

Prosecution Rests in Hawkins Rape Trial

HOUSTON — The victim of an October, 1976 rape and attempted murder said Wednesday during testimony in the trial of Samuel Christopher Hawkins III that the defendant was the man who brutally assaulted her.

The aggravated rape trial, which was moved from Deaf Smith County to 262nd District Court here, began Wednesday. The state, after calling the victim, Hereford physician Dr. A.T. Mims and law-enforcement authorities, rested its case about 8:30 p.m.

Hawkins is defending himself in the trial after pleading innocent on grounds of insanity.

Hawkins cross-examined his accuser, a young housewife who lived on Avenue H in 1976 when she was raped, stabbed numerous times and apparently left for dead. Hawkins asked the woman if she remembered what he was wearing when she picked him out of a police lineup and questions concerning various aspects of the attack.

Dr. Mims testified concerning the victim's injuries.

Deaf Smith County District Attorney Roland Saul called Hereford Police Sergeant David Wheeler, the first officer at the scene of the crime, and Detective Vernon Hope, who was in charge of the investigation.

Other state witnesses included Deaf Smith County Sheriff Travis McPherson and Amarillo Police Lieutenant Jim Lafavers who testified that they hypnotized the victim to obtain a description of her assailant.

A surprising aspect of the trial's first day happened when Hawkins asked that a taped conversation between himself and an Amarillo policeman be submitted as evidence in an attempt to show that the officer promised him psychiatric help in return for a confession.

During the taped interview, Hawkins admitted to the officer that he was

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says some people are so anxious to make a living that they've forgotten how to live.

The man who thinks he knows it all is a real pain-in-the-neck to those of us who really do.

WE HAVE A PROBLEM at Deaf Smith General Hospital. You may have noted in recent reports of board meetings that the hospital occupancy rate is very low.

There has been a campaign by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to close down hospitals in smaller cities, with the primary reason being for low occupancy and, thus, "inefficiency".

Smaller cities have successfully resisted government advances into this area so far. Joseph Califano, head of HEW, says closing down the smaller hospitals would not pose a threat to the health these hospitals serve and it would not work any hardship upon people to drive 120 mile to seek hospital aid. It would be no inconvenience for Califano, since he won't have to do it.

Hospital board members here feel one of the solutions to the local problem is to get more doctors in the community. A great many people have to leave town for medical aid and this affects our own hospital.

Deaf Smith General Hospital is one of our best community assets. It offers many medical care facilities not found in most small cities, and it has been efficiently operated. People receive excellent health care there, and it is a few minutes away for most of our citizens.

There is much to be said for a smaller hospital than is revealed in dollar signs, or in the occupancy rate. The patient is known and is a friend of not only the doctor but of the nursing staff and others around the hospital. Care is more personal. Friends can visit the patient

Inflation Forecast Gloomy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government says Americans should brace themselves this year for the biggest consumer price increase in four years — a 7.2 percent boost sparked by higher food prices and the decline of the dollar.

The cost of living projection released by the administration today is about 1 percent higher than the official forecast of last January.

If it holds, Americans would feel the worst bite in their wallets since inflation pushed consumer prices over 12.2 percent in 1974.

The administration said prices next year probably will rise 6.5 percent, also worse than it had forecast previously.

"The price level forecasts for 1978 and 1979 emphasize the need to find ways to control inflation," said the administration's midyear review of the economy and the 1979 budget.

The Agriculture Department said June 29 in its midyear review it was standing by its prediction that consumer food prices will rise by 8 percent to 10 percent this year.

This means that a typical urban, wage-earning family of three that spent $53.21 a week on food last year will spend $58.46 a week this year.

For its statistical marketbasket of foods, which does not include fish or imported foods and beverages, the department predicts the hypothetical three-person family will spend $2,178 for

Day Care Center To Add Branch

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Hereford Day Care Center, 215 Norton, began in October, 1970, with four children.

Today, it serves 85 youngsters and another 45 names are on a waiting list. The center's growth has necessitated that creation of another branch.

Hereford Day Care Center Inc., Wesley Branch will take youngsters between the ages of 18 months and 9 years around Aug. 15, according to Mal Manchee, vice chairman of the day care center board of directors.

The new branch will be established at Wesley United Methodist Church, 410

Irving. "We need this branch. We have operated with a waiting list the past two years," said Betty Roberts, who manages the Norton Street facility.

Manchee said Mrs. Roberts approached the Hereford Ministerial Association last year concerning the need for an additional facility. One church—Wesley—was interested enough in the proposal to inspire Mrs. Roberts to approach the board of directors with concrete plans.

George Warner agreed to represent the day care center board in working out arrangements with the church. Mrs. Louis Montano was appointed by Wesley to chair a committee which would work with Warner.

"The day care center board agreed through negotiations to bring the church up to state-licensing standards," Manchee said.

Mrs. Montano said the church's fellowship hall, seven Sunday School rooms and kitchen would be used for the care of youngsters. "Hopefully, we'll have room for about 60 kids," she said.

Manchee said the branch will be especially advantageous because "it will give us facilities on both sides of town."

Hereford Day Care Center is a private, non-profit institution which provides care for children from six-months to 9-years old.

"We can take care of infants at the center in our nursery, but we do not feel like the area at Wesley will allow us to take care of anyone under the age of 18 months," Mrs. Roberts said.

The day care center provides playground equipment, television for educational purposes ("We watch Sesame Street," Mrs. Roberts said.), toys, puzzles, blocks, books, science projects and activities dealing with music, art and housekeeping to its youngsters.

Wheat Disaster Relief Okayed

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Deaf Smith County wheat farmers who saw their drought-stunted crop grow up in weeds just before harvest time and were forced to abandon plans to gather the crop will be eligible for a disaster payment, according to word received from the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service state committee.

John Fuston, Deaf Smith County ASCS executive director, reported that efforts to obtain the disaster payments launched in the local area and carried through the Washington office of the ASCS will apparently bear fruit for local farmers who lost their wheat crop to an early summer weed infestation brought on by a quirk of nature.

"We have received approval to zero out wheat that grew up in weeds in Deaf Smith, Oldham, Randall and Potter counties," said Fuston.

The zeroing out process referred to by Fuston involves bringing the fields in question under a disaster payment provision, meaning they will be assessed for no wheat yield, due to the severe weed problem.

Weed infestation in local wheat fields became a problem in the wake of heavy rains and subsequent high temperatures in late May that prompted rapid growth on the part of the unwanted plants.

Much of the local wheat failed to grow to its normal height and shade the ground in time to prevent the spurt of weed growth because of a dry winter. Winter kill of the wheat in the top of the beds in some irrigated fields also opened them up to an influx of weeds.

The heavy growth of weeds in the fields and the poor wheat yield prospects made for a losing proposition as farmers considered putting combines in the field.

With high weed populations and only minimal yields of wheat expected, many farmers would have been losing more money by harvesting costs.

A total of some 15,000 to 20,000 acres of both irrigated and dryland wheat is involved in the zeroing out process okayed by the ASCS, and the local ASCS office is now working with individual farmers to determine the disaster payments they will receive under the special provisions here.

"On dryland wheat, a $12-$14 per acre payment will probably be involved, based according to an average yield established by the local office for each farm. On irrigated wheat, payments could run $20-$30 per acre," Fuston reported.

"We don't usually get this kind of relief for an isolated area. It usually has to involve a much larger area," Fuston pointed out.

"I feel like the Chamber of Commerce here played a big role in helping to obtain this favorable verdict from the ASCS and a lot of work done by local folks also helped," he continued.

The local chamber held a special meeting on the wheat crisis here and voted to forward recommendations to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and other agencies to work for a zeroing provision for the weed-choked wheat.

Fuston submitted photos of some of the severely infested wheat fields in Deaf Smith county along with a report requesting the special consideration to the state ASCS committee.

At minimum payment and acreage estimates, the special ASCS provision will mean an influx of some $180,000 in disaster funds to aid recovery from the losses brought on by unfavorable weather and resultant weed growth.

Committees Claim 'Proposition' Won't Be Feasible in Texas

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—Texas legislators looking for a magic tax-relief remedy have been told that what worked in California won't work in Texas.

Joint meetings of two House committees on tax relief legislation resumed work today as they awaited Gov. Dolph Briscoe's formal call for a special session opening Monday.

Most of the House committee talk Thursday concerned Proposition 13, the state constitution change voted in California to limit taxes and spending to certain levels.

"It was a great thing in California but I would hate to see it in Texas," James McGrew, executive director of the Texas Research League, "I'd prefer almost anything to Proposition 13."

He said California has only 57 taxing units in the state while Texas has 2,241. Texas's property taxes are much lower than California's.

McGrew estimated that if the Proposition 13 theory was applied to Texas, more than half of the benefits would go to businesses instead of homeowners, farmers and others who could not pass the taxes on.

"The overall impact in California is devastating," said Walter Lillie, assistant (See TAX, Page 2)

9 Persons Drown In Minnesota Flood

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) - Seven inches of rain in less than six hours sent flood waters six feet deep swirling through southeast Rochester. Police said at least nine persons were believed drowned and several others were missing.

The bodies of three wheelchair patients and a nurse's aide were recovered from an elevator in the flooded basement of the National Health Enterprises nursing home. The four had been included in the count of nine feared dead.

Three cars believed to be carrying several persons plunged into the swollen Zumbro River and the occupants were feared drowned. Two boaters were reported missing.

Flash-flooding knocked out power and telephone service to parts of Rochester, blocked roads to the city and forced the evacuation of more than 4,000 persons. The famed Mayo Clinic in downtown Rochester was not affected, however.

"We have some real concern about how many we're going to find dead," said Olmsted County Sheriff Charles Vonwald.

Minnesota Gov. Rudy Perpich called out the National Guard to assist in rescue operations.

Names of the victims whose bodies were recovered from the nursing home elevator were withheld until relatives could be notified.

Witnesses told police the four were trying to go to higher floors to escape rising water. County Deputy Coroner Paul Belau quoted witnesses as saying the nurse's aide pushed the button to go up but the elevator went down to the flooded basement instead.

Christian Beirut Dealt Severe Blows

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Syrian gunners, seeking to batter Lebanon's two biggest Christian parties into submission, subjected the Christian half of Beirut today to one of the heaviest barrages in the war-battered city's history.

The Voice of Lebanon, the Christian Phalange Party's radio station, said more than 1,260 Soviet-made Grad and Katyusha rockets smashed into six residential neighborhoods and the port area during a seven-hour barrage that subsided at daybreak.

The outgunned Christians replied with machine guns and armor-piercing rockets. Police reported snipers kept up their fire through the morning despite the lull in the Syrian shelling.

A police spokesman said 17 Lebanese were killed and 36 were wounded in the bombardment, raising the reported Lebanese casualty toll since the start of Syrian-Christian fighting Saturday to 184 killed and 615 wounded. Most were Christians.

Syrian casualties are not known. The bombardment set at least 40 buildings on fire and collapsed several others. Hundreds of burned-out cars and downed electric power poles littered the streets of the eastern half of the capital.

Most of East Beirut's 600,000 Christians spent their fifth night in basement shelters without electricity or water, and with their foodstocks running out, the Phalangist radio station said.

3 R's Still Provided Shows Teacher Survey

DALLAS (AP) - Many teachers say there's no need for a "back to basics" movement in education because the three R's have never left the classroom, according to an informal survey of participants at the National Education Association Convention.

The teachers said criticism of today's educators for failing to instruct students in the essentials of reading, writing and arithmetic results from an ignorance of how education has changed.

"I don't think we ever left the basics," said Jacques D. Angle, a suburban Philadelphia teacher. "But what are the basics? People are saying we should return to the three R's, which we never left, but remember this is 1978 and we can't go back to 1955."

Students use calculators in math classes now because that's a skill they need to have, he said. But the use of modern techniques doesn't mean the youngsters can't do simple calculations themselves, he added.

Eddie L. Robinson, a suburban Baltimore teacher, agreed that education in the 1970s doesn't always look the same, as it did 20 years ago.

