

Around Town

Old Man Summer arrived in Hereford this week with every indication of being here for good. Even the most conservative men left off their coats in view of 88 degree weather and sports shirts began replacing the conventional type which require neckties. Most of the small fry were making the rounds in sun-suits and a few of the less timid women were also shopping in abbreviated shorts and peddle-pushers.

Ray Cowsert, still clad in a coat Friday, was predicting rain, however. "I don't care what the weatherman says," Ray declared. "This is my prediction — and I say it's gonna rain."

Kenneth Cowan, unaffected by all this, calmly erected a new neon sign in front of his store — but did nothing about the big clock out front which has read 4:20 since last December.

Jerry Perryman, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Perryman, is in the hospital as the result of an accident around 5:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Jerry was riding his bicycle, accidentally fell on to the sidewalk and suffered a compound fracture on his left leg.

Deputy Sheriff Neal Young returned Thursday from El Paso, where he took custody of John R. Pounds, charged with issuing worthless checks. The charge was filed by Roy Vaughn and the sheriff's department said they were holding several other checks on Pounds, which totaled around $40.

The directors of the Deaf Smith County Farm Bureau will meet on their regular meeting night, Tuesday, May 12, at the Jim Hill Hotel. All Farm Bureau members are urged to attend.

Carol Jones went to Austin this week end to compete in the state interscholastic league contest. He entered the numbers sense division. George Graham accompanied him. (Continued on Page 2)

— Tell about 1952 Good Neighbor Trip!

Good Neighbor Vacation Is Real Fun, '52 Winners Say

By Faye Howard

Wanted: A good neighbor. The only qualification is that they live in Deaf Smith, Parmer, Castro or Oldham Counties. The Hereford Brand is again sponsoring the annual Good Neighbor contest in which the area's outstanding good neighbors will be selected and rewarded with a complete expense-paid vacation to the Drowsy Water Ranch in Colorado. T. E. Seigler of Seigler Motor Company is making the trip even more attractive by furnishing a new, 1953 Packard automobile in which the trip will be made.

How to Nominate Friends. Nominating "good neighbors" is easy. All you have to do is turn to page 5, fill out the official coupon and bring or mail it to the Brand office. Use more pages if you wish. Entries should be submitted as soon as possible. June 1, 1953, is the deadline. Anyone is eligible except full-time employees of The Brand office, and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Waters, winners of the free vacation trip in 1952. So far no entries have been submitted in the 1953 contest. Just in case you are wondering if the trip is really worthwhile, just ask Mr. and Mrs. Waters, 203 Higgins Street. Here are a few of the things they had to say this week regarding their vacation award last year. "I'm going to write to all my friends," Mrs. Waters said last June, during their vacation at Drowsy Water. "It sure is a wonderful place. We've got something to remember the rest of our lives." "Somebody called her recently to ask about working conditions at the ranch. 'Think I'll ask if they'll let me wait on tables so I can go back this year and stay all summer,'" she commented. "Sure would like to go back." (Continued on Page 2)

'Teenage Curfew Is Sought By Officers

Peace officers met Saturday morning and took the first steps toward invoking a curfew in Hereford. Definite action on the question will be up to the City Commission of Hereford, which was already scheduled to hold a special meeting Monday night.

The curfew recommendations of peace officers will be 10:30 o'clock on week nights and probably 12 o'clock on Saturday nights. The officers' recommendations will cover all persons under the age of 18 years.

Chief Leo Box and Sheriff Lowell Sharp said that dozens of "teenage boys are gathering on the streets and driving cars as late as 2:30 and 3 o'clock in the morning. They felt that a reasonable curfew regulation will do much toward controlling 'teenage troubles.'

An existing curfew law still on the City of Hereford statutes was reviewed by the officers, who felt that regulations were too stringent. The old curfew, passed in 1915, demanded that persons under 17 years of age be off the streets by 8:30 o'clock, unless accompanied by parents or with written permission.

"We don't want to penalize the youth who are trying to do the right thing," said the officers, "therefore we felt that the best possible thing is to meet the City Commission and see if they are agreeable to passing more reasonable curfew regulations."

Consideration of the curfew resulted from the arrest of 13 Hereford boys in Parmer County this week as the result of so called "gang wars" which have been breaking out over this area for the past 30 days.

City Replaces Garbage Unit; Extends Lights

A routine session Wednesday night kept the City Commission in session until past 11 o'clock, as they discussed various situations, appointed Wayne Edwards as Mayor Pro-Tem when Mayor Henry Sears is out of town, and approved purchase of new garbage equipment.

The commission approved extension of city street lights from Grand north to the city limits on 13th Street on Avenue J. The commission turned the plan to Southwestern Public Service Company for installation in accordance with city contracts. The action followed presentation of information that this section of "J" is practically filled in with houses and now has no street lighting facilities.

They also voted to sell the old street sweeper, replaced here Dec. 15, for $500. Canyon and Friona were both reported as interested in purchasing the used equipment. (Continued on Page 2)

Eighty-Five Attend Annual FFA Steak Fry For Boys, Dads

There were 85 Hereford FFA boys and their fathers present for the annual steak fry held Thursday night.

Maurice Howell was guest speaker for the evening talking on the importance of having faith and confidence in oneself.

David McDuff gave a report on the FFA activities for the past year.

Members and guests were welcomed by Bill Carmichael. Following the supper all the dads were introduced by the boys.

North-South Bus Plan Will Operate Into Littlefield

A compromise plan through which the north-south bus line will continue to operate between Hereford and Littlefield appeared apparent this week after bus officials reviewed vigorous protests on the part of Dimmitt and Hereford residents.

Clyde Owens, representative of Texas New Mexico Transportation Company Thursday notified the Chamber of Commerce here that officials had decided to continue operating on the shorted run, provided no protests were entered from towns along the route. The new plan will eliminate the mileage between Littlefield and Lamesa, thus shortening the route. He also reported that these towns had indicated no objection.

The company originally petitioned the Railroad Commission to drop the entire route, citing continual loss through operating the line since its beginning. Dimmitt protested the venture vigorously, pointing out that the community had no other single means of daily transportation. A meeting was held in the local Chamber of Commerce office, following which the substitute plan was presented as an answer to the problem.

Paving Program Starts Here June 1

With a total of 1,516 frontage feet of paving already signed up, it was estimated today that Hereford's new paving program will get underway by June 1. Most of the new paving will be in residential areas with the City of Hereford furnishing free engineering on the project, which has been contracted by West Texas Construction Company.

The Chamber of Commerce has been accepting calls of those interested in paving work, and the Chamber reports that interest has been shown by a number of citizens in different sections of town. Those streets where people have expressed a desire to have paving done are Avenues I, J, K, Star, and Lake and Bertram Streets. The amount of paving requested in frontage feet is 1516. Many of these requests are for paving and/or curb and gutter.

"A number of the streets requesting paving are 100 per cent, however, a few have only two or three requests from each block," Cecil Massey, Manager, said. "Those desiring paving work are asked to contact their neighbors as soon as possible in order that they might call the Chamber of Commerce and have their names placed on the records which are to be turned over to the contractors upon arrival in Hereford. This is important because the contractor has stated that the work will be possible only where complete sections are involved, rather than skipping from spot to spot."

4-H Dress Revue Set For May 16

The annual county-wide 4-H Dress revue will be held Saturday, May 16, at 2:30 in the old sanctuary of the First Methodist Church.

All entries for the revue must be turned in to the Home Demonstration office by Thursday, May 14 at 6 o'clock. There will be a junior and senior division of the entries. Winner of the senior division will be sent to the district dress revue later in the year. Mrs. Ira Ott, Mrs. Charlie Smith, and Mrs. J. E. Dyer were members of the planning committee for the revue.

"Fed Up" With Publicity, Gerald Neighbors "Swears Off"

Publicity may be a good thing, but it sure can be run into the ground!

Such is the opinion of Gerald Neighbors, Hereford's returned POW from Korea this week. Neighbors, from the start was deluged with reporters shortly after he got back into American hands — and it has continued. He has been in Time Magazine, Newsreels, regional and state papers and, of course, The Brand.

"The Brand's OK," said the ordinarily genial young man; "this is my home town and a fellow feels different about his hometown paper."

A night session with Robert Baskin, who flew here from Dallas for a Dallas News interview, left young Neighbors exhausted — and caused him to lay down an ultimatum on publicity.

"Saturday night, and I'm through," he declared. "I have already promised to be on television (KFDA 6:15 to 6:30) and that's it."

The appearance wound up three weeks of "publicity." Interviews, especially questions, seem to upset Neighbors. Besides, he figures he has pretty well "told his story" since he was released Sunday night April 19.

Sgt. and Mrs. Neighbors and their little daughter, Cindy, left Saturday night, following the television case, for a short trip to Carlsbad and for a much needed rest.

Neighbors will have to report back to the Amarillo hospital the middle of next week for further treatment.

As soon as Neighbors is released from the Amarillo hospital plans are being made for a long awaited vacation.

Comparative Tests Rate Hereford Elementary Students Above Norm

Achievement tests given through the first six grades of the Hereford elementary schools indicated good rating for local students, according to Miss Della Stagner, supervisor.

"These tests are given annually for the purpose of measuring each pupil's growth in basic subjects," Stagner said. "The first three grades are concerned with reading, spelling and arithmetic, while the next three grades include reading, spelling, arithmetic, social studies, science, literature, health and safety."

National norms have been established on these tests as follows: 1st grade, 15; 2nd grade, 30; 3rd grade, 43; 4th grade 54; 5th grade 63; 6th grade 69. The Hereford School norms on total average scores are as follows: 1st grade, 17; 2nd grade, 32; 3rd grade 45; 4th grade 59; 5th grade 69; 6th grade 75.

Much concern is shown in all educational circles today about the reading program in the elementary school. Many charges have been made to the effect that children do not read as well today as their parents or grandparents did. The reading norms for Hereford schools are equivalent to or above the national norm in each grade.

1st grade, national reading norm, 15, our norm 17.

2nd grade, national reading norm, 30, our norm 37.

3rd grade, national reading norm, 43, our norm 52.

4th grade, national reading norm, 54, our norm 68.

5th grade, national reading norm, 63, our norm 77.

6th grade, national reading norm, 69, our norm 80.

These scores include all elementary school children with the exception of a few Latin American children who have not yet been in school long enough to learn the English language and therefore to read at all. However, many of them are included and made good scores on their tests.

C Of C NOTES

Chamber Of Commerce Manager
 Plans for the annual Pioneer day Celebration are nearing completion as the days set for this year's event draw near.

The Hereford Riders Club has been working to ready the rodeo area for the big show and have added seats to raise the seating capacity to near 2300. The professional show will have stock furnished by Bob Estes, veteran rodeo producer.

The Chamber of Commerce has reported that the special exhibits which will be new to the celebration have begun to arrive the first arriving Friday from the Texas Safety Department has been stored until May 29th. Many of the special displays will arrive May 28th and will be set up at various points around the court house square. A number of floats have been listed that will take part in this year's big parade scheduled for Friday May 29th at 2:30 p.m. The Amarillo Air Force Group will enter a float this year. In a letter from the base this week Lt. Evans stated that their float would include a jet motor with a sign reading "This Jet 'Hoss' is pulling for you, the Hereford Pioneer in your United States Air Force."

The Fiddlers Contest has been set for Saturday afternoon at 3 p.m. in the court house where it is expected to draw 400 to 500 people. This activity was moved to the court house in order to handle the crowd which overflowed the Hotel Ballroom last year.

The Merchants are asked to assist the celebration by entering the window display contest. The contest this year is being handled by S. O. Wilson and Melvin Young a committee from the Civic Improvements of the C of C.

A complete schedule of the Pioneer Day activities are expected to be ready for publication next week end.

 Several Hereford FFA members attended the Area I meeting held Saturday in Tulla. David McDuff submitted his degree for the Lone Star Farmers degree.

Dick Lucas, who has been employed by the Hereford State Bank for the past 4 1/2 years, will leave next week to accept a position with the Gorham State Bank at Gorham, Kans.

A pink cloud and a green cloud discovered shortly after lunch Thursday afternoon caused quite a bit of excitement. The two clouds hung over the southwest part of Hereford for several minutes before fading. It is believed that the clouds were caused from a jet exhaust.

