

State Files To Recover Land Funds

By MAC ROY RASOR
AUSTIN (U)—Senate investigators looked again today into veteran land program troubles after the state filed two suits seeking recovery of $171,428 from the program's former chairman, Bascom Giles, and two Brady land dealers.

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd filed the suits. Besides Giles, he named as defendants B. R. Sheffield and L. V. Ruffin. All three had been indicted last week by a Travis County grand jury.

The state's petitions alleged a conspiracy to defraud the Veterans Land Board in two land deals in Dimmitt County in 1954. Giles was then chairman of the board.

It was alleged Sheffield and Ruffin were to file fictitious applications and contracts of sale on the land at asking prices "greatly in excess of the market value."

As his part in the alleged conspiracy, Giles was to "use his control and influence over his employees who appraised the land so that such lands would be purchased by the Veterans Land Board at a price greatly in excess of the market value," Shepperd claimed.

The suits sought return of $78,565 in a transaction involving 12 veterans and $92,862 in a deal involving 16 veterans.

Travis County indictments last week charged Giles and Sheffield with conspiracy to commit theft of $83,500 in state funds and Ruffin with theft of the same amount. All indictments concerned the Dimmitt County transaction involving 12 veterans.

The $83,500 had been the total asking price for the land. The state's recovery suit sought return only of that part of the total financed by the state after the down payment was made in the name of the purchasing veterans.

Giles ended a 17-year career as land commissioner in January when he declined to take office for his ninth term. He had "fostered" the veterans land program and was its chairman from the time it was established.

Among witnesses questioned by Senate investigator Jimmy Phillips of Angleton was Chesley Batey, Seguin real estate man.

Batey testified he had retained former state senator and now U.S. Rep. John Bell in a Robertson County transaction involving 17 veterans because he wanted "somebody with enough know-how to go through with the deal."

He said Bell agreed to a $2,500 retainer after declining to accept a one-fourth interest in the agent's commission on the land deal.

Evidence presented the House investigating committee last week indicated Bell had been paid $3,500 after the closing of another veterans land deal in Guadalupe County promoted by T. J. McLarty, now under mass indictment in DeWitt County in the land program.

The Robertson County deal of which Batey testified had entered the investigation previously. The transaction was first submitted to the land board at an asking price of $125,000. The state's first appraisal pegged the land's value at $64,000. A reappraisal raised it to $86,000 and the deal was finally closed at $99,200 in December of 1953.

Batey testified he and one of the owners of the land, Albert York, had called on Shepperd, a member of the Veterans Land Board, in 1953 to protect the first appraisal.

He said Shepperd told them he was opposed to multiple deals but would look into it.

Early in the legislative inquiry, Shepperd had testified he had known of only two multiple deals prior to last December, one involving Falls County land and another that was rejected by the board.

Church Nearing New Agreement With Italians

ROME (U)—The U.S. Embassy in Rome announced today Italian authorities have agreed conditionally to permit the American-supported Church of Christ in Rome to put up a revised sign on its church.

The permission, the embassy said, will be given after Cline R. Paden, a director of the Church of Christ here, makes "proper application."

The embassy statement quoted Italian authorities as saying Paden had not followed proper procedure in applying for permission to affix the old sign, three times removed by Italian police.

The statement further said the sign should read "Mission of the Church of Christ."

It was believed that the word "Mission" was specified by Italian authorities to distinguish the church from a nearby Roman Catholic church whose name is "Chiesa di Cristo Re"—Church of Christ the King.

The embassy's announcement marked its most decisive intervention in the troubles of the Church of Christ since the church was established in Italy after World War II.

Paden, who is from Brownfield, Tex., did not report immediately whether he would make the requested application and agree to the altered wording.

Texas Attorney Is President's Aide

WASHINGTON (U)—Dillon Anderson, a Texas attorney listed by the White House as a 1952 Democrat-for-Eisenhower, will succeed Robert Cutler as President Eisenhower's special assistant for national security affairs.

Eisenhower accepted Cutler's resignation yesterday and announced that Anderson, of Houston, would succeed him in the $20,000-a-year post April 1.

Cutler is returning to his former position as president of the Old Colony Trust Co. of Boston. Anderson, an Army Colonel in World War II, has been serving as a National Security Council consultant since 1953.

Japanese Straggler Is Spotted On Guam

GUAM (U)—A housewife told police an armed Japanese straggler, bearded and naked, darted from the jungle today and snatched some fried banana cakes from her house.

The director of public safety, Theodore D. Brown, of Eugene, Ore., formed a special detail of veteran hunters from the Guam police to search for the Japanese.

Mrs. Josefina Martinez, who was alone when the Japanese appeared, said he wore only a rope around his waist. From it dangled a saber. He also carried an odd-looking pistol.

A Japanese straggler from World War II still pops up occasionally on islands of the Pacific.

Plenty Of Food, But No Variety

LANDER, Wyo. (U)—Two truck drivers went on an orange and celery diet after their truck stalled on the snowbound South Pass Highway.

Harvey Thomas and his brother of Salt Lake City found shelter in a State Highway Department dug-out housing a rotary snowplow near Rock Creek. There they stayed two days and nights while waiting for snowplows to open the road.

They had plenty to eat but little variety. Their produce truck was loaded with nothing but oranges and celery.

Deaf, Blind Couple Win Custody

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hathaway, blind and deaf couple of Stow, O., won custody of their infant son in juvenile court in Akron, O. Because of their handicaps, welfare officials had considered taking the child from the couple. The couple discuss their case by writing out letters in each other's hands. Unlike most blind people they cannot use the much faster blindwriting system. (AP Wirephoto).

Stronger Sales Program For Cotton Is Proposed

LAMESA (U)—An accelerated sales program was urged yesterday as a solution to the cotton surplus problem.

The selling program was urged by Loyal Walker of Abilene, chairman of the agriculture committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting of cotton growers, ginners and merchants here.

The conference, sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, drew 50 persons from a 200-mile radius of Lamesa.

Improvement of cotton quality, more efficient production and processing, great sales effort, and a public relations program to make the nation realize the economic importance of cotton was urged by John Gregg of Lubbock. Gregg is a representative of the National Cotton Council.

Speakers stressed that, despite reductions in acreage, quotas the supply of cotton exceeds the demand.

Big Spring may have a meeting later in the month to explore possibility of promoting National Cotton Week vigorously. J. H. Greene, Chamber of Commerce manager, said. WTCC officials may be able to come here for the party to which merchants especially would be invited.

Attending from here were R. T. Piner, R. W. Currie, Jim McCrary, Coy Nalley, G. H. Hayward, and J. H. Greene.

Bandits Take $15,000

AKRON (U)—Two bandits held up a paymaster of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. today and escaped with $15,000 to $20,000.

Four Men Die In Hotel Fire At Portland

PORTLAND, Ore. (U)—At least four elderly men died early today in a fire in the Lind Hotel in downtown Portland.

More than 60 guests were registered. Most of them got out of the three-story structure by climbing down fire escapes or making their way to exits through smoke-filled corridors.

The bodies were not identified.

Six guests were overcome by smoke or required first aid treatment for burns. One was hospitalized for treatment of second and third-degree burns.

Five firemen were overcome by smoke while rousing the sleeping guests.

One family, including seven children, escaped unharmed.

The three-alarm blaze apparently started in a second-story hallway, firemen said. The cause was not determined.

There was no estimate of damage.

Two guests who jumped from a window into a light well in the center of the building were hospitalized. Extent of their injuries was not determined.

The 75-room hotel occupied the upper two stories of the building. The ground floor was a restaurant.

Bedouins Guard Bride, Groom

DAMASCUS, Syria (U)—Hard-riding Bedouin tribesmen today guarded a Dutch girl and her Moslem bridegroom from police ordered to return the bride to her father. The rugged desert warriors were bound by tradition to use force rather than surrender their guests.

The young couple—Nicole Therese Poche, 18, and Rida Yamlikha, 23, eloped from school to Beirut, Lebanon, two weeks ago and were married by a Moslem sheik. They fled to the protection of the emir of the Haddiden tribe 40 miles from Aleppo, Syria, after authorities refused to legalize their wedding.

There was no immediate indication whether police would risk a clash with the tribesmen to enforce a court order to send the girl back to her father Rodolphe L. M. Poche, honorary Dutch consul at Aleppo.

Rida is the son of a retired Moslem judge. Poche reportedly opposed the marriage because of the difference in religions.

Haymes Settles Alimony Worries

LOS ANGELES (U)—Crooner Dick Haymes is getting his alimony problems settled.

Recently he settled his child support debts with his second wife, Joanne Dru Ireland. And yesterday he cleared up a lengthy alimony argument with wife No. 3, Nora Eddington Flynn Haymes, ex-wife of both Haymes and Errol Flynn.

Nora Haymes, attorney S. S. Hahn said Haymes paid her a ump sum to replace the $100-a-week alimony payments provided in a divorce decree she obtained in 1953. The attorney said Haymes was in arrears $6,600 in the alimony payments. The lawyer said both parties had agreed not to disclose the amount of the settlement.

Haymes married his fourth and present wife, actress Rita Hayworth, shortly after he was divorced by Nora Haymes. The singer still is engaged in a legal battle with Immigration authorities in an attempt to prevent his deportation to his native Argentina.

Rayburn Will Fight For Rigid Price Supports

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) promised early House action today on legislation to scrap the administration's farm program and restore rigid high price supports on major crops.

It promised a hot fight in the House, which last year overrode its Agriculture Committee and voted for flexible price supports in a victory for the administration.

Rayburn, who favors ditching the flexible program, said he would schedule action on a new farm bill at the earliest reasonable time, perhaps week after next.

The Agriculture Committee approved yesterday a bill to support five basic crops—wheat, rice, corn, cotton and peanuts—at 90 per cent of parity.

Present law provides flexible supports this year between 82½ and 90 per cent of parity on these crops. Next year, unless Congress takes action, the price support floor drops to 75 per cent.

Parity is a price declared by law to give the farmer a fair return on his commodities in relation to his costs.

Rayburn and Chairman Cooley (D-NC) of the Agriculture Committee appeared confident the House would reverse its action of last year and pass a high-support bill. Neither commented on the bill's chances in the Senate.

Backers of high supports generally concede they could not pass such a bill over a veto.

The committee bill would also raise from 75 to 90 per cent the present support on dairy products. Another provision would extend the present school milk program one year.

Three Perish In Rooming House Fire

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—Three persons died and eight were injured in a rooming house fire early today.

The place had about 35 residents. Robert Lindell, 19, who arrived from work about 1 a.m. discovered the fire. He ran through the house awakening all that he could.

Five residents were injured when they jumped from the upper floors, including Mrs. Eileen Ryder, 42, who jumped with her two-year-old baby in her arms.

Bill On State Hospital Admissions Is Advanced

AUSTIN—A bill giving the state an opportunity to examine mentally retarded persons before assuming jurisdiction over them was approved Monday in a Senate committee.

"If passed, this bill will give Texas the best foundation for an adequate program for the mentally retarded of any state in the U.S.," Ray Vowell, speaking for the State Board of Hospitals and Special Schools, told the Senate State Affairs Committee.

Senate Bill 221 by Bracewell, and its House companion, House Bill 336, replaces the present laws concerning the feeble minded. It abandons the terminology "feeble minded," replacing it with the medical term, "mentally retarded."

Mentally retarded persons are distinguished from the "mentally ill."

More and more mental retardation is showing up, as our society grows more urban and people live longer, Vowell said. City living and old age put pressures on the mentally retarded that did not exist in the past.

The purpose of the proposed Mentally Retarded Persons Act is to give them a thorough examination, and then give them the kind of treatment which best suits their needs.

One of the Texas Research League's recommendations, the bill changes some practices of admission to the state's special schools. Nobody would be permanently admitted until he had been examined by one of the state's diagnostic centers or one approved by the Hospital Board.

On the basis of that diagnosis, four findings are possible:

1. He might be found eligible for admission to one of the state schools for the mentally retarded.
2. He might be found eligible for special training only, which would require voluntary admission rather than a court proceeding.
3. He might be treated best in public school, or
4. He might be amenable to treatment and care at home. Some patients might be helped in special school classes. After training, the State would help establish the trainees in business or occupations.

Defense Pounds At State's Version Of Alabama Killing

By REX THOMAS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—The state's star witness against Albert Fuller got ready today for another defense attack on his story placing Fuller at the scene when A. L. Patterson was murdered.

Cecil Padgett, the young Phenix City construction worker who said he saw Fuller and Patterson together just before the slaying June 18, was returned to Birmingham three days ago on demand of defense attorneys, and chief defense attorney Roderick Beddow said he planned to question him today.

The 30-year-old father of four small children has already been recalled to the stand twice since

Wants Study Of U.S. Security Standards

By MARTHA COLE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) said today he thinks there is "definite need" for a special commission to study the government's security program.

One day's hearing on the present setup yesterday "revealed a multitude of investigating agencies and the different standards which are used," he asserted.

The hearings before a government operations subcommittee continue today with Wilber Brucker, general counsel of the office of the secretary of defense, as the first witness.

"One of the things we've been concerned about is that we've permitted this security-loyalty-spying-sabotage program to just grow like topsy," Humphrey said.

He is author of a resolution, the subject of the hearings, which calls for a commission to look into the government security mechanism and submit recommendations.

The present program was defended at an all-day session yesterday by asst. Atty. Gen. William Tompkins, who underwent lengthy questioning on government informants.

he told the jury in Fuller's murder trial he saw the accused former chief deputy sheriff walking with Patterson toward the spot where the slaying occurred seconds later.

Padgett also testified he saw Fuller and former prosecuting Atty. Arch Ferrell pause momentarily beside the slain man's car and then disappear in flight immediately after the Democratic nominee for attorney general was gunned to death.

