emigration officials told Andrei Sakharov's daughter-in-law she would receive a Soviet passport on Monday to go to the United States and could go to Gorky immediately to see the Nobel peace laureate and his wife.

Liza Alexeyeva said she hoped to leave later today for Gorky, the Volga River city 250 miles east of Moscow to which Sakharov was exiled 23 months ago.

Speaking with reporters outside OVIR, the government visa agency, Miss Alexeyeva said officials told her Sakharov had recovered sufficiently for her to visit him. He and his wife, Yelena Bonner, had been on a hunger strike since Nov. 22 to pressure the Soviet government into letting Miss Alexeyeva join Mrs. Bonner's son in the United States.

In an apparent gesture to Western public opinion, the government told Miss Alexeyeva she could leave the country as a Soviet citizen rather than as an emigre who could not return to the Soviet Union.

The KGB, the Soviet secret police, told the young woman on Tuesday that she would be allowed to leave the country and that Sakharov and his wife had ended their hunger strike. But she said she would not leave until she went to Gorky and satisfied herself that the 60-year-old scientist and his 58-year-old wife were all right.

The decision to let her go was a major concession to foreign opinion stirred up by the hunger strike.

Sakharov, a top nuclear weapons scientist until he joined the fight for human rights in the Soviet Union, was banished to Gorky in January 1980 to restrict his access to foreign reporters.

The president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, Anatoly Alexandrov, announced

Strike Succeeds

Thursday that Sakharov and his wife had ended their fast and were taking fruit juice preparatory to resuming a normal diet. He said they were in a hospital to which they were admitted Dec. 5 and were in no danger of dying.

The KGB prevented Miss Alexeyeva from visiting the Sakharovs last weekend.

Miss Alexeyeva, 26, was married by proxy in Montana last June to Alexei Semionov, 26, Mrs. Bonner's son by a previous marriage. The Soviet government refused to recognize the proxy marriage or let Miss Alexeyeva join her husband in Massachusetts, where he is a student at Brandeis University.

Nine of this year's 10 Nobel prizewinners sent a cable from Stockholm, where they went to receive their awards, to Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev appealing for better conditions for Sakharov. There was no explanation why the tenth laureate, medicine co-winner Roger W. Sperry of the California Institute of Technology, did not sign the appeal.

Sakharov won the 1975 peace prize for his fight for human rights.

Ax Falls On Opera

LONDON (AP) — The ax has fallen on the troubled D'Oyly Carte Opera Company, original producers of Gilbert and Sullivan operettas and a troupe the Times of London recently called "the very model of a modern major money-loser."

Britain's Arts Council, dismissing the group's performances as "wooden and tired," refused to give the company a grant last February. It was, as Deputy General Manager Peter Riley put it, the final "body blow" in an already deepening financial crisis.

"Like leaving my family and being pushed out into the snow," chorus member Betti Lloyd-Jones said Thursday after learning the company will disband Feb. 27 when its current season at London's Adelphi Theater ends.

"This company brought Gilbert and Sullivan together," she said before going on stage for one of the company's last performances of "The Pirates of Penzance."

"We have always kept to the Gilbert and Sullivan tradition. We know the operas better than anyone," said Miss Lloyd-Jones, a 25-year chorus veteran who has been in the company longer than any current member.

"We are going through the most horrendous financial problems," said Riley, recalling how the group lost 235,000 pounds ($448,500) last year.

"It got to the stage where we could not see a way ahead. We have to close in order to breathe."

A major fund-raising campaign is being launched, with millionaire hotel owner Sir Charles Forte at the helm, in a bid to put D'Oyly Carte back on the road as soon as possible.

But the contracts of Miss Lloyd-Jones and the 82 other performers are not being renewed when the opera group disbands in February. All of them will have to seek new work.

Critics of D'Oyly Carte charge it has become an anachronism, persisting with unchanged, conventional renditions of the Gilbert and Sullivan classics, while other theater companies are experimenting with more modern styles of presenting the operettas.

Fashions Inspired By 18th Century

A new 18th century revolution could be simmering in the fashion workshops of New York's Seventh Avenue.

A recent flurry of activity there shows just how far-reaching are the influences of the 18th century on the attire of today's woman.

Ten of the nation's leading fashion designers have been putting the finishing touches to their own contemporary interpretations of the elegance and luxury of that era.

Those 10 special-edition costumes—designed by Bill Blass, Albert Capraro, Oscar de la Renta, Gene Ewing, May McFadden, Morton Myles, Albert Nipon, Mollie Parnis, Arnold Scaasi and Helene Sidel—will be touring the country throughout 1982 after a glorious debut at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York on Dec. 9.

The exhibition opens to the public Dec. 16.

