CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Columbia sailed into orbit today, the first craft from Earth to make a return trip to space.

Columbia is a truly reifiable rocketship — and more. Scientific monitors were aboard the ship, along with a robot arm that will demonstrate the shuttle's ability to work in space.

Three minutes into the flight, Mission Control in Houston said Columbia's engines were running very smoothly and four minutes shuttle communicator Dan Brandenstein said "Columbia now committed to space flight."

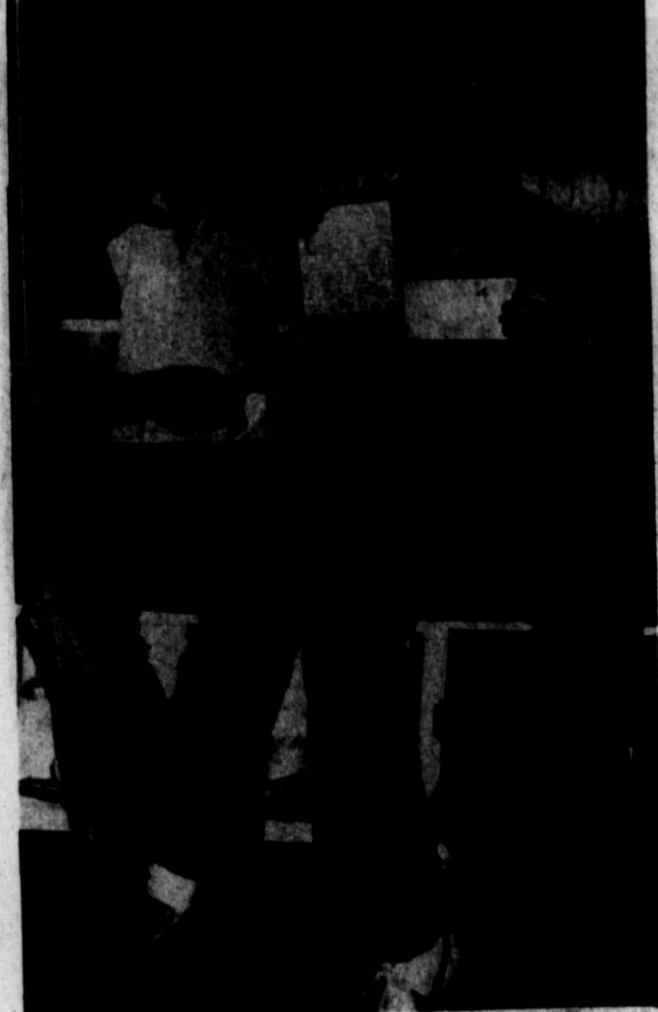

"Very smooth," said Engle. It is the first trip into space for both astronauts, and a thunderous celebration for Truzy's 44th birthday.

Columbia was soaring more than 100 miles above Earth at 17,400 mph. The craft was scheduled to make 83 orbits in five days before gliding to Earth next Tuesday afternoon on the Rogers Dry Lake in California's Mojave Desert.

EST — 8 days after an earlier countdown was scrubbed just 31 seconds from T-zero. Just before the scheduled 10 a.m. liftoff there was one last, brief, delay with launch director George Page telling his control team, "Let's take our time and do it right."

The shuttle's design limits by subjecting the ship to higher pressure loads. The spacecraft moved swiftly away from pad 30A, clearing the 36-foot service tower in 7 seconds and arcing out over the Atlantic Ocean on a northeast heading.

The astronauts were riding upside down as Columbia rolled to orbit, spewing 700-foot-long plumes of white smoke from the solid fuel rockets.

Balloon Spirited To Minnesota

Jeff Morrison was elated when he opened his mail Saturday and found a dirty, shriveled up white balloon.

Jeff, a Herd trainer, was helping the Hereford cheerleaders blow up helium balloons at the Coronado game in Lubbock when the notion hit him to put his address on it. He snatched a piece of adhesive bandage tape and jotted down his street number.

"I didn't have room to put my name," Jeff said. Jeff said he let go of his balloon-a-gram at about 7:30 p.m. Oct. 30 from Lubbock. By 2 p.m. Sunday afternoon the little ball had floated over 1,000 miles and landed in a forest in southeast Minnesota.

Jeff said he told several friends about it and "now everybody is going to do some experimenting." He said he planned to call a television meteorologist to see if he can get some wind charts for the day he let go of the balloon to track the route.

"I've done it at least once a year for the last four years and I've never gotten one back until now." Dean Irvin found the balloon while checking his traps for racoon. "He sent me a letter telling me," Jeff said. Jeff was so excited that he called Irvin the day he got the letter. Irvin told him that he probably wouldn't have noticed the balloon if a squirrel in the woods had not been playing with it.

White House Rallies to Stockman

By OWEN ULLMANN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is rallying around budget director David A. Stockman as congressional Democrats revel in his published confessions that President Reagan's economic program isn't working and doubts that it ever will.

U.N. Secretary-General Balking in Stalemate

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The U.N. Security Council has suspended balloting in the secretary-general's race and is discussing ways to end the Chinese-American deadlock blocking the re-election of Kurt Waldheim or his replacement.

Neither Waldheim, the Austrian incumbent seeking an unprecedented third term, nor his Third World challenger, Tanzanian Foreign Minister Salim Ahmed Salim, showed any readiness to withdraw after eight rounds of balloting. Both were vetoed on each ose, Waldheim by China, which is committed to a Third World candidate, and Salim by the United States. The Chinese had been expected to conclude that Salim did not have a chance and to abandon him after demonstrating their commitment to the Third World. But a Russian council source said indications were that the Chinese were prepared to veto Waldheim indefinitely.

There was no indication either that the United States was prepared to withdraw its opposition to Salim. A well-placed U.N. source said Japan is advocating a marathon balloting session that would produce a winner or demonstrate that the council is hopelessly deadlocked and should open the race to compromise candidates.

Another suggestion, the source said, is for the council to extend Waldheim's current term for two or three years. The normal term is five years, and Waldheim's second one expires Dec. 31.

Beginning Oct. 27, the council met three times to try to decide on a nominee for election by the 157-member General Assembly. It agreed on a cooling-off period after failing to break the impasse on Nov. 4. Since then, Am-

Hussein Watches Missile Firing

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Jordan's King Hussein witnessed the successful firing of a new Hawk anti-aircraft missile and was briefed by Army officials before he ended his day-long tour of the sprawling Fort Bliss Army Air Defense Center and returned to Houston.

Routes into the parade ground were sealed off by black-helmeted military policemen, some leading German Shepherd guard dogs. Army riflemen watched the ceremonies from atop nearby roofs and a water tower.

Plainclothes police and Secret Service agents watched reporters and about 50 people who showed up uninvited to see the Middle East monarch.

Hussein was scheduled to make a public appearance at a noon luncheon in Houston and then return to Jordan later today.

His trip to the United States included talks with President Reagan and administration officials in Washington and a trip to Southern California.

The king flew to El Paso Wednesday to view the missile firing and to be briefed by Army officials.

Polish Students Call for Strike

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Student leaders called a six-hour strike today in all 91 Polish institutions of higher education.

The independent students' association called the strike in support of engineering students in Radom. They were in the 18th day of a sit-in protesting the election of a new rector for their college.

Another strike call went out from the leaders of the 40,000 employees in dairy cooperatives. They called a one-hour stoppage Monday in support of demands for pay increases and a new charter, the official PAP news agency reported.

The dairy workers threatened an indefinite strike Nov. 23 if their demands were not met.

A strike by newspaper vendors and distributors in four provinces spread to the towns of Pila and Chodziez, northwest of Warsaw. A strike by 150,000 workers in Zielona Gora province went into its fourth week, but no talks with the government to end it were scheduled.

Israel Hot, Cold on Saudi Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of an Israeli delegation says Saudi Arabia's implied willingness to accept the Jewish state's right to exist is a step in the "right direction." But he says the Saudis still must learn "to pronounce the name of Israel" before becoming partners in the Middle East peace process.

The statement Wednesday by Moshe Arens, who is expected to be Israel's next ambassador to the United States, appeared to contradict Prime Minister Menachem Begin, who has dismissed the entire Saudi proposal as an "annihilation plan" for Israel.

Arens, who heads the Israeli legislative committee on defense and foreign affairs, told reporters after a 90-minute meeting with Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. that the Saudi formula as a whole is "totally unacceptable" and represents "a threat to the very existence of Israel."

But he added: "The Saudi statement goes a little ways beyond the statements they've made in the past — a little ways in the right direction but a long ways from making Saudi Arabia a partner for peace in negotiation with Israel," Arens said.

The six-member Israeli delegation was continuing its consultations today at scheduled meetings with top White House aides and Senate leaders.

President Reagan said at his news conference Tuesday that the Saudis' tacit acceptance of Israel's right to exist is a "hopeful sign."

"This has been one of the sticking points so far with the Arab world refusing to make that acknowledgement," Reagan said.