Hereford Kiwanians Thursday were entertained by 20 girls in the Clovis High School chorus. A large delegation of Clovis Kiwanians also attended the meeting, along with a delegation from Wellington, Texas, which brought a traveling cup, presented by Cameron Beam, past district governor.

A meeting of Hereford C-C managers took place the same day (Thursday) when Johnny Poole and Johnny Shannon presented the Kiwanis program in Lubbock. Manager Cecil Massey was the speaker. Poole also recruited O. P. Cowart for the trip and in Lubbock they picked up Tom McFarland.

Pfc. James Franklin Merritt left at 9 o'clock Thursday night to report for duty at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. He has completed a 30-day sick leave spent with his wife, Billie Jo, and his mother, Mrs. Frank Merritt.

An auction sale of farm equipment has been announced by Jack McLaughlin for Saturday, May 16.

my hook. I caught nine, and Mr. Waters caught seven."

"Mr. Willie" was ready for her pause. "Those fish were hungry. You never really needed bait on your hook. Sure were good to eat, too."

It doesn't take much to start these two people to reminiscing. "We left here on a Sunday morning in that new Buick and just took our time. We had a picnic lunch, spent the night in Raton, N. M., and drove on to the ranch the next day. We stopped to take pictures whenever we wanted to. Didn't rush. Just had fun."

At the ranch they had four nights and three days of fun—riding, fishing, taking pictures, playing, and just visiting with the folks there. Early Friday morning they started back.

"We had a wonderful day in Denver," Miss Mary said.

"Yes, but I kind of wish we'd stayed that other day at the ranch," her husband said rather wistfully. He "never got his fishin' out."

"We took our time coming home, too. We spent Saturday night in Dumas and came on home Sunday morning. One whole week exactly," Mrs. Waters said, concluding the story she has told many times in the past year.

"Wouldn't it be nice if you could win again this year?" someone asked.

"It sure would," they answered together. Miss Mary continued, "But we aren't THAT good. Besides somebody else ought to have a chance to go up there this time. This Good Neighbor Contest sure is a wonderful thing. We never would've had a vacation like that any other way."

Perhaps Mr. and Mrs. Waters feel that they are not entitled to another chance at the vacation offered to Hereford's Good Neighbor, but all the other people who were nominated last year can have a second chance—if someone will nominate them again this year. And the winner is sure to agree that "It's a vacation you can enjoy all the rest of your life."

L.A.E. Club Closes Year's Activities At Luncheon

L. A. E. Club closed activities for the year at a luncheon held in the home of the president, Mrs. Altus Higgins Tuesday.

The club flower and colors were featured in miniature bouquets of pink and white sweet peas that centered quartet tables. The buffet table from which the luncheon was served, was centered with iris.

After the luncheon the club books were closed and the president named the following committees to serve next year:

In the 200 yard relay winners were Troy Rhodes, Durwood Jacobs, Kenneth Clearman and Reed Green.

Alvin Shirley In Guided Missiles Unit At Ft. Bliss

Fort Bliss, Texas—Private Alvin L. Shirley, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Shirley of Hereford, is now enrolled in the Antiaircraft and Guided Missiles Branch of The Artillery School at this post.

He is spending 34 weeks studying artillery fire control systems maintenance.

Pvt. Shirley entered the military service in November 1952.

At Fort Bliss, the Army's Antiaircraft Artillery and Guided Missile Center, thousands of enlisted men and officers are trained each year in the employment of anti-aircraft artillery and in guided missiles. These students come from the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps of the United States and from many allied countries.

Cancer Crusade Exceed Quotas

Mrs. Jas. Witherspoon
Publicity Chairman
 A check for something over $1200 has been mailed to the Texas headquarters of The American Cancer Society from the Deaf Smith County Chapter. The Annual Cancer Crusade, which opened April 1, has been extended until the middle of May because many communities were unable to meet their quotas in the time first named. In this County the quota of $1,000 was reached the first week. Subscriptions are still being accepted, however.

The Cancer Crusade is always two purposed. Of course there are funds to be raised for the promotion of research and aid to cancer victims; then there are the educational programs. This year through our local radio and newspaper, information on cancer was distributed, films were shown and talks on cancer given at many of the clubs. Doctors and others volunteered their time and efforts to try to reach every man and woman in Deaf Smith County so that the facts about cancer should be known by all. It was not necessary to conduct a door to door campaign for raising the money. Through the community wide games tournament conducted by Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, more than half the quota was raised. Donations from clubs, businesses, churches and individuals covered the rest.

The County Cancer Society and Beta Sigma Phi wish to thank The Hereford Brand, Radio Station KPAN and all others who gave of their time and means during this crusade. The problem of cancer cannot be solved in one season. It is with us every day. Beta Sigma Phi maintains a year round cancer fund. You are invited to contribute to it at any time. All funds in this account go to the American Cancer Society for research, education and service to cancer patients, by assisting the scientists in their research and by keeping ourselves educated about cancer maybe we can slow down the number two killer among us.

Summerfield, H-H Lead In Softball League This Week

By Shelby Whitfield
 Hereford softball opened Thursday night at Veteran's park with a doubleheader. The defending champs—Hereford Hardware—captured a wild 21-8 affair from REA in the opener. Summerfield defeated the Knights of Columbus 7-1 in the nightcap.
 A nice crowd, despite chilly weather turned out to see the openers. The first game contained plenty of slugging and sloppy fielding. Johnny Renner led the top of the first off for Hereford Hardware with a home run. Renner, a third baseman, hit a line drive into left-center field that got away from the outfielders. Before the inning was over Hereford Hardware had six runs on six hits.
 The REA squad fought back gamely but were never able to stop the Hereford Hardware sluggers.
 Hereford Hardware picked up a tally in the second and ran 10 more across in the fourth. The five inning rule took effect and prevented the game from going the full seven frames.
 Joe Culp allowed 7 hits to the REA boys while opposing pitchers, Robert Bell, Joe Alexander and Manager Jim Russell allowed 14.
 Stan Barrett led Hereford Hardware batting with three hits. John Kelly, Ray Hardy, Renner and Culp each had two safeties. Frances Hunt led REA batting with a double and a triple, driving in four runs. REA committed 8 errors compared to six for Hereford Hardware.

Summerfield-KC Game
 The Summerfield-KC tilt contained very tight pitching but errors again were the factor. Jack Clark gave up four hits while winning but Kenneth Walterscheid and Tommy Albracht allowed only three for the losers. Albracht pitched brilliant ball the last four innings, giving up two runs on one hit and striking out six men.
 Clifton Harper collected one of the three hits and drove in two runs for Summerfield. Everett Allen drove in the KC's only tally.
 There is another doubleheader of softball next Monday night. The leagues offer two teams, Dawn and Phillips 66 meet each other in the opener and REA and Summerfield tangle in the Owl game.
 The tilts start at 7:30 and are played in Vets Park.

DAIRYMEN! Can You Raise A Bigger Calf Than Beautena?

"Biggun Hunter" is taking care of Beautena
YOU'RE INVITED TO TRY IN OUR BIG PRIZE CONTEST

We'll make you a sporting proposition: pick a likely calf from your herd. Enter her 3-day-old starting weight on the poster in our store. Feed your calf on the Purina Program until she's 5 months old. If your calf outweighs Beautena at that time—

YOU WIN ONE OF THESE FINE BILLFOLDS

Beautena went to work in our store April 24th. Come on in and look her over. Ask for a weight tape to weigh your calf—then enter your calf in this contest. You'll have lots of fun and you'll grow out a big, husky calf the Purina Way at the same time.

NOTE: All calves will be judged on percentage of weight gained—depending on the breed you choose to enter.

BE SURE TO ENTER TRY FOR A PRIZE!

Friona Honor Graduates Are Listed For Commencement Day

Valedictorian and Salutorian of the Friona High School graduating class has been announced. Valedictorian is Wanda Mae Braty and Salutorian is Sue Gibson Nazworth.

Wanda Mae is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Braty and her average was 93.2. She has been employed for some time at the Friona State Bank and will continue to work there after graduation. She was one of the Flag bearers for the Friona High School Band.

Sue Gibson Nazworth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gibson. Her average was 87.5. She has no definite plans at the present because her husband, A-3C Verne Nazworth is due to leave Korea about the 20th of May and if he remains in the states she will go with him.

Johnson Baby Buried Friday

Graveside rites for Baby Johnson were conducted Friday afternoon May 8 at 5:30 in Friona.

The infant was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnson of Friona. She was stillborn on May 8.

Rev. U. S. Sherrell, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Friona conducted the rites.

Survivors other than the parents include: one brother and one sister.

Singing Blue Birds
The Singing Blue Birds met at the Hut last Wednesday. Roll was called and Fun, Sheep Run was played.

After returning to the Hut the girls worked on the Blue Bird Wish. Mrs. George Heard served refreshments to Jerre Bea Noland, Betty Lou Huckert, Jane Heard, Darlene Houle, Billie Ray Gardner, Jan Story, Sherry Hodges, Janis Higgins, Patricia Ranspot, Martha Wiltshire, Jeanne Rusk, Joanne Carlson, Barbara Barrett, Judy Brown, Anne Mae Schroeder, Doris Jean Andrews, Joyce McNeese, Lynda Jean Smith, Evelyn and Marilyn Jackson and the leaders Mrs. Wesly Brown and Mrs. Dub Jones.

Humming Blue Birds

The Humming Blue Birds were entertained by their big sisters, the Tawanka Camp Fire Girls, Saturday, with a weiner roast at the Jaycee Park.

Tawanka members present were Betty Lou Ford, Bernadette Beizer, Peggy June Bumpass, Linda Sue Parker, Caroline Knox, and the leader, Mrs. Paul Hoff.

Humming Blue Bird girls present were Phyllis Jean Ward, Wyndolyn Sheppard, Kay Woolery, Cecelia Loerwald, Jonelle Slack, Patricia Bell, Marilyn Martin, Paula Sue Moore, Marilyn Joy Jones, Bernice Denny, Edith Hagar, Verena Parker, Kay Albracht, Danna Grace Nafzger, Mildred Meyer and their leaders, Mrs. Wesley Brown and Mrs. Harley Ward. Others attending were Tony and Joe Parker, Judy Hoff, Judy, Ronnie and Verna Brown, Danny Bumpass, Gloria Bell, Mrs. J. T. Bell and Mrs. Geo. Bumpass.

Hot Compresses
There is always a chance of burning the hands when wringing hot cloths out of boiling water to be used as hot compresses. This can be avoided by using a potato ricer instead of wringing.

Cast Your Bread Upon The Waters

By Will G. Harris

Why some call the War Between the States, the Civil War, I never could comprehend. It was a struggle of horror and bloodshed, of starvation of innocent women and children. General Sherman, one of its participants, was right when he said "War is Hell." The border line state of Missouri suffered devastation almost unparalleled in the history of warfare. Two opposing armies fought in a death struggle, and left naked chimneys as monuments to once beautiful homes.

I should like to tell of a dear Old Lady who was caught between the fires of these opposing armies, and of her covenant with her God. Her husband had died previously, and her only son was in the army, and she was there in that maelstrom with a house full of girls. Her slaves fled in panic, her fence rails were burned, and her fields laid in ruins. The fighting grew so intense that an officer in high command issued an order for all the women and children to evacuate. It was called order Number Eleven, I think. In the early twilight, one morning this Dear Old Lady knelt to pray. "Almighty God who knowest every sparrow that falls, keep my dear brood from starving; I make a solemn covenant with Thee, I'll bring each up to walk in thy ways, and help bring thy kingdom into the hearts of all with whom I associate. I know I have not served you as I should, I have had to fight fire with fire, treachery with treachery to preserve the lives entrusted to me. Hasten the day when wars will be no more, and love, not hate, shall reign in the hearts of men. AMEN."

"Edith," she called "come dear we are going to try to go to Texas." "I am so glad Mother," she said. "The oxen were too poor for the army to butcher so with just a little help from one of the other girls I can walk and drive them. The soldiers trampled the half side of meat into the dirt when you told them the starch you had put on it was strychnine, but I washed it good, and there is the ten pounds of meal we hid under the springhouse. I know we will make the trip Mother, we must."