Patterson had promised to rid Phenix City of vice and racketeering.

Fuller and Ferrell were indicted for the murder along with the man Patterson would have succeeded as the state's chief legal officer, former Atty. Gen. St. Garrett. Fuller is the first of the three brought to trial.

Beddow already has sought to portray Padgett as a debt-ridden young man whose testimony could have been influenced by the hope of sharing in the $11,000 reward offered for a solution to the slaying.

Beddow and his assistants also sought an answer to the testimony of witnesses called yesterday to rebut Fuller's alibi that he was in the county jail at Phenix City when Patterson was shot down half a block away.

The defense lawyers questioned two of the witnesses at length yesterday without upsetting their testimony.

A weekly newspaper publisher's wife, Mrs. J. W. Oakley, of Centreville, Ala., gave testimony that, unless disproven, might discredit one of the defendant's chief alibi witnesses, State Patrolman George Phillips.

Mrs. Oakley said she heard Phillips say several months ago that he knew nothing about Fuller's whereabouts on the night of the slaying. The patrolman had testified he was in the jail with the former chief deputy at the time.

Another surprise witness yesterday was H. O. Brownlee, Columbus, Ga., salesman and father-in-law of one of Patterson's sons.

Brownlee said he saw Fuller walking on a downtown street in Phenix City the night of the killing at a time when the ex-lawman has testified he was at his own home.

Subcommittee Will Study Problem Of New Congressman

AUSTIN (AP)—A Senate committee has decided to let a subcommittee find a district for Texas' 22nd member of Congress.

The Committee on Congressional Districts attempted to compromise two pending bills by sending them to what it called a "working subcommittee."

One measure by Sen. William Fly of Victoria completely redistricts the state. The other by Sen. Searcy Bracey of Houston would give the extra congressman to Harris County, which now has one member of the House.

Texas became entitled to another congressman by a population increase reflected in the 1950 census. When legislators were unable to agree on redistricting, Texas got a congressman at large, Martin Dies of Lufkin.

Girls' Fashions Are Like Mothers'

DALLAS (AP)—Little girls are following in their mothers' fashion footsteps if the summer styles shown this week during Dallas Market Press Week are any indication.

Yesterday's showings were highlighted by the little girl's costume look, with facho emphasizing the ensemble trend so good for mother now, too. Little clip-on hats with rhinestones and tiny bags and gloves will go well in the pinaflore parade.

Color ran rampant in little girl's sunshine yellow, dusty pink and aqua or Scotch and Italian types. American polkadots, tropical and Indian prints, to mention only a few.

Cotton took first place at the Monday morning showings to about 30 fashion editors from throughout the country. It reigned as No. 1 favorite in Donovan's lighter-than-eden ranchettes for play and in less informal Nordic rhaudio suits.

The no-iron fabrics were increasingly popular for play, street or children's wear.

Fashion editors were the guests last night of the Dallas Fashion Center for a western party at Resistol Ranch where awards were presented to newspapers and editors attending the press week for the fifth consecutive time.

Girl Scout Party

Plans were made in the Vincent Home Demonstration Club for an all-day meeting in the home of Mrs. Jack Wolf. The group will have three instructors from the City Home Demonstration Club to help them make copper planters.

At the recent meeting held in the home of Mrs. Claude Hodnett, members were shown exercises for the figure. Mrs. Jack Barr was present as a new member, and refreshments were served to nine. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Dean Johnson.

North Ward P-TA Hears Panel Group

A discussion panel told of the work of the first three grades of North Ward School Tuesday evening when the P-TA met at the school. Mrs. Lige Fox, Mrs. B. O. Armstrong, Mrs. Jess Slaughter and Rex Browning made up the group.

East Fourth Circle

The program was given by the two second grades. Bill McRae spoke on "Cub Scouting."

The following officers were elected: Mrs. E. L. Fannin, president; Mrs. James Jones, vice president; Mrs. J. C. Sullivan, secretary; and Mrs. R. O. Smith treasurer.

Open house was held after the business meeting with about 75 attending.

Members of the Mollie Phillips circle of East Fourth Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. J. D. Kendrick Monday morning for Bible study. Mrs. I. C. Raley gave the opening prayer and led the discussion. The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. L. E. Taylor. Seven members attended.

Young Look For Spring

The puzzled young lady absorbing culture in an art gallery is wearing one of the most popular spring outfits for the high school crowd—a costume in charcoal blue or gray silk-and-cotton consisting of sleeveless princess jumper and fitted jacket, with white accents and attached net petticoat. The impatient telephone customer at right wears coordinated blouse and hip-yoke skirt in checked helio gingham. Also included in the group are matching or coordinated Bermuda shorts, pedal pushers and Calypso blouse.

Long-Torso Styles Tops With Young Set

The most highly fashion-conscious consumer group in the country today is the 16-to-20 age group.

These boys and girls have specialized likes and dislikes about what they want to wear, and are keenly interested in new style trends, which they may adapt to suit their own ideas.

This season is full of high fashion news for the under-20 girls. The controversial long-torso silhouette is being adopted enthusiastically by young girls, who find it new and flattering to their slim figures.

They also are accepting slimmer lines in coats and suits, but they cling to their crinolines and full skirts for party dresses, says Nan Mizrahi, fashion coordinator for one of the country's leading teen and sub-teen dress manufacturing firms.

The most popular silhouette of the new season is the fitted long-torso look, with skirt flaring into fullness below the hipline.

The youngsters also love coordinated separates, such as skirts, shorts and shirts planned to go together.

"These things have to be sold in planned groups," says Miss Mizrahi. "The girls won't buy a single item, such as a cotton skirt, unless it has a color-coordinated blouse, cummerbund, shorts or sweater with which the wearer can change around her costumes."

New fabrics, new colors and new silhouettes are making news in young fashions for the Easter Parade. The newest coats have straighter lines, with the boy-coat increasingly popular. Lightweight tweeds and shetlands are popular in both navy and pastels.

The short tops are being done in white or pastel nylon or orlon fleece, practical because they are washable.

Suits accent the boxy jacket with back interest in low-placed belts, tabs and other detail, according to a recent market survey by the trade magazine, Women's Wear Daily. The costume, consisting of princess dress or jumper and matching fitted jacket, also is popular.

The long torso look is achieved in suits by such details as low-placed pocket flaps and other hip-line interest.

Gay prints are important in spring dresses, which highlight the fitted long bodice and pleated or gathered skirt, with fullness beginning below the hipline.

Navy or charcoal gray with white accents is good, as always, for spring, and the ensemble is high on the popularity list for girls of all ages.

Irving School Fuss Develops Into A Battle For Publicity

IRVING, Tex. (U-P)—The Irving school fuss today had turned into a fast-moving extravaganza of high-powered press agency.

Expertly set up news conferences, whirling television cameras, popping flash bulbs and eager reporters completed the picture in what has developed into a battle for publicity.

Both sides say frankly they are looking for public support.

The ado started more than a week ago when about half the personnel of this town's school system walked out in protest over the school board's firing of Supt. John L. Beard.

County Judge Lew Sterrett, acting on a petition presented by backers of the striking teachers and other employees, said he would call an election before the week-end. The voting, the Beard faction hopes, will abolish the widely split Irving Independent School District. The petition asked that the election be called March 19 but, under the law, public notices must be posted at least 10 days before an election is held.

Monday the school board mailed letters formally firing 165 school employees including 93 teachers.

Atty. Balford Morrison said the Beard group plans to call another election to create a new school district if it wins its fight to abolish the present district and get rid of the present school board. Another board would have to be elected, too, Morrison said.

Dr. Beard yesterday at a press conference in the Dallas Press Club blamed his dismissal on "a political clique who thought I controlled enough votes so they couldn't control any election."

He said he had "been told" the clique was headed by Louis Blaylock, young Irving merchant and financier. Blaylock, in another press conference, said it wasn't true.

Blaylock said his "sole interest is to see that the schools are operated for the benefit of the children." Both sides in the fuss have said the same thing.

The children, urged by a student leader not to "act like adults," wrote State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar to do something to get the controversy finished.

There have been these other developments:

1. Paul Cain, Dallas publicist, was hired to represent the school board.

2. The board, in a letter to the Dads Club, said its firing of Beard was legal.

3. Dr. Beard filed a court suit for "perpetuation of testimony." It is an attempt to obtain testimony from the board on events in the fuss, he said, "in anticipation" of another suit.

Women Chosen As Jurors In Jelke Trial

NEW YORK (U-P)—Two women, the mothers of grown children, became jurors in the Mickey Jelke vice trial after declaring they would not be embarrassed by seamy testimony on sex.

Mrs. Annie Johnson, Mrs. Marie C. Toland and three men were seated on the jury yesterday. This brought to eight the number of jurors chosen in two days, leaving four more jurors and two alternates still to be selected.

No women served on the jury for Jelke's first trial in 1933, when the 25-year-old oleomargarine heir was convicted on two counts of compulsory prostitution.

Much of the testimony came from high-priced call girls. Jelke is being tried on charges of inducing Pat Ward, now 21, to be a prostitute and of having tried to do the same with Marguerite Cordova, 25.

His previous conviction on these charges was upset on an appeal on the ground that he had been denied a fair trial because Judge Francis L. Valente barred the press and public from hearing the prosecution's case. The judge at the time said he did so in regard for public decency.

Burglar Gets Cover

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (U-P)—Billy Kelton awoke and sleepily felt the bedspread sliding away. He thought his wife was pulling it. His wife thought he was pulling it. When Kelton finally opened his eyes, he saw the bedspread disappear out the window. A burglar escaped with it.

James Signs Pact With Former Wife

LOS ANGELES (U-P)—Band leader Harry James has agreed to a new settlement under which he will pay his first wife Mrs. Louise James $993.11 monthly alimony for 121 months and $333.34 a month child support.

The pact, filed in court yesterday, superseded a court order executed in 1942 under which the trumpeter allocated 36 per cent of his income after taxes for alimony, child support and a trust fund for the youngsters, Harry Jeffery, 14, and Timothy Ray, 12.

Under the new pact, James also agreed to pay $250 a year into trust funds for each son for college.

James, now married to actress Betty Grable, wed his first wife in Millerton, N.Y., in May 1935. They were divorced in Chihuahua, Mexico, in July 1943.

Warm Weather Speeds Up Texas Farm Preparations

AUSTIN (U-P)—Warm spring weather started tractors rolling across the state last week. Farmers rushed seed bed preparation and planting, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said today.

February rains provided moisture to give early planted row crops in East Texas and Coastal Bend, cotton and sorghum planting moved along rapidly.

In the low rolling plains, bedding land for sorghum and cotton was active, but row crop planting is still four to eight weeks off. Strong winds were sapping soil moisture, the USDA reported.

In central and southeastern counties, fruit buds were opening. On the high plains, pre-season irrigation continued active.

Dry land wheat prospects on the high plains continued on the downgrade as strong winds sapped the scant moisture. In the low rolling plains, wheat made good growth in the warm weather, and some was being grazed.

Commercial vegetables were helped by the summertime weather.

Clovers, rescue grass and small grains across East Texas made excellent growth as temperatures soared much of the week. Livestock in that area were picking up weight as lush green feed was becoming available in increasing quantities.

38 Dead, 17 Hurt In Korea Bus Mishap

SEOUL (U-P)—Thirty-eight persons were killed and 17 were injured today when a crowded bus plunged off a bridge 17 miles south of Seoul.

Police blamed careless driving. It was the third major vehicle accident in South Korea in a week. The dead total 101.

A train fire took 42 lives in Pusan a week ago and 21 persons were killed in a bus fire yesterday at Hongchow east of Seoul.

Fitting Name

DEER LODGE, Mont. (U-P)—The Powell County Sportsmen's Club elected a new president. His name is Nimrod Fee.

Benson Reports On Cattle Buying From South America

DALLAS (U-P)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson, after a tour of Latin-American countries, said yesterday ranchers of those countries are satisfied on the whole with cattle they are buying from the United States.

Benson said that in Venezuela and Columbia he looked into the growing business of importing cattle from the United States.

"For the most part the cattlemen of those countries are satisfied with the cattle they have bought from the United States," he said. "They are doing much experimenting in crossing our cattle with their native cattle. But they are keeping some of their native cattle pure as a safeguard."

Benson said that to the complaints of cotton and grain sorghum farmers who want price supports increased, he had the same answer he has used numerous times. Federal controls were meant for war-time and will never work in a peace-time economy, he said.

The secretary said that a survey is being made to determine how much of a hardship the reduced allotments on Central and East Texas cotton farmers whose quotas had been cut severely. He said the survey had not been completed when he left Washington.

LaSalle Downs West Virginia, 95-61

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ

LaSalle, the defending champion, and San Francisco, the No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll, are off winging in the NCAA Basketball Tournament. They won decisively over West Virginia and West Texas, respectively, in first-round games last night.

They were joined in the second round by Canisius, Villanova, Marquette, Penn State, Bradley and Seattle, who in turn eliminated Williams, Duke, Miami of Ohio, Memphis State, Oklahoma City and Idaho State.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

There's no telling when it will be revealed to the public but the Texas Intercollegiate League has definitely realigned the athletic districts within the state and Big Spring returns to the top group.

In one way, the promotion is good. In another, it's not so good.

On the favorable side, it enables the Steers to compete against the biggest schools in all sports, not just in baseball, track, golf and tennis.

On the debit side, the local school still doesn't have the facilities the other schools in the top bracket have to offer. Too many sports are being taught in a centralized area here. The present football stadium couldn't begin to take care of the crowds in District 1-AAA. However could it be expected to meet the increased demands for space that is sure to come?

