

The Hereford Brand

Carter Nixes Weapons Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - Jackers of a giant, nuclear-powered aircraft carrier are reacting angrily to President Carter's rejection $37 billion weapons bill, his first major veto and the strongest signal yet of a new effort to show Congress who is boss.

The bill would have authorized the Defense Department to buy all of its military hardware, including rifles, tanks, missiles, planes, and ships, in the 12 months beginning Oct. 1. It also authorized spending for research and development, and civil defense.

Carter, in a nationally televised news conference Thursday directed only to the aircraft carrier, saying the $2 billion could be directly spent for military readiness.

"This is not a question of money," Carter said, "It's a question of how the money is going to be spent."

The president vetoed the bill after the news conference. That was the first White House rejection of a major defense measure in modern U.S. history. It was Carter's fifth veto in nearly 19 months in office. He's busy doing in the national defense of our country," protested Rep. Charles Bennett, D-Fla., chairman of an Armed Services seapower subcommittee that had put the money for construction of the carrier in the bill over the administration's objections, Bennett said Carter is not cutting back social service programs, and. "It looks like he things he can prevent a war or win a war with a wall of food stamps."

The first veto will be Sept. 7, when the House votes on whether to override the president. "It will be an uphill fight," Bennett said.

If the House overrides, the issue goes to the Senate. The Armed Services Committee chairman, Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., predicted the veto could be overturned by the Senate.

Stennis refused to join in scattered, bipartisan criticism that said Carter was undermining national defense, but argued that the bill would give the military "every needed item."

If the House upholds the veto, Congress will have to start a new weapons authorization bill.

At his news conference, Carter also said he will not hesitate to impose other vetoes, and he expressed regret he had not been tougher in the past.

He said a veto prerogative should be a routine part of interrelationship between the White House and Capitol Hill. "I have no reticence about vetoing a bill that I think is contrary to the best interests of our country," the president said.

In that connection, he expressed unhappiness with tuition tax credit legislation that has passed the Senate and House in different forms, and a $16.3 billion tax cut approved by the House.

Carter said that if he had to do it over again, he would veto last year's public works bill authorizing construction of water projects he opposed. He broadly hinted a veto is in store for this year's public works measure.

Rep. James K. Jones, D-Okla., principal author of the House-passed tax bill, said he is certain Congress will produce a measure Carter will sign. He said the president's remarks were "probably a signal to the Senate" not to go too far beyond the House bill in areas the administration has proposed since mid-April. Carter has been urged by his closest political advisers to take dramatic steps to reverse his plunge in the polls. The advisers have argued the needs to widespread impression he is incompetent, and demonstrate clearly he is leading both the executive branch and Congress. Among their suggestions has been that he fight for his views to the end with Congress or a cabinet department over a major issue.

On another subject at his news conference, Carter said he invited Egyptian and Israeli leaders to a summit meeting at Camp David, Md., because of a rapid deterioration in the search for peace.

He said there is no assurance of success in the Sept. 5 meeting, and that failure "can result in a new conflict" in the Middle East.

Asked about possible trade sanctions against the Soviet Union, Carter said he would evaluate individual sales to see whether they would enhance the Soviet military capability and whether the United States was ready.

On another foreign matter, Carter said his administration is "constantly exploring ways to have better relationships with China." He said the pace of negotiations for normal relations "must be one that is mutually set."

He said he plans a series of actions over the next several weeks aimed at putting value in the dollar which over the last year has lost considerable value in foreign exchange markets.

Wheat Sales Not Affected by Decline

HOUSTON (AP) - The declining dollar will not result in increased wheat sales, says Bill Nelson, executive vice president of the Texas Wheat Producers Association.

Nelson says the declining dollar will fatten the treasuries of wheat importing countries as they raise duties to protect their own farmers from the competition of cheaper wheat from the U.S.

At first glance, it appears wheat would become cheaper for importing countries and they would buy more as the value of the dollar declines, he stated.

But the existence able duties in universal use by importing countries, particularly the Common Market nations of Western Europe, is overlooked in his theory.

He says wheat is second only to soybeans in importance as an export commodity in the U.S. The grain from North Dakota is shipped out through the Port of Houston, making it the largest wheat port in the world, he says.

"The declining dollar makes our agricultural products a better bargain for the governments of the importing countries, but not for the people in the importing countries," Nelson says.

"In order for them to sale more, the price benefits would have to reach the people, but here is a barrier to keep it from that."

Nelson says need rather than price is the determining factor in how much grain a country will import.

Nelson says the Texas Wheat Producers Association promotes increased wheat sales to countries.

Practice May Become Limited

Itemizing Deductions Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) - Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal says the Carter administration will consider limiting itemized income tax deductions in an effort to simplify the nation's tax system.

Such a change, if approved by Congress, could result in higher taxes for many couples and individuals who itemize deductions. It also might entice millions away from itemizing.

That is precisely what Sen. Russell B. Long, who asked Blumenthal to consider the idea, is trying to do. Massive switches away from itemizing would result in fewer taxpayer errors and less work for the Internal Revenue Service.

Blumenthal agreed Thursday to have his staff consider changes in itemized deductions and offered other proposals before the Senate Finance Committee, headed by Long, a Louisiana Democrat.

Blumenthal appeared ready to compromise with the Senate on various provisions in the tax bill.

That stance contrasted sharply with the administration's position in earlier dealings with the House. After Carter's advisers appeared unwilling to compromise on key points, almost all the president's proposals were junked in the House.

Despite Blumenthal's conciliatory attitude with the Finance Committee, Carter told a news conference later in the day he will not hesitate to veto the bill if it is unacceptable to him.

Blumenthal found two major faults with the $16.3 billion bill passed by the House. -The $10.4 billion package of individual tax cuts is tilted too much toward high-income taxpayers, he said. He asked the Senate to rewrite the bill to make it more like the president proposed last January.

While the Carter administration is now willing to accept some reduction in the tax on capital gains, the House provisions are unsuitable because they would virtually destroy the "minimum tax," Blumenthal said. That tax is aimed at ensuring that wealthy investors pay federal tax no matter how many deductions they claim.

Blumenthal said the minimum tax should be retained and that capital gains - the profits from the sale of stocks, real estate and other property should be eliminated from the House bill.

Three-fourths of couples and individuals use the standard deduction, the figure would go up slightly under the House bill for two reasons.

First, the House measure would raise the standard deduction by $100 to $2,300 for single persons and $2,400 for couples filing a joint return.

Second, the bill would eliminate the itemized deduction allowed for state and local gasoline taxes and reduce slightly the deduction for medical expenses.

Captured Escapees Indicted

YUMA, Ariz. (AP) - A Yuma County Grand Jury returned sealed indictments Thursday against convicted killer Gary Greenawalt and two sons of escaped killer Gary Tison but details were withheld.

County Attorney Mike Irwin told reporters the indictments would not be made public until defense attorneys are informed.

The jury had been expected to name Greenawalt and Raymond and Ricky Tison on first degree murder counts in the slayings of a vacationing family - including a 17-month-old boy.

Gary Tison also was expected to be named, meanwhile, in Colorado air and ground search was ner the western Colorado town of Bedrock for a pickup truck believed driven by Gary Tison.

Deputy Sheriff Bill Chadd said the search was cancelled after authorities searched Colorado west of Bedrock to the Utah border and side roads leading off into canyons, and did not find the pickup.

"But I don't really know where the idea of Tison's pickup came from," Chadd said after the search was cancelled.

Utah law enforcement officials also said they had cancelled the search for the truck.

Tison, 42, of Casa Grande, Ariz., was serving a life sentence at the Arizona State Prison for killing a prison guard in a 1967 escape. For the last two years he had been editor of the prison newspaper "La Roca". The Rock and was described by prison officials as a well-behaved prisoner.

Then on July 30, Tison and Randy Greenawalt, 29, of Thornton, Colo., broke

Sparkle To Greet Students

The halls and walls at Shirley Elementary School are sparkling, thanks to the school's custodian, James Hutson, who is trying to get things in shape for the first day of classes. School bells will ring the morning of Monday, Aug. 28. Students will register at their respective schools next Thursday.

Jarvis Campaign Comes to Texas

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) - Tax activist Howard Jarvis, fresh from the successful passage of Proposition 13 in California, has proposed the abolishment of capital gains taxes on investments as part of his new plan to slash federal taxes and spending.

Jarvis said Thursday night that over a four-year period, his five-point proposal would cut federal taxes by $50 billion and expenses by $100 billion eliminating the national budget deficit.

"The Peoples Plan to Limit Taxes will reduce the tax burden for all taxpayers, stimulate economic growth and most importantly, it will virtually wipe out inflation," the 75-year-old Californian told a crowd of about 2,000 at a local convention center.

The tax activist said his new proposal to eliminate the capital gains tax would be seen as "a scheme to help the rich."

However, he said he was concerned about creating jobs. "The capital gains tax hampers investment and productivity and stifles the job-creating ability of our economy."

With the capital gains tax eliminated, the private economy would be stimulated to produce about three million new jobs Jarvis claimed.

The plan also proposed cutting the personal income tax by 20 percent over four years.

-Allocating 2 percent of each year's federal budget to reduce the national debt, lowering interest costs the United States pays;

-Indexing all taxes so they would not increase for anyone whose pay raise was not greater than the inflation rate; and

-Placing an unspecified absolute limit on the percentage of the gross national product which can be collected in federal taxes.

The campaign has been dubbed the American Tax Reduction Movement, and Jarvis said its strategy is simple.

"We are going to ask every Congressman and Senator and every candidate for Congress and Senate to take a position 'yes' or 'no' on the people's plan to limit taxes. If they are for the plan, we will support them. If they oppose the plan, we will work to defeat them," he said.

