

Shultz: terrorism defense necessary

By R. GREGORY NOKES AP
Diplomatic Writer

MILDENHALL, England (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz said today that terrorists "seem anxious" to attack Americans and the United States must defend itself, even if it means striking first in some cases.

Speaking to reporters on a flight to Britain, Shultz dismissed arguments that U.S. retaliation risked provoking more terrorism, as well as accidentally hitting innocent people.

"They don't seem to need additional excuses to try to hit us," he said. "They seem anxious to do what damage they can."

Shultz was speaking two days after the ending of a six-day hijack of a Kuwaiti airliner during which two American passengers were killed and two others beaten.

The plane carrying Shultz on a week-long trip to Western Europe was diverted to Mildenhall, a U.S. Air Force base in east England, for refueling after fog prevented landing at Gatwick Airport, 27 miles south of London.

Shultz planned to fly to Gatwick later today when the fog lifted to meet the British foreign secretary, Sir Geoffrey Howe.

Might mean first strike

He was due to spend the night at Howe's country estate, Chevening, and leave Wednesday for Brussels, Belgium, to attend a three-day meeting of NATO foreign ministers.

Shultz is expected to confer with the allies in preparation for next month's resumption of U.S.-Soviet arms control talks in Geneva. He is to make a brief stop in Frankfurt on Saturday to confer with West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl before returning to Washington.

A senior State Department official said consultations with the allies are very important to the Reagan administration in devising its negotiating strategy.

"Nearly every important arms control initiative that we have taken has been taken not only with the knowledge, but also the views and recommendations of our key allies, and I expect that to continue," he told reporters at a briefing on the NATO meeting Monday.

The official spoke only on condition he not be identified.

Shultz was accompanied today by Paul H. Nitze, who has been named by Reagan as Shultz's special adviser for the Geneva meeting and who is playing a key role in devising the U.S. negotiating strategy.

Shultz will meet in Geneva on Jan. 7-8 with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to set the stage for detailed follow-up negotiations aimed at controlling strategic and intermediate nuclear arms and space-based weapons.

Also on the agenda in Brussels will be discussion of plans for strengthening NATO's non-nuclear defenses.

Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger and other NATO defense chiefs last week approved a six-year $7.8 billion program to improve conventional defenses in Europe. The separate meetings of defense and foreign ministers are held annually at the NATO headquarters in Brussels.

Shultz also is expected to raise the issue of international terrorism and press for improved coordination of anti-terrorist efforts, as well as an understanding on "how to attack the situation collectively," as one senior State Department official put it.

Company hearing unattended

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

As required by law, Valley View Energy Corporation set aside an hour Monday morning to receive public comment on its plans to issue industrial revenue bonds for financing an electrical generating plant.

There was no comment, nor any spectators, and the Deaf Smith County Industrial Development Corporation's board of directors granted the energy company permission to issue $92.1 million worth of the interest free bonds to institutional purchasers. Company representatives then moved on to the county commissioner's meeting where they were again granted approval to place the bonds. Terry Brown, general manager of finance for the Dallas company, told the industrial board the enterprise will henceforth be known as Hereford Power Partnership Limited. Valley View Power Corporation will be the general partner, he explained, with silent partners expected to contribute about 25 percent of the equity needed to construct the facility.

"Nothing has changed since we met with you in June except the timing," Brown told the directors. "We had hoped to begin construction Nov. 1; now it looks like March 1 is our start date."

Brown said the company has finally cleared "a major hurdle," that of securing a buyer for the power. The plant will generate 50 megawatts of electricity per day by burning manure obtained from local feedyards. The city of Austin recently signed a 30-year contract with Valley View to buy that power along with another 50 megawatts to be generated at a plant the company intends to build near Gruver in Hansford County.

Brown said the "wheeling contracts", which will enable the company to trade out power with companies between here and Austin, are the last negotiations to be finalized. The Public Utility Commission is fully behind the project, he assured the board, and he expects no problems with those contracts.

The city of Austin will pay for the electricity based on an agreed 30-year schedule, with Hereford Power Partnership to get "a little better than seven cents a kilowatt" when the plant opens in 1986, Brown said.

That figure is more than the company would have earned by forcing a nearby utility to buy its power under the PURPA Act, according to Brown. "We didn't go to Southwestern Public Service or whomever and require them to buy it. We have a standard business agreement with the City of Austin."

According to PURPA, a generating plant that uses an alternate energy source is guaranteed sale of its power to a larger utility at that company's "avoided cost" of producing the power itself.

Hereford bankers Jim Sears and Craig Smith along with Bob Gentry, chairman of the industrial development board, were named to an executive committee that will act in the board's behalf in regard to the issuance of the bonds. Brown said the Chase Manhattan Bank will serve as trustee.

Other officials from Valley View met Monday morning in Gruver, obtaining permission from Hansford County to issue bonds to construct the second plant. Construction there is expected to begin six months after the Hereford project gets underway.

The hearing Monday at the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce office was required by the Internal Revenue Code, since the interest earnings from sale of the bonds is tax free.

The plant is to be located six miles northeast of Hereford just off Highway 60, on land purchased more than a year ago from the City of Hereford.

The company expects to employ 300 persons during construction, and 50 to 80 persons once production begins.

Commission okays bond sales

By REED PARSELL

Approval of the sale and issuance of $92.1 million in bonds was granted Monday by county commissioners for the manure-fueled electrical generating plant to be built east of Hereford.

By a 4-0 vote, the court agreed the Deaf Smith County Industrial Development Corporation could go ahead with the funding measure. The court action followed assurances by Roland Saul, criminal district attorney, the county would not be liable for any payments of the bonds.

Passage of the resolution followed a public hearing held earlier Monday morning concerning the proposed generating plant (see story, Page 1). Present at the hearing and subsequent county commission meeting was a representative of Valley View Energy Corporation, the Dallas-based firm spearheading the project.

Terry Brown, general manager of finance for Valley View, explained to commissioners all that was lacking

Amount set at more than $92 million in the project was passage of the resolution and finalization of plans to "wheel" the electricity to Austin. The Texas capital earlier this fall agreed to be the principal buyer of power from the proposed local plant.

On-site construction, Brown said, should begin the first part of March, weather permitting. If all goes well, he claimed, testing of the plant should commence in October of 1986. Full-time production would ideally crank up early the following year.

Brown pointed out estimates of plant employees are the same as originally proposed. There are to be around 50 workers at the site and 35 to 40 operating trucks which are to deliver the compost. He said it will be a "magnificent facility" which should create a positive "snowball effect" for the local economy.

"We could certainly use a boost for our economy," stated W. Glen Nelson, county judge, in thanking Brown and his company for establishing the generating plant.

The other commissioners attending Monday morning's gathering echoed Nelson's sentiments.

In other court business, commissioners heard Jim Collier of the Texas Department of Human Resources report on a shortage of local office space. Recent state requirements mean approximately 1,000 more square feet of space is needed for six case and two clerical workers.

Collier explained all the space is not for new personnel. Some of the offices are to be for workers here for only a few days, he said. There is a chance, he stressed, state requirements may change and the offices will be made unnecessary after September of next year.

After hearing about a few possibilities of vacant offices on Main Street, Collier said he would check things out and let county officials know what transpires.

