

State sales tax to increase Tuesday

By REED PARSELL Managing Editor

You are running out of time to have your wristwatch repaired without being taxed for it.

Time isn't the only thing to not be on your side Tuesday, when the state sales tax is increased one-eighth of a cent and exemptions are lifted from some items and services.

Now through Monday, state residents will continue to pay a 4-cent sales tax. Some - including Herefordites - pay an additional 1-cent city sales tax and, in Houston and Dallas, a mass-transit tax adds another penny to purchases.

Texas legislators passed the tax rate hike to help pay for the state's reformed public school system. Also, the generated monies are to go toward other needs, such as highway repairs.

One item previously exempt but, starting Tuesday, taxable is fertilizer used for non-agricultural purposes. As the comptroller's office points out, "Long before April showers bring you May flowers, October will have brought you high taxes on your garden."

Nursery and grocery store plants are to be taxed. Food-yielding vegetation, annual plants which die after one growth year and seeds for farming remain exempt.

Taxed repairs go beyond watches, as they are to include washing machines, dryers, lawn mowers, vacuum cleaners, microwave ovens, telephones and television sets, accore ding to the comptroller's office. In effect, any adjustments made by a servicemen to personal property will be taxed.

ed. "Neither are repairs to items that are specifically exempt, such as eye glasses or hearing aids, motor vehicles and aircraft. Parts are taxed, but not the repair work itself." Those subscribing to cable television or seeking out-of-home entertainment will also face padded payments beginning Tuesday. Those serviced by Hereford Cablevision, $9.37 rather than $9 per month for the basic service, with movie channels also taxed.

Along with movies, the tax applies to concerts, cover charges at nightclubs, horse shows, opera performances, health club memberships and professional sporting events, among other things.

Cigarettes and other tobacco products are also to be subject to the state sales tax. Such items are already charged a tabacco products tax of 19.5 cents per pack, which is itelf a 1-cent increase.

"Generally speaking," the comptroller's office reports, "Texans will have to pay at least another 5 cents per pack over the counter, bringing the average price per pack to about $1.20." Packs purchased from vending machines are likely to cost at least $1.30

Dry cleaning, previously exempt, is subject to the new tax rate. "Employee uniforms or linens such as table cloths or cotton napkins sent out to be cleaned will also be taxed," according to the comptroller's office.

"Not affected are coin-operated laundry machines operated by consumers, including dry cleaning machines found in some public laudries. But operators of detergent vending machines have to pay the new tax rate, so the price of soap at public laundries may go up, too."

With a new tax rate voted in and budget problems apparently ironed out, renovation work is finally to begin at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

A remodeling plan disclosed at a February meeting of the hospital's board of directors was cut back in April, as the board determined that a declining patient census and increasing "bad debt" expenses are taking a bite out of profits.

DSGH Administrator Jim Bullard said the hospital is nearly ready to let bids for the remodeling and construction work. He expects the contracts will be awarded during October. A $250,000 loan from Hereford State Bank is to pay for the improvements.

A major project, according to

Contract predicted offered in October

Bullard, will be cosmetic work on the front of the building. The front canopy will be extended, a vestibule with double set of entry doors added and a new enclosed admissions area built.

Room renovation will take place in Nurses Station 2, which includes medical and surgical patients. New wall coverings, air conditioning units and window treatments will provide a facelift judged needed by the 36 rooms in that part of the hospital.

A modernized nurse call system is another dominant aspect of the renovation, which will provide handheld controls for summoning help along with lighting and television control.

The hospital has decided to remove the carpet that covers hallways in that area and replace it with tile. Carpet is more difficult to maintain and shows wear more quickly. Bullard maintained.

Also part of the package is the purchase of new intensive care unit equipment, which arrived this week. The cardiac monitors replace older models, Bullard pointed out. The ICU equipment will cost the hospital about $40,000.

New X-ray equipment, already in use, has been financed separately by the company the hospital purchased it from. A General Electric Subsidiary will charge a 9 percent interest rate for the $327,000 equipment, to be paid for in five years. In an attempt to make the emergency room more efficient, the hospital plans to create a new entrance to that department. A waiting area and reception area with nursing station will also be added.

In addition to raising room rates from $119 to $129, the board voted earlier this month to raise the hospital district tax rate from 9.8 to 12.8 cents per $100 valuation. That represents a 31 percent tax rate hike, but the board says the rate is still low compared to comparably-sized hospital taxing districts in the state. Projected hospital revenue for the coming fiscal year is $4,461,155, assuming the bad-debt loss is the anticipated 20 percent. Expenses should total $4,456,664, leaving a net profit of $4,491. The new budget year starts Oct. 1.

Jordan renews Egyptian diplomatic ties

By JOHN S. RICE Associated Press Writer

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) - The kingdom of Jordan has ended five years of alienation from Egypt by announcing it will resume diplomatic relations that were broken when Egypt signed a peace treaty with Israel.

Jordan was one of 17 Arab countries that severed relations with Egypt after the late President Anwar Sadat and former Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin signed the treaty on March 26, 1979.

None of the other Arab countries have restored formal ties with Egypt, and one of them - Syria denounced Jordan's action Tuesday as "dangerous,"

Jordan's Foreign Ministry said thedecision was made at a Cabinet meeting and was based on Egypt's* "current role, and the support it gives to the Palestinian, Iraqi and Lebanese causes." The decision was seen as a diplomatic triumph for Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak, who had insisted he would not give up the peace with Israel as the price for a return to Arab diplomatic ranks.

Palestine Liberation Organization leader Yasser Arafat arrived in Amman today for talks with senior Jordanian officials, the state-run radio announced. There was no word on whether Arafat would meet with King Hussein, but Jordan radio said Arafat and Jordanian officials would discuss "the latest developments in the Middle East."

Arafat has been trying to convene a meeting of the Palestine National Council, but Syrian-backed factions of the PLO have threatened to boycott such a meeting if Arafat does not first step down as PLO chairman. The Syrian-backed faction was angered by 1983 talks between Arafat and Hussein about a Middle East peace settlement based in part on President Reagan's proposals. Reagan called for creation of a Palestinian homeland, in association with Jordan, on the Israeli-occupied West Bank of the Jordan River, which Israel captured from Jordan in the 1967 war.

Cairo television interrupted its regular program to announce the resumption of ties between Egypt, a country of 47 million people, and Missouri-sized Jordan with 3 million. Butros Ghali, Egyptian minister of state for foreign affairs, hailed Jordan's move as "a positive step which reflects the real mettle of Arab solidarity. We hope this step will achieve the legitimate rights of the Palestinian people.

In Syria, an official source who spoke on condition he not be identified said Jordan "has violated Arab summit resolutions and went out of Arab unanimous consensus. This will create a new situation in the Arab scene that will make it more complicated and more dangerous."

