Farmers To Receive Payments For Set-Aside Participation

WASHINGTON (AP) - Farmers who participated in the 1978 corn and sorghum acreage set-aside programs will start getting "deficiency" payments at county offices next month, says the Agriculture Department.

Although the amounts will not be settled until after March 30, when the department issues its monthly report on commodity prices at the farm, officials said Monday total payments could range between $285 million and $350 million.

In a related development, the department said oat producers can pay off government loans and sell their stored grain if they choose. This involves a three-year grain reserve program made available to farmers who participated in the acreage set-aside.

The payments due next month will be

Trustee Lawsuit Hearing Scheduled

Managing Editor

It's back to the courtroom, and voting rights are again the issue, for the Hereford Independent School District Wednesday.

A hearing before a three-judge panel in federal district court in Dallas is scheduled for 10 a.m. to determine whether the school district's April 7 election will be postponed.

Deaf Smith County residents Irene Cantu, Agapita Cantu and Oralia Guzman filed the suit in February through the Hereford Office of Texas Rural Legal Aid in an attempt to force the resignation of school board members James Gentry, Clark Andrews, Sallie Strain, Mack Tubb and Jim Arney. Trustee David Hutchins was added to the suit on March 2. The plaintiffs contend that since the six trustees were elected under a voting procedure (the place system) the U.S. Department of Justice ruled was discriminatory to minorities, their 1977 and 1978 elections should be declared, null and void.

The suit calls for the Hereford school district to hold an at-large election for all six seats and requests an injunction to stop the scheduled April 7 election.

Should the judges rule in favor of the plaintiffs, the filing period for candidates would be reopened, prompting postponement of the scheduled election.

The suit states that the 1977 and 1978 elections were unlawful because the place system was not pre-cleared by the Justice Department as required under the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

Since Tubb was elected to a three-year term under the place system in 1977, trustees "violated plaintiffs' voting rights...", according to the suit. The election of Gentry, Andrews and Arney to three-year terms in 1978 again violated the plaintiffs' rights, according to Texas Rural Legal Aid attorney David Hashmall who filed the suit.

The terms of Hutchins and Mrs. Strain will expire on April 30. Both trustees have filed for re-election to the board.

Hutchins was added to the suit in a March 2 amended complaint, filed in U.S. District Court in Amarillo. "He was accidentally left off the first time," said Edward Tuddingham, a TRLA attorney. "We put the papers together in a hurry to give the judges more time to consider them. It was just a mistake."

Tuddingham said a "clerical error" in the original complaint resulted in the request for a temporary restraining order instead of a preliminary injunction to stop

Commissioners Accept Bids For Water System Construction

By PAUL SIMS Managing Editor

Deaf Smith County commissioners Monday in regular session accepted low bids for construction of a water system at the San Jose labor camp after learning that the system might cost $4,596 more than what a federal grant provides.

The total cost of the proposed project is $324,596, which includes engineering and administration charges and enough money to purchase a site for a new well. A bid of $35,403 submitted by Water Industries for a 380-foot well and chlorinator was accepted by commission, which was acting on behalf of the San Jose water district. Rhodes Construction submitted the low bid ($23,542.50) for construction of a 200,000-gallon storage tank, water lines, two booster pumps, 150 water meters and seven fire hydrants.

Commissioner Austin Rose, whose Precinct 2 includes the labor camp, said that the water system probably could-be constructed for $320,000, the amount of a grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"Bill McMorries (Amarillo engineer) told us that we might get by with only one booster pump," Rose said. "I'd move that we leave off one booster pump and put in the motion that we can put in the alternate pump if necessary.'

Using one pump instead of two would save the water district $7,500, Rose said. His motion lowered the Rhodes bid to $231,042.50.

The court ruled that since County Clerk B.F. Cain needed additional personnel to work in the voter registration office and District Judge Wes Gulley should have an nterpretor, the positions could be filled by one person.

Cain told commissioners that the federal Voting Rights Act states that a bi-lingual person must be employed in the voter registration office.

He added that the voter registration workload was too much for his present staff to handle.

Gulley told the court that a bi-lingual person to be used as an interpretor "is something we always need." He added that finding someone to assist in that capacity is usually difficult.

