

County Fathers Review Redistricting Plan

By BOB NIGH
Managing Editor

Deaf Smith County Commissioners reviewed a preliminary redistricting plan for the county and approved a bid for the renovation of the 222nd District Courtroom when they met Monday at the courthouse.

Bob Bass, an attorney from Plainview, met with the court in a special emergency meeting yesterday afternoon following the court's regular meeting. Bass apologized for being late with his report to the court, citing delays with information from the census bureau. The new precinct lines are being drawn up to correspond to figures from the 1980 census.

Under the proposed plan Precinct 2, which is represented by commissioner Austin Rose, would be the most affected. It would stretch across Hereford's south side from East to West, giving the precinct a 65.3 percent Spanish population according to guidelines handed down by the Justice Department.

Details of the proposed realignment will be presented at a public hearing at 7 p.m. next Monday at the county court room. The Commissioners' Court will also hold a called meeting after the hearing to approve the plan.

According to Bass, the county has 21,165 persons as evidenced by the 1980 census. The plan was designed to provide the four precincts with an ideal population of 5,291 people.

One other item was discussed by the court during the emergency meeting. The court adopted a resolution calling for a halt to salt-core drillings taking place in the Texas Panhandle, especially in Deaf Smith County.

County Judge Glen Nelson

read a resolution recently passed by Swisher County, where drillings are taking place. The court approved the reading of the resolution, changing the name of counties on the document.

Nelson said that Castro County has also been targeted for the drillings, which are designed to help locate dumps for toxic wastes.

The court agreed that they didn't want Deaf Smith County to become a "nuclear dumping ground" in approving the resolution.

The court approved a bid of $37,150 from Perry Cates Construction of Amarillo for the renovation to the district courtroom. The bid involves remedying sound problems experienced in the courtroom in the past. The work will include a new sound system and revision of the heating-air conditioning ductwork in the room as well.

Other bids for the work were received from the Canadian Corporation, Jack Carlton Construction, and Wiley Hicks, Jr., all of Amarillo, and from Carl McCaslin Lumber Co. of Hereford.

The commissioners approved the attendance of County Librarian Diane Pearson at a public hearing concerning librarian certification plans on Dec. 11 in Austin.

Nelson told the court that the state has plans to revise the qualification standard for county librarians from a non-degree person to a Grade 2 Certification, which would include Mrs. Pearson.

Mrs. Pearson said the Texas Library Association is "pushing for a Library Science degree as a qualification for all county librarians."

As it stands now counties with a population under 25,000 don't have to have a degree person as librarian. The new regulation would force many current librarians to either quit, or move to an area where courses for a degree are offered.

Mrs. Pearson said the only schools that offer such a program are Texas Women's University and North Texas State University at Denton, and the University of Texas at El Paso.

"None of these schools would accept correspondence work toward a degree," she told the court.

The court strongly opposed the plan and drew up a resolution.

Dr. McBrayer Elected Chairman

Crimestoppers, Inc. Organized Here

By BOB NIGH
Managing Editor

Dr. Duffy McBrayer was elected chairman of the Deaf Smith County Crimestoppers, Inc. when that organization was officially formed Monday evening. Dr. McBrayer will head up a board of 12 directors who will oversee the operation of the new non-profit organization.

The purpose of Crimestoppers is to help area law enforcement agencies solve crimes through the payment of a reward to informants who provide information leading to the arrest and Grand Jury indictment of an adult, or to the equivalent in the case of a juvenile, or arrest of a preindicted fugitive felon, or other information leading to the arrest and filing of charges against a person for the commission of a major misdemeanor.

Other officers elected at the meeting Monday evening at the chamber of commerce office included Dwight Turner, vice chairman; Julian Berry, secretary; and Earl Stagner, treasurer.

They will be joined on the board by Joe Henry, Bill

Bradly, Tom Simons, Maarki Hutto, and Charles Gilliam.

Also, Charles Threewit, Hap Cavness and Warner Lawson.

In addition, nine alternate board members were approved. They include Claudia McBrayer, Aaron Hutton, Chip Formby, Lee Umsted, Bob Nigh, Raymond Schroeder, Mike Carr, Loyd Manon, and Jay Spain.

Areas to be covered by the Crimestoppers program include homicide, rape, robbery, burglary, aggravated assault, arson, theft, possession, delivery, or manufacture of controlled substances of a felony degree, and other crimes that the board may select.

Commissioned law enforcement officers, members of his immediate family, the victim of the crime, and the defendant will not be eligible for Crimestoppers, Inc. rewards.

The board of directors adopted bylaws and standing rules Monday, and selected the Hereford State Bank as the depository of funds for the organization. The board also agreed that the depository will be alternated between the various local financial institutions on a yearly basis.

Stagner reported that the organization has already received $685 in donations to the reward fund from concerned businesses. He reported that preliminary fund raising will be "low key" with a major fundraising effort to come sometime in January.

Crimestoppers, Inc. will also conduct a town hall meeting sometime in January to better inform the public of what the organization is, what it does, and how it operates.

Crimestoppers, Inc. will feature a "Crime of the Week," which will be selected by a committee of officers from the Hereford Police Department, the county sheriff's office, and the district attorney's office. The reward for the "Crime of the Week" will be $500 for information leading to the arrest and Grand Jury indictment of an adult or the equivalent in the case of a juvenile, if the information is received by Crimestoppers, Inc. within seven days of the "Crime of the Week" announcement.

Crimestoppers, Inc. will have a phone line through District Attorney Roland Saul's office. The number for the line is 364-2583, and it will be manned from 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The investigator for the DA will man the phone, and will keep a log of each call, including the time, date, and nature of the call. Callers have the option of remaining anonymous, and will be given a code number which will be referred to in all subsequent transactions.

Information received through the Crimestoppers, Inc. program will be given to the supervisor of the investigating unit handling the case. The supervisor will then be responsible for getting the information to the officer handling the specific case.

Senator Mengden Visits City

State Sen. Walter Mengden of Houston, center, seeking to unseat U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen in the 1982 election, visited in Hereford Monday at noon in the Friendship Room at Hereford State Bank.

chairman, and Jane White, president of the local Republican Women's Club, were among those to welcome Mengden. He spoke to a small group of interested citizens and answered questions about his candidacy.

Sen. Mengden Critical Of Bentsen's Record

State Sen. Walter Mengden was in Hereford Monday as part of his early statewide campaign to seek support for a bid to the U.S. Senate in 1982.

Sen. Mengden appeared at noon in the Friendship Room of Hereford State Bank, speaking to a small group of interested citizens. He was introduced by Garth Thomas, chairman of the Deaf Smith County Republican Party.

The Houston Republican pointed out that two other men have announced intentions to seek election in the GOP primary, but that no one actually files for office until February. The other two are U.S. Rep. Jim Collins and Don Richardson, the latter having no legislative experience, according to Mengden.

The Republican senator called Rep. Collins a good conservative, but claimed it would be better for the party "to keep him in the House because of his seniority."

Mengden hopes to win the GOP primary and unseat

U.S. Senator Lloyd Bentsen in the general election. He was highly critical of Bentsen's voting record, and pointed out that "you have to look at committee and subcommittee voting, not just the final vote on a bill."

Mengden rapped Sen. Bentsen for being absent Saturday for the vote on the appropriations bill. When one lady asked Mengden what he thought about Sen. Bentsen voting to fund the Texas Rural Legal Aid, the state senator said he was against such a program.

"Bentsen also voted for a bill to give your tax money to illegal aliens for court suits," said Mengden.

"We must stop run-away inflation and we must balance the budget," declared Mengden. He said he also wanted to introduce new legislation to help solve the farm problem. "The government must change its approach on marketing our farm goods. We need to trade our food and fiber for the goods we need from other nations, not just send them through."

Mengden was first elected to the Texas Senate in 1972 and has been called "the leading conservative" in the senate. He has been active in law-and-order legislation and is a strong proponent of free enterprise and property rights.

Jane White, president of the Republican Women's Club in Hereford, welcomed guests to the reception for Mengden, which was held during the noon hour Monday.

Ecumenical Thanksgiving Service Wednesday

A community ecumenical Thanksgiving service will be conducted Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at San Jose Catholic Church.

Rev. Bill Wyatt, pastor of Faith Assembly, will be speaking at the service.

Bert Bostick, First United Methodist, and Ray Owens, First Christian Church, will be directing the choir.

An offering will be taken at the service to be used for needy families in the community.

The service is sponsored by the Hereford Ministerial Alliance.

Suspects Charged In Abduction

Four men arrested for the abduction of a Hereford State Bank employee Friday have been formally charged with kidnapping, a second degree felony.

Julian Zamora, 22, Charles Kilpatrick, 19, were arrested in Gruver with Martina Ortiz, 21, in their custody. Jose Mac Zamora, 19, and Felix Munjia, 19, were arrested in Hereford when police found that the two helped arrange cars for the getaway.

Julian Zamora bonded out in the Hansford County jail and the other three, who were in custody at Deaf Smith County jail, also have bonded out.

The four will go before a grand jury in December or January, according to Roland Saul, district attorney.

Saul said kidnapping is a state offense and carries two to ten year imprisonment if convicted.

Ms. Ortiz was forced into a car on the bank parking lot while on her way to work Friday morning and taken to Gruver by Kilpatrick and Julian Zamora. Law authorities said the incident was not bank related and stemmed from Ms. Ortiz breaking off a relationship with Zamora.

During October

Inflation Rise Minimal

By ROBERT FURLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Inflation rose just 0.4 percent in October, the least for any month since the summer of 1980, as housing costs flattened out after 15 months of rising steadily, the government reported today.

The Consumer Price Index has now risen at an annual rate of 9.6 percent for the first 10 months of this year, and analysts say they see no inflation shocks forthcoming in the next two months, particularly with the recession depressing demand for goods.

The report made it almost certain inflation for 1981 will be less than 10 percent, probably around 9.5 percent, and well below what economists call the "double-digit territory" of the last two years.

Housing costs pushed inflation, as measured by the Consumer Price Index, up at an annual rate of 10 percent or more for three straight months before October, including a 14.3 percent rate in September.

The Labor Department said October's CPI increase of 0.4 percent would amount to an annual rate of 4.4 percent if inflation continued at the same pace for 12 straight months.