Lions Bike-A-Thon Slated Saturday

Three 10-speed bicycles and $300 in cash prizes are available to riders who participate in a Bike-A-Thon sponsored by the Hereford Lions Club Saturday. The event will have three divisions, and will begin at the La Plata Junior High School parking lot at 1 p.m.

All proceeds from the Bike-A-Thon will go to various charitable organizations according to Lions Club spokesman Sid Shaw. These include crippled children, Girl Scouts, the United Way, work with the blind, sight conservation, retarded children, and other community programs," Shaw said.

Fiddler On The Roof Coming Here Nov. 19

The Culture Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the WTSU Touring Theatre production of "Fiddler On The Roof" at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 19 at the Hereford High School Auditorium.

The production, which features Sherry Strain, a junior from Hereford, is the work of the WTSU Department of Speech and Theatre. Phillip Duggins, director, said students put in an average of 30 hours per week in rehearsals.

Tickets for the show are priced at $3 apiece and may be purchased at the chamber office at 701 N. Main Street. Tickets will also be available at the Hereford State Bank as well.

Strain, a theatre major, performs the part of Shandiz in the production, and is a member of the chorus. About 50 WTSU students perform in the show, which was begun last spring to recruit students for the theatre department. The students performed a variety show at various high schools.

Update Thursday

Supreme Court Takes Final Action In Bell-TDNA Case

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court took the last legal action today in a dispute between newspaper publishers and Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

It vacated all lower court rulings that had been issued in the controversy, dismissed a pending appeal from a now-most order of the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals here and said Bell must pay the court costs.

The dispute ended last summer when Bell announced it was canceling plans to test an "electronic information service" in about 600 Austin homes. The Texas Daily Newspaper Association had protested Bell's plans to the Texas Public Utility Commission.

The PUC ordered Bell to suspend its preparations for the test while it considered the TDNA's protest, but the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals said the PUC had no right to do that.

Subsequently, Bell said the prospect of months of protracted hearings before the PUC and the courts compelled it to abandon plans for the test.

TDNA contended Bell would have an unfair competitive advantage over newspapers because Bell owned the telephone lines over which information, such as advertising, would be transmitted.

Selective Enforcement Claimed In Case

HOUSTON (AP) — The Harris County District Attorney's office is selectively enforcing the bigamy law against a Baytown lawyer and the estrife of one of his clients who has been convicted of capital murder, a defense attorney says.

Atlantic about 160 miles offshore. National Aeronautics and Space Administration ships waited to recover them for reuse.

As the ship accelerated, its astronauts were pressed hard against their couches by gravity forces three times those experienced on earth. Driven by their main liquid-powered engines, they moved ever faster as they penetrated into the thinner upper air.

After about 12 minutes, Columbia settled into an initial orbit ranging from about 78 to 138 miles above the globe, the final thrust provided by maneuvering engines. The astronauts later were to raise both the high and low points to 157 miles.

Launch was 2 hours, 40 minutes later than the originally scheduled dawn liftoff — delayed while technicians raced the clock to fix a faulty spaceship data processing system with a part scavenged from the shuttle's half-built sister ship in California. Repair was completed this morning just after midnight and the signal flashed to start the final countdown hours.

Engle and Truly were awakened shortly after 5 a.m. and received their first word that an attempt to launch was still planned.

Truly especially wanted to go today; it is his 44th birthday. The astronauts' breakfast room was decorated with crepe ribbons and a shuttle-shaped centerpiece as a surprise tribute to Truly. Fellow astronauts tossed streamers and sang "Happy Birthday." He grinned broadly and so did Engle — both men clearly relaxed before their first flights in space.

The bigamy indictment against Don and Regina Smith alleges that they were married Dec. 15, 1978, two months before her marriage to Vernon McManus was dissolved.

Smith's attorney, Ellis McCullough, said in pretrial motions Wednesday that the Smiths "are the only people in Harris County who have been prosecuted under this statute since it was enacted."

McCullough also contended that the charges against his clients are vague and indefinite.

Vet Sues Chiropractor For Causing Stroke

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A veterinarian who claimed he was on the "threshold of being financially well-off" lost a $2.5 million lawsuit today against a chiropractor who allegedly caused the veterinarian to suffer a severe stroke.

Don Hartfiel, 33, sued Courtney Owen after he suffered a stroke in April 1977 while undergoing a neck adjustment.

Hartfiel was hospitalized in intensive care for eight days and contended as a result of the stroke he was permanently disabled and no longer able to practice.

A San Antonio jury ruled that Owen was not negligent and refused to grant Hartfiel any damages.

The El Paso Court of Civil Appeals affirmed the trial court.

The Supreme Court upheld the lower court rulings without writing an opinion of its own.

Soviets Criticize Nuclear War Comment

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet papers gave prominent display today to a Tass news agency charge that President Reagan's remarks on the possibility of a limited nuclear war in Europe were "nuclear blackmail" aimed at achieving Washington's foreign policy goals.

Reagan's statement, first made last month and repeated at a news conference Tuesday, set off a storm of protest in Western Europe and has been repeatedly condemned by Soviet media.

"It should be stressed that the American concept of a 'limited' war stems from the absurd assumption that in the event of the United States making first use of nuclear weapons, the Soviet Union will follow nuclear war scenarios worked out in Washington," the official news agency said in a commentary Wednesday.

American Airlines Announces Layoffs

DALLAS (AP) — American Airlines officials say the "terrible years" of the 1980s have forced them to lay off an untold number of employees in order to cut costs.

The company announced plans Wednesday for layoffs in December. Officials blamed the cutbacks on a sluggish economy and said the airline continues to fall short of projections and capital needs.

Officials have not decided how many employees will be laid off, but the number could be "substantial," said David Frailey, vice president of public relations. Most of the layoffs will involve non-union white-collar workers and clerical staffers, he said.

"We are scaling the airline back in size. It is part of a process that has been going on for more than a year," Frailey said.

Mengden Sworn Into Office

State Senator Walter Mengden, Republican from Harris County, has been sworn in as President Pro Tempore of the Texas Senate, a position he was elected to by his colleagues in the Senate during the special session of the Legislature this past summer.

As provided for in the Texas Constitution, the President Pro Tem performs the duties of the Lieutenant Governor "in any case of absence or disability of that officer, and whenever the said office of Lieutenant Governor shall be vacant."

As a result, the President Pro Tem is next in line of succession, after the Lieutenant Governor, if the office of Governor becomes vacant, and the President Pro Tem serves as Acting Governor if the Governor and Lieutenant Governor are out of the state.

"I am very aware of the importance of this position, and the fact that it's not just a ceremonial position," Senator Mengden said.

"It is a very sobering thought to know that the President Pro Tem is right behind the Lieutenant Governor in the order of succession to the office of Governor, and I don't take that responsibility lightly. In fact, history has shown that even while serving temporarily as Acting Governor when the Governor and Lieutenant Governor are out of the state, the President Pro Tem can be faced with important events and decisions."

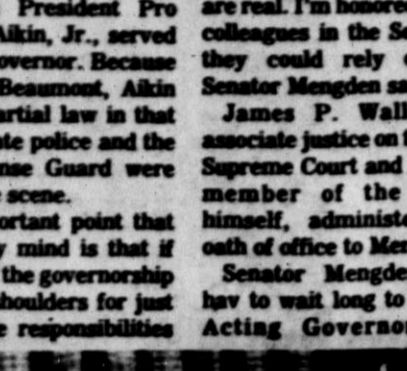

Senator Mengden then told about the events of June 17, 1943, when President Pro Tem A.M. Aikin, Jr., served as Acting Governor. Because of riots in Beaumont, Aikin declared martial law in that city, and state police and the Texas Defense Guard were called to the scene.

"The important point that sticks in my mind is that if the duties of the governorship fall on my shoulders for just one day, the responsibilities are real. I'm honored that my colleagues in the Senate felt they could rely on me," Senator Mengden said.

James P. Wallace, an associate justice on the Texas Supreme Court and a former member of the Senate himself, administered the oath of office to Mengden.

Senator Mengden didn't have to wait long to serve as Acting Governor. Both Governor Bill Clements and Lieutenant Governor Bill Hobby were out of the state Saturday (November 7), and as provided for in the Texas Constitution, Senator Mengden served as Acting Governor.

In addition, an official "Governor-for-a-Day" ceremony will be held in Senator Mengden's honor in 1982.

Attorney Set To Prove Harrelson Innocent

DALLAS (AP) — One witness will prove to jurors that Jo Ann Starr Harrelson used no deception in buying a hunting rifle 12 days before the assassination of a federal judge, defense attorneys say.

Mrs. Harrelson's attorneys say their lone witness is the woman whose driver's license number was recorded on the gun purchase form that led to charges Mrs. Harrelson used a fictitious name to purchase a Weatherby Mark V rifle.