Applications will be accepted for the dual position until the next meeting of the commission on March 26. Realtor Don Tardy asked the court for approval of a plat for six five-acre tracts located six miles west of Hereford and a mile north on farm road 1057.

juveniles who commit major crimes reported in the paper? A - Most of the statutes concerning treatment of juveniles can be found under Title 3 of the Texas Family Code, which became effective Sept. 1, 1973. In Texas, juveniles are not charged with criminal offenses upon arrest, instead, they may be held in custody and procedures begun that may result in their being judged delinquent. But such a proceeding is civil, not criminal. If the case warrants, the juvenile can be declared an adult and tried as such but basically the decision rests with the appropriate judge. Law enforcement personnel are specifically barred by law from releasing names of juveniles although both males and females become adults at age 17.

Managing Editor

Sgt. W.E. "Bill" Wells, who's chased the bad guy for 31 years, has had enough.

"It's not the physical work. It's the continued mental strain after thousands of rides," said Wells, who will leave his position as Texas Department of Public Safety area supervisor on Thursday.

"Every time I make a check ride, I'm sitting in the right front seat of the patrol car. Here's this young officer I'm working with who's got a little more nerve, and he turns to chase a speeder. And I sit there watching that old counter running in the windshield and I'm thinking the odds are going to catch up with me." Wells said.

"It's my desire to quit while I'm still in one piece." The check rides aren't the only reason that Wells would rather sell engines (his new line of work).

"I'm getting tired of all the calls in the middle of the night. Thirty years with the public is enough," he said.

Wells, 53, was promoted to DPS sergeant in 1962 and was assigned to the Hereford division, which included Deaf Smith, Palmer, Oldham, Hartley, Dallam, Sherman, Castro, Swisher and Randall counties. He now is in charge of DPS activities in Deaf Smith, Palmer and Oldham counties.

"I've only got the three counties now, but I've got an increase in the number of troopers. I've got about 14 positions now," Wells said.

"I am responsible for their morale, their work volume, quality of work and personal problems. I counsel with the patrolmen, both in business and personal affairs. And I make check rides with the patrolmen.

They actually are not patrolmen, but troopers. Wells was a DPS "patrolman" after the Clay County native finished a 31/2 year stint in the Navy during World War II and joined the DPS. It was the Texas Highway Patrol then.

He attended patrol school in Austin for 12 weeks and was assigned to the Amarillo division in November, 1948.

"Troopers are better now than they were then. Today, they train for at least four weeks longer and at the academy they cover a lot more subjects in-depth. Back then, we were in the old barracks at Camp Mabry. We didn't have a gym, just dead bermuda grass to train on. Now, we

"There is no torrelation between parimutuel beming and illegal gambling," said Joseph Joyce, president of Chicago's Arlington Park. "I know of no track in this country that is under the control of any kind of criminal invasion."

The state affairs committee sent to subcommimee a bill that would let each county decide whether to legalize parimutuel betting.

Sen. O.H. "Ike" Harris, its sponsor, will be subcommittee chairman.

Harris, R-Dullus, said there was no "sinister plot" behind his proposal. Seventeen or 18 tracks are already operating in Texas on the weekend where, he said, "You can get a bet down. h's illegal but you can get a bet down." A consultant in criminal investigations

Jay Hand of Flower Mound said the state has a "good tradition of law enforcement, and we don't have a tradition of wanting something for nothing which, in essence, wagering turns out to be."

Product Liability Suits Said Crucial

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Product liability suits might be a costly burden to manufacturers but they are "an extremely important deterrent to defective products," a San Antonio trial lawyer says.

Volcanoes Discovered On Jupiter Surface

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Immense volcanoes, the first ever seen erupting on another world, are spitting ash, dust and gas above the orange surface of the moon lo, the latest discovery from Voyager 1's epic encounter with Jupiter.

"It's incredible. We've found five or six erupting volcanoes and they're still finding more," planetary geologist Larry Soderblom said Monday. "This surface has to be the most active in the solar system. The Jovian moon is continually recycling its innards out onto the surface."

The eruptions - which spew volcanic materials nearly 200 miles above lo's surface - were found Friday as scientists at the jet Propulsion Laboratory examined thousands of pictures taken by Voyager. The ship sailed past Jupiter and its moons March 5.