A nine-city tour was planned to publicize the campaign, and a regional television show called "Howard Jarvis' National Tax Revolt" was tentatively scheduled in September. Proposition 13 passed in California by a 2-1 margin. The state constitutional amendment put a ceiling on property taxes and limited the amount by which they can be raised.

Cutting income by 20 percent will not affect vital services, Jarvis said.

"Many Americans didn't believe it before Proposition 13, but the fact that while death and taxes are inevitable,

Krueger Meeting To Be Earlier

U.S. Representative Bob Krueger's Monday press conference will start at 7 a.m. instead of 7:30, as was previously announced, at the Witherspoon-Aikin-Langley law office.

The change was announced today by the law firm. Krueger will be in Hereford from 7-8:30 a.m. as part of a campaign swing through the Texas Panhandle.

Krueger, a New Braunfels Democrat, is trying to unseat Republican John Tower in the U.S. Senate.

Today the Atlantic, Tomorrow The World, Claim Balloonists

PARIS (AP) - Flushed with their conquest, the three Americans who made the first crossing of the Atlantic by balloon said today they want to balloon around the world in 30 days.

Ben Abruzzo told a news conference that a round-the-world balloon trip would be expensive, but it would be cheaper than climbing Mount Everest.

"With the right balloon, we could get to higher altitudes and go round the world in 30 days," he said.

Abruzzo, 48, Maxie Anderson, 44, and Larry Newman, 31, all of Albuquerque, N.M., dropped down to a tumultuous welcome in a wheat field 60 miles west of Paris Thursday evening, then celebrated late into the night in the French capital at a party given by Count de Saint Sauveur, secretary of the French balloon federation.

President Carter congratulated them by telegram and invited them to the White House. The French Minister of Sports awarded them gold medals.

Media representatives besieged them with offers. And they drew straws for an unofficial prize, spending the night in the single bed Charles A. Lindbergh occupied at the U.S. Embassy residence after he made the first solo flight across the Atlantic 51 years ago.

Newman and his wife of five months won.

Air France offered to fly the trio home on its Concorde, and the balloonists said they already had planned to travel on the supersonic jet.

"We came the slowest way and we're going out the fastest way," said Abruzzo.

But they said they would go to London first to buy dinner for British balloonist Don Cameron and Christopher Davey, who last month failed by 103 miles to take the trans-Atlantic crown.

"We had a bet with them," said Anderson.

Only shredded remnants remained of the American's balloon, the 112-foot-high, silver-colored Double Eagle II. It was ripped apart by hordes of souvenir seekers in the field where it landed near the village of Miserey.

Many were motorists traveling the nearby highway who saw the gigantic balloon drifting earthward and stopped in astonishment. Others were villagers who rushed to congratulate the adventurers as they jumped from the red and yellow gondola and sprayed the crowd with champagne.

Police guards saved the metal gondola from the crowd.

Crowds also gathered outside the embassy residence in Paris to hail the conquering heroes as they joined their tearful wives.

"My God, did we have a welcome," said the excited trio in unison.

They fell short of Le Bourget Airport, where Lindbergh landed and where they also dreamed of putting down

Winds High and Hot

The Deaf Smith County Courthouse flags and temperature sign at First National Bank tell the story, as Hereford residents experienced a miserable day, weather-wise Thursday. More of the same was expected this afternoon, although weathermen predicted that a cool front would move southward into the Panhandle by tonight, lowering temperatures and bringing a chance of showers to the area.

Friday Update

Ray Travels Studied

During Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) - James Earl Ray is being pressed to detail his zigzag travels as the House Assassinations Committee turns to the key issues of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s murder: Was there a conspiracy and was Ray involved? As Ray took the witness chair for a third day today, committee member Walter Fauntroy focused questioning on the people Ray saw and his dealings with them during more than a year of travel before and after King was shot in Memphis, Tenn., on April 4, 1968.

Fauntroy, a Democrat and the District of Columbia's delegate to Congress, said the line of questioning was designed to study the conspiracy which may have arisen in the case.

In some five hours of testimony Thursday, the committee produced evidence contradicting Ray's account in two important areas.

The most dramatic confrontations between Ray and the committee occurred as Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio chairman of the committee, sought to establish through an ever-tightening web of questions that Ray had stalked King across the country for about two or three hours after the assassination.

Memphis Cops, Firemen Reach Agreement

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) - Police and fire union leaders said today they had accepted a tentative agreement to end a strike that has kept Memphis clamped under a curfew for a week.

The agreement, worked out with the Chamber of Commerce which has been negotiating on behalf of the city, still was subject to approval by city officials and the unions' rank-and-file.

David Baker, president of the Memphis Police Association, and Kuhron Huddleston, leader of Local 1784 of the International Association of Firefighters, said their members would vote on the proposals today.

Tommy Powell, president of the 60,000-member Memphis AFL-CIO Labor Council, and James McGehee, president of the Chamber of Commerce, had given word of the tentative pact earlier.

Terms of the contract were not immediately disclosed.

A federal mediator, Ed McMahon of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, was involved in the negotiations that had continued uninterrupted through the night.

One of the last stumbling blocks that had to be resolved apparently was the length of the contract. Mayor Wyeth Chandler said earlier the city had made three separate offers to the unions, but he said any settlement would involve a two-year contract. Both union presidents have insisted on one-year pacts, saying they did not want to be locked into a wage package where inflation could erode their members' gains.

Soviet Judge Drops

Suits Against Newsmen

MOSCOW (AP) - A Soviet judge dropped the civil slander suit against the American reporters today, saying the widespread publicity given the case made the retraction their papers refused to print unnecessary.

However, Judge Lev Almazov said he would inform the Foreign Ministry that Craig R. Whitney of The New York Times and Harold D. Piper of the Baltimore Sun had not attended any of the legal proceedings and that he considered them disrespectful to the court.

During earlier court sessions, Hector asked that the Foreign Ministry remove the correspondents' press accreditation in effect expelling them from the country.

Whitney and Piper were found guilty July 18 of slandering Soviet television because they reported relatives of Georgian dissident Zviad Gamsakhurdia said his videotaped confession appeared to have been fabricated.

The judge ordered Whitney and Piper to retract their stories and pay court costs totalling $3,424,000.

After they and their papers refused to publish retractions, the two men were fined $73 each on Aug. 3 and were warned they faced further fines "different measures" if their newspapers did not publish the retractions, the fines and the costs were paid, but the papers still refused to print the retractions.

Judge Sets Trials For Misuse Charges

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) - Four men accused of misusing federal manpower funds will be tried in federal court here in September and October.

U.S. District Judge Reynaldo Garza Thursday set trial dates for Nick Ramirez, former director of the Hidalgo County manpower program; Ed Romero, former auditor for an Edinburg, anti-poverty agency; A.M. Fernandez, director of South Texas Enterprises at Brownville; and Fernando Anthony Salinas, director of the Greater South Texas Economic Program of Jim Hogg County.

All were indicted for alleged conspiracy to misuse federal funds and misapplication of federal funds.

Ramirez, 33, will be tried here Sept. 25 on charges of misusing about $2,500 in federal funds.

Fernandez, 45, and Salinas, 31, will be tried Oct. 10 on charges of misusing $7,000 in federal funds.

Romero, 41, will be tried Oct. 16 on charges involving alleged misuse of $14,000 in federal funds. The McAllen accountant was the auditor for the Associated City County Economic Development Corp., of Edinburg.

Eliseo Sandoval, the indicted director of the ACCEDC, is expected to testify for the prosecution in some of the cases.

Police Report

Florence Martinez, 302 Austin Road, Thursday, reported the theft of a citizen's band radio antenna from her car.

She told police the theft occurred sometime Thursday.

GM Chairman Looking to '79

NEW YORK (AP) - After three good years in a row for the auto industry, there is no shortage of optimism emanating from General Motors Corp. headquarters.

GM Chairman Thomas A. Murphy, who is known for his upbeat business forecasts, stayed right in character this week in his assessment of the outlook for the 1979 model year.

Combined deliveries of cars and trucks in the United States, including imports, will reach a record total of almost 15.4 million units for the 1978 model year, Murphy estimated. In the year that begins next month, he projected a further gain to better than 15.5 million.

Murphy based these figures on an equally bright forecast for the general business outlook.

His script calls for the Gross National Product to grow at a 4 percent annual rate, after adjustment for inflation, through the rest of 1978 and into next year.

"The consumer sector is likely to be a sustaining force deriving continued support from rising real incomes and further increases in employment," he said. "Moreover, despite record increases in consumer installment debt, consumer debt repayments have remained in line with rising income."

GM's projections naturally command attention. It is, after all, the nation's largest industrial company, as measured by sales, and the second largest in terms of assets and employment, with nearly 800,000 workers on the payroll at last count.

But attention is one thing and agreement another. Many current economic projections call for a substantial slowing in business activity soon, and the auto industry is normally expected to follow the trend of the over-all economy closely.

By traditional Wall Street measures, investors are maintaining a cautious approach to GM's stock. The yield on the shares, based on dividends paid over the last 12 months, is a lofty 10 percent, and the price-earnings ratio is a modest six to one.

Analysts who follow the auto industry also note that Murphy's earlier projection that 11.75 million cars would be sold in the 1978 model year has proved to have been too high.

GM's capital spending plans suggest that the company is backing up its view with a strong commitment of dollars to new plant and equipment - to the tune of $5 billion in calendar of 1979.

Observers hasten to note, however, that those plans are not solely a matter of GM's judgment. They are dictated to a considerable extent by laws setting future safety and fuel-efficiency requirements for the industry.

With those large capital needs, auto executives like Murphy would seem to have extra reason to hope his optimistic sales projects are on target.