An FBI specialist has testified that Mrs. Harrelson signed the name "Fay L. King" of Greenville to buy the rifle.

FBI agents have said the weapon can fire the same caliber bullet that killed U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr., who was shot outside his San Antonio townhouse May 29, 1979.

Paul Harvey News Family Doctor Resuming Popularity

Suburban Chicago, 2 a.m. Husband complains of chest pain, says he can't wait for ambulance; wife drives him to hospital emergency. Gasping and grimacing, he is saying, "Heart attack."

Minutes later a doctor has confirmed, "angina," ordered, "Intensive care quick." The family doctor is summoned.

In six days the patient is stabilized. Then cardiac catheterization. A blocked artery. A bypass is recommended, but there is a month-long wait for that operation.

The cardiologist says the patient can go home and wait. The family doctor says no. Who is this GP to challenge the specialist?

Well, he is the family's personal physician; has been for 10 years.

He knows the patient's medical history and personality.

He knows the patient, once home, will resume romping with the dog and calling on customers.

He knows the man's anxiety level, the family's financial problems, the problems, they've had with their son — their marriage.

The family doctor says he must not go home. The specialist acquiesces, says he'll do what he can to reduce the waiting time.

Now — the science of medicine is being practiced as an "art." Fifty years ago 80 percent of med school graduates began what is appropriately called "the practice of medicine," as GPs, family doctors. Only 20 percent specialized.

relying on David Stockman, is going to find it harder to persuade members of the House and Senate of both parties to go along with him.

The architect of the administration's economic program is admitting exactly what I and other critics have been saying for six months," said House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., who called Stockman's published statements "devastating admissions."

"Mr. Stockman misled the Congress and the American people as to the consequences of the Reagan economic program," the Massachusetts Democrat said.

Republican Rep. Jack Kemp of New York, one of the original apostles of supply-side economics and a close political associate of Stockman when they both served in the House, suggested that the energetic budget director may have suffered a lapse from overwork.

"Some of his friends think he has pushed himself too hard in an incredibly difficult position which requires unusual balance and judgment to succeed," Kemp said, adding that he feels deep sadness "that my close friend...has put himself in this difficult position."

Strike

However, Senate Finance Committee Chairman Bob Dole, R-Kan., said Stockman "may have gained some credibility" for being so candid.

White House deputy press secretary Larry Speakes said Reagan had not read the article but was being provided excerpts. "We suggested that would be a good way for him to read a long article," Speakes said. Other officials said Reagan expressed no feelings one way or the other about the piece.

Speakes said the conclusions in the article were "somewhat of a misrepresentation."

The article was written by Washington Post assistant managing editor William Greider, based on several interviews with Stockman dating back to just before Reagan took office.

Texan Accused In Cocaine Dealer Case

SEVIERVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A Texas man accused of conspiring to distribute 614 pounds of cocaine was described by his lawyer today as being an unwitting victim of his father's illegal activity.

Attorney Bob Ritchie made the comment in opening arguments of the Sevier County Criminal Court trial of Charles Leslie Kageler Jr., 24, of Labbock, Texas, who has admitted being aboard a cocaine-laden plane that landed here March 23.

Federal authorities and Tennessee Bureau of Investigation agents seized the plane soon after it landed and confiscated the illegal cargo, which they said had a street value of $217 million.

Survivors include four children, Donna Lynn Turnbow of Amarillo, and Janet, Don II and Allan Riley, all of Hereford; one sister, Mary L. Rutherford of Albuquerque, N.M.; one brother, Jimmy D. of Lawton, Ok.; and two grandchildren.

Health care has become an enormous benefit, burden or bonanza — depending on your point of view. Americans are spending $276 billion this year on personal medical care which has become increasingly impersonal.

Is the new crop of med schools students sending word ahead that we "numbers" are about to become "people" again? Will the designation "doctor" shed some of its mechanics and regain some of its magic? Hopefully.

"Teaching is one of the most rewarding professions there is; to see the light of understanding come on in those little heads is personally rewarding for me," says Miss Treena Reid.

Miss Reid teaches fourth grade at Shirley Elementary and feels that teaching is the perfect vocation for her as she loves children.

Born in Clarendon and raised in Amarillo, Miss Reid graduated from Amarillo High in 1974. Following a year of "time out" Miss Reid attended Amarillo College where she graduated with an associate of science degree in 1977. In 1979 Miss Reid graduated from West Texas State University with a bachelor of science degree.

Miss Reid moved to Hereford in August of 1979 to begin her teaching career and says she loves it here because, "Hereford is close enough to my parents to get to visit with them occasionally, yet all of my friends and my own life is centered here."

Since the summer of 1979 Miss Reid has been working toward her masters degree at WTSU and plans to complete this goal next summer.

A member of Texas Classroom Teachers Association and Texas State Teachers Association, Miss Reid is actively single or...we mean active in the singles department of First Baptist Church also of which she is a member.

She considers herself to be close to her family but independent without being "strongly women's Lib."

"I love being with people," she says of herself and many of her interests show this as she involves herself in impromptu Uno games and dinner parties with friends and neighbors.

Other interests include needlework, sports, baseball, bowling, waterskiing, cooking, travel, fishing and camping "for starters."

Bicycle tire inflating is not her strong point, though Guinness might be interested, as she managed to blow up two tires the same day as service station attendants calmly looked on.

Though she plans to marry and have children of her own someday, right now Miss Reid says she is very happy to be enjoying life with her family and friends as she is, "Single and satisfied." Looking ahead to the holidays below is a favorite recipe of Miss Reid's.

TREENA REID

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

The first time I read where the First Lady was buying China for $300,000, I said to myself, "It's probably a bargain, but what is she going to do with a billion people and all that raw fish?"

Then I discovered it was china...as in women on television looking at their reflections in it and going crazy.

I'll be honest with you. I'm trying real hard to get excited about dishes that match, but at $982 a place setting, it's a strain.

Can you imagine $982 for 19 pieces? I can't be absolutely sure, but I think my best friend's daughter-in-law, Karen, chose the same pattern as the White House. All I know is when I looked at the bridal registry, I nearly had a heart attack. Here was a girl whom I know for a fact wore raggy underwear, and she listed china, glassware and silver patterns that came with armed guards.

Twelve of us, including her mother, chipped in and bought her a saucer for her wedding present.

I don't know whose idea it was to get matching china for the White House, but it's possible one of those super salesmen got through to the First Lady. Lord knows, they're hard to resist.

Before I was married, a man called Larry gave a dinner in our home and convinced me we would not be legally married until we had a complete set of waterless cookery that preserved the natural juices and prevented the escape of vitamins necessary for our growth and development.

Five hours later, I had signed a binding contract for $700 worth of saucepans and skillets. The payments were to be spread over the rest of my life.

My husband-to-be was tolerant but my mother reminded me (a) I did not know how to turn on a stove; (b) steam took the curl out of my hair.

Nancy, Nancy, Nancy. I know what's going to happen with your 220 place settings of matched china. You're going to invite 220 people for the big eat-off and at the last minute Vice President Bush will want to bring another couple.

Not only that, someone will decide that if we keep buying dishes, this country is not going to have a pot to cook in.

I don't want to know what happens when Larry goes to the White House with his sales pitch.

Don't store unfrosted cakes until they've thoroughly cooled or they could become sticky.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am going to sit in your chair and respond to "20-20 Hindsight." You go finish your nap.

Dear "20-20" You are NOT stuck. I thought I was stuck, too, but it turned out I wasn't. My husband had a foul mouth even when he was sober. But if you were married to the slob for 20 years, he is legally obligated to support you—especially if you are ill. If you own your own home, you may be sitting on a nest egg of considerable size, half of which is yours.

After 15 years I took my half in cash. My parents screamed, "BUT YOU'RE FORCING HIM TO SELL THE HOUSE." So what? Lots of people sell houses. I got myself a tiny apartment, took some classes and became a free-lance writer. You don't have to live with someone who makes you miserable. It can be bad for your health.

Maybe once you are out of the mess you will find something you're good at. You can do more than you think.

That's what YOU should have told her, Ann.—I Did It In Denver

we must ask is, "Are you hard of hearing?" At least 15 times a day some clown hollers, "Speak up, I can't hear you."

When I say, "OK, I'll have to put a restriction on your license," he laughs and says, "I was only kidding."

Tell the goofy public to knock it off, will you?—Fort Wayne Grippe

Wayne Grippe

DEAR F.W.: Fifteen times a day? You're a pretty slow study, pal. By now you should be writing a great big RESTRICTED on the license and let the clowns beg you to take it off.

Aggie Moms Bake Sale Scheduled

Aggie Moms will hold their annual bake sale Saturday at Sugarland Mall, starting at 9:30 a.m.
 Each year the Moms bring together their baked goods and other home cooked items in their one money-making effort of the club. Proceeds are applied to the club's annual scholarship fund.
 Each spring at the respective high school's awards assembly the Hereford Aggie Mothers Club presents a $500 scholarship to a senior student planning to attend Texas A&M University.