That was the best showing since the 0.1 percent increase in July 1980, during a recession. (See INFLATION, Page 2)

Schmidt 'Interpreter' For Missile Talks

BONN, West Germany (AP) — Chancellor Helmut Schmidt sees no major changes in Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev's new offer on missile reductions in Europe, Schmidt's spokesman, Kurt Becker, said today.

Becker said at a news conference that Schmidt "has actually taken over the function of an interpreter" between his American allies and the Soviet Union.

"The chancellor hopes that the secretary-general (Brezhnev) with greater trust meet the United States' willingness to negotiate," Becker said.

Soviet spokesman Leonid Zamyatin took sharp issue with the idea that the Soviet leadership lacked understanding of the United States.

"I don't know if...the statement is Herr Becker's own opinion...but if he has formed such an opinion that the Soviet leadership doesn't correctly understand the intentions of the American administration, that is not right. That is a false opinion," Zamyatin said.

The Soviet spokesman also reacted bitterly when Becker passed on the word that Schmidt, "since he himself was recently sick," was impressed with Brezhnev's vigor and his busy schedule.

Schmidt underwent surgery last month to have a heart pacemaker implanted, and Brezhnev is also thought to have a pacemaker.

"That his physical condition is good and that he is capable of work, that all is evidenced by the talks...the number of the talks and the length of the talks he had yesterday," Zamyatin said.

Brezhnev spent some seven hours in meetings with West German leaders on Monday, he said, and listed Brezhnev's busy schedule today "to... illustrate that the remarks of Herr Becker were not right."

Brezhnev on Monday night offered to reduce the number of Soviet medium-range nuclear weapons in Europe if the United States suspended its missile deployment plans while the two superpowers negotiate.

The offer, made in a speech during a dinner given by Schmidt, was a variation on a 1979 proposal rejected by the United States and its North Atlantic allies.

Only One Bus Available for Trip

Whiteface fans may be driving their own cars to El Paso for the Herd game against Bel Air High due to a shortage of buses in the Panhandle, according to Joan Coupe, Hereford, Travel Center.

Ms. Coupe said it would be noon today before the agency would know any definite plans, but as it looks this morning only one bus out of Amarillo would be available for charter.

"They would have to drive to Amarillo," she said, because Interstate Commerce Commission would prohibit the bus from picking up passengers in Hereford.

"Every bus in the Panhandle is in use," Ms. Coupe said, after checking with Amarillo, Lubbock and Rowell, N.M.

Ms. Coupe said the chartered airplane will not likely work out because Braniff Airlines would require full payment today in order to reserve the plane.

However, for fans who get there anyway, she said several hotels are offering (See TRIP, Page 2)

Dynamite Sticks Discovered Near Bridge

DALLAS (AP) — A bridge over the Trinity River southeast of here was reopened Monday after police bomb squad officer Don Richie recovered and safely detonated 73 sticks of dynamite recovered from the muddy backwater, authorities said.

The Dowdy Ferry Road bridge was closed Sunday afternoon after a sheriff's deputy spotted several sticks of dynamite in the same location where 171 sticks were found one week earlier.

Authorities speculate there may be an additional 156 sticks still submerged by recent floods.

Court Upholds UIL Summer Camp Rule

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A federal appeals court has reversed the Texas judge that struck down an unconstitutional University Interscholastic League rule that a high school athlete who attends summer camp for athletic training is ineligible for varsity athletics for one year.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court said the League rule is not premised on impermissible, suspect ground and does not not impinge upon the exercise of constitutional rights.

"The rule seeks to achieve a balance in interscholastic athletics," the decision said. "It is not unconstitutional."

U.S. District Judge George E. Cize had declared the rule illegal because it infringed on "protected parental authority in the child-rearing arena."

However, the 5th Circuit said the Constitution does not give parents a constitutional right to send children to athletic camps and doesn't give children the fundamental right to attend them.

Policeman Dismissed After Alleged

Brutality Investigation

GRAND PRAIRIE, Texas (AP) — Two police officers were fired Monday, 10 days after their suspension in connection with complaints alleging they had beaten two handcuffed teenagers, City Mgr. Ted Willis said.

The officers, Jimmy L. Horrocks and Alan T. Patton, were dismissed after a two-month police internal investigation determined the officers used excessive force while arresting the youths Sept. 26, Willis said.

The boys, Ricky Diaz, 16, and Chris Gomez, 15, both from Grand Prairie, filed a complaint Oct. 1 alleging Horrocks and Patton punched them numerous times after the officers handcuffed them.

The officers have 10 days to appeal their dismissal to the city's Civil Service Commission, Willis said.

White To Appeal 'Blue Law' Overturn

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court will be asked once again to reinstate Texas' "blue law," which prohibits sale of certain items on both Saturday and Sunday.

The court has upheld the 1961 law on three occasions, most recently in 1978.

A spokesman for Attorney General Mark White said Monday that White plans to appeal a Dallas judge's decision the law is unconstitutional.

The spokesman, Larry McGinty, said White also would ask the Texas Supreme Court to grant an expedited appeal in the case.

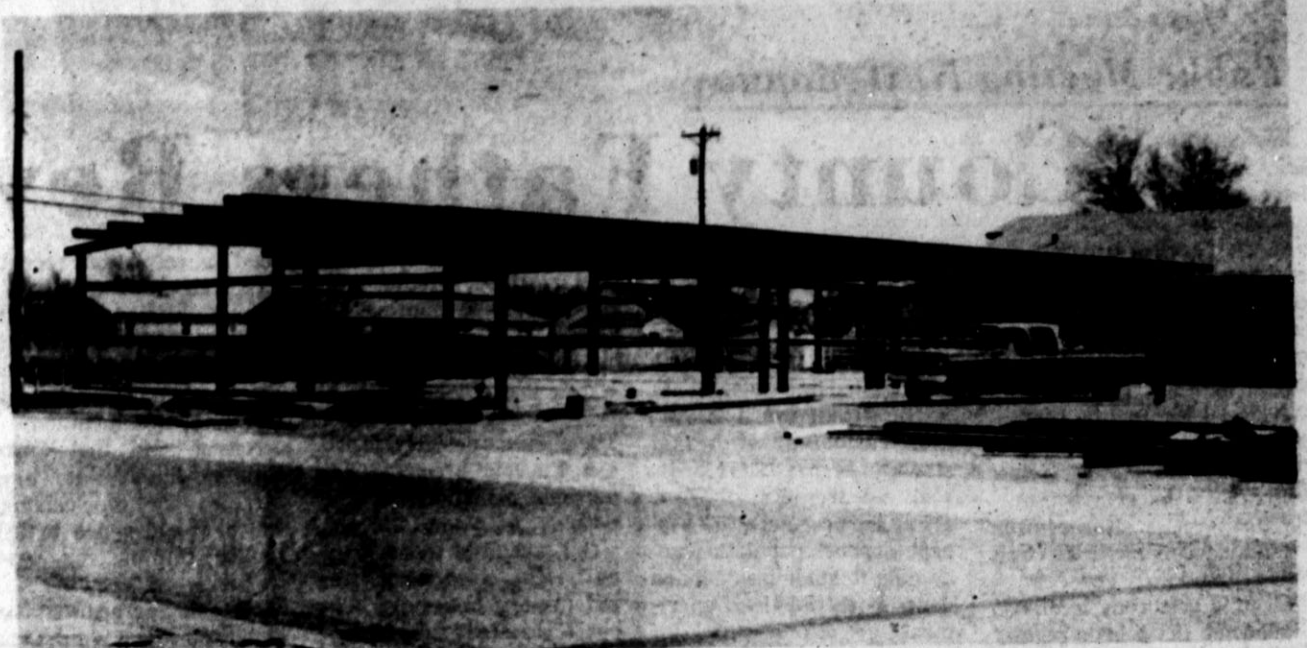

In handing down his ruling Friday, State District Court Judge Dee Brown Walker said the law is unenforceable, inequitable and doesn't serve its purpose — to guarantee workers a day of rest.

The law prohibits the sale of 42 categories of merchandise on consecutive Saturdays and Sundays.

Mickey Moore, executive vice president of the Texas Retailers Association, said it was "a sad day for working retail people in the state" when Walker held the law unconstitutional.

Originally, department stores lobbied for the law to combat the popularity of discount stores open seven days a week.

Moore said his talks with retailers from states without blue laws convinced him that opening stores on Sundays creates extra costs without bringing in extra sales.

Where Do You Find An Impartial Jury?

I don't know how they'd ever get an impartial jury to try Chicago Cardinal Cody. Who could they find who has not already made up his mind?

One segment believes anything it reads in the newspapers; the others will believe nothing derogatory about a Prince of the Church.

A Catholic publication in Chicago alleges "trial by media." That is a valid indictment of the media.

We have allowed ourselves to ignore the ethic of grand jury confidentiality.

The due process in our court system is to keep any reputation sacrosanct by a cloistered sifting and separation of allegation and evidence.

Only where there is enough "evidence" of guilt does the grand jury return an indictment. All that indictment says is that there is enough "evidence" to justify a trial.

But when whispers from inside that grand jury room — from officers of the court, attorneys, jurors, whomever — when clandestine contacts with the media make secret jury room proceedings public — are not both we and our informants guilty of contempt? I am not objecting to the "informant" system where it leads police or media to a proper exposure of wrongdoing.

This is separate from that.

In a grand jury proceeding wrongdoing has already been suspected and evidence is being evaluated.

Time and again we see individuals and others cleared by a grand jury — with their reputations already permanently soiled by suspicion.

Technically, the legal responsibility is fuzzy and blurry.

There is no doubt that in most states the "leak-er" on a grand jury is in legal jeopardy, but the "leak-ee" may not be punishable — technically.

But I can't help hoping that we of the media, with self-discipline, might respect the intended privacy of this judicial process.

If only because somewhere down the road ahead we're going to get our wings clipped if we don't.

This is to explain why this course, Paul Harvey News, will have no further comment on the situation involving Cardinal Cody until such time as there may be a definitive resolution of the case — either with an indictment or with a no-bill.

Not because I am party to any coverage.

Indeed, I applaud the astute newshawks whose investigative reporting initiated the grand jury proceeding.

But while the probe is being pursued through proper channels, piecemeal ventilation of allegations cannot help anything and could kill an innocent man.

