"Live At Home"

In Texas Mrs. Phebe K. Warner, Founder Of State's First County Federation, Started The Slogan That It Today's Answer To The Depression

By O.R.P.

Whether circumstances make men or men make circumstances is still an unanswerable question; but there arises, ever so often, a person whose life has plainly made circumstances, whose personality has stamped itself on the age so that the consequence of his—or her—deeds will go marching down the years even when the personality has ceased to exist.

Such a person is Phebe K. Warner, prominent rural worker, and candidate for congress-at-large, who was the chief drawing card at the political banquet staged by the Methodist missionary societies Friday night.

Any woman in Texas could have done the marvelous thing that Mrs. Warner did. It was so simple that probably a hundred women wondered afterward why they hadn't thought of it. It was so far-reaching that the nation has adopted it.

This very simple thing was the creation of the first county federation in Texas and the first active county federation in the United States. This deed, more important than many people realize, has not given Mrs. Warner any feeling of self-importance, even though it led her later to meet the men at A & M College and just that farmers' women receive aid through the Smith-Lever bill. It brought about her appointment as state chairman of Rural Life for the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. It finally resulted in her appointment as national chairman of a new committee, called Rural Cooperation.

A Little Town Woman
This was a lot of honor for a woman living in a town no bigger than Claude, Texas, has several national club chairmen but most of them live in the cities. It took sheer merit for such a woman-like little creature, with no airs, no flair for clothes, no distinction of any sort except a wide-awake mind and an intense interest in rural women, to attract attention of national leaders. If she is elected to congress it will be a triumph for unselfish sincerity and genuine interest in the welfare of others.

The Armstrong County Federation came about, said Mrs. Warner, because she was lonesome. A study club had been organized in Claude but its six members had moved or did and only she was left. There were eight communities in the county roundabout and some of them had their little clubs. She talked over with them the idea of organizing a county organization. She had heard of a City Federation but she didn't know what one was. All she knew was the heart-hunger of the lonely women in that pioneer country. Her husband was a country doctor but the biggest crop was babies and the most serious of all illnesses was home-sickness. She had suffered from the afflictions and she knew how women missed the sociable contacts of their back-sit homes. Their clubs were an effort to offset this but they were not enough. The federation gave them a common bond of interest.

Begin With School Yard
Each community there, as here, was built around the school house. And what school yards those were. Only one of them had a tree growing in it. The bare country which had only intensified the longing for home, was the first obstacle the women set out to overcome. So they planted trees in the school yards.

From trees in the school yards they gradually progressed in their ideals until the began to put into effect the slogan that is now beginning to sweep the nation, "Live At Home."

In the meantime county federations were becoming a popular thing. They offered more than sociability, which the county women needed; they were self-service clubs. They developed more home industries, put cash into the pockets of farm women who spent with the local merchants, increased the variety and quality of home grown products, led to a direct route from producer to consumer and taught the value of marketing small quantities cooperatively.

Behind this movement was the brain and interest of this little town woman, Mrs. Warner, whose husband owned and ran a farm with her help.

She used her pen to help spread the popularity of the movement. For eight years she was a regular contributor to the Star-Telegram and has written for a chain of small papers for the last few years.

A Message For Women
Club women have recognized Mrs. Warner's unique message because it is primarily a message to aspiring women. They appreciated her background and training and the fact that she, a college and sorority woman, was willing to use her training to benefit her lesser privileged neighbors. Rural cooperation has been a growing factor in club work. Clubs have advanced the low women and now they are advancing the rural women.

The reason Mrs. Warner is running for congress-at-large is to carry on this program. She has the behind her and now it is necessary to interest the men and the government. The value of her simple idea of cooperation and its economic advantages in marketing one's products and achieving a financial independence has been demonstrated simply wherever a home demonstration worker has gone.

Philosophers, politicians and economists today are saying what Mrs. Warner said yesterday, that the state and its own sections must develop its own resources for its own best interests; and that it can be done only through cooperation.

Prof. John Hutto To Speak Before Museum Conclave

John R. Hutto, principal of the Mexican Ward School, will deliver before the West Texas Memorial Museum Association meeting Monday evening, the address he made before the West Texas Historical Society, when it met in Sweetwater recently. The address deals with history of the Big Spring country and in it Mr. Hutto tells many interesting things not generally known about this section. There will be a business meeting at which the officers for next year will be elected, and a report of the accession committee. The meeting will be on the mezzanine floor of the Settles Hotel at 7:30.

Out-Of-State Bidders Excluded By Highway Commission In Order

AUSTIN — The Texas highway commission recently made public an order adopted a week earlier limiting contracts on state-aid highway projects to corporations or individuals which were engaged on highway work in Texas six months or more in the past. Several out-of-state companies are now engaged on contracts, and numbers of contracts over six months ago went to out-of-state firms. The order was restricted not to apply to federal aid highway projects.

The order defined "Texas contractors" as those which have been engaged in road contracting and which have done road work more than six months prior to adoption of the order. Minute, adopted April 12, limiting state-fund work to Texas contractors was issued without comment by the highway department. Woodcock are fairly plentiful in certain districts in the Canadian-Maritime Provinces.

Big Spring, Texas

1st Methodist Political Banquet A Great Success

300 Persons Hear Leading Candidates Of District Express Views And Exhibit Themselves; Miss Hatch Master Of Ceremonies

The Fisher-Mayer building was crowded Friday night with Big Spring people and candidates for nomination in the democratic primaries when the members of the two First Methodist Missionary Societies put on the first political banquet of its kind ever held in the city.

Mmes. H. G. Keaton, C. T. Watson, C. E. Thomas and W. D. McDonald met the guests at the door and introduced them to the candidates. The Winslow Orchestra furnished enjoyable music from 7:30 to 8 while the crowd was gathering.