What an exhaustive trip it was. A trip that required almost as long a time as it took Columbus to cross the Atlantic. Soon the side of meat was gone, and the main article of food was potato peelings which the army had left. These this Dear Old Lady carefully washed and fed to her children so that the two girls had strength to walk beside the wagon. They were able to travel only a few miles each day. They forded swollen streams, and crossed the hostile, parched Indian Territory, later to become the state of Oklahoma. One of the oxen died enroute but they hitched the other with an old mule the Army had discarded and still undaunted they struggled onward. It was a grand day when the ferry boat set them down on the South bank of Red River, and they were in Texas.

Because there was a college at Bonham, this Dear Old Lady chose to make their home there. This college, Carlton College, named for its founder and great teacher, "Uncle Charlie Carlton," was the first Christian College in Texas. Two brothers, Addison and Randolph Clark were students of that school. They later established Ad-dran College, forerunner of Texas Christian University, -TCU. This Pioneer mother wanted her daughters to have culture, along with a Christian education, so she enrolled them in Carlton College. Being always thrifty, she provided the money by "dress making, trimming hats and keeping bonnets."

Later hesitant, but hopeful young men came to ask this Dear Old Lady for the hands of her daughters in marriage. They were worthy young men. The eldest married a man who helped write the constitution of Texas. Another became the wife of a merchant. The third married a banker who became wealthy, and another married a farmer, and another married a man I ever knew.

No doubt you have been reading between the lines. Yes, this Dear, Dear Old Lady was my grandmother, Elizabeth Turner Pickel. Like Timothy, of New Testament memory, who was taught by his grandmother Lois and his mother Eunice, I too, heard the story of Calvary and the Cross from the lips of my Grandmother Elizabeth and my mother Edith. Edith was a classmate of Addison and Randolph Clark. Later I had the privilege of sitting at the feet of one of the younger Clark brothers—Thomas Marshall Clark, and learning some of life's greatest truths.

This Dear, Dear Old Lady, and her children, have gone the way of all flesh, but her children's children rise up to call her blessed. I do not know a prodigal among all her descendants. I, perhaps, am the one who has done the least, but I am sure I inherited her pioneering spirit, for I am the one who pioneered, in the Texas Panhandle. One of her great grandsons is a minister of great ability, another, though a very young man is a pillar in his church. One of the grandsons is chairman of the board of elders in a large church of one of our great cities.

Some of the descendants made names for themselves in TCU, especially in the early days of that institution. Several have been successful in the business and financial world, but I do not think any will have to "pass through a needle's eye" to enter a Kingdom.

This story of a Dear, Dear Old Lady, who prayed that her children might not starve, has always been very dear to my heart. For a long time I have wanted to tell it, even though the attempt might be feeble, so that others, and especially her descendants, might know something of her turbulent, but useful and beautiful life.

Emma Jane and Colleen Brown, who are students at West Texas State College are spending the Mother's Day week end with their mother, Mrs. Caudie Ola Brown.

LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Television Snack Is Always Welcome by Young and Old

Probably one of the reasons that television has become so popular is that it invariably calls for a snack of some sort.

When friends drop in and you take time out for conversation, it is nice to have refreshments to munch on. And if they are such appetizing little tid-bits as these chocolate crispies, they will be especially welcomed. They may be prepared days ahead and if unexpected guests stop by, you can be hospitable on a moment's notice.

Serve them with hot or cold drinks as the occasion demands and grandpa and grandma love them as much as the teen-agers. Patsy Slagle, who is now Mrs. Richard Ireland, has been making these crispies since she was fourteen years old. She liked to make them when she knew the crowd was going to gang around. Now she makes them for her own little family. Here is the way she does it:

- Chocolate Crispies
- 2 squares bitter chocolate
- 1/2 cup melted butter
- 1/2 cup flour
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup finely chopped nuts
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract

A Salute To Mothers

Children reared, these mothers now find time for hobbies, keeping young in heart, and lending inspiration to others.

Mrs. Carl Gilliland

"Mothers whose children are grown and married can find new enthusiasm for life and a wonderful way of keeping young in heart in the development of hobbies or interests," Mrs. Carl Gilliland said as guests viewed her lovely collection of dolls recently. "I make china dolls and spend hours and hours painting and dressing them, and it's lots of fun, not only because it keeps me from being lonely, but it gives me an interest to share with others."

About four years ago friends persuaded Mrs. Gilliland to attend a class in ceramic art and while there, she began wondering if the old-fashioned china doll she played with as a child could be reproduced in ceramics. Then began a long search for such a doll from which to make a mold. Now she has approximately 150 dolls and is still making more.

Most of the dolls are copies of antiques, all dressed in authoritative costumes. There's Marie Antoinette, Mary Todd Lincoln, Brigham Young and others. The man in the picture is Brigham Young and the young mother with the baby in her arms is probably one of his wives. She has succeeded in giving individual expression to each and the lovely clothes made of velvet, silk, satin and lace, accentuate the doll's character. Some days she works until she is dog-tired, but then it's fun to rest with her doll family around her for they are almost like human beings. The next one she makes she plans to dress in material from a dress worn by three generations in her family. It is pure silk with pinstriping and she hopes to copy one of the gay nineties models. Someday she hopes to have them all dressed in period clothes.

and dozens of accessories that go into the make-up. Over against the wall is the kiln which she fires to get just the right degree of heat. Comfortable chairs and good lighting make it easy to understand why the hours spent in the workshop go so fast. No dolls are sold, although she could sell many, many more than she has. "I couldn't part with one of them. My sisters love them and I have given them quite a few dolls but this little family will keep me company the rest of my days," she said. "That's half the joy—sharing with others. My friends come out to my workshop and we have wonderful times together." Mrs. Gilliland commented. "That fallacy of old age can't get hold of us as long as we keep happy and busy." "Out in the workshop, which is a part of the garage, you'll see legs, arms, heads, bodies, artificial hair etc. all ready to be assembled. Work tables are lined with paint

Mrs. Glenn Snyder

Mrs. Glenn Snyder always wanted to study music and received her early education when a child. When she grew up she found herself spending both time and energy in her music and had taught music five years before her marriage in 1916. After their marriage in Illinois where both were reared, Mr. and Mrs. Snyder came to Hereford and lived on a farm north of Hereford. There their two daughters, Mrs. Ike Holman of Tulla and Helen Ann Snyder of Amarillo, were born.

The average person allows home duties and the care of children to crowd out other interests, but Mrs.

Snyder was never quite able to let her music go. She taught her own children, played the piano in the old Methodist Church and took active part in the study and activities of the Music Study Club. While her children were little, she developed a flair for sewing and for a time her music was pushed aside, but not forgotten. Making a healthy, happy home life and creating joy for her family became the most important things in her life.

But there came a time when Mother's being there, the comfort, the corrections, the guidance, were no longer needed. All the buttons had been sewed on, the lessons taught, the bruises healed—and the old dream of helping others toward a musical career returned in a flood of desire to teach again. While her girls were in high school their friends had persuaded her to teach them but she could not devote much time to lessons—it was after they were gone from home that she again took up her study and teaching in earnest. She has completed a course in teaching at the Musical Arts Conservatory of Music in Amarillo.

She took up the study of organ music and served as organist in the Methodist Church for six years.

While teaching is much more than a hobby with Mrs. Snyder, she does it just because she loves it, finding richness and fullness in her own life as she imparts her love of music to others. "I get a thrill out of helping those youngsters develop their talents," she said. "It's a challenge to me to try to get them to do their best."

When they have gone as far as they can here she encourages them to study elsewhere and receives special enjoyment in watching their progress. She gets a wonderful satisfaction in holding up the highest standards in music and in training others to appreciate the best in musical arts.

Since Mr. Snyder's death she lives alone and her music has meant more than ever. "It isn't what I do in music that counts," she thoughtfully remarked, "it's what music does for me. I am grateful for something all my own that I can find daily satisfaction in sharing with others. Perhaps I am one of the many who have received musical inspiration in childhood and I would like to pass that inspiration on to someone else."

The Sunday Brand

Hereford, Texas, Sunday, May 10, 1953

Section Two

Mrs. H. V. Williamson

Mother's Day is every day in the H. V. Williamson home.

Mrs. Williamson's philosophy of life has so do with the belief that the persons who get the most out of life are those who keep busy doing worthwhile things they like to do. Good natured, kind and loving, Mrs. Williamson has always liked to work with children and served as superintendent of the Beginners Department in the Methodist Church Sunday School for 30 years.

When her own two sons, Howard and Thurman, were overseas during World War II, she had to do something to keep from worrying, and when friends would ask her to keep their children she found satisfaction in loving and caring for them. Perhaps it was her way of easing her anxieties or in some way satisfying her mother-heart, for she was too busy to brood over her boys.

After she started she found there was no way of stopping, and now she says "I could not quit now—these children are as much a part of me as my own family—I don't think I could start the day without looking forward to their being here. "And so, for years, she has continued to shower her love and devotion on other people's children, most of them whose mothers work. The children have ranged in age from 2 months to five years and to all of them she is "Nannie" whom they adore.

What she does is neither in the form of a nursery nor a school. She doesn't attempt to teach them, but as she lives with them every day they learn self reliance and independence and best of all, they learn of God. She and the children have special kinds of amusements together, word games, etc. and they exchange experiences, thus learning consideration for each other, from the tiniest on up.

The past year she has had from eight to ten children every day. They come about eight in the morning and sometimes it is eight in the evening before they are all gone. For years there was no money remuneration, but after more and more kept coming and since food prices gradually became higher, she has accepted a small fee. When her friends ask "Why do you stay at home with these children—what do you get out of it?" she replies: "I have a wonderful imagination—I just pretend they are all my own—I'm their second mother. Those children are counted among my blessings. And then, I feel that I am accomplishing something for good. What more could I ask for than the love of little children—and my satisfaction comes when I feel perhaps that I am helping mold fine characters and that these little ties here will find expression for good as they grow into individual personalities."

Mother love never dies, for it is in the giving which comes from love that makes it lasting—Spreading this love to others is Mrs. Williamson's hobby and she heartily recommends it to others—after children are reared and gone from home, as a bulwark against an emptiness that might grow into being sorry for yourself.

Injured in Fall
Mrs. H. R. Patterson is recuperating in Deaf Smith County Hospital after breaking a knee cap in a fall Wednesday.

As Mrs. Patterson was leaving the church, she fell on the curb causing the break. She underwent Surgery Thursday morning and her condition is reported as fine.

George Graham and Carroll Jones are in Austin where Carroll will enter the state numbers contest.

Mrs. R. L. Criswell is a guest in the home of her son, Dalton Criswell. Mrs. Criswell's home is in Throckmorton.

Emmett Gilbreath of Columbia, Tenn. has been visiting his brother, Jeff Gilbreath, and other relatives here the past week. The brothers planned to leave today for Tennessee where Jeff Gilbreath will visit relatives.

Mrs. H. M. Cogswell left by plane Thursday for Shreveport, La. to spend Mother's Day with her daughter, Christine, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe R. Williams of Avondale Estates, Ga. are the parents of a baby daughter, Judy Lee, born April 24. Mrs. Williams is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Millard.

NEWS ABOUT YOU AND YOUR NEIGHBORS

Mrs. F. M. Kester, who took her first art lesson after gray hairs were showing, is one of the many mothers who have demonstrated that after children are reared and gone from home, you can go ahead and do what you want to do, and that you do not have to depend on other people for entertainment or interests.

"When Dr. Kester became ill four years ago, I took up china painting just because I love it, and knew because he was forced to stay at home that I would be staying too. It proved to be of great interest to him too and really helped shorten the time he was confined to the home."

"At first I attended classes in china painting in Amarillo and later enrolled in Mrs. Forrest Minton's class. I don't claim to be an artist by any standard, but it's worlds of fun, and once you become absorbed in painting a piece, if you have troubles you don't have time to bother with them," she said.

Her home is full of beautiful pieces such as plates, pitchers, tea pots, chocolate sets and figurines. The ceramic art she picked up herself and her latest in that is a TV set.