Says Merle Norman president Gary Hollister, "Because our company is intimately involved in the full spectrum of fashion and beauty, we wanted to bring to light the art of an era that influences fashion to this day."

And just what are some of those influences? "Elegance, opulence and the enjoyment of beauty for its own sake," says Diana Vreeland, special consultant to the Costume Institute, organizer of the exhibit and the acknowledged grande dame of American fashion.

In fashion terms, this translates into a lavish use of richly-embroidered satin, brocade, velvet, lace and silk in pale, muted tones of salmon, gray, gray-green and dusty blue. (Coincidentally, notes Mrs. Vreeland, there is currently a return to romantic dressing, particularly at night.)

How today's designers have interpreted these influences varies according to their own approach to contemporary fashion.

In a similar vein, Albert and Pearl Nipon have created a modern-day version of a French court gown in a bronze-colored pure silk charmeuse. The gown has a high neck with puffed sleeves and buttons down the back. The most modern touch is the horizontally-tucked bodice and hem—the Nipon trademark.

Oscar de la Renta, a master of the romantic look, has fashioned a ball gown of midnight blue taffeta and black velvet, while Morton Myles has designed a red beaded gown with lace petticoat.

Arnold Scaasi, who had his silver and pink metallic fabric made to order in Switzerland, is trimming his gown and matching cape in fur.

Two of the designers have chosen a less literal interpretation of 18th century women's fashions.

Helene Sidel, who designs contemporary sportswear, instead chose the male influence for her inspiration. She calls it the "Gainsborough look." Her costume consists of a brocade frock coat, a silk taffeta blouse with jabot, and satin knit britches.

"I think this reflects the lifestyle of the contemporary American woman, who can

4-H Club Enjoys Party

A western theme was carried out Tuesday evening at the Ford Community 4-H Club Christmas party. Club members and their families gathered at the Conkright barn for a pot luck supper followed by games and the opening of "gag" gifts.

The presents were placed under a "tumbleweed" Christmas tree, which was lighted for the festive season. For other entertainment, Ben and Brenda Melwes directed the group in round and folk dances.

On behalf of the club, Robin Conkright, president, presented adult leader, Billie Jo Gee, with a poinsettia for her dedicated service to the club.

Thirty two family members, and friends attended the social.

cross over into men's fashions, and it is a welcome relief from jeweled bodices and long skirts," she says.

Delta Xi Holds Party

The members of Delta Xi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society International met in regular session in the home of Mrs. Cawthon Bryant. The chapter collect was led by Eleanor Hudspeth. Doris Bryant, president, conducted the business.

Alice Christman read the prayer "While Trimming the Christmas Tree" from the book "Bless this Meats" by Jo Carr.

Pat Montgomery, chairman of scholarships, and Sue Painter, chairman of world fellowships, gave a brief program on available scholarships. Members donated to make the organization an honor chapter.

The group sang Christmas carols led by Bera Boyd, accompanied at the piano by Leta Kaul.

A bountiful table of Christmas refreshments were served by the hostesses Doris Bryant, Leta Kaul, Evadne Cox, Lucile Naylor and Faye Holt.

Others present were Thelma Alexander, Emma Baird Gearn, Margaret Bell, Opal Bookout, Dean Bradley, Caudie Ola Brown, Betty Jo Carlson, Ann Cummings, Phyllis Gerdson, Lucile Hughes, Lois Matchett, Eloise McDougal, Carole McGilvary, Betty Mercer, Ruby Mulkey, Moselle Neill, Audrey Powell, Della Stagner, Wanda Stanley, Marie Stringer, Jeanne Boone, Billie Birdwell, Patsy Giles, Julia McNaney, Louise Witkowski, Marlene Strou and Alta Mae Higgins.

Fine Arts Association Enjoys Christmas Party

The Hereford Fine Arts Association Christmas party was held at Texas Gallery Tuesday night. A short business meeting was conducted by Charles Lyles, president. Members elected new officers for the coming year.

Norma Hendon was elected president; Beverly Jayroe, vice-president; Loyce Brown, secretary; Jean Lyles, program director; Charles Lyles, show director; and Shirley Wyssmann, refreshments.

Members decided to contribute $50 to the United Way Fund and $50 to the Empty Stocking Fund as a gesture of good will and appreciation for community support of the association's activities.

Membership chairman, Mrs. Hendon, reported that the association has 48 members. The charter meeting of the association was held one year ago with 15 members.

Members and gifts enjoyed a covered dish supper, visiting with friends, and an exchange of gifts.

The next meeting of the Fine Arts Association will be Jan. 11 at the Community Center.

ALL THE WAY TO STATE 100% BEHIND THE HERD!

Show Continues Until Christmas

"STAR OF WONDER," the planetarium show at the Don Harrington Discovery Center, is both a miracle and a mystery.