A delicious three course meal was served to almost 300 persons. Miss Nell Hatch acted as toastmaster during the evening with a great deal of poise, and with a witty and original remark for each speaker which aided greatly to the success of the occasion.

Mrs. Phebe K. Warner, of Claude, candidate for Congress-at-large, was introduced by Miss Hatch as the first speaker on the program and was given ten minutes.

Mrs. Warner presented her three-plank platform, consisting of selling all Texas to all Texas, cultivating more state-wide interest and enthusiasm in Texas for Texas and practicing closer co-operation between all inter-related state industries. She declared that she wanted to see more farm cure and less farm relief.

She was followed by her opponent, Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock, who spoke on the present injustice of money division and declared that he was for reduction of the cost of government and equalization of its costs and of the tariff.

Penrose Metcalfe, of San Angelo state representative, who has no opponent, endorsed both speeches which had preceded him.

He was followed by the men who are running for the state senate, Clyde E. Thomas, of this city, Jesse C. Levens, of Lubbock, A. P. Dugan, of Littlefield and G. E. Lockhart, of Lubbock, each of whom made a short talk.

It was a very polite meeting. There was none of the old-time mud-slinging a good deal of frankness, no small amount of humor, and even a few bouquets passed around.

The three candidates for district judge, Judges C. F. Rogers, A. S. Massey and J. T. Brooks, made short talks, introducing themselves to the crowd.

Judge H. R. Debenport addressed the people; so did James Little and the two candidates for sheriff, Jess Slaughter and W. M. Nichols.

G. G. Fowler, Chas. H. Nelson and C. W. Robinson, candidates for county treasurer made short talks, as did Loy Acuff up for re-election as tax collector; and Jim Black for election as tax assessor.

The following county commissioners were introduced: L. H. Thomas and Frank Hodnett of Precinct No. 1; Pete Johnson and W. A. Prescott of No. 2; George White and Chas. Anderson of No. 3; W. B. Sneed, J. A. Bishop, S. L. Lockhart and Louie Fletcher of No. 4.

The remaining candidates presented from Precinct No. 1 were J. F. Ory, Alva Porch, and R. B. Davidson for public weigher; Cecil Col-ins for Justices of the Peace; and the following for constable, Will Caynar, H. F. Wood and S. M. McKimmon.

Mrs. J. B. Hodges was general chairman and was assisted by all the members of both societies and those named above in charge of publicity, tickets and the program.

All the women who helped with the banquet extended thanks to the following: Albert M. Fisher for donating the use of the building; J. S. Winslow and his orchestra for the music; Mrs. Woods for the delicious Winslow Supreme Coffee which she made and served; and the public for attending so generously.

Elbow Home D. Club Holds Club Session
The Elbow Home Demonstration Club held its meeting in its club rooms Thursday afternoon with Mrs. J. P. Caudle and Miss Gladys Caudle as hostesses.

The following program was rendered: Roll call, my favorite recipe for eggs, "Building Character in Children; Give Youngsters Responsibility to Aid Growth" by Mrs. Dave Leatherwood; "Bald Hints To Be Remembered" by Mrs. I. S. Dolen.

Delicious refreshments were served to the following: Mmes. I. S. Dolen, Dave Leatherwood, W. R. Cotter, Jack McKinnon, Rose Hull, J. W. Gregory, James Caudle, Bob Asbury, Chas. Anderson and Miss Rene Cotter.

GIRL SCOUTS TRIP
The members of the Girl Scouts, Troop No. 2 went to the City Park for a sunrise breakfast accompanied by Miss Lillian Shick, their leader and Mrs. Na Shick. They reported a delicious breakfast and a good hike.

Eddie Cantor At R & R Ritz Theatre Today

New Kind Of Song & Dance Play Offered

'Hooper-In-Love-With-A-Song-And-Dance-Girl' Is 'Out'

Eddie Cantor in "Palmy Days" which Samuel Goldwyn is presenting at the Ritz Theater today and Monday heralds the advent of a new kind of song and dance picture. His "Whoopee" last year was acknowledged the last and greatest of the first great flood of that kind of screen entertainment.

In form, last year's musical pictures imitated the commonly accepted conventions of the legitimate stage with orchestra hidden in trees tops, with principals breaking out in song with little or no provocation and similar artificialities. Either that or they followed the love-life-of-a-hooper-and-the-song-and-dance-girl with a couple of production numbers thrown in on the side. Quantity production of these formula stories soured the public. People refused to go to musical pictures—even if they were good they said.

Then followed a six months period of silence, certainly silence from any song. Companies with pictures in work eliminated the songs. Now new musical pictures were attempted.

Goldwyn Pioneer. The pioneering Samuel Goldwyn

is taking the first step in bringing about a new order. "Palmy Days," like its predecessors, has elaborate and intricate dance routines staged by the same master that presided over "Whoopee" Busby Berkeley. But they are different kinds of numbers.

Chorus girls, for instance, don't exist in "Palmy Days." But at the same time, there are dozens and dozens of Hollywood's most decorative femininity, so decorative, in fact that Goldwyn insists that they outdo "Whoopee." They are waitresses in the super-bake-shop over which Eddie Cantor presides as efficiency expert. Or they are customers in the imposing lunch room as Eddie leads them in the intricate art of dunking to song and dance.

Another of the "production numbers," calling for precision dances and movements is the gymnasium of the plant. Which, by any system of calculation, seems an appropriate place for such going on. Charlotte Greenwood, whose role is that of athletic director, leads a hundred glorified ladies in various stages of dress and undress through routines and dances that make the old Broadway musical show steps seem incredibly old.

'Sky Bride' Is Ritz Feature For Matinee

Arlen, Oakie, Virginia Bruce, Robert Coogan In Cast

When Richard Arlen takes to the air in "Sky Bride" his newest picture for Paramount, it will be his first appearance in an aviation film since "Wings" the production that started him on the road to screen fame.

