County Fathers On Record Opposing MX

Managing Editor

Deaf Smith County Commissioners unanimously went on record opposing the placement of the MX Missile System in Deaf Smith County Monday as they met in regular session at the courthouse. The county fathers will present their formal objection to the placement of the system in this area at a MX Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS) hearing next Monday at the Amarillo Civic Center.

The commissioners will also forward their objection to area legislators.

In addition to the county's formal stand opposing the system, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce officials were on hand Monday to urge the commissioner's court to present a statement on behalf of area citizens at the DEIS hearing Monday: Chamber executive Vice President Mike Carr and the chamber's Governmental Affairs Committee Chairman Dr. Milton Adams presented their preliminary findings on a survey run by the chamber concerning the MX system in Deaf Smith County.

Carr reported the chamber has been studying the missile question for "about two months, breaking it down into various aspects." Carr said the survey showed that "a majority of the membership of the chamber are opposed to the system being placed here.'

Dr. Adams pointed out problems in three specific areas probed by the chamber. There will be added expense in the areas of education, county government, and water," Dr. Adams said.

Dr. Adams noted that the Environmental Impact Study estimated that from 78,000 to 130,000 acre feet of water would be used by the placement of the missiles over an eight-year period.

We are asking a representative of Deaf Smith County to request the federal government to import water at their expense to replace water used at a depletion rate exceeding the EIS estimate," Dr. Adams stated.

Commissioner Bruce Coleman suggested the chamber get a statement in writing to the commissioners court, and that it be presented along with the court's formal opposition to the system at the hearing Monday.

In other action Monday the commissioners discussed problems with the county's contract with West Texas Rural Telephone Company. Attorney John Aikin and Tom Hyer of WTRT asked for some changes in the contract due to difficulties experienced in repair work on cut and water-soaked lines in the

House Member Wants Bracero Card Revived

WASHINGTON (AP) - A bracero-type card with which Mexican residents could legally enter the United States to work for periods of up to a year might prove the best solution to Texas' problem with illegal aliens, Rep. Sam B. Hall Jr., D-Texas,

"It would allow them to come over here for a certain period of time to work, after which they would be required to return to Mexico," Hall said in an interview.

Texas had such a program in the 1960s, "and it worked fine" before it was allowed to die, Hall said. "It was a rather popular program. A very small illegal alien program existed during the time it was going on."

Hall, a lawyer and lifelong resident of Marshall, is a member of the Judiciary Committee subcommittee that is responsible for immigration and aliens.

He said he has had no communication with officials of Mexico concerning a revival of the bracero-type card "but I don't think they protested the program when we had it before. As a matter of fact, I think they were instrumental in seeing that it worked."

Hall, 57, and four other members of the House subcommittee began a 5-day investigative visit to San Diego today to observe first-hand the workings of the Border Patrol along the California-Mexico border.

WHITE SULPHUR SPR-INGS, W.Va. (AP) - Some 40 of the former American hostages in Iran were gathering today at a posh hotel for a three-month checkup by the same doctors who examined them in West Germany after their release.

many brought their families - 130 people in all - to take advantage of a free stay at The Greenbrier. The management of the 700-room resort, set on a 6,500-acre estate amid the jagged ridges of the Allegheny Mountains, has agreed to pay all ex-

Start Of New Space Era Ends Today With Shuttle Landing

By HOWARD BENEDICT AP Aerospace Writer

Rocketship Columbia and her two pilots faced a final, white-knuckle challenge today with a blazing, hypersonic descent through the atmosphere to an airliner-like landing in California's Mojave Desert.

It is man's first "wheels down" approach from outer space. The shuttle's touchdown target was the wide-open Rogers Dry Lake runway, a 27,000-foot-long blanket of rock-hard sand with margin for error.

questions remain about the craft's thermal lifeguard tiles, which must throw off reentry heat of up to 2,700 degrees fahrenheit.

But there was also confidence enough to go around. Before descent began, the shuttle's historic maiden voyage had gone more smoothly than its most ardent supporters had dreamed. A perfect launch, flawless operation of its major systems, routine repairs of minor glitches.

Commander John Young, five times up in space and four times down, was looking forward to a drink on terra firma and told capsule communicator Henry Hartsfield, tivities revolved around one last operation of the ship's cargo doors; all the other major tasks had been completed successfully. The shuttle's maiden mission was designed to evaluate systems and ready the day Columbia would go into business as a space freighter.

