BERN, Switzerland (AP) — Swiss police stormed the Polish Embassy today and rescued five hostages, tricking the four gunmen inside by blowing down the door with a remote-controlled bomb hidden in a food container.

martial law, free internees and end repression.
Poland's official PAP news agency said Swiss police used "paralyzing gas" during the bloodless operation, which lasted less than an hour.
Swiss Justice Minister Kurt Furgler said the four gunmen, who claimed they would blow up the embassy Friday unless their conditions were met, also had demanded $1.45 million and free passage to China or Albania.

"Switzerland will never accept blackmail," he said after the rescue operation. "The decision to storm the embassy was taken during the night after it was determined there was no room for further negotiation."
Furgler said four gunmen, dressed in camouflage suits, were arrested. He identified the leader as Florian Kruszyk, a 42-year-old former convict from Poland. He said Kruszyk claimed he had worked for the Polish secret service. Kruszyk was sentenced to nine years in prison in 1969 for a Vienna, Austria, jewelry store robbery in which hostages were taken. He served four years of his term before being released.

ended less than an hour later.
Witnesses said a white van pulled up in front of the embassy and a man dressed in a delivery suit took a small white object up to the front door of the embassy.
The man returned to the van and made a second trip to the front door with an aluminum case that usually contained food for the gunmen and hostages. This time it was packed with explosives.
When the man got back to the van, the driver jumped out and both men ducked and ran off, witnesses said. They said the container then exploded, blowing in the door.
About 20 riot police wearing helmets, bullet-proof vests and gas masks then charged into the two-story building. Witnesses said they heard about 10 additional explosions.

There were reports of brief fighting between the terrorists and riot police when they spread throughout the embassy to search all of its rooms.
"I am satisfied there were no injuries," said Antoni Dobrowski, the charge d'affaires at the Polish Embassy who returned to Bern Tuesday night from leave in Poland. He complimented the Swiss police for their disciplined action.
The embassy siege began Monday when anti-communist commandos burst into the diplomatic mission, took 13 people hostage, and demanded that Poland's Communist government lift its martial law decree and free political detainees.

Reagan blasts Demos; urges prayer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, campaigning for Republicans, school prayer and an end to red ink budgets, criticized Democrats in Congress today for bottling up the balanced budget amendment.
Reagan used the 95th birthday of the Republicans' 1936 presidential candidate, Alfred M. Landon, to press his campaign for the three constitutional amendments that would prohibit abortion, allow school prayer and balance the budget.

In remarks prepared for the Alfred M. Landon lecture series at Kansas State University in Manhattan, Kan., Reagan said:
"The time has come for this Congress to give a majority of American families what they want for their children: a constitutional amendment that will make it unequivocally clear that children can hold voluntary prayer in their schools. I urge the Congress to work with me in passing an amendment that we can send to the states for ratification."

Prolific Peaches

Jim Scott, 204 Irving, didn't notice any new blossoms but he did see new peaches growing after the first crop from his trees came off in July. "It was the strangest thing I'd ever seen," he said. The second crop is unusual for peaches. Scott said the new peaches are not as large as the first crop and have smaller seeds. (Brand Photo)

Solons hope to conclude session

Adjournment stymied by House Wednesday

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas legislators hoped to end their special session today with a final House vote on an unemployment fund proposal and quick action on the measure in the Senate.
Possible adjournment Wednesday was stymied when House members were five votes short of the number needed for an immediate final vote.

"We have cost the taxpayers a few bucks by having to come back tomorrow," Speaker Bill Clayton said, "but I understand the economy of Austin will recoup."
The House tentatively passed, by a vote of 87-51, Clayton's compromise bill to raise money for the unemployment tax fund, which is threatened with bankruptcy in November. All efforts to amend the bill were defeated.
However, when Clayton asked for a suspension of House rules for an immediate final vote, the 105-33 vote was short of the 110 needed.

place an immediate surtax on Texas employers that would be 150 percent of the taxes they owe for 1982. He said this would raise about $450 million.
He stressed it would not involve asking any loans from the federal government. Bush's amendment was tabled 82-57.

Clayton said his measure, which includes federal loans until an unemployment tax increase becomes effective, means that "by 1985 the loans would be repaid, the fund would be in the black and the Texas Employment Commission can set the tax rate as it is now."
The unemployment fund

bill was presented as a compromise that had been approved by the governor, legislative leaders and business groups.
The bill was designed to replenish the fund set up 44 years ago to pay benefits to jobless workers with a tax increase in 1983 and 1984, plus a surtax for parts of those years to pay interest on the federal loans.

The bill would increase the fund ceiling from $325 million to $500 million and increase the maximum tax levied on Texas employers from 4 percent to 6 percent of the first $7,000 an employee makes. In addition to increasing the present minimum rate from 0.1 percent to 0.4 percent, there would be a special tax of 0.3 percent for the last quarter of 1982 and another

State GOP convention expected to be largest ever

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas Republicans gathered today for what is expected to be the largest state GOP convention ever held.
State GOP Chairman Chet Upham estimated there would be more than 7,000 delegates, alternates and guests at the convention. He said more than 1,900 hotel rooms have been reserved.

At the general sessions Friday and Saturday afternoons the GOP faithful will hear a long line of political speakers, then elect a state party chairman, the 62 members of the State Republican Executive Committee and adopt the 1982 state platform.

Upham, a Mineral Wells oil operator, is expected to be elected to a second term without opposition.
The state committee scheduled a Thursday afternoon meeting to take care of pre-convention business.

Earlier, the House passed 139-0 and sent to the governor a proposal that would allow schools to borrow money before their property tax rolls are certified and the tax rate set.
There was no discussion of the Senate-approved bill and no effort to amend it.
The only serious move to change Clayton's bill from the form it emerged from a House committee Tuesday was presented by Rep. Robert Bush, D-Sherman.

Bush said his amendment would provide a temporary cure for the unemployment fund troubles and leave a permanent fix to the 1983 Legislature.
"This is a pay-as-you-go approach," he said of his plan to

The attack came as Syrian and Israeli troops massed in eastern Lebanon for a possible new confrontation. The raid was the first of its type since Aug. 10, when Israeli jets knocked out Syrian missile positions during their attacks on PLO enclaves in west Beirut.