1981 scholarship was presented to Trent Armstrong of Dimmitt. The club has four Aggie Moms members from Dimmitt and two from Adrian.

BEGIN ANEW

Bob Wear

By Bob Wear
"BEGIN ANEW" is a statement of reality, and of encouragement and hope. It is very definitely a practical and workable attitude.

THERE IS A SENSE IN which we can and must "begin anew" each morning. Even though some activities of each new day will be a continuation of what has been begun some time before; the dawning brings a new day.

WISDOM and our own needs tell us to be sure that we see each day as an opportunity to "begin anew." This practice will serve many useful purposes, including the help we need in handling the left overs from preceding days. Reasonable success is possible through our daily dedication to all of the worthwhile principles and standards we know.

EACH DAY IS IMPORTANT, in its own right; and we must let it be important to us by welcoming it with the spirit of "beginning anew," to the extent that this is possible. We can be reasonably successful by closing each preceding day as completely as we can. We must eliminate all carry-over we possibly can.

EVEN IN TROUBLED TIMES, this is a workable philosophy. If we accept full responsibility for making it work by giving prominence to revival and renewal; and actually "begin anew," it will work.

MUCH OF OUR LOSS is caused by permitting the spirit of boredom, of sameness (it's the same old thing), and staleness to dominate our personal living. This will happen to us, as it has happened to many others; unless we consciously and deliberately prevent it. Living with this consciousness, and honestly applying our best efforts is so much better than permitting our lives to be depressed and weighed down with the growing weariness, monotony and tastelessness; with increasing ineffectiveness and disappointments. ONE DAY AT A TIME is the way life comes to us, and this fact helps with the view that each day should be considered a "new" one. This helps us to live one day at a time, beginning anew each morning.

AT THE BEGINNING of each day, we can start with the resolve to make this a better day. We can make the resolution practical by consciously giving renewed thought to the proven guidelines and practical ideals by which living can be made satisfying or even better. This will be life at its very best, and it works for the people who abide by the rules.

Today In History

Associated Press
Today is Thursday, Nov. 12, the 316th day of 1981. There are 49 days remaining in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On Nov. 12, 1927, Leon Trotsky was expelled from the Soviet Communist Party, and Joseph Stalin became Russia's undisputed ruler.

In 1941, Soviet troops halted the Germans at the outskirts of Moscow in World War II. In 1948, former Japanese Premier Hideki Tojo was sentenced to death.

And in 1979, President Jimmy Carter ordered a halt to all U.S. oil imports from Iran in response to the taking of more than 50 American hostages in Tehran eight days earlier.

Ten years ago: U.S. Army helicopters accidentally killed eight South Vietnamese northeast of Saigon.

Five years ago: U.S. and Vietnamese diplomats met in Paris, opening their first formal talks since the fall of Saigon to the Communists in 1975.

One year ago: A spokesman for the incoming

Reagan administration said nearly 6 percent of the federal budget had been targeted for possible cuts to eliminate fraud, waste and mismanagement.

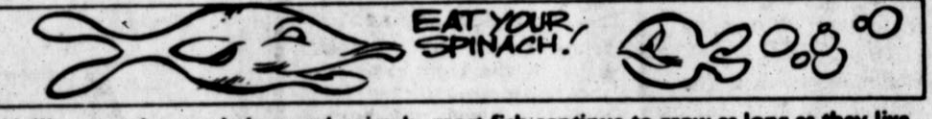

Today's birthdays: Supreme Court Justice Harry Blackmun is 73. Princess Grace of Monaco is 52. And Romanian gymnast Nadia Comaneci is 20.

Thought For Today: No man manages his affairs as well as a tree does. — George Bernard Shaw, Irish-born playwright (1856-1916).

Frederick the Great, in the 18th century, required citizens of conquered towns to provide him with a levy of cats to protect his army's food stores.

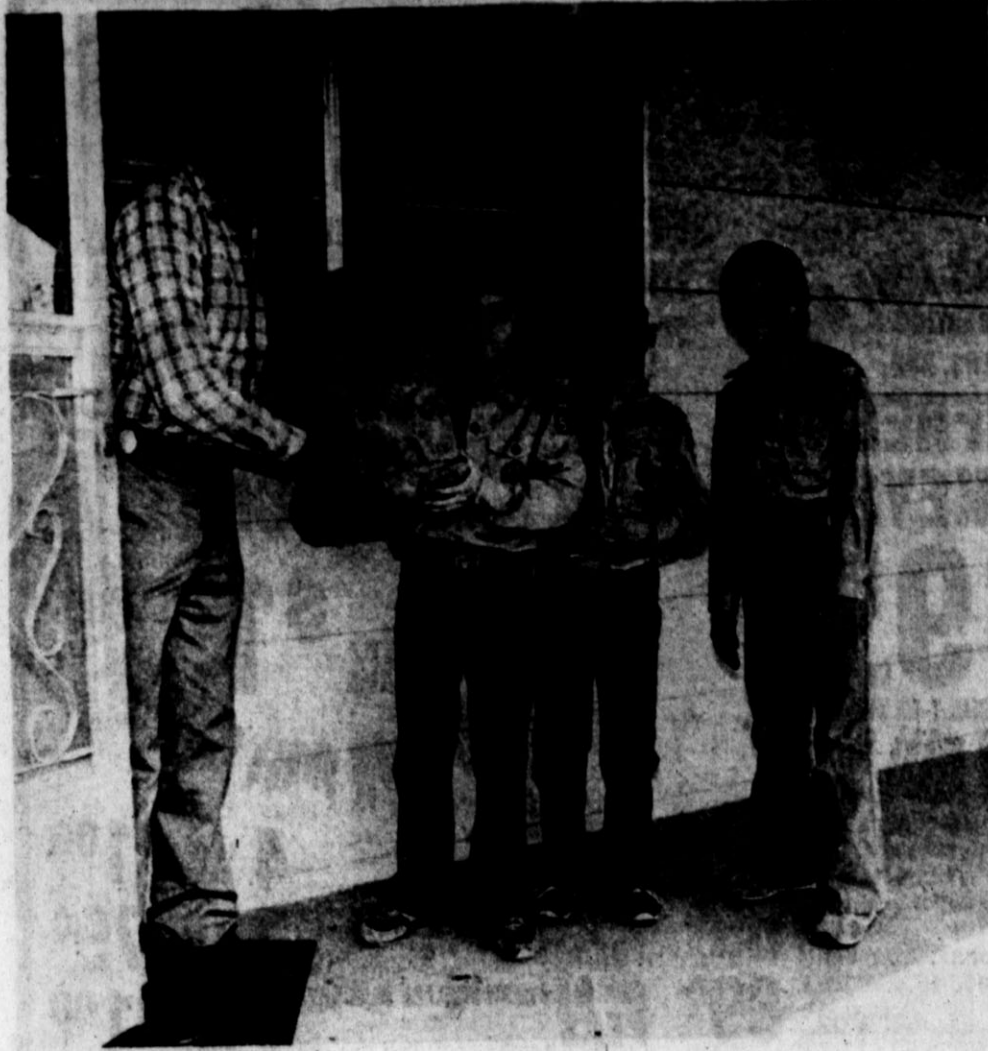

Unlike most human beings and animals, most fish continue to grow as long as they live.

Items for Goodwill

shoes, appliances, and other items which the scouts will pick up after 1 p.m. on Saturday and take to the Goodwill Rehabilitation Center. There, Goodwill employees will repair and process the items so that they may be placed in Goodwill stores and sold, with the proceeds going to pay salaries of handicapped people. Fitzgerald Named To Special Force

J.R. Fitzgerald of Amarillo has been named to a special agricultural task force of the Texas A&M University System. The task force is charged with developing a blueprint to help Texas A&M better serve the state's agricultural industry in the years ahead. Fitzgerald is one of 80 individuals serving on the Task Force for Agriculture, Forestry and Veterinary Services, Agencies and Non-Academic Programs of Related Colleges, points out Justin T. McBride, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Two other task forces make up the overall project - one for the four academic institutions of the A&M System and one dealing with engineering agencies and services. Some 230 individuals are involved in the total project.

Each task force will deal with four major areas of concern: mission and programs, clientele served, resources, and organization, management and inter-agency relations.

Chairing the agricultural, forestry and veterinary task force is Jay Pumphrey of Fort Worth, an independent ranch manager who formerly managed the 6000, Burnett and Triangle Ranches. Task force vice chairman is Charles G. Scruggs of Birmingham, Ala., vice president and editorial director of Progressive Farmer magazine and president of Torado Land and Cattle Co.

The task force is composed of six different units—Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas Forest Service, Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory, College of Agriculture (non-academic programs) and College of Veterinary Medicine (non-academic programs). Fitzgerald is serving in the Texas Agricultural Extension Service unit and also will deal with the "Organization, Management and Inter-agency Relations" concern for that unit as well as for the entire task force.