Western diplomatic sources in Cairo speculated Hussein's decision might indicate that the king intended to try to enter peace talks with Israel's new government over the future of the Israeli-occupied West Bank of the Jordan River and Gaza Strip. By restoring relations with Egypt, they said, Hussein could count on its support. Egypt has repeatedly called for talks on the occupied territories involving Jordan and the Palestinians.

Garson fondly remembers actor

DALLAS (AP) - Greer Garson, the Oscar-winning actress who starred with the late Walter Pidgeon in eight motion pictures, said Pidgeon's good looks and personality made him popular.

"He was the kind of character on screen and off screen that everybody admired - pleasant, handsome, gentle, funny, a great sense of humor," Miss Garson, a Dallas resident, said. "All these things made him good."

Pidgeon, 87, died Tuesday morning in Santa Monica, Calif., after suffering a series of strokes before and after entering the hospital last Wednesday.

Miss Garson, who won an Oscar for best actress opposite Pidgeon in "Miss Miniver" in 1942, said she lost a good friend.

"We never had a single insecure thought about each other," Miss Garson told the Associated Press in a telephone interview from her other home outside of Pecos, N.M.

"Someone once called him the 'Solid Gold Gentleman,' and I concur," said Miss Garson, who is married to Dallas oilman E.E. "Buddy" Fogelson.

Fire captains' promotions barred

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston's Civil Service Commission signed an order barring promotions for two Fire Department captains who allegedly tried to ensure promotions for themselves by enticing district chiefs to retire.

The Commission said in an order signed Tuesday that Capts. Richard C. Silence and Alan D. Maass "have seriously tainted the concept of an impartial merit promotional system."

The Commission issued the order in the wake of an investigation into an alleged scheme in which some fire officers tried to guarantee their promotions by paying higher-ranking officers to retire or remove their names from a promotion list.

"This commission cannot condone practices which permit certain members of the fire department to receive money or other favors as an inducement for their retirement or permits certain members to obtain promotion based upon their ability and willingness to make such payments," the order said.

Employer polygraph use chided

AUSTIN (AP) - A civil rights group bolstered by a court order barring a state agency from ordering employees to take lie detector tests now says it wants a similar ban on private employers.

Texas employers use polygraph tests at a "very alarming" rate, according to Jim Harrington, legal director of the Texas Civil Liberties Union.

"In the last five years we've seen it increase dramatically. We get 'calls about it every week," Harrington said Tuesday

TCLU won a legal fight against the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, which had punished workers who refused to take the polygraph exam. In a Monday order, State District Judge Joseph Hart of Austin said questions included in the tests were improper invasions of privacy.

Hart said the questions included:

"Do members of your family smoke dope? Have you stolen anything in your life or in the last 10 years? Have you used alcohol, prescription drugs or marijuana? Have you beaten your kids?"

TCLU represented the Texas State Employees Union, which said MHMR used the lie detector test to harass union organizers.

President Reagan was heading to the Midwest for renewed campaigning today as Walter F. Mondale ridicules "the new Reagan" for turnabouts on the Soviet Union and nuclear weapons, and Vice President George Bush charges the Democratic nominee is showing desperation.

Reagan's one-day visit to Ohio and Wisconsin today was the president's only campaign trip during a week devoted mainly to foreign policy - to be capped by his meeting Friday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

After appearing at a $1,000 a plate Democratic fund-raiser in Washington Tuesday night, Mondale was heading today to Cleveland to address the Steelworkers' union convention, whose members are fiercely anti-Reagan after his refusal to impose quotas on foreign imports of steel

He was then heading to New York to prepare for his meeting with Gromyko on Thursday.

Democrats raised more than $2 million at their fund-raiser, but it was a generally pessimistic crowd that attended. Ann Lewis, political director of the Democratic National Committee, said she knew few people in the Washington hotel ballroom who thought Mondale had a chance of upsetting Reagan.

"People keep saying it has bottomed out," political consultant Victor Kamber said of Mondale's apparent slide in the polls. "It hasn't."

Appearing before George Washington University students Tuesday, Mondale ripped Reagan for what he called the "sea change" in the Republican president's attitude toward the Soviet Union and other foreign policy issues. Reagan on

Congress rushing to end, session

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress, with just over a week left until adjournment, has opened its express checkout line for senators and representatives scurrying to pick up last-minute legislative trophies to display for the voters back home.

After a sluggish year, the House and Senate began to resemble the bargain basement of a popular department store Tuesday as Congress moved quickly on a $292.9 billion compromise military budget, more than 300 public works projects, a broad anti-crime package President Reagan wants, a multibillion-dollar foreign aid measure and money for most of the government's domestic programs.

And all of that is in just one bill, an emergency measure called a continuing resolution that is supposed to keep major government departments operating after the new fiscal year begins Oct. 1. Only four of the 13 necessary money bills the federal government needs have been signed into law.

The House passed the omnibus measure 316-91 Tuesday and sent it to the Senate.

Compromise defense budget set

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sparked by President Reagan's retreat on MX missile production, Congress appears ready to enact a compromise defense budget of $292.9 billion, more than $21 billion under his original request.

House and Senate negotiators, after working nearly round the clock, settled Tuesday on a defense authorization bill that resolved 1,200 disputes between the chambers, ranging from weapons systems to education benefits and pay. A companion appropriations bill is now being readied to complete the package.

The spending total amounts to a 5 percent "real" - or inflationadjusted - increase for the Pentagon. Reagan, at first, sought 13 percent, then came down to 7.5 percent before retreating yet again under terms of a preliminary settlement worked out last week by House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., and Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker Jr., R-Tenn.

House Armed Services Chairman Melvin Price, D-Ill., said the final product, which yet must be approved on the floors of the House and Senate, reflects a consensus "that national security imperatives require real growth in the defense budget, but that the size of the deficit does not permit ... the degree requested" by the president.

China to rule Hong Kong

PEKING (AP) - China and Britain today initialed a historic agreement that will put Hong Kong, the world's third largest financial center and Asia's busiest port, under Communist China's control on July 1, 1997.

The end of a century and a half of British colonial rule of the thriving capitalist port of 5.5 million people was signaled by a formal halfhour ceremony in the Great Hall of the People at Peking's Tiananmen Square.

Britain's chief negotiator termed it a "solemn" event, while his Chinese counterpart said it was "worth celebrating."

The agreement follows two years of hard bargaining in which Britain at first refused to concede sovereignty, and then sought a residual administrative role after the expiration of its 99-year lease on the so-called New Territories - 92 percent of the colony.

After 22 rounds of negotiations in Peking, Britain agreed to hand over all of the colony to China, including Hong Kong Island and Kowloon peninsula, which were ceded to Britain under the Opium? War treaties of 1842 and 1860 rangements at the bombed U.S. Embassy annex in Lebanon are open to hindsight criticism.