Excited scientists worked through the weekend to confirm the discovery.

One picture shows a fountain of volcanic debris rising like an umbrella over the surface. Another shows at least three volcanoes erupting simultaneously.

Long-dead volcanoes exist on Mars, Mercury and Earth's moon, but these are the first active ones seen anywhere but on Earth. And lo's volcanoes are much more powerful and active than Earth's occasional eruptions, scientists said.

One murder charge was filed against the 27-year-old Stafford and eight more first-degree murder charges were being preared in connection with the slavings of six employees of a Sirloin Stockade steakhouse here last summer and of the Melvin Lorenz family from San Antonio, Texas, found dead earlier near Purcell.

Oklahoma County District Attorney Andrew Coats said the other five charges being drawn up would be filed after Stafford is in custody, however. The three other muder counts will be filed in McClain County, where the Texas residents were killed.

Legislatures Tell Congress To Balance Federal Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) Congress, spurred by the demands of state legislatures, is launching its first full-scale debate on amending the Constitution to require a balanced federal budget.

A Senate Judiciary subcommittee, beginning the process today, was hearing from four senators favoring such a provision and one opposing it.

The panel arranged to hear from Sens. Robert Dole. R-Kan.: John Stennis, D-Miss.: Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.; and Harry Byrd, Ind-Va., who have all proposed such amendments. Proponents of such provisions say a balanced budget would cut federal spending, curb inflation chairman of the Judiciary and avoid interest payments on government debt.

Sen. Edmund Muskie. D Maine, chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, has said Congress must be able to increase spending or cut taxes to counter the threat of a depression brought on by a decline in the economy.

Five of the seven members of the subcommittee favor a budget -balancing amendment. But the chairman, Birch Bayh, D-Ind., has not taken a position.

The hearings are expected to take several weeks.

Yet obstructionists - and this includes sincerely dedicated and honestly motivated environmentalists - contend that nuclear fission is too risky, too

Their arguments in court and before government regulators have been devastatingly effective in delaying, and in many places killing, plans for new nuclear plants. The Wall Street Journal recently reported that it is possible to get a license to build and operate a coal-fired power plant in eight years. But because of all the litigation and red tape it takes 12 years for a nuclear power project.

Last month the situation was made worse when our government's Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) handed the critics some significant ammuni-

Americans are conserving energy. Energy consumption in the United States at the time of the Arab embargo five years ago was increasing 7 percent per year. Presently it is increasing less than 3 percent per year.

But if this decline encourages our nation to retard development of alternative fuels. inevitably we become increasingly dependent on petroleum - increasingly dependent on foreign suppliers.

If the producers of nuclear generators in the United States are presently prospering it is only because they are selling most of their output overseas where backward governments are moving toward energy independence faster than we

I am in the process of covering an old trunk. The other evening, I was loading staples into my staple gun when my husband said, "I don't want to interfere with your project, but I do want to warn you that if you point that staple gun into your eye and squeeze the trigger, you could hurt yourself." "You've ruined my surprise," I said dryly.

"You don't have to be testy about it," he said. "I was only trying to help."

"You are always doing that," I charged.

"1979 NATIONAL 4-H CITIZENSHIP SHORTCOURSE AND HERITAGE TOUR"

Texas 4-H'ers and adult leaders will have an opportunity to participate in two 1979 National 4-H Citizenship Short Courses and Heritage Tours. A total of 108 youth and 12 adult leaders will be able to participate in the grogram. The group will depart from Dallas for each tour on June 12 and:

Delegates will tour historical points of interest enroute to Washington, D.C. The Heritage Tour will take four days and will be highlighted with the Citizenship Short Course at the National 4-H Center.

There will be four more days of return travel studying American heritage, with the event ending in Dallas, June 26 and July 17, respectively. Points of interest to be visited include the Kennedy Center, Arlington National Cemetery, the Capitol and Library of Congress. memorials to great Americans, Mount Vernon, Williamsburg. Monticello and the Museum of Atomic Energy.

The National 4-H Citizenship Short Course and Heritage Tour is designed to supplement the citizenship education and leadership development training young people receive through the home, school, church and other organizations. Citizenship short courses for 4-H members of senior high school age are conducted at the National 4-H Center to supplement the ongoing citizenship training currently provided by local clubs. Listening, sharing, receiving, caring and touring are all a part of the two-week personal learning experiences each 4-Her will have.