China painting is not her only interest, however, for growing beautiful flowers is another one of her accomplishments. She is a charter member of the Hereford Garden Club and has been given a life membership in the club. That interest dates back to the time when Mr. Kester began to raise dahlias and they planned a lovely flower garden. She kept up the garden while he was ill but now that he is well again they share in the work and fun of it. They would rather grow fine dahlias than any other flower but in midsummer their yard will be a riot of color with tulips, nasturtiums, hyacinths, daisies and almost any flower you can mention.

They like to do things together and for a long time worked in the First Christian Church and in the Sunday School. They have four children; Mrs. O. H. Culpepper and Lynn Kester of Hereford, Hal of Seattle, Washington and Clifford of Craig, Colorado.

The happiest times are when the ten grandchildren visit them which isn't too often, but they have learned that the older years can provide an opportunity for rich, full days ahead.

"I expect to grow old—but I would like to do it graciously, with no complaints," Mrs. Kester seems to imply as she talks about her plans for going some of the things there was no time for when she was rearing her children.

Northwest Hereford News

By Mrs. R. C. Childers
 Leroy Packard spent from Monday until Thursday of last week in Oklahoma City, taking a special course in Salesmanship. Packard is employed at the Ford Implement Co. in Hereford.

Charles Packard and Jack Payne returned last week from a fishing trip to Chonchas Dam, N. Mex. Mrs. Leona Packard visited in the Paul Corbett home Thursday afternoon.

Twisters have dipped here and there over the community last week. A pump house was set over a brooder house on the Pat Robinson farm northwest of Hereford. Roofs were blown off of several buildings on the Leroy Packard farm, where the Glenn Wilsons are now living. Residents in the Summerfield area report seeing a twister traveling south across a field.

During the nice weather of Wednesday and Thursday, housewives of this vicinity were found gardening and beautifying their yards. Farmers, likewise have thoroughly enjoyed the pleasant weather. It has made their tasks of irrigation and field operations a much more pleasant task.

Potatoes and onions are being cultivated and irrigated. The wheat is being irrigated too in a number of places, and is looking fine. A good yield can be expected if the crop is harvested without the damage of hail.

Accident Damage Is Set At $375

Charges of running a stop sign and failure to yield the right-of-way were filed against J. E. Cockrell following an accident Thursday afternoon at the intersection of Second Street and Sampson.

Cockrell, who was driving a 1949 Chevrolet was traveling West on Second Street, and the 1951 Oldsmobile driven by Deretha Redwine Brooks was traveling north on Sampson.

J. B. Sneed was the owner of the Oldsmobile. Damage to the Oldsmobile was set at $200 and to the Chevrolet at $175.

Wilma Ruth Shirley, Linn Smith Marry In Clovis Rites Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Shirley have announced the marriage of their daughter, Wilma Ruth, to Linn Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Smith, all of Hereford. The vows were exchanged in Clovis, New Mexico on Sunday May 3 in the Calvary Baptist Church. Rev. Aran Cottle, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Attendants were the bride's sister, Mona Faye Shirley, and Weldon Roberson. Miss Shirley wore a pink linen frock with lace jacket and her corsage was of white carnations.

The bride was attired in a two piece suit type dress of blue linen with pearlized trim. Her accessories were in white and she wore a small white hat. Her bouquet was a single white orchid.

After a short honeymoon trip to points in New Mexico and Colorado, the couple will be at home at the Star Apartments, 124 Main St.

Those from Hereford attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Shirley and Lou Alice, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Shirley and Kay and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wilson and Diane.

Katherine Snare Rates Honors On Grade Average

Approximately 300 students of the Texas State College for Women have been honored for excellent scholastic achievement at an assembly of the TSCW student body.

The event honored students making over a B average in all courses and members of Alpha Lambda Delta and Alpha Chi, honorary scholastic fraternities.

Katherine Sigrid Snare, freshman, interior design major of 444 Sampson, Hereford, has a 2.3 average (over a B) in fall semester courses.

Delaware has only three counties.

Mr. and Mrs. Dub Curtsinger left Tuesday for their new home in Nevada, Mo. They were accompanied as far as Wichita, Kans. by an aunt, Mrs. Delia Womble, who has been visiting with relatives in Tulsa and Hereford for several weeks.

Mrs. Delia Womble of Wichita, Kans. visited last week end in the home of her brother, Malcolm Cassells and family.

"The Short Story" Is Topic Of Program For LaPlata Club

"The Short Story" was the subject of interest when the LaPlata Study Club met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Wm. Krumbeln.

Mrs. Dalton Criswell was in charge of the program. Introducing her topic, Mrs. Criswell said the short story is a symbol of American independence in literature, the majority of them being the creations of imagination. She mentioned Irving, Poe and Hawthorne as examples of the American short story.

Sharoff Moore entertained the group with a reading "The Gusher" by Charles Loomas.

During the business session plans were made for the club float to be entered in Hereford's Pioneer

Day Parade. Arrangements were completed for the closing session which will be in the form of a dinner in the home of Mrs. Lynn Kester on May 19.

Those attending were Mesdames: Milton Adams, Leroy Aven, N. D. Bartlett, Jr., Harry Bennett, Homer Brunley, H. H. Caraway, Les Combs, Dalton Criswell, Emil Dettman, S. S. Dodson, Ray Downey, Clint Formby, J. R. Johnson, Lynn Kester, Don Little, Charles Newell, A. J. Schroeter, Charles Spurlock, Urlin Streu, J. M. Thomson, Wm. Krumbeln, Frank Prowell and F. L. FOIBLES

Kent Snare

The saying is extant that "A little child shall lead ye." Me, I encountered a boy tad recently that I shall not astute for me to keep up. Leave me relate the happening at you. Mother Fee and I made an emergency type trip to Kansas last week and immediately upon arrival we contacted the hospital and found that my Mother was progressing satisfactorily, so we faced the business at hand, or rather I did by attempting to escort the speckled pup-dog, senior type, on her tour of necessity. At the nonce the Kansas zephyr was on exhibition, more than somewhat, which deterred the setter not a whit. She was towing me against the wind, and my will, around one of those country blocks when we encountered a male citizen, who greeted us with alacrity. "Mister, will that dog bite?" After my ready assurance, in the negative, this male character, who would, I vow, aggregate 4 years or 4 and a half, at the outside, ups to the bird dog and began to massage her fore and aft, much to her satisfaction. Finally he affixed me with an intent stare, thru the fog of froth applied by the bird-dog's appreciative ablutions, and observed, "He sure is a big dog, Mister, ain't he."

Fancy and Plain

a-wide. I mean?? To which, when I had resumed a measure of what would be laughingly referred to as composure, I concurred, heartily. This wee tad's observance, when compared to the years of alleged adult wit, "that your dog is fat". "Why don't you feed her," and et cetera, that I have had projected at me, was refreshing to a degree, as I said before, of more than somewhat. On the inferior type of major league baseball now being practised under an assumed name, old-timers Cobb and Hornsby are it again. The pay must be good. At any rate they nearly concur on their approximation of today's hitters as compared to those of their time. Cobb says Musial and Rizzuto and Hornsby holds it to Musial period. Rizzuto is a magnificent ball player and clutch slapper but wherein he qualifies as a great all-time hitter eludes me. To show what calibre of major league hitting we have now, look at the St. Louis Browns. Bob Elliott, the White Sox, as precast herein, are having a field day with the problem of a cleanup man. They're down to alternating Taft Wright and Sam Mele; after running the gamut of Junior Stephens, Minoso, et al. I noticed that last week in London Roger Bannister, ran the world's tenth fastest mile with a clocking of 4 minutes 3.6 seconds. The present world record is 4:01.4, set by Gunder Haegg of Sweden in 1945. This run by Bannister made him the fifth fastest miler on record. Only Haegg and Arne Anderson, also of Sweden, John Landy of Australia and Gaston Reiff of Belgium have burned in better mile times. Haegg has his world mark and a 4:02 to his credit. Anderson has clockings of 4:01.6 and 4:02.6; Landy 4:02.1 and 4:02.8, both this season; and Reiff 4:02.8 and 4:03.4. In addition, Ingvard Erickson of Sweden has a 4:03.6 mark. Landy is young and still running after the mile mark, there being those, including Landy, who think he can shade a 4 minute total, could be. Someone will do it, even if they have to employ mirrors. Bannister was thought to be on the down grade. He ran fourth in a blanket finish in the 1500 meters at Helsinki in 3:46. McMillen of the US and A was timed in 3:45.2 with the winner, Joseph Barthel of Luxembourg however, it was good only for second. The third slot went to Werner Lueg, Germany, in 3:45.4. Tight gaspers like that lead to cardiac trouble among the officials. . . and the spectators, likewise. . .

Mother-Daughter Annual Banquet

Arrangements were made and the food prepared and served by the men at the annual mother-daughter banquet held at the Christian Church Thursday night. Mothers and daughters were, honored guests for the evening and after the meal presented an interesting program for the entertainment of the men.

Mrs. W. H. Russell and Mrs. Aubyn Hodges gave the program on Beauty Care. Mrs. Russell demonstrated her talk by giving Mrs. Lloyd Olson a facial. Mrs. Hodges told of make-up secrets and charting individual colors in powder. Mrs. Paul Hoff told of the naming of Mrs. Ira Ott as the woman of the year.

Members voted to sponsor a Blue Bird group the coming year and to include the Kraft School and Weaving Instructions in next year's program. Mrs. R. E. Barrett will be hostess for the next meeting on May 21.

Members attending the meeting were Mesdames: R. A. Fullwood, Lloyd Olson, O. C. Williams, Belle Williams, Aubyn Hodges, W. H. Russell, Fred Saltzman, Wesley Brown, Paul Hoff and the hostess.

"Life" was presented. Mrs. Earl F. Histon took the part of the mother looking over an album which called forth living pictures of memories.

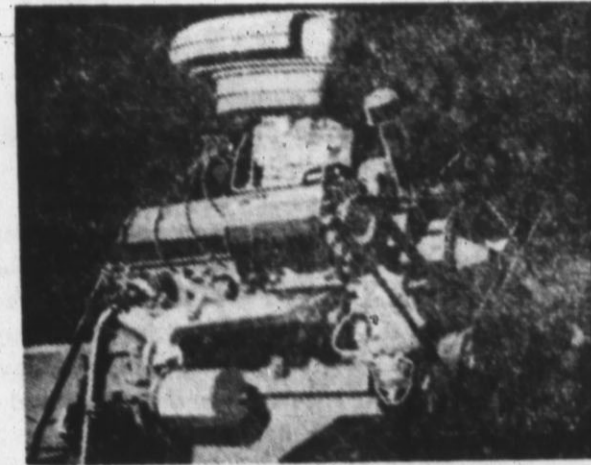

Margaret Phillips, Sue Kirby, Carolyn Williams and Lotus Root formed a hidden choir to give background music. Dorothy Vogel served as reader.

Baking Cakes

To keep a cake, that sticks to the pan, from breaking to pieces when taken out, turn the pan upside down and lay on the bottom of it a cloth wrung out of water. In a few minutes the cake can be removed without crumbling.

Mending China

China or glass can be mended by melting some powdered alum in an old spoon. Before it hardens rub over the pieces, press them together and set aside to dry. They will hold even if washed in hot water.

A Case For The Marines

The sheriff's department this week wrote a letter to peace officers of Farmer county which, among other things, expressed profound apologies for the manner in which a delegation of Hereford youths last Monday night conducted themselves in Friona. The sentiment, we believe, pretty well expresses the feelings of the entire Hereford community.

When a small community like Hereford produces a large group of maladjusted or misled boys and girls, as some in this group unquestionably are, it is a reflection upon the community as a whole as well as upon the individual boys and girls and their parents. Such gargled ideas of justice and equality as some of the group have indicated from time to time can, of course, arise from several causes. Some of the kids may be misguided as a result of being underprivileged, thus developing maladjusted complexes. Others are possibly the product of an era of "fast living" in which parents are too busy to pass along basic fundamentals of American citizenship, law and order to their children.

Many of these kids have been kicked out of public school for failure to observe regulations. Lack of training and ability has kept some of them from securing the better jobs. Faced with these things, a so-called gang has been formed and other recruits added. Failing to gain recognition through honest and legitimate means, someone came up with the idea of "gang fights" possibly not realizing it was only an easy way to gain recognition. The pattern is much the same as that of a two or three year old child who will do outlandish antics to divert attention of adults from some other child and focus it upon himself.