Ronald I. Spiers, undersecretary of state for management, told a reporter Tuesday embassy officials probably should have used cement trucks or other temporary barriers to block the road in the front of the annex, which was hit by a fatal car bomb blast last week.

Noting that a project to upgrade security at the annex was only 75 percent finished, Spiers said, "I guess" you could say in hindsight that they should have put in temporary security procedures that were used," the official said.

Meanwhile opposition Democrats in Congress predicted quick approval of the administration's request for $366 million to improve security in embassies throughout the world, but charged that the administration had not taken adequate steps with the money already granted.

"Congress has provided the funds: the administration has failed to carry out its duty," Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., told reporters after a House appropriations sucommittee BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) -Mosquitoes have invaded South Texas in the wake of last week's torrential rainstorms, but public health officials say the insects present more of a nuisance than a health hazard.

"The kind of mosquitoes that breed after a rain like we had, eat the disease-carrying variety of mosquito," said Dr. David Flory, director of the Cameron County Health Department. "So they are a pest, but an ally as well."

Three days of heavy rains last week left an estimated 75 percent of eastern Cameron County under water. Cameron County Judge Moises Vela estimated the floods caused $50 million damage to the area.

The necessary GOP strategy. therefore, includes making converts. President Reagan, who once was one, is inviting Democrats to follow him. He says their party "belongs to UPI's Arnold Sawislak says for politicians to promise everthing to everybody is not without precedent. A book publisher discovered that

So - only Concress can raise taxes.

So - if our nation has run up a trillion-dollar national debt since 1932, it is not the presidents who did it. Congress did it. All tax and appropriation bills originate in the Congress.

If we taxpayers are paying $100 billion a year just for interest on the debt, Congress did that to us.

So, if we want to do something about the national deficit, we'll be careful for whom we vote in November - for Congress.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For the last several years, a barbaric practice has been going on at our local high school. It is called the death race.

Instead of gradually working toward physical fitness, the male students, on the first day of basketball, are subjected to the death race. A course is set around the gym and through hallways and the boys run for more than an hour without a break. Pails and wastebaskets are placed at intervals for the boys who must vomit. Many boys run to the point of exhaustion and sickness. spoke with Tim Olson, tennis an assistant basketball coach.

Since the coach is revered by male school officials who find the race very macho, there is little we parents can do. Can you help? Please speak on this issue. We don't know anyone with your power who can bring an end to this madness.—A Distressed Mother & Father In Fargo, N.D.

DEAR MOTHER & FATHER IN FARGO: I called Don Dehne, principal of Fargo North High School. He said, "I've never heard of this socalled death race. Can't imagine what it's about. Certainly nothing like that goes on here at Fargo North. Sounds to me as if someone is trying to stir up a little mischief."

Next, I called Oak Grove High and spoke with the superintendent, Jerry Gordon. He said, "This is a Lutheran high school and there is very little running through the halls on any day. This story sounds a bit farfetched to me."

Landry says Chicago boss improved own temper, Bears

By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) - Tom Landry says Mike Ditka isn't the old hot head he used to be.

Not that Ditka, now in his third year as the head coach of the Chicago Bears, doesn't still throw a tantrum or two.

"His temper has been one of his failing," said Landry, who coached Ditka as a player and had him on his staff as an assistant for years.

"When he first came to me, he had a hard time just controlling his temper as an assistant coach," Landry said. "Now he doesn't break as many tennis racquets as he used to. He's done a great job at Chicago. He's a good football coach and he has matured as a person."

Both teams are 3-1 but struggling offensively.

"Chicago just has an excellent defense," Landry said. "They are really tough for us to go against at our stage.

The Cowboy offense has sputtered under the direction of quarterback Gary Hogeboom.

"Gary is improving each week but he keeps facing a new set of circumstances each week and sometimes that can cause you to become hesitant," Landry said. "Sometimes he doesn't know when to deliver the ball."

However, Landry praised Hogeboom as "doing a fine competitive job."

He says Hogeboom could have a rough day against Chicago.

They are radically different than most teams on defense." Ditka likes Hogeboom because of his competitive fire. "Gary is a great competitor," says

Ditka. "Gary has great leadership qualities. That's why some guys are corporals and some guys are generals. Gary brings that dimension to his teammates."

Dallas has won five consecutive games against Chicago.

Chicago last won in 1971 at Soldier Field 23-19. That day Landry alternated quarterbacks Craig Morton and Roger Staubach on each play.

As rookie camp begins

Mavericks' coach lenient

DALLAS (AP) - Dallas coach Dick Motta said he's not going to hold business.' it against All-American centerforward Sam Perkins or other firstyear players who fail to report for today's start of rookie camp while they work out contract negotiations with management. But Motta said it might be to their best interest to report soon. "We're holding a rookie camp, and they're rookies," Motta said. "But I'm also not going to hold it against the kids. They are individual contractors. They need to get their come to me. Then, they're my Rookie camp - a 3-day orientation session where no plays are taught is more relaxed than training camp, which begins Saturday night, the day after veterans report for physicals and a two-mile run. If the rookies miss part of training camp, there might be some repercussions, but not from him, Motta said.

"The real problem arises when the veterans at camp are getting paid less than the rookies who are holding out," Motta said.

"It looks like Perkins will come in and make more than Mark (Aguirre) or Rolando (Blackman). The players know that. They also know they're busting their cans in two-a-days and the rookie isn't. I've found in that situation, the veterans usually take it out on these kids when they do sign."

For PGA outstanding player

Chase involves two Watsons

By BOB GREEN AP Golf Writer ABILENE, Texas (AP) - Tom Watson stood in the locker room at the Fairway Oaks Country Club, intently studying the PGA Tour's money-winning list posted on the bulletin board.

"Everybody went by Tom (Kite), didn't they?" he mused.

"Now, I've got to worry about Denis Watson. He's, what, two points behind?" Tom Watson asked.

Two points it is. The Denis Watson, the on-rushing South African, who -has won three times - including last week's rich Panasonic Las Vegas Invitational - suddenly trails his more famous and unrelated namesake by just two points on the complicated points list that determines the PGA Player of the Year.

And it was Denis Watson's sudden emergence as a challenger that prompted Tom Watson to make a lastminute entry into the $350,000 LaJet Peete and Craig Stadler, Kite's pr Classic which begins Thursday. "I was in a wait-and-see situation. Now, it's play it by ear, week by week. Just see what it takes," said Tom Watson, like Denis Watson a three-time winner on the American Tour this season. With the season winding down to a close - only four official events remain after this week - Tom Watson has a total 60 points in the Player of the Year standings, including 20 for his position as the year's leading money-winner with $471,185.

the Year) again," Tom Watson, who has achieved that designation five times and this season has a chance to become the first man to win the title six times, said. "I'll play what I need to in order to win it."