Here is the way the two top districts in the area are apt to be aligned for the 1955 season:

1—Amarillo High, Amarillo Palo Duro, Plainview, Lubbock High, Lubbock Monterrey, Pampa, Borger.

2—Odessa, Big Spring, Abilene, San Angelo, Midland.

Each conference in the state will have a minimum of five schools in it, under the new plan, and, unless Snyder and Brownwood can qualify with a minimum of 250 scholastics, the Big Spring conference will probably go with five schools.

Sweetwater, as things stand now, will remain in its present set-up and have Lamesa, Levelland, Vernon and quite possibly Pecos and Andrews as conference opponents.

Each division will be composed of 16 districts, compared to the eight each now has.

A five-team district would mean that Big Spring would have to book six practice tilts, which means the Steers would probably be playing many of their former district foes.

If misery loves company, then Big Spring and San Angelo should feel like room-mates under the TIL's new setup.

For years, San Angelo has been trying to build a new football stadium without success. Its present stands are too small and its lights are inadequate. (Big Spring's area are good, by comparison.)

The other three schools in the new district (if the TIL sees fit to line them up that way) have excellent facilities and the Steer football team should be able to realize a fine profit — on the road.

Abilene's Fair Park stadium will seat close to 14,000, I think. Midland's handsome plant will take care of a crowd of 10,000 and more seats can probably be added, if the occasion demands it.

Odessa, with a stadium seating upwards of 22,000 (with temporary seats) has the best set-up in this area.

Big Spring's stadium will handle a crowd of 4,200. If any more show up, they stand, or lean on the fence.

A few years ago, Odessa — with its football star in its zenith — played here and local officials found themselves with more ticket demands than they could handle.

It will, no doubt, be like that again, unless something is done about increasing the seating capacity here, or building a new stadium.

Why not put the issue before the people and see what they would do?

Marion: Don't Sell Sox Short

By GAYLE TALBOT

TAMPA (AP)—There is a disposition on the part of some press oracles this spring to write off the Chicago White Sox, to suggest that they whined themselves chasing the Indians and Yankees the past three years and now are likely to fall back into the pack.

This feeling is not shared by the club's new manager Marty Marion, who has made a great recovery from the case of "defeatist complex" which was ascribed to him by the Baltimore owners when they canned him two winters ago.

There probably never was anything wrong with Marty that a few good ballplayers couldn't have cleared up.

The former great shortstop believes, as Paul Richards did before him, that the Sox are good enough to go all the way if only one man should get hot at the plate and help Mimi Minoso drive in some runs. He thinks it is that close between his team and the two front runners, and he would like a chance to prove it.

"Few people realize the difference one more good hitter in the lineup can make to a ball club," he said. "Or maybe more of them do after what Willie Mays did for the Giants last season. All I ask is for either George Kell or Walt Dropo to come back with a big year and I'll guarantee to show them something. I think one of them might do it, too, the way they've been looking."

Bantamweight Title At Stake

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Raul Macias of Mexico, the No. 1 contender, and Chamrern Songkitrat of Thailand, rated the No. 2 boy, battle at the Cow Palace tonight for the world bantamweight boxing championship.

California has refused to give title status to the bout, but the National Boxing Assn. will present a championship belt to the winner.

The match has been cut from the usual 15 rounds to 12 by the State Athletic Commission.

CBS will telecast at 10 p.m., EST.

Macias, a 2-1 favorite, is unbeaten in 11 successive bouts since turning professional.

of the 1955 schedule to the Midland Reporter-Telegram without sending it to any of the other cities.

"I'm after his job," Pat McLaughlin, general manager of the San Angelo entry, was quoted as saying.

Pepper Martin, owner of the Big Spring Cosden Cops, said he was disturbed over the development and that he intended to talk with both Peck Cunningham, new president, as well as Busby about the matter in the near future.

"This is one of several complaints I have with regard to Busby," McLaughlin was quoted as saying.

McLaughlin said it was his understanding that the league directors, in their last meeting, had agreed that Busby would only serve as executive secretary until a president had been named to succeed Harry James of Roswell, who resigned recently.

McLaughlin said he was in favor of the league hiring an executive secretary—and paying him a good salary—who had no direct connections with any of the Longhorn teams.

Martin said he had not yet received his copy of the schedule but noted, in consulting the copies that had appeared in the San Angelo and Midland papers that several discrepancies were evident and would have to be corrected before the schedule could be printed locally.

He intended to consult Cunningham sometime today about the matter.

Mustang Mentor

New head football coach of the Sweetwater Mustangs is Eiwood Turner (above), for eight years the coach at Albany High School.

Turner is a graduate of TCU. His Albany teams won four district championships and last fall moved into the Class A finals before losing to Deer Park. (Picture courtesy of Sweetwater Reporter).

Here's how the second round shapes up:

At Philadelphia — Ivy League champion, Princeton (12-10) or Columbia (17-7) vs. LaSalle (23-4) and Canisius (17-6) vs. Villanova (17-9).

At Evanston — Kentucky (22-2), Southeastern Conference champion, vs. Marquette (23-2) and Iowa (17-4), Big Ten champion, vs. Penn State (25-8).

At Manhattan — Southern Methodist (19-7), Southwest Conference champion, vs. Bradley (8-19) and Colorado (16-5), Big Seven champion, vs. Tulsa (20-6), selected to represent the Missouri Valley after finishing in a tie for first place with St. Louis.

At Corvallis — Oregon State (21-7), Pacific Coast Conference champion, vs. Seattle (22-5) and Utah (23-3), Skyline Conference champion, vs. San Francisco (24-1).

The Ivy League title, which wound up in a three-way deadlock, will be determined tonight when Columbia faces Princeton in New Brunswick, N.J.

LaSalle's Explorers eliminated West Virginia, the Southern Conference champion, 95-61 in the windup of a Madison Square Garden triple-header in New York.

Earlier, Canisius downed Williams 73-60 and Villanova outlasted Duke, the Atlantic Coast Conference representative, 74-73.

In Lexington, Ky., double-header, Marquette was extended into overtime before subduing stubborn Miami of Ohio, the Mid-American Conference kingpin, 90-79.

Penn State withstood a late rally to dispose of Memphis State 59-55.

All America Bill Russell collected 29 points in 29 minutes as the San Francisco Dons coasted to an 89-66 victory in the second game of a twin bill at San Francisco. In the opener Seattle spurred in the second half to thrash Idaho State, the Rocky Mountain titleholder, 80-63.

At El Reno, Okla., Bradley turned back Oklahoma City 69-65 in a battle between two at-large entries.

With All America Tom Gola providing the impetus, LaSalle set an NCAA Tournament scoring record of 95 points in a single game. The Explorers held the previous mark of 92, which they set in last year's final against Bradley. Gola scored 24.

Oklahomans Break Scoring Record

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The National Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament entered its second round today with a fairly classy field.

Most outstanding feat in the windup of the first round yesterday was the Southeastern Oklahoma Savages' record-breaking 120-67 victory over Georgetown (Ky.) College. It beat by seven points the previous team total shared by Marshall College of Huntington, W. Va., in 1947 and Eastern Illinois of Charleston in 1952.

An attractive game — Texas Southern of Houston and Gustavus Adolphus of St. Peter, Minn. — headed the second round schedule (11 a.m., CST).

Texas Southern, the only all-Negro college in the week-long tournament, entered with a 27-2 season record and beat Adrian (Mich.) College, 102-83, in the first round Monday. Gustavus Adolphus, with a 20-6 season mark, defeated Wayland College of Plainview, Tex., 78-58 Monday.

Today's games include:

11 a.m. — Texas Southern vs. Gustavus-Adolphus.

BOB PERCIVAL NAMED VERNON GRID COACH

VERNON, (SC) — Bob Percival, basketball coach at Vernon High School for the past seven years, has been named head football mentor here, succeeding Harold (Spot) Collins.

Collins was fired several weeks ago for failing to get along with his fellow coaches.

The Lions, members of District 1-AAA, won five, lost four and tied a game under Collins last fall. The deadlock was with Big Spring and cost the Steers a clear hold on the District 1-AAA championship.

Percival will be free to hire two assistants and a B team mentor.

He formerly coached at Oklane Consolidated, Afton and Wellington High Schools.

He is a graduate of Texas Tech, having left there in 1940. He also has an MA from East Texas State.

His basketball team last season won seven of 14 conference games.

good enough for a fourth place tie in the standings.

Percival will have his work cut out for him, since the Lions were hit hard by graduation.

Geigel Retains Grapple Title

Bob Geigel of Sioux City, Iowa, spotted Angelo Poffo a fall and then went on to defeat the Mid-Westerner and retain his Southwestern Wrestling title in the main event of Tuesday night's show at the Howard County Fair building.

Poffo was disqualified after the two had broken even in the first two falls.

Angelo had won the initial fall with a Hangsman's Noose while Geigel evaded matters a short time later with his leg lock.

In the semi-windup, Mark Lewin made an impressive debut by shading Boris Kameroff.

Lewin employed a back slip to get the edge in the initial fall. Kameroff came back to catch Lewin with a Hangsman Noose but Lewin had his hand raised in victory by beating Boris with a body block and a series of drop kicks.

The veteran Tony Morelli prevailed over George Lopez in the opening match.

Oglesby Entered In Snyder Meet

FORSAN (SC) — Albert Oglesby, high jumper, will be Forsan's only entry in the Canyon Reef Relays at Snyder Saturday.

Coach Bob Honeycutt said Harold Hicks, his star quarter-miler, has been ill and would not be able to make the trip.

Honeycutt has 17 boys working out for track.

Shoot Is Planned

The Western Sportsmen Club has planned a .22 rimfire rifle and pistol match for 2 p.m. Sunday. Members of any gun club are eligible to attend.

Webb All-Stars Are Selected

Ten cagers have been selected by coaches and team members to represent them on Webb All-Star Base's 1955 all-Star basketball squad. The men on the squad were chosen from the four teams entering the final round of the Base playoffs.

The players named for the Student Officers — Tom Connelly, Paul Shrum and John Bowen; for Wing Headquarters — Maurice Herron and Howard Crow; the Cadets — Kenny Cobb, Donald Paulson and Jimmy Pettyjohn; for Air Base Group — Jack Long and Bill Paschall.

Kenny Cobb had the highest average per game in the scoring department with a total of 36 points in two games for an average of 18 points a game. He hit 24 out of 29 foul shots.

Maurice Herron, who is considered by all to have played the best ball in the tourney, hit a total of 53 points in four games for an average of 14.2 points per game.

Longhorns Lose 8-4 Verdict To Midland

MIDLAND, (SC) — George Howard's fifth inning circuit smash with Harold Gregory aboard gave the Midland Bulldogs the cushion they needed to beat Big Spring in a practice baseball game played here Tuesday afternoon. Final tally was 8-4.

The count was tied when Gregory strode to the plate and singled. Frosty Robinson, the Big Spring hurler, struck out Bill Hanson but Howard followed with the circuit smash that put the Bulldogs out in front to stay.

Steerettes Upset Tornado Queens

Arah Phillips' Steerettes sprang a prize upset in trouncing the Lamesa Tornado Queens, 26-19, in a district volleyball game here Tuesday night.

The score was tied four times during the fiercely fought contest, the first time at 5-5; then at 8-8, 11-11 and 15-15. After that, it was all Big Spring. However, as Louise Burchett paced a drive that enabled the locals to pull away.

With Burchett at the net, Carolyn Whitefield paced Big Spring in scoring with eight points. Barbara Hale had six, Barbara Kizer four, Marylou Staggs and Burchett two each, Eunice Freeman three and Freida Fonta one.

Big Spring led at half time, 10-9. For Lamesa, Euna Crutcher counted eight points, Marion McDonald five, Minnie Cox two, Vickie Hernandez two, and Shirley Robinson and Helen Stevens one each.

The win was the second in three conference starts for Big Spring. Lamesa now had a 1-1 record. Odessa is the only undefeated team in the circuit.

On the season, Big Spring has now won nine and lost four games. The Big Spring reserves also won, 20-16, after building up a 15-8 advantage at half time.

Pat Henson paced Big Spring with seven points while Harris counted five for the visitors.

Phils Must Get Mileage Out Of Curt Simmons

By ED CORRIGAN

If the Philadelphia Phillies are to be pennant contenders, they'll need all the help they can get from ace left-hander Curt Simmons. Without an effective Simmons, there's no telling how embarrassed rookie manager Mayo Smith might be in September.

That same old ailment that plagued him through most of the 1954 season is back and Curt is behind the rest of the hurlers in the Phillies' Clearwater, Fla., camp. No sooner did he begin throwing last week than the arm began to ache.

He was asked if it felt any better today, and he said gloomily: "Not yet. It feels like it's in there pretty deep."

The ache is at the top of his arm, and although it bothered him most of last year, Curt still managed to win 14 games. It usually bothered him after he pitched, rather than before.

So far, Mayo has been lucky. Except for Simmons' pain he has had few troubles. His club is hustling and he likes the looks of some of the young pitchers.

But another newcomer to the major league ranks isn't having things so easy. Pinky Higgins of the Boston Red Sox wacked outfielder Carl Olson smash into the left field wall in Sarasota and suffer a mild cerebral concussion. The fletcher was taken to a hospital. He was resting today although he suffered abrasions of the left ear and left hand.

Bradley Survives First Challenge

EL RENO, Okla. — The Bradley Braves survived first-round play in the NCAA basketball championship with a 69-65 decision over the Oklahoma City Chiefs last night.

The victory sent the Peoria, Ill., team into the 4-team regional playoff at Manhattan, Kan., opening Friday. Bradley plays SMU, the Southwest Conference champion, and Tulsa, co-champion of the Missouri Valley Conference, meets Colorado, the Big Seven titlist.