The Abundant Life

PROBLEMS ALWAYS

BY BOB WEAR

"WILL WE HAVE PROBLEMS ALWAYS?" A good friend, discussing a problem with me, said, "Will the time ever come when we will have no problems?" This is a question most of us ask ourselves, at times; and it is a relevant question. We do get tired of problems, and we wish that they would go away; but they don't go away. Therefore, we must meet them face to face and work, with a spirit of good cheer, to solve them.

YES, WE WILL HAVE PROBLEMS ALWAYS. This can be discouraging, and many people are discouraged; however, most of the discouragement comes from faulty expectations. If we expect the coming of some magic time, when all problems are solved; we expect the impossible. It is better that we be sensible, and face reality.

THERE ARE TWO KINDS OF problems. Some are just part of one's living experience, and some are caused by poor judgment. This means that we can have some control over problems. First, we can learn to manage our life situation so we do not make unnecessary problems. Second, we can be prepared for the necessary ones, and learn to cope with them as a normal part of life.

WE MUST NOT EXAGGERATE our problems. They will be big enough as they are, and it is very foolish to blow them up into something bigger. Two people can face the same problem; one of them accepts it as it is, and handles it admirably; but the other person becomes highly agitated, and makes the problem so big that it becomes unmanageable. We must never permit problems to become masters over us.

"THERE IS A SOLUTION TO THIS" is the way to face problems. The solution may not always be exactly what we wish, but there is a solution. There may be instances when we need assistance, but there is nothing wrong with this. When we do need such assistance, we must get it; and the sooner, the better. Everybody finds it necessary to get help now and then.

WE CAN DEVELOP SKILL in problem-solving, when we properly apply our capabilities and let each instance of problem-solving be a learning experience. Much of this part of living should soon become routine, because most of our problems will be standard. Occasionally, there will be unusual, or different ones; but there are solutions for these, too.

OFTENTIMES WE CAN SEE the beginning of a problem, and this is usually the best time to apply the solution. If we wait for its full formation, we will usually find the solving of it more difficult.

AS LONG AS WE LIVE, there will be problems and some of them may be very difficult; however, we must remember that all problems have solutions.

LUNA INFANT

Graveside services for Andria Miranda Luna, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Luna, 907 A McKinley, were held Thursday at 4:30 p.m. in West Park Cemetery. The Rev. Pablo Garcia, pastor of Thompson Baptist Mission, officiated.

Arrangements were under the direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

The child died at 5:30 a.m. Thursday in North West Texas Hospital where she was born Wednesday.

The mother of the infant is the former Laura Leal.

In addition to the parents, survivors include the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Leal Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Luna; and great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Leal Sr., all of Hereford.

Tax Cut Conflicts, Says Blumenthal

WASHINGTON (AP) - The $16.3 billion tax cut passed by the House conflicts with the principle that taxes should be imposed in accordance with the ability to pay, Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal told the Senate Finance Committee Thursday.

The size of the cut voted by the House is appropriate to the needs of the economy, as is the split between business and personal tax relief, he said. But far too much of the tax cuts in the bill would go to upper-income Americans, Blumenthal added.

"The share of the total individual tax cut going to persons below $20,000 income should be increased from 25 percent to about 40 percent, while the share for those above $50,000 should be reduced from 24 percent to about 10 or 15 percent," Blumenthal said.

The Treasury secretary said an equitable tax cut could be achieved by replacing the present $750-per-person exemption and the $35-per-person credit with a new credit of $240 per person.

A credit, which is subtracted from taxes owed, is worth the same to all taxpayers. An exemption, which reduces income subject to taxation, is more beneficial to high-income taxpayers than to those at the low end of the scale.

Blumenthal cautioned the Finance Committee against significant increases in the size of the tax cut, saying a cut would worsen inflation.

But almost immediately, the panel's chairman, said that if the budget will allow it, he would hope to significantly increase the size of the tax cut to help offset a new Social Security tax increase and the effects of inflation.

Blumenthal repeated the Carter administration's insistence that any tax reduction on capital gains, which are profits from the sale of stocks and other property, must not sharply reduce the minimum tax, as the House bill would do.

The minimum tax aims to insure that high-income investors pay some tax no matter how many large deductions they have.

If the record of the last few years is any guide, the Senate committee will write a bill that gives considerably more benefits to corporations and investors than would fit into President Carter's idea of tax equity.

Carter's tax bill was shot to pieces by the House after the administration refused until the last minute to negotiate a compromise. But there are reports the administration will be considerably more flexible in the Senate in hopes of getting a bill that would not end in a presidential veto just a few weeks before the November elections.

STATE CAPITAL

Highlights

AND Sidelights

By Lyndell Williams

AUSTIN - Texas legislators completed action on a $1 billion tax relief program in their special session which closed last week.

About half of it will be submitted to voters November 7 in the form of a Constitutional amendment.

Already signed into law and effective October 1 is repeal of the state's four cent tax on home utilities bills. The one cent city sales tax on gas and electrical charges will be lifted October 1, 1979, unless city councils vote by May 1 to keep it.

Also approved in the same law is an increase in inheritance tax exemptions from $25,000 per beneficiary to $200,000 per estate.

Included in the omnibus amendment to be voted on at the general election are the following:

-A mandatory increase in homestead exemption of $5,000 for school tax purposes.

-An additional school tax exemption of up to $10,000 on values of homesteads of persons over 65 and the disabled.

-Assessment of farm and ranch land on the basis of productivity rather than market value. The legislature would be authorized to provide for taxing of timber lands on the same basis.

-A limitation on state spending to the rate of economic growth, but legislators could exceed the "limit" by emergency vote.

-A watered-down tax "reform" section prohibiting statewide appraisals.

-A requirement that tax increases must be advertised and made subject to hearing.

-Removal of intangible property such as bank deposits from the mandatory tax base, but the legislature would be allowed to provide for taxing of the intangibles.

-Authorization for the legislature to exempt household, goods and personal autos from taxation.

A $450,000 fund was established to reimburse local school districts for lost revenue due to the property tax reductions.

Taxes Up
Income from the state general sales tax is up $237.8 million for the first nine months of the fiscal year.

Comptroller Bob Bullock said revenue totalled $1.4 billion, 20 percent higher than last year.

The motor vehicle sales tax totalled $227.5 million, up 19 percent; cigarette and tobacco taxes, $221.1 million, a six percent increase and motor fuel tax, $332.8 million, a 10 percent hike.

Natural gas production taxation produced $389.8 million during the period, an 11 percent increase, and the oil production tax $319.1 million, up just one percent.

Total revenues came to $5.9 billion, $691 million more than for the first nine months of the last fiscal year. State spending came to $6 billion during 1978, $964 million above 1977. Highway spending was up 40 percent and contributions to teacher retirement 47 percent.

Mondale on Way
Vice President Walter Mondale will address a $100-a-plate dinner honoring retiring State Democratic Chairman Calvin Guest here August 25. Mondale will also campaign in the Rio Grande Valley for Democratic Senate candidate Bob Krueger.

Ag Opinions

The School Tax Assessment Practices Board is required to hear appeals from the commissioner of education's preliminary determination of any reductions in taxable value due to natural or economic disaster on school district property, Attorney General John Hill said.

The board, according to Hill's opinion, can adjust property values as it finds appropriate.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:
-On retirement, a teacher member of the Board of Trustees of the Teacher Retirement System vacates his office but continues to serve as trustee until a successor has qualified.

-It is the ministerial duty of the clerk of a district court to file returns of process served by "disinterested persons" authorized to serve process and to include a fee as an item of the cost bill of a lawsuit.

Short Snorts
The House General Investigating Committee began an inquiry into allegations of mismanagement and favoritism in the State Insurance Department.

California's Proposition 13 crusader Howard Jarvis scheduled an August 17 visit to Fort Worth in the interest of the "taxpayers revolt."

Texas natural gas production decreased 6.65 percent in May, the Railroad Commission reported.

Tison

out of the Arizona State Prison at Florence, July 30, allegedly aided by Tison's three sons.

One of the Tison boys was shot to death and Greenawalt and Tison's two other sons were captured when a stolen van crashed through a roadblock south of Casa Grande. Tison escaped on foot into the desert.

The gang is accused of murdering an Omaha, Neb., couple, their 22-month-old son and a 15-year-old niece after the breakout.

Authorities are also searching for an Amarillo honeymoon couple who disappeared in southern Colorado. The couple's van was used by the Tison gang in the attempt to run the roadblock at Casa Grande.

Chadd said his office received a report Wednesday that a "heavy built" man, Tison weighs 250 pounds and was seen driving a red and white pickup truck and had pointed a shotgun out its window.

Deputies set up a roadblock west of Bedrock. A man drove up to the roadblock and told officers he saw a red and white truck turn around and head west on the highway toward the Utah border. Chadd said.

More roadblocks were set up and patrol cars and a plane searched the highway and canyon roads in the area, but they failed to find the truck.

Balloonists

because "Lindbergh has been an inspiration to many generations of Frenchmen and Americans," Anderson said.

Abruzzo said they were "slightly disappointed at not reaching Paris by balloon," but it was only 50 miles short of our goal, so we did cover 3,000 miles or so. We set the world record for endurance, the world record for distance and we did cross the Atlantic so we can't be too disappointed."

The weather was sunny after weeks of rain and gloom as the Double Eagle approached France at 13,000 feet, and reaching Paris looked like a sure thing. But over the town of Evreux, they ran out of ballast and had nothing left to jettison to keep them up.

"There was no option but to land," said Abruzzo. They donned helmets, radioed their decision and dropped down to the riotous reception in the clear dusk.

