By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

Sites in Deaf Smith and Swisher counties being considered for the nation's first high-level nuclear waste dump may be changed soon, sources said this morning.

According to Steve Frishman, director of the Texas Nuclear Waste Programs Office, he was informed last week the U.S. Department of Energy was considering changing the pair of nine-square-mile locations.

Last spring, DOE officials proposed the Deaf Smith and Swisher sites be reduced from their respective 300- and 180-square-mile sizes. Such a move would reportedly make them more comparable with the seven other locations in five states still being considered for hosting the nuclear waste repository.

Frishman, during a telephone interview this morning, said he was "informally notified" by a DOE official the Deaf Smith County proposed site would be moved two miles to the east. As such, it would no longer include Richardson Seed Company.

Wayne Richardson, owner of the seed-producing firm, expressed adamant opposition to the original site reduction proposal at a meeting with DOE officials last spring. He was unavailable for comment this morning.

The shrunken Swisher site, initially to include one of the county's largest industries, is to be moved a mile north and another mile east, Frishman said. Thus it will not encompass Roll-A-Cone, a farm implement manufacturer owned by outspoken dump critic Wiley Byrd.

"We're very upset over the whole thing," Byrd said over the telephone early today. He claimed he would rather have the proposed repository site be placed over his business, which would therefore have to move. The rumored change in location, he said, would still affect part of his land and cause his home and firm to practically border the dump.

"Who wants to live next to it?" he asked.

Though she would not release details about the change of proposed site reductions, DOE's Linda McClain stated, "We think they are going to be re-positioned." The project manager for Texas exploration activities, contacted by telephone this morning, said she expected a decision on the locations to be made late this week.

"I'm a little surprised at the rationale they've given especially since we've had six months of silence," Frishman said about the DOE. "I'm waiting to see in writing what their rationale is."

Frishman also commented the latest news from DOE is being done in a "remarkably casual" way.

Energy Department officials, according to Frishman, are still maintaining they will release draft environmental assessments of the nine candidate sites by or on Dec. 20. The field is to be narrowed to five, then to three, in the first half of 1985.

As outlined in the 1982 Nuclear Waste Policy Act, the three surviving candidates are to be objected to detailed site characterization studies. Results of those are to lead to a final decision in late 1990. Storage operations are to commence in 1998.

Former local instructor killed

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

A Ft. Worth English instructor who taught nine years at La Plata Junior High School was found strangled to death Monday morning in her second-story apartment.

Kathryn Jackson, 32, died late Sunday night at the hands of an unidentified assailant. Police have determined no motive nor suspects.

Kathryn Jackson strangled Sunday

Jackson's hands had reportedly been tied and she was placed in a bathtub of scalding water. Her nude body was covered by a pile of clothing. Police said she was sexually assaulted.

The principal of the school where Jackson had taught for three years found Jackson's body Monday morning after she failed to show up for classes.

"The steam almost knocked me down. I dropped to my hands and knees and crawled to the bathtub and turned the water off. That's when I saw her lying in the tub," said James Pollard, principal of Irma Marsh Middle School.

Ft. Worth Police Lt. T.C. Swan said the slaying is similar in some ways to the recent strangulations of two other area women.

Pollard said he and another teacher went to Jackson's apartment after students reported her missing from her early classes. He said he feared she had been in an accident driving home from Brady, where she spent the Thanksgiving holiday with her parents. When he saw her car, he asked the leasing agent to let them into the apartment.

"I entered thinking that something was wrong, but hoping nothing really was," Pollard said. "When I found her it was really a shock."

Police said there were no signs of forced entry into Jackson's apartment. Her mother said she spoke with Jackson on the telephone at about 7 p.m. Sunday.

"She was very satisfied to be home and have the car unloaded. She said she was getting ready to relax," Mrs. Jackson told the Associated Press.

Mrs. Jackson speculated someone got into the apartment while her daughter was unloading her car from the holiday trip.

"That seems the only way anybody could have gotten in," she said, recalling how three locks on the door and a peephole had made her daughter feel safe in the apartment.

A spokesman for the Tarrant County medical examiners office said Monday after an autopsy that Jackson had been strangled with a cord.

The woman was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Jackson of Brady, a town in central Texas. Funeral services are pending at the Colonial Funeral Home there.

Sesquicentennial plan okayed

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

Master plans for Hereford's celebration of the Texas sesquicentennial in 1986 were approved at a regularly-scheduled meeting of the Deaf Smith County Commission Monday.

Meanwhile, an injured officer of the sheriff's department told commissioners he would rather be fired and receive unemployment benefits than accept a part-time job as a dispatcher.

Celebration of Texas' 150th birthday is being coordinated by governmental employees in Austin. They must approve master plans submitted by those cities wishing to participate in the festivities, according to Mike Carr, executive vice president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

Carr explained to commissioners Monday the master plans Hereford will send are not all-inclusive. They are rather to give "a rough outline" of what activities are planned, he said. "There will be other events added."

Among the items proposed in the local master plans is beautification of the city, a project which has already commenced. Also included is a city-wide celebration of the Texas Wagon Train's arrival on May 15, 1986.

Back problems have kept Deputy Bill Henderson from working for eight weeks, he told the commission Monday. Only one week of that absence from the sheriff's department was paid, he said, as that was all the sick pay he was due. Since the injury was not job-related, he was not eligible for workman's compensation.

Though his doctor told Henderson he could now return to work, several restrictions were placed by the physician. Among them is no prolonged standing and orders to lie down for 30-to-40-minute periods every so often.

Sheriff Joe Brown has offered a full-time jailer's position to Henderson, the two confirmed. They and commissioners agreed, though, such work could be hazardous to Henderson's health and would require a second jailer be present when he needs to lie down.

Henderson was also offered a part-

By county commissioners on Monday

time dispatcher's job which would have given him just eight hours per week.

Should he be fired, County Treasurer Vesta Mae Nunley explained, Henderson would be able to collect unemployment for up to five quarters. Such an action would probably cause a slight increase in the county's unemployment insurance rate, she said.

"I'm not concerned about the money," Brown later commented. "I'm concerned about the man."

