Nicaragua readies for attack

By CARL MANNING Associated Press Writer

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) -The Sandinista government says it is arming civilians, including 20,000 student volunteers who normally help harvest coffee, to defend itself from a predicted U.S. invasion.

Claiming that an "escalation of aggression" indicated an invasion was imminent, Foreign Minister Miguel d'Escoto announced Thursday night that the leftist government was mobilizing its reserve defense

He also told reporters and foreign diplomats that Nicaragua was requesting an urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council to denounce the alleged acts of aggression, saying they "pose a situation that is extremely grave."

These included "harassment" of a Soviet freighter by U.S. Navy frigates inside Nicaraguan waters, deployment of U.S. warships in the Caribbean and Pacific, and 'very suspicious movements" in at least three U.S. Army bases in the United States.

Pentagon spokesmen refused to comment on the overflights, but denied that U.S. Navy vessels had entered Nicaraguan waters. They also denied a Sandinista claim that a U.S. military plane was chased away by gunfire Wednesday near the Pacific port of Corinto, where the Three of the five owners of Hereford Cattle Commission, closed down Tuesday pending a financial probe, offered no comment when contacted Thursday afternoon and this morning by the Brand.

The local livestock auction, in operation less than one and a half years, was shut down voluntarily by the owners so a financial investigation can be made by the Packers and Stockyards Association of Ft. Wroth. The Texhoma Livestock Commission, owned by the same five local men, also closed its doors Tuesday.

Bill Butler, marketing specialist with the Ft. Worth organization, said Thursday an audit will be made to determine why money is missing from custodial accounts set up for buyers and sellers to make deposits to and withdrawals from.

"We haven't got everything tracked down yet," Butler told the Associated Press, "but the ranchers can be assured we are working to remedy the situation."

Butler said it will be several days before his investigators know why

Butler said he could not cite a specific amount of money lost by ranchers, but said it was "definitely six figures, maybe as much as $1 million." The two companies are owned jointly by Hereford residents Julian Berry, Steve Hodges, Armon Lauderback, Larry Noland and Warren Owen. Hodges was manager of the Hereford auction while Owen is president of the board of directors. Berry, Owen and Hodges did not offer comment when contacted.

Jim Nichols, a field representative for the Texhoma auction, said he is confident the auction will reopen, but he added that it probably would be reorganized.

Nichols told the Amarillo Globe-

Although the packers association has the authority to close down auctions. Butler said the Texhoma and Hereford closings were voluntary.

"I'm sure there are rumors out there that we closed them down, but they're just not true," Butler said. "People probably saw our investigators working in the area and figured the P&S had closed 'em down. The owners agreed something had to be done, and were happy to handle it that way." Butler said the biggest task now facing his investigators is determining how much money has been lost and who is owed cash by the two commission companies.

The two auctions conduct a moderate amount of business, Butler said, selling between 3,000 and 4,000 head of cattle each week. Because of the volume; Butler said it will be some time before he knows how many people are owed money.

Herbicide suit plaintiffs listed

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN Staff Writer

Twenty-eight individual landowners, two farm corporations and two cattle companies are listed as plaintiffs on a petition seeking monetary damages as a result of herbicide drift to area cotton fields. whose cotton was damaged by drifts cluding, but not limited to, the failure of 2,4-D applied last summer to wheat and milo fields. All but two of the farmers are residents of nearby Parmer County, where most of the destruction took place. A.W. Anthony and his son, Dennis Anthony, are the only Deaf Smith County farmers whose names appear as plaintiffs.

An attorney with the Friona law firm of Richard Collard said other landowners can still have their names added to the petition if they desire to do so.

Benton Musslewhite, the Houston attorney hired jointly with Collard to handle the case, said last Friday the petition against the chemical companies is just the beginning of the litigation.

"We will amend the petition when we get the names of the applicators and landowners," he said. Musslewhite explained that the Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) has not released the names of applicators and landowners it investigated for possible drift violations in connection with use of the weed-killing chemical.

"When we get the list, we'll sue all that are named, even if not named by the TDA as violaters," Musslewhite announced. "That's the way those toxic tort cases have to be handled."

More than 100 complaints from landowners were investigated by TDA last summer, which found damages ranging from minimal to almost 100 percent. TDA said last month it will be difficult to pin drift violations on more than two or three of the applicators, but that numerous other permit violations will be pursued by its general counsel, Sam Biscoe.

About 30,000 acres of cotton were affected, and cotton farmers in Parmer County have blamed their neighbors in Deaf Smith for the damaging applications of 2,4-D. Parmer County petitioned the Deaf Smith commissioners court to regulate butyl ester formulations of the herbicide, with a vote on the matter set for Monday during a regular meeting.

Leroy Bodkin, who suffered damaged cotton on his land south of Hereford, was named as a Deaf Smith representative when a committee was formed last summer in Friona to pursue the matter of a lawsuit. Bodkin's name was not among the plaintiffs and he could not be reached today for comment.