It was OCU's fourth consecutive trip in to the NCAA playoffs and its fourth loss. Bradley was runner-up for the national title last year, losing to LaSalle in the Kansas City final.

baller who created a sensation with the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1952 only to drop into oblivion the past two years, has impressed Manager Walt Alton.

He took a turn on the mound in an intrasquad game yesterday, and Alton liked what he saw. "Black looked good," said the skipper. "He is working on a half-speed pitch which may help him considerably."

In the Milwaukee Braves and New York Yankees camps at Bradenton and St. Petersburg there were old stories being retold.

Outfielder Andy Patko of the Braves and first baseman Joe Collins of the Yanks were fighting off aspirants for their jobs.

The veteran Patko is being challenged for the right field berth by Henry Aaron.

Collins has a whole hatfull of rivals including Eddie Robinson, Bill Skowron and Frank Leja. Manager Casey Stengel said he isn't prepared to answer the inevitable "Who's on first?"

Black Unanimous Tourney Choice

AUSTIN — Towering A. C. Black of Crozier Tech (Dallas), whose jump shot in the final 17 seconds won the Conference AAAA state title for the Wolves, received unanimous acclaim today on the All-State Basketball Tournament team.

Black and Jay McVain of Pampa were the only repeaters on the AAAA and AAA squads announced by the Texas Sports Writers Assn.

Black, whose 47 points in two games set a new AAAA record, was the only player from the championship Tech team selected.

Runnerup Waco placed two players, Charles Pack and Kenneth Brunson, on the team. Wayne Wedgworth of Beaumont filled the fifth berth.

Victoria and French (Beaumont) each placed two cagers on the AAA squad.

Neil Swisher of Champion Victoria was a unanimous choice. Larry Roach of Victoria and Brenton Hughes of French polled all but two votes. Buddy Humphrey of Kilgore and Charles Williams of French received the other two places.

Eddie Joe Buck, rookie trying for a berth with the Boston Red Sox this spring, has a degree in agricultural economics from Oklahoma A&M.

West Texas Is Victim Of Dons In Playoffs

SAN FRANCISCO (U) — The University of San Francisco Dons, and Big Bill Russell in particular, demonstrated convincingly Tuesday night why they are rated America's No. 1 collegiate basketball aggregation.

Meeting in the West Texas State playoffs for a berth in the NCAA regional tournament this weekend, the Dons romped to a 40-66 victory which wound up with reserves filling the entire lineup for the last five minutes of the game.

Russell, 6-foot-9 All-American choice, played only 29 minutes and scored 29 points, despite the fact that at least two men were attempting to guard him under the basket. Big Bill deftly dominated both defensive and offensive backboards, as he has done all season, and in several instances actually whipped his rebounds down through the net from above the hoop.

In addition to their shooting, the Dons confounded the Texans with a tight man-to-man defense which offered few easy shots and kept the Buffaloes potting away from out on the floor. Jim Scott was the top scorer for the losers with 24 points.

Seattle University did the expected in the opener of the double header at the well-filled San Francisco Cow Palace and defeated Idaho State College 80-63.

In the West Regional Tournament at Corvallis, Ore., Seattle will meet Oregon State, champions of the Pacific Coast Conference, and USF will go against Utah, champions of the Skyline Conference.

Ackerly Teams Enjoy Success

ACKERLY, (SC) — Ackerly grade school basketball team climaxed a successful season last weekend by winning first place in the Union tournament.

During the campaign, the Ackerly girls won 17 games in 18 starts. That defeat came early in the campaign.

They scored a total of 531 points to the opposition's 263, averaging 30 points a start to 15 for the foe. High scorers were Dorothy Williams, with a 17-point average; and Jan Kunkle, with a 13-point average.

The girls entered five tournaments and brought home four championships plus one second place.

Starters for the Ackerly team were Dorothy Williams, Janie Kunkle, Eva Sue James, Joyce Franks, Priscilla Bristow and Winnie Taylor.

Others who played included Bessie Smith, Wanda Coleman, Jeanne Cagle, Janice Bearden, Sandra Adams, Glenna Little, Dana Horton, Gordine Froman, and Jones, Sandra Campbell and Peggy Ingram.

The Ackerly junior boys finished the season with 15 wins and four losses. Three of their defeats were by one point.

They scored a total of 534 points to the opposition's 353. They averaged 28 points a game to 19 for the opposition.

High scorers for the boys were James Savell, with a ten-point average; and Royale Lewis, with a 9-point average.

The boys entered five tournaments and brought home two championships, a second place and a consolation prize.

Starters for the boys were James Savell, Royale Lewis, Buster Grigg, Bennie Kunkle and Bryan Adams.

Other team members include Keith Rudeseal, Jerry Batson, Gibby Ingram, Joe Hall, Robert Billingsly, Jimmy James, Jerry Merrick and Bill Belleu.

Cliff Prather coached both of the teams.

Fishermen Report Catches At Travis

Milt Broughton, Kenneth Cantrell and Arthur Stallings, all of Big Spring, and H. G. Cross of Stanton all reported fine catches in a fishing trip to Lake Travis, near Spicewood.

The combination caught a total of 63 fish, ranging in weight from 2½ to 3½ pounds. Their catch consisted of white bass and crappie.

PAN-AM ATHLETES ARE ENROUTE TO GAMES

By MAX B. SKELTON HOUSTON, Tex. (U) — The U. S. Pan-American track and field team departed for Mexico City Wednesday with Coach Leo Johnson saying "they look pretty good."

Johnson was pleased with the team's performance in taking 12 of 14 first places Tuesday night in a warmup meet against a group of Oklahoma and Texas college stars.

Wes Santee's strong finish made him an easy mile-run winner over indoor rival Fred Dwyer. Parry O'Brien scored a double victory in the shot put and discus. Jack Davis and Jim Lea turned in impressive early season times in the 120-yard high hurdles and 440-yard dash.

"We couldn't let go all the way," said Johnson, the University of Illinois coach. "For most of them it was the first time they had run outdoors this year. Some had had colts. But this team is well conditioned. It would surprise you." Santee did not leave for Mexico City today. He and several other members will join the team there before the March 12-26 Pan-American games get under way.

Santee, the American mile record holder at 4:00.6, beat Dwyer by about 30 yards with a burst of speed the last 200 yards.

Santee ran last while taking the first quarter in 65 seconds but later said his 53.5 for the fourth quarter was the same time turned in by Roger Bannister when the British runner broke the 4-minute mile last year.

Dwyer had said all along he would have preferred to run only the 2-mile as a better conditioning race for the high altitude in Mexico City. He did enter the 2-mile, won by Horace Ashenfelter at 9:01.3, but dropped out after six laps.

Tyler Is Upset In Nationals

HUTCHINSON, Kansas, (SC) — HCJC's Jayhawks of Big Spring, Texas, were poised to take the court at 2 p.m. today against Moberly, Mo., in the first round of the National Junior College Basketball Tournament.

Moberly, the defending champion, is heavily favored to topple the Hawks but HCJC is refreshed and capable of springing an upset.

Coach Harold Davis of HCJC will start his regular lineup, which is composed of Paschall Wickard, Ray Crooks, Arlen White, Ronald Anderson and Jim Knotts.

First round play will be completed at 3:45 p.m. in a contest between Coffeyville, Kansas, and Boise, Idaho.

In first round contests Tuesday, the tournament favorite, Tyler, Texas, was stymied by Hannibal-LaGrange, Mo., 100-86; New York City Community trounced Pueblo, Colo., 79-73; East Central Mississippi of Decatur ousted Jacksonvilleville, Fla., 52-46; Evelett, Minn., nudged Mamonia of Graceland, Iowa, 61-59.

In two overtime periods; Phoenix, Ariz., turned back Joliet, Ill., 60-51; and Arkansas City, Kansas, sailed past McCook, Nebraska, 58-54.

The tournament continues through Saturday night.

In the Tyler game, Russell Boone hit 31 points for Tyler to capture individual laurels.

Forsan Trounces Sterling, 34-15

FORSAN, (SC) — Forsan won a conference girls' volleyball game from Sterling City here Tuesday night, 34-15.

Mary Fairchild, with Patsy Shouls and Verna Strickland helping at the net, scored 22 points for Forsan. Barbara Dunn had eight for the losers.

In the B game, Sterling won a 20-19 decision while the Forsan junior high team prevailed, 62-23.

Steers Tune Up For Snyder Meet In Competitive Drill

The Big Spring High School track and field team spent Tuesday afternoon working out the kinks for Saturday's Canyon Relays in Snyder.

Coahoma's Bulldogs came over, to run against the Steers. The Bulldogs have no track of their own, although they have a number of promising thinny clads out. The practice meet may be repeated here in the near future.

Harold Bentley, the local coach, was pleased with the performance of his younger charges.

Bennie Compton, the Steers' best sprinter, tied up in the century dash and had to go all out to break the tape even with David Hodnett of the Coahoma team. The time was 10.2.

Bobby Fuller ran none too strong in the mile. He turned in a rather ordinary 4:56.0, but Bentley knew he can do better than that.

Fuller seemed to have a jerk in his stride, which he doesn't ordinarily have.

Milton Davis looked to advantage in his leg on the mile relay.

The local lads are under a disadvantage in that the local track is slow and is soft around the edges.

CAGE RESULTS

Coahoma Still Seeks Coach

COAHOMA, (SC) — Applications are still being taken for the head coaching job at Coahoma High School.

A successor is being sought for Charles (Patt) Brandon, who resigned recently to take the position of backfield coach and head baseball coach at El Paso High School.

The Coahoma board of trustees met Monday night and narrowed the list of applications from 12 to six but did not indicate any of that group would be selected.

Two additional applications were received by Supt. of Schools H. L. Miller Tuesday.

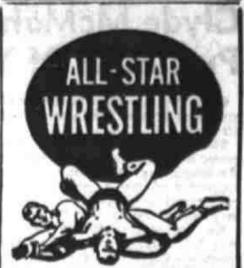

The board will meet again in two weeks and may take definite action at that time.

Brandon will not leave his present position until after school is out. At the present time, he is coaching the track team.

Eighteen Negro delegates appearing before the City Commission last evening were assured that new facilities will be added to the Colored Park in Northwest Big Spring.

Clyde McMahon Named President Of Y Board

Clyde McMahon has been elected president of the YMCA board of directors.

CLYDE MCMAHON

The sand and gravel and concrete dealer, recently elected to the board, has long been an active supporter of the Y program.

He, and other officers named, will be installed at the annual meeting March 22 when Marvin H. Nichols, president of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, will speak.

Named with McMahon at the meeting of the board Tuesday evening were Sherman Smith, a veteran worker for the Y, vice president; Mrs. K. H. McGibson, secretary; and Blonchy Crane, treasurer.

One of the first acts of McMahon was gain acceptance of Truman Jones as chairman of the key membership committee.

Mr. Lee Rogers announced plans for the annual banquet and distributed tickets.

Grover C. Good, general secretary, told the board that he had decided to continue to make his home in Big Spring when he retires as a Y secretary.

A penalty of $480 was invoked against A. P. Kasch and Sons, contractors, for late completion of the new addition to the city filtration plant.

The penalty was set last evening in a meeting of the Big Spring City Commission after Fred Kasch explained why the building was completed after the contract deadline.

Kasch said that additional time was required because of slow equipment delivery, pipe breaks, weather, carpenter strike, easement difficulties, electrical changes, repairs to the sedimentation basin, and a few other reasons.

Kasch's contract began on Sept. 18 for a 275-day period, placing the deadline on June 26. He was to be penalized $80 per day for work after the deadline and was to be rewarded $80 per day for early completion.

Commissioners extended the deadline to Aug. 25 on request of the engineering firm, Freese and Nichols, and Kasch announced he was substantially completed on Sept. 28.

If the penalty for the period between Aug. 25 and Sept. 28 was invoked, Kasch would have owed $2,780. However, commissioners invoked the penalty only for six days, a total of $480.

Kasch was allowed $140 for the installation of electrical wire not included in original contract plus $360 for repairs to the sedimentation basin after the construction had been completed.

The basin had been installed according to specifications, it was pointed out, and Kasch should not have been made to do repairs at his expense.

In addition to this Kasch was allowed 21 days extra time for easement difficulties which the city had in obtaining drainage right-of-way.

All commissioners agreed that Kasch had done a good job on the filtration plant, as did a Freese and Nichols engineer which stated, "The contractor has done a very good job and the city has a plant 'without effort.'"

Final installment of $11,837.77 (less the $480) was ordered paid to Kasch and Sons, and the city assumed control of the plant.

Count Yogi, the golf exhibitionist who appeared here last November, faces charges of theft by bail in Justice Court.

Charges, filed against Harry Frankenburg, alias Count Yogi, were preferred on complaint of Gaylon Amie, who said he was the golfer's assistant on the exhibition tour.

District Attorney Gullford Jones said Amie told of being brought here Feb. 25 by Frankenburg for hospitalization.

Two cases were filed in Justice Court, Place 1, this morning. Both of the charges were "passing a worthless check."

Complainant in both instances was Mike Moore.

An accident was investigated by police Tuesday about 2 p.m. The mishap occurred at the Lancaster-Third Street intersection.

Cars driven by Marvin L. Daugherty, 1227 W. 3rd, and Enrique Garcia, 700 NW 7th, were involved. No injuries were reported and the damage to the vehicles was minor.

Public Confidence Supports The Market, Says Top Broker

By ED CREAUGH
WASHINGTON (U.S.)—A leading Wall Street broker voiced confidence in the health of the stock market today in the wake of a three-billion-dollar tumble in stock prices.

Winthrop H. Smith, managing partner of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane, attributed the 18-month-old market boom mainly to public confidence in America's future.

He told the Senate Banking Committee, "There appears to be a greater feeling of confidence at this time than there has been for a long time."