Haig Praises Latin America's Efforts For Nuclear Control

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr., arriving Monday for a 24-hour visit to Mexico, praised Latin America's efforts to create a nuclear-free zone in the region.

Reporters who traveled with him on the plane from Washington, however, said he called the "radicalization" of Mexico's Central American neighbor Nicaragua a threat to peace and stability in the region.

"We offered them... normalization but recent events suggest they are being contrary to us," he said.

"It is our hope that all the nations of the region will share our concern that the totalitarian regime in Nicaragua comes as a threat to peace and stability and economic changes," Haig said.

The secretary of state indicated that, in his talks with Mexican officials, he will stress that the "radicalization" of the Nicaraguan regime poses problems for the social and economic development for the region."

However, he said, the door is "still open" for improvement of relations between the two countries.

Approximately 1,000 leftists demonstrated outside the U.S. Embassy building here Sunday to protest Haig's visit and the Reagan's administration's anti-Communist stance in Central America.

Mexican and U.S. diplomats have been trying to keep the visit low-key because of threatened demonstrations against the Reagan administration's Central American policies.

On Sunday, Haig warned Nicaragua's leadership that the "hours are growing rather short" before the United States and other nations might take action against what he called a drift toward totalitarianism.

In at least two sessions of closed-door talks with Castaneda on Monday and a one-hour meeting scheduled with President Jose Lopez Portillo on Tuesday, Haig planned to review problems between the United States and Mexico and the situation in Central America, especially Nicaragua, diplomatic sources from both countries said.

Speaking about Latin America's effort to become a nuclear-free zone, Haig said the plan could be a model for other regions of the world, "exposed to the threat of nuclear proliferation."

Haig said, "The zone, when fully realized, will help to stabilize world politics and reduce the risk of war."

under the so-called 1967 Tlatelolco Treaty, which the United States ratified Nov. 13.

The instruments of ratification were deposited by Haig with Mexican Foreign Secretary Jorge Castaneda, head of the organization that enforces the treaty, at a ceremony here.

The treaty, which prohibits all use of nuclear energy for other than peaceful purposes in the area, has been signed by all Latin American countries except Cuba and is subscribed to by a number of foreign powers, including the Soviet Union.

Tugboat Prevents Oil-Rig Collision

LONDON (AP) — A tug got a towline aboard a Norwegian oil rig that broke adrift in the North Sea with 112 men aboard early Tuesday morning and kept it from colliding with another rig with 82 men aboard, Press Association reported.

The British news agency said a Norwegian Coast Guard spokesman at Stavanger, Norway's North Sea oil center, told it the tug checked the drifting rig named the Phillips SS when it was within 250 feet of the other rig, the Tor.

"The situation is now under control," the spokesman said.

Loudder said the process has pointed out the fact that most county jobs "can be bluntly described as dead end jobs."

"There is no established career ladder, and this obviously hinders the county in attracting the right applicants," Loudder said. "This leads to low morale and low productivity."

Loudder told the court that he felt "career ladders" can be defined eventually, but that it will take "a number of years of constant effort."

A total of 51 descriptions were submitted to the court by Talentmax yesterday, and Loudder said that the number would grow to over 60 when the rest of the work is completed.

Loudder added that an evaluation system concerning the county would be presented at the next court meeting on Dec. 14.

The court recessed into closed session for some 40 minutes following Loudder's presentation to discuss personnel.

All four commissioners were present for the meeting yesterday.

Inflation

July 1980. Critics have said the housing component of the index overstates the effect of increases or decreases in home prices and financing because those factors are so heavily weighted. The new report said that overall inflation would have risen 0.7 percent in October, an annual rate of 8.4 percent, if a rental equivalent formula — to be implemented in 1983 — had been used.

Food and drink prices increased only a moderate 0.2 percent in October after a brisk 1 percent rise in September, the report said.

Prices at the grocery store rose an average of only 0.1 percent.

Clothing costs increased just 0.2 percent in October.

On the other hand, transportation costs rose 1.3 percent in October, paced by a 1.2 percent increase in gasoline prices and a 3.1 percent increase in used car prices. New car prices declined 0.3 percent, but that covered mostly 1981 models being sold off at the end of the model year with little or no profit. Medical care costs rose 1 percent, and entertainment costs 0.8 percent.

The figures are adjusted for normal seasonal variations in pricing. Before such adjustment, the CPI rose to 279.9 in October, meaning that goods that cost $10 in 1967 would have cost $27.99 last month.

Spankings On Increase In Dade

MIAMI (AP) — Dade County schoolchildren in increasing numbers are making the acquaintance of "Mr. Understanding" and similar wooden paddles that translate school officials' new get-tough attitude into something the students can feel.

Paddlings in county schools jumped 27 percent last year, with 16,750 cases of corporal punishment reported by principals, according to statistics kept by the 224,500-student school district.

James Hunt, principal of Booker T. Washington Junior High School, rests Mr. Understanding on top of his desk in full view of students who are sent to his office.

"It takes all the anxiety out of their visits," said Hunt, a big man with a wide grin.

Last year, as principal of Lake Stevens Junior High School, Hunt administered 874 paddlings — the record for the school system.

Hunt said the use of corporal punishment is up because there is a new, get-tough attitude in the schools toward unruly students.

Dade school principals and teachers who use the paddle — only 48 of 261 schools reported no paddlings last year — are under longstanding orders to follow procedures set by the school board. Rules specify that:

—The paddle must be wooden and no larger than 2 feet long, 4-inch thick and 4 inches wide. It can be used only on the buttocks.

—Elementary students can be struck only twice, junior high school students three times and high school students four times.

—Another principal or teacher must witness the paddling, and no other students may be present to contribute to "ridicule or shame."

—A principal must notify parents that their child was paddled and keep a record of the paddling. The record is forwarded to superiors.

Hunt told The Miami News in an interview published Monday that he thinks there were more paddlings than were reported last year. Some principals don't report them at all, he said.

Not everyone is happy with the trend toward more paddling. School board member Janet McAlley is opposed to corporal punishment and has formed a committee of 30 principals, teachers and students to study its effectiveness.

"What concerns me," Ms. McAlley said, "is that we may be useless paddling the same kids over and over again for the same offense."

School statistics show that boys are paddled more often than girls, that most paddlings occur in junior high schools and that more blacks are paddled than whites.

Limited Sightseeing Allowed During Shuttle Refueling

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Bergstrom Air Force Base officials have decided to allow limited drive-in sightseeing when the space shuttle Columbia refuels here on its way back to Florida.

"It's not going to be a great look. There's not going to be anybody walking up and touching the shuttle," Air Force Col. Alan Lurie, commander of the 67th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing, said Monday.

NASA spokesman Dave Alter said the shuttle, mounted on a 747 jumbo jet, would arrive at Bergstrom about 5:30 p.m. CST, today from Edwards Air Force Base in California.

The shuttle landed at Edwards on Nov. 14 after its abbreviated second flight. After the refueling stop, the shuttle will be piggybacked to the Kennedy Space Center in Florida, probably Wednesday morning, according to Alter.

visiting schedule — if any — for the public.

Bergstrom officials previously said the public would not be allowed on base to look at the Columbia. Lurie said that decision was changed because the shuttle's trip here was delayed and Bergstrom officials were able to work out security arrangements.

Sightseers will be kept more than 1,000 feet from the shuttle. Lurie said NASA will not let anyone within that range.

When mounted on the jumbo jet, the Columbia sits 74 feet above the ground and should be easily seen from vehicles, Lurie said. There might be a better view of the aircraft from U.S. 183, the base's southern boundary.

Lurie said he is concerned about "foreign objects" — litter — left by the civilian visitors. Millions of dollars of damage is done each year by litter, he said, including damage to jet engines that suck in discarded can pop-tops.

If weather problems develop, the shuttle will go to Dyess Air Force Base, near Abilene, 216 miles northwest of here.

Vandalism, Thefts Reported

Hereford police received four reports of vandalism and two thefts Monday.

A Bluewater Gardens resident told police that someone had stolen a 12-volt battery from her car while it was parked at the apartments.

The city reported a school crossing sign stolen from Alkman Elementary during the weekend.

Vehicles were prime targets for vandalism. A truck parked in the 600 block of Bowie had its windshield broken by a rock. A car on the 400 block of Avenue C had a tire cut and a car in the 300 block of Catalpa had three tires slashed and the windshield broken. Beneficial Finance, 700 25 Mile Avenue, reported that two BB gun pellets were shot through a glass window.

Newcomers Finding Life Enjoyable

By LINDA CAUDLE
Family News Editor

John and Linda Walch and their family have been in Hereford since July, and are making friends and enjoying their life here. "The neighbors are so nice," comments Linda, adding that she feels they have gotten acquainted even more quickly because of their two small children who have been looking for other children to play with.

Backgammon since moving here, and says that both she and John enjoy playing cards, especially spades. John usually plays handball once a week.

John and Linda are both very close to their families, and hope to go back to visit in Fredericksburg often. They went back recently to go deer hunting in the hill country. "I killed my first buck," says Linda, obviously quite excited about it. They enjoy eating venison and Linda makes venison steak quite often.

John is the new principal of Hereford High School. They feel good about his position, noting that the faculty has been very receptive. They moved to Hereford from Fredericksburg, where John was an assistant principal for one year and has been middle school principal for the last three years.

John grew up in Fredericksburg, and Linda grew up at Harper, a small community about 20 miles outside of Fredericksburg. She graduated from Southwest Texas State University at San Marcos with a degree in English, while John earned his bachelor's degree at St. Edwards University in Austin, and his master's at Southwest Texas.

Linda taught English for two years at a junior high school in San Marcos, and then did substitute teaching after their oldest daughter was born. This last year, she went back to teach full time at a Catholic school in Fredericksburg.

Since moving to Hereford, Linda is teaching a sixth grade Sunday school class at St. Anthony's. She enjoys gardening, and hopes to get a garden going by next year. Her favorite pastime is playing the piano. The family often gathers around the piano to sing, while she plays the piano.

Both John and Linda enjoy reading. Angie, who attends Kindergarten at St. Anthony's, loves books too. Betsy, who will be three years old in December, enjoys working puzzles and likes to play with her giant Raggedy Ann doll, which is just about the same size that she is.