One cannot help but feel pity for any maladjusted human being. We even feel pity and chagrin for misled youths in cities who turn to Communist activities as a means of gaining recognition and attention. The final result is far different, but misguidance is unquestionably the basic cause in each of the cases.

Officers, of course, have little choice in the matter. Law enforcement is their job and certainly the general public cannot face riots and utter disregard of the law -- just because someone along the line failed to do his job properly, or because we feel sorry for some individual. It is, nevertheless, a shame to see fine American youths wasted when they could become good, substantial citizens by merely a change in viewpoint.

Maladjusted and misguided people can sometimes be straightened out by psychiatrists. This, we presume, is out of the question. Meanwhile, if these kids like to fight so well, why don't they join the Marines? They might not be tough enough to stand the gaff but, hard as it might be, anything would beat a possible future reformatory or penitentiary sentence.

Officers, of course, have little choice in the matter. Law enforcement is their job and certainly the general public cannot face riots and utter disregard of the law -- just because someone along the line failed to do his job properly, or because we feel sorry for some individual. It is, nevertheless, a shame to see fine American youths wasted when they could become good, substantial citizens by merely a change in viewpoint.

Wheat Allotments

A call has been sent out for wheat producers to register their "seeded wheat acreage" for the years 1951-52-53. The individual figures will be used collectively to determine the acres allotted to Deaf Smith County in 1954, according to plans of the Department of Agriculture.

The proposed system is new and, for several reasons, should prove popular. In the first place, it is equitable as compared with the old system of taking Bureau of Economics estimates for compiling allotment basis. Under the new set-up, Deaf Smith County producers will be allowed their correct acreage -- and not an estimate dreamed up by some bureaucrat who perhaps never saw a wheat field, much less the wheat growing conditions of this area.

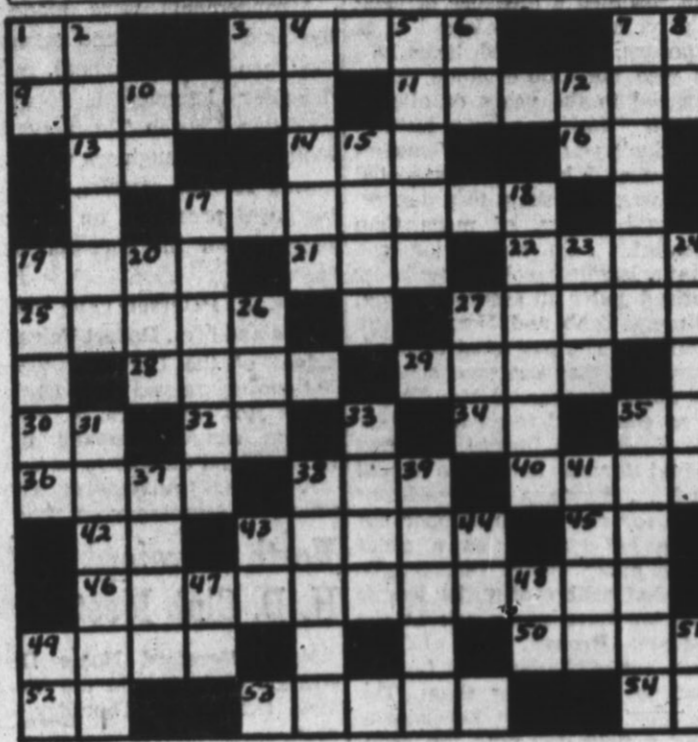

The method disregards harvest and divers 100 percent to seeded acreage, thus basing allotted acreage on actual past acreage average. A hazardous crop like wheat should certainly be based in this manner, as any wheat producer in this area will confirm.

Reports have to be compiled and submitted by June 12, a scant month from now and, in case allotments are not required the seedage acreage basis will likely be used in setting the loan price on wheat. These things, added up, mean that every producer should make a serious effort to file his figures with the PMA office. It is the first time the vast wheat belt has had an opportunity to combat a previously unjust method. Response on the part of individual farmers will, naturally, indicate their interest in their own future welfare.

An Army officer was courtmartialled for taking short cuts through red tape. They probably made him sew it all back together again

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

"Feel Free to Nominate Those Good Neighbors," Folks Advise

What is your opinion of the Good Neighbor Contest? If favorable, do you have any suggestions as to how it might be improved?

MARLIN GIILLAND

I think it is fine. I don't see any way in the world you could improve anything like that. I hope some deserving person gets it again this year. I don't think that anyone could have been more deserving than they were last year.

MRS. MARVIN WINGET

I think it is a very nice thing to have to recognize these people that have done these good deeds. I'm not too familiar with the contest but I don't know of any changes.

J. M. POSEY

I think it's wonderful. I don't know of any way it could be improved unless they provided some spending money for them.

JUANITA ARRINTON

I think it's a good idea. I'm in favor. I think it is worth working for.

MRS. R. E. LINGENFELTER

I think that the idea is good but I know that a lot of people hesitate to turn in a name. If there was just some way that they would not hesitate about it. There are so many people that never get nominated for it. I wouldn't know how to improve it but I do think that something should be done about making people feel a little freer to enter.

'Tater Peelin's

By Roberta Campbell

Just about every magazine you pick up seems to have more recipes than anything else and one of those will be for "Baked Alaska".

We finally got so curious about this cooked ice cream dessert that we just had to try it and in spite of all our misgivings about the ice cream melting by the time the meringue was brown it turned out just fine.

We didn't have the plank covered with brown paper so we used a heavy pyrex dish and took it out on to a platter as soon as it came from the oven.

Every time we go to a demonstration party we find that our pocket book comes out just as weak as our will power but at least we can offer ourselves some measure of consolation because we took the little sponge we were given at the last party and cut it to fit a bar of soap and put it in the soap dish with the neat result that the soap dish is dry and clean and the sponge is soaped and handy to clean the lavatory.

If any of you get the idea that Hereford isn't a nice place to live then you should make a run up to Amarillo and take a good look at their wheat fields.

Makes your old rubber boots and shovel look a sight better doesn't it?

Texans In Washington

By Tex Easley

AP Special Washington Service
Washington, May. (AP)—Crime increased 9 per cent in Texas cities in 1952, 1 per cent faster than the rate for the urban centers of the nation as a whole, according to a Federal Bureau of Investigation report.

The report is based on data sent in by police chiefs of U. S. cities and towns of 1,500 or more population. The FBI says it does not vouch for its accuracy.

The information was compiled under the FBI's system of uniform crime reporting, however, and reflects general trends. Inaccuracies may occur in figures for some cities.

Seventy-three Texas cities and towns, with a total population of 3,373,523 submitted reports. Peace officers in these urban centers listed 78,033 crimes committed in 1952, as compared with 72,090 in 1951.

Reported murders and non-negligent manslaughters in these Texas population centers numbered 403 last year, as compared with 355 in 1951. Manslaughters by negligence however, dropped from 169 to 146. Reported cases of rape increased from 356 to 370.

Larceny accounted for by far the largest number of crimes in Texas, as in the nation as a whole. There were 43,634 thefts in the state in 1952 and 41,603 in 1951. There were 18,755 cases of burglary (breaking or entering unlawfully), from 17,111 in 1951.

Cases of aggravated assault numbered 3,405 last year, 2,923 the year before. Robberies increased from 1,310 to 1,555, and auto thefts from 8,263 to 9,765.

Figures on crimes in 1952 for principal cities in Texas include the following:

Amarillo — 4 murders, 16 robberies, 92 aggravated assaults, 298 burglaries, 1,436 thefts, 376 auto thefts;

Austin — 10 murders, 34 robberies, 283 aggravated assaults, 539 burglaries, 1,987 thefts, 267 auto thefts;

Beaumont — 4 murders, 18 robberies, 108 aggravated assaults, 372 burglaries, 1,177 thefts, 153 auto thefts;

Corpus Christi — 8 murders, 52 robberies, 317 aggravated assaults, 741 burglaries, 1,663 thefts, 322 auto thefts;

Dallas — 62 murders, 387 robberies, 904 aggravated assaults, 4,111 burglaries, 9,463 thefts, 2,468 car thefts;

El Paso — 6 murders, 96 robberies, 91 aggravated assaults, 785 burglaries, 2,152 thefts, 508 auto thefts.

Fort Worth — 45 murders, 149 robberies, 138 aggravated assaults, 1,871 burglaries, 4,428 thefts, 944 auto thefts;

Houston — 134 murders, 346 robberies, 259 aggravated assaults, 4,426 burglaries, 6,614 thefts, 2,080 auto thefts;

Lubbock — 9 murders, 29 robberies, 61 aggravated assaults, 519 burglaries, 1,529 thefts, 205 auto thefts;

San Antonio — 51 murders, 243 robberies, 427 aggravated assaults, 2,169 burglaries, 4,895 thefts, 814 auto thefts;

Waco — 3 murders, 9 robberies, 107 aggravated assaults, 297 burglaries, 926 thefts, 121 auto thefts;

Wichita Falls — 10 murders, 46 robberies, 225 aggravated assaults, 301 burglaries, 1,228 thefts, 490 auto thefts.

Around the Capital
Few of the old school silver-tongued orators remain on the Washington scene.

Where once the halls of Congress echoed with their eloquence, a more deliberate, conversational style of speech-making now holds sway. Emphasis is on reasoning and logic.

You can count on your fingers the number of fluent senators and representatives gifted with an ever-ready command of the King's English, supplemented with an unlimited reservoir of anecdotes and classical poetry.

Probably not more than a half dozen members of the House draw their colleagues onto the floor from the cloakrooms and offices when they speak—that is, for the sheer sake of hearing them speak.

Foremost among those that do are Reps. Dewey Short (R-Mo), once a Methodist minister; Walter Judd (R-Minn), once a medical missionary to China, and Edward J. Hart (D-NJ).

As for Texas 22 representatives and two senators, most are of the quiet-talking, modern school that tries to convince you in an eye-to-eye personal conversation. A most effective member of this group is Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, as is Rep. Albert Thomas of Houston.

House Minority Leader Sam Rayburn is in a class by himself. He doesn't speak often, but when he does, he speaks low and with deliberation. Needless to say, his words fall on attentive ears and bear weight.

Rep. Martin Dies of Lufkin, Texas' sole member elected at-large from over the whole state, probably comes nearer to the class of the old-style orator than any of the

THE ONE THAT CAME BACK

A silver casserole ladle, one of more than a dozen that disappeared more than 20 years ago from the DeWitt Clinton Hotel, is back.

The heavy piece of silverware was returned in a package containing a copy of "The Mission," a religious magazine. Hotel officials believe a piece in it about conversions prompted return of the long-missing item.

It is now in a trophy chest labeled: "The one that came back." THE BOX ELDER JOURNAL.

SPRING CARNIVAL

Fun for the whole family is promised at the Spring Carnival to be held Friday and Saturday nights at the Veteran's Memorial building, sponsored by the Jaycees with a number of other civic clubs and organizations participating.

Included in the list of attractions are a turtle race, bingo, ring tossing, side show, baseball throw, putting contest, duck ringing, penny pitching and numerous other games of skill. THE OCHILTREE COUNTY HERALD.

RAIN, RAIN, RAIN

Torrential rains, damaging crops to the extent of possibly several thousands of dollars, sent the San Marcos river rip-snorting Tuesday afternoon and night.

Little towns along the river felt the brunt of the weather's wrath. Trees were uprooted and fences in the low places looked like Christmas trimming after the trash and debris were left hanging from barbed wire. An estimated 8 inch rain lashed Maxwell and Martindale covering the low-water bridges across the San Marcos river. THE SAN MARCOS RECORD.

SEASON STARTS

The 1953 Softball season will officially get underway in Wheeler and Mobeetie next Monday with the playing of two games on each of the two fields.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's Note: The Bootleg Philosopher must think he's a military strategist, the way his letter this week sounds.

Dear editor:

I saw in a copy of a newspaper which fell out of a small whirlwind out here the other afternoon along with four pieces of wrapping paper and several un-paid bills where the United States army ever in Korea is offering $50,000 for any enemy flier who delivers a Russian-built jet plane to the Allies.

