

Weekend Snowfall Blankets Region

By JIM STEIERT
Managing Editor

The season's first snowfall came on the howling winds of a full-fledged winter storm here over the weekend as over five inches of the white powder fell on widespread areas of Deaf Smith County.

Stiff northerly winds resulted in massive drifting in many areas and the accompanying problems of cattle wandering over electric fences and straying across the countryside.

Winter Fun, Circa 1980

The sled and the snow castles had a look of something timeless and traditional about them Monday morning and why not? Local youngsters were indulging in the time-honored tradition of rejoicing over classes cancelled due to the white powder that made for a new playground. With the prospects of classroom confines wiped out for a day by the weather, youngsters could concern themselves with more important things like the definite lack of friction found in fresh-packed snow and its qualities for intricate construction, ala the five gallon bucket route. Snowfall of up to five inches graced Hereford over the weekend and a stiff northerly breeze made for massive drifts in many city driveways. Cattle reportedly strayed in the countryside due to fences being drifted over, but other than some inconvenience, the snow did not result in any major losses for local stockmen. Warming conditions tomorrow will likely make short work of much of what many youngsters found to be pleasurable powder.

In a freak incident related to the storm, a heavy layer of snow apparently was the cause of a cave-in at Tri-State Chemical east of Hereford where the roof of that business collapsed, resulting in an estimated $15,000 in damages to office equipment and other materials inside.

The storm resulted in hazardous driving conditions from the northern Panhandle all the way past Lubbock on the South Plains, prompting traveller's advisories and resulting in numerous cancellations here Monday.

Perhaps the most welcome cancellation of the day came when it was announced by HISD officials that Hereford schools would not hold classes Monday due to the inclement weather.

While the weekend storm had all the howling wind and bone-chilling qualities of a classic Panhandle snow-blower, it will not result in the massive economic losses incurred in a freak snowstorm which hit the area in early November last year.

That storm, replete with wet, sticky snow, suffocated newly-arrived stocker cattle by the thousands in the region.

Powdery snow, ripe for drifting at the whimsy of the blustery north wind, has apparently resulted in little more than major inconvenience for many local stockmen this time around, however.

Numerous cattle strayed after drifted snow allowed them to cross over electric fences, but the snow was not the killer of the storm of 1979.

Moisture for the local wheat crop will be welcome, although little of that precious commodity is expected to be derived from the weekend snowstorm.

According to John Fuston, Deaf Smith County ASCS executive director, the snowfall probably will prove of little benefit to the thirsty wheat crop here.

"I don't think the snow did our wheat a lot of good because most of it blew right off the wheat and on into the turnrows," said Fuston.

No figures on moisture content of the snow were available at Brand presstime but actual beneficial crop moisture is expected to be sparse, due to the powdery nature of the flakes which fell here.

Blowing snow was a considerable problem for travelers in the Panhandle over the weekend as a section of I-40 east of Vega was closed Sunday due to stalled traffic.

Highway 87 running from Lubbock to Amarillo reportedly had numerous vehicles stalled in its lanes as well, as the Lubbock area logged record snowfall for this time of year of up to 12 inches.

In a rare occurrence in the Big Bend country, the Alpine area recorded a total of 16 inches of snowfall during the weekend as the storm which brought snow to the local area also made itself felt over other portions of the state.

Clear skies and warmer temperatures were being noted across all of Texas today although much of the Panhandle, South Plains and the mountains of Southwest Texas remained under a blanket of snow.

Melting conditions were expected to prevail today and tomorrow, however. The vast snowstorm that hit portions of Texas and Oklahoma swirled into the northeast today with up to eight inches of snow falling overnight in Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Two traffic deaths in Texas and one in Oklahoma were blamed on the storm while four people died in snow-related accidents in Ohio.

In Oklahoma where the average snowfall for November is a half-inch, a total of four inches of snow fell and set a record for November snowfall.

The forecast for West Texas calls for clear and cold conditions again tonight with fair and warmer conditions on Wednesday.

Highs Wednesday are expected to be in the 50's with the exception of the Big Bend, where they are expected to reach into the 60's.

Tax Board Approves Budget

By JIM STEIERT
Managing Editor

The Deaf Smith County Tax Appraisal District will launch operations in early February after members of the county appraisal board met Monday afternoon and approved a proposed budget which had already been reviewed by the various taxing entities that will be participating in a central assessing and collecting approach here.

Board members gave the nod to a first year budget of $216,332.48 in a budget hearing session held at city hall.

Chairman Bruce Coleman indicated that the payroll for the district is expected to begin in early February, 1981.

Initial operation of the district will involve collecting activities at the present school tax office with assessing being done out of the current county tax office.

Board members discussed costs of renovation at the old Central School building where the central tax office will eventually be located.

Renovation costs and other outlays are expected to total $60,000 and have been budgeted over a five year period.

Operation of the central office in the old school facility is expected to begin when renovation work is completed, sometime during the summer of 1981.

Under the budget approved for the full concept central tax office here, Deaf Smith County will be responsible for 25.04 percent of the $216,332.48 budget, for a first-year total of $54,169.65.

The city of Hereford will be responsible for 12.75 percent of the budget or $27,582.39.

The Hereford Independent School District will be responsible for the largest individual portion of the budget, 52.79 percent or $114,201.91.

