

City Joins Central Tax District After 3-2 Vote

By JIM STEIERT
Managing Editor

By a 3-2 vote the Hereford city commission opted Monday to participate in the full concept approach to a central tax appraisal district office here.

The move made the city the last major local taxing entity to indicate its intention to participate in a central appraisal and collection approach, and now opens the way for the tax appraisal board to move ahead with its plan to appraise and collect in one central office for the county, city, hospital district and the Hereford and Walcott school districts.

Central appraisal and collection could come as early as February of 1981 following the city's move last night.

The approval did not come without opposition however as Mayor Bartley Dowell and Commissioner Emory Brownlow raised numerous questions over the merits of the central collection concept in a discussion with Fred Fox, chief appraiser, and Melvin Jayroe, a supporter of the central appraisal and collection concept.

"I question if a central office can handle everybody's tax deal for every entity. What will really be done differently in one central office as opposed to the three offices we have now? I don't understand where the efficiency is coming from in this thing," stated Brownlow.

Mayor Dowell cited a case in the city of Tulia in which one entity collected taxes for another.

"They ended up having problems with politics and not getting along. I wonder if we wouldn't have the same thing under this system," stated Dowell.

Following a period of discussion in which Commissioner Wes Fisher pointed out that the state's voters had actually "bought a pig in a poke" in opting for the central appraisal concept, Commissioner Bud Eades moved that the city accept the full concept approach and join the other entities in participating in a central appraisal and collection office.

The motion was seconded by Fisher and Eades, Fisher and Commissioner Ed Copen voted in favor of the motion, with Dowell and Brownlow in opposition.

In other action commissioners considered two zoning change matters.

Ricky Whitehorn appeared before the commission requesting a zoning change for the west 78.71 feet of Lots 21 and 22, and the west 78.71 feet of the north 40 feet of Lot 23, Block 23, Evants Addition from a "B-Two Family" to an "E-Central Business."

Whitehorn explained that he wants to establish a used furniture store at that location.

Commissioners noted letters of opposition from Cook Oil Co., the Charles Hood Estate, the Brown Estate and the Sugarland Co.

Although the possibility of a spot zoning problem was cited as one likely reason for opposition, commissioners agreed that such a change would not constitute spot zoning.

Ultimately, the issue was tabled with commissioners requesting that Whitehorn provide a clearer description of the property in question at the next commission meeting.

City fathers also made plans to invite a member of the city's planning and zoning board to explain the board's reasons for recommending that the request be turned down.

Commissioners denied a second zoning change request from Tommy Hickman seeking to have the north 350 feet of the east half of Block 3, Ricketts Addition changed from "A-Single Family" to "D-1" Zone.

City fathers agreed that in that instance, the request did constitute spot zoning.

Three bids for a new roof surface on the old portion of the Hereford Community Center were opened at Monday night's meeting, with all three bids in excess of $21,000.

Commissioner Wes Fisher moved to reject all of the bids "because this is not a

Front Triggers Thunderstorms, Massive Electrical Display

By JIM STEIERT
Managing Editor

Scattered heavy thunderstorms accompanied the arrival of a cool front in the county Sunday evening and the fast-moving front triggered a powerful electric storm here.

While appreciable amounts of rain fell over widespread areas and should further boost the winter wheat crop, the storm also inflicted some damage in the area.

The fall lettuce crop in an area ranging from Black to Friona to Bovina was severely ly damaged and hail damage was also reported to dryland grain acreage in the western portion of the county.

The brilliant electrical storm of Sunday evening, brought on by winds that gusted up to 50 miles per hour, also resulted in damage to a home in the city of Hereford.

The Ted Royal home at 139 Sunset was struck by lightning shortly after 11 Sunday night and a fire flared up in the attic of the structure.

Hereford volunteer firemen attacked the blaze amidst pouring rain after the Royal family reported the fire.

City Fire Marshal Jay Spain reported that the attic of the Royal home was "severely scorched" as a result of the lightning-induced fire.

Lightning also resulted in a power outage for a portion of the city Sunday night.

Rapidly falling showers left appreciable rainfall accumulations over a wide range of farmland stretching from the dryland wheat country in the western portion of the county to the irrigated farmlands on the eastern border of the county.

One of the heaviest rainfall reports resulting from the Sunday storm came from the John Kuper farm at Summerfield where 2.10 inches of rainfall was logged.

In the dryland country to the west of Hereford Eldred Brown reported that an even inch of rain fell at his home 28 miles west of Hereford and that total climbed to 2.20 inches eight miles west of Brown's home location.

According to Brown, hail accompanied the rain in that area and stripped the meagre feedgrain crop there, meaning that farm operators will likely turn their cattle in on the remnants of the crop.

At the Clint Homfeld farm 47 miles northwest of Hereford, rainfall of .30 inches was recorded Sunday night.

Homecoming Slated This Week

Homecoming activities at Hereford High School are scheduled to get underway Thursday as color and pageantry highlight the annual observance here.

Homecoming events will range from a western dress-up day at the high school through various school decoration contests, the Homecoming Queen contest, a Homecoming parade, and capping it all off—a gridiron match between the Herd and the Tascosa Rebels Friday night.

The theme for Homecoming 1980 is "The Wild, Wild West" and activities are set to get underway Thursday as students dress in keeping with that theme.

Best-dressed boy and girl in the contest will be recognized at the big Homecoming pep rally Friday afternoon.

Also on Thursday, students will begin decorating hallways and classrooms at HHS for Homecoming.

Classrooms will be decorated with maroon and white "chain link" sold by the student council with each class in competition to string up the most links.

Various classes will be responsible for decorating segments of the HHS hallways, with the classes competing in the decoration.

Decorating will continue Friday, with judging of the decorations scheduled for 8:45 Friday morning.

A massive Homecoming pep rally will be one of the highlights of the Friday schedule as students will gather at the HHS gymnasium at 2:15 p.m.

The public, particularly ex-students, are invited to attend the pep rally.

Highlighting the hoopla will be the presentation of the 1980 Homecoming Queen candidates and attendants.

Queen candidates include senior students Shelley Simmons, Mary Jane Garcia and Karen Compton.

The junior attendant is Brenda Straffuss and the sophomore attendant is Kari Walterscheid.

Cleanup Effort On This Week

People are pitching in to help clean up Hereford, and Bunny Anderson, beautification chairman for the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, is asking all Hereford residents to get involved with Clean Up Week.

"We would like everyone to participate in the campaign to clean up Hereford, and the best place to start is at your own home," she said.

McDonald's Restaurant has donated trash bags to help with the campaign. The bags are available at the Chamber of Commerce. Anyone needing trash bags should go by the Chamber office.

"The Hereford High School Key Club is continuing their help with the campaign by offering their services Saturday from 9 a.m. - to noon. Anyone who needs help in cleaning their yards should call the Chamber office a 364-3333 or call me at 364-4901," Mrs. Anderson said.

The committee and the Key Club cleared the Santa Fe Park of weeds and rubbish this past Saturday to officially begin the week-long campaign.

"The Key Club cleared the triangle of land in front of Stanton Junior High in addition to helping us. There are several places like that in Hereford that need to be cleaned, and we are asking everyone to help," Mrs. Anderson said.

FERC Cautions Against 'Civil War'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A member of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission says the nation must avoid the kind of regionalism that could lead to a "civil war" over energy.

But Texas Railroad Commissioner Jim Nugent told FERC member David Hughes that the war has been fought for many years.

Hughes, a former member of the attorney general's staff in Austin, has served on the new federal energy commission since August. He formerly represented the Railroad Commission in legal battles.

Nugent was the host for a Monday hamburger luncheon at which members of the Railroad Commission and reporters questioned Hughes.

Hughes cautioned against a civil war — a figurative one — between the energy producing states and those that do not produce.

"You can't say, 'We have it and no one else can have it,'" Hughes said, adding that Texas has never taken that position.

