Schools start tutorial program

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN Staff Writer

Hereford Independent School District administrators and teachers have adopted a positive way of looking at the new state-mandated tutorial program.

"We have to have it, so we're trying to make it the best we can," summed up, Mark Williamson, assistant superintendent for instruction. "I think it's going to help a lot of the students.'

The after-school tutoring sessions are scheduled to start the week of Oct. 15, which is when the first report cards are to be sent home. With no more than eight students to attend each class, the district will assign a minimum of one teacher per grade at elementary and intermediate campuses and one per subject at the

Adopting positive approach

Students will be referred to a tutor by their classroom teachers, who will inform the parents of the student's lack of progress before the assignment is made.

In the lower grades, the instructor can refer any student who is on or below grade level and not mastering the suggested objectives in reading, language arts or mathematics.

Students in grades seven through 12 who do not appear to be grasping the essential elements of a math, English, social studies or science can be referred to a tutor.

Williamson said tutoring sessions are planned for Tuesdays and Thursdays on the elementary and intermediate campuses, beginning at 2:55 and 3:35 p.m., respectively. All sessions are supposed to last 45

At the high school and junior high buildings, 45-minute sessions will be held on Monday through Thursday. A different subject is to be taught each Instructors will be paid $10 per session, a figure Williamon said the school administration came up with. The state did not suggest a pay scale. An interesting point about the program, Williamson pointed out, is that while the state says the district must offer tutoring, the referred student will not be forced to attend.

"However," the district states in a written policy guideline, "parents should realize that students who do not master the required material are subject to assignment to summer school and-or retention."

"Since we're not providing transportation," Williamson explained, "we didn't feel it was in the best interests of the district to make it mandatory."

The program is especially important, Williamson feels, because of the strict language used in House Bill 72 regarding student promotion. According to the bill, social promotion will no longer be allowed. Students may be promoted from one grade to the next only on the basis of their academic achievement.

Teachers have been cooperative about instituting the program, Williamson reported. He believes the instructors have a good attitude because they know it will help the students, and also because they realize it is mandated and not op-

Two child welfare laws debut during October By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN

Staff Writer

October ushered in two state laws concerning child welfare; one takes effect at the beginning of the month and the other at the end.

Effective Tuesday was an amendment to Chapter 22 of the Texas Penal Code which makes it an offense to "intentionally or knowingly" leave a child in a motor vehicle for longer than five minutes if the child is younger than seven years of age.

The law also says that if another child is left to tend the youngster who is not yet seven years old, the older, child must be at least 14 years of age. The offense is a Class C misdemeanor, punishable by fine up to

The other law, one that has met with some criticism, requires that children under the age of four be restrained by either a safety seat or seat belt while riding in a moving motor vehicle.

For children younger than two, an infant or child restraint system that meets the federal standards for crash-tested restraint systems as set by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration must be proOne on Tuesday

If the child is between the ages of two and four, he can be restrained in either a car seat or a seat belt.

Wayne Beighle, safety education trooper at the Department of Public Safety office in Amarillo, said only the lap belt should be used. The shoulder harness, he said, usually strikes a child of that age right across the neck area and could cause injuries in the event of an accident.

An amendment to Section 1 of the Uniform Act Regulating Traffic on Highways, the law goes into effect Oct. 31. However, to give parents time to obtain the necessary equipment, the law will not be enforced until Jan. 1.

"Oct. 31 through Jan. 1 is the time to educate people," Beighle explained. "They say it takes 21 days to form a habit, and it's time to get the kids used to riding in their car

Even after law enforcement officers start issuing tickets, the person who has not yet purchased a car seat can avoid the $25 to $50 fine.

"If they can show the judge proof, within 10 days of the offense, that they have obtained a safety seat, the charges will be dropped," Beighle pointed out.

Beighle said it is also important to secure the child in the manner suggested by the manufacturer of the safety system. "For infants, some will suggest the seat be placed facing the rear of the car," he gave as an example.

The driver is exempt from the law on those occasions when there are several persons in the car and all the safety belts are being used. Day care centers or other organizations that transport several children at a time are also exempt.

"They tell us that 90 percent of child fatalities will be done away with if parents restrain their children," Beighle said. "In this age group, 78 kids were killed in the state last year.'

No bail set for FBI spy

By LINDA DEUTSCH Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A 20-year FBI veteran offered the Soviet Union a "very detailed" picture of U.S. intelligence activities for $50,000 in gold and $15,000 cash, authorities said after the first-ever spy charge against an FBI agent.