Smith's testimony was prepared before yesterday's selling waves on the New York Stock Exchange—one of the year's worst breaks. But there was no indication after the break that Smith planned to alter his statement.

Some analysts linked the market's jitters with yesterday's testimony by Harvard economist John K. Galbraith in the committee's "friendly study" of the stock market and the stock price boom. Galbraith urged "strongest precautionary measures" to guard against the boom's getting out of hand and winding up in a collapse.

Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark) said he doubted if the market break had any connection with Galbraith's testimony or with the Banking Committee's inquiry. But he did comment that yesterday's market performance only "demonstrated the wisdom" of Galbraith's words of caution.

Smith, who heads the world's largest brokerage firm, did not list speculation among the factors to which he attributed the stock price boom that started in September 1953. He described the price rise as a natural and "not too surprising" result of a "reawakening of confidence" by investors in the future of America's economy.

"I would be surprised," he said, "if the members of this committee would not acknowledge that they feel more secure about the strength of our economy and its ability to ward off recurrent recessions than they were in the immediate post-war years."

Smith is one of 107 partners in Merrill Lynch, which operates 114 offices in this country and abroad and holds membership in 98 exchanges.

Smith said stockbrokers exert "little influence on market movements" and "brokers and underwriters have played only a minor role" in the market upswing.

Citing high corporate earnings and dividends of recent years, Smith said:

"It seems natural to us that the growth in our economy and the increased resilience and more stable nature of the economy should be reflected in common stock prices."

Smith listed other factors as contributing to the market boom—among them, benefits to stockholders in the 1954 tax revision law. And he contended—again differing with Galbraith—the capital gains tax tends to push stock prices up.

Freeman Resigns To Take School Post At Irving

John A. Freeman, in charge of guidance at the junior high school, has been named director of guidance for the Irving school system.

Informing the board of trustees Tuesday evening of the offer, he said they did not feel they could stand in the way of professional advancement. Freeman said he had made no reply to Irving school officials pending approval of his principal, Truett Johnson, and superintendent, W. C. Blankenship, and the board.

He has been in Big Spring for the past five years.

"The four years spent in the Big Spring school system have been among the happiest of my life," he said. "I could not have asked for better supervisors than Mr. Johnson and Mr. Blankenship, and I have had wonderful cooperation."

Acknowledging that the Irving school district is now in a state of unrest with the community split over dismissal of the former superintendent, Dr. John L. Beard, Freeman said he believes the post nevertheless offered real opportunities. During the years 1948-50 he was with the State Board of Control as a trouble shooter.

Freeman came to Big Spring in 1949 as psychologist for the Big Spring State Hospital. Later he became a clinical advisor to Corden Petroleum Corporation. In 1950 he was elected guidance director for the junior high school and carried on clinical work in the evenings for private industry. He has 24 years' experience in teaching and holds a Master of Arts degree. His resignation was accepted as of March 11.

Coahoma Man's Leg Fractured In Fall

Tom C. Kinder, Coahoma, fell Tuesday and fractured his leg. He was taken to Cowper Clinic and Hospital in a River ambulance about 1 p.m.

Attendants said surgery would be undertaken this morning to set the fracture. Kinder's condition was considered satisfactory this morning, but the fracture was extremely painful, attendants said.

The fracture was a result of a freak accident. Kinder was standing on level ground and as he turned around, he tripped on something and fell, fracturing the limb.

Balmy Weather Continues Over All Of Texas

By The Associated Press
Although it's winter by the calendar, Texas' weather was more like mid-spring today as temperatures soared up rapidly after sunrise.

Only Lubbock reported freezing temperatures. Lubbock's low of 32 compared with the high minimum of 64 at Corpus Christi.

Light drizzle and fog between Austin and the Gulf Coast generally lifted by mid-morning. Little more than a trace of rain was recorded in an area stretching from Beaumont to Brownsville and north to Austin and San Antonio.

It was mostly cloudy across South Texas and along the coast, and partly cloudy to clear elsewhere.

Yesterday's high was 82 at Presidio.

There was a trace of wintry weather in the Northeast and some northern border areas but it was springlike in most other parts of the country today.

Biggest climbs in temperatures were in the middle part of the country, with mild weather continuing over most areas west of the Appalachians.

Temperatures in the 40s were reported from the upper Ohio Valley westward across the Central Plains with a few 40s as far north as Montana and South Dakota.

Readings in the 50s prevailed in Texas and as far north as Missouri and along the southern border states to California. They were in the 40s northward along the Pacific Coast and in the 30s through the Rocky Mountain states.

Coldest weather was in northern Maine with readings near zero. The freezing line extended from southern New England across Pennsylvania and the central Great Lakes region to include parts of Minnesota and North Dakota.

Clear skies and light winds chilled sections of the Southeast. It was 39 at Tallahassee, Fla.

Precipitation was light in a few areas. Light snow fell over New York state and Pennsylvania.

IN RECOUNTING TESTIMONY

Matusow Defends Man He Formerly Helped Convict

EL PASO, Tex. (U.S.)—Harvey Matusow defended the man he helped convict, belittled his own role in the Communist party and told of the step that led him from his life as a false witness.

Matusow is testifying here before a grand jury in conjunction with a hearing on a motion by Clinton Jencks for a new trial. Jencks was an official of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers. He was sentenced to prison—largely because of Matusow's testimony—on charges he swore falsely in a non-Communist affidavit. He is requesting a new trial on the basis that Matusow has admitted lying in testimony against him.

On the stand yesterday, Matusow said Jencks had not actually called the Korean War "unjust and imperialistic," as Matusow had testified.

"Jencks was only mad," Matusow said, "because the New Mexico National Guard had been called up as one of the first units in the war after the losses they had suffered before."

Matusow also testified that he did not, after all, occupy a high position in the Communist party. He had said earlier, "It is a good thing my memory is bad or I might have gotten a few thousand others in trouble."

Yesterday, he said he really knew only about 200 of the 75,000 then supposed to be Communists.

Matusow said one factor which caused him to recant was the conviction of Cpl. Claude Batchelor, Kermil, Tex., who was found guilty of collaborating with the enemy while a POW in Korea.

Although he did not actively participate in the Batchelor trial, Matusow said he felt he had as-isted in the conviction of the soldier by contributing to "national hysteria" about Communists.

"I helped sentence a youth to prison whose only crime was being young," he told U.S. District Judge R.E. Thomason.

Members of the Big Spring Elks Lodge heard nominations last night and set March 22 as the date for the election of officers.

The lodge also completed plans for a fifth anniversary dance to be held on March 19, and scheduled a family night dinner for Sunday evening, March 13. The dinner will be sponsored by Does.

A stag party and dinner will be held on Monday, March 14, at 7 p.m.

It was voted to contribute $200 to the Elks National Service Commission, the funds to be used for scholarships and charities.

Bob Bright and Rube S. Martin were reinstated as members of the lodge last night. It was announced that the organization's building program has been completed.

Officer nominations included Oliver Cofer Jr., exalted ruler; C. C. Ryan Jr., leading knight; Jack Conley, loyal knight; Jack Taylor and Milton Knowles, lecturing knight; R. L. Heith, secretary; Bart Wilkinson, treasurer; R. H. Snyder, tiller; and five-year trustee and alternate representative to the grand lodge, Joe Clark.

At Hearing

Harvey Matusow, ex-Communist who swears he lied when he testified a year ago as to party activities of Clinton Jencks, convicted labor leader, enters a federal building in El Paso, Tex., to testify in the hearing for a new trial for Jencks. He repudiated all testimony linking Jencks to the party. (AP Wirephoto).

School Election Set For C-City

COLORADO CITY — The Colorado City schoolboard met Monday night and set April 2 for the election of two board members for three-year terms. The two members whose terms expire are Thurston Smith and Lon Strain, both of whom have filed for reelection.

Final date for filing for a place on the ballot was noon, March 26th.

The board also extended the contracts of school principals and vocational agriculture teacher Bob Post four one year. Principals elected for another year were: J. F. Jones, high school; C. G. Underwood, Hutchinson school; Winston Gann, junior high school; John E. Watson, elementary school and W. D. Harris, Wallace Negro School.

WITH OTHER CHANGES

Democrats Said Studying Plan For Compromise $10 Tax Cut

By JACK BELL.
WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democrats were reported tinkering today with a compromise proposal to combine a $10-a-person income tax cut with other revenue law changes. But Senate Republicans remained set against any tax reductions now.
Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, called an afternoon news conference to disclose details of a minority report by six Senate Finance Committee Democrats who supported a House-approved $20-a-person tax reduction rejected by that committee last week.
From other quarters it was learned the six—including Johnson—have been discussing a compromise proposal to lump a $10 cut with repeal of both the dividend income credit and accelerated depreciation allowance voted by Congress last year.
However, Chairman Bridges (R-NH) said a canvass by the GOP Policy Committee indicated his party's senators were "practically unanimous" against the $20 proposal or any compromise for it. So far, Sen. Langer of North Dakota has been the only Republican to come out for the Democratic plan.
Chairman Byrd (D-Va) of the Finance Committee said he is going down the line against any tax reduction. He said he foresaw no successful compromise proposal.

Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP leader, predicted the Senate will reject all compromise proposals "by a substantial vote."
Johnson said the Senate will take up the bill tomorrow under

Reduced Prices Pack Them In
SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A good promotion and low prices sure pack 'em in.
Bob Herzog, owner and manager of the Grabeteria, put a 1919 Franklin auto and a considerably older high-wheeled bicycle in front of his establishment yesterday, hung out a sign announcing prices "back to the good old days," and had his place jammed by 11:30 a.m. At 11:50—10 minutes before the noon rush—the lineup extended well into the street.
The prices included: foot-long hot dogs, 5 cents (usually 25); pie, ten cents (usually 15); ice cream, 5 cents (usually 10); Stew, 10 cents (usually 20) and meat pie, 10 cents (usually 25).

an agreement not to begin voting until Monday at the earliest.
He predicted a tax measure would be laid on President Eisenhower's desk "days" before the scheduled April 1 drop in corporation income and excise tax rates. Both House and Senate bills would postpone the drop for a year, saving about three billion dollars in revenue.
The proposed $10 cut would cost the Treasury about $1,100,000,000 annually. But by repealing a special $50 tax exemption effective on stock dividend income this year, Democratic strategists figured about 360 million dollars of this loss would be made up.
Furthermore, an estimated 364-million-dollar revenue loss is expected this year in speeded-up depreciation allowances on new plant and equipment. Tax specialists said this loss would mount much higher next year.

Report Says Margaret To Marry Townsend This Fall

By JACK SMITH
LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret intends to marry 40-year-old RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend this fall, an informant in touch with the royal family said today.
Townsend himself, a divorced man, was quoted as saying: "There can be nothing said until the time is ready or somebody else does something."
The 24-year-old princess is expected to renounce her right of succession to the throne to smooth the way for her wedding to a commoner, according to the informant, who refused to permit use of his name.

Margaret's marriage to the war hero, father of two children, would defy the Church of England's ban on the remarriage of divorced persons.
Buckingham Palace maintained its traditional silence on reports concerning the royal family's personal plans. But available information tended to corroborate the report that Margaret and Townsend are going ahead with wedding plans.
Even a princess can change her mind, however, and Townsend himself presumably could erect great obstacles to the marriage by indiscreet remarks.
There were suggestions—naturally not confirmed—that news about the royal romance is being leaked deliberately to the British press.
The aim of that apparently would be to determine how the British people react. Such publicity also would avoid the public shock which developed when Edward VIII's romance with Mrs. Wallis Simpson got in the British papers only just before his abdication to marry her.

New rumors of the Margaret-Townsend romance were splashed in two of London's biggest Sunday newspapers three days ago.
Yesterday Margaret sat beside the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, at a public luncheon given by the lord mayor of London to welcome her home from her Caribbean tour. The princess and the archbishop are old friends. Throughout the luncheon they talked together animatedly.

Margaret's sister the Queen has a high place in the church. The words "defender of the faith" form a part of her title. Presumably she could not express approval of the marriage in her role as queen of the realm. But there have been well-substantiated reports that she has given her consent in a private, personal capacity as an older sister who has heavy responsibilities in the matter.

Wanted Sailors Fresh For Parade
BOSTON (AP)—A Navy request for $150 to transport 100 seamen to march in the annual Evacuation Day-St. Patrick's Day parade March 17 in South Boston drew a broadside last night from the City Council.
"Anybody could almost hit a golf ball from the Fargo Building (naval headquarters) . . . to the starting point of the parade," said Councilman William J. Foley, a World War II Navy officer.
Parade officials said they are hopeful the Navy will withdraw its request.

AVERTS RAIL STRIKE

CIO-Pennsylvania Pact Signed, Others Sought

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The CIO Transport Workers Union today sought agreements with 22 other railroads along the lines of a settlement reached yesterday with the Pennsylvania Railroad.
The settlement averted a threatened strike of 20,000 nonoperating employees of the nation's largest railroad. It came after two days of negotiations with Federal Mediator Earl Newlin.
Andrew J. Kaelin, TWU international vice president, called the PRR settlement a "terrific agreement" and said the union would seek similar terms with the other railroads "wherever applicable."
The agreement reinstates 10 men at the railroad's Conway, Pa., shops with back pay to March 1. It also provides for rehiring 10 unspecified workers from the rolls of those furloughed at Conway. The union had complained that the 10 men had been furloughed in violation of contract agreements.
The PRR also agreed to do its own maintenance work "wherever facilities are available" rather than contracting with other firms.
Kaelin said this part of the agreement should "return a substantial number" of the union-estimated 12,000 PRR men furloughed.

