Lebanese Head Accuses U.S. of Backtracking

By The Associated Press
Lebanese Prime Minister Shafik Wazzan publicly accused U.S. presidential envoy Philip Habib today of backtracking on when to deploy peacekeepers in west Beirut and said that threatened "every other aspect" of talks on the evacuation of the

PLO from the battered city. At the same time, Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev warned President Reagan that if U.S. Marines were sent into west Beirut "the Soviet Union would build its policy with due consideration of this fact." He did not elaborate, but the Kremlin supports PLO chief Yasser Arafat, who publicly has spurned Reagan's offer to send in the Marines as part of a multinational force to evacuate the guerrillas.

Wazzan said the force, which also would include French paratroopers, should deploy "before or simultaneously with the start" of the evacuation of Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization. "But I have been surprised by a non-Lebanese insistence that the deployment of these international forces should take place after the departure of the Palestinians, which negates much of the need for and the usefulness of these forces."

"All through the talks with Mr. Philip Habib I have been determined to keep the details from official publicity pending the arrival at a final agreement," Wazzan said. "But this new position came as a shock, which I am afraid, would reflect on every other aspect of the talks."

The Wazzan statement was issued by his office and broadcast on the state radio and published in all Beirut newspapers.

There was no immediate comment from Habib, who has been trying for three weeks to put together a peacekeeping agreement that would stave off a ground assault on west Beirut by Israeli forces who invaded Lebanon June 6 to crush the PLO.

Israel's invasion army entered Lebanon June 6 and pushed to the gates of Beirut. It is now threatening to move into west Beirut and crush the last Lebanese outpost of the PLO unless all the guerrillas leave Lebanon.

The Israelis kept up the military pressure, pounding PLO strongholds in two west Beirut neighborhoods for two hours starting at sunset Wednesday.

The Palestinian news agency WAFSA said Israeli ground troops made three attempts to advance from their positions near the paralyzed Beirut airport, but were stopped by PLO forces.

Meanwhile, Israel Wednesday eased its blockade of west Beirut, allowing drinking water and electricity into the predominantly Moslem district. The Israelis, who imposed the blockade last weekend, continued to bar food and fuel to the guerrillas and the estimated 500,000 civilians in west Beirut.

On the diplomatic front, Israeli sources said David Kimche, the director-general of the Foreign Ministry, traveled to Beirut to give Habib Israel's latest negotiating position.

Israeli officials said their government was giving Habib additional time, and there was an optimistic mood among ministers at an Israeli

Friendly Farmers

As many as 13 combines at once were rolling at Westway when friends and neighbors of Jo Ann Jesko pitched in to harvest 900 acres of wheat this week. With the passing of her husband, Johnny, in May she did not know what she was going to do come harvest. "They were just friends and neighbors who decided they would come help," Mrs. Jesko said. "It not only looked neat, it was the greatest thing they could do for me ... you'll never know how much I appreciate it." She said 35 to 40 people called her and came out to help.

Reagan Studies Options to Avert Rail Strike

By MERRILL HARTSON AP
Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan will have to decide soon whether to invoke emergency provisions of the Railway Labor Act to avert a strike scheduled for Sunday by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

A spokesman for the 40,000-member union said Wednesday the BLE will stage a nationwide strike Sunday night against more than 100 rail carriers unless Reagan acts to appoint a fact-finding board. Such a move, under the railway act, would forestall a strike for 60 days. Any walkout during that period would be illegal.

In Los Angeles, deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said the president was briefed on the issues in the rail dispute and on what a strike would mean. He said Reagan will receive recommendations soon from the National Mediation Board.

Asked about the possibility of a rail strike, Labor Secretary Raymond J. Donovan said, "I am more optimistic than that. We have faced several strike situations since we've come to office."

Donovan said: "We have been consistent in our policy, and to date, they have all worked out using what I like to call the miracle of collective bargaining."

and if it should come to an impasse, we will cross that bridge when we come to it."

But in Cleveland, an official of the locomotive engineers' union said it would take a miracle to avoid a walkout.

"The matter now rests with the president," said V.F. Davis, director of research and education for the union.

"We've got a process under the (railway labor) act, and we're following it," he said. "A strike would have quite an impact. The trains would stop."

Davis said "these things are not taken lightly" by his union, noting that the last time the BLE struck the rail carriers was in 1946.

A strike by the engineers would idle virtually all of the nation's freight trains, although Conrail, the federally subsidized freight carrier in the Northeast, would not be affected.

Amtrak, the National Rail Passenger Corp., also would not be directly involved.

Negotiations between the railroad engineers union and the National Railway Labor Conference, the management bargaining arm, broke down May 26 and the union refused voluntary arbitration by the mediation board, which handles labor disputes in the rail and airline industries.

Charles Hopkins, chairman of the railway labor conference, has said he thinks Reagan will intervene to head off a strike. He said a walkout "would be terribly disruptive in view of the other economic circumstances of the present time."

Forces Uniting In Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Possible sexual misconduct and alleged use of cocaine on Capitol Hill are under investigation by both federal and local law enforcement agencies who are now getting together to coordinate their efforts.

A source who asked not to be identified said the FBI, the Drug Enforcement Administration, the Justice Department and Washington, D.C., police met Wednesday at the local FBI field office to air differences about communication failures among the agencies.

The meeting explored "philosophical and moral questions" but reached no firm conclusions on the conduct of the investigation, said another source who asked to remain anonymous.

"They'll have to talk further on where they're going," he said. He said the participants expressed concern over unsubstantiated reports.

So far, no member of Congress has been named publicly in any of the investigations. According to sources, a federal grand jury probing an alleged drug ring operating on Capitol Hill has not focused on any member of the House or Senate.

An FBI source, who asked not to be named, said he did not know of anyone from Congress being interviewed by the FBI in either the drug or sex scandal.

Members of Congress are said to have solicited homosexual sex with teenage pages who are employed by Congress to run errands.

Leroy Williams, 18, former page, has been quoted in the Arkansas Gazette as saying he arranged sex between a member of Congress and a male prostitute and that he himself engaged in sex with two members of Congress whose identities were not disclosed.

Jack Russ, deputy House doorkeeper, called Williams a "pathological liar."

"The bottom line to Mr. Williams is this: he has a serious problem. He's a pathological liar," Russ said.

Other pages who have not been identified have been interviewed by investigators.

Meanwhile, a source at the DEA called the drug allegations "peanuts" and stressed that the agency prefers to concentrate its resources on stopping major drug-peddling rings and multimillion-dollar drug-smuggling operations.

Although reports have tended to lump the drug and sex investigations together, sources said they have been proceeding largely apart from each other.

Task Force Recommends Increasing Drinking Age

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A task force appointed by Gov. Bill Clements to study traffic safety has taken the first step in an effort to raise the legal drinking age in Texas from 19 to 21.

A task force subcommittee, led by Austin Police Chief Frank Dyson, on Wednesday recommended the increased drinking age as part of an anti-drunk driving package.

Jim Adams, Department of Public Safety director and task force chairman, has said the panel would ask Clements to lobby the 1983 Legislature to raise the drinking age, which was hiked to 19 from 18 last year.

Adams told the task force he has received many letters concerning the increased drinking age and his backing for a ban on drinking alcoholic beverages while driving.

"It almost looks like some of us think it's written in the Texas Constitution you should be able to drive with a beer can in your hand," said Adams.

"It's dumb to drive while drinking and it should be against the law," he said.

Vernon With, regional alcohol specialist for the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, told the task force that raising the drinking age and banning drinking while driving would be a "major advance" toward curtailing driving while intoxicated in Texas.

Dyson's subcommittee also called for revamped penalties for drunken driving. Many officials are concerned that current laws make it difficult to get a first conviction, and therefore more difficult to get subsequent convictions which carry stiffer penalties.

Under the subcommittee recommendation, first offense DWI would be punishable by a $200 to $2,000 fine, two days to two years in prison and up to one-year suspension of drivers license. The suspension could be waived in favor of mandatory completion of an alcohol education course.

Currently, first-offense DWI can bring a jail sentence of three days to two years in jail and a fine of $50 to $500. License suspension can be avoided by completion of an alcohol education course.

The subcommittee recommended a fine of $300 to $2,000, 15 days to two years in jail and drivers license suspension of 90 days to one

Thieves Weren't Clowning Around

McMURRAY, Pa. (AP) — The white-faced, baggy-cloned clowns at the shopping center amused children and parents alike, but the laughter ended when the performers abruptly pulled guns on armored car guards and made off with $15,000.

"Apparently they were very good clowns," FBI spokesman Jeff Kimball said after Wednesday's heist. "They were entertaining kids and their parents for some time as they waited for the guards to come out."

The two clowns were performing for children in the Donaldson's Crossroads Shopping Center parking lot when the guards from Landmark Security Transport Inc. of Pittsburgh walked from a Mellon Bank branch at 1:30 p.m., Kimball said.