According to the petition, drafted by Musslewhite's firm, crop damage

City mailed sales tax payment

Hereford was mailed slightly more than $67,000 earlier this week as its share of the one-percent sales tax collected locally during the monthly period ending Oct. 26.

So far this year, Hereford has pulled in just under $515,000 in sales tax reiumbursements, according to the state comptroller's office. That represents a 10 percent increase from the amount sent in 1983, which was approximately $470,000.

The payment Hereford received during the October period last year, however, was around $4,000 higher than the 1984 reiumburse-

A total of $99.5 million was sent this week to the 985 Texas cities levying the one-percent sales tax, the comptroller's office reported. Houston led the way by receiving almost $17 million, with Dallas pulling in $11.4 million and San Antonio $6.2 million.

"So far this year, we've sent 13 percent more money to these cities than we did last year," Comptroller Bob Bullock remarked. "And they can expect another increase next month as we begin sending them receipts we collect for the new items and services that became taxable Oct. 2. We'll be getting this extra money later in November and sending it to the city halls in December."

A Hereford resident serving time at the Texas Department of Corrections facility in Galveston was listed in serious condition Thursday after being stabbed several times early that morning.

Jose Garcia Benavides, 33, was reportedly attacked by two inmates wielding sharpened rods at about 2 a.m. The incident occurred in a day room of the administrative segregation wing.

Charles Brown, prison spokesman, speculated the attack was gang-related but pointed out inmates are not cooperating with the investigation. He said guards were able to stop the stabbing and recover the weapons.

AUSTIN (AP) - A proposal that high school athletes, along with band and pep squad member, be allowed to continue their out-ofclassroom activities while making up failing grades has been placed in the hands of the State Board of Education.

The proposal was approved Thursday, 6-2, by the Legislature Education Board, which monitors actions of the new appointed Education panel.

The state board also will consider an LEB-approved provisions that limits out of school practice, such as athletics, band and pep squad, to eight hours per week for each activity.

Jon Brumley, chairman of the state board, told the LEB another matter to come before the board today and Saturday was the problem of providing competency tests for public school teachers. He said the state has enough money to present the initial tests to teachers but studies are being made of future more detailed tests on the subjects taught.

Environmentalists plan boycott

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) - Environmental and labor groups in three Gulf Coast states have accused the federal government of ignoring their concern over ocean burning of toxic waste and announced plans this week to boycott a federal meeting on the issue.

But it was concern for public opinion that prompted the agency to invite the groups to attend a Nov. 13 meeting and participate in planning ocean incineration research, an Environmental Protection Agency official said Thursday.

'This is a roundtable meeting to discuss different approaches to research and it came about in response to citizens, scientists and people on Capitol Hill saying that more research was necessary," said Lisa Barrera, an environmental scientist with the EPA in

Some environmentalists maintain, however, that the kind of research being planned is premature and is not what was requested. "EPA's strategy is to risk poisoning the ocean by calling it research," said J.J. Jacobson of the Sierra Club in Austin. "They are not listening to objections from the public."

Houston traffic safety failing

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston "has a failing grade in traffic safety," a situation that makes it the deadliest city for driving in the country, says the chairman of the Safety Council of Greater Houston.

Speaking at a forum Thursday to discuss traffic safety, officials with the safety council and the Texas Safety Association said that for the past six years Houston has been the nation's most deadly city in "Some people seem take a perverse glee ... when they find out we are dead last," said Ron Starcher, safety council chairman. "We kill more of our fellow citizens in Houston than in cities of our size anywhere else in the country."

Although the rate of traffic deaths is declining in the nation's fourth largest city, officials said they were not hopeful legendary traffic congestion could be eased.

"Basically it's a problem of very rapid growth and traffic from that growth," said Richard Conley, director of the city's Traffic and Transportation Department. "Not only are there a lot more people and a lot more cars, but they're using the cars a lot more."

Neighbors want blacks off isle

CHICAGO (AP) - Many residents of "the island," an all-white neighborhood where a black family endured two nights of brickthrowing and racial slurs before fleeing the apartment they had just rented, say they want to keep blacks out.

"Once you let one in, they're all gonna come in," said a bartender in a tavern near Spencer Goffer's apartment. Goffer, his wife and his 8-year-old son fled early Wednesday, leaving their possessions in the modest apartment, its windows shattered from missiles hurled in the night by angry whites.

Most area residents questioned Thursday applauded the violence. "Because they were niggers!" was the reply of one patron at Muggsy's Bar, when asked why bricks, rocks and a tire iron were thrown through the windows of the apartment after the Goffers moved in Monday.Like many of those interviewed, the patron would not give his name.

When he rented the five-room, $280-a-month apartment, Goffer was unaware the four-square block area on the West Side was occupied only by whites. There are integrated areas near the neighborhood, which borders the mostly white suburb of Cicero.

Breast cancer progress reported

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Researchers say the marriage of two new technologies has brought an "explosion of progress" in breast cancer treatment and promises to improve the chances of surviving a disease that kills 40,000 American women each year.

