

Reagan Plans Sale of Planes to Saudi Arabia

President Out of Public Eye But Lobbying for Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is out of the public eye but not out of earshot as he lobbies for the privacy of the White House for his economic program.

What started out as another routine telephone call to a congressman Tuesday ended up as a rare bit of public insight into the president trying to sell his tax and budget cuts.

Live on radio station WBVP in Beaver Falls, Pa., was Reagan chatting with Rep. Eugene Atkinson, D-Pa., about the health of both the chief executive and his program.

The impromptu, two-minute conversation was Reagan's first public statement since he went home from the hospital April 11 to continue convalescence from a gunshot wound inflicted during a March 30 assassination attempt.

"He's been most receptive, which proves that Democrats and Republicans can get along on things that are good for the country," the president told the radio audience.

"I'm very grateful to him and he mentioned the fact you were having this show and offered me the opportunity through you to say hello to your listeners and I'm delighted to do so."

Atkinson, who supported Sen. Edward Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination last year, didn't need any more prompting.

"We're certainly delighted here, Mr. President," the congressman said. "I am supportive of your programs."

Atkinson said he was prepared to vote for the revised budget plan Reagan is backing instead of the one offered by the Democratic leadership in the House. An aide to Atkinson explained later that the congressman still favors restoring some of the proposed cutbacks in unemployment compensation, Conrail, synthetic fuels development and federal programs to benefit the coal industry.

Reagan, his voice strong and steady, assured the radio listeners that "I'm just fine, I'm feeling great and getting along just fine."

He added that he was "most grateful for all the good wishes and the prayers that I've had and the messages from people all over the country."

"The people's thoughts and prayers have been with you and we're very proud of the way that you've handled the matter and this country is going to go forward with your leadership," Atkinson said.

The call to Atkinson was one of about two dozen telephone contacts the president is making with members of Congress as he tries to rekindle support for his economic program.

Citizens Can Submit Comments on MX Plan

Citizens who have been unable to attend the public hearings held by the U.S. Air Force concerning the MX Missile still have the chance to make their feelings toward the system known to the government by submitting written comments or questions.

Written comments must be submitted before the deadline for the DEIS Public Comment Period, May 1. Interested individuals or organizations may submit their comments to AFRC-MS, Box EIS, Norton AFB, California, 92409.

Six hearings remained on the schedule as of today with two set for Clovis this afternoon and evening. The first hearing began at 1:30 p.m. at the Roy Walker Community Center Gymnasium with a second hearing to begin at 7:30 p.m. today at the Rock Staubus Gymnasium, Clovis High School, 1900 Thornton.

A series of two hearings each will also be held in Roswell, New Mexico (April 23) and Sante Fe, New Mexico (April 24). The Roswell hearings will be held at the Pueblo Auditorium, 300 N. Kentucky, while the Sante Fe hearings will be conducted at the Highway Department Auditorium, 1120 Cerrillos Road. Those hearings are also scheduled for 1:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. respectively.

Hope you've made plans to attend the chamber's Fun Breakfast Thursday morning. It promises to be a unique event with a Western Day format set by the sponsors, the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center.

Besides the usual cash drawings and fun events offered for those attending the breakfast, a chance for a trip to New Orleans will also be offered.

No new developments have emerged since Armour Food Company announced March 31 that it would be closing the Hereford plant. The closing is scheduled Sept. 30.

Gene Stephens, local plant manager, said Tuesday he had received no new information from the Phoenix headquarters.

United Food and Commercial Workers Union, the labor organization which represents the majority of the employees here, has apparently made no public statement concerning the situation.

An article in Saturday's Amarillo Globe-News disclosed that the Swift Beef Plant in Guymon, Okla., had finally closed April 17 after two postponements. The UFCWU also represented most of the 150 employees at that plant.

It quoted officials of Esmark, Inc., Swift's parent company, as saying the closing had resulted from "unfavorable labor costs."

When Armour announced the closing of the Hereford plant, Wallace L. Tunnell, president of Armour Food Co., said it resulted from "the company's inability to overcome a discriminatory labor contract, which puts Armour's beef operations at a major disadvantage to its principal competitors."

The sports fan who attended the All-Sports Banquet here Monday night are still talking about the inspiring and motivational talk given by Baylor Coach Grant Teaff.

It is easy to see how he is able to motivate football players, and why former aide Bill Yung at West Texas State is so enthusiastic!

Congratulations go to all the award winners at the banquet. It was apparent from the reaction of the athletes themselves that two of the most popular selections were those of Louise Mays and Felix Soliz.

Louise was chosen as the female Athlete of the Year and, from all her accomplishments in basketball and track, it came as no surprise. Coach Don Cumpton, in presenting the Fighting Heart award to Soliz, explained some of the physical adversities the track star had overcome. The award is symbolic of someone who gives 110 percent, and Soliz, without doubt, was a deserving recipient.

Fun Breakfast Set Thursday

"Western Day" will be the theme of Fun Breakfast Thursday morning at Hereford Community Center. The event, open to the public, starts at 6:30 a.m.

The breakfasts, conducted about six times a year, are sponsored by Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce to promote community involvement in chamber and civic affairs.

Co-sponsor for tomorrow's event is the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center. They urge persons attending to wear a red bandanna or some western attire. Those attending will have a chance to win Hereford Bucks, a trip to New Orleans, and other prizes.

Tickets for the breakfast are $3.25 each. Reservations should be made by 5 p.m. today to assure enough food for the event.

Longtime Business, Civic Leader Dies Here at Age 81

Carl George McCaslin, 81, veteran Hereford businessman and civic leader, died at 7 a.m. today at Deaf Smith General Hospital following a lengthy illness.

Funeral services are pending with Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

McCaslin came to Hereford in 1939 to start a lumber yard business. He later recalled that "it was not all wine and roses." It was a struggling business for a number of years, but really started growing after World War II.

A founding member of Hereford Rotary Club, McCaslin was also active in Lions and Kiwanis clubs. A 50-year Mason, he was president of the Lodge in 1951-53. He was a board member of Hi-Plains Savings & Loan and

Hospital Board Elects New Officers, Hears Reports

By ALLISON RYAN

The re-elected directors of the Deaf Smith General Hospital District were officially sworn into office Tuesday during the regular meeting of the board.

B.F. Cain, Deaf Smith County clerk, was on hand to swear in the new directors including Ed Reinauer, Warner Lawson and Dr. Gerald Payne.

Following the official action, officer elections were held with the same officers being re-elected. Frank Zinser will serve as president, Deward Roberson as vice president and Reinauer as secretary-treasurer.

Jim Bullard, hospital administrator, told directors March proved to be a "good financial month for the hospital.

"We had a good census count of 30.2. It looks like April will prove to be good as well," Bullard stated.

"We ended the month on a positive note with $64,549 cash on hand and $140,000 in bond reserves. This is a sound cash position and an improvement from this time last year," he continued.

In other operating action, the directors voted to write-off $25,484.62 in bad debts.

Bullard also reported to directors that a policy change has been made concerning the emergency room.

"We are less lenient on people who want to file insurance for regular illness such as colds treated at the emergency room. Most insurance companies will not cover these accounts," Bullard explained.

"We have begun to ask people to pay the bill and then file insurance. A lot of our small dollar accounts are from the emergency room, so we have started to ask for cash," he continued.

Concerning the financial committee report, Bullard informed directors a bid from Stagner-Osborn had been accepted for a new hospital vehicle.

The vehicle will be used for business trips.

More Riots in Ireland Are Predicted

BELFAST — Northern Ireland (AP) — Police and British troops were on the alert today for more rioting expected after the funerals in Londonderry of two Roman Catholic youths killed by a British army vehicle.

Sinn Fein, the legal political arm of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, ordered a day of mourning. This brought a post-midnight quiet to Londonderry, the province's second largest city and a Roman Catholic stronghold, after the seventh night of rioting. But mobs of youths were expected to renew their street attacks on the police and the army after the funerals.

The two 18-year-olds were killed Sunday by an army Land-Rover during a riot on the anniversary of the 1916 Easter Uprising in Dublin against British rule. The police called the deaths a road accident, but Catholic leaders charged that the Land-Rover drove into the crowd at high speed.

White House Sees Battle in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is going ahead with the sale of sophisticated radar reconnaissance planes to Saudi Arabia, but he's stalling in sending the plan to Congress in hopes of quelling strong opposition there and averting a threatened veto.

The White House formally announced the sale Tuesday — triggering criticism that it is a "dangerous action" and a "mistake" — but dropped plans to send the proposal to Congress next Monday.

"It may be a period of time before we send it up there," White House spokesman Larry Speakes told reporters Tuesday.

In Tel Aviv today, the Israeli government voiced "profound regret and unreserved opposition" to the sale of the AWACS planes and F-15 equipment. Prime Minister Menachem Begin summoned U.S. Ambassador Samuel Lewis to express the government's displeasure.

Calling the sale a "very, very unpleasant decision," Deputy Defense Minister Mordechai Zippori said Israel would fight it by appealing to the Reagan administration and the U.S. public, "explaining to them what this means."

Israeli defense experts say the AWACS planes could monitor every move of the Israeli air force, depriving it of its ability to launch a surprise first strike, the basis of Israeli defense doctrine.

Zippori said he was sure Israel would find ways to meet the AWACS threat but "it will place a heavy burden on our security forces and we are reaching a stage where that burden is becoming too heavy to bear."

One congressional source, who asked not to be identified, said the White House was stalling because a majority of the Senate opposes it, with 51 members ready to vote against it and 38 (See BATTLE, Page 2)

Welcome Rain Falls Tuesday

By ALLISON RYAN
Staff Writer

Hereford and the northwest area of the city received more of the much needed moisture yesterday and last night with amounts ranging from .62 in the city to just a trace at the H.L. Hershey place.

In the city the rain started slowly and then built to quite a fall with some small hail reported. It was another cloudy, warm and humid day punctuated with thunderstorms for the Texas Panhandle.

Forecasters are calling for thunderstorms over western sections of the state this afternoon and for the remainder of the state tonight.

KPAN radio reported .62 of rain fell in the city yesterday bringing the monthly total to 1.22.

H.L. Hershey, located 13 miles northeast of Hereford said they got "only a trace, just enough to wish for more."

Bruce Coleman at Walcott reported .10 while the Walcott school reported .22 of rain had fallen there.

Mrs. Bill Page at Bootleg, north of the city, said they had received about .15 yesterday but their strong rain had come during the weekend with one and one tenth of an inch of rain falling Saturday night and early Sunday morning.