Church Discusses Upcoming Plans

. The Women of St. Thomas Episcopal Church met in the church parlor recently for their semi-monthly meeting. Hostesses were Claudia McBrayer, Kendra Plummer, Ellen Smith and Rachel Hine.

The meeting was opened with the devotional given by Frances Hennen on the history of Lent. Francie Farr discussed final plans for the institution of Father Charles Threewit.

A program of sharing Easter lilies is to be carried out on Easter Sunday. This means those persons furnishing plants are to take them after the service. Margaret Betzen was appointed secretary to replace Kendra Plummer who will be leaving Hereford.

The program for each meeting is on "Women of the Bible," and Esther was the woman chosen by Claudia McBrayer for this session. Father Charles explained that the Stations of the Cross, which are now adjorning the sanctuary walls, were made by prisoners in a maximum security prison in California. It was announced that Mr. and Mrs. Billy Smith donated votive candles to St. Thomas in memory of her grandmother.

Those attending in addition to the hostesses and Father Charles were: Margaret Betzen, Mary Waldrup, Rose Anne Smith, Frances Hennen, Billie Ham, Virginia Anstey, Vera Hewitt, Francie Farr and Nancy

Shuttle Bound for Florida

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - The shuttle Columbia is on its way here to change the way America operates in space.

Its stubby delta wings carry the promise of cheaper. far-easier access to space and eventually, perhaps, of orbiting colonies with factories that have almost wearless machinery run by an endless supply of non-polluting energy from the

The immediate goal is to convert new space knowledge into beneficial uses on Earth. The emphasis no longer will be on adventurous exploration and largely scientific quests that marked the previous 31 U.S. manned space flights.

Once the shuttles - each of which can make, 100 space flights - are operational in 1981. Space will cease to be a remote frontier open only to highly trained astronauts. It will become a highway any man or purpose may be able to travel.

For the Kennedy Space Center here, that era begins Saturday, when Columbia arrives, riding piggy-back atop a Boeing 747 jet, from the Rockwell International plant in Palmdale, Calif.

space, landing on a 15,000-foot runway here, it will be refurbished in a hangar, ready to go again in two weeks. In 1983, the second shuttle base will be ready at Vandenberg Air Force Base in California, mainly for military missions conducted by the Defense Department.

At first, the shuttle will do things now assigned to expendable rockets: placing satellites in orbit for communications, weather forecasting, earth resources surveys, scientific research and military reconnaissance. Shuttle crews also will be able to repair satellites in space or bring them back to Earth for work. NASA has come up with a pay-as-you-go plan for those wishing to use the shuttle. The average cost, which will cover all the agency's expenses, is $21 million per flight, which can be shared by one or more users. That's less than half the price of an expendable rocket.

The cost is less for those contributing to shuttle development. That includes the Defense Department; the European Space Agency, which is building a small station called Spacelab; and Canada, which is developing a manipulator arm for repairing and retrieving satellit-

NASA already has sold out the first 28 operational flights, through the first quarter of 1983, many for communications

The agency expects to get much more business as potential customers gain confidence. More than 100 major oil, gas, and engineering firms, for example, have formed a committee to work with NASA to develop shuttle sensors to

· After a shuttle returns from search for Earth's natural resources.

> Pharmaceutical and high technology firms hope to take advantage of weightless orbiting conditions to simplify the manufacture of many items from exotic enzymes to pure vaccines to single-crystal semiconductors to metal alloys that can't be formed in Earth's gravity.

Space factories could evolve from this research and perhaps open up the next industrial revolution, according to some business analysts.

Factories in space would feature almost wearless machinery. Without the physical restraints of gravity, workers and equipment would move about much more easily. And there would be the advent of limitless, non-polluting energy from the sun.

NASA isn't limiting shuttle action to corporate giants and well-heeled government agencies. For as little as $3,000, anyone can reserve space for a legitimate experiment that can be tucked away unattended in a corner of the shuttle.

Several small companies, universities and individuals have nailed down reservations for what NASA calls a "getaway special" program.