Annual Thanksgiving Supper Held At Dawn

Dawn Community Center was the scene of that community's annual Thanksgiving Supper, where 103 residents and visitors gathered Friday evening.

After the invocation, given by the Rev. Jim Hickman, the Dawn Music Club presented a Patriotic program.

Mrs. O. Wertenberger led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag, followed by singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," led by the club president, Mrs. J.B. Caraway.

"The Ragged Old Flag" was presented as a musical reading by Mrs. R.E. Curtinger. The audience then sang "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," accompanied by Mrs. Carl Wimberly.

Mrs. H.H. Miller read "Landing of the Pilgrim Fathers" by Hemens and "The First Thanksgiving" by Margaret Preston. The audience then participated by singing "America," followed by the Music Club singing "The House I Live In," accompanied by Mrs. Wimberly.

"America the Beautiful" was sung by the group, followed by a stirring rendition of "I am the Nation" by Mrs. Jerald Parker. The Rev. Hickman spoke on "A Time of Thanks," pointing out the many things in life which belong to a small community where everyone is a neighbor, and people are free to enjoy fellowship that is often missed in a large city.

The program was closed with the singing of "God Bless America" as the benediction.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

The other day on a talk show when I mentioned being married for 32 years, the audience gave me a standing ovation. It was the kind of tumultuous applause usually reserved for an 85-foot redwood, Katharine Hepburn or a battleship returning to port.

It was sweet. It really was. But at my age, I don't need approval...I need a booster shower.

Boy, for a while I had it all going. What with the loot from two kitchen showers, three miscellaneous, one bathroom, one personal, and my mother calling in all the IOUs...I figured I was set for life.

I had a toaster for each finger, blankets for three beds, enough dishes to throw a state dinner and enough gadgets to play "Stump Julia Child."

Dish towels? It was three years before I stopped treating them as disposables. Around the third year, I chipped my egg separator and bent my cake tester, but the storehouse groaned under the necessities of life.

The year the children started doing dishes, I lost the six sets of glasses, three sets of dishes, silver setting for 16 and a coffee pot that drowned when the electrical plug was submerged in water.

The year the children went to camp, I lost four complete sets of towels, two complete sets of sheets, two pillows and a jeweled clock with two people in it dancing to "The Anniversary Waltz."

The year the children gave a carnival in the back yard, I lost a card table and four chairs, a large punch bowl with 16 cups, a colander and three pots (worn as hats in a parade), plus a popcorn popper, hibachi and all the wickets from the croquet set.

When the children went off to college, I lost our television set, 9x12 rug, five lamps, car, sewing machine, typewriter, bathroom heater and chess set.

When the children went to their own apartments, I lost whatever was left.

You see before you the broken remains of a storybook wedding... a woman who uses old shorts to dry dishes... who uses corn holders to tack notes on the bulletin board... who steals plastic spoons from fast food-stores.

Go ahead, someone. Surprise me with a booster shower. I'm free Saturday night.

Best Loser

Mary Williamson, leader of the Thursday morning TOPS No. 941 group, won a turkey for losing the most weight from Oct. 1 until Nov. 19. The turkey weighed 13 pounds, which just happened to be the same amount of weight that Ms. Williamson lost. Runner-up was Mildred Lewis, who won a chicken. She had already reached her goal, and was able to keep her weight at or below her goal for the seven week period. TOPS is a non-profit organization open to anyone.

Mrs. Coneway Honored On Her 90th Birthday

The children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren of Mrs. Ray Coneway honored her with a party, Nov. 14, for her 90th birthday. Approximately 70 persons were in attendance at the Hereford Country Club.

Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Coneway and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Coneway, Amy and Josh, all of Hereford; Mr. and Mrs. Clint Coneway, Chad and Jenny, of Idaho Falls, Idaho; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Coneway of Garden City, Kan.; and Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Goodall, Deborah and Gregg, of Breckenridge, Tex.

Frieda Hitz Coneway was born in Indianapolis, Ind. and graduated from Manual Training High School in 1916. Her graduation dress was on display at the party. She married Raymond Paul Coneway and they moved to Black, Tex in 1918, where they lived on a farm there for eight years before moving to Hereford.

Mrs. Coneway is the daughter of George Hitz, who bought land in Black in 1909 and put in the first irrigation well in Parmer County. She now resides at Westgate Nursing Home.

HELLO HEREFORD!

Pat Walker Figure Perfection Salons International, with 147 salons nationwide, is now in its 30th year of successful weight reduction and figure perfection for thousands of women of all ages and lifestyles.

Pat Walker's is neither a gym or a spa. It is not a diet clinic. At Pat Walker's there are no injections, creams, wraps, ear clips or special pre-packaged meals. There is no disrobing or group sessions.

Pat Walker's is an elegantly decorated salon in which you can shape your figure without stringent dieting or strenuous exercise and do it in complete privacy. The Symmetricon unit, exclusively at Pat Walker's, provides safe, passive, and yet very effective exercise that firms, tones and shapes your figure, all the while improving your circulation and correcting your posture. The Symmetricon unit is so designed that its function can be brought to focus on specific areas of the body according to individual needs.

Pat Walker's staff includes trained professional women counselors who show you how to properly coordinate your favorite foods into an individualized and sensible eating plan which will foster consistent and safe weight reduction.

Women who come to Pat Walker's thinking only of weight loss are always pleasantly surprised to find that we deal in total figure correction. Not only do we trim pounds, we concentrate on taking off inches in your problem areas for we know that mere weight loss alone will not produce a flattering figure. We have found that the Pat Walker program will give any woman the results that she wants, no matter her age, size or how many other programs, diets or gimmicks she has tried.

The most exciting thing about Pat Walker's is that it is based on permanency. By the time we have attained your desired weight loss by working together, you will have learned how to maintain your figure on your own for the rest of your life. That is something that no one will ever be able to take away from you!

When you come in for a free complimentary treatment and figure analysis you will first be given a 30 minute session on the Symmetricon. Afterwards, we will explain the Pat Walker program to you. We will show you where and how much you need to lose, and tell you how long it will take and exactly how much it will cost based on a per session fee of just $5.00. We do not have contracts or membership fees.

The success of Pat Walker's for all these nearly 30 years is based on just two things: Consistently achieving the results desired by both us and the patron, and, through the introduction of Pat Walker's to women, making them aware that there is a safe, effective alternative to starvation and fad diets, pills and strenuous exercise.

Whether you feel the need to lose a substantial number of pounds and inches or if you just need a little firming and toning, we think Pat Walker's is for you. Interested? Why not invest in a phone call now to reserve time for your appointment and your free first step toward a new you?

Thank you for taking the time to read all this. We sincerely hope you have a little better understanding of Pat Walker's and that you will allow us to explain more on a personal and confidential basis.

4-H Firsthand Make The Best Better

By ROBBY VANN
County Extension Agent

The 4-H motto—"To make the best better"—is exemplified in the young people who excel in their achievement, citizenship and leadership projects.

Activities in these programs, conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, range from sharing skills with mentally retarded youth and organizing a summer program at a school for the deaf to conducting a highway cleanup campaign.

National 4-H programs in Achievement, Citizenship and Leadership stress interaction and involvement with others, points out Robby Vann, county 4-H program coordinator with the Extension Service.

Among the most popular projects is the "Adopt a Grandparent Program." 4-H'ers not only become companions to senior citizens but also learn new perspectives from their elders. Many senior citizens share traditional skills as volunteer leaders, notes Robby Vann.

Recognizing physical fitness is critical to good health. One 4-H club built a quarter-mile jogging and exercise course that included 12 exercise areas interspersed along the track. Once complete, the youth gave the facility to the community for public use.

In some areas, young people get practical citizenship experience by running local government offices for a day, adds Robby. For one 4-H'er, the training she received as acting mayor convinced her that politics will not be her first career choice. Another youth found the experiences of being district attorney "unforgettable."

Commented one local judge at the end of the day's program: "It's refreshing to see good kids. I was afraid the incentive to lead had died down. I was glad to see there are still youngsters willing to lead."

Ford, Coca-Cola and Reader's Digest provide awards and incentives to outstanding 4-H'ers in all three programs. Awards are arranged by the National 4-H Council, and winners are selected by the Extension Service. Four members in each county may receive medals of honor, one 4-H'er from each state can earn an expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, and nine national winners in each program receive $1,000 scholarships.

In addition, two 4-H'ers are named national winners in each program and receive 4-H's highest honor, the Presidential Award, which is a silver tray presented in the name of the President of the United States.

Coca-Cola also provides certificates to two members from each state. Reader's Digest encourages club participation by sponsoring the 4-H Citizenship-in-Action program. Ford Motor Company also supports international 4-H programs.

Boys and girls 9 to 19, can learn more about the exciting opportunities in 4-H by contacting their county Extension office, says Robby Vann.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Adams Speaks On National Defense

Los Ciboleros Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met for their regular monthly meeting, Thursday evening, in the Friendship Room of Hereford State Bank, with Mmes. Robert Sheffy, Jeff Smart and Gary Black serving as hostesses.

The meeting was called to order by Chapter Regent, Mrs. T.J. Carter. Opening Ritual was led by Mrs. Alfred Smith and President General's Message was read by Mrs. L.W. Norvell.

Chapter members brought gift items for the Christmas Gift Shop of the Veteran's Hospital in Amarillo. Mrs. Herman Drake, Chairman of Veterans Patients Committee, took them to the Gift Shop.

Mrs. Tom Draper introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Milton Adams, who spoke on National Defense. By using graphs, he illustrated comparisons of Soviet and U.S. armed and naval forces and nuclear power as he reviewed the book, Soviet Military Power.

The Soviet Union possesses superiority in military strength, said Dr. Adams, and added that the U.S. can only hope to achieve peace by developing a military capability second to none, thus assuring its allies the states of the Persian Gulf and the Indian Ocean we not only intend to defend our interests, but are determined to develop the power to support that aim.

Guests present included Dr. and Mrs. Milton Adams. Members present included

Mmes. T.J. Carter, Robert Sheffy, Jeff Smart, Alfred Smith, L.W. Norvell, Herman Drake, Tom Draper, Jess Robinson, George Millard, Joe Reinauer, Sr., Stan Knox, Jack Gilliland, Sue James, Arthur Clark; and Beth Clark.