The High Plains Water District will pay .82 percent or $1,773.93, and the county hospital district will be responsible for 5.05 percent or $10,924.80.

The Walcott ISD will be responsible for 3.52 percent, totalling $7,614.90.

The Llano Estacado Water District will account for .03 percent of the budget or $64.90.

Approval of the budget for the central tax office came after an ongoing series of tax board meetings this fall in which the particulars of a central collecting and assessing program were sorted out and plans made to initiate a workable program here.

Board members emphasized throughout the series of meetings that one of the chief objectives of their actions was maximum tax dollar savings.

Iran Claims Biggest Victory

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iran, in its biggest victory claim of the two-month-old war with Iraq, said it has driven the invaders from Susangerd after three days of hard fighting.

Iraq, however, made no mention of any retreat and said its jets continued bombing and strafing Susangerd, 20 miles east of the border and 30 miles northwest of Ahwaz, capital of Iran's oil-rich Khuzestan Province.

Tehran Radio said the Iraqis pulled back nine miles from the city, leaving it littered with Iraqi dead and wrecked tanks and that 45 Iraqis were taken prisoner.

The broadcast said the tide of battle was turned by the arrival Monday of army reinforcements. Up to then, the city was believed to have been defended mainly by revolutionary guards and regulars of the local garrison. The government radio reported today that former Defense Minister Mostafa Chamran was wounded in the foot while leading "an efficient and skillful guerrilla group" that took part in the city's liberation.

"The city is under the control of our heroic forces after three days of heroic resistance," Tehran Radio said. "With the entry of the army with air defense, the enemy was crushed and left a huge amount of war weapons."

It said 650 Iraqis were killed Sunday and 200 Monday, 37

Iraqi tanks and 15 other armored vehicles were destroyed, and Iranian losses were "very low." Iraq said its forces killed 511 Iranians in house-to-house fighting Sunday and Monday and sank 12 Iranian gunboats in the Karkheh River. It reported 34 Iraqis killed.

Iraq also repeated a charge that Iraq used "chemical weapons and incendiary bombs" against Susangerd and said this heralded "the use of germ warfare and biological weapons." It asked the United Nations and the International Red Cross "to strongly censure the Iraqi regime and make it stop its inhuman crimes."

Pars, the official Iranian news agency, reported that residential areas of Ahwaz came under heavy fire for more than two hours early this morning. It said no details of damage or casualties were available yet.

Iraq said 42 Iranians were killed in other clashes along the invasion front Monday. Iran claimed 280 Iraqis killed and said its jets bombed Iraq's southern naval base of Um Qasr again, sinking two Iraqi warships.

Olof Palme, Sweden's Socialist Party leader and former prime minister, was flying to Tehran today on a peace mission for U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim. He said he hoped to meet with Iranian President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr and then with Iraqi President Saddam Hussein in Baghdad "to clarify the positions of the respective parties."

"We really start without any expectation of rapid results," Palme said.

Meanwhile, the speaker of Iran's parliament leader, Hashemi Rafsanjani, began a tour of Algeria, Libya, Lebanon and Syria to explain Iran's side of the war.

City Will Seek Bids

Hereford city commissioners authorized advertising for bids for a rotary-type siren Civil Defense warning system in a brief regular session held at city hall Monday night.

City fathers had been considering adopting a new warning system here during their past two meetings with an eye toward having some form of warning system in place prior to the advent of a new tornado season next spring.

During Monday's session city commissioners authorized advertising for bids on seven new rotary-type units to augment the two the city already has on hand.

The city will use the rotary sirens as the core of a complete new warning system to cover all of Hereford according to City Manager Dudley Bayne.

Bids on the warning system will be opened at 2 p.m. Monday, Dec. 15 at city hall.

Bayne reported that the sirens will likely cost the city in the neighborhood of $9,000 each, installed.

Holiday Fun Breakfast Rescheduled for Nov. 25

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Christmas Kickoff Fun Breakfast originally scheduled for Thursday has been rescheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 25, according to Mike Carr, executive vice president.

A scheduling conflict at the Community Center necessitated the new date for the event, Carr explained.

The event will feature holiday gift items displayed by local merchants to help local residents home in on holiday season gift-giving ideas.

Carr explained that merchant participation in this year's Christmas Kickoff is expected to be the greatest since the event was originated three years ago.

Demonstrations

Continue At Temple

BELLEVUE, Wash. (AP) - Undaunted by the prospect of arrests and fines, advocates of the proposed Equal Rights Amendment pledged to continue anti-church demonstrations during the week-long dedication of a new $12 million Mormon temple here.

Led by excommunicated Mormon Sonia Johnson, the protesters Monday chained themselves to the church gates and picketed as Spencer W. Kimball, president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, conducted formal dedication ceremonies inside.

The demonstrators carried signs that read, "Down With Mormon Oppression" and "Mormons Have No Right To Stop ERA." The church is opposed to the proposed constitutional amendment, which it believes would be destructive to family life.

Twenty-one people were arrested on charges of civil disobedience. Using bolt-cutters to snap wires and chains that held more than a dozen demonstrators to three gates at the temple, police carried several people into waiting vans.

Youths Wounded

On West Bank

JERUSALEM (AP) - Israeli troops opened fire on rock-throwing Palestinian youths in two towns on the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River today and wounded nine of them, including the daughter of a university president, military officials said.

