Japanese Agree To Curtail Auto Exports By 140,000

TOKYO (AP) — Japan agreed today to cut its auto exports to the United States by at least 140,000 cars in the first year of a two year voluntary curtailment. The curbing in the second year would depend on the recovery of the U.S. auto market.

International trade minister Rokusuke Tanaka said the curtailment would represent a reduction of 7.7 percent from the 1.82 million cars sent to the United States last year. Exports in the second year would increase in proportion to any rise in U.S. car sales.

U.S. Special Trade Representative William Brock, in Tokyo for two days of talks, said today that the Japanese plan is satisfactory and eliminates the chance that Congress will pass a protectionist bill putting stricter limits on shipments of Japanese cars.

He said the Japanese plan "would be far, far less than that proposed by legislation in Congress but would be adequate to the need for time for the domestic industry to retail and become competitive." Brock refused to comment on the details of the agreement but said the major U.S. concern was not the figure itself but the continuity it provided.

Death Approaching

Sands Rejects Appeal

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Jailed IRA guerrilla Bobby Sands rejected another appeal today to call off his hunger strike, and his supporters briefly occupied an office at the headquarters of the opposition Labor Party in London.

The appeal was made by the Labor Party's spokesman on Northern Ireland, Don Concannon, who visited Sands and three other guerrillas who are demanding reforms amounting to granting political prisoner status to Irish Republican Army inmates. The four rejected the appeal earlier this week.

"I should think there is nothing anybody else can do, and no one can accede to their demands. He had quite a political argument with me for about a minute this morning," Concannon said after visiting Sands and the others at the Maze prison. He said Sands, in the 62nd day of fasting, was mentally alert.

On Thursday, Britain accused the IRA of stirring a "calculated, cold-blooded" campaign of terror in the name of Sands. Frank Hughes, jailed with Sands, received the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church Thursday, and Rokusuke Tanaka in a meeting with Brock Thursday, but it extends the export curbs for an additional year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — With party invitations, phone calls and cufflinks, President Reagan is turning up the lobbying heat on wavering Democrats and Republicans as the House debates his economic program amid a GOP claim that he already has the votes to win.

In return, the chief House budget writer is telling wavering Democrats they won't be able to come back for more money for their own districts later if they help pass Reagan's proposed budget cuts now.

"The lobbying is unbelievable," said Rep. Carroll Hubbard Jr., D-Ky., one of 47 conservative Democrats being wooed by Reagan and Republican leaders.

"I realized how big the lobbying was when I got a telephone call from the president (in early March) and he talked for so long that I had to say, 'I know how busy you are and must get off the phone.' Even my brother in Louisville doesn't talk that long," Hubbard said.

As the House kicked off budget debate Thursday, the president also launched a series of meetings that one White House aide said would bring as many as two dozen Republicans and Democrats into the Oval Office to meet with Reagan before a showdown vote expected next week.

House debate was continuing today, as were Reagan's meetings with House members.

House Republican leader Robert Michel of Illinois said Thursday, meanwhile, that he's convinced Reagan already has the votes won. But to make sure out-numbered Republicans vote as a block, Reagan is holding a series of one-on-one chats with GOP members described by Michel as being of a "little bit more liberal persuasion" and possibly wavering.

Rep. Bill Green of New York, one of the Republicans who met with Reagan on Thursday, said "we from the Northeastern states were being locked out of the process" while GOP leaders were wooing conservative Democrats.

Another White House guest Thursday, Republican Rep. Harold C. Hollenbeck of New Jersey, said he pointed out to Reagan that if the group's concerns are not heard, it would have no choice but "to begin to deal with the Democrats."

Green said Reagan was "a good listener," and the congressman displayed a set of presidential cufflinks given to him to commemorate the visit.

"The cufflinks don't buy my decision," Green added. Michel said about 35 conservative Democrats have indicated support for the administration budget and estimated only three GOP defections "at the most."

If correct, that would wipe out the Democrats' 52-vote majority.

Asked if he were absolutely certain Reagan would have the votes to win, Michel said, "That's the way I've got it figured."

Faced with growing Republican confidence, House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. said Thursday that a Democratic alternative budget may be rallying and Rep. James Jones, D-Okla., chairman of the House Budget Committee, added: "Neither side has the votes yet."

O'Neill said many Democrats are beginning to have second thoughts about backing the president's plan because of the impact it would have on their constituencies. "It's suddenly hitting home out there," the Massachusetts Democrat said.

Jones indicated he would hold members' feet to the fire by enforcing spending-cut decisions in the final budget resolution, which sets guidelines for individual committees which will write tax and appropriations bills later in the year.

That came after Michel said unhappy Republicans are being told a vote for Reagan's budget "does not foreclose them from voting their districts on other things."

Laetrile Fails First Controlled Testing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Laetrile, the purported cancer treatment that doctors say has led thousands away from proven therapy, failed its first controlled human test and should be considered worthless, scientists say.

"Laetrile has been tested. It is not effective," Dr. Charles Moertel of the Mayo Clinic said Thursday at a meeting of the American Society of Clinical Oncology.

The National Cancer Institute, which sponsored the trials, said it hoped they would settle the controversy surrounding Laetrile, a substance found naturally in the pits of apricots and peaches and in bitter almonds, and its usefulness in treating cancer.

Moertel said the results are based upon data from a core group of 156 of the 178 patients enrolled in the study. Of these patients, 104 died and in only one case was there a partial response to the treatment. And that case was questionable, he added.

Dr. Vincent T. DeVita, head of the cancer institute, said the results proved Laetrile's failure as a cancer treatment.

"The hollow promise of this drug has led thousands of Americans away from potentially helpful therapy of scientific validity," DeVita said. "Now the facts speak for themselves."

Laetrile advocates, however, said the test proved nothing. They have charged that the substance tested was not pure Laetrile and that the

Bill Calls For More Parental Liability

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Parents whose youngsters are caught destroying property would be financially liable for up to $15,000 per act of vandalism under a bill advanced by the Texas House.

Representatives tentatively approved the bill on voice vote Thursday and could take final action today.

Existing law says parents' liability for an act of vandalism committed by a child between 12 and 18 is limited to $5,000. A recent Texas Supreme Court decision said there could be more than one "act" in a spree of vandalism, and the $5,000 limit applies to each act.

The House-approved bill raises the limit from $5,000 to $15,000 per act.

Representatives rejected amendments that would have raised the limit to $20,000 and $25,000.

Sponsors of the amendment said a family's liability insurance contained in its homeowner's policy would cover up to $25,000 in damage. "The only people who are going to squirm are the insurance companies, and won't that be said," said Rep. Smith Gilley, D-Greenville, who offered the $20,000 amendment.

Rep. Frank Elkenburg, R-Plano, sponsor of the $25,000 amendment, said he wanted to "get the attention" of parents and did not think $100,000 worth of parental liability would be excessive.

He said too many parents don't keep track of their children's whereabouts. "They're off in those Trans-Ams, those cars they bought for them," he said.

"There are no Trans-Ams in my district," said Rep. Paul Elizondo, D-San Antonio. "The parents are out working, trying to stay off the welfare rolls. ... Those are the people who are going to be touched by this."

