This pair of U.S. Army helicopters caused quite a stir here at the high school Wednesday. The copters, a Cobra Gunship (left) and a smaller reconnaissance unit (right) flew to Hereford for a recruiting promotion. Some local citizens were concerned when the copters landed, and some confusion arose concerning their appearance. The aircraft stayed on the ground for about two-and-a-half hours while HHS and Shirley School students got the chance to inspect them up close. The copters, from Ft.

Hood, returned to Amarillo and will make recruitment appearances in Kansas and Oklahoma later this week. (BRAND PHOTOS BY BOB NIGH).

Army Recruiting Stop Causes Concern

By BOB NIGH
Managing Editor
What started out as a recruiting promotion quickly became a matter of some concern for some U.S. Army helicopter pilots and recruiters Wednesday afternoon at Hereford High School.

Two Army helicopters, including one Cobra gunship, landed at the band practice field next to the high school tennis courts around 11:30 a.m. to allow HHS students to get a close look at the flying machines.

Their noisy approach caused some concern at nearby Shirley School, however, and a teacher reportedly called the Hereford Police Department for information about their arrival.

Although a class of students from Shirley was at recess when the copters arrived and ran toward the landing site, Shirley principal Howard Birdwell said that at no time were the students in danger.

"Our teachers tried to round the students up before they made it to the practice field, but the children couldn't hear them from the noise," Birdwell said.

"There were several adults on the field and they prevented the students from coming any closer to the helicopters. At no time were any of the students in danger, and it looks to me like this whole thing was blown up out of proportion," he continued.

Hereford Police spokesman Lt. Paul Ramertz, himself a school board member, said the incident is still being looked into by the HPD. "A teacher called and said some youngsters were frightened by the roaring sound, and we had several other calls inquiring about the helicopters," he said.

Ramertz said an inquiry was made by the police as to where the helicopters had come from. "We did check into the origin of the helicopters as is normal," he said. "Any incident is going to be investigated by us, no matter how insignificant it seems."

High school principal Ron Geyer, who had made arrangements for the recruiting stop here, said that the police had not been notified that the helicopters were going to land here. "I didn't think it was necessary to notify the police," Geyer said. "The Army had made all the prior arrangements and had gotten FAA clearance to come in."

Geyer said the whole incident was probably due to some over-reaction. "The teacher at Shirley should have called the high school for information, not the police department," he said.

"I, along with several other teachers, was out there when they landed, and could have explained their appearance if any questions had arisen."

Geyer said the Army was blameless in the whole incident. "They (the Army) did nothing wrong...they had all the arrangements made beforehand, and had plenty of room to land," he said.

Concerning reports that the helicopters had "buzzed" the field before landing, Birdwell said "the helicopters did make an approach over the field to check for wires and other obstacles before landing, but in no way did they buzz the area."

"The helicopters remained at the landing area until about 2:10 p.m., and a large number of students took advantage of the time to examine the machines closely."

Reagan's Economic Program Nearing Showdown In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration's economic program is heading for its first showdown in the full House with outnumbered Republicans optimistic they can deliver a crucial victory for the president. The Democrats' top vote counter figures they could either win by six or lose by 60.

Less than 40 hours after President Reagan personally appealed to a joint session of Congress to act quickly on his package of spending and tax cuts, the House was beginning debate today on whether to endorse a budget resolution backed by the president or a still-developing alternate plan being pushed by the Democratic leadership. The House is the big hurdle for Reagan. His program is virtually assured of passing the Senate, where Republicans hold a majority.

Rep. Delbert L. Latta of Ohio, the ranking Republican on the House Budget Committee, said Reagan will "absolutely" prevail when the votes are counted in the House.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., predicted Wednesday: "We'll either win this thing by five or six votes or lose it by 60, because if you start to lose it, the swing will come."

Meanwhile, one congressman said as many as 35 of a group of 47 conservative Democrats probably will support the president's proposal over an alternative budget plan still being pieced together by the Democratic leadership.

Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Texas, predicted that six to 10 Democrats who are not members of the Conservative Democratic Forum also will go along with Reagan.

If those shifts occur and Republicans sustain only two or three defections, as GOP leaders claim, it would assure Reagan of victory when a final vote in the House occurs next week, probably Tuesday. Democrats hold a 52-vote majority in the House and a net switch of 27 Democrats would enable the president to prevail if all the Republicans vote together.

However, Republican Whip Trent Lott of Mississippi remained cautious, saying, "We've still got a few ways to go."

O'Neill on Wednesday discounted the impact of Reagan's speech, saying it had not generated additional support for the president, as Republicans had predicted. He also assailed the administration's plans for "brutal (spending) cuts that are going to hurt people in ways they don't even know yet," large budget deficits and "big tax cuts for the rich."

Referring to Democrats who plan to support the president's recommendations, O'Neill said, "We have members trying to reason with them."

Vice President George Bush said Wednesday that Reagan's speech gave the economic proposals a boost and that public sentiment is behind the president.

"If these congressmen listen to the people, I believe they will support the president," Bush told reporters. "I have underlying confidence that if given the option to vote on the Reagan package" or on a Democratic substitute, the House will choose the president's approach, he added.

Reagan originally proposed a $695.4 billion budget for 1982 with a $45.1 billion deficit. Tuesday, he endorsed a slightly different version crafted by Latta and Rep. Phil Gramm of Texas, a conservative Democrat, which projects spending of $688.8 billion in 1982 with a $31 billion deficit.

The Democratic plan was still unfolding on the eve of today's debate.

Democratic leaders had favored a spending blueprint drafted by the majority Democrats on the House Budget Committee calling for more money than Reagan wants for social programs, less on defense and a one-year tax cut. That plan would have 1982 spending of $714.5 billion and a deficit of $25.6 billion.

Wednesday, however, Budget Committee Democrats said after a private strategy session they had decided to support the administration's call for higher military spending in hopes of winning back defecting members of their own party.

Irish Officials Refusing Intervention For Sands

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — The Irish Republic fears that the violence expected in Northern Ireland if IRA hunger striker Bobby Sands dies will spill over the border. But politicians throughout the country are more occupied with the coming general election.

Spokesmen for all political parties except Sinn Fein, the political arm of the Irish Republican Army, advocate a compromise between Sands and the British government. But they have made few official statements on the growing crisis or suggestions of a way out of the impasse.

Prime Minister Charles Haughey's refusal to intervene on behalf of Sands is an indication of his government's attitude toward the IRA man's demand for special treatment as a political prisoner. That's a status the Irish government doesn't give its IRA prisoners either.

The government obviously does not want to get involved in an issue that many politicians believe could inject confusion into the campaign for the May election and even force its postponement.

The election, in which Haughey is fighting for his political life, is being fought chiefly on economic issues — and most politicians want it to stay that way.

The public remains generally unemotional.

Small groups of activists from time to time hold marches in Dublin or occupy private buildings to demonstrate support of Sands. But they get little support. Most people, although concerned about the backlash the IRA threatens if Sands dies, take the view that the choice of life or death is his to make.

Even some staunchly Republican newspapers are unmoved by Sands' stance.

The Irish Press, for example, has been critical of the British government's refusal to negotiate with him and the (See SANDS, Page 2A)

Measles Epidemic Strikes In El Paso

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A measles epidemic has prompted the vaccinations of 500 high school students and teachers here not protected against the disease, public health officials say.

Dr. Bernard Rosenblum, City-County Health Unit director, Tuesday declared the disease had reached epidemic proportions and ordered the vaccinations to be given to all El Paso public school students who have not been vaccinated or whose vaccinations have lapsed.

School officials said Wednesday they had no idea how many of the approximately 100,000 students enrolled in El Paso public schools will need the vaccine.

Many of the younger students have already received their shots because of state law requirements, officials said.

Rosenblum declared the epidemic after 64 cases of the disease were reported this month. There have been 66 cases reported in El Paso this year.

Dr. John Bradley, a state health department official, said adequate vaccine was on hand to give the immunization shots.

Officials said the diseases takes from three to seven days to incubate and is marked by fever and a red rash that breaks out on the face and spreads down on the body. The disease usually runs its course in from two to three weeks.

In severe cases, it can cause a swelling of the brain and require hospitalization.

Most of the students who have contracted the disease attend Eastwood High School, officials said.

Outbreaks of measles have declined nationwide, but Dr. John Bradley, director of the state Health Department's Region 3, said there are an increasing number of cases in Texas.

Bradley, whose region includes El Paso County, said the state has "hot spots" for measles in El Paso, Houston and the Lower Rio Grande Valley counties of Hidalgo, Cameron and Starr.

For El Salvador

House Wants To Withdraw U.S. Blank Check Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Foreign Affairs Committee, rebelling at a "blank-check" policy on El Salvador, wants a ban on U.S. military aid and advisers unless President Reagan certifies that the ruling junta is promoting democracy and not abusing human rights.

The stand, set forth in an amendment to the pending foreign aid bill, was approved 26-6 Wednesday with support from 18 Democrats and eight Republicans.

Administration officials said the amendment, which sets forth six conditions for U.S. aid to the embattled Central American republic, could tie the president's hands in foreign affairs. Nevertheless, they added that nothing in the measure conflicts with administration goals.

To become effective, the amendment must be approved by the full House and Senate. Congress then would have to determine what conditions, if any, have not been met and enact separate legislation to withdraw aid and advisers.

"This vote represents a decisive repudiation of the blank-check military policy of the Reagan administration in El Salvador and constitutes a significant victory for those who believe we should not provide unconditional military aid to the government of El Salvador," said Rep. Stephen J. Solarz, D-N.Y.

The amendment was sponsored by Solarz and another New York Democrat, Jonathan B. Bingham, who said it was meant to "make use of this military assistance as leverage to help achieve the goals we all support in El Salvador."

The amendment would require Reagan to certify that the Salvadoran junta headed by President Jose Napoleon Duarte:

—Is not engaged in "a consistent pattern of gross violations of internationally recognized human rights."

—Has achieved "substantial control" over all government security forces "so as to bring to an end the indiscriminate torture and murder of Salvadoran citizens by those forces."

—Is making continued progress in implementing essential economic and political reforms, including land reform.

—Is committed to the holding of free elections at an early date."

—Has demonstrated its willingness to negotiate with opposition groups an

Wilson Foods To Be Re-Organized

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Stinging from a $15.5 million loss for the first quarter of 1981, Wilson Foods Corp. of Oklahoma City is being "spun off" to become an independent firm from its parent company, LTV Corp. of Dallas, officials say.

Wilson President Ken Griggy said the nation's fourth-largest meat packing concern will become a publicly owned corporation by mid-June, when LTV officials are expected to begin issuing stock for the reorganized food-processing firm.

A new board of directors is expected to be named shortly after that.

Wednesday's action by LTV's directors coincided with the announcement of a massive consolidation effort by Wilson under which three of its plants across the country will be closed. At least 50 administrative personnel at the company's headquarters here have been laid off.

The effective date is contingent upon outcome of negotiations with a group of banks, led by Continental Illinois National Bank of Chicago, to issue a line of credit to Wilson for working capital needs.

Wilson has been a subsidiary of LTV since 1967. It has been headquartered here for more than 70 years.

Griggy said Wilson's $15.5 million loss from January through March included $2.9 million from the cost of operations. The remainder resulted from reserves set aside from the closing of its Denver and Des Moines, Iowa, plants, he said.

Another LTV meat-packing subsidiary, Briggs & Co. of Landover, Md., also is being closed. Briggs and Wilson (See WILSON, Page 2A)

Quiet Prevails At Prisons

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP)— About 2,800 inmates are taking part in a peaceful work stoppage at a maximum security prison, the second protest this week at a Texas Department of Corrections unit, a TDC spokesman said.

The prisoners, all at TDC's Ellis unit, described the strike as a "peaceful protest" over "a number of grievances" put forth by the inmates, TDC spokesman Rick Hartley said Wednesday.

Hartley said the prisoners taking part in the protest have been confined to their cells. The unit houses about 3,050 inmates.

A warden and a prison farm manager were killed April 4 at the Ellis Unit during a scuffle with a prisoner. The inmate charged with murder in the deaths, Eroy E. Brown, has said he was acting in self defense.

The protest Wednesday comes on the heels of a "bad food" strike and another work stoppage at TDC's Ramsey Unit in Brazoria County south of Houston.

Hartley said the leaders of the strike at the Ellis Unit had not met with prison officials.

He said the grievances include a request for the state to drop its appeal of a federal court ruling that orders sweeping changes in the state prison system, the replacement of TDC director J.W. Estelle and higher inmate wages for agricultural work performed by the prisoners.

U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice two weeks ago ordered massive changes in the TDC operations, saying inmates had "suffered cruel and unusual punishment for too long." He ordered fewer men per cell, improvement in recreational and rehabilitation programs and better medical care.

Hartley said the strike at the Ramsey Unit began Monday with 259 of the prison's 2,298 inmates refused to work and a majority of the inmates refused to eat.

He said by Wednesday, the number of inmates taking part in the protest had dropped to nine, he said.

Hartley Ellis Unit inmates staged a similar protest in March that also was peaceful.

House Advances

Booze Tax Bill

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)— The House has tentatively approved a bill that would use some of the state tax on mixed drinks to finance shelters for battered wives and children.

The bill advanced on a voice vote Wednesday, with final passage expected today.

Four percent of the state's revenue from the tax on cocktails — over $3 million a year — would be dedicated to family violence centers.

A shelter could get up to 75 percent of its funding from the state if the bill passes.

The Texas Department of Human Resources would contract with centers to provide shelter and services to victims of family violence.

To qualify for state funds, a shelter would have to provide access to a number of services, including a 24-hour-a-day hotline, emergency medical care, counseling, legal assistance and job information.

Rep. Mary Folk, D-El Paso, the sponsor, said there are not enough centers to meet the need.

Similar legislation is in a Senate committee, where Sen. John Leedom, R-Dallas, objected it would undermine the family.

Abortion Bill

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)— A girl under 18 could not get an abortion without her parents' consent if a bill before the Texas House becomes law.

House members voted preliminary approval of the measure, 106-27, on Wednesday, and a final vote sending it to the Senate was expected today.

Several legislators wanted to amend the bill, but an unusual move to cut off all such attempts carried, 78-65, in the key test vote on the measure. The decision prevented what was expected to be long and emotional debate.