"It's hard to say fire me," Henderson said, "but I've got to eat." When he claimed it would be his "preference" to be fired, commissioners agreed with Brown's subsequent recommendation the dismissal be made.

In other commission business, local attorney Rex Easterwood was appointed to serve on a Title 7 grievance committee for the Cecilia Garza vs. Deaf Smith County case. Earlier this year, a Federal Court judge in Amarillo ruled in favor of Garza, making the county liable for backpay to those Hispanics denied employment in any of four specified county departments over the past five years.

In addition to Easterwood, the

Judge delays ruling on venue

HOUSTON (AP) — Many potential jurors probably believe a teenager murdered a female letter carrier because his parents refused for almost two months to testify before a grand jury investigating the case, two reporters and a radio talk show host have testified.

Defense attorneys contend David Port, 17, could not get a fair trial in Houston because of extensive news accounts surrounding the shooting death of letter carrier Deborah Sue Schatz.

"This is not the average, ordinary case," argued defense attorney Jack Zimmermann, adding potential jurors have been bombarded with reports of public outrage, an alleged confession and scenes of the handcuffed suspect being led away by police.

State District Judge I.D. McMaster said he will rule Dec. 3 on the change of venue request.

The youth's attorneys subpoenaed reporters Mary Flood of The Houston Post and Tom Moran of the Houston Chronicle and Ben Baldwin, a talk show host for Houston radio station KPRC.

All three testified Monday the case has received widespread coverage and that they believe the majority of Houston residents probably think the teen-ager is guilty.

Witnesses claim killer 'gentle'

HOUSTON (AP) — Prosecutors say a man convicted for his part in the pickax slayings of two people is not the "kind, compassionate" person portrayed by friends, relatives and a police officer involved in the case.

Assistant District Attorney Rusty Hardin said he will call Karla Faye Tucker, a 24-year-old woman sentenced to death in the slayings, back to the witness stand today to "give jurors a different impression" of Daniel R. Garrett.

A jury of seven men and five women last week convicted Garrett, 38, of capital murder in the June 1983 slaying of Deborah Ruth Davis Thornton, 32, who was repeatedly hacked with a pickax. The same panel now must decide whether Garrett deserves life in prison or death by injection.

Ms. Thornton's overnight guest, Jerry Lynn Dean, 26, also was killed with a pickax the same evening. In April, a jury convicted Karla Faye Tucker in Dean's killing and sentenced her to death.

Stamp to help preserve wildlife

AUSTIN (AP) — A new state program to provide money for protecting nongame wildlife and endangered species is the first of its kind in the nation, Gov. Mark White says.

The project will raise funds through the voluntary sale of nongame stamps, similar to duck stamps, and won't cost taxpayers any money, White said Monday.

"The Texas Nongame Stamp Fund is the first program in Texas — in fact, the first anywhere in the 50 states — to offer a voluntary funding program for the sole purpose of conducting nongame wildlife research and management, public education and acquiring habitat for endangered species," White said.

The stamp features a painting of two whooping cranes, and the governor said it was a particularly appropriate choice.

"The whooping crane has become a symbol of efforts to successfully bring one of our most beautiful birds back from the brink of extinction. It is appropriate that the whooping crane be depicted on the first Texas nongame stamp," he said.

Heart patient breathes on own

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Forty-eight hours after receiving a permanent artificial heart, William J. Schroeder was breathing on his own for the first time today and was able to ask his doctor whether the heart was working and when he could have a can of beer.

In his first meeting with the press, Dr. William C. DeVries, the surgeon who implanted the plastic heart, also said this morning that Schroeder could be able to leave the hospital as soon as before Christmas.

At 6 a.m. today, Schroeder was removed from a respirator for the first time since Sunday's operation and was finally able to talk when the breathing tube was removed from his throat, DeVries said.

Schroeder's first words were, "Is the heart working all right? Is it going to do anything for you" in terms of advancing research, DeVries said.

"I'd like a can of beer," the surgeon said Schroeder added.

Regan proposing tax reductions

WASHINGTON (AP) — American taxpayers would find their federal tax bills tumbling, on average, by 8.5 percent, under a proposal officials said Treasury Secretary Donald Regan was to unveil today to dramatically revamp the ungainly tax system.

Some 80 percent of taxpayers would see their income tax payments falling or, at the least, holding steady, under Regan's nearly yearlong effort to come up with a better way to tax the nation.

Twenty percent, mostly those in high tax brackets, would turn over more to the government's coffers by being stripped of ways to shelter their income from the tax collector, said administration officials who would speak only on condition they not be identified.

President Reagan ordered the Treasury Department in January to undertake the study in an effort to make fairer and simpler the complicated tax code. Adoption of wide-ranging changes would mark the biggest overhaul of the system since the income tax came into being 71 years ago.

Bundling may cause crib deaths

LONDON (AP) — Parents who bundle up their babies with too many blankets or place them in overheated rooms raise the risk of crib death for their children, a study by a pediatrician indicates.

Crib death, or sudden infant death syndrome, is the name given to the unexplained death of an apparently healthy baby. About one to three deaths in every 1,000 babies is blamed on the crib death. A fault in the baby's breathing mechanism has been linked to the syndrome, but the actual cause is unknown.

The parents of most of the babies included in the study of crib deaths "seemed to have an unusual concept of what constituted normal warmth," wrote the author, Dr. Anthony Stanton.

"The babies had been clothed and wrapped as if they were sleeping outdoors and at risk of hypothermia," Stanton said.

The doctor said parents should be educated "away from the folklore that babies catch cold to the reality that many are at risk from overheating."

He said his study, published in the current issue of the British medical journal The Lancet, found that keeping a baby too warm was a possible cause of crib death.

The pediatrician said previous scientific studies have linked overheating to crib death.

Farmers dealt tough hand

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Despite adverse weather, setbacks in the Legislature and in the courts, and tight economic conditions, agriculture is still a strong business in Texas, the head of the Texas Farm Bureau says.

S.M. True, in a speech Monday at the opening session of the TFB convention, told the state's farmers net farm income in Texas this year will be about half what it was less than five years ago.