They landed at Miserey at 7:50 p.m. 1:50 p.m. EDT. 137 hours and 18 minutes after taking off Friday night from Presque Isle, Maine, 3,233 miles to the west. Seventeen other teams had tried and failed to make the crossing since 1873, and six men and a woman were killed in earlier attempts.

"We ran into trouble four times on the flight," Anderson reported, but he described only one of the incidents, "when we iced up badly about halfway." The ice forced the balloon down toward the water, and "it cost us a lot of ballast" to get back up, he said.

Taxes

being taxed to death is not."

Texas Republican gubernatorial candidate Bill Clements introduced a "taxpayers' bill of rights" at the rally, sponsored by the Taxpayers Association of Fort Worth and Tarrant County.

His plan is a set of constitutional amendments that would "guard Texans from unfair, unnecessary and economically destructive taxation and government spending."

A statement from Democratic Gubernatorial nominee John Hill was read at the rally. He said his support for tax reform could be seen in his record.

Earlier Thursday, Jarvis debated Texas AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard on a Dallas broadcast talk show. The labor leader charged that Proposition 13's effects would be to cut the unnecessary state budget only to have them added to the federal payroll or unemployment rolls.

"That is nothing but us Texans and the United States having to bail out California as we did New York," he said.

California's corporations receive more benefits from the tax property measure than individual taxpayers do, Hubbard said.

"The system that's used is not equitable... Let's make the system right and then talk about cutting taxes," he said.

Carter Energy Plan Salvaged

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter has scored a breakthrough that has gotten his long-stalled energy plan moving in Congress again, Vice President Walter F. Mondale said today.

Carter and congressional leaders made a series of personal appeals to House members and senators Thursday in an attempt to get a natural gas compromise out of a conference committee for final consideration by the Senate and House.

They worked against the start of a 20-day Labor Day recess which complicates potential progress on the energy package, first sent to Congress by Carter 16 months ago.

The president met late Thursday night with two House Democratic energy conferees, Charles Rangel of New York and James Corman of California, in an attempt to obtain their signatures on the compromise gas report.

Appearing on NBC's Today Show, Mondale said, "We had a breakthrough last night on the long overdue gas conference report."

The vice president predicted that the breakthrough would give momentum to the longstalled energy program.

While Carter appeared to have obtained the necessary House and Senate signatures on the natural gas conference report, the bill must still get through the Senate where a filibuster has been threatened by liberal opponents, who say it is too costly to consumers.

To get the natural gas conference report to the Senate floor, Carter had to obtain the signatures of 13 House members and nine conferees. The last of the three Senate conferees signed on Thursday.

Ten House members were known to have signed by late Thursday, with Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Texas, counted No. 11. By Mondale's account, Carter found the final two House members late Thursday after his intensive day of lobbying.

The compromise, the product of several months of delicate negotiations, would lift price controls by 1985 with gradual increases for residential and industrial users of natural gas in the meantime.

Both chambers had approved versions of the natural gas bill and congressional conferees announced last May that they had reached agreement on a compromise.

The first co-educational college was Oberlin in Ohio which awarded a degree to a woman in 1841.

Urbanczyk Clan Gathers For Reunion

One hundred and forty relatives were in attendance at the 10th annual Urbanczyk reunion, held on Sunday, Aug. 13 in Thompson Park, Amarillo. The Polish family came to the United States in 1854, landing in Indianola, after a long 9-week voyage. Poland was under German (Prussian) rule and after the failure of the revolution in 1848, people found their situation more and more hopeless, and were in search of a land that could give them economic, political and religious freedom. About this time, the yellow fever wrought its ravages along the Gulf coast and had no mercy on these new arrivals. The Urbanczyks were the first large group of Polish farmers to come to America - forerunners of the hundreds of thousands that were to follow them in the half century before the first world war.

Ann Landers First hand Experience

DEAR MISS LANDERS: In all my years, I have never been moved to write to someone like you. However, one of today's letters really hit home.

I applaud your advice to the woman who confirmed to her dying sister that she had terminal cancer. I was in a similar situation a year ago. Only one physician out of a dozen gave me a ten percent chance to live through surgery. Without it they said I would die within six months.

My wife and I prepared for more than a month for the operation. We faced all the emotions -- fear, anger and denial. Then came resignation and finally, peace. My wife allowed me to lean on her, and we planned together for her life alone.

Had we not been instructed by a very wise friend we would have been unable to do this. A person who is very ill knows what is going on inside himself. Silence only builds and confirms one's fears. It also robs people of hours and days that could be spent pleasurably and productively when the truth is admitted and discussed.

Our relatives went to pieces when I entered the hospital. The day of surgery was worse. I found myself comforting my parents, in-laws, and others. Looking back, it was a strange scene.

Somehow I survived. Today I am in good health. My wife and I are closer than ever. We now know that if the conclusion had been different, we would have at least "done our thing" and prepared for whatever the future had in store for us.

Your advice is super, Ann. Keep it up. -- A Reader in Stamford, Conn., Who Delights in Your Common Sense

DEAR READER: A letter, such as yours means a great deal to me. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 24-year-old told us last night that he is marrying Rosanna next month. She is a lovely girl and we are very fond of her. Rosanna and Ed have gone together two years. We feel she has made our son a far better person.

Problem: Rosanna's parents live 55 miles from here. We have never met them. Ed says it's just as well because they are crazy. We are giving the wedding because the bride's parents live in a tiny studio apartment and cannot afford even the simplest kind of affair.

Rosanna wants to be married in our garden with just a few close friends and her sister and brothers present. Both Rosanna and Ed have told us it would be useless to invite her parents to the wedding because they are very "strange" and don't go anywhere. This is a touchy situation, to say the least, and my husband and I are at a loss to know what to do. Will you help us? -- In The Middle

DEAR MIDDLE: By all means telephone Rosanna's parents and invite them to your home to become acquainted and discuss the wedding plans. If they refuse, you will have at least made the effort.

And by all means send them an invitation to the wedding regardless. If they choose not to attend you will still have the satisfaction and peace of mind that comes with knowing you did the right thing.

Flowers, songs, and souvenirs.

The Cassidy Concert Thrill

Many fans wore Cassidy T-shirts and made "We Love You Shaun" signs.

Souvenir programs were big sellers to the almost all-girl audience.

Shaun Cassidy in concert. He can also be seen on TV as wholesome Joe Hardy in "The Hardy Boys."

He opens his show by jumping through a paper hoop.

Columns of smoke rise from the stage.

Thousands of flash bulbs pop.

Here he is, girls . . . and a few boys . . . here is Shaun Cassidy.

He is wearing red clothes and lots of make-up. He moves around a lot.

During some songs, he sits on the edge of the stage to be a little closer to the audience . . . but not too close. Like any superstar, Cassidy has trouble with the crush of admiring fans.

At one point, he throws carnations into the audience. Fans snatch them up.

There are lots of happy tears and shrieks.

At the end he sings "Da Do Ron Ron" and he runs from the stage into a waiting car.

It's all over but the memories and the souvenirs and the thrill . . . and the records to play over and over.

"What do you like about Shaun Cassidy?" we asked.

- "He's so cute."
- "He looks good."
- "He sings good."
- "He's very clean-cut."
- "The way he twitches his hips."
- "His tight pants."

Jaeckel Leading Classic After 1st Day

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) - Barry Jaeckel, who scored his first career victory earlier this season in Tallahassee, birdied the last two holes for a 6-under-par 65 and a one-shot lead Thursday in the first round of the $300,000 Westchester Golf Classic.

"It was just one of those days when everything was positive," said Jaeckel, the 29-year-old son of movie actor Richard Jaeckel.

"When you shoot 65 you have to make a lot of putts. I made a lot of putts."

"The putter was the name of the game today. I was so confident in it I really didn't care if I hit a bad shot. I felt I could get it in anyway."

Jaeckel, in his fourth year of tour activity, one-putted 11 times on the hot, humid day on the 6,603-yard Westchester Country Club course. He held from 15 feet on the last hole to break a tie and take sole control of the top spot.

A single shot back was longshot Jim Albus, a club pro who hurried away from the course after shooting his 66 to give an afternoon lesson at his Piping Rock Club in nearby Locust Valley, N.Y.

Jack Nicklaus, winner of the British Open and three American tournaments this year and a two-time Westchester champ, played his front side in 4-under-par 32 and headed a group at 67.

Also at four under par on the tight, hilly little course that was blanketed by haze for most of the sweltering day, were veteran Don January, Ed Sabo, Rex Caldwell, Alan Fate and Jay Haas, the winner of the San Diego Open earlier this season. "I played fairly well,"

Nicklaus said. "I just didn't get the ball close enough to the hole on the back nine to shoot a score."

John Mahaffey, who won the PGA national championship and the Pleasant Valley Classic in his last two starts, birdied his last two holes for a 68 that left him very much in contention for a rare third consecutive victory. "I don't think I was concentrating very well the first part of the round," said Mahaffey. "But the last few holes I got back to where I was the last couple of weeks."

"I'm not tired. I guess I'm in what you call a scoring habit. I'm looking forward to the next hole and the next birdie chance. When and if that ends, I'll probably be drained."

Tom Watson shot a 70. So did Hubert Green. Andy North, the current U.S. Open title-holder and the defending champion here, had a 72. Leading money-winner Andy Bean matched par 71.

Jaeckel holed birdie putts of 30, 8, 10, 10 and 5 feet on the front nine and had a par-saving putt of 12 feet to make the turn in a spectacular 31.

But he sandwiched a pair of bogeys around a birdie on the next three holes, then made his decisive rush at the end, flipping a sand wedge shot to three feet on the 17th and then dropping a 15-foot birdie putt on the 18th.