The technologies — monoclonal antibodies and nuclear magnetic resonance scanning, or NMR - are making possible a rapid advance in diagnostic technique, said doctors at the International Workshop on Monoclonal Antibodies and Breast Cancer on Thursday.

The monoclonal antibodies, which when injected into the body will gather at a tumor, can be loaded with tiny bits of metal. An NMR examination of the area gives a brilliant contrast, providing doctors with a more detailed picture than previously possible.

The man-made monoclonal antibodies "will mean a turning point in the diagnosis and treatment of breast cancer," said Dr. Roberto L. Ceriani, a research endocrinologist with the John Muir Cancer and Aging Institute in Walnut Creek, Calif.

Third hotel fire kills seven MANILA, Philippines (AP) - The third Philippine tourist hotel fire in just over two weeks killed seven people and injured 13 today a few days after the president ordered a military probe of the other fires to determine if "urban terrorists" were involved.

Witnesses said some guests of the eight-story Las Palmas Hotel leaped from their windows and died after the blaze broke out in the middle floors at 1 a.m. By mid-afternoon, investigators were still investigating the fire's origin.

Two Americans were injured in the blaze, and the dead included a Singapore businessman who jumped from an upper floor, a Saudi Arabian, an Egyptian and two other unidentified foreigners, as well

Roy Malahowski, 40, a lawyer from Bakersfield, Calif., said smoke roused him from sleep in his seventh-floor room. He said he jumped 15 feet onto the roof of a building next to the hotel, fracturing and cutting his right foot.

"I thought the best chance was to jump onto that roof," he said. "And if I fell from that building, I'd be falling only five floors."

WASHINGTON (AP) - Reagan administration officials are raising the possibility that the Soviet vessel docked at a Nicaraguan port may not contain MiG fighters but less sophisticated Czech-built planes with ground attack capabilities.

The officials said that although the boxes believed to be aboard the vessel were designed for carrying MiG-21s, they could contain L-39-ZA aircraft, which has frequently been used as a trainer for Soviet-bloc pilots.

At the same time, the officials, who spoke on the condition they not be identified, acknowledged that 24 hours after the vessel docked at the Pacific port city of Corinto, its contents remained a mystery.

State Department spokeswoman Sondra McCarty declined to comment Thursday night on reports that the Soviet freighter may be delivering surface-to-air missiles. "We're monitoring the situation,

Krueger claims vote was anti-social

DALLAS (AP) - Former Rep. Bob Krueger, who lost his bid for the U.S. Senate in the May primary, said Wednesday he believes Republican Phil Gramm's resounding victory showed more distaste for liberals than it showed enthusiasm for conservatives.

Krueger, a moderate who lost narrowly to U.S. Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, in 1978 and fell this year in the Democratic primary, said he believed he might have fared better against Gramm than state Sen. Lloyd Doggett.

"This is not a point for self-serving statements, but let's put it this way: Gramm always thought so and said so," Krueger said when asked if he would have presented more competition for the conservative Republican.

"How much better, who can say?" Krueger said.

Siege makes dissidents seek places to hide

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) - Chile's abrupt return to a state of siege is driving hundreds of dissidents into hiding and raising fears that the military regime will again resort to what one priest calls the "terrible practices" of the mid-1970s.

Leftist organizers have abandoned their party offices and homes to avoid arrest, according to priests in Santiago's slums, where many of the organizers live, and others are quietly burning literature that might offend the Gen. Augusto Pinochet's government. University students defied the

The "Singing Methodists" musical heritage will be the theme of the morning worship service in First United Methodist Church Sunday morning. The public is invited to join in, beginning at 10:55 a.m.

Music by the choir, a men's quartet and, especially, congregational singing will be under leadership of John Avery, minister of music. It will follow Methodist history from the time of the church's founder, John Wesley and his brother Charles, a noted hymn-writer, through songs of American frontier camp-meetings, the influence of Negro spirituals and gospel music typified by the Stamps-Baxter songs.

Costumed visitors will depict John Wesley, a frontier preacher, a woman of pioneer days and others, to vary the program.

The singing is one event at First UMC celebrating the American Methodist Bicentennial, the 200th anniversary of the first Methodist church establihed in this country, in 1784. As a part of the service, a limited-edition print of a Kenneth Wyatt painting, titled "Offer Them Christ" will be dedicated by Dr. Weldon Butler, pastor.

Painted for the Bicentennial, this picture of Wesley bidding goodbye to English Methodists who were sailing for America, was given by the Tulia artist to raise funds for missions. The print to be dedicated was purchased by Methodist Men of First UMC as a gift to the church.

Hard Work

Our early settlers knew that, if they were going to survive in their new surroundings, they would have to work hard. Everyday there were many chores to be accomplished around the home. They could rely only on themselves to get the job done.

In 1900, the First National Bank of Hereford was founded. The folks who started our bank knew it would take a lot of hard work to make it successful.

84 years, we're glad we could lend a helping hand to a lot of people.

We're proud to be a part of Hereford and the Texas Panhandle.