The clowns then approached "in a humorous fashion" and pulled out a sawed-off shotgun and a handgun, surprising the drivers, he said.

The costumed robbers were then joined by a man in street clothes, and the three forced the guards into the front of the armored car.

After binding the guards' eyes, mouth and hands with tape, the three men then drove for a short distance, ran the van off the road, down an embankment and into a tree, Kimball said. The guards were unhurt and freed themselves "within a very short time" after the gunmen fled, he said.

Mellon Bank spokeswoman Denise Davis said the guards had just dropped off a customer's night deposit bags when the heist occurred in the Washington County community of Peters Township, about 15 miles southwest of Pittsburgh.

EPA to Monitor PCB Burnings

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency will send a research vessel to the Gulf of Mexico later this month to monitor the second ocean burnings of PCBs aboard an incinerator ship.

During the first disposal of about 700,000 gallons of the toxic chemicals in December, the EPA relied only on on-board observers to record safety and efficiency levels, said Al Wastler, EPA marine protection chief in Washington.

"This is just to make sure that all the data and all emissions are recorded properly," he said of the decision to send the Antelope to take air, water and biological samples from the site.

Wastler said scientists are reviewing data from the December operation but have found nothing that would jeopardize plans for more burns.

The incineration probably will begin in late July and take nine days to dispose of the 750,000 gallons, he said.

"We just had some additional data come in yesterday," Wastler said Wednesday. "I haven't really gotten

Clements Passing Buck Solon Says

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A Democratic House member says Republican Gov. Bill Clements is "trying to pass the blame" to the Texas Employment Commission for a possible huge increase in employer taxes.

Clements, meanwhile, noted that the Legislature was in special session in May and might have acted to "avert an exorbitant increase" if the commission had prepared recommendations.

Rep. Lloyd Criss, D-La Marque, said his office had issued a report in January predicting a 2,000 percent tax increase "and the governor ignored it."

"Clements was aware the Unemployment Compensation Fund was in trouble and he did nothing," Criss said in a statement. "Now employers face a 2,000 percent increase and the governor is trying to pass the blame on to someone else."

"Clements was forewarned, he ignored the problem until it became a crisis. He did not include this issue in the special session and now he is trying to pass the blame to the commission," added Criss, vice chairman of the Employment Practices Committee.

The governor said in a statement he would do "everything within my power to prevent an unconscionable increase" in the tax for more than 280,000 Texas employers.

The governor said he was "disappointed" that employment commissioners Ken Clapp and Nolan Ward had failed to recommend changes in the existing employer tax system.

Clements said he had asked his staff to study alternatives to a tax increase.

Although Texas employers pay the lowest payroll taxes in the nation, the Employment Commission said last month if layoffs continue, employers who now pay $6 per employee for unemployment insurance could pay up to $114 per employee on Oct. 1, when the new rate goes into effect.

"I am confident that we will find a way to prevent a dramatic increase in the unemployment tax," Clements said. "At the same time, I assure those who have been laid off their jobs that there will be no reduction in their benefits during the time they are making painful adjustments and seeking new employment."

Future Calls For Other Taxes

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Declining oil production means by the end of the decade Texas must find ways to replace about a quarter of the state's revenue currently generated by taxes on black gold, Gov. Bill Clements says.

Clements said Wednesday that he would propose new taxation methods at the next legislative session to replace money the state eventually will lose because of declining oil production.

"You'll see us try to get into a user tax situation for paying for highways and things like that," he said.

A study recently completed by the Texas Research League says "there will be no problem whatsoever until after 1990," Clements said in a news conference here.

Then, he said, the state will begin to lose revenue it usually gets from oil production, which already is on the decline.

Clements said that although there have been declines in production recently because of the so-called oil glut, higher oil prices actually have resulted in higher tax collections.

When asked what he planned to do about the anticipated decline in revenues, Clements said, "I only plan to be governor for another four years." But he added that the legislative action would be upcoming as part of his "Texas 2000" plan for the future.

The governor said that despite the declining production, Texas' oil-based economy is "the strongest state economy of any state in the nation."

He said there are "soft spots" in the state economy, such as the High Plains, where farmers are suffering from bad weather and high interest rates.

He said he has encouraged Secretary of Agriculture John Block to pursue a task force study of the farmers' problems recently requested by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas.

Family's Skyride

Lawsuits Settled

DALLAS (AP) — Lawsuits filed by relatives of the man killed in the 1979 Swiss skyride accident at the State Fair of Texas have been settled with the family receiving a total of $6.1 million.

The wife and three daughters of Fred Millard, who died when the gondola car plunged to the fair's midway, won a $5.1 million award in state court Wednesday from the operator of ride, Steck and Staph Attractions.

Sandra Millard agreed on Tuesday to a $1 million settlement of her separate lawsuit against the fair and the ride's manufacturer, Von Roll Ltd.

State District Judge Charles Ben Howell awarded Mrs. Millard $2.4 million of the suit against Steck and Staph. The remaining $2.7 million was awarded to the three daughters.

Millard was the only person killed when a gondola car from the ride that spans the fairgrounds fell during the 1979 state fair. Seventeen others were injured, including Mrs. Millard and two of her daughters, Roxanne and Renee.

Coffee Drinkers

Ignore Cancer

Warning

BOSTON (AP) — Many coffee drinkers heard about a medical study that links their morning brew with cancer of the pancreas, but a survey says their reaction was generally the same: They ignored it.

The study, made public in March 1981, said people who drink a cup or two of coffee a day are nearly twice as likely as non-drinkers to develop this form of cancer. The Harvard researchers who did the work cautioned that their discovery should be verified by other studies.

The report received wide publicity, and four months later, researchers from the University of New Mexico Medical Center conducted a telephone survey to find out what effect it had on people's habits.

They interviewed 566 people and found that 70 percent were coffee drinkers. Only one person contacted had specifically cut down on coffee consumption because of the article's findings, although 58 percent of the people said they knew about the coffee study.

Cunningham TPA President

T. H. (Hal) Cunningham

T. H. (Hal) Cunningham, publisher of The Llano News, was elected president of the Texas Press Association at its 103rd annual convention in San Antonio June 26.

Cunningham succeeds O. G. (Speedy) Nieman, publisher of The Hereford Brand, as head of the statewide press organization.

Born in Henrietta, Texas, Cunningham got printer's ink on his fingers, and likewise on his face and seat, working as a printer's devil for the Henrietta Independent and Henrietta Peoples Review while still a high school student, and he's never got it off.

After graduation from high school, he worked for The Electra Star before entering the University of Texas, where he worked his way through university as a Linotype operator at the University Press, now the Printing Division, setting type for The Daily Texan.

He served as reporter and night editor on The Daily Texan during his university years and also was a member of The Cactus staff (University yearbook).

Graduating in 1931, right in the middle of the great depression, with a bachelor of journalism degree, he started looking for a newspaper job.

Jobs were as scarce as snowballs in hell at that time, and the best offer he could find was $15.00 a week. The publisher, however, did say that if he were married, and his wife wanted to work, he'd pay $20.00 a week for both.

Since he was making the union scale of $39.00 a week as a Linotype operator, it seemed advisable to stick around for a while. He re-entered the university and obtained a master of journalism degree in 1934.

World War II came along, and he went into the army and eventually managed to get transferred to Air Force, where he worked in Air Force photographic laboratories for the duration of the war, serving as laboratory chief of Eighth Air Force base laboratories in England and Belgium and rising to the rank of master sergeant.

He returned to his job at the University Press after peace was declared, and for several years served as night foreman at the press.

During the summer months, when The Daily Texan only published weekly, Cunningham worked as waterfront director, teaching swimming and life saving, at Camp La Junta for Junior Boys at Hunt, Texas.

At that time, he was getting pretty sweet on a Kerrville school teacher named Hazel May, and it seemed like a good idea to go to Kerrville to look after his interests.

He took a job as director of Camp La Junta, and after a long and heated chase finally married Hazel.

Leaving the camping business in 1954, Cunningham worked for five years as news director of The Kerrville Mountain Sun, during which time he served a year as president of the Kerrville Kiwanis Club.

In March, 1959, Hazel and Hal bought The Llano News from the late Lewis Riddell, and he has published The News since that time.

He joined the Texas Press Association early on and served several times on the board of directors through the years, as well as six terms as secretary-treasurer before being elected to the office of second vice president in 1980.

In Llano, Cunningham has been worshipful master of Lodge No. 242, A.F. & A.M. and is a 32nd degree Mason and a member of Ben Hur Shrine Temple in Austin. He is also a past president of the Llano Lions Club.

Early in 1969 Cunningham met with Art Kowert of the Fredericksburg Standard, Ward Lowe of the Lampasas Herald-Dispatch, Howard Harrison of the San Saba News, L. B. Smith of the Brady Standard, Forest Salter of the Kerrville Mountain Sun, and Gerry Lions of the Mason County News to explore the possibilities of converting to offset printing.