Two Share Golf Lead

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) - While favorite Nancy Lopez dropped out because of a sore shoulder, Kathy Whitworth and Sandra Post surged into the first-round lead Thursday in the $150,000 Lady Stroh's LPGA tournament at the Dearborn Country Club.

Whitworth and Post, who have 29 years of pro golf experience between them, carded nines of 36-33 for 3-under-par 69s at the 6,411-yard course outside Detroit.

They were a stroke in front of Sue Roberts and local favorite Sharon Miller of Marshall, who was 4-under and owned the lead after 15 holes before three-putting the next two for bogeys.

Two other golfers were under par in the four-day quest for the $22,500 top prize. Patty Hayes and Debby Massey shot 1-under 71s.

Lopez, the superstar rookie who has already won eight tournaments, withdrew because of a sore right shoulder. She said she would take two weeks off for treatment and rest.

Post, a 30-year-old Canadian who lives in Boynton Beach, Fla., had four birdies and one bogey.

Needles and Whirlpools Ready Oilers for Dallas

DALLAS (AP) - Thanks to needles and whirlpools, the Houston Oilers will probably have their starting backfield ready for Saturday night's National Football League exhibition game against the world Champion Dallas Cowboys, who are as healthy as their record.

Oiler quarterback Dan Pastorini underwent acupuncture treatments after suffering a blow to his left thigh Monday night from Philadelphia linebacker Bill Bergey in a 28-10 loss to the Eagles.

"There is no comparison to the way the injury feels now and the way it felt Tuesday," said Pastorini. Even with good legs Pastorini may be in trouble with the way the Cowboy defense played in defeats of San Francisco and Denver.

Pastorini was cheered to learn that running backs Rob Carpenter and Ronnie Coleman, who missed the Monday night game with various hurts, will play Saturday. In fact, rookie Tim Wilson was the only halfback available against the Eagles.

Earl Campbell, the Heisman Trophy winner from Texas, has been shuttled from fullback to halfback. He'll play halfback against the Cowboys in the 8 p.m. game at Texas Stadium which will draw a sellout crowd of 65,000.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said he will go with his starters for at least three starters and that is basically the plan of Houston Coach Bum Phillips.

Landry said "I think it's going to take a couple more games to get our offense moving the way we want it to."

Landry has been disappointed with his running game and Houston wasn't exactly overwhelming in its last outing against Philadelphia.

The leading Oiler rusher had a mere 21 yards. Dallas is 2-0 in the preseason while Houston is exactly the reverse.

The Cowboys own an 8-3 lead over Houston in the preseason mythical "Texas Professional Football Championship" and are 2-0 over the Oilers in regular season meetings.

Phillips said there is a tense rivalry with the Cowboys and that the Oilers will be ready to play for the state championship.

Denver or Dallas. We try to play the best we're capable of playing and let the scoreboard take care of itself."

Landry said "We jelled last year in the fifth and sixth preseason games. The preseason is just too short."

Penn State Fans Want 1st Place

Since Joe Paterno took over as Penn State's head football coach in 1966, the Nittany Lions have had one second-place finish in The Associated Press rankings, along with one third, three fifths, one seventh, one eighth and two 10ths.

Obviously, something is missing. And the Penn State fans aren't looking to add a fourth, sixth or ninth-place standing to Paterno's glittering 112-24-1 record. The only thing on their minds this fall is No. 1.

And you can bet Paterno is thinking along those lines, too, even though he isn't about to get overly excited before the demanding 11-game schedule begins.

A 11-1 mark last year was the same as that of Notre Dame, Alabama, Arkansas and Texas, all of whom finished ahead of Penn State in the final ratings.

But, warns Paterno, "We should be better than we were last year," when the only blemish was a 24-20 loss to sixth-ranked Kentucky.

Only two things are better than 11-1. One is 11-0-1; the other is 12-0-0.

Steve Comer Wins Job, But Rangers Lose

By CHARLES RICHARDS Associated Press Writer

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Steve Comer has won a spot in the pitching rotation of the Texas Rangers because of his relief work in the final game of the home stand with the Chicago White Sox.

He allowed four hits, struck out five and walked one in the 2-3 innings Thursday night for Texas. He was four runs behind when he started, and the White Sox held on for a 4-2 victory.

"Comer looked super, he certainly did," Texas Manager Billy Hunter said after the loss. He said Comer will start Tuesday night in Toronto against the Blue Jays. Paul Miradella, a rookie who was stunned for four runs and six hits by Chicago and left in the fourth inning, will go into the bullpen.

Ralph Garr led the 0-hit Chicago attack, licking up two doubles and a single and figuring in on two of the White Sox runs.

The victory went to Ken Kravec, 9-11, who allowed the Rangers only three hits before giving way to Lerrin Lagrow with one out in the eighth. But Kravec walked eight, which allowed the Rangers some scoring opportunities.

Richie Zisk got one of Kravec's walks in the sixth, and Toby Harrah followed with a towering home run to left field, his fifth round tripper of the game was only two Texas runs.

Harrah's blast was one of only four hits the Rangers got. The loss was Texas' 11th in its 15 games with Chicago this season and split the current four-game series. Wins in the first two games Monday and Tuesday had extended a Ranger

Entries Being Accepted

Entries are still being accepted this week for the Sept. 2-4 First Annual Country Club Member and Guest Golf Tournament.

Tournament chairman Virgil Marsh said interested golfers should register and send in their entry forms.

He said registration for the event has been a little slow. "This should be a real fun deal." He urged all golf enthusiasts to enter the tournament.

The first deadline for the tournament was Tuesday, but Marsh said it had been extended.

Entry fee for the event is $20. This will include green fees and golf carts for three days, bar-be-que, champagne brunch, and each player will receive $20 gift certificate from the pro shop.

Marsh said other money will be returned in merchandise prizes according to the number of players in each flight.

THE MAMOU'S Jimmy and Judy

In 1971 Jimmy and Judy were called by God to take the message of salvation to people on skid row, in prisons and jails. They share the love of Jesus Christ with strippers, skid row destitutes, prisoners, addicts, prostitutes, entertainers and others in need. They speak often at public meetings, on television, at clubs, on the beach, in parks, at churches of all denominations and Christian functions of all kinds. Their message, whether in song or testimony, has been so well received, that they are frequently invited back for repeat visits.

A success story.

Once upon a time there was a merchant. You probably know him. Because he is very successful and always seems to have lot of business, even when things seem slow everywhere else.

There are a lot of reasons why he is successful. But one of the biggest is that he advertises regularly, even when things seem slow everywhere. You see, he realizes that he is open every week of the year and wants customers every day. He realizes that advertising is designed to build business and it works best when repeated regularly. Consistent advertising builds dividends. He realizes that people buy all year around. Many stores sell blankets and furs in the summer and air conditioners and grass cutters in the winter.

Think you know who this success story is about? Well, to tell you the truth, it's about many of the merchants in Hereford. They all have one thing in common, though. They advertise regularly in the Hereford Brand. Isn't it about time you became a successful merchant?

FAITH WILL PREPARE YOUR CHILDREN FOR TOMORROW

our children need to learn faith in God, as well as the basic skills of life. As the opening of the school season draws near, remember that it is also time to begin or resume their spiritual education; to fortify them for the time when you may no longer be on hand to guide and protect them. That a large segment of our young people have never learned goodness for its own sake is tragically evident in the almost daily accounts of juvenile wrongdoing. Children are not born with this knowledge; they must be taught it. Enroll your children in Sunday school, and set your own good example for them by the way you conduct your life, and by attending your Church.

"His education forms the common mind:
Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined."

Aggies, Mustangs, Frogs and Owls Commence Drills Thursday

The SMU Mustangs, Texas A&M Aggies, TCU Horned Frogs and Rice Owls are first out of the blocks for fall training as that foursome begins preparation for the 1978 football season on Thursday. The rest of the league gets a slightly later start.

Arkansas Coach Lou Holtz welcomes 45 lettermen and 21 starters back when the Fayetteville workouts start Aug. 18. The Houston Cougars begin Aug. 19, followed by Texas Tech and Baylor starting workouts on Aug. 21. The Texas Longhorns get the latest start, Fred Akers blowing his whistle for practice on Aug. 22.

It's all a "get ready" for the race to the Cotton Bowl and a formidable non-conference slate, which includes three of last season's top ten finishers in the country. The 23 non-conference opponents include seven bowl teams from last year, those being Ohio State, a 35-6 loser to Alabama in the Sugar Bowl, Florida State, a 40-17 winner over Texas Tech in the Tangerine Bowl, Iowa State, a 24-14 loser to North Carolina State in the Peach Bowl, LSU, a 24-14 loser to Stanford in the Sun Bowl, Oklahoma, a 13-6 loser to Arkansas in the Orange Bowl, Southern Cal, a 47-28 winner over Texas A&M in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl, and Penn State, a 42-30 winner over Arizona State in the Fiesta Bowl.

The 23 non-conference opponents which will test SWC teams in 1978 combined for a 137-115-3 record in 1977. That's a winning percentage of .544, somewhat below last year's non-conference strength, which had posted a .573 winning norm in 1976.

Joe Paterno's Penn State team, ranked No. 4 last season by UPI and fifth by AP, has 1978 dates with SMU on Sept. 23 in University Park, Pa., and TCU on Sept. 30 in University Park. Sixth-ranked Kentucky, coming off a 10-1 season, has a Sept. 23 meeting with Baylor in Lexington, and Oklahoma, ranked sixth by UPI and seventh by AP, keeps its traditional date with Texas in the Cotton Bowl on Oct. 7, in addition to a Sept. 23 date with Rice at Norman.