Israel must recognize the Palestine Liberation Organization and accept the creation of a Palestinian state incorporating predominantly Arab East Jerusalem. Israel has repeatedly rejected those conditions.
The leaders Wednesday were approaching a consensus on proposing an offer of mutual recognition between Israel and the Arab states, including a sovereign Arab-ruled Palestinian state in the Israeli-occupied West Bank and the Gaza Strip, officials said.

Lions Club trash bag sale set
The Hereford Lions Club will conduct a trash bag sale beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday, with headquarters at the chamber of commerce office.
The Lions will be selling boxes of the 30-gallon size bag for $7 each, or three boxes for $20. There are 50 heavy duty, lawn and trash bags per box.

Local delegates depart

A group of six delegates, including County Chairman Garth Thomas, has departed for the State GOP Convention in Austin. Thomas, along with Mary and Wayne Thomas, Wes Fisher, Clarence Betzen, and Gerald Morgan, will attend the convention which begins Friday.
The two-day meeting is expected to draw some 2,500 Republicans from across the Lone Star State. Delegates will elect state and district officers at the convention.

A state platform will also be adopted, and Garth Thomas has been selected to serve on the Platform Committee.

Actually, pre-convention activities began Tuesday when the platform committee held its first session to hear testimony about the party platform. Another session was held Wednesday.

Couple still havin' fun; miss lost freedoms

Mr. and Mrs. Dixie Benjamin ...Reminiscing at Westgate

BY SANDY PANKEY
Staff Writer
"We've been married a long time. I don't remember when we got married but it was in Albuquerque, N.M.," says Lee Anna Benjamin.
"I don't remember either," laughs her husband, Dixie. "But I wouldn't have kept her this long if we fussed and fought all the time. She's a good old girl."
Although dates and some facts may be a little fuzzy for the couple, who both reside at Westgate, they are very impressionable people and have humorous natures.
Their lives have been difficult in recent years and both have mentally overcome great physical obstacles. Mrs. Benjamin, who will be 82 on Oct. 1, has resided at the nursing home approximately four years.
She was diagnosed as having diabetes before moving there and had to have her left leg amputated above the knee. Her right leg, also removed at the knee, was amputated after her arrival at Westgate.
Dixie, who will celebrate his 94th birthday Jan. 6, suffered a stroke several years ago which affected the left side of his body. "I was healthy as an alligator before I had this dang stroke," he explains.

"My wife came to this nursing home about a year before I did. She didn't have time to get lonely. I'd visit all the time. Now look at us... we're both in wheel chairs. But it's not all bad because we have each other for company," Dixie explains.
"And we like to play Bingo with the folks here," Dixie continues. "Lee Anna is wearing the necklace she won at Bingo. My goodness, you should see all the strands of beads that woman has won."
"We've had some good times since we moved out here. Lee Anna still watches her favorite television shows, 'Hee-Haw' and 'Family Fued,' but nothing can take the place of the freedom we once had," explains Dixie.
"I don't like being told that I have to do something. All I have to do is die. I just tell people what I think, in a nice way, and try to get along. I'm pretty good natured most of the time."
"We really miss the fishing trips we used to take together. We had an old Buick we would load into and head for Buffalo Lake and spend the weekends fishing," he reminisced.
"It's been a little hard to adjust sometimes, but we have met some nice people," says Lee Anna. "I'm not supposed to use any sugar in my diet and, boy, they see to it that I don't."

The couple and their families were reared on farms near Linden, Tx. and because they had to help support family members, both received little formal education.
Lee Anna had to quit school when she was in the eighth grade and Dixie quit while in the sixth grade. "Children appreciated school back then. They were fortunate to be going. We had to furnish our own books, and if you tore one up, you'd really get a whipping," Dixie said.
"We both worked mighty hard when we were growing up," he added. "We had to pick cotton, work in the garden, raise and butcher our own meat, shuck cane, cut wood and do whatever else was necessary to survive."
"I remember helping my momma wash clothes in a old wash tub out in the yard when the weather was good. There was no electricity or running water in those days," Lee Anna said. "We stayed busy from sunup to sundown."
"We didn't make a lot of money back then. Twenty dollars would buy enough sugar, coffee and flour to last months at a time. Now, look, you can go into a grocery store and carry out $50 worth of groceries in one hand," Dixie added.

A habit carried over from Lee Anna's childhood days is dipping snuff. "When I was just a little girl, if I asked my momma for some snuff, she'd give it to me."
"I have only tried to smoke once," smiles Lee Anna. "My momma asked me to sew by Daddy's britches up and I didn't want to do it. So, I got out my Daddy's pipe and smoked it. When I started sewing those pants up I was so drunk from smoking, I stuck the needle into my leg. Daddy had to get it out. No more smoking for me."
Dixie recalls that at one time he not only smoked, but dipped, and could chew tobacco and gum simultaneously. He quit those habits when he suffered his stroke.
Looking back over the years, Dixie remembers vividly the first time he saw a car. "It wasn't a car to us, it was the 'horseless carriage. We kids were really excited."
"There was a doctor in town who had just bought one and was showing it off. He told a bunch of us boys that he would give each of us $5 if we could keep those wheels from moving while he had it running. Don't know if we got that money or not but it was fun trying," continues Dixie.

Police ordered to quit off-duty jobs, pass firearms test

HOUSTON (AP) — Police Chief Lee Brown has ordered 328 officers to quit their off-duty jobs until they pass a new firearms proficiency test.

The order was issued to keep the department in compliance with a law passed during the last session of the Texas Legislature, Brown said Wednesday. The law requires all peace officers to prove with pinpoint accuracy that they can safely shoot their service revolver.

Police Academy Capt. Leroy Michna said 328 police officers either failed or did not take the annual re-qualification test.

After the law was passed, a department directive stated any officer who failed to meet the requirement this year would lose extra employment privileges or ultimately face dismissal.

Bill Elkin, president of the Houston Police Officers Association, said many officers were caught by surprise because they thought they had until the end of the year to requalify. Brown announced the effective date is Sept. 1.

"I've got no problem with the qualification, but my problem is that the directive (from Brown) took effect immediately," Elkin said. "The chief's office should have had some grace period."

Advisory panel endorses election results

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Secretary of State David Dean says his new system of tabulating Texas election results will reduce the potential for voter fraud and should yield quicker results.

The plan was endorsed Wednesday by an advisory committee of media representatives.

Under the plan, Dean will be responsible for the semi-official tabulation of election night results, beginning with the Nov. 2 general election.