The meeting resulted in the formation of the Hill Country Community Press, Inc. in Fredericksburg and the purchase of a three-unit Goss Community press with camera and platemaking equipment. The press was capable of printing all of the owners' papers as well as several more that are printed on a contract basis.

A year later they added a fourth unit to the press, and a year ago they purchased a fifth unit and a heavy duty folder, which gives them a capability of printing 20 pages in one section.

That was probably the best thing that ever happened to any of these publishers, for whereas The Llano News had been spending 12 to 13 hours a week on press and folder work, printing on an old Cranston drum cylinder press, they now leave Llano with their paste-ups at 9:30 Wednesday morning and usually are back by noon with the papers printed and folded.

Shortly afterward The Llano News bought a Compugraphic Linotype to replace the old Linotype for setting straight matter, and later added a Compugraphic 7200 to retire the Ludlow for display type.

Cunningham says there have been many headaches, a few heartaches, and a lot of pleasant experiences in the newspaper business through the years, but he hasn't seen another business yet that he'd rather be in.

into this but everything so far essentially confirms our expectations."

PCBs are used as cooling agents for electrical transformers. Their manufacture was banned in 1977 after researchers discovered possible links to cancer and birth defects.

The chemicals do not break down easily and cannot be disposed of at landfills. The EPA considers ocean incineration safer than burnings on land and has designated one disposal site in the Gulf of Mexico.

The Vulcanus, equipped with German-built incinerators, is docked at Mobile, Ala., and has been loading its cargo since June.

Wastler said the EPA is waiting to study final results of the first burn before given the ship permission to head to a disposal site 177 miles east of here.

Chemical Waste Management Inc. of Oakbrook, Ill., owns the Singapore-registered ship, which is managed by a Dutch company. The ship's owner has applied for permits to burn DDT, Silvex and a mixture of organic compounds in separate operations.

Some local officials and residents are upset that they did not know about the planned PCB burnings until after the official comment period ended.

The EPA refused to hold a formal hearing once the PCB permit had been approved but conducted an informal meeting in May here.

"What worries us is that they're going to burn it again and they're refusing to give us any information from the first time," said Ted Campagnolo, Cameron County assistant district attorney.

"Even at the meeting, they didn't give us anything of substance," he said.

An observation report filed by TRW scientist Donald Ackerman said two of three samplings of the combustion efficiency were unacceptable, Campagnolo said.

A Year Later

charges were dropped. Two of the men were then charged with misconduct in office, but those charges were also dismissed.

The policemen have denied all accusations, but a brutality complaint filed with the Fire and Police Commission by Lacy's mother five days after he died is pending. The commission, which suspended the officers with pay last summer, will hear oral arguments on the case July 19.

In the past year, a racially mixed group of citizens and civic leaders called the Coalition for Justice for Ernie Lacy has held rallies, protest marches, a department store boycott and a sit-in at the district attorney's office to press for action against Dekker, Eliopol and Kalt.

The group plans to march to police headquarters Friday to mark the anniversary of Lacy's death.

"It's a year later," said Howard Fuller, one of the Coalition leaders. "The cops

The EPA required the ship to destroy no less than 99.99999 percent of the material. Wastler said data shows a 99.99999 percent destruction rate.

Campagnolo said Ackerman also reported vibrations and problems with a camera that recorded efficiency ratings. He said the burning should have been halted when the camera went off.

Wastler confirmed the automatic camera malfunctioned but said the data also was recorded by hand.

Thieves

Before going to the bank, the guards had picked up a bag of checks from a nearby savings and loan association and stopped for some cash from a liquor store.

"To the best of my knowledge, no Mellon money was involved," Ms. Davis said. A law enforcement official who asked not to be identified said $15,000 was stolen.

Kimball said the "novel" holdup was viewed by many who watched the clowns perform, including children.

"They just looked like clowns with white makeup and baggy costumes, like they were at the circus," said Madeline Carlson, 27, who was eating lunch outside when the clowns arrived. "They were talking to little kids, just being your typical, friendly clowns."

Later, Ms. Carlson said, she heard a "commotion" and "an old lady hollering. 'Stop them! Stop them!'" year for second-offense DWI. Probation could only be granted after a defendant served at least 15 days in jail.

Subsequent DWI offenses now are felonies punishable by up to five years in prison and a fine of $100 to $5,000.

"This is so there be no total escape of jail time on a second offense," said Dyson.

Third offenses would be third-degree felonies punishable by 18-month drivers license suspension and mandatory jail time of at least 60 days.

Dyson's subcommittee also recommended a ban on deferred adjudication for DWI and a 90-day license suspension for drivers who refuse to take intoxication tests.

Accuses

Cabinet meeting in Jerusalem Wednesday. The ministers discussed "the political arrangements which will bring about the total evacuation of all the terrorists from Beirut and Lebanon," a Cabinet communique said.

Prime Minister Menachem Begin's spokesman, Uri Porat, said the Cabinet reiterated its refusal to allow the Palestinians to leave a political bureau in Beirut or station two small fighting units with the Lebanese army.

However, Israeli officials, who asked not to be named, said that once the PLO leaves and a strong Lebanese central government is established, Israel could not prevent the Palestinians from applying for permission to open ofices on Lebanese soil. "Our position is that they have to get out, and we are not negotiating terms," said one official. "We are negotiating only on the manner in which they will leave."

Israel Radio said a nine-point plan suggested by Habib and Lebanese negotiators provided for French forces and the U.S. Marines offered by President Reagan to supervise evacuation of the Palestinians to Latakia, a Syrian port north of Lebanon, on boats flying the International Israel flag.

The radio said that if disagreements were ironed out, a sea evacuation could begin Friday.

Habib and Arafat, said problems remained over how many Palestinians would leave west Beirut, where they would go, and how they would get there.

Salam told reporters the PLO wants "to go by land to the Bekaa Valley. To the Americans, this is like staying in Beirut."

The valley in eastern Lebanon is where most of Syria's 30,000-man Lebanese force has regrouped after fighting Israel in the early stages of the invasion. The Syrians are in Lebanon under an Arab League mandate to police the armistice that ended the nation's 1975-76 Moslem-Christian civil war, but they clashed repeatedly with Israel's Lebanese Christian allies.

Case Of Lacy Still Unresolved

MILWAUKEE (AP) — One year ago Friday, Ernest Lacy, a young black man mistakenly suspected of rape, died in a police van, and since then this city has been unable to shake the controversy surrounding his death.

Patrolmen James Dekker, Thomas Eliopol and George Kalt were cruising an area west of downtown on July 9, when police radio broadcast a description of a man wanted for a rape in the neighborhood.

The 22-year-old Lacy was at the corner of 23rd Street and Wisconsin Avenue when the tactical squad officers spotted him. He matched the description, and they stopped to question him.

But a struggle developed and the officers wrestled him to the ground. Lacy died en route to a hospital, and a few hours later the rape victim implicated someone else.

The three white officers were charged with homicide by reckless conduct, but the are still 'suspended with pay.' We think that it is critical that we continue to press that something be done. The reason we're out here is to say to Milwaukee and to the nation that nothing's been done."

Autopsies established how Lacy died — a lack of oxygen to the brain — but not why. An inquest jury heard testimony that the police knelt on Lacy's back, and the panel then ruled that Lacy died because continued pressure to his neck cut off his oxygen.

Mrytle Lacy has maintained from the day her son died that he would not have provoked a fight with police officers.

"That was not his character at all," she said in describing the third of her seven children. "He was a kind and considerate individual."

"Ernie's death was a terrible tragedy and even now it's painful to think about," she said. "My 8-year-old daughter for a long time was afraid to sleep alone. To see a police officer she'd get all frightened."

Mrs. Lacy said the Coalition's support has helped her deal with the heartache.

"It certainly has shown our family that there are people who care," she said. "The Coalition is made up of people of all different nationalities. A lot of people would like to think of this as a black-white thing. I think that it is a human issue."

Mrs. Lacy said she sympathized with the families of the officers involved. The men have not worked since the Fire and Police Commission suspended them last summer.

"They're suffering a great deal of personal problems," said Robert Kleismet, president of the Milwaukee Police Association.

The union assessed its members a special fee to loan the officers funds for legal expenses. The 1,800 union officers believe Dekker, Eliopol and Kalt have been "unjustly attacked," Kleismet said, adding that the case has "pulled together" the force.

Slave Traders

Not since Americans brought and bought slaves from Africa has there been such an influx of aliens; faster than we can count them. Recently one gang of people-smugglers was intercepted—operating on both sides of our border with Mex-

Each illegal paid his way with $600 or more.

This is the largest single ring of "slave-traders" since before the uncivil war.

Americans will be forever shamed by the selfish myopia of our ancestors who indentured slaves to work for them.