Based on 1977 records, the Rice Owls have the toughest non-conference schedule, meeting Iowa State, Oklahoma and LSU, three teams that combined for a 26-7-0 record last year. Baylor's opposing trio of Georgia, Kentucky and Ohio State, got together for a strong 24-9-0 mark last year while SMU's opponents Florida, Penn State and Ohio State, were 25-7-1 last fall. Texas' non-league foes Wyoming, Oklahoma and North Texas State combined for a 23-9-1 slate last year.

On the same basis, Arkansas would have the easiest schedule. Vanderbilt, Oklahoma State and Tulsa combined for a 9-24 mark in 1977. TCU's opponents Oregon, Penn State and Tulane were 15-18-0 last season, Texas A&M's foes Kansas, Boston College and Memphis State, were 15-17-1, Texas Tech's opponents Southern California, Arizona and New Mexico were 17-18-0 last year, and Houston's opponents Memphis State, Utah and Florida State, were 18-15-0.

The Tech opener with USC in Los Angeles Sept. 9 marks the first meeting between the two schools and only the third time the Raiders have faced a PAC-8 school. (Tech has a 46-year rivalry with Arizona, which along with Arizona State enters the PAC-10 this year.) The Raiders are 2-0 against the West Coast League, having defeated Washington, 16-7, in the 1963 opener and again in 1964 with a 28-10 victory.

But overall, the SWC has some catching up to do against the Trojans. USC leads the series with SWC schools 16-4-1. Arkansas (1974) and Baylor (1960) have wins over USC while TCU took wins over the Trojans in 1954 and 1960. Both Baylor and TCU each have a series loss to Southern Cal. Arkansas, Rice and SMU have two losses to them, A&M has three losses and Texas is at the short end of an 0-5 series with the California school.

The Raiders, picked by Dave Campbell's Texas Football magazine to finish eighth in the SWC this year because of the heaviest personnel losses in the league, have only nine seniors to greet new head coach Rex Dockery on Aug. 21. They have the least number of starters returning with 12 and the least lettermen with 30.

The Texas A&M Aggies open with the Kansas Jayhawks Sept. 9 in Lawrence. In the 1977 opener at College Station, the Aggies took a 28-14 win. A&M returns 44 lettermen, including 17 seniors and 15 starters.

The Rice Owls defeated Iowa State, 13-7, the last time the two teams met. That was in 1930 in Houston. On Sept. 9, they meet again in Houston. New Rice boss Ray Alborn welcomes back 48 lettermen, 20 seniors and 16 starters from last year's 1-10 squad.

Sept. 9 also hears the starting gun in the SWC race as SMU and TCU renew their 63-year neighborhood rivalry at the Cotton Bowl. The Horned Frogs lead that series which started in 1915, 28-25-7. SMU won last year's meeting, 45-21, at Amon Carter Stadium.

Baylor, Houston, Texas, and Arkansas all open their 1978 seasons on Sept. 16. The Longhorns open defense of their conference crown (they're trying for their 22nd league championship or co-championship) against Rice in Houston. The Longhorns return 36 lettermen for Fred Akers' second year. There are 13 seniors on the squad and 15 starters.

The Houston Cougars, Cotton Bowl champions following the 1976 season, take their show to Memphis for the ninth meeting with Memphis State. The Cougars lost the last meeting in 1975 by a score of 14-7, putting the series at 53 in Houston's favor.

Baylor and the Georgia Bulldogs will entertain a regional television audience Sept. 16 in Athens. The last time the two teams met, it was Grant Teaff's debut as a head coach in the Southwest Conference. The Bears lost that 1972 season opener in Athens, 24-14. Baylor returns 40 lettermen, 16 seniors and 16 starters.

Arkansas, favored by many to win their 11th SWC title this season, open in Little Rock against Vanderbilt. The Razorbacks and Vandy played a home-and-home series back in 1949 and 1950. Arkansas, under then Coach John Barnhill, won the '49 game at Nashville, 7-6, then in 1950 at Little Rock, under new Coach Otis Douglas, the Razorbacks lost, 14-13. Arkansas returns 45 lettermen to the hills in 1978, including 15 seniors and by far a league high of 21 starters.

Arkansas Not Lacking In Running Back Slot

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) - Arkansas has four running backs, each with ego-building credits, operating in a two-back offense.

And a problem keeping them happy.

"I was under the impression they were supposed to keep the coach happy," said Arkansas Coach Lou Holtz.

Those four backs, proven performers at other skill positions on offense, and an experienced defense are among the reasons the Razorbacks are preseason favorites in the Southwest Conference.

Arkansas finished the 1977 season No. 3 in the country after an 11-1 season that included a 31-6 thrashing of heavily favored Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl.

Roland Sales, then a sophomore, established an orange Bowl record against the Sooners by rushing for 205 yards on 2 carries. And, he had an excellent spring practice.

The other backs are Ben

Cowins, Michael Forrest and Jerry Eckwood.

Ben Cowins is a two-time All-Southwest Conference selection, who averaged 6.3 yards per try while leading the SWC in rushing with 1,162 yards in 1976. He gained 1,192 yards and scored 14 touchdowns last year.

Forrest has averaged 4.7 yards per carry while gaining 88 yards during the past three years and had the best spring practice of his career.

Jerry Eckwood, redshirted last year, is back to 1975 form when he gained 792 yards in even games before being injured.

At the end of spring practice, Sales and Forrest were listed on the first team, but that doesn't mean much.

"All four are interchangeable," Holtz said. "Last year, we had three starters Cowins, Sales and Forrest. This year we have four. The ones that will start are the ones that are healthy and do the little things. The ones that catch the ball, run the right routes and block for each other."

The question mark on offense is up front. Holtz is also concerned about the secondary and the kicking game, minus All-American Steve Little.

"Great running backs become average if they don't have any running room," Holtz said. "Unless our line does a better job of blocking than it did in the spring, no one will know we have good running backs."

He admits that the Razorbacks have talent in the offensive line.

Ron Calcagni, who completed 53 percent of his passes while throwing for 1,147 yards last year, is back to operate Arkansas' veer offense.

"From what I've seen of the quarterbacks around the country running our offense, he's as good as there is," Holtz said. Calcagni was particularly effective as the Razorbacks swept their last six opponents in 1977. During that span, he completed 47 of 84 passes for 80 yards, rushed for 389 yards and never had a total offense production of less than 130 yards.

When Holtz talks about Calcagni, he uses words like leadership and awareness.

Calcagni has his top five receivers returning - Donny Bobo, Bobby Duckworth, Gary Stiggers, Bruce Hay, Bobo, Duckworth and Stiggers have great speed.

Farrell and Calcagni hooked up on a 58-yard scoring pass that beat Texas A&M 26-20 with 1:41 left in the game. It was Calcagni to Duckworth for yards and the touchdown that sunk Texas Tech 17-14 with 6:18 to play.

The defense has eight returning starters, including outstanding tackles Jimmy Walker and Dan Hampton and linebackers Larry Jackson and William Hampton.

Holtz is well aware that the Razorbacks are on the spot.

"We're picked to win," he said. "I'd be more impressed if they'd give us seven points to start each game with."

"I think last year people tended to minimize our strengths and maximize our weaknesses. This year, it's the other way around."

Diablos Over Midland

Bob Clark had three homers, a triple and a single to drive in eight runs as the El Paso Diablos hit nine homers in a 20-8 Texas League baseball victory over the Midland Cubs Thursday night.

Jay Peters had two homers for the Diablos. Doug Thompson, now 2-0, was the winning Amarillo pitcher.

In other Texas League action, Amarillo shut out San Antonio, 5-0, Tulsa beat Shreveport, 9-2, and Arkansas and Jackson split a doubleheader. Arkansas took the opener, 2-0, but Jackson bounced back for a 5-2 victory in the nightcap.

Gary Lucas of the Amarillo Gold Sox gave up only five hits as the Sox shut out the San Antonio Dodgers, 5-0.

Lucas got the only run he would have needed in the bottom of the first when the leadoff Sox batter, Joe Hicks homered. Later in the game, Dane Ibertsen accounted for two more runs with his 14th homer of the season. His wins card is now 7-15. Bill Swiacki, now 4-4, was the loser for the Dodgers.

Ed Lynch went the distance the Tulsa Drillers, striking out nine and giving up eight hits in the 9-2 victory over the Shreveport Captains. Marty and Rick Lisi drove in two runs for Tulsa and Terry Pyka had a triple.

Shreveport's Larry Littleton had an inside-the-park homer in a losing cause. Lynch's pitching record moved to 4-2 with the victory. Rod Scurry, the losing Shreveport pitcher, is now 0-2. Lynn Strelitz gave up three hits as the Arkansas Travelers shut out the Jackson Mets, 2-0, in the first game of a doubleheader at Jackson, Miss. Neal Fiala, who had two hits, drove in one of the Arkansas runs. Strelitz is now 6-5. Loser Jeff Reardon is now 15-4.

In the nightcap, Kelvin Chapman and Keith Bodie had two hits and one RBI each as Jackson took a 5-2 victory. Jeff Grose, now 3-2, was the winning pitcher for the Mets. A.L. Holmstead, now 4-3, was the loser for Arkansas.

Rams Clip Seattle, 26-7

SEATTLE (AP) - Lawrence McCutcheon scored on a short run and Corral booted three field goals to lead the previously winless Los Angeles Rams to a 26-7 National Football League preseason victory over the Seattle Seahawks Thursday night.

The triumph marked the successful debut of Rams' head Coach Ray Malacasi, who took over when George Allen was fired earlier in the week.

Los Angeles, however, was dealt some bad news when its No. 1 college draft pick, running back Elvis Peacock from Oklahoma, suffered torn ligaments in his left knee in the second half.