Elkenburg's $25,000 amendment was tabled, 64-56, and Gilley's $20,000 proposal went down, 63-51.

Lions Club Bag Sale Saturday

Members of the Hereford Lions Club will be canvassing the town door-to-door Saturday as they conduct a trash bag sale in conjunction with Beautification Week here May 1-9. Headquarters for the sale will be the chamber of commerce office.

Skid Shaw, club president, said the club will also be taking orders at the chamber office, and will be making deliveries from there Saturday. Persons wishing to buy bags may contact any Lion, or call the chamber office at 364-3333.

The bags will sell for $6 a roll, which includes 50 heavy duty, 30-gallon size bags. Proceeds from the trash bag sale will go to local projects which the Lions Club sponsors.

Post Admits Error On Pistol-Packing Techs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Students at Texas Tech don't carry guns to classes and Lubbock residents aren't packin' pistols these days — and the Washington Post has admitted it stands corrected.

The Post, in a correction run in Thursday's edition, agreed that it had portrayed Texas Tech and Lubbock inaccurately in an April 5 story tracing the background of John Hinckley, accused of the assassination attempt on President Reagan.

The page two correction stated: "Texas Tech students do not carry guns to class, as the article stated, and the city itself is a quiet town with orderly and law-abiding citizens."

"There is no 'pistol-packin' tradition in Lubbock," the article incorrectly implied," the correction continued.

In the story, the Post mentioned that Hinckley had bought three guns in Lubbock pawn shops, but added that a pawnshop for owning guns was nothing new in Lubbock.

The story went on to portray Lubbock as a town where the traditions of the Old West were still upheld and said Tech students frequently took guns to classes.

Man Pawns Ring

For Gun to Shoot Wife

HOUSTON (AP) Arthur M. Caudillo, 39, who pawned his wedding ring to purchase a gun, has been sentenced to 20 years in prison in the shooting death of his wife.

Caudillo pleaded guilty to the murder charge in connection with the July 30, 1980 shooting of his wife Alvina, 44.

Dick DeGuerin, Caudillo's attorney, sought a probation sentence for Caudillo, claiming his client shot the woman in a momentary act of passion because he felt his manhood threatened by the circumstances surrounding their separation.

The couple had been separated several weeks prior to the shooting. Caudillo said he went to a pawn shop and traded his wedding ring for a gun before going to his wife's home where an argument started with his wife. She was shot in the back as she ran from the home.

"The defendant went to the pawn shop to buy the gun with the intent of killing his wife," Asst. Dist. Atty. George Lambright said. "It was a cold-blooded, premeditated murder with malice and forethought."

Senators Put Premium

On Ticket Scalping

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Senators put a premium on ticket scalping Thursday, approving a measure that restricts the resale of tickets to athletic and entertainment events.

A bill by Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, was approved on voice vote, without comment or controversy. It goes to the House.

"This bill was brought on by racketeering in the resale of tickets in Texas which is depriving fans of reasonably priced tickets," Brooks said in a brief explanation.

Brooks bill would not directly outlaw resale of tickets to athletic and entertainment events, but it would put strict conditions on such resale.

If approved by the House, no one could resell a ticket to an athletic or entertainment event for more than $3 above the face value of the ticket.

'Crying Tree' Attracts Tourists in Alabama

NEEDHAM, Ala. (AP) — It sounds like a whining puppy, but the noise apparently comes from a huge pecan tree in Linnie Jenkins' yard.

Some believe the ghosts of long-buried Indians or babies are whimpering.

Others seek a more rational explanation, speculating that an animal trapped in a nearby hollow is squealing.

And a forester says gases seeping through tiny slits in the wood may well make a crying noise.

Whatever the reason, the noise is attracting carloads of curiosity-seekers to this rural spot in southwest Alabama. In fact, so many people have flocked to the 75-foot-tall tree that Mrs. Jenkins has started charging them 50 cents for a chance to listen.

"We thought it was a dog sleep-dreaming," said Mrs. Jenkins, who first heard the sound April 12. "You know how a dog cries out in his sleep when he's sleep-dreaming?"

"Well, we remarked on how it must be a pretty good dream because it was lasting so long."

A local weekly newspaper first reported the phenomenon, and a swarm of tourists descended on this rural community.

Weather

West Texas — A chance of showers or thunderstorms in most sections through Saturday, with a cooling trend tonight. Highs in the upper 70s across the Panhandle to the low 90s in the Big Bend area. Lows in the mid 50s and mid 60s. Highs Saturday in the low 80s.

George Jones, Barbara Mandrell Top List of CMA's Honorees

LOS ANGELES (AP) — George Jones, one of country music's top male singers, and Barbara Mandrell, who has parlayed her country career into a weekly television series, came out on top in this year's Academy of Country Music Awards.

Jones recently overcame a near-fatal bout with alcoholism and made a dramatic comeback with the hit, "He Stopped Loving Her Today." That song won him single-record-of-the-year and song-of-the-year honors Thursday night, and the 48-year-old singer was chosen top male vocalist.

Miss Mandrell, whose Saturday night series on NBC, "Barbara Mandrell and the Mandrell Sisters," has just been renewed for the fall season, was named entertainer of the year.

"I was country when country wasn't cool," Miss

Mandrell said, borrowing the lyrics from a song she has just released. "My success is a combination of my wanting it with all my heart and the inevitable popular acceptance of country music."

"I'm so happy. This is the greatest thing that has happened to me in 40 years. I guess you gotta hang in there," said Jones, who received "little industry recognition until this year when I didn't enjoy the pop side of some other country stars."

The award was presented to him by his ex-wife, Tammy Wynette. Jones sang his "He Stopped Loving Her Today" at the ceremony and, changing the lyrics, sang: "If drinkin' don't kill me, Tammy's memory will."

Dolly Parton, nominated for five awards, was named top female vocalist. But she did not attend the ceremony.

Johnny Lee, who burst on the country scene last year with "Lookin' for Love," from the movie "Urban Cowboy," picked up top new male vocalist honors.

"Urban Cowboy" was a huge box office success and is credited by many with greatly increasing popular acceptance of country music. The academy chose the movie's soundtrack, which contains songs from a number of artists, as album of the year.

The movie of the year award went to "Coal Miner's Daughter," the story of country music queen Loretta Lynn, which stars Sissy Spacek. Miss Lynn was to have been at the ceremony but recently was hospitalized in Nashville, Tenn.

Blind singer Terri Gibbs, picked top new female vocalist of the year, won a standing ovation from the audience. Her "Somebody's Knockin'" has been a huge success on country charts.

Alabama, a group composed of four musicians from that state who have suddenly emerged as important figures in country music, was named top vocal group of the year.

Kenny Rogers, who has turned his country music career into something of a pop music career, came up the loser at the 16th annual ceremony.

He had been nominated in six categories, including entertainer of the year and top male vocalist. But he has failed to win any awards from the academy in the past two years.

Comedian George Burns won the academy's first special achievement award.

Untold Tales of Texas Women To Be Featured at ITC May 10

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Texas women saved the Alamo, rode and roped, flew flimsy early aircraft, robbed banks, drilled oil wells and set records in sports events.

They ran the Texas Supreme Court, made boots, invented liquid paper, wrote plays, sewed and designed clothing, cooked, changed diapers, worked in sweat shops, lobbied for the vote and inspired their men and children to great achievements.