The union claims representation of 20,000 workers on the other 22 railroads, mostly small carriers.
In a brief statement from J. E. McFarland, superintendent of personnel, the PRR said, "Mediation has been successfully consummated. We have reached an amicable agreement with TWU on the issues involved."

Tires Good For 100,000 Miles Now Possible

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Auto tires good for 100,000 miles are within your reach.

In fact, some drivers are getting that mileage with present tires, even without recapping. It requires good care and driving that doesn't put excessive demands upon tires. But tire makers can't promise 100,000-mile tires for everyone. A main reason, they say, is that motoring conditions keep changing, making increasing demands on tires.

An example is the growth of high speed turnpikes and throughways. On these, you can travel 60 to 70 m.p.h. and even faster for many hours.

High speed means a bigger buildup of heat within tires, and heat works to shorten the life of the rubber and fabric.

Tire pressures also influence longevity, explained Dr. H. J. Osterhof, director of research, and R. D. Evans, consulting engineer of the tire design division, the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.

Lately, pressures in airplane and truck tires have been increasing, and Evans foresees the possibility of a return to higher pressures in auto tires. It can be done without sacrificing comfort as highways become better and smoother. Tires designed specifically for higher air pressures can last longer, deliver more mileage.

But don't rush out to put more air in your present tires. Tires are carefully designed for the recommended pressures, and you'll only cause yourself grief by over-inflating. The kind of road you drive, smooth or rocky or pot-holed, obviously can make a difference in the life of your tire. So too can proper care to maintain the recommended air pressure and frequent rotation among wheels.

Cold Germ Approves Ultraviolet Light

LONDON (AP)—A team of Royal Air Force doctors reported today that the cussed little bug which causes the common cold has crossed them up on an experiment.

The doctors divided 200 volunteers into two groups. For six months 100 of them lived in barracks irradiated with ultraviolet light, which kills many germs. The other group lived in an unprotected barracks.

The results of the experiment: an average of 12 per cent of the men in the irradiated barracks caught colds each week, against only 7 per cent of the unprotected group.

INTELLIGENT, TOO

Marlon Brando 'Highly Complex'

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's hard to sum up Marlon Brando in a few words.

He is a strange and fascinating young man, and a highly complex one. He is no dope, as anyone who converses with him quickly discovers. His talk is intelligent and colorful, full of humorous asides.

Some of his best friends compare him to a child. His emotions are basic. He has wild enthusiasms, can be easily hurt, is addicted to pranks. He is honest, often to the point of bluntness. All these are childlike traits. Indeed, he likes children and can talk to them better than most adults.

But there are signs that he is maturing. He no longer attacks the "commercial" film producers; he plans to be one himself and says he understands their problems. He is more tolerant in other views and seems to have his own professional future settled. Friends say the change is due to the successful application of psychiatry. He has undergone analysis and seems to be greatly helped, as far as his adjustment to his profession is concerned.

How does Brando live? Judging from his publicity, you'd think that he wears only a torn T-shirt and jeans, drives a motorcycle wildly and lives in motels.

In reality, he has become a pretty sharp dresser. He gave up the motorcycle year ago, figuring the New York and Los Angeles traffic was too dangerous. And he lives in a comfortable, cliff-hanging house atop the Hollywood hills. The rented place is furnished in a style Brando describes as Californian circa 1927.

He lives alone, and meals are cooked by himself or his secretary Celia Meredith, who has been with the Brando family 14 years. He eats meats and lots of vegetables, especially when he is on a diet. He's on one now, trying to get slim for his role as Sky Masterson in "Guys and Dolls." His best weight is around 165, but he has been as high as 190.

He likes music, his tastes varying from modern composers like Stravinsky and Ravel to jazz. He reads a great deal, largely non-fiction, but some novelists like Faulkner and Melville. His hobbies are drawing and rhythm. He has a set of bongo drums that he likes to thump until late in the evening.

He sees few movies and hates TV. "I always feel soggy after watching it," he says. But he does watch the boxing matches and informative programs like Omnibus and Meet the Press.

He loves to travel. He likes California, because he can visit the mountains, desert and Yosemite. But he doesn't like the cities. "Guys and Dolls" is his first musical. I asked him why he was doing it.

"I thought it would be a good change of pace," he replied. "I got tired of the intense picture where I had to beat people over the head with a crocodile, screaming and yelling all the time. I got the reputation of being the serious young hermit, and I don't like it. The 'moody Marlon' routine has got to go."

As for the future, he is greatly interested in the play "Tea-House of the August Moon." He plans to act in it on the road this summer and is dickering with MGM to do it on the screen.

Sometime this summer he plans to marry Josiane Mariani, the French girl he met in New York. At least that is the present plan. It's apparent that Brando will be an international figure for a long time to come. No American actor since John Barrymore has excited so much praise and attention.

We Risk An Engineer Shortage

Currently the United States has 300,000 engineers, while the Soviet Union is believed to have about 400,000.

But at the rate we're turning out new engineers, Russia will be ahead of us in the next two or three years for this reason: We are graduating only 27,000 engineers this year, while the Soviet Union will turn out about two and a half times that number.

Is this important? Says the U.S. Office of Mobilization: "In the event of an emergency, our resources of highly trained manpower will probably be the ultimate limiting factor in our capacity for mobilization."

In other words, a shortage of engineers might well be fatal to our chance of survival.

Can't just anybody be an engineer. About 50 per cent of high school graduates who apply for entrance to engineering schools are found unable to qualify. One reason for that is the scarcity of good science teaching in high schools, and that in turn is occasioned by able teachers being attracted to the higher financial rewards of industry.

But it may be due also to the fact that just can't anybody be an engineer. It calls for a high degree of intelligence, and for a special sort of temperament that not all people possess. It calls for patience, concentration and singular devotion to the job in hand.

Of the 27,000 engineers turned out this year 24,000 will come from some 150 institutions with accredited curricula, and that brings up another limiting factor: not just any school can produce engineers. Those that can are usually crowded to the rafters, with long waiting lists.

So to step up our output of engineers—the indispensable men of this Atomic Age—we need not only better basic science courses in our high schools, but an expansion in our facilities for the production of engineering skills.

There has been a lot of talk and viewing-with-alarm with regard to our worsening situation in this field of education, but very few visible results.

How much longer can we afford to dawdle?

Tax Cut Has Political Effect

This is the week the U.S. Senate will reject, accept or amend the House-passed bill to cut $20 off everybody's income tax bill, plus an equal sum for each dependent.

The general belief is that the Senate will kill the provision, which is an integral part of the measure extending the corporation income tax levy at the present levels and the excise tax scale on certain items, which would expire April 1 unless approved before that date.

Chances are that if the Senate refuses to go along the House will acquiesce, and that will be all there is to it. Since the House Democrats proposed and passed the tax cut for political purposes—and thereby initiated the folks across the aisles when they were in power, and rejection would in no wise detract from its potency as a political talking point—a Senate defeat probably would be accepted by the House with outward clamor but inward serenity.

For the shrewd cooler-upper of this device know full well the durable political appeal of the proposal, win or lose. If rejected, they can make just as much capital out of the rejection as they could have had it been accepted. Indeed, as a political gimmick, defeat might be better than acceptance, for the Democrats can then charge the administration with hard-heartedness toward the little fellow and softness toward the rich.

This method of reducing income taxes violates one of the cardinal principles of the theory of income taxes. In theory an income tax is based on ability to pay, but the $20 cut would be straight across the board, shared in by everybody alike.

Senator Byrd (D-Va) and Senator George (D-Ga) voted with seven Republicans on the committee to knock out the provision. Byrd claimed at least 10 Democrats would support his stand on the Senate floor, but declined to name them. Monday, however, Senator Holland (D-Fla) made known he would join Byrd and George in floor opposition.

If 10 Democrats go against, that would end the matter—unless an equal number of Republicans go the other way, which isn't likely.

Stewart Alsop

Nobody Really Wants To Run

To judge from the way the Democrats are talking nowadays, they are going to have to hit somebody over the head and drag him unconscious into the Convention Hall in order to find a candidate to run against President Eisenhower in 1956.

All, or nearly all, the leading Democratic professionals believe that the President is sure to run again. All, or nearly all, believe that he is sure to win. According to reliable report, both beliefs are largely shared by Adlai Stevenson, who is accounted way out in front for the Democratic nomination.

Those who know Stevenson well believe that he really has not made up his mind whether he wants the nomination, and that, characteristically, he won't make up his mind until he has to. They also believe that, if Eisenhower still looks as strong then as he does today, Stevenson will try to avoid being nominated if he can honorably do so. There is, after all, nothing very tempting about being Eisenhower's sacrificial lamb twice hand-running.

Or Sen. Estes Kefauver might block Stevenson in another way. If Kefauver decides to make a second try for the nomination, his strategy is already clear. He will challenge Stevenson to primary contests in such states as Oregon, Nebraska, New Hampshire, and even Stevenson's native Illinois. If Stevenson ducked the challenge, this would hurt him badly. But if he were beaten by Kefauver (who has a real following in the party) the wound might well be mortal.

Yet the odds are still high on Stevenson all the same. Kefauver, who will be only fifty-seven years old in 1956, is just as doubtful as Stevenson about the wisdom of running in 1956, and for precisely the same reason. Moreover, Stevenson has the biggest name in the party, and he is far more acceptable to all sections of the party than Harriman, Kefauver, or any other presently visible candidate.

There are a minority among Stevenson's friends and advisers who seriously believe that he can beat Eisenhower in 1956. For one thing, the peace and prosperity of which the Republicans boast may not last for eighteen months. And even if there are no small wars and no bad economic troubles, there are important political differences between 1952 and 1956.

A number of states—notably the two Eastern giants, New York and Pennsylvania—which were in Republican hands in 1952 will be Democratic controlled in 1956. Moreover, even the Republicans are inclined to agree that Eisenhower is unlikely to carry the Southern states he took in 1952. And after all, the hopeful Stevenson adherents point out, a change of only one vote in twenty in the 1952 voting would pull Stevenson equal to Eisenhower.

Some Democrats think—optimistically—that President Eisenhower will not run again. Yet this whistling past the political cemetery is in sharp contrast to GOP confidence: "Of course Ike will run and will win."

Potomac Fever

WASHINGTON—London hints it wants another Eisenhower-Churchill meeting. There's no emergency. It's just that the world situation isn't getting worse as slowly as it used to.

Secretary of State Dulles returns home from Asia. The tempo of foreign crisis increases. They say that Dulles has left laundry on five continents.

Vice President Nixon returns home from a Central American good will tour. Nixon has added new scope to the vice presidency. He refuses to lay a cornerstone unless he's on an overseas expense account.

The federal payroll dropped 15,000 last month. Ike's businessmen have made government more efficient. You no longer have to consult more than one agency to get your problem postponed.

Admiral Carney urges a joint Chinese-American command on Formosa. This will give more flexibility than those joint Army-Navy commands—where staff officers have only one language to disagree in.

Ike is invited to speak at "lost colony" ceremonies in North Carolina. The lost colony is a tribe of Republican conservatives who landed in Washington on Ike's coat-tails—and immediately went underground.

The Eisenhower administration decides to go easier on its loyalty program. Some of these loyalty cases take so much time, it's cheaper to keep the employe—and abolish the agency.

Administration May Be Guessing, Too

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration is keeping everybody guessing—not just the Red Chinese—on what it will do if the Communists attack the Quemoy and Matsu Islands now held by Chiang Kai-shek.

The administration itself may be guessing right now. Secretary of State Dulles' nationwide talk last night can be interpreted as saying President Eisenhower still hasn't made up his mind.

Dulles, when he spoke of the President's decision on defending the islands, put it in the future tense. Eisenhower and Dulles have persistently avoided flat statements about the islands.

They are close to the Red China coast. Chiang's main forces are on Formosa and the Pescadore Islands, more than 100 miles offshore.

The United States—by a treaty with Chiang and by a special resolution passed by Congress—is pledged to defend Formosa and the Pescadores from Red Chinese attack.

But this country is not pledged to defend any other Chiang-held islands. The President can suit himself about them, depending on whether he thinks they are necessary to the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores.

Dulles said the "President will decide, in the light of his judgment as to the over-all value of certain coastal positions to the defense of Formosa, and the cost of holding those positions."

In a policy speech Feb. 17, Dulles didn't say yes or no about the offshore islands. And yesterday when the Senate Foreign Relations Committee tried to pin him down, it was reported, he referred back to the February speech.

Secretary of Defense Wilson, at a news conference yesterday, said Eisenhower is the only one who can "clarify our intentions or plans."

But Dulles appears concerned that the people of Asia may submit to the Red Chinese if they feel the United States is talking big and doesn't back it up.

"On Feb. 17 he said a great 'danger in Asia is the fear of the many non-Communist peoples that the United States has no real intention of standing firmly behind them.'"

Last night, two days after returning from Asia, he said the people of the western Pacific and Southeast Asia will "quickly lose their freedom if they think that our love of peace means peace at any price."

Why then, if the administration has decided to defend Chiang's offshore islands from Red attack, doesn't it say so? This is an empty question since no one can be sure any decision at all has been made. If the Reds are kept guessing, they may not attack. As long as this country doesn't say it will defend the islands, it could trade them to the Reds—Chiang could hardly veto that since he depends on the United States—if the Communists would agree to a cease-fire. Maybe that's the answer.

Singing Star Is 'Discovered'

NEW YORK (AP)—There are no people like show people.

But they are generally easier to love at a distance than they are to like after you get to know them. Seen up close, it is often hard to glimpse the human being beneath the shining ego.

An exception is Gisele MacKenzie, the sprightly young singing star of "The Hit Parade." She's a natural. Right now I'm desparately in love with her. So are at least a dozen guys I meet every day, from executives to countermen in drug stores.