This traditional program, showing for the first time in Amarillo, uses the planetarium instrument to take visitors back in time to view the sky at that magical moment, discusses several possible explanations for the "STAR OF WONDER" and retells the traditional Bible story of the Baby's birth.

"Star" is designed for the entire family. Music of Christmas past and present, a magical Christmas tree, Santa and his famous reindeer all combine for a memorable experience.

How did the night sky appear to the three wise men nearly two thousand years ago? What was that fortuitous "star of the east?"

Could a comet explain the wondrous heavenly sight? Could it have been a conjunction of several planets, or a supernova? Is it possible this phenomena can't be explained by astronomical accounts? Was it indeed a miracle?

Each visitor will draw his own conclusion based on personal beliefs. The important facts that can't be altered are that Jesus was born, that He dwell on earth for a time and that His teachings have altered the history of the world.

"Star" started the first weekend after Thanksgiving and runs until Christmas. Programs are scheduled on Saturdays at 2 p.m., 3 p.m., and 8 p.m. and on Sundays at 2 p.m., 3 p.m., and 4 p.m. Admission prices are $1.50 for adults, $1 for students and senior citizens.

Gulf Dispute Winding Down

Disc Jockey

Ricky J. Matchett, graduate of Hereford High School and son of Lois Matchett, is presently a disc jockey for KTXI-FM, Texas Tech University campus radio station. He is the station manager for KTXI-FM and is responsible for a staff of 80 students.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The final phase of a 35-year-old legal fight between Louisiana and the United States over ownership of the Gulf of Mexico tidelands is drawing to a close, but both sides indicate more negotiations may be down the road.

In a settlement announced Thursday, Louisiana would get an extra $30 million.

The money is from royalty payments on oil or gas from 63 disputed leases along Louisiana's coast which has piled up in escrow while lawyers argued over every inch of the oil-rich seabottom.

But Louisiana Attorney General William Guste said in Baton Rouge that there appeared to be a $2 million dollar discrepancy in the figures.

"There are apparent errors in the accounting of the U.S.

which may lead to further proceedings before Special Master Walker Armstrong," Guste said, "and additionally there is the possibility of further proceedings in the U.S. Supreme Court."

State and federal accountants will make a final tally within a few weeks.

The state Mineral Board scheduled a meeting on Dec. 21 to validate the leases on land decreed to be in state jurisdiction as a result of the settlement.

Guste said the state already had drawn $37 million from the escrow pot in 1980-81, $50 million in 1972 and $136 million in 1975.

John Rankin, head of the Department of Interior's Bureau of Land Management Office in New Orleans, said exactly how much the final payment will be is not known. However, Thursday's settlement means the state's share will be about $30 million higher than the federal share.

"It closes one chapter until it's reopened again," Rankin said.

It also marked the end of the 35-year-old interim agreement hammered out in 1946 after the U.S. Supreme Court issued an injunction blocking offshore drilling until the issue of state vs. federal jurisdiction was settled.

The agreement enabled drilling to resume while lawyers continued the fight.

Rankin staged a little ceremony to celebrate the end of the dispute, which saw Louisiana stripped of billions of dollars in lease and royalty income by a 1950 Supreme Court decision.

The justices ruled that, although Texas and Florida had seaward jurisdiction extending out three leagues from the beach, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama were due only three miles.

Three leagues equals 10.5 miles. State versus federal jurisdiction might not have become an issue but the seabottom along Louisiana's coast was developing into one of the world's richest oil and gas areas. The offshore oil business was born in the Gulf of Mexico.

Interior now has made some 1,000 leases in the Gulf, most of them in Louisiana waters, and 2,200 production platforms stand in the sea on steel legs, sending oil or gas ashore in underground pipelines.

Volcanoes Scattered In West Scientists Say

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Although Mount St. Helens and its explosive sisters of the Northwest got most of the attention, scientists say all the Western states have volcanic fields that could produce violent eruptions — maybe not for 1,000 years, or maybe tomorrow.

"There are many systems that should be considered active and we do not know where the next action will be or where we are in the interval (between eruptions)," geologist Robert L. Smith told a meeting of the American Geophysical Union Thursday.

He said a study of past volcanism reveals at least 60 volcanic clusters spread in an intriguingly regular pattern through the 11 states west of the Rocky Mountains, which seem to be the interior limit of the activity.

"And 60 is a conservative number — it may be closer to 100," said Smith, of the U.S. Geological Survey National Center in Reston, Va.

The Cascade volcanoes of Oregon and Washington seem to erupt every few hundred years or less, as Mount St. Helens did in a spectacular and destructive explosion in May 1980.