Mrs. Eldred Brown, 28 miles west of Hereford at Bootleg, said they had received about .15 or .20 yesterday. "It was nice to have the rain," she said.

Officials at Summerfield Fertilizer did not have as much rainfall reporting that only .4 had fallen there yesterday.

Apparently residents located east and south of the city did not receive even a trace of the much needed moisture.

Mrs. J.E. McCabe, east of Dawn, said they did not get any rain and those at Easter Fertilizer repeated the same report but did say it looked like south of Dimmitt got some rain.

The Jim Conkwrights located north of the city at Milo Center, said they had some showers last night but were not sure of the amount that fell.

Of course, for the dry land wheat farmer any amount of moisture is going to help with this year's crop. According to Justin McBride, county extension agent, .3 of rain per day is what the crops need.

"These old wheat crops can use any moisture," he said.

A tornad, hail and some flash flooding were reported over the state Tuesday as thunderstorms battered all but extreme South Texas.

Most of the thunderstorm activity died out during the night although some activity was reported early today in the Coastal Bend.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the mid 40s in the mountains of Southwest Texas to the low 70s along the gulf coast. Extremes ranged from 44 at Marfa to 74 at Houston.

No Plans to Import Water, Say Officials

DALHART, Texas (AP) — Air Force officials say they have no plans to import water for construction of the MX missile system if it is located in Texas and New Mexico.

At one of a series of hearings in areas being considered for the multi-billion-dollar system, Air Force Col. Bill Sims said the government plans to lease or purchase water rights for the 30,000 acre-feet of water that would be needed during the peak construction year. Demand then would drop to 13,000 acre-feet for the two bases in West Texas and eastern New Mexico.

The amount would equal about 7 percent of the water now used in the area, he said.

A lack of water was but one of the reasons cited as New Mexicans joined High Plains residents in voicing opposition to placing the system in their states at Tuesday's hearing.

Travis Nelson, chairman of the Quay County, N.M., board of commissioners, said a lack of water would be the primary problem involved in locating the missiles in his area.

Senate Approves Sarpalius Bill

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Senate approved a bill Tuesday to establish minimum standards for certification of emergency medical service personnel.

Sen. Bill Sarpalius' bill would authorize the State Board of Health, in consultation with a 15-member advisory council, to set the first new standards for ambulances and ambulance personnel in nearly 40 years.

Cities and counties with a population of less than 75,000 would have until Sept. 1, 1984, to comply with all requirements. Larger cities and counties would have an extra year to comply.

Sarpalius, D-Hereford, said this delay would give the 1983 Legislature a chance to review board regulations. "We tried to design the bill so it would not be a burden for rural areas but at the same time would set standards," said Sarpalius.

The bill was sent to the House on voice vote.

Justice Department Meets with Clements

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Department officials said they hope their meeting with Texas Gov. Bill Clements Tuesday "will be useful down the road" on matters of mutual interest.

Attorney General William French Smith met for 45 minutes with Clements and two of his aides before Clements ended a 2-day stay in Washington by flying back to Texas.

"We discussed several issues involving Texas, and I'm encouraged that we can make some progress as we go along," Clements said.

Saudi Arabia Working Towards Dominant Military Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saudi Arabia, considered too weak to become involved in a Middle East war just 7½ years ago, is well on its way to becoming a dominant military power in the Moslem world and a major worry for Israel.

The transformation of Saudi Arabia from minor to major military status is underscored by the Reagan administration's announcement Tuesday that it wants to sell the oil-rich desert country five sophisticated radar reconnaissance planes called AWACS, as well as equipment to improve the firepower and range of 62 sophisticated F-15 jet fighters.

The administration decided to go ahead with the sale despite strong opposition from congressional supporters of Israel. Leaders of the Jewish state say the sale threatens Israel's security in any future war with Arab states.

But Saudi Arabia had pressured the administration to proceed quickly on its request for the AWACS — Airborne Warning and Control Systems — aircraft.

Saudi Arabia, with its vast oil supplies and reputation as a pillar of moderation, has become increasingly important to the United States since U.S.-Iranian relations were broken off. The United States, in arming Saudi Arabia, hopes to build an anti-Soviet coalition in the Persian Gulf. But even before the Iranian crisis and the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan, U.S. administrations had begun courting Saudi Arabia as a major ally and had begun building up Saudi forces.

U.S. intelligence officials said in 1973 that a lack of military strength made the Saudis reluctant to become embroiled in the Yom Kippur War between Israeli and Arab armies.

Since then, the Saudis have been spending freely on arms because of their huge oil revenue. Until now, the Saudis have

Ford Says Cuts To Help Poor

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gerald Ford says the best way to help the nation's poor is to cut federal spending and inflation, just like President Ronald Reagan wants to do.

The former president said he has told the White House he would work to help sell Reagan economics to Americans.

"The poor people of this country have suffered more by the high inflation of the last four years," he said Tuesday. "By trying to get some successful handle on the problem of inflation we're doing something for the poor."

Ford spoke with reporters after being elected an advisory director for Texas Commerce Bancshares.

He said his brief administration "made a little headway" in curbing inflation. Reagan faces tougher going, he said, because the current president has "inherited a more serious problem, a more difficult problem."

The former Michigan congressman said White House officials called him last week and asked for his support for the Reagan program.

"I think it's absolutely essential because on Jan. 20 this year the country was faced with serious economic problems. It required very drastic medicine," he told reporters.

Rather than "nitpick" with parts of the program, Ford said he decided to announce "unequivocal" support. The program should fare well on Capitol Hill, he said, despite Democratic opposition.

Weather

West Texas - Scattered showers and thunderstorms most sections today and south and southeast tonight with some locally heavy thunderstorms southeast tonight. Clear north and partly cloudy south. Cooler north and most sections tonight and Thursday. Highs upper 60s north to mid 80s south and lower 90s southwest. Lows upper 30s north to mid 50s south. Highs Thursday 70s north to lower 80s south and upper 80s southwest.

The problem of illegal aliens and a judge's order that the Texas prison system be overhauled were among the items that were discussed, Clements said.

"There's no difference in us at all on illegal aliens," the governor said at an impromptu news conference that followed the meeting.

The prison reform issue is another matter. Texas has appealed the ruling of U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice of Tyler, who has attacked the prison system and called for massive improvements. Because the ruling is involved in litigation, Smith declined to comment on the Justice Department's stance on the case.

2-Year-Old Killed

By Pit Bull Terrier

SUNDOWN, Texas (AP) — A 2-year-old boy was mauled to death by a pit bull terrier Monday after he wandered away from his home, in this South Plains town about 40 miles from Lubbock, authorities said.

Kelly B. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brown of Sundown, was attacked when he walked within reach of the dog, at a mobile home about 200 yards from the Brown's residence, police said.

Sundown Police Chief D.L. Phipps said there were no witnesses but investigators believed the child approached the dog, which was tied with a 30-foot chain. Two other dogs were chained on the property but were unable to reach the boy, he said.

The child was pronounced dead Monday about 4:50 p.m. by Justice of the Peace Ted Clark, who ruled the death accidental.

Clark said the child suffered severe bites over his entire body.

Police said a search for the boy got underway Monday at 3 p.m. when the child's mother noticed the boy was missing.

The dog was taken to a Levelland veterinary office for observation and laboratory tests, police said.

Israel Approves U.S. Sale Of Planes to Saudi Arabia

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel voiced "profound regret" and "unreserved opposition" today to the Reagan administration's decision to sell AWACS reconnaissance planes to Saudi Arabia.

Prime Minister Menachem Begin met with U.S. Ambassador Samuel Lewis and expressed Israel's displeasure. The meeting was at Lewis' request and dealt mainly with the fighting in neighboring Lebanon, the envoy told reporters.

Deputy Defense Minister Mordechai Zippori called the sale announced Tuesday by the White House "a very, very unpleasant decision," and vowed Israel would fight it.

A government statement claimed the sale of AWACS planes — Airborne Warning and Control systems — to Saudi Arabia "will undermine peace in the Middle East and create a grave danger to the security of the state of Israel."

It accused Saudi Arabia of rejecting the Egyptian-Israeli peace process, advocating holy war against Israel and giving "massive financial support" to Palestinian guerrillas opposed to the Jewish state's existence.

The spokesman said Israel's concerns were not on-

14-Year-Old Arrested For Siphoning Gas

Hereford police officers arrested a 14-year-old youth who has been accused with siphoning gasoline out of several vehicles at Bains Auto Sales, 1501 E. Park Ave.

Officers are expecting to arrest two more juveniles today connected with the case. The juvenile arrested yesterday was turned over to juvenile officer Randy Williams.

Officers also arrested a man yesterday involved in a case of criminal mischief in February.

Helen Coffman, 106 16th street, reported the theft of her purse while she was at Price Less grocery store on west Park Ave. The purse which contained credit cards and $70, was taken while she was sacking groceries at the store.

Marscha Jones, 213 Ranger, who is a teacher at La Plata Junior High told officers her watch was taken from the school bleachers after she had placed it there when the watch band broke.

Officers answered a family disturbance call and had a report of a harassing phone call. Eleven traffic citations were issued Tuesday.

Sheriff's Office Reports Burglaries

Two burglaries were reported this week to the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's office.

Jack Brock, 208 Windsor, reported Monday that several items were taken from his home including several guns, a television, two CB radios, a metal detector and a radio detector.

Bob and Marcey Feed Store, located at south Highway 385, reported Tuesday morning their store was burglarized. Several calculators, fence chargers and cash were taken.

members planning to support it.

Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker Jr., who talked t. Reagan by telephone shortly before the announcement, believes the president should not send the proposal to Congress until after the Israeli elections June 30 in hopes that opposition will have abated by that time, Senate sources say.

Baker was to fly from Knoxville today to meet with Secretary of State Alexander

M. Haig Jr. to discuss the sale. He will meet with Reagan on Thursday.

When the arms package is sent to Congress, it will include the five AWACS command planes that have drawn the greatest opposition, as well as gear to enhance 62 F-15 jet fighters the Saudis have on order, Speakers said.

Opponents say the sale would increase the Arab threat to Israel, and that secret equipment on the Dalhart said he had not "found anything concrete in the impact statement that assures me that our taxpayers would not be saddled with a long-term indebtedness to pay for facilities needed during the boom phase created during the construction period."

He said he believes split basing — with half the system in Utah and Nevada and the other half in Texas and New Mexico — would "create economic conditions that many of our farmers could not survive."