In the occupied Gaza Strip, meanwhile, assassins on the hunt for Arabs collaborating with Israel claimed their fifth and sixth victims in two weeks. One was a fruit vendor friendly to the Israelis. The other was the acting mayor of a refugee camp who supported the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty.

Officials said troops wounded four youngsters when they stoned a police car in Bethlehem. They said three were known to have sustained light injuries, while the fourth was hit in the stomach.

Soldiers fired at the legs of rock-throwing high school children in Ramallah, north of Jerusalem, wounding five people, at least two of them girls, military officials said.

They said the crowd ignored shouted orders and two bursts of warning shots in the air and went on hurling rocks at the troops in Ramallah's main square.

$1 Million in Silver, Antiques Missing

DALLAS (AP) - Authorities were searching today for more than $1 million in uninsured silver, antiques and glassware swiped from a loaded van stolen from the owners' driveway.

When recovered at an abandoned farmhouse south of Rockwall Monday, the van had been unloaded except for a number of pieces scattered in the vehicle and on the ground, according to Rockwall County Sheriff Henry Knight.

Dallas police fingerprint officers discovered the thieves used rubber kitchen gloves. Some were found discarded near the van, Knight said.

"I'd say they (the thieves) knew exactly what they were doing," Knight said.

Antique dealers Sam and Sharon Pate reported the 1977 Dodge van missing about 6 a.m. Monday from the driveway of their Dallas home, police said.

Although the Pates had parked a car behind the van to block access to it, investigators said the thieves managed to disengage the parking gear and roll the car down to a wide spot in the driveway.

The ignition of the van had been hot-wired, police said.

At the farmhouse, the thieves forced open the back doors, transferred the silver items and tossed out about $50,000 in glassware, investigators said.

Mrs. Pate said the loss was uninsured and included sterling silver flatware, glassware and antiques that had been on display at a four-day exhibit in Dallas.

The couple told investigators they had been too tired to transfer the valuables to their office following the show.

Toastmasters Meet in Fall Conference

John Slyker, international director of Region 3 of Toastmasters International in a rare appearance, was at the conference to present the keynote address.

According to Bill Allen of Hereford conference chairman, about 80 members out of the district were present at the meeting.

"I think we had a good turnout for the remote area. This is the first time since 1956 that Hereford has been the host organization for a district conference. I feel it was a success," he said.

Competition included two areas, those being evaluation and humorous speech. Six people competed in each category.

The evaluation contest consisted of Mike Joyce of Amarillo presenting a target speech and competitors evaluating his speech.

Competing in the evaluation contest were Bill Devers, Hereford; Jim Gorsuch, Lubbock; Roger Freidline, Midland; Charlene Jackson, Andrews; Otto Wallenski, Abilene; and Overstreet, Overstreet won the contest.

Eaves of Plainview won the humorous speech contest which was held Saturday evening.

Competing with Eaves were Doug Harrell, Amarillo; Bryan Hunt, Lubbock; Gordon Craig, Midland; Joe Ray Halsey, Andrews; and Susan Wills, San Angelo.

During the conference Michael Carr, executive vice president of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce and Mayor Bartley Dowell were on hand to welcome the Toastmasters.

The Hereford Chamber Singers entertained the group before the humorous speech contest.

Toastmasters throughout the world meet for the purpose of education including perfecting the art of communication.

"We were very honored to host the conference and it was indeed an honor to have our international officer (Slyker) at the fall conference," Allens said.

Hereford representatives will again compete in the spring at the international contest to be held in Lubbock.

Enjoy Your New Homeland

So you're going to live in a different country next year? Not that you are moving; your country is.

Moving day is Jan. 20. Starting then, albeit gradually, we will all have to learn new ways or re-learn some old ones.

After three generations of increased reliance on government to do for us, Americans will be re-taught self-reliance - doing for ourselves.

For the adventuresome it should be fun.

For the spoiled brats it will be difficult. They will continue to yammer. Some may lie down on the floor and kick up their heels and threaten to hold their breath until they turn blue.

But if they discover that doesn't work any more - they will.

It will be a different country than young Americans ever knew; one that encourages excellence, rewards hard work, demands deportment, begets respect.

Many will learn for the first time why their dads saluted their flag with such pride.

After all these years of protecting the rights of criminals, your new homeland will appoint judges who will require criminals to pay for their crimes, even that will take some getting used to, so conditioned have we become to a land where one can get away with murder.

In the new country, those who work hard and profit and prosper will be allowed to keep more of what they earn.

This will take some getting used to, too, as we are weaned away from unemployment pay we could collect while vacationing and Social Security payments we could have sent to us in prison or in the Bahamas and food stamps we could trade for booze and cigarettes.

When one flees to a new country there is always a tendency to bring along some of the very customs, habits and conventions which we fled.

We will have to resist that. And we will have to resist the resistors - because there are already some unwilling movers seeking to intimidate their new president, demanding they be allowed to get away with living the old way in their new land.

The new country will have stronger arms, strong enough to enforce peace.

The new country will have less tolerance for uninvited outsiders.

The new country will encourage each community to exist less dependently, more independently to administer its own laws, its own business, its own schools.

Central government will have less arbitrary authority; individuals will have more choices in the new country.