But we're still doing it.

Tolerance of the influx of illegals from Mexico, Cuba, Haiti, is justified by sociologists who say they are needed to perform stoop-labor.

Now You're Cookin'

"I like having summers off," says Marilyn Leasure, a math teacher at Hereford High School. "It's fun to have that length of time to be with my daughter, Cristin, and to catch up on projects around the house that I've not had time for."

Marilyn, a native of Amarillo who graduated from Hereford High School, attended Texas Tech, and earned her B.S. in education from West Texas State, has been a math teacher at HHS for six years.

"I love to teach," she comments, "and had always wanted to be a teacher."

Her husband, Ray, who has been a Hereford resident all of his life, is employed at Leisure Body Shop. He just graduated with honors from Amarillo College, says Marilyn, where he went to night school. He received an associate degree in aviation management and recently took the FAA Civil Service Test. Future plans include the possibility of going on to air traffic controller school.

Ray and Marilyn have one daughter, Cristin, who is almost two and a half years old.

This year, Marilyn is the drill team sponsor at HHS. This is her first year to sponsor the drill team, although she has been cheerleader sponsor in the past.

"We held a camp the first week in June," notes Marilyn, "meeting every day from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. We had tryouts and new sophomores and juniors were chosen to join the girls who'll be seniors in the fall."

During the summer, the team is sponsoring a beard growing contest in preparation for the Town and Country Jubilee. "This is our big project," says Marilyn.

When school starts, the drill team, which presently consists of 41 girls, will meet during a regularly scheduled class period to practice routines learned at camp or new ones they've made up. They will also meet once or twice a week with the band.

Marilyn is a member of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association (TCTA), which meets three or four times a year. She served on the district communications committee of the Deaf Smith County chapter this past year. This committee met once a month with the superintendent to discuss matters that would come up at the board meetings.

Last summer, Marilyn was among a group of young women who chartered Toujour Amis Study Club. "We chose the club name because it means 'friends always,'" comments Marilyn. "Next year I'll be treasurer of the club."

The club's big project both last year and this year is a concession stand featuring ice cream crepes in the Community Center during the Town and Country Jubilee. Last year the stand was only open one day but this year it will be open all three days. "We may have sandwiches this year, too," says Marilyn, "in addition to the crepes and beverages."

Besides her club involvement, Marilyn enjoys sewing, water skiing, and needlework. She teaches fourth grade Sunday school at First Baptist Church, where she also sings in the choir. One large project which Marilyn has completed is refinishing her piano. "I had refinished smaller things," she says, "but had never done anything this large."

Marilyn also enjoys cooking. The beef kabobs below are good in the summer, she says, because they can be cooked outdoors. The amount of meat can be varied for the family or for a larger gathering.

The salad recipes are nice in the summer because they're cold; and the apple pie is always a favorite, especially when you have your own apple tree. "I love to make pies," says Marilyn, "and like to bake as often as I can."

FIESTA BEEF KABOBS
1/2 envelope dry onion soup mix
2 Tbsp. sugar
1/2 c. catsup
1/4 c. vinegar
1/4 c. salad oil
1 Tbsp. prepared mustard
1/4 tsp. salt
dash of bottled hot sauce
3 lbs. sirloin tips cut into 1-inch cubes instant meat tenderizer

In saucepan, combine first eight ingredients and 1/2 cup water; bring to boil, reduce heat and simmer 20 minutes.

Annual Barbecue Slated

Saturday evening is the date of the fourth annual barbecue sponsored by the King's Manor Founders Association. Barbecue, beans, and all the trimmings will be served from 5 to 9 p.m. on the grounds at the Manor, with entertainment by the Blue Grass Band of Dimmitt, brought back from last year by popular demand. Tickets for the 'all you can eat' meal are $10 per person

Cool.

Add meat; toss to coat. Refrigerate overnight.

Drain meat. Use the marinade to brush on skewered meat while cooking. Use meat tenderizer if needed. Thread meat on skewers, alternating with green pepper and tomato chunks. Broil over coals or in oven.

CAULIFLOWER SALAD
1 head cauliflower, sliced
1/2 c. green onions, chopped
1/2 c. celery, chopped
1/2 c. celery leaves, chopped
1/2 c. sour cream or mayonnaise

1/4 c. French dressing
3/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. caraway seed
Mix sour cream, French dressing, salt, and caraway seed. Pour over vegetables. Let stand for flavors to blend.

FROZEN FRUIT SALAD
2 c. sour cream
2 Tbsp. lemon juice
3/4 c. sugar
1/8 tsp. salt
1 (9 oz.) can crushed pineapple, drained
1/4 c. sliced maraschino cherries
1/4 c. chopped pecans
1 banana, sliced
Blend first four ingredients. Stir in fruit and nuts. Press into square pyrex dish and freeze until ready to serve.

FRESH APPLE PIE
Pastry:
2 c. flour
1 tsp. salt
two thirds c. Crisco
5-6 Tbsp. ice water
Cut shortening into flour and salt. Add water and stir with fork. Divide into two parts. Roll out for pie.

Filling:
6-8 tart apples, pared, cored, and sliced
3/4 to 1 c. sugar
2 Tbsp. flour
1/2 to 1 tsp. cinnamon dash nutmeg
lemon juice, optional
2 Tbsp. butter
If apples lack tartness, sprinkle with about 1 Tablespoon of lemon juice. Combine filling ingredients and pour into crust. Dot butter on top. Place top crust over filling and make slits. Bake at 400 degrees approximately 50 minutes.

or $25 for a family of four. Contact Nadine Hill, chairman of advance ticket sales, at 364-1706, or King's Manor at 364-0661, to obtain tickets. The Founders Association is an organization committed to helping King's Manor continue to provide the dedicated and loving care for which the home has been noted since its beginning in 1962, notes Donald Hicks, president of the association.

Rebekahs Plan Regional Picnic

A committee was appointed to make final plans for a regional picnic during the Hereford Rebekah Lodge No. 228 regular meeting Tuesday evening. The picnic will be held at the 100F Temple Aug. 1, and will be for all lodge members and their families. Noble Grand Roberta Combs presided as reports were made. Twenty-five members were present.

Virginia Easley, a new member received in the Rebekah Degree June 29, was given a special welcome to her first regular meeting.

Installation of new officers will be held at the July 13 meeting. Formal dress is requested.

Lydia Hopson was hostess to Ursalee Jacobsen, Edna Mathes, Verna Sowell, Ruth Rogers, Lavita Fitzgerald, Irene Merritt, Mary Belle Manning, Peggy Lemons, Sadie Shaw, Helen Bishop, Billie Sims.

Also Nellie Beauford, Beth Hall, Ada Hollabaugh, Bessie Saulcy, Eugenia Combs, Susie Curtsinger, Karrol Rettmann, Faye Brownlow, Elmer Combs, Gene Bishop, David Rettman, Ms. Easley, and Ms. Combs.

Paper Drive

This Weekend

St. Anthony's School will hold its monthly paper drive this weekend. Local residents are urged to donate newspapers, magazines, catalogues, and other non-glossy papers.

Newspapers should be bundled separately from other papers. All items can be brought to a truck parked on the school parking lot Saturday and Sunday.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

Camps for kids are big business in this country. And the more mothers who enter the labor marketplace, the more creative they become.

All you have to do is to look at your kids and decide: Are they overweight? Need help in math? Have to improve their tennis game? Learn how to ride horseback? Prepare for survival? Or immerse themselves in two weeks of the newest camp of video games?

In other words, "You send us a bored kid and we'll run his fanny into the ground."

I'm the product of a hundred church camps that majored in Social Interaction (short-sleeved shirts), Nature Lore (you too can take home your own tick for a pet), Crafts (macaroni necklaces are not a girl's best friend), Adventures in Food (raw hamburger and burnt marshmallows cooked over a coffee can) and Group Dynamics (the group just ripped off my bathing suit and candy allowance).

I usually arrived home weak from the bites of a million mosquitoes, eyes puffy from lack of sleep and numb from the experience.

The problem seems to stem from the fact that we are feeding a myth. In order to have a good time you have to travel to some godforsaken area, with plumbing that doesn't work, beds with two-inch mattresses; a lake that is frozen over in August and a recorded tom-tom. Somewhere it is written that every child wants to climb a tree, set the leg of a bird, scrape his knee on a rock and sit around a campfire coughing. Some children do. They grow up to be campers.

Other children have no desire to do any of that. When you think about it, what's so un-American about a camp at the Plaza where a kid pays the same amount of money and sits in a hotel room all day watching TV and ringing up room service? In the evening, he could play on the elevators and run around the lobby knocking over people.

Just think what an experience like that could mean in a child's life. It could revive our cities.