Settlement Reached In Gas Explosion

DENTON, Texas (AP) — Attorneys for Lone Star Gas Co. and a woman badly burned in a gas explosion at her home last year have refused to disclose details of an out-of-court settlement reached in a $6 million suit. The blast ripped through Sue Burt's residence on March 19, 1979, almost three months after Lone Star officials said leaks in a gas main in front of her home were "not likely to become a hazard."

Mrs. Burt lost the use of her hands and arms as a result of burns she suffered in the explosion. She said she is no longer able to work and has spent much of the past 18 months since the blast undergoing skin grafts, plastic surgery and physical therapy.

"It's not quite all right with this settlement, but I'm glad it's over," she said Monday after the settlement was reached in state district court here.

Historic Brothels Closed Permanently

DEADWOOD, S.D. (AP) — Circuit Judge R.E. Brandenburg said he didn't see much harm in keeping Deadwood's historic brothels open, but he had "a job to do" and closed them permanently.

He expects "a little static on the golf course on Sunday" since his decision Monday is bound to be unpopular with some Deadwood citizens who believe the four brothels helped the town maintain its Wild West flavor.

The brothels had been operating for more than 100 years even though prostitution is illegal in South Dakota. Deadwood citizens tolerated their well-known bawdy houses and even credited them with boosting the town's economy, which relies heavily on tourism.

Brandenburg granted a state request to declare three of the brothels a public nuisance and close them permanently. A hearing on the fourth brothel is set for Thursday.

Police Still Search For Trooper's Killer

SLATON, Texas (AP) — Lawmen across Texas today were looking for a Lorenzo man named in a capital murder warrant issued in the shooting death of a young Texas Department of Public Safety trooper here this weekend.

Trooper Jerry Don Davis was found by colleagues slumped over the steering wheel of his patrol car shortly before midnight Sunday.

The 25-year-old officer had been shot once in the head and was clutching a driver's license in his hand, investigators said.

Billy Wayne Alexander Jr., 21, was named in a capital murder arrest warrant issued by Peace Justice Arvin Stafford.

Two witnesses to the shooting were located by other identification found in Davis' car, said a spokesman in the Lubbock County District Attorney's office who asked not to be identified.

The two men were questioned and released on bond as material witnesses, the spokesman said.

A search of a Lubbock residence where Alexander was believed to be living turned up about 30 pounds of suspected marijuana and his checkbook, he said.

DPS Director James Adams went to Lubbock Monday to coordinate the search.

Weather

West Texas — Fair north and partly cloudy south tonight with widely scattered showers or thunderstorms mainly in the southwest mountains. Mostly fair Wednesday. Highs in the 80s, except 92 in the Big Bend. Lows in the 50s, except 48 mountains.

Store Attendants Victimized

Female attendants at city convenience stores were victimized in incidents early today and Sunday, according to city police, while a Hereford police officer found himself in a tight situation in another incident at a local ballroom Sunday night.

Barbara Powell, an attendant at the 7-11 Store at 13th and 385 told police that a male subject came into the store about 2:20 this morning and indecently exposed himself.

Gracie Barientes, 20, an attendant at the Allsup's Convenience Store at 910 Park Ave. suffered a broken nose in an incident just before 9 p.m. Sunday in which the cash register was robbed.

Police reported that a white male entered the store and placed a magazine and a pop on the counter at the store. When the attendant rang them up and the register opened, the man struck Ms. Barientes in the nose with his fist, grabbed the money from the register and fled.

Police are continuing their investigation of those incidents.

Hereford police officer J.C. Aguilar reported that he was approached by a female about 12:40 a.m. Sunday and informed that a fight was in progress at the Wishing Well Ballroom on Main Street.

Aguilar entered the establishment and found several men fighting.

During his efforts to break up the fight a female subject reportedly attempted to remove the officer's service revolver from his holster, but failed.

Following the fray a total of four men were arrested on charges of public intoxication and public assault.

Two additional arrests for public intoxication, one in connection with the fight at the Wishing Well, were also made Sunday morning in the area of the 100 block of West Second.

Hereford police arrested two men for public affray in the 300 block of west 6th Monday when they responded to a call and found the men on the ground fighting.

The Phillips 66 station at Park and 385 reported that an undetermined amount of cash was missing from one of the cash registers at that location Monday.

Police investigated a prowler report at 429 Paloma Lane Saturday night and also checked a report on the theft of a purse from a truck parked at Ave. H and 13th.

Officers issued a total of 12 traffic citations over the weekend and an additional nine citations on Monday, investigating one minor traffic accident Monday.

Brilab Prosecutors To Call Only '1 or 2' More Witnesses

HOUSTON (AP) — Prosecutors say they expect to call only one or two more witnesses before closing their bribery-extortion case against Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton and Austin lawyers Donald Ray and Randall Wood.

And as the Texas Brilab case moves into the fourth week of trial, the first order of business is cross-examination of prosecution witness Bob Johnson, a member of the State Employees Retirement Board.

Johnson was appointed to the board by Clayton and is one of the six members responsible for awarding the $76-million-a-year state employees health insurance contract.

Clayton, Ray, Wood and labor leader L.G. Moore were indicted June 12 by a federal grand jury on charges of extortion, racketeering, bribery and conspiracy arising from an alleged scheme to award kickbacks in return for the lucrative contract.

Moore is to be tried at a later date.

Last week, Johnson testified he had met with the speaker two or three times to discuss reopening the bidding on the contract. Johnson was opposed to the insurance program in effect during the time of the Brilab investigation and said he personally wanted to see several other offers that might give state workers more benefits at less cost.

Defense attorneys have estimated they will need two to three weeks to present their case. Clayton, Ray and Wood all are scheduled to testify in their own behalf.

The government claims Clayton accepted a $5,000 bribe with a promise of an additional $500,000 a year if the bidding was reopened and the business was awarded to Prudential Insurance Co.

The veteran legislator, who has served three terms as speaker and had ambitions of seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1982, is accused of taking the money Nov. 8, 1979, during a meeting with Moore and FBI informant Joseph Hauser.

Hauser posed as a representative of Prudential during the session and according to secret FBI tape recordings, counted out $5,000, gave it Moore, who in turn, gave it to the speaker.

Hauser now is serving a 30-month prison term on an earlier insurance fraud conviction.

Clayton acknowledged taking the stack of $100 bills but said he thought it was a campaign contribution and planned to return it to Moore at a later date.

The speaker said he gave the money to his executive assistant Russell "Rusty" Kelley and told him to put it in a safe place.

Kelley testified last week he placed the money in a locked desk drawer and there it stayed until it was turned over to federal officials after the Brilab investigation became public knowledge.

District Rotary Governor To Visit

Wayne Sturdivant, district Rotary governor, will address Hereford Rotarians Monday, Oct. 13 at their regular noon meeting at the Hereford Community Center.

Prior to Monday's appearance, Sturdivant will visit the Hereford Rotary Club's antique car show Sunday at the Bull Barn.

A member of the Downtown Amarillo Rotary Club, Sturdivant is a senior partner in the law firm of Gibson, Ochsner and Adkins. He was elected to office at the Rotary International convention in Chicago in June, 1980 and will serve through June, 1981.

Sturdivant is one of 381 Rotary governors throughout the world who are representatives of Rotary International in districts composed of member clubs. Each district leader supervises the clubs in this area.

budgeted item and the bids do seem high."

The motion was approved unanimously and commissioners discussed plans to "flood coat" the roof at the community center to repair leaks.

Commissioners opted to up the engineering fees for Consulting Engineer Bill McMorries from seven percent to eight percent of contracts following a request presented by McMorries.

McMorries pointed out that Hereford was one of the last cities still operating on the seven percent basis, with most now allowing the eight percent figure.

The increase will not affect present construction, but only new building.

The Johnny Jesko farm at Westway logged .80 inches of moisture from the storm.

Northwest Grain, located west of Farmer's Corner recorded an even two inches of rainfall at the elevator location while an average rainfall total of 1.5 inches was reported in the elevator's surrounding vicinity.

The H.L. Hershey farm 13 miles northeast of Hereford logged 1.5 inches of rainfall and the Carl Kleuskens farm northeast of Hereford near the Dawn area logged 1.60 inches.