Representatives also refused to postpone the bill until May 8 so the attorney general could check its constitutionality. Rep. Bill Ceverha, R-Dallas, the sponsor, said Rep. Craig Washington's motion to postpone was a "ploy" to kill the bill.

Under Ceverha's bill, the only way a girl could get an abortion without her parents' permission would be to obtain approval of the probate judge in her county.

A doctor would have to keep a copy of the consent form signed by a girl's parents for two years.

Ceverha, a long-time opponent of abortion, said his bill "would provide an opportunity for young girls to sit down and communicate, perhaps for the first time in a long time, with their parents."

County Commissioners Plead Guilty in Kickback Scheme

TYLER, Texas (AP)— A Bowie County commissioner and four others indicted by federal grand jurors investigating road material procurement irregularities in three states have pleaded guilty to accepting bribes and kickbacks.

Commissioner Milton Minter resigned his post Wednesday after the panel indicted him, former Bowie County Commissioner Howard Martin of Texarkana, Dallas Thompson of Arlington, John F. Lands of Atlanta, Texas, and George W. Tyson of Murphy.

Minter pleaded guilty Wednesday to one count of accepting bribes and kickbacks from road material vendors and Martin pleaded guilty to two counts of the same charge before U.S. District Judge William Steger. Both men face a maximum sentence of 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Thompson pleaded guilty to a single count of racketeering and faces a maximum sentence of 20 years in prison and a $25,000 fine.

Lands entered a guilty plea to one count of promoting illegal acts and faces up to 5 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Tyson, his former son-in-law, faces a possible maximum penalty of three years in jail and a $500 fine for hiding the fact that Martin and Minter had accepted bribes.

Steger scheduled sentencing for May 26.

U.S. Attorney John Hanna Jr. indicated more indictments may be returned, saying the grand jury is still meeting and the investigation, involving possible road materials kickback schemes in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, is continuing.

In Oklahoma, seven county commissioners, one former commissioner and the owners of two supply companies were charged Tuesday with participating in kickback and fraud schemes.

They were accused of violating the Hobbs Act, which relates to interfering with interstate commerce and face maximum sentences of 20 years each and $10,000 in fines, if convicted.

U.S. Attorney Larry Patton and C. Edwin Enright, special agent in charge of the Oklahoma City FBI office, said the investigation has been in progress for almost three years.

Soviet Missiles Aid Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)— Syria wheeled Soviet anti-aircraft missiles into Lebanon to beef up its defenses against Israeli jets after they shot down two Syrian helicopters near the besieged Christian city of Zahle.

The missiles were deployed Wednesday in eastern Lebanon's Bekaa Valley as Israeli aircraft pounded Palestinian guerrilla positions to the south, along the Israeli-Lebanese frontier, and the guerrillas fired at least two rocket salvos over the border into the northern Galilee.

Palestinian gunners claimed one of the raiding jets was shot down, but Israel said all its planes returned safely.

Witnesses said four launchers, each carrying three SAM-6 surface-to-air missiles, were positioned about three miles south of the Rayak airbase, near where the Syrian helicopters were shot down Tuesday.

Diplomats in Beirut warned that the chances of war between Syria and Israel would be increased if one of the Syrian missiles brings down an Israeli jet. But Israel Radio said Prime Minister Menachem Begin and his top aides have resolved that "Israel will not draw back from a confrontation with Syria."

Israel said it shot down the two helicopters because they were attacking Israel's Christian allies in mountain-top emplacements around Zahle, the Christian stronghold roped off by a 30-day-old Syrian siege. Israeli Deputy Defense Minister Mordechai Zippori said it was a warning that Israel will not tolerate "Syrian air activity in Lebanese skies."

In Washington, Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. said the Reagan administration has asked the Soviet government to pressure its Syrian allies to end the warfare in Lebanon.

"The Syrians have got to back down," said a U.S. official, who declined to be identified by name. "We do not feel that morally we can sit idly by and watch a blood-bath develop."

American Ambassador Samuel Lewis conveyed to Begin the "serious concern Washington has about recent military actions in Lebanon," U.S. officials said.

But Israel Radio said Lewis did not criticize Israel's direct military intervention on behalf of the embattled Christians.

Past Winter's Market Prices Slump Dents '81 Farm Income

WASHINGTON (AP)— While the past winter's slump in market prices for livestock and other commodities has been good news for consumers, it has put a big dent in 1981 farm income prospects.

But the Agriculture Department says the farm income situation is expected to brighten during the remainder of 1981, although the year will not be as good financially for farmers as was indicated six months ago.

Department economists said Wednesday that food prices are not going up quite so rapidly this year as had been predicted. That is because they rose less in the first quarter of the year than had been anticipated. Consequently, the overall increase in 1981 now "will likely fall in the lower half of the 10-15 percent forecast range" the department has been using since last November.

Although department economists have used the range to forecast 1981 food price increases, they also have included a "point estimate" for the year. That has been 12.2 percent.

Ralph Parlett, a department food analyst, said the new point estimate is "near 11 percent," meaning the increase could turn out to be on either side of the mark.

Comparatively, food prices overall gained 8.6 percent in 1980.

The latest assessment was in a brief summary of an agricultural outlook report scheduled for release next month.

"Food industry charges for handling, processing and retailing food products rose substantially — 4.7 percent — in the first quarter," the report said.

"They will continue to rise, but more moderately, for the rest of the year. For all of 1981, the farm-to-retail spread (the price gap between farmers and consumers) may average 11-12 percent above 1980 — much higher than last year's 8.4 percent rise," it said.

"Nevertheless, food industry profit margins in 1981 are expected to remain near the average for the last three years."

The report also said prices at the farm, which sagged earlier this year — particularly for meat animals — still "trail earlier expectations" but are generally above year-ago levels.

"In the past several months, increased U.S. meat production and large Southern Hemisphere crops have dampened U.S. farm prices," the report said.

"Lifting the Soviet grain embargo may help to bolster prices, but the extent will depend on how fully markets had anticipated the event and how actual sales develop against the backdrop of new crop prospects."

Cattle prices are going up "as production falls with the beginning of spring grazing" and fewer overweight cattle in the feedlots, it said.

Wilson

compose LTV's meat and food group.

In Des Moines, Plant Manager Alan Williams said that plant would be closed by Oct. 31, leaving 409 employees out of work. Williams said he would meet with employees on Thursday. Wilson officials said the 50-year-old Des Moines plant has a capacity of about 850,000 hogs a year.

Griggy blamed the firm's operating loss on "great supply and soft consumer demand" for meat products.

The action by LTV's directors had nothing to do with Wilson's troubled financial situation, he said.

LTV, a conglomerate that on Wednesday had announced the largest first-quarter earnings in its history at $47.3 million, also is preparing to consolidate its business concerns around several manufacturing companies it owns, Griggy said.

"The decision to spin off Wilson was based upon the conclusion that LTV's long-range future must be built on a manufacturing and technology base," Paul Thayer, LTV's chairman and chief executive officer, said.

Griggy said the company's hog slaughtering operations will be consolidated at one "highly efficient" plant in Marshall, Mo., in an effort to cut operating costs.

Griggy had announced in February that Wilson's Oklahoma City hog slaughtering plant would be closed by August, throwing more than 300 employees out of work. More than 400 additional Wilson employees will be laid off in October because of the other plant closings, but as many as 300 employees will be rehired at the Marshall facility when an expansion project is completed there later this year.

of drawing back conservatives concerned about budget deficits. However, it would mean postponing any cuts in personal income taxes until 1983, in contrast to the president's proposal for a three-year, 30 percent cut beginning next year.

The Senate Budget Committee, controlled by Republicans, has endorsed a $699.1 billion budget plan for 1982 that carries a $48.8 billion deficit. That measure, which is virtually a carbon copy of Reagan's original recommendations is likely to be passed by a solid Republican majority in the full Senate, which is expected to consider the plan late next week.

Caution: Mechanical Men at Work

A robot, says Webster, is "a machine that performs the mechanical functions of a human — but without emotion."

Britain now has about 100 sophisticated robots at work. West Germany has about 850.

The United States has some 3,000.

But the Japanese have whole factories operated almost altogether by some 60,000 "mechanical men."

At the Datsun factory near Tokyo robots have taken over most of the dirty or dangerous job.

They weld, paint and perform other chores around the clock — faster, cheaper and better than humans.

And hear this: Though Japan has the most highly automated industrial plants in the world, unemployment in Japan is only two-percent — about one-third ours.

The Christian Science Monitor dispatched Geoffrey Murray to Japan to see and report on their robots. Here is what he witnessed at the Fujitsu Fanuc factory: Sixteen hours every day the factory is run entirely by robots — manufacturing robots.

About 100 humans show up for the remaining eight hours only to make certain everything is running smoothly. That is one-fifth the number of workers who would be required in a conventional factory.

Fanuc's announced objective is to achieve unmanned factories all over the world.

And within five years to be turning out next generation robots of such improved efficiency that one can do the work of 15 humans.

Japan thus expects to increase its already high efficiency rate by another 70 percent in this decade.

Japanese trade unions have not resisted this evolution: welcoming instead the elimination of dangerous and monotonous factory jobs.

Experience in Japan is teaching that the automation of assembly lines merely moves blue collar workers into white collar jobs.

And that improved company efficiency results in generally higher salaries.

A Fanuc spokesman remembers that, as the industrial revolution of the 18th century pushed workers from farms to factories, this new "revolution" will push workers into the tertiary sector of health and education and entertainment and a better life.

This is a footnote which may or may not be appropriate. A recent TWILIGHT ZONE television movie featured a robot baseball pitcher who could strike out anybody — until he was required by league rules to take a physical exam.

The robot's creators realized he would have no pulse without a heart so they quickly installed a heart.

After which he could not bring himself to strike out anybody.

Instead, the robot with a heart found delight in making the batters happy.

I don't know why fiction somehow seems relative ...

SWPS Names Chief Executive Officer

Berl M. Springer, president of Southwestern Public Service Company, has been named to the additional position of chief executive officer, in action taken today by the electric utility's board of directors.

Springer assumes the chief executive officer responsibilities from Roy Tolk who continues as chairman of the board.

Tolk and Springer had served in their former capacities since 1976.

Tolk said, "We are taking this step to continue the orderly transition of management at Southwestern. I have announced my planned retirement from active management of the company, effective December 31, 1981."

He plans to stay on the board as a director after his retirement.

Springer is a graduate of Texas Tech University, with a bachelor of science degree in industrial engineering. He started his career with SPS in 1946 as a draftsman. He served as statistician-engineer, rate engineer, and rate manager before being elected vice president of rates and budgets in 1969. He was elected executive vice president in 1972 and was named to the board of directors in 1974.

Also at its meeting today in Amarillo, Texas, the board declared regular quarterly dividends on all series of preferred stock and a regular quarterly dividend of 3 1/2 cents per share on the common stock.

The common stock dividend is payable June 1, 1981, to holders of record May 15, 1981, and the preferred stock dividends are payable August 3, 1981, to holders of record July 20, 1981.

Southwestern Public Service Company, based in Amarillo, provides electric utility service to the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas, the Panhandle of Oklahoma, Eastern New Mexico and Southwestern Kansas.

Beta Sigma Phi Sorority Celebrates Anniversary

In honor of the Golden Anniversary of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, four local chapters will be celebrating its "Founder's Day" tonight at the Hereford Country Club. Sharon Hodges, Kappa Iota Chapter, will be serving as chairman of the Founder's Day activities. Toastmistress for the evening is Jan Walsler, Xi Epsilon Alpha.

Mary Jean Gore with Alpha Alpha preceptor has been selected for the honor of presenting a special message from the International Executive Council of Beta Sigma Phi. Awards will be presented to local members and outstanding members will be recognized for their work for sorority and the community this year.

In conjunction with Founder's Day, Mayor Bartley Dowell recently signed a proclamation declaring today as Beta Sigma Phi Day in Hereford.

Beta Sigma Phi is an organization that has grown to include 250,000 members in 12,500 chapters, located in 33 countries across the world; a group of women that has worked for every known charitable, health and cultural organization, raising money and donating time and effort to those in need everywhere.

Beta Sigma Phi has recently been recognized by President Ronald Reagan for its philanthropic work, as well as its 50th anniversary. Across the United States and Canada, local and state government officials are signing proclamations that recognize April 30, 1980 to April 30, 1981 as "Beta Sigma Phi Year" in their cities and states.

Life, learning and friendship are the bywords of Beta Sigma Phi. Begun in the midst of the Depression by Walter W. Ross, Beta Sigma Phi was originally designed to provide an outlet for women who, in those hard financial times, could not attend college and were obliged to remain home and support their families. Walter Ross provided these women with a program of cultural study so they could have a change at intellectual and social growth.

Local Rebekahs Attend Convention in Amarillo

President Dick Haines and Dottie Boring presided at the business session of Panhandle Association of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs in Amarillo recently.

Amarillo Lodges combined efforts to host the 1981 two-day meeting which included "fun, fellowship and business."

Elected to officers for 1982 were Odd Fellow President Herbert Boring, Amarillo; Rebekah President Flo Miller, Panhandle; Secretary-Treasurer Juanita Haines, Amarillo; Odd Fellow Vice President Tim

Schuster, Jr., Amarillo; Rebekah Vice President Jessie Erdman, Amarillo; and Chaplain Gladys Rea, Amarillo.

Eugene Bishop and Suse Curtsinger, representatives from Hereford issued an invitation to the Association to come to Hereford for the 1982 session. Others attending from Hereford were Lydia Hopson, Edna Mathes, Estelle Hopson, Faye Brownlow, Ursalee Jacobsen and Ben Conklin.

Seventy-seven Odd Fellows and Rebekahs registered for the 1981 meeting.

Preparing for Founders' Day

Four local Beta Sigma Phi Sorority Chapters will be celebrating its 50th Anniversary tonight at the Hereford Country Club in conjunction with Founder's Day. Toastmistress for the evening is Jan Walsler, members of Xi Epsilon Alpha. Mary Jean Gore with Alpha Alpha preceptor has been selected for the honor of presenting a special message from the International Executive Council of Beta Sigma Phi. Above City Council officers, left to right, Mary Brinkman, corresponding secretary; Mary Sledge, president; and Charla Edwards, vice-president look over the agenda for the event.