Success would mark the first time a spaceship has rocketed into space and returned to Earth, ready to fly again. It would accelerate the day when Columbia can routinely ferry satellites and people into orbit for scientific, commercial and military missions.

One hour before the planned touchdown, the astronauts and, flying backwards over the Indian Ocean, fire tail engines that slow the orbital speed of 17,400 miles an hour and start Columbia on a long, shallow descent that takes it and the mission imperiled. Columbia was to enter U.S. air space near Big Sur, coast over desert towns like Buttonwillow and Mojave, pass over the lake bed at supersonic speed to drain away energy and circle back on a final and dramatic approach. Young, maneuvering through a control stick from about 40,000 feet down, was to fly the now-powerless 80-ton craft like a gigantic glider to a landing on a five-mile runway where there is plenty of room for error - to swerve, skid or overshoot.

More than 100,000 people were expected to crowd viewing areas to watch the historic return.

wasn't the only thing in the heavens to talk about Sunday evening as persons from as far east as the state of Georgia and those in an area extending to the west of the Pexas Panhandle got a first hand look at one of Nature's most colorful phenomenons.

Aurora Borealis, more commonly called the "Northern Lights," presented itself to area sky watchers late Sunday evening. The streaks of light in the dark, night time sky, were a deep red color, stretching across the northern sky. Webster's dictionary describes Aurora Borealis as ··luminous phenomenon...usually appears in streamers ascending, often in a fan shape..."The dictionary also described the lights as sometimes assuming a waving appearance..called Merry Dancers." According to Bill Weaver, a weather service specialist with the National Weather 19-minute communications Service in Amarillo, the blackout when they hit the upphenomenon is very rare in per atmosphere at 75 miles

"Aurora Borealis is seen mainly within the 40 degrees North latitude," Weaver said. "It is caused by a high-level magnetic storm in the inonosphere occuring around the north pole."

The phenomenon also occurs in the southern hemisphere, but is called Aurora Australis there.

Weaver said the lights were reported as green in Georgia, while the deep, almost blood red, lights prevailed here in the West. "The lights can oc-

Authorities Have Second Suspect

ATLANTA (AP) - No prosecutions are in the offing in Atlanta's child deaths case, officials say, even though FBI Director William Webster said authorities have "substantially solved" three or four of the 23 slayings.

Webster also said authorities have a suspect in 12 to 16 of the cases that are believed to be related. The suspect is the second one authorities have focused on in the case, he said.

In an interview in today's editions of The Atlanta Constitution, Webster said the FBI was virtually certain last month it had found the person responsible for the slayings of 12 to 16 young blacks in the past 21 months, but the case against that suspect was weakened in some critical

"The results of the audit, from June of 1975 through March, 1980, are final and have been for the past nine months and the city's lackadaisical attitude about this debt has been beyond relief," Bullock said in his monthly report.

Bullock said he notified the city last month that he planned to withhold city payments if the debt was not cleared and that the city hasn't even bothered to ackowledge the

That's more than $5,000 under the $20,570.47 received last April, but still put the city over the year-to-date figure for the first four months of 1980. For the first quarter of this year Hereford has received $140,871.90 as compared to $136,800.35 in 1980.

Dimmitt got a rebate of $6,241.15 for April, bringing that city's total for the year to $43,227.76. The April, 1981 figure was higher than the $5,887.56 in April 1980.

Inheritance Tax

Bill Approved

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Texas House members have given tentative approval to a bill that would, in effect, repeal the state's "unfair" inheritance tax laws, its sponsor said.

Final approval was expected in the House today. "What I've tried to do ... is abolish the state inheritance taxes because they are inherently unfair," said the sponsor, Rep. Gerald Geistweidt,

'You've got the grim reaper, and two steps behind him comes the tax collector," he added.

The Legislative Budget Board estimates that passage of the bill would cut state revenue by $18 million a year. The inheritance tax currently falls mainly on larger estates because the 1979 Legislature exempted estates totaling less than $200,000 from the

The House Business and Industry Committee approved the bill by Rep. Doyle Willis, D-Fort Worth, 6-2.