"When I was in the fifth grade, we had to recite the multiplication tables in front of the teachers to pass," he said. "They don't have to do that any more. And that's where the confusion comes in."

Corpus Christi Cuts City Home Valuations

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) - The Corpus Christi City Council gave homeowners and senior citizens a tax break Wednesday, voting to cut valuations by 16.6 percent and increasing the homestead exemptions.

The council also instructed City Manager Marvin Townsend to hold budget increases to 10.3 percent for the coming year.

In a 1-vote, the members adopted a resolution that lowered the percentage at which property is assessed on city taxrolls from its present 60 percent to 50 percent of market value. They also increased the homestead exemption for persons over age 65 from the present $6,000 to $8,200.

The council instructed Townsend to produce a city budget for 1978-79 which is only 10.3 percent more than the current budget.

The valuation rollback and exemption increases are effective immediately.

Last week the Nueces County commissioners court voted to freeze property taxes at the 1977 level for the coming year and increased the homestead exemption.

Gulley said the assessment cut will mean about $2.2 million less in tax revenues. He said the limit on the increased budget will allow 3.3 percent for city growth after the inflation allowance.

Police Report

John Salizar, 410 W. 2nd, Wednesday reported to Hereford police that someone put several dents in the passenger-side front door of his 1974 Mercury Montego. Police said a blunt object was used to dent the car.

West Texas - Partly cloudy days and fair nights through Friday. Widely scattered mainly afternoon and nighttime thunderstorms northwest and mountains. Continue hot afternoons, most sections. Highs lower 90s to near 105. Lows 70s.

Learning Time

Older youngsters at Hereford Day Care Center, 215 Norton, undergo various learning projects at the center. The lad on the right seems preoccupied with something else, much to the chagrin of the day care center employee who asks for his attention. The center will add a branch at Wesley United Methodist Church in August in order to provide care to several youngsters on a waiting list. See Story on Page 2 [Brand photo]

Paul Harvey News

Workers of the World--Unite!

"Workers of the world, unite!"

My goodness, the last time our nation heard that battle cry it was by the "Wobblies" of the 1900s.

The Industrial Revolution had left the blood of workers on its wheels and workers did unite against the tyranny of greedy tycoons.

But our own labor unions let us down--got in bed with gangsters--misspent our pension money on themselves.

Now, we who work are discriminated against with disproportionate taxation. There are 4.1 million of us holding down two jobs to try to make ends meet. But the harder we work and the more we earn, the more the tax man takes away from us.

So he can use our sweat money to buy the votes of lazy do-nothings and to pay bounty to loose-living, unloving professional baby-makers.

Workers of the world: It is not the deserving needy who are our burden. It is not those who have earned their pensions who are picking our pockets. It is 44 different kinds of government welfare programs which now combine to cost us--taxpayers--a total of $210 billion this year. And next year, $250 billion!

It is food stamps and Medicaid and free nutritional supplements for mothers and infants; it is free school and summer meals for school-age children; low-rent housing and free child care and family planning, and legal aid and job training and placement. Each of these sounds fine.

But all together they enable a welfare family to live in a public housing project with an equivalent unearned income of $20,000 a year TAX FREE!

And the President worries about businessmen deducting a luncheon cocktail! Wouldn't that rot your soul!

Good-off students are defaulting on government loans and then graduating unable to read or write.

Food stamps are being used to buy booze and sex and I can prove it.

In Los Angeles County alone 37,000 families are now living entirely on welfare for the second generation!

Those who grew up expecting part of what's yours are now demanding it!

Our nation sought and got civil rights, is realizing women's rights and now is demanding taxpayers' rights.

This is not some elitist group seeking more than its due. This is all creeds, colors, clans and both sexes of all ages who can and do work--demanding the overdue weaning of those who can and won't.

"Of, by and for the people" was a good phrase when we were good people, before it became a license to steal. Now it's drowning in its own ambiguity.

Perhaps it's time for a new manifesto--and let that manifesto paraphrase the Apostle Paul: "He who does not work, let him not eat."

Wally Hickel said it: "The next revolution will be when the workers of the world refuse to support those who can but won't."

worked in occupations associated with homosexual men, such as hairdressing and decorating; about 10 percent of the women were working in so-called "masculine" jobs.

About two-thirds of the men had contracted a venereal disease, while virtually none of the women had.

About one-third of the women and about 20 percent of the men had been a partner in a heterosexual marriage and half of them had children.

Men do a great deal more "cruising," seeking sexual partners, than women, who are more likely to have a single mate.

To ensure a cross-section of the population, Kinsey researchers sought homosexuals for interviews through homosexual publications and organizations and in bars, baths and public "cruising" areas, such as certain parks.

Relatively few homosexuals conform to the hideous stereotype most people have of them," the report said. It asserted the lifestyles of homosexuals cannot be lumped together into one stereotype anymore than those of heterosexuals.

The original interviews were conducted in 1970 and the findings are to be published in August.

Twelve percent of the men and 5 percent of the women were classified as "dysfunctionals" and were described as "the group in our sample which most closely accords with the stereotype of the tormented homosexual."

However, 10 percent of the men and 28 percent of the women were living with same-sex partners in a monogamous relationship and "hardly differed at all from the heterosexual sample and in some cases actually appeared better adjusted."

Fifteen percent of the males and 10 percent of the lesbians were described as "swinging singles" and were the "least likely to regret being homosexual...."

Among other conclusions in the study: -About half the men and almost two-thirds of the women said they had no regrets about their sexual orientation. -Ten percent of the men

The Lighter Side

CHICAGO (AP) - Gerald Cooper, who has the distinct honor of being Chicago's No. 1 scowflaw, is scoffing at the law again.

A computer identified the 28-year-old Cooper in June 1977 as the city's top scowflaw. He had failed to pay 67 parking tickets in 1973, 83 in 1974, 131 in 1975, 369 in 1976 and 130 in 1977 - a total of 780 tickets.

It took 11 months, but in May the police arrested him. He pleaded guilty to failing to pay the fines and was fined $14,500 by Judge Richard Dowdle in the traffic division of Circuit Court.

Cooper, who is unemployed, was supposed to appear in court Friday to pay the first $1,000 of the fine. He didn't show.

On Monday, Dowdle ordered Cooper arrested and jailed. So far, police have been unable to find him.

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) - Driftwood painter "Monkey Tom" Forshier winds up behind bars several times a year. And, several times a year, he paints himself out.

The 35-year-old Forshier recently faced a conviction for operating a 13-foot sailboat in Key West Harbor under the influence of alcohol. Officials allowed him to pay his fine with a driftwood creation.

"The only way he could pay me a loaf of times was through these paintings," says bondsman Bill Ryan. "And then I'd buy a lot, too. He's a hell of a talented boy. I think basically he's a very religious man. He's not a bum."

State Attorney Jeff Gautier and his assistant, Diane Tolbert, said they accepted a work of art that could have been worth up to $500 in exchange for Forshier's release on an alcohol-related conviction. Ms. Tolbert calls it "creative sentencing."

Gloomy Economy

groceries in 1978 - or $191 more than last year.

Declines in the value of the dollar have added as much as 0.75 percent to the inflation rate this year. Federal Reserve Chairman G. William Miller estimated last spring.

Because the dollar's value has fallen against the Japanese yen, for example, the price of imported Toyota cars has increased at least five times in the past year.

The worsening inflation will cause the economy to rise at a slower pace both this year and next because of declining consumer purchasing power and a slowdown in government efforts to stimulate economic growth, the administration said.

A number of economists both in and out of government are saving the worsening inflation rate could bring on a recession sometime next year.

But the administration said the current outlook still is for an acceptable economic growth rate of 4.1 percent this year and 4.3 percent in 1979.

Those rates are down from its January forecast for economic growth of 4.7 percent this year and 4.8 percent next year, but still would be sufficient to reduce unemployment further.

The administration gave a brighter prediction for unemployment, saying the jobless rate should decline to 5.6 percent in the final quarter of this year - down from the 6.3 percent projected earlier - and drop to 5.9 percent at the end of 1979, compared with the earlier forecast of 6 percent.

The current unemployment rate is 6.1 percent.

responsible for four murders, at least 10 rapes and 50 acts of arson during the time when Panhandle law-enforcement authorities were conducting an intensive search for the so-called "Travelling Rapist."

Saul said today from Houston that nowhere in the tape did the officer promise psychiatric help in return for a confession.

A hearing was held Wednesday apart from the trial and outside the presence of the jury concerning Hawkins' confession last year in Amarillo. Amarillo policemen and Potter County deputies testified during the hearing that he voluntarily and freely gave the confession.

Hawkins testified that his rights were violated and that he asked for an attorney prior to confessing. The Amarillo officers denied that.

The officers also testified concerning happenings which led to his June 30 arrest in Amarillo.

A six-man, six-woman jury, which was selected Friday in Judge Sam Robertson's court, was scheduled to hear testimony today by the defendant's witnesses, who reportedly included at least one psychiatrist.

state comptroller, of Proposition 13.

"Texas is immensely ahead of California in terms of having a reasonable tax burden on our citizens."

He said Texas taxpayers would stand to lose half a billion dollars in property tax deductions on federal income tax if a Proposition 13 type measure is passed here.

"Let's stop talking and fighting Proposition 13. That's not an issue in Texas," protested committee member

Rep. Brad Wright, R-Houston. "Let's get on to some talking about a meaningful tax limitation plan."

Rep. Tim Von Dohlen, D-Goliad, committee chairman, said the purpose of the Thursday session was to discuss Proposition 13, "so we will know why it won't work in Texas." He said detailed plans for legislation would be presented at the Friday hearing.

In opening the Thursday session Speaker Bill Clayton said he hoped they would make "sensible" suggestions for tax relief to the special legislative session and avoid "drastic approaches."

He said testimony before the committees on ways and means and constitutional amendments would show that a California Proposition 13-type proposal would not work in Texas.

Earlier Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, questioned the governor's power to control the special session.

Life's Pleasures Found In Teaching

By DIANNE BANNER
Brand Staff Writer

While teaching junior high school students may not be the ambition of most people, Mrs. Richard "Dick" Montgomery "enjoys the challenge of trying to motivate each of her pupils, who are in the growing-up years."

"Teaching is a great part of my life. I especially love junior high students. My students change so much in the one year I teach them, and I love being a part of their lives," the effervescent teacher said.

Originally a music teacher, Mrs. Montgomery taught music in every grade from 1 to 12 in Oklahoma, Colorado City and Odessa. She received her degree in music education with a voice major and a piano minor from Oklahoma State University, where she and her husband attended.

David Crockett Junior High School in Amarillo had the pleasure of having the spirited woman as a music teacher for six years until a throat specialist advised her to stop teaching the fine art as she had strained her vocal cords.

"I was fortunate in that they let me stop teaching music in the middle of the year and let me begin teaching English. I had previously done graduate work in English in at Oklahoma State. I taught English there in the same school for two years before moving here," she said.

The stylish educator has instructed eighth grade English classes at Stanton Junior High School for the past nine years. The nine year resident "enjoys the challenge of providing an interesting classroom and enjoyable lessons."

She commented, "Students are certainly more aware of the world around them now than they were in the past. It is such a pleasure when you finally hit upon the one thing that appeals to a particular student."

"While music is my first love, I feel that is behind me, and I really love teaching English! I delight in teaching literature to my students—in eighth grade they are really introduced to good literature as a subject, she said.

Mrs. Montgomery was Hereford's "Teacher of the Year" for 1976-77, and is a member of the professional organization of NEA, TSTA, and National Council of English Teachers. She is a member of the honorary teachers' sorority, Delta Kappa Gamma and is secretary of the Panhandle English Teachers Relations Commission.

She has done graduate work at Oklahoma State University, Texas University and Texas Women's University.

In addition to music and teaching, another interest of Mrs. Montgomery's is collecting wood figurines that are hand-carved by the Anri family of Italy.

The Montgomerys are members of First Baptist Church where she teaches Sunday School class in the Adult I Department.

Her hobbies include flower gardening, reading and music. She particularly enjoys reading professional publications on educational expertise and biographies.

"I have never been bored in my life," said the interesting woman, "Not when there's a book I haven't read."