But our hard work isn't finished yet. At First National Bank of Hereford, we're still pioneering new ways of service and security for you and your family.

Ann Landers Is it really love?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When you first printed that column defining the difference between love and infatuation I was too young to think it was valuable enough to save. I've been hoping you would repeat it because now I am bananas over a guy and I don't know if it's love or a passing fancy. Please, Ann, run it again.-Gloria In Davenport

DEAR DAV .: Here it is. Glad you asked. I have had more requests to rerun this item than almost any other.

LOVE OR INFATUATION? Infatuation is instant desire. It is one set of glands calling to another. Love is friendship that has caught fire. It takes root and grows-one day at a time. Infatuation is marked by a feeling of insecurity. You are excited and eager, but not genuinely happy. There are nagging doubts, unanswered questions, little bits and pieces about your beloved that you would just as soon not examine too closely. It might spoil the dream.

Love is quiet understanding and the mature acceptance of imperfection. It is real. It gives you strength and grows beyond you-to bolster your beloved. You are warmed by his presence, even when he is away. Miles do not separate you. You want him nearer. But near or far, you know he is yours and you can wait.

Herd beats Tascosa 26-6

Third quarter charm in Whiteface victory

By DENNIS BALL Sports Editor

AMARILLO - Thursday night's Hereford-Tascosa High School football game was relatively even for three quarters: the first, the second and the fourth.

But the third quarter at Dick Bivins Stadium told the story, and when it was over, the fourth period didn't matter anyway.

The Whitefaces scored three times the quarter immediately following intermission and turned a 6-6 halftime struggle into a 26-6 District 3-5A win. The Herd, 7-3 and 6-2, scored each time it touched the ball in third quarter, controlling the ball

The win extends the Whitefaces winning streak to six games and moves them into sole possession of second place, one-half game ahead of Palo Duro. A Coronado win tonight against Palo Duro would send the Whitefaces to post-season play for the second consecutive year. Since in the year, a win by Palo Duro would grant the Dons the playoff spot.

"This is a pretty good way to end the season," Hereford football coach Jerry Taylor said after the ball game. "But maybe it's not over yet. I don't know that I'm a Coronado fan, but I sure would like to see them knock Palo Duro off."

For awhile Thursday, especially in the second quarter, the Hereford-Tsscosa game looked as if the Palo Duro-Coronado contest might not matter anyway. After the Herd jumped out to a 6-0 lead on Alan Dudding's 24-yard sweep right, the Whitefaces failed to make another first down in the second period. Tascosa, which finished 2-7 and 1-7, knotted the score at 6 on a 3-yard miss-direction play by running back Wood Norvell.

Dudding's run for the Herd's score capped a 53-yard drive. Dudding picked up 18 of those yards the second play of the march when he took the handoff on a draw play. Quarterback Mike Scott hit one of two passes in the possession.

The Rebels got their score following a fumble at the 21. Six running plays covered the distance, Norvell's TD jaunt coming on third-and-goal.

"I wasn't uneasy at halftime, but I was a little perturbed," Taylor said. "We didn't try to change anything except to quit making it Christmas time and giving up the ball."

It was the Rebels turn to bestow Christmas gifts the third quarter as they gave up two fumbles and a short punt. The Herd capitalized on those mistakes and tucked the game away.

'It's the same thing that has plagued us all year: the fumble," Tascosa football coach Duane Huey said. "At halftime, it looked like it could go either way, but the fumbles took the wind out of us.'

The second half started with a bang for the Whitefaces, and one fumble did, indeed, take the wind out of a Rebel player. Javier Mendiola's kickoff to open the third period sailed to the 9-yard line where Tim Moore hauled it in for Tascosa. A hit by a host of Whitefaces forced Moore to fumble, and Herd linebacker Curtis Cotten recovered at the 29.

"That was a super good lick," Taylor said. "I don't know (who made it). That was the turning point of the game."

the first round - Montreal, Los From the 29, Hereford took 10 plays to get the TD, nine of them on the ground. Running back Vincent Brown picked up 10 yards, including the final one on an option left. Scott, who had almost as much time as he ting alphabetically, in some cases to wanted to throw the ball all night hide what they feel are their greatest long, hit Sammy Suarez for 13 yards on a slant play that came on third down to keep the drive alive.

Mendiola, who missed the first extra-point try, was true this time, and the Herd led 13-6.

"They had us covered pretty good, him, we thought it'd be a good idea if even using double coverage at we did, too," said Bill Giles, presitimes," Taylor said, "so consequentdent of the Phillies. Quarterback scramble

Danny White, who has started the past two games for the Cowboys, had expected to start in the contest matching two of the four teams now tied for the lead in the NFL East Division, but Landry said Thursday Hogeboom will start.

White suffered a shoulder injury in last week's 19-7 loss to the New York Giants, but had believed he would be able to start against the Cardinals.

"Danny might be able to play some. But, we don't want to risk him getting hurt," Landry told the Dallas Morning News. "That's the worst part. I don't want to risk the same thing happening and Danny being lost for 2-3 weeks, when we've got Gary healthy and ready to go."