Texas women, like the men, worked and played hard and helped tame a tough frontier state.

The roles women played in developing Texas have been largely untold, says the Texas Foundation for Women's Resources, a condition the foundation plans to remedy beginning next week.

On May 10 an exhibit called "Texas Women — A Celebration of History," premieres at the Institute of Texas Culture to tell a story its planners say has been neglected in most history texts until now.

"I don't think the people who write textbooks can plead ignorance of Texas women again," said Mary Beth Rogers, an Austin publicist who is directing the exhibit, the first of its kind in the nation.

Ms. Rogers and her helpers spent two years gathering the more than 200 rare photographs, costumes, paintings, documents and relics of the past from 2,000 sources including attics, diaries, museums and libraries.

The survey uncovered some 500 women who made significant contributions to their communities of the state, many achieving firsts in the nation. "We could fill a whole museum, but because of space limitations we can tell the stories of only a few," Ms. Rogers said.

"Texas Women" will be on exhibit at the Institute of Texas Culture throughout the summer, then will make a two-year tour of the state. It is accompanied by a soon-to-be-published book detailing the exploits of traditionalist, as well as non-traditionalist women of Texas.

The display was conceived four years ago when Ann Richards, a Travis County Commissioner, toured the Institute of Texas Culture, a permanent exhibit telling the stories of the various ethnic groups that settled in the state.

Mrs. Richards was accompanied by her two sons and two daughters, and after the tour one of the girls asked their mother, "where were all the women?"

Mrs. Richards' attempt to answer that question eventually led to development of the exhibit.

The ensuing two-year survey discovered that women created most of the cultural life in Texas — the museums, symphonies, parks, monuments and libraries — 85 percent of which were organized by Texas club women.

Women were also effective politicians and reformers, responsible for enacting legislation on child labor, infant health care, women's suffrage, prohibition, education and prison reform.

The exhibits range from the .38-caliber revolver that outlaw Bonnie Parker carried while she and Clyde Barrow rampaged across the state to a replica of the pink drilling rigs used by modern-day San Antonio oilwoman Irene Wischer.

Using photographs, artifacts, diary excerpts and words of the women themselves, the exhibit attempts to depict not only the state's most accomplished heroines, but also reveals the struggles, sorrows and joys of the more typical women, Ms. Rogers said.

"We've tried to include stories of interest to men and children, as well as women," she said. "It has a broad appeal to traditionalist women, club women, working women, career women... It's free. We wanted it to be free. We want people to come and see it."

The Texas Commission for Humanities provided the initial seed money for research and development, but the women supporters of the project raised another $300,000 from private sources to complete the exhibit.

"I don't think that much money has ever been raised by women for a project about women before," Ms. Rogers said.

A sampling of women depicted in the exhibit includes:

—Heffie O.A. Conner, Texas's first black county home demonstration agent who helped eliminate the public school common drinking cup — a source of continuous illness among school children.

—Clara Driscoll, the Corpus Christi heiress who wrote a $25,000 check in 1903 to save the Alamo from commercial exploitation and who later was a successful Broadway playwright.

—Betty Graham, a Dallas secretary whose kitchen experiments produced liquid paper and a multimillion-dollar corporation. The mixer she used to create the product is on display.

—Jovita Ibar, who organized La Liga Feminil Mexicana in San Antonio in 1911 to promote the rights of women.

—Henrietta King, who registered the first brand for the famous King Ranch and was its sole owner for 40 years.

—Jane Y. McCallum, who organized the "Petticoat Lobby" of the 1920s.

—Nurse May Smith, known as "mother to 55,000 Dallas babies," because she set up a "baby camp" in Red Cross tents on the grounds of Parkland Hospital in 1913.

—San Antonio aviator Kathrine Stinson, one of the nation's first female pilots who had fan clubs throughout the world and may have been history's first skywriter.

—Chief Justice Hortense Ward and Justices Hattie Henenburg and Ruth Brazill who composed an all-female Texas Supreme Court in 1925.

—Babe Didrikson Zaharias of Beaumont, Olympic tract medalist and champion golfer. A loving cup awarded to her by the city of Chicago in 1932 is on display. It is inscribed "World's Greatest Athlete — Man or Woman."

From San Antonio, the exhibit will go to Dallas this fall, to Austin next February, to Canyon in the summer of 1982, and to Houston in the fall of 1982.

Reagan's Statement Tempered

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's own declaration aside, the United States would not walk away from a negotiating table merely because a country refused to discuss its human rights violations, administration officials say.

Reagan vowed Thursday to use the White House as a "bully pulpit" against violence, terrorism and persecution of innocent people and said the United States does not belong at any bargaining table unless the other side's human rights abuses are on it.

In an administration that has steadfastly avoided making human rights a focus of its foreign policy, Reagan appeared to be sending out a new message, particularly to the Soviet Union, which has been accused of oppressing Jews.

However, officials said the president's statement did not signal any change in policy or a move toward the Carter administration's heavy emphasis on human rights in foreign policy.

One administration official said that in trying to express sympathy for persecuted people around the world, Reagan simply overstated himself.

His remarks were more of a personal philosophical statement than a declaration of U.S. conditions for holding negotiations, said the official, who insisted on anonymity.

Human rights "won't be item No. 1 on the agenda, but it will be apparent to anyone we're negotiating with," the official said.

Reagan's statement came in an emotional speech at a commemoration of the Holocaust the extermination of 6 million Jews by the Nazis before and during World War II.

"It is up to us to ensure that we never live it again," the president told a group in the ornate and chandeliered East Room of the White House.

"Theodore Roosevelt said that the presidency was a bully pulpit," Reagan recalled. "Well, I for one, intend that this bully pulpit shall be used on every occasion, where it is appropriate, to point a finger of shame at even the ugliness of graffiti, and certainly wherever it takes place in the world, the acts of violence or terrorism."

proper, to point a finger of shame at even the ugliness of graffiti, and certainly wherever it takes place in the world, the acts of violence or terrorism.

"Even at the negotiating table," the president continued, "never shall it be forgotten for a moment that wherever it is taking place in the world, the persecution of people, for whatever reason — persecution of people for their religious belief — that is a matter to be on that negotiating table or the United States does not belong at that table."

The audience, including six survivors of the Holocaust, was on its feet applauding even before Reagan finished the sentence.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration is trying to bar the use of Laetrile, saying its safety and effectiveness is unproven. At the same time, 23 states have approved use of the substance within their borders.

"The question was not numbers — 100,000 units would not make any difference," Brock told a news conference today.

The reported cutback, however, is less than the amount U.S. trade sources close to the talks had said would be necessary to placate Congress.

Tanaka scheduled a news conference later in the day.

The cutback plan disclosed by Ministry for International Trade and Industry officials would reduce Japan's auto shipments by 7.7 percent from the 1.82 million cars shipped last year to 1.68 million in the new fiscal year that started in April.

The voluntary Japanese limit on exports is expected to allow hard-pressed U.S. automakers to expand their sales and permit the ceiling to be raised in the second-year of the plan, possibly above the number of cars shipped in 1980.