Bill Brady, commissioner from Precinct 1, Monday brought a petition signed by 36 people requesting a northern section of Progressive Road be caliche. He agreed to resolve the matter himself, a solution suggested by fellow Commissioner James Voyles.

The new surface is desired, the petition read, since, "We have approximately 15 children who have to walk through water and mud in order to catch the school bus if they want to go school during bad weather."

Couple up for cocaine sales have trials split

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

A Hereford couple indicted as co-defendants on drug charges have been granted separate trials, but their attorneys worry that one of them may not get a fair trial.

Alex mendiaz, 33, and his wife Diana Mendiaz, 27, were indicted Sept. 11 after being arrested at their home on 813 S. Texas last February. They were charged with unlawful possession and delivery of at least 7.42 grams of heroin, a controlled substance.

During pretrial motions Monday in 222nd District Court, Judge David Wesley Gulley granted the defense's motion for separate trials on the Jan. 8 criminal court docket.

However, they pointed out, jurors for the two would be selected from the same jury panel, with all but the first 12 selected sitting through two sessions of voir dire in reference to the two cases. The additional exposure to facts surrounding the cases could prejudice the jury, the attorneys claimed.

Lawyers wonder if decision fair

Defense counsel also complained that because the facts are so similar, if the husband is tried first and convicted, the new jury might assume his wife is guilty as well.

The matter will apparently be considered again during further pretrial hearings Jan. 4, at which time Gulley will be asked to rule on defense motions claiming the couple was entrapped and evidence illegally seized.

Mr. and Mrs. Mendiaz, free on bond from the Deaf Smith County Jail, were arrested by the Amarillo Metro Squad and local law enforcement authorities.

A Hereford man who is currently incarcerated in the Texas Department of Corrections is to be brought to Hereford for the Jan. 4 hearings. Defense lawyers said his testimony is essential to their motions for entrapment and the motion to suppress evidence.

Hereford mailed tax payment

Hereford was Friday mailed a check for $41,468.32 as its share of the 1 percent local sales tax collected here in the 30-day period ending Nov. 28.

That brings the 1984 payments to more than $556,000, an increase of 8.42 percent over last year's returns. For collections in November of 1983, however, Hereford was sent just more than $44,000 - $2,500 more than this year.

Throughout the state, the 997 cities which levy the tax were sent a total of $57.4 million. The largest check was mailed to Houston, which took in around $10 million. Dallas received $7.1 million, San Antonio $3.2 million, Austin $2.8 million, Fort Worth $2.1 million and El Paso $1.3 million.

This month's payments are the first to reflect receipts from taxes imposed beginning Oct. 2 on new goods and services, according to Bob Bullock, state comptroller.

Fund established for Larry Hall

The Walcott community has established a memorial fund to benefit the family of Larry Hall.

Hall, who died recently following a sudden illness, is survived by his wife Jackie and four children.

Walcott School Superintendent Eddie Derr has asked that donations be sent to the school in care of the Hall fund. Hall's family lives in the Walcott Independent School District.

Nine arrested on DWI charges

Hereford police officers hauled in nine people over the weekend and Monday for driving while intoxicated, the local law enforcement agency reported this morning.

The four other arrests were for burglary of a building, criminal trespassing, minor in possession and no liability insurance.

Among the incidents looked into was the possible theft of an $1,800 ring from Lynn Kester, 126 Greenwood St. He told officers the item was either lost or stolen between 8 p.m. Saturday and 1 p.m. Sunday.

Also investigated were one case apiece of aggravated assault, auto burglary, harassing telephone calls, minor theft and vandalism. A prowler was spotted at around 9:40 p.m. Saturday in the 600 block of Union Avenue.

MONDAY'S HIGH: 65 (normal: 53 record: 80 (1939))
OVERNIGHT LOW: 37 (normal: 28 record: 1 (1932))

OUTLOOK: Increasing cloudiness tonight with a 20 percent chance of showers. The low is expected to be near 49 and winds are to come 10 to 20 miles per hour from the southwest. Wednesday is to be mostly cloudy and have a 30 percent chance of showers. Winds are to be northeasterly 10 to 20 miles per hour and the high is to be in the upper 50s.

Bottled water taken off shelves

HOUSTON (AP) — Hundreds of bottles of water are being withdrawn from the shelves at 170 Kroger grocery stores in Texas and Louisiana because of the possibility some of the water contains fecal coliform bacteria, company officials said.

Mark Lowry, a spokesman for the Texas Department of Health, said Monday that the agency tested 18 one-gallon containers, and that four contained the bacteria — which is not a contaminant, but is used to determine if contamination is present.

Peter Larkin, director of public affairs for Kroger, said the one-gallon plastic bottles were taken from Springdale drinking water and were dated Aug. 24, 1985, and July 31, 1985.

"We have not been ordered to remove this water from the shelves," Larkin told the Houston Chronicle. "We are doing it voluntarily as a precaution."

There have been no reports of sickness from the water, Kroger and health officials told the newspaper.

The Springdale water is purified and bottled at Vandervoort's Dairy in Fort Worth, Kroger officials said.

Happy hour ban lacks support

AUSTIN (AP) — Lawmakers who pushed a stiff DWI law through the 1983 Legislature say banning "happy hours" is not among their top priorities for 1985.

"Happy hour is indeed a problem," Hereford Sen. Bill Sarpalus said Monday, but he listed a higher drinking age and prohibiting drinking while driving as more pressing needs.

Sarpalus wants the drinking age raised from 19 to 21.

Several states have considered happy hour bans under the theory that cheap drinks tempt patrons to draw customers immediately after working hours add to the number of drunken drivers.

Rep. Terral Smith, R-Austin and House sponsor of the 1983 driving while intoxicated law, said it would be tough to write an effective law against happy hours.

"They'll get you in there in some other way. My gut reaction is I can't contemplate a bill that would really do any good," he said.

Smith and Sarpalus spoke at a Monday news conference called to promote "Holidays Ahead," the Texas Commission on Alcoholism's campaign to warn Texans about the hazards of holiday drinking.

Abolition of council opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Word that President Reagan is thinking of scrapping his Council of Economic Advisers, whose former chairman Martin Feldstein ranked the White House, has prompted howls of protest from economists, including current and former council members.

William Niskanen, the senior member of the panel, said he was "disturbed to hear" the report Monday that the president was considering abolishing the council as part of a budget-cutting move to save $2.5 million. He said, though, he hadn't been told of any such plan.

Murray Weidenbaum, who was Reagan's first chief economist, described the move as an overreaction to Feldstein's outspoken tenure at the three-member council. "I think they're overlooking the important role an independent voice provides."

Added Herbert Stein, council chairman from 1972-74, "It would be a mistake. I think the council is an asset to the president."

Gigantic planet believed found

WASHINGTON (AP) — Astronomers have evidence that an enormous planet is orbiting a faint star trillions of miles from the Earth, a finding that could represent the first planet observed outside of the solar system.

The researchers said Monday that this is the first claim of a planet orbiting a nearby star that is supported by direct observational evidence and not indirect measurements.

The newly discovered planet orbits a dim star 21 light-years from the Earth, and also represents the first example of a giant variety of planets called "brown dwarfs" previously theorized by scientists, they said.