Be Picky When Making Sauerkraut

COLLEGE STATION -- Really "good" sauerkraut has a tart and tangy flavor, it's crisp, firm and has a bright creamy-white color -- because the "home pickler" was picky about making it, says Mary K. Sweeten, a food and nutrition specialist.

Sweeten is with the Home Economics Program of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Sauerkraut and dilled cucumbers belong to a group of pickle products known as brined or fermented pickle products. The curing process for this group takes about three weeks, Sweeten says.

A satisfactory pickled product can result only when its maker is careful about ingredients and the process, she stresses.

Use only high-quality ingredients and correct portions. Find a tested recipe, such as the U.S. Department of Agriculture "Sauerkraut Recipe," and follow it carefully, Sweeten says.

Here's the recipe:
USDA SAUERKRAUT RECIPE

(Yields 14 to 15 quarts)
Cabbage, about 50 pounds
Salt, pure granulated, 1 pound (1 1/2 cups)

Remove the outer leaves and any undesirable portions from firm, mature heads of cabbage; discard. Wash and drain remaining cabbage.

Cut into halves or quarters; remove the core.

Use a shredder or sharp knife to cut the cabbage into thin shreds about the thickness of a dime.

In a large container, thoroughly mix three tablespoons salt with five pounds shredded cabbage.

Let the salted cabbage stand for several minutes to wilt slightly. This allows packing without excessive breaking or bruising of the shreds.

Pack the salted cabbage firmly and evenly into a clean, five-gallon crock or jar.

Using a wooden spoon or tamper or your hands, press down firmly until the juice comes to the surface.

Repeat the shredding, salting, and packing of cabbage until the crock is filled to within three or four inches from the top.

A five-gallon crock will hold about 35 pounds of prepared, salted cabbage.

Cover cabbage with a heavyweight, water-filled plastic bag that fits snugly against the cabbage and against the sides of the container to prevent exposure to air.

The bag should be of heavyweight, watertight plastic and intended for use with food.

Store at room temperature (68 degrees to 72 degrees F.) for three weeks while cabbage is fermenting.

To process: heat sauerkraut to simmering (185 degrees to 210 degrees F.).

Pack hot sauerkraut into clean, hot jars and cover with hot juice to one-half inch from top of jar.

Adjust jar lid, following the manufacturer's directions for two-piece lids or for porcelain-lined zinc cap with shoulder and double ring.

Process in boiling water bath: 15 minutes for pints; 20 minutes for quarts (start to count processing time as soon as the hot jars are placed in the actively boiling water.)

Remove jars, and complete seals if necessary.

Completion of the seal will be necessary only on the porcelain-lined zinc cap. Immediately after processing and removal of the jar from the canner, screw the cap down tight to complete the seal.

Do not tighten the screw band further after processing on the two-piece flat-lid-and-screw-band type of seal.

Set jars upright on a wire rack or folded towel to cool. Place them several inches apart.

AVOIDING SPOILAGE
Following a tested recipe such as the one above can help the home pickler avoid several of the common causes of spoilage in sauerkraut.

Signs that sauerkraut is spoiled include off flavors, off odors, and undesirable color and soft texture.

Too-soft texture is the result of several possible problems -- too little salt, too-high temperature during fermentation or improper packing that allowed air pockets.

A pink color in kraut is caused by a yeast on the surface of the kraut. This yeast can grow if there is too much salt -- or if salt is not evenly distributed. Improper covering or improper weighting down of the kraut -- too little weighting down or a too-loose cover -- also can cause the pink color from yeast growth.

Dark-colored sauerkraut is another spoilage problem caused in some cases by exposure to air and high temperatures during fermentation, processing and storage, along with too-long storage.

Also, to avoid too-dark sauerkraut, wash it thoroughly and carefully trim according to instructions above. Be sure enough liquid covers it during fermentation, and make sure salt is evenly distributed.

You can store sauerkraut up to a year in a cool, dry place without quality loss.

Clean Up Your Air

COLLEGE STATION -- Indoor pollutants are a hidden health threat. Are they conquering your home's air?

If so, clean up your air, advises Dr. Jane Berry, a housing and home furnishings specialist on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Indoor pollutants that are potential hazards for humans include carbon dioxide, carbon monoxide, formaldehyde gas, ultraviolet light waves, other chemical vapors, dust, pollen and tobacco smoke, she says.

Berry recommends three methods for controlling indoor pollution.

1) Allow enough fresh outside air to come inside to dilute indoor pollutants by using an air-to-air heat exchange system to pre-heat or pre-cool outside air. As the system pre-heats or pre-cools outside air, it saves energy that would otherwise be used by your main cooling or heating system -- and it cleans your inside air. This system is a small supplemental device available from many heating and cooling companies.

2) Bring outside air indoors with adequate ventilation -- this could be with vents or simply the occasional opening of windows and doors.

3) Use filters, air cleaners or heating or cooling coils to remove smoke, odors and other pollutants.

Public Invited To Style Show

The community is invited to attend the 4-H "Panhandle Rays of Fashion" Style Show Friday at Sugarland Mall. The show begins at 2 p.m.

Fifteen girls will model garments which they have constructed for the 4-H clothing project.

There are four age divisions: eight years and under, 9 to 11, 12 and 13, and 14 through 19. Withing the top three divisions, there will be four categories including daytime tailored, daytime non-tailored, active sportswear, and evening specialty wear.

BAKE SALE SCHEDULED

Members of Mt. Sinai Baptist Senior Choir have scheduled a bake sale Friday and Saturday beginning at 9 a.m. at Sugarland Mall.

ROCK ON

By Ethlie Ann Vare

REVIEWS

The Clash — "Combat Rock" (Epic) — Intensely political, musically memorable, stirring and gutsy... The Clash are at their most... "Combat Rock" shows once again that "the only band that counts" continues to carve its niche in the '80s.

First Edition (Editions EG) — Rarities by Brian Eno, Adam Ant, the Lounge Lizards, Killing Joke and others. The gems outweigh the dross by far in this collector's collection. The Penguin Cafe Orchestra is a delightful discovery.

Wow Wow — "Last of the Mohicans" (RCA) — Only four songs on this mini-LP, but they're all pretty good — especially the remake of the Strangloves' "I Want Candy." The record was produced by Kenny Laguna of Joan Jett fame.

Roxy Music — "Avalon" (Warner Brothers) — Now a trio augmented by session musicians, Roxy Music (Phil Manzanera, Brian Ferry and Andy Mackay) are working with a new label and a new progressive/art rock sound.

The songs are as pretty as an Impressionist painting... and almost as static.

Melanie — "Arabesque" (Blache/Jem) — Remember the sweet folk-rocker of the late '60s-early '70s ("Candles in the Rain," "Brand New Key")? She's grown up with the rest of the Woodstock Generation; the huskier, sadder voice speaks of experience and a hard knock or two. The LP should strike a responsive chord in old friends.

Lamont Cranston Band — "Shakedown" (RCA) — Eight veteran rockers from the Midwest, the Lamont Cranston Band (no, there is no Lamont in the band; he is the alias of the classic radio character "The Shadow") plays all-American barnstorm music with verve. J. Geils fans take note.

The Beatles — "Talk Down Under" (PVC/Jem) — All this is, is a compilation of interviews the Beatles did during the 1964 Australian tour. One would say that only the direct fanatic might be interested in these muddy re-recordings. And yet the innocence, naivete and charm of these suddenly notorious boys (then in their early twenties) seen in the light of what has come after, can bring even a non-believer to the verge of tears.

SCOOPS — As expected, ABC has given the green light to producer Leonard Goldberg and United Artists-TV to develop a series based on "Paper Dolls," the recent TV-movie about teen-aged models. The two-hour film received huge Nielsen ratings because of its cast that included Jennifer Warren, Craig T. Nelson, Joan Collins, Darryl Hannah and Alexandra Paul.

The "Paper Dolls" series, which could be added to ABC's schedule by November or December, will probably have to do without both Miss Collins, because of her commitments to "Dynasty," and Miss Paul, who intends to study at Stanford this fall.

GLORIA LOVES LUCY — British actress Lucy Gutteridge winged her way across the Atlantic to star in NBC's opulent mini-series, "Little Gloria... Happy At Last," which will air sometime during the 1982-83 season. Miss Gutteridge, who is best-known for her work in PBS's "Love in a Cold Climate," plays Gloria Vanderbilt's mother, Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt.

PILOT FEVER — NBC, which filled its early summer schedule with failed pilots, will continue to do so, hoping that one or two may find an audience.

ABC has two pilots that may be aired later this summer. "Travis McGee," a two-hour adventure saga about a detective and his travels stars Sam Elliott in the title role. "The Outlaws" features Charles Rocket and Chris Lemmon as two guys who weave their way in and out of trouble.

MOVIE, MOVIE — Susan St. James will make "Surprise, Surprise," a two-hour TV movie for CBS via UA-TV. It's a romantic comedy... Sandra Locke, Clint Eastwood's girlfriend, will appear in the CBS-TV film, "The Rosemary Clooney Story."