In the past, election votes were tabulated by the Texas Election Bureau, which was funded and operated by members of the Texas news media.

Burl Osborne, executive editor of The Dallas Morning News and chairman of the Texas Election Bureau, called the new tabulation system "an opportunity for a stable collection system that will pick up where TEB left off. I hope it will result in faster, more complete results at an earlier time."

Osborne is chairman of the State's Advisory Task Force for Election Central.

Dean said the cost of his election central will be paid by the news media which contract with Dean for election results.

The secretary of state will receive phone calls from county officials on election night. Dean said he will ask the next Legislature to pass laws that will increase his powers to enforce timely election reporting.

His election central also has been endorsed by the governor, lieutenant governor and the Texas House speaker.

Fire blazes at condominium construction site

DALLAS (AP) — Electrical shorts may have sparked the five-alarm blaze that broke out on the 15th floor of an unoccupied high-rise condominium and quickly spread to other floors, fire officials say.

"We suspect that it was caused by electrical shorts, but that's just speculation," said Don Stevens, Dallas fire department deputy chief.

The fire was still smoldering early today at the 23-story La Tour development, located in the Oak Lawn section of Dallas.

The fire originally was reported late Wednesday night as a gas leak on the 15th floor of the building, according to fire department dispatcher Mike Roach.

Stevens said the blaze did not take long to jump to other floors, but was under control shortly before midnight.

"The main body of the fire was confined to the 14th through the 21st floors," he said. "Late in the operation, we did have a helicopter drop of several men and extra lines, but the main bulk of the equipment was carried up the stairs."

Each condominium unit rents for $160,000 per year, officials said.

No one was reported to be in the structure at the time of the fire, officials said, and no injuries were reported.

George Custis, superintendent of construction for the building's contractor, Manhattan Construction Co., said his crews left the 17th floor of the building about 9:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The building should be completed a year from now, he said.

The La Tour development has been the target of neighborhood protests. Some Oak Lawn residents complained to city officials that the high-rise was not in character with the older, less-developed city neighborhood.

People flocking to tree said to resemble Jesus

HOLDEN, W. Va. (AP) — Groups of people have been gathering around a vine-entangled tree every night for the past few weeks, saying the foliage resembles the profile of Jesus Christ.

"People have been coming from everywhere to see the tree," said Curtis Bryant, an out-of-work coal miner who paid a visit to the poplar on a hill towering over this coal-mining community. "The reason they come at night is that you can see it best after dark, when the moon is shining behind it."

Bryant said his parents, who live near Hart's Creek, 25 miles away, had driven to see the tree.

No lock on labor's vote

It may be that the last American President with this much charm was Franklin Roosevelt.

With stentorian eloquence on the new medium of radio FDR could have talked Oedipus into leaving home.

Democrats of the Thirties, behind his handsome facade, cruelly stuck pins in former President Hoover and effectively identified Republicanism with depression - so effectively that American labor voted Democrat for as long as that generation lived.

Democrats can't count on the labor vote any more.

President Reagan was swept into office by a political conglomerate which included enough representation among organized labor to humble labor's leadership.

Now, stung by that rebuke from within, AFL-CIO leaders are going all-out to rally support for candidates of their own choice.

No way. Union members are as fiercely independent as anybody; resentful of being "pushed" by anybody - even by their own union leaders.

This was demonstrated to a degree in the election of 1976 when unions overtly worked for different candidates. In 1980 most union leaders wanted Kennedy; failed even to get him nominated.

Now survey after survey reveals the electorate - including even the unemployed - however they fragment on political and economic philosophy - still approve Reagan.

John Perkins, political director for big labor, is seeking to get an endorsement of a Democrat for President early enough to bind the next convention.

But even if labor leadership should lose ranks behind one candidate, even if labor members would do as they're told, their numbers have been so depleted by attrition over recent years that the 15 million who are organized are only 20.8 percent of our work force and that percentage is declining.

"Labor unions, per se, have now lost so much political clout that many Democrat candidates might not want labor endorsement, fearful that it would alienate more votes than it would attract.

Big labor got burned so badly in 1972 when candidate McGovern embraced such a proliferation of women, minorities, homosexuals and others - that the white-male-dominated labor movement bolted.

So embarrassed was George Meany that he promptly withdrew the federation from active party participation.

He thereafter adopted the Walter Reuther technique of waiting until after election, then seeking to ingratiate himself with whomever was in the White House.

Lane Kirkland might want to think about that.

'Falcon Crest' popular survivor of '81-'82 season

NEW YORK (AP) — If a television show blends the wickedness of "Dallas" and the wholesomeness of "The Waltons," it's bound to interest viewers on both sides of television's picket fence.

Indeed, CBS' "Falcon Crest" is the most popular survivor from the 1981-82 season. But it had a lot more going than a mixed marriage from two disparate families. It also had "Dallas" as a lead-in program on Friday nights, the best life insurance policy in the business.

And from an artistic standpoint, its executive producer is Earl Hamner Jr., a soft-spoken Southern storyteller who contributed scripts to "The Twilight Zone" before gaining widespread fame as creator of "The Waltons."

"Every TV script should begin with 'Once upon a time,'" says Hamner. "It should have a beginning, middle and an end. 'Falcon Crest' is like a book with different chapters, with satisfying experiences within each chapter."

Hamner resists suggestions that "Falcon Crest," with Jane Wyman playing Angela Channing, the scheming matriarch of a sprawling California vineyard, is just a more refined vintage of "Dallas" and its villainous J.R. Ewing.

"Some people say that Earl Hamner has betrayed his commitment, as if 'Falcon Crest' is something shabby," Hamner says. "I think it's a valid exploration of human characters and family situations. The public gets vicarious thrills from watching the rich take pratfalls and suffer. Richness seems to magnify drama."

Despite the similar tax brackets of the Ewings and Channings, Hamner says "Falcon Crest" is actually more country cousin to the Waltons, a close-knit family from Virginia during the Depression. Hamner was also the narrator of that long-running hit, which drew on recollections from his childhood.

"I never intended 'Falcon Crest' to be seamy, nor has it been. We do human drama that seems to please big audiences because of legitimate conflicts: traditional family vs. fractured family, power vs. weak, wealth vs. poor. A lot of 'Dallas' comes right from the groin. I've always written from the heart."

Hamner says his intention was to bridge Tennessee Williams and Lillian Hellman. "Angela (Miss Wyman) is like Big Daddy from 'Cat on a Hot Tin Roof.' Her passion for land and that way of life is akin to plantation owners before the Civil War."