"Economists tell us that despite depressed income, Texas agriculture is still financially sound. Debt as a percent of assets is averaging less than 20 percent and agricultural loan losses have increased only slightly since 1980."

The figures, however, don't mean much to farmers and ranchers who have been "suffering through years of low prices, high interest rates, bad weather and who are struggling to find financing for one more try," True said. "In too many cases, these are excellent farmers and ranchers. They are victims of the times. It is those people we must help," he said.

The biggest problem facing Texas farmers may be water, True said.

"At present, it is estimated that agriculture uses almost three-fourths of all water consumed in the state for irrigation and livestock watering," he said.

Because of the growing population in Texas and increasing industrialization, "competition for water is already sharp and we in agriculture find ourselves on a collision course over available water resources in the future," True said.

Texas farmers, True said, have been dealt a "triple-whammy" this year from the state and the public.

Lawmakers removed agriculture's exemption for workers' compensation, the state proposed stringent pesticide regulations for farm crops, and a class-action lawsuit was filed seeking to force small-scale farmers to pay unemployment compensation.

As if those problems weren't enough, True said farmers are "in the worst economic squeeze since the Great Depression."

"This at a time when much of the rest of the country is bouncing back from the effects of double-digit inflation and recession," the Plainview farmer told convention delegates.

"It's ironic that the stronger dollar hurts agriculture," he said. "It increases the cost of our products abroad, causing us to lose foreign markets."

The workers' compensation bill passed by the legislature this year provides all migrant workers with financial help if they are injured on the job.

The Texas Department of Agriculture, concerned about safety for farm workers and neighbors of farmers, has proposed stringent new regulations on the use of pesticides.

The TFB has vigorously opposed the regulations, which True said are "unnecessary, unreasonable and unworkable."

"As if all this weren't enough, last month (a) class-action suit was filed in an Austin court that seeks to force small-scale agricultural employers to pay unemployment compensation," he said.

'All-American drug'

Crime panel now to examine cocaine

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's Commission on Organized Crime is turning its attention from Asian crime gangs to cocaine, which the panel's director says is no longer just a jet-set sport but "the all-American drug."

"There is nothing funny about cocaine," says James D. Harmon Jr., the executive director who has helped arrange three days of hearings that he and commission members hope will convince Americans to curb their appetite for the drug.

The hearings, beginning here today, are scheduled to review the manufacture, distribution and use of cocaine through testimony from law enforcement officials, doctors, drug abusers and former smugglers.

"Cocaine is not just a South Florida problem but one shared by Nebraska, Indiana, Alaska and the rest of the country," Harmon said Monday at a news conference.

"The commission hopes that what we say might make a difference," Harmon said. "It is clear that cocaine is a national problem."

"Cocaine now is the all-American drug. Every citizen has a stake in the war against cocaine networks," Harmon said.

"We hope that this set of hearings does have some effect upon the demand for cocaine in this country, that it will have a direct effect on the power and the ability of the cocaine network to function," he said.

Harmon estimated that the number of Americans trying "the drug of major abuse" soared from 5.4 million in 1974 to 21.6 million last year and that the number of chronic users rose from 1.6 million in 1977 to 4.2 million in 1982.

"Cocaine abuse is on the rise," said Harmon, who stated that 77 percent of U.S. law enforcement agencies responding to a commission survey reported cocaine trafficking in their jurisdictions.

He said the hearings would also explore "fast-moving developments" in Colombia and other South American nations that are the major sources of cocaine sold in this country.

"There now appears to exist an opportunity to damage beyond repair the world's major organized crime network responsible for the importation of cocaine into this country," he said.

To halt crackdown

Dealers start campaign

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — A bombing outside the U.S. Embassy here appears to signal a new terror campaign by Colombian drug traffickers aimed at halting a crackdown on marijuana and cocaine smuggling to the United States, an embassy source said.

The 22-pound dynamite bomb killed one woman and injured six men, all Colombians, Monday afternoon. Twelve days earlier, Colombia's drug traffickers — who operate a multi-billion dollar business — threatened to kill five Americans for every Colombian extradited to the United States on drug charges, U.S.

officials said. As a result of that threat, the State Department evacuated the families of six embassy employees to the United States, the embassy source told the Associated Press on Monday. Families of other employees have been asked to return to the United States on a voluntary basis.

President Belisario Betancur and his justice minister, Enrique Parejo, both said recently that their lives have been threatened by drug traffickers.

Parejo's predecessor, Rodrigo Lara, an outspoken opponent of the drug traffickers, was assassinated April 30, and one of his killers said he had been paid $10,000 by drug dealers.

No one claimed responsibility for Monday's bombing, which created a thunderous blast on a street running alongside the embassy and a building housing the offices of Exxon.

But the U.S. Embassy source told the Associated Press that the embassy is assuming the bombing was the work of drug traffickers.

The source spoke on condition he not be identified, saying he feared that exposure may make him a target of the traffickers.

U.S. authorities say Colombia's major drug traffickers make billions of dollars a year by smuggling cocaine and marijuana into the United States.

The embassy source said the dealers are trying to force the Colombian and U.S. governments into halting a campaign to extradite about 70 suspected Colombian traffickers to the United States.

After Lara's assassination, Betancur personally approved the extradition of six Colombians to the United States, but so far none has been turned over to U.S. authorities. Betancur was the first Colombian president to take such action.

Late Monday, sources with Spain's embassy in Bogota told The Associated Press that the Spanish ambassador, Manuel Garcia-Miranda, has received telephoned threats against his life.

COUNTY

grievance committee is to have a representative of the victorious side and a third person agreed upon by both parties. County Judge Glen Nelson Monday suggested Deaf Smith officials start compiling a list of people to recommend for the third spot.

Representatives of Hereford Young Farmers asked commissioners for help regarding the annual HYF Livestock Show, slated for the last weekend in January in the bull barn. Light bulbs and a sufficient water heater are required for the event, which due to new state education laws will be held during evening hours for the first time.

Bruce Coleman, retiring commissioner from Place 3, said Walcott School recently removed a large water heater which should be acceptable for show. No firm decision was made Monday.