ADDITIONS — Melanie Vincz will portray an aerobics dance instructor in the forthcoming "Devil Connection" series for NBC. Rock Hudson, Jack Scall and Leigh-Taylor Young also star.

Preparations Underway For Pageant

Plans are being finalized for the Miss Hereford Pageant, scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Aug. 14, in the Hereford High School Auditorium. Eighteen contestants have entered the pageant and will be judged in three areas: interview, talent, and evening wear.

Talent competition will be held at 2 p.m. the afternoon of Aug. 14, with eight finalists to be chosen to present their talent during the evening program.

Interviews will be at the E.B. Black House the morning of the pageant. Cash awards will be presented to the winner of the pageant and first and second runner-up. Miss Congeniality, chosen by the girls, and a talent award recipient, new this year, will both receive silver platters. The first three winners will receive silver platters in addition to their cash prizes.

Division quarterly meeting, July 13. A hot dog party is planned for July 19.

Rehearsals for the pageant start Aug. 7. Keith Ann Gearnis is pageant director. Shirley Wilson is chairman of the Miss Hereford steering committee, and other members of the committee are Carolyn Canon, Janice Faulkner, Lyndia Muse, Betty Lady, Mary Herring, and DeeAnn Trotter.

Each contestant is sponsored by a local business and will wear a banner with her sponsor's name on it during the pageant and at prior events. Sponsors donate funds to help make the pageant possible.

Turkey Deli Slices Voted Tops In The Sandwich Sweepstakes

Sliced turkey luncheon meat is a real winner in every way. It's higher in protein and lower in fat and cholesterol, but the flavor comes right from the corner delicatessen.

With turkey ham, turkey salami, turkey pastrami and turkey bologna to choose from, you can easily rev up a fat "Dagwood" sandwich with all the trimmings. The flavor is a product of the curing process, so you get the nutritive benefits of turkey with deli flavor and aroma. If you prefer a more traditional turkey flavor, smoked turkey breast and oven-roasted turkey breast also come sliced and ready for that special sandwich.

These sliced turkey luncheon meats are wrapped in a neat, see-through package and provide a high-protein sandwich filling that blends well with tomatoes, onions, cheese, lettuce and a variety of savory sandwich spreads.

Pick your favorite spread or "mix and match" and spread generously on each sandwich.

CREAMY RELISH: Combine 1/2 cup sour cream with 1 tablespoon pickle relish.

PIMENTO CHEESE: Combine 1 cup finely grated cheddar cheese with 1/4 cup finely chopped pimento, 1 tablespoon French dressing.

ZESTY CHEESE: Combine 1 cup finely grated cheese with 1/4 cup mayonnaise, 1/4 cup finely chopped green onion, 1 teaspoon mustard and dash of red pepper.

All former Miss Hereford winners have been invited back and are to provide entertainment during the pageant. Reigning Miss Hereford in Dana Ulibarri.

John Dawson will be master of ceremonies at the pageant, the theme of which is "The Rainbow Connection."

Contestants recently participated in a modeling and make-up session with Carmen Flood. They were introduced at the Chamber of Commerce June Fun Breakfast and will be introduced at the Women's

All-Star Hurlers Named

All-Star Selections Just Popularity Contest Winners

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP
Special Correspondent

Baseball had to decide whether it wanted its annual All-Star Game to be a popularity contest or a real-live competition with flying spikes, and it made its choice.

It's "Mr. America" in cleats and high stirrups. Strike up the band. Let's have it from Bert Parks. Let the guys parade to the plate instead of down the runway while fans applaud to the lyrics of "There you go...Mr. America."

Accept it. It's a parade of baseball's current greats and near-greats. The game itself proves nothing except that once a year in the heat of mid-summer fans want to salute their diamond heroes in one spectacular cluster.

Meanwhile, debate sizzles among the hard-core buffs over the voting process that would allow a .143 hitter such as the New York Yankees' Bucky Dent to lead the balloting until almost the very end.

How can you pass up a guy like Milwaukee's Cecil Cooper with his remarkable statistics — .322 batting average, 17 home runs and 64 runs batted in — even though the top vote-getter is an established star, Rod Carew, hitting .305 with one homer and 19 RBI for the California Angels?

What were the millions of voters thinking when they dropped Lonnie Smith of the Cardinals to 14th in the voting although his .308 bat, 41 RBI and 41 stolen bases have been instrumental in turning St. Louis into one of the hottest teams in the National League?

Why not Al Oliver, the Expos' splendid first baseman who is batting .325 with 13 home runs and 58 RBI, instead of Pete Rose (.292) of the Phillies or slumping Steve Garvey (.256) of the Dodgers, both finishing ahead of him for the position in the NL.

How could there be a 1982 All-Star game in Montreal next Tuesday without having Toby Harrah of the Cleveland Indians at third base with his .343 batting average, 15 homers and 44 runs batted in, or Kansas City's Willie Wilson in the outfield, with his speed, fine arm and league-leading .350 batting average?

Easy. Fans vote with their hearts not their heads. If you were a dyed-in-the-wool baseball fan, whom would you rather see, up close and in living color — Al Oliver or Pete Rose, the latter a hunk of grit and hustle who is wiping out many of Toby Cobb's proudest records.

Voting by the fans is not perfect. Cooper, Harrah, Oliver, Lonnie Smith — they have legitimate gripes. But they must face the cold, hard truth.

Fans, with a choice, will take the sure Hall of Famer over glossy statistics for half a season.

Every time. It's the nature of the beast.

Dazzled Semifinalists Take Step Toward World Cup

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Italy, Poland, West Germany and France — all a bit dazed by their success — took their shots at getting to the final of the 12th World Cup soccer tournament.

Italy and Poland met today at Barcelona in one semifinal match, while France and West Germany played at Seville.

The winners will meet Sunday in Madrid for the championship. The losers play Saturday in Alicante.

The pressure seemed greater on West Germany, the reigning European champion playing in the first all-European semifinals in 16 years, and on the crafty giant-killers from Italy, who beat defending champion Argentina and tournament favorite Brazil to get into the semifinals.

Italy took the world soccer title in 1934 and 1938, while the West Germans did it in 1954 and 1974. Brazil was the only team to win three, in 1958, 1962 and 1970.

France's best finish was third in 1958, matched by Poland in 1974.

"We are very satisfied, but we must want to win. The most important thing is to keep our enthusiasm," French coach Michel Hidalgo said Wednesday in Seville.

"I insist only that the players at this stage must show the determination and concentration that has led to our wins over Brazil and Argentina," said Italian coach Enzo Bearzot. "We deserved to reach the final in 1978 and we missed it. I don't want this to happen again." "The final would be an unprecedented achievement for our team, an enormous reward for us and for the whole country," said Antoni Piechniczek, the Polish coach. A day earlier he had been saying that Poland's only goal was to get to the semis, and that anything more was gravy.

Poland and Italy worked out Wednesday in Barcelona, where the heat has reached record levels — 100 degrees on Tuesday — and the air is full of smoke and ash from forest fires outside town.

"This heat can kill anyone," said Bearzot, who reported that it had deprived his players of sleep. He prescribed a special diet with vegetables, sugar, liquid and vitamins, and expected everyone to be fit for the game.

Italy was without star defender Claudio Gentile and Poland without striker Zbigniew Boniek, a four-goal scorer in the tournament. Both were suspended one game after drawing two yellow penalty cards.

West German captain Karl-Heinz Rummenigge, also a four-goal scorer, was doubtful with a leg injury, and France may be without Dominique Rocheteau, who accounted for half the French scoring in a 4-1 win over Northern Ireland to qualify for the semis.

West Germany was unbeaten against European teams for four years, but shocked everyone by losing to unheralded Algeria in its first Cup match.

Levi Unshaken By Anonymity

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wayne Levi draws little respect, little recognition and small galleries on the PGA Tour.

"It doesn't bother me at all if I'm known as an underrated player. I'm no glory hound," said Levi Wednesday on the eve of the $250,000 Greater Milwaukee Open.

The way he's been playing this year, Levi may have trouble avoiding the spotlight much longer.

The only member of the yearly top 10 money-winners playing in the GMO, Levi's earnings are just shy of $180,000, by far his best in six tour years.

In 1982, he has won the Hawaiian Open, finished second in the Memorial Tournament and third at Atlanta. He has six top ten finishes in 17 starts, ranking eighth on the current money list. Why, Levi was asked after a pro-am prelude, has he played so well this year?

"The big change is my attitude. Before, I let bad shots bother me. I hadn't played up to my potential. I should have been making the money I am now making.

"I've got my head screwed on right."

Schabarum, a Los Angeles County supervisor, cast the only negative vote and said he saw only a $30,000 per year gain for the Coliseum during the first three years of the agreement.