"Gary is capable of playing extremely well," Landry added.

Hogeboom had a tough time against the Cardinals in their first game at Texas Stadium earlier in the season. He completed 13 of 28 passes games."

After the Hereford touchdown, Tascosa made one first down before running back Arthur Guerrero was stripped of the ball at his own 48-yard line. Safety Stefen Hacker fell on the ball for the Whitefaces, and Hereford was in business again.

This time, it took nine plays for Hereford to get the score. Brown picked up a good block from Dudding at about the 10-yard line and cruised in for the six-pointer on a sweep right. The play covered a net of 12

Again Mendiola's PAT was good, staking Hereford to a two-touchdown lead, 20-6.

Hereford's final score came on the last play of the third quarter. Dudding ran wide right, broke a tackle, and scooted in from 19 yards away. Opting to go for two points, the Herd came up short when a Scott pass to tight-end Doug Watts fell in-

"I was very pleased with both backs," Taylor said. "I think it's a great way for them to end the season, both of them scoring touchdowns."

Dudding saved his best performance of the year for the final game. The junior picked up 128 yards on 16 carries. Brown complimented that by gaining 72 steps on 21 tries.

Tascosa showed some offensive firepower in the fourth quarter, but it was too little too late. A 19-play Rebel drive, one that took more than half of the period, ended on Hereford's

8-yard line when Norvell was stopped

But then the Herd also nearly scored again when David Parsons, running from a back position, was stopped on the one-yard line. Parsons joined Lee Brockman, normally an offensive lineman and defensive linebacker, in the backfield.

Parsons was injured on the fourthdown play, but probably not too seriously, Taylor said.

Scott hurled a bomb to Chet Bunch that set up Parsons' run. The passand-run play covered 64 yards. Bunch was caught from behind on the 4-yard line.

Tascosa quarterbacks Scott Cottrell and Joe Stafford combined for five of 15 completions and 54 yards. Moore and receiver Ernie Climer together caught three of those tosses, Moore two for 22 yards and Climer one for 20 to lead the Rebels receiving corps.

The Herd offense amassed 331 vards total offense.

NEW YORK (AP) - Rick their efforts to re-sign Sutcliffe and Sutcliffe, Bruce Sutter and a few of their high-priced brethren got something of a cold shoulder at baseball's free agent re-entry draft where the door opened wide for a trio of lesser-known pitchers - Steve Trout, Don Aase and Ed Whitson.

Sutcliffe won the National League's Cy Young Award in an extraordinary 16-1 season with the Chicago Cubs. Sutter, winner of the award in 1979, amassed an NLleading, major league record-tying 45 saves and posted a 1.54 earned-run average for the St. Louis Cardinals. It might be said they possess million-dollar arms.

That's what they say. It's the kind of money they're looking for - one reason more than a few teams looked the other way Thursday at the freeagent re-entry draft.

"I think there's a different philosophy now," said Jerry Reinsdorf, co-owner of the Chicago White Sox. "Teams aren't going after their primary needs. It's too expensive. They're looking for role players to fill secondary needs."

Sutcliffe was selected by eight teams - Atlanta, Kansas City, San Diego, St. Louis, Texas, California. Baltimore and the New York Yankees. Sutter's name was called out six times - by Texas, Toronto, Atlanta, California, Baltimore and the Yankees.

"With the rumors of what they're asking for, it's a little too heavy for most clubs," said Bill Bergesch, general manager of the Cincinnati Reds. "Plus, there's a feeling that the Cubs can't afford to lose Sutcliffe and that the Cardinals are going to fight to keep Sutter."

Murray Cook, general manager of the Montreal Expos, observed:"The kind of money they're looking for is out of whack for a lot of clubs.

And, George Steinbrenner, principal owner of the Yankees, said: "Their own teams have to keep them for PR purposes as well as performance purposes." The Cubs said they will continue to the Cardinals will keep after Sutter. Of the 56 players eligible for the draft, 37 were selected by fewer than four teams, meaning they are now free to negotiate with any team. Twenty-three of those 37 went completely undrafted during the 51 minutes encompassing 23 rounds. Three teams - Detroit, the Cubs and the New York Mets - didn't draft anyone. Texas and Pittsburgh drafted the most, 16 players apiece. Trout had a more-than-respectable season for the Cubs, finishing with a 13-7 record, but his numbers were buried under the avalanche of publicity over Sutcliffe. Nevertheless, front offices around the majors took notice. Seventeen teams listed him as a pitcher worth talkNG TO. None of the 55 other free agents was drafted as often.

Aase, who sat out all of 1983 and the first two months of 1984 following reconstructive elbow surgery of the kind that saved California teammate Tommy John's career, finished last season with a 4-1 record, eight saves and a 1.62 ERA. He was rewarded by being named by 13 teams.

And, Ed Whitson, who followed up his 14-8 season season for San Diego by starting the turnaround against the Cubs in the playoffs and posting the Padres' only World Series victory against Detroit, was drafted by 11 teams.