"Inflation and the high cost of energy have already put our farmers in a very precarious situation and to make them compete for high-priced labor and supplies would be more than any farmer could withstand," he added.

And Dan Robinson of the Bravo Dome Free and Public Land Association of Union, Quay and Harding counties of New Mexico, said a weapons system in the area would remove all animals and birds now known to frequent the western United States.

Burton Schubert of Spearman, representing the Texas Farmers Union, said area towns would be expected to absorb thousands of workers on a short-term basis during construction of the project.

Jack Osborne, director of the Texas Farm Bureau, contended the system should be placed on federal lands.

AWACS — Airborne Warning and Control Systems — planes might be compromised.

Congress can block the sale with rejection by both the House and Senate, but the 30-day veto period does not start until the sale is formally presented to Congress.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said in a statement that he will try "to block this dangerous action."

He said the Saudis do not need the AWACS, which he called "offensive weapons that can easily be used to threaten the security of Israel, our closest ally in the Middle East."

Sen. Rudy Boschwitz, R-Minn., chairman of the Senate Near East subcommittee, called the sale "a mistake."

"It should be reconsidered," Boschwitz said. "This package appears to face certain defeat in the Senate."

But Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the package's fate in Congress depends on conditions the administration is trying to negotiate with the Saudis.

An Associated Press survey last week found that 45 senators, nearly half the Senate, are leaning or committed against the sale and another 20 are concerned about it.

Rush told the board Dr. A.T. Mims presented the cancer committee report.

"In 1978-79 we did about 26 cancer follow-ups and in 1980 that amount increased to 42 cases. I think that speaks well of our medical staff," Bullard said.

Directors at the meeting included Zinsler, Jerry Smith, Reinauer, Payne and Lawson.

Child's Medical Record Vital Help to Parents

Mothers, in an emergency situation, could you promptly tell a doctor or a paramedic your child's blood type? The date of the last tetanus shot? Sensitivity to drug such as penicillin?

In an emergency, such information can be of vital help to medical personnel, but few parents have this data at home or on-out-of-town trips when emergencies often occur.

A Memphis, Tenn. mother has made documenting such information a simple task by creating a 16-page booklet in which a child's medical history can be recorded from birth to 18. Called a Child's Medical Record, the booklet enables parents to have the often-needed information instantly available should an emergency occur at home or when traveling. The data also is helpful to a new doctor, should the family move to another city.

Mrs. Elizabeth Baker designed the Child's Medical Record after her five-year-old son lost 50 per cent of his hearing.

An ear, nose and throat specialist, determining the boy was a victim of nerve deafness, was suspicious the deafness was caused by one of the mycin drugs.

But the search for the type of mycin drug the youth had received was fruitless. Mrs. Baker had no record at home, and the records of her son's pediatrician, who had died, had been destroyed in a fire.

The booklet Mrs. Baker created enables parents to record their children's Rh factor, blood type, immunizations, sensitivity to drugs, allergies, surgical operations and dental examinations.

The booklets are available from Child's Medical Record, 2544 Inverary Drive, Memphis, Tenn. 38119. The cost is $1.60, or two medical records for $3.00.

Dehumidifier Can Protect Property, Home from Rust

PITTSBURGH - Thirty dollars a year is a small price to pay to protect your property and home furnishings from rust, mildew, peeling paint, warped wood, musty odors and other damage. A dehumidifier can do all that and keep you from wilting, too.

Janet Felmeth, director of White-Westinghouse Appliance Company's Home Economics Institute, explains how a dehumidifier works to protect your belongings and keep you comfortable.

"A dehumidifier has a sealed compressor and coil system like a room air conditioner," said Ms. Felmeth. "Moist air in the home is pulled across a chilled coil so that water vapor will be condensed to water and drained off into a hose or a bucket. The air then passes through the condenser, where it is reheated and returned to the room - warmer and drier."

"Most dehumidifiers are subject to the same frost build-up as on an air conditioning coil when the air temperature is below 65 degrees," said Ms. Felmeth. "Some models offer 'Frost Control' to automatically defrost the coils, permitting the units to continue their efficient operation even during early spring and fall when frost is more likely to be a problem."

But choosing the right dehumidifier for your home can be tricky, she said.

"You can begin to determine your dehumidifying needs by knowing the square footage of your living space and assessing whether that environment is moderately damp, damp or wet," said Ms. Felmeth. "Dehumidifiers are rated by the number of pints of water removed during a 24-hour period from air that is 80 degrees F. and 60 percent relative humidity."

According to Ms. Felmeth, a quick check of a sizing guide at your appliance dealer will give you an easy reference for selecting the proper unit for your home. Unlike a room air conditioner, a higher capacity dehumidifier will operate satisfactorily in a smaller area.

Ms. Felmeth noted that dehumidifiers are usually placed in basements near a floor drain, but they can also be located in recreation rooms, storage areas, closets or in high-humidity homes that are not air conditioned. "Naturally, the area to be dehumidified must be closed off from surrounding areas," added Ms. Felmeth, "and basement walls should be treated to retard moisture seepage."

"A dehumidifier is not a pump," said Ms. Felmeth. "It will not eliminate leaks or standing water, but it will clear up residual humidity associated with the source of the moisture after you eliminate the problem."

Because dehumidifiers are low energy-users, and because efficiency doesn't vary much from model to model, they are exempt from the federal EnergyGuide labeling program. Based on the Department of Energy's estimates of 1,300 hours of operation per year, and an electric rate of 4.97 cents per kilowatt-hour, a 20-pint unit would cost about $25 per year to operate, and a 25-pint unit would cost about $30 a year.

"Considering the important job a dehumidifier does," said Ms. Felmeth, "the cost of owning one is very reasonable."

WHAT'S YOUR EXCUSE?

Jesus' disciple John came to Him and said, "Master, we saw someone using Your name to cast out demons. And we told him not to. After all, he isn't in our group."

But Jesus said, "You shouldn't have done that! For anyone who is not against you is for you."

As the time drew near for His return to heaven, He moved steadily onward toward Jerusalem with an iron will.

One day He sent messengers ahead to reserve rooms for them in a Samaritan village. But they were turned away! The people of the village refused to have anything to do with them because they were headed for Jerusalem.

When word came back of what had happened, James and John said to Jesus, "Master, shall we order fire down from heaven to burn them up?" But Jesus turned and rebuked them, and they went on to another village.

As they were walking along someone said to Jesus, "I will always follow You no matter where You go." But Jesus replied, "Remember, I don't even own a place to lay My head. Foxes have dens to live in, and birds have nests, but I the Man from Heaven, have no earthly home at all."

Another time, when He invited a man to come with Him to be His disciple, the man agreed—but wanted to wait until his father's death. Jesus replied, "Let those without eternal life concern themselves with things like that. Your duty is to come and preach the coming of the Kingdom of God to all the world."

Another said, "Yes, Lord, I will come, but first let me ask permission of those at home." But Jesus told him, "Anyone who lets himself be distracted from the work I plan for him is not fit for the Kingdom of God." Luke 9:49-62

Ann Landers Senility Has Taken Over

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please write a few words in praise of nurse's aides everywhere, but especially those who work in homes for the elderly.

These people perform tasks that would be abhorrent to most of us, and they are almost always at the bottom of the pay scale.

My sister is in a nursing home. Senility has taken over her mind, and age has crippled her body. She is totally helpless and cannot speak.

Anyone who has visited one of these places, no matter how expensive, has seen the human wreckage of what were once capable, productive people. Many are forgotten by their families. It is the aides who do the "caring."

I wish a special day could be set aside to honor all the nurses and their aides who devote themselves to the care of the elderly and helpless. Someone should let them know their efforts are appreciated. And thank you, Ann Landers, whether or not you publish my letter. I feel better for having written it.—Aunt Jennie In Cincinnati.

DEAR AUNT JENNIE: As a board member of the Rehabilitation Institute in Chicago, I know something about the dedication and caring of doctors, nurses and aides who cater to the needs of the handicapped. These people are about as close to saints as anyone on earth. I agree that a special day of appreciation should be set aside to honor them.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For the past four years I have been going with a man I love a great deal. Recently the topic of children's names came up. He informed me that he feels the first son should be named after the husband's father.

I am a conservative person who believes strongly in family tradition, but this one is going to pose a problem. My fiancé's father is a hypocrite and a snob. I dislike him intensely. The feeling is mutual. I sensed it the first time we met. I would not want any of our children to carry this scoundrel's name.

Shouldn't the naming of children be a mutual decision? The thought of the hassle ahead is enough to make me dread pregnancy. Please answer my letter, Ann. I need your help.—What's In A Name In Westchester?

DEAR CHESTER: Naming a child should be a joint decision. Since you dislike your future father-in-law intensely, your husband should agree to a compromise. If it's a boy, his father's name can be the child's middle name. His first name could be your husband's, his brother's or a favorite uncle's.

Bureau does use "husband" and "wife" for those legally wed. The "POSSLQ" is a euphemistic bit of gobbledeyook to cover other situations.

"Persons of the Opposite Sex Sharing Living Quarters" could be either swinging singles or even roommates married to someone else in another household. Your "UPOSSLQ" and "SPOSSLQ" are both covered. The Census Bureau couldn't care less whether people are legally married or living in sin. And it's really none of their business.

How to - and how much? Find out with Ann Landers' new booklet, "How, What, and When to Tell Your Child About Sex." For your copy send 50 cents along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

VP Bush Sells Tax Plan to Businessmen

DALLAS (AP) — Using a "hard-sell" approach, Vice President George Bush told members of the Dallas business community that nothing short of the president's economic package will cut taxes and rein government spending.

The country can expect a balanced budget "by 1984," he said Monday, if the entire Reagan program can be put into effect as of June 30.

Bush acknowledged that President Reagan's economic proposal has come under severe criticism by Democratic members of Congress, but he said an alternative plan from the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee would offer only "short-term" benefits and was a "poor" imitation of the Reagan plan.

Bush, returning to his home state for the first time since the assassination attempt on the president, said the country "can't afford to accept substitutes that would water down or otherwise weaken the cure needed for our country's economic recovery."

Reagan's program calls for cuts in government spending, expected to affect about 300 federal agencies and programs, and a three-year, 30 percent, across-the-board cut in income tax rates.

About 40 health and social services programs and numerous grants would be affected by the cuts in government spending, aimed at a budget savings of $48.6 billion, Bush said.

States would receive aid in block grants, versus categorical grants, and it would be up to the state to decide how to spend the money, Bush said amid applause from more than 1,000 businessmen and women.