Los Angeles Coliseum Commissioner J. Stanley Sanders, took issue with that, saying, "Isn't that better than losing $500,000 a year with no professional football team?"

After a lengthy debate, the Commission agreed with its negotiations committee in approving the agreement. A more formal contract will come later.

pass up Chicago's LaMarr Hoyt and Milwaukee's Pete Vuckovich, both 10-game winners. He has three shutouts and is expected to be the AL starting pitcher, although Martin will not formalize his selection until Monday when he announces his batting order.

Guidry is 8-3 with a 3.53 ERA. Bannister is 8-4 with a 2.85 ERA and leads the league with 106 strikeouts. Clancy is 7-5 with a 3.33 ERA.

Eckersley, 9-6 with a 3.25 ERA, is the top winner on the AL staff as Martin chose to save 28 and posted a 1.04 ERA. His 288 career saves are more than any man in history. He was the losing pitcher in the 1981 All-Star Game, won by the National League 5-4 at Cleveland.

Gossage, selected to an All-Star team for the ninth time, was the loser in the 1978 Game when he gave up four runs in one inning as the NL won 7-3. He is 3-3 with 15 saves and a 2.45 ERA. Clear is 6-3 with 11 saves and a 1.92 ERA.

Guidry and Bannister are the lone left-handers on the team.

Raiders Rent Coliseum; Ready for Season

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Though the move may not be permanent, Al Davis is ready to take his Oakland Raiders to Los Angeles for the 1982 National Football League season.

Davis, the managing general partner of the Raiders, signed a 10-year agreement Wednesday with the Coliseum Commission to make the move.

He also has a practice field once the season begins and the approval of his players to make the switch, although it means hardships for many of them.

Davis will start selling season tickets before the month is over and in the future will build luxury boxes for the elite among his club's followers.

The commission, by a 7-1 vote, approved an agreement for a 10-year lease for the Raiders to replace the departed Los Angeles Rams, who left the Coliseum in 1980 to move to nearby Anaheim.

And in court, there was action to call the club the Los Angeles Raiders.

An advance of $6.7 million, on a loan basis, was part of the pact approved to move the Raiders from the 54,000-seat Oakland Coliseum to the L.A. Coliseum, which seats 90,000.

The switch has been avidly opposed by the NFL, which lost an anti-trust suit in federal court last May 7 and is appealing. Also pending is an eminent domain suit by the City of Oakland, which claims that the Raiders are part of its personal property.

Davis, thwarted in a proposed move in 1980 by NFL court action, said, "I hope now this is the last step to move the Raiders to L.A. for 1982."

Both the University of Southern California and UCLA, who play their home games at the Coliseum, voiced objections to the agreement, mainly because the luxury boxes will delete some seats between the goal lines.

Lollar No All-Star, But Now Has 9-2 Record

By DENNIS D'AGOSTINO
Associated Press Writer

Earlier in the day, eight pitchers had been named to the National League squad for the All-Star Game. But in the steamy visitors dressing room at Veterans Stadium in Philadelphia, the spotlight belonged to a left-hander who had not been named — and was not shy to vent his displeasure.

San Diego's Tim Lollar, who will not be in the NL dugout Tuesday in Montreal, increased his record to 9-2 by scattering six Philadelphia hits in seven innings of work as the Padres stopped the Phillies, 5-3 Wednesday night.

In other NL games, Houston topped Chicago 5-1, Los Angeles beat Montreal 3-1, Cincinnati defeated Pittsburgh 6-3, San Francisco nipped New York 3-2 and Atlanta beat St. Louis 3-2. "That's his decision," said

Lollar, referring to Los Angeles Manager Tom Lasorda, who will pilot the NL team. "He took what he figured were All-Star pitchers. But I have all the statistics. I'm in the Top 10 in most (pitching) categories." Lollar, owner of a 2.74 earned run average, leads the NL with an .818 winning percentage. He said he felt the heated rivalry between the Dodgers and Padres influenced Lasorda's decision. Astros 5, Cubs 1. Houston's Don Sutton became the 33rd pitcher in major league history to chalk up 250 career victories as he four-hit the Cubs.

Sutton, 9-4, wasted no time setting his sights ahead. Houston's Phil Garner slammed a two-run homer off loser Allen Ripley, 3-1. It was his sixth homer of the season and second in three games. Dodgers 3, Expos 1. Fernando Valenzuela, named to the NL All-Star team for the second straight year, became the majors' first 12-game winner as he sent the slumping Expos to their fourth straight defeat and their 13th in 16 contests.

Valenzuela, 12-6, scattered eight hits and was buoyed by rookie Mike Marshall's two-run homer in the sixth inning. Marshall replaced first baseman Steve Garvey, hobbled by a pulled hamstring muscle, in the first inning. Garvey fled out to center field in his only at-bat, keeping alive his 1,029 consecutive-game streak.

Tom Hume, 2-4, who was named to the NL All-Star team before the game. Giants 3, Mets 2. Reggie Smith's two-run homer highlighted a three-run Giant uprising in the eighth inning, as the Mets fell to their fifth straight loss and the 14th in their last 18 games.

Smith's blast ruined loser Brent Gaff's major league debut. Gaff had shut out the Giants until the eighth inning. Winner Rich Gale, 3-8, recorded eight strikeouts in seven innings of work. Greg Minton, named to the NL All-Star squad, worked the last two innings to pick up his 13th save.

Braves 3, Cardinals 2. Braves rookie Randy Johnson ended St. Louis right-hander Joaquin Andujar's no-hit bid with a leadoff double in the sixth inning. It keyed a two-run rally as the Braves edged the Cards. Andujar, 7-7, lost his no-hitter in the sixth, and his cool in the next inning after being ejected for hitting Bob Horner with a pitch. Following his ejection, Andujar threw his hat in the air, flung his glove aside and argued with the umpires for about five minutes before cooling off.

Rick Camp, 6-3, picked up the victory, while Gene Garber notched his 16th save as the first-place Braves maintained a 3½-game lead in the NL West. The loss kept the Cards .002 behind the first-place Phillies in the NL East.

Barnes Restrained Despite Three Homers Against Tigers

By TOM CANAVAN
Associated Press Writer

Harold Baines may be a little reluctant when it comes to taking a bow. Dave Winfield isn't.

Baines belted three consecutive home runs Wednesday night, capping the binge with an eighth-inning grand slam, as the Chicago White Sox routed the Detroit Tigers 7-0 behind the seven-hit pitching of Dennis Lamp.

Winfield, who has been on a home run barrage of his own over the last nine games, slammed a three-run shot in the first inning as the New York Yankees edged Oakland 5-3 and denied Billy Martin his 1,000th career victory as a manager.

It was the first time the 23-year-old Baines had ever hit three home runs in a game, but his reaction was rather restrained.

"It felt good inside, but I didn't jump up and down," said Baines, who added that his teammates "practically pushed me up the stairs" to acknowledge the cheers of the crowd after the grand slam.

Winfield wasn't asked by the Oakland crowd to take a bow, but he took the opportunity to lash out at Yankee owner George Steinbrenner, who criticized the outfielder as failing to live up to "superstar status."

"I think he spoke too soon," said Winfield of Steinbrenner's comments. "But I want to make it clear to everyone, that this isn't a motivation tool for me."

Winfield also was upset by his failure to gain a starting spot on the American League All-Star team, selected by the fans.

"I'd have voted for me to play," said Winfield, who is hitting .308 with 15 home runs.

In other AL games, Boston downed Texas 8-5, Minnesota outlasted Milwaukee 11-8, Kansas City nipped Toronto 3-1. Seattle defeated Baltimore 8-7 and Cleveland got by California 8-6.

Baines started his home run barrage with a leadoff shot in the fifth inning off Detroit starter Jerry Ujdur to give the White Sox a 1-0 lead. He increased the margin to 2-0 with his eighth home run of the season in the seventh inning, another leadoff blast off Ujdur, 1-5.

Lamp, 6-3, struck out seven and walked none in going the distance for only the second time this season. Yankees 5, A's 3.

Roger Erickson, 6-7, worked seven innings, scattering six hits and striking out six in picking up the victory.

Winfield drilled his 15th homer deep into the left-field stands after a leadoff single by Willie Randolph and a walk to Ken Griffey to give the Yankees a 3-0 lead.

Oakland made it 3-1 in bottom of the first on Rickey Henderson's triple and Dwayne Murphy's groundout. They added an unearned run in the fifth. Jeff Burroughs hit a pinch hit homer for the A's in the eighth.

The Yankees added two runs in the eighth when Jerry Mumphrey delivered a bases-loaded single.

Twins 11, Brewers 8. Gary Gaetti slammed a three-run homer to highlight a six-run second inning as Minnesota pounded out 15 hits and outlasted Milwaukee in the last five games.

The Twins, who have the worst record in the majors this season, also got a two-run homer from Tim Lardner. Robin Yount and Ted Simmons crashed two-run homers for the Brewers, who slipped into second place in the AL East, a game behind Boston.