It was "Wings" that installed three players in the fore ranks of film popularity. Like Arlen, Gary Cooper and Charles "Buddy" Rogers greatly increased their following through their performances in the picture. Twice since "Wings" Gary has appeared in air pictures. In "The Legion of the Condemned" and with Colleen Moore in "Lilac Time," Buddy played the chief role in "Young Eagles" following his debut in "Wings."

Arlen is thoroughly at home in the air. He was a combat pilot with the Royal Flying Corps during the World War. "Sky Bride" unites once more Arlen, Jack Oakie, and Charles Starrett, who featured in "Touchdown," Virginia Bruce has the feminine lead and Robert Coogan, child prodigy of "Sooky" has an important part.

"Sky Bride" is the Ritz theater feature for Saturday evening at 11:30 p. m. April 30.

NEW YORK (UP)—Cities Service Company reported net income for March at $2,223,881, compared with $2,199,998 in March 1931.

WANT-AD bargain days are here.

Of the fifteen most important players in "Careless Lady" coming to the Queen theater Wednesday and Thursday, all but three have been either starred or featured in successes of the stage.

Joan Bennett, in the feminine lead, had only one stage role before she went into pictures, but she subsequently reached film fame in "BullDOG Drummond," "Three Live Ghosts," "Disraeli," "Scotland Yard," "Doctors' Wives" and "She Wanted A Millionaire."

John Boles was a musical comedy favorite on Broadway in "Little Jesse James," "Mercury Mary," "Romany Love" and "An Other Hits" before he joined the screen colony to score new triumphs in "The Desert Song," "Rio Rita," "King of Jazz," "Seed," "Good Sport" and other successes.

Minna Gombell starred in "Nancy's Private Affairs," "The Great Powers" and "Jimmie's Women" during her theatrical career. Weldon Heyburn played opposite Jeanne Eagles, Lenore Ulric and other celebrities before entering films. Raul Roulien starred throughout Central and South America in musical comedy before he came to Hollywood. J. M. Kerrigan was featured in many stage hits, including "Outward Bound," "White Wings," "John Ferguson" and "The Road to Rome."

Buck Jones And Mona Maris Here Friday At Queen

"South of the Rio Grande" the Columbia western that opens Friday at the Queen theater, presents Buck Jones in his most daring and thrilling mood. He goes through his role with reckless abandon, performing whirlwind adventures with an ease of which only he is capable. And when it comes to riding, he takes your breath away with his daredevilry and his utter disregard for danger.

The story, unfolded in old Mexico, is as exciting as well as colorful. When Buck, as Carlos, a member of the Mexican, learns that his friend, Ramon Ruiz, is in love with the same girl that was responsible for the death of his younger brother, he is determined to frustrate any further mischief on her part. He also discovers that she is working for a gang of crooks who are seeking to gain control of the Ruiz property and develop it for oil. How he foils these plans proves intensely exciting drama.

Mona Maris gives an interesting portrayal as the colorful and spirited dancing girl, George Lewis, who was the likable hero of the Collegian series, gives an ingratiating performance as Ramon Ruiz, and Doris Hill plays Buck's romantic interest. Lambert Hillinger has given the picture even, intelligent direction.

This Factor Makes Them Interesting, Declares Popular Star

Transition in character is the only requisite which Miriam Hopkins places upon a part which she plays.

"The character she portrays does something interesting instead of just being present at events, she is satisfied no matter how small it is. In her latest picture, "Dancers in the Dark," which is the Ritz theater's feature for two days beginning Thursday of next week, Miss Hopkins progresses from a sophisticated, wise-cracking, loose-minded dance hall hostess, to a conventional, determined, self-respecting woman, hopeful of meriting the affection of the man she loves.

"Any character which shows a definite change is interesting," Miriam explains. To date, all of Miss Hopkins' parts have met this requirement. Her role in "Fast and Loose" came nearest to being a straight part. In "The Smiling Lieutenant," "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" she really has been a stellar character actress.

However, she points out to explain her point that in "Fast and Loose" she was a wild, selfish, spoiled girl who later was paraded into seeing the errors of her ways. In "The Smiling Lieutenant" she turned from a shy, unattractive princess into a lively, desirable one. In "24 Hours," her transition was from the gay song bird of a night club into a troubled, frightened girl of drama. The same, in part, holds true of her part as Ivy in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" where she is an alluring girl who nearly causes Jekyll to lose his head, and later finds herself bedraggled, fearful and tragic as the victim of Hyde's cruelty.

Jolson's Partner In 'The Singing Fool' In Star Role

Returning to the screen after a year's absence due to illness, Josephine Dunn has an important part in the quick-action dramatic romance, "Two Kinds of Women" which comes to the Ritz Theater on Tuesday next for 2 days.

The blonde-haired Miss Dunn, who played opposite Al Jolson in "The Singing Fool," and later appeared in pictures such as "Excuse My Baggage," and "Our Modern Maidens," supports Miriam Hopkins, Phillips Holmes, Wynne Hopkins, Stuart Erwin and Irving Pichel in this exciting play of metropolitan life, directed by William C. de Mille.

Miss Dunn plays the part of Clarissa Smith, the apple-brained girl friend of Stanley Fields, night club muscle man. It is a comedy part, and Miss Dunn carries it through with a true sense of comedy value.

Included in the cast with these favorites are Vivienne Osborne, James Crane and Robert Emmett O'Connor.