The law, passed in 1961, forbids the sale of 42 classes of merchandise on both Saturdays and Sundays, including certain kinds of clothing, furniture, appliances and sporting goods - all items commonly found in both department stores and discount

Merchants who operate on both Saturday and Sunday typically obey the law by roping off one section of their store on Saturdays and another on Sundays.

Enforcement has been poor in some areas with prosecutors waiting on complaints from competing stores before filing charges.

Jury Awards $2.5 Million Libel Verdict

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) - A jury Monday awarded $2.5 million in puntitive damages to a Texas Optometry Board member who claimed he was libeled in a book on Texas politics that said he had been indicted for practicing without a license.

But a quirk in Texas law, which prevents puntitive damage payments unless actual damages have been awarded, may prevent Dr. N.J. Rogers from collecting the money awarded him by the eight-man, fourwoman state district court jury.

Rogers filed a $10 million libel suit here in 1972 against Harvey Katz, who wrote "Shadow on the Alamo," publishers Doubleday & Co. and distributors Bookland Inc. of Houston.

The suit claimed that a footnote in the book indicated Rogers had been indicted three times for practicing without a license and was appointed to the State Optometry Board in the 1960s by then Gov. John Connally.

Rogers testified that it was his brother that had been indicted three times in 1936 for practicing without a license and that he had never been the subject of any such investigation.

He also testified at the six-day trial that he suffered no monetary loss as a result of the allegedly libelous footnote, and sought no compensation for actual damages in the suit.

Katz testifed the error came after he called a legal research firm in Texas and was told that Rogers had been named to the board. He said he knew three indictments had been handed down, but assumed they were against Rogers instead of his brother.

State District Judge Thomas A. Thomas said he will consider whether the money will be awarded at a later

Reagan Under Fire

Some men achieve greatness; other men have greatness thrust upon them. If Ronald Reagan sought the presidency, the higher accomplishment - greatness - appears to have sought him. It has been said that no president - however determined - can really change

FDR did. Watching the events of recent days encourages the conviction that the president

If Americans wondered if their cowboy movie hero Ronnie Reagan could possibly be like that in real life - now they know.

If the pain and shame of the recent shooting can have any salutory effect it is that Americans have seen their new president under fire and he made us proud.

From the time he strode into the hospital he was making lighthearted quips - to keep us reassured.

Q. What should I do to get my car air conditioner into shape for warm weather? A. Although most air conditioner repairs should be done by professionals, there are several things you can look for in terms of preventive maintenance or to remedy small problems. First, it's a good idea to turn the air conditioner on occasionally for brief periods during the winter months when the system isn't being used. This will circulate the refrigerant and, possibly avoid a recharge. If the system isn't blowing cold air, the first thing to look for is a low refrigerant charge. Kits are available for this do-ityourself procedure. Check the air conditioner drive belt for proper tension. There should be no more than one inch give if you press the belt with your finger between the compressor and drive pulleys. If the air conditioner does not operate at all, the first thing to look for is a

Ann Landers Unusual Haircuts

My husband goes to his brother's house for his haircuts. They have been cutting each other's hair for years. They are not professional barbers but they are pretty good at it. As you know, haircuts are expensive these days-so it's a nice way to save a few dollars.

My brother-in-law has to have his beer every night. After a six-pack, he falls asleep. His wife (a dizzy redhead) likes to drink, too, but she has a hollow leg with sponges in her shoes. I have never seen a woman consume so much booze in all my life. She also likes to dance. So after my brother-in-law passes out, the redhead puts on the music and she and my husband dance for hours. There is a possibility that they also do other things, but I can't prove it.

When my husband comes home (like at 3 a.m.) he is dead drunk and can't get up to go to work the next morn-

At Wits End By ERMA BOMBECK

I swear, advertisers don't know anything. There isn't a day goes by that I don't pick up a newspaper or a magazine and get asked a provocative question like "DO YOU WANT HEALTHY HAIR?" or "ARE YOU SICK OF

Okay, so you make allowances for a dozen or so weirdos who consider dandruff a turn-on and are lonely for pets, but I think we can safely assume the answers are yes.

A full-page advertisement the other day wasn't taking any chances. Across the top was the musical question, "DO YOU WANT TO BE IN DEBT THE REST OF YOUR LIFE?" Below were two boxes. One said, "NO! Quick! Send me your pamphlet, 'Free at Last,' on trial so that I may thumb my nose at bankers and be a millionaire without leaving my home." The second box was "YES! I want to drift aimlessly for the rest of my life and die a failure."