The various units will study issues and concerns of the future and then will develop guidelines for dealing with these, points out McBride.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

The first mailboxes were erected in Paris in 1653. However, messengers, fearful for their livelihood, put mice in the boxes to destroy the mail; thus, no further attempt to install mail boxes was made in Paris until 1758.

Caraway Elected President

The District One Federated Music Clubs of Texas met in Convention No. 7 in Amarillo with several members from Dawn Music Club and Hereford Music Club attending.

Election of officers for the coming year was held, with Mrs. Helen Caraway of Dawn Music Club being elected president. Other officers elected were Mrs. John Yows of Borger, vice-president; Mrs. Joe Reinauer, secretary and Mrs. Ruby Carmichael, treasurer, both of whom are from the Hereford Music Club; Mrs. Paul Remer of Spearman, historian; Claudio West of Borger, auditor; and Mrs. Ray Knight of Stratford, parliamentarian.

Officers will be installed at the Texas State Convention of Federated Music Clubs at Longview in March of 1982. The Dawn Music Club will host the 1982 Federated Music Club Convention District I in November of 1982.

The Music Club will present a patriotic program in the Dawn Community Center Friday, Nov. 20 at 7:30 p.m. It will be a regular community night meeting and everyone is invited to attend.

Singers who will be participating in the presentation of Handel's Messiah have three more rehearsals left before the concert on Dec. 6 in the Hereford High School Auditorium. Practices are scheduled for Nov. 15 and 29 at 8 p.m., and then again on Saturday, Dec. 5 at a time to be announced later.

The Chamber Singers, only, will be rehearsing on the evening of Nov. 22, as they are preparing a number of pieces for other Christmas concerts.

Director of the Hereford Chamber Singers, Mr. Bill Devers, will be directing the performance of the Messiah. Accompanists for the concert will be Jan Walser on organ and Elva Devers on piano.

All those participating are strongly urged to be present and on time for all rehearsals, as the time of the performance is drawing near.

Completes Training

Debbie Murrah, left, receives her diploma from Gary Whittington, instructor, for successfully completing the Allsup's Assistant Store Manager Training Course. Held at the company's home offices in Clovis, the class is a requirement for all Allsup's assistant managers. According to Whittington, "The training prepares individuals for future advancement by teaching them proper food handling, cooked food procedures, store cleanliness and maintenance as well as public relations. It's designed to produce a more professional employee who can better serve the customer and community." Debbie will return to her store at SE Main and Austin Road in Hereford to assume the duties of assistant manager.

WTSU Hits Blood Donation Record

WTSU - West Texas State University, the Texas Panhandle's largest single blood supplier for 27 area hospitals, has collected 971 pints in a record-breaking blood drive. WTSU students broke an 851-pint record set in the fall of 1979.

Student motivation was the key to its success as students competed against each other in a contest to determine the top men's and women's residence halls.

The top men's and women's halls were awarded $200. Jarrett Hall East picked up the cash prize in the men's hall competition. Jarrett East had 135 men participate with a participation rate of 79 percent. Jarrett East has had the highest donor percentage for four consecutive semesters.

Cousins Hall with 120 donors and participation rate of 72 percent won the cash prize for the women's halls. Cousins Hall has been the top women's donor for four consecutive semesters. Stafford Hall, a women's residence hall, tripled its participation rate since the drive began in the fall of 1978. Stafford started with 18 percent and moved to 51 percent in this drive.

The blood collected at WTSU by the Coffee Memorial Blood Center of Amarillo will supply 18 area hospitals in 27 Texas Panhandle counties within a 100-mile radius. The center uses 18,000 pints per year or 65 pints daily. The WTSU drive will supply the center with enough blood to cover the needs of area hospitals for 15 days.

WTSU is the single largest blood supplier for the Panhandle area hospitals. Bobby Thomas, director of community relations at the Coffee Memorial Blood Center, said that of the 250 mobile drives held by the center each year, WTSU surpasses all others. Many area towns are not able to supply their own needs, and the WTSU blood drive helps fill the gaps left by the area towns, said Thomas. Thomas also said, "WT has surpassed any area we've gone into in the entire history of our organization. We were shocked at the amount of people who turned out the last day to give. We collected 155 pints and that really helped put us far over the goal." In the fall of 1982, WTSU will reach for a 1,000-pint goal.

Kidnapped Girl Reunited With Mother, Sister

BRYAN, Texas (AP) - Carolyn Barnhart is preparing for a moment she spent three years waiting for - the reunion of her 10-year-old daughter with her 7-year-old girl who was spirited from a West Virginia park on the day before a custody battle.

A Texas judge Wednesday upheld a 1979 out-of-state custody ruling and ordered Christine Barnhart returned to the Maryland woman, who contends her ex-husband took the child from a park three years ago.

Tammy (the older daughter) has never given up (hope) that she will see her sister again," Mrs. Barnhart said. "She's almost driven herself crazy with the hope. I just want to get away from here and get home as soon as possible."

Mrs. Barnhart's attorney, Sarah Ryan, said Christine said goodbye to her father, Andy Barnhart, and stepmother after the one-hour proceeding and joined her mother.

Mrs. Barnhart, 29, of Hagerstown, Md., came to this Central Texas city last week and gave police West Virginia court documents showing she had been given custody of the child. A police officer arrested Barnhart and took the little girl to her mother.

"The stories she told me were unbelievable about the places she'd been and the people she'd seen," Mrs. Barnhart said, recalling tales the girl told about living in California, New Mexico and Texas with relatives. But less than two hours later, Brazos County sheriff's deputies picked up the girl and took her back to her father, who has been trying to help local law enforcement agencies with his "psychic powers."

"I kept asking them what they were doing and all they'd tell me that it was up to the sheriff," she said.

Sheriff Bobby Yeager, who ordered the child be returned to her father, said the deputies did not know if the papers were valid and that

Mrs. Barnhart had not asked a Texas court to accept the documents.

"I work under the orders of the state of Texas, not Maryland or West Virginia," Yeager said.

Mrs. Barnhart was awarded custody of Christine three years ago. But police in Charlestown, W. Va., contend Barnhart grabbed the child and fled on the eve of a court hearing at which Mrs. Barnhart was given custody.

LP Powered Vehicles Must Display Decal

AUSTIN, TX - State Comptroller Bob Bullock Tuesday warned that vehicles using liquefied gas must display a new tax decal by Jan. 1, 1982.

Bullock said legislative changes in the LP gas law will permit his office to tax vehicles on both weight and mileage and decals should cost less for those who drive fewer miles.

An LP-powered vehicle cannot legally be refueled or pass state vehicle inspection without a valid tax decal.

Fuel tax decals range in cost from $24 a year for a vehicle driven less than 5,000 miles annually and weighing less than 4,000 pounds, to $300 for a vehicle weighing over 42,501 pounds and driven more than 10,000 miles a year.

Bullock said renewal notices to owners of LP-powered cars and trucks are being sent out by his office, and decals are available from the Comptroller's field offices and at the agency's Austin office.

Bullock estimated that there are more than 40,000 liquefied gas powered cars and trucks in Texas.

Techsters Coach A Lady In A Tough Position

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent

When Louisiana Tech decided to field a women's basketball team seven years ago, a petite Ruston, La., high school teacher who had never been on a court was picked to launch the program and serve as coach.

"Wonderful," said Sonja Hogg, "but I'm afraid I don't know anything about those 'X's' and 'O's.' Basketball's not my bag. Maybe you should get someone else."

"Don't worry about it," counseled the university president, Dr. F.J. Taylor. "You'll learn."

Learn Sonja did, and last season her Lady Techsters, climaxed a phenomenal climb, rolled to a perfect 34-0 record and captured the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women championship.

This projected her to the feminine, if not the physical and emotional, equivalent of Bobby Knight, coach of Indiana University's reigning NCAA champions.

"It's a bit ironic," says Sonja. "I met Bobby at a clinic in New Orleans. Many of the top male college coaches were there. I was the only woman."

"I was naturally awed. Bobby went through a demonstration, with his usual sprinkling of profanity. Then he noticed me sitting on the end of the front row and said, 'Young lady, I need a volunteer for this.'

"I was hesitant at first. But my friends urged, 'Go ahead, he won't hurt you.' It was quite an experience. Then later we both won national championships. It was like a good-luck charm."

"I hope to see him again Wednesday in Chicago at a CBS press conference to promote the NCAA season on TV. I will be the only woman there, too, but I don't think he'll remember me." Hogg, married to a campus sweetheart now an attorney, has become one of the leading ambassadors for women's basketball. She was in New York Tuesday for a press bash at Madison Square Garden, promoting the Manufacturer's Hanover Women's Classic Dec. 19-20.

ball. A vivacious lady of 35, she looks more like a college cheerleader than a coach.

With regulars back from last season's championship squad, Hogg is pointing both to a repeat victory in the Garden and new national honors, possibly the NCAA title.