June Owens reported 1.10 inches of rainfall from five miles east of Hereford.

Tom Draper reported .90 inches of rainfall from his farm on the Deaf Smith-Castro County border southeast of Hereford.

KPAN radio logged .75 inches of rain in Hereford.

The arrival of Sunday's cool front was marked by an 18 degree drop in temperature in a time span of only 15 minutes. Gusty winds and blowing dust preceded the rainfall.

Showers again delayed progress on the fall corn harvest as well as the beginning of the sugar beet harvest in some localities here.

The additional moisture was welcomed for the winter wheat crop here, however, as it came at a good time following soaking showers about two weeks ago that helped the crop sprout and root down well.

Continued favorable fall showers should vastly improve wheat grazing prospects here and will allow farmers on irrigated acreage to get their crop established with less watering.

On the heels of the pep rally will come the Homecoming parade.

Parade entries will form up on the east parking lot at HHS and proceed down Ave. F past Stanton Junior High, west on Park Ave. to Main, then southward to East Second.

Each class will have a float entered in the parade in keeping with the western theme, and Hereford's junior highs will also have parade entries.

High school entries will compete for top honors in the parade.

Additional parade entries will include the HHS "Big Red Band" plus the Stanton and La Plata junior high bands, the HHS Drill Team, HHS cheerleaders and several small floats and cars entered by local clubs.

In a departure from a tradition of the past several years, the winning floats will not be on display at Whiteface Stadium Friday night, but will be available for public viewing on the east parking lot at HHS from 8:05 a.m. until the parade begins at 3 p.m. Friday.

The grid meeting between Hereford and Tascosa will set the scene for additional pageantry Friday night, but local fans are reminded they'll need to be at the game early to see it all.

According to Robert Priest of HHS, UIL regulations dictate that halftime festivities must be kept to 15 minutes, so a portion of the Homecoming rituals at the field will be held prior to the 7:30 p.m. kickoff.

According to Priest, Homecoming Queen candidates will be wheeled around the stadium track in convertibles and presented to the public at about 7:10 Friday evening.

The Herd will then take the field against Tascosa's Rebels at 7:30.

Highlighting the Homecoming game will be the crowning of Homecoming Queen during halftime activities.

Closing out Homecoming activities here will be a get-together for all ex-students Saturday at 1 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center.

Ex-students, particularly the 1980 grads who would like to have their annuals signed by their classmates, are invited to attend that function, which is sponsored jointly by the HHS Student Council and the annual staff.

Another Iraqi Drive Expected

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Western correspondents say Iraq has captured the port area of Khorramshahr, Iran's chief port, and a drive on nearby Abadan and its giant refinery was expected.

Iraq's air force attacked Tehran, the Iranian capital, on three sides, and there was an unconfirmed report that the local oil refinery was hit, the official Iranian news agency Pars reported. Tehran Radio said the raiders killed four people, wounded 60 and damaged a factory and the airport.

Meanwhile, Jordan's King Hussein became the first Arab chief of state to declare open, concrete support for Arab Iraq in the 16-day-old war. He ordered mobilization of all transport vehicles to carry food and supplies to the Iraqi army, was reported landing bases to the Iraqi air force and in a broadcast urged all Arab nations to support the Iraqis against the non-Arab Persians of Iran "because a victory for Iraq will be a victory for all Arabs."

Sources in Beirut said the Soviet Union, Iraq's chief supplier of arms, was shipping ammunition, spare parts and other war materiel to its ally via the Jordanian port of Aqaba. The sources said the shipments were coming from Soviet stockpiles in South Yemen and Ethiopia.

Iraq continued to deny the reports of decisive Iraqi advances in Khorramshahr, one of the chief targets of Iraq's drive to control the adjacent Shatt al-Arab estuary. It said its forces remained "in full control" of the city.

But Western reporters who visited there Monday reported the Iraqis in firm control of the vital port area. They said Iranian artillery fire could no longer reach the port and the only Iranians still fighting in the city were small pockets of snipers.

Khorramshahr had been under siege and heavy artillery and air attack since soon after Iraqi forces invaded Iran to secure full control of the Shatt al-Arab, the 120-mile waterway that connects the Iraqi port of Basra as well as Iran's Khorramshahr and Abadan with the Persian Gulf. Iraq claimed several times to have captured the city, and Iran denied the claim each time.

The civilian population was reported to have fled early in the siege.

The Iraqi news agency said the air raid on Tehran Monday was in retaliation for Iranian air attacks on civilian targets in Iraq.

"The Iraqi air force is able to shake the ground under their feet and is able to destroy any target deep inside Iran," an Iraqi communique said.

An Iranian communique said four people were killed and 25 wounded when Iraqi jets bombed Koubdash, in the central sector of the war front about 50 miles from the Iraqi border.

An Iraqi communique said Iranian jets bombed civilian targets near the cities of Kirkuk, Hajomran, Amara and Iftikhar. Iran denied its planes raided civilian areas of Iraq.

Bikers Pedal for Funds For Children's Hospital

Twenty-six local bikers pedaled in the Hereford Wheels for Life Bike-a-thon Saturday to raise funds for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

"The riders, though few in number, showed that Hereford understands the importance of research being done at St. Jude Hospital," said Ann Lueb, Bike-a-thon Chairman. "Everyone who participated did a wonderful job."

"The money raised from the ride will help continue the research into childhood cancer and other catastrophic diseases," Mrs. Lueb said. "Children here and everywhere will be helped by this bike-a-thon and the progress being made at St. Jude Hospital."

The winners of prizes donated by local merchants, Knight of Columbus and St. Anthony's Womens Organization were Brendon Banner, Richard Sanderson, Scott Edwards, Chris Burrus, Lori Sanders, Nikki Lindeman, Jennifer Scott and Wendy Connally.

Eight riders completed the full 20 lap maximum. They were Jason Lueb, Chris Burrus, Brendon Banner, Dee Nall, Ethan Burelsmith, Shawn Ortiz, Wendy Connally and Chris Connally.

Winners of savings bonds for the top money riders will be announced after all funds are collected.

Mrs. Lueb urged all sponsors and riders to turn in their donations this week at 500 E. 5th or to Mrs. James Burrus at 106 Ave. I.

Making a Lap for Life

Ann Landers

A Boost for Liver Foundation

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You are a gift from heaven! In one fell swoop you have educated more people about liver disease than we could have in 10 years. In four days we have received over 6,000 letters requesting information, and we expect at least 6,000 more.

Hundreds of people who wrote said it is assumed that all liver problems are a result of drinking. Young people with hepatitis have difficulty convincing others that they don't take drugs.

We are eternally grateful for the tremendous assistance you have given us by letting people know we exist. You have given the Liver Foundation a boost that compares with the eruption of Mount St. Helens. On behalf of the board of directors - we thank you. - Thelma King Theil (Executive Director)

DEAR THELMA: I am delighted that the mention in my column produced such good results. I, too, have received a great many letters of appreciation. Here is a sample:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You will never know how happy I was when I read in your column the common misconceptions about liver disease.

My husband died of cirrhosis last year, and the man never touched a drop of alcohol. So many of my relatives and friends said, "I never knew George drank." When I told them, "He didn't," they looked at me as if I was a liar or a fool. No comments were made, but I knew they didn't believe me.

I clipped your column, had copies made and sent them to 15 relatives and friends. Now I can hold my head up - and more important, I can vindicate George. God bless you. - Grateful In New York

For those of you who have missed the original column, if you want to learn more about diseases of the liver and help fund research for the problems, please write for literature. The address: The Liver Foundation, 30 Sunrise Terrace, Cedar Grove, N.J. 07009. It's free and written in language anyone can understand. But do send a self-addressed, stamped envelope, please.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am enclosing the newspaper clipping in case you don't believe me.

Here is a London society beauty who didn't know which one of six fathered her child, so she invited all six to the christening and gave the baby six names - one after each of the candidates. She also bestowed on each man the honor of being godfather. The six men, all young upper-middle-class bachelors, make a half-circle around the baptismal font. The mother is in her 20s. She is the daughter of an English peer.