A light-year is the distance light travels in a year at 186,000 miles per second — about six trillion miles.

The giant planet is believed to be a huge ball of gases similar to the outer planets of our solar system, but much larger. It is estimated to be 30 to 80 times more massive than Jupiter, the biggest planet in our solar system.

The discovery was announced jointly by the University of Arizona, the National Optical Astronomy Observatories (NOAO) and the National Science Foundation, which sponsored the work.

Mother Teresa asks forgiveness

BHOPAL, India (AP) — Nobel Peace Prize winner Mother Teresa today comforted and prayed for children afflicted by the poison gas leak that killed at least 2,000 people in Bhopal and called on victims to forgive those responsible and "try to love each other."

Meanwhile, state and city officials said they would file suits against Union Carbide, alleging company negligence caused the gas leak. The state rejected the company's offer to contribute $1.8 million to a relief fund.

Officials of India's Central Bureau of Investigation said they had made a preliminary determination that poor safety measures at the Union Carbide plant were responsible for the chemical catastrophe.

News reports said about 400 victims of the Dec. 3 leak of methyl isocyanate gas from a pesticide plant sought medical care Monday. About one-third of them previously had sought medical help, but returned because of complications, reports said.

At least 11 more people died Monday, and officials said the death toll was at least 2,000. The United News of India said 2,500 people had died.

Explosions damage NATO lines

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Four explosions damaged NATO fuel pipelines in three different parts of Belgium early today, Belgian and NATO officials said. No injuries were reported, and an extreme left-wing group claimed responsibility for the blasts.

The explosions, at least two of which were caused by dynamite, came a day before the scheduled arrival in Brussels of the U.S. secretary of state, George P. Shultz, who is to attend a three-day meeting of NATO foreign ministers. Shultz arrived in Britain today for talks with British leaders.

The responsibility claim was made in a letter to the Brussels daily La Cite by a group calling itself Cellules Communistes Combatantes, or Fighting Communist Cells.

The group has claimed responsibility for six bomb attacks against Western defense contractors, Belgian political party offices and military transmission lines in recent months.

Gabrielle Lefevre, an editor at La Cite, said the group's letter charged NATO has made "war the principal focus" of its actions.

Against oppression

Carter: Americans should join in fight

HOUSTON (AP) — Calling freedom and human rights "the most precious possessions of mankind," former President Jimmy Carter called on Americans to join the fight against worldwide oppression.

Carter, in a speech Monday night to commemorate the 36th anniversary of the United Nations Declaration on Human Rights, said the fight for human rights is one of the most "exciting challenges human beings could ever take."

"With an absence of advocacy from our government, private individuals and organizations have a special responsibility," Carter said.

Words from a president or secretary of state could be used as "swords," Carter said, in the battle to bring "caring, sharing and love" to the rest of the world.

"The obligation of a political regime to its people is not necessarily the purview of its military leaders," Carter told an audience of 250 people at the Rothko Chapel at St. Thomas University.

Since 1973, when the 25th anniversary of the U.N. accord was commemorated, Rothko chapel has marked Dec. 10 with special events, programs and speakers.

Often, Americans do not realize how oppression is part of the daily lives of people elsewhere in the world, Carter said.

"Nobody ever knocked and the White House door and said 'I've come for you,'" Carter said, referring to his daughter. "We're the most powerful nation on earth. But how do you use that strength? In a selfish way? God knows I hope not. In a sharing way? I hope so."

When he was president, Carter said, reports of human rights violations reached him that were "deeply disturbing, sometimes horrifying."

"If the United States' voice is silent, the silence resounds throughout the world," Carter said. "Silence is what the oppressors want to hear from Washington."

The challenges are always greater than the possible achievements for those who desire to champion human rights, the former president said.

"We perhaps stay silent," he said. "After all, our rights are not being violated. It's not easy for a small nation to be a champion of human rights because its voice is not heard."

Bishop Desmond Tutu, who was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize Monday, told Carter in a telegram read aloud in Rothko Chapel that he admired the former president for his work in alleviating human suffering.

"Your example in the field is indeed worthy of the Rothko Chapel's recognition this evening," Tutu said in the telegram from Oslo, Norway.

The fight for human rights goes beyond "eliminating torture, imprisonment, bloodshed and murder," Carter said.

"Human rights is not something like motherhood, flag-waving or the Fourth of July," Carter said. "Human rights cuts like a razor because human rights offers protection against massive starvation...."

Report offers support for 'nuclear winter'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A National Academy of Sciences committee, in a report that partly supports the "nuclear winter" theory, said today there is a "clear possibility" that a major nuclear weapons exchange would produce severe atmospheric and climate changes lasting for months.

The committee of the prestigious academy's National Research Council said not enough data exist to give accurate estimates of the atmospheric effects of a nuclear war.

But it made interim estimates, based upon a projected case of half of the world nuclear arsenal being detonated in a general war.

This case shows a "clear possibility," it said, that the exchange would produce enough smoke and dust to cause severe temperature drops over much of the Earth's northern temperate zone, which includes the United States, Europe and much of the Soviet Union.

The panel, chaired by Dr. George F. Carrier of Harvard University, said it examined a number of mathematical models or simulations others have used to predict nuclear atmospheric effects and found them inadequate for scientific predictions.

Estimates from these models are so rough that they only can be used as a general indication of the seriousness of what might happen, it said.

For instance, when the committee put its assumptions into the models, they projected temperature reductions of between 18 degrees (Fahrenheit) and 45 degrees. Temperatures returned to normal levels after about six to 20 weeks, according to these projections.

"Although there are enormous uncertainties involved in the calculations, the committee believes that long-term climatic effects with serious implications for the biosphere could occur," the report said.

"And these effects should be included in any analysis of the consequences of nuclear war," it continued.

The 190-page report, commissioned by the Defense Department from the private research organization, said there was particular uncertainty about how much smoke would be generated by city-wide fires following nuclear detonations and how long those smoke particles would remain in the air.

The possibility of nuclear winter was first proposed last year by a group of scientists.

Priest blames pope for expulsion from Jesuits

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — A priest serving in the Cabinet of the leftist government says Pope John Paul II and Nicaraguan bishops' opposition to his backing of the Nicaraguan revolution were behind his expulsion from the Jesuit order.

The minister, Rev. Fernando Cardenal, said after the expulsion was announced by the Vatican on Monday: "The problem was not so much that we are in our government posts, but that we are with the revolution, and the pope as well as the bishops of Nicaragua wanted us to abandon this revolution."

Three other Roman Catholic priests hold high positions with the Sandinista government, which came to power after a revolution that climaxed in the 1979 overthrow of the rightist Somoza family, which ruled for 42 years.

A papal edict, later made part of church law, bars priests from serving in official posts in any government unless authorized by the local bishop, and in the case of a religious order, by his superior-general.

The expulsion order by the Jesuits, or the Society of Jesus, is the latest manifestation of conflicts between the church and the Sandinistas.

A Jesuit spokesman, the Rev. Johannes Gerhartz, said at the Vatican that Cardenal had been dismissed from the order on Dec. 4.

The Nicaraguan bishops did not comment publicly on Monday on the expulsion.

"The pope pressured my superiors for me to resign from my position and then pressured for them to expel me from the Jesuit order," Cardenal told a news conference in Managua.