The Rams had scored a total of just seven points in losses to New England and San Diego.

Seven Treaties

The border between the United States and Canada is the result of no less than seven treaties. Negotiators who signed the Treaty of Paris in 1782 relied upon a map drawn 27 years earlier in defining the border. The map's inaccuracies raised boundary questions that were not resolved until the Treaty of 1925.

Tag Team Wrestling Slated

Tag team action headlines Lions Club wrestling at the Bull Barn Saturday night. Two powerful teams with different styles will clash, as nearly 1000 pounds of bone, sinew, and muscle take to the mat.

Nature Boy Roger Kirby, 238 pound former junior heavyweight champion, teams up with Pretty Boy Doug Somers, 245 pound protege of world champion Harley race.

Kirby is holder of the world leg press record of 2800 pounds, and had trouble keeping down to the 230 pound weight limit of the junior heavyweight title. They will meet two former holders of the prestigious international championship. Larry Lane and the Super Destroyer. Lane is a former amateur great from Colorado. Winner of the rocky mountain and intermountain conference championships, he coached for four years after graduating from college at Greeley, Colorado.

Entering the service, he won the fourth army, all-army, and interservice championships, placed third in freestyle at the world games in Greece, took third in the unfamiliar (to him) Greco-Roman trials in the nationals, and was a service boxing champion. 6'4" and 245, he was once a bitter foe of his partner, the squat and bear-like Super Destroyer. The Super Destroyer has protected his mask for nine years, weighs 250, and cliffs Los Angeles as his birthplace.

Nebraksa Girl Due for Rodeo

Seventeen-year-old Anette Pollard doesn't recall her first rodeo competition, but she's been riding as a professional for the past five years, taking on the toughest bulls and broncs that stock contractors can supply the Girls' Rodeo Association.

She'll be bringing her talent and tough competitive spirit to Hereford (Texas) August 25-27 for the annual All-Girls Rodeo that benefits the Cowgirl Hall of Fame.

The blonde, blue-eyed miss, who rides out of Bassett, Nebr., gained her first serious experience in Little Britches rodeos, while still in grade school. She graduated from high school rodeo and, after qualifying for the National High School Rodeo Finals, turned professional by joining GRA.

In addition to riding bulls and bareback broncs, she also competes in steer undercoring and calf roping events, but most of these are closer to home, where she can haul her own horse.

Vikings Could Move To LA

Minnesota Vikings President Cal Winter says he has been thinking of the possibility of moving the Vikings there when the Rams leave for Anaheim in 1980.

But Winter said Thursday the chances are slim unless they come up with a "suitable stadium."

Winter was angered when one member of the stadium commission charged with selecting the type and site of a new facility for the area said he favored a no-frills, "New England-type stadium."

"It troubles you when a member of the stadium commission will vote only for a certain type of stadium," said Winter.

Longhorns Expected To Regroup Behind Defense

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Graduation and grades could blow Texas' offense this year, but the Longhorns are expected to regroup behind a veteran defense and the out-of-sight punting of Russell Erxleben.

Texas was the surprise team in college football last year, urging to a 11-1 record after being unranked in pre-season. The Longhorns were No. 1 until Notre Dame walloped them, 38-10, in the Cotton Bowl to capture the national championship. Texas fell to No. 4.

Gone from Coach Fred Akers' first team at Texas are Heisman Trophy winner Earl Campbell, the nation's leading runner and scorer; four three-year starters in the offensive line; and defensive tackle Brad Shearer, the Outland Trophy winner.

Campbell had a spectacular year in rushing for 1,744 yards and scoring 19 touchdowns as Texas finished third nationally in scoring with 39.2 points a game and fourth in rushing with 306.3 yards a game. Campbell's replacement, Johnny "Ham" Jones, 5-foot-9 and 184 pounds, is four inches shorter and 36 pounds lighter than Campbell. Jones, primarily a blocker for Campbell, ran for 489 yards on 22 carries and tallied six touchdowns as a junior.

Kermit Goode, an untested Sophomore, will take over Jones' old position. To compound Texas' offensive problems, its top three quarterbacks are trying to overcome 1977 injuries, and four possible starters - three linemen and a running back - failed to make their grades and are ineligible.

"We're fairly set on defense," says Akers, "and our kicking game should be fine." If linebacker Mark Martignoni's knee holds up, Texas will return nine starters from a defense that ranked in the top 10 last year in three categories.

Texas held opponents to 91.1 yards a game rushing fourth, 223.7 yards total offense fifth and allowed only 10.4 points a game eighth.

Erxleben, the nation's leading punter in 1976, averaged 45.9 yards a kick last year, which would have tied for No. 1 except his 32 punts fell eight short of the necessary total. He also kicked 14 field goals, including 67-yarder that ties the NCAA record.

The kicking game touted by Akers also includes Johnnie Johnson, the nation's seventh best punt returner, and Olympic sprinter Johnny "Lam" Jones as a kickoff returner.

Erxleben and Johnson have been named to at least one pre-season All-American team.

"We've got problems that I don't know the answers to, but I didn't at this time last year either," says Akers. "I'm expecting our players to come in here with great enthusiasm, and hopefully we can maintain and even improve on the attitude we had last year," he says. "We showed signs of the same traits in spring training."

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — I have read articles by Dr. Linus Pauling which extol the value of massive doses of vitamin C to prevent many diseases including cancer by building up the body's immune system. I realize there is a controversy about the value of this but I would like to know if there is any danger in taking such large doses of vitamin C — on the order of 10 grams per day. DEAR READER — Reputable scientists have evaluated the use of vitamin C in preventing colds and viral diseases and have not been able to demonstrate that it is effective in any way. Certainly large doses of vitamin C do not prevent cancer. There have been some studies which suggest there may be some improvement in the immune system's function, but we don't really understand yet whether such improved function has any real biological benefits or not. At this writing, it's fair to say that there is no really good evidence that excess doses of vitamin C are helpful. Yes, large doses of vitamin C can be harmful. Large amounts in some people irritate the bowel and cause diarrhea. That's not too comfortable. Besides that, vitamin C is converted to oxalate which is eliminated through the kidneys. Oxalate is the main problem in causing calcium oxalate kidney stones, so very large doses of vitamin C may increase your tendency to kidney stone formation. You should know that

Don't do-it-yourself

There is some tendency for this in adults as well. That's why if you've been taking large doses of vitamin C, it would probably be better to taper off gradually rather than quit suddenly. In summary, I don't think anyone should be taking huge doses of vitamin C on his own. If you have a specific medical problem that your doctor feels will benefit from such therapy and you're treated under supervision, that's one thing. But the individual do-it-yourself use of large amounts of vitamin C does have some harm and there's no evidence that such self medication in large amounts is of benefit.

Developer, Geologist Differ on Beach

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, Tex. (AP) - Despite recent development on this one-time desert isle it's still not hard to find your own piece of powdery white beach.

Prices are reasonable and there is nothing here to which you'd be afraid to take your kids.

And the future seems to hold more development and constantly rising land prices.

So why does a geologist who studies the Texas coast say, "I probably would not buy on South Padre Island."

The construction boom on this thin sandy strip has expert and non-expert observers disagreeing on what the island will look like in a decade or two.

"It's the greatest place in the world," said a developer who makes his living by transferring his enthusiasm to potential buyers.

But the geologist sees something else when he walks along the beach.

"It's a thin strip of sand sitting over mud. Superimposed on top you have human developments that to some degree have taken that into consideration. But for the long range changes they certainly are not equipped to face it," the scientist said.

There is, however, one apparent truth everyone agrees on.

"There's a lot of money to be made here," said a realtor with the broad smile of a man who knows he is into something good.

The question is what the cost of that money will be.

"The island is going to be taken advantage of," said Don Veach, a big city surveyor turned beachcomber who lives in nearby Laguna Heights. "No one over there is talking about the natural beauty; it's not immediate money in the hand."

Condominiums are money here. The buildings, bearing an assortment of seaworthy names, are sprouting as close to the beach as legally possible - maybe closer, some say.

The boom began depending on who you ask in either 1967 after Hurricane Beulah, or in 1970 when full insurance became available.

Development is still in its infancy, the developers say.

"Economics - the ability to sell something - will determine how Padre Island will grow," said Bob Hanmore, a developer who has also promoted properties in Florida.

He agreed with island residents who say they don't want this to become another Miami Beach. The name is obscure here.

"We're not going to have the same thing. It was the monied East Coast establishment in Miami. Those are the guys who were used to living in concrete jungles. The Padre people are from the wide open plains. They don't want the social intercourse of an urban area," Hanmore said.

Realtor Richard Franke said island condos go for from $20,000 for a less than clear view of the Gulf to over $100,000 for an apartment with a gull's eye view of the water. Most are in the $60,000 to $80,000 range. Developers say their projects have drawn a wide variety of investors.

Buyers come from across the border also. Franke estimated 20-30 percent of the units are owned by Mexicans. Most are professionals from Monterey in search of a good investment and nice place to visit.

"It's not a jet-set resort," Schmachtenberger added.

But Judy Veach, who runs beach trips with husband Don, said she sees a jet-set tendency on the island.

"There's been a deterioration in the type of people. They used to come for the natural beauty. Now it's razzle-dazzle flash," she said.

While it's not Las Vegas here, there's no doubt that many of the visitors come for pastimes other than bird watching. Tennis courts are popping up at the new project and the swimming pools are often as crowded as the beach.

Whatever the attraction, the island is selling. The developers say they have little trouble finding buyers for their properties.

And those buyers often have a lot of questions about what one realtor called "the best kept secret in America."

Hurricanes are frequently the topic of the questions. The developers know of the omnipresent threat of a major storm blowing across the thin island.