So have a nice trip... Enjoy your new homeland... Any new beginning is tedious, sometimes difficult.

But if we can accomplish what our new leader calls "the shining city on a hill."

Individually, for the effort, we'll have better musculature.

And all together, it should feel good again to be an American.

Initiative, Referendum Bill Is Pre-Filed In State Senate

Senator Walter Mengden, Republican from Harris County, has pre-filed Senate Joint Resolution (SJR) 2, a state constitutional amendment to give the people of Texas the right of initiative and referendum. The Legislature will convene in regular session in January, but legislation may be introduced in advance.

Representative Carlyle Smith, Democrat from Grand Prairie, has pre-filed an identical measure, House Joint Resolution (HJR) 2, in the House of Representatives. Both SJR 2 and HJR 2 were drafted by the legislative staff of Governor Bill Clements, who strongly supports initiative and referendum.

SJR 2 and HJR 2 would permit state laws and constitutional amendments to be passed or repealed through a process of petition and election. A petition must contain the signatures of registered voters equal to 10 percent of the number of people who voted in the preceding gubernatorial election for statutory proposals and 15 percent for constitutional proposals. These signatures must also be gathered from at least three-fourths of the 254 counties, rather than being concentrated in only a few areas. Citizens would have a time limit of 180 days to gather these signatures.

All proposals which obtain the required number of signatures will be referred to the Legislature for consideration. If the Legislature passes the initiative, it would then become law, if it is statutory, or submitted to a vote of the people if it is constitutional. However, if the Legislature does not pass an initiative, it would automatically be placed on the ballot for a binding statewide referendum at the next November election. The Legislature would also have the option of passing an alternative measure for a vote of the people at the same time as the initiative proposal. If both are approved in the subsequent referendum, the one having the highest number of votes prevails.

Other provisions of this proposal include a prohibition from receiving compensation for circulating petitions. Public disclosure would be required of all funds contributed or spent on initiative campaigns. And the secretary of state would prepare an informational pamphlet to be sent to each registered voter containing a brief pro and con argument for each proposition which will be on the ballot. In addition, the Legislature could not repeal or amend any initiative passed by the people except by a two-third majority vote of the House and Senate.

"I feel this is an excellent plan for initiative and referendum and has a good chance for passage in the upcoming legislative session," Senator Mengden said. "Of course, I would accept any reasonable change in this measure to get it passed. I think it is imperative for the people of Texas to have this right. While it must be meaningful, and not just cosmetic, many of the exact details could very well be administered in a number of different ways."

The citizens of 23 states have the right of initiative and referendum, where it has been an important tradition in democratic self-government since 1898. In last May's Texas Republican Primary, by a vote of 328,407 to 48,699, 87.1 percent of the people voted for initiative and referendum in a non-binding straw vote.

Senator Mengden stated that the legislative process frequently does not accurately reflect public opinion for a number of reasons.

"First of all, it is very difficult for public officials to know with any real accuracy what the people are thinking on any issue, but it is very easy for public officials to know the opinions of all the organized special interests with their paid lobbyists. The process of representative government is further frustrated by the vast powers of the presiding officers and committee chairmen, as well as the rules in the House and Senate, which make it easy for the leadership in the Legislature to kill bills and resolutions that they are against," Senator Mengden said.

"It has been stated that the two things people should not watch being made are sausage and laws. Clearly, the operation of the state legislative process frequently leaves a lot to be desired. Initiative and referendum should be available as a supplemental process for the people to use whenever the government refuses to respond to their strong feelings on the issues," he said.

Spending Ceiling Debated

WASHINGTON (AP) - The lame-duck Congress is beginning debate on a binding spending ceiling that Republicans say would unfairly hinder President-elect Ronald Reagan's attempts to rein in the federal budget.

On the same day that Reagan was visiting Capitol Hill to meet with Congressional leaders, the House and Senate were set today to consider separate versions of a budget resolution.

After House Democrats blocked a GOP attempt Monday to give Reagan authority to impound appropriated money in an effort to force federal spending cuts, Republicans said they will oppose enactment of a resolution now.

At issue is a binding resolution draft that the House Budget Committee approved last week. It calls for $63.7 billion in outlays for fiscal 1981-which began Oct. 1-and a $25 billion deficit. Committee Republicans, accusing Democrats of playing politics with the budget by mandating cuts before Reagan even takes office, unanimously voted against it.

In order to achieve that target, which excludes cuts in defense spending, the committee staff calculated the incoming Reagan administration would have to cut about $17 billion from the budget.

Democrats say they are giving the incoming president a chance to fulfill his campaign pledge to cut government spending 2 percent.

Even if Democrats, who control the outgoing Congress, win passage of the committee's resolution, there was an indication Monday that the fight may resume in the next Congress, where Republicans will control the Senate and have more strength in the House.

Burglaries Under Investigation

Hereford police are investigating two burglaries reported here over the weekend and Monday.

A total of $1,700 worth of assorted tools was reportedly stolen from Texas Diesel, 119 Lee Saturday night.

Thieves gained access to the firm by prying open a bolt in the door hasp.

An officer on patrol discovered a broken window at Max's Big Burger on East Highway 60 last night. Further investigation disclosed that an undetermined amount of cash and a transistor radio had been taken from that business.