Denis Watson moved into second place in both the Player of the Year race (with 58 points) and on the money-winning list (with $405,924) after his big victory last week.

Denis Watson, who says he has had unpleasant allergy reactions in previous trips to Texas, is not playing either the LaJet or next week's Texas Open in San Antonio.

Kite, who, until last week, was second in the Player of the Year standings, also is skipping this event, which, historically, he has not played well. Kite, in second place on the money-winning list most of the season, dropped back to fifth. Calvin

Herd made game unpleasant

Hereford was trailing in the ball game prior to that play, but for the last time. The Whitefaces rolled up 17 more unanswered points and held on for the victory.

Taylor said, however, he was concerned throughout the game about the Westerners and the ability of Gonzales.

"I was uptight about the (game) situation," he said.

At one point in the fourth quarter, Gonzales directed the Westerners to a score on a 59-vard drive that used only 1:32 of the clock, and put Lubbock back in the ball game.

"He (Gonzales) is a good quarterback," Taylor added, "and at times he seemed to pull the Gary Hogeboom trick-being able to complete passes when it looked as though he didn't have a chance."

After reviewing the films, Taylor pointed to several players as playing good games.

Linebacker Lee Brockman was one of those commended by the coach. Brockman led the defensive unit with 15 total tackles. The number is more than twice that of any teammate.

Taylor said, however, that linebacker Curtis Cotten also played well.

He added, "I thought Rodney Torres played better in the secondary last week, and Pat Rodriguez did a ing in for David Parsons. Albert Tijerina played well for his first outing at defensive end."

Offensively, Taylor said he tought both running backs-Vincent Brown and Alan Dudding-improved their play. He also was pleased with Scott's performance and tackle Benny Ramirez's.

Spikers fall to Amarillo

Hereford High School spikers ran up against a tough Amarillo volleyball team Tuesday night, coach Cindy McMillan said, and dropped two varsity games and two junior varsity games.

Amarillo won the varsity match 15-6, 15-4.

"You know, our girls played a very good match," McMillan said. "But Amarillo had the height advantage on us. Amarillo is a very good team." Sharon Wright and Cindy Pruitt each scored five points for the Herd.

"I think Amarillo (4-1 in District 3-5A play) will be one of the teams in the thick of things near the end of the district race," McMillan said. Hereford's record drops to 1-4 in league competition.

In the junior varsity match, Amarillo won 15-2, 15-1.

The 1906 Philadelphia Athletics and 1968 Chicago Cubs both went 48 consecutive innings without scoring. They share the major-league record in that department.

Major League roundup Royals' lead in AL West now 11/2 games

Writer

Kansas City Manager Dick Howser isn't expecting his sleep to improve, even though the Royals now lead the American League West by 1½ games over Minnesota.

"If you look at it realistically, we have a one-game lead," says Howser, whose team is one game ahead in the loss column with four to play. "We're planning on having to win every game. We'd like to get some help from somebody, but you can't count on it.

"Some funny things happen in this game."

The Royals defeated California 6-5 in 12 innings Tuesday night, making it three in a row over the Angels and five straight overall. That gave the Royals an additional game over Minnesota, which lost 8-4 in Chicago, and dropped the Angels 4½ back.

"I'll sleep tonight just like I did last night," Howser said, "fitfully." Dan Quisenberry, 6-3, pitched four

By JOHN NELSON AP Sports innings in his longest outing of the season for the victory. The Angels scored all five of their runs in the fifth inning.

White Sox 8, Twins 4

Harold Baines hit a two-run homer in Chicago's seven-run second inning, and Tom Seaver, 15-10, worked 8 2-3 innings for his 288th career victory. The White Sox's big inning was at the expense of John Butcher. Tigers 9, Brewers 1

Howard Johnson hit a grand slam homer as Detroit dealt Milwaukee the loss that clinched last place in the AL East for the Brewers. The Tigers, who already had clinched first place in the division, won their 102nd game behind the pitching of Randy O'Neal, who combined with four relievers on a six-hitter.

Yankees 6, Orioles 5

Dave Winfield and Don Mattingly continued their race for the AL batting title as New York ended a fourgame losing streak by beating the Orioles. Winfield went 2-for-4, scorone point to .342. Mattingly, who was 1-for-3, remained at .344.

Red Sox 14, Blue Jays 6

Mike Easler homered and drove in five runs, and Jim Rice had four hits in an 18-hit attack that helped Boston bury Toronto. The Blue Jays hit three home runs - by George Bell, Cliff Johnson and Kelly Gruber. A's 7, Rangers 5

Oakland scored seven runs in the first two innings off Texas knuckleballer Charlie Hough, and Curt Young limited the Rangers to five hits over seven innings. Indians 13, Mariners 5

Pat Tabler hit a grand slam home run and drove in six runs to pace Cleveland's 17-hit attack. Seattle rookie left-hander Mark Langston had a personal seven-game winning streak stopped, while the Indians ended a six-game losing string.

Mets 6, Phillies 4 Rusty Staub, facing a big meeting with New York Mets Manager Dave

Frank Cashen, made the best possible preparation.

The 40-year-old Staub belted a tworun homer to cap a four-run rally in the bottom of the ninth inning Tuesday night to rally the Mets past the Philadelphia Phillies 6-4. Pirates 7, Cubs 1

Chicago Manager Jim Frey, whose team captured the NL East crown in Pittsburgh Monday night, gave his regulars a rest as none of the starters who played in the division-winning game appeared Tuesday night. Astros 12, Dodgers 6

Jose Cruz and Alan Ashby homered to send Los Angeles to its 82nd loss, giving the Dodgers their first sub-.500 season since 1979. It will be just their second losing since 1968. Cardinals 6, Expos 4

Steve Braun reached a milestone while St. Louis teammate Bruce Sutter moved closer to another one.

Braun cracked a two-run, pinchtriple to spark a four-run rally in the

Survey shows newspapers pack a punch

Newspapers pack a solid wallop read all the inserts in newspapers, for Texas business and residential communities alike ... far outdistancing all other forms of communication.

Results of Texas Consumer Survey 84, the largest and most comprehensive study ever conducted on readership, listening, viewing and shopping habits, heavily documents Texas newspaper superiority.

*86.3 percent of Texans read a newspaper every week, with 80 percent reading their local community newspaper;

*70.6 percent of Texas newspaper readers usually read local merchant ads, and *87.6 percent of the readers say that the ads in their local newspaper are important to them personally.

These are just three of the dozens of highlights revealed by the statewide study which was conducted by Consumer Data Service (CDS), of Oklahoma City.