Angela was not created as a female J.R., says Hamner. "My thinking was that there haven't been many good roles for women on television. Traditionally, this Machiavellian role would have been filled by a man, Angelo, and it would have been rather ordinary."

Hamner himself owns vineyards near Sacramento, although he's never seen the property. "It's a good investment," he says. But not as good as having a second-year series that combines elements of two successful CBS shows and is positioned strategically to follow television's biggest series ever.

Today In History

Today is Thursday, Sept. 9, the 252nd day of 1982. There are 113 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On Sept. 9, 1776, the Second Continental Congress made the term United States official, replacing United Colonies.

On this date: In 1894, Sun Yat-sen led his first attempt at revolution in China - a revolt that finally succeeded in 1911.

In 1945, U.S. troops landed in South Korea at the end of World War II, with the Soviets taking over the area north of the 38th parallel.

In 1948, the Korean People's Democratic Republic was formed in North Korea, claiming authority over the entire country.

In 1976, Communist Chinese leader Mao Tse-Tung died in Peking at the age of 82.

Ten years ago: Secretary of State Henry Kissinger headed for Moscow for talks with Soviet leaders on European security.

Five years ago: The Carter administration approved a U.S. visit by four Soviet trade union representatives, despite opposition from the AFL-CIO.

One year ago: Senate hearings began on the nomination of Sandra Day O'Connor to become the Supreme Court's first female justice.

Today's birthday: Former Kansas governor and Republican presidential candidate Alf Landon is 95.

Thought for today: In politics, an absurdity is not a handicap. - Napoleon Bonaparte, French general-statesman (1769-1821).

The sources said the Arab leaders also called for a total unconditional Israeli withdrawal from Lebanon, which Israel invaded June 6 in its successful drive to oust the PLO from Beirut.

During his speech, Begin was unrelenting in his opposition to the Reagan plan for Palestinian autonomy in the West Bank and Gaza in association with Jordan. He said such a deal would deprive Israel of parts of the West Bank, put hostile Palestinians in control and jeopardize Jewish lives.

He called Reagan's plan "stillborn. Already today it no longer exists." He claimed Reagan's proposals deviate from the Camp David accords, the only overall peacekeeping framework Israel recognizes.

In Washington, it was learned by The Associated Press that Reagan said in an Aug. 31 private letter to Begin that he intends to stick with his peace plan, even if it is rejected in Jerusalem.

Begin also accused U.S. officials of waging a campaign to oust him from office. "This is intervention in the innermost affairs of Israel," he stormed. "Officials leak (information) and journalists write: 'the beginning of the end of Begin's rule.'"

The 120-member Parliament endorsed his position by a 50-36 vote. An earlier resolution on the conduct of the war in Lebanon passed 50-40, reflecting the divisions in Israel over the invasion.

In challenging the Labor Party, Begin said he was ready to go to the polls in May or June, 2½ years ahead of schedule. Begin's Likud Bloc is outnumbered by the Labor Party and rules with a coalition of 64 seats. Polls predict an outright majority for Begin if the vote was held now.

Investigators checking contractors

County investigators are closing in on some so-called paving contractors who are giving "down to earth" estimates but sending sky high bills after the shoddy jobs are completed.

According to a spokesman at the sheriff's office, one woman was told $200 would get her driveway paved with some asphalt allegedly left over from another job. Her bill from Tri-State Construction was for $1,588.

Another company was charged $8,351 after receiving a quote of $800.

The charges are three to four times what a job would normally cost, according to sources in paving businesses. Jobs that have been inspected have reportedly been poorly done.

The reports started about the middle of August and continued until September. Several other jobs by the company have been done, but the sheriff's office did not know if those customers had complaints and are still investigating.

Kansas was the first stop on the agenda of a two-day presidential trip.

After the Manhattan speech, Reagan planned to visit a GOP fund-raising reception and luncheon, which its sponsors hoped would gross $100,000 for gubernatorial and congressional candidates.

Republican Sam Hardage, a Wichita real estate developer, is trying to unseat Democratic Gov. John Carlin. Private polls conducted for each candidate indicate the race is very close.

In the afternoon, he planned to fly to Ogden, Utah, to meet with Republican Party chairmen from Western states this evening.

On Friday, before returning to Washington and a weekend at Camp David, Md., he plans to visit a Mormon-operated cannery and address a Republican picnic supporting the re-election campaign of Sen. Orrin G. Hatch.

The trip marks Reagan's debut in the 1982 general election campaign, which by convention begins on Labor Day. Last month, in California, he spoke at fund-raising events for the California Republican gubernatorial and U.S. Senate candidates.

Now You're Cookin'

By LINDA CAUDLE
Family News Editor

'Tis the season for harvesting vegetables and fruits from the garden and putting up food for the cold winter months. Canning and freezing home products can be quite a chore for just one, but when several work together, the task becomes more enjoyable and goes much faster.

Darlene Richardson, who lives with her family just east of the Hereford city limits, often gets together with her mother, sister, sister-in-law, and aunt to can and freeze vegetables.

Darlene is a native of Hereford and has a host of relatives in this area. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T.L. Sparkman, and her sister and family, the Eugene Baldwins, live just down the road from her, and her brother, Tommy, and his family live south of Hereford.

Her aunt, Alma Andrews, who often helps put up the vegetables, lives in town.

Darlene's husband, Jerry, was raised in South Carolina and south Florida, but now farms and ranches here. They have two children. Jennifer, 8, is a third grader at Aikman Elementary School, and Jeremy, 6, goes to the First Baptist Kindergarten.

Many of the garden things were hauled out this year, explains Darlene, but neighbors were generous. Darlene says that she usually cans green beans, pickles, tomatoes, and jellies, and freezes okra, squash, peas, and corn.

She also makes hot sauce, for which it took three years to perfect the recipe. "I bought some that I liked and looked at the ingredients," notes Darlene, "and then just kept experimenting."

In freezing corn, she says that they blanch it three to five minutes and then transfer it to a tub of cold water for several minutes. Then the ears are put in a second tub filled with ice water to cool them completely before cutting the corn off the ear and freezing it.

In addition to putting up garden items, the women in Darlene's family get together to make large numbers of pies all at once. "It's like an assembly line," laughs Darlene, "with one person making pie crust, another rolling it out, someone else making pie fillings, etc."