The commission was to have gathered this afternoon to examine detention equipment bids for the proposed $1.55 million jail renovation project. The next regularly-scheduled meeting is 10 a.m. Monday, Dec. 10 in the courthouse.

Lifeline available to local residents

Deaf Smith General Hospital has announced the beginning date for the newest hospital-based community service. Lifeline will be available to residents of Deaf Smith county December 6.

Doris Morgan RN, coordinator of the new program, explained that Lifeline is a new home care service provided by the local hospital to the elderly, the ill or disabled.

The Lifeline Personal Emergency Response System is designed to put these vulnerable individuals in 24-hour contact with hospital personnel who are experienced in handling emergencies. Subscribers are able to get help even when they can't use the phone or if they are unconscious.

Morgan says that through her work in the hospital's Home Care Service she has been impressed by the intense desire of most people to remain in their own homes even when they have major health problems which create a vulnerability to emergency situations.

The fear that these individuals may not have help available when they need it causes anxiety not only for them, but for their families and friends as well. Lifeline gives a feeling of security by enabling subscribers to obtain assistance even if they are unconscious, or for some other reason are unable to use the phone.

Because of the tremendous community support which has been offered for the program, the hospital will be able to supply the Lifeline units to subscribers at their cost which is $16 per month per unit.

Several Hereford service clubs have agreed to sponsor units available and application for the service may be made by contacting Doris Morgan at the hospital.

I've had a couple of calls concerning preparing sugar beets for consumption. I want to share with you what I've found.

There are three types of beets, red beets, Swiss chard, and sugar beets. Swiss Chard is grown for its tender leaves. Red beets are raised for the colorful beets while sugar beets are used for the sugar content.

Sugar beets are edible in the natural state. The leaves can also be eaten. They are tenderest in the thinning stage of production. The beet is best for eating when it is young and small. It can be pickled just like the red beets. Find a red beet recipe and substitute sugar beets. Making sugar or sugar beet syrup is a very timely and detailed process. However I can get the directions if you have a need for it.

Let me share some delicious recipes with you using some of that Deaf Smith County sugar.

Four-Layer Dessert

1/2 cup butter, softened
1 cup flour
1 cup pecans, chopped
1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
1 carton (9 oz.) whipped topping
5 cups cold milk
1 pkg. (5 oz.) instant chocolate pudding
1 pkg. (5 oz.) instant vanilla pudding
Chocolate shavings
1 cup powdered sugar

Mix butter, flour, and pecans until crumbly. Lightly press with hands into ungreased 9X13X2-inch dish. Bake in 350 degree oven for 20 minutes; cool. Beat cream cheese and powdered sugar until creamy. Add 1 1/2 cups of the whipped topping. Spread over crust. Chill. Mix milk and puddings until pudding is a thickened consistency. Pour over second layer and let set about 5 minutes in refrigerator. Spread remaining whipped topping over pudding layer. Garnish with shaved chocolate. Chill until ready to serve.

I substituted lemon instant pudding in this the second time I made it. My husband much preferred the lemon flavor.

Velveeta Cheese Fudge

1 box (8 oz.) Velveeta cheese
1 cup butter
2 pounds powdered sugar
1/2 cup cocoa
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 cup chopped nuts

Melt cheese and butter in a large bowl in the microwave for 1 1/2 minutes on high power or over low heat in a sauce pan. Gradually add powdered sugar and cocoa and mix well. Mix in vanilla and nuts. Pat into a buttered 13X9X2-inch pan and chill. It's rich but you really do not taste the cheese.

Salted Peanut Chews

1 1/2 cups flour
3/4 cup brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 cup margarine, softened
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg yolks
3 cups miniature marshmallows
3/4 cup corn syrup
1/4 cup margarine
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 pkg. (12 oz.) peanut butter chips
2 cups crisp rice cereal
2 cups peanuts

In large bowl, combine flour, brown sugar, baking powder, soda, and margarine. Mix in vanilla and egg yolks; press in bottom of ungreased 13X9 inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes or until light golden brown. Immediately sprinkle with marshmallows. Return to oven for 1 to 2 minutes, or until marshmallows just begin to puff. Set aside while preparing topping. In large saucepan, heat corn syrup, margarine, vanilla, and peanut butter chips just until chips are melted and mixture is smooth, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; stir in cereal and nuts. Immediately spoon warm topping over marshmallows and spread to cover. Chill; cut into bars. Makes 36 bars.

Christmas Lighting Contest judging scheduled Dec. 11

Plans are being made for the annual Christmas Lighting Contest sponsored by the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Entry forms may be picked up at the Chamber office and all forms must be returned to that office by 4 p.m. Dec. 10. Forms will also appear in Sunday's Hereford Brand.

Judging will take place after dark on Dec. 11. First and second place prizes will be awarded in each category. All prizes will be in Hereford bucks.

No rules and regulations are given from the Chamber and participants must simply use their own creativity. Everyone is eligible, including last year's winners as long as they enter in a different category than the one in which they won last year.

The resident division includes two categories: the entire home and a door and/a window. In the business division, the categories are the same.

The geographical center of West Virginia is in Braxton, 4 miles east of Sutton.

Let's talk.

Information about your changing telephone service from Gary Stevens, Manager-Community Relations

Serving you and the community

What do you think about when you think of Southwestern Bell Telephone?

A company that provides telecommunications? "The telephone company?" A company that connects you across town and is your connecting link to towns across the world?

We're all those things, but we're more. As I look around the state, I see we're a company that's committed to, and involved in, the communities we serve. Our children go to the same schools. We attend the same churches. We shop at the same stores. So just like you, we have a stake in our community.

We're volunteers in 2,200 Texas organizations

How are we helping Texas communities? Our employees are volunteers. They are active in literally hundreds of organizations. It's a diverse group, too: American Business Women's Association, Soroptimists, United Way (and its affiliated agencies), American Diabetes Association, Rotarians, Jaycees, neighborhood Crime Watch groups, local Food Banks, among others.

Thousands of employees are also active in our own service organizations — Telephone Pioneers of America and local Community Relations ("CR") Teams. These two groups are involved in hundreds of community service projects in Texas each year, like Special Olympics, hospice programs and Lighthouse for the Blind, to name just a few.