Mayor J. B. Pickle Friday issued the following proclamation designating next week—April 25 to 30 inclusive—as Cleanup Week during which it is hoped to improve the city's appearance and sanitation and at the same time provide employment for some unemployed men:

WHEREAS, it is deemed of vital importance that our City be kept in a clean and sanitary condition;
 AND, WHEREAS, it is an established custom for the Mayor of the City to designate a "Cleanup Week";
 NOW, THEREFORE, I, J. B. Pickle, Mayor of the City of Big Spring, do hereby designate April 25th to April 30th, inclusive, as "Cleanup Week." be 43 people in the university administration taking a 20 per cent cut, amounting to a reduction of $50,500 a year and 216 persons taking a 10 per cent cut, for a reduction of $64,721. This would mean reductions in 259 people's salaries of $115,221 a year, or an average of $414 apiece.

Pres. H. Y. Benedict receives a salary of $10,000 a year, the average for such public officials as the employed city managers in smaller size cities.

For convenience a table has been prepared showing how many university officials and faculty members there are in each salary bracket above $1800 a year. Summer school, short-term, salaries are not distinguished, since virtually all the higher-salaried university people are on duty the entire year; and as for others, while the rate might be higher, the total would not reach the reduction base.

Number receiving specified salaries in 20 per cent bracket:

Number	Salary
1	$10,000
1	7,000
1	6,500
3	6,000
7	5,500
15	5,000
43	Total

In 10 per cent bracket:

Number	Salary
21	$4,500
6	4,250
10	4,000
10	3,750
12	3,500
3	3,400
2	3,300
14	3,200
19	3,000
18	2,800
16	2,600
22	2,500
22	2,400
1	2,250
34	2,200
1	2,160
3	2,100
26	2,000
3	1,900
216	Total

Out of these salaries, one in the 20 per cent bracket and 18 in the 10 per cent division are in the extramural activities subdivision of the university.

Following are the positions in which $5000 or more is paid. President, $10,000; comptroller, $7000; dean of graduate school, who is professor of chemistry; a professor of classical languages, professor of English, professor of history, two professors of pure mathematics, professor zoology, professor of business administration, professor of education, dean of engineering, professor of business administration, law dean, professor of law and dean of extension, get the top faculty pay of $8500.

The director of the bureau of industrial chemistry, director of the bureau of economic geology, a professor of education, receive $6000. A professor of economics, a professor English, two professors of history, a professor of romance languages, a professor of zoology, receive $5500.

Among those getting $5000 are: Three professors of English, dean of the college of arts and sciences, two professors of history, director of the bureau of business research, professor of secondary education, professor of architecture, professor of business administration, four professors of law.

Much Work Expected To Be Done Here During Cleanup Week Opening On Monday

Clean-Up Week opens Monday! Throughout the nation cities are going to begin a special annual effort to rake away and dispose of the refuse, the debris, the weeds and tin cans and things that just will clutter up the community back-yard, and sometimes the community front-yard.

This year everywhere it is being pointed out that every hour of work provided for the purpose of cleaning cities will help to some extent to alleviate any unemployment situation that may exist.

Merchants of the city will be found with all the tools, the paints, the lumber and varnishes and other things that are needed to put everything in shape and spruce up during Cleanup Week.

Value of the things that are done during Cleanup Week, when all these things are done, not only eliminates unsightly things, but improves sanitation, rids the city of fire hazards, improves value of dwellings, and premises.

Ed Wynne Open Radio Series Tuesday Night For Texas Company

Ed Wynne, the laugh parader, zany, clown and utter loon—and however redundant the adjectives, they seem to fit an elastically grotesque star of comedy—has now become a fire chief and as such will make his radio debut.

The times: Tuesday, April 26th, 7:30 to 8 p. m. (C.S.T.)

The Place: Over sixty stations through NBC-WEAF network.

The Program: To be announced.

For the once, however, suffice it to say that the famous Wynne flap and giggle will cue a thirty minute program, each gag or musical note or "straight" line of which will come from performers as equally distinguished in the departments of music and ceremony mastery as Wynne is in the field of comedy. The broadcast will be presented weekly by the retail dealers of the Texas Company on whose behalf announcement of Wynne's radio debut was made here by T. W. Ashley local representative.

EL PASO — President F. O. Mackey, of the Broadway of America Highway Association, left here by motor, accompanied by several other officials of the Broadway, bound for New York City. There he will head the motorcade from Broadway, New York, to Broadway, San Diego. The annual convention of the Broadway Association will be held in San Diego May 13 and 14.

Mr. Mackey will visit every town and city on the Broadway between El Paso and New York and will make arrangements for the return trip of the motorcade. State highway police will meet the motorcade at each state line and will escort it through the various cities and towns. A carefully prepared itinerary has been worked out so that the motorcade will be more in the nature of a good will trip than a speed race.

Accompanying the motorcade on the return trip will be the Broadway of America male quartet, from McMinnville, Tenn., and the official Gold Medal Boy's Band of 30 pieces from Colorado, Texas. The band will give concerts at all stops where possible and the quartet and band will give concerts over the radio at night stops.

Several hundred cars filled with good road boosters are expected to be in line when the motorcade reaches San Diego. A wonderful program of entertainment has been provided by San Diego, including a banquet and dance in the El Cortez hotel, a visit to the naval vessels, a boat ride around the Bay and an organ recital in Balboa Park.

Many important highway matters are scheduled to be acted upon at the convention. All convention sessions will be held in the auditorium of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce.

University Will Eventually Cost Taxpayers Nothing

By RAYMOND BROOKS

The University of Texas has legislative appropriations from the general revenue of $1,541,425 for the 1932-33 year, the amount unchanged from that of 1931-32, for its activities at Austin.

Though this is now part of the money raised by taxation, the University of Texas is not a permanent charge upon the general fund; and when its present $4,000,000 building program has caught its plant up with its requirements, and the bonds for the purposes have been retired, the university will be in position partly to—and ultimately to entirely—operate within its income from its permanent fund, royalties, rentals and fees.