The Dec. 17th meeting has been changed to the E.B. Black House, 508 W. Third.

Blood Mobile Coming To Hereford Tomorrow

The Coffee Memorial Blood Mobile will be in Hereford Wednesday Nov. 25 from 4-6:30 p.m.

Hereford area residents have used 77 pints of blood in the last two months. Replacing this on a 4-1 ratio, 308 pints of blood are needed.

The Blood Mobile did not come to Hereford in October. This is a very crucial time of the year. The need for blood is always greater during the holidays.

Residents are asked to take 15 to 20 minutes of their time the day before Thanksgiving and give the gift of life.

Persons needing blood replaced, with the approximate number of pints each requires are as follows: Jessie Penteria, 20, Mary Gonzales, 64, Joy Stagner, 4, Brenda Ball, 16, Jerry Cardon, 4, Jake Gregory, 8, Amelia Murrello, 8, Tina Munoz, 8, Augustine Martinez, 8, and Troy Brooks, 12, at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Earl Holt, 8, at High Plains Baptist Hospital; Feliciano Luna, 32, Miguel Castro, 44,

Orfilinda Garcia, 8, and Robert Esqueda, 8, at Northwest Texas Hospital; and

Harmon Weston, 24, Howard Walker, 16, Roy Martin, 8,

Ann Kershen, 8, and Anna Livers, 8, at Saint Anthony's Hospital.

Ann Landers Neither Child Nor Adult

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 18-year-old high school student in Calgary, Alberta (Canada). Last week I rode the bus. I bought a ticket for 50 cents. The driver said, "That will be 15 cents more. You have to pay adult fare." When I refused, he told me to get off the bus. Well, that was just fine with me.

Why should I pay adult fare on a bus when I am not considered an adult at the box-office of an adult-only movie? Also, I am not considered an adult when it comes to buying liquor.

When I am REALLY considered an adult, I will be happy to pay adult prices, but for the time being I am not a child not an adult—but a teenager. Come on, Calgary, get your act together. And don't tell me "It's the law," because if that's the best answer you can come up with, this city is in trouble.—Upset Teen have not been away since 1978. We also bought her $300 worth of new clothes and gave them a lovely wedding present.

We want to be fair, but we don't want to be foolish. Help us do the right thing.—Tapped Out in Tarryton, N.Y.

DEAR TAPPED: LEND Anne $300, interest-free, and agree on a pay-back timetable. For newlyweds, both employed, she should be able to manage $30 a month.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You say that at 60 a person can be in his or her prime. How about stating the reasons some of us don't feel that way about our old goats?

You can't pick up a magazine, newspaper, watch TV or listen to the radio without getting the message that a woman must keep herself sexy, beautiful, clean, slender and seductive or she'll lose out.

How about the man? He gets spiffed up for special occasions, but 90 percent of the time he looks like a slop. Because he is retired, there is no need to shave, bathe or put his teeth in, except to eat. His belly hangs over his belt and he looks eight months pregnant. Sexually aroused by that? Impossible. You always seem to be on the man's side. How about printing this letter and giving us women a break?—Need Your Support in Van Nuys

DEAR VAN: You've got it. But the major problem is the shortage of men over 60. The old goats don't have much competition. Darned shame, isn't it?

Christmas Luncheon Planned

The Cultural Extension Club met Friday at the Energas Flame Room, with Virginia Sumner serving as hostess. Vernis Parsons, vice-president, conducted the meeting.

Opening exercises consisted of a poem, "The Journey," read by Bertha Dettman. Ruth Gandy gave a program on string vests, and displayed several of them.

Myna May Love, a former member, was a guest at the meeting.

Others attending were Carrie Mae Doak, Ella Stehr.

Edith Hunter, Winnie Wiseman, Jewel Rogers, and Tillie Scott.

The next meeting will be a Christmas Luncheon, Dec. 11, at the Flame Room.

Undefeated Herd Rolls Over Palo Duro, 42-30

By BOB NIGH
Managing Editor
CANYON — The Hereford Whitefaces shook off an early turnover that gave Palo Duro a 7-4 lead, and blitzed the Dons 23-30 to claim the bi-district championship in a contest played beneath bright skies here at Kimbrough Memorial Stadium Saturday.

The Herd, now 11-0 on the year, regrouped to score the next six times they had the ball, and held a 42-14 lead with almost 21 minutes left in the game. The District 4-5A champs will face state-ranked El Paso Bel Air at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Sun Bowl in El Paso.

The Highlanders reached the Regional round by virtue of a 14-7 bi-district win over El Paso Irvin.

The Whitefaces completely dominated the game against the District 3-5A champion Dons, despite the close score, which resulted from several big plays by the opportune underdogs.

So awesome were the 'Faces that they held a 21-2 edge in first downs at intermission, and led in total yardage at that point 312-91. And, the bulk of Palo Duro's offense in the first half came on one play.

Standout split end Jay Jefferson took a pass from Pat Rogers and outraced the HHS secondary to the end zone for a 71-yard score with 5:03 left in the second quarter. That gave the Dons 14 points, following their initial score when Rogers snagged a wayward Alan Wartes aerial at the Don 38 and ran 62 yards untouched for an early 7-4 Palo Duro lead.

Wartes and company shook off that shocker with a well-designed 15-play, 80-yard drive to tie the score. The drive took almost six minutes on the stadium clock, and was aided by a 20-yard pass to Alfred Ball and a 10-yarder to Mike Mason as Wartes began an amazing throwing performance.

Fullback Jeff Coupe scored from three yards out with 3:13 left in the stanza and Raymond Martinez' PAT knotted the score.

From there it was virtually all Hereford.

Coupe got his second touchdown with 11:31 left in the half following a Charles Campbell fumble at the PD 36 which was pounced on by Herd defensive end Bruce Clarke. A six-play drive was capped by Coupe's two-yard scamper.

A 15-yard touchdown pass to tight end Don Delozier from Wartes and a 1-yard burst by tailback Wayne High boosted the HHS lead to 28-7 before Jefferson broke loose on his long reception.

High finished the first half with 94 yards rushing, while Coupe had 34 markers, and Ball added 48 more. Wartes was on line on seven of 11 passes in the first 24 minutes of play, with Mason and Delozier catching three aerial apices, and Ball having one.

Mason gave the Whitefaces, undefeated in 14 straight games, a 35-14 bulge at intermission on a 21-yard reception during which he bounced off one Palo Duro defender at the 8-yard line to stroll into the endzone.

Wartes, who finished with eight completions on 12 tries, got in on the fun with 8:55 remaining in the third period, scoring over right guard from seven yards out to boost the lead to 42-14.

Delozier finally got to try out his punting toe on Hereford's next possession. After the 'Faces stalled for the first time during the game, Delozier put the Dons in the hole with a 35-yarder to the end zone.

Mike Hill made things even more miserable for Palo Duro on the next play with a diving interception of a Rogers pass which glanced off the hands of Jefferson at the PD 39.

The scoring chance dissolved four plays later, however, as Ball was stopped one yard short on a fourth-and-two try from the PD 30.

The Dons made the score close in the last 3:45 of the contest as Jefferson broke loose for two more TDs. Kenny Ozee hit the lanky receiver at the Don 30, and he raced 83 yards for a score, and gave PD two more points on the PAT on a pass from Ozee.