The only other player in double figures was Pittsburgh outfielder Lee Lacy. He hit .321 and drove in 70 runs and was picked 14 times.

Bergesch said Aase "finished the season in great shape. If he's sound, he's a pretty good pitcher. ... If you can recover from that kind of surgery, you could really help a lot of clubs - but you're taking a chance."

Cook concurred. "It's a great risk, no question about it," he said. "Even though he pitched well at the end of the season, he didn't pitch much and he didn't pitch often.' But, in eight consecutive appearances from Aug. 28 to Sept. 19,

Aase pitched 12 1-3 innings, allowing

NBA roundup

Denver makes most of trade

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD

AP Sports Writer during the off-season.

TNNuggets' Calvin Natt and the trade, played pivotal roles Thursday night in Denver's 128-125 National Basketball Association victory.

With the Nuggets clinging to a 126-125 edge in the final minute, Natt win. rebounded a missed Denver shot and scored, giving him 20 points and forcing Portland to try a last-second three-pointer that missed. Vandeweghe, returning to Denver for the first time since being dealt to Portland, had 30 points for the Trail with Vandeweghe guarding him. It was "just one of those nights,"

English said. Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Golden State 122, Los Angeles Lakers 106; Chicago 121, New York 106; Dallas 112, Atlanta 105; Houston 99, Seattle 89; Washington 93, Los Angeles Clippers 88; and Phoenix

112, Cleveland 111. After Denver led most of the game, the Blazers scored 12 consecutive points to take a 120-118 lead on a layup by Jim Paxson with 3:23 to play. But English, who made 20 of 37 field goals, hit two straight baskets and Mike Evans added a layup to move Denver on top 124-120. "If we'd lost that one, I think I would have broken down and cried," Moe said of Portland's rally. "We played so well and controlled it most of the way, that it would have been a shame to lose it."

Bulls 121, Knicks 106

The Michael Jordan Show opened on Broadway to rave reviews from everyone in attendance, including the embarrassed New York Knicks. "I was up for the game," Jordan sellout Madison Square Garden Denver got the best of Portland in crowd of 19,252. "I'm glad to get the first meeting between the two cheers instead of boos anytime. But I 19-footer to put the Mavericks ahead teams since their blockbuster trade don't play to please the crowd. I enjoy pumping up my teammates."

The rookie sensation had 33 points Trail Blazers' Kiki Vandeweghe, on 15-for-22 field-goal shooting, eight who were the key figures in the rebounds and five assists to spark the Bulls' fifth victory in seven games, their best start in 11 years. The loss was the sixth in a row for New York after a season-opening

> Bernard King led New York with 34 points without playing in the fourth quarter, but the next-highest scorer for the Knicks, Louis Orr, added only 13.

Blazers. But his former teammate at Los Angeles continued to struggle, forward, Alex English, scored 45 falling to Golden State nine days points for the Nuggets, generally after beating the Warriors by 34 points.

Purvis Short scored 27 points to lead Golden State, including two free throws that gave the Warriors the lead to stay at 70-69 midway through the third quarter.

Rockets 99, Sonics 89 Houston had only 10 fourth-quarter points against Seattle, but had plenty of cushion to win for the sixth time without a loss. John Lucas had 22 points and eight assists to lead the Rockets while Twin Towers Akeem Olajuwon and Ralph Sampson scored 16 points each and combined for 10 blocked shots.

Suns 112, Cavalaiers 111

Phoenix, leading the Pacific Division, barely eked out a victory at home against Cleveland, still winless after seven games.

The Suns, who had erased an eightpoint Cavalier advantage with 14 straight points in the third quarter, didn't take the lead for good until there was 1:06 left in the game on a 20-foot jumper by Larry Nance.

Mavericks 112, Hawks 105 Mark Aguirre put Dallas ahead to stay with a turnaround jumper with said after he electrified a near- 2:18 left in overtime against Atlanta.

Aguirre made it 104-103 with his key basket, then followed with a by three. He shared scoring honors with teammate Rolando Blackman, each with 30 points, while Sly Williams led the Hawks with 22.

Bullets 93, Clippers 88

Washington broke a four-game losing streak by scoring 10 straight points down the stretch after blowing an 18-point lead over Los Angeles.

The Bullets led 62-44 early in the third quarter, but the Clippers cut the deficit to 72-64 by the end of the period and led 9h 2:52 remaining. Then Gus Williams, who led Washington with 19 points, scored six points and Jeff Ruland four during the 10-0 run that won the game.

NOT DISCOURAGED

ON (AP) - Dennis Johnson, he crack guard of the NBA champion Celtics, recalled a dismal day against the Washington Bullets in the seventh and deciding game of the 1978 NBA championship series.

Johnson took 14 shots from the field and missed them all as Washington topped Seattle, 105-99. He was asked if that made him a trifle shy about shooting.