Cardenal, who joined the Jesuits 32 years ago, said he would continue to live as a priest and keep the priestly vows of celibacy.

Vatican officials, under the pope's instructions, have been trying since July to get the resignations of Cardenal and the three other priests in top government posts to resign. Cardenal, 48, defied the Vatican by staying on the job.

Cardenal said he did not believe that God would want him to leave the job. "Those who also pressured me to resign my job of helping the poor were the bishops of Nicaragua."

Paul Harvey

We are leading

Since television brought Ethiopia into your living room you are not seeing many Americans feeling sorry for themselves anymore. Suddenly the $10,000-a-year family income we have considered "poorness" does not appear very poor anymore.

During the recent political campaign, the eyes of the news sought out welfare recipients with 13 children and pleading lips and demanding eyes: "What am I supposed to do?"

That question implied that their problems were somehow the government's fault.

Journalist Carl Hutter noted that we never — but never — hear how the poor person was born into a rotten family, goofed off through 12 years of state-supported schooling. How the poor person got his or her first job, defied employers, affronted fellow employees, called in sick three or four times each month. How the poor person persisted in having more children outside marriage.

Hutter concedes that it is not fair to place the entire blame on the poor person...

"But neither is it correct to blame the federal government or the schools or the community — because if we have learned nothing else from the last 20 years we should have learned that giving money to the poor is not the answer, that welfare frequently creates dependency, kills incentive and makes it financially foolish to take any entry-level job."

The American people are more adaptable than their leadership. Ever since Molly Pitcher took her place beside the cannon of the Colonies, we, the people, have known where we were going a long time before our leaders got the message.

Union members are running way ahead of their own leaders. Recent contract concessions and our last election were irrefutable demonstrations of the versatility and adaptability of the rank-and-file.

Union leaders threw union money one way; union members voted the opposite way.

Roman Catholic bishops, in their pastoral letter, are proposing solutions to worldwide poverty problems, solutions which are 40 years out of date and thoroughly discredited.

While the last election demonstrated that Roman Catholic laity is ready for new ideas: "peace through strength," "prosperity through work."

Our country's present leadership is just "riding the tide"; you are doing the leading.

The Reagan "magic" is not "magic." We've been calling him "a great communicator" when what he is is "a great listener!"

Meet Your Neighbor

By LISA BALL
Staff Writer

Working together and sharing each other's interests is a special aspect to Jay and Donna Johnson's relationship.

Moving here in April for Mr. Johnson to take the position of manager at TG&Y, she helps him whenever he needs it.

"I'll help him if there is some merchandise that needs to be sent back or anything like that," Mrs. Johnson explained.

The couple has moved four times in the three years that they have been married. And, as she explained, the moves have proved beneficial.

"We like to move," she said. "It's fun to meet all the different people and then when you go back to a town you always see people who want to see you."

"Moving has helped our relationship, too, but it has also been hard because we don't know when the company will transfer him again. So far, we haven't been anywhere for over a year."

Despite the transfers and working six days a week, Mr. Johnson loves his job.

"He's been with the company for six years now," she explained. "He started as a stock boy, then moved up gradually to manager. He's a real go-getter."

Mrs. Johnson went on to explain that when Berger opened a new store, they gave him the building supplies department to manage. He did such a good job that they asked him if he would be interested in management.

"His grandfather had the first bakery in Berger and his brother owns a restaurant," she said. "So business really just runs in the family."

How, though, without any management classes or experience did Mr. Johnson get so interested in that level of business?

"DECA in high school really helped get him involved in business," Mrs. Johnson recalled. "He also enjoys listening to Zig Zigler. I think it was Ziglar who motivated him into management."

When they lived in Guyton, Okla., Mrs. Johnson worked in the treasurer's office as a typist. In Hereford, she worked for Sears for a short while.

Even though she says that it is hard for her to keep busy not working, Mrs. Johnson has joined a few local clubs to fill her time. She is a member of the Bud to Blossom Garden Club and the Sweet 'n Fancy Cake Decorating Club. Since joining the cake club she has made a three-tiered anniversary cake for her parents and birthday cakes for family members.

"At Thanksgiving, we made cookies shaped like turkeys and a kitten in a Pilgrim's hat," she said. "I really enjoy baking, but not cooking."

decorating and enjoys it as much as she does.

"I think he really likes it because it's such a challenge," she said.

Mrs. Johnson has also been to some of the meetings of the Newcomers Club. In addition, she collects unicorns and matchbooks. Her first unicorn was a wedding gift from her husband. After that, people just gave them to her whenever they found one. The matchbooks she collects on vacations and just about "everywhere she goes."

Mr. Johnson enjoys growing plants and having fish aquariums. Together, they raise a pomeranian. The dog, who is like a member of the family, is considered by them to be their "child." Whenever possible, the two like to travel.

Alpha Iota Mu gives party for children

The children of Alpha Iota Mu sorority members were treated to a Christmas party Saturday morning at the Deaf Smith County Library.

The 24 children and their mothers played games, listened to Christmas stories, sang and ate holiday treats. Santa Claus also attended as the sorority's guest of honor and presented each child a gift.

Kay Williams and the social committee arranged the party and decorations.

Alpha Iota Mu is planning a Christmas social for Friday at 7 p.m. For more information, contact Kay Williams at 364-2486.

The next meeting of the organization is Dec. 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Beckie Fry.

had a serving table with a centerpiece of fruit surrounded by Christmas greenery. The table was full of Christmas goodies of all kinds.

Hostesses for the party were Gilbreath, and the yearbook committee consisting of Dottie Darden, Audine Dettmann, Bessie Story and Louise Axe. Others assisting were Helen Spinks, Ruby Carmichael, Jeanne Dowell, Ina Mae Gilbreath, Dorothy Noland and Marguerite Newell.

Past presidents of the club attending were Mmes. Robert Viegel, Ansel McDowell, B.E. Roberson and W.S. Kerr. Sixty-five members and guests registered for the gala affair during which a collection of $54.25 was given to Girls Town.

The next meeting will be Jan. 4 in the home of Mrs. Inez Witherspoon at 9:30 a.m.

Question: Which fiber is the only fabric that is able to be felted into wool?

Answer: Wool - due to the scales interlocking when subjected to heat, moisture and friction.

Question: Which fiber would you choose for a suit in a basic color that you plan to wear for many years?

Answer: Wool. It's durable, holds its shape, wrinkle resistant; resists soil, grease/oil, stretching cost is offset by many years of wear.

Question: Why is wool used in fire emergency blankets?

Answer: It is flame resistant, self-extinguishing.

Question: Why are wool "sweat" socks preferred by athletes, hikers, and skiers?

Answer: Wool can absorb up to 30 percent of its weight in moisture without feeling damp.

Question: Which fiber would you choose for a ski sweater where warmth and comfort are the most important factors?

Answer: Wool. Warmest fiber, very absorbent and soft.

Question: Why do top designers and tailors prefer wool?

Answer: It's resilient, can be shaped and molded, keeps its shape well.

Question: Why should wool be used by those who are concerned about ecology?

Answer: Wool is a renewable resource - sheep provide both food and fiber and thrive on vegetation other animals won't touch.