Special Agent Richard W. Miller was held without bail after his arrest Wednesday because "flight is a real strong risk," said Assistant U.S. Attorney Ray Edwards.

Authorities also arrested and detained without bail two Soviet emigres accused of conspiring with Miller

Miller, was counterintelligence agent in the FBI's Los Angeles Office and was supposed to prevent foreign infiltration of American intelligence activities. He was charged with conspiring to gather defense information to aid a foreign government, which carries a maximum penalty of life in prison, and fired on Tuesday.

FBI Director William H. Webster, appearing glum at a Washington press conference, said the damage to U.S. security is not irreparable. The FBI still is conducting a "damage assessment" in the case and "a great deal more work is still to be done,"

According to an FBI affidavit, Miller admitted he was in financial trouble and demanded the gold and cash for supplying Svetlana Ogorodnikov, 34, an alleged KGB major, and her estranged husband, Nikolay Ogorodnikov, 51, with classified FBI documents.

Government sources in Washington, speaking only on the condition that they not be identified, said that Miller and Mrs. Ogorodnikov may also have been having a sexual relationship.

The affidavit said Miller detailed personal, professional and financial problems" and "she seemed sympathetic."

Miller, arrested at his home in the rural San Diego County community of Bonsall, was to return to federal court in San Diego today for arraignment. He appeared before a magistrate Wednesday.

The Ogorodnikovs, arrested at their Fairfax apartment, were arraigned in a packed Los Angeles courtroom. Soviet natives who emigrated here in 1973, the Ogorodnikovs claimed to be destitute. The FBI said they were receiving welfare

The FBI affidavit said that around Aug. 12, Mrs. Ogorodnikov identified herself for the first time as a major in the Soviet intelligence agency and asked Miller if he would be willing to work for the KGB.

Miller allegedly turned over a 26-page report titled "Reporting Guidance: Foreign Intelligence In-

General, gentle rainfall occurs

A general, and gentle, rainfall covered most of the Hereford area Wednesday night with .85 of an inch recorded as the official measurement in the city.

The rain varied in amounts across the county, but the .85 of an inch seemed to be the average measurement. The moisture, as always, was a blessing to many farmers and a brief liability to others.

The rainfall will slow the corn harvest and was not welcomed by cotton farmers. However, it was a real blessing for wheat crops and many farmers were looking at both sides of the weather picture. The rain was not expected to hurt the sugarbeet harvest. The early crops were almost in and beet piles at the Holly Sugar plant were low Some farmers were still waiting on the moisture content to drop before harvesting their corn, and the rains will slow that process even more. Some of the corn is still too green to cut. A July hailstorm damaged some of the county corn crops.

September fire activity noted

Hereford Volunteer Firemen were called out 26 times last month, including 10 times for rescue and vehicle operations.

In addition to two ammonia leaks, there were also eight structure fires, a smoke scare and grass and dumpster blazes. Fifteen calls were within city limits, 10 within Deaf Smith County and the other one outside the county.

Through September, volunteers have answered 227 alarms this year, a 10 percent drop from 1983. One hundred forty-five have been in the city of Hereford, 104 in the county and four elsewhere.

Fires in buildings have totalled 56, 33 involving serious damage. Inspections for the year total 121, with 77 of them business and the other 44 residential.

Mike Watts leads the volunteer firemen with 186 calls answered, which amounts to more than 91 percent. Steve Cortez is not far behind, having helped out on 185 occasions. David Kreig boasts 180

Convicted killer faces death

Dalling, TX 952--

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) - A man convicted of killing a state trooper 10 years ago could be executed as early as November even though the condemned man's accomplice has confessed to the crime, attorneys say.

The U.S. Supreme Court Monday denied an appeal from 48-yearold Doyle Edward Skillern, who was convicted and sentenced to die for his role in the 1974 death of a Texas Department of Public Safety narcotics agent.

Skillern's attorneys had argued before the high court that prosecutors never proved their client killed the narcotics agent or intended for anyone to die. The Supreme Court rejected these arguments.

Testimony during a series of trials indicated that Skillern's accomplice actually murdered the undercover agent, and defense attorneys said the case raises serious questions about the fairness of Defense attorneys said they will request a rehearing, but if it is denied, Skillern could be executed as early as November.

Eleven-year-old shot in raid

WESLACO, Texas (AP) - A man who ambushed four people and allegedly shot an 11-year-old boy eight times was "dressed in camouflaged clothing and ready to go to war," police say.