Don't tell me that agency couldn't have figured out the number of yes's and no's from a simple poll in the elevator.

Who writes that stuff? Rip Van Winkle? "DO YOU WANT TO END NAGGING BACKACHE?" "ARE YOU TIRED OF BEING RIPPED OFF?" "DO YOU WANT TO LOOK TEN YEARS YOUNGER IN TWO MINUTES?" (Are they crazy? I'd give 'em TEN minutes to make me look TWO years

"WOULD YOU BE INTERESTED IN PLAYING AT PAR-TIES AT CHRISTMAS AND HAVING THE TIME OF YOUR LIFE?" "WOULD YOU LIKE TO SAVE MONEY AND LIVE LIKE A KING?

"DO YOU WANT TO LOSE 12 POUNDS IN THREE DAYS?" "WOULD YOU LIKE PROSTATE RELIEF?" (If you can spell it, you can cure it.)

Frankly, I hate quizzes. Always have. I get rattled. A salesman at the door the other day asked, "Are you interested in saving 15 cents a copy on each magazine you receive?" What am I supposed to say, "No, I want to get in my car, use gas I don't have, run down to the corner drugstore, buy that magazine off the newstand before it's sold out and pay an extra $12 a year for the privilege?"

Later, as I stood there with a five-year subscription to the 'Bleeding Gums Journal," my husband asked, "Why didn't you just tell 'em you didn't want the magazine?" "Because that wasn't the question!"

The next time I see, "HOW WILL YOU SPEND ETER-NITY?" on a bumper sticker, HE can answer it!

Rubble Yields Jobs, Prosperity

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) - Two years ago Friday, a killer tornado carved a mile-wide path of devastation through Wichita Falls, killing 46 persons, injuring 3,300 others and leveling the homes of at least 20,000 residents.

The scars the twister left city remain a few piles of rubble, the contorted frames of homes and shops that were among those destroyed. Fresh flowers blossom on the nearby graves of those who lost more than their homes on April 10, 1979.

But out of the debris that was Wichita Falls two years ago has risen a new economic prosperity. The storm brought destruction, pain and grief, but it has since also brought money and jobs.

After the tornado had passed volunteers and assistance began pouring into the city from throughout the nation, and residents maintained their sense of humor despite the grisly surroundings.

Hours after the twister disappeared in the clouds east of the city, an optimistic Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce put in an order for some bumper stickers that read, "Wichita Falls is coming back strong and fast."

Signs, such as "Now showing Gone With The Wind" and "We're off to see the Wizard" behind are scattered. Along appeared in the devastated the southwestern edge of the neiighborhoods, sometimes painted on the bactered walls and remains of homes.

Two years later, officials estimate that 90 percent of the residences have been rebuilt. Most businesses are back to normal, and many new firms have opened their doors. Several new housing developments also have been

The drastic need for housing and the influx of state and federal money following the disaster created a boom that helped builders escape a construction slump that affected much of the rest of the nation.

Outside contractors heard of the twister-borne construction boom. They arrived in droves, bringing new money and new resolve. New activity in the oil and gas industry further fueled the town's economic growth.

In the two years since the tornado, deposits in Wichita County banks have increased nearly 50 percent from $608. million to more than $910

The unemployment rate in the city's two-county metropolitan area was 3.2 percent in December, 1980, the latest monthly period for which figures are available.

Rockets, Spurs Resume Playoff Series Tonight

By ALEX SACHARE AP Sports Writer

You don't tug on Superman's cape. You don't spit into the wind. And you don't get Moses Malone

The last time the San Antonio Spurs riled Malone, by forcing him into a sub-par performance in the second Basketball Association playoff series against Houston, the Rockets' center responded with 41 points and 15 rebounds in the next game, a 112-99 Houston victory.

"They shouldn't have made him mad," Rockets teammate Calvin Murphy said of Malone. "Noone's going to

The Rockets, who resume their best-of-seven Western Conference semifinal at San Antonio tonight, can only hope Murphy's law holds true. The Spurs did their best job on Malone Sunday, limiting him to 17 points and nine rebounds and beating the Rockets 114-112 to even the series at two victories

After tonight's game, the Texas shootout shifts to Houston for Game Six Wednesday night. The other West semifinal resumes Wednesday with Kansas City, leading 3-1, seeking to wrap it up at Phoenix.