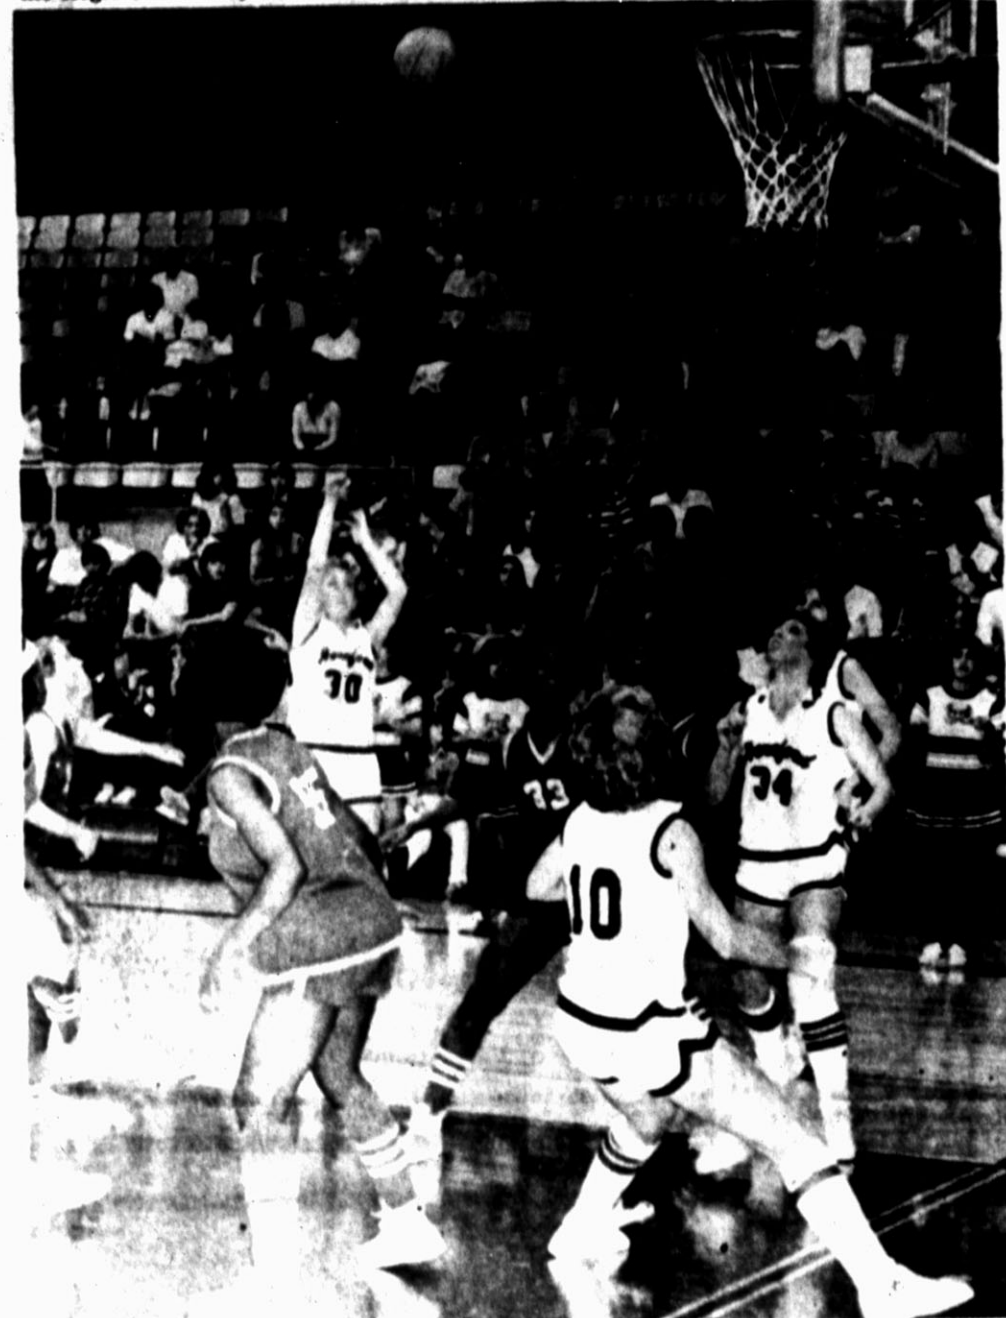

Jefferson gave Palo Duro its last points of the year with 2:17 left on a fourth-and-10 from the HHS 12. Rogers hit Jefferson in the corner of the end zone, and then found Tom Godfrey on a fake kick for two more points and the final 42-30 margin.

The Whitefaces finished the game with a 28-6 edge in first downs, amassing 436 total yards to PD's 198. High led rushers in the contest with 117 markers, while Ball had 72, and Coupe finished with 65.

Jefferson's 176 yards on four catches led receivers in the game, while Delozier and Mason led the 'Faces with three receptions each for 48 and 46 yards respectively.

Hereford will play the Highlanders of Bel Air Friday night, stepping on the Astroturf for the first time this year.

Herd Fems Pop Palo Duro, 56-39

The Hereford Whiteface fems must have practiced their free throws over the weekend as they improved their success from the line drastically in taking an easy 56-39 win over the winless Palo Duro Dons at the La Plata gym last night.

The 'Faces suffered in a 5 for 23 performance at the charity stripe in an 89-51 win over Caprock last Friday, but they came through with a 16 for 26 effort from the line last night.

Still, the free toss turnaround made little difference in the game against the Dons, a physical contest played before a sparse crowd. The Herd put the outcome of the game out of question early, racing to a 12-8 lead after one period, and increasing the gap to 31-19 at intermission.

Amy Schumacher (eight points) and sub Angela White (seven) led the Whiteface charge early, and teammates Cathy Lane, Lori Albracht and Stephanie Foster each chipped in four first-half points to lead a balanced Hereford attack.

Hereford blew the game open in the first three minutes of the third quarter, increasing the lead to 41-19 as Deborah Rogers and Joyce High hit four points each and Albracht canned a 10-footer with 5:45 left in the stanza to give the Herd a 22-point advantage.

The Dons, led by Lois Gipson, rallied at that point, however, and played the 'Faces more than even the rest of the way. Six points by Gipson and a bucket by Vanessa Wells cut the HHS lead to 45-29, and the Dons closed out the period facing a 47-33 deficit.

Both teams turned down the thermostat in the final eight minutes of play, and the Herd failed to score a field goal until 1:15 was left on the clock as Schumacher scored a layup following a steal by High. Hereford managed to keep the Dons at bay, however, hitting seven of 12 free tosses in the period.

The win was the second in three tries for Hereford while the Dons fell to 0-3 on the year with the loss.

In the JV game, Palo Duro escaped with a 38-36 win, overcoming an 11-5 lead by HHS after one period. Michelle Hughes led the Dons with 14 points, while Laura Kosub hit 18 for Hereford and Amy Noyes added 12.

Dogie Frosh Fems Win

Stanton's freshmen girls prevented Clovis Marshall from sweeping the Dogies in district basketball action Monday as all three Stanton boys' squads dropped games at home, and the girls played on the road.

Stacy High scored 16 points in leading the Stanton frosh fems to a 57-5 win over Marshall. The Dogies, now 2-0 in the loop and on the year, also got 11 points from Kristin Walterscheid, and 10 from Lisa Redmond.

The girls' 7th and 8th graders weren't as fortunate as Marshall won the 7th grade match 35-15 and the 8th grade game 23-15. Stephanie Ford's eight points topped Stanton in the 8th grade loss, while JoDee Pruitt had four in the 7th grade defeat. Both the 7th and 8th grade fems fell to 0-2 in district and on the year with the losses.

games will begin at 4:30 at the high school gym, while the boys matches will take place at the Stanton gym.

All six La Plata teams were open in action yesterday.

The Dogie boys found the going rough at home against Marshall as well. The Clovis bunch took a 40-10 decision in the 7th grade game, a 60-47 win in 8th grade play, and a 59-47 victory over the Dogie freshmen.

Kyle Streun's four points topped the Dogie 7th grade, while Stefan Hacker copped 14 in the 8th grade loss with Rodney Torres adding 10 points.

Kevin Redus tallied 16 points and Lee Brockman added 14 more in the Dogies' loss in the 9th grade game.

The losses left the 7th grade boys with a 1-1 record in the loop and overall, while the 8th grade is now 0-2 respectively.

Whiteface Cagers Bow to Borger

The Hereford Whitefaces exploded for 38 fourth-quarter points at Borger last night, but it wasn't enough to overcome an early Bulldog lead as the Herd fell to the 'Dogs 63-53 in non-district basketball action.

The loss dropped Hereford to 0-3 on the year.

Steve Welch led the Herd comeback, finishing with 19 points on the night, while Kyle Schuder pitched in 10 more.

The Bulldogs took a 12-6 advantage in the first period, and widened the gap to 38-16 at halftime. After taking a 51-25 lead after three stanzas the 'Dogs were blitzed by the game Whitefaces, who posted a 38-22 advantage over Borger in the final eight minutes of play.

The Herd was scheduled to continue cage play this Saturday night at home against Levelland, but coach Bobby Decker has reported that that game has been moved back to Tuesday.

The JV teams will square off at 6 p.m. at the La Plata gym, while the varsities follow at 7:30.

Falcons Outlast Vikes In Monday Tilt, 31-30

By TOM SALADINO AP Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — "The game just ended and they were ahead," was the way Minnesota Coach Bud Grant described the Atlanta Falcons victory over the Vikings in a weird, turnover-plagued National Football League game.

The Falcons, who outlasted the Vikings 31-30, apparently had Monday night's nationally televised slugfest wrapped up after linebacker Buddy Curry intercepted a Tommy Kramer pass and returned it 35 yards for a touchdown and a 31-21 lead with just 4:06 remaining.

But the Falcons gave up an intentional safety after failing to move the ball inside their own 6-yard line with 1:34 left. Just 44 seconds later it was 31-30 when Kramer hit Joe Senser with a 16-yard TD strike.

The Falcons' Reggie Smith, however, recovered the Vikings' onside kick after it bounced out of the grasp of two other Falcons players on Atlanta's 43. Atlanta ran out the clock for the victory, snapping a two-game losing streak and keeping its wild card playoff hopes alive with a 6-6 record.

"We almost got a chance to win at the end when the onside kick broke loose up the middle," said Grant. "If we would have recovered, we were only 15 seconds away from a field goal."

The Vikings, who pounded out 460 yards, were hindered by five turnovers, including four interceptions of Kramer, who passed for 286 yards and four touchdowns. Meanwhile, the Falcons had three lost fumbles, all in the opening half and all by William Andrews, helping Minnesota to a 21-7 halftime edge.

The loss left the Vikings with a 7-4 record, one game ahead of Detroit and Tampa Bay in the NFC Central Division race.

"There was no pep talk at halftime. We didn't do anything different," said Steve Bartkowski, who threw three touchdown passes and set up Mick Luckhurst's 32-yard field goal with his passing.

"We were our own worst enemy in the first half with the turnovers as we were fortunate to still be in the game," said Bartkowski, who hit on 21 of 32 passes for 213 yards and ran his TD total to 27 for the season.

Kramer had scoring passes of 6 and 42 yards to Ahmad Rashad, 3 yards to Bob Bruer and the 16-yarder to Senser while Ted Brown had 106 yards in 16 rushing attempts for the Vikings, the first running back to go over 100 yards this season against the Falcons.

Rashad was Kramer's favorite target, catching 9 passes for 151 yards.

The Falcons, who accumulated 342 yards, got 91 yards out of Andrews in 22 attempts and 67 from Lynn Cain in 11 tries while Jenkins had 5 catches for 65 yards to break the club record for single-season receiving yardage with 1,047. He held the previous mark with 1,025.

McMahon Named On All-Star Team

DENVER (AP) — It seems only fitting that Brigham Young quarterback Jim McMahon — who passed for more yardage and more touchdowns and accounted for more total yards than any other player in major-college football history — should be a unanimous selection on the 1981 All-Western Athletic Conference team.

And so he was, according to the All-WAC offensive team voting results announced today by WAC commissioner Joe Kearney.

It was McMahon's second time as a unanimous pick and his third time on the squad.

Other BYU players selected to the squad, chosen by the league's nine head coaches, were wide receiver Dan Plater and lineman Calvin Close.

Wyoming and Utah led the way with four players each on the offensive squad.

Utah's Del Rodgers, the running back who leads the WAC in rushing to date with 1,127 yards, and linemen Jack Campbell and Wayne Jones were named to the first team, along with place-kicker Gil Alvarez.

Running back Walter Goffigan, tight end James Williams, center Joe DiGiorgio and lineman Gary Crum were the Wyoming players named to the first team.

Rounding out the squad were Colorado State wide receiver Jeff Champagne and Hawaii running back Gary Allen.

McMahon, Close and Allen all are repeaters from the 1980 All-WAC team. The 1981 squad features four underclassmen — Goffigan and Champagne, both sophomores, and Williams and DiGiorgio, both juniors.

that's what I'm counting on. ... In a game like this, what you have to do is forget the aches and pains and go after it," said Akers.