Smith said the interval between eruptions in most other clusters seems to vary from 1,000 to 1 million years, and too little is known to refine those numbers for specific locations.

"It is difficult to get too excited about any one of them on the scale of a human lifetime," he said in a subsequent interview.

"But it could be tomorrow. One of these things may erupt every 1,000 years and we may be just one day away from that 1,000 years. The possibility that some of them will go off in our lifetime is worth considering."

"But," he continued, "what we are most concerned with is long-term land-use planning."

Smith said remote burial grounds for chemical and radioactive wastes could be jeopardized if they are located where volcanic eruptions could take place. An eruption under such a poisonous dump could spew its contents into the atmosphere, he warned.

Libya Asks OPEC To Go Against US

ABU DHABI, United Arab Emirates (AP) — All OPEC oil prices except the benchmark were set to come down by up to $1 a barrel today, and Libya asked the oil cartel to take "joint action" against U.S. oil companies that withdraw from Libya, oil ministers announced.

Al-Zaghar was quoted as denouncing the United States for taking "illegal and unfair" action against Libya. He was referring to a Washington call on U.S. citizens, about 1,500 in all, to leave Libya. U.S. oil companies also were to stop operating in Libya, Al-Zaghar complained.

The Reagan administration has alleged that Libyan assassins were plotting to kill the president or other top U.S. officials. Libya has denied the charge.

Al-Zaghar accused Reagan of an "act of aggression" and an "illegal and unfair" action.

The Saudi oil minister, Sheik Ahmed Zaki Yamani, announced that the prices by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries were set to come down by between 50 cents to $1 per 42-gallon barrel for all crudes but the benchmark Saudi type, now selling for $34.

The affect on prices in the United States of Yamani's so-called "nice Christmas gift" to the West was not immediately clear. If the benchmark price fell by a $1 a barrel, U.S. consumers might expect to pay one cent less per gallon. But the benchmark was not included in the latest decision.

Meanwhile, the Venezuelan oil minister, Humberto Calderon-Berti, told reporters that the OPEC foreign affairs committee was considering the Libyan request, put forward to the OPEC conference by the Libyan oil minister, Adnan Al-Zaghar.

Lineman Honored With Lombardi

By SHARON HERBAUGH Associated Press Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — A hulking defensive tackle from Texas who for four years intimidated opponents with crunching tackles and a fierce pass rush was brought to tears by a 60-pound block of granite honoring the nation's best college lineman for 1981. Kenneth Sims, the Longhorns' injured two-time All-American, tried to choke back the tears as he accepted the 12th annual Lombardi Award Thursday night from former Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes.

Heisman and Outland trophies, point totals from balloting by 96 college football coaches, sportswriters and sportscasters were not disclosed. Sims, 22, led the Longhorns, whose defense ranks second in the nation, to a Cotton Bowl berth against Alabama before his season ended abruptly because of a broken ankle. He was credited with 110 tackles, including 81 unassisted, and 10 quarterback sacks. Sims thanked Texas Coach Fred Akers and assistant coach Mike Parker for making him a success. "I was a good man before I came, but since I've been there I've gotten better. A lot of people have talent, but Coach Parker found the way to bring it out," he said. Akers returned the compliment to the player he called "Special K." "He's taken something ordinary and made something very special of himself. He's become a real man," Akers said. Sims was the most decorated among the finalists, all chosen to the 1981 Associated Press All America first team. He finished as runnerup to Nebraska junior center David Rimington in balloting for the Outland trophy awarded the nation's best interior lineman.

Phoenix Out-Jumps Portland, 117-110

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Phoenix Suns Coach John MacLeod says second-year guard Kyle Macy couldn't have picked a more opportune time to score a career-high 29 points. Macy's effort, coupled with a nine-point Phoenix spurt late in the fourth period, sparked a 117-110 win over Portland Thursday night. The victory snapped the Suns' two-game losing streak while extending the Trail Blazers' string to four.

In the only other National Basketball Association game, the New York Knicks beat the Detroit Pistons 106-101 in overtime. Macy's 15-foot jumper tied the game at 106 with 3:58 to play before forwards Alvin Scott and Len Truck Robinson combined for seven points in a 1:02 span for a 114-108 Suns lead. A free throw by Macy with 1:00 remaining made it 115-110 and sealed the victory.

