

Block urging states, banks to aid farmers

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary John R. Block defends farmers as American heroes who deserve a helping hand, but he says the federal government has reached its limit and it's time for others — including states and banks — to assist.

In one such effort, banks will be able to begin Monday to "write down" or reduce interest rates on farm operating loans. The interest write-down is part of a new credit package announced last week.

"I urge them (the banks) to go to it and get the job done," Block told reporters Thursday. "The time for planting is very close at hand."

Block also disputed a contention by budget director David A. Stockman that farmers are to blame for a large part of their troubles and that some may be forced out of business because "that is the way a dynamic economy works."

"I don't agree with the way Mr. Stockman characterizes the American farmer," Block said. "Most of the problems that American farmers face today — and I stress, most of them — were not made by the American farmer."

Farmers "are valiantly struggling" to make it through the current financial storm and need whatever help that can be offered.

Block was asked how he felt about Stockman's assertions that farmers cannot expect the government to bail them out every time they get in financial trouble.

"I've said myself that the federal government has done a great deal and we need to look to someone else to reach out and be helpful," Block said. "That's why I've encouraged states and banks and others ... to try to lend a helping hand."

However, Block added that the federal government has "pretty well reached the limit, at least at this point in time" and that "now it's time for someone else to try it."

Block said state programs to help farmers appear to be catching on, including efforts in Minnesota, Illinois, Iowa and elsewhere.

The remodeled credit plan allows bankers to write down enough of a farmer's loan principal or interest to bring payments within reach, in return for federal loan guarantees on a portion of the loan amount.

It also includes emergency help in the form of Farmers Home Administration guarantees of up to 90 percent on new operating loans to farmers whose lenders have failed and who have been unable to find a new "credit home."

Block said he met on Thursday with Paul A. Volcker, Federal Reserve chairman, about the farm situation.

"Once again, Mr. Volcker stressed the importance of forbearance and that he insisted upon it as far as his regulators are concerned," Block said.

Asked what Volcker meant by forbearance, Block said he took it to mean "consideration and appreciation for the situation, and certainly not any precipitous effort on the part of the regulators to hammer banks" into being unfair and unreasonable to borrowers.

"We're not any of us suggesting that they go out and break their standards and break the rules," Block said.

Overall inflation index shows no increase

Energy, food prices decline sharply

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices, beginning the year on an encouraging note, held flat in January, the government said today. Energy prices posted their steepest drop in almost two years while food costs also declined sharply.

It was the third time in the last five months that the overall index showed no increase.

While most economists foresee a price rise of 2 percent for all of 1985, one said that, over the next few months, "it is hard to believe that we will see any significant increase."

That optimism is based on sagging worldwide oil prices and the continued strength of the dollar, which hit new highs against foreign currencies again this week.

As for last month, energy prices fell 2.4 percent, the biggest decline since a 3 percent drop in March 1983. Gasoline prices fell 2.7 percent while home heating oil prices were off 2.3 percent. Both declines were the steepest since August.

At the wholesale level, gasoline is now 6.7 percent cheaper than it was just a year ago.

Food prices fell 0.6 percent in January, their best performance since a 0.8 percent decline last May.

That drop was largely the product of a 21.3 percent fall in egg prices, the steepest decline for any category in the index. Analysts credit that drop to higher production at a time of weak demand.

Fresh fruit prices rose 3.7 percent, the biggest increase for any food category. Experts said the February rise would likely be even higher as the January price survey was done before the devastating freeze hit Florida's citrus-growing areas.

Vegetable prices dropped 3.6 percent last month but experts again pointed to the Florida freeze and said consumers could soon see increases in vegetable prices.

The good news on energy and food prices was tempered somewhat by higher prices for new cars and trucks. Both posted price hikes of 2.2 percent.

In releasing today's report, the Labor Department said that if prices held steady for a full year at January's level, wholesale costs would actually fall 0.4 percent. That figure is based on a more precise calculation of monthly prices than the figure made public.

In all, the Producer Price Index for finished goods stood at 292.7 in December, meaning that goods costing $10 in 1967 would have cost $29.27 last month.

Kidnapped U.S. reporter escapes

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Jeremy Levin, the kidnapped American reporter who says he escaped from 11 months in chains and solitary confinement in Lebanon, left here today for a reunion with his wife, saying: "I can't wait to be back on American soil."

A tear rolled down his cheek as he boarded a chartered executive jet at Damascus airport, bound for Frankfurt, West Germany, where his wife was waiting.

"I cannot wait to get to my wife, to hold her," said Levin.

He was turned over to U.S. Ambassador William Eagleton at the Foreign Ministry by Foreign Minister Farouk al-Sharaa about two hours before the plane took off at 12:30 p.m. (4:30 a.m. EST).

The television correspondent, who disappeared March 7 in Beirut, told reporters at the Foreign Ministry: "I feel wonderful. I've never been more thankful. I've never been more happy in my whole life."

Levin, 52, said he escaped Wednesday night by tying three blankets together, securing them to a balcony, sliding down from a second floor window and fleeing down a mountain to a Syrian army position in east Lebanon's Bekaa Valley.

He said he believed there were four other people held in the same place he was, but he did not know whether they were Americans because he was isolated through his captivity.

He said he could not identify his captors. The shadowy extremist group Islamic Holy War claimed responsibility for the abduction. He said at the airport that he did not

Man shoots self after Temple shooting spree

TEMPLE, Texas (AP) — A 28-year-old man who went on a shooting spree at Temple Junior College, wounding two instructors and holding one inside a building for about three hours, exhibited wild personality shifts before he fatally shot himself, authorities say.

"He'd be just normal and say, 'Well, I'll release her and come out if you promise me this and this,'" said Police Chief Thomas Vannoy after the shootings Thursday.

Moments later, the man would say things like "If I hear a noise, I'm gonna shoot her and kill myself," Vannoy said.

Steven Parsons, who had ad-resses in Austin and Longview, died about 10:15 p.m. Thursday during surgery at Scott & White Hospital for a gunshot wound to his mid-sternum, said Dolores Gautier, assistant director of nursing. Police said an autopsy has been ordered.

The woman he was holding, management instructor Laurelyn Carlisle, 33, of Salado, was in good condition early today following surgery for a gunshot wound to her stomach and another to her right side, said hospital spokeswoman Charlene Davis.

Local Post Office ready for stamp-rate increase

With Saturday the last day to mail a letter for 20 cents, the local post office already has plenty of "D" stamps in stock.

G. Kieth McLain, officer in charge at the Hereford Post Office, said he is already selling the nondenominated "D" stamps in sheet, coil and booklet formats. The post office also has two-cent stamps that, when added to 20-cent stamps people have on hand, make up the new first-class letter rate.

McLain said that if customers forget about the increase and mail letters with a 20-cent stamp, the two cents due will be charged to the recipient. He said there has not been an unusual run on 20-cent stamps this week, and it does not appear that people are doing early mailings to avoid the rate increase.