He said fullback Darryl Clark and guard Doug Dawson tied for most valuable players on offense against Baylor. Clark, who started the season as a fourth teamer, ran for 131 yards and a touchdown, and Dawson was credited with five "pins."

On defense, Longhorn coaches chose as co-MVPs two former Silabes schoolboy stars — middle linebacker Doug Shankle and safety William Graham. Shankle had 15 tackles, including two behind the line of scrimmage, and Graham had 11 tackles and two interceptions.

Asked about the A&M series in recent years, with the Aggies winning four of the last six, Akers said, "I don't like it. The last two years in particular have been big, big disappointments to us."

The game was switched back to Thanksgiving this year for the first time since 1973. From 1916 to 1973, it was an annual Thanksgiving game.

SPORTS TALK: Tex Schramm

Tex Schramm is president-general manager of the Dallas Cowboys. With coach Tom Landry and scouting chief Gil Brand, Schramm has run the Cowboys since their inception in 1960. The team is known for its computerized planning.

No sports franchise in history has had the organizational stability of the Dallas Cowboys. How important has this stability been to the Cowboys' success?

There's no way you can overestimate its value. The biggest thing it does is let you make long-range decisions as well as short-range ones. If you can't make long-range decisions, there's no way you can have success.

My theory for a sports franchise is that you must keep it continually at a high level. Sometimes you do have to sacrifice a little of today for tomorrow.

Are the organizational methods of the Cowboys dramatically different from those of most NFL teams?

I think through the years we've been the most consistent with our method of operation. We've believed in it and followed it. We haven't panicked into going other routes. There are other clubs like that.

One was Pittsburgh at the end of the '60s and beginning of the '70s. I've still got the clipping where Dan Rooney (Steelers president) said they were going the route the Cowboys did.

There also was one period where the George Allen theory (trading draft choices for veteran players) was taking hold on some clubs. But I'd say in the last three to five years the battle cry generally has been to follow the philosophy we have — developing our own players and building through the draft.

How about the right people? Are they as important to success as organizational theories?

Theories aren't worth a damn if you don't have the people. You must have them to start with. We're a people game. It's a sport totally dependent on the people you have.

Let me say something right here. I'm not claiming we have the patent on a philosophy of success in the NFL. I'm not saying we have all the bright people in the league. All I'm saying is that from our standpoint the right people came together to make our philosophy work for the Cowboys.

The record is on the board. That record to me is not appearing in five Super Bowls. It's the 15 years of consistency.

What characteristics of Dallas Coach Tom Landry impress you most?

First is his intellect. Plus his tremendous ability to concentrate. He's also very innovative, but he tempers it with practicality. He has the ability not to get carried away, of always remembering you have to do the basics. That's a tough job for an innovative person.

Landry is a thorough believer in experience. He's persistent and dedicated to his beliefs as far as football is concerned. If he feels the flex defense is the way to go, it will go. He won't start wavering.

He has total belief in what he does. That comes through to everyone else. That's why people don't panic under him, either during a game or during a season. There's no question he's one of the giants of his profession.

There is no pro coach in these times to compare to him in terms of longevity and success. He has matched coaches like Paul Brown, Vince Lombardi and other great legends. Twenty-one years at one place, 14 playoffs, five Super Bowls, two NFL championships. That's a pretty strong record.

Yet through all these triumphs the Cowboys still are described as a cold, impersonal, computerized team.

This is one of the paradoxes of our team. We've probably been one of the most colorful teams in football. We've had a finger-popping quarterback (Don Meredith) and an Olympic sprint champion (Bob Hayes) and an Ivy League halfback (Calvin Hill).

We've had players like Duane Thomas, Roger Staubach and Thomas Henderson — players from every end of the spectrum. We're the only team to play the shotgun consistently. We're a leader in offense almost continuously.

We've made big trades, such as for the draft rights to Tony Dorsett and Too Tall Jones. Who else has had a defensive end stop playing in the middle of his career to be a fighter? Something's always happening to us.

Can the Cowboys maintain such a high performance level? All the rules are stacked to prevent it. And you're talking about a lot of years now. The odds are against it. But I see no practical reason why we can't.

Aggies Fail in Big Games, Wilson May Go

By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer

Wanted: A winner of the big game. Someone who can get into the Cotton Bowl. Being copious amounts of ulcer medicine.

Just winning isn't enough anymore at Texas A&M University as Emory Bellard discovered and Tom Wilson is about to find out.

The Aggies, despite their winning ways, really haven't captured a big game since Gene Stallings beat his old mentor Paul "Bear" Bryant and Alabama in the 1967 Cotton Bowl.

Bellard got the Aggies into the Liberty Bowl and the Sun Bowl and the Bluebonnet Bowl. But he lost to Michigan on national television and blew a national title another year by letting Arkansas ambush him.

No Cotton Bowl. Alumni unrest. Adios Emory.

Wilson stepped into the breach of a mid-season Bellard departure three years ago.

He's beaten arch-rival Texas two years in a row. Texas A&M has been playing football for 67 years and never beaten the Longhorns three consecutive times.

Wilson can accomplish on Thanksgiving Day a feat which eluded D.X. Bible, Homer Norton, Bryant, Stallings and Bellard.

But Aggie Heaven won't be enough to save Wilson. It's been 14 years since the Cotton Bowl. Every Southwest Conference team has been to the bowl since the Aggies except for Rice, Texas Christian and Texas Tech.

The winds of change are blowing strong at Texas A&M. There's a new president, and a new head of the Board of Regents.

Athletic Director Marvin Tate is gone, caught up in the revolving door.

There's been NO vote of confidence for Wilson's job. You get the picture. Wilson's days as head coach are numbered.

Arkansas did Wilson in last Saturday.

He broke down and cried after the 10-7 loss. Wilson knew what was at stake. Get to the Cotton Bowl or else.

During the game he had turned down a 34-yard field goal attempt to go for it on fourth and one. The gamble failed.

"I'll second-guess myself the rest of my life on that call," Wilson said later. "It might be best for all concerned if they did fire me."

A&M has two games left and is reportedly in contention for a minor bowl such as the Independence Bowl in Shreveport.

Three in a row won't help there, either.

Rumors are abundant on Wilson's replacement.

The names of Stallings, San Diego Charger defensive coordinator Jack Pardee, and Southern California defensive coordinator R.C. Slocum have already been bandied about.

One report has Tulane Athletic Director Hindman with coming to A&M and bringing Coach Vince Gibson with him.

Another report has the Aggie combining the athletic director's job and the head coaching job to lure a big name.

There will be a lot of talent on the Aggie football team next fall, including quarterback Gary Kublak and sensational running back Johnny Hector.

The new coach who answers A&M's want ad will be blessed with plenty of tools to win.

But you've got to win big if you want to retire in College Station. It's been a long time since anyone has and that's why they keep changing the name on the coach's office door.

Cowboys, Bears Clash Thursday

IRVING, Texas (AP) — The first of three obstacles to the Dallas Cowboys' capture of the National Conference Eastern Division title looms ahead Thanksgiving Day in the form of the Chicago Bears.

The Cowboys must defeat Chicago, Baltimore and Philadelphia again to clinch the NFC East with one game remaining.

Dallas, which whipped Washington 24-10 Sunday, defeated Philadelphia earlier in the season. The Eagles were upset 20-10 by the New York Giants Sunday and dropped into a 3-3 tie with Dallas in the division.

"Coach (Tom) Landry asked the team if we wanted to make the playoffs," said fullback Ron Springs. "We said we would do whatever it takes. The coach said that if we really wanted to win the division that we would have to work harder in team meetings and do a lot of things we hadn't been doing."

The Cowboys will only get three days rest before the Bears come calling Thursday.

Quarterback Danny White threw two touchdown passes but the Cowboys were plagued by numerous penalties.

"We were sloppy," said White. "But I tell you that if we ever put it all together they will have to realign the league."

"We move the ball all over the field then somebody makes a mistake and gets a penalty and it's all over. That's been the pattern all season."

Strong safety Charlie Waters said the Cowboys' defense was close to clicking.

"We were on the edge of domination" against Washington," said Waters. "This team would like to be perfect, but we aren't. We looked good, not great."

The Cowboys said they didn't mind playing two games in five days because they get a 10-day break before they have to play again.

Horns Bruised, Says Texas Coach

By JACK KEEVER Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Senior defensive backs Bobby Johnson and Mike Hatchett could join tackles Kenneth Sims and Mark Weber on the sidelines with injuries when Texas seeks to snap a two-game losing streak to Texas A&M on Thursday.

"We are bruised up pretty well," Texas Coach Fred Akers said Monday.

Both teams got bowl bids after victories last Saturday. Texas will play Alabama in the Cotton Bowl on Jan. 1, and A&M will play Oklahoma State in the Independence Bowl at Shreveport, La., on Dec. 12.

"Emotionally not with it" was how Akers described his team's attitude in its 13-7 and 24-14 losses to A&M in 1979 and 1980.

A&M would set a record in the series that began in 1894 by beating Texas for a third straight time.

Akers noted at his weekly news conference Monday that at one point in the Cotton Bowl-clinching 34-12 victory over Baylor on Saturday seven Texas defensive starters were out with injuries.

Texas has the second-ranked defense in college football but has lost Sims and Weber for the remainder of the season with leg injuries. Cornerback Mike Hatchett has groin pulls, and safety Bobby Johnson has a fractured wrist.

Running back Rodney Tate will miss the A&M game with a bruised thigh, and the team's No. 1 rusher, A.J. "Jam" Jones, has a strained knee and ran only one time in the second half against Baylor.

Modern Thanksgiving Might Give Pilgrims A Shock

By STEVE WILSON
Associated Press Writer
PLYMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — The Pilgrims and Indians who celebrated the first Thanksgiving 360 years ago might be shocked to see how the holiday is celebrated in modern America.

For one thing, the original event likely took place in October — not November. And the main dish was probably venison, not turkey.

"The Pilgrims would have been horrified to hear it called Thanksgiving," said Jim Baker, research librarian for Plimoth Plantation, an exhibit depicting Pilgrim life in the 1600s.

"A Thanksgiving was one of three allowable church holidays in the calendar, a very specifically defined event. It was a declared holiday to go to church: all day. It was like a sabbath, with no games or recreation.