Our employees are also very active in many organizations for the advancement of minorities, like the National Urban League, NAACP, LULAC, Texas Association of Mexican-American Chambers of Commerce and many others.

Giving more than our time to good causes

We also make many donations to support key public and private facilities in many Texas communities, like a hospital expansion fund. However, we give only when there's a proven need for the company to contribute. For example, a hospital expansion benefits the entire community.

Our 35,000 employees in Texas give much more than their time. Over the last 12 months, they donated 6,564 pints of blood to local blood banks (that's about 821 gallons), gave more than $4 million to the United Way, made 2,315 talks about changes in our industry to clubs and organizations and donated more than $327,000 to colleges and universities.

Texas heroes: The true spirit of service

The spirit of giving goes even further. Several have risked their lives to save another. These Texas heroes include folks like Waco employee Ken Tucker who administered first aid to a woman after she had suffered a near-fatal motorcycle accident and McAllen employee Rey Soto who saved a woman from drowning in the Rio Grande.

As you can see, Southwestern Bell Telephone's "spirit of service" goes beyond our top priority of providing you with quality telephone service. It's also being actively involved in our communities, helping our neighbors and friends and doing our best to make Texas an even better place to live.

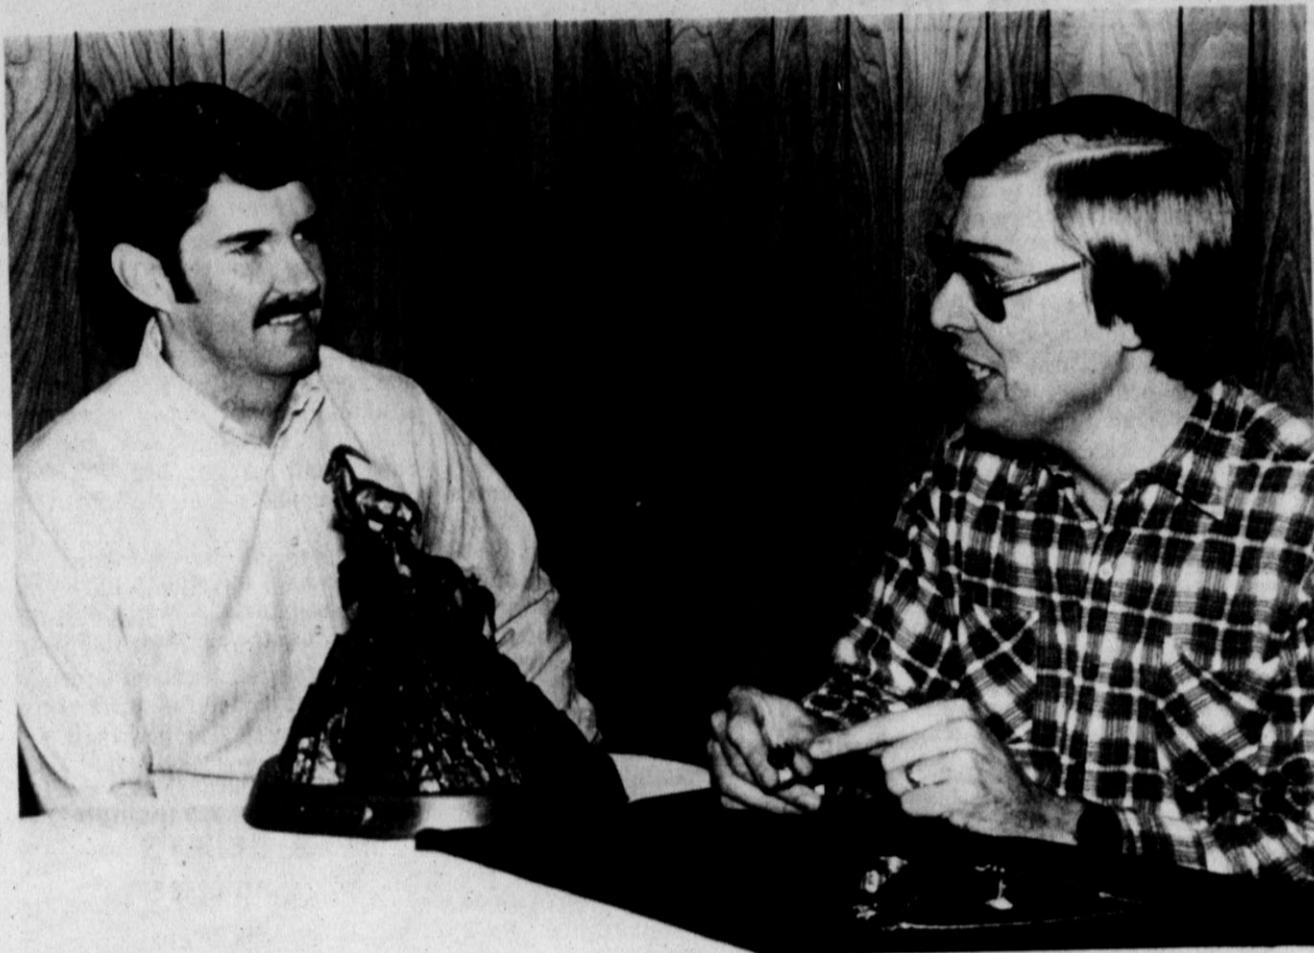

That's the true spirit of our Texas service.

As of November 1, 1984 in most cases, Southwestern Bell Telephone is no longer billing you for your charges for leased equipment from AT&T Information Systems. AT&T is now sending you a separate bill and you should return your payment directly to AT&T.

If you use AT&T long distance (AT&T Communications), you'll still get a bill from us for at least two more years. AT&T Communications signed a contract for us to provide customer billing for them for three years, ending on December 31, 1986.

Gruver advances

By DENNIS BALL
Sports Editor

High school football teams from Gruver and Sundown battled for 48 minutes Saturday night in a rain-soaked, muddy Whiteface Stadium for the right to advance to the regional playoffs.