Holmes meets 'Bonecrusher'

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - Larry Holmes returns to the ring for the first time in nearly a year tonight, meeting a suddenly aging James 'Bonecrusher' Smith in a scheduled 15-round defense of his share of the heavyweight crown. The undefeated Holmes is such a prohibitive favorite against Smith that bookmakers have refused to post a line on the fight. A bettor can, however, get 13-10 odds that Smith doesn't last past the seventh round.

"I'm not in this thing to take this man 15 rounds," said Holmes.

Holmes turned 35 last week and Smith made much of his age and inactivity in the past year while predicting a knockout win for himself. But it now turns out that the two are closer in age than thought.

A spokesman for promoter Don King confirmed late Thursday that Smith is actually 31, not 29 as he had been billed. The spokesman said the discrepancy in age was only noticed Thursday in a check of Smith's transcripts from Shaw College, where he graduated with two degrees.

The next meeting will be Nov. 20 in the home of Teresa hale with Della Stagner as co-hostess. Terrell will give the program.

American Legion members plan for future events

The Hereford Unit No. 192 American Legion met Tuesday evening in the American Legion hall with Betty Jo Carlson, vice-president, conducting the business meeting in the absence of Gene Holden, presi-

Kay Hallows served refreshments to both the Legion and Auxiliary preceding the meeting. Plans were made for the units to participate in the Gift Shop to be held in the V.A. Medical Center Dec. 2 through 4. Gifts are to be brought to the Thanksgiving dinner in the Legion Hall on Nov. 20. Turkey, dressing and gravy will be furnished, but members are asked to bring either a vegetable, salad or dessert.

The unit will also participate in a bazaar in the Community Center on Nov. 24. Members are asked to bring food, crafts, or baked goods for the Memorials were sent to the MD. Anderson Cancer hospital in memory of Mina Mae Love, Stella Mae Flowers and Elizabeth Caperton. These members passed away

The unit will host bingo parties in the V.A. hospital and in Kings Manor

Hope Torres gives program on trimming special cookies

Hope Torres presented a program on cookies for Thanksgiving when members of Sweet 'n' Fancy Decorating Club met Thursday morning at the Community Center.

Ms. Torres decorated two turkeys, one flat cut-out turkey and standing turkey. She then distributed undecorated cookies for members to decorate and also gave her favorite cut-out cookie recipe which she used.

During the business session, plans were made for the Christmas tasting party scheduled at 10 a.m. Dec. 13 at the Community center. Each member is to bring candy, cake, cookies and the recipe to be exchang-

Hereford, Texas 79045 Proposals shall be clearly marked on the outer envelope, and-or identified

(1) PROPOSAL FOR DETENTION EQUIPMENT PRIME CONTRACT or as the case may be: (2) PROPOSAL FOR GENERAL CONSTRUC-

PRIME CONTRACT The respective bids herein described, when received on the dates and hours so appointed, will be publicly opened and considered by the Commissioners' Court of Deaf Smith County, Texas. Such sealed proposals to be received are to be relative to the work for the Alterations and Additions to the Deaf Smith County Jail, to be constructed in Hereford, Texas. The Contract Documents which consist of this Advertisement for Bids, the Instructions to Bidders, the Forms of Proposal, the Conditions of the Contract, the Specifications, and the Drawings, consisting of Architec-Structural, tural. Mechanical, and all supplements thereto, have been prepared by the County's Architect, The Gondeck-Poage Partnership, Architects, 401 Isom Road, Suite 190, San Antonio, Texas 78216, Telephone: 512-349-7950.

All Contract Documents, the Drawings, Conditions of the Contract and Specifications will be on file at the County Judge's Office; the Architect's Office; and certain other specific plan rooms and construction service agencies. A list of these agencies may be obtained from the Architect upon written request. Prime Contractors may obtain up to two (2) sets of the Drawings and Specifications from the Architect upon the deposit of $200.00 per set, which deposit is returnable to the bidder if he submits a proposal, and if he returns the plans and specifications complete, unmarked, and in good condition to Architect within seven (7) days after proposals have been received. If a bidder does not submit a proposal, he will forfeit his deposit unless the plans and specifications are returned to Architect no less than four (4) days prior to the respective Bid Opening as written

A Bidder's Bond, Certified or Cashier's Check in an amount of not less than five percent (5 %) of the largest amount contained in any proposal submitted by a candidate for Prime Contractor, payable to "County of Deaf Smith," must accompany each proposal or bid as a guarantee that if awarded the contract, the successful Bidder will enter into a contract and execute Owner's Protective Bonds (Performance and Payment) for 100% of the agreed Contract Price as awarded by the Commissioners' Court, with said Bonds to be executed on forms as published in the Project Manual (Specifications) as will be issued by the Architect for execution. No bid may be withdrawn for any reason for at least forty-five (45) days after the scheduled closing time for the receipt of bids.

The County of Deaf Smith through its Commissioners' Court, reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any irregularities or informalities of any Bid received. All Bidders must be prequalified as specified in the Instructions To Bidders, and must exhibit sufficient bonding ability, and show satisfactory experience, capital, references, and history of responsibility. Deaf Smith County reserves, and calls the Bidder's attention to, its rights to issue change orders and to negotiate certain matters with the successful Bidder after the contract is awarded and performance has commenced, as provided in Articles 2368a and 2368a3, V.A.T.S., which statutes are made a part of the Contract Documents.