SOCIETY NEWS

Ann Landers

Spaced Out and Stoned

DEAR ANN: I am a male student attending a high school in a state close to an Air Force base where my father is stationed. A freshman girl and I (her step-father is also in the military) were having problems in history. Both of us were flunking. The teacher offered to give us additional help at his apartment during the holidays.

All three of us are involved with drugs. The second day we met with the teacher, he said he would pass us if we would have intercourse while he watched and took pictures.

I am six feet, two inches tall and weigh 205 pounds. This girl wasn't a virgin, but I know I hurt her real bad. That night her parents took her to the hospital because she was bleeding and in pain. They believe she was raped. She has not accused me and I don't believe she will, but that teacher still has the photos and I am afraid of what might happen.

Could I be charged with rape? I am nearly 18 and the girl is 15. Could you answer right away, please? I am Scared Out Of My Wits

DEAR SCARED: You didn't rape the girl. She agreed. Her age might make a difference in certain states, however.

That teacher should be kicked out of the system. I hope you have the guts to tell your parents the whole truth. The girl's parents should be enlisted in this effort also.

You both need to get into a drug program and get off whatever you are on, so you can think straight. Students who are spaced out and stoned cannot concentrate long enough to understand what is being said in the classroom. I urge you both to seek help at once.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have two sons (different fathers) who are two years apart. They are the same size but as different in looks as night from day.

People have asked me the dumbest questions about these boys, such as "Are they twins?" Or, "Which one is adopted?"

The all-time winner was last week. A man at an office picnic (half drunk) ambled up to me and said, "These boys don't look anything like you OR your husband. How do you explain it?"

I looked him straight in the eye and replied, "How come you haven't heard? I play around."

The clod sobered up in a hurry. His mouth dropped open and his face turned red as a beet. Everyone who was standing around heard it and roared. How was that for a comeback?—Lewisville, Tex.

DEAR TEX: Far better than being defensive and trying to offer a logical explanation to a lunkhead like that. Touche!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My hassle is with the U.S. Postal Service. Can you help straighten this out? So far, I have received nothing but dumb answers.

I write letters to family and friends in Europe. Overseas postage used to be 31 cents. It is now 40 cents. I have several sheets of 1-cent stamps that I use with two 15-cent stamps. Last week I went to the post office and asked if I could exchange the sheets of 1-cent stamps for 10-cent stamps. I was told I could get only 80 percent of their value.

If this isn't crooked and lousy, what is?—Ripped Off In Georgia

DEAR RIPPED: I am surprised you were offered such a good deal. In Chicago, postage stamps cannot be exchanged or returned under any circumstances. Feel better? I hope so.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

THE U.S. AND YOU

Refinancing your home

William Steif

Ken bought his home in a Maryland suburb of Washington for $45,000 in 1973 and pays 7.5 percent interest on his 30-year mortgage. Dan bought his home in a Virginia suburb of Washington for $32,000 in 1967 and pays 5.75 percent interest on his 30-year mortgage.

Both men are in their mid-40s, have growing families and are about to send children off to college. That's the rub. Those college youngsters are going to cost $6,000 to $10,000 a year, apiece. Both men earn good salaries, but they're not rich — and that $6,000 to $10,000 yearly bite will hurt, plenty.

Here's one way they could ease the financial strain, thanks to a new scheme dreamed up by the Federal National Mortgage Association (FNMA, known in the housing trade as Fannie Mae).

Fannie Mae, the nation's biggest mortgage loan corporation, doesn't finance mortgages directly. Instead, it provides funds to local lenders by buying the mortgages that the local lenders originate. That makes Fannie Mae the biggest supplier of home mortgage funds today. It owns $57 billion worth of loans on nearly 2 million homes.

Fannie Mae's problem, in this era of high interest rates, is that it owns a lot of older long-term low-interest mortgages, like Ken's and Dan's. To finance its lending, Fannie Mae must issue a kind of bond whose interest rate must be high enough to compete in the current market. In short, Fannie Mae is squeezed because its cost of funds now exceeds its return on the mortgages it owns.

That's where your mortgage, and Ken's and Dan's, come in. Fannie Mae now wants to "refinance" mortgages it owns, at rates well above the old ones but well below current interest rates. That could relieve the squeeze on Fannie Mae; it could also put thousands of extra dollars in Ken's, Dan's or your pockets. That's a result of inflated housing values.

Example: Your 10 percent mortgage, owned by Fannie Mae, has an unpaid balance of $45,000. But your home is now worth $66,700. You refinance and get a new $60,000 mortgage at 11.5 percent — and wind up with $15,000 cash, which you can use to help pay your youngster's way through college or improve your house or whatever. Of course, you recognize that your monthly payment is going to be higher ($594 vs. $395 on your old loan). But you also recognize that an 11.5 percent mortgage is a lot lower than what you'd pay ($759 monthly) on a new 15 percent mortgage or on the combination of your old payment with a new 10-year second mortgage ($395 plus $270, for a total of $665 a month).

For Ken and Dan, whose homes have appreciated to about $100,000 apiece, this kind of deal could be terrific. They could walk away with enough cash to finance their teen-agers' college educations and might have enough left over to take that long-awaited vacation trip to Jamaica.

Good Citizens Recipients

Los Ciboleros Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution hosted a tea for the Good Citizens award winners and the American History Essay award winners. The reception was held in the E.B. Black House. Among those students being honored were Deanna Merritt of Dimmitt and Brent Boyd of Hereford. These students were recognized as recipients of the Good Citizens Award.

Good Citizens, American History Essay Award Winners Recognized

A tea was held recently in the E.B. Black House for Good Citizens award winners and the American History Essay award winners. The reception was hosted by Los Ciboleros Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution. Good citizens recognized were from Earth, Dimmitt and Hereford High Schools. Those honored were Brent Boyd of Hereford, Deanna Merritt of Dimmitt and Sheila Jordan of Earth, who was not present at the tea. American History essay award winners honored were first place bronze medal recipients Julie Allison, a fifth grader at West Central; Denise Detten, a sixth grader at St. Anthony's; and Andre Jorde, an eighth grader at La Plata; all of Hereford. Jacalyn Thompson, a sixth grader and Amy Downing, a seventh grader, both of Dimmitt were also recognized for this award. Second place winners in the essay contest present at the reception were Keith Anderson, a sixth grader at St. Anthony's and Misty Stokes, a fifth grader at West Central; both of Hereford. Gregory Malone, a fifth grader; Kerri Collins, a sixth grader; and Denise Smith, a seventh grader; all of Dimmitt were recognized as second place winners. Mickey Masters, a sixth grader at Lazbuddie was also present at the tea. Masters was a second place winner in the essay contest.

Winnie Resident to Speak At Women Aglow Meeting

Mrs. Larry Meaux, a Winnie area resident since 1965, a beautician, mother, grandmother and wife, at this time is part of a husband-wife evangelistic team which is both Catholic and Charismatic. Mrs. Meaux will be the featured speaker at the Friday, May 1 meeting of Women Aglow Fellowship in the High School cafeteria. Mrs. Meaux and her husband, Larry, have ministered in the boundaries of the U.S. They have traveled to the Philippines, India, Grand Cayman Island and Canada telling people of the "GOODNEWS that Jesus Christ is the Son of God and that He died for the sins of each man and then rose from the grave and is sitting at the right hand of the Father, and will come again to take us in to himself."

"Jesus put their floundering marriage and strife-filled lives in order. Mrs. Meaux had unsuspectingly become involved in the occult practices of astrology, fortune telling and mind control in an effort to fill the emptiness that accompanies a life without Christ. The void is now filled with the love of Jesus and she is continuing to experience Gods purpose and place for her life within his kingdom," read a statement in the "Goodnews" Fellowship, Inc. newsletter.

La Plata Study Club Elects New Officers

Lucy Rogers was elected president of La Plata Study Club for next year when the club met Tuesday evening in the First National Bank meeting room. Other officers elected were Virginia Woodford, vice president; Avis White, recording secretary; Beverly Jayroe corresponding secretary; Clara Brown, treasurer; Jean Kelly, parliamentarian; and Margaret Schroeter, historian.

New officers will be installed May 19 in the home of outgoing president, Mrs. Kelly. The group will have a salad supper and Dorotha Prowell will serve as co-hostess.

Mrs. Schroeter opened the Tuesday meeting by reading a column, "Trailing Family Trees" from the Amarillo Globe News. In the column was a collect written by Mary Stewart, which happens to be the collect LaPlata Study Club chose years ago as its collect.

During the business meeting Mrs. Schroeter displayed a Castro County history book showing members what the new book being compiled on Deaf Smith County would look like. The club voted to buy space in the book giving the history of the club and a picture of the members. Mrs. Schroeter will be responsible to write the history and a picture will be taken of the group at the May meeting.

Mrs. Kelly read a letter about the county jubilee which is set in August. She asked what the club might like to do to participate in the celebration. It will be decided at the next meeting.

A letter was read from Judy Hollingsworth, who works with Wycliff Bible Translators, thanking the club for its donation each year. Mrs. Hollingsworth is the grand-daughter of Mrs. Homer Hensley of Hereford. She plans to be in Hereford next August or September and would be willing to give a slide presentation and talk about her work in Africa. Audine Dettman proposed that the club sponsor a community meeting when Mrs. Hollingsworth comes to Hereford. The club voted to do so and invite the public.

It was announced the Viola Chisholm Art Award will be presented again this year by La Plata Study Club to a deserving senior student at Hereford High School.

Mrs. Brown was in charge of the program. Members of the club had a "look and see" program on hobbies, telling what they enjoy doing. Dessert and drinks were served by hostesses Ruby Boston and Mrs. Woodford.

Members attending included Mmes. Boston, Dettman, Sarah Hazelrigg, Jayroe, Carolyn Johnson, Kelly, Mozelle Neill, Lavon Nieman, Prowell, Schroeter, Betty Taylor, Donna VanderZee, White and Woodford.

Hereford Key Clubbers Honored at Convention

Forty-two local Key Clubbers and Sweetheart Diane Warden left last Friday morning by charter bus with faculty advisor Gene Brock and five other adult Kiwanis sponsors Wayne Winget, Pet Lowrie, Bill Igal, Michael Carr and Stan Rose for the 32nd annual Texas-Oklahoma District Convention held in Fort Worth.

The Key clubbers were busy with the governors night which included a Russian Diplomat Imposter. Saturday morning key clubbers attended training sessions on club activities such as fund raising projects, K family relations, membership development and service project activities. They spent the afternoon in officer training sessions which included all the offices of the club, board members and membership training session.

Saturday night was award nights and selection of the Texas-Oklahoma Sweetheart. Hereford was recognized as the third place winner of a trophy for the annual achievement, based on an achievement report for the total activities of the club for the year.

The Hereford club was recognized in the Platinum division, made up of the largest clubs in the division having a membership of 91 plus. This was the first time the Hereford club was recognized in this area of achievement.

The Hereford club was also recognized as the number six club in its point rating over the year, out of 267 clubs in the Texas-Oklahoma district.

Local Key Club secretary Kevin Coupe was honored for being one of the top 20 secretaries of the 267 secretaries in the TO District.

Lt. Governor Kirk Clark of Division 7 and 33 and a member of the local Key Club was recognized as one of the top 10 Lt. Governor's while Lt. Governor Elect Brent Glenn of Division 7 and 33 also of Hereford was officially installed at the final session of the annual convention.

Following the convention the Key Clubbers and Sweetheart enjoyed Six Flags for the remainder of Sunday and Sunday evening, returning home Monday morning. An upcoming event scheduled by the local Key Clubbers will be its annual Key Club Parent Appreciation Leadership Installation Banquet, Monday, May 4 at the Community Center. Scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. officers will be installed by the new Lt. Governor Brent Glenn. Warren Hassey, known as the voice of the West Texas Buffaloes, will be keynote speaker for the banquet.

Chinese Dancer, Bride Reunited

HOUSTON (AP) — A Chinese ballet soloist and an American ballerina who fell in love and got married escaped today to a secret location to continue a honeymoon interrupted by a tense diplomatic tug-of-war.

Their 20-hour drama had a storybook ending Wednesday as Chinese consulate officials allowed Li Cunxin, 20, to leave their four-story, steel-grated building — a free man — with his bride of two days, Elizabeth Mackey, 18.

The newlyweds, whose romance blossomed while they were members of the Houston Ballet Company, hurried into a waiting automobile and sped away to a destination so secret even the bride's mother did not know where they were headed.

"They need time by themselves," said Janet Mackey. Asked where her daughter and her new son-in-law would spend the night, she said, "I have to go where they are and I don't know where it is."

Li's attorney, Charles Foster, said he planned to help the dancer apply for U.S. citizenship, but denied that Li would seek political asylum.

Li, a big hit with the Houston Ballet who became a guest soloist, was scheduled to return to China Wednesday. Instead, he informed consulate officials the night before that he had married an American girl and would not be returning after all.

At that point, Foster said, Li was forcibly detained by three Chinese officials.

When he and his bride emerged nearly a full day later, both appeared weary but happy. Li said the Chinese "regretted but respected" his decision.

"I am very happy to stay with my wife in America and work in America," Li said in halting English as the new Mrs. Li clung to him and rested her head on his shoulder.

She did not speak to anyone but held fast to Li's arm as the couple dodged a crowd of reporters shouting questions and fled in the car.

"She knows it's not going to be easy," said Mrs. Mackey, who arrived in Houston Sunday from her home in West Palm Beach, Fla. She said Li and her daughter, who moved to Texas to study at the Houston Ballet Academy, would return to West Palm Beach and live their "a couple of months, to establish residency" after their honeymoon.

Is Dentist's Role Changing?

BOSTON (AP) — That old advertising pitch — "Look, Ma, no cavities!" — has come true for millions of American children.

Fluoridated water, better toothpaste and good care are making the piercing whine of the dentist's drill a worry of the past.

But the good news for patients may mean uncertain times and a changing role for the 448,000 men and women who make their livings repairing tooth decay.

Study after study in recent years has documented a remarkable improvement in the health of American teeth. Fluoridated water, now available to about half of all Americans, is given much of the credit for conquering cavities. But a soon-to-be-published report shows a dramatic drop in tooth decay even in towns where the water is not fluoridated.