Its financing now is from these sources:

1. Income from a permanent fund into which have gone $17,000,000 of royalties.
2. Legislative appropriations, which can not be used for buildings.
3. Athletic department revenues, some of which are used for buildings and land acquisition.
4. Student fees, held so low by law that they are unimportant in operating costs of the university.

Proposals have been made by the Travis county taxpayers leagues, a retrenchment bloc in the legislature, and by other tax-cutting groups, for a 10 per cent reduction in all public salaries of $1801-$4999 inclusive and a 20 per cent cut in all salaries of $5000 and over.

What It Would Mean

Analysis of the university appropriations bill shows that if such reductions were made, there would

"In all my years of mechanical experience," said Mr. Harrell, "I have never seen such remarkable simplicity of design and construction as is embodied in the new Ford V-8 engine."

"It has less wearing parts than a good many six-cylinder automobiles, and in this respect compares very favorably even with previous type four-cylinder engines."

"There are new and ingenious engineering features incorporated in this new V-8 Ford motor by the dozens," Mr. Harrell stated, "and both its performance on the road and economy of operation are amazing in comparison with all previous standards."

"Mr. Ford's genius for simplified engine design has made this new V-8 engine unusually easy to service, which means low repair costs and then only after long service, and the Wolcott Motor Co. has provided every piece of precision and speed equipment needed to insure the finest kind of quick one-stop service for Big Spring owners of V-8 Ford automobiles."

Subsidized Science

Newton, Galileo, Faraday, Lister, Pasteur and other giants of the scientific world had possessed the key to the United States treasury, as so many modern investigators do, the civilization of the world might have been forwarded several score years.

In a copyrighted article in the Houston Post, William P. Helm, a Washington writer, points out that there are nearly 300 bureaus, boards, commissions and departments of the government located in the capital city. After telling of the automobiles with chauffeurs and other appurtenances attached employed by various department heads and employees, Mr. Helm says that the Bureau of Standard, one of the immortal 300, asks funds to carry on a long list of investigations. These investigations and experiments cover almost every conceivable subject, from fire-extinguishing properties to radio-active substances and X-rays.

Most of these investigations, to be sure, have some value to industry and commerce, if not to individual taxpayers; but they help explain the "mysteries" of what becomes of the taxpayers' dollars after they reach Washington.

So far these subsidized government bureaus, commissions, laboratories and whatnots have failed to develop any Newtons or Edisons, which may prove something or other. For instance, that the possession of inexhaustible funds isn't a sine qua non of scientific research.

Now is the time to try Herald Want-Ads.

but there are still some roses and of course the zinnias....

Susan murmured faintly that she thought she would catch the 11:10 train. Simon had said something about bringing the car around for her then. The familiar mark slipped down once more over Ernest Heath's face.

Of course, he thought, this girl was not interested in garden. Neither was Ruth. She hated talk of delphinium and cosmos and tulips. Ruth thought it was stuffy living there. She would have preferred a villa in the south of France. He rose.

"I'm sorry you haven't time to see it," he said formally. "Some other day, perhaps." He was amazed at the light that glowed in the girl's lambent eyes.

"Oh, I should love it," she said eagerly. "I've always loved flowers so much but we have such a tiny back yard and it's too shady for anything to grow except a few wildflowers. Nothing," she finished softly, "could be more wonderful than to have a home like this and to be able to stay in it."

He stared at her. "You really feel that?" he said incredulously. Susan nodded.

"It's a simplicity which had the ring of truth."

Simon came to the door of the library and announced the car was ready to take Miss Carey to the station. The sick man was suddenly galvanized to life.

"Tell Hannah to come downstairs for Miss Carey directly," he ordered. "A heap of roses and some of the tall cosmos. Hurry!"

"Shan't I miss my train?" Susan inquired, delighted yet fearful.

"Not a bit of it," Heath was his old, crisp, direct self. "Simon can cut corners with the best of them. Can't you my lad? Hop out there and have the engine running so no time will be lost."

There was a great scurry for a few minutes. The maid came in favor-colored tweed.

"Good morning."

The briar, superior voice went on. "Mr. Heath will be down directly. I'm very much annoyed at his working at all and the doctor forbade it. But he insists. He has a very bad throat." She gave the impression that the entire affair was Susan's fault.

"I'm sorry," there seemed to be nothing else for Susan to say. Mrs. Heath's nod disposed of the girl once and for all. Her large, disarming smile flickered a moment as if in faint amusement. Then she was gone. Susan knew exactly where a microbe must feel when observed through a microscope. Mrs. Heath's glance so readily made her aware of the darn in her stocking and the fact that her blouse was faded.

"Women like that," thought Susan, both and resentfully. "What good are they? What do they do in return for all the luxuries that surround them?"

She had to abandon this line of thought with alacrity when her employer entered the room. He looked ill. Susan felt a twinge of sympathy. They sat down at a business-like greeting, Susan at the oak table and the man in the big chair. She had taken off her hat and the jacket of her serge suit. She forgot herself and her surroundings as she worked. The man coughed once or twice, harshly and deeply, and she looked up.

"Aren't you tired? Perhaps we ought to stop now."

Heath frowned. "I want to get this off my mind."

When at last they had finished the girl slipped her book and papers back into the dispatch case and said shyly, "It's so beautiful here I wonder you ever leave."

Heath's eyes lighted. "You like it?" She had touched on his one hobby. "I wonder if you have time to see the garden?" he said eagerly. Of course it's not at its best now

Geraldine Woods Gives Attractive Birthday Party

Geraldine Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Woods, celebrated her 11th birthday with a charming party Friday afternoon.

A lovely birthday cake was served and cut after the games and contests. The contest winners were Ralph Young, Elmer Cotter and Sue Alice Cole.