The shuttle is about the size of a DC-9 jetliner and can carry up to seven crewmembers and 65,000 pounds of cargo. The shuttles have a maximum orbital life of about 30 days for each flight.

NASA has plans to orbit a 25-kilowatt, solar-powered generator to which the space planes could dock, drawing electricity to extend their lives in orbit to 60-90 days. With unlimited

For later, there is a plan to orbit a 200-kilowatt unit that would permit missions of six months or more. These would enable workers to build space platforms, which could be the foundations for space factories, orbiting stations, giant satellites to transmit the sun's power for use on Earth or for planetary launch pads.

John Yardley, NASA associate administrator for space transportations systems, said the go-ahead for such massive projects would not be based on technology, but on social and political reasoning. The shuttle, he said, can make them possible.

Pistachios in Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) -Faced with the prospect of long lines at beer halls and ice cream parlors, the Carter administration and Congress are considering stringent action to end America's dependence on imported pistachio nuts.

The crisis atmosphere developed when Agriculture Department officials disclosed that Iran is the source of about 65 percent of the pistachios consumed in the United States.

In the best of times, Iran supplies the United States with 39,000 pounds of pistachios daily. An Agriculture Department official said that because of recent unrest, imports from Iran have dropped 28 percent since the first of the year.

And no one at the State Department could say when, if ever, the new Iranian government will restore pistachio nut production to the high levels of recent years.

All these factors have spurred efforts to reduce American dependency on imported pistachios.

of beer. But so far, progress toward 30,000 acres of pistachio trees produced nine million pounds of nuts in 1977, but poor weather conditions last year cut the California crop to seven million pounds.

There is talk on Capitol Hill of encouraging higher domestic production by boosting the price of pistachio nuts beyond the anti-inflation guideline set by the administration.

"We can't let pistachio ice cream become a casualty of the war on inflation," said an advocate of price increases.

However, President Carter is understood to oppose deregulating pistachio prices.

Administration sources say the president believes that once Americans become aware of the gravity of the crisis, they will voluntarily cut back on consumption.

While emphasizing that no final decisions have been made on proposed voluntary standards, administration officials said the one most often mentioned is one nut to a glass

There are sharp differences pistachio independence has within the administration over been uncertain. In California, the question of whether it is

Members of Congress who doubt that a voluntary program would work want the administration to take stronger action. They are pressing Carter to form an interagency task force. under strong leadership, to coordinate governmental efforts to combat the crisis.

Joseph A. Califano Jr., secretary of health, education and welfare, is being mentioned as a likely pistachio czar.

The first job of the task force would be to draw up an allocation system to ensure that no area of the country is deprived of a fair share of the nuts. Some members of Congress, most notably the Wisconsin delegation, want allocations based on beer consumption. However, the ice cream lobby has vowed to fight any such plan.

Low white count

DEAR DR. LAMB - On several examinations I had a low white count around 3,300. I saw a specialist in hematology and had all kinds of tests done including a test of my liver, spleen and my bone marrow. These were all normal and my bone marrow showed plenty of cells. My last white count was normal.

The doctor said he felt that it was probably normal for me to fluctuate but I should probably be checked every two or three months.

Since a year and a half elapsed between my first test and the second low test, I wonder if it is really necessary for me to have tests that often. I was scared at the time I asked the doctor about it. Also, is it necessary for me to see a specialist in hematology or could my own internist manage the prob-

DEAR READER - Low white cell counts are rather interesting. The blood test that is commonly done on everybody to determine their white count is similar to looking at the tip of the iceberg. There are 20 times as many white cells inside the hone marrow that are the bone marrow that are fully matured and ready to be released when needed. Not only that, a large num-ber of white cells ooze out of the circulation into the tissue spaces. There are proba-bly 20 times as many white cells outside your blood vessel in between your various cells as there are inside the circulating blood.

You really can't assess whether a person has a diseased number of white cells or not on the basis of the average blood test. That's why it was necessary to study your bone marrow. Your more recent normal white count and your perfectly normal production of white cells by your bone marrow suggests that you don't have a significant problem. More likely, you had a minor variation in distribution of your white cells so that there was a disproportionate ratio of white cells inside your circulation as compared to those that had already passed out into your tissues. I suspect you have nothing at all to be concerned about but since you were asked to would be wise for you to check with your family doctor or internist in about three months to see what he ing your case.