Between 1958 and 1978, Dr. Robert Glass examined the teeth of 1,776 children in the school systems of Norwood and Dedham, two Boston suburbs. In 20 years, he discovered a 50 percent drop in the number of decayed, filled and missing teeth.

Glass, a researcher at the Forsyth Dental Center in Boston, said he found the statistics "amazing" because neither town had fluoridated water during that period. He attributed the change to fluoride toothpaste and mouthwash, more emphasis on brushing and flossing and the introduction of high-speed drills that have improved the quality of dentists' work. The National Institute of Dental Research in Bethesda, Md., has noticed similar changes. Dr. William Bowen, chief of the institute's Caries Prevention and Research Branch, is overseeing a nationwide study of 49,000 children who live in both fluoridated and non-fluoridated areas.

The results are not all in yet, but Bowen predicts they will show a 25 to 30 percent reduction in cavities in the past 10 years alone.

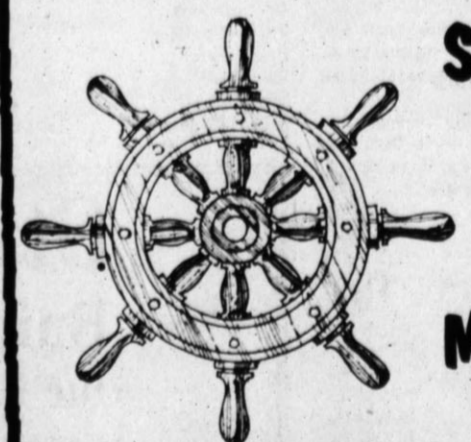

The institute also is working on a cavities vaccine that Bowen says could be introduced within the next decade. It, too, would help eliminate cavities.

For dentists, cavities are big business. In 1979, Americans spent $3.7 billion on fillings, or about 27 percent of the nation's total dental bill.

The loss of a large part of this work may force a reduction in the dentist workforce.

"I think there will probably be a gradual decline in the numbers (of dentists) required," Bowen said. "But not for several years yet. The kind of work will shift. The traditional forms of treatment are certainly in less demand."

At Forsyth, a private research institution, director John Hein says an oversupply of dentists is a definite possibility. "I think the drop in cavities...may well eventually result in a need for less dentists," he said.

Rockets to Go to Finals

Houston Outscores Kansas City Kings in Western Championship

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Who could have guessed it? With a losing record in the regular season, the Houston Rockets were supposed to provide an early playoff tuneup for powerful Los Angeles and San Antonio, then humbly step aside to watch the championship finals of the National Basketball Association.

But the Rockets will be playing, not watching. Writing one more chapter in a storied season, Houston outscored Kansas City 114-104 in the final three minutes Wednesday night to defeat the Kings 97-88 and win the Western Conference championship four games to one.

The Rockets, who finished the regular season 40-42, will face either Boston or Philadelphia in their first appearance in the NBA finals in the history of the franchise. And they are the first sub-500 club to reach the championship round since the 1958-59 Minneapolis Lakers.

"This team developed over the year," said Rocket Coach Del Harris. "It wasn't until the last 30 games I began to insert Billy Paultz into the lineup. Robert Reid has become a man in the NBA the past few weeks. This team went from being a bunch of individuals going off in all sorts of directions to a team of individuals who love each other."

Paultz scored 12 points and Reid 14, but it was center Moses Malone who destroyed the Cinderella season the Kings were trying to write. Malone scored 21 points in the first half to help erase a 23-12 Kansas City lead and finished with 36.

"We played solid defense," said Malone. "That's the only way we could get here. We got our heads together. We wanted to show the people of Houston we could make the playoffs."

Nobody thought Kansas City would get this far, either. Finishing with an identical 40-42 mark, the injury-wracked Kings ousted Portland and Phoenix in early playoff rounds.

"I love both these teams," said Harris. "I would be proud to coach either one of them."

Kings Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons said he'll be cheering for the Rockets.

"I want Houston to win the championship," he said. "My hat's off to them. I've got a great group of guys who never gave up. Finally, tonight, we just couldn't overcome. Moses was the biggest factor, but give credit to Billy Paultz, Robert Reid and all the rest of them. They just did a better job than we did and they deserved to win."

The Kings battled injuries to Phil Ford, Otis Birdsong and Joe C. Meriweather throughout the playoffs, but were cursed again Wednesday night when Otis, after scoring 15 points, was helped off the floor at the 4:13 mark of the third quarter with a muscle spasm in the back.

The Rockets never led until Bill Willoughby hit two free throws for a 79-77 advantage with 10:11 to play. After Sam Lacey's two free throws cut Houston's lead to 86-84 with 3:27 to play, the Rockets took control, with Malone, Tom Henderson and Reid hitting buckets and Paultz making two key rebound

7 Hereford Runners To Compete in Meet

The Hereford Whitefaces will have seven runners competing in four events at the Regional 1-5A Track and Field Meet at Lubbock this weekend.

The Whitefaces qualified in just three events at the District 4-5A meet last week, but Coach Lester Kirkland learned this week that Hereford's 1600-meter relay team will replace Monterey's team at region.

Word was received that two of Monterey's relay members could not compete due to injuries, and Hereford was moved up to a qualifying position after finishing third.

Hereford scored two first places in individual events at district, with Felix Soliz taking the 800 meter dash and Norman Brown winning the 400 meter dash. The 400-meter relay team finished second.

The spirit relay team is composed of Jeff Coupe, Harold Terry, Rudy Hernandez and Brown. Getting a ticket to the regions as a result of the 1600-meter team being qualified are Alfred Ball and Wayne High. Soliz and Brown are also on that relay team.

Coach Kirkland said that Soliz and Brown are the best prospects to advance to the state meet in Austin. The pair have some of the better times in the area in their specialties.

Herd Stopped By Mustangs

A blop bases-loaded two-out single in the bottom of the seventh propelled the Coronado Mustangs to a sweep of the Hereford Whitefaces in a District 4-5A baseball twinbill at Coronado's field Wednesday.

Russell Young came up with the timely hit for the Herd by a 6-0 count in the opener.

After starting the doubleheader on a cold note, the Herd took a 3-1 lead in the nightcap after four innings. Coronado came back with a solo tally in the fifth and two more runs in the sixth to nab a 5-3 margin.

Ken Cosper's first home run of the season and Norman Hill's three-bagger led the way for the 'Faces in the top of the seventh, however, and HHS took a 6-5 lead into the final half of the inning, setting the stage for Young's last-frame heroics.

Mike Mason absorbed the loss for the Herd in the opener to drop his record to 4-5 on the year. Glen Phibbs took the loss in the nightcap.

The Herd will play

Monterey today at Whiteface Field in a makeup of a two-game set which had been rained out during the first half of district play.

Hereford will host the Dumas Demons Saturday with the junior varsities to square off at 1 p.m. and the varsity matchup to follow. The 'Faces will close out loop action next week with another twinbill against the Plainsmen Tuesday in Lubbock and the final district, doubleheader against Coronado here next Saturday.

Boston Pulls Victory over Philadelphia, 111-109

BOSTON (AP) — A full house at Boston Garden, reliving past nightmares, poured onto the floor when it beheld a strange and wondrous sight — M.L. Carr latching onto a game-clinching rebound.

His retrieve with one second left secured Boston's 111-109 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers Wednesday night that kept the Celtics breathing in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The thrilling victory left the 76ers with a 3-2 lead heading into the sixth game of the Eastern Conference championship series Friday night in Philadelphia.

Until the come-from-behind victory, the Celtics' playoff fortunes seemed to be repeating themselves.

Last season, the Celtics drew a bye in the opening playoff round, then won their first series in four straight games. It happened the same way this season.

Both times, with the home-court advantage, they then faced the 76ers and dropped three of the first four games, winning the second matchup here. In the fifth game last season, the Celtics were eliminated in a one-point loss here.

"I could sense by the way we were playing that this would be different," said Boston forward Kevin McHale. "In the other games, instead of playing with poise at the end, we were clutching and not moving the ball well."

"Finally, at the end of the game we came through. The guys just didn't give up. I guess that's what the Celtics are all about," said Boston guard Gerald Henderson.

Philadelphia led 109-103, but Nate Archibald, who had 23 points, made a three-point play with 1:20 left. Larry Bird, who led all players with 32 points and 11 rebounds, then hit a basket with 47 seconds to go.

With 20 seconds left, Carr grabbed an offensive rebound and was fouled by Julius Erving. He made both shots and Boston led 110-109.

When Bobby Jones missed an off-balance shot, Carr got the rebound, was fouled with one second left and sank one shot. He deliberately missed the last two free throws, hoping the clock would run out in the rebound scramble.

But Philadelphia got the ball and called time out with one second to go. Bird tipped and Robert Parish stole Jones' inbound pass as time expired.

The 76ers were scoreless

after Darryl Dawkins' two free throws with 1:51 to play, and Boston Coach Bill Fitch said, "That's as good a defense as you can play against a great team like Philadelphia."

Guard Lionel Hollins led the 76ers with 23 points, and Dawkins and Erving added 21 apiece. But Erving had just two rebounds, and the 76ers' other starting forward, Caldwell Jones, grabbed just six and went scoreless in 34 minutes.

Ladies Golf Tourney Rescheduled for June

The Ladies City Tennis Tournament set for this weekend has been postponed, according to Kylene Gentry, tourney chairperson. The tourney has been rescheduled for June 6 and 7.

The tourney will be sponsored by the Women's Division of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

New entry forms will be made available and more information will be forthcoming.

'Proud Appeal' Barely a Favorite In This Saturday's Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — An undersized colt named Proud Appeal has emerged as the lukewarm favorite for Saturday's 107th Kentucky Derby, which shapes up as a cavalry charge involving 20 3-year-olds.

"I'm sure nobody can steal this race," Stanley Hough, trainer of the Blue Grass and Gotham stakes winner, said Wednesday in the barn area at Churchill Downs. "It will be either the horse with a lot of speed or no speed, but the horse with middle speed would seem to be in a lot of trouble because of the large field."

By speed horses, he means front-runners and by no speed he means stretch runners. They've come from coast to coast with varied running styles and pedigrees for this

1 1/4-mile first leg of thoroughbred racing's Triple Crown.

Among other leading contenders are Wood Memorial winner Pleasant Colony; Bold Ego, the Arkansas Derby winner; Santa Anita Derby victor Splendid Spruce; Flamingo winner Tap Shoes; Gotham runnerup Cure The Blues, and Flamingo runnerup Well Decorated.

Other probables expected to be entered today are Classic Go Go, Habano, Top Avenger, Pass the Tab, Double Sonic, Hoedown's Day, Woodchopper, Noble Nashua, Partez, Television Studio, Beau Rit, Golden Derby and Flying Nashua.

Law Me and Mythical Ruler also want to go, but Churchill Downs probably will be forced to invoke the 20-horse limit — based on earnings — for the first time. The rule went into effect after the 1974 Derby, which drew a field of 23.

Proud Appeal has won eight of nine career starts, including all five starts this year, and is regarded as the horse to beat.

Some critics were not impressed by Proud Appeal's three-length victory in the slop at Keeneland April 23 and, since Hough has not done much with colts here, there were rumors he wasn't in top shape.

The colt galloped 1 1/2 miles Wednesday.

Proud Appeal is a Florida-bred owned by Hough, Malcolm Winfield, John Gaines and Robert Entenann. Hough and Winfield purchased him for $37,000 in an auction for unraced 2-year-olds at Hialeah. The son of Valid Appeal-Proud n' Happy was sidelined for about six months after injuring his shins in the running of the Tyro at Monmouth Park in July. He finished fourth for his only loss.

Kiwanis Bowlers Second

The Hereford Kiwanis Club's bowling team won runner-up honors for the Texas-Oklahoma area during a tournament at Dallas this past week.

Members of the team were Jim Simon, Jerry Hendrick, Kenneth Cook, Jimmy Rowton and Michael Carr.

Simon captured the high series award, and Rowton won the high game award in the Kiwanis tournament.

Oakland Wins Tangle with California Angels

By The Associated Press
The Oakland A's were involved in two fights with the California Angels, and Manager Billy Martin was right in the middle throwing punches, right?

Well, not exactly. He acted as a peacemaker for the most part as the two teams tangled during and after Oakland's 6-4 victory Wednesday, giving the A's the best April record (18-3) in baseball history. But that's not to say Martin didn't appreciate the extra activity. "It was a pretty good fight, I saw at least three guys get punched good," said Martin, who has achieved considerable notoriety for his on- and off-field fistcuffs in the past.

The first fight occurred in the eighth inning after Dan Ford hit a homer for California's final two runs. As he rounded the bases, A's catcher Mike Heath asked plate umpire John Shulock to inspect Ford's bat for doctoring, which incensed the Angels outfielder enough to grab Heath, emptying both benches. Martin was more involved in fight No. 2, which occurred after the game in a walkway leading to both clubhouses.

"Tom Morgan (Angels pitching coach and former Martin teammate with the New York Yankees) tried to get in a fight with our players. Coaches are supposed to break up fights, not start them," Martin said. "I pinned ed him up against the wall with my elbow against his throat. (Angels Manager) Jim Fregosi grabbed me and I appreciate it because I was ready to deck Morgan. I got stepped on and got three holes in my shoes and I didn't even get to throw a punch. The next time he does it I will personally deck him."

In other American League games, the Yankees beat Detroit 3-2, Toronto defeated Milwaukee 5-0 in 14 innings, Baltimore blanked Chicago 3-0, Texas shut out Boston for the third straight day, 5-0, and Minnesota and Seattle fought to a 7-7 tie in the eighth inning before rain washed out the game.

Mariners 7, Twins 7
Seattle took a 7-4 lead into the bottom of the eighth inning, but a two-run double by Danny Goodwin and Dave Engle's triple tied the score for Minnesota before heavy rains stopped the action. The game will be completely replayed at a later date, but all of Wednesday's individual statistics are official. That means that Seattle Manager Maury Wills' two-game suspension for doctoring a batter's box is over and Richie Zisk's streak of home runs in consecutive games was snapped at five, one shy of the league record.

Orioles 3, White Sox 0
Benny Ayala hit a two-run homer and Dennis Martinez held Chicago to seven hits and gained a victory with ninth-inning relief help from Tippy Martinez.