The massive survey was under the supervision of Dr. Ernest Larkin, director of the Journalism Research Center, University of Oklahoma Ci-

The study also provides in depth detail of the vast audience appeal of Texas newspapers. This portion of the data emphasized:

(A) 69.6 percent read at least five issues of their local daily, and 84.3 percent read every issue of their local weekly newspaper;

(B) 72.6 percent of local newspaper readers who responded to the survey are married;

(C) Over 50 percent of the families subscribing to local newspapers comprise three or more people;

(D) Husbands and wives in 43.3 percent of the Texas newspaper reading families both have jobs with combined incomes totaling more than $20,000;

(E) 64.19 percent of Texans who voted in the 1982-83 elections are dience with about 50 competitors." newspaper readers, and

(F) 79.4 percent of Texas newspaper readers own their own homes.

Lyndell Williams, Executive Vice-President of the Texas Press Association (TPA) in Austin, after receiving the huge study report said this week:

"This survey not only confirms what major advertising retailers already know, but also provides undeniable proof of newspaper strength in all other areas as well." cited the high rea ership inand *85.59 percent usually or sometimes read department store advertising.

The survey also outlined the strengths and weaknesses of direct mail along with radio and television. Direct mail advertising in Texas, much of it conducted by out-of-state firms, is usually read by 43.7 percent of the addresses, with only 31 percent of that number reading all of a single mailing.

Radio and television while being listened to by as much as 73 percent of Texas consumers and seen by at least that many people, nevertheless, must divide those numbers by dozens of stations and channels. And the most watched cable television channels of all don't even accept advertising.

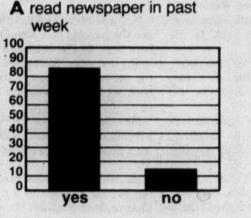

John Taylor, Director of the Texas Newspaper Advetising Bureau (TNAB), explained that an analysis of the massive survey easily reveals numerous additional newspaper assets that may be overlooked at first glance.

Taylor explained:

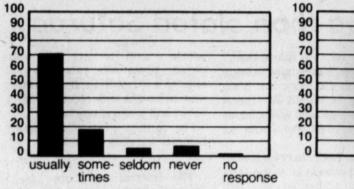

"Every Texas newspaper is a dues payer to its community and state, as well as a major contributor to a better society. Texas newspapers, their publishers and staffs have spent lifetimes creating communities that justify the investment of millions of dollars by major retailers.

"Our newspapers represent major local payrolls and substantial taxpayers to the local, county and state governments. And in all cases, one newspaper and not more than two thoroughly dominates the markets which they serve.

"Texas newspapers represent quite a choice from the major direct mailers who often don't even pay state taxes, and the electronic media which must shar its hour-by-hour au-

The newly-purchased Magna Charta was issued by Edward I in 1297 and, unlike its predecessors, became English law, Dr. Decherd Turner, a University of Texas professor and director of the Humanities Research Center, said Tuesday. It is written on vellum (animal skin).

DAR observes Constitution Week

Constitution Week was the theme of the regular meeting of Los Ciboleros Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution held in the Heritage Room of the Deaf Smith County Library.

Wanda Jones, Constitution Week Chairman, read the Preamble to the U.S. Constitution before Bob Wear, retired minister of the Church of Christ, gave his speech on "Proud Americans Honor the Constitution."

He stated that the Constitution's basic concepts and language came from the Declaration of Independence and that the first ten amendments, better known as the Bill of Rights, were added at the insistence of the new states of New York and Virginia. Mr. Wear concluded with the emphasis that the Constitution is the one instrument that serves to stabilize our everchanging way of life, and he quoted Thomas Jefferson by saying, "Eter-nal vigilance is the price of liberty."

Regent Ruth Knox presided over the business meeting. Mildred Sheffy read the President General's message, including a resolution from the Continental Congress concerning the U.S. Constitution and the request that all chapters express proper reverence for this sacred document.

Kathryn Ruga presented the National Defense report on citizen participation in government. While DAR chapters cannot engage in partisan politics at meetings, the membership is urged to register to vote and, in turn, to vote for the candidates which their study reveals are best qualified to serve.

Regent Knox reported that five members of Los Ciboleros attended the Living Tree Memorial ceremony held at the Veteran's Hospital grounds on September 4. She said that the dedication in honor of Texans who served in the defense of their country was very meaningful. The Living Tree Memorial is part of the State Regent's Project.

She also reported that four members attended the Division I Workshop held in Lubbock on September 6 with many good ideas coming from the session.

A contribution of $200 as a Friend o the NSDAR Library has been made by Jayne Brainard, and a plaque will be inscribed "To honor Los Ciboleros Chapter of NSDAR" which will hang in the national DAR Library in Washington, D.C.

Brainard announced that she and Hazel Crawley will conduct a Parliamentary Seminar at Amarillo College on Sat., Oct. 13, from 8:30 AM to 3:00 PM. Registration fee of $7.00 includes luncheon.

Constitution Week Chairman Wanda Jones reported entusiastic participation in the schools in observing Constitution Week. Posters depicting the Signing of the Constitution have been presented to the local schools, library and to the local banks.

Charlotte Clark reported that American History Month essay materials are in the hands of the teachers. The topics for this year's essay are: "The Statue of Liberty, The Lady With a Lamp", "The Contribution of Black Soldiers or patriots during the American Revolution." Margaret Bell reported that selection of the DAR Good Citizen is in process in area schools.

Several genealogical books were donated by Brainard to the Chapter which will be placed in the local library's Genealogy Room.

Vice-Regent and Program Chairman Violet Reinauer distributed 1984-1965 yearbooks to all present.

AUSTIN - The Governor last week launched the major overhaul of the public school system by appointing a new membership of the State Board of Education.

But still unanswered is the question of whether another tax increase will be necessary to pay for those reforms and other items in Texas government.

While Gov. Mark White was naming his 15 appointees to replace the 27-member elected board that was dismantled under the reforms, Texas Comptroller Bob Bullock was predicting that state revenues will be at least $200 million short of what is needed to maintain services in 1986-87.

Bullock said state legislators won't be able to approve even a no-growth budget, if his estimates are correct. And if the Legislature wants to expand state services to make up for inflation and population increases, lawmakers will need to come up with an additional $1.7 billion

Speaker of the House Gib Lewis and a key committee chairman, Stan Schlueter of Killeen, promptly vowed to fight any new tax increase in the coming session, explaining that taxpayers could not swallow another tax hike so soon after the record tax bill this summer.

The Governor has not indicated whether he would support another increase this spring.

Tax Hike Necessary?

The situation will become complicated if oil prices slump and reduce at 10 a.m. Texas production, or, as one lawmaker added, if the federal courts order more vast expenditures in the state prison or mental health systems.

If future revenues don't come in, then the Lone Star State, which has enjoyed budget surpluses for years, will have to indeed bite the bullet and face a second tax hike, because the rainy day money has already been spent, much of it on the education reforms enacted in the Governor's special session this summer.