If you do have repeated episodes of low white count, the most important thing to do would be to protect you against infections. A low white count itself really doesn't present symptoms.
It just decreases the body's resistance to infections. Then, if you get an infection, that is what causes the

would like to do about follow-symptoms.

There are a variety of reasons for transitory lower-ing of white blood cell counts, but since you don't have a history of repeated infections and because you have normal marrow, it's most unlikely it would be a serious matter in your case. Anemias can be caused from a continuous loss of a small amount of blood, inadequate production of red blood cells by the bone marrow, excessive destruction of red cells, not enough iron or not enough vitamin B-12. By MARC HERRING

Brand Sports Editor - Despite the fourth inning home run by Don Weemes and 14 more hits by Hereford, the Amarillo Sandies whipped the host Whitefaces, 16-9, due to the six fielding errors of the

In a game marked by the long hall, the 'Faces could not capture its fourth win of the year s the Sandies used back to back omers' in an eight run seventh ning to break an 8-8 deadlock and hand the Herd its second Joss of the season.

Falling behind 4-0 after two Innings, the diamond squad of oach David Ashby took the lead in the fourth inning by scoring five runs, three of those off of Weemes right field round ripper. Following the home run e trio of Henry Torres. Edward Dominguez and Norman Hill responded with ingles. Hill's driving in two Amarillo came back in the ifth to score one and then three fore in the sixth to take a one un lead, but the 'Faces sponded with a run in the sixth to knot the score at 8-8.

Seventh inning action is what proved disastrous, as two consecutive errors by the Whitefaces gave the Sandies a run and then the back to back roundtrippers by the duo of Brad Lancaster and Jeff McMenamy scored three more runs and the damage was done. Amarillo finished off the inning with four more runs as Coach Ashby could not find a pitcher to halt the Sandie hitting onslaught.

In its share of the seventh the Whitefaces tried to mount a rally, loading the bases and scoring one run with no outs before the Sandies starter. Pat Hrncir was relieved by Tim Koerting to end the 'Faces hopes of any kind of a comeback.

Losing pitcher for the Whitefaces was Ernie Suarez as he was the Herd's third pitcher of the game coming in the middle of the sixth. During the game Coach Ashby used the services of four hurlers to try and stem the Sandie hitting attack. Kevin Bunch started the game, with Lee Schultz relieving him in the fifth and Suarez replacing him in the

Golfers Fourth In Loop Action

HHS golf mentor Terry Russell probably was wondering just who his varsity golfers were last Friday as the Herd JV carded a team total of 339, only one shot worse than the varsity linksters' 338 at the District 4-4A second round played at Plainview's Hillcrest Country

Monterey established a firm grip on the team race with a sparkling 305 for the day as Clif Baggett carded a 73 and teammate Steve Covert scratched to a 74. The Plainsmen lead the district race with a two-round total of 617. Coronado stands second with a 641 total, while Plainview is third at 653. Hereford is fourth after 36 holes of loop action with a 680 total.

"We didn't play well," Russell said after the round Friday. "We picked up some shots on the leaders over the front nine, then we gave everything back..we just could not bring it in."

Miles Goforth's 82 led the Herd for the round, while John O'Rand had an 85, and Bill Kirk carded an 87. Keith Pagett also had a 91 for the varsity.

For the JV, Derek Dirks and Dee Hairgrove posted 81s with Mike Craig coming in at 87 and Greg Robinson and Charles Kerr at 90. Curt Beard also played as a single for the Whitefaces, finishing with a 96.

Monterey's Brian Sheffield leads the individual medalist race after two loop rounds, owning a 148 total after a 78 Friday. Baggett trails by ee shots with a 151 total. The top player for Hereford after 36 holes is Foster, who has a 163

Other totals for Hereford entrants after the two rounds have Goforth at 168, O'Rand at 174, Pagett at 175, and Kirk at

Herd Boys Cop Tennis Crown

Even though the Hereford Whitefaces did not win a first in any match they captured the overall trophy in the annual Hereford Invitational Tennis Tournament in the boys division in action over the weekend:

points in conjunction to its finish, Hereford totaled 48 points to edge second place Plainview, which had 47. In the to four places each place was determined by a single point. Third was Lubbock High with 46 and Clovis took fourth with 45

Points for the Herd were tallied by the doubles teams of Pudgey Vargas and Jimmy Ramariz as they took third place, defeating the team of Smth-Whitley of Clovis, 3-6, 6-0, 6-1. The other doubles team, Roy Rodriquez and Kevin Downing copped fifth by defeating Davila and Starkey of Lubbock High in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4.