Rangers 5, Red Sox 0
Danny Darwin tossed a one-hitter as Texas registered its third straight shutout against Boston. John Grubb smacked a three-run double in the first inning and Al Oliver added a two-run homer in the eighth for the Rangers.

Yankees 3, Tigers 2
Dave Winfield's two-run homer broke a 1-1 tie in the third inning and handed Detroit its 10th straight loss. Winfield, who signed a eight-figure, free-agent contract during the offseason, has hit well for the Yankees so far, but his shot into the right field seats off Detroit starter Jack Morris, 1-3, was his first homer in a Yankee uniform.

Cardinal Drafts May Be Top Picks

NEW YORK (AP) — It is, of course, far too early to determine just who "won" and who "lost" in the National Football League's 1981 college draft. But the St. Louis Cardinals appear a likely bet to get the most out of their top picks.

The Cardinals used the entire 15 minutes allotted to them in the first round before selecting E.J. Junior, the All-America defensive end from Alabama who is projected as a linebacker in the pros.

"The braintrust back in St. Louis was really agonizing over that," said Gordon Beattie, the man ("a friend of the management" he called himself) who handled the Cards' phone at the NFL draft headquarters in New York.

Beattie said there were no deals pending during that 15 minutes, shooting down reports that the Los Angeles Rams, trying to improve on their No. 9 position in the first round, were burning up the phone lines to St. Louis.

He was a bust and, when Coach Bud Wilkinson ignored team owner Billy Bidwills' demands that he play Pisarkiewicz, he was fired in 1979. Coach Jim Hanifan cut Pisarkiewicz during training camp in 1980.

When the Cardinals choice in the second round rolled around, Neil Lomax was still there — and St. Louis pounced on the quarterback from Portland State.

"Just luck," Beattie said. "We were surprised — amazed, sort of — and delighted that he was still available."

Lomax, a 6-foot-3, 215-pounder, holds a bunch of NCAA all-division career records including most completions (938), most yards passing (13,220), most touchdown passes (106) and most 400-yard games (12).

He has been called by some the best small-college quarterback since Terry Bradshaw.

The only quarterback rated ahead of Lomax — and not by everybody — is California's Rich Campbell. The Green Bay Packers, looking for a return to the glory years when Bart Starr was their quarterback and not their embattled coach, picked Campbell in the first round.

That first round Tuesday was the "celebrity round" when Heisman Trophy winner George Rogers, the South Carolina running back, was selected No. 1 by New Orleans. North Carolina linebacker Lawrence Taylor was taken No. 2 by the New York Giants and the rest of the 28 teams put their futures — not to mention some small fortunes — on the line with their picks.

On Wednesday, the circus atmosphere at the draft was gone, replaced by the routine business of calling off one little-known name after the other.

NBC will provide national television coverage of portions of the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

Texans, Top Challengers in Tourney

HOUSTON (AP) — Lee Trevino, a winner the last time out, heads a tour-tested group of Texans who rank as the major challengers in the $350,000 Michelob-Houston Open golf tournament.

Of the 17 Professional Golfers' Association Tour events held so far this year, six have been won by a handful of Texans who are expected to exert a major influence on the 72-hole test which started today on the 6,918-yard, par-71 Woodlands Country Club course.

The winners include Trevino (Tournament of Champions), Dave Eichelberger (Tallahassee), Tom Kite (Inverrary), Bill Rogers (Heritage) and Bruce Lietzke (San Diego and Bob Hope).

They're joined by such proven performers as Ben Crenshaw; John Mahaffey, a former PGA champ and now representing the host club; Charles Coody, Don January and Miller Barber.

"It's a thrill to win any tournament," said Rogers, who shot a 64 in Wednesday's pro-am event, "but, yes, it would be something special to win here."

Trevino, Kite and Rogers have a history of success here. All finished in the top seven last year.

The course this season is lined by extremely deep, difficult rough, which places a premium on accuracy. And Trevino, Kite and Rogers are among the more accurate players in the game.

"Man, you get it off the fairway and you've got no chance of reaching the green," said Trevino, a playoff loser in this tournament a year ago.

"The rough is like (U.S.) Open rough. And I like it," he said. "That's the kind of course I like to play."

Curtis Strange is the defending champion. Although he has yet to win this season, he's played well most of the year and won more than $100,000, while finishing second in one event and third in two others.

Other standouts include Johnny Miller, winner of two 1982 titles, Hale Irwin, Hubert Green, Lanny Wadkins, Jerry Pate, Tom Weiskopf and Arnold Palmer.

Tom Watson, the Masters champ and a winner last week in New Orleans, is not competing.

NBC will provide national television coverage of portions of the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

Sports in Brief

BASEBALL
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pitcher Steve Carlton caught Tim Wallach looking at a third strike in the first inning of the Philadelphia Phillies' 2-2 victory over the Montreal Expos to become the first left-hander in the history of baseball to record 3,000 strikeouts.

Carlton, who got his first strikeout on April 14, 1965, at Wrigley Field while pitching for the St. Louis Cardinals against the Chicago Cubs, reached the coveted milestone by retiring all three Montreal batters he faced in the inning.

The only men who have more career strikeouts than Carlton are Walter Johnson (3,508), Gaylord Perry (3,293), Nolan Ryan (3,128), Bob Gibson (3,117) and Tom Seaver (3,010). Seaver recorded his 3,000th strikeout

12 days ago against St. Louis' Keith Hernandez.

TENNIS
HAINES CITY, Fla. (AP) — Top-seeded Martina Navratilova scored a 7-6, 6-1 victory over Pilar Vasquez of Peru to advance to today's quarterfinal match against South Africa's Yvonne Vermaak in the $200,000 United Airlines Tournament of Champions.

In other matches, No. 2 seed Andrea Jaeger eliminated Dana Gilbert 6-1, 6-1; seventh-seeded Regina Mariskova of Czechoslovakia defeated Ann Kiyomura 6-2, 6-1; Vermaak ousted Susan-Lee Rollinson of South Africa 6-0, 6-0, and Kathy Horvath downed West Germany's Claudia Kohde 6-1, 6-4.

DALLAS (AP) — Roscoe Tanner beat India's Vijay Amritraj 6-2, 1-6, 2-6, 7-6, 6-4 in the quarterfinals of the World Championship Tennis.

Tanner advanced to Friday night's semifinals against the winner of tonight's match between South Africa's Johan Kriek and Poland's Wojtek Fibak. Top-seeded John McEnroe will play Brian Gottfried Friday afternoon in the other semifinal at Reunion Arena.

WORTHING, England (AP) — Ray Moore of South Africa defeated New Zealand's Chris Lewis 7-5, 1-6, 6-2 to move into the quarterfinals of the $25,000 Pernod Trophy tournament.

In other action, Danie Visser defeated Karl Meiler of West Germany 6-4, 6-4; Deon Joubert ousted Dave Mustard of New Zealand 6-4, 4-6, 6-4; Britain's Jonathan Smith topped South Africa's Tian Viljoen 6-0, 6-2; Tony Graham beat Juan Farrow 6-1, 3-6, 7-6; Andrew Jarrett defeated Guillermo Aubone of Argentina 6-2, 2-6, 6-4; John Feaver downed Juan Carlos Andrade of Spain 6-1, 4-6, 6-1, and Richard Lewis beat Robin Drysdale 4-6, 6-1, 6-0.

GOLF
CHEPSTOW, Wales (AP) — Sue Latham of Britain shot a par 72 to take a 2-stroke lead in the $22,000 Carlsberg women's tournament.

HOUSTON (AP) — The plan to split the PGA Tour into two segments was, effectively, killed at a meeting of pro golf's touring players.

Two other proposals — one for a tour composed entirely of exempt players and another of some 25-30 "super" events — received strong support and will be presented by the PGA Tour Policy Board at its next meeting. PGA Tour Commissioner Deane Beman presented the plan to the players at a closed door meeting.

HEALTH
Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Fan of stationary cycling

DEAR DR. LAMB - What is the difference in calories used on a stationary bicycle compared with a regular one? I prefer using the stationary one because I can watch TV or read during the exercise. I don't have to get dressed to go out and I can do my riding regardless of the weather.

I do about 15 miles a day. Does it make any difference in terms of calories if I do one long set of 60 to 90 minutes or three short sets of 20 to 30 minutes? I read somewhere that the first 15 minutes of any exercise burns up the most calories.

DEAR READER - There is no way I can tell you how many calories you are using with a stationary bicycle. There are many different models and some can be adjusted to require greater effort while peddling. Some sophisticated cycles can even be programmed for hills and valleys and to respond to the person's own heart rate.

As a general rule, a regular bicycle will require about half as much energy per mile as you would use walking or jogging, assuming that you do both cycling and jogging at a comfortable relaxed speed for maximum biological efficiency. In both, the distance is the important factor as far as calorie use is concerned.

No, in terms of calories it doesn't make much difference if you do the 15 miles in one or five sessions. It is like walking. If you walk 10 miles a day it doesn't matter if you break it up or do it all at once. That is one of its good features. When you first warm up, your circulation and muscles may not yet be at peak efficiency but the energy difference is unimportant. The distance is what counts in terms of calories. You may have read something about steady state exercise or some other results besides just calorie effects.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Is it at all possible to have a reversal of a tubal ligation either through surgery or some sort of an implant? I am 27. At age 22 I had unsuccessful spine surgery and was told no more babies. Since then I have had another operation which was successful. I was sterilized to protect my back but my doctor says I can carry a baby now.

I have a 9-year-old son. Six months ago I remarried. My husband and I would be interested in knowing if there is anything at all that could be done.

DEAR READER - Surgery is successful in some cases. Talk to your gynecologist about it; it depends on what type of tubal ligation you had. New microsurgery is a big help in many cases. Some doctors claim as much as 50 percent success in opening the tubes.

I'm sure you have read of the recent animal research on transferring an ovum from the ovaries into the upper uterus or in the tube below the blockage. Then normal fertilization occurs and a pregnancy ensues. Within two years that may be available for people who cannot solve a blocked tube problem otherwise.

POLLY'S POINTERS

POLLY'S PROBLEM
DEAR POLLY - Is there anything I can do to remove the line from polyester and velvet fabrics after I have lowered a hem. Both the cleaners and I washed and pressed. You are my last hope. - B.D.
DEAR B.D. - I always remove such a line before putting in the new hem. Wring a pressing cloth out of a solution of half and half WHITE vinegar and water, lay on wrong side of line and press. If lines are very deep, I have even used full-strength white vinegar, but always test first. I have never used this on velvet, but on other fabrics it has proven to be a real life-saver. Good luck. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - Last year when the youngsters were staying indoors a lot because of the weather, I started preparing my young son for first grade at school. We started with teaching him to carry his lunch tray. It took a little time, as I started with just silverware on the tray and then worked up to food, walking around with the tray and then unloading it. Next I bought pints of milk and he practised opening them. This really seemed to help during this first few days of eating in the school cafeteria. - MRS. K.P.

DEAR POLLY - Recently a reader suggested removing the glue left from stickers on a car with brake fluid. Never use this on the painted portion of the car, as it is a really good paint remover. It would be all right on the bumpers, but must be carefully used there, too. Please warn the readers, so no one has to get a trunk lid repainted. - BARBARA

DEAR BARBARA - Thanks for your warning. Stickers are always on bumpers and windows. I cannot imagine anyone putting a sticker on the painted surface. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - I use grease or vegetable shortening to remove glue that remains after decals are removed. There was some on my refrigerator, and I spread the shortening on it, let it stand until it penetrated the glue and then it wiped right off. I also have used it to remove decals from car windows, etc. - MRS. F.M.N.

Hereford IOOF, Rebekahs Welcome State Officials

Hereford IOOF Lodge No. 476 and Hereford Rebekah Lodge No. 228 hosted a special meeting Tuesday evening to welcome state officials and out-of-town guests at the IOOF Temple.

Supper was served to 53 members and guests.

Ben Conklin, Past Grand Patriarch of Texas Encampment assumed the duties of toastmaster in the open meeting to follow.

Tim Schuster of Amarillo IOOF No. 410 escorted Texas State officers to the center of the floor where they were introduced and welcomed.

Visiting dignitaries were Jack Weatherby, Grand Master of IOOF Grand Lodge of Texas; Glenn Carlton, Grand Patriarch of Grand Encampment Patriarch Militants; John Hubbard, Grand Warden; William Mohler, Grand Treasurer and Dutch Lunsford, Grand High Priest, all from Grand Encampment.

Also introduced was Edna Schuster, Vice-President of Rebekah Assembly of Texas.

District Deputy President and Lodge Deputies of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs were recognized.

Grand Master Jack Weatherby urged members of all units of IOOF to "get in the groove" by living and working in harmony, dedicating themselves to living the obligation of being an Odd Fellow which includes helping each other, caring for the sick and distressed, educating the children and being there with help and sympathy in time of bereavement. He stated, "we are Odd Fellows first no matter which unit or units you are a member of. Believe in the principals of Odd Fellowship."

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows is the finest fraternal organization in the State of Texas, with the greatest principals and members should "get serious" about Odd Fellows business with every unit working together.

Grand High Priest stated "your education in Odd Fellowship is not complete until you have become a part of other units."

Grand Patriarch Glenn Carlton also stressed harmony and togetherness in the order and letting others know about the work and goals of the IOOF.

Grand Warden John Hubbard said this was his first visit to Hereford but it would not be the last as he had now seen what he had missed by not visiting Hereford and its beautiful people.

Represented at Tuesday's meeting were IOOF Lodges Amarillo No. 410, Amarillo No. 102 and Friona No. 203. Rebekah Lodges Amarillo No. 222, Amarillo No. 145, Amarillo Queen of the Plains No. 276, Friona No. 308 and Dimmitt No. 54.

Booster Club Officers

The Band-Orchestra Booster Club will be selling sea food as a fundraising event for the Hereford High School band and orchestra, during the week May 4-10. Members will be contacting the public for pre-orders. A truck will arrive in Hereford on May 19 with the merchandise ordered. Bill Huff, orchestra director and Randy Vaughn, band-director will be cooking samples of the sea food there at the truck on May 19. Proceeds from the fund-raising event will go for the club projects next year. Serving as Band-Orchestra Club officers are standing, left to right, Barbara McMillan, secretary; Bera Boyd, treasurer; and Janie Maldonado, publicity chairman. Seated are Vi Moore, left, president and Betty Lady, vice president.