But instead of trying to hold on to the football and keep their footing in the slush, the teams could have gone home at the 11:45 mark of the first quarter. By that time, Gruver's Greyhounds were on top 7-0, a lead they never relinquished.

Gruver's deep receiver, on the opening kickoff, Jack Redman, took the ball over his shoulder at the 4-yard line, turned upfield, veered to his right to avoid a treacherous center of the field and scooted 96 yards for a touchdown.

The Greyhounds also scored 14 more points to beat the Roughnecks 21-0 in a Class A bi-district game here. Gruver now will meet Archer City at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in Childress for the right to advance to the quarter-finals.

"The opening kickoff didn't help us any, did it?" asked Sundown football coach Mike Motheral. "We had been tickled with our kick coverage all year, but that return tonight just caused a breakdown for us."

"Gruver has a fine football team, they really got after it."

The District 1-A runner-up Greyhounds pushed their record to 8-3 with the win. Saturday's victory came after Gruver had lost its final two ball games of the regular season, to Claude and Wheeler. On the other hand, Sundown, District 2-A champion, suffered its first loss in 1984, ending the season 11-1.

The early lead was one which Gruver took into the locker room at halftime. The Greyhounds almost had another TD, but Roughneck defender Chris Ellison intercepted a Chad Logsdon pass at the 1-yard line.

Defense took control of the rest of the half. Sundown never moved nearer the Gruver goal than the Greyhound 35, and Gruver didn't get closer than the Roughneck 31.

To open the third quarter, Sundown attempted an onside kick. The roughnecks failed to recover, however, and Gruver took possession on its own 46.

The Roughnecks got the ball back following a Gruver punt, but not for long. On the ensuing play, Sundown quarterback Rocky Boaz dropped the wet ball, and Jeff Bonham fell on it for Gruver at the Roughneck 31. Tailback Rod Been put six more on the board for Gruver eight plays and 2:52 later when he barreled over Lefty Gomez, who won six World Series games without a loss for the New York Yankees, was also the winning pitcher in three All-Star Games.

Trevor kicked his second point after to give Gruver a 14-0 advantage.

The defense recorded the final TD for Gruver. Obviously altering their game plan—because of the weather and because tailback Andy Emory injured his hip in the first quarter—the roughnecks coughed up the ball in their own end zone. Logsdon fell on it for Gruver.

Williams kicked another PAT to make the score 21-0.

"We did have to change our game plan some," Motheral said. "We normally try to finesse a little more than we did tonight, but the weather wouldn't let us. But our guys gave a great effort still."

Sundown's little-or no-finesse offense could manage only 72 total yards, 63 of them on the ground. Fourteen of the yards came in the last half.

Emory led Sundown backs with 30 yards, despite playing only the first quarter. Been led Gruver with 121 of the team's 186 total yards. Passing was held to a minimum, as Gruver completed 2 of 5 passes for 3 yards and Sundown 1 of 10 for 9 yards.

"I think maybe we were a little more determined," Gruver football coach Barry Haenisch said. "We had lost our last two ball games, the one to claude in the last few minutes, and we wanted to prove we were just as good as an 8-2 or 9-1 team. That's something we tried to establish with our kids."

Jeff Torborg, a coach for the New York Yankees, caught three no-hitters during his active career, two by Sandy Koufax and one by Nolan Ryan.

Dolphin quarterback ties record

Marino passes by Jets, 28-17

By FRED GOODALL
AP Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP) — Dan Marino was only a baby when George Blanda and Y.A. Tittle etched their names into the National Football League record book, and now, in the infancy of his NFL career, he is on the verge of erasing their single-season mark for touchdown passes.

The Miami quarterback — just a few months old when Blanda threw for 36 TDs in 1961 and a mere toddler when Tittle did the same in 1963 — pulled even with the Hall of Famers on Monday night, throwing for 192 yards and four scores to lead the Dolphins to a 28-17 victory over the New York Jets.

"It's a great honor, but what makes it so much fun for me is that so many other guys contributed and helped me accomplish this," the second-year pro said. "Everybody was excited about it and I was just as excited as they were."

Marino tossed touchdown passes of 5 yards to Mark Clayton and 1 yard to Bruce Hardy as the 12-1 Dolphins built a 14-10 halftime lead and then equaled the record with two more in the third quarter to put the game away.

Dan Johnson's 7-yard scoring reception gave Miami a 21-10 advantage 1:13 into the second half and Hardy's second TD reception, a 12-yarder, gave the Dolphins' quarterback No. 36 with three games left in the regular season.

"I'm so happy and proud of Dan," Coach Don Shula said. "He deserves all the recognition he's getting. It's hard to believe that a guy in his second year is accomplishing these things."

Blanda, who played between 1949 and 1975, set the record in his 12th season of professional football as a member of the Houston Oilers of the old American Football League. Tittle did it for the New York Giants in his 15th NFL season. Both accomplished the feat in 14 games.

"The record is something you realize is there, but I didn't think about it much," said Marino, who'll get his first opportunity to shatter the mark when the Dolphins host the Los Angeles Raiders next Sunday.

Shula was a defensive back in the the NFL in the 1950s when Blanda and Tittle were also playing and suggested it was senseless to try to compare Marino with them.

"I think you have to judge him on what he's doing in games in this day and age with sophisticated defenses, situation substitutions, three-man lines and eight-men secondaries," Shula said. "A guy like that with everything he's done deserves that record."

A fifth Marino touchdown pass — a 47-yard bomb to Clayton in the second period — was nullified by an illegal procedure call against Dolphins tackle Cleveland Green, a penalty that denied the quarterback outright possession of the record.

"That happens," Marino said.

Stanton, La Plata win win one game each

Results of junior-high basketball Monday released for the girls' games indicate the locals came out on the short ends overall.

Stanton's seventh grade lost to Friona 19-15 despite Alicia Redmon's 10 points for Stanton. La Plata also was defeated in the seventh-grade game. Gattis won that one 21-14.

La Plata took the eighth-grade contest from Gattis 40-34. Susan Bell had 8 points for the winners.