"We've had a lot of mail this week, but it's because of Valentine's Day. Half of our mail has been red," McLain joked.

Commemorative stamps, beginning with the Jerome Kern stamp, and other 22-cent stamps are expected to replace the "D" stamps by the end of March.

Grassland burns west of Bootleg

Four units from the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department joined three units from the Walcott volunteer squad Thursday to battle a grass fire on the Willis and Bradley Ranch west of Bootleg Community.

Hereford Fire Marshal Jay Spain said the department worked about two hours fighting the blaze, which burned three to four sections of pasture land. It is not known how the fire started.

Police seek owners of property

The Hereford Police department is looking for the owners of stolen or lost property now in the custody of the department.

Lieutenant Vernon Hope said an auction will be held in the near future, and he would like to give people an opportunity to claim their belongings before then.

Bicycles found by police officers make up the majority of the items, but there are also guns, spare tires, television sets and other miscellaneous belongings.

Hope said he will ask for proof of ownership or a description of the item before he lets anyone see what is on hand.

Hope is available at the police station between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays.

Girls report man exposed himself

Hereford police made one arrest for public intoxication Thursday, another for drunk in control of a motor vehicle and a third on an outstanding warrant.

Investigations included the report of a goat valued at $75 taken from a back yard on Lake Street, and complaints from three young girls who said an elderly man exposed himself to them.

Officers went twice to the Deaf Smith General Hospital emergency room, once to help subdue an intoxicated juvenile and again to talk to a woman who said two other women beat her up.

Matt and Ronny Collier reported a burglary to their home on 448 Ave. F. Stereo equipment and a microwave oven valued at $600 were taken. Police have two possible suspects.

Light rain, snow reported

By The Associated Press

A rapidly moving upper level impulse triggered patchy light rain today in the northeast corner of Texas and rain mixed with light snow along the Red River.

Elsewhere, high pressure centered over central Kansas was the primary weather feature influencing the remainder of the Texas weather. The result was clear skies and cool temperatures.

A trough of low pressure associated with the upper level disturbance brought gusty northwest winds to sections of north Texas at speeds of 15 to 20 mph.

Light northwest winds prevailed over most of West Texas and the lower Rio Grande Valley valley while westerly breezes at 5 to 10 mph were common across the remainder of the state.

Early morning temperatures fell into the upper 20s over the High Plains and west of the Pecos. Temperatures were in the mid to upper 30s across most of North Texas with low to mid 40s observed in South and South Central Texas.

Overnight, the temperatures ranged from 46 at Corpus Christi and McAllen to 25 at Amarillo.

Poodle helps police in kidnapping

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The attempted kidnapping of a 7-year-old girl was foiled when the girl's dog bit one of her would-be abductors, police said.

"I've got the report up on my bulletin board with 'true dog of the year award' written under it," Lt. Robert Jasek said Thursday. "That dog saved that little girl from being abducted."

The girl told police she was walking her poodle, Nappy, about 5:30 p.m. Wednesday when a car drove slowly by. The two men in the car waved at her and the car went down the street, turned around, and came back, she said.

The passenger opened his door and motioned for the girl to get inside, she said. She told police she was scared and tried to run, but that the man grabbed her arm. At that point, she released Nappy's leash, and the poodle bit the passenger on his hand, she said.

The man then released the girl, who ran to an older girl who was riding a bicycle nearby.

Police put out an alert for the gray, two-door vehicle the girl described, but said they had no new leads in the attempted abduction. But Jasek said, "That dog really deserves a nationwide award."

Mailing cost goes up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of mailing a first-class letter will jump from 20 cents to 22 cents on Sunday, and the Postal Service has issued a stamp to ensure adequate supplies for the rate hike.

The new "D" stamp, issued Feb. 1, is a 22-cent stamp that carries no denomination. However, it will represent the new rate until stamps bearing the 22-cent denomination are issued by the Postal Service at the end of March.

New rates for other classes of mail include:

- First-class first ounce rises from 20 cents to 22 cents, but the charge for each additional ounce remains at 17 cents.
- Presorted first class rises from 17 to 18 cents, and for mail sorted according to carrier route from 16 cents to 17 cents.
- Post cards increase from 13 cents to 14 cents. Presorted cards climb from 12 cents to 13 cents and carrier route presorted from 11 cents to 12 cents.
- The minimum charge for Priority Mail rises from $2.24 to $2.40.
- Express Mail rates increase 15 percent.
- Third-class non-profit mail increases 13 percent.
- Parcel post rates will rise by 11 percent.
- The fourth-class book rate will increase 8 percent.

Fire kills seven today

WYANDANCH, N.Y. (AP) — Fire ripped through a two-story house in the early morning hours today, trapping most of the occupants on the top floor and leaving seven people dead and two seriously injured, police said.

All seven victims were found on the second story of the home when the fire was brought under control after burning for more than three hours, said police Sgt. Charles Giordano.

Giordano said it appeared six of the dead were children and the seventh an adult. Firefighters were unable to reach the upstairs of the house upon arrival due to the intense flames, Giordano said.

One of the injured was badly burned and taken to the burn unit at University Hospital in Stony Brook, while the other was taken to Brunswick Hospital, he said. Both were sleeping on the first floor of the home.

The fire was reported shortly after 2 a.m. and burned until about 5:30 a.m., he said. The cause and the identities of the victims were not known.

Contraceptives controversial

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Parliament today debates a bill that would permit anyone over age 18 to buy contraceptives, a proposal that has brought threats to Cabinet ministers and an archbishop's warning of the "moral decline" of the overwhelming Roman Catholic Irish.

Until 1979, the sale of all contraceptives was illegal in Ireland, where 97 percent of the population is Catholic. The church forbids its members to use artificial birth control. The measure under debate would amend the 1979 law, which legalizes the sale of contraceptives to married couples but only with a doctor's prescription.

The government-supported measure would let anyone over age 18 purchase contraceptives.

But at least five legislators of Prime Minister Garrett FitzGerald's Fine Gael-Labor coalition have said they will oppose the bill, risking expulsion from their parties, when a vote is taken next week.

Police said Thursday they were investigating reported threats of violence against two supporters of the bill, Paul Connaughton, junior minister of Agriculture, and John Donnellon, deputy social welfare minister.

Police Superintendent Noel Anderson said Connaughton had received several letters threatening to kidnap his family and burn down his house if he voted for the bill. Donnellon told reporters he received a letter threatening that his house would be burned.

Sean Barrett, the government's parliamentary floor manager, said "hate mail, some of it obscene," was flooding FitzGerald's office.

Unusual weather reported

Snow fell over the Great Lakes, Ohio Valley and central Appalachians today as road crews battled drifts up to 20 feet high and thousands of people remained without power following this week's string of snowstorms.

Travelers' advisories were posted for much of Michigan, northern and east central Indiana, and western and central New York.

