13 percent of UW goal met

The United Way campaign for Deaf Smith County, off to a slow start on contributions, totalled just $17,436 when volunteer workers held a report meeting Monday.

The total represents 13 percent of the United Way's goal of $130,625 for 1985-86. The goal is for funding 10 agencies in the Deaf Smith County

Wayne Amstutz, executive director, announced Monday that plaques will be presented to those companies with 90 percent or more participation and gifts of at least $100. First recipient of the award is State Farm Insurance.

Amstutz said the awards are a reminder to the community that the company and employees made an investment in the community through its United Way contributions.

The campaign is expected to pick up momentum as volunteer workers make their contacts and start bringing in more gifts for the campaign.

Salary hike 'demeaning' employees say

AUSTIN (AP) - The average salary increase for state employees of about $1 a day is "embarrassing" and "demeaning" to professional workers, the executive director of the Texas Public Employees Association.

"In the brightness of the Sunbelt growth, that amount of money is a throwback to the dark days of our Great Depression," Gary Hughes told a news conference Monday.

The 1985 Legislature granted state employees pay raises of 3-percent for each year of the biennium that started Sept. 1, but Hughes said about 10 percent of the workforce would receive less money because of higher health insurance rates.

"State employees were not a No. 1 priority for the governor or the Legislature - or not even close to being a No. 1 priority - and that's going to change in these races coming up or we will be supporting the people who are going to make that happen," Hughes said.

He said the association for the first time in its 40-year history "will most likely endorse in statewide races, so that 185,000 state employees and 20,000 retirees, plus their families and friends, will know who to support for their state representatives, senator and governor.'

Hughes said the association would ask the 1987 Legislature for raises of about 22 percent to 24 percent over two years. Each percentage point equals about $50 million, so the total request would be $1.1 billion or $1.2

Asked where the money would come from, Hughes said, "We're go-ing to have to make an issue in this next session, a No. 1 priority, or we're going to have some big problems with state government."

"We never had the urgency to do something like this before," McCotter said. "We are talking about a .. small handful of people who have no qualms about killing anyone who gets in their way."

Gangs members are believed responsible for most of the 27 slayings the prison system has recorded this year. The system set a record last year with 25 homicides.;

"We are aware that there has been a large growth in gangs and we need to track the leaders and help local law enforcement once they leave prison," McCotter said.

McCotter ordered a lockdown Sept. which lasted three weeks, after eight prisoners were slain in eight days and amid rumors that inmates were planning a systemwide riot. About 17,000 convicts were confined to their cells and security was increased at 13 prison units.

The measures have cooled gang warfare, which was growing as inmates struggled to recruit new members and gain control of prison rackets, such as drug trafficking and protection, according to prison of-ficials. The trafficking is made possi-ble by some prison employees who help smuggle the drugs into the

Charles Blanchette, warden of the Ferguson Unit near Madisonville, said dope trafficking had almost disappeared since the arrests last month of 12 employees on allegations they were involved in the use or sale of drugs to inmates.

Salary freeze denied

KOUNTZE, Texas (AP) - A temporary restraining order request on behalf of Lumberton school district employees who want their salaries frozen, not slashed by over $250,000 as planned by school board was denied by a Hardin County district judge

District Judge Earl "Smokey" Stover denied the plea Monday. District employees last week brought litigation against the district after trustees cut $253,359 from salaries for 68 employees and raised taxes from $1.10 to $1.15 per $100 of valuation, in an attempt to eliminate about $400,000 deficit from a proposed school district

Stover said he wants the issue resolved before the end of the 1985-86 school year. A jury trial will be set for next spring, he said.

Jay Brim of Austin, an attorney for the Texas Elementary and Secondary Principals Association, requested the restraining order to prevent the district from causing "irreparable damage" to employees whose salaries would be cut.

Gladys Byrom, a teacher for six years, testified Monday that as a single mother of three, the proposed salary cut would prevent her from making car or furniture payments.

"And there are a lot of Gladys Byroms out there," Brim said. But Ken Furlow, attorney for the school district, said the district was not to blame for Ms. Byrom's financial difficulties. He said major changes in her life, such as a recent divorce, contributed to her

Firms may stop waste cleanups

HOUSTON (AP) - A number of engineering firms may stop seeking government contracts to clean up hazardous waste sites because firms are having a difficult time obtaining liability insurance.

Thirteen Houston area sites are on the federal Superfund list for priority cleanup and another has been nominated, according to the Texas Water Commission.

Jim Williamson, senior vice president of Houston engineering firm Lockwood, Andrew & Newman Inc., said his company lost its insurance coverage for waste-related work on Aug. 1. The firm is working three Superfund projects in Harris and Liberty counties.