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery are natives of Altus, Okla., and have been married for 27 years. He is presently employed as the assistant manager of Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative. The couple have two sons, Mauri, 22, is a senior majoring in journalism at Texas Tech University, and Jay, 18, is a senior at Hereford High School.

Teen Dance Scheduled Saturday

Local teenagers are invited to a dance from 9 p.m. - 1 a.m. Saturday at the Community Center, where the band "Lively Times" will be performing.

The upcoming dance will be sponsored by the Hereford High School Flag Corps. Admission will cost $3 per person and $4 per couple.

The HHS twirlers will be sponsoring a teen dance here July 22, featuring the same band.

Mrs. Montgomery shares one of her family's favorite cake recipes which will stay moist for a week, if covered:

POUND CAKE

- 3 cups sugar
- 2 sticks oleo
- 1/4 cup Crisco
- 5 eggs
- 3 cups flour (sifted with baking powder)
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 cup sweet milk
- 1 cup sour cream
- 2 teaspoons lemon flavoring

1 teaspoon vanilla
Mix well the sugar, oleo, and Crisco. Add eggs one at a time. Alternately add sour cream, milk, flour, and flavoring. Bake in tube pan (not bundt) one hour and 30 min. at 325 degrees. (I cover the bottom of the tube pan with wax paper.) Cool the cake then invert into cake plate.

ICING

- 1/2 stick oleo
  - 3 oz. softened cream cheese
  - 2 tablespoons lemon juice
  - 2 1/2 cups powdered sugar
- BANANA NUT ICE CREAM
7 eggs, beaten until lemon colored and thick. (pinch of salt)

1 1/2 cups sugar; add gradually as eggs continue to beat 1/2 (more or less) cup white syrup

1 can sweetened condensed milk (Eagle Brand)
1 tablespoon vanilla
4 ripe bananas (mashed in blender)

1 cup chopped pecans
1 carton whipping cream or half-and-half (optional)
Add milk to finish filling freezer. (Mine is the gallon and 1/2 size.) Freeze immediately so bananas and nuts will not settle to bottom. Very rich.

Ann Landers Interesting Statistics

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was surprised (and pleased) that you—a known liberal—would say a kind word for a book written by the former Secretary of the Treasury, William Simon.

I, too, read "A Time for Truth" and found it filled with useful information and common sense. It also made me realize how lucky I am to be an American.

Please print those startling statistics from page 24 of the book. They will surely silence some critics who don't appreciate what we have over here.—No Name But Glad I Came To The U.S. in 1938

DEAR 1938: I'm glad you came, too. With a name like yours, you could have ended up in an oven. Here are the statistics on page 24.

Ninety percent of all Americans have a telephone. Fifty percent of Americans own at least one automobile.

Ninety-six percent of all American homes have at least one TV.

After American farmers finish feeding the U.S. they export 60 percent of their wheat and rice, 50 percent of their soybeans, one quarter of their grain sorghum and one-fifth of their corn. The U.S. provides half the world's wheat.

American farmers provide all this despite the fact that since 1940 the number of U.S. farms and farm workers has decreased by two-thirds.

Fabulous, isn't it? It could happen only in America.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A woman I work with went with me to a farewell party for our office manager. On the way home, Lily confided that one of the senior executives paid me a lovely compliment. I was thrilled because I have always had a secret crush on this man. (He is married and strictly off limits, so don't get the idea I'm after him.)

The following day I had occasion to pass this man's office, and on an impulse I decided to step in and tell him how pleased I was with that nice compliment he had paid me via Lily. He looked at me like I was out of my mind and finally blurted out, "I didn't say it."

I felt like a fool, apologized for taking his time and walked out. Now I don't know whether Lily made up the whole thing to make me feel good, or if the man denied it because he didn't want me to know he thinks so highly of me. Can you figure this out, Ann? I am—Confused in Merced

DEAR MERCED: I think the next time you get a second-hand compliment you ought to enjoy it briefly and leave it alone.

Perhaps Lily embellished a polite phrase to the extent that the man didn't recognize it on the third telling.

In any event, remember compliments, like perfume should be inhaled and not swallowed.

DEAR ANN: I know a baby born out of wedlock is considered illegitimate. What if the father is killed before the baby is born? Should the widow have the baby or will it be considered illegitimate?—Must Know NOW

DEAR MUST: If the parents of a child were legally married, that child is legitimate. The death of the father before the child's birth does not change the child's status. P.S. I hate the word "illegitimate." Actually there are no illegitimate babies—only illegitimate parents.

Clothing the Skeleton in the Closet

By Garth B. Thomas

President, Deaf Smith County Genealogy Society

On a recent trip through the southern states, Edwina and I researched century-old records in two Mississippi courthouses and one Alabama courthouse. We were amazed to observe that as soon as one walks through the front door one can sense the condition of the records.

The court house which is well-maintained, clean and orderly also has records which are well-housed, accessible and are properly controlled. One courthouse was unbelievably dirty and rundown; the record clerks were equally sloppy and lackadaisical. In this courthouse I found 100 year old newspapers, which once had been properly bound and shelved, scattered on the basement floor with little or no evidence of any recent maintenance.

I was amused to find an editorial written in March, 1879, criticizing the conditions existing in this very same courthouse. One might surmise that this county seat was economically depressed but this did not appear to be the case.

Thus, if any of you need to do research in Marshall County, Alabama, I would advise that you not delay.

The Deaf Smith County Genealogical Society meets the first Thursday evening of each month in the Heritage Room of the library. Due to the summer closing hour of the library, the Society will convene at 7 p.m. today.

Dinner, Style Show Planned In Honor of Miss Hereford

Miss Hereford Stephanie Stringer will be the guest of honor Tuesday evening during the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division's quarterly general membership meeting at the Country Club.

The meeting is doubling as a good luck party for Miss Stringer as she prepares to leave for El Paso, where she will represent Hereford in the Miss Texas-Universer Pageant in August.

During the evening, Miss Stringer will model the wardrobe which she will wear in state pageant competition. Her pageant clothes have been donated by local merchants.

Also featured during the style show will be last year's Miss Hereford Dee Ann Caison, who has been chosen to act as official hostess during the pageant at El Paso. Miss Caison is the first person to ever fill that position at the state pageant.

Additional fashions are to be modeled by Miss Teen Hereford Tammy Stringer and runners-up to the Miss Hereford title.

Kathy Wilson and Judy Hill. Entertainment is to be presented Tuesday night, including an organ medley by Miss Caison.

Margaret Formby, president of the Chamber Women, is urging all Women's Division members, as well as other local

Rebekahs Convene On 4th of July

Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 met in regular session Tuesday evening, Independence Day in IOOF Temple with nine members present.

Members shared the sentiment that although it was a legal holiday, it was still good to meet together, sharing the Rebekah motto of "Friendship, Love and Truth."

Sick members and friends were reported and regrets were expressed concerning Mabel Strange, a member who died recently.

Memorial services in honor of residents, to show their support for Miss Stringer Tuesday night by attending the Good Luck Cruises.)

Cruises can best be summed up by a slide presentation of our trip to the Caribbean. The first slide is of a marlin carved out of ice holding 175 pounds of shrimp. The next one is a picture of me stuffing pizza into every hole in my face. The third slide is of a buffet featuring desserts. (This one gives you bad skin just by looking at it.) All 96 slides have food as a focal point.

The truth is, most cruises are floating cookies. Like Pavlov's dog, you are conditioned to a series of chimes. Everytime the chimes ring, you loosen your belt, unzip your slacks if the zipper is concealed under an overblouse, and announce, "Let's go eat. They're playing our song."

An early-bird roll and coffee is followed by breakfast. This is followed by appetizers, which precedes lunch. Mid-afternoon snacks are followed by cocktails and hors d'oeuvres, which precedes dinner, which is followed by a midnight buffet and pre-dawn breakfast.

In addition to eating, there are all kinds of games to be played aboard ship. There's the deck chair shuffle. One your first day you are assigned your own personal deck chair. Most of the trip is spent making sure no one else sits on your personal deck chair.

There's the Beauty Shop Story Hour. This is a competition among all the women on the ship to see who can tell the saddest story of why her hair needs to be done before they reach port. (Whimpering and threats of reprisals are always effective.)

Watching one another grow. This is a favorite. Once I asked my husband why he was wearing a life preserver and he wasn't.

The "Irregularity Exchange Hour" in which passengers compare their degrees of nausea, queasiness, and frequency. There are many pluses to a cruise. Clothes are hung up on hangers and stay there for the entire trip. The passengers are pampered and entertained and if they don't relax, it's their own fault.

But a word of caution: Take maternity underwear. Blanche Williamson served as hostess to Edna Mathes, Frances Parker, Lydia Hopson, Verna Sowell, Faye Brownlow, Peggy Lemons, Ada Hollibaugh and Susie Curtisinger.

Couple at Home After Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Burke Inman Sr., 416 Star St. announce the marriage of their daughter, Renee, to Steve Novak of Amarillo. The couple was wed April 26 in Amarillo. They are at home in Amarillo.

Novak is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Novak of Amarillo. He is a junior student at West Texas State University, where he is a member of Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity. He is employed by Amarillo Grain Exchange.

His wife graduated with honors from Hereford High School in 1977. She is now a sophomore student at WTSU, where she is majoring in pre-dental studies. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority.

Fiber Blends Offer Variety

COLLEGE STATION - Fiber blends offer ease of care, better feel, more fashionable look and improved manufacturing at a reduced cost.

Blending of fibers can accomplish several results, says Becky Culp, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Most popular to the consumer is improved performance, particularly ease of care or better wear and a more fashionable feel or look, plus improved manufacturing and reduced costs, she continues.

The 50/50 or 65/35 blend ratios have been commonplace for years, especially for polyester cotton combinations. These are still common today but so are more unusual ratios such as 82/18 or 65/28/3/2/2. The fiber combinations are more varied, too--such as Wool/cotton, polyester/rayon or two different types of one fiber such as polyester/polyester.

Since 1960, legislation has required labels to list proportions by weight of all fibers used in a textile product. Fibers composing less than five percent are not required to be listed. However, usually manufacturers list small percentage fibers

Women's Aglow To Host Guest Speakers

Lynda Vernon of Grove, Okla., will be the guest speaker Friday during a meeting of Women's Aglow Fellowship in Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room. The meeting will commence at 11:30 a.m. with a covered dish luncheon.

All interested persons are urged to attend.

Mrs. Vernon is the wife of Leon Vernon, pastor of Grove Christian Center at Grove. She has recorded an album, "Because He Lives," and is preparing to make another record. Mrs. Vernon will sing several gospel songs and will present her Christian testimony, recounting how her husband was healed from severe burns.

The Vernon couple has four daughters, one of whom is serving with Christ for the Nations in Jerusalem.

Persons attending tomorrow's luncheon meeting are asked to bring covered dishes. Babysitting will be provided for children under the age of 6 at Wesley United Methodist Church.

Department Reports Given by Auxiliary

Department chairmen of the American Legion Auxiliary delivered their annual reports Tuesday night during the regular business session in the Legion Hall.

Mrs. Lawrence Carlson, auxiliary president, called the meeting to order.

Mrs. Robert Trowbridge presented the organization's budget report, which was of prime concern to the members. Also, Mrs. Ira Ott reported the auxiliary's role at the Veteran's Hospital in Amarillo, where 15 members assisted during 11 bingo parties this year. In the final report, Mrs. Grant Hanna discussed the Auxiliary's constitution and bylaws, which were completely rewritten. New copies of the renovated bylaws were distributed among the membership.

In other business, it was tentatively announced that the annual Harvest Dinner is to be held in August at the Legion Hall. Also, plans were made for the American Legion Auxiliary Department Convention, scheduled July 27-30 at Dallas. Local delegates will be Mrs. Hanna, Mrs. Carlson and Mrs. Jimmy Jesko. It was announced that the local youths who attended Boys State and Girls State will address the Legion and Auxiliary July 18. The local delegates were Staci Payne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Payne, who attend Girls State, and Tom Hazelrigg, son of Truman Hazelrigg, and Edward Frye, son of the Stan Fries, who went to Boys State. The delegates reports will be heard at a covered dish supper in the Legion Hall.