The 48-year-old gunman, who toted a shotgun and a .44-caliber Magnum, remained in Hidalgo County Jail today and was expected to be charged with aggravated assault, said Hidalgo County Sheriff's Capt. John Lara.

Police say the man was fed up with a rash of burglaries at this South Texas trailer park about 20 miles west of Harlingen and decided Wednesday to do something about them.

Lara said the man put electronic gear, including two televisions and stereo equipment, in plain view of a road about 1,000 yards from the trailer park and then hid close to the stashed goods, waiting.

A vehicle in which the boy, his father and two other people were riding then pulled up, Lara said.

"Apparently, there was no attempt by them to get near the property," Lara said. "The guy just opened fire on them without warning."

School's safety procedures eyed

NACOGDOCHES, Texas (AP) - Safety procedures at Stephen F. Austin State University are going to get a stiff review after both stairwells of a 14-story dormitory were mistakenly blocked with smoke bombs during a fire drill, officials say.

The ensuing panic at the Garner apartment complex Tuesday resulted in six smoke inhalation injuries and forced the evacuation of about 100 students.

"The entire safety program is under review," SFA spokesman Ken Kennamer said Wednesday. "I think it is safe to say there will not be another fire drill until the review is through, and I think it is a safe bet that smoke bombs will not be used again.

On Wednesday, students were angry about what happened. "This is the first time in my life I thought I was going to die. I thought I'd lose my life right there," Michael Olivarez, a 22-year-old pre-dental major from Richmond, Texas, told the Dallas Morning

He said that when he heard the alarms, saw the fire engine outside and found the stairwell full of smoke Tuesday night, he thought his dorm was burning.

Bush upset at IRS ruling

News. "I think it's a dirty little thing to do."

TULSA, Okla. (AP) - Vice President George Bush, complaining "they socked it to me," is battling an Internal Revenue Service ruling that hit him with $198,000 in extra taxes and interest by rejecting his claim that his seashore estate in Maine - not his home in Washington - is his chief residence.

The IRS increased Bush's tax bill last March after disallowing a tax deferral the vice president claimed in 1981 on profits from the sale of his Houston home, profits which he sought to "roll over" when he purchased his property in Maine.

"I think I've been singled out, but let's let the courts decide," said Bush, who later added that he didn't think he was being singled out personally but rather as the holder of the vice presidency.

The vice president's dispute with the government came to light Wednesday with the disclosure of his personal income taxes for 1981 through 1983. For the three years, Bush paid 37.4 percent of his adjusted gross income as federal taxes.

Put another way, the vice president had an adjusted gross income of $810,447 during the period and paid $303,421 in federal taxes.

Government's losses 'modest'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Government losses from its $4.5 billion rescue of Continental Illinois National Bank will be "comparatively modest," the head of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. predicted

FDIC Chairman William M. Isaac defended his agency's rescue of the giant Chicago bank last July and said any other approach would have cost the government much more in losses.

Isaac's defense came in prepared remarks before a House Banking subcommittee as it opened a second round of hearings into the near-collapse of one of the country's largest banks.

In earlier hearings, House Banking Committee Chairman Fernand St Germain, D-R.I., charged that the federal bailout could cost the government as much as $3 billion.

Isaac said while it was not possible to make an accurate forecast at this time, "we believe that any FDIC losses will be comparatively modest, and there is a possibility of a gain."

Thousands of caribous drown

KUUJJUAQ, Quebec (AP) - At least 7,100 migrating caribou trying to ford swollen rivers in the Far North drowned last-weekend, and another huge herd is approaching the same treacherous stretch of rapids and waterfalls.

Government environmentalists and local Inuit natives traveled up the Koksoak River by canoe Wednesday to decide whether to airlift or float out the carcasses - perhaps as many as 22,000 - strewn along the banks of the Caniapiscau and Koksoak rivers.

"A lot of (the caribou) are on the bank along the river and unless they're removed the water quality in the river is going to deteriorate quite a bit," said Michael Barrett, an environmentalist with the Kativik regional government.

Inuit leaders blamed the high water levels and deadly currents on Hydro-Quebec for allowing too much water through its dam on the Caniapiscau River, which feeds the Koksoak River. But the power company blamed the slaughter on torrential rains last month.