In the East, Boston already has clinched a berth in the conference final with a fourgame sweep of Chicago. Milwaukee and Philadelphia are tied 2-2 in the other semifinals, which resumes in Philadelphia Wednesday night.

The Kings, playing without regular guards Phil Ford and Otis Birdsong, both of whom are injured, dropped their series opener at Phoenix but since have won three in a row. They'd like nothing better than to make it four with their new, slower tempo.

"The momentum is going our way now," said Kansas City forward Reggie King. "We've got their number. I don't think they like playing our style of game. They won 57 games running and gunning. Any team would have trouble adjusting its style."

Milwaukee has enjoyed a 165-152 rebounding advantage over Philadelphia in the first four games of their series. Center Bob Lanier and forward Marques Johnson were particularly effective for the Bucks in Sunday's 109-98 victory, combining for 21 fourthquarter points and controlling both boards.

Phils Win; Astros Lose Again ** * Toronto Stops Yankees, 5-1

By The Associated Press Steve Carlton is still the strong, silent type. That is, his left arm is still strong and Carlton himself is still silent.

The 1980 National League Cy Young Award winner earned his first victory of the new season Monday night, scattering nine hits as the world champion Philadelphia Phillies won their home opener 5-1 over the Pittsburgh Pirates before a crowd of 60,404.

"When we get to talk about Lefty's (Carlton's) perfermances they all run together, they're all so good," said Manager Dallas Green. "He shut down a Pirate team that can swing the bats. And when you do that, you're doing something."

In the only other National League games, the unbeaten some wildness on the part of Los Angeles Dodgers edged starter Bob Welch and three the San Francisco Giants 4-3, relievers, who issued eight the Atlanta Braves nipped the winless Houston Astros 2-1 in 10 innings and the Cincinnati Reds trounced the San Diego before the game. Then they went out and lashed 11 hits to back Carlton's one-walk, fivestrikeout pitching. He was in trouble in just one inning, the sixth, but escaped when right fielder Lonnie Smith caught a fly ball and threw out Bill Madlock trying to advance to Dodgers 4, Giants 3 Pinch hitter Jay Johnstone singled home the tie-breaking run in a three-run fourthinning rally. The Dodgers ran their record to 4-0 despite walks. The triumph went to rookie Dave Stewart, the first of his major league career. Scioscia's single was an infield hit and Cey scored from third when second baseman Joe Morgan threw wildly past first. this season.

Rookie Rufino Linares, batting .067 with only a bunt single in 15 previous at-bats, stroked a two-out, runscoring single in the top of the 10th inning off Houston relief ace Joe Sambito to hand the defending NL West champion Astros their fourth straight

Rafael Ramirez opened the 10th with a single and was sacrificed to second. With two out, Sambito intentionally walked Glenn Hubbard but Linares spoiled the strategy by lacing an 0-2 pitch to right field for the game-winning

Phil Niekro, Atlanta's 42-year-old knuckleballer, went 82-3 innings, allowing six hits and one run. He also singled home the Braves' first run in the second inning. Reds 7, Padres 1

Johnny Bench slammed a three-run homer and Dan Driessen and Ray Knight hit solo shots for Cincinnati. An opening-night crowd of 36,391 in San Diego saw Cincinnati starter Tom Seaver fan five batters to give him 2,997 strikeouts for his career. He is seeking to become the fifth. pitcher in major league history to record 3,000 strikeouts. The 36-year-old Seaver allowed three hits and one run in eight innings.

Toronto Manager Bobby Mattick says he has a special liking for Jim Clancy because "he's got guts. He can throw out of jams."

On Monday, though, Clancy threw into one in the eighth inning. It was Roy Lee Jackson who got him out of it with a double-play pitch to Bobby Murcer, helping the Blue Jays beat the New York Yankees 5-1.

It was the Blue Jays' fifth home-opening victory in their five years in the American League. In two other AL games, Baltimore beat Boston 5-1 and Oakland edged California 3-2 in the Angels' home opener. Detroit's game at Kansas City was rained

The Yanks loaded the bases with one out in the eighth on a single and two walks. So Jackson, acquired from the New York Mets in the offseason, replaced Clancy and lowered the boom on the Yanks.