Blowing and drifting snow continued to limit travel in Michigan, with many roads closed in the Upper Peninsula. Schools in at least 21 counties, mostly in the southeastern corner of the state, remained closed.

About 2,200 Detroit Edison customers, mostly in St. Clair County, remained without electricity early today, spokeswoman Lorie Kessler said. Some had been without power since Tuesday.

Ohio Gov. Richard Celeste declared 14 more counties emergency areas Thursday, making a total of 19 eligible for National Guard help. Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. spokesman Ron McDade said the company hoped to get power back to most of the 1,500 customers who were without electricity today.

In Kentucky, road crews used all available equipment Thursday to break through 15- and 20-foot snowdrifts and open main roads for at least limited travel.

A cold front moving across the Pacific Northwest sent snow to the western mountains today, prompting a travelers' advisory for the Cascades and the Olympics of Washington.

Bitter cold gripped the upper Mississippi Valley and eastern sections of the northern Plains, with early-morning temperatures below zero over northern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota.

On the sweltering West Coast, another weather record fell Thursday as the midwinter heat wave in Southern California kept temperatures at 90 degrees.

The thermometer reached the 90-degree mark at the downtown Civic Center for the second consecutive day. It was an all-time high for Valentine's Day, breaking the record of 89 set in 1943, the National Weather Service said. On Wednesday, the 89 degree high mark set in 1924 also fell at the Civic Center when the mercury hit 90.

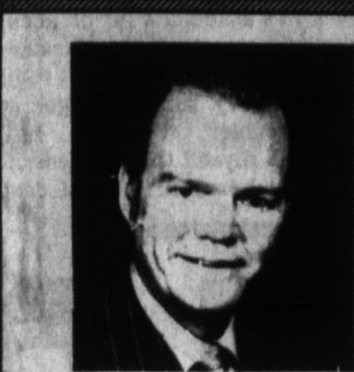

Today's forecast called for snow showers across the Great Lakes, the Ohio Valley, the northern Appalachian Mountains and northern New England.

Widely scattered snow showers were predicted across the northern intermountain region, with rain-showers at lower elevations.

Highs were predicted to be in the teens to 20s from the northern Plains across the mid-Mississippi Valley into the Ohio Valley and the Great Lakes; in the 60s from northern California across much of New Mexico, Texas and southern Florida; and in the 70s to 80s across central and southern California, southern Nevada and parts of Arizona.

Temperatures around the nation at 2 a.m. EST ranged from 18 degrees below zero at Warroad, Minn., to 70 at San Nicolas Island, Calif.

First amendment doesn't mention either

You've been hearing, "We must keep separate church and state."

When President Reagan dared to suggest that "religion and government are inevitably related," that remark was pounced upon by some as a "grave threat to the constitutional separation of church and state."

Hold the phone. It says nothing in the Constitution about separating church and state.

The First Amendment does not mention the "state," does not mention the "church" and does not mention "separation."

All it says is that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

Big difference. Dr. D. James Kennedy has retraced American history to see if we are, in fact, drifting in the direction of too much religion in government.

He finds our first settlers at Jamestown in 1607, as their first act, built a wooden cross and conducted a prayer meeting.

In 1620 the Mayflower Compact begins, "In the name of God..." and goes on from there.

In 1643 the New England Confederation bound the colonies "to advance the kingdom of our Lord..."

Our Supreme Court's Trinity Decision of 1892 affirmed that "this is a religious people, this is a Christian nation."

Yet, America from its theistic foundation has provided more religious freedom for more people than had ever existed in this world.

In this country any person can worship any god or none.

In Saudi Arabia you worship Allah or else...

In Egypt it's against the law to be anything but Muslim.

Indeed, all legislation in every nation reflects somebody's moral views.

The author of our Constitution, James Madison, wrote, "It is impossible to govern without God and the Ten Commandments."

In our schools, where all textbooks were Scripture from 1776 to 1800, today none is.

So instead of "drifting in the direction of too much religion in government" we have, in fact, drifted toward the total exclusion of God from government. Until law-abiding Americans are increasingly at the mercy of the lawless.

The authors of our Constitution wanted no one church to run our country...

Our founders came over here to get away from that sort of thing...

But government without God is not our kind.

There is a government in our present world which denies God, imprisons and enforces its own dictators' ideas of rightness and wrongness.

But not ours—thank God. (c) 1985, Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Corporate hunter Pickens takes aim

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Corporate raider T. Boone Pickens Jr., who in just over a year has made millions by threatening to take over two major oil companies, has set his sights on new prey — Unocal Corp., the parent of Union Oil Co. of California.

And true to form, Pickens is picking on a target much bigger than Mesa Petroleum Co. of Amarillo, Texas, of which he is chairman.

Pickens said Thursday that Mesa Partners II, an investor group he heads, has spent $584 million to acquire 13.78 million shares, or 7.9 percent, of Los Angeles-based Unocal.

In addition, Pickens said in a terse announcement that the partnership is prepared to spend another $616 million to buy Unocal stock, which it said it believes is substantially undervalued.

In a telephone interview from Amarillo, Pickens declined to elaborate and would not say what he believes the stock is worth. But asked if he agreed with a 7/8 per share figure that has been suggested recently, he said, "That's as good as any right now."

In trading Thursday, Unocal closed at $48 a share, unchanged from Wednesday. Mesa Partners' announcement was made after the close of trading on the Big Board on Thursday.

Unocal is among a handful of large oil companies that in the past two years have been mentioned prominently as likely takeover targets. Unocal has persistently said it will resist any takeover but nonetheless is considered especially vulnerable because of its large oil reserves, good record of finding new mineral deposits and relatively low stock price.

Unocal spokesman Barry Lane said the company had no comment on the action by the Pickens group.

Mesa Partners announced its action after filing documents Thursday afternoon with the Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington, D.C. The SEC filing is required when an investor's holdings exceed five percent of a company.

Mesa Partners is comprised of affiliates of Mesa Petroleum and Wagner & Brown, an independent oil company based in Midland, Texas. Wagner & Brown also was a partner in Pickens' attempts to seize control of Gulf Corp. and Phillips Petroleum Co.

Like Gulf and Phillips, Unocal is far larger than Mesa.

The Los Angeles firm recently reported earnings of $700.4 million on revenue of $11.54 billion for 1984. Mesa it earned $270.2 million on revenue of $413.5 million last year, with the earnings reflecting the gains from its sale of Gulf stock.

Pickens' announcement said the partnership is buying Unocal stock for investment purposes and does not at this time plan to seek control of the company or influence its business decisions.

Mesa Partners said it hoped to force Unocal into a corporate restructuring that could benefit Mesa and other shareholders.

"We believe there is potential for substantial appreciation in the market value of Unocal shares," the announcement said. "The ongoing restructuring in the oil industry has created significant values for shareholders of many companies. We believe that Unocal may ultimately participate in the restructuring process as a means of increasing the value of its shareholders' investments."

In the past month, Unocal stock prices have surged $14.75 a share amid speculation of a takeover bid.

The Mesa group paid an average of $42.38 a share for the 7.9 percent stake it has acquired in Unocal since late October. While Mesa Partners' takeover bids of Gulf and Phillips failed, Pickens and his friends made millions.

On a $1 billion investment in Gulf, Pickens' group had a pre-tax profit of $760 million when Chevron Corp. came in to buy the company for a record $13.3 billion. On a $383 million investment in Phillips, Pickens and partners are promised a pre-tax profit of at least $89 million, with Phillips also agreeing to pay their expenses.

Although Phillips escaped from Pickens' clutches in December, it now is fighting another takeover battle.

30, of Little River, Texas, was treated for a gunshot wound to her hip and released from the same hospital, said Susan Frederick, assistant director of nursing.

Levin looked shaken when he arrived at the Foreign Ministry and appeared not to know exactly where he was.

A journalist told him he was about to be turned over to the American ambassador and he was in Damascus at the Syrian Foreign Ministry.

"That is fantastic," he said, in tears. "The Orwellian year 1984 was not a very good one for me, but 1985 is starting out a hell of a lot better."

"Lucille, where is Lucille," he said in a loud voice, asking about his wife.

When told by a journalist from Cable News Network, with whom Levin had worked in Beirut as bureau chief, that his wife was waiting for him in Frankfurt, he gasped and responded: "I can't wait to see her. Please tell her I missed her very much and I love her so deeply."

Mrs. Levin arrived in Frankfurt today from Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington on a VC-135 aircraft supplied by the White House.

Levin was dressed in grey trousers and a blue sweatshirt.

One of his escorts said the clothes — including bright white tennis shoes he wore at the news conference — had been purchased in the east Lebanese town of Chaura on Thursday because he had arrived at the Syrian army position early that morning barefooted and in pajamas.

Levin, who has grown a beard during his captivity and whose hair was grayer than before his capture, did not show any signs of physical torture. But Foreign Ministry officials ordered reporters out of the room before they could pursue how he had been treated by his captors.

Klempa said that the suspect didn't make any damages. "He said he was suffering from mental problems and he felt very defeated, very down," he said.

First United Methodist Church

A Family Night supper and film showing are planned in First United Methodist Church for Sunday evening. The supper will begin at 6 p.m. and the movie, "A Father, a Son and a Three-Mile Run" will be shown at 7 p.m. in the church fellowship hall.

Based on a book by Judge Keith Leenhouts, the film is a true story of a father's pride in his son and the boy's determination to excel in spite of handicaps. Many people have read this story in its condensed form in the Readers' Digest, where it was titled, "A Race for Love."

The supper will be a winter picnic, and each family is to bring sandwiches and either a salad or dessert, with drinks to be provided. Kathy and Troy Don Moore, the church's Family Life Coordinators, are in charge of arrangements.

Youth of First UMC will leave next Thursday afternoon for a weekend of skiing at Angel Fire, New Mexico. Forty-two have signed for the annual trip, to be accompanied by sponsors Steve and Nan Conaway, Cal and Donna Jones, Temple and Karen Abney, Dick and Pam Fellers, Bill Burford and Julius Bodner.

Bran adds dietary fiber to spaghetti

COLLEGE STATION - Bran muffins, breads and cereals are well-known as foods that add fiber to the diet. Now spaghetti made with ten percent bran can be added to that list.

"Spaghetti containing bran has more than three times as much dietary fiber and high mineral content than regular spaghetti," says Marilyn A. Haggard, a nutritionist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

Spaghetti with bran also passes the taste test with many consumers. Research conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) found that tasters who prefer whole wheat bread to white bread usually liked bran spaghetti better than spaghetti without bran, Haggard reports.

Pastas, such as spaghetti, are low in sodium, fat and simple carbohydrates and contain a high level of complex carbohydrates, she says.

The ten percent bran spaghetti also contains much higher levels of protein, iron, calcium, manganese, phosphorous and zinc than spaghetti without bran.

African materials donated to Tech

LUBBOCK — A collection of materials on Africa, including more than 1,500 books and more than 56,000 other items and papers, has been donated to the International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies (ICASALS) at Texas Tech University.

The collection was given to the center by former Texas Tech history Professor Van Mitchell Smith, now of Arlington, and will be housed in the Special Collections Area of the Texas Tech Library.

The ICASALS Van Mitchell Smith Collection contains 1,516 volumes, 1,088 items of microfilm and cassette tapes, and 55,552 leaves, including newspaper clippings, magazines articles, research papers and documents.

David J. Murrah, associate director of libraries for special collections, said it is rare to find in the United States this much collected material on Africa.

"The collection will provide a fine resource complementing ICASALS' mission of studying the world's arid and semi-arid regions," he said.

With the donation, the Texas Tech Library will become only the fourth library in the state with an extensive collection on Africa.

The collection concentrates on general Africana with an emphasis on west Africa, including Ghana and Nigeria, and on parts of southern Africa with attention to the policy of apartheid. Some works in the collection describe the Russian, Chinese, French and British influences on the continent.

Of general public interest in the collection are first editions of books by famed African explorer David Livingstone and reporter Henry M. Stanley, who traveled through the dark continent in search of Dr. Livingstone.

Included in the collection are tape recordings made by Smith while traveling in Africa in 1961 to study British-Gold Coast relations and British colonial administration prior to 1900. The tapes contain his impressions of the people and politics of the various countries through which he traveled.

Smith taught at Texas Tech from 1959-72. Since 1972, he has been on the history faculty at the University of Texas at Arlington. Previously he taught at New Mexico A&M, Arizona State and Midwestern universities.

He is active in the Western Association of Africanists, the Southern Association of Africanists, the Southwestern Social Science Association and the African States Association. He has served as a resident fellow of the African Studies Association.

Eastern Star reminded of upcoming school

Hereford Order of the Eastern Star met Tuesday evening with Audrey Rusher, worthy matron, presiding.

Beulah Speer, worthy grand matron, read a message from the official bulletin "How is Your Heart?" The article stated that in these days of heart transplants and bypass surgery, the heart has become the object of considerable attention. The article continued by saying that it is a wonder that man has accomplished so much physically, yet that he has failed to understand how to use his spiritual heart to express his deep and innermost feelings.

Members were reminded that the Eastern Star School will be in Canyon Tuesday with registration starting at 8 a.m. and classes beginning at 9 a.m. A West Texas Stew Supper will take place at 6 p.m. at the Canyon Lodge Hall, 909 Ninth Ave.

Chapter members voted to give honorary memberships to the worthy grand matron, worthy grand patron, district deputy matron, deputy grand matron and grand examiner.

Masonic night will be Feb. 23 with a supper served at 7 p.m. for all masons and their wives. The associate matron presented Audry Rusher, worthy matron, with a money Valentine from chapter members.

Refreshments were served by Marie Cline, Roberta Caviness and Lola Smalts to the 22 members present.

The next meeting will be at 8 p.m.

Couple torturing themselves

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I read the letter from "Forever Guilty" my heart ached for that couple and so many others like them who cannot forgive themselves.

The woman and her husband had caused the death of a young boy as they drove home from a party. They were not drinkers but that particular night they had several glasses of champagne to celebrate a joyous occasion.

I don't drink and never have, but many times I have driven a car knowing I was too sleepy, or too tired, or too upset to be a competent driver. I wonder how many automobile deaths have been caused by people who were in the same condition.

I pray that this young man and woman who feel so guilty will stop torturing themselves and accept the forgiveness of a merciful God. The crime was horrible and their remorse and heartache were fitting punishment.

Will they make yet another mistake and waste their lives as well as the life of that child? They should be examples—proof that people can change, learn and grow, and become what they ought to be.—ALSO GUILTY BUT FORGIVING IN ROSEDALE, MISS.

DEAR ROSEDALE: It's easier to forgive others than to forgive ourselves. But no useful purpose is served by relentless self-flagellation. Sometimes professional help is needed to call a halt. If the couple have not come to terms with themselves by the time this letter appears, I hope they will get counseling.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I use your space to let off steam?

Dear Party of Three: Last night you had dinner in a nice restaurant. You sat at the table for over two hours and slipped out without paying the tab. Perhaps you didn't like the food or maybe you thought the prices were too high. I don't know why you left without paying, but I do know your waiter had to fork over $37.

That waiter is my brother. He goes to college during the day and waits tables at night, like thousands of other students.

I don't expect you to do the right thing (like send $37 to the restaurant), but I hope you have the decency to be ashamed. Congratulations for doing a number on a good person who is trying to make his own way.—"SIS" IN CHANDLER, OKLA.

DEAR SIS: I have printed several letters from waiters and waitresses who have been stiffed by lowlifes who walked out on dinner checks. One more won't hurt. Too many folks think the restaurant gets stuck. One of the major functions of this column is to educate people and I'm trying my damndest.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read these facts in Parade magazine. PLEASE print them. They opened my eyes.—BOGGLED IN BERMUDA

DEAR BOG: With pleasure! "On Friday and Saturday nights, 1 out of ever 10 cars coming toward you has a drunk driver behind the wheel."

"Teenage drivers cause five times as many deaths in the U.S. as drivers between 35 and 64."

"Male teens are the worst drivers in the nation."

"Of the 25,000 alcohol-related deaths on our highways last year, 35 percent of the victims were between 16 and 24 years old."

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex—Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11985, Chicago, Illinois, 60611.

Play set this weekend to benefit AHA fund

Local talent will be featured during the performances of Neil Simon's play, "Barefoot in the Park," scheduled Saturday and Sunday at the Community Center. The production will be presented by the Hereford Community Players.

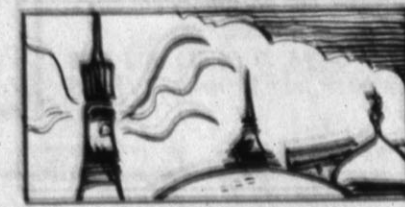

The dinner theater set for 7 p.m. Saturday, will be catered by Something Special and board members of the Deaf Smith Chapter of the American Heart Association, will provide desserts for the dessert buffet slated at 2 p.m. Sunday.

There will be a $15 admission charge per person for the dinner theater and $5 for the matinee. Tickets may be purchased at both Hereford State and First National Banks.

Amy Gilliland, play director, stressed that only 200 people can be seated at a performance and that those wishing to donate money instead of attending the play are asked to notify a board member.

This production is a special fundraiser for the American Heart Association with proceeds going to the heart research fund.

Basketball concludes

Hereford High School boys basketball teams conclude the season today with junior varsity and varsity games against Lubbock in the HHS gym. Game time is 7:45 p.m. for the varsity contest. The junior varsity game is set to begin at 6 p.m.

The varsity Whitefaces, currently 3-12 in District 3-5A competition, hope to hold off any rally hopes the Westerners might have this time around. Lubbock, now 7-8 in loop play, overcame a 27-36 halftime deficit to Hereford Jan. 17 to win 63-51.

Olajuwon attains new rebounding heights

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

While Moses Malone is still Chairman of the Boards in the National Basketball Association, it hasn't taken long for rookie Akeem Olajuwon to become one of the highest officers in the rebounding business. The 7-foot center for the Houston Rockets established NBA season highs in rebounding and offensive rebounding with 25 and 15, respectively, to go with his game-high 30 points in a 113-105 victory over the New York Knicks Thursday night. "I went for every rebound," Olajuwon said. "If I go up for 10 rebounds, I'm going to get about six of them. It was certainly one of my best games."

Rockets Coach Bill Fitch said Olajuwon has been so dominating that he should outpoll Chicago's sensational Michael Jordan for NBA Rookie of the Year. "Let's hold another draft in New York tomorrow and see who's first," Fitch said of Olajuwon's performance. "I love Michael Jordan, but if I were his mother, the best I could do is split the ballot."

Olajuwon's performance surpassed the previous NBA season high of 24 rebounds by Malone on Jan. 30 against Boston. The 7-foot rookie's 15 offensive rebounds bettered his own NBA season high of 14 at Utah on Jan. 6. The victory gave the Rockets a 30-21 record, one more triumph than in all 82 games last season. The Knicks, 18-35, had their four-game home winning streak snapped. Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Milwaukee 132, Indiana 128 in overtime; Denver 138, Kansas City 123; San Antonio 131, Phoenix 102 and Boston 110, Seattle 94.

Celtics 110, Sonics 94

Kevin McHale scored 26 points and Larry Bird added eight points and six rebounds in the decisive third period as Boston took over sole possession of first place in the Atlantic Division with a victory over Seattle.

The Celtics, whose 42-10 record is a half-game better than Philadelphia's, led only 54-50 at halftime, but outscored the Sonics 32-23 in the third quarter to take control.

Jack Sikma led Seattle with 24 points, but high-scoring forward Tom Chambers hit only one of 12 shots and was held to seven points, 17 under his average.

Bucks 132, Pacers 128

Sidney Moncrief scored 31 points and first-place Milwaukee opened a four-game lead in the Central Division with a comeback victory over Indiana.

The Pacers, who got 31 points from Clark Kellogg and 26 from Steve Stipanovich, led 113-109 with 14 seconds left in regulation. But a three-point goal by Craig Hodges and a court-length drive by Terry Cummings helped the Bucks send the game into overtime.

Paul Pressey broke a 124-124 tie in the final minute of overtime with two free throws and he gave the Bucks a four-point lead with a basket following a steal by Moncrief.