Times Have Changed For New York Jets

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer
What a difference a year makes. In 1980, when the New York Jets visited Cleveland, they were just playing out the string of a disastrous season while the Browns were battling for the Central Division title in the American Conference. On Saturday, when the Jets visit Cleveland, the roles will be reversed. The Jets will be trying to catch Miami and Buffalo in the AFC East while the Browns will be chalking up just one more game in a lost season.

organization hasn't lost confidence in our ability to produce a winner. I don't see people looking for life rafts. We'll be back soon." The Vikings and Lions are tied at 7-7 (so are the Green Bay Packers) for second place in the National Conference's Central Division, one game behind Tampa Bay Buccaneers. The Vikings have lost three in a row and are headed into the Lions' Silverdome home, where Detroit is 6-0 this year. "We've won in Pontiac before," Vikings Coach Bud Grant said. "If you're going to win at all, you have to win somewhere besides at home; if you're going to win the Super Bowl, you've got to win in Pontiac." Cincinnati, first in the AFC Central Division; Dallas, leading the NFC East, and Tampa Bay can lock up their titles with victories Sunday. The Cardinals, Giants and Atlanta (like the Vikings, Lions and Packers) are 7-7 and in the thick of the wild-card scramble. Washington, at 6-8 is an NFC outsider. The Redskins will be trying to extend Baltimore's losing streak to 14 games.

Saturday's other National Football League game is Minnesota at Detroit. On Sunday it's Cincinnati at Pittsburgh, Philadelphia at Dallas, San Diego at Tampa Bay, Houston at San Francisco, Baltimore at Washington, Buffalo at New England, Green Bay at New Orleans, the New York Giants at St. Louis, Miami at Kansas City, Chicago at Oakland and Seattle at Denver. Monday night's game is Atlanta at Los Angeles. When the Jets and Browns met a year ago, Cleveland was 9-4, the Jets 3-10. Now the Browns are 4-9 and the Jets 8-5-1 ... but the Jets have never beaten the Browns in their six meetings. "I'm sure (Cleveland Coach) Sam Rutigliano will have the Browns ready," Jets Coach Walt Michaels said. And Rutigliano said, "We're a team that wants to show we can win against a playoff-type team. We have no opportunity for the playoffs and most of our players are not used to playing under that circumstance ... We need to get back into the habit of winning ... We don't intend to have another season like this one. "What we can't allow to happen in these last two weeks of the season is anything counterproductive to putting the pieces together for a strong 1982, Rutigliano added. "This

Templeton And Smith May Trade Uniforms

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Two of baseball's best shortstops — Garry Templeton of St. Louis and Ozzie Smith of San Diego — may be changing uniforms in the aftermath of a puzzling "partial trade" completed at the winter meetings. The Cardinals and Padres made a 1-for-1 swap, with pitcher Steve Mura moving to St. Louis for outfielder Sixto Lezcano. But the intriguing part of Thursday's trade is that there is a mysterious "player to be named later" on each side. Those players are expected to be the controversial Templeton and Smith.

St. Louis General Manager Whitey Herzog said, "It's a partial trade. The rest will be made in three days, one month, two months or three months." In another major action Thursday, the Boston Red Sox re-signed free agent second baseman Jerry Remy to a five-year contract estimated at $2.8 million. The Sox have an option on a sixth year. Meanwhile, free agent pitcher Ron Guidry appeared ready to sign with his old team, the New York Yankees. After a 2 hour, 55 minute negotiating session with Yankees owner George Steinbrenner, attorney John Schneider said he was close to agreement on a contract for Guidry. "Ron and the New York Yankees are close to reaching agreement," Schneider said early today. Schneider said he telephoned Guidry and his wife, Bonnie, in Lafayette, La., and explained the details of the Yankees' offer. "They were asleep and I gave them an opportunity to digest it and talk about it. It's up to Ron. By tomorrow morning (today) we'll have accepted or rejected the Yankees' offer."

Nevada-Las Vegas Takes Second To Reno

By JOHN NELSON AP Sports Writer
Nevada-Reno Coach Sonny Allen had some thoughts about the pecking order in college basketball after his team upset Nevada-Las Vegas. "They may be No. 15 in the nation, but they are No. 2 in Nevada," Allen said after the Wolfpack defeated Nevada-Las Vegas 86-76 behind the strong play of big men Sam Moseley and Greg Palm. Nevada-Reno trailed by as many as six points in the first half but led the Runnin' Rebels 40-38 at halftime in the game played at Las Vegas. Nevada-Las Vegas cut the deficit to one point three times in the second half, but two free throws by Moseley, a junior forward, with 1:30 left gave the Wolfpack a 79-74 lead. "We just got throughly outplayed tonight," Rebels Coach Jerry Tarkanian said. "Their two big guys, Moseley and Palm, were totally dominating the inside game and we couldn't do any against them."

Moseley wound up with 23 points. Palm, the Reno center, had 12 and forward Ken Green scored 18. Sidney Green led the Rebels with 18 points. "We outplayed them when we really had to ... and our kids showed a lot of character by not letting it get away under a lot of pressure," Allen said. "This is the toughest place in the world to play, but we really hit the clutch shots."