Lisa Morgan of 201 East Park reported that someone entered her parked car Monday and made off with a purse containing cash, credit cards and two checks.

A resident at 705 East Third informed police that a man came to her front door yesterday and began kicking on it and shouting. When the man broke the door panel the woman fled out the back of the house and summoned police from a neighboring residence.

Police are still seeking a suspect in that incident.

Police arrested a 30-year-old woman on charges of shoplifting at TG&Y on West Park Ave. Saturday night. The suspect was charged with taking an electric razor.

An investigation is currently underway relative to a break-in at Stanton Junior High which occurred last Friday and was reported to police Saturday.

Thieves in that incident broke a second story window at the school and subsequently rifled several vending machines, taking an undetermined amount of change.

Charges are also pending in an alleged assault incident which occurred at the KC hall here Saturday night. The incident involved a report of a husband allegedly shoving his wife against the wall at the building.

Despite adverse weather and driving conditions, police reported that no accidents were recorded in Hereford on Monday.

Landers Named Among Who's Who

The 1980-81 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" will carry the name of Hereford native Larry Landers, a senior at Wayland Baptist College.

Landers is one of 14 Wayland students who have been selected as being among the country's most outstanding campus leaders.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of the 14 students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential.

They join an elite group of students selected from more than 1,200 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign countries. Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934.

A 1977 graduate of Hereford High School, Landers was a charter member of Zeta Kappa Alpha fraternity in 1978, a member of Phi Alpha Theta history fraternity in 1979, and a member of Alpha Chi national honor society as a junior.

A Dean's List honoree, Landers is a mathematics major and carries a triple minor in English, history and chemistry. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Landers of Route 2.

Ann Landers Nightmare Child

DEAR ANN LANDERS: It is very late at night - or should I say, very early in the morning. I haven't had a bit of rest because I am afraid to go to sleep.

The night before last I had a terrible nightmare. I dreamed my mother was hitting me on the legs and wouldn't stop. I woke up in tears. When I went back to sleep the same nightmare repeated itself. I could actually feel the pain, and it was awful.

I am a 17-year-old girl who has had lots of disagreements with my mother, but she has never beat me up like in that dream. What can I do to prevent these nightmares in the future?

please don't say "Be nice to her" or "Tell her about it" because we are not close - in fact, we get on each other's nerves. -Nightmare Child in Wichita

DEAR CHILD: All dreams mean something, but I am not qualified to interpret yours or anyone else's.

It is obvious from your letter that your mother is the source of a lot of anxiety.

You need to work out your problems with a professional. Talk to your guidance counselor at school, or ask your family doctor where to go for help. There are some excellent mental health facilities in your city, and I urge you to utilize them.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife passed away five years ago. Last May I married her best friend, who had been a widow for approximately the same length of time. We are both in our 60s and always got along so well it never occurred to me that we would have any problems. I was wrong. It seems we can't agree on money.

We are both fairly well off. I own a good deal of income property, and she has inherited some excellent investments from her husband. We both have children and they are all in good financial shape.

I'd like you to tell me, in the paper if possible, who pays for what. Should a husband be expected to foot all the bills, so the wife can pile up more money for her children - who have plenty as it is?

Since I married this woman I don't have the available funds when investment opportunities come along. This bothers me, because I don't think she is being fair. Her net worth is actually larger than mine. Thanks for an unprejudiced opinion. -Ranked in Richmond

DEAR RANK: Too bad you didn't write to me before you got married. Money matters have a way of seeming unimportant during courtship. Later it's a different ball game.

I hope you and your wife will make an appointment with a neutral third party, preferably someone with financial know-how. He (or she) should counsel you both on your responsibilities and obligations. You should agree in advance that the arbitrator's word is final.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been going with a lovely man for several months. It started out to be a platonic relationship, but in the last three weeks it has heated up considerably.

The problem is that he came back from a month's vacation with a mustache and a beard. I almost dropped to the floor when I saw him. He looks goofy. What's more, I can't stand to have him kiss me. I get hair in my mouth and it's a real turn-off.

It is fair for a girl to say, "Shave or no kisses?" Are you with me, Annie? -Mean It In Lawrence, Kan.

DEAR MEAN IT: If you feel so strongly about it, go ahead. You don't need me with you. There's nobody with a beard or mustache I care to kiss.

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers' booklet, "Booze and You - For Teen-Agers Only." Send 50 cents and a self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers.

Group Begins Projects At Camp Fire Meeting

The Backyard Bluebirds told jokes during "Joke Day" and initiated projects when members met recently.

At the meeting each member told the group a favorite joke before the projects Who Bird and Indian Study were discussed.

The Who Bird project is geared to teach Bluebirds more about themselves. Project handbooks were distributed for each member to keep a personal record of things learned about themselves and activities completed as a member of Camp Fire.

Upon completion of the Who Bird project girls are entitled to a Who Bird emblem.

The Indian Study began with the reading of a story written by an Indian. At the next meeting members will bring objects depicting some form of Indian craft, dress or folklore to the meeting.

The next meeting will be Nov. 20.

4-H'ers Study Pork Pricing Factors

By ROBBY VANN
County Extension Agent
Many factors influence pork prices. An average 210-pound hog yields about 150 pounds of retail meat cuts. Yield plus assorted costs for the packer, labor, transportation, overhead, supply and demand help determine the final selling price.