Oft-quoted economists talk about themselves

Listen, E.F. Hutton. When Donald Ratajczak, Kathleen Cooper, Michael Evans, Allen Sinai, Donald Straszheim, Thomas Thomson and Edward Yardeni speak, people pay attention.

Their views are sought repeatedly and their names appear frequently in newspapers around the country, often on the front page. Sometimes their words land them in a bit of hot water when they're at odds with their bosses' opinions or too outrageous. The seven economists work for banks, securities firms, investment houses and consulting firms. They're routinely questioned to help put the daily gyrations of the economy into perspective for a public increasingly sophisticated about business and finance.

Hundreds of private economists give advice to their clients and firms. But a relatively small number of names pop up regularly in economics coverage. "Economics is not a dismal science, it's poorly marketed by economists," says Yardeni, 34, chief economist Prudential-Bache Securities Inc. in New York. These analysts can get as many as 20 calls on a day the government releases a major economic report like unemployment or inflation, or when an unexpected change occurs in the economy, such as banks raising their prime lending rate. On a day like that, they might appear on TV's evening news.

In talking to reporters, they insist they keep their political leanings a secret — even in an election year.

Straszheim, 42, vice president for U.S. services at Wharton Econometrics in Philadelphia, takes pride in having been accused, based on his printed remarks, of being both an extreme liberal and an extreme conservative. "We are analysts, we are not advocates. It's the kiss of political views to contaminate ... your analysis," he says. Sinai, 45, chief economist at Shearson Lehman-American Express in New York, says, "I absolutely and unequivocally stay out of death to allow personal politics." Even discussing government policy can be touchy. Thomson, 48, senior vice president and chief economist at Crocker National Bank in San Francisco, recalls dismissing former

President Carter's anti-

WASHINGTON (AP) - inflation program as a "mar-'shmallow" - only to find out his bosses spoke favorably of it. "I'm much more cautious in policy statements than before," he says.

At least one found it can hurt be too quotable.

"I made a mistake early in the game - I confused notoriety with fame," says Evans, 46, who heads his own consulting firm here.

"After a while I decided that it just wasn't working out right," he recalls. "I really wanted to be quoted as an economist and not a comedian.'

But in general they say they like giving out their views - "It makes my day," says Evans.

Some feel they serve an educational purpose. "I like economics," says Ratajczak: "I enjoy conveying it."

Ms. Cooper, 39, first vice president and senior economist at Security Pacific

National Bank in Los Angeles, says it forces her to think about "what it all means.

They have few complaints, perhaps out of politeness, about being misquoted. "People charge they're misquoted more than it happens," contends Ratajczak, 42, director of the economic forecasting project at Georgia State University in Atlanta who carved out a niche for himself on inflation surveys.

Straszheim admits to getting "disgusted and dismayed now and then because something is quoted that I thought was not so important.'

Some do acknowledge the quick analysis can get tiresome after the fifth call in one day on the same subject. And it can become downright annoying when a lot of time is spent in explanation only to find a competitor quoted in-

Arms controls, reform, spending cuts set determined to preside over an aggressive second term, has set arms control, income tax reform and spending cuts as his top priorities for the next four years.

These items emerged by consensus as top White House officials held private, informal meetings in the past several weeks to discuss postelection goals.

"We knew that our success in 1981 was based on selecting important goals and sticking with those goals, deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said in an interview with The Associated Press on Thursday.

"That's our plan in the new

Many people credited Reagan's success in getting his economic package, including a 25 percent cut in income tax rates, through Congress in 1981, with the fact the White House pursued its objective almost singlemindedly and was able to fashion a legislative coalition though the House was controlled by Democrats.

The strategy paid off, especially when compared with how little success former President Jimmy Carter had with a Congress his party controlled when he bombarded it with "priority" legislative proposals.

In addition, Speakes said Reagan was planning an organized effort, not yet fully

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. shaped, "to reach out to (AP) - President Reagan, special constituencies, to groups we want to get together with." He specifically mentioned Democrats, blacks, labor, agriculture and business.

"It will be an aggressive second-term, as aggressive as the first," Speakes said.

"The goals we set in 1981 are not over and have not been accomplished in four years and there's much that remains. Speakes added .--

Mindful that the administration will have to fashion an ad hoc congressional coalition if it wants to get its programs passed by Congress, Speakes said Reagan wants to "meet as soon as possible with the new Senate leadership and the House Democratic and Republican leadership too."

Speakes said Reagan was likely to have a news conference in the next three or four weeks partly to show he feels an obligation to do such things. "It's a necessary thing to do," said Speakes.

Reagan asked the Treasury Department months ago to embark on a study of how to change the federal income tax system, and he is due to receive its report about Dec.

So far, it is known that the department is looking at a socalled flat tax or perhaps a consumption tax.