The agreement would be reviewed after two years for possible extension for a third year, making it a shorter-term package than sources said the United States wanted. Those sources said U.S. negotiators had pressed for a firm, three-year package.

Japan's Kyodo News Service reported that Japanese automakers, who have resisted any reduction in car exports to the United States below last year's level, were angry about the government's plan.

Visitors to the Maze said the skeletal Sands, 27, jailed for possessing arms, has now lost all feeling in his arms and mouth while his body is racked by constant pain.

Sands' mother, Roseleen, said after visiting the prison Thursday that her son was prepared to die and doctors must not interfere. Mrs. Sands said she promised her son she would not let doctors try to save him if he slips into a coma, unless the British government concedes to his demands.

In London, 10 Sands' supporters left peacefully after a 90-minute occupation of an office at Labor's headquarters today. No arrests were reported.

Police were summoned after the demonstrators barricaded themselves in and draped a red flag from the building to protest Labor's support for the Conservative government's refusal to yield to the hunger-striking demands.

Leaders of both the Labor and Liberal parties backed the Conservative government's refusal to make concessions that would allow jailed guerrillas to wear their own clothes, associate freely and do no prison work.

But 28 dissenting legislators signed a bill presented by Laborite Ernie Roberts urging negotiations on clothing and work.

study was a setup from the beginning to discredit the treatment.

"The whole thing, as far as we are concerned, is a putup deal to discredit Laetrile," said Robert Bradford, founder of the Committee for Freedom of Choice, a group based in San Francisco.

"It was a phony test and I'm not surprised with the results," said Bradford, president of American Biologics, a manufacturer and importer of Laetrile products.

These charges are hotly denied by the cancer institute and the scientists involved, who say Laetrile advocates started questioning the study early in case the results proved negative.

The first results of the government-sponsored trial, which primarily looked at Laetrile's ability to reduce the size of varying kinds of tumors, led scientists to question whether the test should be continued.

Researchers also had planned to look at Laetrile's effects on pain and other symptoms.

In light of the poor test showing, the cancer institute said it was reconsidering whether to continue its support of the trials. Moertel said a decision was expected within a month.

"Speaking personally, I don't think we have any justification for proceeding," he said.

The American Cancer Society said the test confirms its belief that Laetrile has no proven value as a cancer treatment.

"I have no alternative than to carry out what the House says it wants," Jones said.

But Jones conceded "there's not a whole lot of hard sell the chairman of the Budget Committee has" compared with the lobbying tactics available to the president.

As an example, Hubbard noted: "My wife and I were invited for the first time during (my) four terms (in Congress) to a State Department-White House dinner" for the Japanese prime minister, who visits Washington next week.

Reagan has embraced a slightly different version of his original budget proposal. Crafted by Rep. Delbert L. Latta of Ohio, the ranking Republican on the House Budget Committee, and Rep. Phil Gramm of Texas, a conservative Democrat, that plan projects $68.8 billion in 1982 federal outlays with a $31 billion deficit and a balanced budget by 1984, as Reagan has pledged. It also accommodates the massive spending cuts proposed by the president and leaves room for the three-year, across-the-board tax cut he is seeking.

Democratic leaders want more money for social programs and a one-year tax cut, with 1982 spending of $714.5 billion, a deficit of $25.6 billion and a balanced budget in 1983.

The Democrats' alternative plan already approved by the Budget Committee called for less spending on defense.

But Rep. W.G. Hefner, D-N.C., is sponsoring an amendment, endorsed by the leadership, to restore Reagan's proposed increase in the defense budget, a proposal with widespread support among conservative Democrats.

Public Hearing Set For May 8 in Austin

AUSTIN — Texans will have an opportunity to express their views on the 1982 Annual Program Plan for Vocational Education and the Accountability Report for 1980 at a public hearing set for May 8 in Austin.

The hearing before members of the State Board of Education will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the north building of the office complex occupied by the Texas Education Agency at 150 E. Riverside Drive.

Based on an anticipated federal allocation of nearly $46 million, the plan will be forwarded to the U.S. Department of Education for final review and approval.

Vocational programs offered by more than 950 school districts, 47 junior and community colleges, Lamar University, and Texas State Technical Institute will receive federal funds under the plan.

The funding formula will take into account such factors as relative financial ability of the schools, economic conditions in the areas served, general unemployment, and the need for new programs.

Draft copies will be available for public review after May 1 at the state's 20 regional education service centers, the junior and community colleges, and the Texas Education Agency.

Interested citizens who wish to speak at the hearing should register before 5 p.m. on May 7 with Robert W. Caster, associate commissioner for occupational education and technology, Texas Education Agency, 201 E. 11th Street, Austin, TX 78701. Phone: (512) 475-2585.

Break-In, Vandalism Calls Answered Here

Hereford Police had a relatively quiet night Thursday with one break-in and two vandalism calls received.

Tommy Inmon, 828 Ave. G, reported that his residence had been broken into through a bedroom window. Items taken included a shotgun, a calculator, a fruit jar containing about $20 in change, and a Hereford Cablevision HBO box.

H.L. Word, 806 S. Schley, told police that someone threw a projectile, probably a rock, through a window at that residence, and Ada Hollabaugh, 819 Knight, reported that someone shot a hole in the front screen and window at that address as well.

The HPD also assisted an ambulance at an emergency call to the 800 block of Irving, investigated one minor accident, issued 13 traffic citations, and handled seven police-related calls Thursday.

Mary Jo Kuskowski Feted with Shower

The Halbert Room of the Hereford Country Club was the scene of a recent shower honoring Mary Jo Kuskowski, bride elect of Brent Combs. Miss Kuskowski and Ann Combs, mother of the groom, greeted guests at the door.

A lavender cloth with sheer overlay graced the refreshment table. Accounting the table was an elegant silver coffee service and a beautiful centerpiece. The centerpiece, composed of the brides chosen colors, was a large white cherub figurine and cupid holding a bowl of white cushion chrysanthemums, lavender daisies and violet statz with trailing ivy centering one large candle. This was reflected in the mirrors behind the table. The quartet tables and the guest register table carried out the theme of angels and cherubs with a clear crystal wine glass containing violet votive candles with nosegays of lavender daisies and ivy at the base of the goblets.

Season for Tornadoes Peaks the Month of May

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The season for nature's most destructive storm--the tornado--peaks this month.

The number of deaths attributed to tornadoes over the past 25 years averages out at 95 annually, while the number of yearly sightings runs from 700 to 900. Although the number of the storms reaches its height in May, tornadoes have occurred in every month of the year.

With this in mind, the American Red Cross has issued the following safety tips:

-When a tornado threatens, your immediate action can save your life.

-Stay away from windows, doors and outside walls. Protect your head.

-In schools, nursing homes, hospitals, factories, office and shopping centers, go to pre-designated shelter areas. Interior hallways on the lowest floors are considered safest.

-In high-rise buildings, go to interior small rooms or hallways.

-In mobile homes or vehicles, leave them and go to a substantial structure. If there is no shelter nearby, lie flat in the nearest ditch, ravine, or culvert with your hands shielding your head.

Remember: Tornado

watch means tornadoes and severe thunderstorms are possible. Tornado warning means tornado detected, take shelter immediately.

The Red Cross also advises that individuals listen to radio and TV for latest National Weather Service bulletins.