Miss Eva Todd, Mrs. Woods' sister, helped with the party.

The guests were: Marylyn Sue Davis, Joe Louis Queen, Jack Adcock, June King, Bobby Jean Ryals, Doris Queen, Harold Plum, Louise Whitaker, Elmer Cotter, Sue Alice Cole, Ralph Young, Pearl Francis, Wendell Wood, Marcelle Martin, Katherine Barrett, Anna Sue Foster, Virginia Queen.

McKay was curious to see this whole cheese, so he allowed himself to be introduced.

He could tell by his expression that he had never seen him before, but when the introducer asked the saloon man if he recognized him, the saloon man hedged for time.

"Who's his name?" he asked.

"McKay."

"Hell, yes, I knew him on the buffalo range."

McKay only grinned. (He had never been on the buffalo range).

Then Shanssey asked him if he had voted.

McKay told him he wasn't sure that he could. He did not mention that he had already gone to the trouble of filling out a ballot and had it in his vest pocket.

Shanssey pulled out a ballot. He gave it to McKay.

"It's already filled out. All you need to do is drop it in."

When McKay got out of seeing distance, he compared the two ballots and decided to keep Shanssey's and vote for his own element.

The picture of an election in the late 70's shows the time and types with which Wyatt Earp was to deal. He was the only peace officer of Dodge City of whom the Texas cowpunchers and the gunmen were afraid. When he was on the job there was no riding down the main street, shooting out the lights and hurrahing the place generally.

Many were the famed gunmen who announced that they were going to kill Earp and many were the men who tried it. He had a good deal of luck in escaping traps before most of them. He was outlived by most of the men who had sworn to get him because he was willing to meet them face to face and let the survivor be the one who could draw more quickly and shoot first.

He had the reputation of shooting before most men could get their guns out of their holsters, so that few took the chance when he came face to face with them.

It is a fascinating book and a picture of the early frontier life that will grow more valuable as it recedes farther down into the past.

Win This Prize

And Earn A Cash Commission Too.

THIS IS HOW YOU CAN DO IT
GET SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR THE DAILY HERALD

Every Boy and Every Girl

has parents, relatives, friends. You have them. Wouldn't each one of these people like to see you win a prize and also earn some extra money. Of course they would. You want to win and can win if you will work at this in the right way. Do your soliciting in a systematic way.

FIRST—

Make a list of everyone you think there is any possible chance that you may get as a subscriber. First, are your parents taking The Daily Herald in the home? If they are not they are the first to sell a subscription to. Then your nearest neighbors and then those farther away. Think of them. Write their names down and keep the list to work on. As you get them to subscribe mark the names off. But don't rest until you have made sure there is no chance to get their subscription. If you call on them once and they can not subscribe then ask them to tell you exactly what date you may return for their subscription. Write the date beside their name on the list. Then on that date be sure to call on them and get the subscription. Work all of your community that way.

SECOND—

There are relatives and friends of each of you who live in other towns or cities away from here. They are good friends to you and would like to see you win. They would like to know about all this part of West Texas, too. So they are all good prospects for you. The thing for you to do is to write them a letter telling them about the contest and that you want to win and would like to have their subscription. If you do not get the subscription as a result of your first letter write them again. Be determined to win and you can. Make sure that you overlook no one when you make out your list and when you call on them. Make sure you get the subscription before you let them alone. It is easy to do if you are determined to do it.

If you will do your soliciting as outlined above you will be sure to get all the subscriptions it is possible for you to get.

Every Subscriber Will Get

Lions Renew Charter For Scout Troop

Scoutmaster And Area Executive Heard Here Friday

The renewed charter for Troop No. 7, the troop of Mexican boy scouts sponsored by the Lions Club, was presented Friday to Scoutmaster John R. Hutto and Assistant Scoutmaster Juan Garcia, who were present and heard by Scout Executive A. C. Williamson, who swiftly reviewed the progress of the troop during the past year and extended to the Lions the thanks of the Boy Scouts of America for their interest.

Scoutmaster John R. Hutto and Assistant Scoutmaster Juan Garcia, were present and were called upon for short addresses. President Henry Hutto pointed out that the latest statistics for this district revealed the fact that Troop 7 ranked 100%, and were ahead of any other local Scout organization.

Other visitors were C. T. Watson and Curtis Bishop.

Williamson also described the Boy Scout jamboree, which began at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, and invited all members of the Lions Club to inspect the camp.

Williamson presented the members of the Lions Club Scout committee with their identification cards. Those receiving awards were C. C. Carter, Tracy Smith, and Dr. Wofford B. Hardy. Certificates of registration were given to Scoutmasters Hutto and Garcia.

"A year ago," Williamson said, "the Lions undertook to sponsor a troop of Mexican Boy Scouts. Under the excellent leadership of Mr. Hutto and Mr. Garcia they have made astonishing progress. They were the first troop in Big Spring to be 100% equipped with uniforms. They attended the Scout summer camp almost intact.

A fine feeling existed between the Mexican Scouts and those of our own nationality. They were popular with other scouts in camp. They advanced rapidly in acquiring scout training despite their handicap of language and custom. Other troops could make their own way, but it would have been impossible for Troop No. 7 to have been organized and to have been so successful without having some sort of organization to sponsor them."

Dr. C. K. Bivings requested Mr. Williamson to caution his scouts not to molest the fish in the recently erected fish pond in the city park. "We only have around eighty and there are not enough to go around, but by next year we try to have a gold fish for each Boy Scout."

"Keys" were presented to Lions Henry and Dr. Bivings by Secretary Clyde Wait for securing two new members for the club.

It was voted to have a barbecue at the city park at 6:30 Friday afternoon, April 27 when the fish pond will be dedicated. The dedication ceremony will be held at 8 o'clock.

Cecil Collings was in charge of the day's program.