Scott Selected as Outstanding Senior Agronomy Student at WT

Jim Scott Jr. was selected as the Outstanding Senior

JIM SCOTT JR.

Texas State University. Scott was selected from among senior students majoring in plant science at WTSU.

He was selected on the basis of an excellent academic record and his active participation in student activities such as the Farm and Ranch Club and the Agriculture Honor Society (Alpha Zeta). Scott is one of several students selected from universities throughout the United States, which offer degrees in agronomy or plant science and has an active student club of the American Society of Agronomy. The American Society of Agronomy is the professional organization for agronomist. Scott's picture will be published in the Agronomy News, a publication of the American Society of Agronomy. Scott is a 1969 graduate of Hereford High School. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jim Scott, Sr. of Hereford. His wife, Julie, is employed at La Plata Jr. High School, and his son, Mark, is in the fourth grade at Bluebonnet Elementary School. He is presently employed part time with Frito-Lay Inc. of Hereford and will receive his degree in plant science from W.T.S.U. this summer.

First Friday of May Celebrated by CWU

May Fellowship Day, Friday, will be celebrated by the Church Women United in Hereford with the theme "The Spirit of the Lord Frees...and Unites." The First Baptist Fellowship Hall will hold a worship service and program in conjunction with the celebration.

A covered dish luncheon at noon Friday will precede the celebration. Free nursery will be provided and mothers are asked to bring sack lunches for their children.

Mrs. Mary Fraser will review the history of Church Women United on the local level and Mrs. Eloise McDougal on the national movement.

1981 is the 40th anniversary of Church Women witness to their faith and unity in Jesus Christ through prayer, study, action and celebration.

The first May Fellowship Day was celebrated in 1933 when "Dedication Day" brought together church women in their own communities. It is celebrated every year on the first Friday in May. May Fellowship Day emphasizes the potential for creative and healing relationships in every community.

"Come to the Celebration to share in the history and hopes of CWU as we pray together and develop peace building relationships so necessary for healthy communities," urges Mrs. Troyce Hanna, chairwoman for May Fellowship Day.

Lapidary Rock Club Cancels Area Show

Deaf Smith Lapidary Club met recently in the Energas Flame Room with president Joe Williams calling the business meeting to order. The club decided not to participate in the Amarillo show as the date is May 24-25 which is Memorial Day weekend.

The club announced that it would meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the library to dismantle its display.

A committee headed by Jack Nunley and Roy Martin was appointed to make plans for the Town and Country Jubilee.

Two door prizes, won by Baxter London and Lena Elmquest, were brought by Mr. and Mrs. Don Henslee and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hershey.

Hostesses for the meeting were the Henslee's, the Hershey's and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hensen.

Garth Thomas and Bud Cawthon showed a film concerning basic rock types. Thomas discussed the Town and Country Jubilee following the film.

Juanita Perrin brought the rock club's scrapbook to display to the 36 members present.

The club's next meeting will be Monday, May 27 at 7:30 p.m. in the Flame Room. Members are encouraged to attend.

At Wits End By ERMA BOMBECK

Look, just because I was in the park in a $33 pair of running shoes and a sweaty T-shirt, do you really think I sold out? Can't you take a joke?

Figure it out. You all know how I feel about physical fitness. Would I jeopardize my pillow image by converting to fresh air?

The truth is, I got sick and tired of being on the outside of every conversation. It doesn't matter that only one out of every ten Americans maintains a regular physical fitness program. What is significant is that ten out of every ten Americans pretend they do.

It's a status thing. Do you know what it's like to stand around at a party and not have three purple toenails in the process of falling off? You're nothing!

For the first time I really understand Rosie Ruiz at the Boston Marathon. It only takes a few minutes each day. I go to the park, throw my body against a tree and groan for five minutes. Then I ask the first person I see about his or her split time. Then, I run with the first jogger for a few feet and stop to re-tie my shoe. From then on in, it's a slow dawdle.

I cannot tell you what a difference this has made in my social life. When people discover I run, they tell me how healthy I look and how much weight I've lost. They share with me their pain and their secrets. (A perfect stranger confided to me one night that his hemorrhoids were no longer a problem) There is nothing to set you apart from the rest of the room like speaking metric. ("Anyone run the 10,000-meter race last Sunday?")

And not the least of it has been the actual time I've spent walking around the park. Have you any idea what it does to a woman in her mid-life to hear someone breathing heavily down her back? You can't buy that kind of excitement over the counter.

The charade has been working for weeks now, but yesterday, as I was stretching followed by my "run," a breathless, sweaty woman next to me asked how far I had run that day. I shrugged, "Four or five miles. I'm having such a good time, I lose track."

"I find it hard to believe you're that kind of a runner." "What gave me away?" I asked.

"The handbag. Few runners carry 'em when they run."

Legion, Auxiliary To Host Convention

Members of the American Legion post No. 192 and the American Legion Auxiliary will be hosting members of the 18th district Saturday and Sunday May 2-3, in the American Legion Hall.

Registration will begin in the Legion Hall at 2 p.m. on Saturday. Betty Jo Carlson is registration chairman. She will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ott, Argen Draper and Loyd Crume. A flag disposal program will begin at 4 p.m. on Saturday.

Interested persons or organizations are invited to observe this ceremony. The activity will be in front of the Legion Hall and will be under the direction of the Hereford post.

The National convention will be held in Hawaii this summer. Jack W. Flynt is a candidate for the office of National commander. To honor Flynt, the district is dedicating this convention to him, a Hawaiian Lu'au will be featured beginning at 6 p.m. on Saturday. A dance will follow in the Legion Hall.

Sunday morning will begin with a breakfast, followed by a Memorial Service conducted by The Rev. Charles Threewitt at 9 a.m. The Legion and Auxiliary will go into their separate business. 18th District Commander is Bob Dowell from Amarillo and Auxiliary president is Betty Wilhelm from Nazareth, Texas.

Other dignitaries expected to attend are: Texas Department Commander Harry Riggs from Plainview, 4th Division Commander Ray Cliver of Amarillo, and Shirley Ott, Aux. 4th Division President from Midland.

'42-'42 Class Reunion Slated

The class of 1941 and '42 from Hereford High School has planned a reunion for May 30. A reception, dinner and dance will be included.

The reception will be held at the Community Center from 2-5 p.m. for informal greeting and visiting.

Dinner will be catered by the Caison House and begins at 7 p.m. at the American Legion Hall. The dinner will be dutch treat.

"Denim and Diamonds" is the theme of the dance and will start at 9 p.m. with live music as the entertainment planned.

Most of the local members of the class have contacted all the classmates except Lois Martin. If anyone has information about her address please contact a member of the group, which includes Donald Dee Henslee, J.P. Jones, Baxter London, Margaret Ohlig, Zinzer, Vesta Mae Landers Nunley, Margaret Higgins London, Jeanne France Caison and Troyce Shambaugh Hanna.

Members of the classes 1940 and 1942 still living in the area have also been invited to attend.

All classmates are encouraged to bring photographs or keepsakes to "share and reminisce about the good times."

Each person that will attend is asked to contribute $10 to help defray the expenses.

Beautification Week -- May 1-9

It's time for your lawn and garden care and home improvements!

This special Hereford Brand section, made possible by local business firms, is presented in conjunction with Beautification Week, May 1-9. The Women's Division of Deaf Smith County of Commerce sponsors the campaign and urges all Hereford citizens to join in this "Clean-up, fix-up, paint-up" week and help make our community more attractive.

SPRING FIX-UP TIME!

Editorial

Beautification Week: You Can Help

Perhaps no chamber of commerce project has the potential to do more for the appearance of our community than Beautification Week, May 1-9, being sponsored by the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

While parts of the business district and many of the residences in Hereford look great, one has only to take a casual glance to see that a positive effort is needed to rid ourselves of many eyesores—blowing trash, weeds on unkempt lots, junk cars, dirty alleys, dilapidated buildings and fire and safety hazards.

Who's at fault? We are...individually and collectively! We've waited too long for the "other guy" to do his part. We've waited too long for things to just happen, and it's not going to get better by itself.

It really boils down to PRIDE. If things are going to get better, each of us must bear our share of the responsibility to see that our community is "cleaned-up, painted-up and fixed-up." That's the important issue—not finding someone or something to blame.

You can help. Start at home; clean the area up. Pick up the litter and trash, don't wait for the wind to blow it away. Get the weeds before they take over. It won't hurt to clean the curb area in front of your home. Clean up the alleyway. If you've got a "white monster," keep the lid closed. When using it, sharpen your aim. It may be garbage to you, but it's a banquet for animals and insects of all kinds.

visitors view our city, especially the businesses along the major highways. What we're saying is simply that we've fallen behind on keeping our community tidy. Now let's make a real effort to catch up and stay with it!

This is hustlin' Hereford, your community. What will you do to help during Beautification Week?

Designing Your Own Landscape

Stop dreaming of the beautiful landscapes you see in home and gardening magazines. You can enjoy a landscape that's uniquely yours if you design it yourself.

There are three steps that lead to understanding your present landscape. First, survey the basic construction of your yard, including its plants, walks, buildings, and other features.

Next, evaluate the job you are undertaking by deciding what must be done now and what can wait. Then sit through this information to determine what best satisfies your needs and tastes.

With a firm grasp on the possibilities your landscape has, you are ready to start your design. Think of your landscape as a real-life stage, and excitedly spend, produce and execute to please one audience—you.

One of the most popular styles is the cottage garden with its white picket fence. Originating in New England, it has become a favorite with plant collectors because of its variety of flower beds, vegetables and climbing vines.

If you have more contemporary tastes, the art nouveau landscape may be for you. Noted for its patios, verandas and obscure walkways, it has a distinctly private quality.

Some of the other landscape styles include foundation plantings, Japanese gardens, oasis landscapes, variations on the walled garden, and abstract landscapes.

You may want to borrow some ideas from these classic styles or find a direction that is completely your own. Whatever you choose, don't be afraid to experiment.

Lawn Care Practices Cut Energy Demands

COLLEGE STATION — ENERGY-conscious homeowners can take steps to reduce the energy demands of lawn care without lowering lawn standards.

"While lawns offer many aesthetic and recreational benefits, these may be offset by energy requirements of lawn care," says Dr. Richard Doble, turfgrass specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Mowing, watering, fertilizing, controlling pests and disposing of leaf clippings are all energy-consuming requirements of lawn care. During spring and summer months, watering the lawn and collecting and disposing of grass clippings place a heavy burden on cities for these services. Grass clippings account for more than 30 percent of total trash collections in some cities during spring and early summer," notes Doble.

He offers several lawn maintenance practices to help homeowners reduce these energy demands. Reducing fertilizer applications to maintenance levels—2 to 3 pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn per year—will go a long way toward reducing energy demands. (That's 30 pounds of a fertilizer containing 10 percent nitrogen.) Applying only maintenance levels of nitrogen to lawns can reduce mowing requirements, water use, insect and disease problems, and grass clippings.

"Excessive fertilization is the single most important factor contributing to high energy demands for lawn care," contends Doble.

Other lawn care practices to reduce energy demands include returning or composting grass clippings. Using a mulching mower can be beneficial if grass clippings are not composted, says the specialist.

Also, adopting proper watering practices to reduce water use can save energy. Reducing pesticide use to only essential applications to prevent loss of turf is another energy-saving practice.

Doble advises new homeowners to select and plant adapted, low-maintenance turf-grasses to reduce energy demand. Central Texas, suggests the specialist.

"It is possible to enjoy the luxury of an attractive lawn and landscape," contends Doble, "without excessive energy requirements. In fact, the net energy balance for a lawn can be in favor of energy conservation."

Even Young Trees Need Trimming

Even a young tree just brought home from a nursery should be trimmed when it is put in the ground.

Some roots are lost when a tree is transplanted. If the nursery has not already done so, remove some of the top growth to compensate for root loss and to build a stronger frame for future growth.

According to "All About Pruning," an Ombro book, trimming does not mean shearing the branches, but, rather, it entails thinning out weak or crossing branches to reduce the young tree's total leaf area.

Spring--Time For Repairs

Check your heating bills. Heat leaks, winter will become air conditioning leaks in summer. As efficient air conditioning will save you money and electricity during the summer months.

• Outdoor gaps: Pipes, utility meters and lawn hose bibs should be checked for cracks which allow insect and rodent intrusion. Using a sealant around these areas will prevent this.

• Aluminum siding: Sealing any cracks or open areas in the bottom edge of siding—and where the foundation meets the frame—will keep moisture and dust out.

By completing these basic "intra-fix-ups" early in the year, there'll still be plenty of time for lounging in the hammock with a tall lemonade.

Window Washing Job Can Be 'Splashy Fun'

COLLEGE STATION — Think spring window washing tedious and dull?

It's actually splashy, sparkling fun when you use a no-fall formula for success, says Mary Lou Rowland, a housing and home furnishings specialist.

Mrs. Rowland, on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says the formula has two ingredients: the right recipe for the job and correct technique.

Match the cleaner to the job — whether you use a commercial cleaner or a homemade one.

With commercial cleaners, be sure to follow directions on the container and don't get the cleaner on the window's painted frame or surrounding woodwork.

Here are three recipes for homemade cleaners:
FOR HAND-WATER SPOTS — two tablespoons vinegar to one quart warm water.
FOR LIGHT+GREASY SOILS — one tablespoon kerosene to two quarts warm water.
FOR HEAVY-GREASY SOILS — one tablespoon ammonia to one quart warm water.

Correct techniques — step by step from start to finish — will make "picture" windows of every pane you touch throughout the house.

Here they are:
If the windows have curtains or shades, take them down and remove dust and dirt.
Dust the window frame and sills. Remove dust or dirt with a vacuum on INSIDE of windows, using soft brush attachment to the vacuum cleaner. DO NOT RUB dry dirt because it will scratch the glass.

If you can, use a hose to wet the OUTER side of windows before you wash them.

If windows are still very dirty, wipe them on both sides with a damp cloth to remove more dirt.
Put papers on the floor under each window to avoid an extra clean-up job.