In singles action Robert Herrera took fifth place by defeating Jim Butler of Lubbock, 6-1, 7-5. Also Tim Hamlett came back strong in the second and third sets to add seventh place points to the Herd total by beating Robert Martin of Clovis 1-6, 6-3, 7-6.

On the girl's side of the competition, the Whitefaces took second place with 48 points, in-contrast to the 57 of the winner Lubbock High. *

For Hereford, Joni Webb took third by defeating Jennifer Smith of Lubbock High 6-1, 6-1 and Crystal Zinser was sixth after losing to Lisa Doggett of Lubbock 6-3, 6-4. Zinser, normally the No. 4 player for Coach Lawrence Skimbo's squad was playing in the No. 2 position for the tournament.

Doubles action had the team of Carla Driskill and Lisa Blakley take fourth, losing to the Memphis team of Phillips-Ferris, 6-2, 7-6.

In the other doubles match, Claria Montemayor and Lynn Mitts won 7-5, 6-3 over the Memphis team of Fowler and Montgomery to take seventh. Next action for the tennis team will be this weekend as they travel to Lubbock for the Lubbock Invitational Tennis Create the same

Receiving Accolades

Hereford catcher Don Weemes receives congratulations from the rest of the Whitefaces after blasting a two-run homer in the fourth inning of the Herd's 16-9 loss to Amarillo High yesterday at Whiteface Field. Weemes' shot put the 'Faces ahead 5-4, and Hereford went on to score two more runs in the frame to go ahead 7-4. The Sandies rallied with eight runs in the top of the seventh inning, however, to claim the win. Weemes also had a triple and a single in five trips to the plate during the contest. [Brand photo]

CHICAGO (AP) - Indiana State center Larry- Bird, The Associated Press' college basketball Player of the Year. didn't flinch when someone referred to him as pro basketball's "great white hope."

'I'm not a racist," Bird said Tuesday after accepting the Adolph Rupp Trophy, "but there aren't many whites left because there are so many good, great black players. I hope I can hold myself up with them. I know they're waiting for.

Bird, who has led undefeated Indiana State to the No. 1 ranking in the nation, was a first-round draft choice by the Roston Celtics last June but chose to remain in school.

Bird has until 24 hours before the upcoming National Basketball Association draft to sign with the Celtics or he goes back into the pool and probably will be the No. 1 pick.

"I can't comment on that now," he said. "Right now I have only one thing on my mind. the NCAA tournament. I'm pleased I stayed at Indiana State. I think I can come to terms with Boston. If not and Chicago drafts me. I wouldn't mind and I'd love to play with Artis Gilmore.

'Yes, I think the Boston team is suited to my talents," said Bird, "I don't only score. I can sacrifice myself and get the ball to, Dave Cowens and Bob

Bird thanked his teammates in accepting the Rupp Trophy. which is given annually by the Commonwealth Athletic Club of Kentucky in memory of the famed University of Kentucky

"I know a lot of players out there that are great and I'm happy to be the one picked," Bird said at a news conference at which his coach, Bill Hodges, was named College Basketball

"It means a lot to me and my family," said Bird. "If it were not for my teammates, I would not be here. I want to thank them for everything they've done.'

Coach of the Year.

Bird has refused much of the season to talk to newspaper reporters and said the ban was that he was misquoted earlier in the year, and the other was that he wanted to spread the publicity around. "We play basketball to help twofold. He said one reason was ourselves and get an education, and we play to win," said Bird. "If I sit out and refuse to talk to the press, the press will talk to the other players.

"If I let Carl Nicks and the other talk to the press, it helps them. Now they get the publicity they deserve. I can handle the press. I can talk. But when they say something bad and put me down, it hurts my Hodges, 36, is the 13th coach to receive the AP award and the first rookie coach to win it. He was an 11th-hour replacement for Bob King, who suffered a heart attack last fall.