The National Weather Service defines a tornado as a violent rotating column of air pendant from a thundercloud, usually recognized as a funnel-shaped vortex accompanied by a loud roar. Its rotating winds often reach 300 mph. The average forward speed is 25-40 mph.

Ann Landers

To Foil a Car Thief

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you please run this General Motors Ad? It could make a big difference to a great number of people. I never gave the subject a thought until I was victimized. Perhaps if I had read this ad two months ago, I could have saved myself a lot of money and aggravation. -A Pedestrian in Cleveland

DEAR PED: I will indeed. Thanks for passing it along.

HOW TO FOIL A CAR THIEF

The numbers are staggering. Every 37 seconds a car is stolen somewhere in the U.S. That adds up to almost 800,000 cars a year. But you can do something to keep your car from becoming a statistic. Avoid these four common parking mistakes.

The "Just for a Minute" Syndrome - When you leave your car, even if it's "just for a minute," be sure to lock all the doors and take your keys. In fact, about one out of every five cars stolen was left unattended with keys in the ignition. Keep driver's license and vehicle registration cards in your wallet or purse. If a car thief finds these documents in the glove box, he can impersonate you if stopped by the police.

The Isolated Location - It's safest to park in a locked garage, but if you can't, don't leave your car in a dark, out-of-the-way spot. Instead, try to park on a busy, well-lighted street. Thieves shy away from tampering with a car if there is a high risk of being spotted.

The Display Case - there's nothing more inviting to a thief than expensive items lying in your car, in plain sight. If you lock these items in the trunk or glove box, there's less incentive for a thief to break in. Also, when you park in a commercial lot or garage, be cautious. Lock your valuables in the trunk. Leave only the ignition key with the attendant.

The Space at the End of the Block - In recent years, professional car-theft operations have become an increasing problem. Unlike amateurs, the professionals are not easily deterred. Cars parked at the end of a block are prime targets for the professional thief with a tow truck. So, it's best to park in the middle of the block. Be sure to turn your steering wheel sharply to one side or the other. That will lock the steering column and prevent the car from being towed from the rear.

Unfortunately, there is no such thing as a "theft-proof" car. But at General Motors, we're equipping every car we build with anti-theft features. We want to help you make it difficult as possible for any thief - amateur or professional - to steal your car.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is it true that when a male checks into a hotel or motel, he is asked if he would like a roommate? Does this mean a female companion?

Do all hotels and motels do this? I am a newly married woman and my husband will be traveling for his company soon. Please answer. I'd like the facts. -Bothered in Milwaukee

DEAR BOTHERED: I know of no hotel or motel that offers a roommate at the registration desk. If you are aware of such a place, the management would be interested. Somebody is doing a little "business" on the side.

CONFIDENTIAL to I Can Laugh: So can a hyena. What really matters is this: Are you able to keep your mouth shut and work quietly behind the scenes to give this unfortunate girl the help she needs to lead a decent life?

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious-ly? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 50 cents with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11295, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Hereford Art Guild Elects New Officers

Carrie Mae Doak, chairman of the Hereford Art Guild nominating committee, presented the following slate of officers to fellow members at the Art Guilds regular meeting held in the Community Center.

The slate of officers are President Lucille Guinn; First Vice President Eunice Peterson; Second Vice President Jean Reinauer; Secretary Nell Culpepper; Treasurer Louella Cowart; Reporter Lucille Naylor; and Parliamentarian Margaret Young.

These officers will be installed at the club's Tuesday, May 26 meeting.

President Travis McPherson presided over the business session. The club voted to obtain a charter and a field trip was planned for the summer with the place to be selected later.

Twelve members signed up for a workshop to begin the first Tuesday in June under the instruction of Jean Green.

A motion was made to buy a coffee percolator. Ruby Lee Hickman offered to give the club a 24-cup percolator so the motion was dropped.

Hilda Havens, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Doak who displayed several pictures done in gold leaf and gave a demonstration in the art of gold leafing.

During the social hour cookies, a variety of crackers and ice punch were served by Eunice Petersen and Bob Baum.

Wrote Household Hints for 20 Years

Polly Looks Back on Pointers

Polly Cramer has retired after two decades of helping tens of thousands of newspaper readers to remove lipstick stains from white collars, chop onions with tears and otherwise save time, money and energy around the house.

The "Polly's Pointers" column now will be written by Patricia "Polly" Fisher, who is co-author of the forthcoming "Polly's Pointers" book, which will be published by Rawson-Wade.

"I've just loved it," says Mrs. Cramer of writing her household-hints column. "They (the readers who wrote to her at the rate of several hundred a week) have gotten to be my friends."

Mrs. Cramer never really planned to become a nationally syndicated columnist. In fact, she worked as an interior decorator before her marriage and was recently voted a life member of the American Society of Interior Decorators.

It was only when she wanted something to do after her children had entered school that she offered to write a home-decorating column for the Cincinnati Post. The newspaper agreed to give her a try, and she has been writing columns — first on decorating, then on homemaking — ever since.

She is also the author of the book "Polly's Homemaking Pointers," which was published by Doubleday about 10 years ago.

What have been the most common problems of Mrs. Cramer's readers?

"Spots and stains," she quickly replies. "All the new fabrics really throw people, and often they don't read the hose," she replies. Mrs. Cramer tested the idea — it took 90 stockings, she recalls — and modeled the resulting cardigan on "The Mike Douglas Show."

Afterward, she received about 10,000 letters requesting detailed instructions for knitting similar sweaters.

Mrs. Cramer feels especially close to the small-town women who have been her most frequent correspondents.

"After all," she says, "I was raised in a small town. I've kept house for 50 years. And I'm a mother and a grandmother."

Mrs. Cramer plans to spend winters at her house in Palm Springs ("I've had great fun decorating it," she exclaims) and summers at her apartment in Cincinnati.

She expects that her three grown sons and their six offspring — three boys and three girls — will keep her plenty busy in retirement. She will be soon helping with preparations for the summer wedding of her oldest granddaughter.

"Polly's Pointers" has been taken over by Patricia "Polly" Fisher, a World Almanac assistant editor who describes herself as "a weaver, a terrific cook and a lover of music, opera and the New York Yankees."

Mrs. Fisher was born and raised in Pewaukee, Wis., a town of 2,000 about 30 miles west of Milwaukee. She earned a B.A. in theater from Temple University in Philadelphia and worked for eight years at a professional summer-stock playhouse. She has been married for 10 years and has three cats.

cleaning instructions until it is too late."

Collecting coupons has been another favorite topic of her correspondents. For the past four years, each reader whose letter appeared in her column received a coupon clipper signed by Mrs. Cramer. That practice will continue under her successor.

And what was the most unusual letter that she ever received?

"It was from a woman who knit a sweater out of old nylon

The Newspaper BIBLE

IT MAKES SENSE, DOESN'T IT?

Once, when Jesus cast out a demon from a man who couldn't speak, his voice returned to him. The crowd was excited and enthusiastic, but some said, "No wonder He can cast them out. He gets His power from Satan, the king of demons!"

Others asked for something to happen in the sky to prove His claim of being the Messiah.