Barrett said Newfoundland and Quebec biologists counted 7,100

News Roundup Congress views spending bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - Most of the federal government opened for business today with an empty till as Congress struggled to enact an emergency spending bill and officials debated whether to send some workers home until the legislation is

With more yawns than debate, the Senate kept itself in session past dawn. The more than 20-hour session stretched well past the midnight Wednesday expiration of a stopgap government spending measure.

But, as federal employees reported to work, the Senate seemed to be nearing a vote to pass the measure and keep the government solvent.

Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., gave his Senate colleagues a pre-dawn pat on the back for resisting the temptation to attach amendments to the measure that would have changed foreign aid programs, water policy and various social and legal issues such as civil rights, abortion and court-ordered school busing.

In a victory for President Reagan, the Senate kept the administration's crime-fighting program in the money bill - voting 97-0 to defeat a motion to kill the provision.

The chamber also voted 60-36 not to include in the bill a broad, new federal water policy that would have forced local governments in the nation to pay more for projects such as harbors and barge canals.

But the Senate's tardiness in passing the overall measure still left the bulk of the government technically "The country has now ceased to have money to run," Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., chairman of the Appropriations Committee, said shortly before 1 a.m. EDT in an effort to quicken the Senate's pace in completing the measure.

Action on the long-term money bill, and the expiring stopgap measure, became necessary because only four of 13 regular appropriations bills for fiscal 1985 have been signed into law. Congressional aides said a single measure encompassing nine appropriations bills is unprecedented in congressional history and will be a bill of about 1,000 pages. The government was also without cash on Monday's start of the new fiscal year while the House worked to complete passage of the temporary spending measure to tide agencies over until today.

Shutdowns of the government are threatened every year because of lapses in financing, but they rarely actually occur. There was a partial shutdown in November 1981 when workers were sent home after a halfday on the job.

Employees involved in national security, health, emergency and other essential services would not be sent home in any case.

Appropriations already have been voted for the departments of Justice, Commerce, State and Housing and Urban Development, plus the Veterans Administration, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Environmental Protection Agency.

Hereford hopes for upset of league-leading Coronado

By DENNIS BALL Sports Editor

Everybody wants to win football games, Coronado High School football coach Kenneth Wallace said, and Hereford's 1-3 record in 1984 should be an added incentive for the Whitefaces Friday when they meet the Mustangs at 7:30 p.m. in a District 3-5A contest at Lubbock's Lowery Field.

"It's going to be a real good football game," Wallace said Wednesday. "I expect Hereford to come back this week and play the best game they've played all year."

Coronado is tied with Plainview for the 3-5A leadership at 3-0 in league play. Overall, the Mustangs are 3-1.

The Mustangs feature an explosive offense. Running back Chris Moore perhaps is the most serious offensive threat for the Mustangs. Moore is a three-year starter for Coronado, running for more than 1,000 yards his sophomore season.

"Moore is who they'll go to," Hereford coach Jerry Taylor said. "When he is at fullback, they probably will run the trap and sprint draw to him. When he is at tailback, they like to run the sweep."

Moore has played both positions this fall, but Wallace figures to use him at the fullback spot Friday. Moore already had rushed for 463 yards on 53 carries (8.7 yards per

The rushing attack of the Mustangs has performed so well in fact that Coronado quarterback Brad Tussy has had to throw only 22 times this season.

With Moore scheduled to start at fullback, Wallace plans to use 5-7. 183-pound Jeff Flennor at tailback in the I-formation. Taylor is concerned about Flennor, too.

"They'll come at you with both of them," he said. "We've got to stop both running backs."

For World Series berth

Detroit goes home looking for victory

By DOUG TUCKER AP Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - The home team stands 1-13 in games between Detroit and Kansas City this year, which is no comfort to the Royals and seems not to worry the Tigers one bit. The hard-to-figure home field disadvantage between the two American League division winners could go to 2-15 and still the American League pennant would fly from Tiger Stadium. The Tigers have two victories in the bank and need to win just one of the three weekend games in Detroit for their first World Series apparance since 1968. The best-of-five series shifts to Detroit for Game 3 Friday night. The Royals won five of six games at Tiger Stadium this year. "It's a five-game series and that's the way we'll have to play it," said a smiling Aurelio Lopez, who tossed three innings of four-hit relief to get the victory in Detroit's 5-3 eleveninning conquest Wednesday night. But if we go less than five games, it's all the better for us.