Until Hogg came along, the most famous citizens of Ruston, La., population 23,000, were Terry Bradshaw, all-pro quarterback of football's Pittsburgh Steelers, a Louisiana Tech graduate, and Bert Jones, star quarterback of the Baltimore Colts, a next-door neighbor of the Hoggs.

"Now Ruston has the Techsters," says Sonja, "and everybody loves 'em."

Oakland's Martin Named AL Coach of Year

By HAL BOCK AP Sports Writer

Combative Billy Martin, who turned the sadsack Oakland A's into a championship team, was named American League Manager of the Year by The Associated Press today for a fourth time, tying the league record set by the legendary Casey Stengel.

It was the second straight AP award for Martin, who was Stengel's prize pupil in the days when Casey managed ed the New York Yankees. He also was named Manager of the Year in 1974 when he led the Texas Rangers to a surprising second-place finish in the AL West and again in 1976 when he piloted the Yankees to their first pennant in 12 years. Stengel won the award in 1949, 1952, 1963 and 1966.

Martin was an easy winner this time, receiving 386 votes from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Bob Rodgers of the Milwaukee Brewers was second with 62 votes and Sparky Anderson of the Detroit Tigers finished third with 31.

Tommy Lasorda of the Los Angeles Dodgers was selected National League Manager of the Year by The AP earlier this week.

Martin guided the young A's to the West Division title this year, gaining an automatic playoff berth by leading the division when the strike began and then eliminating Kansas City in the first round of the playoffs. Oakland was beaten by the Yankees in the League Championship Series.

The A's opened the season with a rush, winning their first 11 games to establish a record for start-of-season success. Oakland's record after 18 games was a remarkable 17-1 with the team giving a textbook demonstration of "Billyball," a razzle-dazzle brand of baseball built around speed, guile and making things happen. The term is derived, not surprisingly, directly from the manager whose teams have epitomized that approach to the game.

Martin took over the Oakland job just before spring training in 1980, inheriting a disorganized, despondent team which critics derisively termed "The Triple A's." The suggestion was that this team of no-names might be better suited to playing in the minors than the majors.

But Martin viewed them differently. He saw in his young team raw talent that needed only to be refined in order to flourish. He soon had the A's believing in themselves and the team soared, jumping from a seventh-place finish in 1979 to second in 1980. Just as significant was the improvement in attendance from a paltry 306,763 to 842,256. The club was sold in mid-season and Martin was given total authority for the baseball operation, on the field and off. That's something Billy had never enjoyed before and he made it pay off with Oakland's first division title since 1975. Attendance, even in a strike-shortened season, surged to 1,304,064.

The final irony for Martin may have come in the tabulation of votes for The AP Manager of the Year. A single vote was cast for George Steinbrenner, owner of the Yankees, with whom Martin had many fights while employed by that team.

Lakers Break Out Of Losing Streak To Edge Houston

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers pointed to a blackboard session with Coach Paul Westhead and a rap session with themselves as aids in a 95-93 victory over the Houston Rockets that ended a three-game losing streak.

They also could have mentioned a 25-foot jump shot from guard Norm Nixon that provided the winning points with 7 seconds left in the game.

Los Angeles, smarting from 128-102 loss to San Antonio Tuesday night, vowed to turn things around against the Rockets, who upset the Lakers in the first round of last season's playoffs.

"Anytime you lose a game on a large scale like we did, it inspires a team to bounce back," Westhead said following Wednesday night's victory. "We just had a blackboard reassessment of our play options. There's nothing wrong with us. I have no doubts about the quality of this team."

Earvin Johnson, who scored 17 points and grabbed 9 rebounds, said the players talked among themselves before the game.

"We all made a commitment about the things we had to do," Johnson said. "We had to play great defense and I think we did tonight. We just all sat around and said what we had to do."

The Rockets had built a 93-87 lead with 2:21 to play when the Lakers started their winning rally.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who led the Lakers with 21 points, hit a pair of free throws and a basket to narrow the Rockets' lead to 93-91.

Then Mike Cooper added two more free throws with 44 seconds to play to tie the score and set the stage for Nixon's game-winning basket.

"We anticipated that anything around Kareem would be jammed up and we didn't want to risk a turnover," Westhead said, describing the final play. "We were hoping he could get down the lane for a layup but everything worked out okay." The Laker comeback spoiled an outstanding performance by Houston center Moses Malone, who scored 37 points and grabbed 22 rebounds.

"We obviously beat ourselves down the stretch with mental mistakes," Rockets coach Del Harris said. "We gave it away with our failure to execute. We were just standing around."

In other NBA action, it was Philadelphia 117, Chicago 90; Milwaukee 100, New Jersey 88; Seattle 107, Dallas 79 and Boston 115, Kansas City 100.

76ers 117, Bulls 99 Julius Erving scored 21 points and Darryl Dawkins added 18 to lead Philadelphia past Chicago, the 76ers' sixth victory in seven games.

The Sixers never trailed in the one-sided game and opened their biggest lead, 28 points, with 7:01 to go in the game on a basket by reserve Ollie Johnson for a 101-73 advantage.

Oriando Woolridge had 15 points to lead the Bulls, while Reggie Theus added 13 and Artis Gilmore had 11.

Bucks 106, Nets 88 Bob Lanier scored 20 points and Junior Bridgeman contributed 16 to lift Milwaukee over New Jersey.

The Bucks broke into a 61-50 lead after a 45-45 halftime tie with help from Mickey Johnson's five points. The 11-point margin was the Bucks' largest of the game.

The Nets ran into serious foul trouble late in the contest. Milwaukee's final 15 points came entirely on free throws except for one Bridgeman field goal.

Sonics 107, Mavericks 79 Lonnie Shelton scored 18 points and Jack Sikma had 17 as Seattle beat Dallas and handed the Mavericks their sixth straight defeat. The Sonics took the lead in the middle of the first quarter and led the rest of the way.

The Mavericks' Mark Aguirre led all scorers with 25 points.

Celtics 115, Kings 100 Larry Bird scored 30 points and Robert Parish added 26 to pace Boston over Kansas City, the Celtics' fifth straight victory.

Kansas City led 88-65 with 10 minutes remaining in the game, but with Bird, Kevin McHale, Rick Robey, Gerald Henderson and Nate Archibald on the court for Boston, the Celtics played aggressively on offense and ran off 12 straight points in three minutes.

NFL Negotiations To Emphasize Revenue

By FRED GOODALL AP Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP) — When negotiations for a new National Football League Players Association contract begin after the current season, the union says it plans to place top priority on a proposal that NFL owners allocate 55 percent of their gross revenues for player salaries.

That doesn't sound bad, says former NFLPA president Dick Anderson, if the players can make the owners swallow it.

But Anderson, the former Miami Dolphins defensive back who was so unhappy with the players' current contract that he refused to sign it as union president in 1977, doesn't consider the revenue-sharing plan proposed by Ed

Garvey, NFLPA executive director, feasible.

The union proposal calls for establishment of a wage system, based on the number of years a player has been in the NFL, plus bonus incentives for post-season play. Under the NFLPA plan, for example, first-year players would earn $75,000 per year in 1982, while base pay for a 17-year veteran would be $700,000.

The current system stresses individual negotiations for players, but the NFLPA feels that approach has not worked for the majority of its membership.

"The system needs to change, there's no doubt about it and if the owners are steadfast in keeping the system they have right now then I think the players ought to strike," said Anderson, now a Florida state senator and insurance executive.

"I personally don't think — although it sounds nice and it probably would be a good deal — that any organization or union with any business can literally say I want a percentage of the gross and make it stick and then have a wage scale for all the workers," he added.

Anderson, who retired in 1978, feels the key issue the NFLPA should be pursuing is a better free agency system for players. He thought the same thing in 1977 when the union accepted a five-year agreement that expires July 15, 1982.

The current Basic Agreement provides NFL teams with the first right of refusal to match an offer a player receives on the free-agent market. In addition, it provides compensation to the losing team in the form of draft choices — up to two first-round picks for a veteran player making more than $200,000 a year.

The system replaced the "Rozelle Rule," under which NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle arbitrarily could set compensation in the form of draft picks, players, cash, or any combination thereof.

Anderson feels Garvey accepted that arrangement in 1977 because he felt pressured to come up with a settlement for a membership that included about half the players in the league.

"He basically saw the demise of the union if he didn't come up with something and when the owners gave in to union security, he gave in to the system and hence the players operate today under a system that is worse than the Rozelle Rule," said Anderson.

Stabler Fined For Missing Oiler Workout

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston quarterback Ken Stabler, still slowed by a sore wrist on his throwing arm, will be fined for missing a workout and may not be able to start Sunday's game against the Kansas City Chiefs.

"Kenny missed practice today (Wednesday) and he will be fined just like any other player," Coach Ed Biles said. "We expect him back at workouts tomorrow."