Nevada-Reno, now 4-2, hit 55 percent from the field, while Nevada-Las Vegas, which dropped to 4-1, shot 38 percent. In the only other game involving a ranked team, 11th-ranked Arkansas defeated Wisconsin-Parkside 84-59. The Top 20 Scott Hastings scored 21 points and Darrell Walker had 16 as undefeated Arkansas solved Wisconsin-Parkside's switching defense in the second half for an easy victory. Walker led the second-half burst, aided by some key baskets from Hastings, as the Razorbacks outscored Parkside 25-12 in the nine minutes following intermission. Keith Peterson added 10 points for Arkansas, 4-0, and Dave McLeish paced the 3-2 Rangers with 15. "We played a combination defense that had Arkansas confused for a while," Wisconsin-Parkside Coach Steve Stephens said. "We kept them from getting into a pattern early."

Unranked Teams All-American Kevin Magee scored 28 points and grabbed 15 rebounds to lead undefeated Cal-Irvine to a 116-70 romp over Hawaii-Hilo. Guard Randy Whieldon added 18 points for Irvine, which led 56-31 at the half and is off to its best start ever with a 5-0 record. Jacques Tuz scored 18 points, including several crucial baskets down the stretch, and Colorado upended Wyoming 75-73. Wyoming led 38-25 at the half but lost the services of 7-foot center Chris Engler, guard Dwight McClendon and reserve Greg Thesenvitz, all of whom fouled out. Clarence Swannegan scored a career-high 32 points and led the Texas Tech Red Raiders to a 107-84 drubbing of Texas-Arlington. Murray State, which defeated Notre Dame earlier this week got 18 points from Ricky Hood and edged Akron 65-63 in the Ohio Valley Conference.

KPAN Salutes The Herd!

WHAT IT WAS, WAS FOOTBALL

What more can you say about that Hustlin Herd? It's extremely difficult, finding a suitable word. From the very start of the season, the polls little knew About the fighting Whitefaces, or, just what they could do. No one seemed to realize, much less did their foes, They would remain undefeated as district came to a close. It's time to give credit for the best season ever, For winning each game is quite an endeavor! Is there an outstanding player, who deserves special award When each one has excelled, and has played extra hard? To determine the big play, just where did you start? For such achievement takes team effort, each doing his part. There's the coaching staff, drill team, the big marching band! With the majorettes, twirlers, cheerleaders, and fan, The pep squad and boosters offer their contribution, So loyal in support of this great institution. United in action with such fervor and zeal Together, involved, as many cogs in a wheel! The team now is inspired, with excitement and furor, For it's now bi-district and they play Palo Duro! Taking it one step at a time, on this climb to success, Only the strong can survive, when put to the test. The Herd is victorious, they must travel out west To the town of El Paso, for the regional quest. The opponent was EW-Air, in the Sun Bowl that day, "They have their work cut out for them", we heard someone say; Not heeding the warning or else it didn't matter, The Herd rose to the occasion, another step on the ladder. Meaning twelve in a row had gone down to defeat. Facing Ft. Worth Eastern Hills in quarterfinals next week. Now it's eastward to Irving, four hundred miles from home, The fans and the boosters were about seven thousand strong. In cars and on buses — some scheduled a flight, Some traveled by day, while others by night.

Well the Herd fell behind, right from the start. "Don't panic", said coach, "but rather take heart, You might be down, but you certainly aren't out-of-it; Don't lose your cool, and remember your poise" Of which, they had no intention, no not these boys! They came storming back, would have done Cowboys proud, Right there in Texas Stadium, midst roars from the crowd. In true championship form, passing - rushing - defending.

So awesome and challenging, suspense never ending. This event was spectacular at the famed Cowboy home, While out on green turf, the big Herd did roam; Their style was so fitting, when to everyone's surprise, On fourth downs, what running, keeping the drive alive! While out on the field there arose such a clatter Everyone sprang to their feet to see what was the matter! Some went into shock, as hearts skipped a beat, For this substitute punter had decided to keep; The Highlanders were ready for return, as he saw, While scampering on down the field with the ball! There were thrills by the minute, so many delights, Seeing familiar names appearing way up in the lights, What a sight to remember, could someone, if they tried Capture all this on canvas, that moment of pride? This victory advanced them to semi-final play, Another step higher, game's this Saturday. Richardson Lake Highlanders is the team to beat; At Tech's Jones Stadium, in Lubbock this week. Turn your sights to the south, for a battle is brewing, As now the state title has become more alluring. The task is to hustle for a record unblemished, Work for this season, is hardly yet finished. Be in attendance, as the trail narrows down, Your support is needed, so COME ON HOMETOWN! United we stand, divided we fall, We're with you team, win, lose, or draw. So don't ever falter, nor ever let down, STATE IS IN REACH, BUT IT'S A GIANT STEP FOR THE CROWN.