He knew the thoughts of each of them, so He said, "Any kingdom filled with civil war is doomed; so is a home filled with argument and strife. Therefore, if what you say is true, that Satan is fighting against himself by empowering Me to cast out his demons, how can his kingdom survive?"

"And if I am empowered by Satan, what about your own followers? For they cast out demons! Do you think this proves they are possessed by Satan? Ask them if you are right!"

"But if I am casting out demons because of power from God, it proves the Kingdom of God has arrived. For when Satan, strong and fully armed, guards his palace, it is safe—until someone stronger and better-armed attacks and overcomes him and strips him of his weapons and carries off his belongings."

"Anyone who is not for Me is against Me; if he isn't helping Me, he is hurting My cause."

"When a demon is cast out of a man, it goes to the deserts, searching there for rest; but finding none, it returns to the person it left, and finds that its former home is all swept and clean. Then it goes and gets seven other demons more evil than itself, and they all enter the man. And so the poor fellow is seven times worse off than he was before."

added to the schedule. Hereford has played eight games in the past week. The lack of depth on the pitching staff was evident, and the Whitefaces added to their woes by committing eight errors in each game yesterday.

Monterey is 12-0 in the district race and 27-3 for the season. Hereford is 2-12 in district play and 7-15 for the year. The Herd is scheduled to play a non-district game at Dumas Saturday afternoon.

In the first game here Thursday, Hereford was limited to three hits, one a double by catcher Don Delostier. The Plainsmen banged out 15 hits in the game. Both tilts were five-inning affairs due to the 10-run lead rule. Ken Cooper hurried for the Whitefaces.

In the second contest, Monterey plated 11 runs in the second inning enroute to the one-sided victory. The Plainsmen had 14 hits off losing pitcher Mark Collier and reliever Raymond Martinez, but the miscues and walks helped Monterey tally 26 runs.

Hereford had five hits in the second game, with Martinez collected a two-bagger. Shawn McClain socked two home runs for the winners.

Kiwanis Track Meet Results To Be Listed

The Hereford Kiwanis Club conducted its annual track meet Thursday at Whiteface Stadium.

The meet was open to all 4th, 5th and 6th-grade boys and girls.

Due to a malfunction of a typesetting machine, results could not be carried in today's edition. The top three winners in each event will be listed in The Sunday Brand.

'81 Rockets Studied With Strong Defensive

HOUSTON (AP) — The 1977 Houston Rockets had a strong bench, offensive firepower and the National Basketball Association Eastern Conference Central Division championship.

The 1981 Houston Rockets have a strong defense, a mature Moses Malone, a toughness unmatched by previous teams and a berth in the NBA championship finals.

The current Rockets, who stunned the experts by advancing through three playoff opponents, including defending champion Los Angeles, returned to workouts today in preparation for the title series against either Boston or Philadelphia, currently involved in the Eastern Conference finals.

"The 1977 team won more games on rebounding and offensive firepower," said Rockets coach Del Harris, a Rocket assistant in 1977. "The key to this team is defense and just plain toughness."

Harris said 6-10 center Moses Malone, who scored 36 points in Wednesday night's 97-88 victory over Kansas City in the Western Conference finals, was "the silent leader. Others are more vocal, but Mo is more mature than he was in 1977."

The most vocal, Harris said, is guard Tom Henderson, who returned to a starting role in the playoffs. "Tom has a tendency to try to get the guys to think in terms of the team and getting the right kind of tough attitude," Harris said. "He's very tough-minded and that helps."

Harris has long been a proponent of strong defense and he was quick to point out that in 20 quarters against Kansas City, the Rockets reached their goal of holding the Kings under 25 points for the quarter.

In the series finale against Kansas City, the Kings managed only 11 fourth quarter points after leading through most of the game.

The Rockets, who finished the regular season with a 40-42 record, are the third NBA team to reach the championship series with a losing record in the regular season, none of which surprises Harris.

"I can't say I'm surprised," Harris said. "I knew we'd make it someday, but I didn't know it would be this year. But I knew we'd be playing for that ring some day."

Guard Calvin Murphy, a member of both Rockets playoff teams, cried freely following Wednesday night's victory over Kansas City which gave the Rockets conference title 4-1 in the best-of-seven series.

"This team is just amazing," Murphy said. "Every time we get in trouble, somebody jumps in there to prop us up. There's such a togetherness in this locker room."

First Baptist Wins Tourney

First Baptist Church cruised through the championship tournament of the YMCA Men's Basketball League, copping the title with a 59-38 win over First Nazarene Thursday night.

The baptists, who finished tied for first place during the round-robin facet of league play, entered the tourney seeded number one by virtue of a coin toss. They defeated the Nazarenes in the tourney opener, and then beat First Presbyterian to enter the tournament finals unbeaten.

First Nazarene came back through the loser's bracket with wins over St. Anthony's and First Presbyterian to earn the trip to the finals of the double-elimination affair.

Members of the league champions included Carey Black, Jerry Morgan, Dana Rush, Bob Nigh, Steve Nieman, Sid Shaw, and Gary Robinson.

Six teams made up the league this year, including First Baptist, First Nazarene, First Presbyterian, St. Anthony's, First Christian, and First Methodist churches.

Celtics Hope to Break Jinx In NBA Playoffs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Boston Celtics are hoping they won't need a halftime pep talk to shake them out of the doldrums tonight when they try to break their Spectrum jinx in Game 6 of their National Basketball Association playoff series against the Philadelphia 76ers.

"We've proved that we're a good second-half club," said Celtics star Larry Bird. "Now we have to stay with them in the first half. We can't keep digging holes for ourselves."

Reserve center Rick Robey put it more graphically. "Lately we seem to be putting ourselves into graves and then clawing our way out," he said, noting that the Celtics have trailed by 15, 17 and 10 points at halftime of the last three games.

Boston managed to stay alive in the Eastern Conference finals by erasing a 59-49 halftime deficit and beating the 76ers 111-109 in Boston Garden Wednesday night, scoring the last eight points of the game and holding Philadelphia scoreless for the final 151.

"We didn't even talk basketball at a halftime," said Celtics guard Chris Ford. "All we talked about was pride and guts. Coach (Bill Fitch) said, 'Do you want to win this or do you want to go fishing?'"

By rallying to win, the Celtics managed to postpone their summer fishing trips by at least two days. But Philadelphia still leads the best-of-seven series 3-2 and can wrap it up tonight in the Spectrum, where they have beaten Boston in their last eight meetings.

"I don't know if they're due or not," said 76ers forward Bobby Jones, "but they'll have to earn it."

And to earn it they'll have to avoid falling too far behind in the first half. In their last two games here the Celtics came storming from way back, but the 76ers were able to hold on and win both times.

"We're going to need 48 minutes of air-tight basketball to win tonight," said Robey. "And that's something we haven't had so far in this series. We've yet to put together four good quarters."

If they do, they'll return home for a seventh and deciding game on Sunday.

"I predicted there would be a Game 6 and now I'm predicting that if we just put together the kind of game we're capable of, there will be a Game 7 Sunday and we'll win that one, too," vowed Celtics forward Cedric Maxwell. "We've been down like this before, but when we get together, we get a feeling we're unbeatable. We're excited about finally winning in Philly — it's a challenge to us."