"The whole thing (today) would have struck them as kind of odd," Baker said. "First you can't have a harvest in New England in late November. Second, it's a secular event."

Laurence Pizer, director of the Pilgrim Society here, says the first celebration apparently took place in mid-October of 1621.

When 102 passengers of the Mayflower landed in Plymouth — originally spelled Plimoth — on Dec. 21, 1620, they didn't realize how tough it would be to establish the first successful colony in the New World.

Half of them died during the first terrible winter, but in the spring they met Squanto, the last surviving member of the Patuxet Indian tribe, which had been wiped out by a plague. They learned to plant corn, catch herring for fertilizer and tap maple trees for sap.

The colony thrived during the first summer. Grateful for a plentiful harvest, Gov. William Bradford called for a celebration.

The 50 Pilgrims invited the Wampanoag Indians to join them, and Chief Massasoit brought 90 braves and five deer with him. The festival lasted until the food ran out — at least three days.

Besides venison, they feasted on turkey, cod, sea bass, wild fowl, pumpkin, squash, Jerusalem artichoke, beach plums, beans and corn.

Despite the success of the first festival, the Pilgrims and Indians were not back for a harvest bash the next year.

"The next year they had a flop, a bad harvest," Baker said. "The Fortune, the second ship, arrived next year without adequate provisions."

The Thanksgiving custom spread from Plymouth to other New England colonies, but for many years there was no regular national Thanksgiving Day in the United States. President Lincoln proclaimed the last Thursday in November 1863 as a Thanksgiving day.

Plymouth will be the site of Thanksgiving observances Thursday, but the modern-day Pilgrims and Indians will not be celebrating together.

Townfolk and visitors will gather at Plymouth Rock for a re-enactment of the Pilgrims' procession to worship, then attend an ecumenical service and a public turkey dinner at Memorial Hall.

But the Wampanoag tribe, which for many years considered Thanksgiving a day of mourning, will for the second year in a row observe a "Day of Awakening," said John Peters, head of the Massachusetts Commission on Indian Affairs.

Civilian Dealers Filing Suit Against Military Liquor Stores

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A lawsuit filed by civilian liquor dealers asks a federal court to close three military liquor stores it claims are being operated illegally at Fort Sam Houston and Lackland and Randolph Air Force Bases.

The federal lawsuit, filed Monday on behalf of eight civilian liquor dealers and the San Antonio Package Store Association, charged that the military liquor stores were being operated in violation of Army, Air Force and Department of Defense regulations.

It further alleged that the military package stores are unfairly competing with civilian package stores and are not collecting hundreds of thousands of dollars in state, city and transit district sales taxes on millions of dollars in liquor taken off base, as required by state law.

Named as defendants were Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger, Secretary of the Army John O. Marsh Jr., Secretary of the Air Force Verne Orr and Texas Comptroller Bob Bullock, who is in charge of collecting the state and local sales taxes.

The suit, filed by attorneys Gerald Goldenstein and Stanley Eisenberg, alleged that current conditions "do not and would not warrant the establishment of such package liquor stores to unfairly compete with the private sector at a time when the Congress of the United States has conducted hearings determining alcohol abuse to be a demonstrable and significant factor crippling our military's ability to perform its primary function to protect and defend."

Public affairs spokesmen at the three bases said they would have no detailed comment until base commanders and attorneys have a chance to read the 19-page suit. But all three spokesmen denied the allegation that the base liquor stores were not in compliance with military regulations and laws.

"We followed regulations all the way down the line, precisely," said Maris Jones at Fort Sam Houston, where a package store was opened last July. "We're not collecting taxes because we don't have to collect tax, because there's no requirement that we do so. We're not violating any laws."

"We complied with Air Force regulations in applying for permission to open the store. Other than that I can't comment on the litigation," added spokesman Joe McAnally at Lackland, which opened a package store last January.

"I can assure you we did follow the regulations to the crossing of the T's and dotting of the I's," said Doug Moore at Randolph, where a liquor store has operated since 1968.

Ms. Jones, McAnally and Moore all vehemently denied the suit's allegation that the base stores sell liquor on Sundays or at hours later than civilian stores.

Goldenstein charged at a news conference Monday that military personnel and retirees were buying "hordes" of liquor at the base stores at prices 10 percent below civilian stores and without paying the 5.5 percent sales tax, to the detriment of free enterprise.

The lawsuit said the liquor sales of one of the plaintiffs, Valley Hi Beer Shop, "dropped 80 percent within weeks of the opening of the Lackland Package Liquor Store" that the civilian store, owned by James and Helen Gerards, was forced out of business. Other liquor businesses have suffered substantial sales losses, the suit added.

The base stores, the suit charged, have not taken effective "control measures" to keep servicemen from purchasing more liquor than they personally consume. The attorneys alleged that bootlegging of the lower-priced liquor has taken place since the stores opened and that higher rates of liquor-related arrests have taken place at and near military installations.

The suit asked for unspecified damages and fees, in addition to injunctions closing the base liquor stores or forcing them collect sales taxes on liquor taken off-base.

Game Giving License To 'Kill' Making Profit For Fraternity

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Assassination, about 100 students at Sam Houston State University have discovered, is profitable and a great way to meet people.

And although the "killers," participants in a game called "Killing As Organized Sport," have drawn criticism from a campus religious group, their guns fire nothing more potent than rubber-tipped darts and their victims' deaths are only make-believe.

"We're not advocating killing, but we wanted to let the campus know about Phi Mu Alpha and raise some money and we've sure gotten a lot of free publicity," said Robert Stanton, a 19-year-old sophomore from Conroe who is one of the game's coordinators.

The Sam Houston State version of the game, generally known by its acronym, KAOS, began Nov. 9 after members of the school's professional music fraternity heard about a competition at the University of Texas.

Participants willing to pay the $3.50 entry fee receive a dart gun, a dart, the name and a picture of their victim and a "death certificate." The participants also have their pictures taken and become potential victims.

Trophies are offered for the most bloodthirsty agent, the most dramatic kill and the most elusive victim.

"We expected a lot more criticism than we've gotten," Stanton said. "Some woman did get the idea we were really killing people and called up upset, but that's about it.

"We've gotten a lot of cooperation. The campus newspaper is running the victims' obituaries and so is the radio station. It's all for fun and it's a great way to meet people."

Stanton said Phi Mu Alpha doesn't have a lot of money and garage sales, car washes have been tried unsuccessfully.

The fraternity hopes to raise between $350 and $500, "but we're not going to spend it on beer or parties. We'd like to build a display case for music department trophies and other projects," Stanton said.

Despite the group's intentions, the director of the Baptist Student Union wants to have the game cancelled.

"I think it's appalling," said Director Don Coleman. "We've got enough problems with people killing one another without this. Some twisted mind could get in on that and carry it out."

The Rev. Ron Petty, a Bible instructor at the college, said he also opposes the game "because it just promotes the idea of violence."

And the fraternity's faculty adviser, David Marks, said the group "just sort of sprang it on me. I didn't know they'd started it. My initial reaction was dismay, but even if I had known before they started it, I doubt I would have stopped it."

But others have met the game with enthusiasm.

"Some guys have a real lust in their eyes," said David Little, a 21-year-old senior from Texas City. "Some of them thought they could sign up to kill anybody they wanted to and they were disappointed when they found out we assigned them and it had to be somebody else in the game."

Man In Custody For Drug Overdose Deaths

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — A man who worked as a nurse at several hospitals where patients died of drug overdoses was arrested Monday night and booked for investigation on 12 charges of murder, authorities said.

Robert R. Diaz, 44, was arrested on a warrant in Apple Valley by the district attorney and coroner's investigators, said Sgt. Renee Shoemaker, a spokeswoman for the Riverside County Sheriff's Department.

Assistant Riverside County District Attorney Thomas Hollenhorst, said prosecutors will seek the death penalty in the case.

Diaz was arrested for investigation in the deaths of 11 patients at Community Hospital of the Valleys in Peris and another patient at San Geronimo Pass Hospital in Banning between March 30 and April 25. The patients allegedly died from massive overdoses of the heart drug Lidocaine.

Diaz was being held in Riverside County Jail. He is scheduled to be arraigned Tuesday, with a preliminary hearing in about 10 days.

The motive for the alleged killings is "still under investigation," Hollenhorst said.

Banks At Odds Over IRA Accounts Decision

NEW YORK (AP) — A victory for the public, said Llewellyn Jenkins, representing commercial bankers. "Arrogant and irresponsible," said William O'Connell, speaking for savings and loan associations.

Despite their differences, the two gentlemen say they are thinking of your interests, which of course is the way one builds support for his cause. But in this instance the rhetoric really does involve you.

A bit of background: The comments followed a decision to eliminate interest rate ceilings on individual retirement savings accounts opened after Nov. 30. Banks had sought a free market; S&Ls wanted limitations.

The S&Ls are fuming. They say the Depository Institutions Deregulation Committee is biased toward banks, that it ignored the mortgage needs of homebuyers, that the decision chops another leg from under the S&Ls, already in trouble because of high interest rates and bank competition.

Thrifty have a particular interest in home mortgage loans, such loans having made up the bulk of their business in years gone by.

Because the nation had a commitment to housing, and because thrifty were chartered to lend to homebuyers, regulators limited the interest they paid on small savings accounts. In turn, this allowed them to make home mortgage loans at correspondingly low interest rates.

Deregulation has been removing those protections. Now the S&Ls see themselves being pitched into an unfair battle for savings with the commercial banks, which generally are far bigger and more powerful.

Leonard Shane, vice chairman of the U.S. League and president of Mercury Savings & Loan Association, Huntington Beach, Calif., presented the case in an interview prior to the latest decision.

"During the past four or five years this country has not assumed its commitment to housing," he said. "It used to be a national priority, a socio-economic priority, but lately we've slipped into assuming it remains when it really doesn't. It has been eroded by neglect.

"There is no way we can have housing and a level economic playing field, that is, total deregulation in the credit markets. We didn't get to where we are in housing by competing with steels, cosmetics and the U.S. government. We had de facto credit regulation."

Housing was the beneficiary of regulation, which allowed S&Ls, which made most of the home mortgage loans, to pay one-quarter of one percent more than commercial banks on passbook savings. That differential is disappearing. Increasingly, thrifty must compete with others for money.