This struck me as a good idea and I wonder why it wasn't thought up earlier. I don't have any idea how many Russian planes we'll get this way, but it sounds like a bargain and I would like to see this new style of war carried even further.

Why not offer say $10,000 for every enemy tank delivered to us, and come on down the scale, $5,000 for every platoon, $100 for every rifle, hand grenades $6 a piece, canteens two-bits, etc.

I don't know whether our money would hold out, but if I had to do any fighting myself I'd prefer to try to use money instead of bullets.

Of course, I don't think we ought to rely on this method altogether, we ought to keep on makin our own weapons just in case, but it sounds like a pretty good idea. Naturally, we may run into some pretty canny types of enemies, and it may come a time when one will circle around overhead and try to horse-trade a little, offerin to turn in his plane for $40,000 instead of $50,000 on account of radio, heater and white sidewall tires, but Americans if they're good at anything are good at horse-tradin and I figure we can hold our own in this kind of a deal.

Also, we don't want em turnin in any worn-out models, any oil-burners, sick-tired jobs with leaky radiators and a dead battery, but I figure we can handle that too by commissionin a few used-car dealers to protect our interests. I can name a few I know that'd know how to take care of the firm, so to speak. Knowin how to swap horses used to be a profession but it has yielded to car dealers, who know how to spot a spavined automobile at 200 yards. I got an old model out here I've been holdin for the market to go up, but it's now in the same shape as a Jersey steer I been holdin for two years. Could have gotten $90 for him a year ago, could have gotten $70 for him six months ago, a feller offered me $42 for him last week. Wish you would ask Sec. Benson if I should hold him a while longer or sell before the price goes down some more. I already got to the point where I know my judgement is worthless.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Other members from the Lone Star State. He stands well over six feet, and as his big voice booms out, he waves out his arms and shocks of straight blond hair fall down across his brow.

Attendees in the Galleries say that the coming of the public address system has been responsible to a great extent for the change. Even the most moderate voices, those which normally would carry only a few rows of seats away, are now amplified and forcefully come through the hidden loud speakers in the newly rebuilt chambers of both the House and Senate.

This has caused Waco's Congressman W. R. (Bob) Poage no end of trouble. He says he learned to do public speaking by standing up and practicing on stumps on his daddy's central Texas farm, competing with wind and space. He has a hard time keeping his voice down so that it won't come out with a thunderous volume through the loud-speakers.
The best orators in Washington unquestionably are to be found among former members of Congress. Texas' retired Senator Tom Connally, former Vice President Alben W. Barkley and ex-Senator Henry Fountain Ashhurst of Arizona are unexcelled.

Another former Texas congressman is second to none. The Congressional Record of April 28 has an article, inserted by Senator Lyndon Johnson, which begins with these words:

"The quality of true eloquence is rare. When it is combined with statesmanship, vision, capacity and integrity, a man is produced who is a blessing to his nation."
"Such a man is Fritz Lanham, my good friend and former Representative from Fort Worth."

Johnson then observed that Lanham had addressed the Texas State Society's belated San Jacinto Day "Brunch" at noon on Sunday, April 26, and in stirring words recounted the fall of the Alamo and events at San Jacinto.

President Eisenhower was at Lanham's side as he spoke and never took his eyes off the Texan. Emotion was plainly written on his face as he pictured the valiant stand of those heroes in the Alamo, so vividly portrayed in words.

Referring to Lanham's speech when he got up to say a few words later, President Eisenhower said: "From it I derived real inspiration."

With his retirement from Congress in 1946, Lanham became Washington representative for the Trinity River Improvement association and other interests.

Sponge Cakes Are Wyche Club Topic

"Sufficient beating of egg yolks and sugar is important in making a good sponge cake" said Argen Draper during her demonstration on sponge cake to members of the Wyche Home Demonstration Club Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. W. P. Axe was hostess and Mrs. Edwin Flood was co-hostess for the meeting.

It was stated in the council report, given by Mrs. C. C. Ellis that $216 was made from the stunt night program recently sponsored by the county Home Demonstration Clubs.

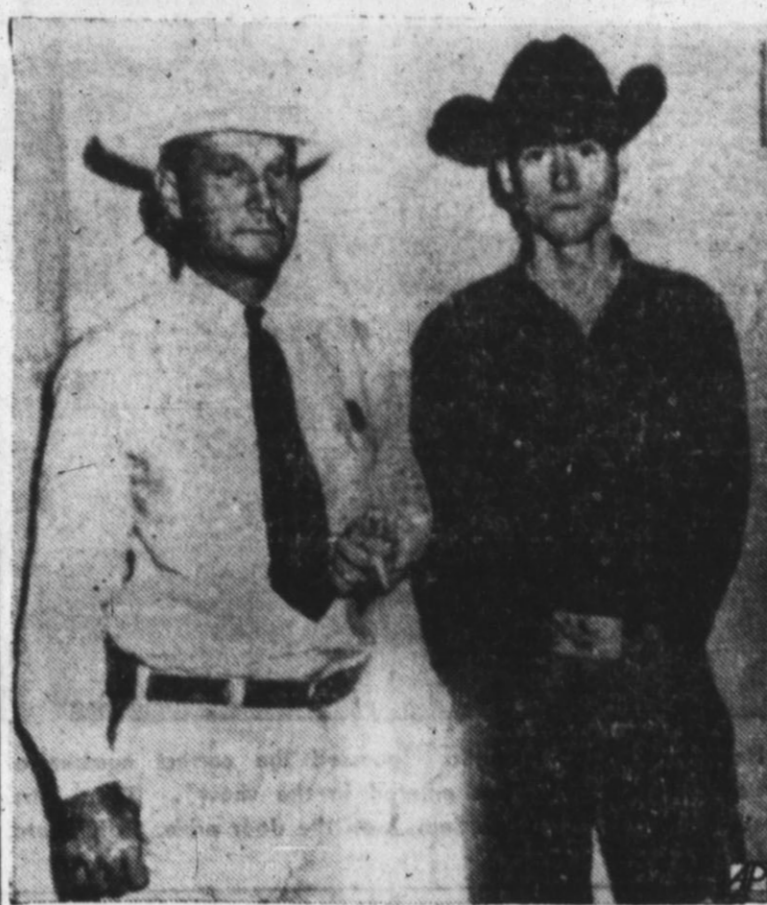

The club selected Mrs. W. R. Scarth as a delegate for the State convention which meeting is late in September in Galveston.

The club voted to enter a float in the Pioneer Day parade.

The following committee was appointed to be in charge of the float: Mrs. J. V. Pickens, Mrs. Harley Ward, Mrs. Edwin Flood, Mrs. Duane Walker and Mrs. Raymond Paetzold.

Mrs. Ira Ott, winner of the outstanding club woman plaque for 1953 expressed her thanks to the club for their support.

Others present were: Mesdames W. T. Carmichael, C. R. Damon, E. C. Hewitt, V. P. Walker, E. A. Wilke, Charles Packard, Bob Baird and Reatha Dewett, a guest.

Mrs. J. W. Barnett Named To Presidency L'Allegra Club

Mrs. J. W. Barnett is the newly elected president of L'Allegra Study Club. Officers were elected at a meeting of the club Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Dick Lucas.

Others who will serve with her are: Mrs. George McLean, vice-president; Mrs. Jiggs Hartman, recording secretary; Mrs. Lee Kent, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Darrell Blanton, treasurer; Mrs. Floyd Ross, parliamentarian; Mrs. Walter London, Jr., historian and Mrs. Francis Hill, Reporter.

Plans were made for a wienner roast to be held May 14 in Veteran's Memorial Park with husbands as honor guests.

The final session of the club will be in the form of a morning coffee in the home of Mrs. Bill Waldrop on May 21.

Members attending the business meeting were Mesdames: J. W. Barnett, Bruce Beene, Darrell Blanton, Jack Brown, James Edmonson, Jiggs Hartman, Hilton Higgins, O. G. Hill, Jr., F. G.

Glendenning; Francis Hill, V. C. Hopson, Walter London Jr., George McLean, Richard Winget, Lee Kent and the hostess.

WSCS Holds Annual Pledge Service and Pledge Day Tea

The annual pledge service, election of officers and pledge day tea was held by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church, Wednesday afternoon.

The pledge service was held at a meeting of the WSCS in the church sanctuary with Mrs. E. W. Solomon directing the service.

Annual reports were heard to mark the closing of the year's work and officers were elected.

Those who will serve as officers for the coming year are: Mrs. Leroy Aven, president; Mrs. Lee Benefield, vice-president; Mrs. Floyd Ross, recording secretary; Mrs. Paul Conaway, treasurer. Secretaries named were: Promotion, Mrs. Homer Brumley; missionary education, Mrs. E. W. Hobson; Christian social relations, Mrs. S. L. Easley; local activities chairman, Mrs. O. L. Click; Student work, Mrs. Leo Forrest; Youth, Mrs. O. Wertenberger; and Children's Work, Mrs. George Heard. Spiritual life leader, Mrs. E. W. Hobson; Literature and publicity, Mrs. W. F. Gillis; Supply, Mrs. J. F. Ward and Status of Women, Miss Frances Turrentine.

Tea Held In Parsonage

The annual Pledge Day tea was held in the parsonage following the service at the church. All members of the church were invited to attend. Officers of the WSCS served in the house party.

Mrs. S. L. Easley, president, and Mrs. E. W. Hobson, chairman of the parsonage committee, received the guests as they arrived, and Mesdames: H. C. Williams, Wayne Edwards, Bert Boomer and Norman Gray directed guests to the dining room and assisted in serving.

Mrs. J. P. Slaton and Mrs. Jim Black arranged the table which was covered with a lace and net cloth over peach satin. Copper and yellow irises were arranged in a footed brass container for the center attraction with tall green tapers adding a springlike touch to the scene. Mesdames Lee Benefield, Leroy Aven, E. W. Solomon, Mary Seigler and Homer Brumley alternated at the punch service throughout the calling hours.

Other decorations were done in blues and yellows to match colors in bedrooms and the mantel and coffee table arrangements were in yellow and brass to accentuate colors in the living room.

Securing names at the guest book were Mesdames: Paul Conaway, Dean Bishop, Leo Forrest, C. M. Hicks, and F. L. Terrell.

Mrs. W. J. Stanford, Mrs. Bill Stanford and Mrs. John Jacobsen, Jr. provided informal piano music throughout the afternoon.

Hostesses for the tea included Mesdames Lee Benefield, Coy Patton, Colby Conkwright, Ancil McDowell, Tom Alderson and Mrs. T. Edgar Neal.

Communists Start Drive for Disciples in South America

Reds Map Strategy For Latin America

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

WHILE the United States is busy watching Europe, Africa and Asia, the architects of the Communist world conspiracy are busily mapping a program for Latin America.

Pravda, the Moscow bible of world Communism, has issued a new directive for Latin American operations. It was given prominent display in the most important foreign spot in a recent edition—all across the bottom of the page.

Communists south of the border are called upon to follow the example of Guatemala, the Central American nation in which Communists now control the Confederation of Labor, the social security system, the government radio and press, and where they have moved into key posts in directing the agriculture of that agrarian country.

"The people of Guatemala," said Pravda, "have achieved enactment of a law on land reform. Louder and louder the people of Bolivia, Chile and other countries are demanding land reform." This, it said, has become one of the basic requirements of "all progressive forces in the countries of Latin America."

RYAN

The article was a long attack on United States and British investments in Latin America, coupled with a dark picture of the lot of the Latin American people. Pravda described them as being 85 per cent "agricultural proletariat, middle peasants and semi-proletariat."

"Naturally," the article concluded, "the progressive elements and even the business circles of Latin America demand of their governments the establishment of trade relations with the peaceful democratic market."

By that, Pravda meant the Soviet Union, Red China and the European satellites. It added: "The growing struggle of toilers of Latin American villages for land, against feudal bondage and poverty is indissolubly connected with the struggle against the yoke of foreign capital and for national independence."

The "national independence" slogan thus is transplanted from Europe, where Communists have applied it in Italy and France against American aid, to Latin America, where it means the same thing—a campaign against United States influence.

Moscow's Latin American moves fit in with the general pattern of Moscow moves throughout the world, forming a picture of a strong trade war to come. In this war, the Communists will attempt to cut western nations—particularly the United States—off from sources of raw materials, and will try to affect the domestic economies of western nations—once again particularly the United States—by such an indirect assault. The same program seems to be shaping up in Africa and in Asia.