Nuggets 138, Kings 123

Denver stayed two games in front of second-place Houston in the Midwest Division as Alex English scored 33 points against Kansas City. English scored 11 points during a 23-8 second-quarter spurt that gave the Nuggets a 77-60 lead at halftime. Calvin Natt added 29 points and Wayne Cooper 21 for Denver, while Reggie Theus and Larry Drew paced the Kings with 20 each.

Spurs 131, Suns 102

George Gervin scored 24 points and San Antonio tied a franchise record with 21 steals against Phoenix.

The Spurs led by as much as 113-78 in the fourth quarter after starting that period with a 22-4 run.

Final preseason game tonight

Debut nearing for Doug Flutie

By The Associated Press

The cram course is over and it's time for Doug Flutie to make his long-awaited United States Football League debut for the New Jersey Generals.

Flutie, professional football's newest millionaire, will quarterback the Generals tonight when New Jersey meets the Orlando Renegades in the preseason finale for both clubs in Orlando, Fla.

Five other closing exhibition games will be played on Saturday. Tampa Bay will play Baltimore at Charlotte, N.C.; Memphis will be at Jacksonville; Houston at Birmingham; Denver at San Antonio and Los Angeles will play Portland at San Fernando, Calif.

On Sunday, Oakland meets Arizona at Fresno, Calif.

The USFL opens its third regular season next weekend with Flutie as the third Heisman Trophy winner it has bagged in as many years.

"Any game is important to me," Flutie said earlier this week of his debut as a pro. "The spring game at BC was important. I want to win any game I play. I want to see what I can do here. I'm learning more and more each day."

Flutie has been forced to learn a lot since taking Donald Trump's five-year, $7 million offer about two weeks ago and then inheriting the No. 1 quarterback spot when veteran Brian Sipe was dealt to the Jacksonville Bulls one day later.

And the 5-foot-9½ All America from Boston College has learned well according to teammates and coaches.

"He's so aware of what's going on in the field," said Generals offensive coordinator Chris Palmer. "He's picking up things very fast."

Against the Renegades, Flutie main targets will be wide receivers Clarence Collins and Danny Knight. The quarterback's former roommate Gerard Phelan still has not been able to reach a contract agreement with the Generals.

Flutie said he has been impressed with the receiving ability of Collins and Knights, adding any problems he is experiencing with them is because they are not familiar with each other.

The Generals, 14-4 last season, open their regular season Feb. 24 at Birmingham.

Former New York Giant Jerry Golsteyn will be Orlando's quarterback against the Generals, with either Reggie Collier or Steve Pisarkiewicz finishing the game.

The Renegades have not said much about their encounter with Flutie, but Lupe Sanchez, a 5-9 safety, tried to analyze the game.

"I don't let my height be a disadvantage to me and I know Flutie doesn't let his height bother him," said Sanchez. "Friday's game should be pretty even, Flutie does not see over the line and neither do I."

Down Texas 60-51

Hogs garner 'must' win

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Arkansas basketball coach Eddie Sutton suffered through a Texas comeback attempt but finally relaxed in the wake of a 60-51 victory that kept his Razorbacks in the thick of the Southwest Conference race.

"I told my squad that if they can't win tonight, they can forget about those championship rings," Sutton said Thursday night.

"When we look at our schedule we see we have three games at home and travel to Rice," Sutton said. "If we can win out and SMU could stub its toe, we would share the conference championship."

The tough win in Austin raised Arkansas' record to 8-4, one game behind Southern Methodist's 9-3 mark and a half game ahead of Texas A&M and Texas Tech, who are 7-4. For the season, Arkansas is 17-9. Texas fell to 5-7 and 12-10.

Sutton said freshman Kenny Hutchinson, who hit 6-of-6 from the field against Texas, "came of age tonight. I've been saying all along the night would come when he would hit his shots and might bust loose."

Texas Coach Bob Weltlich was high on praise for Arkansas center Joe Kleine, whom he called "the most competitive player in this league, by far."

"I mean it's not even close. I wouldn't want to even try to name a player who would be second, he would be so far back. He just outcompetes your entire team, and he has the equipment to do it," Weltlich said.

"They made a lot of big defensive plays when they had to and we just made some not so intelligent decisions," Weltlich added.

Kleine scored 22 points and held Texas center John Brownlee to just 6 points.

Indoor competition tonight

Arkansas favorite in SWC track meet

By DENNE W. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer
 FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks are again favored to earn the Southwest Conference Indoor Track and Field Men's Championship Friday night while Houston and Texas will scrap for the women's crown.
 The Razorbacks are the defending national indoor track kings and they haven't been away from the SWC throne since 1980, when the Texas Aggies won.

 Arkansas won its fourth SWC title with 119 points last year. The Baylor Bears were second with 82.

That's the way things could happen again with Baylor making a strong showing in the recent Oklahoma City Invitational.
 Arkansas is stronger than last year with a deep talent pool.

The Razorbacks are led by Olympic Games triple jump silver medalist Mike Conley. He is also expected to win the long jump. Just as he did in the NCAA championships last winter.

 Also back are defending SWC indoor winners high jumper Bill Justiski, two-meter Roland Kefka and three members of the distance medley championship team.

"No one will come close to chasing Arkansas for the team title," Texas A&M Assistant Coach Ted Nelson said.

Baylor Coach Clyde Hart said, "Arkansas is just too deep for the rest of the teams. But we'll give it a shot. We ran as good as we could at Oklahoma City."

The meet again will be held at Tarrant County Convention Center and is sponsored by the Fort Worth Coaches Association.

The SWC had to get a special NCAA exemption so the meet could be run in conjunction with high school events. The league was prepared to move the event to Fayetteville if the NCAA hadn't approved the legislation.

The 60-yard dash again should be a crowd-pleaser with the likes of TCU's Roscoe Tatum and James Stewart, and Texas Tech's Keith Stubbelfeld, all who have clocked times under 6.2 seconds.

Baylor has a double threat in the pole vault in Todd Cooper and David Hodge. Cooper set the SWC indoor record of 17-6 1/2 last year.

SMU's mighty mile relay team won the Millrose Games' mile relay and will be a big favorite here.

Houston's Carol Lewis, who recently boosted her American long jump record to 25-3 in Dallas, will lead the Lady Cougars who scored 146 points to runnerup Texas' 97 1/2 last year.

Track and field preliminaries begin at 10:45 a.m. Friday while the finals start at 6:30 p.m.

In San Diego golf

Four players blister course

By MARK J. KREIDLER AP Sports Writer
 LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — The LPGA's Andy Williams-San Diego Open golf tournament is plunging to new lows.

Low scores, that is.
 Never before have so many players needed so few shots to make one trip around the twin courses at Torrey Pines, the scenic, Pacific-bordered club that graces this elite coastal community just north of San Diego.

"I guarantee, you'll see some good scores with this weather," said Gary Hallberg, who ought to know. He fired an 8-under-par 64 Thursday, one off the tournament single-round record, yet had to settle for a four-way tie for the lead.