The Tigers, whose 104 victories were the envy of every other major league club this year, battered their hosts 8-1 in Tuesday night's opener. They came back to beat the Royals' best in a nail-biter of a second game. John Grubb, hitting a pitch Dan Quisenberry said "might not have done what I wanted it to do," doubled home two runs in the eleventh.

It was the ninth straight victory here for the Tigers, the first team to sweep a season series in Royals Stadium since the facility opened in 1973. And it was a bitter loss for the Royals, who won the West with an 84-victory record which many baseball purists sneered at.

When you lose like we did Tuesday night, you know there wasn't much you could do about it," said Manager Dick Howser, whose postseason record as a field boss has dropped to an embarrassing 0-8. "But tonight, a game like this, this to feel confident after a game like this, but we'll regroup.

The Royals knotted it at 3-3 in the eighth. Quisenberry, who set a Major League record with 45 saves last season and led the league with 43 this year, started the ninth. Lance Parrish singled off the glove of a diving Greg Pryor at third leading off the Next was Darrell Evans, who tried to sacrifice but wound up safe when Don Slaught failed to pick the ball up cleanly. The next sacrifice attempt ordered by Tiger Manager Sparky Anderson .. backfired, Quisenberry throwing to third to get Parrish, the lead runner.

But Grubb, on a 1-2 pitch, hit a Quisenberry sinker into the gap in takes something out of you. It's hard right-center to score both r

"He started me with a fastball and then he came at me with a breaking ball," said Grubb.

Said Quisenberry: "He hit a sinkerball. Apparently, it didn't sink very well."

Howser merely smiled when asked about his dismal playoff record. He was the New York Yankee manager in 1980 when the Royals swept him three straight. He was the Royals' manager in 1981 when Billy Martin's Oakland A's swept three in a row in the mini-playoffs in the strikeruptured season.

"I'm not worried about it," he said. "It won't stay this bad," he said. "It will change."

Padres forced to sweep

Cubs win again, 4-2

CHICAGO (AP) - The San Diego Padres are locked in a precarious situation and the only way out will be a possible but improbable threegame sweep over the versatile Chicago Cubs.

Noted for their power, the Cubs resorted to daredevil base running Wednesday for a 4-2 victory over the Padres and a 2-0 lead in their best-. of-5 National League Championship

Thus, the series could end tonight in San Diego, where the teams resume the competition after the flight west. If the Cubs don't get that one victory they need to get into their first World Series since 1945 tonight, they have chances again Saturday and Sunday in the Padres' park.

"Anything can happen but we're hoping to close it out tomorrow night," said Bob Dernier, whose base-running figured in two of the Cubs' runs Wednesday.

No team in the NL has ever come back from a two-game deficit to win a pennant although Milwaukee did it in 1982 to defeat California in the American League playoffs.

"We know their backs are against the wall, but we still have to go out their and play with the same intensity we have had all season," said Der-

"A 2-0 lead in a short series is a good feeling," said Keith Moreland, who scored all the way from first base on a double by Ron Cey to set up a two-run third and a 3-0 lead which left-hander Steve Trout never relinquished.

Dernier, who started Tuesday's 13-0 romp with a leadoff homer, opened the Chicago first Wednesday with a single. Ryne Sandberg grounded to third baseman Luis Salazar and while Salazar was throwing Sandberg out at first, Dernier raced to third and then scored as Gary Matthews grounded out.

With one out in the third, Moreland singled. Cey followed with a double to leftcenter and Moreland, not noted for his speed, raced all the way home to score. The throw home also enabled Cey to take third from where he scored on Jody Davis' sacrifice fly.

"When I was halfway to third, Don (Zimmer) waived me. I knew the play would be close and when the ball got by the catcher (Terry Kennedy) I was in. The big play was getting Cey to third."

The Padres never recovered although they finally scored a run in the fourth when Tony Gwynn, the National League batting champion, doubled, went to third on a ground out and scored on Kevin McReynolds' sacrifice fly.

The Cubs got this run back immediately. Trout singled but was forced by Dernier. Dernier stole second and scored on Sandberg's dou-

"We were trying to peck away," said Padres' Manager Dick Williams, "but that hit (Sandberg's) gave them a three-run lead again and that was important. Trout was throwing strikes and worked out of the little trouble he was in."

Williams refused to use the breaks the Cubs have had as an excuse.

"You make your own breaks," he said, "The Chicago club has played great. Our backs are against the wall but we'll be going to our own park and that'll be an advantage. We have to win the next three, that's all there's to it."