Biles said Stabler's unexcused absence would have no bearing on whether Stabler or backup John Reeves, who led the Oilers to last week's 17-16 victory over Oakland, starts Sunday.

"It all depends on Kenny's wrist, if he's not 100 percent, he won't start," Biles said. The odds seem to be tilting in Reeves' favor with Stabler still favoring his injured left wrist in Tuesday's practice and not reporting for Wednesday's drill.

Stabler sat out the Oakland game and Reeves went the distance in helping the Oilers snap a three-game losing streak.

Stabler was listed as probable on the team's injury list Wednesday.

Biles said earlier this week he would not announce his starting quarterback until near game time Sunday.

The Oiler coach also remained undecided on what to do with quarterback Gifford Nielsen, who is recovering from a shoulder separation and currently is working with the No. 2 offensive unit.

Reeves led the first team offense in Wednesday's workout and in a brief drill Tuesday

Midnight The Deadline For Resigning Players

Major league teams trying to sign their free agents before facing competition in the re-entry draft are down to their last pitch.

Midnight tonight is the deadline for teams to exercise sole negotiating rights with players who have used up their option years.

Free agents remaining unsigned can be drafted Friday by all clubs participating in this year's re-entry process, the first under rules resulting from the strike that split the 1981 baseball season in two.

At the top of the list are three pitchers whose signing by a new team will require a roster player as compensation to his old club.

Ron Guidry of the New York Yankees, Ed Farmer of the Chicago White Sox and Dick Tidrow of the Chicago Cubs are classified Type A free agents — in the top 20 percent of their position statistically.

There are also three Type B players, whose loss will mean an extra amateur draft choice in a special round for their old teams. These players — in the top 20-to-30-percent bracket — are short-stop Chris Speier of the Montreal Expos, outfielder Dave Collins of the Cincinnati Reds and catcher Tim Blackwell of the Cubs.

All other free-agent signings mean compensation in the same manner as under the system that existed in the draft's first five years: A choice from the signing club in next June's amateur draft.

Forty-one players today still were eligible for the draft. The number was reduced by one Wednesday when outfielder Jerry Morales signed a two-year contract with the Cubs.

Morales batted .286 with the Cubs last season. Financial terms of his contract were not disclosed.

Guidry generally is seen as the prize in this year's draft, which is set to begin at 11 a.m. EST in New York's Plaza Hotel. He was 11-5 with 104 strikeouts and a 2.90 earned run average this season for the Yankees, who have refused to meet his demands for a $1.3 million-a-year contract.

"I haven't heard from George (Yankees owner George Steinbrenner) since Tuesday at about 4 o'clock," John D. Schneider, Guidry's agent, said in Louisiana Wednesday afternoon. "I'm flying out tomorrow to New York, and I'll be there for the draft."

Farmer was 3-3 with 10 saves for the White Sox last season, striking out 41 and posting an ERA of 4.61. Tidrow, another relief specialist, was 3-10 with nine saves and a 5.13 ERA for the Cubs in 1981.

Four players on Friday's list are going through the draft for the second time and so do not require compensation. They are Yankees outfielder Reggie Jackson, infielder Bert Campaneris of California and pitcher Bill Campbell and outfielder Joe Rudi of Boston.

Canyon's Byers Tops Schoolboy Honor Roll

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ AP Sports Writer

Rockport-Fulton's Michael Simmons rushed for more yards, and Robstown's De-Juan Oakes passed for more yards, but Canyon tailback Louis Byers has a streak that's tough to beat. His 46 points have accounted for ALL of the Eagles points the past two games.

Byers, a senior 180-pounder, rushed for three touchdowns on runs of 14, 7 and 15 yards, returned an interception 100 yards for another score, kicked one extra point and ran in another last week in a 27-0 shutout of Lovelland.

The week before, in a 19-9 victory over Dumas, Byers scored on runs of six, three and two yards and kicked one extra point. He scored two touchdowns three weeks ago against Borger but alas, someone else also scored.

Coach Deane Wright, who formerly tutored Texas running back Johnny "Ham" Jones at Hamlin, is not easily impressed but Byers occasionally brings back memories of Jones.

"Jones had more talent than Louis and more speed but every once in awhile he'll surprise you with a move and I'll get a flashback," Wright said. "Louis has good size, good speed and excellent moves. He runs real strong in a crowd."

Simmons also put in a good night's work in a 34-29 victory over West Oso with 362 yards on 24 carries and five touchdowns. Simmons started his touchdown derby with a pair of one-yard dives.

Then, in a series of three consecutive one-play drives, Simmons scored on runs of 61, 75 and 68 yards in the final game of the season.

"Michael did his best job of open field running, of avoiding tacklers and using his speed and blockers," Rockport Coach Brian Connally said. "I think it being our final game of the year had something to do with it."

Simmons, 6-1, 185, finished the year with 1,502 yards rushing.

Oakes had an impressive dual performance. He completed 13 of 25 passes for 336 yards

Reunion Honorees

Hereford's Saldana Attends Reunion

Raul Saldana of Hereford was among 20 former San Benito football players honored at a 20-year reunion last Friday night by the San Benito Sports Booster Club. The 1961 Greyhounds were state Class 3A semi-finalists, losing to a tough Nederland squad 22-15.

season the school has ever had. The Greyhounds defeated four Class 4A teams before claiming the District 6-3A title. San Benito then defeated Port Lavaca in the bi-district matchup, and overthrew Del Rio in quarter-final action.

A 17-game winning streak was on the line in the next game against Nederland, which was then coached by current New Orleans Saints mentor Bum Phillips.

Saldana's brother Ray is seeing the winning tradition continue each week as Ray, Jr. competes for the Greyhounds, wearing the

Eighth, Ninth Grades To Play

For the football lover, the day has come. At Whiteface Field, beginning at 3:30 p.m., there will be three grid contests, with the cross-town matchup between the eighth grades of Stanton and La Plata, the first game.

Plainsmen at 7:30. For the eighth grade the Dogies come into the game with a district record of 3-2 as do the Mavericks. The freshmen Dogies are already the declared district champions with a 4-0-1 ledger, while the La Plata freshmen bring a 1-0-4 record into the matchup.

Braves Looking At Jackson

ATLANTA (AP) — If New York Yankees owner George Steinbrenner fails to sign Reggie Jackson to a new contract, the Atlanta Braves will be out to lure him south in Friday's free-agent draft, says Braves Executive Vice President Al Thornwell.

Reggie won't come cheap," Thornwell said Wednesday after a meeting of team executives with owner Ted Turner in which it was decided.

The Braves had not been expected to draft Jackson before the outfielder's agent, Gary Walker, contacted General Manager John

Receiver Tells of Free Stay

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A downtown Houston hotel provided rent-free lodging for several University of Houston football players so they could attend unofficial summer workouts, a Fort Worth newspaper reported today.

Senior wide receiver Lonell Phea told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram that about 12 players lived rent free at the downtown Holiday Inn to attempt workouts that also were frequently attended by Coach Bill Yeoman and several assistant coaches.

David Bost of the National Collegiate Athletic Association enforcement department said free lodging could violate "extra benefit" NCAA bylaws and that coaches may have violated bylaws covering out-of-season practices if they attended the workouts.

However, he said he could not say if the lodging was covered by the bylaws or if the NCAA would investigate.

He also said it would be difficult to determine if coaches intentionally were involved in out-of-season workouts.

"You have to try to establish motivation and that's a difficult thing to do," said Bost.

Senior linebacker Grady Turner and hotel general manager Joseph Hermans said the athletes worked as security guards for their lodging. However, Phea told the newspaper he did not work for the hotel.

"We stayed free. All we had to do was pay for our meals and phone calls. We stayed from the end of June until practices started in August. It was all right with the manager and it was a pretty good deal for us," said Phea.

Yeoman declined to comment. An office spokesman said Athletic director Cedric Dempsey was out of the country.

UH chancellor Dr. Barry Munitz said he did not know anything about the summer program and could not comment until he did.

Phea told the Star-Telegram that assistant coaches told "most of the starters" about the summer arrangement that had been in operation for several years.

"We had to call the man at the hotel ourselves," said Phea. "I'd say about 12 players stayed there. ... The manager of the hotel did it just so it would be convenient for us."

Phea said he worked at a grocery supply warehouse to pay for his meals and phone calls.

Turner said he worked as a security guard part-time to pay for his room.

"We patrolled the garage and all over the hotel," he said. "We did it in shifts of maybe three or four hours apiece."

John Metzick, hotel rooms division manager, said he ran the program for the school.

"It was not the players who set this program up with me. It was Coach Yeoman himself," said Metzick.

Hermans said the "pilot-program" was set up in exchange for security services. "They performed work by patrolling the floors and the pool for us," said Hermans. "They looked like pretty husky guys so it worked out well for us."