The Democratic compromise calls for a one-year cut of varying amounts, changes in brackets to offset inflation, and savings and investment incentives.

But Bush said the president "is in no mood to compromise."

"President Reagan's program must not be diluted if it's to bring about the economic recovery the American people need, want, and indeed, mandated last November," he said.

Bush also pushed a Reagan proposal for regulatory relief in American industry.

An example, he said, is Reagan's recently announced plans for cutting back regulations in the automobile industry. Bush said the plan calls for "reviewing" regulations such as time limits allowed companies for compliance with environmental standards and passive restraints, such as air bags.

In a question and answer session after his remarks, Bush defended the administration's position on El Salvador and offered his viewpoint on how to deal with immigration problems involving Mexico.

Bush said the Justice Department is reviewing the "whole immigration" issue and that one possible solution would be to "register" aliens crossing the border into the United States.

The registered aliens would be permitted to "come into this country for a period of time to work," he said.

"A possible solution would combine legalization with a sensitive program to help Mexican industry (along the northern border)," he said. "This may solve some of our immigration problems."

Bush also said the United States was responsible for "checking the flow of weaponry (from communist countries) into El Salvador."

SOME 200 U.S. MARINES proved that they had their sea legs during a recent 5-mile run around the flight deck of the amphibious assault ship USS Tarawa. They were part of a contingent of 1,500 Marines who were taking part in joint exercises with the South Korean armed forces.

Request for Stay Of Order Possible

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Attorney General Mark White says he probably will ask a higher court to delay implementation of U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice's ruling that Texas must offer bilingual education in all public school grades.

White told a news conference Monday a request for a stay is "under contemplation" and "the odds are more likely we will."

A stay would block implementation of the order until appeals are exhausted.

White also suggested that the current policy of providing bilingual education only through the third grade might be unconstitutional.

"Constitutionally, we would be safe with K-5 (kindergarten through fifth grade) and intensive English instruction for all who need it," he said.

lawyer for the appeal of Justice's decision.

Although State Education Commissioner Alton Bowen said more than two weeks ago the State Board of Education had asked White to let it hire an outside lawyer, White said, "I have no such letter in my files."

Pressed on whether he had ever seen or received such a letter, he acknowledged the board "had asked me to consider" giving permission to hire outside counsel.

"I'm not going to certify anybody to run the lawsuit," White said. Under state law, a state agency must be represented in court by the attorney general unless the attorney general certifies the agency may hire its own lawyer.

The state prison system also has asked White to let it hire its own lawyer for a case attacking the constitutionality of Texas' penitentiaries but White has refused.

White contends that if federal appeals courts uphold Justice's decision on bilingual education, 20,000 additional Spanish-speaking teachers would have to be trained and hired.

The attorney general claimed Justice's order goes so far as to require high school chemistry to be taught in Spanish.

White also said he is not about to let the Texas Education Agency hire its own

Son of Ex-Hostage Relieved; Situation Still Fresh Memory

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (AP) — Television camera crews camped in his living room and followed him to school. A teacher warned the rest of his Spanish class never to mention Iran. Tension would stretch his family taut, then pull it closer together.

All that's over now. Over, but not gone and never far away.

Steven Morefield, son of ex-hostage Richard Morefield, is 16, going on 60.

The bespectacled teen-ager was born in Oslo, Norway. He has lived in Uruguay, and in Annandale, Va.; in Colombia, and San Diego. It was in California that he took a big step toward maturity.

"We'd just lived there a few months when the hostage situation began," says Steven, whose father was the consul-general at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran when Iranian militants stormed through the gate.

During the next 14 months of Morefield's captivity, Dorothea Morefield and her five children found themselves under intense pressure. They had an unsolicited crash course in how to live with recurring depression, with continually dashed dreams and with the constant eyes of journalists upon them.

Looking back at those heart-breaking months, Steven says he feels the members of his family emerged stronger people.

"It's strange but I think we changed more than my dad did," he said in the coffee shop at The Greenbrier, where 31 of the former hostages and their families have gathered for a reunion and physical and mental tests.

"The psychiatrists kept telling us to be prepared for changes in him, for depression when he came home, but he was just the same as before."

The family treated Morefield with kid gloves at first, Steven said.

"The first couple of days we didn't want to let him out of our sight. It took us a couple of days to realize that we could go away and he'd still be there when we came back."

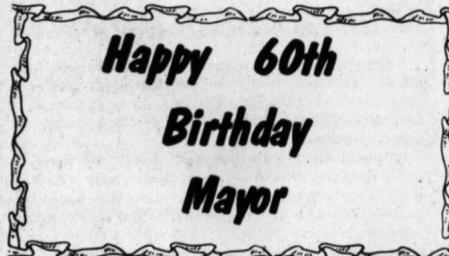

They granted his father a reprieve from family needling sessions, Steven said.

"Our family's famous for picking on each other at dinner, but at first we were afraid to get on him about the weight he'd gained back, or the chocolate chip cookies he was sneaking. We were afraid he might have lost his sense of humor, but we soon found out that he still had it." Depression was only one of the problems Steven faced during the 14 months his father was a captive halfway around the world.

"I'd only been in school a few months when it happened and I didn't know too many people," Steven said. When the Spanish teacher urged classmates to keep silent about Iran for Steven's sake, "I got really angry, because she was putting a wall between me and them."

The ordeal forced his family to grow, Steven said.

AWMONTGOMERY WARD

Texas Planning Quick Appeal to Prison Order

HOUSTON (AP) — State officials, stunned by a ruling from a federal judge ordering massive prison reforms on a strict timetable, say they intend to appeal the ruling "as quickly as possible."

The final decree in a nine-year-old lawsuit filed against the state's prison system came Monday from U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice after he turned down a request from state officials who had asked for a 30-day delay.

The 26-page decree orders reductions in the prison population, no more than one prisoner per cell by 1983, one guard for every six prisoners by 1982, no more than 500 inmates per prison unit by the end of next year, and says new prisons must be situated at least 50 miles from a big city.

At present, most cells house two to five convicts and there are 11 prisoners for every guard. The prison population has more than doubled in the past 10 years.

Texas Attorney General Mark White called Justice's ruling arbitrary and costly and said the federal judge "exceeded his authority."

"We'll ask for a stay of this order, and hopefully that will be granted and will permit us an orderly appeal," said White.

He said the single-cell order alone could cost Texas taxpayers $3 billion.

"There is no requirement for private rooms for prisoners," White said. "We're not required by the Constitution to build a hotel facility for the prisoners."

The ruling was Justice's final execution order after he issued a sweeping prison reform memorandum last December. It came as the result of a lawsuit filed in 1972 by eight convicts who claimed living in the prison constituted cruel and unusual punishment.

The 248-page memorandum handed down in December described "shocking" conditions in the Texas prison system, with inmates crowded into tiny cells with no privacy and living without adequate sanitary or recreational facilities.

At that time, Justice told both sides to agree on specific remedies and return to him with recommendations so he could write the final order. Several points of agreement were reached in February, but others remained unresolved.

Then, last month, Justice Department officials under the Reagan administration said they were willing to compromise with state officials on several unresolved issues in the nine-year-old lawsuit. But on Monday, Justice denied their joint request for a 30-day delay to try to reach a settlement.

Points White hoped to resolve by negotiation involved single cells for prisoners, building new prisons in rural areas and limiting units to 500 inmates — all issues decided in Justice's final decree.

"It would be difficult to describe how this could get any worse," White said as he scanned the order before leaving the federal courtroom here.

In Washington, Gov. Bill Clements said he was "disappointed" at the ruling and said Justice "ignored our attempt to reach a reasonable compromise, but I suppose that should come as no surprise."

Clements said he planned to meet today in Washington with U.S. Attorney General William French Smith.

In a separate move, the federal judge also appointed former University of Toledo law professor Vincent Nathan as special master to oversee the changes required by the order. Nathan, 43, served as special master in previous cases involving the federal penitentiary at Marion, Ohio, and the state prison system of Georgia.

Justice's ruling effectively would impose a one-prisoner-per-cell rule on Aug. 1, 1983. The judge said as of that date, "no prisoner shall be assigned with another prisoner to a cell containing 60 square feet or less." Most of the prison system's 9,000 cells contain 45 square feet.

The order further says by Nov. 1, 1983, the population of the prison system must be equal to the number of cells "plus the number of persons who can be housed in dormitories that afford 60 square feet."

White said such changes were arbitrary and costly.

"You're talking about several billion dollars," he said. "To set these arbitrary limits is indicative of how poor a place the courtroom is to determine prison policy."

Justice's order said the prisoner-to-guard ratio, which is now 11-1, must be reduced gradually until Nov. 1, 1982, when there can be no more than six prisoners for every guard.

"That means almost doubling the number of people involved. You're talking about a lot of money," White said. Besides that, he added, "We have been able to accomplish a great deal with the staff we have."

The final decree orders any new prisons to be built within 50 miles of a metropolitan area of at least 200,000 residents — unless prison officials can prove they "are able to recruit and maintain adequate numbers of qualified" prison employees.

White said, "We should have the right to select a site for the prison and not let the court impose a site."

The ruling also said the population of any new prison must not exceed 500 convicts, and by Nov. 1, 1982, existing units must be sub-divided into prisons of no more than 500 inmates.

White said it was not a federal judge's job to set such prison policy. "The administrative units within a prison should be determined by state policy and not judicial decree," he said.

The final ruling also orders Texas officials to reduce the population of its prison, which has grown from about 14,000 to 30,217 in the past 10 years, by gradually stepping up furlough and work furlough programs so that by Nov. 1, 1982, at least 2,500 convicts are out on work furloughs and another are out 1,000 on regular furloughs.

It was once believed bad luck to transplant parsley.

Home Ownership: A President's Perspective

"...I am always glad to endorse effective efforts to encourage home ownership. Nothing better could happen to the United States than a very notable increase in the ownership of homes."

Warren G. Harding, 29th President

How do you encourage home ownership? By making homes available. By keeping homes affordable. And by protecting the homeowners' private ownership rights.

Our private property rights are guaranteed by the Constitution. But at the same time, government rights can supersede ours. Like the right to tax, for instance. What good is our right to own a home if we can't afford to pay the real estate taxes on our property?

To focus attention on private property rights and the need to preserve them, the NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS® is observing Private Property Week. This is a special time to demonstrate an awareness of our fundamental freedoms and a determination to protect them.

Let's all participate in celebrating Private Property Week. It's an effective way to encourage home ownership.