Before he was yanked, Clancy checked the Yanks on four hits in 71-3 innings, retiring 14 consecutive batters in one stretch.

Orioles 5, Red Sox 1

Pinch-hitter Jose Morales' two-out bases-loaded single broke a ninth-inning tie and triggered a four-run burst that carried Baltimore past the Red Sox.

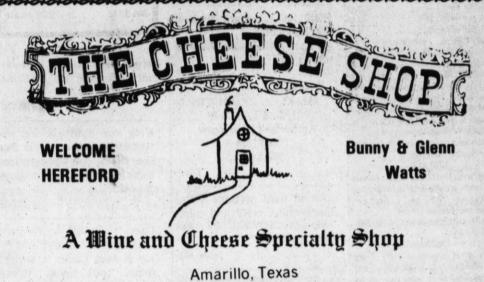

Ken Singleton opened the ninth against rookie Boston pitcher Steve Crawford with

Q. Before we can start an effective plan for building a regular savings account, we need to set some realistic goals for our savings. Just how much money should a family have in their savings account?

A. Frankly, there is no general answer that fits everyone. It depends on the specific situation of the individual family. For instance, if your immediate goal is to be able to buy your own home within say three years, then the down payment can be a major factor in determining the amount which should be deposited in a savings account each month. If you are simply trying to determine how much should be set aside for emergencies, this too can from one family situation to the next depending on individual circumstances. Not long ago the basic "rule-ofthumb" was that the family savings account should be maintained at no less than three months living costs. Now many authorities on financial planning are strongly recommending that for safety's sake this should be expanded to an amount equivalent to four to six months living costs.

Moslem mathematicians used the cipher, or zero, 200 years before it appeared in 12th century Europe.

Choosing Right Air Conditioner

PITTSBURGH - Gone are the days when you would give the kids a dollar and send them to the movies to cool off on the hottest summer days. For one thing, the movies cost well over a dollar these days. And many households consider home air conditioning a necessity, not a luxury.

Choosing the right air conditioner for your family's needs takes planning. People who used to buy one, plug it in and turn it on are finding that more study is necessary before the actual purchase.

With the variety of models available, energy cost considerations, and the onslaught of technical data to sift through, you're faced with many choices when trying to assess your specific needs.

If you don't know your BTUs from your EERs, Janet Felmeth, director of White-Westinghouse Appliance Company's Home Economics Institure, answers the most frequently asked questions on choosing a room air conditioner.

"Size is the most important consideration when selecting a room air conditioner," said Ms. Felmeth. "The model that's best for you is determined by the size of the area to be cooled. Other factors to consider include the room's exposure to the sunshine, a home's insulation, the number of people who usually occupy the room, and the heat-producing equipment in the room, such as a kitchen range."

According to Ms. Felmeth, an air conditioner that is too large will cool the room to the desired temperature, but it will not dehumidify properly, thus resulting in a cool, but clammy environment.

Ms. Felmeth suggests that you measure the length and width of the room to be cooled

PITTSBURGH – Gone are and then see a knowledgeable dealer.

"The salesperson might use these dimensions along with a guide to determine BTUs, or the unit's cooling capacity per hour. Then, based on the size and type of window, the salesperson can recommend appropriate models for your consideration. Room air conditioner buyers often ask if one large air conditioner can be used to cool several rooms. Usually, a room air conditioner is just that-and air conditioner for one room. The cooling area of a unit can be extended, however, by a strategically placed fan which increases air circulation.

With energy costs being what they are, estimated operating costs are as important a consideration as the purchase price of the air conditioner itself. Obviously, more efficient operation means lower operating costs," said Ms. Felmeth. "Air conditioners are assigned an energy efficiency rating or an EER. By law, each unit must display an Energy Guide label which gives you the EER for that model. Energy Guide labels can provide valuable information, but they can also be confusing. The salesperson should be able to help you understand these numbers and apply them to your situation.'

Ms. Felmeth warns that it may be misleading to only consider the EER. A high EER will not offer the best value if the savings in operating costs do not offset a higher purchase price in a reasonable period of time.

After you've selected and installed your air conditioner, like any appliance, regular routine maintenance is essential to keep it running at peak efficiency.