Red Sox 8, Rangers 5. Dwight Evans and Jim Rice crashed consecutive fifth-inning home runs to lead a 16-hit barrage and Boston withstood a five-run Texas ninth inning to move back into first place in the AL East.

Boston broke a scoreless tie in the fifth against Texas starter Charlie Hough, 7-6, as Jerry Remy singled, Evans crashed his 10th homer and Rice followed with his 12th.

Boston added four more runs in the seventh and another in the ninth before Texas rallied on Larry Parrish's second grand slam in four days and Bill Stein's pinch homer off reliever Mark Clear.

Indians 8, Angels 6. Rick Waits pitched five-hit ball for six innings to pick up his first victory of the season and Von Hayes belted a two-run homer as Cleveland edged California, extending the Angels' losing streak to eight games and snapping the Tribe's five-game skid.

California scored five runs in the seventh on a two-run homer by Fred Lynn and Reggie Jackson's three-run shot off Dan Spillner, who recorded his 10th save. It was Jackson's 18th of the season and his third in the last five games.

Royals 3, Blue Jays 1. Larry Gura tossed a four-hitter and Willie Aikens and Jerry Martin slammed solo home runs as Kansas City posted its sixth victory in the last seven games.

Gura, 10-4, struck out two and walked one, while giving up Jesse Barfield's seventh home run of the season. Hard-luck Blue Jays starter Jim Clancy, 7-6, yielded five hits in taking the loss.

Mariners 8, Orioles 7. Todd Cruz delivered a two-out, ninth-inning single to score pinch-runner Bobby Brown with the winning run as Seattle beat Baltimore.

The victory pushed the Mariners six games over .500, their best mark ever, at 44-38, giving Seattle its 25th come-from-behind victory.

Baltimore took a 3-0 lead in the second inning on an RBI single by Joe Nolan and Al Bumby's two-run single. John Lowenstein added a three-run homer in the third.

Seattle's Dave Henderson had a two-run double and scored twice.

Back Injury Slows Casper

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — An ailing back may hurt Billy Casper in his bid to get even with Arnold Palmer in the U.S. Senior Open golf tournament.

Casper, who lost last year to Palmer in a three-way playoff, twisted his back earlier this week while hoisting luggage from an automobile trunk.

"Some of us aren't smart enough to have others lift the luggage," he explained.

But Casper, 51, did not seem to be bothered by the back in practice rounds Tuesday and Wednesday. The tournament, which runs through Sunday, starts today.

Casper has the reputation of being one of the best putters ever to play the game. But he said driving might be the key to victory on the par-71, 6,489-yard Portland Golf Club course.

"This is a tremendous driving course," Casper said. "They lengthened 18, which I don't necessarily agree with, and 15 (a par-4 at 460 yards) is going to eliminate a lot of short hitters."

The $150,000 tournament, the top senior golf event in the country, is in its third year. The first tournament, which had a minimum age limit of 55, was won by Argentine Roberto De Vicenzo.

The age limit was dropped to 50 for last year's tournament, which Palmer won in an 18-hole playoff with Casper and Michigan club professional Bob Stone in Birmingham, Mich.

Others in the field include: —Palmer, 52, whose "Arnie's Army" materialized as soon as he arrived and has been crowding the course during practice rounds.

Palmer, who has been followed by up to 1,000 people at the course, has won 61 Professional Golfers Association tournaments.

—Gene Littler, 51, last year's leading money winner on the seniors' tour with $137,427.

—Mike Souchak, 55, who set the PGA tournament scoring record with 257 for 72 holes in the 1955 Texas Open.

—Bob Goalby, 53, the senior tour's top money winner this year at $35,550.

Miller Barber and Dow Finsterwald also are entered. Sam Snead, 70, had to withdraw because of eye trouble.

The course, in Portland's West Hills, was designed in 1914. It was the site of the first major victory for Ben Hogan, who won the PGA championship there in 1946.

The 1947 Ryder Cup match was played at the club. Casper won the old Portland Open on the course for three consecutive years.

In addition to being longer, the course has narrower fairways than when Casper last played here.

The winner will get $25,000. If there is a first-place tie, an 18-hole playoff would be played Monday. There are 150 golfers in the field, including some amateurs.

Red Sox 8, Rangers 5. Dwight Evans and Jim Rice crashed consecutive fifth-inning home runs to lead a 16-hit barrage and Boston withstood a five-run Texas ninth inning to move back into first place in the AL East.

Boston broke a scoreless tie in the fifth against Texas starter Charlie Hough, 7-6, as Jerry Remy singled, Evans crashed his 10th homer and Rice followed with his 12th.

Four Indian Tribes Value High Country As Sacred Place

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — Virgin timber towers above the headwaters of Blue Creek, providing refuge for the golden eagle, the spotted owl and the wolverine.

Pepperwood and incense cedars rise beside Oregon myrtle, madrone, vine maple and Pacific dogwood. Salmon and brook trout thrive in the pristine water.

It is not surprising that four Indian tribes — the Hurok, Hupa, Tolowa and Karok — have prized the high country northeast of here for centuries, reserving it as a sacred place for training medicine men.

Nor is it surprising that lumber companies have long sought a way into this rugged area of northern California so they could haul its rare timbers to mills along the coast.

The Forest Service says the area could be used for both purposes. Later this summer, it will construct the final six-mile leg of the 55-mile Gasquet-Orleans Road, a project it claims will achieve that end.

But Indian leaders decry the project, known as the GO Road, as "cultural genocide."

"Instead of killing us off, they're destroying our cultural functions," says Walt Lara, a Hurok Indian and logger whose family members worship in the high country.

Jack Norton, a Hupa who teaches ethnic studies at nearby Humboldt State University, agrees.

"You can destroy a people just as effectively by mentally committing genocide as you can physically," Norton said. "If you destroy a people's religious dignity, worth and purpose, you destroy them."

The medicine men, called shamans, have been the traditional leaders of the tribes, which do not have chiefs. The strongest incentive for building the road through Humboldt and Del Norte counties is the jobs it will provide. The unemployment rate hit 18 percent in Humboldt County this spring. It passed 28 percent in Del Norte County.

The Forest Service predicts the road will create 203 jobs. When Del Norte County residents voted in a June 1980 referendum, the vote went 4-to-1 in favor of completing the road.

Right now, Forest Service officials say the Indians are the only ones benefiting from the Blue Creek region.

"We're directed by Congress to manage this thing for multiple use and benefits for all people," said Richard Ferneau, environmental coordinator for the Six Rivers National Forest.

To establish "multiple use," the Forest Service has approved a master plan for "the Blue Creek unit." The road will open up the country. The plan will tell which areas can be clear cut and which must be preserved.

Ferneau notes the Indian "power sites" — sacred areas with names like Doctor Rock and Medicine Mountain — will be protected by half-mile buffer zones.

The Indians say buffer zones won't do the job. To them "the whole country is sacred," says Norton. For centuries, Indians seeking spiritual enlightenment have hiked through the wilderness as part of their rite.

"That's why all the other country is just as important as when you get there," said Lara. "That's what the Forest Service and everybody else doesn't understand. They want to set aside a specific spot, but that's no good."

However, some of the government's own experts are against the road. In separate reports, both written under government contract, anthropologists Dorothy Theodoratus and William Bright have each noted the highway could interfere with Indian practices.

"I believe that the inviolate character of the Chimney Rock area is of great religious significance to a growing number of Indians and that road building and logging in that area would violate, without any compelling reason, the religious rights of those Indians," wrote Bright.

Alexander Aldrich, chairman of the federal Advisory Council on Historic Preservation, has called the road "a case study of inept agency planning and decision making that has created an unnecessary conflict between economic development and preservation."

Forest Service officials shrug off such comments, saying the government is required to consult groups like the council. "We don't have to follow their recommendations," said recreation staff officer John Holt.

Even if the road is built, even if the trees are cut and hauled to the mill, the mills may have no desire to saw them. The construction industry is in so severe a recession in California that there is little demand for the lumber the Forest Service wants to sell.

The Sierra Club Legal Defense Fund has already filed suit to stop the Blue Creek management plan from taking effect. It hopes to expand that suit to include the GO Road with help from the Northeast Environmental Center.

"After working all those years with Smokey the Bear, the Forest Service has a high degree of credibility," said center spokesman Tim McKay. "But they've pretty much reversed that in this situation."

McKay said that besides affecting the Indian sites, the plans for Blue Creek will ruin fisheries, pollute the creek with runoff, cause landslides on the steep hillsides and drive wildlife out of the area — all contentions that the Forest Service denies emphatically.

The only people who would use the road for recreational purposes, says McKay, are people "who think its aesthetically pleasing to look at clear cuts."

The name Theodore comes from the Greek and means "gift of the gods."