Wrap a wash cloth or soft rag around your wrist before starting to keep water and cleaner from running down your arm when you raise it.
Outside, avoid cleaning windows in direct sunlight since it will cause them to dry too fast, leaving a streaked effect.

Before you wash panes inside, wet a small brush in the wash water and use it to clean the window frame corners or wrap wet cotton around a broomstick or a match, and use this to clean corners. Then rise and dry the window frames and sills.

Remember, for the best job, wash, rinse and dry each pane before going on to the next one.
In addition, if you use a special window cleaner on the glass, use a dry cloth to wipe it off quickly. Then rub the glass with a clean cloth or a newspaper.
Indoors, wash and dry windows from one side to other. Outdoors, wash and dry from top to bottom. If there are streaks, you can't see them, which side they're on. To remove them, rub again.
Also, change the wash water and the rinse water often.

Plan. Important For Landscaping

Landscaping is a live art form, and in order to reflect your personality, interests and artistic emotions, you must have a plan that will govern the types of trees, shrubs, flowers, wood and other materials that will form your live sculpture.

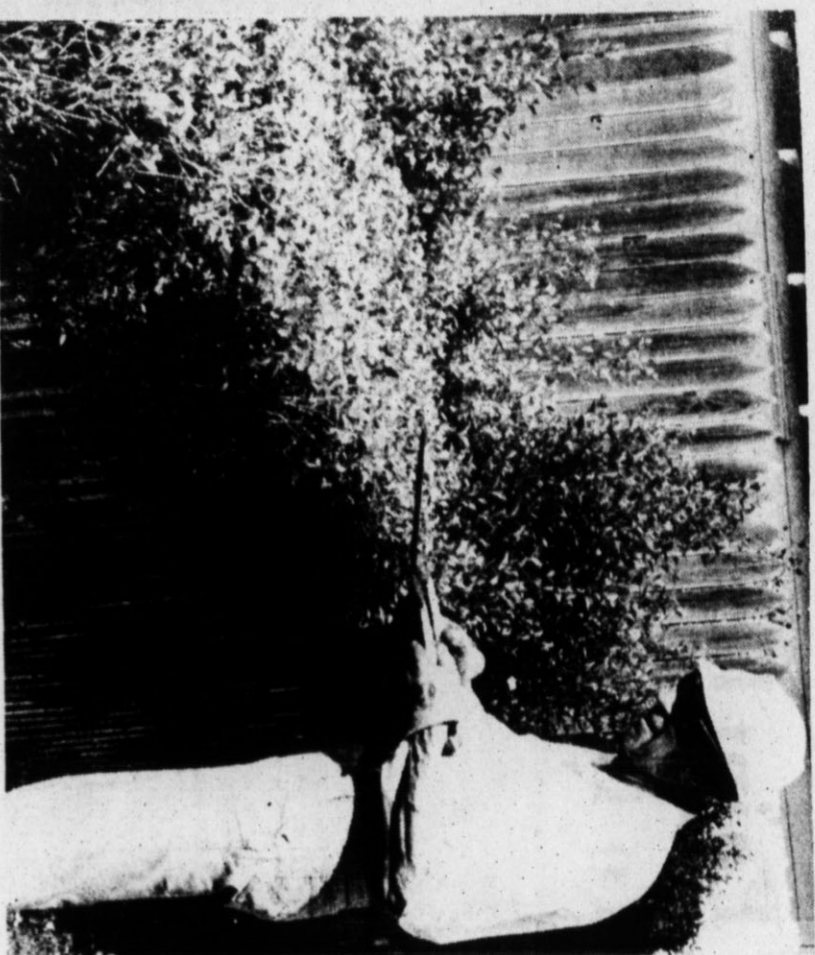

As important as the selection of the desired materials is the elimination of those not wanted. Anything that grows where it is not wanted can be considered a weed. Techniques for the control of weeds depend upon existing plant life, where the weeds are, climate and your time constraints.
If the removal of weeds is not done correctly and completely, they will haunt you until the job is done the right way.
If you are building upon an existing landscape, or just maintaining that which is there, you must be careful not to kill what you don't want killed. When spraying near shrubs, trees or other confined areas, use a tank sprayer.
You will want to use the same technique when your landscape includes fences, rocks or the wall of a house.

Spring Clean-Up, Equal Time for Equal Pay

"Man Power" is a new washday miracle, the rallying cry of a men's rights organization or a solution to the energy crisis? Actually, it's none of the above. It's, however, one solution to another kind of energy crisis—the superwoman's constant pressure to juggle home, family and job.

With 51 percent of American women now in the work force and more men cleaning up around the house—supplying some of the power—needed to scrub the tub and wax the floors.

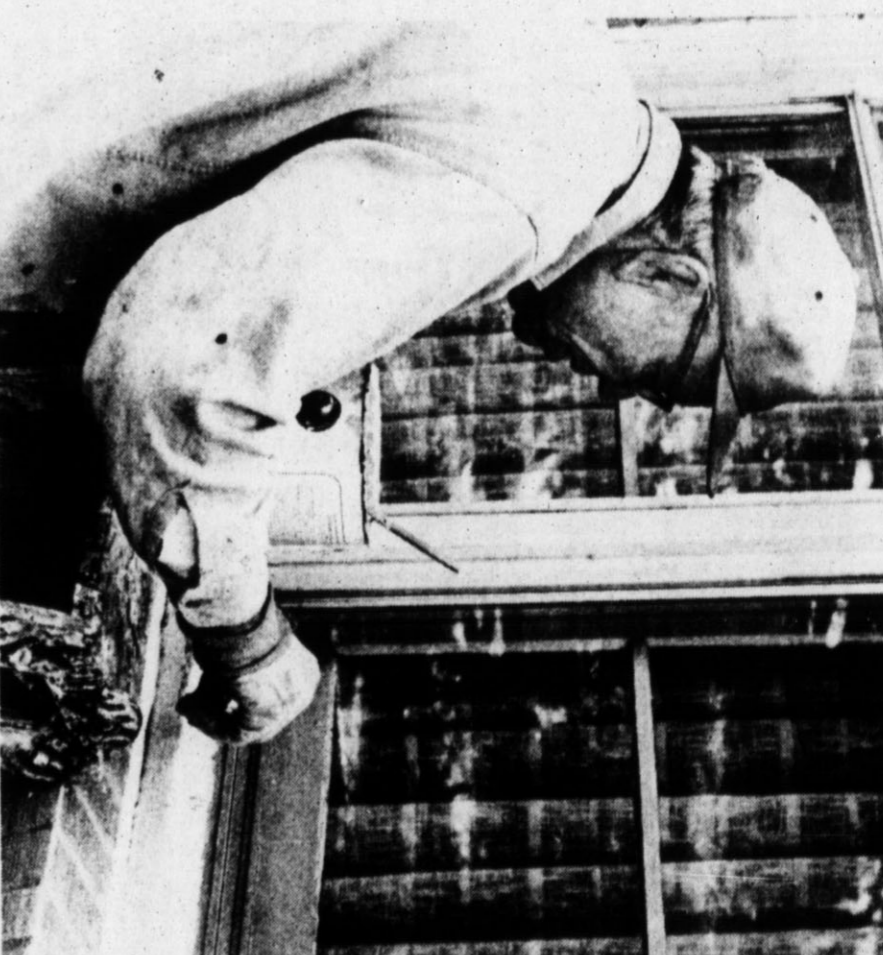

For an orderly home
Establishing a timetable that corresponds to a spring cleaning plan is key to an orderly household. With this advice in mind, Bon Ami, the cleaning product that has scrubbed up American homes for almost a century, offers these suggestions to the duo who find "togetherness" one way to stamp out game mope efficiently.
Concentrate your efforts. Do one room at a time before moving on. However, before getting down to the nitty-gritty, first remove the messy clutter. Start by emptying wastebaskets and clearing furniture tops, then proceed to dust, wash or shampoo.

Touching Up

out of one another's hair by taking on your "own" rooms. Yes, it's less tempting to criticize your partner's cleaning methods.
A good rule is to start at the top. Clean chandeliers, light fixtures and pictures first, then work your way down to tables, chairs, window sills and finally the floor.
Gather together all the cleaning supplies ahead of time. A large bucket is ideal for holding cleansers, rags, sponges and other essentials.
Rather than shuffling furniture from one room to another in an effort to shampoo the carpet, save time and back-breaking effort by covering each furniture leg with a small plastic bag. Then, simply move the furniture aside to clean the area and then return to its original spot.

If You Can't Move, Improve!

As the cost of purchasing a new house continues to skyrocket, more and more people are opting for remodeling. Remodeling not only improves the appearance of a home, it adds to its resale value.

In order to get the most for your money, consider a variety of options before embarking on any home improvement project. A number of new building materials have become available in recent years, and they are quickly gaining popularity among homeowners across the country.

One triumph of modern technology is solid vinyl siding. Since its introduction almost 20 years ago, solid vinyl siding has rapidly come of age.

Refined and perfected after years of testing and use in all parts of the country, solid vinyl is currently one of the most popular building materials used in remodeling.

Whether you own a new or older home, it pays to invest in solid vinyl siding and accessories. Because it never needs painting, solid vinyl virtually eliminates exterior maintenance costs.

The average price of installing solid vinyl siding is about equal to the cost of two paint jobs, and it lasts the lifetime of a home. Homeowners can save thousands of dollars in painting bills over the years.

If thermal insulating backer-board is applied with a solid vinyl siding installation, fuel bills can also be reduced. Besides eliminating the need to paint, solid vinyl solves other problems that are inherent with wood, such as peeling, rotting, blistering and termites.

By selecting one of the new vinyl sidings etched with a woodgrain texture, homeowners can have the good looks of wood without the work.

Looks like wood clapboard. The panels are squared off on the bottom to look like wood clapboard, and they are available in a wide range of colors and styles.

Unlike other types of siding, solid vinyl does not show scratches because the color goes all the way through the material. It will not dent, corrode or conduct electricity.

A quality vinyl siding application is complemented by low maintenance vinyl accessories. Vinyl gutters and downspouts, lowered shutters, soffit systems panels and vinyl fascia systems all offer the same low maintenance advantages as solid vinyl siding.

If you cannot afford to move and are considering home improvements as a viable alternative, consider solid vinyl siding. It is an investment that pays for itself in a short period of time.

Before making a decision, consult a reliable home improvement contractor who will answer your questions, show you samples and give you a free estimate of the time and expense involved.

For more information about vinyl siding, write for the "What I've Should Know About Siding" booklet. Send your name, address and $2.00 to Siding, Box KR, Bird & Son, East Walpole, MA 02532.

Ornamental Plants-Good Landscape Additions

Ornamental plantings can be beautiful additions to your home's landscape. Usually thought of as just flowering shrubs, they actually include a wide variety of flower beds, shrubs and trees.

In fact, any attractive plant that is not produced for a specific purpose like medicine, food or timber is considered an ornamental. Because there are so many different types of ornamentals, choosing the ones that are right for your landscape may be a difficult decision.

Color, texture, shape and care are important considerations when making these decisions. It is important to choose ornamentals whose features are not only appealing but also blend well together.

Are you looking for a complementary effect? If so, you should choose color combinations with strong contrasts. Combinations like red and green, blue and orange, and yellow and purple are good.

Perhaps you are looking for a more harmonious effect. Try colors that merge into each other like reds and oranges, yellows and oranges, or blues and purples. Using a series of complementary colors can be breathtaking in the garden.

If you choose a color scheme of high contrast, it's usually best to limit it to two main colors to keep the complementary effect.

Texture and shape are also important considerations in the selection of ornamentals. Leaf textures vary from the thin, wispy leaves of willows to the long, pointed needles of pines and the broad, glossy leaves of magnolias.

Try to mix the different leaf textures in your landscape using the same principles of contrast and harmony that were applied to color.

The shapes you choose for your flower beds, shrubs and trees help determine the tone and of care your ornamentals will require. Besides the main different shapes, their shrubs and trees come in naturally, you can prune or train your shrubs and trees and lay your flower beds into an infinite variety of shapes.

You must also feed your plants properly to keep them healthy. Needed nutrients can be obtained from either organic or chemical fertilizers. Chemical fertilizers are faster acting than organic fertilizers but can burn a plant's roots if not used carefully.

Another important element of plant care is mulching. Mulches, which include sawdust, compost, peat moss, straw and manure, help retain soil moisture, suppress weeds, and keep the soil from getting too hot or too cold. They also help prevent root injury.

Check plants frequently for insects. Black stragles, sticky secretions and cottony balls on the leaves are some of the signs of infestations that can quickly destroy your ornamentals.

Sprinkler-Good Investment

If your lawn or garden needs watering more than twice a week, you should consider installing a permanent lawn sprinkler system. The time, effort and property damage saved make it a good investment.

The new Ortho book "All About Landscaping" suggests some basic rules for installing your sprinkler system:

- First, determine your flow rate. You can buy or borrow a pressure gauge from your garden product supplier. Attach it to an outside faucet and read the pressure level at the time you would be using your sprinklers.
- Position the manifolds, the groups of valves that control the sprinklers, near an entrance to your house where you can operate them without getting wet.
- Select sprinkler heads of different sizes for each section of your lawn. Make sure the heads use less than 60 percent of the water pressure so there will be enough water for both your indoor and outdoor needs.
- Space the sprinkler heads so that each is touched by the water of another sprinkler. This will ensure that your entire lawn is getting an even amount of water.

Twelve Easy Steps To Inexpensive Landscape

Landscape can bring you pleasure, satisfaction and higher property values and it doesn't have to cost a fortune! You can do it yourself at a fraction of the professional cost.

Before starting to work, check local codes for planning requirements and restrictions. Decide on the style and design you want and put your plan down on paper so you'll have a guide to work by.

Now you are ready to install your new landscape, but where should you start?

Step I: Clean up the area you'll be working in. Pick up debris, kill weeds and remove any unwanted trees, shrubs or turf.

If you want to save your turf you can cut it, along with 1/2 of an inch of soil, from the ground with a sod cutter or a sharp spade. Cut the sod into strips of the same width and place them on a flat surface in a shady place. With a little care and water, your turf will stay healthy for weeks until you are ready to replant it.

Step II: Start moving the soil. Try to plan this step so you won't have the added expense of hauling soil. Use the soil from the high spots in your yard to build up the low places.