Swinging amid ideal conditions — temperature in the upper 70s, brilliant blue skies, no wind — 118 of the 155 PGA players competing here shot par or better, and 20 of them covered 18 holes in 66 or fewer strokes.

The scores were so low, in fact, that tournament officials speculated it might take a 36-hole total of 140, 4 under par, to make the cut. That would eclipse the Williams record low cut of 3 under, set last year.

"The greens are very slow and firm. You can roll your putts aggressively, and you wind up knocking more in," said Hallberg, runnerup to Gary Koch here last year and the Williams champion in 1983. "I'm very confident here. The 64 actually was a fairly simple round."

Hallberg's modesty belied the fact that he chipped to within three feet of the hole five times, sank putts of 12, 15, 15 and 20 feet, scored an eagle on the par-5 sixth hole and managed par on the 18th despite hitting into the water and taking a penalty stroke.

His torrid play came over the south course, which in the past had been regarded as the more difficult of the two Torrey Pines layouts. He said the south's superior condition this year is making up the difficulty difference between the two.

Tied for the first-round lead with Hallberg were Don Pooley, Tommy Valentine and Howard Twitty. Five players were one stroke back, at 74, under-par 65: Steve Pate, Loren Roberts, Gene Littler, Bruce Lietzke and Vance Heafner.

Mark O'Meara, seeking his third straight tour victory after winning the Bing Crosby Pro-Am and the Hawaiian Open, suffered a disastrous quadruple bogey on the par-4 fifth hole and, despite a 33 on the back nine, finished at 72 and was in danger of missing the cut without a strong sub-par second round.

The players are chasing a winner's prize of $72,000, from a total Williams' payout of $400,000.

Final matches set in Lipton tourney

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The women's final is set, and it's no surprise. The men get their chance today with only one seed, and that No. 11, among the four semifinalists in the $1.8 million Lipton International Players Championships tennis tournament.

When the 128-player men's singles began two weeks ago, 15 of the top 20 players and 40 of the top 50 in the world were in the hunt. Now, only four remain — 11th-seeded Tomas Smid of Czechoslovakia, Scott Davis, Tim Mayotte and Sweden's Jan Gunnarsson.

The Martina Navratilova-Chris Evert Lloyd final will be a familiar one. The two have split 62 matches in the longest rivalry in open-tennis history.

The women's No. 1 seed, Navratilova gained the final with a 6-3, 6-3 victory over Canada's Carling Bassett, while Lloyd, seeded second, came from behind to eclipse West Germany's Steffi Graf 6-4, 6-2.

The men's semifinals will pit two American hard-servers against two European clay-courtiers as Smid takes on Davis and Gunnarsson faces Mayotte. But the hardcourts at Laver's International Tennis Resort favor neither style.

Davis reached the semifinals by upsetting Sweden's Stefan Edberg, who holds victories over Jimmy Connors and France's Yannick Noah. Smid ousted Noah in the quarterfinals, while Gunnarsson stopped 12th-seeded Vitas Gerulaitis and Mayotte has made it a habit of reaching his peak in big tournaments.

The women's final on Saturday and the men's title match on Sunday will be nationally televised by ABC. Each champions will pocket $112,500.

Texas school reforms to be discussed

Springlake-Earth residents will have an opportunity to voice their concerns about the Texas school reforms to State School Board Member Dr. Paul Dunn of Levelland at an upcoming public meeting.

Sponsored by the Springlake-Earth chapter of the Young Homemakers of Texas, the meeting is planning for Feb. 19 at 7 p.m. at the Springlake-Earth school cafeteria.

The Young Homemakers organization, which is chartered by the Texas Education Agency, is concerned about the proposed elimination of 12 area field offices for the TEA's Occupational Education Department representatives.

The area advisors are a part of the charter of the state organization, according to State Young Homemakers of Texas President Charlotte McCright, and she claims YHT as well as Future Farmers of America and Future Homemakers of America chapters would be eliminated or threatened.

Springlake-Earth residents are also concerned about a proposal to eliminate all schools with an average daily attendance (ADA) of 500 or fewer. Springlake-Earth's ADA for last year was 540, and there are a number of schools in the state with an even smaller population.

Crime topic of meeting

The Newcomers Club met Tuesday for a luncheon meeting at the Ranch House.

The door prize, contributed by Deaf Smith County Hospital was received by Ruth Evans. Calendars and maps were presented to everyone present.

The special speaker for the meeting was Randy Williams, corporal with the Hereford Police Department for nine years. Williams stressed that crimes have increased 50 percent from 1969 to 1979. In 1983, $95,000 worth of property was stolen in Hereford. Williams emphasized that it is cheaper to prevent a crime than to solve one.

Williams also spoke of the Neighborhood Watch program. In this program, each block of neighbors meets at least twice a year to get to know one another. The group also learns to look for and report any suspicious activity. Williams stated that neighborhoods that have used the program have reduced crime from 40 to 50 percent.

Veleda hosts holiday dinner

Veleda Study Club met Monday evening for a Valentine dinner with the members' husbands in the home of Norma Walden.

Marcella McLain served as co-hostess during the event which included dinner and playing dummy bridge. The home was decorated with red candles, red potted plants and a red cloth on the table. Prizes of Valentine candy and a potted plant were given away during the evening.

Those present were Messrs. and Mmes. Bill Bradley, Gib Brown, Lloyd Crume, J.D. Gilbert, Bob Lassiter, Joe Lindeman, Ken McLain, George Ritter, Billy Wayne Sisson, Bill Walden, Frank Zinzer and Ike Stevens.

Sausage dinner scheduled Sunday

The Hereford Council of the Knights of Columbus are serving a sausage dinner Sunday at the Knights of Columbus Hall from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Proceeds are to be divided between the local Right to Life and the Knights of Columbus State Deaf Childrens project. The meal costs $5 for adults and $3 for children.

Everyone is welcome and encouraged to attend.

Information about your changing telephone service from Gary Stevens, Manager-Community Relations

Divestiture revisited: one year later

A little over three years ago — January 8, 1982, to be exact — we were stunned by the announcement that AT&T would divest itself of 22 operating companies, including Southwestern Bell. In exchange for the federal government dropping its 8-year-old anti-trust suit.

Most of us remember that moment: where we were when we heard the news, the looks on the faces around us, the feeling in the pit of the stomach as it slowly dawned on us what it was going to take to dismember the world's largest corporation.

We did what we had to do — all the while wondering if it would work.

Today, it works.

Although every one of us is still analyzing divestiture's effects on our responsibility areas and working out the glitches, we've come a long way.

Service has remained at quality levels

A year ago, when divestiture took place, some thought the Bell System breakup would cause local telephone service to deteriorate drastically. But it hasn't.

And the many changes haven't always been easy — on you or on us. We still don't know where some of our longtime work friends in other departments wound up. And I can imagine the consternation of many customers who had been accustomed over the years to one call doing all, being told overnight they would have to get their own telephones.