If they don't meet that challenge, Philadelphia will advance to the title series for the second straight year, facing the West champion Houston Rockets starting Sunday. The 76ers lost to Los Angeles in six games for the 1980 crown.

The 76ers hope to have the full services of playmaker Maurice Cheeks, who spent Wednesday night in a hospital after playing just 10 minutes in Game 5 because of severe headaches. Cheeks sat out all but the stretching exercises of the 76ers practice on Thursday but will try to play.

If Cheeks' headaches are gone, Philadelphia's might be over, too.

'Bizarre' McCord Takes Lead in Houston Open

HOUSTON (AP) — Gary McCord describes himself as "kind of bizarre."

And the more he talks, in the fast-paced patter he uses in his magic act, the more believable his assessment becomes.

"I am a resident of the planet Bluthar," he announces, and it's impossible to determine if there is a smile lurking beneath his Fu-Manchu moustache. "I have created my own environment. I won't let anybody else in. They wouldn't understand it," he said.

And the explanation of his putting magic that produced a 7-under-par 64 and the first round lead Thursday in the $350,000 Michelob-Houston Open golf tournament also defied understanding.

It involved a "tri-zonal" illusionary experience in which "I could see my skin ball and bubble," McCord said, and the translation of putting from "a two-dimensional thing into a three-dimensional thing. Putting lacks height. So I added depth."

"I'll let you figure it out. I was putting in the third dimension. Possibly I was just scratching at the surface of the fourth dimension. No one has ever been there."

"I didn't even have to line up the putts. Just walked up to them, stroked the ball and watched it go in the hole," he said.

Whatever the reason, McCord's short game was near perfect in the hot, muggy weather. He holed one sand shot for a birdie, had a string of three consecutive holes on which he dropped 15-foot putts and made two more from the 35-40 foot range. Those, he said, provided "a semi-religious experience."

Tied at 65, six shots under par on the 7,071-yard Woodlands Country Club course and a single shot back of McCord were Hale Irwin and a pair of former teammates at the University of Texas, Ben Crenshaw and Tom Kite.

The group at 65 was led by Bruce Lietzke, a two-time winner this season, and also included Tommy Valentine, Tom Purtzer, Dave Edwards and Mike Holland.

Defending champion Curtis Strange shot a 67.

LPGA Hall of Famers Stay at Top of List

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — A pair of LPGA Hall of Famers, Sandra Haynie and Kathy Whitworth, posted their names at or near the top of the leader board after Thursday's opening round in the $125,000 CPC International golf tournament at Moss Creek Plantation.

Haynie blistered the tough 6,290-yard Devil's Elbow course for a record-tying 66 under perfect playing conditions to claim the first-round lead. She later called it her best round in over six years.

"I am a little surprised, but mostly pleased," the 37-year-old Haynie said. "I have worked hard on my game for a while now, and it's nice when that pays off."

The CPC International helps mark a serious return to the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour for Haynie. She had taken several years off to manage women professional athletes — most notably, tennis star Martina Navratilova — and to recover from injuries to her back and right wrist.

Haynie was hit by a car in 1972 while in South Africa, an accident that resulted in two fractured vertebrae in her lower back. Later, she underwent surgery on her hand.

"I just decided that I wanted to play professional golf," Haynie said about her comeback to the tour. "I love golf, and I wanted to get back to the game."

Whitworth, the all-time leading money winner on the women's golf tour with more than $900,000 in earnings, also had a fine opening round, posting a 2-under-par 70 to place her four shots back of Haynie.

"This is a tough course, and a round like I had can really help your confidence," said the 42-year-old veteran, fourth after the opening round.

Both women are being challenged, however, by 1980 CPC winner Hollis Stacy and Debbie Austin.

Stacy fashioned a 4-under-par 68 to finish just two strokes off the pace after the first round, while Austin fired a 69.

Who Am I?

Sure, I was outspoken. I'm known as probably the craftiest pitcher in baseball's history. I was a high-kicking screwball ace. And I won and won and won. I could hit, field and run, too. At age 39, I hurled my first no-hitter.

Travelers Defeat Jackson Mets, 6-4

By The Associated Press

Fred Tisdale hit his first home run of the year to tie the score, and Jeff Doyle's single put Arkansas ahead for good as the Travelers defeated the Jackson Mets 6-4 in Texas League action Thursday.

Arkansas starter Dave Jom, 1-0, took the win and Rick Ownbey, 2-2, absorbed the loss.

The Mets, now 13-8, jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the first inning on singles by Marvell Wynne, Rusty Tillman, Greg Pastors and a double by Bill Haslerig.

Tisdale's home run in the second half of the inning drove in Doyle, on with a single, and Jim Riggleman, who walked.

Arkansas took the lead in the second inning. Jom singled, went to second on a wild pitch, and scored on Doyle's single.

Arkansas added runs in the sixth and seventh inning, and Jackson scored again in the eighth.

The victory improved Arkansas' Texas League record to 11-9.

Tom Grant hit a grand slam in the eighth, one of two homers, as he led Midland to a 12-11 edge over El Paso in a Texas League game Thursday.

Who Am I?

They say I'm a flaky guy. Certainly, I used to be controversial. No problem, though. Remember my old baseball nickname? It was "Bulldog." I had a 62-63 record in 10 seasons. I guess a lot of hitters knew me like a book.

Rangers Blank Royals; Pirates Outscore Mets

Indians, Tigers Take Wins

By The Associated Press
Home plate umpire Vic Valtaggio took a look at the Baseballs Rick Honeycutt was throwing and didn't do a thing with them.
Neither did the Kansas City Royals.
Honeycutt, whose claim to fame is his getting thrown out of a game last year and getting a 10-game suspension as well for illegally doctoring baseballs with a thumbtack, found out Thursday night that clean living has its own rewards.
He pitched a five-hitter for Texas' fourth consecutive shutout as the Rangers beat the Kansas City Royals 7-0. Pat Putnam's two-run double highlighted a four-run fifth inning against Rich Gale that broke open the close encounter.
Elsewhere in the American League, the Baltimore

Orioles blanked Toronto 4-0, the Cleveland Indians upended Chicago 3-2, the Detroit Tigers silenced Seattle 2-0, the Minnesota Twins mauled Boston 8-4 and the Milwaukee Brewers bombed California 12-1.
Orioles 4, Blue Jays 0
Ken Singleton can be a pitcher's best friend, when the pitcher is Mike Flanagan. Singleton has hit 124 homers for Baltimore since Flanagan joined the Orioles' staff late in the 1975 season, and 43 of them have come with Mike on the mound.
No. 43 came in the Orioles' 28th victory over Toronto in the team's last 32 games. It was Singleton's seventh of the year and sixth in the past eight games.
Indians 3, White Sox 2
Toby Harrah's two-run homer — only the fourth homer by a Cleveland batter