In the national 4-H swine program, boys and girls learn about the economics of pork production as well as how to select animals that yield a higher percentage of the most-desired cuts, like ham, bacon and chops, points out Robby Vann, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The program is conducted by the Extension Service and supported by Wilson Foods Corp.

4-H'ers in the swine program not only create consumer awareness and acceptance of pork but also explore swine management careers and participate in a variety of learn-by-doing projects and specialized events.

Involved in numerous community activities, young people participate in livestock judging, carcass evaluation contests and Junior Pork Day activities. In addition, most 4-H members own or care for hogs and thus have an opportunity for "hands-on" experience and training. Tours to large hog operations, marketing facilities, packing plants and retail outlets provide 4-H'ers real life opportunities to gain a full understanding of the swine industry.

As an added incentive, members are eligible for awards donated by Wilson Foods and arranged by the National 4-H Council. Each year a $75 U.S. Savings Bond is awarded one member from each state and six national winners earn trips to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, where they are presented $1,000 scholarships.

Boys and girls, 9 to 19, can find out more about the 4-H swine program or other activities by contacting the county Extension office.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Senior Citizens over 65 In Danger of Hypothermia

The next time a cold wind slices through your clothes, you may wish you could not feel the cold at all. But as many as one in 10 older people are in real danger because they are not sensitive enough to cold.

Sometimes people, especially those over age 65, have bodily malfunctions that keep them from noticing cold and regulating body temperature well. So when they stay in a consistently nippy atmosphere (sometimes no colder than 65 degrees Fahrenheit) for a long time, body temperature can drop low enough to be fatal from a condition called "accidental hypothermia."

Since hypothermia's symptoms may be similar to those of some other diseases, no one knows positively how many people die from it yearly. But the risk is very obvious because thermostats are going lower as heating bills go up.

Instead of the often obvious symptoms (such as hard, white, numb areas) that can indicate frostbite, hypothermia symptoms can mimic other diseases and be less obvious. Meanwhile, the victim's body can slow down until unconsciousness occurs and ultimately the heart stops.

Once the core of the body has gotten cold enough to be hypothermic, several days can pass before unconsciousness occurs. In the meantime, symptoms may include bloated face, pale or waxy or occasionally oddly pink skin, trembling in one part of the body, slurred speech, dulled awareness and slow response. (The victim probably will feel cold only before acute hypothermia occurs and not afterward.) Most hypothermia symptoms are signs of other diseases so a physician should be contacted to make an accurate diagnosis.

Protection against hypothermia includes wearing warm, multi-layered clothing, especially protecting the head, hands and feet drinking warm liquids (except alcohol because it causes heat loss), proper nutrition, keeping the thermostat reasonably high and checking a room thermometer regularly. These are good ideas for anyone but are especially important for those older people whose natural warming methods are weakened.

Sometimes the body loses the ability to shiver and blood vessels may not distribute body heat properly. Losing these two natural warming methods may be especially serious for the aged who often have less muscle mass and slower chemical processes, which are two other heat-producers. To make matters worse, sometimes the aged cannot move around very much to get warm and they do not eat properly so there is less fuel for the bodily chemical processes to use to make heat.

Even with all these things working against them, the minority of people who are prone to hypothermia do not need to live in a hothouse atmosphere. A few common sense precautions will help get them through the winter just fine.

Even Mikey Couldn't Face This Chore

I CALLED MIKEY A FORETIGHT AGO. He was sort of a legend or least I once thought him to be. The little guy would supposedly try anything once even though he never liked it - cereal, oatmeal, mush, grits, poached eggs or Malt-O-Meal.

Mauri Montgomery

He feared nothing on T.V. commercials, so why did he run from the phone screaming when I merely asked him to take over this Fearless Forecaster column for the remaining two weeks of its scheduled existence.

"Mikey, are you there?" ONLY ECHOS OF SHRILL BAWLING rebounded over the phone.

As disappointed as I was at not having found a replacement for this educational course in yellow journalism, I could hardly blame the little tyke.

Even the job of sucking down a little Malt-O-Meal (a terrible thought in itself) had its savoring appeal when compared to the chore of writing these columns - essays concerning the exploits of conciliatory wins and losses between full-grown morons.

Toss in the added unpleasantness of having to write about one's own failure in this week's sports prognosticator competition (thus earning the title of Moron and Chief), and a preference for eating Malt-O-Meal became even more heart warming.

ACTUALLY, I EVEN THOUGHT ABOUT not showing up for work. That ploy would confuse the others on the panhandling panel. You see, they needed a leader, or more appropriately, someone they could look up to - the blind leading the blind so to speak. But I really didn't think even they would fall for the excuse that massive snow drifts had piled up in my apartment - mounds of clothes maybe, but not snow.

The only thing left to do, was to forge through this and salvage any shred of dignity and pride I could.

Even though I had formerly rested in the 66 percentile range (that wasn't very bad considering I had drifted little either way on the scale throughout the season's course) and still was planted in that position, I somehow managed to slide to an 18-8 mark as the big loser on panel this week. Yeah, I know it's unbelievable, but even good die young once in awhile.

delivery can only be attributed to her vast knowledge of recipes for winning, but that revelation didn't soothe my bruised ego any. She would never get another guest invitation from me as long as I was the sports editor, and that might not be too long. I heard them ask her if she might be interested in the position after my meager showing.