After the business meeting, members of the Auxiliary merged with the Legion for refreshments, served by Mrs. Carlson and Mrs. Hanna. Many members went to nearby Veteran's Park for the fireworks display, presented by Hereford Volunteer Fire Department.

Other than those members already mentioned, attending Tuesday night's business meeting were Mrs. T.D. Stambaugh and Frankie Barrett.

The Golden Kite Award is a recognition of achievement given by the Society of Children's Book Writers.

First Jackpot Shoot Set Tomorrow Night

By JIM STEIERT
Outdoors Editor

The Hereford Gun Club will host its first full-scale series of jackpot trap shooting events of the spring and summer shooting season tomorrow night, just east of the Hereford Municipal Airport.

The night shoot, to be staged under floodlights, will present shotgunners from Hereford, Dimmitt and the surrounding area with an opportunity to take home cash prizes if they can outperform their fellow competitors.

Tomorrow night's activities will kick off a full schedule of shotgunning events over the next two weekends, involving both the Hereford range and the Dimmitt Volunteer Fire Department's trap facilities, located just north of that city at the municipal airport.

Hereford and Dimmitt gunners will be on-hand at the local trap range again Sunday for the HGC's regularly scheduled second Sunday shoot.

Dimmitt will be hosting a "protection" shoot, open to a large field of competitors, at its next regularly scheduled event to be conducted July 16. The Dimmitt shoot will get underway at 1 p.m.

Tomorrow night's local shoot will get underway with practice rounds at 7 p.m. Competition will begin at 8 p.m.

The Sunday shoot here is slated to begin at 2 p.m.

Tomorrow's competition will include a number of events popular with local trap shooters. Jackpot rounds from the 16 and 27 yard lines will be conducted. A total of 50 rounds will be fired from the 16 yard line with an entry fee in that event of $7 and a 50 percent payback.

The 27 yard competition will be a 25 shot event, with an entry fee of $4 and a 50 percent payback.

Gunners will also fire from the 27 yard line in an Annie Oakley elimination event, which carries a $2 entry fee, including one buy-back, and a 70 percent payback to the winner.

A protection shoot with a minimum of 10 teams entered will close out tomorrow night's competition.

Contestants in the protection match will post a $5 entry fee and draw for a partner.

The winning duo will take home a 50 percent payback.

HGC President Nancee Mc-

Clendon reported that if tomorrow night's big jackpot competition proves successful, similar contests may become a regular feature of the local schedule of shooting events.

"We might set up competitive shoots of this type on a bi-monthly basis," Mrs. McCleendon stated.

The Hereford Gun Club conducts shooting activities on the first and third Fridays of each month at 8 p.m., and on the second and fourth Sundays of each month at 2 p.m.

The Dimmitt club shoots regularly on the first and third Sundays of each month at 1 p.m. Competitive events here will lead up to the semi-annual competition between the Hereford and Dimmitt gun clubs for the R.J. Cramer Traveling Trophy, which is shot for each spring and fall.

The trophy, presented by R.J. Cramer of Hereford, may be kept by the shooter who wins it three consecutive times.

Several individuals have won the right to keep the trophy for six months on at least two consecutive occasions, but in the spirited competition for the prize, no gunner has yet retired the trophy.

The trophy donor, Cramer, is an honorary member of the Hereford Gun Club, and shot trap for 56 years, winning 65 trophies in competition.

His impressive score card of trap shooting accomplishments includes six 200-straight rounds and 12 100-straight rounds.

Straight rounds indicate a series of shots without a miss. Individuals interested in this weekend's round of shooting may confirm events in the event of inclement weather by calling 364-6497.

McALLEN, Texas (AP)-The eighth annual National Basketball Coaches Golf Classic gets underway today with University of Texas basketball coach Abe Lemons, the winner for the last two years, denying he is out to capture the title again.

"I'm not here to win it again," Lemons said Wednesday. "This year I'm here to relax and have a good time."

Scattergunners

Trap shooters such as those pictured here will be on hand at the Hereford Gun Club tomorrow night for a big jackpot trap shoot, which will feature cash prizes for winners in a number of events. Here, in an informal Sunday afternoon session at the local trap range, R.C. West of Dimmitt calls for a clay bird while standing with his shotgun mounted. West's son, Lynn, stands looking on at the left of the gunner, while other gunners from Dimmitt and Hereford await their turn to shoot with the actions of their shotguns open as a safety measure. Tomorrow night's competition is set to get underway at 8 p.m., with practice rounds beginning at 7 p.m. [Brand photo by Jim Steiert]

Connors Has New Weapon in Riggs

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) - Jimmy Connors has a new secret weapon in his tennis arsenal - a counselor and confidante, half court jester, half Merlin the Magician. Don't faint now. The name: Bobby Riggs.

"I like having Bobby around," Connors said as he prepared for his Wimbledon semifinal match today against Vitas Gerulaitis. "He keeps me loose. I learn a lot of tennis just sitting around bulling with him."

Riggs, 60, the inveterate hustler, has moved into the Connors entourage and taken position closest to the ear of the United States' combative No. 1 player, usurping a post long delegated to Pancho Segura. Pancho isn't around this year.

"I'm not taking Segura's place," the bouncy, bespectacled Riggs insisted. "Gloria, Jimmy's mother, invited me to see if I could help him. I'm not a coach. I'm just one of the gang," Jimmy agreed.

"I don't need a coach," Connors said. "Bobby is a riot. We play golf and backgammon together. Then we sit around and talk tennis."

"He was a great player in his day, a great strategist. He looks at tennis the same way my mom does. He is always relaxed - a lot different than Segura."

"Pancho was very intense, always looking and scouting. When I finished a match I'd feel very relieved and Pancho would rush up and tell me I had to play so-and-so in the next round."

Riggs says his association with Connors dates back to the days when Gloria brought her precocious 16-year-old son from Belleville, Ill., to the West Coast for expert tutelage.

She sought out her old friend, Segura, rated one of the world's best instructors. At the time, Riggs was busy successfully hustling the world.

"Gloria was on the circuit when I was No. 1," Riggs explained. "She knew I was a good player, a heady player. She respected me. It wasn't unusual for her to ask if I would help Jimmy. I've only been doing it for the last couple of years."

Connors has moved from Belleville to Beverly Hills, Calif. "I wanted to be around guys," he says, leaving mother Gloria back in Illinois to oversee Jimmy's vast enterprises, which earn $1 million a year.

"I have been teaching Jimmy some of my hustling secrets," Riggs says. "How to bet on the golf course and in backgammon. He loves it. He's like a baby with a new toy."

They got serious about tennis. "We reviewed last year's final against Bjorn Borg," Bobby adds. "Jimmy started out like a whirlwind, a guy running a marathon, like he was doing a 200-yard dash."

Reds, Phils, LA Dominate

NEW YORK (AP) - Led by Philadelphia teammates Greg Luzinski and Larry Bowa, the Phillies, Cincinnati Reds and Los Angeles Dodgers dominate the National League All-Star squad.

The three teams were so popular in fan balloting that they took all the starting and runners-up spots with the exception of outfielder Dave Parker of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Parker, however, is injured and will miss the All-Star Game, scheduled for Tuesday at San Diego, even if he were to be named as an alternate.

Leading vote-getters Luzinski, named to start for the National League for the third consecutive year, and Bowa will be joined on the starting team by Cincinnati catcher Johnny Bench, second baseman Joe Morgan, third baseman Pete Rose and outfielder George Foster, and Los Angeles first baseman Steve Garvey and outfielder Rick Monday.

It is the first time that Monday has been named to a starting berth, while Bench, Garvey, Morgan and Foster joined Luzinski as starters on the 1977 NL All-Star squad.

Luzinski polled slightly more than 3.5 million votes to lead the National League team while Bowa polled 3,396,054 votes, second-highest. Luzinski's 3,503,738 votes outdistanced Foster's 2,543,815 and Monday's 2,234,763. All three led the outfielders at one point or another in the balloting.

Like Luzinski, Foster will be making his third All-Star appearance, all as a starter. The appearance, all as a starter. Foster has 18 home runs, one behind NL leader Luzinski, and has been among the leaders in runs batted in all season.

An 11-time All-Star selection, Bench was a comfortable winner for the catching winner for the 11-time All-Star selection.

Bench was a comfortable winner for the catching position. With 2,442,201 votes, he won his 10th straight starting role. Bench and Minnesota's Rod Carew in the American League are the only players to be elected to a starting position each year since the fan voting began in 1970.

The NL pitching staff, announced by the league Tuesday, includes Cincinnati's Tom Seaver, Blue Bird of San Francisco, Steve Rogers and Ross Grimsley of Montreal, Bruce Sutter of the Chicago Cubs, Rolie Fingers of San Diego, Pat Zachry of the New York Mets, Los Angeles'

Tommy John and Phil Niekro of Atlanta.

The American League starters are catcher Carlton Fisk of Boston, Minnesota's Rod Carew at first base, Don Money of Milwaukee at second base, shortstop Fred Patek and third baseman George Brett of Kansas City and outfielders Jim Rice of Boston, Richie Zisk of Texas and Reggie Jackson of the New York Yankees.

The AL pitchers include Ron Guidry and Rich Gossage of the Yankees, Jim Palmer and Mike Flanagan of Baltimore, Frank Tanana of California, Oakland's Matt Keough and Cleveland's Jim Kern. An eighth pitcher will be named this week by AL Manager Billy Martin of the Yankees.

The National League will be managed by Tommy Lasorda of Los Angeles.

AL reserves were to be named today and NL reserves on Friday.

Gold Sox Rally

By The Associated Press

Javier Fierro drove in five runs with two homers and a sacrifice fly Wednesday night as Midland coasted to a 10-4 Texas League baseball victory over El Paso.

In other Texas League action, Jackson trounced Tulsa, 10-3, Amarillo edged San Antonio, 3-1, and Shreveport beat Arkansas, 5-3.

Fierro had two-run homers in the fourth and seventh innings and added a sacrifice fly for his five-run outburst. Lee Smith, now 6-5, was the winning pitcher. Ralph Botting now 4-4, was tagged for the loss.

Kelvin Chapman slammed a three-run homer in the eighth inning to give Jackson a 10-3 victory over Tulsa and allow the Mets to sweep five games from the Drillers. Chapman and Butch Benton had two hits in three trips to the plate. Dave Rivera had his 11th homer of the season for Tulsa. Luis Lunar picked up the victory and Brian Allard was the loser.

Barry Evans drove in two runs with a single to highlight a three-run rally in the ninth inning as Amarillo came from behind to take a 3-1 victory over San Antonio. Larry Rotschild, now 5-4, was the winning pitcher and Tom Tellman was credited with a save for the Gold Sox. Dave Stewart, now 9-8, too the loss.

McCovey Lifts Giants

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
When you need a home run, Willie McCovey will certainly do in a pinch.

The biggest giant of the San Francisco Giants was called on in another clutch situation Wednesday - and as he has done so often in the past, came through for the National League West leaders.

McCovey belted a dramatic game-tying home run with two out in the ninth inning, allowing the Giants to go on to beat the San Diego Padres 5-4 in 10 innings.

"It was gone the moment I hit it," said the jubilant San Francisco Giant veteran. "I got all of it."

McCovey, whose 425-foot blast was the 14th pinch-hit homer and the 502nd of his career, could hardly contain his exuberance while helping the Giants win only their second game in the last eight.

"It's a good feeling to battle back after almost blowing the game," said McCovey.

The Giants had a 3-0 lead after seven innings behind right-hander Ed Halicki before the Padres caught the Giants and rallied to go ahead 4-3 in the top of the ninth.

Then McCovey did his thing, victimizing San Diego relief ace Rollie Finger, who gave up both his Giants' tying and winning runs.

In other National League action, the Cincinnati Reds edged the Houston Astros 2-1; the Atlanta Braves defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 9-8; the Philadelphia Phillies stopped the New York Mets 7-5 and the Chicago Cubs turned back the St. Louis Cardinals 5-1.