The editor of a high-class journal that traces bloodlines of British aristocracy was on hand to write up this event as evidence that the world is changing. What do you think of a clergyman who would participate in a fiasco like this? - Disgusted In Ohio

DEAR DIS: Well - that's show biz. Queen Victoria must have been whirling in her grave. Thanks for sharing.

Mrs. Panceria Gives Book Review to Club

Mrs. Ted Panceria, considered to be one of the top book reviewers in the clubs of Top of Texas District reviewed "Texas Women in Politics" by Sarah Weddington to members of Summerfield Study Club recently at K-Bob's Steak House.

Mrs. Panceria was quoted in saying, "this book tells of a new Texas Heritage, one built by women for the benefit of all future citizens. It's publication marks a crucial step in the ever increasing number of women entering public life. Club women will find that the study of this book provides a unique education on the involvement of women in the State of Texas."

"Not only does the book explain the variety of work in which women are involved, it also reaches for the personal aspect by including thoughts of these women on how they feel about running for and holding public offices," she continued.

Among the women of Texas Mrs. Panceria discussed were 'Ma' Ferguson, Lady Bird Johnson, Margie Neal, Oveta Culp Hobby, Ann Armstrong, Barbara Jordan, Sarah Hughes and many others.

In conclusion Mrs. Panceria stated, "the woman in public life is the most overwhelming, inspiring, refreshing, political forces to come along in 100 years."

Theme for the monthly meeting was "Americanism." Dining tables were decorated with fall flower arrangements and the meditation was read by Mrs. J.R. Euler.

Mrs. Euler also lead members in the pledge of allegiance, while Mrs. Ray Johnson, yearbook chairman, introduced Mrs. Panceria.

"What Americanism Means To Me" was read by Mrs. Thurman Atchley. She stated, "among the many things America means to me I quote from the song 'Sweet Land of Liberty, I love thy rocks and rills, thy woods and emptied hills, O beautiful for spacious skies, for amber waves of grain, for purple mountains majesty above the fruited plains."

Following this, Mrs. Clayton Sanders, president, presided over the business. Mrs. Guy Walsler gave the Federation report, "Right to Vote - what are we as club women going to do to combat the public indifference to voting?"

"As club women, let us turn the tide by going to the polls in November and by persuading one other person to vote," stated Mrs. Walsler.

Mrs. L.H. Lookingbill Sr., Girlstown USA chairman, reported a box of clothing had been sent to Borger. Plans were made to go to TFWC Tops of Texas board meeting and workshop Oct. 14 in Perryton.

Board members are Mmes. Clayton Sanders, Jerry Don Lance, Ray Johnson, and Lloyd Lookingbill.

Guests present at the meeting included Mmes. Floyd Coleman, Arnold Powell, G. Almanza, Chas Holt, Jerry Don Noland, Earl Lance Jr., and Ted Panceria.

At Wits End

By ERMA BOMBECK

The fashion forecast for fall is definite now: "Trends out of the west prevailing as far east as New York with intermittent gusts of boots, jeans and big hats. Cowboy garb widely scattered throughout the country with increasing interest in buckskin and fringe."

Some experts who interpret trends for a living say America is turning "back to basics." A professor in Alabama said our love affair with the cowboy is symbolic of our needs to return to traditional sex roles.

For me, it's a chance to finally understand the West. You're looking at a woman who has seen every Western ever made from Smiley Burnett to Roy Rogers, from Gabby Hayes to John Wayne, from Newman to Redford. There were a lot of things I never figured out. Like how come cowboys traveled in pairs. One was always handsome and smart, and one was a comical sidekick who always got the horse who shied his gums when he laughed and pulled the blanket off him as he slept.

I never understood why the Indians in the movie had vaccinations and danced like they were choreographed by Bob Fosse.

And I could never figure out why, if their method of travel was so primitive, their luggage arrived with them in Denver instead of on a stagecoach for St. Louis.

But mostly, I could never understand the fashions of the times. You'd see a one-room log cabin out in the middle of a Godforsaken prairie. There were no rugs on the floor, no running water, a wood stove, no windows and out on the porch was the heroine wearing a cross-your-heart bra that lifted as it separated.

I couldn't fathom cowboys who could work all day in high-heeled boots and never complain about swollen ankles and aching feet.

And when were wrinkles invented? Surely within the last decade, because I once saw a cowboy sleep in his clothes, fall off a cliff into the rapids, climb a mountain, choke a rattlesnake in the dust and when they hung him from a tree he looked like he had just stepped out of a bandbox.

Is it possible cowboy clothes haven't changed in a hundred years? The shirts were always fitted? The pants perma-pressed? Good grief! The big "G" Kirk Douglas wore on his spurs makes sense now. It didn't stand for Gunslinger. It stood for Gucci!

Hospital Auxiliary Presents Petition

After presenting a petition to the Deaf Smith General Hospital administrator Jim Bullard, concerning enlarging the window in obstetrics, members of the hospital auxiliary were informed of a present law concerning square footage in nurseries and fire hazards making the project impossible. The petition was presented to the administrator by Grace Covington and Mary Johnson.

During the auxiliaries monthly meeting at Dickies

Restaurant, with Anne Ker-shen presiding, Lupe Cerda gave the financial report. Members were also reminded and urged to vote on election day.

It was announced that tickets to be sold on a clock radio will be given away at the auxiliaries bake sale Nov. 25 in the hospital entry, and that plans were underway for re-stocking the hospital gift shop.

Grace Covington gave a report on correspondence from State Hospital Auxiliaries District Meeting, and Merle Boozer was introduced as a new member.

Additional notes included the date of the auxiliaries next meeting, Nov. 3 at 11:45 a.m. in the hospital boardroom. This will be a brown bag lunch.

Additional members present were Mary Williamson, Juanita Bennett, Marger Mehlberg, Trini Gamez, Gwen London, Baxter London, Theda Seiver, and Marilyn Larson.

Bargains Available in Used Cars

COLLEGE STATION--Used-car savvy can add up to dollars in your pocket, says Bonnie Piernot, a family resource management specialist.

A used car will require a smaller investment of capital, a smaller down payment and will have a lower depreciation rate than a new car if you are choosy, she explains.

Mrs. Piernot is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

USED-CAR SHOPPING
Do your homework first. Read the classified ads and a current book of wholesale prices, she recommends.

A critical eye will give clues to the car's history and approximate worth.

Check the general appearance of the car, and then check the paint and chrome for signs of repainting and accidents. Also, check ripples and dents, door, hood and trunk alignment, rust and salt corrosion and tire wear.

Inspect the engine for signs of oil leaks and the odometer for correlating overall appearance and mileage.

After going over the car, take it out for a road test. Never buy an automobile without one, the specialist advises.

Check the acceleration, the clutch on a manual transmission, the automatic transmission, steering and brakes. Beware of any noises for which you cannot locate the source.

LEGISLATION
Used-car buyers in the United States also benefit from legislation which helps them determine if a car has an uncorrected defect affecting its reliability of safety, she continues.

To find out, write the manufacturer or call the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration's Auto Safety Hotline and give the following information: the car's make, model, year, body type and vehicle identification number.

Continental U.S. residents can call the hotline toll-free at 800-424-9393. Residents of Alaska, Hawaii and Washington, D.C. call 200-426-0123.

ODOMETER LAW
Another advantage for the used-car buyer is the odometer law, Mrs. Piernot says.

This law makes it illegal to turn back, adjust or tamper with the odometer, and it requires that the buyer be given a written, signed statement that the mileage noted on the odometer is correct.

If the actual mileage is not known, this must be stated in writing.

This statement should also include the seller's name and address, vehicle identification data, and a sentence referring to the law and the liability incurred if the information is incorrect, she adds.

4-H Firsthand

4-H Week Theme Is 'Expanding Horizons'

By AGNES TAYLOR
County Extension Agent

Deaf Smith County 4-H members will be joining some 140,000 boys and girls in Texas and more than five million across the nation in celebrating National 4-H Club Week, October 5th through 11th.