Some other characteristics of wool are: It has a good affinity to dyes, it's color fast, drapes beautifully, dries quickly, its elastic, resistant to abrasion, resistant to chemicals, resistant to pilling, resistant to static electricity, resistant to stretching resistant to weather, it resists wrinkles and it's very warm. Along with these other characteristics, it's quite simple to sew on and looks great when you've completed a garment!

Since this is the season for wearing wool and Old Man Winter is planning on staying here in the Panhandle, what better time then, to begin sewing for the 4th annual Hereford's Lady's Lead Line Show?

The Lady's Lead Line Show is held in conjunction with the Hereford Young Farmers Stock Show this coming January 26th. The contest is open to any 4-H or FFA girl age 8 to 19. The deadline to enter this year's show is Friday, January 11, 1985 and those interested in entering the contest should contact the Deaf Smith County Extension Office at 364-3573.

Champs rely on big plays

Raiders roll over Lions, 24-3

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Just when the rest of the National Football League thought it was safe to venture into the street, the Los Angeles Raiders came swaggering back to town wearing their playoff faces.

The defending Super Bowl champions used an awesome defense, led by Bill Pickel, and big offensive plays — a Raider trademark — by Marc Wilson, Cle Montgomery and Jim Plunkett to crush the Detroit Lions 24-3 Monday night.

The Raiders, given up for dead after losing some key players through injuries and dropping three straight games last month, now are riding a four-game winning streak and their 11-4 record in the AFC West assures them a wildcard spot in the playoffs.

And, lest you scoff, remember that the Raiders rode a wildcard berth to the championship over Philadelphia in Super Bowl XV.

Pickel, who had 3½ of the Raiders' eight sacks, led a defense that shut the Lions down at every turn. Detroit finished with only 10 first downs, 257 total yards and had two passes intercepted.

"It was a good win because we played hard," Raiders' Coach Tom Flores said. "The defense played well all night. We wanted to play well, win and stay healthy. Going into the playoffs, our biggest concern is to stay healthy."

Junior High Notes

Stanton falls three times

Stanton Junior High girls' basketball teams dropped all three games Monday to Clovis Gattis, their final games until Jan. 3.

Alicia Redmon scored 11 of her team's 19 points, but Gattis took the game 30-19. Carrie Skelton and Linda Cera each added 3, and Brienna Townsend scored 2 for Stanton.

The loss drops Stanton's record to 2-6 overall and 0-3 in district.

The eighth graders fared no better, as they lost to Gattis 25-15. Melissa Lafuente, Teresa Brown and Sharon Terry had 4 points apiece for Stanton.

District record for the eighth grade now is 0-4 in district and 1-7 overall.

Stanton's ninth graders lost their first league game Monday, 64-42 to Gattis. The ninth graders are 2-1 in league play and 5-2 overall.

Crystal Ball burned the cords for 16 points, Carolyn Rieves added 8 and Cindy Tice 7 for Stanton.

Wilson, who completed 11 of 19 for 194 yards with two interceptions before leaving the game with back spasms in the fourth quarter, tossed a 12-yard TD pass to tight end Todd Christensen in the second quarter and had a 72-yard bomb to Dokie Williams that set up a 37-yard Chris Bahr field goal in the third quarter.

"I've never had these (spasms) and I don't know what to expect," Wilson said. "It's real tight now."

Ironically, it was an injury to Plunkett that gave Wilson a chance to start in the first place. Plunkett, who hit 3 of 4 for 102 yards — most of it on a 73-yard TD strike to Marcus Allen late in the fourth quarter — was seeing his first action since suffering pulled abdominal muscles Oct. 7.

"I felt a little more comfortable late in the game," Plunkett said. "I felt very apprehensive going in."

One of Plunkett's passes also went to Cliff Branch who hung on for his only catch of the game, but it was the 500th of his career.

"You don't know if you'll ever get a chance to achieve that and I'm glad I'm a part of it," Plunkett said.

The Raiders fumbled the ball seven times, but the Lions failed to recover any of them. The bedraggled Lions dropped to 4-10-1 in the NFC Central.

College roundup

Cager scores 55 in OU win

By The Associated Press

Billy Tubbs has a very simple basketball philosophy — win by a bunch. And in Wayman Tisdale, he has just the fellow to lead the assault.

With Tisdale, a member of the gold medal-winning U.S. Olympic team, exploding for 55 points Monday night, the 15th-ranked Sooners demolished Southwestern University of Texas 126-76.

"This is a perfect example of us taking no prisoners," Tubbs said after Oklahoma improved to 5-2. "If I did take prisoners, it would be Southwestern," where Tubbs coached for two years.

"I have a lot of friends there and I know how they feel," Tubbs said. "I've been there before. But I don't mislead anyone. I'll try to beat you by 100 if I can."

In other games involving Top Twenty clubs, No. 18 Kansas ripped South Carolina State 81-54 and Michigan, newly elevated to the No. 20 position, beat Western Michigan 83-59.

Tisdale scored 36 points in leading Oklahoma to a 60-35 halftime advantage over Southwestern, and finished only six points shy of his single-game school scoring record of 61. Tisdale also collected 13 rebounds.

"He got the hot hand early," said Tubbs. "We didn't plan for him to score that many, but I'm not surprised at anything he does."

Tim McCalister added 20 points for Oklahoma while Bobby Deaton had 27 points and 10 rebounds for Southwestern.

Kansas Coach Larry Brown said he "had fun" watching the Jayhawks, 6-1, run past South Carolina State.

"We got everyone to play and I like to see everyone play," Brown said. "The opportunity to play is what the players look forward to."

Hawks struggle to 104-98 NBA victory Monday night

By STEVE HERMAN AP Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — It sounds strange, says Atlanta Coach Mike Fratello, but despite Indiana's third-worst record in the National Basketball Association, the Pacers are no pushovers.

The Hawks, now four games ahead of the Pacers in the Central Division of the NBA's Eastern Conference, built a 14-point lead but had to struggle in the closing seconds to hold on for a 104-98 victory.

It was the only game in the league Monday night.

"Coming off a loss like that (128-127 to Boston on Sunday), this is one of the teams you don't want to play because they just keep coming after you," Fratello said of the Pacers.

"Other teams don't attack as hard, but Indiana is hungry and aggressive, and they keep putting the pressure on you," he said.

The Pacer pressure, plus 20 second-half points by forward Herb Williams, brought Indiana within two points of Atlanta twice in the second half. The first time, the Hawks repelled the rally with the hot

In trade with Expos

Carter becomes a Met

NEW YORK (AP) — Gary Carter didn't have to think very long about whether he wanted to be a New York Met.

"I'm thrilled. What can I say?" said Carter, who had to give his consent to a trade between the Montreal Expos and the Mets, which was completed Monday. "As a five-and-10 man (five years with one club and 10 years in the major leagues), I could have vetoed the deal. I didn't veto the deal. I'm well aware of the Mets nucleus of fine talent and I'm anxious to make a contribution next year.

"You know, I've never been on a world championship team and I'm hopeful to get that chance in New York."

Montreal acquired infielder Hubie Brooks; catcher Mike Fitzgerald, a rookie starter for New York last season; outfielder Herm Winkingham, a hot prospect who spent most of last year in the International League, and minor league pitcher Floyd Youmans.