Reds 2, Astros 1
Paul Moskau and Doug Bair

combined on a seven-hitter to lead Cincinnati over Houston. Moskau, 1-2, making his ninth start of the season, had not posted a victory since September 28.

Bair had to pitch out of a no-out, bases-loaded jam in the ninth inning before gaining his 13th save.

Braves 9, Dodgers 8
Barry Bonnell's RBI single capped a six-run rally in the ninth inning as Atlanta overtook Los Angeles. Dale Murphy's two-run single had tied the game at 8-8 before Bonnell singled home Cito Gaston with the winning run. The Dodgers had built an 8-0 lead after six innings, with Steve Garvey driving in three runs with his 12th homer and a single, and Joe Ferguson hitting his eighth homer and knocking in two runs before the Braves staged their comeback.

Phillies 7, Mets 5

Greg Luzinski knocked in two runs with a triple and his 19th home run, helping Philadelphia beat New York. Warren Brusstar, 2-0, was the winner in relief of Steve Carlton, who was knocked out by the Mets in the third inning.

Cubs 5, Cardinals 1

Mike Krukow and Bruce Sutter combined on a five-hitter and Krukow triggered a two-run rally in the third with a single, pacing Chicago over St. Louis. The victory was the Cubs' ninth in a row over the Cardinals this season.

Krukow, recalled recently from their Wichita farm club, outdueled St. Louis ace Bob Forsch; 9-7, with Sutter's relief help in the eighth. Sutter gained his 12th save.

Orioles Sweep Jays

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

Last week, Mike Flanagan and Joe Kerrigan were for the birds. Wednesday night, they gave the bird to the Toronto Blue Jays and pitched the birds of Baltimore - alias the Orioles - to a 3-1, 8-6 double-header sweep.

Flanagan and Kerrigan were the principal victims June 26 as the Blue Jays shelled the Orioles by that incredible 24-10 score in Toronto.

This time, the scene was Baltimore. Flanagan pitched a five-hitter in the opener and Kerrigan notched his first victory of the season in the nightcap with 3 1/2 innings of one-hit relief.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Oakland A's downed the Seattle Mariners 5-3 and regained first place in the West, the Texas Rangers edged the New York Yankees 3-2, the Kansas City Royals trounced the California Angels 10-1, the Boston Red Sox drubbed the Chicago White Sox 9-2, the Minnesota Twins shaded the Milwaukee Brewers 3-1 and the Detroit Tigers crushed the Cleveland Indians 13-3.

A's 5, Mariners 3
Mario Guerrero slammed a tie-breaking two-run homer with one out in the ninth inning off Shane Rawley following Dave Revering's infield hit. Jeff Newman also homered while All-Star selection Matt Keough was the winner, with help from Dave Heaverlo in the ninth.

Rangers 3, Yankees 2

Jon Matlack scattered seven hits while Bobby Bonds hit a two-run homer in the third inning and started a winning rally in the eighth with a single. Bonds went to third when loser Gullett threw widely to first on Toby Harrah's sacrifice bunt, putting runners on second and third.

Royals 10, Angels 1

Hal McRae rapped a two-run triple and a solo home run for his 1,000th major league hit, Darrell Porter singled home two runs and every Kansas City starter collected at least one hit as the Royals bombed Nolan Ryan and two relievers. Amos Otis also homered.

Red Sox 9, White Sox 2

Fred Lynn drove in three runs with a pair of homers and Carl Yastrzemski capped a six-run seventh inning with a two-run blast as the Red Sox increased their AL East lead. Bill Lee pitched six innings for his ninth victory.

Twins 3, Brewers 1

Rod Carew went 4-for-4 and Mike Cuyabaga 3-for-3 while Dave Goltz scattered eight hits. Trailing 1-0, the Twins scored all their runs in the sixth against Larry Sorensen on singles by Carew and Cuyabaga. Butch Wynegar's sacrifice fly, Dan Ford's triple and Rich Chiles' sacrifice fly.

The first Inca emperor was Pachacuti.

Womens' Finals Friday

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)-Who's No. 1 will be decided, at least for the moment, on Friday when Chris Evert and Martina Navratilova meet in the finals of the Wimbledon tennis tournament.

Evert reached the finals for the fourth time in six years by defeating defending champion Virginia Wade of Britain 8-6, 6-2 Wednesday while Navratilova went down an injured, limping Evonne Goolagong of Australia 2-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Navratilova, a Czechoslovakian who defected to the United States three years ago, is appearing in the finals at Wimbledon for the first time.

While Evert took a vacation at the beginning of the past indoor season, Navratilova established herself as the game's top player, crushing any pretender to the crown worn for the last several years by Evert.

Then Evert returned and beat Navratilova in their first meeting.

But two weeks ago, in the Eastbourne International, Navratilova defeated Evert in a marathon three-setter.

"The match at Eastbourne should give me confidence," said Navratilova, the No. 2 seed, of Friday's pending battle. "I can win if I can produce my best."

Top-seeded Evert feels she could be just reaching her peak. "I still haven't reached top form," she said after disposing of Wade, who won last year. "I hope it will happen in the final - it's leading up to that."

"Martina is playing awfully well. I think the only vulnerable part of her game is her backhand."

Navratilova has lost only three matches this year while Evert is a two-time Wimbledon champion.

The men's semifinals today sent defending champion Bjorn Borg of Sweden against unseeded Tom Okker of the Netherlands and Jimmy Connors, the 1974 champion who lost to Borg in the finals last year, against fellow American Vitas Gerulaitis.

Blalock Favored

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)-With Nancy Lopez taking a week off, consistent Jame Blalock looms as the favorite this week in the Wheeling LPGA Classic.

Not only has Blalock played well recently - she won last week's tournament at Noblesville, Ind., after second-place finishes in her previous two tournaments - she has been one of the most consistent players since the ladies pro golf tour began playing in Wheeling in 1974.

Blalock won the 1976 Wheeling tournament in a sudden-death playoff with Pat Bradley after finishing second in 1974.

"With Nancy not here, this could be a wide-open tournament," said 1977 U.S. Women's Open champion Hollis Stacy, who finished second to Debbie Austin here a year ago. Last year, only 64 pros entered, but the prize money has been raised by $20,000 to $75,000 for this year.

Bikes, Skateboards Top Hazardous Products List

WASHINGTON (AP) - Skateboards are continuing their rapid climb in the government's ranking of hazardous products, but bicycles still have a firm grip on the No. 1 spot.

Lawn mowing equipment and cookware made large jumps on the list, which rates both the number and severity of injuries. "Skateboards have been going steadily upwards for years," said Nancy Johnston, director of the National Injury Information Clearinghouse. Noting that "kids find it a lot of fun," she added that "as in a lot of things, the fun is associated with increased hazards." Mrs. Johnston's office estimated that 140,070 injuries were associated with the boards in 1977, five times the 27,522 injuries reported in 1975. Some 3,682 injuries were logged in 1973.

The new Consumer Product Hazard List for fiscal 1977 ranks skateboards seventh among products with which people hurt themselves, a climb from 18th place the year before.

On the other hand, the danger from liquid fuels - gasoline, kerosene and charcoal starter, for instance - seemed to decline.

The hazard ratings are compiled by analyzing data from 119 hospital emergency rooms across the country.

Skateboards received a hazard index rating of 11.111 in 1977. The index combines the number of reported injuries with their severity, giving extra weight if people under age 15 are injured.

In 1976, skateboards had a hazard index of 4.945.

Bicycles, with an index of 40.608, remained atop the list.

"I think the real source of most of the bike accidents is traffic," said Ken Giles of the Consumer Product Safety Commission, who added that programs to get bicyclists and drivers to take an interest in each other may substantially reduce both cycle deaths and injuries.

The top five places on the hazard index remained the same as last year. Stairs ranked second, followed by football, baseball and a combination of swings, slides, seesaws and other playground equipment.

Lawn mowing equipment jumped from 17th to 6th place. While the number of injuries didn't change appreciably, there were more severe injuries and more young people were hurt while using such equipment.

Cookware - metal, ceramic and glass - jumped from 85th to 19th place. "The number of injuries has increased, but I don't know why," Mrs. Johnston said.

Liquid fuels, however, dropped from 9th to 17th place, perhaps indicating the public is taking more care with these fuels, Mrs. Johnston said.

The index ranks only those products regulated by the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

Teachers Can't Find Jobs Though More Needed

DALLAS (AP) - Slightly less than half of the teacher graduates who wanted jobs in public schools this year were able to find them, although a third of a million more teachers are needed to raise all schools to minimum quality levels, according to a National Education Association study released Wednesday.

"There is no shortage of teachers," said John Ryor, president of the 1.8-million member organization. "There is a shortage of the proper standards, atmosphere and working conditions in which teachers must do an effective job of instruction." If schools had reached what NEA considered minimum quality standards last year, however, there would have been nearly 336,000 fewer new graduates than needed to fill public school jobs, the report said. NEA said the areas in which more teachers are needed included mathematics, science, vocational-technical subjects and agriculture.

Despite the fact that teaching in public schools today frequently means coping with poor salaries, overcrowded classes, disinterested and unruly students and inadequate teaching materials, teacher candidates are seeking positions at a rate of two applicants for each opening, NEA reported. In 1977, more than 164,000 new graduates were vying for about 85,000 positions. A year earlier, there were 185,000 graduates competing for about 94,000 spots, the survey said. The lack of jobs in public education and the substandard conditions in many schools have contributed to a steady decline in the selection of teaching as a career, reported NEA, the nation's largest teacher organization. The study showed that 1977 was the fifth consecutive year that the number of teacher graduates declined. About nine percent of the teachers surveyed by the organization in 1977 said they would not choose the same profession if they could start over again. The percentage of teachers saying they would switch careers was only 5.6

percent in 1976, 3.7 percent in 1971 and 2.0 percent in 1961. Low salaries paid to first-year teachers account for some of the local teacher shortages, the report said. More than two-thirds of 909 school districts enrolling 6,000 or more students pay beginning teachers less than $10,000 per year, while a sixth of those districts pay less than $9,000.

By contrast, chemistry graduates start at an average salary of $13,300, mathematics-statisticians at $12,500 and sales/marketing graduates at $11,800, NEA said. "Graduates may elect to search for other employment if they face prospects of being assigned to one of the larger-than-desirable numbers of classrooms."

IN WASHINGTON Martha Angle and Robert Walters

WASHINGTON (NEA) - This Democratic Congress, it is safe to say, never dreamed when Jimmy Carter was elected that he would one day line up with Richard Nixon against them — and in a case stemming from Watergate, no less.

Yet that is precisely what has happened as a result of President Carter's determination to go to the mat with Congress over use of the legislative veto.

No one on Capitol Hill was surprised to learn that Carter objects to the legislative veto, a provision tacked onto many laws giving either or both houses of Congress, and sometimes just one committee, power to veto regulations or specific actions undertaken by the executive branch pursuant to the law in question.

Every president since Herbert Hoover has complained about the legislative veto device, so Carter, who insists it is an unconstitutional intrusion upon the power and responsibility of the executive branch has plenty of company.

But Carter, unlike his predecessors, is trying to prod the Supreme Court into settling this long-standing squabble between Congress and the executive branch and he has chosen a case involving Richard Nixon's tapes and papers as the test vehicle.

To put it mildly, his choice both astonished and irritated congressional Democrats, who regard it as further proof of the administration's lack of political sensitivity. "Of all the places to make a stand, he had to choose this one!" moaned a leading House Democrat.

And indeed, the Nixon case does seem a peculiar vehicle, legally as well as politically. It stems from a law enacted by Congress in 1974 to assure that the government would keep control of the former president's tapes and documents, including those related to Watergate, and that the public would be given access to the materials.

In the law, the General Services Administration was authorized to draw up regulations governing access to the Nixon materials with the proviso that either house of Congress could veto the regulations within 90-legislative days.

Three times, GSA proposed regulations for handling of the Nixon materials. Three times, those regulations were vetoed by either the House or Senate.

While all this was going on, Nixon — who never liked the original law to begin with — went to court seeking to have it declared unconstitutional. Among other things, he cited the inclusion of the legislative veto as grounds for striking down the statute.