NOPEN & SHUT CASE

Sure, your bolls will open sooner or later But new PREP™ ethephon plant regulator builds a very strong case for opening them a lot sooner. And all

First, only PREP can open up to 95% of your mature bolls. It actually releases ethylene nature's ripening agent—inside the cotton plant. This speeds the ripening process, so you can harvest almost all your cotton with just one pick. Sell it at a first pick price. And usually save the labor and fuel expense of an additional picking.

Second, PREP plant regulator lets you harvest 7 to 14 days earlier than usual. So your cotton is safely out of the field before late season pests and frosty, wet weather get to it.

Also, witness the enhanced defoliation you get with PREP It helps eliminate the need for a second defoliant spray. And sheds late season squares and bolls that do nothing but feed overwintering insects.

Finally, PREP plant regulator brings order to your cotton harvest. You spray a different portion of your crop every few days, then harvest in sequence to maximize your use of time

The verdict clean, high quality cotton, bottom crop to top. And a first pick price for a whole field of first pick cotton.

Judge for yourself Spray your crop with PREP, and build your own strong case for higher quantity, higher quality cotton yields.

CBS back on top in ratings

LOS ANGELES (AP) - CBS grabbed the top two spots of the Nielsen ratings for the first week of the fall season as millions of viewers tuned in "Dallas" and "Falcon Crest" to end a summer of suspense and find out who shot who and who survived.

"Dallas" was first and "Falcon Crest" was second for the week ended Sept. 30 as the nighttime soap operas returned with solutions to the summer-long suspense engendered by their cliffhanger plots.

CBS — last year's top network thus was first at the official start of the season after a summer in which it frequently fell behind ABC and NBC. Last week it was third, behind first-place ABC. ABC dropped to third this week and NBC remained in second place.

NBC was out of the cellar during the premiere week for the first time since 1980, but ABC made its worst showing since 1962.

NBC's "The Cosby Show," first the week before with its premiere show, was third. Situation comedy may be making a comeback after last year's dismal showing in the ratings -NBC's "Cheers" and "Family Ties" also made the Top 10. Another NBC comedy, "Night Court," was 15th.

In fourth place was ABC's "Dynasty," returning with cliffhanger solutions of its own. It was ABC's only showing in the Top 10.

The first week's ratings appear to back what the experts were saying all summer: that this could be the tighest three-network ratings race in years. ABC was strong all summer, and now NBC is showing ratings strength. NBC placed five shows in the Top 10, to CBS' four. ABC's only entry was "Dynasty."

CBS was first in the A.C. Nielsen Co. survey with a network average of 17.5. NBC was second with 16.1 and ABC was third with 14.5. The networks say this means that in an 22.4 million households average prime-time minute 17.5 percent of the nation's homes with television homes were tuned to CBS.

The lowest-rated show of the week was a paid political telecast, "LaRouche for President." All the other shows in the "Bottom Five" were ABC's, inlcluding three of its new series. Here are the five lowestrated shows in descending order: ABC's "Who's the Boss?," ABC's "Hawaiian Heat," ABC's "People Do the Craziest Things," ABC's 'Ripley's Believe It or Not," and

"LaRouche for President." "The CBS Evening News" was on top again for the week. ABC's "World News Tonight" was second and NBC's "Nightly News" was third. The ratings: CBS 11.7, ABC 10.5, NBC 8.7.

Here are the top 10 shows for the week:

Annual Old Timer's Day set Sunday

Memories of the days when young men walked 20 miles to attend a country dance, water was hauled in wooden barrels to dugout sod homes, native grass was waist high and New Mexico was just a territory are just a few that will be recalled at the 47th Annual Old Timer's Day, Sunday at the Rosedale Baptist Church.

Old Timer's Association President Eldred Brown said the event is to honor the men and women who helped settle and cultivate the northern part of Curry County, N.M., which includes the communities of Grady, founded in 1904, and Hollene and Bellview, founded in 1906 and 1907

Activities will begin with church services, set for 11 a.m. at the church in Bellview. The Rev. Rondel Stovall, pastor of the Terri Haute Ind. Baptist Church, will speak. Rodell is the oldest son of W.H. Stovall, pioneer retired farmer of the Bellview community.

Now You're Cookin'

By LISA BALL Staff Writer

While most people wait in long lines hoping to be one of the few to buy a cabbage patch doll for their children for Christmas, Ann Bowling calmly sits at home with her dolls already made.