Pressure on White

The prospects of advocating another tax increase, especially in the manner in which he led the charge for school reform, cannot be attractive to White, a Democrat, as he thinks about re-election.

For some months now the state has been plastered with billboards bought by the opposition party which remind passersby that White has reneged on one campaign pledge of "no more taxes."

Two tax hikes, one on the heels of another, could only double the amount of political flak that White would surely catch on the '86 campaign trail.

Even if taxes aren't raised again, it remains to be seen whether the new school reforms will be acceptable to the public-whether they will like what they have paid for.

New Board

With that thought no doubt in mind, White named a new state board with a strong business management background to make sure the reforms don't falter.

He also maintained minority representation on the new board, as he said he would try to do.

The new membership has three Hispanics, two blacks, and five women. Six members are businesspersons, four are educators, three are lawyers, one physician, one dentist. Only two are holdovers from the abolished elected bond.

Before the new board can take action, it must receive clearance from the U.S. Justice Department, which approves all election changes. Sometime in the next session, the appointees must be confirmed by the Texas Senate.

Land Bids

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro released a list of 80 tracts of state land that have been authorized for resale to the highest bidder by the Veterans Land Board.

Mauro is offering terms of nine and one-quarter percent to veterans and 11 percent to non-veterans on a 30-year assumable fixed rate loan.

A public reading of the bids will be held Oct. 17 after the bids close AUSTIN (AP) - As many as 100,000 persons will benefit from the Texas Board of Human Resources raising monthly payments for support of dependant children from $46° to $53, state officials said.

The increase, approved unanimously Tuesday by a threemember board, will be effective Oct. 1 for the next year but it will be up to the 1985 Legislature to decide if it will continue in 1986-87.

"We had hoped to make it $60 but although we were unable to to that we are happed to increase it to $53," board Chairman J. Livingston Kosberg of Houston said.

Board member Thomas Dunning of Dallas recalled that Texas voters in 1982 changed the constitution to allow Aid to Families with Dependent Children payments to total 1 percent of the state budget.

"We are a long way from that goal, which would be about $80 a month, but we are working on it," Dunning said.

Vicki Garza, Corpus Christi board member, also voted for the increase. The 1984 special session of the Legislature authorized the Department of Human Resources to transfer unused money from other funds, but lawmakers made no plans for AFDC in the 1986-87 business year.

The board also voted to include single pregnant women in the Medicaid program, which provides federal and state payments to the needy, and Medicaid payments to two-parent families hit by unemployment or medical needs.

Tom Suehs, DHR budget director, said the increase was from the current $46.55 a month, which is considered 30 percent of the actual need of a recipient, to $53, or 34 percent.

Suchs said the increase would involve 1,466 families and 5,805 individual recipients.

'Actually," said Kosberg, "we expect this to affect more than 100,000 people. A payment to one person in a family can affect the lives of two or three people, or more."

Suechs said there are about 34,000 fewer grants to individual AFDC recipients since 1975 because of closer monitoring of the program and because the average family on welfare has decreased from about three people to almost two.

The $13.2 million in state funds for the increase in state AFDC funds would be matched by $15.7 million in federal funds.

The increase in payments for pregnant women eligible for AFDC after the child is born, for children in needy two-parent households where there is unemployment, and for "medically needy" children and pregnant women would affect a total of 33,553 people at a state cost of $13.4 million.

Suchs said the DHR request to the 1985 Legislature for the AFDC program and for the Medicaid increased made Tuesday would be about 5 percent above the 1984-85 budget.

Schlueter, whose Ways and Means Committee controls the gate for any tax bill, summed up the prospects this way:

"Last time we had an issue (public education reform) that the people believed in. It had the two ingredients, necessity and public support."

But the coming crunch, "the State may come up with the necessity, but you will not come up with political support."

Elevator operator faces deadline on payment

By KATHRYN BAKER Associated Press Writer

The grain, part of 22 million bushels of government-owned corn stored in the facility since 1980, was discovered missing during an August inspection, Merrill Marxman, deputy administrator for commodity operations at the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, said Tuesday.

Marxman said the elevator owner, P.L. Blake, had offered a repayment plan which USDA rejected.

The elevator is the largest in terms of storage capacity in the country, according to the U.S. General Accounting Office.

Marxman said the department presumes the grain disappeared through normal "shrinkage" caused by moisture loss.

"We consider it to be an operational type loss, but the bottom line is still the same" - Blake must make up the difference, either in grain or cash, Marxman said. Elevators are legally responsible for maintaining the "quality and quantity" of the grain they store, Marxman said.

As of the end of March, the government had paid about $20 tpillion in storage fees to the elevator, according to the GAO.

The elevator has been used primarily for storage of governmentowned grain used in the "Paymentin-Kind" program for farmers who sue Blake, Marxman said. There are still about 2.2 million governmentowned bushels of corn in the elevator, he said.

A man who answered the phone at Blake's office in Greenwood, Miss., referred a reporter to Blake's attorney, Fred Thompson, in Washington.

Thompson's secretary said he was in a meeting. He did not return a call Tuesday from the Associated Press.

The grain elevator was the subject of a GAO report released last month questioning deterioration of the PIK program grain stored at the facility. Government auditors, responding to a query by House Agriculture Committee Chairman Kika de la Garza, D-Texas, concluded that there was no way to know if the elevator returned to the government exactly the same grade of corn that had been stored, but that there had been no complaints from farmers paid with the grain, which was useable for its intended purpose as livestock feed.

House skeptical of farm credit

WASHINGTON (AP) - A skeptical House panel, reacting to President Reagan's farm credit relief announcement, says farmers could have had help a year ago - if the administration had not turned down congressional initiatives.

"That the administration chose to announce a new credit program weeks before an election strikes me as a bit cynical," said Rep. Ed Jones, D-Tenn., chairman of the Agriculture credit subcommittee.

"I have been particularly displeased with the administration's opposition to emergency credit legislation ... passed by the previous Congress and the current one by overwhelming bipartisan margins."

Jones referred to two bills that would have provided for rescheduling of government farm loans to producers in financial difficulty, similar to a provision in the credit relief package Reagan offered last week.

'Had either of these bills been enacted in a timely fashion, thousands of farmers would still be in business who have now been liquidated," Jones told Agriculture Undersecretary Frank Naylor and Farmers Home Administration chief Charles Shuman.

Rep. Richard Durbin, D-Ill., questioned Naylor about how many farmers actually would get help under the announced program, loan. which also includes $630 million to help guarantee existing commercial farm loans. Naylor said it will be a small fraction of the 20,000 or so farmers now in serious financial trouble, but said he could not be more specific.