Step III: Install your headers — the edges around lawns or planting beds that give your landscape a professional look. Headers can be made of wood, masonry or bentler board (strips of wood used to make curved concrete forms).

Step IV: Next, tackle the problem of drainage. Try to slope the ground so that water will be carried away from your property, then lay your drain lines (horizontal pipes) and catch basins, which are useful in low spots where surface drainage will not work. You can bought ready-made or you can make your own from concrete or redwood.

Step V: Now you are ready to start the construction phase. This includes putting in and any other walls or masonry work you desire.

Step VI: Install your headers — the edges around lawns or planting beds that give your landscape a professional look. Headers can be made of wood, masonry or bentler board (strips of wood used to make curved concrete forms).

Step VII: Soil improvement. This depends, of course, on how well your soil was doing before you started landscaping, but most lawns can only benefit from adding the right fertilizer.

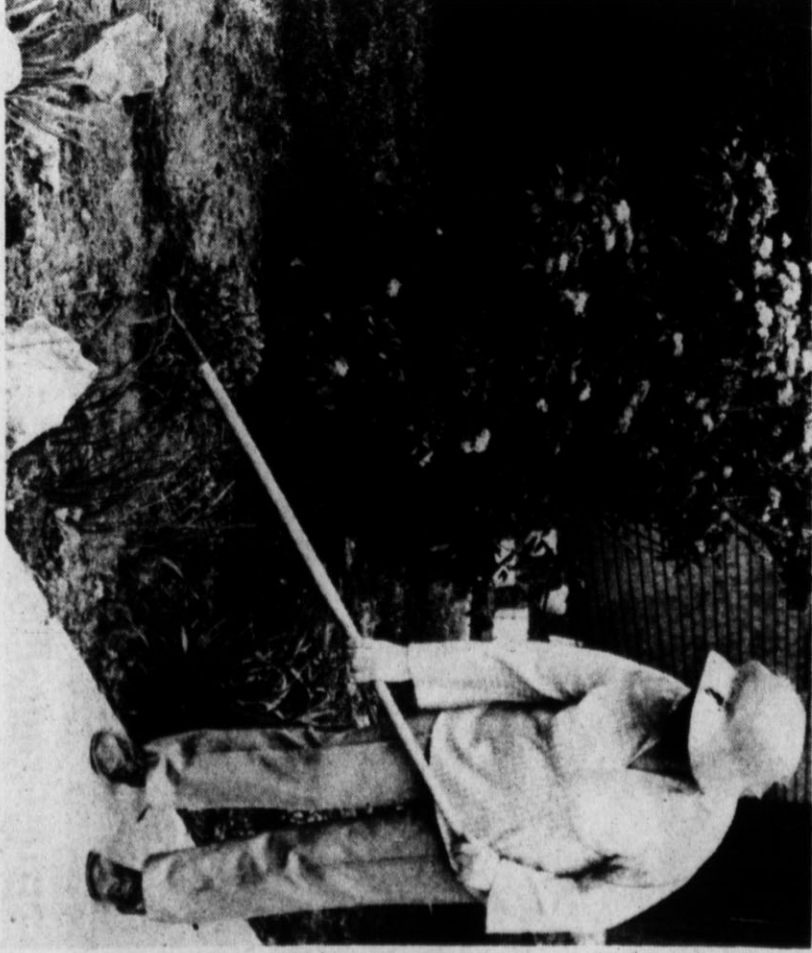

Step VIII: Level the soil. Using the headers as a guide, leave the soil about an inch higher than the header, if it has not yet been settled by rain or irrigation.

Step IX: Planting finally begins! Use your landscape diagram as a guide and plant your large plants first.

Step X: Lawns, flower beds and ground covers are planted next.

Step XI: Clean up all extra rocks, dirt, lumber, etc., that has accumulated around the edges of your yard.

Step XII: The last step is to give your new landscape tender care until the roots of your plants and grasses are securely established (about three to six weeks). Check the soil moisture every day and water the plants individually as they require.

New Look
 Aluminum siding has seen a resurgence lately as an alternative to stucco or frame housing and reduces the need for re-painting through the years. Here, Jim Johnson, of Amarillo, installs new siding on a local residence, giving it a "new" look for springtime. (Brand Photo).

Lawn trimmers with strings attached

Following a relatively few years of use by homeowners, string trimmers have joined power mowers and chain saws in the well equipped tool room. Just a few years ago, consumers joked. Why do I have to use a machine to cut my string? When confronted with the new tools, they learned that the idea was to cut string, not to use a fast-spinning length of nylon line to trim lawns. The modern string trimmer is just as effective and far more versatile than the old steel-headed edger. When snapping up their property in the springtime, string trimmer users must pause to wonder how they accomplished the job before introduction of the fancy machines. The concept behind string trimmer development was to provide a tool that would cut grass or weeds without cutting adjacent objects such as trees, fences or carefully placed feet. Versatile alternative String trimmers do just as good a job as, side-headed edgers. Yet require no adjacent level surface for support. And, for lawns that end at flower beds, a string trimmer's a quick and easy alternative to laborious work on hands and knees with a pair of clippers. String trimmers are composed of three parts: a power source, a cutting head and the shaft that attaches one to the other. The engine or motor drives a cable inside the shaft, which in turn spins the head and pronounline line at high speed

Shrubs Provide Yard Beauty, Practicality

The earliest recorded garden designs were found in Egypt in 2300 B. C. From then till now, hedges, which are simply shrubs put to special use, have been providing service and pleasure. These woody plants, with multiple stems that grow less than 15 feet in height, represent a superb value to the gardener. They are usually reasonable in price, easy to maintain once established and can last several lifetimes. As practical as they are attractive, hedges make excellent windbreaks, dust catchers, noise dampeners and structural aids that mask architectural flaws. The thorny varieties make superior barriers that protect privacy and deter prowlers. Once you've decided to grow your own hedge, you are faced with what was at one time a monumental problem—matching the right plant to your needs and environment. Even the most casual look through a nursery or plant catalog tells you there are hundreds upon hundreds of varieties. As soon as you've determined what, where and when you can commence "planting" the perfect garden. If you opt for the straight classic lines of the formal garden, symmetry is the key, and you will rely heavily on slow-growing, compact evergreens—like boxwoods, privets and yews. If, on the other hand, you prefer the curved lines and more relaxed feeling of plants in their natural shape, an informal garden of flowering shrubs, such as lilacs, viburnum and hibiscus, will please you. Whether your garden is formal or informal in design, the Ortho book offers a number of tips and step-by-step instructions on how to care for your hedges. For example: • When your water, water thoroughly. • To keep roots and soil healthy and to help retain moisture around root zones, add a layer of mulch. • For more beautiful and hearty hedges, give them added nutrients: nitrogen to stimulate leafy growth, phosphate and potash to further flowering and fruiting. • Protect your shrubs from severe weather conditions. In periods of intense, prolonged heat the soil should be regularly moistened to cool it. During severe cold spells, sensitive plants should be covered with cardboard, plastic or burlap. • Prune your hedges when they are first planted and then again until the second growing season. • Keep an eye peeled for telltale insect damage. Shrubs are the "workhorses" of the garden, and with just minimal thoughtful care they provide endless ways to define, limit, protect and beautify.

Shingles, Difference In Fire Resistance

Fire is often beautiful to watch. But not on your own roof.

If you are thinking of re-roofing your house, you have a choice of several materials before you even begin to think about colors.

The most popular choices for roofing materials all have a similar resin, shingled look. But there is quite a difference in their ability to resist fire.

If another house in your neighborhood should catch fire, bits of burning embers can be carried by the wind. Sometimes as far as a mile. They land on other roofs, perhaps close to yours, perhaps on yours. Your roof can catch, depending on what material you chose for your new roof.

How can you improve your home with roof shingles that resist fire, as well as protect you from rain, snow, hail, and hot sun next summer? Look for the Class A rating when you buy roofing. Class A is the highest fire resistance rating given by Underwriters Laboratories. Fiber glass-based roof shingles earn the Class A rating, as they resist severe exposure to fire. Other materials, such as organic paper-based shingles, and wood shingles, don't pass this standard, industry-accepted test. The only shingles to earn Class A, the highest rating, are fiber glass.

J-M has made more of America's roofing than any one else. This year, they completed a changeover and have replaced the cardboard center of all their asphalt shingles for the residential roofing market with fire-resistant fiber glass. This means better weather protection and better fire protection.

If you'd like to know more about the Class A test, as well as the difference between conventional shingles, wood, and fiber glass, write for RF-434: Johns-Manville Service Center, 1601 Twenty-Third Street, Denver, Colorado 80211.

Fire safety can be an important consideration when choosing a roofing material, since the roof can be vulnerable to fire from overhead sources. Many asphalt shingles are manufactured to meet Underwriters Laboratories Class C standard or better, which means the shingles will not ignite easily, will not support the spread of fire over the roof and will not add to a fire hazard by emitting burning brands.

Says Fire Marshal, Jay Spain

Check for Fire Hazards in Home

May 1-9 is Beautification Week in Herford, and Herford fire marshal Jay Spain says it might be a good time to check your house for fire hazards.

And if you don't know what to look for, Spain will help. "Anyone can call me and set an appointment on private home inspections," Spain said. "I'll handle as many as I can, and if there's too many, the volunteer firemen will help me."

Spain will check the following areas:

—Garage: "I inspect trash accumulation and make sure there are no flammable liquids in glass containers. It's unlawful to purchase, possess or sell gas in a plastic container—it's got to be a metal container. In the state of Texas, if it's in a plastic container and there's a fire, well, you know how plastic melts." —Heating closet: "I make sure there's no flammables in there. A lot of people use their heater closets for storage space."

Fuse box—"It shouldn't be overloaded." —Writing: "I'll check the wiring. If somebody asks me to check their wiring, I'll do it." Spain also inspects businesses, which are strictly regulated by laws dealing with fire hazards.

Spain added that another chore associated with spring cleaning is disposing of trash and other unwanted items.

"We've had a long winter, and it's time where everybody will be cleaning. There is a city ordinance against trash burning."

Bedding Plants Add to Shaded Garden Areas

What can you plant in shady spots in your garden that receive only a few hours of direct sunlight each day?

The answer is simple. Put in bedding plants such as impatiens, wax begonias, coleus and begonias that produce their brightest flowers and leaves in shaded or semi-shaded areas.

Impatiens is a popular shade-loving plant that flowers with two hours less of sunlight. The pastel blossoms in your yard for vibrant color.

The largest selection of old favorite bedding plants and exciting new varieties is at your local garden center. The young plants usually come in flats, packs or peat pots.

Other choices for shaded spots are wax begonias, with their shiny leaves of bright green, red or bronze. These compact plants produce full clusters of pink, white or coral flowers that sometimes hide much of the foliage. Except in hot, dry climates, wax begonias also thrive in direct sun when watered generously.

If you need a trailing plant, try ivy. The stems are covered with glossy, serrated leaves and bell-like blue or white flowers. Broomrape does best in partial shade, where sun shines four or five hours a day. Finally, do not forget colorful and sturdy coleus, whether its leaves sport wild splashes of deep-livid solid colors, coleus brings life to any shade garden.

As the plants grow taller, pinch off the stem tips and flowers to promote compact mounds of painted foliage.

Before you transplant young bedding plants to shaded flower beds and borders, prepare the soil by spading down at least eight inches.

Loosen heavy clay soil by digging in peat moss and coarse sand. With sandy soil, increase water retention by adding organic matter such as peat moss, compost or leafmold.

Soil fertility generally will be improved by mixing in about two pounds of 5-10-5 fertilizer per 100 square feet.

Best times to transplant evenings and cloudy days are the best times for transplanting. If you cannot put your plants in the flats or pots thoroughly, water the plants in the shade until planting. The water will prevent the soil from pulling away from the roots.

Once your garden is planned, maintenance chores are minimal.

Give your new shade garden a good start by watering it immediately and thoroughly. As summer approaches, rainfall alone may not keep your garden growing. So, water whenever the soil dries.

Can be transplanted pot and all. Sink the pot rim slightly below the garden soil line. This keeps the pot from drying out.

Plants that come in flats should be separated gently to avoid root damage. Dig holes so that the transplants are as deep as they were in the flats. Tamp down the soil firmly around each plant.

UTILITIES TOO HIGH? Save On Winter Heating Bills! Save On Summer Cooling Bills!

Have you already added more attic insulation and still find that your utility bills are too high?

You can be more comfortable and save up to 67% on the cost of your ever-rising heating and cooling bills. Let us add a thermal blanket of cellulose fiber around your home, business structure or mobile home. You save wear and tear on your heating and air conditioning equipment as an added bonus.

We offer one day installation on most homes and including clean-up. We blow 6 1/2 inches of insulation in attic and completely fill all exterior walls, from outside above and below the firebreak, right over your present insulation. This is done through 1/2 inch holes in mortar joints for brick homes or 1 inch holes for wood or mobile homes. We do fill the holes.

Look what some of our satisfied users have to say:

Before you re-insulated our walls and attic the best room temperature we could hope for on a hot day was 78 degrees. Now it's nothing for our evaporative cooler to cool the house to 68 degrees. Martin Urbanczyk 466 Ave. G Herford, Texas

Since having Full Home Insulation Co. reinsulate our home over the existing full wool already in the walls and attic, our heating cost has been cut by a good 40 percent. Thanks for a job very well done in only one day. James & Sandy Burrus 106 Ave. I Herford, Texas

In February of 1981 when the temperature got to 7 degrees below zero, our heater was turned completely off. The fireplace with a heatolator kept the house at 68 degrees. Alton Hartley 510 Spangore Herford, Texas

In winters before Full Home Insulation Co. reinsulated my mobile home, the heater ran all of the time and still couldn't warm it. Now in winter, it is very comfortable and with the heater cut off at least 60 percent of the time. Denise Kelley 713 13th St. Herford, Texas

...and read what the NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC'S Special report on energy has to say about the need for proper insulation.

The Princeton group estimates that a commercial house-doctor visit and quick-fix would cost from $200 to $400. Even such a summary treatment should lower heating bills by 15 to 20 percent, Durt estimates.

A full-fledged retrofit by a contractor would run from $1,500 to $3,000, but could save half a home's yearly heating costs. This investment, they say, would give a much better return than the interest paid on savings accounts."