The Mets finished second in the National League East last year, 6½ games behind the Cubs. They cited catching and power hitting as the two areas needing the most improvement.

In Carter, the Mets have upgraded both of those categories. A superb, durable catcher, Carter tied for the National League lead in runs batted in last season with Philadelphia's Mike Schmidt. He knocked in 106 runs in 1984, batting .294 with 27 home runs.

The 30-year-old Carter, who has played in seven All-Star Games in 10 seasons, is believed to be the fourth highest paid player major league baseball with an annual salary of $1.8 million.

Carter's salary is believed to be a major reason he was traded. He signed an eight-year contract for $15 million before the 1982 season, an action that Charles Bronfman, the Expos' major owner and chairman of the board, later said he regretted.

The deal was announced in a statement by the Mets, who quoted General Manager Frank Cashen as saying: "To acquire a player of Carter's caliber, you have to part with some talent, and that's what we did, but you really can't measure the type of imprint Gary Carter will have on the Mets next year and for years to come."

The Expos also expressed their satisfaction with the deal, which Cashen said was first discussed Friday at the baseball meetings in Houston.

"This is a good trade," said Expos President John McHale. "He's happy, we're happy and the Mets are happy."

The Mets also will have one of the league's highest payrolls, with three players — George Foster at $2 million and Keith Hernandez at $1.6 million are the others — pulling in millionaire's salaries.

Carter figures to bat in the middle of the Mets lineup, surrounded by Hernandez, Foster and Darryl Strawberry. New York probably will use Rafael Santana — who was surprisingly strong at bat and displayed a fine glove — at shortstop, where Brooks was expected to start.

As for the Expos, they felt a need for a center fielder because Andre Dawson no longer can take the strain the position puts on his sore knees. Winkingham, who might not be ready for full-time duty next season, figures to be that centerfielder someday.

Montreal figures to use Brooks, a third baseman until late last season but an All-American shortstop at Arizona State, at short. Brooks, 28, hit .283 with 16 homers and 73 RBI in 1984, his best year in the majors.

Fitzgerald, 24, hit .242 in 112 games and made the All-Rookie team.

Winkingham, 24, hit .281 in 115 games at Tidewater. He played in 14 games for Mets at the end of the season and had 11 hits in 27 at-bats for a .407 batting average.

Youmans, 20, was a Tampa, Fla., high school teammate of Dwight Gooden, the Mets Rookie of the Year pitcher last season.

Writer clears playoff picture

Three spots undecided in NFC

By DAVE GOLDBERG AP Sports Writer

If the race for the three remaining playoff spots in the National Football Conference looks too complicated to figure out, look at it this way — most of the confusion could be cleared up before Sunday by the Los Angeles Rams and New York Giants.

To the naked eye, things look hopelessly muddled, particularly in the NFC East, where the Washington Redskins lead with a 10-5 record and the Giants, Dallas Cowboys and St. Louis Cardinals are a game behind at 9-6. Along with the Rams, who are 10-5, they will get the NFC's three remaining playoff berths along with San Francisco and Chicago, champions of the West and Central.

But the Rams and Giants can make things simple.

The Rams play at San Francisco Friday night in a game to be televised nationally by ABC and can clinch a wild-card spot if they win.

If that happens, the 9-6 Giants can win the other NFC wild-card berth if they beat the New Orleans Saints on Saturday, leaving only the NFC East title to be decided in Sunday's game in Washington between the Redskins and the Cardinals. The winner of that game would be the division title, the loser would be out of the playoffs.

The AFC is simple. Miami is the East champion; Pittsburgh or Cincinnati will win the Central, and either Seattle or Denver will win the West with the loser joining the Los Angeles Raiders as a wild-card entry.

But the NFC is so muddled that nearly 24 hours after Sunday's games, the league office still was trying to confirm all the possibilities involving the Redskins, Cardinals, Giants, Cowboys and Rams.

Here's the breakdown:

NFC
The San Francisco 49ers, 14-1, have clinched the West title and any home-field advantage for the playoffs. The Chicago Bears, 9-6, are the Central Division champions and but cannot get a homefield advantage.

The other three playoff berths will be decided among four NFC East teams and the Rams.

The best way to sort them out is team-by-team.

ST LOUIS, 9-6: If the Cardinals beat the Redskins Sunday, they're the NFC East champion based on a 6-2 division record; if they lose, they're out because they're 9-7.

WASHINGTON, 10-5: The Redskins edged the Cowboys 30-28 Sunday to take over the division lead. If they beat the Cards Sunday, they win the division based on their 11-5 record.

Even with a loss to the Cardinals, the Redskins could still be a wild card. Should the Giants lose, Washington earns a berth. If the Giants win, the Redskins would still make the playoffs if Dallas loses to Miami.

NEW YORK, 9-6: The Giants, who lost to the Cardinals 31-21 Sunday, cannot win the division.

But they can get a wild-card berth by beating New Orleans if the Rams beat the 49ers or if the Cardinals and Cowboys both lose. The Giants could also lose and get the wild card if Dallas and St. Louis lose because if all three are 9-7 the Giants have the best combined record against the other two.

DALLAS, 9-6: Like the Giants, the Cowboys can't win the division title. But they can earn a wild-card if they beat Miami and the Rams lose to San Francisco. If that happens, they eliminate the Giants regardless of the outcome of their game with New Orleans.

If the Rams beat the 49ers, the Cowboys can still get a wild card if they beat the Dolphins and the Giants and Cardinals lose.

LOS ANGELES, 10-5: The Rams can clinch the wild card and the home-field for the playoff game by beating the 49ers Friday night. If they lose, they can still earn the wild card if either Dallas or St. Louis loses.

AFC
Both Denver and Seattle are 12-3 and the winner of their game at Seattle Sunday wins the AFC West. If the Broncos are the wild card, they'll be at home against the Raiders; if it's the Seahawks, they'll play at Los Angeles unless the Raiders lose one of their two remaining games, Monday night at Detroit or Sunday at home against Pittsburgh.

If Cincinnati, 7-8, beats Buffalo at home and the 8-7 Steelers lose to the Raiders, then Cincinnati wins the Central Division because it has the better intra-division record. If Pittsburgh wins or ties, or both teams lose, then Pittsburgh is the champion.

Hereford to host Plainview

The Hereford Whitefaces and Plainview Bulldogs meet on the basketball court today for District 3-5A games here.

COLLEGE

gest margin at 73-45 with 5:40 to play. Ralph Miller had 16 points to pace South Carolina State, which is winless in eight games.

Michigan, unbeaten in five games, got 21 points from Roy Tarpley, including 15 during a second-half explosion. Michigan led only 36-31 at intermission, but used a 12-4 run to quickly settle the issue at the start of the second half. Another 14-2 tear made it 65-45 and cleared the way for subs to mop up.

Don Petties scored 19 points for Western Michigan, now 3-3.

In 1972, Nate Colbert of the San Diego Padres drove in 13 runs in a doubleheader to set a National League record for RBI's in two straight games.

The Hereford girls' team, 2-0 in league play, is looking to grab a share of first place while Plainview, 3-0, wants sole possession of leader's spot. With a Hereford win, the Whitefaces would move into a tie with Monterey at 3-0.