Theme of this year's observance will be "Expanding Horizons." The theme challenges 4-H youth to seek new knowledge and skills and to build on personal strengths to become better citizens and leaders. The Extension Service is the parent organization of 4-H.

To celebrate the weeklong event, 4-H'ers will be conducting a number of special activities, including advertising through posters and displays in the Sugarland Mall, radio spots and newspaper articles about individual clubs.

4-H is the nation's largest out-of-school educational youth organization which offers unique learning experiences for youth through its time-tested "learning-by-doing" approach. 4-H'ers become involved in a variety of practical, real-life activities that range from agriculture and clothing to health and wood science. Programs vary according to youth needs and community resources.

4-H involves youth from all social and economic backgrounds and gives them an opportunity to key in such vital issues as energy conservation, better human nutrition, wise use of natural resources, and combating inflation. Furthermore, 4-H helps boys and girls gain knowledge and skills for their future careers.

In addition to recognizing the 4-H program and the many opportunities it offers our nation's youth, National 4-H Week is also a time for recognizing the work of the many volunteer leaders who give unselfishly of their time and resources to help youth grow and develop. 4-H boasts more than half a million volunteer leaders across the nation; 22,000 of those are in Texas and 130 are in Deaf Smith County.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

President Declares This Week As Consumer Education Week

The man behind the counter says it's his best model. They all look shiny and new, but the big difference between appliances is in fine print: how much energy it takes to operate; which parts are guaranteed for how long; and how to file a claim if the appliance malfunctions.

Many consumers aren't aware of these basics to buying. And it's true consumers cannot exercise rights they don't know they have.

When President Carter declared the week of October 5-11 as National Consumer Education Week, he asserted his overwhelming conviction that "every citizen can benefit from knowing more about consumer laws, rights and avenues of redress." He points out that "educated consumers can do much to ensure genuine competition, increased productivity, higher quality and lower prices in the marketplace."

In line with the President's proclamation for a National Consumer Education Week, Governor Bill Clements signed a resolution marking the week beginning October 5 as Consumer Education Week in Texas. In the resolution Governor Clements stated that "Consumer Education is vital in understanding the role of the consumer, the producer, and government in a free-enterprise system." The Governor also noted that as "the marketplace in Texas has become more technical and sophisticated, consumer problems grow in number and complexity." The resolution points out that students in the public schools of Texas have the opportunity to develop lifetime decision-making skills from the broad-based discipline of Vocational Homemaking Education.

Governor Clements resolved that "recognition be given to Vocational Home Economics Educators, Business and Government leaders who diligently work toward improved consumer education."

Consumer education, a major part of the vocational home economics program in 925 public school districts in the state, is being heralded as basic to survival in our age, and a potential boost to the American market.

Dianne Porter Davis, President of the Vocational Homemaking Teachers Association of Texas (VHTAT) states that consumer education is economics put into real world, understandable terms.

"Developing a working knowledge of consumer citizenship in students is one of our major objectives," states Davis, who is also a classroom teacher at John Jay High School, San Antonio. "Consumer education as taught in vocational home economics examines all aspects of the consumer in a free-enterprise system--buying, methods of buying, management of financial resources, renting and leasing, securing insurance, and understanding consumer legislation such as the Truth-in-Lending Act and the Fair Packaging and Labeling Act. Our homemaking students are developing lifelong decision-making skills for the best management of total resources."

Consumer Education Week is being observed by home economics educators and students in public schools and colleges across the state. These activities include informative programs and displays to tell the public about consumer citizenship.

The Newspaper Bible

I CAN'T BUT CHRIST CAN...AND DID!

The law is good, then, and the trouble is not there but with me, because I am sold into slavery with Sin as my owner.

I don't understand myself at all, for I really want to do what is right, but I can't. I do what I don't want to - what I hate.

I know perfectly well that what I am doing is wrong, and my bad conscience proves that I agree with these laws I am breaking.

But I can't help myself, because I'm no longer doing it. It is sin inside me that is stronger than I am that makes me do these evil things.

I know I am rotten through and through so far as my old sinful nature is concerned. No matter which way I turn I can't make myself do right. I want to but I can't.

When I want to do good, I don't; and when I try not to do wrong, I do it anyway.

Now if I am doing what I don't want to, it is plain where the trouble is: sin still has me in its evil grasp.

It seems to be a fact of life that when I want to do what is right, I inevitably do what is wrong.

I love to do God's will so far as my new nature is concerned;

But there is something else deep within me, in my lower nature, that is at war with my mind and wins the fight and makes me a slave to the sin that is still within me. In my mind I want to be God's willing servant but instead I find myself still enslaved to sin.

So you see how it is: my new life tells me to do right, but the old nature that is still inside me loves to sin. Oh, what a terrible predicament I'm in! Who will free me from my slavery to this deadly lower nature? Thank God! It has been done by Jesus Christ our Lord. He has set me free.

Pairs Off Against Plainview Net Team Today

HHS Tennis Team Beats LHS, Splits with Borger

By MAURI MONTGOMERY
Brand Sports Editor

There was a distinct feeling of uneasiness flaking off head varsity tennis coach Robert Cox following his squad's partially effective stance against Borger and a very easy tally over Levelland (9-0, 4-0) this past weekend in a dual-match affair between the three teams.

After the boy's singles and doubles teams capped an 8-1 victory over the overrouted Borger squad, it seemed only natural the girls would follow in their footsteps — the girls fooled mother nature by losing the match 6-3.

And that was what worried Cox the most as his team went into one of its most difficult matches of the year against host-team Plainview today — he didn't want any surprises.

"Our girls are still committing the same mistakes they were making earlier in the season," he said. "We, as of yet, haven't found an effective doubles combination that we can work with and it that segment (girls doubles) that's hurting our overall game."

In boys singles competition with Borger, the Whiteface crew managed to sweep every match.

Trent Thomas (one of the top-seeded HHS single players) lost his first set of the day 1-6 against Jeff Pirtle, but came back with wins in the last two 6-4, 7-5. Adolfo Garcia creamed David Finley 6-1, 6-2; Raymond Duncan took a split set victory over Clint Murley 2-6, 4-7, 6-6; Robert Castro won easily over Tom Gray 6-2, 6-1; Borger's Darin Allen blitzed Eddy Lindeman in first set play, but then fell 3-6, 3-6 to the Hereford netter in the later stage of the match; and Danny Perez knocked off Don Sahli 6-2, 6-3.

In doubles competition, the Whiteface net squad managed to cap wins in all but one match as Trent Thomas-teaming with Adolfo Garcia were defeated in a split set 6-7, 6-4, 6-3 decision by duo Pirtle-Finley. Doubles team Duncan-Castro blasted Murley-Gray 6-0, 6-1 while Lindeman-Perez capped handy wins over the Allen-Sahli squad to complete play in the boys division of play.

The HHS girls squad had somewhat more trouble in their showing than their teammates had, however.

Kims Sims lost her match with Leslie Eddins 3-6, 6-4, 6-0; Claire Montemayor was downed by Tricia Hawkins 1-6, 6-2, 6-4; Carol Zinser fell to Allissa Kirlesy 6-2, 6-4 and BHS's Ginny Marcum landed 6-3, 6-2 victories over Beth Frye.

Both HHS teams managed to make a go of it in its competition against the Levelland Lobos though.

The boys literally defied any victorious efforts put on by the opposing LHS team after they cinched wins in every match of the day in both singles and doubles.

Thomas clipped Scott Barton with the only close match of the day 2-6, 6-4, 6-1. Garcia ripped Randy Rawls 6-0, 6-2; Castro routed Mirt Nevil 6-2, 6-1; Lindeman put away Mitchell Pearce 6-0, 6-2 while Perez rolled over Johnny Waggoner 6-0, 6-2.

"The HHS girls singles and one doubles team skunked every opponent they faced in the Levelland ranks also. Sims unraveled Sherrie Harmon 6-2, 6-2; Carol Zinser defeated Donna Kirland 6-4, 6-3 and Dolly Montemayor rounded out the straight wins in singles competition with a 6-1, 6-1 victory over Ginger Mitchel.