'How do we know, Mr. Naylor, that this isn't symbolic or token?" he asked, reflecting the skepticism of the Democrats who dominate the panel Naylor replied that the credit package was "the most extensively developed program I've ever participated in" and was drafted by the best minds in the banking and farm sectors

Rep. Dan Glickman, D-Kan., called the package similar to "a lot of things this committee tried to plead and cajole you to do these past couple of years. It looks like you've done a 360-degree turnaround.'

But Naylor defended the timing of Reagan's announcement, saying credit help was only recently made necessary because of drought conditions this summer that will deal a blow to heavily leveraged farmers. And he said the Reagan program goes beyond earlier congressional proposals because it includes the guarantees for commercial loans, not just relief for those with FmHA loans.

Others on the panel used the appearance by Naylor and Shuman to press them on the propriety of a $400,000 emergency loan made by FmHA this year to John W. Curry of Galesburg, Ill., a land speculator and business partner of Agriculture Secretary John Block.

The loan came as smaller farmers were complaining that they were being denied loans of one-tenth that size because of lack of collateral. Curry had only to pledge his 1984 soybean and corn crop as security for the

"The loan was properly made, he was eligible and the collateral and repayment were there," said Shuman.

He reiterated the department's contention that there could have been no favoritism shown Curry, who "Secretary Block had no knowledge of that loan. We expect that the loan will be paid in full. The loan was appropriate," Shuman said under sometimes sharp questioning.

But Rep. Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, pointed out that Curry's was the only disaster loan of its size made in Illinois this year at subsidized interest rates: 5 percent for the first $100,000 and 8 percent for the balance.

And he said that one bank which had denied Curry a loan - FmHA borrowers must prove they cannot get credit through commercial sources - turned around and loaned him money after the government loan had been approved.

Shuman did concede that "there is some confusion in our regulations" about how much collateral is required for FmHA loans and said he understood how the Illinois situation could make farmers denied loans angry.

"The policy varies from state to state ... it does have some inconsistencies in it, and we're working to eliminate those inconsistencies,' Shuman said.

agreed to reduce the number of acres they plant.

"There is some farmer-owned grain in there, but farmers have not aggressively or continually used that elevator from year to year," Marxman said.

If Blake does not make the Friday deadline, the government will proceed, in cooperation with the state, to take over the elevator, and then will said Wednesday. Prices paid to growers, an average of 72 cents a pound, were up from 65 cents in August 1983.

The report showed that production in the first eight months of this year was about 101.2 million pounds

ABC's Sunday night movie

'Heart-sounds', up movie about death

NEW YORK (AP) - "Heartsounds," ABC's Sunday night movie, is an up movie about about a down subject: death.

That's no easy feat. Special credit should go to the caring filmmakers, headed by executive producer Norman Lear, whose cousin, Dr. Harold Lear, is the subject of this movie, and James Garner, previously known for light comic-adventure roles, who is devastating as Dr. Lear, the heart-attack patient who laughs and loves while living for months on death's doorstep.

"There's no one as bad as he is who's stayed alive this long," the heart surgeon, in part admiration and part exhaustion, tells Lear's wife. The medical community gave Shakespearean tragedy. up on Lear long ago, a point of view. the film reflects with frequent examples of callous, arrogant and insensitive treatment.

Based on the best-selling 1980 book, 'Heartsounds," written by Lear's widow, Martha, the 21/2-hour film will never earn the endorsement of the American Medical Association. Mary Tyler Moore plays Martha.

The Lears' strong, supportive marriage sheds light on the movie's darkness. Even in their worst moments, Lear never loses his spirit or sense of humor. At times, their loving, adult relationship resembles a very funny, very realistic sitcom that has somehow turned into ty's Agricultural Market Research and Development Center, a unit of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The study showed that consumer ratings of steaks prepared at home generally agreed with USDA grading standards, which are based on the amount of fat within the lean, or red meat portion of the beef. The more flecks of fat, or "marbling," the higher the grade - and the cost.

But the researchers also found a significant market for lean beef. "About 25 percent of the consumers in our sample found leaner beef acceptable in terms of its eating quality and indicated they would buy it," said Dr. Robert Branson, project director.

The preference for leaner beef was especially strong in the Houston and San Francisco Bay Area test samples, he added.

Branson noted that the consumers who found leaner steaks acceptable may reflect the trend toward lighter eating to reduce calories and fat in the diet.

However, cooking preferences can also affect the desirability of different meat grades, Branson said. The more the meat is cooked, the more marbling is required to keep the steak tender and juicy.

Consumers in the San Francisco Bay Area test samples tended to cook their steaks rare or medium rare and so may find leaner cuts more acceptable for that reason, he suggests.

Studies of this type could make a difference in what the consumer finds at the meat counter in the future. Some stores carry and promote USDA prime and choice grades. Others use a house system of grades which includes leaner USDA "good" grades of meat, but without the USDA grade label, and some stores sell both USDA graded meats and leaner house label cuts.

According to Branson, retailers and cattle producers will know more about what type of beef consumers prefer when the second phase of the study, which involves monitoring consumer purchases of a variety of beef cuts, is completed in 1985.

Salvage companies clash over reports

HOUSTON (AP) - Doug 52 FREE-overnight movie rentals with any new TV or Bradley says he is fighting pirates who are wantonly destroying precious coral reefs off the Texas Coast.

"They're using high explosives to search for shipwrecks," said Bradley, a Houston real estate consultant.

Bradley's chief "pirate," Michael Lethcoe of Houston, demurred.

"I'm just a poor-boy diver fighting this big-money giant," said Lethcoe, owner 12-37-tfc of the Captain Nemo Salvage Co.

> The argument turns on what both believe are the remnants of a 17th century Spanish galleon locked in a coral reef in 300-foot waters 130 miles east of Galveston. Their battle is over salvage rights. At stake is an estimated $100 million in gold bullion, they contend.

changes people," Lethcoe said.

underwater archeologist who is an unpaid technical adviser to Bradley's exploration company, BGN Subsea Inc. wonders if either side knows what it is getting into.

Irion, who works for the Espey-Huston engineering firm, says it would be professionally unethical for him to profit from the sale of antiquities. That makes him the only participant with nothing to lose in the argument over the Spanish galleon.

"I don't know if what they're concerned about even is a wreck site," Irion said. "I'm told it's buried in 20 feet millimeters per year. By now, the coral around the wreck wouldn't have grown much more than 6 inches." Still, the argument continues.

The battle between Bradley and Lethcoe began with a standoff on the high seas in April, and has moved into state and federal courts in Houston, Galveston and Corpus Christi. The case promises to enrich lawyers for vears. Lethcoe contends that he was first. In 1980, he formed Far South Limited to study the galleon wreck, which he calls the Anna Costa. Hampered by risks and delays caused by scuba divers working in depths averaging 160 feet, the company ran out of money after two years, Lethcoe said.