Cattle Inventories Kept Below Levels of 1980

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers and feedlot operators continue to hold cattle inventories below levels of a year ago, according to the latest Agriculture Department figures. As of April 1, the department's Crop Reporting Board said Monday, cattle being fed for the slaughter market as of April 1 totaled 9.76 million head, down 4 percent from a year ago and 12 percent less than two years ago.

The report said that was the smallest April feedlot inventory since 1975. For some time, analysts have been predicting gradually tightening supplies of beef, pointing to higher prices for producers and consumers alike this spring and in the months to follow.

One factor will be the effect of hog producers cutting back on production this year. Others will include the weather and how pastures and crops shape up in the months ahead.

According to the quarterly report, which covers cattle feedlot operations in 23 major beef states — they account for 95 percent of U.S. output — marketings of fed cattle totaled 6 million head. That was down 2 percent from the first quarter of 1980 and 11 percent from the same period in 1979. In its quarterly report last Jan. 19, the department said cattle marketings in the first quarter were indicated at 6.29 million head.

Placements of new cattle in feeding pens in the January-March period, at 5.15 million head, were down 1 percent and 12 percent, respectively, from the first quarters of 1980 and 1979.

The report said cattle feeders expect to market 5.54 million head from April through June, down 2 percent from the second quarter of last year and 10 percent below two years ago.

Looking at the seven states which are examined each month — and produce about three-fourths of the nation's beef — April 1 inventories at 7.86 million head were down 7 percent from a year earlier and were 15 percent lower than two years ago.

Those states are Arizona, California, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska and Texas.

By states, the April 1 feedlot cattle inventory and its percentage of a year earlier, included:

Arizona, 346,000 head on April 1, up 7 percent from a year earlier; California, 526,000, down 5 percent; Colorado, 665,000, down 5 percent; Idaho, 203,000, down 15 percent; Illinois, 490,000, up 4 percent; Indiana, 240,000, up 2 percent; Iowa, 1.23 million, down 8 percent; Kansas, 1.1 million, down 2 percent; Michigan, 145,000, down 3 percent; Minnesota, 405,000, up 1 percent; Missouri, 80,000, down 6 percent; and Montana, 39,000, down 20 percent.

Also, Nebraska, 1.45 million, up 4 percent; New Mexico, 145,000, down 25 percent; North Dakota, 38,000, down 10 percent; Ohio, 150,000, down 9 percent; Oklahoma, 267,000, down 5 percent; Oregon, 60,000, up 13 percent; Pennsylvania, 70,000, up 3 percent; South Dakota, 310,000, down 10 percent; Texas, 1.52 million, down 12 percent; Washington, 154,000, up 1 percent; and Wisconsin, 125,000, up 4 percent.

Rains Hinder Planting, Raise Prospects

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers who wanted to plant corn were bogged down by rain in some areas last week, but on balance the rain raised crop prospects over much of the country, government weather watchers say.

The weekly assessment of crop-related weather conditions was issued Tuesday by the Joint Agricultural Weather Facility of the departments of Commerce and Agriculture.

"Rainfall totals of 1 to more than 3 inches were common over the central and southern Great Plains, central Mississippi River Valley, Great Lakes and Ohio River Valley," the report said.

"Field work in much of the Corn Belt was slowed or temporarily halted by the heavy rain. However, the moisture failed to reach into the northern Great Plains and southeastern states."

Corn planting in the 17 major producing states — which produced 93 percent of last year's crop — was about 7 percent completed by April 19, compared with 3 percent a year ago. That also was 2 percentage points ahead of normal for this time.

Progress ranged from virtually zero in Minnesota, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin to 92 percent complete in Georgia. Other states and the estimated corn acreage planted: Colorado, 4 percent; Illinois, 3 percent; Indiana, 2 percent; Iowa, 2 percent; Kansas, 15 percent; Kentucky, 15 percent; Michigan, 1 percent; Missouri, 18 percent; Nebraska, 1 percent; North Carolina, 70 percent; Ohio, 4 percent; South Dakota, 2 percent; and Virginia, 24 percent.

"Planting in the Corn Belt was delayed by rain and wet fields," the report said. "However, moisture was needed in many areas to ensure good germination. Most planting activity centered in the Southeast."

Cotton planting for the 1981 harvest reached 25 percent completion in major states, compared with about 20 percent a year ago.

Other planting progress included: grain sorghum in Texas, 65 percent as of April 19 and 64 percent a year ago; spring and rice, 47 percent and 37 percent.

Winter wheat planted last fall was rated fair to mostly good throughout the major producing states, the report said.

"Development of the winter wheat crop continued well ahead of recent years," it said. "Kansas wheat was 70 percent jointed (a stage of development), compared with only 15 percent last year and the average of 25 percent.

Oklahoma wheat was 10 percent headed. At this time a year ago, none of the crop was heading."

Planting of spring wheat was 43 percent completed, compared with a progress of 19 percent a year ago, the report said.

But it added that "rain is needed in most areas to replenish soil moisture and promote good growth."

Plantings of oats ranged from 21 percent complete in North Dakota to virtually complete in Indiana, Nebraska and Iowa. In all areas, seeding was ahead of normal.

Pork Remaining On Plentiful List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pork remains on the plentiful list for consumers, despite a substantial cutback from levels of a year ago, the Agriculture Department says.

The Agricultural Marketing Service said Tuesday in its monthly "Food Marketing Alert" that pork output in May will be down 7 percent to 9 percent from the record high levels of a year earlier but still will average 6 percent to 8 percent above the 1978-80 average for May.

Beef production, however, will be only adequate in May, averaging 2 percent to 4 percent below year-earlier levels and 5 percent to 7 percent below the average for the month.

By the agency's definition, plentiful means "more than enough for requirements" while adequate is "enough to meet normal needs." When an item's supply is described as light, that means "less than adequate, not enough for normal needs."

The list and some other ratings included:

Broilers and fryers, plentiful; turkey, plentiful; eggs, adequate; milk and other dairy products, plentiful; fresh apricots, peaches and sweet cherries, light; fresh apples, plentiful; fresh oranges, plentiful; citrus juices, adequate; raisins, plentiful; potatoes, adequate; fresh vegetables and melons, adequate processed vegetables, adequate; and peanuts, light.

Texas Veterinary Scientists Of A&M Test Cattle Genetics

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Texas A&M University veterinary scientists are experimenting with cloning to see if they can produce healthier, healthier cattle.

Researchers will use genetic engineering, or recombinant DNA, to insert genetic material from one strain of mammal to the embryo of another.

"This study will concentrate on adapting microinjection and cell nuclei fusion techniques already developed in mice to cattle ova," said Dr. Duane Kraemer, a pioneer in embryo transfer studies who will oversee the microinjection work. He will work with Dr. James Womack, a geneticist, in the project supported by the Hillcrest Foundation of Dallas, which provides grants for biomedical research.

Womack is "mapping" cattle genes that include 60 fairly small chromosomes, the part of the cell nucleus containing DNA, the basic genetic code.

Like a good roadmap, a good gene map is necessary before researchers begin to remove pieces of genetic material and implant them in the genes of other cells. Mapping, Womack said, is the location of specific genes, the basic units of heredity made up of DNA, at the spots they occupy along specific chromosomes.

"Gene mapping is necessary to permit transmission of only the desirable traits — resistance to disease, for example, or a larger size — from one species or strain to another," he said.

Womack said mapping entails joining genetic material from one animal to tissue culture lines with which scientists are familiar, such as that of a hamster or mouse.

As the hybrid cell grows, scientists can trace and study changes in genetic material through enzyme analysis.

Womack said that while the technique of somatic cell hybridization is a decade old, successful hybridization of cow and mouse cells necessary for mapping bovine genes was reported in the scientific literature only two years ago.

The researchers said one of the current limitations on selective breeding of livestock has been the time needed — usually several generations — to fix one or more desirable genetic traits within a herd or breed of cattle.

Since the amount of genetic variation within a particular species already is limited by nature, there also are limits to the change that can be accomplished through normal breeding, they said.

But if recombinant DNA is proven adaptable in large farm animals, the process can dramatically increase the efficiency of food and fiber production from harder stock, noted the scientists.

Appeals to Senate Agriculture Committee

Sen. Bentsen Wants Aid To Small Meat Plants

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Senator Lloyd Bentsen has asked the Senate Agriculture Committee to incorporate his bill to aid small, state-inspected meat plants, in the next bill approved by that committee.

"As you are well aware, state-inspected meat plants are generally small, family-run operations. They are required by law to meet the same high standards of inspection that federally-inspected plants and foreign plants exporting to the United States must meet. However, their markets are severely restricted because meat from state-inspected plants is not allowed to move in interstate commerce," said Bentsen in a letter to Agriculture Committee Chairman Jesse Helms of North Carolina.

Federal Meat Inspection Act to let meat from state-inspected meat plants be sold to federally-inspected plants for further processing, and allow the resulting product to be sold in interstate commerce.

"The American small businessman by law meets the same high standards as his foreign competitors, yet foreign meat moves freely in interstate commerce while this American meat is barred from that market," Senator Bentsen said.

As a result, many small packers have been forced out of business, Bentsen noted. Also, such discrimination leads to increased federal spending and "is swelling the federal bureaucracy because the federal government is required by law to assume inspection duties in any state which discontinue their state inspection systems." "The present law is undermining our efforts to return more power and responsibility to the states by removing a major economic reason for states to maintain their inspection systems," Bentsen said.

"Small meat packers have no wish to place themselves under the bureaucratic and paperwork burdens of the federal inspection system, and the federal government has no desire to spend the money to inspect these plants. I believe that this legislation is a timely step toward resolving this problem," Senator Bentsen said.

Reagan's Budget Cuts Still in Hard-Sell Phase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The campaign for President Reagan's tax and spending cuts is into the hard-sell phase as his aides seek to reverse a slump they say was inevitable even before he was sidelined.

They figured that the early surge of support would fade a bit and that there would have to be a lobbying drive to regain momentum.

That has been made more difficult with the president's own role limited as he recuperates from the bullet wound he suffered on March 30. But public opinion polls also indicate that Reagan's job approval rating increased after the assassination attempt.

As the House and Senate approach May action on the budget-cut phase of his economic program, Reagan is expected to take up the campaign in a broadcast address which likely will be his first major public appearance since the assassination attempt.

His strategists would like to make it a televised speech, for impact as the budget votes near. But that depends on the extent of his recovery. If the president is not fully fit and looking it by the end of the month, the speech probably will be limited to radio.