"We're contractually obligated unless we can terminate those contracts we're working on now," said Williamson. "But the contracts require insurance. In effect, we're in breach of all three contracts right this minute."

Under the Superfund law, engineering firms that clean up a waste site are just as liable for environmental damage as the polluter, and the act sets no ceiling on engineers' liability.

In the wake of several accidents, such as chemical leaks in Bhopal, India, and West Virginia, insurance companies are raising the rates they charge for cleanup liability.

'Those firms (engineers) are having their premiums double and triple, and their deductibles are going up 500 percent," said Connie Neuman, spokeswoman for the American Counsulting Engineers

Reagan signs bill on cigarette tax

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress voted Monday to keep the federal cigarette tax at 16 cents a pack through Nov. 14, and President Reagan subsequently signed the bill into law despite reports that he might veto the measure.

Some lawmakers had predicted that Reagan would veto the extension on grounds that it raises federal taxes and usurps a traditional state source of revenue.

However, White House spokesman Rusty Brashear announced early Tuesday that Reagan had signed the bill before midnight Monday, when the new fiscal year took effect.

Without Reagan's signature on the bill, the tax would have droped to 8 cents a pack at midnight.

Congress wants to make the 16-cent levy permanent, but the effort being delayed by unrelated issues. First the House and then the Senate approved the extension without debate or dissent. The cigarette tax was included in a stopgap bill that also would extend some other expiring provisions of law for another 45 days. Those provisions affect the railroad retirement system, rates of government reimbursement of hospitals and doctors for treating Medicare patients and federal assistance to workers and companies harmed by competition from imported products.

ASHBURN, Ga. (AP) - Hundreds of blacks protesting the shooting death of a black prisoner who tried to escape from police began hurling rocks and bottles downtown Monday night, breaking store windows and injuring at least two passing motorists, authorities said.

State troopers and agents from the Georgia Bureau of Investigation were called in from surrounding areas to help restore calm in the town of 4,500 people, said Turner County Sheriff Lamar Whiddon.

The disturbance broke out after 6:30 p.m. when a crowd of about 350 to 600 people gathered at the Turner County Courthouse to demonstrate following the slaying earlier in the day of Robert Wright, 22, was charged Sept. 2 in the armed robbery of a convenience store and was in court for a hearing to revoke his probation on a previous burglary conviction. He fled from a second floor cour-troom, down the back stairs into an alley, Whiddon said.

When Wright refused an officer's order to halt, the officer opened fire, shooting him in the back, Whiddon said. Wright died en route to a Tifton hospital.

"It is the task of the researcher to unravel, explain, understand and ultimately to predict the consequences of this interaction," Tan said, "Unfortunately, the identification of the most probable consequences in any given situation has been hindered by several questionable assumptions guiding most current inter-cultural research."

Tan spoke on questionable assumptions in inter-cultural research during a conference on intergroup Telations Sept. 11 in Pretoria, South Africa. The meeting was sponsored by the Human Sciences Research Council.

Many researchers assume there are universal theories of human behavior and social systems, Tan said, and that those general theories can be used as bases for intercultural research.

Tan said assuming that human behavior is controlled by whether a response is rewarded or punished is basic to social science research, but inter-cultural researchers must be aware of how various cultures define reward.

"People tend to overestimate the pork. serving size of some foods and For breads and cereals, one slice underestimate others," says Sweeten, a specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

"They also seem to be influenced by the size of food containers, especially those that are supposed to contain single servings, and the serving size printed on the food label."

According to Sweeten, recent research reported by the American Dietetic Association shows just how far off the mark our estimates of serving sizes can be.

A standard serving of fruit and vegetables is one piece of fresh fruit, ½ cantaloupe or grapefruit, ½ cup juice, one medium-size potato or 1/2 cup cooked or raw vegetables.

Most people consider a single piece of fresh fruit, as a single serving. But when it comes to fruit juices they consume 34 cup or more as one serv-

With dairy products, people under age 34 typically consume the recommended one cup per serving, but older adults consume 1/2 to 3/4 cup servings. The serving size for cheese and other dairy products was typically correct.

They also tend to eat one-cup servings of cereals, when the recommended serving size of one ounce may be more or less than a cup, depending on the density of the cereal.

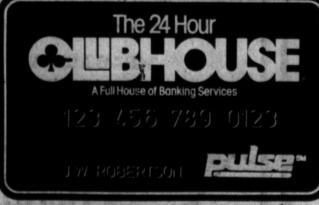

"Unless you're willing to, weigh and measure your food, it can be dificult to follow food guidance programs based on standard servings," Sweeten says.

"To make it work, you may need to consider the total recommended amount of foods from any one group for the day and then keep track of what you eat in terms of the serving sizes you ordinarily use."