this year — was also only the third hit off Ross Baumgarten, but he shot tied the score and triggered the three-run seventh inning that boosted Indians to their victory over Chicago.
After Harrah's homer, Bo Diaz walked and raced around the bases when catcher Jim Essian threw Rick Manning's bunt away. Right fielder Harold Baines fired the ball home, beating Diaz, but the Cleveland runner eluded Essian's lunging tag.
Tigers 2, Mariners 0
Dave Rozema stifled Seattle on two hits — singles by Richie Zisk in the second inning and Rick Auerbach in the third — and allowed only one other runner when he hit Jerry Narmon with a fifth-inning pitch as the Tigers snapped their 10-game talisman.
"When you're in a losing streak like this, it feels like forever," Manager Sparky Anderson said. "To be honest, I really didn't know that it wouldn't go on forever."
Rozema got all the support in the first inning when Alan Trammell singled, Steve Kemp walked, Lance Parrish doubled for one run and another scored on a grounder by John Wockenbus.
Twins 8, Red Sox 4
Roy Smalley's two-run homer and two RBIs apace by Gary Ward and Glenn Adams enabled Minnesota to saddle the Red Sox with their fourth consecutive defeat.
Smalley's sixth homer came off winless Frank Tanana in the first inning. He later singled and walked twice, scoring after each of the walks. Ward's two-run single capped a three-run second and Adams hit bases-loaded singled off Bob Stanley in the fifth.
Boston finally snapped its scoreless string at 28 innings on Dave Stapleton's first-inning single. Consecutive solo homers by Jim Rice and Tony Perez chased Minnesota starter Roger Erickson in the ninth.
Brewers 12, Angels 1
It's been a long time between starts for Milwaukee reliever Jerry Augustine.
The last time he won as a starter was Aug. 28, 1978, when he two-hit Detroit 10-1. This time, as a late replacement when Pete Vuckovich said his shoulder bothered him, Augustine two-hit California for seven innings before retiring.
Roy Howell drove in four runs and Larry Hise homered to lead the Brewers' 16-hit assault.

In Kentucky Derby Entries Anticipate A $392,900 Purse

By DICK JOYCE
AP Sports Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The surprising entry of the filly Wayward Lass for Saturday's Kentucky Derby has left the Barrera family with a bitter taste.
Wayward Lass may not even go in the 107th Derby, where she's listed as a 20-1 outsider, but she already has knocked Flying Nashua, trained by Larry Barrera, and jockey Angel Cordero Jr. out of the race.
It will be the richest Derby ever, with a gross purse of $392,900 and a first prize of $306,400, if all 20 start.

in the Derby. She is entered in two races in two days... Favored Proud Appeal, winner of five straight stakes including the Blue Grass Stakes, drew the No. 5 post position for the 1 1/4-mile first leg of thoroughbred racing's Triple Crown.
Jeff Fell III ride the son of Valid Appeal who is unbeaten in five starts this year, winning the Woodhaven, Swift, Bay Shore and Gotham at Aqueduct before scoring in the Blue Grass at Keeneland. The underdog colt has earnings of $341,975.

Proud Appeal, a front-runner, is listed at 2-1 in the early line. He will run as an entry with Golden Derby, winless in three 1981 starts, since John Gaines has part ownership in both colts.
Pleasant Colony, owned by Buckland Farm and ridden by Jorge Velasquez, is listed at 4-1 off his upset victory in the Wood Memorial at Aqueduct April 18. It was the only start this year for the stretch-running Buckland Farm colt under trainer Johnny Campo. He'll go from post No. 7.
Other leading contenders are Tap Shoes, owned by Arthur B. Hancock III and Leon Peters, 6-1, and Bold Ego, owned by Double B Ranch and Dr. Joseph Kidd, 8-1.

Because of the 20-horse limit based on career money earnings imposed by Churchill Downs officials for the first time Thursday, three entries were turned down — Flying Nashua, Law Me and Mythical Ruler.
Flying Nashua, who has earned $79,250, was the last to be excluded. Since the Derby carries no "also eligible" list, scratches would not allow any of those horses in the Derby field.
"Only in Kentucky could this happen," said Barrera, the 21-year-old son of Hall of Fame trainer Laz Barrera. "It (the rule) is stupid. 'You can't judge a horse by his earnings. It is cheating. The filly probably won't run

Astros Take 3 over Braves

By HERSCHEL NISSENBAUM
AP Sports Writer
The Pittsburgh Lumber Company is back in business.
"We came into New York betting .211. You can't help your pitchers with such a weak attack. But in our three games here we started to produce at the plate. Watch us from here on in."
Manager Chuck Tanner said Thursday night after the Pirates' 7-4 victory gave them a sweep of a three-game series in which they outscored the Mets 25-4.
In the only other National League games, the Houston Astros whipped the Atlanta Braves 5-1 and the Cincinnati Reds edged the San Diego Padres 4-3.

The Pirates battered Mets pitchers for 38 hits in the three games — New York has dropped six in a row — including four doubles, five triples and three home runs. Dave Parker slammed a two-run homer Thursday night while Tim Lincecum had three RBIs.
Even pitcher John Candalaria drove in two runs, but the tall left-hander, who scattered 10 hits in 82-3 innings and won his first game since last Sept. 21, preferred to talk about the Pirates' mound staff.
"I was a little tired," he said after allowing two runs in the ninth inning. "I was thinking of the team getting those three complete games in a row (Rick Rhoden and Jim Bibby hurled shutouts the previous two nights) because our pitching gets knocked a bit. I think this pitching staff on the whole is excellent."

Entering Thursday night's game, the Pirates had allowed only 16 earned runs in 74 innings over the last eight games, registering three shutouts and a 1.90 earned-run average.
"We have so many hitters, people always think about our hitting and never the good pitching we have," Tanner said.

Astros 5, Braves 1
Craig Reynolds and Jose Cruz slammed two-run homers, powering Houston to a sweep of a three-game series with Atlanta. Joe Niekro scattered five hits in sending the Braves to their fifth consecutive defeat. It was the Astros' fourth triumph in a row.
"I don't have any newfound power," said Reynolds, who hit only three home runs in the previous two seasons but connected for the second game in a row. "I'm not a power hitter. I just happened to hit it in the right ballpark."

Reds 4, Padres 3
Dave Collins rapped three hits to support the five-hit pitching of Mike LaCoss, Joe Price and Tom Hume, enabling the Reds to beat San Diego despite two home runs by the Padres' Joe Lefebvre. LaCoss, who lasted only 23-3 innings in his previous two starts, scattered four hits in 71-3.
Collins, now batting .485, doubled in the first inning and scored on Dave Concepcion's single. Collins then drove in one of two runs in the second inning. The Reds made it 4-1 with what proved to be the winning run in the eighth on singles by Dan Driessen and Johnny Bench plus an error by San Diego right fielder Jerry Turner.

FAITH MAKES GOOD NEIGHBORS OF GREAT NATIONS

The boundary line dividing two countries can become a barricade of mutual hostility; but in the case of Canada and the United States it has always served as a bridge of friendship between two peoples with such trust, respect and understanding as to make the celebration of Canada-U.S. Goodwill Week quite unnecessary. Nowhere along the three thousand-mile borderline that spans our continent have security measures ever been needed, and the citizens on both sides may enter and leave each other's land whenever they wish. This is a fine example of the spirit of brotherhood that has been taught by every religious faith, in every land. Wherever you live, you will learn this by attending the Church of your choice.

A living proof to all the world of faith in brotherhood.
—Guy Willis Bilsland

"Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. Love worketh no ill to his neighbor: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law."
—Romans 13:9, 10