The funny thing about us Gisele-lovers is that each of us thinks he "discovered" her all by himself. But we are united in a firm belief that a Hollywood or Broadway producer is a fellow who would starve to death in a gold mine, otherwise why hasn't some producer taken the scales off his eyes and starred our girl in a big film or musical show?

My wife has taken my autumnal adulation for Miss MacKenzie in great stride. She has been through this kind of thing before.

"Any day now I expect you to tumble for Lassie," Frances said philosophically. "After all you've been moon-eyed over Helen Hayes and Martha Scott for years. Does this mean you're throwing them over? What has Gisele got that's so different?"

"About everything," I replied. "She can sing and dance and play the piano and the violin. All kinds of talent. She's wonderful at light comedy, and—"

"But what kind of girl is she? Why don't you take her to lunch?"

So I did. We met at the new celebrity filling station run by P. J. Moriarty, who is known on

Sixth Avenue as "the taxpayer's Toots Shop."

Gisele showed up in a fur coat. For some reason I showed up like a schoolboy with an apple in my hand, which Miss MacKenzie accepted very graciously. She is just over 5 feet 6 inches, weighs 120 pounds, and has snapping dark brown eyes that are fun to let your mind wander in. Over a plate of corned beef hash topped with one of the most romantic looking eggs I've seen in years, I asked Gisele to tell me about herself.

"I'm from Canada, and my father is a doctor. I studied to be a concert violinist, and became a singer by accident. Never did take a lesson."

"But I'd rather cook than do anything. I name my recipes after the friends who gave them to me—such as chicken Morgan, pork chops Paul, Casserole Aunt Esther, meat loaf Diane."

"I've made about 38 records—my latest is an album of French nursery songs I learned as a child—but I've never had a really big hit. Sure I'd love to be in a Broadway show, but only a rich man's daughter can wait around for the right part."

"But I'm happy with what I'm doing now. I love living, and I believe in happiness. But doesn't happiness consist in liking what you get as much as getting what you like?"

"I keep about 14 kinds of perfume, and douse myself with it before I fall asleep. When I get tired of several kinds of scents, I mix them all up and make a new one. My favorite right now is one called Vent Vert, or 'Green Wind.' It makes me feel like a Christmas tree."

She smelled like one, too, a nice clean spruce odor. And that's what Gisele has herself—a fresh forest zest. When I came home my wife took one look at me and said: "I see you're really gone this time. What about poor little Helen Hayes?"

"I'm afraid," I replied caddishly. "Helen will have to struggle the rest of the way on her own."

There really hasn't been a case of theatrical puppy love like this in the family since grandpa wrote anonymous mash notes to Lillian Russell.

Michigan Sheriff Gives Self Ticket
CHEBOYGAN, Mich. (AP)—Cheboygan County Sheriff Harold Werner is a tough customer when it comes to handling lawbreakers, even when the culprit happens to be Sheriff Harold Werner.

William Roberts, a store owner, noticed yesterday that a trailer hitched to the sheriff's car lacked a 1955 license tag. He commented: "I guess sheriffs don't have to have new license plates like everyone else."

"You're wrong," said Werner, who promptly wrote himself a ticket.

The sheriff attributed the violation to "forgetfulness."

Around The Rim

The Shorter Usually The Better

This column may be even more uninteresting than most, but perhaps it will illustrate a point.

Last week a resolution was adopted by representatives from several counties asking extra cotton allotment to give producers a chance to recoup from the effects of a disastrous drought. In our business we write perhaps too simply, but we contend there is no use writing if you can't be understood. What would your reaction be if you received this resolution?

"For the 1955 crop year and subsequent crop years, any county wherein three (3) consecutive crop years within the four crop year period immediately preceding the current crop year have been adversely affected by drought or other uncontrollable natural causes wherein conditions have been such that the official three (3) year average lint yield per acre is less than the official average national lint yield per acre for the base years used to determine current cotton acreage allotments, and is fifty (50) per cent or less than the official average three year lint yield per acre for the highest consecutive three (3) year period within the ten (10) year period immediately preceding the current crop year that such county shall be considered by the Secretary (Secretary of Agriculture) for designation as a Disaster County and that all counties wherein the official lint yield per acre is thirty-five (35) per cent or less than the average lint yield per acre for any consecutive 3 year period within the 10 year period immediately preceding current crop year that such counties shall be declared Disaster Counties; that each cotton farm within such Disaster County or county determined to be a Disaster County which has a cotton acreage allotment smaller than the greater of one hundred fifty (150) per cent of the three year average immediately preceding the current crop year or one hundred fifty (150) per cent of the official cotton history acreage determined for the crop year immediately preceding the current crop year, that such cotton acreage allotment shall be increased to the greater of such acreage not to exceed seventy five (75) per cent of the current cropland acreage for the farm; that the acreage required to increase such cotton acreage allotments in the designated Disaster Cotton Counties shall not be taken from the reserves of either National, State, County or otherwise; that such acreage, when planted, shall be considered official cotton history for farm, county, state and national in subsequent years and that such acreage shall be subject to release and re-appportionment as well as other provisions of current or subsequent legislation relative to Upland cotton."

We are not at all sure what this means. After kicking it around, some of us think it means to say that a county may be considered for disaster allotments when:

"The average annual yield during the drought years (which are any three consecutive years of the last four years) is less than the national average for the three years used to determine allotments. It is provided also that the average yield of the drought years must be 50 per cent less than the average of the three best consecutive years within the past decade.

"Disaster allotments would be mandatory when the official lint yield per acre for the drought period is 35 per cent or less than the best three-year period during the past decade.

"To figure individual disaster acreage, take 150 per cent of the average cotton acreage for the past three years, or take 150 per cent of the cotton history acreage of the last crop year, whichever is greater. The greater figure, however, may not give a cotton allotment exceeding 75 per cent of the farm's cultivated acreage. Disaster acreage will not be charged to county, state or national totals."

We may not have succeeded, but usually the better way to say a thing is the shorter way.

Can We Cover More, Protect Less?

WASHINGTON—Over an ever-wider area in every part of the world the umbrella of American protection is being extended. But at the same time the umbrella itself—America's military and economic strength that can be brought to bear to sustain American foreign policy—is being reduced in size.

This reverse ratio of power to responsibility was pointed up by the recent tour of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in Southeast Asia. In the weak and unstable states of Laos, Cambodia and South Viet Nam Dulles pledged American help if Communist aggression occurs. This same umbrella covers Thailand, the Philippines, Formosa and the Formosan Strait up to and including the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu, South Korea, Japan, and Pakistan.

In Western Europe, where the United States is a partner in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the pledge extends to Turkey and Greece with Iran and Iraq covered by mutual defense pacts. In this hemisphere the defense of Latin America is pledged under the Rio pact and Canada, Iceland and Greenland are under the defense umbrella. This broad sweep of the world's geography has been staked out to contain the spread of communism and the effort has, in general, had the backing of most Americans.

But whether this far-ranging task can be carried out with a continuing reduction both of the military establishment and the economic propaganda weapons for fighting communism is becoming an evermore serious question.

As military strength has been scaled back, so likewise has the program of economic aid. A greatly increased economic program for Asia was projected but it was quickly repudiated and there has been no formulation of any program as yet.

Traditionally between wars the United States has relaxed into a comfortable self-complacency. That is certainly what communism would like to have us do again. The question that has plagued this uneasy decade of not peace, not war is still to be answered.

The Army is in process of being cut back to a strength of 1,000,000. This compares with 1,600,000 at the peak of the fighting in Korea and 1,320,000 today. The Marine Corps, which is the most ready and diversified mobile force, is being scaled back from 215,000 to 193,000. Proportionately smaller cuts in the Navy and the Air Force will reduce the total military manpower to 2,850,000.

This is at a moment when intelligence estimates put the number of Communist ground troops in North Korea at one million. Many new air strips have been built and Russian MIGs are based on these strips. There have been reports, considered reliable, of a build-up of Communist forces in North Viet Nam.

The urgent problem is to keep able brains in key positions. But more often than not that means that American representatives at international conferences have no bold imaginative plans to put forward. Their chief function seems to be to say no.

Speeches and statements by American officials tend to have an increasingly belligerent sound. Thus on his recent trip through Southeast Asia Dulles in each country he visited seemed to be offering weapons and nothing else.

Too often the basic objective of American policy, which is peace, prosperity and freedom for all peoples, is simply not put over. Nibbling economies have reduced both the scope and the effectiveness of the information program. The Communists seem at times to have succeeded in capturing the peace theme as a disguise for their huge military establishment.

Perhaps for so long as America's atomic-hydrogen superiority prevails—whether it is three or four years, as Winston Churchill has said, or less—the United States can extend its commitments around the globe and at the same time deter aggression with the threat of instant retaliation. But that time will run out and then the need for balanced strength to supplement the thermonuclear threat will be greater than ever.

Propaganda Creates A Dead End

Winston Churchill is in an extremely difficult position. Since 1946, every propagandistic weapon has been used by the British government to condemn Chiang Kai-shek and to ruin his reputation in the eyes of the British people. This propaganda has spread over the continent of Europe and has manifested itself in such a country as India. The political reason for this activity was to prevent Asiatic diversions from lessening the interest of the United States in the affairs of Europe. Even before 1946, General MacArthur suffered from Washington's concentration on European affairs. Frazier Hunt, in his book, "The Untold Story of Douglas MacArthur," details MacArthur's difficulties arising from lack of material while he was actually fighting the Asiatic war.

Now Churchill is faced by a prepared public opinion in his own country which is embarrassing because it cannot be turned. Great Britain is definitely anti-Chiang Kai-shek, whose side has never been properly presented to the British people. The situation is now such that it is developing into a widening breach between Great Britain and the United States at a time when such a breach can be damaging to both countries and to the unity of the West. On this subject, Churchill has served a warning to his own countrymen:

"The decision on whether or when these particular islands should be evacuated is not one the burden of which falls upon Her Majesty's government, as we must recognize the natural preoccupations of other governments who are immediately affected by the threatened attack from Communist China.

"This is especially true at a time when the Chinese Communists keep stridently asserting that the islands are to be regarded as a stepping stone to the seizure of Formosa itself, with all that that must mean for the Chinese Nationalists under Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, who have been given shelter and protection there by the United States, and to whom the United States are bound by over 14 years comradeship in war, both against the Chinese Communists and the Japanese invaders of China."

Churchill's use of language is never casual. He is speaking not of Formosa, but of what he calls "The Coastal Islands" which today amount to Matsu and Quemoy. If, by any means, these two areas fall into the hands of the Chinese Communists, it is doubtful whether Formosa is defensible. But Formosa is only a phase of a broader situation which involves South Korea, Vietnam and Thailand. Regarding Vietnam and Thailand, there can be no doubt as to the British interest. But for Formosa, the British government cannot now get popular support to go along wholeheartedly with the American program which must include defense of Matsu and Quemoy or mean nothing.

Unfortunately, it is not to Chou En-lai's interest to negotiate for a cease-fire or a peace; it is to the advantage of the Chinese Communists to capture Formosa and to establish beyond doubt their hegemony over the states of Southeast Asia to the borders of India. Chou En-lai cannot accept "The Two Chinas" formula and survive.

As Eden says, it is a delicate and difficult problem and, for the moment, there seems to be no hope for a solution. Maybe, it would be wise to leave it that way.

Comedian Sid Caesar Also Capable Business Executive

By WAYNE OLIVER
NEW YORK (AP) — Sid Caesar is a business executive as well as a television comedian.

Presiding from behind a massive desk in a tastefully decorated private office, Caesar directs his own production company, which occupies two floors of the Milgrim Building on 57th Street.

Here you find a poised, confident, efficient Caesar who bears little resemblance to the comic satirist who cavorts before TV cameras in the Century Theater three Mondays out of four. Here he's the boss of an operation that runs to $3 million dollars or more a year.

Some who have known him a long time find it hard to believe this Caesar is the same apprehensive youngster who showed so much promise in his TV debut on Broadway Revue.

And it's an even longer way from the days when Sid, now 32, used to help out in his father's luncheon in suburban Yonkers, or the high school days when he played saxophone in a swing band for spending money.

Soon after he joined the Coast Guard in 1942 at 19, he was picked by Max Liebman for the successful Coast Guard musical revue "Stars and Spars." He subsequently went to Hollywood for a feature role in the movie version of the revue.

He wasn't immediately snapped up by motion pictures. He returned to New York and Liebman assigned him to a featured part in the Broadway musical "Make Mine Manhattan." A year later Liebman tapped him for the TV show Broadway Revue and teamed

FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

Businessman, Customer Both Affected By Credit Policies

Editor's Note — This is the first of two stories showing how the federal reserve system, by controlling money and credit, affects the daily lives of the nation's citizens.

By FRANK O'BRIEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The other day, John Smith, proprietor of a thriving little hardware store in Centerville, U.S.A., went to see his banker, as he does each year about this time.

Smith wanted to arrange his annual $20,000 inventory loan. Like most businessmen, he borrows to stock up his shelves and repays the loan out of his sales.

Smith got his loan this year, but there was a surprise. He had to pay a quarter of a per cent higher interest than last year.

"You know, John, the reserve board has been tightening things up," his banker told him. "Money's scarcer than it was."

Smith wanted the loan for six months, so the added interest cost him $25. Smith has trimmed most of his prices this year, but that added $25 cost of doing business kept the price of many things in his shop a penny or so higher than might have been.

Whether you borrow money or merely buy from a merchant who does, you are affected by the policies of the Federal Reserve System.

As the nation's central bank, it can control the amount of money and credit, can make it harder or easier for you to buy things, and how far your pay check will stretch.

Take another example: Joe Jones went to see his broker. Jones had his eye on a certain blue-ribbon industrial stock. He had so much faith in this stock that he wanted to buy as much of it as he possibly could.