A year ago, however, the Supreme Court upheld the law, making no mention of the legislative veto provision. It was the third case in recent years to raise the constitutionality of the veto device, and the third time the Supreme Court had ducked the issue.

GSA proceeded to issue yet another batch of regulations, and this time they survived congressional scrutiny, taking effect last December. Nixon sued again, claiming the regulations are unconstitutional even if the law itself isn't. Again, he cited the legislative veto.

In late March, after extended consultations between the White House and Justice Department, the Justice Department entered the case on Nixon's side — agreeing the legislative veto is unconstitutional. The whole matter is now before a U.S. District Court in Washington.

It is pretty evident from past cases, including the original Nixon suit, that the Supreme Court has no desire to get caught in the middle of a fight between the President and Congress. If the high court had wanted to find the legislative veto unconstitutional, it could have done so the first time Nixon sued.

Carter, it would seem, has not only antagonized Congress by choosing Nixon's case as the test of the legislative veto, he has also saddled up a horse that lost this race once and will probably do so again.

NASA Crew Finally Discovering Women are Built Differently

JOHNSON SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON (AP)—There's one problem with women joining men as astronauts - they're built differently.

If this weren't the case, the male astronauts wouldn't be benefiting from changes made to accommodate the women.

When astronaut Judy Resnik arrived at Johnson Space Center and tried on a spacesuit similar to those used in the Apollo program she ran head-on into problems.

The spacesuit has a hard upper torso from the base of the neck to the waist and is lined with layers of insulation. When she attempted to tunnel into the torso, the insulation bunched up, making entry difficult. Once in, the torso simply didn't fit.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration will have to shorten the hard upper torso and adjust the arm openings for a better fit. These alterations will make maneuverability in the suits easier for both the women and the men.

"We all knew since Adam and Eve there's a difference between men and women," said Jim Correale, chief of NASA's Crew Systems Division. "Our initial program called for a standard of small sizing, but we delayed that program until a woman got aboard."

Correale said the new suits will be reusable and should last approximately 15 years.

"What we pay for in redesign, we make up for in production cost reduction," he noted.

Much has been said about women not being as physically fit as men. But they actually differ from men in only three ways, according to Dr. Michael Berry of NASA's Flight Medicine Division.

"Dexterity is a big thing," said Berry, who is the son of Dr. Charles A. Berry, original physician to the astronauts throughout the Apollo program.

"Even though they will be weightless to do work within the environment, they will need certain strengths."

So NASA is working on special physical fitness routines which will stress these areas for the women.

"Probably the biggest overall difference is in muscular strength in the upper body and arms," Berry said. "Although women don't have that strength developed, it's not that they can't. Part of the reason it's not developed is normal lifestyle."

The women are almost equal to the men in back and leg strength "with men coming out a little stronger," Berry said. But women can increase their strength with a negligible increase in muscle size.

"It has something to do with the hormones in the body," he said.

"So women don't have to worry they'll look like members of the West German Olympic swimming team."

One system change required for the women might be considered a step into the past rather than into the future. It has to do with personal hygiene.

"What we're looking at is something like a disposable diaper-only it's better," Correale said. "We're using a material that looks like it will hold over 100 times its weight in water. And it does just what the advertisements say-keeps wetness away from the skin."

Correale said the women would wear the "diaper" only during extra vehicular activity requiring a spacesuit. In the shuttle, all astronauts will use curtained-off bathroom facilities.

What will happen if a woman astronaut has her menstrual period at the time of a flight? "No problem," Correale said. "She can care for herself as she normally would here on earth."

However sending up a woman astronaut who could be in her first month of pregnancy and not know it worries some NASA officials.

"Do you want somebody up there who may abort?" Berry asked. "Do you require a pregnancy test before they go on a flight? Do you put them on birth control pills?"

"We haven't come up with any answers yet."

49 Die in Texas Over Long Holiday

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents during the long July 4 holiday weekend killed 49 persons in Texas, and motorcycle accidents were a leading killer, the Department of Public Safety reported Wednesday.

Highway fatalities over the Friday night-through-Tuesday period had been estimated at 53.

"Saturday was the worst day with 17 killed," said DPS spokesman Jim Robinson.

was really bad during the first part of the weekend, but things really turned around on us."

Motorcycle accidents were responsible for 12 deaths, one-car accidents kill 11 persons, 10 died in two-car accidents, and seven pedestrians were killed. The other accidents involved other miscellaneous causes such as trains or bicycles.

"It's the first time motorcycle accidents have been the leading cause," Robinson said.

More deaths occurred on city streets - 15 - than on any other type of road. The DPS said 12 persons were killed on U.S. or state highways, nine on farm or ranch roads, five on both interstate highways and city freeways and three on county roads.

Teachers Claim Three R's 'Never Were Neglected'

DALLAS (AP)—While many parents and educators across the country are calling for a move "back to basics" in education, teachers are responding that reading, writing and arithmetic never were neglected.

In an informal survey at the National Education Association's 116th annual convention, many teachers said parents' misconceptions and their lack of contact with the schools have contributed to a mistaken belief that education has moved away from stressing the basic skills.

"I don't think we ever left the basics," said Jacque D. Angie, a suburban Philadelphia teacher. "But what are the basics? People are saying we should return to the three R's, which we never left, but remember this is 1978 and we can't go back to 1955."

Although students are using calculators in math classes now, he said, that doesn't mean they can't do simple computations themselves. Besides, he said, students today need to know how to use the calculator.

Eddie L. Robinson, a suburban Baltimore teacher, agreed that education in the 1970s requires different approaches to the basics than were common 20 years ago.

"When I was in the fifth grade, we had to recite the multiplication tables in front of the teachers to pass," he said. "They don't have to do that anymore. And that's where the confusion comes in."

Parents who ask children to recite the times tables - and receive blank stares in return - are likely to think that something's wrong in the classroom, Robinson said.

"But rote memory is not the only way to teach anymore," he said. "The basics are still being taught, they always have been and always will be."

Several teachers said that fundamental schools - those emphasizing return to the old educational values - are not the only ones teaching basics. Those schools, which usually are started at parental request, differ from most public schools only because they stress such things as dress codes, discipline and patriotism, the teachers said.

"There need to be many types of schools to fit in with the different philosophies of parent," said Margaret Moody, a San Diego teacher. But she and other teachers stressed that no one kind of school has exclusive possession of the basics.

Ms. Moody, however, was among several teachers who agreed that the basics are suffering today - but not because they're not being taught.

"The parents, in general, do not insist that their children comply with a basic program, said Ms. Moody. "They permit their kids to watch television ad nauseum and they permit them to stay up until 2 a.m., so they don't come to school refreshed in the morning."

"I have always taught the basics in my high school classes but I have gotten very little support from the parents of my students," she said.

Some parents tell teachers they simply don't know what to do about their kids' failure to do homework, said Muriel Coleman, who has been an elementary school teacher in San Diego for 30 years.

Joyce Norfleet, a Los Angeles teacher, pointed out that over-emphasizing the basics detracts from the other aspects of today's public school education. "There's a lot to be said for reading, writing and arithmetic," she said. "But there's also a lot to be said for the other things that have come into education over the years."

Capital Gains Tax Cut Debate to Go to Committee

NEW YORK (AP)—President Carter's characterization of a capital gains tax cut as a potential windfall for millionaires may be the very spur to understanding that its advocates have been hoping for.

As they see it, the president is all wet, and when a situation of that sort prevails it is bound to create commentary. It already has, and more is soon to follow in testimony before the Joint Economic Committee.

Rather than being a "millionaires relief act," as Treasury Secretary Michael Blumenthal called the proposal, advocates of a cut say it would spur investment, lower inflation, create jobs, balance the budget.

In summary, they say, a cut in the maximum capital gains tax from 49 percent to 25 percent is what the country needs; and that conversely, the trouble with America is that capital investment is discouraged.

Supporters of a cut have been seeking a hearing for years, some even since 1969, when the rate was raised to 49 percent, and when, they assert, many of today's economic trouble were generated.

Nothing is more basic to the economic health of the United States, these supporters have been saying; but few important economic issues have attracted less attention. Sometimes it has been almost total.

Now, some of them feel, Americans who own stock at least 25 million directly, and those who own homes 48 million, and who thereby stand to be affected by capital gains taxes, are puzzled. Millionaires?

In their confusion, it is hoped, many of these people might decide to find out more about the Steiger Amendment to the president's tax cut bill, offered by Rep. William Steiger, R-Wis.

Capital is passbook savings. It is stocks, bonds, mortgages. It is money or its equivalent invested in plants, machinery and tools. It is what the local savings bank and the New York Stock Exchange seek to raise.

In short, it is money invested in pursuit of more money. Money invested in creating new enterprises or larger or more efficient ones. That, say, advocates, is how we create jobs, lower taxes, raise revenues and balance the budget.

These supporters can sound, almost religious, and certainly philosophical. They frequently call on the testimony of history: Capital investment, they say, is our system; it built America.

And now, relative to other countries, notably Japan and Germany, it is quite small. As a percentage of Gross National Product, Japan since 1962 has invested 32 percent in business; the United States, 17.5 percent.

Is it any wonder, the capitalists ask, that American productivity growth has been only a fraction of Japan's, and that the U.S. annual increase in GNP has been less than half?

And then the clincher is offered: In Japan, as in Germany, France, the Netherlands and Belgium, the maximum capital gains tax is, zero. In the United States it is, 49.1 percent.

Marketing Strategies Seen As Crucial for Cotton Producers

RALEIGH - While the current outlook points to a strong cotton market in the next few months, U.S. cotton producers should not ignore the possibility of an economic downturn later in 1978 or in 1979, say economists at Cotton Incorporated.

There are no "obvious signs" of a coming recession, they emphasize, but there is enough uncertainty in the economy to dictate a flexible, conservative approach to selling cotton crops for the remainder of 1978. One approach suggested is the use of call contracts.

The analysis is contained in the July issue of the Cotton Summary, monthly publication of Cotton Incorporated's Economic Research and Development Division. Cotton Incorporated is the fiber company of American cotton producers.

David W. Cox, vice president for economic research and development, says, several factors account for the widespread feeling in the cotton trade that a strong cotton market is in the offing.

These include expectations of a further drop in both domestic and world cotton carryover from August 1, 1978, to August 1, 1979; serious questions regarding the cotton production prospects for both Russia and China; and weather difficulties over much of the U.S. Cotton Belt.

These factors combined, says Cox, support the thought of a tightening supply of cotton relative to demand, and of generally strong cotton prices.

However, says the Cotton Incorporated economist, "the possibility remains...that the U.S. economy could turn downward in the next six to 12 months. "In effect," Cox says, "the relationship of supply relative to demand appears to be tightening, which would normally boost cotton prices. At the same time, the possibility of recession is growing, and that would cut cotton prices. It's possible to be badly fooled, and hurt, by improving prices that are followed by a rapid drop. In this kind of situation, cotton producers need to be on their toes."

Cox points out that support for the current economic recovery has come mostly from consumer buying for over three years, "with capital spending to build new or improve old product in facilities never coming up to full expectations." Except for retail stores, he adds, building up of business inventories—normally a source of economic recovery—has not been strong.

"If consumer buying has, in fact, grown stronger recently through advance buying in order to avoid higher prices in the future, the possibility of a recession is real," he continues. "While the economy is strong enough to hold up through periods of bad weather or high interest rates, a sustained slowdown in consumer purchasing most likely would initiate an inventory adjustment recession, since 'normal' inventories would be uncomfortably high if the selling pace turns downward."

Cox also notes that the economies of many other countries are dependent upon the strength of the United States for help to recover. "A recession here would almost certainly spread rapidly to other countries," he says. The textile and fiber industries have proven to be extremely sensitive in past years to economic downturns, the Cotton Incorporated economist adds. This poses an increasingly difficult challenge for the cotton producer, who "faces ever-escalating costs and extremely strong competition from synthetic fibers, especially as they are still plagued by overcapacity."

If a recession does develop, says Cox, "good defensive decisions would have to be made quickly" by producers.