For example, you might eat one ounce of bacon at breakfast and a 4-5 ounce serving of beef at dinner. That would be less than the standard serving at breakfast and more at dinner, but the total would add up to 5-6 ounces, which is the same as the two recommended 2-3 ounce standard servings of protein foods for the day.

Turnovers cripple Whitefaces in 20-7 defeat

Sports Editor

Turnovers were once again the downfall of the Hereford Whitefaces Saturday as they suffered a 20-7 District 3-5A defeat to the Amarillo Sandies.

Two fumbles led directly to 42-yard line. Amarillo touchdowns, and another fumble ruined a scoring opportunity for the Herd. The Whitefaces also failed to score in a fourth-quarter drive in which they reached the Amarillo 10-yard line.

The loss drops Hereford to a district record of 1-2 and a season record of 1-3. The Herd plays its homecoming game Friday at 8 p.m. against Lubbock Coronado. Coronado; which defeated Roswell, N.M., 15-0 in a non-district game last Friday, is 0-2 in the district and 1-3 overall.

Amarillo is 2-0 in the district and 3-1 for the season.

Amarillo High received the kickoff to open Saturday's game, and drove into Hereford territory. The drive ended when Rodney Torres of the Herd recovered an Amarillo fumble at the 21-yard line.

Three plays later, in a third down and one play at the Hereford 30, the ball was fumbled on the snap from center, and the Sandies receivered the fumble.

Amarillo needed six plays to get into the end zone, with quarterback Scotty Brown rushing the last seven yards for the score with 4:16 left in the first quarter.

The Whitefaces tied up the game at 7-7 with a touchdown pass and extra point with 10:01 left in the second quarter. Bobby. Baker caught a 16-yard pass from Hacker, and Tim Long kicked the extra point.

After receiving the kickoff, Amarillo was faced with a third down and one yard to go at its own 42-yard line. Brett Clements of Hereford stopped Timmy Smith of the Sandies for no gain in the play, and Amarillo was forced to punt.

Just two plays later, Stefan Hacker lost his handle on the ball. The Sandies recovered the fumble at the Hereford 22-yard line and capitalized on the turnover with a touchdown pass in the next play.

The Whitefaces had driven from their own 25-yard line. A 44-yard pass play from Shire to Bobby Baker moved Hereford to the Amarillo 31-yard line, and two rushes by Allen Dudding for 12 yards put the ball at the Amarillo 19-yard line.

Writer concludes United Nations only hope for world peace

years of fighting wars, mankind now faces the possibility that the next major war will be the last.

Journalist and historian Gwynne Dyer examines how we have come to this state of affairs in an eight-part series that starts on most public television stations tonight.

Dyer places the birth of total war precisely at 5:30 on the morning of June 5, 1812, when Napoleon's army engaged the Russians near Moscow. After 11 hours, there were 70,000 dead and wounded.

"All that had changed was the scale, but that had changed everything," Dyer says in the first episode. "Modern nationalism was born with the French Revolution, and it was nationalism that changed the scale of war."

After that, civilian populations began to suffer devastation as horrible as that endured by soldiers. It grew worse with the American Civil War, World War I and World War II.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - After 5,000 The atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima on Aug. 6, 1945, killed 70,000 people almost instantly.

The message of the series is that mankind must find a way to prevent the next war or face annihilation. Dyer concludes that it comes down to one solution.

"As Sherlock Holmes used to say, When you've eliminated all the impossible solutions for a problem, what you're left with, however unlikely, is the answer.' And the only answer to our problem is the U.N., Dyer says in the series. "The longer the great powers stall on handing their sovereign right to defend themselves over to the United Nations, as they all agreed to do in 1945, the greater the danger that we'll run out of luck and have a nuclear war."

In a telephone interview from Toronto, where he is editing a new series. Dver admitted the United Nations was "a slim hope. But it does tend to deal with the real problem rather the things we tend to identify with the problem, like weapons, aggressive rulers or ideologies. The U.N. is an attempt to deal with the international system of sovereign states that causes war. Eacign states that causes war. Each individual war has specific causes, but that's why you have wars."

Dyer made seven one-hour shoard of Canada, and they were televised in that country. KCTS-TV in Seattle acquired the series for presentation in this country and produced an eighth episode to provide a timely epilogue to Dyer's commentary. Edwin Newman is host of the last show.

The Canadian-born Dyer now lives in London. He formerly taught military affairs at the Canadian Forces College in Toronto and was a senior lecturer in War Studies at Britain's Royal Military Academy at Sandhurst. He is editing a three-part series called "The Defense of Canada" for the Canadian Broadcasting Corp.