Appreciation Day Set For Yung

As a way to say thanks for the work accomplished by Bill Yung, head football coach at West Texas State University, the school will have a presentation, Saturday, at halftime of the WTSU-Tulsa game, to honor the coach and his wife, Esther.

After the game, a reception honoring the Yungs will be held in the WTSU Activities Center with everyone invited. Following the reception, a "roast" is set to begin at 6:30 p.m. Roasters will include video talks from Tom Landry, head coach of the Dallas Cowboys, Grant Teaff, head coach of Baylor University, Gil Brandt, director of player personnel for the Cowboys, as well as other local people.

Cost of the "roast" will be $30 a couple with proceeds going to establish a scholarship fund in the name of Bill and Esther Yung.

For more information concerning tickets contact the West Texas State Alumni Association at 656-3421.

11-5-50 Program Gets Drug Users

By TOM MURPHY Associated Press Writer SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ernie Handy stumbled along a dirty sidewalk in San Francisco's South of Market district, his pants supported precariously by a piece of string. To the untrained eye, he looked like many of the unshaven men sipping wine nearby. But Steve Boshard and Joe Dutto didn't think Handy was drinking. They stopped him and discovered he was holding what police lab tests later showed was a marijuana cigarette and two balloons of heroin. Boshard and Dutto are two of 85 San Francisco police officers trained for a program that is drawing raves from police and cries of "sham" from critics. The program is called 11-5-50 after section 11550 of the state Health and Safety Code which requires that anyone convicted of being under the influence of heroin spend at least 90 days in county jail. It was started in an attempt to cut drug-related crime, like shoplifting and burglary. Narcotics police like Boshard and Dutto like the law because it leaves judges no discretion in sentencing heroin users. The court can't reduce the sentence or grant probation. The guilty go to jail, and off the streets, for the full 90 days. To take advantage of the law, officers are trained to spot subtle signs of drug use they otherwise might miss: dilated pupils, well-hidden needle marks, slow reactions. Critics complain police are wasting their time chasing small-time users. And they claim narcotics officers frequently violate the rights of those arrested. "The whole program is a sham," says Pete Keane, chief attorney for the public defender's office. "It allows a police officer to make a clinical judgment for which he is not qualified." Keane calls the program "an expensive bit of frill the police engage in that is meant more as public show than substantive law enforcement." But police counter that the burglary rate fell sharply in the city's seedy Tenderloin area when six officers made 253 narcotics arrests during a six-week trial program in 1979. However, the trained officers have made only 83 arrests since June when the program was revived. Boshard said other priority items keep many trained officers from participating in the program, and those who are regularly assigned often lack enthusiasm, Boshard said. "Out of the 85 officers, I would bet 70 of them have never done an 11550," said Boshard. After the 1979 roundup, public defenders challenged the little-used 1972 law in court, and lost. Keane still believes the law is unconstitutional. "Never before in the area of criminal inquiry have police been given such a broad power to sweep ordinary citizens off the streets," he said. Keane charges police use the program to inflate arrest figures, that investigators perjure themselves to justify arrests and that the same small-time heroin users are arrested over and over again. Boshard agrees that the same people often are arrested several times, but argues it is hard to find big heroin dealers without information from their customers. Before spotting Handy, Boshard and Dutto drove along the city's toughest streets with this reporter for almost two hours, stopping people along the way. One man, who the two narcotics officers said was a former user of the stimulant ritalin, stood in front of a liquor store with $6 in his hand. Boshard joked with the man, noting $6 was the price of ritalin. But Boshard and Dutto drove off because the man showed no sign of current drug use. A block away, Boshard waved to a man named Richard, who had done time for pharmacy robberies and for using amphetamines. Richard ran up to the officers, voluntarily rolling up his sleeves so they could check for "tracks." Boshard determined Richard was "clean." The detectives saw a parcel of heroin user swaggering down the street. Boshard and the parolee spoke as the search went on. The detectives ultimately found nothing more suspicious than an empty wine bottle and let the man go. When the officers ran into Handy, the three men greeted each other like old friends. They joked about the past and caught up on news about mutual acquaintances. Boshard noted Handy was holding something and took away the crumpled, hand-rolled cigarette. Both officers noted Handy's pupils were "scroved down," and Boshard told him to roll up his sleeves. Handy, 34, complained about lower back pain as Boshard checked Handy's tattoos for fresh needle marks. Handy denied recent use of drugs, but Boshard pruned on, finally finding the pink and blue balloons clutched in his hands. Handy was arrested, later pleaded guilty and was sentenced to a year in prison.

Adams Resources Reports 25th Straight Successful Oil Well

HOUSTON -- Adams Resources & Energy, Inc. (Amex-AE) reports that its wholly-owned subsidiary, Ada Oil Exploration Corporation (Ada Exco), has completed its 25th straight successful Austin Chalk well in the Giddings Field, northwest of Houston. The Ada Exco No. 3 John Newman well tested 9.6 million cubic feet of gas and 366 barrels of condensate through a 30-64" choke with a flowing tubing pressure of 2,980 psi. The well was completed open hole through the drill pipe and is producing from an Austin Chalk interval of 8,362 to 8,684 feet. Adams, as operator, owns a 16.76 percent interest in the well. Other interest owners include K.S. Adams, Jr.-8.24 percent, Texas International Petroleum Co.-24.71 percent and W.T. Burton Industries-50.29 percent. Adams holds revenue interests, which vary from 5 percent during payout to 33 percent after payout, in the 25 Austin Chalk wells that are now producing approximately 35,000 barrels of oil and 250,000 MCF of gas per month. Approximately 55 additional wells will be required over the next two to three years to develop Ada Exco's acreage in the Giddings Field. In Polk County, Texas, the Ada Exco No. 1 Wirt Davis well is at 16,500 feet on an 18,500 foot permit. The Wirt Davis well is located four miles north of the ARCO No. 1 Carter well which is currently testing gas from the Austin Chalk perforation below 15,000 feet after a deeper Tuscaloosa sand completion attempt was abandoned due to mechanical failure. Additionally, Ada Exco plans to commence in December the drilling of its No. 1 June Pratt Cain well, an 18,000 foot test on its North Livingston prospect. This prospect is located approximately 7 miles west of the No. 1 Wirt Davis well. In Waller County, Texas, the Ada Exco No. 1 Swanson well, has been re-permitted to 20,000 feet after encountering no commercial sands at the original proposed depth of 18,500 feet. Ada Exco, as operator, has no cost or risk in the deepening operations, but will have a 12.5 percent working interest in any successful completion in this well and in subsequent development of the 8,500-acre prospect on which the Swanson is located. The Swanson well is approximately 7 miles northeast of the Flacid No. 1 Dreshn well, a 22,000 foot test, in which Ada Exco has a 9.4 percent working interest. The Dreshn well, which is presently drilling at 19,100 feet, is a 3,500 foot southeast offset to the Flacid No. 1 Buller well on which completion attempts in an 18,200 foot sand were abandoned in May 1981 due to failure of cementing operations.

Satires Hurt Trial Chances

By KEN HERMAN Associated Press Writer AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — There have been so many news stories and satires about Rep. Mike Martin's shooting that the Longview legislator cannot get a fair trial in the Austin area, says Martin's lawyer. "Martin's been held up as somewhat of a joke," Frank Maloney said Wednesday. Maloney has asked State District Judge Mace Thurman to move Martin's aggravated perjury trial — set for Dec. 5 — from here. A pretrial hearing is scheduled for Nov. 19. Martin is charged with lying to grand jurors when he told them he did not stage his own shooting. The change of venue motion said the trial must be moved because Martin "cannot obtain a fair and impartial trial" in Austin or any of six surrounding counties. "He needs to get someplace as close to Alaska as possible, or maybe Hawaii," Maloney said. Specifically mentioned as counties where the lawyers believe Martin could not receive a fair trial were Travis, Burnet, Caldwell, Williamson, Hays, Blanco and Bastrop. The defense lawyer has asked Thurman to approve subpoenas for 45 news media representatives. The defense lawyer is not only interested in news accounts about Martin — he also wants Thurman to see reports and advertisements concerning activities of the Republican lawmaker. During the Oct. 23 Gridiron Show, a political satire produced by local journalists to raise money for scholarships and a First Amendment fund, there were several references to Martin. One reporter, dressed in a leisure suit and with his arm in a sling, made several appearances — offering outlandish explanations for the shooting. Martin was wounded in the elbow at 2:30 a.m. on July 31 near his camper. Charles Goff, his cousin, has said he fired the shotgun blasts, at Martin's request, to help the legislator gain publicity. Martin denies Goff's story. The legislator said the shooting was related to hometown politics. Initially, he said he was shot by an occult group. The subpoena applications include a request for advertisements for Esther's Follies, a local comedy group that did Martin spoofs. Prosecutor Bill Williams has said he wants the trial held in Austin, and he would fight a change of venue. Also requested were tapes from a local television station's "Crimestoppers" reenactment of the shooting. Maloney said there has been no plea bargaining