To help you with your questions, we introduced a series of informational booklets in 1984 called "Tele-Help." And, as a result of your questions, more booklets are coming this year, including a series for small businesses.

New revenues, new services and budget cutting

One of the principal axioms of our business has always been, "to serve well, we must earn well." Since divestiture, that's never been truer in Texas.

It's important to point out we've managed to get through the first year on our own as a stand-alone company without any significant increase in local residence rates. In fact, flat-rate residential service increased only 30 cents per month in 1984 — and that was the result of a rate filing a year earlier.

And despite all the havoc of divestiture, our internal measurements tell us service has never been better in Texas.

But more than ever, we understand that really satisfying customers requires a great deal more than looking good on a monthly service report. We know we have some weak spots, but we're working on them.

You see, the ultimate judge is not what our surveys tell us, but what you tell us.

And serving you is our only business. We appreciate the opportunity to do so.

Between lakes

Region fears plan to close land

GOLDEN POND, Ky. (AP) — Businessmen and environmentalists have joined ranks in an unusual coalition that's trying to prevent the federal government from shutting down a 250-square-mile recreation area visited annually by more than 2 million people.
The federal Office of Management and Budget, seeking to whittle the federal deficit, wants to eliminate the Tennessee Valley Authority's $7 million annual appropriation to operate Land Between the Lakes, a preserve in western Kentucky and Tennessee.
Supporters of LBL say the move would wither the area's economy and deprive sportsmen of an irreplaceable resource.
Businessmen like Harold Henderson, president of the Bank of Lyon County, and environmentalists like Alan Wentz, a director of the National Wildlife Federation, have joined state and local officials in trying to rally public opinion against the budget cut.

"It's kind of unusual to find this degree of across-the-board support for an environmental item," Wentz said. "But unless the public shows a lot of support, there's a real threat that LBL will be hamstringed if not eliminated."
"We're telling everybody to write their congressman," said Bill Giles, president of the LBL Association, a private lobbying group. "We can't assume the government doesn't really mean to shut us down, that this is just a trial balloon as some have said."
Larger than many national parks, LBL is the second-largest federal preserve in the East; only Great Smoky Mountains National Park is larger.

LBL is home to 8,000 deer, 4,000 turkeys, 80 eagles and no humans. But more than 2 million people visit it each year to hike, camp, hunt and fish on Lake Barkley and Kentucky Lake, which border LBL on three sides.
"It is the single most important attraction, year in and year out, of any place in the entire state," said Jim Carroll, a state Department of Natural Resources spokesman.
"It is the center of a $150 million tourist industry in western Kentucky," he said. "Its closure would be devastating. There's no other way to put it."
According to figures prepared by Murray State University and TVA, LBL has brought 1,600 jobs to nearby counties since its creation in 1963.
"We have no industry and have to depend on tourists for our survival," Henderson said. "The tourists are our industry."
Henderson is among many residents who feel the government has an obligation to protect the lake area because of its intrusion there.
"They flooded 52 percent of the land area of Lyon County when they impounded Lake Barkley," he said. "I think they ought to reconsider what they've done here in the past."
About 220,000 acres, including the area's best farmland, were flooded when the two lakes were created by damming the Tennessee and Cumberland rivers in 1944 and 1960. Afterward, hundreds of people living on the peninsula between the waterways were relocated to allow development of the preserve.
Among them was Bob Hall, who owns the LBL Motel in Grand Rivers. The motel, like most businesses in the area, was built after LBL was created to capitalize on tourist trade.
"You wouldn't recognize the place from what it used to be," he said.

One of the town's few businesses predating LBL is the IGA grocery, and Jay DeWeese said his family would no longer be operating it were it not for the sportsmen who flock there in the summer.
"We wouldn't be here if it weren't for LBL," he said. "We couldn't make it otherwise."
Don Bagwell, spokesman for the TVA's natural resources division, said administrators appealed the budget to the budget office to no avail, and can only sit back and see what action Congress will take. TVA officials are forbidden by law from lobbying against proposed cuts.
Although Sen. Wendell Ford, D-Ky., and other lawmakers have said it is unlikely the government will force LBL to close, Bagwell said the TVA views that as "a distinct possibility."
The agency has been ordered to hold the line on LBL spending for several years, but this is the first attempt to eliminate it, he said.
"It would be up to Congress to decide what would become of the land if TVA no longer received funds to manage it," Bagwell said.
"It might be transferable to the two states if they're interested in taking it over," he said. "More likely, there will be some attempt to dispose of it."
"If that happens," said the LBL Association's Giles, "it will be open to developers who will be free to put in gas stations, hamburger joints and everything it doesn't have now. The semi-wilderness character will be gone."
Carroll said the Department of Natural Resources and other state agencies have not seriously considered whether they would want to take over the area if the federal government pulls out.
"It's unlikely we could do anything that would approach what they're doing," he said.

Satellite photos reveal power supply for aurora

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists for the first time have located a huge, egg-shaped power supply in space that helps create the Northern and Southern Lights, the mysterious curtains of green light that shimmer around Earth's poles.
The power source is an invisible zone 20 to 30 times the size of Earth, and is located about 400,000 miles distant, always on the side of the Earth away from the sun, University of Iowa physicist Lou Frank said Thursday.
It uses magnetic forces to trap electrically charged particles from the solar wind, a hot, particle-laden gas that speeds from the sun at nearly 1 million mph, Frank said.
"It (the power supply zone) really dances around out there," said Frank, who presented his findings at Jet Propulsion Laboratory during an international conference on solar wind interaction with Earth's magnetic field.

luminated to create the lights.
Just as a television picture is produced by electrically charged particles shot onto a TV screen, the auroras are basically pictures produced on "Mother Nature's TV set" when the electric particles in space are accelerated into the atmosphere, Frank said.
Locating the power source was made possible by recent analysis of some of the 200,000 photographs of the Northern and Southern Lights taken from space 15,500 miles above Earth by the polar-orbiting Dynamics Explorer 1 satellite, Frank said.
The photos do not actually show the power supply that created the lights, but by studying the photographed variations in the lights, physicists were able to calculate its location, Frank said.
"This has not been done before," he said.

Frank said the most detailed ultraviolet and visible light satellite photos ever made of the Northern and Southern Lights allowed researchers to calculate the location of the power source in the Earth's magnetic "tail." The tail is the 4-million-mile-long part of Earth's magnetic field blown away from the planet by solar wind.
From the ground, the Northern and Southern Lights — also called the aurora borealis and aurora australis — usually are visible from high latitudes as "a series of (60- to 70-mile-tall) green curtains marching and waving across the sky," Frank said, although they also may appear as a red glow.

The Northern and Southern Lights occur because solar wind pushes the magnetic field around the Earth to create an electric voltage, or power supply, in the magnetic tail, he said. Through a complex series of reactions, the voltage accelerates the particles into Earth's polar regions, where they funnel into the atmosphere and are illuminated to create the lights.