The girls breezed past Lubbock Friday, 70-41.

The boys' game marks the district opener for Hereford. After dropping the final two games in the Amarillo Tournament last weekend, the Whitefaces are 3-3 overall.

Plainview is 0-1 in district play. Boys' and girls' respective junior varsities also will play, beginning at 6 p.m.

Bourbon balls

DEAR POLLY — When I was young, my father made bourbon balls (cookies) for Christmas. I was never allowed to eat them because they contained liquor. Well, now I'm old enough, and I've lost his recipe! Do you have a recipe for bourbon balls? — CAROLYN

DEAR CAROLYN — I have a recipe for rum balls which are essentially the same. Just substitute bourbon for the rum. However, I think the flavor of rum really complements the chocolate. Some folks think these confections are more like candy than cookies. And they're so easy, you can mix up a batch in minutes for last minute guests if necessary.

Mix one cup vanilla wafer crumbs (crush the wafers in a blender, food processor or with a rolling pin), one cup ground almonds, one cup powdered sugar and two tablespoons unsweetened cocoa, preferably Dutch process. Stir in one-fourth cup golden rum (or bourbon, if you prefer) until mixture is thoroughly moistened. Mold the mixture into small balls, then coat each ball with a mixture of equal parts additional cocoa and powdered sugar. This recipe makes approximately three dozen one-inch balls. And every one is absolutely scrumptious!

DEAR POLLY — My supermarket has a computerized scanner that prints out receipts with the name of each item. I use the back of each week's receipt to write my next shopping list. This way, I can see what the same items cost last time. I am more cognizant of price increases and (maybe) decreases. I have found this very helpful indeed. — HAZEL

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
Lifestyle can affect ulcer

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm 25 and try to watch what I eat and drink since I have an ulcer. About a year ago, after I had been drinking, I became very sick and had to be hospitalized for a week. I couldn't keep food down and needed IVs. I had another attack two months ago and had to go to the hospital again.

What are Librax capsules? I have been taking Tagamet and Librax four times a day for two months. I told the doctor that the pills really helped. He said I could continue the Librax, but not the Tagamet. He lets me take one Tagamet at bedtime. If I feel good, I'm to cut back on the Librax, too. However, I can feel the difference already. I feel better when I take both. I don't drink and stay away from sodas pretty much.

DEAR READER — Tagamet was first approved for use in the short-term treatment of ulcers. There was not enough information about its long-term effects and effectiveness to approve it for long-term use. It is now approved for use at bedtime, also, to help prevent recurrences of ulcers. Tagamet helps prevent the production of acid-digestive juices that cause ulcer pain.

Librax is a combination of an antispasmodic — which, like Tagamet, inhibits the formation of acid-digestive juice — and a tranquilizer. It is often very helpful in relieving digestive complaints.

However, there is much more to managing an ulcer than just taking these two medicines. You may get some help from taking antacids during the day. You shouldn't take them when you take Tagamet at bedtime, since that might interfere with its absorption.

I'm sending you The Health Letter 15-10, Understanding Ulcers and Acidity, to give you additional guidance about managing your ulcer. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Pay attention to your lifestyle. I'm glad you are watching your diet, but are you avoiding coffee, both regular and decaffeinated? You should not drink any tea or colas, either, and I hope you are not smoking. You also need to minimize stress. I firmly believe that stress is an important factor in causing ulcer and acidity problems.

The right lung takes in more air than the left.

Ann Landers

Cats belong on leashes

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please print this. It means a great deal to me.

To Whom It May Concern: Last night about 8:30 as I was driving home, I hit your cat. It was dark and raining. A car was coming in the opposite direction and I saw a silhouette dart between the cars. When I felt the impact, I yelled, "Oh, no please, no!"

I went to the corner and turned around to go back. After driving up and down a couple of times, I finally found him. I couldn't see any sign of movement, but I could tell he was a beautiful cat.

I drove home and called the Emergency Animal Clinic. I had difficulty speaking because I was choking back the tears. Finally I told him I had hit a cat and was afraid it might be suffering. I asked that they come get it.

The vet questioned me about the impact. He felt sure the cat was dead.

I hung up and cried for an hour. I have three beautiful cats and the LAST thing I would want to do is kill someone else's.

I'm sorry your cat had to experience that pain, but I'm even sorer you didn't keep it in the house. That's where a city cat belongs.—Houston, Texas

DEAR HOUSTON: And city dogs belong on leashes. Thank you for performing a valuable service to millions of petowners today.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: At long last, I have married the man of my dreams, and I am completely thrilled, except for one area: my relationship with my father-in-law. I see him as a manipulative, loud-mouthed, conniving, interfering, egotistical jackass. He would love to run every aspect of our lives. Unfortunately, my husband is very easygoing and often gives in to his father's wishes.

The problem is that this man is becoming a thorn in my side, as well as a threat to our happiness.

Because I will probably have to put up with "Dad" for the next 30 years, I would appreciate any formula you may have for accepting someone who drives you crazy.—Miami

DEAR MIAMI: See as little of the man as possible. When in his presence, be cordial but not cloying, pleasant but not phony, and remember that by skillfully avoiding a major hassle with the old buzzard, you build another supportive plank for your marriage.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For many years I was happily married to a woman who became well known locally and nationally for her civic and political activities. In 1975, she died. Two years later I married another wonderful woman.

On various anniversaries relating to my deceased wife's activities I am contacted for interviews. My wife resents this. She says I am her husband now and should refuse to be interviewed about the past. Do you agree?—K.C. Woes

DEAR W.: If your deceased wife were president or vice president of the United States you would, in my view, be obligated to give interviews on certain occasions. Under existing circumstances you can and should avoid the spotlight.

Mal Manchee speaks to sorority

Mal Manchee listed several projects the Hereford Independent School Board is considering when members of Alpha Iota Mu Chapter met recently in the home of Jackie Fangman.

During the meeting, members gave suggestions of presents they would like to receive from their secret sisters for Christmas and it was announced that the couples Christmas party will be held Friday at Texas Tumbleweed in Amarillo.

Also, the next meeting for the group will be a Christmas party beginning at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 20 in the home of Beckie Fry.

The Beta Sigma Phi State Convention will be held in June 1985 in San Antonio.

Refreshments were served to Marge Bell, Holly Bixler, Debbie Black, Michelle Brisendine, Nancy George, Carol Kelley, Jan Ramaekers, Ruby Sanders, Janis White, Melinda White, Kay Williams, Ruby Lee, Lisa Gelatt, Dona Hendrickson and Louann Eubanks.

Merry Mixers holiday party set Dec. 20

The Merry Mixers Square Dancers met Thursday evening at the Community Center with four squares dancing.

The group is planning its Christmas party Dec. 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Center. All students are invited to attend.

Merry Mixers meet the first, third and fifth Thursdays of each month at 8:30 p.m. Lessons are given every Thursday at 7:30 p.m. with Freddie McKee calling at all dances.

Phil Pastoret

Just about the time you think you're perfect in all you do, you dial the time signal when what you want is the weather report.

A bear market is more profitable than a bull market, if it's Christmas shopping time and you happen to deal in brains of the Teddy variety.

Now there's a talking camera. But can it say what you say when you forget to take the dust cover off the lens?