Call contracts can be attractive, he says, "because of the flexibility they offer. Their value, however, is dependent upon the skill with which they are used, both in negotiating terms of the contract and in the eventual setting of the prices."

Contracting's usefulness comes, he points out, in terms of tying down a reasonable price in advance on part of a crop when possible and getting a good price in an absolute sense.

The call feature, Cox adds, might be especially important in this year's market. "The generally tight fundamental situation and weather worries can be expected to drive prices to peaks during the summer, and the call provision can help producers benefit from such market movements," he explains.

A written analysis and description of call contracting for producers is available on request. It can be obtained by writing Cotton Incorporated, Division of Economic Research and Development, 4505 Creedmoor Road, Raleigh, North Carolina, 27612.

The Hereford Brand Farm News

Compiled by JIM STEIERT, Brand Farm Editor

Farm Income Prospects Show Slight Improvement

COLLEGE STATION - Things are looking up a bit for Texas farmers and ranchers due to improved farm income prospects.

"Net realized farm income in Texas may be up some 15 to 20 percent in 1978 from the depressed level in 1977," believes Dr. Carl Anderson, economist in marketing with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "This upturn in farm and ranch earnings should help relieve some of the cash flow problems producers were experiencing earlier this year."

"Brisk demand and less-than-expected production have substantially boosted prices and potential earnings for livestock producers," notes Anderson. "Also, prospective earnings of crop farmers have improved slightly from the outlook several months ago. The improvement reflects government programs, deteriorating production prospects because of drought conditions in some areas and too much moisture in others, and strong export demand."

According to the economist, farmers and ranchers are benefiting from a marked climb in commodity prices over the past few months. In mid-May the index of prices received by Texas producers was up almost 17 percent from the January level. Meanwhile, the index of prices paid by farmers for commodities and services, interest, taxes and wage rates rose 5 percent.

Meat prices have risen even more, notes Anderson. Since January, the index of prices received for meat animals in Texas has increased by more than a third. With cash receipts from cattle and calf marketings in Texas typically accounting for 70 percent of all sales from livestock and poultry, sales from livestock and livestock products were up almost a fifth in the first three months of this year over the same period last year.

"Livestock sales bolster farm earnings substantially since they account for a little more than half of all cash receipts from agriculture in Texas. Higher prices for cattle and calves, hogs, lambs, broilers and mohair along with increased poultry production point to sizable gains in receipts from most livestock commodities in 1978," believes Anderson.

On the other hand, receipts from crop marketings have not kept pace with year-earlier levels, points out the economist. Texas cotton prices in the first five months of this year averaged a fourth less than in the same period of 1977. However, because market prices fell below target prices for some 1977 crops, farmers have received an increase in government payments.

"As far as the remainder of 1978 is concerned, crop developments hinge on the uncertainty of weather and the level of grower participation in the grain reserve and set-aside programs," contends Anderson. "Greater participation in the feedgrain program, together with increased yield risks from dry weather and late plantings would likely bolster prices and receipts because of the implications for reduced production."

Production costs are also expected to rise considerably in 1978, adds the economist. Feed costs will probably increase because of slightly higher grain prices and larger purchases. Expenses for purchased livestock will be sharply higher. A case in point is that the average price for calves in Texas during May was 65 percent higher than a year earlier. Other costs such as interest expenses, depreciation, repairs and hired labor will likely continue to increase.

Fertilizer Use Lags Behind 1977 Pace

WASHINGTON (AP) - Farm use of commercially prepared fertilizers this year may be greater than indicated a few weeks ago, according to the latest industry figures.

The Agriculture Department however, lags behind the industry in reporting fertilizer use and through April showed that "consumption" in the first 10 months of the year that began last July 1 was down 19 percent.

In April alone, according to USDA, fertilizer consumption - which is the amount shipped to local dealers and farmers - was down 15 percent from the same month a year ago.

But the Fertilizer Institute, which represents the industry, says that figures for May showed "a significant surge" in the amount of fertilizer shipped from product plants to major agricultural areas.

In fact, says institute president Edwin M. Wheeler, fertilizer consumption, or "disappearance" in May was up 12 percent from May of last year. "Once farmers were able to get a few days of reasonably favorable planting weather, they showed no reluctance to purchase and use needed plant nutrients," Wheeler said in a monthly report.

Farmers in the big corn areas of the Midwest were delayed severely in planting their crops because of wet weather this spring. Other crops also were delayed.

According to USDA, for example, only 80 percent of the estimated corn acreage was planted by June 1, compared with 99 percent a year ago and 96 percent on the same date in 1976.

Other crops and their acreage planted by June 1 compared with one year and two years ago included: sorghum, 50, 62 and 57 percent; oats, 96, 100 and 100 percent; barley, 86, 100 and 100 percent; soybeans, 41, 77 and 71 percent; cotton, 77, 84 and 88 percent; and spring wheat, 93, 100 and 100 percent.

The Fertilizer Institute's report said that through May - representing the first 11 months of the current fertilizer marketing year - total consumption was still down 5 percent from the same 11 months of last season.

However, because of the big surge in May, the gap in fertilizer use narrowed substantially from what it had been.

The institute said further that although fertilizer production in May was down 4 percent from a year earlier total inventories were 92 percent larger than in May 1977.

Farmers are cutting back on some major crop acreages this year, including corn, the major crop for fertilizer use.

Jones to Attend Sugar Course

COLORADO SPRINGS - Two employees of Holly Sugar Corporation's Hereford plant have been honored by being selected to attend college this summer at Holly's expense.

David Ankeny, a shift superintendent, attended a beet end management course which ended June 30. Calvin Jones, agricultural manager, will attend a sugar end management course beginning July 9. Jones completed the best end course last year.

They are among 16 Holly employees who will be learning the latest technical advances in the sugar making process. For some, it will make their first time on a college campus. For others, it will be old home week.

The school is dubbed Sugar U. It's located on a borrowed campus—Colorado State University, Fort Collins. The students don't have a school song or an athletic program. And all students are there on scholarships paid for by their companies.

Classes run for one month in the summer with each course lasting two weeks. Each course is worth five credit hours of college education from CSU's chemistry department, proof that it is a rugged two weeks.

Operated by the Beet Sugar Development Foundation, the school is supported financially by the domestic beet sugar companies.

Three Holly executives are teaching courses. Glen W. Yeager, senior vice president-agriculture, gave the opening lecture of the beet end management course during which he discussed the factors influencing the quality of sugarbeets.

Whitney Newton II, vice president-technical director, will teach filtration and granulation while Lloyd L. Neville, general superintendent, will teach liquid sugar operations.

U.S. Cattlemen Still Foreign Trade Winners

COLLEGE STATION - Despite the recent increase in the meat import level for 1978, U.S. cattlemen are still the net winners through foreign trade.

That's the opinion of Dr. Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Uvacek explains that the Meat Import Law of 1964 provides for a fixed level of imports and allows increases or decreases based on domestic production. Most exporting countries, however, have entered into voluntary restraint agreements with the U.S., which keep imports below the trigger levels of the quota.

This past March the voluntary restraint agreement level for 1978 was set at 1.29 billion pounds. President Carter's recently announced increase raised that level by 200 million pounds. In contrast, the trigger level for the Meat Import Law is 1.3 billion pounds.

Uvacek points out that about 35 percent of the total increased level of imports scheduled for this year has already been brought into the U.S. during the first four months. The remainder, therefore, will have to be spread out over the next eight months. The bulk of the increases came in March and April when prices were already in an upward spiral.

Research indicates that cattlemen's incomes are more indirectly affected by imports through the sale, of cull cows, contends Uvacek.

"Put into this context, then, it seems obvious that the income effects on producers from the greater imports for 1978 should be minimal," he adds.

The U.S. exports more beef and cattle by-products in dollars and cents than it imports. The majority of exports are hides, tallow, variety meats and by-products which have a low demand in this country. Thus, U.S. cattlemen have more to gain in the game of international trade.

Market News Office To Open Here

The federal-state seasonal market news office at Hereford will begin issuing reports on shipments, prices, volumes and quality of fresh fruits and vegetables from the Hereford-High Plains area the week of July 10.

Mike Walton, coordinator of market news, Texas Department of Agriculture will open the office. Jimmy Morrow, who is usually in charge of the Hereford office, will arrive later in the season.

First reports will be on yellow and white onions and red and Nargold potatoes. Later, cabbage, carrots, cantaloups, green bell peppers, and lettuce will be included in the market reports.

All reports will be carried daily by the leased wire teletype system of the U.S. Department of Agriculture to all major fruit and vegetable markets in the country.

News media and others who wish to secure the information rapidly may call (806) 364-0129 to get telephone recordings of the market situation.

The information will be mailed daily to those who request it.

For mail reports, write the Federal-State Market News, P.O. Box 1853, Hereford, Tx 79045 or call (806) 364-0121.

The President in Sunday School

Carter Separates Church, State

By Tom Tiede WASHINGTON (NEA) - When Jimmy Carter came to town, and promptly enrolled in the First Baptist Church, the ministers approached him, as they might any new member, with a request for extra participation.

"Mr. President," they said, "we would enjoy having you teach Sunday School whenever it's convenient for you."

To the delight of the church pastors, and their congregation, the chief executive accepted the assignment. Since then, every six to eight weeks, the most powerful man in the world gets behind a worn podium in the balcony of the Baptist sanctuary, and tells some hundred-plus adult students about the life of Christ. Before class the president may deal with a war in Africa. After class he may act on legislation affecting millions. But at 10 a.m., on periodic Sundays, he involves himself with testaments, loaves and fishes, and a handful of middle-class Americans who follow his lessons in the pages of King James Bibles.

And the consensus is that Carter's class involvement is total. He is prepared, he chooses priority points for general discussion, and he follows a nationally distributed Baptist lesson plan.

"He is very relaxed," says Charles Sanks Jr., associate pastor of the church. "I think both he and his class have a good time."

This isn't to say the president's class is an hour of light refreshment. Sanks says Carter takes teaching, as he takes most other things, seriously. He quotes scriptures, he dwells on biblical examples. His theme, as he once expressed it, is that Christ can work for anyone, "even the president of a country."

At times the president becomes emotionally wound up in this theme. Visiting ministers who've studied Carter's lectures say he can become evangelical about his purpose. He does not get outwardly excited, says John Novotney, a Washington religious writer, "but you can see that something is building up inside him."

Novotney says the president inevitably catches himself before spilling over. "But, remember, he's a Southern Baptist, and the idea is to save souls. I wouldn't be surprised if some Sunday he said to his class: 'Now, if any of you would like to accept Jesus Christ, I hope you come up and pray with me.'"

If Carter were to suddenly call his class to the Lord, not everyone would be pleased with a heavy response. Sunday School or no, Secret Service agents try to limit the president's contact with class members. The agents say they do not like to see the chief executive in the middle of people, "even if they're praying."

The security concern is quite legitimate. Anyone can attend the president's class, and Rey Sanks says no one is screened. The church does prohibit cameras and tape recorders (a rule that is sometimes broken), but otherwise "if we want to maintain the worship experience, we can hardly run background checks on the class."

Security is not totally absent, of course. Grim Secret Service guards eyeball every class participant, looking for negative personality traits, and also for untoward movements. Furthermore, the ushers at the 175-year-old church have been trained to assist the federal agents in ferreting out potential troublemakers.

So far there have been only two incidents while Carter has been in church.

Both have involved neutron

THE CARTERS after a service at Washington's First Baptist Church. Attendance is up, and so is Secret Service vigilance.

bomb protesters. One time the demonstrators held up an anti-bomb banner near the altar. The next time the people were all armed with similar texts of protest, and when one was "silenced" another would "continue reading."

Carter said nothing about the protests. Observers say he resolutely avoids making any comments in church that may be construed as political. Harry Truman once stopped attending the First Baptist Church because of a political dispute with the pastor, and Carter is said to be determined to stick to safe subjects.

He still could find himself in a Sunday School controversy, however. John Novotney says Carter's teaching method is premised on class participation. He asks questions and invites comments and inquiries. Given this opportunity, Novotney believes someone sooner or later may use the occasion to embarrass the president.