PUBLISHER SPEEDY NIEMAN AND advertising man James Stout whipped out 20-6 marks to retain their respective percentiles of 64 and 65. What else can be said, other than they were all against me. After all the work I had done in trying to build them up to the public (a hard job considering what I had to work with), they only responded by stabbing me in the back. I knew how Caesar must have felt. He never figured out who made the salad either!

Even fuzz headed Bob Nigh, daintily sliced off a 21-5 ledger. For crying out loud, when the Okies of the world hit winning ranks, one sort of loses faith in how the country is being run. With that 21-5 tally, Nigh still stayed put at a percentage of 66 to remain alongside me as the leaders of the pack in overall standings, but it is difficult to claim a victory out of that.

STANDING ON AN EVEN KEEL with an Okie is somewhat like eating Malt-O-Meal - you would no doubt go on living, but just thinking about it made your stomach feel a little queazy. "Hello, Hello!" the angry woman answered.

"Is this Mikey's mother?" "Yes, as a matter of fact it is. And if you're the pervert who just upset my Mikey, then I'm going to call the police!"

"ARE YOU THERE!" the upset woman demanded. Only the echos of shrill bawling rebounded over the line.

ALLISON RYAN, THE GIRL I HAD HIRED off the society page to pull down the guest forecaster spot, didn't exactly drop the guests out of sight like she was paid to do. It just goes to show you that cheaters, no matter how hard they try to excel, never win.

She reeled off a 19-7 mark for 68 percent to bite the hand that fed her - me! Her reasonably high

Going Into Final Weeks of Competition

Keating Wins Contest

John Keating of 349 Stadium, Ansel McDowell of 207 North Texas and Earl Stagner of 210 Ave. J each missed four games apiece in the Brand's weekly football contest in order to send competition into a three way tie. Keating became the outright winner of the affair however, after posting a perfect tiebreaker guess of 31 in the Los Angeles 17 vs. New England 14 game.

McDowell had a tiebreaker guess of 35 for second place while Stagner clinched third with an estimate of 41. Also missing only four games, but way off in the tiebreaker score was Darrell Dirks of 211 Aspen with a guess of 59. Eighteen others missed five games this week. Those participants included Cawthon Bryant, George Loerwald, Joyce Blasingame, Johnny Galan, Randy Farr, S.T. Loerwald, David Netupski, Sheila Brannon, Kathy Keating, Craig Keating, Joani Kalka, Duane McNaney, Bernadette Kalka, C.W. George, Larry Brogdon, Nancy Howard, Jimmy Walker and Carolyn Schumacher.

There are only two weeks remaining in the football contest and this week will be the last chance for competitors to qualify for the Brand's Grand Prize Contest. Those who don't qualify for the grand prize are still eligible to compete in regular competition during the final week.

Entrants who are already assured of being able to compete in the Grand Prize Contest include: Murlene Streun, Jerry Morgan, David Caldwell, Scott Debord, Lela Duggan, Karen Marsh, Armando Alaniz, Tracy Shepherd, Ansel McDowell, K. Phommvong, Susan Crosby and this week's winner John Keating.

4-H Turkey Shoot Set

The Deaf Smith County 4-H Shooting Sports Club will hold a turkey shoot Sunday, Nov. 23 beginning at 1 p.m. at the Hereford Gun Club, located east of the Hereford Airport.

Practice rounds priced at $2 will get underway at 1 p.m. Competitive rounds will be priced at $3 for five shots and the winner of each round of competition will be awarded a turkey as a prize.

Proceeds from the shoot will help the newly-formed shooting sports club to finance initial activities in fielding teams in both rifle and shotgun marksmanship.

HHS Rodeo Club Claims Trophy

When area rodeo teams see the Hereford High Rodeo Club rolling into an arena, they simply start loading up their livestock - there was little use in competing against a squad that could have seemingly tamed the West single handedly.

For the sixth week in a row, the HHS boy's rodeo team has raced, roped and wrestled its way to the team trophy. Most recently the crew's winning exploits were recorded at Dumas as the team rode its way to a high-point total of 15 to cap the prize.

Leading the way for that win were Blake Johnson's second place in team roping with a time of 11.286 and Scotty Wilcox's second in bull roping with 64 points.

Other high finishes adding to the overall performance were: Brett Cunningham's fourth place finish in calf roping competition with an elapsed time of 16.030, Lee Washington's fifth places in calf roping and team roping with respective times of 18.071 and 13.889 plus a fourth place he garnered in steer wrestling after posting a mark of 17.447.

Rita Ward, the only member making up the HHS girl's team, made her solitary performance a lasting one as she clinched high third place finishes in both the barrel racing and breakaway events of the Dumas rodeo. She netted a time of 18.885 in the barrel racing and claimed a time of 18.113 in breakaway competition.

Texas Meets Bears With Confidence

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Texas plays conference champion Baylor on Saturday in a game of bowl-bound teams, and Longhorn Coach Fred Akers says his team gained confidence in thrashing Texas Christian, 51-26.

Akers said his team is "on an upsurge" with victories over Houston and Texas Christian after dropping consecutive games to Southern Methodist and Texas Tech.

"It was important that we get better ... and grow in confidence after the Houston win - we did," said Akers.