The championship Hereford Whiteface football team is the top-scoring squad of modern-day records, and the 1981 crew has also posted the top offensive and defensive statistics.

From records back to 1960, which are fairly complete, this year's Herd also provides some of the top individual performances.

The Whitefaces have averaged 26.9 points a game this season to rank first in that category, and the 1981 squad has recorded the best offensive mark—an average of 326.7 yards a game. And, the quarterfinal champs are tops on defense against the rush, allowing just 86.5 yards a game.

Wayne High, Alan Wartes and Don Delozier are among the leaders in three individual categories. High has recorded the most rushing yards ever, and he ranks fourth on yards per game. Mack Cansler (1981) still has the best per-game mark at 128.4.

High has rushed for 1,416 yards this season, eclipsing the 1,414 posted by James Harris in 1973. Paul Bell (1977-78) has the most yardage for a two-year record, totaling 2,168.

Quarterback Alan Wartes ranks second in passing percentage, just behind brother Mike Wartes, and he has one of the better two-year records in passing. Wartes is down the list on total yardage, however.

Delozier has come on strong in playoff games to move into third place among the all-time pass receivers. Rudy Hernandez, out with a broken jaw, ranks sixth and could have been near the top if he had not been sidelined.

Ali To Battle Berbick, Who Questions Cash

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Former heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali, nearing 40 and the heaviest of his career, is scheduled to fight tonight against Trevor Berbick in a bout plagued by problems.

Thursday, rumors flew like the wind which whipped this island and dropped the temperature into the 60s after Berbick said he hadn't received all the money due him and "it's got to be there, or there won't be any show."

But Berbick's financial problems apparently were solved, and a source close to the boxer said Thursday night he would fight for $300,000.

At the weigh-in Thursday morning, at which he scaled 218 pounds, Berbick said he had received "some pocket money," about $100,000.

There was a rumor that Thomas Hearns, beaten by Sugar Ray Leonard in their welterweight title showdown, would pull out of his scheduled 10-round middleweight debut against Ernie Singletary.

"The fight is OK with us. We have a letter of credit," said Emmanuel Stewart, manager-trainer of Hearns, who said the fighter's purse was $500,000.

"There is nothing makes a man suspect more than to know little," Francis Bacon

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Independence Bowl officials say they expect the biggest attendance in the six-year history of the event Saturday when the potent offense of Texas A&M tests the rugged defense of Oklahoma State.

It's the first Independence Bowl since the tie-up with the Southland Conference was dissolved after last season.

Bowl officials said they passed the 40,000 mark in ticket sales at midweek and expected 45,000 or more at the 50,000-seat State Fair Stadium by kickoff at 7 p.m. Saturday.

The bowl record attendance was 42,600 set last year when Southern Mississippi edged Southland Conference champion McNeese State in the fifth annual event.

Each team is guaranteed $200,000, but Independence Bowl officials are hoping a bigger gate will enable them to raise the payoff to $250,000 per team.

For the second year, the game will be carried by the Mizlou Television Network. Texas A&M, 6-5, represents the Southwest Conference. Oklahoma State, 7-4, is one of five teams from the Big 8 playing in post-season games. Oklahoma State finished third in the Big 8.

"I don't ever remember a conference sending over half of its teams to a bowl," said Pat Quinn, sports information director at Oklahoma State.

"We may be a year premature getting into a bowl," he said. "We only have two seniors in the top 22 on offense, and both of them are on the second unit."

"We return both offensive lines intact. We may be a year premature, but we're sure glad to be here."

Oklahoma State's defense is anchored by 6-foot-4, 250-pound junior nose guard Gary Lewis, one of four Oklahoma State defensive players to be named all-Big 8. Linebacker Ricky Young, a senior, is a three-time all-Big 8 selection. Junior linebacker Mike Green and senior strong safety Pete DiClementi were chosen for the first time this season.

Texas A&M fields two of Louisiana's biggest recruiting disappointments of recent years — halfback Johnny Hector of New Iberia and defensive back Billy Cannon Jr., son of the LSU Heisman Trophy winner of the 1956 national championship season. Billy Cannon Sr. is now a Baton Rouge dentist.

Each occasioned statewide headlines when they spurned home-state schools to sign with Texas A&M. Hector, a junior tailback, is the second-leading rusher for the Aggies with 737 yards and seven touchdowns on 136 carries.

Cannon is the leading kick returner for A&M. He has returned 29 punts for 100 yards and eight kickoffs for 173 yards this season.

Hector shares carries with fullback Ernest Jackson, also a junior, who has rushed for 887 yards and four touchdowns on 153 carries.