Sisters Dolly and Claire Montemayor participated in the only doubles contest to be run-off in the affair and defeated Harmon-Kirland with little difficulty 6-4, 6-2.

"We're going to have our hands full against Plainview because they've defeated us earlier this year," Cox said. "The secret to winning this match today will be to win our No. 1, 2, 3 matches of the tourney. Those particular spots on our roster will have their work cut out for them because they'll be close matches. I think we can win the others — the No. 4, 5, and 6 positions."

"We're just going to have to win two out of three of our doubles matches before we can expect to compete with Plainview, and that's something we've been faltering in."

Annual Oklahoma, Texas Shootout Expected To Draw Big Crowds

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The ad in the Dallas newspaper came to the point: "Save my marriage, need two OU-Texas tickets. Need not be together." With the annual Oklahoma-Texas shootout in Dallas less than a week away, tickets for the football clash are selling for $75 to $200, a check in Oklahoma City and Dallas showed Monday.

Melvin and Judy Frick made their annual plea for tickets by placing an eight-word advertisement in the Daily Oklahoman.

"OU-Texas, Loyal OU family desperately needs tickets," the ad read. "It's the family line that gets them. We needed 10 tickets for us and our children and we got the last of them this weekend," Mrs. Frick said.

She said the family bought two at $40 each, four at $30 each and four at the regular price. Mrs. Frick advised fans who still need tickets after arriving in Dallas to meet chartered buses as they arrive at hotels. There are always people who have a few extras to sell at regular price, she said.

One Texan is asking alumni at both universities to carry their loyalty a bit far by trading class rings for tickets. The rings, resold for gold content, bring about $75.

Ticket brokers, operating legally in Texas, are asking and apparently getting $75 to $200 per ticket. Brokers report prices and number of tickets sold have increased following OU's 82-42 record-setting victory over Colorado Saturday.

Tickets sank to a low of $35 following Oklahoma's loss to Stanford a week ago, brokers said.

Karate Return

Whiteface netter Adolfo Garcia eyes a return shot with a karate expert's concentration in his singles match with Levelland's David Finley during a dual-match tournament the Hereford squad had with LHS and Borger teams this past weekend here. Adolfo won the match very easily as did the whole boy's team with 6-1, 6-2 wins over his opponent. The HHS team was scheduled to pair off against Plainview today in Plainview in ongoing play. (Brand photo by Robert Cox)

Faces Phillies In NL League Playoffs

Houston Scorches Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ken Forsch, soaked in champagne, predicted his Houston Astros would beat the Philadelphia Phillies in the National League playoffs — yet he was so excited he couldn't predict what he would do.

Forsch, 12-13 on the season, must face Philadelphia ace Steve Carlton tonight in the opener of the best-three-of-five series for the title.

"I'm so excited about our beating Los Angeles that I haven't even thought about the next game," said Forsch. "I'll think about it on the plane trip to Philadelphia."

He doesn't think the West's single game playoff after a deadlocked finish would hurt the Astros, explaining, "We might have arrived in Philly and got all nervous waiting for the game."

Houston finally, after 19 years, won its division with a convincing 7-1 victory over the Dodgers, who had beaten the Astros three straight to knot the regular season at 92-70 and force the single game playoff on Monday afternoon.

"I've been waiting for this 14 years," declared an equally champagne-soaked Joe Niekro, who pitched the victory and allowed only six hits. "I started out with my knuckler, went to the fast ball and then back to the knuckler."

He befuddled the Dodgers, who had won the past three games with home runs but didn't get a ball to the fence this time.

Niekro's teammates had jumped on Dodger starter Dave Goltz for four runs in the first three innings and added three in the fourth. Four were driven in by first baseman Art Howe, who hit a two-run homer in the third and a two-run single in the fourth after Rick Sutcliffe had relieved Goltz.

The Dodgers never could fathom Niekro, who notched his 20th victory of the season, and even the fans became frustrated.

In the last of the fourth, as the Dodgers scored their only run, debris was hurled onto the field. When a roll of toilet tissue was hurled out of the left field bleachers, home plate umpire Doug Harvey sent the Astros to their dugout and halted play.

The suspension lasted only three minutes as fans were warned their conduct could bring a forfeit in the playoff game.

Earlier, the entire Houston club had charged to home plate after Dodger catcher Joe Ferguson kneed Astro catcher Alan Ashby after making a putout at home.

Second baseman Joe Morgan of the winners, and twice the National League's most valuable player with champion Cincinnati teams, commented, "We've been through it now. We've shown poise and determination and refused to let the Dodgers take it away from us. I think we'll beat the Phillies."

Manager Bill Virdon added, "The Phillies are a fine team, and in Steve Carlton we'll be facing one of the best if not the best. It will be rough starting this playoff so soon, but this team is more capable than anybody gives it credit for."

Carlton, 24-9 on the season, pitches left-handed and the Astros are best against right-handed pitching. They lost to Dodger southpaws Jerry Reuss, Steve Howe and Fernando Valenzuela, the latter a 19-year-old reliever.

Art Howe, who came up from the semipro ranks to sign with Pittsburgh in 1971, said he hit a hanging curve for his homer and a fast ball for his two-run single.

The Astros already had attacked starter Goltz thanks to inept Dodger fielding in the first inning.

Mediocrity Abounds In Fearless Group

MEDIOCRITY HATH NO NAME - that was the creed, the conviction and the general misconception brandished by some of the newspaper staff's finest going into the Fearless Sports Soothsayers competition a mere five weeks ago. But after last week's less than adequate results, it became readily apparent mediocrity knew every one of us on a first name basis. There was Montgomery (from now on to be referred to as me or I depending on which of the two pronouns best suits a sentence).

Mauri Montgomery

was the little stocky guy who always had words to the wise - the one who had the opportunity to make himself appear better than his picks revealed through the use of yellow journalism. My only motto was to live today in order to write about it tomorrow. And according to my publisher, I wouldn't be doing either of the two if I kept writing bad things about him in this weekly column.

JUST TO MAKE THINGS INTERESTING - let's consider for one slight moment that I have and continue to dismay my colleagues on the staff with the most consistent performance in the league. It isn't much to brag about, but that fact adds at least one inch to this column and is incredible in itself.

I have unwillingly and unknowingly married the 60 percentile range (66 percent this week to be precise). Sixty percent had become my companion and partner in life for better or for worse, in sickness and in health. And I never ran around on it. I always wore its ring - I was totally faithful. However, being a totally honest member in this relationship, I must admit I did stray a bit off my even keel 65 average to 66 percent this week after picking 18-8 games skillfully.

SO IF YOU WERE TIRED OF WINNING the football contest and wanted to be assured of yanking down a mediocre average along with the rest of our moonie group, then I was the man to follow each week.

Bob Nigh, likewise rejoicing in a 66 percent ranking after tooling an 18-8 mark this week, was also nothing to look at - so we never did literally. I'm not going to comment on his lack of integrity this time - even though he did manage to rustle an exact Xeroxed duplicate of my work. Well okay, I stretched the truth a little, he didn't pick every game that I did. I was stupid enough to pick Plainview over Clovis (there again my sheer faithfulness was creeping into the arena) and he went with Tech over the Aggies.

I had learned that lesson well after watching the Faiders (that's the terminology Tech students start tabbing their team at this point in the grid season each year) first hand against those awesome Baylor Bears two weeks ago. Tech's defense was greatly improved, but with Rex Dockery's brand of "What-What's an offense" football it was no small wonder Tech did as well as it did against Texas A & M.

ACTUALLY, I TRULY BELIEVE THE OKIE would have done much better in this week's meandering tally, but the absolute realization that the Texas Longhorn's would eventually overwhelm his Boomer Sooners this weekend had him very disoriented. He knew he would have to back up all his hearty bets on the game.

It's my great honor to announce the the Fearless Club has elected Speedy Nieman and James Stout as this past month's mediocrity sweethearts.