"I took a class at a sewing center in Amarillo in the middle of June and learned how to make cabbage patch dolls," Mrs. Bowling explained. "I only started because the children were interested and wanted one."

Although she does not make the birth certificates to go with each doll, she tries to give them all two names. Most of the ones she has made are for her family's Christmas presents, but she has made a few for friends. She said, however, that it is just too timeconsuming to make them for the

"It takes between five and six hours to make each doll," she said. "First I sew the bodies and heads on the sewing machine and from there it's all hand work."

After sewing the heads and bodies, she stuffs them. All the work after that is sculptured. The hands, feet and even a belly button are made by hand. The eyes are painted on with a fabric paint.

When she's making the dolls, she has five or six going at one time. For instance, she makes all the heads at one time, then all the hair.

Many individuals might find the task too tedious, but Mrs. Bowling enjoys it.

'Sewing is my main hobby," she said. "I have sewn for the girls for years.'

Her other interests include machine embroidering, reading novels and wallpapering. She spent the summer papering the bathrooms and bedrooms in her home. She is also active in the First Christian Church. She is past chairman of the education committee and is the Sunday School coordinator.

She and her husband, Tommy, are involved in two bridge clubs, and she is in one ladies night bridge club.

When she is not teaching kindergarten at Northwest, Mrs. Bowling has four children who keep her busy.

Trinetta, 18, is a freshman at the University of Texas at Arlington. She is currently working as a trainer throughout the year, and is involved with volleyball, softball and football. "She thinks she wants a degree in physical education," Mrs. Bowling said. "Or maybe orthopedics."

While attending high school here, Trinetta was also a trainer, but only for girls' athletics. She is also active 3C cider vinegar in Kanakomo Camp in Missouri. She has been both a camper and a counselor at the sports-oriented Trent, a ninth grader at La Plata, is also interested in sports.

"It's sports, sports, sports with him," Mrs. Bowling said. "He's involved in football, basketball, tennis and track."

This past summer he attended the John Wooden Basketball Camp in Trisha, a second grader at Northwest, apparently wants to follow in her older sister's footsteps and attend Kanakomo Camp next summer. Trayla, 3, is the youngest of the Bowling's children.

With everyone so wrapped up in sports, the family skis together in the

Another family event is the pulling of the bull to all the football games.

"We've been pulling the bull for the past three years," Mrs. Bowling explained. "People often stop and take pictures of it and the truckers always have lots of comments to make about it on their CBs."

When life slows down a bit and she is not making dolls or pulling the bull to games, Mrs. Bowling enjoys cooking. She shared three of her favorite

Hawkins considered baseball expert

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Burton Hawkins, who's been directly involved with baseball for 47 years and a fan for more than six decades, is an expert on the game - both the winning and, unfortunately, the losing varieties.

But Hawkins, who is retiring as media director of the Texas Rangers, nee the Washington Senators, says, 'What the hell."

"It's been a lot of fun. I've been in the toy department all my life," he said recently if asked if he had any regrets about tying his life to the diamond and an estimated 7,000 major league contests.

Then, after a moment of thought, he admitted, "I probably could have gotten richer in some other profession."

Though some fans of the Chicago Cubs would challenge, the idea that Hawkins, 70, has seen more losing baseball than most, he's certainly had his share. Hawkins' lifelong love affair with baseball started during the 1920s, when he watched the Washington Senators, led by Hall of Fame pitcher Walter Johnson and player-manager Bucky Harris. Those were the glory days for the Senators, who won the 1924 World Series their only world champion-as the Star's beat writer, the club was well on its way to earning its unofficial motto: "Washington, first in peace, first in war and last in the American League."

Over the next 21/2 decades, as Hawkins witnessed loss after loss, the Senators' chief claim to fame was the inspiration for the Broadway hit of the late 1950s, "Damn Yankees."

Still, Hawkins saw many Hall of Famers - most of whom played for the opposi-

"Certainly the most exciting hitter was Babe Ruth," he said. "For hard hitting, it was difficult to beat Ted Williams."

Walter Johnson stands at the top of Hawkins' pitching list. As far as managers went, Bucky Harris was a guy that got a lot out of bad material."

Joe McCarthy, the New York Yankees manager during the 1930s and 1940s, was another great skipper, but 'had better material," Hawkins said. Baltimore's Earl Weaver "was a damn good manager. Great strategist."