If he paid cash for it, he would only be able to buy three shares. But by buying on margin (like making a down payment on a refrigerator, the rest to be paid later) he could get title to five shares.

"A month ago, before 'the Fed' raised the margin requirement from 50 to 60 per cent, you could have bought six shares on margin for the same money," Jones' broker told him.

Or maybe you are a housewife like Mrs. James Johnson, who had wanted a new living room suite for several years. Mrs. Johnson favored saving up the money, so they could pay cash and save interest and handling charges. Mr. Johnson wanted to buy the furniture when they had about half the cost saved up, over a year ago. "The way prices keep going up, we can buy now, pay the charge account costs, and come out ahead," he argued at the time. But there is too much credit, and that as a result prices are rising too fast. It can change the ratio to 25 per cent—meaning the banks may lend only four times the amount of reserves. The bank then must put up more reserve or lend less money, which would make it harder for you to get a loan.

In the same way, the board can make more credit available by cutting the required reserve.

This could mean that you might get a loan your bank had hesitated to give you a week earlier, before the reserve board eased the situation. And, lendable money having suddenly become more plentiful, you might get the loan at a lower rate of interest than you would have paid a week earlier.

This is the first of three main ways in which the reserve system can change the economic climate.

When your bank gives you a loan, it does so by increasing your checking account by the amount of the loan (unless you demand actual cash). You can write checks against this new credit, using the credit just like money.

The bank actually lends more money than it has, but how much more is determined by the reserve board. The board does this by determining the ratio between deposits and reserves.

If the board fixes the reserve ratio at 20 per cent, the bank may lend five times as much as the reserve it deposits with a federal reserve bank.

But the board may find that

IPSWICH, Mass. (AP)—The annual town meeting approved an $800,000 budget Monday—but only after some 100 town meeting members were summoned from their television sets to vote.

Only 335 of the necessary 425 members were on hand at the 7:30 p.m. starting time to vote on the budget which Town Counsel William F. Hayes said may mean a $4 to $5 boost in the tax rate.

Narrow Escape

Looking north over the village of Kapoho on the eastern tip of the island of Hawaii this low-level aerial photo shows how narrowly the village escaped the lava flow. Smoke in center comes from burning timber and sulphur fumes from the molten lava flow. The lava is moving from left to right, in a general easterly direction (dark area extending across picture at center). Kapoho is on the eastern end of a rift line—old craters and cinder cones from previous eruptions—which runs westerly through to town of Pahoa to Kilauea crater. (AP Wirephoto).

Farmers In Other Lands Worry About American Crop Surpluses

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, March 5 (U.P.)—American farmers, farm officials and taxpayers have company overseas in worrying about Uncle Sam's seven-billion-dollar stockpile of agricultural surpluses.

Farmers in other parts of the world and their governments are keeping a wary eye on those surpluses and actions taken by this country to dispose of them. The big surpluses throw a shadow over foreign markets as well as those in this country.

American producers are unhappy over the surpluses because they tend to hold down agricultural prices and force them to restrict production. Farm officials suffer headaches trying to figure out how to get rid of them, and taxpayers are wondering just how much it is going to cost them.

Overseas, commercial producers are worried about U.S. efforts to move some of the surpluses into export markets because any action along this line affects prices in world markets. Often foreign governments feel impelled to take offsetting measures to protect their own producers.

Whenever this country starts moving some extra supplies into the export market, it takes outlets that had been filled previously by other countries.

Such U.S. offers also often force competitive slashes in prices that are reflected in lower incomes for farmers in other countries.

The U.S. surplus problem is a particularly ticklish subject in international relations at this time. That's because some congressmen are demanding that the Agriculture Department take more aggressive measures to sell surpluses abroad.

The State Department has thrown up a "go slow" sign lest such measures damage U.S. relations abroad.

This and other countries two years ago foresaw the possibility of farm surpluses rising in major exporting countries during the post-war period. The suggestion was made that affected countries should collaborate in handling such surpluses.

Accordingly, the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, of which this country is a member, set up a consultative subcommittee to study the "potential dangers" from radioactivity.

It said it is aware of the obstacles to thoroughgoing world control of atomic weapons, but cannot believe "that mankind cannot achieve limited cooperation in the face of a common danger."

Accordingly, it said that "with some sense of desperation" it had made its proposal to the State Department and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief American delegate to the U.N.

The federation's three-point proposal—signed by its chairman, Dr. M. Stanley Livingston of Massachusetts Institute of Technology—recommended that the U.N. commission:

1. Study the problem of radioactive contamination resulting from bomb tests and obtain scientific data and expert opinion on the magnitude of the radiation intensities produced.

2. Obtain and evaluate scientific opinion on the biological and hereditary effects of radiation on human beings, and to establish an "agreed danger threshold."

3. Report the results of such studies to the General Assembly of the United Nations "with recommendations as to procedures required to avoid exceeding the danger threshold."

to provide an international forum for discussion of surplus problems. The subcommittee meets regularly in Washington.

A storm developed recently when the United States offered surplus butter for sale abroad at cut-rate prices. New Zealand, a major butter exporter, called the offer "unadulterated dumping."

Sharp criticism was voiced abroad because this country acted without consulting the FAO subcommittee. Charges were made that the United States was interested in collaboration only when it was in its interest.

The foreign viewpoint was set forth in a statement by the International Federation of Agricultural Producers, an association of non-governmental farm organizations in 28 countries, including the United States.

"American stocks are enormous," the federation said. "Their possible liquidation or even simply their reduction weighs heavily on the future of world markets and particularly on the specialized exporting countries."

"Because decisions taken in this field affect them so seriously and so directly, farmers in all countries—who have so often been exhorted to consider the interests of international solidarity and to make sacrifices for the common good of the free world—consider, rightly or wrongly, that they should have a say in and perhaps give an opinion on such decisions."

On this point, a large part of the Congress, some officials in the administration, and public opinion in this country hold a different view. They look with disfavor, and sometimes with suspicion, on any foreign "meddling" in U.S. national policy decisions.

Those who want to push more U.S. surpluses abroad justify their position on the ground that this country is entitled to what they call "our fair share" of the world market. But the question of determining such a share is difficult indeed. Is it a share equivalent to this country's prewar exports? Or is it a share based upon the abnormally high exports of the war period?

Naturally, other exporting nations do not want to concede this country export markets equivalent to or near those of the war period. To do so would be to force some other countries out of the market.

Foreign countries are not very sympathetic toward the United States with regard to its farm surplus problem. They take the view that the surpluses are of our own making and that the farmers of the rest of the world should not be made to suffer for them.

There might be less criticism of U.S. export efforts if the government did not play such a prominent role in such sales. During the past four fiscal years, roughly every $4 out of every $10 worth of farm products moved abroad have done so only because of help from the government.

FROM BOMB TESTS

Scientists Propose Study To Determine Radiation Dangers

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The Federation of American Scientists pleaded "with some desperation" today for a United Nations study to find out how many hydrogen and atomic bomb tests the human race can stand without grave danger.

It suggested that, if the study warranted, the U.N. might clamp a limit on the number of nuclear tests blasts that could be set off in any one year throughout the world.

The aim of this curb would be to limit the amount of radiation resulting from atomic experiments to safeguard present and future generations. Some scientists have warned that this radiation, by changing the genes determining human heredity, could wreak grave damage on generations yet unborn.

The Atomic Energy Commission, however, has expressed the view that the amount of radioactivity so far released has posed no significant threat.

But the scientists' federation said: "It should be clear that future accelerated H-bomb test programs, by several atomic powers, will ultimately reach a level which can be shown to be a serious threat to the genetic safety of all the people of the world."

The federation is a national organization of some 2,000 scientists and engineers interested in "the interactions of science and public affairs."

It urged the United States to take the initiative in proposing that the U.N. set up a commission to study the "potential dangers" from radioactivity.

It said it is aware of the obstacles to thoroughgoing world control of atomic weapons, but cannot believe "that mankind cannot achieve limited cooperation in the face of a common danger."

Accordingly, it said that "with some sense of desperation" it had made its proposal to the State Department and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief American delegate to the U.N.

The federation's three-point proposal—signed by its chairman, Dr. M. Stanley Livingston of Massachusetts Institute of Technology—recommended that the U.N. commission:

1. Study the problem of radioactive contamination resulting from bomb tests and obtain scientific data and expert opinion on the magnitude of the radiation intensities produced.

2. Obtain and evaluate scientific opinion on the biological and hereditary effects of radiation on human beings, and to establish an "agreed danger threshold."

3. Report the results of such studies to the General Assembly of the United Nations "with recommendations as to procedures required to avoid exceeding the danger threshold."

Remodeling Work On City's Park Is Nearing Completion

Remodeling work on the Big Spring city park is nearly complete.

The roof should be placed on a pavilion located near the north fringe of the park this week, and retopping of the west tennis court should follow in short order.

During the past month or so a number of small barbecue pits have been added to the north fringe area along with quite a few tables.

The area around the baseball field has been developed, with new tables and barbecue pits strung along the draw. In addition to the new pavilion now being constructed one other new one has been completed—near the west tennis courts.

The Old Settlers' pavilion, which was located near the central park triangle, has been floored with concrete taken from walks around the courthouse square. The huge barbecue pit and tables by the pavilion have been remodeled.

Dirt has been built up around all existing facilities, and the ball diamond has been filled in. Most metal items on the park grounds have been painted.

New fences have also been installed around the development in the north end of the park to prevent vehicles from being driven onto picnic grounds.

A special tennis court canteen base is being installed, and City Manager H. W. Whitney said that the fence around the west court will be painted.

The GOOD THINGS Of Life —On Credit

Have you ever wondered why a friend or neighbor . . . who makes no more money than you do . . . is able to buy a lot of nice things you apparently cannot afford?

Sometimes, perhaps, you enviously guess that he's living beyond his means . . . mortgaging his future . . . keeping one jump ahead of the sheriff.

This would, of course, be a wrong guess in the case of millions of families who live better than their neighbors on no greater income—simply because they make better use of their income and their credit privileges.

You, too, could enjoy more of the good things of life without waiting months or years to accumulate the cash to pay for them. There is the modern system of credit that enables responsible people to buy almost anything they want, anywhere, any time.

This credit works, when both parties work at it honestly. The better you keep your credit, the more you can use it. There is a way to have the good things of life, on credit.

St. Lawrence Seaway To Force Removal Of 6,000 Canadians

By JOHN LEBLANC
Canadian Press Writer
MORRISBURG, Ont. (AP)—Construction of the St. Lawrence seaway means the displacing of about 6,000 Canadians whose lives and livelihoods are tied to eight communities fronting the international section of the river.

Most of the villagers have generations-old roots in these communities. The problem is to get them—and their homes where possible—shifted with the least jolt to human values. It's the biggest job of its kind ever undertaken in Canada.

Damming of the river to create a hydroelectric pool will produce a 40-mile lake between Ontario and New York state. The waters will drown out seven Canadian communities. Another, Morrisburg, will lose about a third of its land area, and 1,200 of its 1,886 population must move.

Dispute Over Property May Cost Guatemala Millions

By CARLOS R. ESCUDERO
GUATEMALA (AP)—Lichtenstein covers much less ground than many a Guatemalan coffee plantation, but the little European principality has a claim pending with the International Court of Justice that may cost Guatemala many a plantation and millions of dollars.

Now Lichtenstein claims that Nottebohm's treatment as a German was illegal. It demands compensation for the original value of his confiscated property and payment of what the properties have earned in the interim.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Babylonia, 12 minas of silver were needed to equal one mina of gold. Both gold and silver were employed in making ancient coins. King Croesus minted coins with the heads of a lion and a bull on one side. The animals were shown facing each other, as though making ready for a fight. On the other side are the words  $\alpha\upsilon\tau\alpha\rho\alpha\sigma\ \sigma\upsilon\upsilon\sigma\alpha\ \alpha\upsilon\tau\alpha\ \rho\alpha\upsilon\tau\alpha$  marks left when the coins were stamped.

In Greece and Rome silver coins were used to a larger extent than gold. Some Roman emperors, however, minted a large number of gold coins. The less valuable coins of those days were copper or bronze; we may compare those cheap coins to modern pennies, but they were, in general, the size of quarters or half dollars.

After the fall of the Roman Empire, silver kept a high place in Europe. It was used in the coinage of most countries and, as the centuries went by, found a growing importance in making cups and other utensils. Silversmiths, as well as goldsmiths, were important persons 500 years ago.

At the present time silver mines exist in the New World, as well as in Europe, Asia and elsewhere. North America, in fact, produces more silver than any other continent.

Dear Miss Brandow:
Please do a column to the boys and urge them to dress better. My boy friend can afford nice things, but he says clothes are a waste of money because "you just outgrow them." He has only a few changes which he wears until they are filthy.
He is a wonderful boy and so cute. How can I make him dress better?
Sharon
Attention boys! Rule one Clothes make the man. A neat, suave dresser makes a big impression on girls and makes you infinitely more attractive to them.
Attention girls! Never try to attract a boy just so you can reform him. It's a waste of time. Instead choose someone you can be proud of in the first place.
Care of one's personal appearance is an important part of character. There are many kinds of people, but no matter how I reason, I cannot think of a sloppy, dirty person as reliable, industrious, or possessing any of the noble qualities that make a V. I. P. To be a big wheel, you must first look like a big wheel.
You say he is "wonderful and cute." Maybe you can see through the mess to the man. Perhaps it is wrong to judge the book by its cover, but my experience has been that the outside gives a good indication of the inside.
The world is full of boys. If I were you I'd concentrate on attracting another.
(Know how to be attractive to others? Send a 3 cent stamp to Beverly Brandow in care of The Herald and she'll send you her free booklet, "Prescription for Popularity.")