NIEMAN, GOING ON SHEER LOOKS ALONE after coming out of this week's competition with a 62 percent (15-11 fanfare) received his bid later for most congenial after his appearance was judged incriminating.

Stout won the sweetheart award on achievement only. Coming up two degrees off his previously chilly 57 percent predicament, he also went 18-8 to post a still lagging 59 percentile behind the pack. He later accepted a bouquet of roses and sang his rendition of Charlie Pride's "Let Those Chips Fall - Let Them Fall Where They May" before the club closed its luncheon business.

AND NOW WE COME TO THIS WEEK'S Guest Forecaster, coach Don Cumpston, who is currently leading the Whitefaces past weekly opponents with recurring ferocity. It's a good thing the squatter-than-I-am guy is a skillful coach because he'd never make it in big league forecasting circles.

Even though he posted a 16-10 mark bettering club sweetheart No. 1, he still managed to slide the guest forecaster berth into a 70 percentile from a previous 75 percent ranking. We appreciated his losing effort and only hope to find another this next week. We'll be sending him his contracted $5 as this week's fall-guy.

DAVID CALDWELL OF 604 E. 3RD proved he wasn't in the running for the sweetheart honor after he missed a meager five games in the football contest this week to win over a 221 contestant field. In addition to that performance he came closest to the tie-breaker score with a guess of 31.

Jeff Loerwald of 232 Ironwood missed only five games also, but had a tie-breaker score of 28 for second place.

THERE WAS A THREE-WAY TIE for third place as Winston Short of 620 Ave. K, Billy Stephens of 105 Aspen and Debbie Morales of 718 Columbia Dr. all missed five games with exact tie-breaker spreads of seven points. Morales and Stephens guessed an eventual total outcome of 38 in the Herd's 17-14 win over Amarillo High while Short guessed in the opposite direction with a 24.

Phillies Prepare for Houston

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - The Philadelphia Phillies, knocking on the door of the World Series for the fourth time in five years, opened their best-of-five-game National League Championship Series tonight against the Houston Astros.

YMCA Slates Meeting

The YMCA has scheduled an organizational meeting for the Church League Coed Volleyball season on Tuesday October 7 at 7 p.m. at the YMCA office in the Sugarland Mall.

The meeting has been slated in order to go over the league's rules, league fees, and the length of time allotted for league play.

For more information contact the YMCA at 364-6990.

Steve Carlton, a 24-game winner, will pitch for the Phillies, who won the East over the weekend in a three-game set with the Montreal Expos.

Ken Forsch (12-13) is Houston's reluctant choice after the Astros were forced to a one-game playoff with the Los Angeles Dodgers to win the West. They had to use ace Joe Niekro, (20-12) to get the job done.

Houston went into Los Angeles with a three-game lead, needing just one victory to complete their first championship season in the franchise's 19-year history. But they lost all three, forcing the playoff, which they won, 7-1.

The Phillies, meanwhile, clinched on Saturday without using Carlton, who starts tonight with seven days of rest. Forsch has had just three days between starts.

If that's not enough of a handicap for the Astros, Carlton, the league's strikeout king and owner of the second best ERA in the league, has a 2-0 record against Houston this year and a 28-9 lifetime.

Also, the Phillies during the regular season were 9-3 against the West Division champions, 5-1 at home and 4-2 in the Astrodome. Houston, however, has defied the odds all season, so it would be foolhardy to sell manager Bill Virdon's team short now.

Phillies Manager Dallas Green declined to announce his lineup until before game time (8:15 p.m.), but Virdon is expected to go with the team that finished off the Dodgers in the fifth playoff in NL history.

Art Howe should be at first base, with the veteran Joe Morgan at second, and shortstop Craig Reynolds and third baseman Enos Cabell rounding out the infield. Alan Ashby probably will catch.

In the Houston outfield, expect Terry Puhl, Cesar Cedeno and Jose Cruz.

Green did say he would use veteran Bob Boone to handle Carlton, but left unsaid whether he would go to veterans Greg Luzinski and Garry Maddox in the outfield.

Boone, Maddox and Luzinski all were benched part of the final week of the season for weak offense. Maddox resented the move, pouted and one night scratched himself from the lineup, claiming an injured little finger affected his batting.

The rest of the Phillies' lineup is predictable.

Church Wants Pot Legalized

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of a Miami Beach church who want to smoke pot in praise of God are still breaking the law. The nation's highest court has rejected their freedom-of-religion appeal.

The Supreme Court, citing a lack of jurisdiction and a general disinterest in the case Monday, left intact a decision outlawing the use of marijuana for religious purposes. That leaves members of the Ethiopian Zion Coptic Church facing a Florida Supreme Court decision that bars them from smoking the illegal drug during worship services at a Miami Beach home.

The state court ruled last Nov. 1 that marijuana laws do not violate the church members' freedom of religion. Monday's denial of review does not preclude other legal maneuvers by the Coptics. But the defeat proved bitter enough to spur a church member identifying himself as Brother Love to call the Supreme Court's nine justices "cowards."

"It is a cowardly position not to face this pressing problem head-on, and thus deny millions of persons their God-given rights," said Brother Love. "The court has acted as cowards."

The Coptic church traces its roots to a bona fide religion of long standing in Jamaica and Ethiopia. Indeed, the Florida courts found that the use of marijuana "is an essential portion of the (church's) religious practice."

The Supreme Court previously has refused to hear arguments over the outlawing of snake-handling and poison-drinking as religious practices. In 1979, Florida and Miami Beach officials filed a nuisance complaint seeking a court order prohibiting the use of church member Jacquelyn Renee Town's home on fashionable Star Island in Biscayne Bay as the church's worship place. The authorities also sought a prohibition of the marijuana-smoking.

Beginning its 1980-81 term with what may have been the busiest day in its 190 years, the Supreme Court also took these actions: —Agreed to decide in a Georgia case whether criminal evidence can be used against a person when it was discovered in his or her home by government agents who entered carrying an arrest warrant for someone else. The justices must decide whether a separate search warrant is needed.

—Left intact a ruling that allows a county-run health center in Lansing, Mich., to distribute contraceptives to teen-agers without telling the youngsters' parents.

—Agreed to decide whether a new federal standard for worker exposure to cotton dust should be struck down as economically unreasonable. The case asks the justices to decide whether all government regulators have to satisfy a cost-benefit test before imposing safety standards. —Left intact an unprecedented ruling by the California Supreme Court making it easier for corporations to sue for libel and slander. The state court ruling, in a case involving KGO-TV in San Francisco, said corporations suing for libel or slander do not have to prove "actual malice."

Rep. Kent Hance Earns NFIB 'Guardian Award'

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB), the largest small business group in the nation, has announced that by voting in support of key small business issues 83 percent of the time during the 96th Congress, U.S. Rep. Kent Hance of Texas earned its "Guardian of Small Business Award" and has been endorsed by NFIB's political action committee (NFIB PAC).

In announcing the award, Wilson S. Johnson, president of the 620,000-member group—with 55,145 of those members in Texas—explained that the "Guardian Award gives recognition to legislators who support small business, and at the same time assures our members of how their legislator is representing them in Congress. "Quite often," says Johnson, "some legislators will claim support for small business by voting for such things as a Small Business Administration appropriations bill. We feel, however, that NFIB members should know how their legislator voted on each of those issues which we consider of key importance to small business."

NFIB PAC Chairman Dick Fisher noted that the endorsement of Representative Hance comes after close scrutiny of his overall legislative record which clearly shows a concern for the 12 million or so small business operations in the country today. "Congressman Hance has served his constituency well on a broad-based spectrum of legislation and has been an effective member of Congress in his work on the House floor and in committee," says Fisher. "He should be returned to Washington so that he can continue to fulfill the specific needs and wants of his congressional district and the nation as a whole."

NFIB, which is nonpartisan and nonpartisan, presents its "Guardian Awards" at the end of each Congress to those members who vote in favor of small business on selected issues at least 70 percent of the time. A total of 195 Representatives and 30 Senators qualified for the award this year.