Montevideo Headquarters One is led to believe if headquarters of the Communist movement is in Montevideo, Uruguay, one of the most stable of the Latin American countries, Montevideo is the source of most of the Soviet Tax dispatches concerning events on the South American continent. But the long Soviet arm reaches out into many countries.

From April 26 until May 2 there was in progress in Chile, for example, a "Congress of Cultural Activities," featuring such things as addresses on "the struggle for peace among the peoples" by a Stalin Prize writer named Jorge Amado.

A short time ago, Santiago, Chile, was the scene of the fourth congress of the Confederation of Workers of Latin America, which is pushing hard to take over anti-Communist labor groups. Commenting on this meeting, the Soviet trade union newspaper Trade, which is followed for directives by the Communist labor movement, said that American monopolists were exercising "a destructive influence" on Latin American economy, in preparation for a new war. It blamed Americans for the decline of Latin American industry and for "a mighty army of unemployed."

Independence Slogan Once again, the slogan issued was "national independence," to be achieved in a "struggle against United States imperialism." Here Trud quoted Soviet Premier Malenkov's statement that an arms race was progressively worsening the lot of broad masses of population and suggesting that one weapon against this was a "wave of strike movements."

The aim is fairly obvious: more chaos—just as in Africa and the Middle East. The Communists probably could take over Guatemala tomorrow if they wanted to, but they do not choose to do so. Such a move would expose the Moscow movement too clearly and would marshal opposition to them in the other Latin American states. At present they are content with acting behind the scenes in Guatemala and in proposing the country as a model of action for other Latin Americans.

The Guatemalan government under Col. Jacobo Arbenz has under what seems like obvious Communist prodding, embarked upon a land reform and expropriation program which serves the Communists well as an example to other nations. Even now there is an uproar over the nationalization of tin mines in Bolivia and there are broad hints that the government of Chile wants to nationalize that country's copper mines.

Basis for Anti-Americanism Such developments create the broad base for the fomenting of anti-American feeling, which correspondents already report as an alarming pitch in Latin American nations.

Latin America has been caught up in the wave of nationalism, just as have the countries of Asia and Africa, and Latin Americans are likely to look upon such aspirations as wholly just. This is where the Communists begin to move in with agitation, joining the nationalist cause for the immediate purpose of causing friction with the United States and the long-range purpose of taking over the leadership of such movements.

The Eisenhower Administration has plenty of places to watch in a world in turmoil. But if it has eyes in the back of its head, it could well use them to keep a close watch on developments in this hemisphere.

Quotes

Rep. Dewey Short (R-Mo.), chairman of the House Armed Services Committee: "The United States should insist on a united Korea—if necessary by fighting in the Yalu River—before settling the Korean war."

Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.), member of a Senate Foreign Relations Committee: "Korea should not be divided as a means of ending the fighting. In my belief, a divided Korea will eventually wind up as a Communist country."

Mural in Dispute

Art and politics make a volatile mixture. Take those murals in the San Francisco post office, for example. They had art-conscious Congressmen in a small-scale uproar this week.

The murals were painted by Russian-born Anton Refregier in 1948 at a cost of $26,000. California's Republican Rep. Scudder has been simmering about them ever since.

Scudder finally introduced a bill to remove the paintings from the post office wall. He called them "grotesque," "cavalierous," "offensive" and "historically inaccurate." Rep. Jackson (R-Calif.) concurred.

But two other California legislators, Rep. Mailliard (R) and Rep. Shelley (D), both of San Francisco, took a view less dim. Also, a parade of art experts termed the panels "important art works," "admirable examples of wall decoration" and "fine in quality."

Rep. Jackson told the House Public Works subcommittee artist Refregier had a lengthy record of associating with Communist fronts. Rep. Mailliard said he thought it "unfortunate" that Refregier was selected to do the work, but urged the subcommittee to base its verdict on the murals, not the artist's background.

Pulitzer Awards

Ernest Hemingway, a leading American author for more than 20 years, won his first Pulitzer Prize this week.

The fiction prize went to his "Old Man and the Sea," the story of an aged Cuban fisherman's bout with a prize marlin in the Gulf.

The drama prize for 1953 went to "Picnic," a Broadway hit by William Inge. Among the winners in the field of journalism were A.P.'s Don Whitehead for his story about Eisenhower's secret trip to Korea entitled "The Great Deception"; Austin Wehrwein, of the Milwaukee Journal for a detailed series of articles on Canada; Vermont Connecticut Royster, senior associate editor of the Wall St. Journal, for editorial writing and Edward D. Kuekes, of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, for a cartoon captioned "Aftermath" showing the death in Korea of an American soldier who wasn't old enough to vote. Gold medals for meritorious public service went to two North Carolina weekly newspapers—The Whiteville News Reporter and The Tabor City Tribune—for a successful campaign against the Ku Klux Klan.

Science Because he's been around since the beginning of time, you may be thinking Old Sol is pretty old. But he's only middle-aged, scientists say.

They explain a star gets hotter and hotter as it ages. New evidence shows all stars in the heavens, including our own sun, are cooler—therefore younger—than they've been given credit for.

Dr. W. A. Fowler says the sun's temperature previously was estimated at 20 million degrees. New calculations show it's a mere 15 million.

"In laboratory experiments," Dr. Fowler said, "we have duplicated on a small scale the processes which produce the radiant energy of the sun. We have found these processes go faster than has previously been thought. Thus, a given star doesn't have to be as hot as once estimated in order to shine as brightly as it is observed to shine."

A Los Angeles psychoanalyst has completed a scientific comparison of Anglo-Saxon and Latin lovenaking. Verdict: The Latin brand is vastly superior.

Dr. Ralph Greenson, president of the Los Angeles Psychoanalytic Society, sums it up this way: "The difference between a good lover and a bad lover is that the first knows and can respond to the desires and yearnings of himself and his consort. The bad lover is inhibited."

"Differences in the quality of lovenaking in races stem from what a culture considers approved behavior. In Latin countries it is permissible to be very free. In Anglo-Saxon countries, the lover is expected to show restraint."

Medicine Bicillin, a form of penicillin, is proving an effective one-shot cure for early syphilis.

Dr. Clarence Smith, assistant chief of the venereal disease division of the U.S. Public Health Service, reports a single injection proved safe and effective in a test group of 125 patients.

It is the first drug that gives such an extended treatment against syphilis with one injection.

Developed by Wyeth Laboratories, Philadelphia, bicillin has been on the market for some time. It is used against a wide range of bacterial infections, including pneumonia and recurrent rheumatic fever.

LABOR: STRIKES LOOM

Labor relations forecast: Stormy followed by partial clearing.

A step-up in labor-management disputes appears certain as negotiations for new work contracts get underway.

Reorganizations in both the AFL and CIO following the deaths of former Presidents William Green and Phillip Murray caused a breathing space in which disputes dropped off. Both unions now are showing signs the pause is over. The rate of labor-management troubles is rising accordingly. Maritime workers are up for new contracts. They'll be followed shortly by rubber workers. In June, negotiations will start in the steel industry. All could produce "bad situations," says David Cole, just retired as head of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. Things may improve later in the year, but a high level of labor unrest will come first.

Some parts of U. S. industry, says Cole, may feel a little triumphant over the change in administration. This attitude, he believes, is reflected among some labor leaders who are defiant, and have a chip on their shoulder.

For this reason, Cole says, any upcoming strikes are likely to be "obstinate."

By June 30, the National Labor Relations Board expects to have handled a total of 15,000 labor-management disputes for the fiscal year ending then. In the next year, the board expects to handle 16,000.

Cole points out the President expects the Mediation Service to deal with these cases without bringing them to the White House. Eisenhower feels major disputes should be kept out of the White House, he adds.

Smart Politics in Governors Parley

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.

Associated Press News Analyst

IT WASN'T very exciting, and none of the participants is likely to lie awake nights for fear of telling in his sleep any of the secrets he heard, but President Eisenhower does seem to have wrapped up a pretty neat package deal with his governors conference.

As for the graver problems facing the nation, the governors merely got from the horse's mouth what they had already read in the papers.

Some people were even inclined to ask why the President had called the conference. The fact was, none of the reasons seemed profoundly motivating in themselves, but taken all together, it was obvious that he had his objectives, and the presumption was that they were more or less accomplished.

The idea was believed to have had its inception in the need for a vast improvement in civilian defense set-ups all over the country. Federal authorities, though working mightily, haven't been able to get much steam behind the program even in congress.

But there were general ideas at work in connection with the conference over and above any such specific project.

For one thing, the President evidenced long before his election a preoccupation with the need for national unity of thought behind federal policy. At the conference the governors were told about the problems faced, the steps taken to meet them, and why. It was presumed they would take these ideas back to the country and so spread unity of reaction to administration leadership as events progressed.

More Autonomy for States There was also the Eisenhower idea that the states should return to greater autonomy and act less like federal appendages. The conference was an obeisance to the right of the states to be consulted.

The governors as well as the administration leaders were given an opportunity to ask their questions and have their say. And they made much of the opportunity, in Washington as the president's guests, to do their log-rolling for pet projects in a hundred ways not connected with the conference.

This naturally serves to tie them closer to the administration.

Political observers were reminded that it was the Republican governors who stood up for Direct Problems Discussed As a matter of fact one of the objectives of the conference would be lost if they did not. But they are only to say that thus and such is so.

The administration also took advantage of the meeting to discuss direct problems between it and the states. For instance, western governors and federal authorities had some sessions on policy toward power projects. The governors could go home knowing what to expect from Washington and so lay their own plans for handling announcements when they come, a courtesy, designed to avoid misunderstandings later.

The administration got its ideas on a lot of things across to the governors. The governors were taken into its confidence on many things that men just naturally like to be "in the know" about.

Nobody got to shoot an atomic gun. But the general reaction seemed to be that a good time was had by all.

ROBERTS

Outside Chances

The President and the Taft element in Congress have been working pretty well together. But in politics one doesn't overlook the outside chances.

Most of the governors are Republicans, but Eisenhower is pursuing his unity theme, especially with regard to foreign policy, without regard to party. And he has been getting considerable support from the Democrats who, after all, see that fundamentally he is pursuing the course they originated. While the governors' conference was still in session Averell Harriman, one of President Truman's trouble shooters who conducted a brief candidacy for the Democratic Presidential nomination himself, was testifying to that before a Democratic women's group in New York.

It was not to be expected that any grave secrets involving national security would be discussed before such a large group as the governors. The secrecy surrounding the sessions, so far as could be learned, was primarily to permit government officials to talk freely without being quoted, and particularly without being quoted inaccurately or out of context. Insofar as the facts which were discussed are concerned, there were few if any which it would be damaging for the governors to talk about.

COMMUNIST TROOPS MOUNT MAJOR EFFORT IN SEVEN-YEAR-OLD INDOCHINA WAR

FRENCH MOVE UP

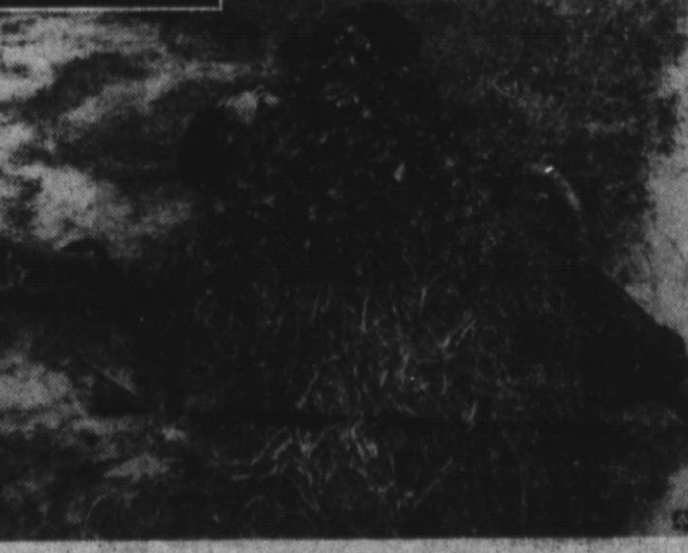

Communist-led rebels in Indochina this week pointed menacingly at the heart of Asia's ricebowl. Reinforced Vietminh troops shifted about in Laos, headed toward Vientiane, on the Indochina-Thailand border. Other Red columns arched around the officials wanted the Indochinese themselves to get into the war more completely. The French commander-in-chief, Gen. Raoul Salan, estimated 100,000 more troops are needed to cope with the Vietminh. The French would like to raise this force from among the Indochinese, but the natives show little enthusiasm. U. S. circles feel the French should make more concessions to Vietnam demands for self-determination. But time is running out. With the Korean war in stalemate, the major Communist effort in Southeast Asia is centered in Indochina. The French may have delayed too long.