Governor's budget trimmed for 1986

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White office budget for 1986-87 is being cut just as much he has asked other state agencies to do, a White aide said.
"Another example of Republicans using mirrors and smoke," Ann Arnold, White's press secretary, said after State GOP Chairman George Strake claimed White wanted hefty increases for his office and mansion the next two years.
"The record shows that White's attitude is to cut everyone else's budget but not his own," Strake told a Capitol news conference Monday.
He said White has requested 43.4 percent more for the mansion and 28.6 percent more for his office.
Ms. Arnold said the mansion budget does not call for any increase over present operations and the governor's new plane actually is saving taxpayers money.
"The budget request for all the governor's office actually is a decrease of 5 percent, or $1.3 million," she said.

Both Strake and Ms. Arnold quoted different figures in discussing the budget White has submitted to the 1985 Legislature.
Strake said White's request for the mansion included two stewards and three cooks compared to the one steward and one cook in Republican Gov. Bill Clements' administration.
"There is no increase in the mansion budget or the staff from what was there during the past two years," Ms. Arnold said. "There were six people in the Mansion when the Clements were there and there are eight now. Much of the time the Clements were there the mansion was under construction and they did not even live there."
She said a transfer of $60,000 from the governor's office on budget and planning to the mansion account was a normal procedure within the funds appropriated to the governor's office.

Ms. Arnold said White has entertained 76,499 people in the mansion since he became governor. All costs for food and beverages, including that for White and his family, are paid from the governor's officeholder's account, she said.
Strake said White planned to spend 55 percent more for his jet plane than he spent in 1984, plus taking another $1.7 million in state funds to pay off the twin-engine Mitsubishi seven-passenger aircraft, which is now under a 10-year lease-purchase agreement.
White's budget request said the state could save $102,425 in interest payments by paying off the jet, using for a large part of the payment $856,000 from interest earned on federal grants to the state that has accumulated in the governor's office.

Ms. Arnold said the accumulated interest on federal funds administered by the state dates back to the 1970s. "Gov. White put it into his budget document, but other governors have not," she said.

She said any increased costs for the jet would be cancelled out by the difference in operations of the new and the old governor's plane. The new plane operates for $410 an hour while the old plane, a 14-passenger Grumman, cost $3,158 an hour to fly, she said.

Of Social Security

Government gearing up for taxation.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forty million Americans will get new statements from Social Security next month telling them how much they were paid in benefits in 1984.
For 90 percent, it will be nothing more than a reminder of how much their monthly checks add up to over a year. But for the other 10 percent, it will be the first step in what promises to be a painful annual ritual: figuring out how much of their Social Security they must pay income tax on.

The 1983 Social Security rescue legislation provided that starting in 1984, people with income over certain levels would pay tax on up to half their benefits.
Social Security and Internal Revenue Service officials displayed on Monday the new forms that will be mailed out in January. They said they have set up machinery, including a toll-free telephone number, to field an expected 9.2 million inquiries.
All Social Security beneficiaries — including the elderly and disabled — must pay income tax on up to half their benefits if their adjusted gross income, plus tax-exempt interest from municipal bonds, plus half their Social Security benefits exceed:

—$25,000 for a married couple filing jointly.
—Zero for a married couple who lived together for any part of 1984 and who file separate returns.
—$25,000 for a married person who files separately but did not live with a spouse at any time during the year.

dividual.
—$2,000 for a single individual.
—$27 billion through 1989.
Because the tax thresholds were not tied to inflation, increasing numbers of retirees will pay taxes in future years. Mrs. McSteen said 17 percent of all beneficiaries will pay taxes on Social Security by 1990.
Social Security pays benefits each month to 36 million people, but in the course of the year 40 million receive checks as people enter or leave the rolls, spokesman James Brown said.
It is costing Social Security $67.5 million to prepare the benefit notices and gear up for a flood of telephone calls and inquiries.
Starting Jan. 5, when the first forms will be delivered, and running through April 15, the tax filing deadline, people will be able to call this toll-free number to hear a two-minute taped explanation: 1-900-200-1099.

THROUGH THE MAIL

It's not much cheaper than a local call

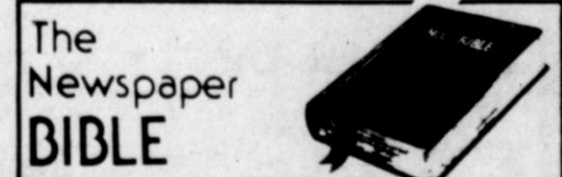

A first-class stamp will cost 22 cents after next year's price increase. That's a far cry from the 3 cents charged in 1954 — and in most areas just a bit less than the cost of a pay-phone call.

Police chaplain planning suicide docudrama

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Police chaplain Harold Elliott, prompted by the apparent suicides of two high school students, is raising money to finance a half-hour docudrama "Suicide Is Not Painless."
Elliott is used to being the first on the scene of the city's other crimes — from grisly murders to rapes.
But the deaths of two teenagers got to him.
"I see what happens the minute a report comes in that we have a body, and I stay with it sometimes until years after the event," he said.
"But this really got to me. It was something about there having been two of them at once," Elliott said. "It was such a total waste."
What Elliott found were the bodies of high school students Chris Clower and Neal Ringer. They died of single gunshot wounds to the head, but authorities never determined where the deaths were suicides or slaying-suicide.
Elliott was determined to do something about it and is trying to raise $65,000 by February so production on the film can begin.
He got help from Marc Bockman, a script writer from Mineola, Texas, who agreed to write the script without advance pay.
The film is a takeoff on the "MASH" movie theme song, "Suicide Is Painless," and Elliott hopes it will "take the edge off the romanticism of suicide."
"I don't want a 'Scared Straight' type film where they scare you to death. I wanted one that showed the reality of suicide," Elliott said. "With this film, a lot of the responsibility is placed on the victim."
Howard Englander Film Producers of Houston is producing the film.
"The film is about a young man with ordinary problems," Elliott said. "He overreacts, picks up a gun and shoots himself. You'll see the gun hammer cocked, but we cut away there to show all alternatives in life.

"They're a generation that's never been tested," Elliott said. "If you don't want to be married, you get a divorce. If you don't want to be straight, you can be homosexual. But unfortunately, the only alternative to living is dying. It's permanent."
He said teens today need

WHY BE ASHAMED OF IT?

I want you to know, dear brothers, that I planned to come many times before (but was prevented) so that I could work among you and see good results, just as I have among the other Gentile churches. For I owe a great debt to you and to everyone else, both to civilized peoples and heathen nations; yes, to the educated and uneducated alike.
So, to the fullest extent of my ability, I am ready to come also to you in Rome to preach God's Good News.
For I am not ashamed of this Good News about Christ. It is God's powerful method of bringing all who believe it to heaven. This message was preached first to the Jews alone, but now everyone is invited to come to God in this same way.
This Good News tells us that God makes us ready for heaven—makes us right in God's sight—when we put our faith and trust in Christ to save us. This is accomplished from start to finish by faith. As the Scripture says it, "The man who finds life will find it through trusting God."
But God shows His anger from heaven against all sinful, evil men who push away the truth from them. For the truth about God is known to them instinctively; God has put this knowledge in their hearts.
Romans 1:13-19