Over the next two weeks, the administration will be dispatching every emissary who might be able to help persuade a conservative Democrat or a wavering Republican to stick with the administration in the key budget votes ahead.

Members of the Cabinet got their instructions Monday: Make every public appearance possible and pay special heed to members of the House who are straddling the fence. They reportedly were told that polls conducted for Reagan show support for his spending cuts remains strong and that the message should be stressed to congressmen as evidence that their constituents want them voting with the president.

Reagan, his schedule limited by convalescence, has been on the phone to members of Congress. He is seeing governors and other political leaders at the White House as part of the effort to rally backing.

Vice President George Bush and former President Gerald R. Ford have been enlisted to speak for it, too.

Four Reagan lobbying teams are handling that phase of the campaign.

One White House official, who asked that his name not be used, said the effort is concentrated on about 45 congressional districts, most of them in the South. He said Reagan aides figure that if they can cement 25 to 28 wavering votes, they can win on the budget cuts.

The battle over tax cuts may prove the more difficult. Reagan wants a cut of about 30 percent over the next three years, with Congress committing itself to the package now.

Astros Blank Dodgers; Red Sox Rap Rangers

Expos, Braves Record Wins

By HERSCHEL NISSENON
AP Sports Writer

Those modern-day hitless wonders, alias the Houston Astros, came up with a new way to record a much-needed victory.

"It was outstanding pitching by the pitcher and outstanding hitting by the pitcher," Manager Bill Virdon said Tuesday night after Bob Knepper fired a three-hitter and doubled and scored the only run as the slow-starting Astros cooled off the Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0. "It doesn't matter how; we just needed to win."

The Astros, defending champions in the National League West, not only ended a four-game losing streak but beat the Dodgers for the first time in five meetings and handed them just their second loss in 11 games.

Elsewhere, the Montreal Expos trounced the Philadelphia Phillies 10-3, the Atlanta Braves hammered the Cincinnati Reds 10-1, the St. Louis Cardinals blanked the Chicago Cubs 8-0 and the San Diego Padres shaded the San Francisco Giants 3-1. New York and Pittsburgh had the day off.

Expos 10, Phillies 3

Rookie Tim Lincecum rapped out four hits, including a two-run single, and tied a club record by stealing four bases while Scott Sanderson scattered 10 hits. Raines broke a 2-2 tie against loser Dick Ruthven in the fifth when he scored on Rodney Scott's single and the Expos poured five runs across in the sixth, including two-run singles by Raines and Ellis Valentine. Gary Carter homered for Montreal's first two runs.

The Expos are counting on Raines to replace Ron LeFlore, last year's NL stolen base leader, who left the club as a free agent. The 21-year-old left fielder boosted his average to .444.

Braves 10, Reds 1

Tommy Boggs pitched eight scoreless innings and drove in two runs and slugger Bob Horner, without a run batted in this season, drove in four, three with a homer in the Braves' seven-run ninth. Claudell Washington, who had three hits, got Atlanta's first one off Mario Soto, a single in the fourth. He stole second and continued to third on catcher Johnny Bench's throwing error. Horner followed with a sacrifice fly. The Braves made it 2-0 in the sixth when Ed Miller singled, stole second and scored on Washington's single.

The loss was the Reds' third in four meetings with Atlanta, a team Cincinnati dominated last year by winning 16 of 18 games.

Cardinals 8, Cubs 0

Gene Tenace and Tom Herr drove in two runs apiece in St. Louis' six-run third inning to back the five-hit pitching of rookie Andy Rincon. George Hendrick also had two RBIs with a double and triple. Rincon retired 17 of the last 18 batters as the Cubs suffered their eighth consecutive loss and ninth in 10 games. The Cardinals have won five in a row.

Padres 3, Giants 1

Chris Welsh posted his first major league victory by allowing an unearned run and three hits in seven innings. It was the second start for the 26-year-old left-hander, obtained in a trade last month with the New York Yankees. The Padres snapped a string of 21 scoreless innings in the fifth when Ozzie Smith delivered a two-out, two-run double off Doyle Alexander.

Trevino's Absence Irks Officials

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Tom Watson is on hand to defend his title, but officials still are fuming about the absence of Lee Trevino in the $350,000 USF&G New Orleans Open golf tournament.

"I just hope whatever he's doing is worth more than $163,000," said Jack Weiss, tournament director for the event that gets started Thursday on the 7,080-yard, par 72 Lakewood Country Club course.

Trevino, a former winner here, took the title last weekend in the prestigious Tournament of Champions but declined to enter the New Orleans event.

"I've played very well in New Orleans," he said. "I won without making a bogey and I was second last year, but I've had some commitments in Phoenix and Tucson this weekend and I'm sorry, but I just can't play in New Orleans."

His absence nullified the $100,000 bonus the New Orleans event had put up for any player able to win both the T of C and New Orleans titles.

And, with the last minute decision of Ray Floyd to take some time off, it left Watson, Bruce Lietzke and Andy Bean as the only members of the top 10 money-winners entered in the 156-man field that will be chasing a $63,000 first prize here.

Lietzke, who has won twice and played well all season, moved into second place on the season's money-winning list with his third place finish last week in the T of C.

Yanks, Indians Win Again

Dave Stieb has enough goose-eggs to whip up a major-league omelet.

But it's leaving a bitter taste. Stieb has started three games for the Toronto Blue Jays this season. He has also lost three games this season.

In the 21 innings he has pitched, the Blue Jays have given him no runs. None. Zero. Zilch.

He pitched seven against Milwaukee Tuesday night. Toronto scored one run in the eighth. And one in the ninth. Not enough. The Brewers beat the Blue Jays 6-2.

In other American League games, Seattle silenced California 3-0, Boston blasted Texas 10-4, New York defeated Detroit 2-0, Chicago beat Baltimore 1-0, Cleveland clipped Kansas City 4-1 and, in 10 innings, Oakland edged Minnesota 4-3.

Mariners 3, Angels 0

Floyd Bannister's two-hitter and RBI singles by Richie Zisk, Jim Anderson and Bruce Bochte enabled the Mariners to beat California. It was a remarkable turnaround for Bannister, whose last start ended in a 16-1 pounding by Oakland. This time he retired the final 20 batters he faced.

Red Sox 10, Rangers 4

John Tudor, a left-hander, is unique. He finds Fenway Park a fun place to pitch. In his career the Boston southpaw is 7-1 in the bandbox and 3-6 away from it. Against Texas, he scattered nine hits and, of the Rangers' runs, one was unearned and two others came by way of walks.

Yankees 2, Tigers 0

Doug Bird isn't really a starter but he's the only right-hander the Yanks can use in that role for now. He's a stranger among the lefties — Ron Guidry, Tommy John,

Astros, In 4-Game Losing Streak Felt No Pressure

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston pitcher Bob Knepper, trying to break the Astros out of a four-game losing streak and protecting a one-run lead, had to double-check to make sure the Astros really were in a devastating slump.

"In San Francisco after three or four losses, the throats would tighten up and everybody would be drinking a lot of water," Knepper said Tuesday night after he had quieted Los Angeles on three hits for a 1-0 victory.

It was Houston's third victory in 11 starts this season but Knepper didn't feel the pressure.

"Here, you'd have thought we were 8-2," said Knepper, an off-season acquisition from the Giants. "I've never been nervous with this team. The whole atmosphere is so relaxed." Knepper's relaxation lulled the Dodger bats into only their second loss of the season. Pedro Guerrero got a pair of singles and Dusty Baker added a seventh inning hit for the only safeties off Knepper.

The Astros offense, brunted all season, did not explode against loser Jerry Reuss, 0-1, who yielded eight hits. But Knepper's third inning double and a run-scoring single by Cesar Cedeno was enough for the Astros to win for the third time in 11 games this season.

"Numerically this was an important victory," Knepper said. "It was important for us to establish that we could beat Los Angeles and that they hadn't psyched us out. You don't want to go 2-20. Eventually you have to start putting something together." Reuss, making his first start of the season, said "I was satisfied with my game. How could I not be? He (Knepper) outpitched me and he outhit me too."

Knepper, 1-0, said he hoped he could continue hitting but would have to improve his baserunning. Knepper was thrown out trying to stretch a seventh inning single into a double.

"It was terrible baserunning," Knepper said. "I stopped at first base for coffee and pizza before going to second base."

Guerrero was the only Dodger to hit consistently against Knepper. He collected singles in the second and fifth innings and in the eighth flew out to leftfielder Jose Cruz on the warning track in foul territory.

"He was getting a good combination," Guerrero said. "We had only two or three guys that hit the ball good. His curve was coming on the outside corner. You can't pull that pitch right there. I just let his curve ball go."

Houston Manager Bill Virdon was just happy for the victory. "It doesn't matter how, we just needed to win," Virdon said. "Tonight, it was good pitching by the pitcher and good hitting by the pitcher."

Rockets Race by Kings; 76ers Edge Celtics

Philly Scores ★ ★ Turnovers Help Houston to Easy Triumph ★ ★

One-Point Victory

BOSTON (AP) — The first battle is over. With cool Andrew Toney's final salvo, the Philadelphia 76ers captured their thrill-filled opening confrontation with the Boston Celtics.

Certainly, the second engagement here tonight can't be as intense.

"I think it will be more so," said Philadelphia's Caldwell Jones following the 76ers 105-104 victory in the opening game of their National Basketball Association playoff series.

"It will be all-out war, like the war of the worlds. Everything's on the line. We can't afford to let them get their confidence back," Jones added.

Confidence may not be as important a weapon for the Celtics to restore to their arsenal as good foul shooting, a productive running game, or crisp ball movement.

All were in short supply Tuesday night when Toney calmly canned two free throws with two seconds left.

Though the Celtics weren't sharp entering the best-of-seven Eastern Conference final after a nine-day layoff, Boston Coach Bill Fitch said, "No one should get much momentum from tonight. They still have to win three more times. No one should feel inferior or superior after tonight's game."

The setback cost Boston the home-court advantage it gained on the last day of the regular season by beating the 76ers here, 98-94. That triumph had given them the Atlantic Division crown over Philadelphia.

However, 76er Coach Billy Cunningham said, "I just don't think the home court is going to make a big difference. The reason I say that is, you look at the way these teams played all year. We both were 62-20. You don't do that by not doing well on the road."

One of Toney's favorite road stops has been Boston. The 6-foot-3 guard from Southwestern Louisiana averaged 12.9 points per game this season, but averaged 15 against the Celtics. In the season finale he poured in 35 points and Tuesday night he led the 76ers with 26.