Moody Believes State Should Take Over Remaining Payments On Road Bonds Issued By Texas Counties

By RAYMOND DUBOIS
AUSTIN — Former Gov. Dan Moody believes the people of Texas would approve a "highway-building holiday" to permit the state to assume from here on out the payment for the roads they already have built, through assuming the sinking fund and interest payments, he said in commenting on issues of the political campaign.

His discussion was informal, and not as a campaign utterance.

He believes the state ought to assume the $7,000,000 annual interest and maturities on bonds voted for the state highway system, and do it in time that the counties can cut down their tax rates for 1933 to save raising this levy from the farms and homes, he said.

Former Governor Moody expressed the belief that governmental economy will be the big subject of the Sterling-Ferguson campaign fight this year.

Mr. Moody already has said that he will do everything he can, even to taking the attempt, to prevent the renomination of the Ferguson for the office for which he defeated Mrs. Ferguson four years ago.

With all the changing they could do in state tax levies, he pointed out, the legislature could not charge the state rate, by economics in salary cuts or consolidation of departments, more than perhaps seven or ten percent of one cent, or less than a total of one cent on the rate.

But by relieving the counties of the levies for road bonds, it can immediately give them savings ranging from 5 cents to 40 cents on the county rate, he said.

Such assumption, he said, will still leave the state considerable sums of money for highway maintenance and construction, and will continue the highway revenues, if the money is taken from the gasoline tax, intact for highway purposes.

If one cent of the gasoline tax is applied to that purpose, it will leave two-thirds the present revenues to the highway department's current operations and the meeting of federal aid, and the one cent to schools will remain unchanged, he pointed out.

"The highway commission has built a mighty lot of miles of good roads in Texas," he declared. "But that has been possible only because many counties have stocked themselves up with road bond issues that are not yet paid for. . . Some issues bear very high interest. The state ought to pay them off as fast as possible, and save interest."

Governors Of Two States Sighted Here On Air Trip East

Gov. James Rolph Jr., of California, and Gov. Fred B. Balzar of Nevada, traveling in the former's private plane, flew over Big Spring at 9:45 a. m. Saturday, enroute from Los Angeles to Richmond, Va., where they will attend a convention of governors. They were piloted by Col. Roscoe Turner, a noted flier. Gov. Rolph left the morning after he issued a decision refusing a pardon to Tom Mooney, convicted in connection with the Preparedness Day bombing in San Francisco in 1918.

In El Paso Friday evening Rolph said that unless news matters were uncovered the Mooney case was closed. He expressed surprise when told that state rangers were guarding his plane at the El Paso airport where the party stopped saying that he had received no threat nor been the object of any intimidation in connection with his decision in the Mooney case.

THIRD ROUND OF THE BIG FIGHT COMING UP

THE past two years has witnessed an economic battle royal in Big Spring territory, the apparent object in view being break your competitor, and the principle weapon used being "can" employees and cut wages—sell cheaper. Its been a good fight, but darn poor business.

THE Third Round is coming up. Now if we want another year of just what we have had the last two, let's get together, build a fence around these digns' and charge admission to the greatest comedy of all time.

COSDEN LIQUID GAS stands for employment of many men at fair wages. We believe it takes profits to employ people and that people must be profitably employed before we will have prosperity.

Keep Your Money At Home

Invest It Wisely, And Make Possible Paying Of Our Teachers!

The $25,000 Big Spring school district warrants issue is designed to:

1. Make possible paying teachers' salaries for March, April and May IN CASH.
2. Prevent necessity of issuing script, with attendant discount losses to teachers and others.
3. "Level out" the school district's indebtedness over three years rather than have it hang over the schools as a lump sum past due.

Proceeds from sales of warrants will be used for PAYING TEACHERS ONLY!

The warrants are in $100 denomination, bear 8 per cent interest per annum, mature in three years from April 1, 1932. They are secured by three-fourths of the $55,000 taxes payable to the school district on rolls from 1925 through 1931. Receipts from payment of these taxes will be set aside in a special fund for payment of interest and principal on these warrants. The warrants are further secured by the unqualified pledge of the school board that they will be paid on or before the date of maturity.

Scholastic enrollment of the Big Spring Independent School District is as great today as it was last year, or any year, the 1932 scholastic population reports show. However, the payment of taxes for this past year has been far below preceding years.

DIG UP THAT $100 OR $1,000 YOU'VE BEEN STORING AWAY THROUGH FEAR OF THE TIMES AND MAKE IT SERVE A TRIPLE PURPOSE:

- IT WILL BRING YOU 8 PER CENT INTEREST.
- IT WILL PAY THE TEACHERS OF OUR CHILDREN.
- IT WILL VERY GREATLY BENEFIT THE FINANCIAL CONDITION OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT.

SELLING "QUALITY" SHORT

Selling Quality Short

is already beginning to be understood by the consumer. He has begun to realize that one cannot buy a gold dollar for fifty cents. You just cannot buy the same quality for one dollar that formerly you paid two for. There never was a time when the merchant should strive harder to protect his own reputation as a dispenser of honest merchandise at a REASONABLE profit—or when the buying public should consider not ONLY the price which he is paying for goods but also just what amount of QUALITY he is receiving for his investment.

QUALITY Comes

first in this store and price is placed accordingly upon the articles offered for sale. REASONABLY low prices prevail throughout every department, in order that we may continue to give you the very best values obtainable commensurate with the excellent quality of our goods.

PRICE Stands Out

today in that the public is looking and buying the values that to them appear to be the best obtainable. Do not be fooled by "price-cutting events" where price alone is stressed as a reason for buying. Consider first what quality is contained in "these big values" offered you.

Mrs. Billy Gill Frost, in charge of the program, hopes for more courageous hearts next Saturday and announces that it will be again offered in connection with Boys' Week which will be the motif of next Saturday morning's program.