Clean gutters now

Clogged gutters probably cause water from a bucket or garden hose. more damage to houses than any other single maintenance problem. "When gutters are clogged, water can back up under the roofing," says Dr. Peggy Owens, a housing specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

"Once the water gets inside the roof, it will be absorbed over time by the house material-the insulation, gypsum board and plaster,"she explains. "All this moisture may create termit problems as well as walls that are rotted through."

Owens recommends checking the gutters two or three times a year, usually in the fall and again in the spring, to make sure they are free of branches, leaves or anything else that may block the flow of water.

This is also a good time to clean out the downspout strainer, says the open house This is also a good time to clean out specialist. Above every downspout should be a wire-cage strainer to stop large debris from entering.

"If the gutter doesn't have a downspout strainer, install one," recommends Owens. "They cost less than a dollar each and can save the messy chore of disassembling and cleaning a clogged downspout.'

Once you have cleaned the gutters, she recommends checking the flow of water by filling the gutter with

If the water doesn't flow, flows sluggishly or flows the wrong way, you should increase the slope of the gutters toward the downspout. This type of minor slope adjustment can be made by bending the gutter hangers, says the specialist.

"Catching and curing gutter problems when they are small insures that routine gutter maintenance will be simple, inexpensive and quick," Owens concludes.

high school students schedulprices. 364-9671; 364-1065 ed to graduate in 1987 began taking special tests today to determine if they know enough to get a diploma.

About 62,000, or one-fourth of the state's 11th graders, will flunk the "exit-level" tests, school officials predict. Black and Hispanic students could be hit even harder.

Juniors in every high school in Texas faced 72 multiple-choice questions about reading and writing to-Wednesday, the same students will get 72 math questions.

officials say state and local results of the tests will not be available until the middle of November or late November.

"I anticipate the worst," Jon Brumley, chairman of the State Board of Education, said about the mandatory English and math tests ordered by the 1984 major school reform bill.

"You're going to have a lot of unhappy people out there, and I don't know if they will take their wrath out on the' local school district or the state," Brumley said. Attorneys for the Mexican American Legal Defense and Education Fund said they would watch test results Texas Education Agency closely for any discrimination. The organization already has blocked, at least temporarily, a Texas school test required for college students who want to become teachers.

Students take diploma tests for first time

The "exit-level" examinations will be the first of four chances that students will have to meet academic standard set for the 1984 major school reform legislation.

Those who fail this week's tests, and following exams, will not get a diploma.

State school officials estimate that about 24 percent of all those taking the two-hour English language test today will make a failing grade while 25 percent will flunk the math test on Wednesday - a total of about 62,000 students.

They also have estimated the failing grades among all blacks will be at least 45 percent and 35 percent for all Hispanics.

Those making failing grades will be able to take the exit-level tests again on May 1-2, and two more times during their senior year, said Pat Potter, Texas Education Agency director for special programs.

State Education Commissioner W.N. Kirby has predicted to the Board of Education that the passing average will rise rapidly the next two years as the state's new emphasis on academics in schools becomes effective.

The tougher new curriculum standards, laid down by the Legislature, did not become effective until the 1985-86 school year.

The Legislature's mandate for exit-level tests also requires school districts to pro-

The Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills tests initially consisted of four multiple-choice questions on each of 18 objectives in both the mathematics and English language arts tests. making a total of 144 ques-

However, the Board of Education at its July meeting agreed that students should not be penalized for missing any of the questions in areas not adequately taught to them before the reforms took effect. As a result, wrong answers on eight English test questions and 20 math questions won't be counted.

Students must answer 70 percent of the remaining 116 questions correctly.

Although the graduation test is new to Texas, some form of minimum competency test as a graduation requirement is required in 17 other states

THE PRISONER IN COMMAND OF THE SHIP!

No one had eaten for a long time, but finally Paul called the crew together and said,"Men, you should have listened to me in the first place and not left Fair Havens--you would have avoided all this injury and loss! But cheer up! Not one of us will lose our lives, even though the ship will go down. For last night an angelof the God to whom I belong and whom I serve stood beside me, and said, 'Don't be afraid, Paul--for you will surely stand trial before Caesar! What's more, God has granted your request and will save the lives of all those sailing with you.' So take courage! For I believe God! It will be just as He said! But we will be shipwrecked on an island."
About midnight on the 14th night of the storm, as we were being driven to and fro in the Adriatic Sea. the sailors suspected land was near. They sounded. and found 120 feet of water below them. A little later they sounded again, and found only 90 feet. At this rate they would soon be driven ashore; and fearing rocks along the coast, they threw out four anchors from the stern and prayed for daylight.

Some of the sailors planned to abandon the ship, and lowered the emergency boat as though they were going to put out anchors from the prow. But Paul said to the soldiers and commanding officer. "You will all die unless everyone stays aboard." So the soldiers cut the ropes and let the boat fall off. Acts 27:21-32