After the 1960 season; the Senators packed their bags and moved to Minnesota, but were replaced by a new Washington franchise that Hawkins went to work for as traveling secretary. The "new" Senators didn't do any better than their forefathers and finally moved to Arlington for the 1972 season along with Hawkins and the losing tradition.

the reading series was 'Baby' Ray,' which used drawings to illustrate the text. Then came 'Real Life Readers' and the story of Nancy and Bob which had photographic illustrations. What kid wouldn't be captivated by real life pictures of kids doing things they would like to do?" Scott reminisced.

This is the series I learned the one who "let the cat out of every picture.

Mrs. Bell remembers that her modeling role gave her opportunities most children didn't have. The photography was done during the Depression, but because I was getting pictures taken, I got to eat at the Southern Hotel each day. After the book was published, Dr. Martin and the publishers took me all over Texas to talk to teachers and principals to get those books adopted," she recalled.

LUFKIN, Texas (AP) - A large predawn raid targeted at suspected drug pushers should help stem the flow of narcotics traffic in East Texas, prosecutors say.

'Anytime you have 95 indictments and 80 or so defendants, you are obviously going to make a dent in the drug trafficking business," said Angelina County District Attorney Gerald Goodwin after Wednesday's raid.

The dope peddlers may still sell it, but they will wonder about it for a while now," Goodwin said. A sheriff's dispatcher said late Wednesday that almost all of the 81 people named in sealed indictments have been rounded up by sheriff's officers, Lufkin and Diboll police and the Texas Department of Public Safety. About 20 more suspects were booked into the county jail during daylight hours Wednesday after the raid, said Sandy Rains, dispatcher. Another 61 people had been taken into custody before 8 "We even had about two of them come in and turn themselves in," Ms. Rains said. "I guess they got scared.' Of the arrest warrants, 65 were for alleged delivery of controlled substances and marijuana, and another 16 were for misdemeanor drug trafficking charges, authorities said. Coyt Hight, investigator for the Angelina County district attorney's office, said law enforcement officials began the arrests at 5 a.m. "We try to do this as often as we can to try to clean them out and get them off the streets," said Hight. Undercover officers purchased marijuana, LSD, co-

Choosing in-home care for children

an in-home caregiver for young children is a serious matter for parents.

Of the children in childcare, about 85-90 percent are cared for in their own homes or in small groups in a caregiver's home, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist Diane T. Welch. The caregivers are often friends, relatives or neighbors, she adds.

Parents often prefer in-home care because it can be less expensive for two or more children, it saves the time and cost of transporting children to a day-care center, and in rural areas, it may be the only kind available, she explains.

When the in-home caregiver is a friend or relative, parents often feel awkward about asking for an interview, notes Welch. However, it's just as important to spend time talking with a friend or relative about child care, she says, since you may find your views on child care are not compatible.

"Make the time to sit down and discuss your views of child care with your friend or relative," Welch suggets. "Don't take anything for granted and tell the person what you expect of the child and what you would like a caregiver to do for and with the child."

Just because the caregiver is a friend or relative, don't avoid the issues of work time, the fee and agreement on how to end the services, she cautions. Getting business matters settled may help preserve a position relationship between parents and the caregiver.

According to Welch, a family life

sion Service, any potential caregiver, whether a friend, relative or stranger, should be carefully interviewed before hiring. She suggests asking questions such as:

• What kind of TV programs do you think children should watch?

· What activities do you think are good for children?

· What do you do when a child disobeys?

· What do you do when you become angry with a child? · What are some things you do with children to help them learn?

 What do you know about first · How do you feel about what children eat and drink? · What kind of facilities for play, naps and eating do you have available? Parents should inspect the home for safety and cleanliness as well.

"Helping Youths Make Decisions" program for Task Force meeting

The Deaf Smith County Chemical People Task Force will offer its monthly community education program on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Center.

The program is free and the featured speakers will be Cathy and Tim Revell. The two will speak on "Helping Youths Make Decisions." The Revells have four children, and Dr. Revell has a local medical prac-

The decision to become involved with alcohol or other types of drugs is only one of many important decisions each youth must make. Specifically, the couple will speak on how children can be encouraged to make decisions dealing with resistance, parental patterns, and accepting positive and negative outcomes from decisions.

The program is scheduled to last one hour. The Task Force encourages parents and their children to attend this program together.

Following the program, the Task Force will conduct itsusual business meeting, including the election of officers. So far, Bill McDowell has been nominated for president, Clark Andrews for vice president, Rhonda Long for secretary, and Dave Folger for treasurer.