Or, the trouble could come tangentially. Some weeks ago a stranger was in the church, to see J. Carter, and he liked things so well he decided to join. Fine. Good. He was found later in the restroom, however, stark naked, and Carter aides shudder to think, for instance, of a streaker running up to the president's pew.

For all the risk, though, President Carter is expected to continue with his classes. And no doubt many Christians hope that he does. Officials of the First Baptist Church hope so too; it's nice to have a president who gets on his knees, says Rev. Sanks.

Besides, Sunday School attendance is up a solid 25 percent.

Yantis Denies Reports That He Will Resign

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)-State Insurance Board Chairman Hugh Yantis said Wednesday that he will seek confirmation by the Senate in the special session that opens Monday.

He denied reports that he was planning to resign rather than face what is expected to be a bitter confirmation fight.

"Except for the fact that I do not know who my sponsoring senators will be, I'll play it right down the middle...I will go before the committee. My record shows I ought to be confirmed but if they don't wish to, that will be up to them," Yantis said in an interview.

Yantis faces an uphill fight because of opposition from his hometown senator, Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin.

At one time Yantis spoke of his changing his official residence to Seguin, the home of Sen. John Traeger, who supports Yantis' confirmation. But Yantis said Wednesday he has taken no step, such as the purchase of property, to establish residence in Seguin.

Yantis said he would not be surprised if insurance companies were lobbying for the 11 senate votes needed to project his appointment.

"They are very upset that I won't give them a 'homeowners' rate increase," Yantis said.

The board meets Thursday to act on property insurance rates. Yantis claims he has the votes necessary to prevent the increase in homeowners coverage.

Yantis formerly was executive director of the Texas Water Quality Board until the agency went out of existence last Sept. 1, and Gov. Dolph Briscoe soon afterwards appointed him insurance board chairman to replace Joe Christie, who made an unsuccessful race for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate.

Judge Can't Order Divorcee To Take Children to Church

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)-A Dallas domestic relations judge acted unconstitutionally in ordering a divorced woman to take her children to Sunday school, the Texas Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

The judge's decree violated the state constitutional provision for separation of church and state, the Supreme Court said in upholding a Dallas Court of Civil Appeals opinion in the case.

In another case, the Supreme Court reversed lower court rulings and dismissed an $87,000 judgment awarded to a test driver's family after he was killed during a testing accident.

The Sunday school decree case involved Richard Watts Jr. and his wife, Virginia, who were divorced in March 1975. Mrs. Watts received custody of the children, but two years later custody was changed to the father.

The judge granted the mother visitation rights on alternate weekends providing that she marry a man with whom she was living or sever the relationship, and that she take the children to Sunday school and the "church of her choice."

The 5th Court of Civil Appeals in Dallas reversed the ruling and sent it back to the trial court. The Supreme Court affirmed the appeals court ruling without writing an opinion in the case.

The Supreme Court issued a "take nothing" judgment in the case of Clemente Urquidez, who died in April 1972, when a tire blew out on his tractor-trailer rig.

Urquidez was driving at 60mph on an oval test track near Pecos when a tire not being tested blew out, causing the truck to overturn and killing the driver.

His son and widow asked damages from Armstrong Rubber Co., which had contracted for the test drive, under the products liability law.

At issue was whether the faulty tire had "entered the stream of commerce." The Supreme Court said the tire never was released to the consuming public and therefore the company was not liable. The opinion reversed actions by an Odessa jury and the El Paso Court of Civil Appeals.

In other cases, the court:

Ordered an automobile insurance company to pay damages in a fatal, one-car accident, although the driver's father had excluded him from policy coverage. The Dallas County case arose from an accident which killed the driver David Wyloge and a passenger, Melinda Craddock.

The court said the father's insurance policy was liable for personal injury protection because the father had not rejected such coverage in writing, as required by law.

"Keep alive a suit brought by Laredo taxpayers who claim the Webb County commissioners tried illegally to move the courthouse outside the county seat. A trial court had dismissed the suit, but the San Antonio Court of Civil Appeals reversed the dismissal and returned the suit for trial. The supreme court upheld the appeals court ruling.

The Italian musician and composer Andrea Lucchesi succeeded Ludwig von Beethoven's grandfather as conductor of the Bonn court orchestra in 1774. When Beethoven was a boy, he played the viola in the orchestra under Lucchesi.

Preparing low-fat foods

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB - After cooking meat, if the broth is chilled and hardened fat is removed from the top, does this also remove the cholesterol? Cholesterol is not a fat but it accompanies animal fat as some kind of fatty substance. Is it lighter than water and does it settle on top with the fat?

DEAR READER - There will be some cholesterol in the amount of fat removed but it will not remove the cholesterol within the meat fibers themselves. If you had perfectly lean meat fibers with no fat at all there would still be about 70 mgs of cholesterol in three-and-one-half ounces of lean raw meat fiber.

Nevertheless, the method of cooking that you described is an excellent one to remove fat from roasts or boiled meats. This helps in the preparation of low-fat foods, and since nearly half of the fat in beef is saturated fat it also helps in decreasing the portion of saturated fat in the diet. Saturated fat seems to stimulate the body's own production of cholesterol in some people.

To give you more information on low-fat, low-cholesterol diets, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 1-3, Diet, Preventing Atherosclerosis. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB - In some of your columns you have referred to the effects of male and female hormone pills. I am somewhat confused as to why female hormones are prescribed for males and vice versa. How do these hormones affect one's sex life?

The President in Sunday School

Carter Separates Church, State

By Tom Tiede
WASHINGTON (NEA) - When Jimmy Carter came to town, and promptly enrolled in the First Baptist Church, the ministers approached him, as they might any new member, with a request for extra participation.

"Mr. President," they said, "we would enjoy having you teach Sunday School whenever it's convenient for you."

To the delight of the church pastors, and their congregation, the chief executive accepted the assignment. Since then, every six to eight weeks, the most powerful man in the world gets behind a worn podium in the balcony of the Baptist sanctuary, and tells some hundred-plus adult students about the life of Christ. Before class the president may deal with a war in Africa. After class he may act on legislation affecting millions. But at 10 a.m., on periodic Sundays, he involves himself with testaments, loaves and fishes, and a handful of middle-class Americans who follow his lessons in the pages of King James Bibles.

And the consensus is that Carter's class involvement is total. He is prepared, he chooses priority points for general discussion, and he follows a nationally distributed Baptist lesson plan.

"He is very relaxed," says Charles Sanks Jr., associate pastor of the church. "I think both he and his class have a good time."

This isn't to say the president's class is an hour of light refreshment. Sanks says Carter takes teaching, as he takes most other things, seriously. He quotes scriptures, he dwells on biblical examples. His theme, as he once expressed it, is that Christ can work for anyone, "even the president of a country."

At times the president becomes emotionally wound

up in this theme. Visiting ministers who've studied Carter's lectures say he can become evangelical about his purpose. He does not get outwardly excited, says John Novotney, a Washington religious writer, "but you can see that something is building up inside him."

Novotney says the president inevitably catches himself before spilling over. "But, remember, he's a Southern Baptist, and the idea is to save souls. I wouldn't be surprised if some Sunday he said to his class: 'Now, if any of you would like to accept Jesus Christ, I hope you come up and pray with me.'"

If Carter were to suddenly call his class to the Lord, not everyone would be pleased with a heavy response. Sunday School or no, Secret Service agents try to limit the president's contact with class members. The agents say they do not like to see the chief executive in the middle of people, "even if they're praying."

The security concern is quite legitimate. Anyone can attend the president's class, and Rev. Sanks says no one is screened. The church does prohibit cameras and tape recorders (a rule that is sometimes broken), but otherwise "if we want to maintain the worship experience, we can hardly run background checks on the class."

Security is not totally absent, of course. Grim Secret Service guards eyeball every class participant, looking for negative personality traits, and also for untoward movements. Furthermore, the ushers at the 175-year-old church have been trained to assist the federal agents in ferreting out potential troublemakers.

So far there have been only two incidents while Carter has been in church. Both have involved neutron

Judge Can't Order Divorcee To Take Children to Church

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)-A Dallas domestic relations judge acted unconstitutionally in ordering a divorced woman to take her children to Sunday school, the Texas Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

The judge's decree violated the state constitutional provision for separation of church and state, the Supreme Court said in upholding a Dallas Court of Civil Appeals opinion in the case.

The Supreme Court issued a "take nothing" judgment in the case of Clemente Urquidez, who died in April 1972, when a tire blew out on his tractor-trailer rig.

Urquidez was driving at 60mph on an oval test track near Pecos when a tire not being tested blew out, causing the truck to overturn and killing the driver.

His son and widow asked damages from Armstrong Rubber Co., which had contracted for the test drive, under the products liability law.

At issue was whether the faulty tire had "entered" the stream of commerce. The Supreme Court said the tire never was released to the consuming public and therefore the company was not liable. The opinion reversed actions by an Odessa jury and the El Paso Court of Civil Appeals.

In other cases, the court:

- Ordered an automobile insurance company to pay damages in a fatal, one-car accident, although the driver's father had excluded him from policy coverage. The Dallas County case arose from an accident which killed the driver David Wyloge and a passenger, Melinda Craddock.
- The court said the father's insurance policy was liable for personal injury protection because the father had not rejected such coverage in writing, as required by law.
- Kept alive a suit brought by Laredo taxpayers who claim the Webb County commissioners tried illegally to move the courthouse outside the county seat. A trial court had dismissed the suit, but the San Antonio Court of Civil Appeals reversed the dismissal and returned the suit for trial. The supreme court upheld the appeals court ruling.
- The Italian musician and composer Andrea Lucchesi succeeded Ludwig von Beethoven's grandfather as conductor of the Bonn court orchestra in 1774. When Beethoven was a boy, he played the viola in the orchestra under Lucchesi.

Preparing low-fat foods

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB - After cooking meat, if the broth is chilled and hardened fat is removed from the top, does this also remove the cholesterol? Cholesterol is not a fat but it accompanies animal fat as some kind of fatty substance. Is it lighter than water and does it settle on top with the fat?

DEAR READER - There will be some cholesterol in the amount of fat removed but it will not remove the cholesterol within the meat fibers themselves. If you had perfectly lean meat fibers with no fat at all there would still be about 70 mgs of cholesterol in three-and-one-half ounces of lean raw meat fiber.

Nevertheless, the method of cooking that you described is an excellent one to remove fat from roasts or boiled meats. This helps in the preparation of low-fat foods, and since nearly half of the fat in beef is saturated fat it also helps in decreasing the portion of saturated fat in the diet. Saturated fat seems to stimulate the body's own production of cholesterol in some people.

To give you more information on low-fat, low-cholesterol diets, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 1-3, Diet, Preventing Atherosclerosis. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB - In some of your columns you have referred to the effects of male and female hormone pills. I am somewhat confused as to why female hormones are prescribed for males and vice versa. How do these hormones affect one's sex life?

Yantis Denies Reports That He Will Resign

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)-State Insurance Board Chairman Hugh Yantis said Wednesday that he will seek confirmation by the Senate in the special session that opens Monday.

He denied reports that he was planning to resign rather than face what is expected to be a bitter confirmation fight.

"Except for the fact that I do not know who my sponsoring senators will be, I'll play it right down the middle...I will go before the committee. My record shows I ought to be confirmed but if they don't wish to, that will be up to them," Yantis said in an interview.

Yantis faces an uphill fight because of opposition from his hometown senator, Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin.

At one time Yantis spoke of his changing his official residence to Seguin, the home of Sen. John Traeger, who supports Yantis' confirmation. But Yantis said Wednesday he has taken no step, such as the purchase of property, to establish residence in Seguin.

Yantis said he would not be surprised if insurance companies were lobbying for the 11 senate votes needed to project his appointment.

"They are very upset that I won't give them a 'homeowners' rate increase," Yantis said.

The board meets Thursday to act on property insurance rates. Yantis claims he has the votes necessary to prevent the increase in homeowners coverage.

Would you be shocked to find out that the greatest moment of our recent history may not have happened at all?