"In fact, there was an article done on Mom about 10 or 12 years ago when she used to make 40 or 50 pies all by herself. Now when we all get together, we make even more—I think our record is something like 125 pies."

"We put them in the freezer and they last a long time. I really don't enjoy making pies as much as cakes and sweet rolls," admits Darlene, "so it makes the job more pleasant when we do it together, and it's nice to have the pies on hand later."

Darlene also likes to bake bread for family get-togethers and dinner parties. "Nothing smells better than fresh baked bread," she smiles.

Darlene crochets, does embroidery, and would like to learn how to do stained glass. "I love to read," she laughs, "but my whole family groans when I pick up a book because then I don't want to do anything else until I finish it!"

Playing the piano is another favorite pastime, and Darlene is the organist at Frio Baptist Church, where here family attends.

She is secretary-treasurer of the Frio Homemakers Club, of which her mother and sister are members also. "This will be my seventh year in the club," she notes.

Darlene attended Baylor University in Waco, majoring in accounting. She says she would like to finish her degree after the children are a little older.

She met Jerry in Waco, as he was stationed at Fort Hood, in nearby Killeen. After the couple was married, they lived in Florida about four years before coming to Hereford.

Darlene shares three recipes which her family enjoys. "The Coconut Cake is a Computer expo ready for exhibitors

Exhibitors from Amarillo and the Tri-State area as well as other cities and other states will occupy over 90 exhibit booths at the Tri-State Computer Expo to be held in the Amarillo Civic Center Exhibit Hall Sept. 16-17.

They will include hardware companies, software companies, paper and supply companies, universities and other computer-related businesses, according to Expo chairman Jerry Knierim. He said the two-day trade show will cover "the full spectrum of computer technology from microprocessors to mainframes." Admission is free and the public is encouraged to attend. It will be open from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 16 and from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. Friday, Sept. 17.

The Tri-State Computer Expo, which is sponsored by the Golden Spread Chapter of the Data Processing Management Association, is a first for this area. Similar expositions sponsored by DPMA chapters in other cities have drawn widespread public interest, according to Knierim.

He said, "For anyone who wants to know and understand what is happening in the field of information processing, this is an excellent opportunity to get a comprehensive overview of this exploding technology."

Herd seeking 15th straight regular season win

By Les Giles
SPORTS EDITOR

Hereford, winner of its last 14 straight regular season starts and 17 of its last 18 outings, will try to make it two in a row this season when it travels to Canyon for a 7:30 p.m. non-district encounter with the Eagles Friday in Kimbrough Stadium.

Canyon, on the other hand, will try to right itself after a lackluster performance (a 17-0 blanking) at the hands of Tascosa a week ago.

The two teams are meeting for the 36th time ever. Hereford, which has posted a 8-2 record against Canyon since 1972, holds a 21-14 edge overall.

Prior to last year's 27-0 win by Hereford, most of the games in recent years had been relatively close. In fact, under current head coach Don Cumpton, Hereford has won three of four meetings.

After losing to the Eagles, 10-0, in 1978, Cumpton's teams posted victories by margins of 14-13 and 18-16, before last season.

"They've been a tough opponent for us in recent years," Cumpton noted.

"And, I certainly look for them to bounce back and play well against us this year.

"I am impressed with their size, and am concerned about them controlling the football against us.

"Two weeks ago in a scrimmage against Plainview they (the Eagles) looked very good. Then, last week against Tascosa they looked just the opposite.

"So, it's kinda hard to figure just what to expect. But, one thing's for sure, I look for them to play better this week than they did last week."

Eagle coach Houston Powell was well aware of the difference in his club's performance from one week to the other.

"I was pleased with the way we played against Plainview a couple of weeks ago in a scrimmage," he related.

"But, against Tascosa last week we weren't consistent enough to win.

"We looked good on some plays, both offensively and defensively, but then we'd come right back and look just as bad on the next play.

"I think mentally our kids were more ready to play against Plainview because they were supposed to be a good ball club, and they were picked high in their district.

"Well, against Tascosa, I'm not sure the kids didn't have a letdown of sorts, Tascosa wasn't picked that high in their district, and our kids didn't seem to get after them the same way they had against Plainview.

SPORTS

Page 4—The Hereford Brand—Thursday, Sept. 9, 1982

"This week, our kids know how good Hereford is, and I think they'll go out and play as hard as they can. It's hard to say whether that will be enough, because Hereford has a great deal of talent.

"We're concerned with Hereford's overall quickness.

"Defensively, if you don't block well they'll get to the football in a hurry.

"And, offensively, they have a lot of weapons. If you don't squeeze off the running lanes and pursue well you'll be in a lot of trouble.

"I think you have to stop their tailback (Alfred Ball), but the fullback (Raymond Martinez) and quarterback (Charles McDowell) can hurt you, too.

"If we are to have a chance at winning," Powell added, "we're going to have to be more consistent both ways. More players are going to have to play well together this week than they did against Tascosa."

A week ago, the Herd rolled up 356 total yards en route to a 34-6 win over Pampa. The defense limited the Harvesters to 163 yards.

Canyon, meanwhile, managed 173 yards total offense, while allowing 312.

Martinez paced Hereford last week, gaining 88 yards on nine carries. Ball added 79 yards on 12 tries. McDowell completed two of seven passes for 75 yards, while sophomore Mike Scott came off the bench to connect on two of four tosses for 23 yards. Each threw a TD pass.

"I was pleased with the way we played against Pampa," Cumpton added, "and, I think it's important we go out and play well again this week. Especially with district play coming so early this season."

All of the teams in District 3-5A, except Hereford, begin league play this week.

Tonight, Plainview is at Tascosa, while Amarillo High travels to Monterey, Friday, Palo Duro and Caprock tangle in Amarillo, while Coronado and Lubbock High collide in the Hub City.

Hereford starts its quest for a second straight loop crown next Friday when it hosts Lubbock High.

Pitt hosts N. Carolina

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pitt quarterback Dan Marino and North Carolina running back Kelvin Bryant have much to gain — and much to lose — when their nationally ranked teams kick off their college football seasons.

Not only will a loss cripple the national championship hopes of the top-ranked Panthers or the fifth-ranked Tar Heels, but the two players also have plenty riding on the nationally televised game tonight.