"It's nothing personal against them, but anytime you feel your shot going you have to go with it," the confident rookie said.

With four seconds left and Boston ahead 104-103, Toney, Philadelphia's first choice to get the ball, took the inbound pass. He was fouled by Cedric Maxwell.

While Caldwell Jones said the 76ers, who wrapped up a seven-game series with Milwaukee Sunday, "are really in shape for this," teammate Bobby Jones said the Celtics "may have been stale. I think they were missing the shots they normally make."

Boston had fought back from a 100-91 deficit to take a 104-103 lead with four seconds to go on two free throws by Larry Bird, who topped all scorers with 33 points.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Never in their long history of National Basketball Association playoff games have the Houston Rockets met an opponent as generous with turnovers as Kansas City was Tuesday night.

Twenty-five times the Kings turned the ball over. Kansas City's sloppy ways, plus Moses Malone's 29 points, triggered a 97-78 victory that gives the Rockets a 1-0 advantage in the best-of-seven Western Conference finals between the only two sub-.500 teams to make this season's playoffs.

"I didn't think our club was as prepared as it could have been," said Kings Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons. "I think they were a little better prepared than we were. They were aggressive, and caused many of the turnovers. But we made a lot of mistakes. We'll play better next game."

Malone, held to just 10 points in the first half, unleashed a 19-point effort after intermission and triggered a third quarter surge to put the Rockets in control. Houston took charge for good with a 16-8 run at the start of the fourth period that turned a 70-63 lead into an 86-71 bulge.

"I got more aggressive with the ball in the second half," said Malone. "I started going to the offensive boards and that opened up a lot of opportunities for me."

Game two of the series is tonight in Kansas City.

"It was a very important win," said Malone. "It's up to them to win tomorrow (tonight). We're going to come back here and play the same way."

The Kings pulled a surprise move by starting point guard Phil Ford, who had not played since he suffered an eye injury Feb. 22. But although the Rockets admitted they were caught off guard, Ford was obviously rusty, winding up with only five points and committing five of the turnovers.

"I was hoping we'd get some cheap buckets early in the game, and then walk it down," said Fitzsimmons. "It really came down to some carelessness on our part," said Fitzsimmons.

Forward Robert Reid, who scored 19 points for the Rockets, credited Houston's pressure defense with throwing the Kings out of rhythm.

"We never did let up on the pressure," he said. "Phoenix let Ernie (Grunfeld), Sam (Lacey) and Scotty (Wedman) shoot the ball and those guys can flat-out shoot. We pressed the ball and made them use the clock."

Grunfeld wound up with 20 points while Wedman had 19 and Lacey six.

"Now we have a little bit of breathing room," added Reid. "But this game is over and we have to come out more aggressive than we did tonight."

The victory pushed the Rockets, who finished with the same 40-42 regular season as the Kings, over the break-even mark for the first time this year.

"Two months ago, who would have thought we would have been in the playoffs?" said Reid. "This win gives us the psychological edge."

Mays will run against such national stars as Mike Boit, Wayland Baptist's Joel Ngetich, Illinois' Tom Stevens and Northwestern's Doug Peterson in the 2:26 p.m. race.

The remainder of the Red Raider team will travel to Plainview in the Wayland All-College Meet Friday. Prelims are slated for 1:30 p.m. and finals start at 5 p.m.

Mays was beaten last weekend in the El Paso Invitational for only the second time in seven outdoor meets this spring. Brigham Young's Alberto Guimares, who finished fourth in last summer's Olympic Games, ran a 1:48.35 to Mays' 1:48.42.

The competition will not get any easier at Drake. Boit whipped Mays early in the indoor season at the Albuquerque Indoor and Ngetich inflicted Mays other outdoor defeat this spring, winning the Texas Tech Invitational last month.

Mays already has qualified for the NCAA meet, which he finished fourth in last year. However, Tech coach Corky Oglesby feels the Drake event is a good opportunity to improve on his 1:48.00 best this season.

"James is running against one of the world premier half-milers in Mike Boit," Oglesby said. "It will help get him ready for the conference." Boit, who still holds the collegiate record in the 800 meters he set in 1976 just after his senior season at Eastern New Mexico, has run in seven previous 800-880 events at Drake.

He has won three times, run second three times and had a "disappointing" fifth-place finish last year when Steve Scott came from behind to win. Boit, who is completing his PhD studies at the University at Oregon, began his outdoor season last Saturday at the Bruce Jenner Classic in San Jose, CA, winning with a time of 1:46.0.

Ngetich, a 25-year-old Kenyan, has an 800 fastest time of 1:47.22 in winning the Border Olympics. A former 400-meter runner, Ngetich began running the 800 toward the end of his sophomore season at Ranger Junior College last season and now prefers the distance.

A number of Raiders will be attempting to join Mays in reaching NCAA qualifying standards when action gets underway Friday at Wayland.

One of the top threats is freshman longer jumper Thomas Selmon from Snyder. Selmon has a season best of 24-10, not far from the NCAA standard of 25-3 1/4. He is attempting to become the first Red Raider freshman ever to qualify for the NCAA meet.

Another with a good shot is junior Greg Rolle in the 400 intermediate hurdles. Rolle has run a school record 51.67 this spring, just short of the 51.34 NCAA standard. Rolle ran second last weekend in El Paso with a 52.0.

Senior Edwin Newsome will take aim at the 400-meter run standard of 46.60. His best this spring is 46.9.

U.S. Downed by West German Hockey Team

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — Erich Kuhnackl and Holger Meitinger each scored two goals as West Germany defeated the United States 6-2, but the Americans still have a chance to win the B pool in the World Championships.

They have six points and the Germans have four, and each has two games to play.

Finland downed Holland 4-2 in the second game of the night and pulled even with the United States in the B pool standings.

Homogenized Market?

NEW YORK (AP) — Nobody can say when it will take place or exactly what it will look like, but there's a notion circulating that there'll someday emerge an homogenized market for financial services.

Instead of going to the bank for cash, to your insurance agent for annuities, to your broker for stocks and to the local coin dealer for gold, you might deal with one outfit that will service all.

It would mean more control: an end to having a customer depart because he wanted stocks and they could only sell him insurance. The financial services company could satisfy him either way.

With inflation and volatile interest rates, insurers today find their traditional fixed-return policies less attractive to customers. But when face values are based on the return of successful stock funds, which brokers have, the insurers might be able to offer security — and an inflation hedge.

The possibilities are numerous, as Harry Jacobs, chairman of Bache Group, Inc., said last Wednesday, the day Prudential Insurance Co. gained 51 percent of his company. It was day for celebrating.

"Flexibility, stability, opportunity," Jacobs said several times. That, he said, is what Prudential means to Bache, whose unit, Bache Halsey Stuart Shields, is one of the biggest securities firms.

It also meant to Bache executives: Safety from another investor they frowned upon and feared, and had been trying to ward off for two years. But, said Jacobs, the positive reasons were stronger.

"The first thing we discussed with Prudential was the entrepreneurial nature of our business," he said. "We fluctuate between peaks and valleys." And, he said, securities "is a gigantic user of capital."

In the 70s, many brokers succumbed to tight money problems. "If we can go to Prudential with ideas that would produce a satisfactory return of capital they might be interested," said Jacobs. "The insurance industry has vast amounts of money to put to work."

Bache can offer Prudential 65 different products, including money funds, stocks, commodities and gold, some of which might be candidates for eventual integration into the insurance product.

That day is still far off, said Jacobs. Right now Jacobs's commitment is to "good common stocks carefully selected and held for a long period of time." Fueling the future, he sees a shift from consumption to production, with "great changes" in the tax laws as an incentive.

A gold mine near Johnsville, Calif., may have been the home of America's first ski lift. In the 1860s they skied down the mountainside on Sundays, riding up again aboard the mine's chain line of ore buckets.

People in Lottery Foiled by Greed, Ignorance

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — It was a simple scheme: rig the Pennsylvania Lottery drawing so a few people could get rich quick and nobody would be the wiser. It was a little too simple.

No one got rich, and eight people found themselves facing an array of criminal charges. The fatal flaws, investigators say, were ignorance of the lottery system's intricacies — and greed.

After several months' investigation, a state grand jury accused the eight of rigging the April 24, 1980, Daily Number drawing at WTAE-TV in Pittsburgh.

Now, six of them plan to testify for the state. The other two, former television emcee Nick Perry and Edward Plevel, the suspended Lottery Bureau district manager, face a Common Pleas Court trial next month.

The grand jury concluded that Perry, who was host of the nightly drawing, was the mastermind, Plevel the inside man, in a scheme which resulted in a record $3.5 million payout when the number 6-6-6 popped up on pingpong balls used in the drawing.

They are charged with theft by deception, rigging a publicly exhibited contest, criminal mischief, criminal conspiracy and perjury. Plevel also is charged with unsworn falsification.

Investigators say if betting had been limited to about $100,000 every six months, the scheme might have gone undetected. But somewhere along the line, the grand jury says, Perry issued the order to "bet heavy."

The grand jury said Peter Maragos, his brother, James and James' wife, Jean, bought more than 10,000 Lottery tickets of various combinations of "4" and "6" at least a dozen locations. Another brother, Jack Maragos, also bought winning tickets, the panel said.

So many tickets were bought, the grand jury said, that people were paid to cash partial lots of the $1.2 million in winning tickets.

During one court appearance, Peter Maragos testified he borrowed $32,000 from a bank to buy tickets. Peter and Jack Maragos and Perry were business partners in a food vending business.

Peter Maragos also testified that he and Perry discussed the scheme over the telephone and at the church they both attend. He said after the drawing, he delivered a total of $35,000 to Perry at two meetings — one at a cemetery and the other behind a shopping center.

Investigators say the accused were apparently unaware the Lottery Bureau's computer system recorded the sales for that day — revealing unusually heavy betting patterns on the numbers "4" and "6" in the Philadelphia area.

As the evidence mounted, the four Maragos family members agreed in December to be state witnesses — giving the prosecution its first inside look at the alleged conspiracy.

In return for their testimony, Peter and Jack Maragos pleaded guilty to reduced charges in the hope of gaining five-year probationary sentences. Under a similar agreement, charges against James and Jean Maragos would be dropped after they testify for the state.

Part of the agreement involved the Maragos family making restitution, and officials say they have recovered more than $700,000 in cash and unredeemed winning tickets.