She also announces that a rhythm band will be organized at the meeting next week.

VERY often a woman fails to discover that her face powder is inadequate until long after her friends have reached that conclusion.

This accounts for the wide popularity of Dorothy Gray Day Powder. It is individualized. It offers for each specific type of complexion, one of many lovely and varied shades. These range from the palest flesh for the thin-skinned blonde to dusky, coppery tones for the sun-tanned. Each blends perfectly with the natural skin tones, glorifying the complexion instead of simply covering it up.

Mrs. C. E. Thomas took Mrs. Phebe K. Warner and her daughter, Miss Kerriek Warner, who is her mother's campaign manager, chauffeur and literature distributor, for a drive around Scenic Drive before Mrs. Warner left for Claude Saturday morning.

Mrs. Warner was with Pat Neff when the park committee paid a visit to Big Spring several years ago to look over the gift of the top of Scenic Mountain to the state as a state park. She recalled the crowds like they used to and most of the companies have done away with it. She said it was a good thing that she had seen it before the park was established. She expressed her appreciation of the work of local citizens in building the good road and was genuinely delighted with the view and the value of the site as a state park.

UNFORTUNATELY

In spite of the fact that all advice that the retail merchant has received from those whom he purchases his merchandise and from all banks and finance corporations. There is still a tendency among certain classes of retail merchants to see who can not only destroy themselves, but destroy the whole industry by a disastrous system of PRICE CUTTING that will eventually bankrupt all business unless it is stopped and it behooves all of us who expect to have our signs up this time next year to STOP and think...

WILL ROGERS:

He Attends A Movie 'Opening' And Finds They're All About Alike

By WILL ROGERS

Well all I know is just what I read in the papers, and what I hear as I listen in on a radio that the kids put in my room here. I never was much of a radio hound. I get my Amos and Andy and then wash the other programs up, but as this one is right here I got it going. Hollywood is having one of its "Openings," that's one of those things where there is a new movie opening at some theatre.

Well for sameness I don't suppose two airdate pups are any more alike than all "Openings." They have a microphone out in the lobby of the theatre and an announcer and he tells you who is coming in. He says "Here comes Mr. Who's or Mr. Jaobo, we will have em step over to the microphone and say a few words to you over the microphone. And that's the last you ever hear of it, they never come over and say anything, and the ones that do get to come over and say, "Hello everybody, wish you were here," but its the studio bossblack, or some one that worked for the company that is putting on the picture. Its got so that every studio almost snatches its own people to make em go and make up the crowd. If its a Warner Picture everyone there is working for Warner. If its Fox's its a typical Fox audience. Most of em have seen it at the studio, or the studio preview, but they dont attract the crowds like they used to. And most of the companies have done away with em. It cost a lot of dough to put one on, and after all a picture does nowadays just what it deserves.

You can open one down a dark alley and not let anyone know it and if its any good in a few days you cant get near the thing. Its like a good restaurant, you cant hide it. This old boy announcing tonight is having trouble getting anyone to announce that anyone ever heard of. He is laying it onto the traffic. He says traffic is holding all the big ones back. He is tireless though. He keeps making you think someone is coming pretty soon. He says he has to hurry that they have to go back to the studio and put on a programme for the Chevrolet, they want to sell some cars, they dont want to know who is at the openings. This is a commercial age, we havent got much time for frivolous things. That is a thankless job that announcer has. Poor fellow cant dig up a soul. He will be glad when that Chevrolet time comes. Oh yes here is Chick Sales, you all know Chick? Its a bear on canvas or boards, then he had a mighty popular novel one time, Chick ought to fit right into an opening. Chick you was a life-saver for this poor announcer.

Yep here comes the Chevrolet announcement. "We are back in the studios, have you compared Chevrolet quality and prices with other cars, if you havent get up in the morning and do it." They are playing a kinder pretty tune now called in the Valley where the Lilles Grow. Its gotta mighty catchy swing.

Now we are at a Culver City Nighty Club. I worked at the old Goldwyn Studio for three years back in 19 and 20, 21, and I never thought Culver City would ever have a night club, so you can never tell what a town will turn out to be.

Speaking of music my wife and Mrs. Flo Ziegfeld (Billie Burke) have gone to hear Paderawski. Say try to spell that guys name. Every-body can say it but no one can spell it. I wanted to go hear the old gentleman tonight. I never in my life heard him. Thats almost a crime, for he must be the greatest ever and a very fine old character. I wouldn't have known any more what he was doing than a prairie dog, but I bet I would have enjoyed a lot of it at that. I have stayed at his hotel in Warsaw, and it occupied his suit there, and by the way Floyd Gibbons was there at the hotel with me at the time. Thats where I first met him. He has had a great time over in China. Sure wish I had not had to rush back.

But still I am not so hot for that actual war stuff. I dont want to see it, no matter what tribes of people are fighting. Ant it funny how that war dropped right out of sight, the Lindbergh baby ruined that war for publicity sake.

And next in comparison to that was a horse, that Australian horse that I did ever see as many people

I was in Australia many years ago, and I have always maintained that they had the best horses, I mean horse for horse all over the country, that they had the best horses in the world. Racing! Thats not only a sport with them, its a mania. When the big race, the Melbourne Cup, is run, every man, woman and child in the land has some kind of a bet on it. This horse holds the record for it. He won it I think a couple of times and would have kept on winning it, but the handicappers put the grandstand on him. He was a very big powerful horse, his real distance was two and a half miles. We havent got a thing that could have finished in the stretch with him over that distance. Imagine that little group, trainer, veterinarian, jockey, groom, and my friend Wolfe the sporting writer going back all that long trip alone, a horse after all I guess is just about next to a human. Jim and the old Dog.