Marino and Bryant are among the best college football players in the country. Marino was the nation's best passer last season, throwing for nearly 2,900 yards and 37 touchdowns. Bryant was headed for an all-time single season scoring record with 90 points after three games last year when he suffered a knee injury.

The two are prominent candidates for the Heisman Trophy, and an outstanding performance in the game could prove a springboard to the top individual award in college sports.

"I'll just try to keep running hard," said Bryant, a senior. "I know it's going to be one of the best defenses I've ever played against."

"I feel honored I'm a candidate," said Marino. "On the other hand, I'm team oriented. I want Pitt to win. But I'd be happy to go to New York and accept the award."

The attention focused on the Panthers, who have been in the past three seasons, is sometimes a burden, Marino said. But he added, "I'm the type of player that I enjoy the pressure of being ranked No. 1, of being a senior and having the pressure to win."

"That's what makes it fun, really."

There's also pressure on rookie Pitt Coach Foge Fazio. Some coaches in the business for decades haven't coached a top-ranked team; Fazio's Panthers are at the top before he has officially stepped foot on a sideline as a head coach.

Fazio, 43, previously the Panthers' offensive coordinator, is hoping for a more successful debut than his predecessors, Jackie Sherrill and Johnny Majors. Both coached the Panthers to a series of national rankings, but neither won his first game as Pitt's coach.

"I want my first game to be a memorable one," Fazio said.

While Marino and Bryant have received most of the publicity, others will receive their share of attention, especially from pro scouts.

North Carolina quarterback Rod Elkins has played in just one losing game in college, and coach Dick Crum's Tar Heels also have an All-America lineman in guard Dave Drechsler.

The Panthers have All-Americans in tackle Jimbo Covert and wide receiver Julius Dawkins, who caught 16 touchdown passes last season. Safety Tom Flynn and wide receiver Dwight Collins are regarded as all-star candidates this season.

John Mercer Langston, elected clerk in 1855 of Brownheim township, Lorain County, Ohio, was the first Negro to win elective office in the United States.

In Harris Poll

Hereford ranked 29th

Hereford, a convincing 34-6 winner over Pampa in last week's season opener, moved up 27 places to 29th in this week's Harris Rating Poll.

The Whitefaces began the year ranked 56th by the Harris poll but moved up drastically after the victory over Pampa. This week, the Herd is a 16-point favorite over Canyon, ranked 71st among Class 4A teams.

Plainview, the District 3-5A favorite, moved up one notch to 30th following last week's 14-0 triumph over Lubbock Estacado. The Bulldogs are nine-point favorites to defeat Tascosa tonight.

Four of the teams ranked first in their respective classes retained that lofty spot following the first weekend of play.

Upset fever highlights play at U.S. Open tennis tourney

NEW YORK (AP) — Upset fever at the U.S. Open Tennis Championships has claimed the tournament's defending women's champion, Tracy Austin, and nearly netted three other big names — John McEnroe, Chris Evert Lloyd and Andrea Jaeger — who barely escaped quarterfinal scares.

All three favorites reached into their reserves after dropping the opening sets of their matches Wednesday and recovered to pull out victories and advance to the tournament's semifinal round after Austin was eliminated.

McEnroe, the defending champion and No. 1 seed among the men, survived a grueling five-set marathon against sixth-seeded Gene Mayer, winning 4-6, 7-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1. Evert Lloyd and Jaeger roared back for victories which thrust them into the tournament's semifinal round against each other.

Evert Lloyd, seeded second, defeated Bonnie Gadusek 4-6, 6-1, 6-0, winning the last 12 games, after No. 4 Jaeger had eliminated the tournament's Cinderella, amateur Gretchen Rush, 3-6, 6-1, 6-0.

The other women's semifinal will match a couple of giant killers with Czechoslovakia's Hana Mandlikova, the No. 5 seed who eliminated the third-seeded Austin 4-6, 6-4, 6-4 Wednesday going against No. 7 Pam Shriver, who had conquered the tournament's top seed, Martina Navratilova a day earlier.

On the men's side, third-seeded Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia advanced to the semis with a 6-4, 6-3, 6-1 victory over Kim Warwick. Lendl will meet McEnroe, who had his hands full with Mayer.

The Mandlikova-Austin match, suspended by rain Tuesday, was resumed with Tracy holding a 5-4 lead in the first set. She won that set but then faltered in the second after taking a 3-1 lead.

NFL strike appears eminent

Union rejects offer

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the National Football League regular season scheduled to open in just three days, the prospect of player strike appeared more likely following the union's rejection of management's latest offer.

Without setting a specific strike deadline, the executive committee of the NFL Players Association voted Wednesday night to move up the range of a possible league-wide walkout to occur between the second and fourth weeks of the season. Previously, the committee had said the strike would come between the second and fifth weeks of the season.

"We will have to demonstrate to them (the owners) that the players have the ability to shut them down," said Ed Garvey, the union's executive director said before the executive committee vote. "...we will have to set a strike deadline. The time is getting short."

The executive committee refused to endorse any plans for selective strikes during the first weekend of the season.

The committee's vote followed reports that the Seattle Seahawks were prepared to boycott Sunday's game against Cleveland as a result of the waiving of player representative Sam McCullum on Tuesday.

The executive committee, which called Wednesday night for management to return immediately to the table with a new offer, also urged the reinstatement of the other three player representatives cut during the negotiations.

Union officials have lodged charges with National Labor Relations Board charging McCullum's waiver was the result of his union activities and not related to his playing capabilities. The Seahawks have denied the charge.

The nine-member executive committee, meeting via a telephone hookup, voted to reject the owners' newest contract offer. Garvey had rejected it earlier in the day.

The owners' plan called for cash bonuses for all players based on their length of service in the league and a relaxation of the compensation rules covering free agents.

Jack Donlan, the owners' chief negotiator, said the new proposal was close to management's final offer.

"If it is not the final offer it is very, very close to where we are going to go," Donlan said. "This is a colossal amount of money...it is a very good, very expensive offer."

Union officials disputed Donlan's claim, saying the estimated cost of the offer was $140 million over the life of the contract (through 1986).

In contrast, the league's 28 team's will divide $2.13 billion over the same period as a result of its national television contracts.

The owners' proposal would give each player $10,000 in bonus money for each year of service in the NFL retroactive to 1977 and continuing through 1986. The total possible bonus, which would be paid in addition to a player's individually negotiated contract, would be $100,000 over a 10-year period.

In response to the proposal, union attorneys filed an unfair labor practice charge with the NLRB Wednesday, charging the management council with attempting to bribe players not to strike.

Yanks halt Oriole streak

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

You have to hand it to the New York Yankees — by beating the Baltimore Orioles, they killed two birds with one stone.

Hitting four home runs, the Yankees whipped the Orioles 10-5 Wednesday night and stopped a pair of streaks: the Orioles' 10-game winning streak and Jim Palmer's personal 11-game streak.

"They throttled us the first two games," said Dave Winfield, who hit one of the Yankee homers. "You don't want to be swept and embarrassed."

The Yankees apparently caught Palmer on his worst night of the season.

In other American League action, it was Kansas City 6, Seattle 2; Chicago 5, California 3; Toronto 6, Oakland 5;

Texas 2, Minnesota 0; Cleveland 2, Boston 0 and Milwaukee 9, Detroit 7.

Palmer, 13-4, had not only won 11 straight games before Wednesday night, he had not lost in his 18 previous starts, dating back to May 30.

The streak which propelled the Orioles into second place in the AL East softened the loss for manager Earl Weaver: "It ain't too bad to win 17 of 18 and 10 in a row."

Royals 6, Mariners 2

Vida Blue scattered five hits and Hal McRae drove in two runs with a triple and a single, boosting his major league leading total to 118, as Kansas City beat Seattle.

Blue, 12-9, struck out six and walked one in his fifth complete game of the season.

White Sox 5, Angels 3

Mike Squires' eighth-inning infield single, his third hit of the game, drove in the winning run as Chicago beat California, dropping the Angels two games behind the front-running Royals in the AL West.

Greg Luzinski doubled with one out off reliever John Curtis, 0-1, and Carlton Fisk drew an intentional walk with two outs before Squires bounced a single behind first base to score pinch-runner Jay Loviglio from second.

Vance Law then greeted Ricky Steiner with a single to score Fisk for a 5-3 lead.

Rich Dotson, 11-11, allowed seven hits in 72-3 innings as he posted his eighth consecutive win. He walked two and struck out seven before getting help from Salome Barojas, who gained his 17th save.

TV sports' top attraction back

By LARRY SIDONS AP Sports Writer

Television sports gets its No. 1 attraction back in full force this weekend, with one eye trained on the field and the other on the bargaining table. Both views are heavily laden with dollar signs.

The National Football League opens its 1982 season Sunday. NBC, the network of the American Conference, has seven games, with six National Conference games on CBS. ABC's first Monday night game of the year has the Pittsburgh Steelers against the Dallas Cowboys.

TV's look at the NFL will be as widespread as ever, and a good deal more expensive. Last winter, the three networks signed five-year contracts with the NFL worth a record total of $2 billion — or, $14 million per team per season just from television rights.

The reason for the big-bucks commitment is easy to see. NFL games pulled in record ratings last season on CBS, with the numbers for ABC and NBC only slightly below their high-water marks. And Super Bowl XVI was the most widely viewed sports event ever — in fact, the third most-watched TV show in history, coming in behind only the "Who Shot J.R." episode of "Dallas" and the final edition of "Roots."

With interest high in the wake of the San Francisco 49ers' dramatic 1981 championship season and parity more prevalent than ever, even higher ratings — and income from commercial time — could be expected this fall and winter. But there's a gremlin lurking in this fairy tale scene.

The NFL Players Association is threatening to strike unless the club owners agree to a wage scale based on a fixed percentage of the clubs' gross revenues. A walkout is "inevitable," says union executive director Ed Garvey, though he says it won't happen on the opening weekend.

That could mean many things to the networks and their bankbooks.

As in most contracts, those between the NFL and ABC, CBS and NBC contain escape clauses.

"There has been language in every contract we've had with the networks that says basically, if games are not played there will be an adjustment in the payment," said Val Pinchback, the NFL's broadcasting chief. "Say there's a strike. There would be an adjustment, and we would not get some of the money."

Just how much of an adjustment probably would be open to negotiation, Pinchback added.

"We've always gotten along very well with the networks and we'd probably sit down and determine how much money was involved," he said. "It's not a black-and-white thing; you can't say 'If this happens, then this will be the case.' It will take some discussion."

The depth of support for a strike among the players could be a key factor in determining how much — if any — the network rights payments would be reduced.

Braves regain first place

By DENNIS D'AGOSTINO Associated Press Writer

There may be only a little more than three weeks left in the baseball season, but as far as Joe Torre is concerned, the fun is just beginning.

"It's a 24-game season now, and we're 1-0," said the Atlanta manager after his Braves had regained first place in the National League West by a half-game over Los Angeles with a wild, 12-11 10-inning victory over the Dodgers Wednesday.

"It was one of those wild, kind of nerve-wracking games," said Atlanta's Dale Murphy, whose one-out single in the tenth chased home Claudell Washington with the winning run. "It was a little more nerve-wracking than I like."

In other National League action, St. Louis edged Montreal, 1-0 to remain on top in the NL East, Philadelphia shaded Chicago 4-3, New York blasted Pittsburgh 9-1, San Diego toppled Cincinnati 9-4 and Houston beat San Francisco 8-1.

Murphy's game-winning hit off Steve Howe, 6-4, came after singles by Washington and Rafael Ramirez. Murphy also smacked his 34th homer and had three RBI to lift his season total to 103.

The game, the first of a two-game showdown at Atlanta Stadium between the division's two top teams, was a 35-hit slugfest in which the Dodgers had four homers — by Steve Sax, Pedro Guerrero, Dusty Baker and Steve Garvey — and the Braves three, by Bob Horner and Washington in addition to Murphy.

Cardinals 1, Expos 0
Bob Forsch, 14-8, scattered eight hits, while Keith Hernandez' third-inning RBI triple off Charlie Lea brought home the game's only run as the Cards maintained their hold on first place in NL East.

The Newspaper BIBLE

YOU HAVE TO DIE IN ORDER TO LIVE

When you came to Christ he set you free from your evil desires, not by a bodily operation of circumcision but by a spiritual operation, the baptism of your souls. For in baptism you see how your old, evil nature died with him and was buried with him; and then you came up out of death with him into a new life because you trusted the Word of the mighty God who raised Christ from the dead. (Colossians 2:11-12)

Since you became alive again, now to speak, when Christ arose from the dead, now set your sights on the rich treasures and joys of heaven where he sits beside God in the place of honor and power. Let heaven fill your thoughts; don't spend your time worrying about things down here. You should have as little desire for this world as a dead person does. Your real life is in heaven with Christ and God. And when Christ who is our real life comes back again, you will shine with him and share in all his glories. (Colossians 3:1-4)

Should we keep on sinning when we don't have to? For sin's power over us was broken when we became Christians and were baptized to become a part of Jesus Christ; through His death the power of your sinful nature was shattered. Your old sin-loving nature was buried with Him by baptism when He died, and when God the Father, with glorious power, brought Him back to life again, you were given His wonderful new life to enjoy. (Romans 6:2-4)

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

For him: No cheese, please

DEAR DR. LAMB — We thought you might like to know how we solved the bad breath problem. After spending a lot of money with a specialist 75 miles away who was of no help, my husband went for his regular checkup with our family doctor. I said, "Tell him something has to be done," as I could not go near my husband. The doctor casually said it could be cheese. No cheese, no bad breath. It is an allergy. It is hard to cook around here as I can't eat seafood or onions, and now this.

DEAR READER — Your husband is fortunate, and so are you, that he found out what was causing his bad breath. Often it is difficult to find the cause. Food allergies can indeed cause bad breath. How is not clear. Perhaps it is because the allergy upsets the body chemistry.

Whenever a disease, allergy or even ingesting an odoriferous chemical affects the body chemistry, the odoriferous chemicals are exhaled from the lungs. The chemicals are dissolved in the blood stream and emit gases into the air spaces which are in the exhaled air.

Milk products are commonly a cause for food allergies. Although the accepted thinking is that digestive disorders do not cause bad breath, I don't totally believe that. Any chemical that is formed inside the long intestinal tract can be absorbed into the bloodstream and carried to the lungs.

Some women develop bad breath at the time of their menses. Through some chemical change in the body, odoriferous chemicals are in the bloodstream and cause the condition. It is not because the women are unclean but due to a chemical change. At least it is temporary.

If you have been listening to the news you should know that those highly advertised mouthwash preparations that cure bad breath by killing bacteria do not help. The FDA has made it official that such preparations do not really help. To give you the guidelines of what does help, I am sending you the Health Letter number 9-4, Halitosis: The Breath Problem and What to Do About It.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 72 years old and for the past few years my fingernails have been splitting and peeling. I used "Hard As Nails," but that didn't help. I have been taking multivitamins.

My nails looked so ugly that I finally went to a very fine druggist who suggested gelatin capsules. I take these after each meal. Do you think these will help my nails? If not, what do you suggest?

DEAR READER — I wish correcting splitting and peeling fingernails was that easy. It isn't. Gelatin is a poor protein. It does not contain all the essential amino acids. Some nutritionists would call it an incomplete protein. There is no valid evidence that taking gelatin will improve nails at all. And you can get better quality protein from meats, milk and natural food sources of complete protein.

Just be sure you are on a good diet with adequate calcium and protein. Then avoid using any fingernail polish preparations or polish removers (removers are hard on nails). Moisturize your nails by covering them with a heavy oily salve such as Vaseline regularly to conserve their natural moisture.

Class honored as artists

To be named artists of the month by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division is quite an honor for a group of students taught by Joe Crockett at Shirley School.

This instructional unit in special education has completed dozens of latch hook rugs, loom work designs, woven pot holders, and other handicrafts which are currently on display in the Chamber Board room.

Under the supervision of Crockett and teacher's aide, Lydia Villanueva, the class members learn housekeeping skills, meal preparation and clean up, yardwork, home safety, money management, time management, personal hygiene, and related skills.

Through the craft construction, students learn color coordination, left to right sequencing, working on a job until its completion, and increase their motor skills.

According to Crockett, the projects are for sale and anyone wishing to place an order for a special Christmas item may contact him at the school. Proceeds will be used to replace material to keep the projects going.

Ann Landers

Remember him kindly

"Half the promises people say were never kept—were never made." E.W. Howe

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently a grieving wife asked you to print her letter. It was a message to "The other woman" in her husband's life. She knew nothing of this woman's existence until her husband died suddenly and left behind some hidden letters, receipts for gifts and other telltale memorabilia.

The widow asked that "the other woman" write her a letter and give some small reassurance that her husband had spoken well of her and their life together. "It would make a big difference in the years I have left," she said.

I may be the woman she is hoping to hear from, but I could never write the letter she wants. Through your column I would like her to know that her place in his life was never threatened. He never told me he wanted a divorce. All his comments about her were generous and loving. To her I would like to say:

Dear Wife of the Man I Knew:

I cannot tell you how sorry I am that your husband's brief fling a few years ago has brought you so much anguish.

At that time I was struggling with some personal problems that put me in a state of depression. I sought out your husband as a source of solace. He was understanding, discreet, highly principled and, I believe, flattered by my attention. The sexual revolution was in high gear. We both felt we had missed out on something. The social pressures led us into an affair.

It did not last long. I did love him, but I always knew he was yours. Please don't allow his human frailty to damage your self-esteem or tarnish the memory of the wonderful years you had together. Rejoice in the memories and reach out for a new life. I am - The Other Woman - U.S.A.

DEAR WOMAN: I hope the grieving wife will know this letter is for her. You have written what I believe is an honest explanation that should help her put the situation into proper perspective. I commend you for your candor and generosity of spirit.

DEAR ANN: Is it true, as Saul Bellow, the Nobel Laureate, says, "You never have to change anything you get up in the middle of the night to write"? - Columbia Journalism Student

DEAR STU: Don't ask me. I have never been able to read anything I wrote in the middle of the night.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 13 years old. My parents will be celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary soon. I don't have any money for a present. I know I should have thought of this several months ago and saved a little something every week out of my allowance, but I didn't.

Should I apologize to them, or would it be better not to say anything? Please tell me what to do. -Short Of Funds In The Middle Of America

DEAR SHORT IN THE MIDDLE: The best present you could possibly give your parents will cost you nothing. Write a letter telling them what they mean to you. It will be far better than any gift you could buy.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My sister has two teenagers. We walked in on them early last evening and found them very drunk. My sister sighed, "Thank heavens they aren't smoking pot."

Please tell me which is worse for teenager alcohol or marijuana? - Maniwoc Query

DEAR MAN: It's like asking which you'd prefer, a heart attack or cancer. Both are bad and I see no reason to choose one over the other.

"Appearances are often deceiving." - Aesop