In addition, Joseph Bock and Frederick Luman, two former television stagehands implicated by the grand jury, decided in March to join the Maragos family as state witnesses in an effort to get lighter sentences.

At his January preliminary hearing, Bock testified he weighted the bogus pingpong balls, except those numbered "4" and "6", by injecting them with white latex paint.

He said he affixed store-bought numbers and letters to make them look like the official balls.

Bock testified he brought the bogus balls to the television station in a brown paper bag and minutes after the drawing burned them in an old paint can in his shop.

The grand jury said it was Luman who actually switched the balls in the drawing machines — three glass boxes containing numbered balls that dance on a current of air. When a small door is opened at the top of the box, one ball is sucked into a trap, thus producing one digit of the winning combination.

A year after the scandal broke, lottery officials say the legal betting business is better than ever in Pennsylvania. Lottery Bureau Director Lynn Nelson estimates gross sales for the fiscal year ending June 30 will be at least $430 million. The Daily Number drawing, one of four lottery games conducted by the state, accounts for about 70 percent of the gross revenue, he said.

Conservation Hits Oil; Prices Down

NEW YORK (AP) — Conservation has struck the oil business, and prices are beginning to edge lower.

The oversupply of oil on world markets is giving oil companies the clout to try to get some oil exporting nations to reduce prices, but it will also lead to lower earnings for the companies.

In recent days, Ecuador and Mexico have been forced to cut prices on some grades of oil. Kuwait has found oil companies refusing to pay the premiums it had been charging on its oil, and there is speculation that Libya or Nigeria may have to reduce prices.

The cuts reflect the fact that consumers in the United States and Europe have cut back on oil use. Gasoline use in the United States is running 6.2 percent below levels of a year ago.

As a result of that, gasoline prices "leveled off and actually declined a little" in March, according to the Lundberg Letter, an industry publication.

A number of oil companies have either cut wholesale prices or instituted rebates for stations that sell enough gasoline. Margins — the difference between what they pay and what they charge — are lower for both refiners and gasoline dealers.

The oil glut — the Indonesian oil minister estimated this past week that overproduction will amount to 2.5 million barrels a day for at least a few months — has hurt the major oil companies. Many are expected to report first quarter earnings below those of a year ago.

The price cuts, or the lack of new increases, mean that inflation statistics in the United States may improve next month. Sharp increases in March largely reflected the effects of President Reagan's decision to end price controls on domestic oil.

In some ways, the most remarkable thing about the current oil price situation is that most members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries have managed to charge prices higher than the "spot" price, at which individual tank loads of oil are sold.

The oil companies have been complaining loudly to the oil exporters, but they are reluctant to stop taking the oil.

The obvious course for OPEC is to cut production to remove the excess supply, but the key member of the oil cartel, Saudi Arabia, so far has refused to take that course.

American Telephone &

Telegraph Co was in the news this past week:

AT&T asked the Federal Communications Commission for a $1.4 billion rate hike, boosting long-distance charges 16 percent in keeping with a previous FCC decision to allow the company a higher profit rate.

The FCC also approved a new mobile telephone system that will allow many more consumers to have phones in their cars, with local phone companies having one system to offer and one system to be offered by a competitor. AT&T competitors said giving the phone company the automatic right to one system in each area was unfair.

The Justice Department vowed to push forward on its antitrust case seeking to break up AT&T, despite a plea from Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger to drop the suit because of the company's importance to national security.

ABC Dispensing Placebo Programs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — ABC is dispensing some more placebo television, airy TV fill that carries a title and has stars and occupies a spot on the schedule but really doesn't exist at all.

The idea behind placebo television, which has become a specialty at ABC, is to fool the viewer into believing he's getting a real TV program when in fact there's nothing coming across the tube but a gelatin capsule that dissolves away under the slightest scrutiny.

You might have seen ABC's newest sugar pill, "Aloha Paradise." Then again, you probably wouldn't remember. This show, a spring trout program, wouldn't register an image if held next to a mirror.

If "Love Boat" is Muzak you can see, "Aloha Paradise" is but the illusion of Muzak you can see. It comes from Aaron Spelling, who is ABC's placebo pusher. He also makes "Love Boat," "Fantasy Island" and "Hart to Hart," which together weigh less than a butterfly jockey.

"Aloha Paradise's" non-stories flit about the edges of sitcom and drama without ever quite taking the plunge into either. Debbie Reynolds does the Ricardo Montalban-Gavin MacLeod number, playing chipper Hawaiian resort hostess to a relentless group of vacationing zombies, bloodless standard-issue TV guest stars who come equipped with problems that can be resolved painlessly in an hour.

Ray Bolger and Phil Harris appeared one week as a couple of old pals who try to snooker each other in pursuit of a dame (Harriet Nelson). The routine was much better accomplished by Spanky and Alfalfa in a 1936 "Little Rascals" short.

As in "Love Boat," the lead character is supplied with assistants, who seem to roam around the set sheepishly wondering whether they really get paid for this. One of them is Bill Daly, the hilarious, classic goof from the old "Bob Newhart Show." His act is reduced to imbecility here.

One of the little vignettes involved Daly's visiting nephew, a 24-year-old millionaire whose success inspired this line from envious Uncle Curtis:

"I'm 41 and all I own is five shirts and a toaster."

Such gems routinely send the laughtrack machine into convulsions. They may do the same for Daly's career.

The quality of script is constant, at least. Daly's nephew falls for Dixie Reynolds and tries to win her with this snappy woo:

"You're a sophisticated lady."

Even Debbie doesn't escape the dialogue blight. She responds:

"Where'd you learn suave stuff like that?"

From Uncle Curtis, no doubt.

"Aloha Paradise" is as harmless as any sugar pill, and as empty. Why bother with it?

Anti-breeches

Trousers became popular in America after the War of 1812 as a reaction against the silk breeches-and-hose syndrome that smacked too much of things British. The Duke of Wellington actually helped popularize trousers in England by wearing them to state functions. Early trousers were simply something to protect the fancy breeches when riding — similar to chaps worn by cowboys out West.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—With the Texas Legislature steaming toward a June 1 closing deadline, intricacies in the end-play will deepen as legislators move to approve or kill major legislation... and try to save smaller bills from falling in the fray.

Heading the list of major issues are the appropriations bill, public education, redistricting, interest rate ceilings, products liability, and tax reform.

The House Appropriations Committee last week finished its mark-up of the state budget and the Senate Finance Committee was expected to complete its version this week.

House Speaker Bill Clayton and others have indicated they want the State budget bill approved before the Legislature tackles redistricting in earnest.

The Finance and Appropriations versions are different in many aspects and the kinks will have to be worked out in conference committee. Whether or not the conference committee finishes its work early remains to be seen.

A proposal by Rep. Susan McBee, D-Del Rio, granting property tax exemptions for livestock and poultry, was the first measure this session to win unanimously on a record vote.

products like grain, and not give them for livestock.

The House is expected to consider this week a bill granting initiative and referendum powers to voters on tax and spending issues only.

Many legislators feel the issue is an unnecessary carry-over from the California Proposition 13 tax revolt two years ago, pointing out that Texas ranks 48 among other states in per capita taxation.

Supporters, however, say citizens want it and deserve it, and add that some 26 other states already have some form of I&R process.

Redistricting

Redistricting bills are expected to reach the chamber floors for debate sometime in mid-May. Many observers predict the issue is too complicated to be solved in a short two or three weeks and will be sent to the redistricting board this summer.

The redistricting board is composed of the Lt. Governor, the House Speaker, the Attorney General, the Land Commissioner and the Comptroller, all Democrats. Should the task fall to them, some foresee Gov. Clements may well call a special session on some issue to bring Republican legislators back to the Capitol to keep an eye on redistricting events.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Persistent cough

DEAR DR. LAMB - For the past three years I've been coughing. I never have any phlegm or mucus. I am 57 years old, have never smoked. I've seen several doctors concerning this, including an allergy specialist. Prior to that I had a lung specialist who even looked into my lungs. Nothing has been found to cause the cough. Any medicines I have taken have been fruitless. It seems that the cough gets worse in the evenings. Do you have any suggestions? I need something done about this.

DEAR READER - You were wise to seek medical attention. A cough can be caused by a host of different factors, including tuberculosis, cancer, various lung disorders and even a tumor of the larynx. Anyone who has a persistent unexplained cough should see a doctor as soon as possible. By persistent I mean a cough that lasts 10 days or more.

Of course, I can't guess what causes your cough. Having been so thoroughly evaluated, though, helps to rule out many serious causes. The three years you have had it suggests it is not caused by cancer.

There are two suggestions. See a specialist in ear, nose and throat diseases and have him check your ears. That's right, your ears. Ear wax can cause a chronic cough, which is nonproductive as you describe. Stimulation of the auditory meatus stimulates Arnold's nerve and causes an irrepressible desire to cough. You won't like to hear this but some people do develop a chronic cough from psychological causes. If your ears are clean and healthy, you might ask for psychological counseling to see if that could be a factor.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a policeman and was recently assigned to work the midnight shift on a permanent basis. I have a very hard time trying to stay alert and fresh. Are there any type of vitamins I can take or beverage I can drink to help keep me awake? I took No-Doze tablets but they nauseated me.

DEAR READER - It is habit and your body has established a rhythm. You can change it and may have succeeded by the time you hear

POLLY'S PROBLEM
DEAR POLLY - Please tell me a way to remove dog odor from a rug. - MRS. J.M.
DEAR J.M. - One rug-cleaning company suggests covering with a thick layer of salt, leaving overnight and then vacuuming the next morning. Be sure to carefully clean the vacuum so no salt remains. Sponging with club soda may help; ordinary baking soda helps, too. Sprinkle from the box (after testing for color fastness of rug in an inconspicuous spot), leave overnight and then vacuum the next morning. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - I fill my quart-size thermos bottle with very hot water when I make instant coffee for breakfast. When I want more coffee during the day, the hot water is ready. No extra heating is necessary, so I save on electricity.

DEAR POLLY - Tell new brides that the way to keep their new pots shiny is to either wash them and towel dry immediately, or to leave them soaking totally immersed and then towel dry. Letting water spots remain on pots any length of time can mean staining them for life.

Also, save fuel by paying your paper boy for several weeks at a time. Making him return weekly means extra fuel on his part and heat or cold escaping needlessly while you pay him at the door. This also helps the youngster keep ahead with his finances. - KIM

DEAR POLLY - I would like to tell Cecilia about using cat litter in the basement to help keep her house from smelling of cats. Litter also helps eliminate musty smells, and is certainly worth a try. - ANNE