Friona beat Stanton 32-31 in that eighth-grade game. Shawna Lambert and Carmen Brockman each had 10 in a losing effort for Stanton.

Stanton picked up a ninth-grade win. Shannon Diers poured 18 points through the nets for Stanton and Crystal Ball added 7. La Plata lost its ninth-grade affair, 58-52 to Gattis, despite Janette Mamau's 25 points.

This weekend in Hereford, junior-high tournament games are to be played at three different sites. Seventh graders are set to play at Stanton, eighth graders at the high school and ninth graders at La Plata.

Since John Newcombe won the U.S. Open Tennis championship in 1974, all the winners have been left-handed.

La Plata and Friona seventh graders battle for a loose ball Monday during junior-high basketball action in the La Plata gym. Friona won the seventh-grade girls' contest 19-15.

Evert Lloyd moves to second-round play

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — American Chris Evert Lloyd, hoping to win a major title for the 12th straight year, whipped compatriot Kim Schaefer to advance today to the second round of the $1.28 million Australian Open tennis tournament.

The second-seeded Lloyd came into the tournament bidding to keep extend her record of having won a grand slam tournament every year since 1973. She whipped Schaefer 6-0, 6-2 in just 45 minutes.

The Australian Open is her last chance to maintain that record and to thwart Martina Navratilova's bid to win a record seventh consecutive grand slam event. Lloyd's last competitive victory over Navratilova, the top seed here, was in the 1982 Australian Open final.

"I thought today was a good start. I never really felt threatened by Kim, even though she had good ground strokes," Lloyd said of Schaefer. Her second-round opponent will be Myriam Schropp of West Germany.

Lloyd was joined in the second round by third seed Pam Shriver of the U.S., who overcame both compatriot Camille Benjamin and a persistent shoulder injury.

Shriver, who plans to take at least three months off after this tournament, overpowered 18-year-old Benjamin 6-4, 6-3 after a slow start.

The 22-year-old Shriver said she is tired with life on the circuit and the constant pain caused by the injury. Her disaffection was clearly displayed as she made a series of unforced errors in the first set.

At one stage she turned to coach Don Candy, sitting in the stands, and said: "I just want to go home."

Shriver lifted her game, however, reeling off four straight games after trailing 3-4.

American Sharon Walsh was the biggest surprise winner of the day, upsetting sixth-seeded American Zina Garrison 4-6, 6-4, 9-7.

Georgetown stays atop basketball poll

By JIM O'CONNELL
AP Sports Writer

Georgetown, the defending national champion which opened the season with a two-game swing through Hawaii, remained atop the Associated Press' college basketball poll today.

The Hoyas garnered 55 of the 57 first-place votes cast by a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters and had 1,127 points in all.

Georgetown defeated Hawaii-Hilo 81-47 and Hawaii Loa 74-45 in a quick trip through the Islands before the Hoyas open at home Saturday against Southern Connecticut.

DePaul, which won its first game under new head Coach Joey Meyer by just one point over Northern Illinois, moved to second from third and received one of the first-place votes not given to Georgetown and 941 points.

St. John's, which has not yet played, was third with 859 points and Duke, which received the other first-place vote, was fourth with 838 points.

Memphis State rounded out the top five with 775 points, followed by Louisville, which improved from 17th in the preseason voting by upsetting then-No. 4 Indiana 75-64, Illinois, Washington, Southern Methodist and Oklahoma.

Illinois, which was second last week, fell five places after being upset by Alabama-Birmingham in the Great Alaska Shootout. The Fighting Illini, who handled Oklahoma easily in the Tip-off Classic, was also forced to triple overtime by Oregon in the third-place game in the Shootout.

Alabama-Birmingham went on to win the Shootout and entered the Top Twenty, finishing 13th. North Carolina, which defeated Fordham 81-65 in its only game, was the other newcomer to the poll, finishing 19th. The only team to fall from the Top Twenty — there was a tie for 20th place this week — was Kentucky, which has not played yet this season and was 18th in the preseason poll.

The Second Ten this week is: North Carolina State, Indiana, Alabama-Birmingham, Syracuse, Virginia Tech, Louisiana State, Arkansas, Georgia Tech, North Carolina and Nevada-Las Vegas, 0-1, and Kansas, which finished in a tie for the 20th spot. Kansas was second in the Shootout, dropping the title game 50-46 to Alabama-Birmingham.

The preseason Second Ten was: Nevada-Las Vegas, Syracuse, North Carolina State, Louisiana State, Virginia Tech, Arkansas, Louisville, Kentucky, Kansas and Georgia Tech.

Winners listed as contest ends

On a weekend with many upsets, The Brand Football Contest had five people to tie for first, so the tie-breaker game determined the Hereford Bucks winners.

Five entrants missed seven games with Andi Fogo and Melinda Gomez sharing first and second-place money when each tied on the tie-breaker game. Peggy Fitzgerald took the third-place prize.

Others who missed seven games but lost out on the tie-breaker were C.W. George of Dimmitt and Winston Short of Amarillo. Fourteen people missed eight games. They included Wayne Amstutz, Phil Banner, Paul

This is the final contest of the week and the Grand Prize winners will be determined this weekend. All Hereford Buck winners will be eligible for the Grand Prize Contest, while other readers will have a chance at the regular weekly prizes.

Vying for the $100, $35 and $15 prizes of the season-ending contest will be the 35 winners over the previous 12 weeks. They are:

Cheryl Betzen, vice-president, led the club collect and the hymn of the month accompanied on the piano by Susan Shaw.

Jan Walsler, president, reported on the District 1 convention held in October in Hereford. The club was awarded a blue ribbon on the 1984-85 yearbook and also received a trophy for having the most members in attendance at the convention.

Ann Landers

Try service department

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently my bank failed to credit my checking account with a deposit I had made. When I produced my receipt I was told it was not sufficient proof — that the slips were issued only for the customer's convenience.

Ten days later I was informed that the money had mistakenly been deposited to the wrong account.

Today the bank called to inform me that it "lost" a check for $350 my husband had deposited six days ago. They have withdrawn the amount from my account.