In this situation, there is virtually no sentiment in the U. S. for bolstering French Union troops with American soldiers. The U. S. already is helping foot the financial bill for the seven-year-old war and furnishing supplies.

In the war, French led-troops follow a strategy designed to entice the Communists into showdown battles on favorable terrain. The Vietminh rarely, if ever, oblige.

Communist troops often try to avoid direct contact with strong French Union forces, concentrating instead on slashing, hit-and-run infantry assaults.

A TRIBUTE TO MOTHERS

Abraham Lincoln said, "All that I am, or ever can be, I owe to my mother." And that, we think, sums up what all of us think about our mothers. It isn't only on Mother's Day that we should reverse the name and memory of Mother. Every minute of every day we should unstintingly show our love and endeavor to make her life easier and happier. If your Mother has passed on, show that her memory still lives in your heart. Visit the cemetery frequently and lay lovely flowers on the sacred spot where she sleeps forever. This will be a token payment of all she did for you.

Annual Senior Trip Holds Interest, Plenty Of Fun

By Jackie Allmon

The Hereford High School seniors arrived in Hereford Sunday evening, May 3, after being on their annual four-day trip. They left Thursday morning at 7 o'clock for Ruidosa, N. M. They made the trip in three high school busses which were not too crowded.

Eighty seniors went on the trip, accompanied by six sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Martin, Miss Rigler, Mrs. Ratliff, Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Stanford.

The activities the group participated in while at Ruidosa from Thursday evening to Saturday morning were: horseback riding, skating, bowling, playing pool, hay riding and hiking. Saturday evening one group went to White Sands and another group went to Lincoln forest. Since the wind was blowing at White Sands, that group had to return to Ruidosa early. The other group, that went to Lincoln forest observed buildings and relics pertaining to Billy the Kid. After cooking and eating their supper this group went back to the lodge to be joined later by the other group. Saturday night was spent in Ruidosa for all those able to walk. It was spent in bed for those unable to walk.

The group was up Sunday morning at 6:30 to eat breakfast at 7 o'clock, have a devotional at 7:30 and be ready to leave at 8:30 but because of snow and bus trouble they did not leave until 10 o'clock.

Casualties
The casualties on the trip were comparatively light. Helen Hanegan was hurt, as she was riding horseback. The saddle slipped and Helen was thrown to the ground inflicting what seemed to be a serious injury to her right shoulder; but as X-rays proved later, it was only a bad bruise.

*Marilyn Lewis received a bad cut on her thumb while water fighting with pop bottles. Her bottle clashed with Richard Tucker's. The clash broke hers and the broken glass cut her hand.

Bill Bookout also received minor cuts from water fighting with bottles.

Sick List
Joyce Shirley almost lost her voice from a cold she had. Novalyne Wiggins had a severe cold. Catherine Drerup had an upset stomach and J. T. Cronin was hoarse from a cold. Almost everyone was suffering from at least two bruises and a bad case of fatigue.

Those that did not go on the trip were: Sammy Albracht, Douglas Bracken, Lonnie Cardinal, T. C. Farmer, Leroy Self, Gary Walker, L. V. Watts, Dale Williams, Victor Day, Rose Curry, Mary Frances Rogers, Florence Sims and Oneda Stayton.

The group had a wonderful time but was ready to come home when the time came.

Incidents that Occurred On The Trip

well to eat lunch. After almost everyone had finished eating it was quiet for a while. Then it started happening. Most of the group had filled their pop bottles with water and were pouring on those who didn't have water. They were pouring it on the sponsors, then when they had everybody else wet they turned on themselves.

Raymon Childers received the worst end of the deal with Mr. Martin, Mr. Sullivan, Novella Arrington, Sherry Benson, Barbara Gabbert, Dovie Jane Jones, Virginia Sigle and Rosemary Young running close seconds.

After the seniors had arrived at Ruidosa and had been there a day, Mr. Martin was trying to push Shirley McCullough into the stream. Tim Corbett, who was standing by, couldn't resist the temptation so he pushed Mr. Martin into the stream. The funniest part of it was Mr. Martin never let go of Shirley.

free.)
Mr. Martin and Mr. Sullivan really had to be on their toes to stay on their feet while skating, with Joyce Shirley, Sue Smith, Sharon Moore, Betty Hamilton, Dale Winget, Charles Whitehead, Willie Waits, Jack Mitchell, Pat McCullough, Bill Dickson, Corky Garner, and Jackie Allmon after them there was no time for relaxation.

Miss Rigler, who does not claim to be a horserider, had a rather hard time staying on her excursion. It seems she could not stay on her mount. Also Miss Rigler was the happiest to get home.

Friday evening about 30 of the seniors had decided to go on a hay-ride up to the famous lookout tower, Mon Jeau, while the rest of the seniors stayed in Ruidosa to enjoy a game of pool or a line or two of bowling.

At three o'clock this small bunch of seniors were off on their hay-ride. At first the going was fairly easy and everything seemed to be about right for a nice ride up in the mountains. As this caravan of seniors went along the weather became much cooler than everyone had expected and soon everyone was shivering and shaking as if it were cold! (Just to be confidential it WAS cold.)

About 200 yards or so from the lookout tower the old Chevrolet truck just didn't have the power to finish the journey, so everyone politely unloaded themselves and started on foot. Slowly but surely their destination was reached.

After some scouting around, the trip back to Ruidosa was started. Everything went all right until they got about a mile from the lodge. This time something went wrong with this pile of junk and it would not pull itself. So everyone piled off, pushed the pile of junk to the top of the last hill, piled back on and coasted down the hill to come to a stop within two blocks of the lodge. Here everyone unloaded again and began walking toward the lodge. Laughing and talking as they went, everyone agreed that this little trip had been fun after all.

All in all the group had a great deal of fun, and it is something they won't forget for a long long time. It is good to have a school

Camp Fire Girls Aid Clean-Up Of Labor Nursery

The clean-up has begun! Armed with brooms, mops, paint and paint brushes, Tuesday the LMV Horizon Club and Tanda Campfire groups went to the barracks at the labor camp that is to be converted into a day nursery for the children of migrant workers. A cheerful aqua paint was donated by Kemp Lumber Company, and the brushes were given by McCaslin Lumber Company. The elbow grease was donated by the following Campfire girls: Annette Berend, Doloris Loerwald, Jo Ann Fowlkes, Gwendolyn Jesko, Mary Lou McCullough, Marcella Bezner, Sandra Ellen Glenn, Mary Katherine Huckert, June Gee and Inez Brown. Assis-ing the girls in Operation Clean-up were Mrs. Earl Plank and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Paetzold.

Carpenter work necessary to the repair of the barracks is also being donated, however, the committee is in need of 50 sheets of sheetrock to seal off the barracks and two screen doors. The Campfire girls will return to the barracks next Tuesday to continue their painting.

EXPECTED

Lt. and Mrs. George L. Mager and baby are expected to arrive this week end for a visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Henslee. Lt. Mager who has been stationed at Salmouth, Mass., has received orders for overseas duty.

Mrs. Jack Wright left Sunday for Mineral Wells to be with her sister, Mrs. E. F. Harman, who is ill.

The Hudson Hornet—America's Stock-Car Champion, is a crowd-stopper on any street

It's the country's top performer—and a premium value at trade-in time

Standard trim and other specifications and accessories subject to change without notice.

CERTAINLY, the Hudson Hornet is a lovely car to look at—gorgeous inside and out. And its beauty is more than skin deep.

This rugged performer holds the stock-car championship in all three major racing associations—and a touch of your toe to the gas pedal will tell you why!

The Hornet's dazzling performance comes from Hudson's sturdy, long-lasting, high-compression engine; and from the fact that it has the lowest center of gravity among American cars—because of exclusive "step-down" design. Why don't you visit us and try a Hudson Hornet?

Earline Walton Named President Of B and PW Club Here Monday

B&PW Club elected officers at the meeting held at the Jaycee Club house Monday evening. Hostesses for the club were Mary Linertz and Evaloe Potter.

Officers named include: Earline Walton, president; Ellen Carter, 1st vice-president; Louella Cowser, 2nd vice-president; Sadye Rigler, recording secretary; Kathleen Caylor, treasurer and Pat Loerwald, corresponding secretary.

During the business session members made plans to enter a float in Hereford's Pioneer Day Parade, and voted to again have charge of registering old timers.

Delegates elected to attend the state convention to be held in June, were Della Stagner who will be installed as district chairman, Emma Walker, Earline Walton and Sadye Rigler. Mrs. Charlotte Calvert presented the program on parliamentary procedure, mentioning the simple rules which she said are based on courtesy and common sense. She also told of the beginnings of parliamentary rules in England.

Members present were: Clara Acker, Dyalithia Brady, Charlotte Calvert, Kathleen Caylor, Ellen Carter, Cora Cockrell, Velma Cook, Velma Hodges, Sue Lynn Hulsey, Ursalee Jacobsen, Kathleen Baker, Marie Ratcliff, Corinne Jennings, Gladys Medkief, Eunice Petersen, Sadye Rigler, Bruce Rose, Della Stagner, Seale Stephens, Bonnye Kelly, and the hostesses.

Officers Installed At Music Study Club Final Session Held Monday

Pioneer Study Club closed its 1952-53 activities at a brunch held in the home of Mrs. Rex Tynes Tuesday morning. Arrangements for the brunch were made by Mrs. Ralph McCullough and Mrs. N. E. Gass.

Small tables were centered with arrangements of pansies in bow-shaped containers and places were marked by miniature old-fashioned sun bonnets.

Members answered roll call by naming the program during the year enjoyed most. The Youth Program headed the list of those mentioned.

During the business session Mrs. Ray Johnson, district year book chairman, reported that the Pioneer Club year book was among the five top scores but was ruled out because of the convention meeting here. The score was 96.

Members voted to send five dollars to the Austrian Scholarship fund and Mrs. Delmar Sigle was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. F. M. Kester conducted installation rites for new officers presenting each incoming official with a corsage signifying the duties of her office.

Officers installed were Mrs. Rex Tynes, president; Mrs. Al Werner, vice-president; Mrs. Ralph McCullough, recording secretary; Mrs. W. E. Holcomb, corresponding secretary; Mrs. F. L. Terrell, treasurer; Mrs. Ray Johnson, federation counselor; Mrs. O. M. Dickey, year book chairman; Mrs. A. L. Manjeot, parliamentarian and Mrs. B. E. Brumley, historian and custodian.

Mrs. Rex Tynes concluded the program by reading the club motto.

Others present were Mesdames: Burl France, Fred Barrett, O. H. Herring, H. E. Miller, and Mary Seigler.

WOW! WE'VE HIT THE JACKPOT! ROAST, SUCKLING PIG!

HOT DINGIES! AND BAKED POTATOES, APPLESAUCE, BISCUITS!

THIS IS ALMOST TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE.

C'MON, IZ. AS GUEST OF HONOR, YOU CAN DO THE CARVING.

OKAY, BUT —

SKA-WEEEEEE!

HELP! OUR ROAST PIG!

AND LOOK — INSTEAD OF APPLESAUCE, THERE'S AN APPLE! INSTEAD OF BISCUITS, THERE'S FLOUR!

OH, NO, NO! BUT THAT'S IMPOSSIBLE!

I TOLD YOU I'D ACQUIRED POWERS BEYOND MY CONTROL. IT'S SHEER MAGIC... ONLY IT WORKS IN REVERSE!

LOOKA HERE, IZZARD, ENOUGH'S ENOUGH! I'M STARVED! ANOTHER BUM JOKE LIKE THAT AND OUT YOU GO!