Accepts NFIB Award

Texas Congressman Kent Hance accepts the "Guardian of Small Business" award from Wilson S. Johnson, President of the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB). Hance received the award as one of a select group of Representatives who has a strong awareness of problems facing small businesses and who maintains a positive voting record on legislation affecting small business. The NFIB is the nation's largest small business organization with more than 620,000 individual members.

Boston Schools Face New Trouble

BOSTON (AP) — Boston schools, long torn by racial tensions and busing protests, are in the throes of new troubles. White students are boycotting South Boston High School, teachers are suing the mayor for a raise and a School Committee member has been arrested and charged with attempted extortion.

"The last eight weeks...have been more bizarre than anything I've seen in 11 years here," said one school administrator. "I go home every night shaking my head wondering what will happen next."

After the worst melee in four years erupted in South Boston High's auditorium last Thursday, the school shut down. Officials cautiously tried Monday to resume classes for ninth graders.

But some white pupils vowed to stay away until metal detectors are reinstalled at the doors to keep their classmates from carrying knives into school.

Anti-busing leaders urged the boycott, and of 280 ninth graders, only 81 — 41 blacks, 24 whites and 16 other minority students — attended Monday.

The airport-style detectors were removed a year ago in an effort to make things more normal at the tense school, which has been the focus of violent anti-busing protests since a 1974 federal court desegregation order.

"Students are going into that school with knives and blackjacks. Somebody is going to get seriously injured or killed," said James Kelly, head of the South Boston Information Center, the neighborhood anti-busing organization.

YOU AUTO KNOW

By Don Henslee
Suddenly my 1978 Ford LTD has become the most unpopular car in town. Anytime the engine is running it produces an odor strong enough to knock you down and stomp on you. What's the problem?

It sounds like the odor comes from the catalytic converter. If it is exceedingly strong an over-rich fuel mixture can cause this. If adjusting the idle mixture to the specifications on the vehicle's underhood emission label doesn't lessen the odor, you may need to replace the carburetor air filter. A clogged filter induces fuel-mixture richness, as well as increasingly worse fuel economy. Of course if you have close to 50,000 miles on the car, the catalyst may have lost its effectiveness and the converter will have to be replaced. If you have used leaded gas, the converter is dead. An overdose of leaded gas will poison it.

Unemployment Unimproved

Twenty years ago 24 percent of young blacks were unemployed. Unemployment for whites in the same age group, 16 to 19, was only 13 percent.

Politicians offered the traditional panacea—more government.

They were convinced that all we needed to do was to raise educational opportunities for young blacks, pass and enforce laws prohibiting discrimination in hiring and in promotion and provide job training for the jobless.

So we did all of those things. Yet today, instead of 24 percent of young blacks being unemployed, 37.4 percent are unemployed. While unemployment of whites in the same age group is 17 percent.

Now what do we do? Our nation's total unemployment numbers look worse than they are because of the disproportionate number of young blacks who are idle.

Nor does education seem to help. The United States Labor Department finds that among high-school dropouts the jobless rate for blacks is 31.6 percent—about double what it is for white dropouts.

For high school graduates, the unemployment rate for blacks, 21.3 percent, is almost three times what it is for whites in the same category. And among college graduates, the comparison worsens—17.1 percent of blacks unemployed to only 4 percent of whites.

Paul Osterman, a professor of economics at Boston

University, says, "If a person can't get a job when he's young, his chances don't improve much when he's older."

Thus joblessness affects every aspect of black life—higher crime rates—higher incidence of family breakups—lifelong poverty.

Few authorities, black or white, see any evidence that discrimination has increased over the past 20 years. Then what is the cause of the disparity?

One factor is the drug cult, so established in the ghetto that many young blacks find pushing drugs easier and more profitable than any other employment.

Further, the black birth rate is enough higher than the white birth rate to put proportionately more young blacks in the job market.

Competition from aliens, legal and illegal, is a factor hardly anybody wants to talk about, but increasing immigration and subsequent preferential consideration are a rude slap in the face for job-eligible American blacks.

Also, Prof. Elijah Anderson of the University of Pennsylvania says that contemporary values tend to make young blacks more prideful, more assertive, less willing to accept menial jobs.

That this explains why some unskilled young ignore help-wanted ads in favor of government handouts.

Thus ignominy of race-related bondage is with us yet—the shackles of slavery having been replaced by the opiate of welfare.

PRPC Planning $25,000 Grant

AMARILLO — A rural electric cooperative somewhere in the Panhandle will benefit from a $25,000 federal grant recently awarded to the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission. The commission is one of sixteen councils of government in the U.S. to participate in the Department of Commerce's Rural Energy Initiative.

Initially, the commission will survey the thirteen RECs in the Panhandle - Plains region to determine interest in the program. The co-op boards and staffs will be asked to complete questionnaires showing their level of interest in such issues as solar and wind energy, the use of syngas, biomass conversion or alternative approaches to energy production and supplementation.

The REC that is selected as a target for the Panhandle Rural Energy Program (PREP) will be assisted by PRPC staff member, Wayne Hughes, in exploring the alternative energy resources that might be adaptable to their economic situation.

During the phase I term of the PREP, the co-op board and staff will be acquainted with all aspects of alternative energy systems open to them and then be encouraged to adopt one of those systems or a set of systems for further study and development. Part of the adoption process would include public hearings to get input from private citizens and acquaint them with the progress of the grant.

One possible application of the funding would be to train owner-members of the co-op to construct small solar collectors in their farm workshops. The co-op would then sell the units to other members of the co-op or to the general public. This kind of cottage industry would help prevent job displacement resulting from increasing mechanization of farming operations.

The Panhandle Rural Energy Program was designed to be linked to an electric cooperative because this kind of organization already has a board of directors and a professional staff. It saves the time that would be spent in creating a governing body from "scratch." Co-op organizations are accustomed to dealing with energy issues routinely. Consequently, little of the grant time would have to be spent in educating board members about basic energy issues.

Spokesmen for the Commerce Department have told PRPC officials that the energy program could be eligible for continued funding on a three-year basis if the pilot program is successful. The additional funding could be used to purchase hardware for pilot projects and to hire consultants to train workers in construction of alternative energy devices.

The Departments of Commerce and Energy will distribute $400,000 in federal funds to economic development districts in fifteen states in the energy program. The PRPC is the only district in Texas to be awarded a grant in the program.

Bentsen Releases Economy Report

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Senator Lloyd Bentsen has released a report by the new Senate Democratic Task Force on the Economy. The report, first of its kinds, proposes a comprehensive program of economic legislation for the 1980s.

Bentsen, Chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, was appointed by Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd last summer to head the newly created Democratic Task Force. Chairmen of virtually every Senate committee with jurisdiction over various facets of economic legislation worked together to prepare the report.

"Our goal has been to build a framework within which economic policy can be implemented over the coming decade," Bentsen said.

"The report includes specific recommendations for rebuilding the American economy, for making us again competitive in world markets, through fiscal policy, monetary policy, tax policy and trade policy."

The report calls for a tax cut, effective in 1981, to encourage savings and investment. It calls for a steady, long-term approach to both fiscal and monetary policy. It urges establishment of a Department of Trade to incorporate the trade activities now carried out by the Departments of State, Commerce, Treasury and other agencies.

The report recommends final enactment of the priority recommendations by the White House Conference on Small Business, continued reduction of the burden of government regulation, a renewed commitment to worker training and education for employment in private industry, and comprehensive programs for energy, water and materials development.

"The American people are entitled to know what we, as Democrats in the Senate, envision for our economy over the coming decade. The report by this Task Force endeavors to give them that vision," Bentsen said.

"Our economic potential in this country remains unequalled in the world. We are recommending a comprehensive economic policy that will enable us to live up to our potential through the '80s," Senator Bentsen said.

Haiti

Visited by Columbus in 1492, Haiti, a French colony after 1677, attained independence in the 1804 rebellion begun by Toussaint L'Ouverture. In 1811, Henri Christophe proclaimed himself king in the north — while the south continued as a republic. The nation was reunited in 1820.