How does one protect oneself against such goings-on? Can a bank simply take my money because they don't know where they put my husband's check? Is it possible that a crooked employee could steal money from a depositor's account and say he "lost" it?

Am I doing business with a third-rank bank? I feel like a victim instead of a customer and I resent it.

Please advise.—Tired Of The Sting

DEAR TIRED: I checked with the chairman of one of America's largest banks. He said: "The answers to your reader's questions would depend on what state the woman lives in, whether the check was electronically deposited or deposited at a teller window or through the mail, whether she used standard bank deposit forms and, most importantly, whether she had a bank-issued receipt for the deposit."

"The real question is how does a frustrated bank customer deal with an unresponsive institution. Today most banks are aggressively seeking to maintain customers, add new ones and are working hard to preserve customer good will."

"I would strongly recommend that the customer first attempt to resolve the matter with the bank's customer service department. If she is not satisfied with the way the matter is handled, she can go to the federal or state government agency responsible for supervising that particular institution. Depending on the nature of the complaint, the agency could require the bank to take corrective action."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am one of those unfortunate people who break out with fever blisters around the mouth whenever they get cold or are under undue stress. The outbreaks are called herpes.

Because there has been so much publicity about genital herpes these past few years, I feel very self-conscious when these outbreaks occur. I sense that people are looking at me with contempt, thinking that I am a promiscuous woman who has picked up a venereal disease.

Why don't you make a national effort, through your column, to come up with another name for those innocent herpes flare-ups? I hate to say the word "herpes" when someone asks me what I have on my lips.

Thanks for any help you can give me, Ann.—Embarrassed In Tampa

Student organizations support McDonald house

Carol Morgan, director of the Ronald McDonald House of Amarillo recently presented a program to the La Plata Junior High FHA chapter, the Coordinated Vocational Academic Education FHA/HERO chapter and the VEH FHA/HERO chapter.
Morgan described the house as being a "Home away from Home" for families of seriously ill children receiving treatment at the Amarillo Medical Center. The house provides families with a place to sleep, eat, relax and find the emotional support, understanding and friendship that they need during this stressful time.
Morgan explained what FHA members could do to show their support for the Ronald McDonald House by giving them a "Wish List" from the house. The list included such items as books, cassettes, magazines, staple food items, cleaning supplies, stationery, home baked cookies and small toys.

Morgan expressed appreciation to the groups for accepting the Ronald McDonald houses as a state project for 1984-85.
Kenneth Duncan and Mary Helen Aguilion, representing the La Plata VEH FHA/HERO chapter, attended along with 102 students. Chapter advisors present included Beryl Burelsmith, Cathy Brock and Louise Witkowski.
The goal of FHA and FHA/HERO chapters is to help youth assume their roles in society through home economics education in areas of personal growth, family life, vocational preparation and community involvement.

Both man, nature to blame for famine

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) - Tanzanian President Julius Nyerere was scathing in his indictment of Western governments, saying they didn't respond to the plight of famine-stricken Africa until their people "saw corse ito".
"peaking of bumper crop and 'food mountains' in the developed world, the newly elected chairman of the Organization of African Unity told a news conference here that "we must not allow people to die when we have the means to stop a disaster."
But assigning the blame for a prolonged drought and famine, which has pushed more than six million Ethiopians to the brink of starvation and threatens a total of some 35 million people in Africa, is not an easy task. And some say it would be a fruitless exercise anyway.
"There's more than enough blame to go around," Rep. Howard Wolpe, a Michigan Democrat who heads a House subcommittee on Africa, told an American television audience. "The issue at this point is how do we save the lives of literally tens upon tens of thousands of people who are dying."

hillsides and gorges scored by erosion.
A report issued by the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization earlier this year called the highlands one of the world's largest areas of ecological degradation. It said 30 percent of the highlands was forested in 1935 and only 3 percent now.
Ethiopia's Agriculture Ministry has said 494,000 acres of forest are being destroyed and 148,000 acres of arable land are being lost every year through cutting of trees and erosion.
African governments, specialists say, should also shoulder some of the blame for an 11 percent decline in the continent's per-capita food production between 1970 and 1980.
Some governments have stressed cash crops such as tea, coffee and tobacco, as a source of needed foreign exchange, and downgraded food crops. Other nations, such as Zambia, banked on income from copper and other minerals to pay for imported food, but people went hungry when mineral prices slumped.

African leaders, worried that discontent in the continent's burgeoning cities might cause their downfall, have tended to keep food prices in urban areas low by having state marketing boards pay farmers a minimal amount for their produce. This has helped accelerate a shift from the countryside to the city and meant a drop in food production.
In Ethiopia's shift to a Marxist economy over the past decade, the development of state and collective farms has been stressed. Although they have been given priority in allocation of such resources as fertilizers and tractors, but the state and collective farms still account for only about 6 percent of agricultural production.

Quintuplets have guarded prognosis

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - Three surviving quintuplets would not have lived through the weekend if it hadn't been for special breathing machines installed in the neonatal intensive care unit at Wilford Hall Medical Center, doctors say.
The infants, born Friday at the Lackland Air Force Base hospital, have been placed on high-frequency ventilators that breathe 1200 times a minute for the babies, Dr. Donald Null said.
"The hope is the babies will suffer less lung injury than they would have on a standard ventilator" that would have induced fewer breaths per minute, Null said during a Monday news conference.
"Without this device we probably wouldn't have any of the babies alive right now," said Null, who has been in charge of the infants' care since their birth.
The babies were born 14 weeks premature to a Greek Air Force officer and his wife, who had taken a fertility drug.

Null said if the babies live until Friday, their chances for survival will greatly improve.
But for now, he said, the prognosis is "very guarded" for the boy and two girls.
The first-born boy died a few hours after the quintuplets were delivered by caesarian section. A girl died early Monday.
The surviving boy, Null said, has a 40 percent chance of survival.
"The other two," he said, "have significantly less than that."
The fifth-born, a girl, suffered a cardiac arrest early Monday, but medical personnel were able to stabilize her, Null said.
"Babies this premature, everything has to go right for them to survive," the physician said.
All the babies, Null said, had severe lung disease and required the use of drugs to improve their heart function.