"Next thing I know, some of my former partners have joined another company," he said. "So I folded Far South and started using my salvage company to work the site."

Enter Bradley and BGN Subsea, which Lethcoe says includes some of his former partners. Bradley identified his partners only as a few wealthy Houston real estate investors. Bradley contends that BGN Subsea was the first to make a legal claim to the wreck, which he calls the San Juan. Bradley also says his firm is best equipped to do an ecologically sensitive job on the site 20 miles east of the Flower Garden coral reefs. The reefs recently came grows only at the rate of service, said new laws make any destruction of coral illegal without a permit. "And it probably is going to be very difficult to get a permit,' Allen said. Allen said, however, that the agency has no money or staff "to baby-sit coral reefs."

> Bradley says his firm has an edge in acquiring a permit. "Ours is the first major Texas corporation organized for deep water using the most sophisticated high-tech stuff in the world," Bradley said. "We want to preserve the reefs as much as obtain the artifacts, instead of having them blown to bits and the gold looted." Lethcoe said he also is not worried about qualifying for a permit. He said his firm was only lifting the heads off a few coral stumps with Primacord, an explosive resembling plastic clothesline.

"It's a digging tool," Lethcoe said. "I have former Navy divers on my crew who do the work. Coral has the consistency of concrete. We used magnetometers to determine where the artifacts were, but we've taken nothing of value yet." Lethcoe and Bradley also disagree on the details of a fired. One of our charges confrontation at sea in April. Bradley says he leased a 300-foot Norwegian vessel, the Seaway Eagle, to explore the site. He filed for salvage rights in federal court in Corpus Christi in December 1983 and the Seaway Eagle sailed from Freeport in April.

"When we got out there, we found these free-lance pirates, led by a man calling himself Captain Nemo, had run out to get in front of us." Bradley said. "They started shooting at us. Now we've got some pretty sophisticated equipment, and our divers' lives were in danger, so we backed off. We're in court now, trying to get some protection from the authorities before we go back."

Lethcoe tells a different preserve any artifacts story about the meeting discovered, including the Seaway Eagle and his own gold. 150-foot salvage ship, the archeologist advising BGN bullion could be worthless dust. "The bulk of the treasure in those days was silver, not gold," Irion said. "And the seawater would have oxidized the silver by now, turning arms, but no rounds were it into a lot of brown powder.'

tion is - right up to the pump's value as an antique. He said he constantly gets offers to sell the unit.

"I don't have a price on it because I just won't sell it. I guess nobody in the world can beat that price," he said.

Flowers said he had one cent offer of $1,500 for the old pump, and has had offers of twice that much. Flowers' Gulf Station very much reflects the sentiments of its owner and the pump itself - everything is simple and easy. Even though his is the only station in town, all purchases at the station are on a cash-only basis, and no repairs are done in the old cinder-block-and-tin shop behind the gas bay. "I used to do repairs here, but I don't any more," he said. "But I keep the place open because I gotta be doing something anyway." Even though Flowers' service station caters mainly to the needs of the automobile the walls are lined with spare hose and belt parts for cars the Gulf station located on FM901 has become a mecca of sorts for the town's "good old boys.' station for globe on top, is pumping out gasoline just as it did the day 1948 when om the Pitit was put in - most of the time even better than the d corporaother pumps that have come n that the and gone, Flowers said. about to "I've never really had to fix hange. it except for the tubes," dernization Flowers said, adding that the il Corp., all pumps had been installed action gas several years before he g removed bought the station. "They have to keep coming out here and fix the new ones because something's always wrong with the computer or some such thing."

The inner workings of the pump are wonderful in their simplicity. With just a couple of pulls on a long handle located on the side of the pump, up to 10 gallons of regular leaded gasoline appear in a glass storage container at the top of the unit. From there, the gas flows down through a more familiar black hose - similar to those seen on modern gas pumps - directly into the automobile.

The pump shows little wear from its more than 40 years of faithful service. Although there are rust spots here and there, the paint job has held up remarkably well. A small crack has appeared around the base of the glass container.

Flowers has had to make a few adaptations to the pump, including addition of several federal regulations signs. Also, he has had to equip the pump with a series of locks to guard against gasoline theft - things not deemed necessary in the era when it was built.

On a busy summer day, Flowers said the old pump gets a real workout, even if many of the younger people who come to the station have no idea what it is.

"On holidays, it gets like a bunch of ants through here, just one car after another," he said, "A lot of the young people who come through here stop and look at it, but just can't seem to figure out what it is. They look all confused because they just don't know what the hell it is."

On the other side of the coin, Flowers said, are those people who know exactly what the odd-looking contrap- pears a long way off.

By Flowers' estimation, as many as 20 people will crowd into the service station on a cold day to drink coffee and play dominoes.

"If I didn't have those domino tables, I don't know what some of those old boys would do," he said. He added that at other times, the conversations focus on the past, Lake Texoma, or whatever might be going on in the area.

Flowers said he had not always been a service station owner. At one time, he operated a successful farm and cattle ranch near Gordonville.

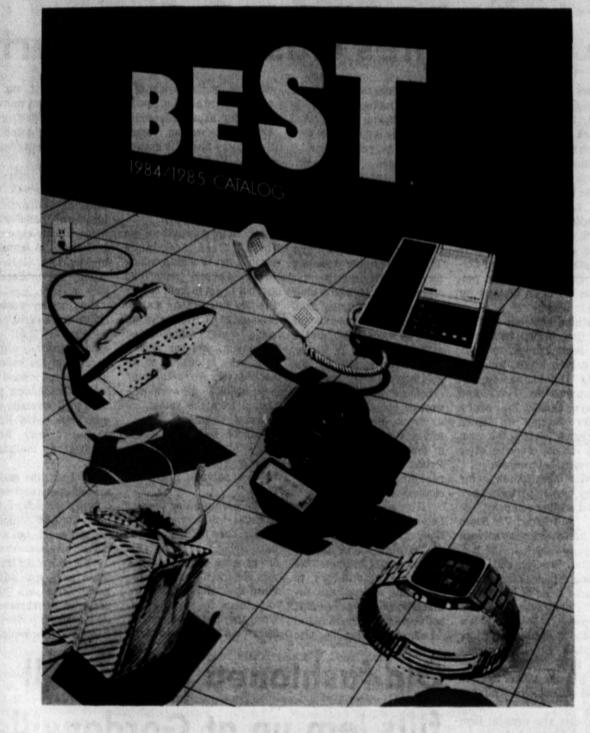

But in the late 1940s, he and his wife, Lucille, parents of two sons and two daughters, decided to move closer to town, and they bought the Gulf station.

Flowers said although he had just seen his 68th birthday, he would continue to run Gordonville's only gas station until the end. By the look of the man, that day still ap-