Nevertheless, he told a news conference Monday, he wished his team could change places with the Bears, who defeated Rice, 16-6, to win the Southwest Conference title for the second time in seven years.

By beating Rice, Baylor extended its SWC record to 7-0 and immediately accepted a bid to the Cotton Bowl at Dallas to play Alabama on Jan. 1.

After Texas walloped Texas Christian, it accepted a spot in the Bluebonnet Bowl against North Carolina on Dec. 31.

Akers was asked about a report that Texas defensive tackle Kenneth Sims had called the Bluebonnet Bowl the "Toilet Bowl," and he said the reference actually was shouted by a Baylor fan who was razzing the Longhorns as they left the field after the Texas Christian game. "Baylor has already clinched the conference, of course, and it has done a good job doing it," said Akers. "Our congratulations go out to them. They have looked very, very strong every week - they have a fine football team."

"They've come a long way since the start of the season," Akers said. "They had a good nucleus ... and a good schedule to build up their confidence and allow them to improve."

Simms Lions Set Turkey Shoot

The Simms Lions Club will conduct a turkey shoot Saturday, Nov. 22, beginning at 12 noon at the Simms Community Building.

The location may be found by traveling 15 miles north of Hereford, then 15 miles west on FM 1412.

A turkey will be awarded to the winner of each five-shot round of competition. Fees for the shoot will be $3 per round.

All proceeds from the event will go to the Simms Lions Club for civic projects.

YOU AUTO KNOW

By Don Henslee

Q. My 1974 Oldsmobile Cutlass has been treated like a baby ever since it was new. Now it's having stalling problems. Fuel line and fuel filter are fine as is the ignition and electrical systems. Is there anything else to check before moving to the fuel pump?

A. Yes. Be sure the carburetor air cleaner has not been overtightened. This could crush the air horn, causing a restriction to air. The result will be a fuel mixture which is too rich and can cause flooding. You can test the fuel delivery of your pump by disconnecting the fuel line at the carburetor. Attach a snug-fitting hose and place the other end of the hose in a receptacle. Start the engine and allow it to idle for about 30 seconds. It will run that long on fuel retained in the carburetor bowl. Now measure the fuel in the receptacle. A properly performing fuel pump will deliver about one pint in that time.

Oil stains in driveway
POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY - Someone said you once told how to remove oil stains from concrete. Transmission oil has dropped badly on our concrete driveway so I would like to know how to remove it. - MARIE
DEAR MARIE - A leading cement company recommends the following for removing oil stains from concrete. When stains are new, mop up the excess immediately and then liberally apply a dry powder such as dry cement to soak up what is left. Leave on for a day or so and then sweep off.
When oil has been on for some time, it has doubtless penetrated the concrete, so make a paste of one pound of trisodium phosphate and a gallon of water and then sufficient whitening to thicken. Spread about one-half-inch thick over stained area. Leave about 24 hours and then remove paste and wash with clear water. There are also commercial degreasing spray products - ask about them at your hardware store. Follow directions on can when using such products. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - When I shampoo my hair I lose many hairs, but I have found a quick and easy way to keep the sink from getting stopped up that will save a plumber's bill or my husband's temper.
I wish my hairbrush back and forth through the water before opening the drain and find it catches most, if not all, of the loose floating hairs. At the same time the shampoo suds are cleaning the hairbrush. A comb will remove the hairs from it. - DOROTHY

DEAR POLLY - Due to a bad back I have to use a plywood board between the mattress and springs on my bed. The mattress kept sliding until I figured that if non-slip decals would work in tub they should work on the board. They worked. - SUE

DEAR POLLY - I have found that the easiest way to eat melon is to use a stainless steel measuring spoon. It is thin and scoops out the melon with great ease. - STEFANIE

DEAR POLLY - I would like to tell Karma how my daughter restored one of my old lamp shades. The old cloth was removed from the wire frame. Next she took yards and yards of one and three-fourths inch white ribbon and wrapped it around the frame, vertically, and then trimmed it with gold braid at the top and bottom of the covered frame. A few steps of the braid were also put around the shade. I am very pleased with it, but remember the larger the shade the more material it will take. - L.V.D.

WHO DOES HE THINK HE IS...GOD?

Several days later He returned to Capernaum, and the news of His arrival spread quickly through the city.

Soon the house where He was staying was so packed with visitors that there wasn't room for a single person more, not even outside the door. And He preached the Word to them.

Four men arrived carrying a paralyzed man on a stretcher.

They couldn't get to Jesus through the crowd, so they dug through the clay roof above His head and lowered the sick man on his stretcher, right down in front of Jesus.

When Jesus saw how strongly they believed that He would help their friend, Jesus said to the sick man, "Son, your sins are forgiven!"

But some of the Jewish religious leaders said to themselves as they sat there,

"What? This is blasphemy! Does he think he is God? For only God can forgive sins."

Jesus could read their minds and said to them at once, "Why does this bother you?"

Is it any harder to forgive his sins than to heal him?

So, to prove that I, the Man for Heaven, have forgiven his sins," - turning to the paralyzed man He said, "You are healed. Pick up your stretcher and go home!"

The man jumped up, took the stretcher, and pushed his way through the stunned onlookers! Then how they praised God. "We've never seen anything like this before!" they all exclaimed.