Aggie quarterback Gary Kubiak was 111-300-13 passing for 1,808 yards this season and also ran the ball 119 times for 178 yards. He completed a 99-yard scoring pass in a 43-7 romp over Louisiana Tech this year.

If the game should come down to a field goal, Oklahoma State has another youngster to count on — freshman Larry Roach, who hit on 19 of 39 attempts this year, including a 66-yarder and two more of over 50 yards.

Mineral riches. Ninety-five percent of the world's gem emeralds are produced by Colombia. The Muzo emerald mines, 75 miles from the capital of Bogota, have been in operation for four centuries. The mineral-rich South American nation also produces such precious metals as gold, silver, copper and platinum.

quired to present the same to me, respectively, at the address as follows: Mrs. Annie Mae Medley, 114 Fuller, Hereford, Texas 79045, before suit upon same are barred by the Statutes of Limitation, before such estate is closed, and within the time prescribed by law.

Ann Landers From 'The Other Man'

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You've published many letters in your column over the years about The Other Woman. This letter is from The Other Man. I am addressing my remarks to the husband of the woman I love.

DEAR HALF A LOAF: Maybe he won't wake up, but I wouldn't be surprised if a few thousand husbands around the globe felt a twinge of discomfort when they read your letter. You may have done more good today than you know, buddy.

The relationship I enjoy with your wife is the most precious thing in my life. She is a gem. But somehow you never noticed. How long did you think you could ignore her before she felt an emptiness in her life and a need to do something about it?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm sure I'm not the only person with this problem, but I'm beginning to get paranoid about it. I'm a woman with a very deep voice. I wish I had a dollar for every time I've been called "sir" on the phone. It's really embarrassing when I say, "I'm a woman," and the other party says, "You're joking."

You claim to be a "family man" but everything else comes first—business is at the top of your list. How you love to travel to meetings and conferences. Then there's golf and hunting with the boys.

DEAR MADAME: I know of no such surgery but I'm mystified as to why you are so disgruntled. Many people find a deep throaty female voice highly intriguing. I suggest that you overhaul your thinking and capitalize on what you have.

The real trouble started when you couldn't find time to listen when she wanted to tell you how unhappy she was. It was then that she came to me—a nervous wreck with nobody to talk to.

DEAR ANN: I'm a 37-year-old male, married and the father of three children. My voice is at least an octave higher than that of most men. It's very embarrassing to be called "Miss" or "Ma'am" on the phone.

Our friendship began because I listened. Within six months we were in love. I would marry her in a minute, but she says she just couldn't do that to her family. It would be to disruptive, too painful to too many people. So, we keep stealing golden moments, and I am grateful for every one.

DEAR SCOTTIE: Perhaps speech therapy might help. But actually your best bet is a sense of humor. You've managed to lead a normal life—marriage, children—what's the big deal?

NOBODY CAN EAT doughnuts or identify," says Lash Wallace, the head of Poland's independent union, Solidarity. The moderate Wallace has been trying to persuade his fellow strikers to end the strikes that have contributed to the weakening of the Polish economy.

Being outstayed is a boon to strikers who stand down to the fringe in the night, hoping to reach without discovery.

The bag-packer at the supermarket goes on the theory that putting eggs in the sack first cushions the cans and keeps them from being dented.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Polly Fisher
Kid's gum in carpet

DEAR POLLY — My husband and I recently spent much time remodeling our van. A friend's child stamped gum into the new carpeting. Since we looked all over for the carpeting, we're rather upset. I don't want to stay around for more carpet. — MRS. G.

DEAR MRS. G. — First take an 800-watt solder iron and rub the gummy portion of the carpet with it. This will loosen the gum and you should be able to scrape a great deal of it out. Then apply dry cleaning fluid to the remaining gum and stain. Soak the gum thoroughly with the fluid. This should dissolve it and remove any colored stain left. You may have to repeat this treatment a couple of times until all the gum is gone, but with patience, it should help. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I have to take four different medicines each day. To keep my pills organized, I use a four-compartment egg carton. I put one day's supply of each kind of pill in each cup. At the end of the day, I can see if I've taken all of the pills, and there's no danger of taking too many of one kind. — MARJORIE

DEAR POLLY — Here's a good way to use those large, inexpensive cones of stored-up Christmas lights saving machines. (Some machines don't have the cones, but you can use these cones.) Just put the cone of lights in the cone of the machine, punch a hole in the lid, and thread the end of the thread through the hole. Stand the jar on the floor behind your machine. Works perfectly. — MRS. M.B.

DEAR POLLY — If you're planning a trip to a friend's home and need directions, have your friend make a tape recording of the directions. As you approach your destination, turn on your tape player and follow the instructions. It's much easier than fumbling around with written directions while you're driving. — HELEN