"I will share this award with Bob King," said Hodges, who accepted the award from DePaul's Ray Meyer, the winningest active coach in college basketball.

Silverdome In Running As Super Bowl Site

HONOLULU (AP) - Owners of National Football League teams were scheduled to pick the sites of Super Bowls XV and XVI for 1981 and 1982 today and for the first time a cold weather city held a challenging position.

Should the NFL accept the bid of Pontiac, Mich., and its new Silverdome stadium, it would make the initial time the pro football championship game Pontiac bid. would take place in the northlands.

New Orleans and Miami, two of the traditional southern sites for the game, are rated high, yet Pontiac has support from other cities which brave it through chilly winters. And you can't beat the rent.

A delegation including Gov. William Milliken of Michigan and mayors Coleman Young of Detroit and Wallace Holland of Michigan city promise a cent-free Super Bowl. Bill Connellan, vice chairman of the Oakland County Convetion, bureau, said that even the $1.50 per ticket tax which is mandatory for reduction of stadium bonds will be paid by the -community. Plans are to raise $150,000 for that tax and for training expenses.

The Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif., will host the Super Bowl game on Jan. 20, 1980. NFL Commissioner Pete.

Rozelle, who reported a record 12,771,800 fans watched regular season games in 1978, said, "I was negative." when asked what he felt about the initial

"I'm much more open about it now." he added. "I'm anxious to hear their presenta-

It would appear northern cities hoping to secure domed stadiums would back the Pontiac bid to show the advantages of such structures. And the Detroit Lions, who play in the stadium, have strong friends in the league.

Seattle was expected to bid Pontiac, and supporters of the for 1981 or 1982. But members of its delegation said 1983 was the target dalor " Se Sonia said the outcome of the Pontiac bid was eagerly awaited because the Washington city also has a domed stadium.

However, the Silverdome has a capacity of 80,630; while Seattle's Kingdome seats

In addition to Miami, New Orleans and Pontiac, the bidders today will be Dallas, Houston, Los Angeles and Pasadena.

Softball Meeting Tonight

Anyone interested in being a part of a church softball league for this summer should attend a meeting set for tonight at 7:30 at the First Church of the Nazarene, 248 West 16th, Rick Wood Director of the YMCA announced.

The meeting, to determine the interest of having a league will have discussion concerning costs, schedules and playing locations.

The Hereford Ministerial Alliance is sponsoring the testing according to Bob Huffaker, pastor of the Nazarene Church. If there is enough interest play would begin during the first part of the summer and continue through July. There is a need of at least six teams to comprise a league. with more acceptable.

MIAMI (AP) - Tennis star Jimmy Connors and wife Patti McGuire have purchased a $400,000 penthouse, suite in North Miami Beach, Connors' business adviser said Monday.

"It's positive. They'll be down there in a couple of weeks." said Joe Rountree. Connors' agent.

Connors, 26, was unavailable for comment on The Miami Herald report.

Sycamores Finish Atop Final Cage Rankings

NEW YORK (AP) - It wasn't unanimous, but not everyone believes Indiana State is for real this year - except, of course, those teams who've had the misfortune to play against them.

The Sycamores, 30-0, retained the No. 1-position in the final Associated Press college basketball poll for the 1978-79 season -Tuesday, collecting 50 of 54 first-place votes and 1,072 points in balloting by a nationwide committee of sport writers and broadcasters. UCLA was a distant second.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

In the second round of playoffs to determine the YMCA league champions of the Men's Baksetball League, Hereford Bi-Products used the double figure scoring of Terry Davis (14), Larry Roberts (10) and John Burkhalter (10) to whip the regular season champs, Cheap Trick, 48-43.

In the other game played, the Toters whipped Rush 59-48, with three of their team in double figures. Dave Scott led all scorers with 22 and Wallace Hill added 15 and Craig Nieman 11 to ice the Toters victory.

Third round action will have the Toters going against HBP and the winner of the 89er-Rush game playing Cheap Trick. This is a double elimination tourney with the teams having to loose twice to keep from winning the championship. The only team that has been eliminated is Fry, a forfeit loser to Cheap Trick.