Bob Morton, the University of Texas geologist who says he would not buy here, said he sees trouble when that seemingly inevitable storm comes through.

"The construction in the past few months causes one to pause and reflect on what's going on down there," Morton said in a telephone interview from his Austin office. "They've tried to get as close to the water as possible and have disregarded the kind of information that's available."

That information includes data about destructive natural forces such as erosion, wind and washover.

"I expect they will be faced with a Miami Beach situation. At the taxpayers' expense officials in Miami Beach performed a very expensive and not altogether satisfactory beach nourishment program.

"It's only a temporary thing," he said of beach erosion here.

The erosion problem has also attracted state officials. Jose Uranga environmental protection division of the state attorney general's office has made several trips here in recent months.

He said he found "quite a few" existing and proposed condos in violation of the state open beach law.

One case was solved when the builder of a proposed condo altered his plans to move the building back from the beach.

The developer also gave the state a chunk of land. Agreements are being hammered out with two other developers of proposed projects. After that, Uranga said he'll work with owners of existing buildings that are in violation.

The state can ask the courts to order violating structures torn down - but no one here expects such drastic action.

Veach said his years of surveying left him with an understanding of a person's right to use his property as he pleases.

"But you can't build a fertilizer plant on Palm Boulevard in Brownsville and you can't build a 7-11 store on Memorial Drive in Houston," he said of island structures that he sees as out of harmony with their surroundings.

15-Cent Stamp Worth 15 Cents

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) - Clifford Netter, a stamp enthusiast, really thought he had something when he discovered the U.S. flag on the one of the new 15-cent stamps had 15 stripes instead of the usual 13.

The stamp shows the unfurled flag with the words "Land of the Free, Home of the Brave," taken from the Star Spangled Banner.

Netter called the local post office which could offer no ready explanation. He then called the Midland Reporter-Telegram, which called the Postal Service in Washington.

The postal service's consumer advocate office had no answer and consulted its higher-ups, who offered this explanation:

The stamp is the Fort McHenry commemorative, and shows the flag as it looked in the War of 1812, with 15 stars and 9 stripes to designate the 15 states of the union. It wasn't until 1818 the flag reverted to 13 stripes.

"I always look at stamps," Netter said. "I used to collect them so I always look for mistakes."

Dollar Downfall Continues Despite White House Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP) - For more than a year the value of the once-prized U.S. dollar has drifted steadily downward, and no one seems to know when it will stop. Lately the decline has been worse than ever.

After months of following a hand off approach recommended by his advisers, President Carter now seems determined to try to put a floor under the falling greenback, but there is reason to fear that any emergency actions to protect the dollar will be doomed to failure.

The fall in the dollar has been onerous at times, particularly when it lost 5 percent of its value in a single day against the Swiss franc this week, and 8 percent in a single week in July against the Japanese yen.

But the downward plunge, from all available evidence, reflects real trends and real underlying economic conditions that will not be changed by stop-gap measures.

An economist for a major

Midwest bank summed up the view of several experts when he said that intervention by the government to buy up dollars with foreign currencies might prop up the value of the beleaguered greenback for a time, but only for a time.

Intervention in this manner has been tried before and it is considered the most likely option for the government to take again if it decides to act.

"The proof of the past is that we could expect a temporary solution at best," he said. "But it would just be a matter of time before it reversed again," he said.

Clearly the dollar is in trouble, and the cost to Americans in inflation and lost confidence has been high. The dollar has lost over 30 percent of its value in the past year against the Japanese yen and 33 percent against the Swiss franc. Only the Canadian dollar has done worse than the U.S. currency.

Those who argue against temporary measures to protect the dollar, and until recently at least their numbers included Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal, say the trade imbalance, inflation, uncertainty and the energy situation are causes of the dollar's decline.

An economist for a Washington-based research group summed up the problem: "Put altogether, inflation is rising, there is no Federal Reserve backbone, the administration's inability to get its policy enacted, there is massive uncertainty . . . People are saying let's get out of the dollar and it's not just overseas, most dollar holders are in this country."

Demand for Gas To Be 4 Percent Less

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Demand for Texas gas in September will be 4 percent less than in August because of both seasonal and economic reasons, railroad commission chairman Mack Wallace said Thursday.

Wallace announced the drop in gas nominations as the commission again set the oil production allowable at 100 percent of market demand - the factor it has used since April 1972.

The main exceptions from the statewide allowable continues to be the East Texas and Kelly-Snyder fields, where an 86 percent cap was imposed to prevent waste that would result from faster pumping.

Wallace announced that gas purchasers say they will buy 23 billion cubic feet of gas in September, down 4 percent from their August forecast.

Part of the drop is seasonal, with cooler weather meaning smaller demands on electrical generators fueled with natural gas, he later told reporters.

Wallace added, however, that he sees a trend toward decreased gas consumption.

"It has something to do with increased technology and conservation. Personally, I think it has something to do with the gross national product. Consumption of gas parallels the gross national product . . . and the economy has declined," Wallace said.

Don Jones, a statistician in the commission's oil and gas division, said September demand for Texas gas is "below capacity - substantially."

"The interstate market has declined somewhat. The intrastate market is fairly constant compared with the interstate," Jones said.

Wallace said Texas has ample gas for the winter and asserted that the Northeast should be in better shape because of higher volumes of gas in storage.

"The idea that the United States is out of gas is a myth," Wallace said.

September demand for Texas crude oil was pegged at 3,528,777 barrels per day, up 10,861 from August. Wallace said oil imports as of Aug. 4 were averaging 7,831,000 barrels per month, down 579,000 from 12 months earlier.

Medicare, the federal program of health care for the elderly became effective in 1966.

The developers call Uranga's efforts a "mess."

"In the end it will be just exactly like it was before he came," one realtor said.

While state enforcers may come and go, the developers know the hurricane threat is just offshore. But they are cocky with a confidence gathered in the 11 years since Beulah buffeted a less-developed island.

"After Beulah everyone found that the island was still going to exist after a hurricane," Schmachtenberger said.

Franke said hurricanes may be among the lesser of natural evils.

"If we go to other parts of the country they have tornadoes and earthquakes. At least with a hurricane we have ample warning and can evacuate," he said.

Hanmore, a professional engineer, said he has done all that is possible to protect his buildings from hurricanes.

"I watched every piling go in. I get my jollies that way," he said of the supports sunk beneath the structures.

The facts show that few hurricanes have hit the island. Only three have made landfall here since 1900.

"What we do know is that it is a low hurricane incidence area," said Al Dreumont of the National Weather Service in Brownsville. "What we don't know is why."

So the threat remains. In 1880, Dreumont said, two hurricanes guested across the island within 45 days.

"It's a financial gamble for the developers and I think it has paid off. If I had the money I certainly would buy land there," the weatherman said.

Barring a major storm - or perhaps in spite of one - further development here seems assured. The weather threat does not seem to offset the promise of profits.

"How scared are the developers?" said City Manager Kirby Lilljedahl. "There's $21 million worth of condos in the works now. That's how scared they are."

Indian Religion Helped by Act

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

In the native religion of American Indians, the great, all-pervasive spirit of Waken Tanka - the "big holy" - is regarded as animating and binding together in brotherhood all the creatures and elements of the universe.

Belief in this kinship of all beings - the people, the animals, birds and insects, the moon, stars, rocks, rivers, wind and thunder - gives the Indian faith a special reverence for the earth.

That quality has a particular relevance in the present-day concern for safeguarding nature from industrial ravages, conserving its resources and maintaining the delicate ecological balance of forces.

"Helpers," Indians call the mutually inter-acting orders of nature, communing with them as counterparts of human existence, assuming they, too, share in the mystery of knowing bestowed by the Great Spirit on all life.

"The Indian has something to contribute to our society in teaching us about the sanctity of nature," says artist Martha Eagle of Oklahoma City, a Caucasian painter of Indian life and student of it.

"Our age is being compelled to come to terms with our close relationship to the natural world, and our need to respect both its vulnerability and its bounty - something the Indian has always realized."

However, some Indian religious practices in recent times have encountered government restrictions and interferences - obstacles that a newly adopted Congressional resolution seeks to eliminate.

Passed both by the House and the Senate, it directs that U.S. policy and procedures of all federal agencies be shaped to "protect and preserve" traditional Indian customs.

"There have been increasing incidents of abrogation of the religious rights of American Indians," says Sen. James Abourez, D-S.D., head of the Senate Select Committee on Indian Affairs and sponsor of the measure.

It got final approval in mid-July at the same time that hundreds of Indians gathered in Washington at the end of a 3,000-mile "longest walk" across the country to plead for defeat of 11 other bills pending in Congress.

"The civilized world wants to destroy us," said Sioux Chief Ojon-Jen-Wakon Ernie Peters, 52, a medicine man and spiritual leader from a reservation near Morton, Minn. "But in 500 years, it has not destroyed the Redman. They want our land."

The pending bills, now considered to have little chance of passage, would abrogate historic treaties between the U.S. and Indian nations, restrict tribal government, and Indian hunting-fishing rights and close Indian schools and hospitals, Indian leaders say.

The House-Senate action calls traditional Indian religion "unique in all the world" and promises freedom for its practices, including access to "sacred sites" and rights to use peyote, eagle feathers and animal pelts considered sacred.

MISCONCEPTIONS OF LOVE

Most parents are concerned about demonstrating love to their children. We sometimes confuse showing love with satisfying our own needs.

For example, we are continually advised to spend more time with our children. If both parents work, this problem of time can be a source of guilt to mother especially.

But the quality of time is what is important.

I knew a man once who spent many hours with his son, playing games and working. On the surface, their time together might look beneficial, but if the conversation could be heard it would sound like the following:
