Task force picked for prison plan

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

A task force of 21 Deaf Smith County residents will immediately begin to assemble a proposal to the Texas Department of Criminal Justice for locating a correctional facility here.

A meeting will be held at 5 p.m. Tuesday in the Hereford City Hall to begin work on the proposal.

A majority of more than 40 community leaders attending an information meeting Tuesday seemed ready to pursue a prison even though faced with a deadline of Jan. 15 to submit an application.

"We owe it to ourselves to try," said Ken Rogers. "We should move forward with it... we can get it done."

Rogers seemed to sum up the opinion of most of those attending the meeting.

Representatives of the Deaf Smith County Hospital District and Hereford Independent School District, Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court and Hereford City Commission as well as interested citizens heard a Lamesa resident tell about the effort made there to secure a prison in Dawson County.

At the conclusion of the meeting, representatives of the entities named task force members: Tom Simons, Tom LeGate, Mike Carr, Charles Greenawalt, Raymond Schroeder, Irene Cantu, Chester Nolen, Lewis McDaniel, Teddy Twombly, Don Graham, Craig Smith, Speedy Nieman, Ken Rogers, Wes Fisher, Roland Saul, Dick Montgomery, Ron Rives, Ron Weishaar, Gerald Gamboa, David Hernandez and LaJean Henry.

During the informational meeting Tuesday, David Nix, who chaired the Lamesa task force, reviewed some of the requirements and told about an "incentive package" prepared for the application made by the Lamesa group.

Among items in the package were a 320-acre plot of land, provision for roads, utilities and waste disposal, and cash.

"We had a total package worth about $2 million," Nix said. "All we knew to do in incentives was to throw in anything we could think of."

Besides obtaining the land, the project called for construction of the various services needed at the site and a water tower.

"We had the support of Energas and Texas Utilities as well as the city and county," Nix said.

The Lamesa proposal was among 90, or more, submitted for prison sites. The number was reduced to 30, then to 12, he said.

"We made the cuts, but when they came down to 12, for six prisons, we came in 10th," Nix said. The application was left in place, updated with additional incentives, he added.

"In July 1990, Lamesa was selected for a 1,000-bed facility," Nix told the Hereford meeting.

"It really is a stable industry -- and there's no pollution," Nix said. "And, the bad connotation that did come with prisons is changing."

During a discussion period, several questions were aimed at the benefits that a community might expect from a prison.

Nix said that during the construction, Lamesa has seen improvement in several retail businesses, such as gasoline sales and convenience stores, motel occupancy and restaurants.

Although a boom in real estate is not expected, Nix said home sales and rentals should improve.

At full capacity, the prison will employ 310 persons, with a monthly payroll of an estimated $600,000, he added. The prison should open in late summer 1992.

Employment from the local labor force has not been gauged, Nix said, because of requirements of TDCJ.

"They want at least 50 percent of their correction officers to have experience," he said. Those interested in the field apply and work in other institutions before returning to their hometowns.

Nix said that some cities have used consultant services to prepare proposals although his group elected to prepare the application without that expense.

Hereford Mayor LeGate suggested "community input" should be solicited. He also said the benefits should be weighed against cost of a proposal.

Saul, criminal district attorney for Deaf Smith County, said that "if we're going to do it, we can't wait... we don't have time... we need to get started."

Rogers admitted that "we're behind, but this is a community that has strived and if we pass this, we may not get another chance."

Weishaar encouraged the community to work on the project.

"This community is in need of something happening," he said. "We don't have anything in place now to lure industry."

The Texas Department of Criminal Justice has reported that some 25,000 new beds will be needed, Nix said, adding that a portion of that number probably will be "soft beds for substance abuse" prisoners.

"There is some speculation whether the state really will build that many," Nix said.

He told the Hereford group that the project undertaken by Lamesa to apply for a prison site "was a good exercise for our community. We were positive, thinking some good would come of it."

Nix explains prison

Dave Nix of Lamesa explained his city's efforts to obtain a state prison during a program Tuesday at the Deaf Smith County Courthouse. Nix addressed a crowd including representatives of the city, county, school and hospital district about Lamesa's eventually-successful bid for a prison.

Every day is Thanksgiving Day for faithful Christians, but it isn't it great that Americans set aside one day each year to give thanks for all the blessings we receive in this great nation?

As we observe this day, here's a poem (by Grenville Kleiser) I ran across that seems appropriate for Thanksgiving Day:

Father, we thank Thee:
For peace within our favored land,
For plenty from Thy bounteous hand,

For means to give to those in need,
For grace to help in thought and deed,

For faith to walk, our hands in Thine,
For truth to know Thy law divine,
For strength to work with voice and pen,

For love to serve our fellow men,
For light the goal ahead to see,
For life to use alone for Thee,
Father, we thank Thee.

A few months back we printed some words and phrases that are natural to Texans. Now comes a list of some West Texas phrases from Russell Skiles in the Lamesa Press-Reporter:

--Feel like I been rode hard and put up wet.
--He is as honest as the day is long.
--He's as crooked as a dog's hind leg.

--Figures don't lie, but liars sure can figure.
--Just between you, me and the gatepost.

--A little bird told me.
--In a pig's eye.
--Thicker'n fleas.
--Meaner'r than old scratch.
--Beats the heck out of me.

--Sound as a dollar (doesn't say much these days.)
--Cool as a cucumber.
--So sweet that sugar wouldn't melt in her mouth.

--Slick'er than a doorknob.
Add in these phrases for a little home-spun philosophy:

--Be kind, for everyone you meet is carrying a heavy load.
--If he gossips to you about others, he is gossiping to others about you.

--Help your neighbor out of the ditch, but make sure you're lifting and not letting him pull you down.

New chamber leaders

NBC plans
to feature
CHOF entry

The National Cowgirl Hall of Fame's float will likely be featured on the NBC telecast of the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade on Thursday morning.

NBC officials have notified the CHOF that they will likely have the float stopped in front of Macy's so they can feature CHOF honoree Patsy Montana on the broadcast.

Montana was the first female to produce a million-record seller, "I Want To Be A Cowboy's Sweetheart." She is one of five CHOF honorees to be featured on the float, which was designed by Virginia Artho of the CHOF and is being prepared today by Terry Sparks.

Greenawalt to lead chamber

Charles Greenawalt was elected president of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce for 1992 during a regular monthly meeting of the board of directors Tuesday night.

Greenawalt, superintendent of schools, is the current vice president and will succeed Pat Robbins when new officers assume duties in January.

Lewis McDaniel, Southwestern Public Service manager, was elected as vice president, and James McDowell was reelected as treasurer. McDowell is an accountant with Barrett-Crofoot and is a city commissioner.

Recently elected as new directors by the chamber membership were Wes Fisher, Elaine McNutt, Mauri Montgomer and John Sherrod.

In other business Tuesday night, directors authorized the chamber to participate in a task force study on applying for a prison site here, heard committee progress reports, and approved the monthly financial report.

Directors also approved a fund raiser for the chamber and Robbins appointed a committee to plan the project. It will probably be a raffle with a new car or pickup as the grand prize. Mike Carr, executive vice president, explained that a non-profit organization is allowed two raffles a year.

Ruth Newsom, Women's Division president, announced that the blood bank would be here Wednesday afternoon (today), and that the home Christmas Lighting Contest is underway. Carr reported that the retail merchants committee had a successful Christmas shopping promotion.

Directors attending the meeting were Robbins, Greenawalt, McDaniel, McDowell, Newsom, Scott Keeling, Waldo Baxter, Ken McLain, Diane Hoelscher, Carol Gerck, Donna West and Bobby Moore.

Two get prison sentences

Prison sentences were assessed Monday to two men who entered pleas last week before Judge David Wesley Gully of 222nd District Court.

Jacinto Montes Orosco, 51, whose home is listed in New Mexico, was sentenced to 18 years in the institutional division of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice on a plea of guilty to possession of a controlled substance.

A second defendant, Shannon Bizzell, 21, also of New Mexico, had entered a plea of nolo contendere (no contest) to a forgery charge. He was sentenced to a seven-year prison term.

Orosco was arrested May 1991 on the drug charge. He entered the guilty plea on Nov. 12 and was sentenced after a pre-sentence report was submitted.

Bizzell entered his plea on Nov. 11 to the forgery charge. He was arrested last January.

Hereford Parts helping CSF

A new Carquest coloring book is being offered to anyone who brings two canned food items to Hereford Parts & Supply at 702 W. 1st St.

All food collected will be donated to the Christmas Stocking Fund program just before Christmas, said Dwayne Greathouse of Hereford Parts & Supply.

The Carquest coloring book, "Carquest Keeps You Rolling Down the Road," teaches children about different cultures through the adventures of a cartoon character who travels around the world using different forms of transportation.

Parents are invited to use this program as an opportunity to teach their children about the importance of sharing, said Greathouse. He urged parents to bring their child to the auto parts store to donate the two cans of food, and then the child will receive the coloring book.

WASHINGTON - Congressional Democrats accept a challenge from President Bush to craft a year-end tax cut, vowing to start hearings next week and call the House and Senate back from holiday recess if needed. Meanwhile, highway, crime and deposit insurance legislation hang in the balance on what was supposed to be Congress' last workday of the year.

NEW YORK - If the economy can be likened to a patient stricken by a bad fright, namely the Gulf War, the chart at the foot of the bed does not point to recovery. The Conference Board said its monthly index of consumer confidence fell sharply to a level below that of the 1982 recession.

NEW ORLEANS - Employers who run their own insurance plans are free to reduce coverage for workers who develop AIDS, a federal appeals court ruled. The ruling is binding in three Southern states and is certain to provide guidance to courts elsewhere in the country.

WASHINGTON - While diplomats try to resolve Haiti's political crisis, a military task force is working to set up a tent city at the U.S. naval base in Cuba for 2,500 Haitian boat people by this weekend.

WASHINGTON - They don't know just where. They don't know just what. And they don't know just how long. But organizers and delegates to next week's Arab-Israeli peace talks in Washington are sure of several things: no flags will be hoisted, no country names will be displayed and no Cokes will be drunk.

MOSCOW - Azerbaijan's parliament debates emergency measures as tensions with Armenia increase over a disputed ethnic enclave. Talks in Moscow between the republics' leaders and Mikhail Gorbachev aim to defuse the conflict that has taken hundreds of lives in three years.

OMAHA, Neb. - The postcards aren't fancy and their messages aren't deep. But the mysterious missives from a truck driver known as "Heavy Duty" have residents of Nebraska nursing homes eager for the next day's mail.

WASHINGTON - Percussion virtuoso Evelyn Glennie beats, shakes, rattles or squeezes more than 600 musical instruments, but the applause from her concert audiences always falls on deaf ears. Although profoundly deaf since childhood, Glennie wastes no time on regrets. She's too busy building a career as the world's only full-time percussion soloist.

TULSA - Television stations are canceling evangelist Robert Tilton's Success-N-Life program as a criminal investigation of his ministry gets under way, Tilton's lawyer says.

HOUSTON - Continental Airlines has concluded a lengthy labor dispute, agreeing to an $18.4 million settlement with a group representing about 900 pilots and flight attendants.

EDINBURG - A judge has delayed his ruling in a legal challenge of the state House redistricting map, leaving lawmakers a little more time to submit an alternate plan.

AUSTIN - The State Board of Insurance, which convenes a hearing Monday on applying a new flexible rating system to homeowners' insurance, has received varying recommendations for a "benchmark" rate.

BROWNSVILLE - Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton promised to be a leader with direction and substantive ideas, not just enticing images, as he swung through South Texas rallying support for his presidential bid.

DALLAS - Several teachers rehired by the Dallas school district after being laid off during the summer say their new schedules are frustrating.

HOT SPRINGS - A jury has recommended a 40-year prison sentence for a man convicted of first-degree murder in the strangulation death of a Dallas handwriting expert.

Insurance ratings to get board look

AUSTIN (AP) - The State Board of Insurance, which convenes a hearing Monday on applying a new flexible rating system to homeowners' insurance, has received varying recommendations for a "benchmark" rate.

The state advocate for insurance consumers recommended Tuesday that the benchmark be 5 percent lower than the current maximum rate for regulated companies.

That compares with increases of 15.9 percent and 16.5 percent recommended by Allstate Insurance Cos. and State Farm Insurance Cos., respectively, said Amy Johnson of the Office of Public Insurance Counsel.

For a typical policy on a $100,000 frame house in the Austin area, the cost at the current state rate is $641, according to Ms. Johnson's office.

The public counsel's office said that under her recommendation, that would go to $609; under State Farm's, to $747; and under Allstate's, to $743.

But under the new rating system approved by lawmakers, the benchmark rate is only the starting point.

The new law provides for insurance companies to charge rates that are a certain amount higher or lower than the benchmark without obtaining prior approval from the State Board of Insurance.

Under Ms. Johnson's recommendation, companies could charge up to 15 percent more and 30 percent less than the benchmark rate without getting a specific OK from the board.

The insurance companies, Allstate and State Farm, have recommended that flexibility be allowed for 30 percent above and 30 percent below their proposed benchmark rates.

"I don't think they need to charge that much, and I don't think that we are recommending a rate that's unhealthy to insurance companies," Ms. Johnson said of the insurers' recommendations. "My goal is not to put insurance companies out of business."

State redistricting plan defended

AUSTIN (AP) - A legislative committee has adopted a new redistricting plan for the House, but opponents of the measure said the committee had no authority to do that, and the plan doesn't treat minorities fairly.

But House Redistricting Committee chairman Tom Uher, D-Bay City, defended the plan Tuesday, saying he is confident it resolved all the objections of the U.S. Justice Department.

Justice Department officials had rejected the state House redistricting plan adopted earlier this year by the Legislature.

"We believe it speaks to what the Justice Department said," Uher said.

The new plan approved on Tuesday could result in the election of two more Hispanics than the original House measure, Uher said. Those districts are in South Texas and Dallas County.

But attorneys for minority plaintiffs suing the state said the plan failed to elect enough minorities to reflect Texas' population.

"It's totally unacceptable," said Jim Harrington, of the Texas Civil Rights Project. "They don't get anywhere near what they need for equity representation."

The new plan was passed unanimously after a day-long meeting, although Republican members abstained, and Hispanic members had already left the meeting. Eight votes were needed to make the recommendation, and state Rep. Sam Russell, D-Mt. Pleasant, who left the meeting earlier, had to return to Austin to provide the eighth vote in a series of votes.

Early in the meeting, the committee came under fire.

"This is worst sham I've ever seen in the legislative process for redistricting," said Rep. Tom Craddick, R-Midland, who is chairman of the House Republican Caucus.

Craddick said the committee has no authority to change the redistricting plan that was adopted by the Legislature.

Uher, however, said the plan will be submitted to Texas Attorney General Dan Morales, and that he has the authority to try and negotiate a settlement for the state.

Uher said Craddick's objections were based on partisan politics.

Rep. Paul Moreno, D-El Paso, objected to the committee's work, saying that a state district judge's finding that the state used flawed census data to draw the districts remained unresolved.

State District Judge Mario Ramirez Jr. of Edinburg ruled the state House plan unconstitutional because it relied on federal census data that did not count 500,000 Texans, mostly minorities. A trial on that case is currently under way before Ramirez.

"It seems to me that if we are going to properly do justice to the minorities in this state, then the undercount has to be taken into consideration before a proper redistricting plan can be drawn," Moreno said.

During the Redistricting Committee meeting, attorneys for the state and minority plaintiffs met for several hours, but reached no agreement.

Earlier, Morales said the committee needed to craft a plan soon, and get the acceptance by telephone or FAX of a majority of the 150-member House. The Legislature is currently not in session.

But Uher said that wasn't necessary. "We may or may not do that," he said.

Lawmakers are trying to get a plan approved by the Justice Department soon because candidates' filing for the March 10, 1992, primary starts Dec. 3 and ends Jan. 2.

UT board splits over Holocaust ad

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The University of Texas student publications board has fallen one vote short of barring from publication a controversial advertisement questioning the Holocaust, but a board member predicted the ad will never run.

After two hours of emotional debate from students, faculty and community leaders, the board voted 6-5 Tuesday night to withhold the advertisement. At least seven votes were needed to overrule a review committee's decision to run the ad in The Daily Texan.

"This is a sad day for people of good faith. I will tell you, this is not the last heard of this issue," Rabbi Kerry Baker of Austin said after the vote.

Although Martin Gibson voted to let the ad run, he was among several members of the board who said after the meeting that the advertising policy of the university newspaper should be changed to prohibit such ads.

"I predict the board will change policy and the ad will not run. This was a tough call," Gibson said.

Bradley Smith, author of "The Holocaust Controversy: The Case for Open Debate," attended the meeting in order to defend his advertisement.

"The article I wrote presents a paper that opens the case for open debate; it is a series of questions that should be asked. If there are some false stories about the Holocaust, I don't see how the truth would not help Jews and non-Jews," Smith said.

Several University of Texas history and Germanic language professors challenged the validity of Smith's arguments.

Students from various Jewish organizations spoke on how the advertisement offended them and their community.

"You have given credence to this group by letting it come to this level, to not give them more by printing it," German instructor Irene Kacandes said. "Please do not run this advertisement - you offend me and others who have given thought into this issue."

Garth Davis, president of the University of Texas Students' Association, said he was offended by the advertisement and "will never read this paper again" if the ad is published.

Scott Stanford, an assistant news editor at the newspaper, said he disagrees with the content of the advertisement, but feels the advertisement should run on the basis of freedom of speech.

"I think we would be doing ourselves a disservice by not running it," Stanford said.

The voting board members were as divided over the issue as the speakers, saying if advertisement were run, they would be obligated to run others that are similar.

"I think it makes unwarranted claims that are greatly exaggerated," board member Eli Cox said. "I can think of a number of vulgar ads that could be run if we run this ad."

Gibson said the advertisement should be run and the readers be allowed to decide whether it is false.

"I certainly respect everyone's opinion, but I'm afraid of the message that we're suppressing information," added board member John Murphy.

However, board member Fernando Dovalina, assistant managing editor of The Houston Chronicle, said newspapers decide "every day" whether to print something.

"The advertisements (we) accept send out a message about the type of newspaper we are," he said.

Baker said if the Holocaust ad runs, his organization would consider not advertising in The Daily Texan.

"They (Smith's organization) would be the only advertisements left in The Daily Texan," he said.

Former givers now recipients

By POLLY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

Whether you call it a recession, a double-dip or just a slow recovery, the weak economy is boosting requests for charity this Thanksgiving and forcing organizations to be more creative with fund-raising or make do with less.

"It's very difficult to raise more money because many of the people who used to give are now receiving," said Kay Wallick, executive director of the Mid-America Assistance Coalition in Kansas City, Mo.

Bill Thompson, 47, has been living at the Open Shelter in Columbus, Ohio, since July when he lost his job at a racetrack. Though he found work at a paper company this month, he will be spending Thanksgiving at a shelter.

"It'll be something new for me. I have to put up with what I can do," he said.

Many charitable organizations said their caseloads are rising, and they cited the recession.

"I've had a 30 percent increase in the first 10 months of this year over all 12 months last year," said Ruth Shecter, executive director of the Housing Information Center in Kansas City, Mo. "Don't tell me that the recession is over. President Bush needs to walk with the people and find out what it really means."

"Many people who were barely making it at the beginning of the recession are getting to where there's nothing left and they have to ask for help," said Susan Stewart, administrative director of the Atlanta Community Food Bank.

Many charities are trying new strategies to boost donations.

In Columbus, Ohio, the Mid-Ohio Food Bank enlisted the local letter carriers union, whose members collected about 60,000 pounds of food during their rounds Oct. 26. That helped make up for a drop in donations from restaurants and other traditional sources, said executive director Matt Habash.

In Lewiston, Maine, Bill Blodgett of the Good Shepherd Food Bank said donations are steady or even up from last year because the state's largest supermarket chain, Hannaford Bros., asked suppliers to donate damaged goods. Good Shepherd, Maine's only food bank, distributes 3 million pounds of food a year to 400 agencies.

In suburban Cincinnati, developers of the Kenwood Towne Centre mall donated use of a vacant store to the St. John Social Service Agency. Customers come to The Miracle Center, not to shop but to drop off food, clothing and toiletries.

Habash said the recession has both hurt and helped fund-raising, making people more understanding of the poor but wary about their own situation. "They realize they could be only a paycheck or two away from that situation," he said.

Charities in Michigan are struggling under a particular burden this season because of the cutoff of 83,000 welfare recipients statewide when aid was ended Oct. 1 for able-bodied adults without children. "The numbers are astronomical," said Lewis Hickson, general manager of the Capuchin Soup Kitchen in Detroit.

At nine pantries run by the Des Moines (Iowa) Area Religious Council, about 23,000 families were served in the first 10 months of this year, compared with 22,000 in all of last year, said director Forrest Harms.

Kathryn Davis, a volunteer helping interview those seeking Thanksgiving baskets at the Community Stewpot in Jackson, Miss., said the experience "tugs at your heart."

"You feel like they're stripped of all their dignity. Everyone seemed so humble," she said. "It makes you realize, except for the grace of God, you could be in that situation."

Some homeless people say a Thanksgiving meal at a charity is one of the few things they can count on.

"I plan to be at the Salvation Army," said Gilford Hudson, 65, who lives at the bus depot in Phoenix.

Congressional battle prolong session

WASHINGTON (AP) - Instead of finishing for the year, Congress is starting out on a pitched battle with President Bush over an election-year tax cut and a fix for the suffering American economy.

Accepting Bush's dare to take up a tax-cut package to stimulate the economy, congressional Democrats decided late Tuesday to begin hearings next week by the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee.

Talk details are unsettled

WASHINGTON (AP) - They don't know just where. They don't know just what. And they don't know just how long.

But organizers and delegates to next week's Arab-Israeli peace talks in Washington are sure of several things: no flags will be hoisted, no country names will be displayed and no Cokes will be drunk.

Secretary of State James A. Baker III has invited Syria, Jordan, Lebanon, Israel and the Palestinians under Israeli occupation to resume the ice-breaking peace talks they began last month in Spain.

But with one week before the scheduled Dec. 4 resumption, key participants have yet to commit to attending. Syria and the Palestinians edged closer Tuesday but raised "any number of questions," U.S. officials said.

Among them is the question of duration. Some Arab diplomats say they envisage the talks continuing until Christmas. Israeli officials say they have no idea how long they'll stay.

"No one has told us. Are we packing for three days or three weeks?" asked one.

Israeli officials complain bitterly that the Bush administration has not consulted with them about the arrangements and has injected itself into a process designed to let Israel and the Arabs deal directly with each other.

Meanwhile, the State Department scrambled to find a suitable building, to organize schedules, communications, security procedures and a myriad of other arrangements for the complex and sensitive discussions.

It appears all the talks will be held at one site - although it's unclear whether all the groups will meet at the same time but in different rooms, or in the same room but at different times.

House Speaker Thomas S. Foley, boiling with anger after a closed-door caucus of House Democrats, said he was leaving open the option of calling Congress back for a December showdown session on taxes.

At the same time, leaders kept the House in session into the early morning hours in hopes of securing pre-Thanksgiving approval for a $151 billion highway bill, a measure aiding the Soviets and a bill to shore up the fund that insures bank deposits.

Foley, D-Wash., refused to permit a vote on the last-minute plan by House Republicans - a package cutting capital gains and other taxes - that Bush endorsed only belatedly.

"It is really unbelievably irresponsible for the president to suggest he would like us to vote today on a proposal that wasn't even a legislative proposal until last night," Foley said.

The political jousting over taxes dominated all other action. Congressional leaders of both parties had planned an all-night session ending with adjournment for the year.

A crime bill that contained a waiting period for handgun purchases and expanded the federal death penalty was stalled off the House floor as leaders scrounged for the votes needed to enact it. Bush and Republicans were opposed, as were some liberal Democrats.

House and Senate negotiators met through the night to work out the compromise measure to strengthen the fund that insures bank deposits.

Separate legislation would provide $80 billion for the savings and loan bailout.

Foley ran into resistance from many of his own Democrats with his proposal to abandon adjournment plans and resume the congressional session in December.

But Democratic leaders saw an irresistible political advantage in accepting Bush's challenge to take up a tax-cut package, viewing it as a political bluff by the president.

Democrats said the Republican plan amounts to a giveaway to the rich, and they relished a comparison with their own plan, which would pay for middle-class tax cuts with increased taxes for the richest Americans. Foley denounced the GOP proposal as adding $23 billion to the federal deficit.

"They lobbed up a pretty good ball at us, and we ought to be able to hit it a pretty good lick," said Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Texas.

Senate Republicans were horrified by the thought of spending December debating a tax cut plan cooked up not by the White House but by House Republicans, led by conservative maverick Rep. Newt Gingrich of Georgia.

Senate GOP Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., complained that he had heard nothing from Bush or the administration in support of the tax package that Gingrich proposed last Friday.

The president at first seemed to rebuff the plan, then reversed himself and endorsed it Tuesday. But Dole questioned whether Bush really wanted it.

"He hasn't insisted to us that we vote on a growth package before we adjourn," Dole said. "The message I get is quite the contrast - that the president would like Congress to complete its work and go."

Among other actions:

-The House passed compromise legislation outlawing the use of the automatic dialing machines that send pre-recorded advertisements into people's homes, or unwanted facsimiles to their machines.

-Passage for the highway bill seemed assured when the administration warned to it. Transportation Secretary Samuel Skinner said it has the potential to create as many as 4 million jobs over six years.

-A bill to extend $3.2 billion in expiring tax breaks to stimulate the economy won Senate passage and headed to the House for final passage.

All-district volleyball honorees

Cornelius, Binder, Reeh earn volleyball honors

Shantel Cornelius was named Player of the Year and Brenda Reeh was named Coach of the Year in the District 1-4A volleyball all-district team announced this week.

Cornelius and Brek Binder were named to the first team; Teresa Baker, Lori Sanders and Jennifer Hicks were picked for the second team; and Kyanne Lindley received honorable mention on the all-district squad.

Dumas, which fell in the state tournament semifinals, led with four players named to the first team.

Cornelius was named the district's player of the year for the second time.

"What can you say about Shantel that hasn't been said before?" said Reeh. "She is definitely one of the best athletes in the state."

Cornelius set school records this year with 343 total kills and a .478 kill percentage. She had 590 successful attacks, and a record 30 kills in a single match, in the regional finals against Dumas (she had the previous record at 17). Cornelius also recorded 118 stuff blocks.

"So many teams would focus on defending against Shantel that she often opened up outside hitters for attacks," said Reeh. "Besides being such a force hitting and blocking, Shantel followed up with smart assist work as a setter, and with quick defensive plays."

"Even though Shantel has had four years of exciting individual performances, I think her primary focus has been the success of her team. The team has always come first with Shantel, as it did with everyone who played this year."

Binder, a second-time all-district honoree, carried out a tough assignment of being in on every play as a setter or a blocker.

"She was responsible for setting the tone of the match as she started out serving in our rotation," said Reeh. "She had a team-leading .940 serving percentage and could put the ball just about anywhere we found a weakness."

"Brek was so smart in knowing where to set the ball. Setting is sometimes a thankless job but absolutely necessary for an effective offense. On the net, Brek ended up second in kills and stuff blocks. She led the team in successful attacks. We put so much responsibility on Brek in so many areas and she handled it all like a champ." Reeh singled out Sanders' consistency in every area of the game.

"She had the fewest missed serves of anyone this year and really came on with a deadly floater serve down the line," Reeh said. "We had her serving last in the rotation because she was such a good passer. She topped our service receive stats in almost every area. Our passing stats always seemed to be directly linked to our success in each match and were probably more important than any of the other state. The offense doesn't run if the pass doesn't find the setter's hands."

"As a hitter, Lori had a fantastic year picking the defense apart. She did a great job looking for the holes and putting the ball on the floor. Lori was a very dependable player."

Baker came off the bench during the year to serve and run the backcourt defense.

"Teresa is one of the smartest players I've ever worked with," said Reeh. "She has the ability to anticipate the hitter's angles and attacks. That ability got her to the ball over and over again to frustrate hitters."

"Teresa also displayed some great sense behind the service line. She topped the team with 58 aces and a .135 ace percentage. Teresa made some smart decisions on where to serve and when to serve aces."

"I've always thought of Teresa as a clutch player--the tougher the match, the tougher she plays. She didn't let us down this year either."

Hicks was singled out by Reeh as the team's most improved player from the 1990 season.

"We put her on the strong side at the net and she dominated most of the blockers she went up against," said Reeh. "As the season progressed, Jennifer kept adding more and more shots to her offense. She could hit a sharp cross-court shot on one set and then nail the line on the next set. That sort of hitter will leave defenses confused and frustrated."

"Just as valuable as her attacking, Jennifer stepped in as a leader in so many situations. She's very perceptive of the feeling on the court or in practice. She got us through some times when our focus faltered. That talent isn't taught, but is so very important in any team sport."

Lindley was honored by Reeh for her work on both offense and defense.

"She didn't have a starting role last year, so Kyanne had a lot to learn in a very short time," Reeh said. "I couldn't have asked for anything more from Kyanne. She was consistent in every area, serving, attacking, passing and digging. Kyanne was not always the flashiest of players, but her consistent execution was invaluable."

Reeh said she was flattered to be picked coach of the year. "That wouldn't be possible without this team, so I owe so much to the kids," Reeh said. "It was an honor to coach these girls."

Lady Whitefaces lose; Plainview tops Herd

Kyanne Lindley and Jennifer Bullard each scored 10 points for the Hereford Lady Whitefaces on Tuesday as they fell to the defending state champion Tascosa Rebels, 71-36, at the Tascosa Activity Center.

"They've got 10 good players and they play them all," Hereford coach Dickie Faught said this morning. "They are a very physical ball club and they just wore us down in the second and especially the fourth quarters."

Tascosa led 14-7 at the end of the first quarter, then outscored the Herd 21-8 in the second quarter to lead 35-15 at the half. The Rebels extended their lead to 23, 52-29, in the third quarter, then wore down the Lady Whitefaces in the fourth quarter.

Pampa gets nod in 4A playoff tilt

Pampa, playoff representative from District 1-4A, is rated a 13-point favorite over Boswell by the Harris Rating System. Sweetwater, also from this region in Class 4A, is picked by 14 points over Everman.

Other 4A pairings: McKinney by 1 over Waxahachie, Carthage (No. 2) by 8 over Dallas Roosevelt, A&M Consolidated by 7 over Corsicana, Tyler Chapel Hill by 9 over Bay City, Austin Westlake (No. 1) by 20 over Gregory-Portland, and Corpus Christi Calallen by 8 over Schertz Clemens.

In Class 5A, Harris still has Odessa Permian as No. 1, and the Panthers are a 6-point favorite over Arlington Lamar in a game that some consider for the state title. Midland Lee is favored by 3 points over Sherman, and San Angelo is a 3-point pick over Arlington Sam Houston.

In Class AA, Wellington is favored by 4 points over Iraan, while Spearman is a 2-point underdog to Albany. Memphis is favored by 14 in a Class A playoff with O'Donnell, while Wheeler is favored by 3 over Rankin.

"We hung in there as long as we could, but they're so physical, plus they shot the lights out most of the game," Faught said. "I think they were 27-of-56 from the field for the night."

"Our girls played hard, and we hung with them for a good portion of it. They're definitely the most physical team we'll play all year, with a tough full court press."

The Hereford girls will be playing in the Frenship tournament this weekend in Wolforth. The Lady Whitefaces will meet the Spearman Lynxettes at 11 a.m. Thursday.

"They'll be tough," Faught said. "Abernathy beat them by two points in the playoffs last year and won the state championship, and they've got a bunch of good kids again this year."

In the JV game, Tascosa took a 50-45 win.

"We beat them every quarter except the third, and they outscored us 17-6," Faught reported. "We were up four at the half, but it should have been seven. They had a girl come across the midcourt line and put in a three-pointer at the half."

In the third quarter, Hereford lost leading scorer Kathy Hernandez to a knee injury, and couldn't rally back all the way to take the win.

Hernandez had nine points and Jennifer Holmes had eight for Hereford.

In boys action, Hereford fell to Plainview 86-56 at Plainview.

"They probably had 30 offensive rebounds on us," said coach Jimmy Thomas. "We're going to stop that."

The Herd was beset by cold shooting in the first three quarters, trailing 36-16 at the half and 62-28 after three quarters. Hereford outscored Plainview 28-24 in the fourth period.

"We started out gangbusters on them in the first two or three minutes, then fizzled," Thomas said. "Then we came back and played a good fourth quarter and got after them. We hustled hard at times, and other times we didn't. We couldn't buy a basket in the first half, and when you don't play well offensively it hurts your effort defensively."

Leo Brown led the Herd with 22 points. Thomas also singled out Kyle Hansen, who had six rebounds "and played real hard for us," Thomas said.

In the JV contest, Hereford fell 69-44 to the Bulldogs. Tim Burkhalter led Hereford with 15 points, and Gregario Orozco and Greg Copen each added 9 points.

The Hereford boys will take a break this weekend, then resume play Tuesday.

Monday night, Hereford's junior high girls opened the season winning three of four games against Pampa.

The seventh grade Maroon team dumped Pampa, 24-10, led by Danielle Cornelius with 10 points, the seventh White team won 22-21, with Cassie Abney leading Hereford with eight points.

The eighth Maroon team won 35-11. Mindy Davis had 10 points, and Krista Beville and Heather Hodges each added eight points. The eighth White team lost, 32-31. Melissa Davis had 13 points, and Monica Don Juan added 10 for Hereford.

"We played very well for the first game of the year," said coach Jane Radford. "The team executed very well offensively and defensively and we're very proud of them. I think we will be much more competitive than we have been in the past."

Junior high boys action was not reported.

Bulls' success breeds big blowout in LA win

By The Associated Press

Clearly, success has bred success for the Chicago Bulls.

Even when the defending NBA champions get off to a slow start, they find the right gear before long. They did just that Tuesday night in a 116-79 rout of the Los Angeles Clippers, holding the hosts to their lowest point total of the season.

"Our success last year really propelled us to play a lot better basketball as a unit, and we really have confidence in ourselves," Michael Jordan said after scoring 23 points. "This team is made up of 10 of last year's players. We've been playing for a period of time now, so we can cover for each other and know where each other's going to be at certain times."

Some of those times came in the second half, when the Bulls hit 19 of 21 shots in one stretch. That came after Chicago scored just 15 points in the second period.

Elsewhere, it was Sacramento 104, Phoenix 89; Seattle 136, Golden State 130 in overtime; Portland 107, Milwaukee 98; Denver 103, Charlotte 97; Houston 118, New Jersey 109; the Los Angeles Lakers 98, Orlando 87; Detroit 103, Atlanta 93; Cleveland 95, Philadelphia 91; and New York 98, Miami 91.

Jordan also had 10 rebounds, while Scottie Pippen scored 20 points. Los Angeles was led by Olden Polynice's 16 points and 10 rebounds.

Kings 104, Suns 89

At Sacramento, Lionel Simmons reached double figures in points, rebounds and assists for the first time and Mitch Richmond scored 18 of his 26 points in the first quarter.

Simmons made only 4 of 14 shots, but he produced 10 points, 14 rebounds, 10 assists and totaled a career-high seven of the Kings' 15 blocked shots. Wayman Tisdale scored 20 points for Sacramento.

SuperSonics 136, Warriors 130, OT

At Seattle, Eddie Johnson scored 29 points, including four in overtime, and Shawn Kemp had seven dunks in his return to the SuperSonics. Kemp, who missed Seattle's first 12 games with a sprained left foot, added 21 points off the bench.

Tim Hardaway scored 34 points and Chris Mullen 28 for the Warriors.

Portland 107, Milwaukee 98

At Portland, Clyde Drexler scored seven of his 30 points in overtime after Terry Porter's 3-pointer tied the game at 94 with 15 seconds left in regulation.

Dale Ellis led Milwaukee with 23 points.

Nuggets 103, Charlotte 97

At Denver, the NBA's top two rookies thus far were on display.

Denver's Dikembe Mutombo set a career high for rebounds with 20 and added 21 points. Larry Johnson, after a four-point first half, finished with 25 points and 16 rebounds for the Hornets.

Reggie Williams led the Nuggets with 22 points. Kendall Gill had 20 points for Charlotte.

Rockets 118, Nets 109

At Houston, Vernon Maxwell and Sleepy Floyd combined for 24 of Houston's final 30 points.

Maxwell finished with 29 points and Floyd 16 as the Rockets played without injured centers Hakeem Olaajuwon and Larry Smith. Otis Thorpe added 22 points and 13 rebounds.

Drazen Petrovic led the Nets with 33 points.

Lakers 98, Magic 87

At Orlando, James Worthy scored 25 points and Byron Scott 20.

The Lakers shot 62 percent in the third quarter to break open a close game and continued to play outstanding defense - holding an opponent under 100 points for the sixth straight game.

Nick Anderson led Orlando with 23 points.

Pistons 103, Hawks 93

At Atlanta, Isiah Thomas led six Pistons in double figures with 22 points as Detroit outscored Atlanta 14-9 in the final 3:10.

Dominique Wilkins scored 29 points for Atlanta.

Cavaliers 95, 76ers 91

At Philadelphia, Brad Daugherty

scored 31 points, including eight consecutive free throws in the final four minutes.

Daugherty was 8-for-15 from the field and 15 of 16 at the free throw line.

Hersey Hawkins led the 76ers with 23 points.

Knicks 98, Heat 91

At New York, Gerald Wilkins equaled his season high of 28 points and John Starks came off the bench to score 19.

The 81 points scored by Miami was a season low against the Knicks, who have held their opponents to under 100 points in each of the last five games.

Sooners 'wrong play' wins game

By The Associated Press

It was the wrong side but the right shot for the Oklahoma Sooners.

"This was a big win for us this early in the year," coach Billy Tubbs said after his 19th-ranked Sooners pulled out a 61-60 thriller at South Carolina on Tuesday night.

Jeff Webster sank a short turnaround jumper with 8 seconds remaining for the winning points. Actually, he improvised after Tubbs drew up the play - on the wrong side of the floor.

"Webster's shot at the end was what we drew up," Tubbs said, "except it was from the other side. We thought we had the ball at the halfcourt spot on the other side of the floor. So we diagrammed it up from that side."

"Our guys made the adjustments when we came to this side of the floor, which really pleases me. We got the people in the right spots."

In other games involving ranked teams, it was No. 2 Arkansas 99,

Chaminade 84; No. 5 Ohio State 94, Miami of Ohio 61; No. 7 Seton Hall 89, Bridgeport 78; No. 12 Kansas 91, Arkansas-Little Rock 80; No. 14 Utah 89, Eastern Montana 42; No. 21 Iowa 95, Western Illinois 58 and No. 25 Arizona State 74, Lamar 64.

Webster, who finished with 16 points, took a pass from Terry Evans and hit a 12-footer from the left wing to win the game.

South Carolina guard Jo Jo English missed a 3-pointer with Evans in his face as time ran out.

South Carolina (1-1), led 28-27 at the half and moved ahead 46-38 with 11:09 on eight straight points by Joe Rhett.

But the Sooners rallied with the help of Damon Patterson's 15 second-half points, finally taking the lead at 54-53 on Webster's two foul shots with 5:16 left.

Patterson led the Sooners with 17 points and 11 rebounds.

South Carolina was led by Rhett, who had 17 points and 10 rebounds.

No. 2 Arkansas 99, Chaminade 84
Isaiah Morris, starting for suspended All-America Todd Day, scored 25 points and grabbed 10 rebounds to lead Arkansas to the finals of the Maui Invitational.

Arkansas will play in the championship game against Michigan State, a 75-67 winner over Rice.

Oliver Miller had 18 points and eight rebounds and Lee Mayberry added 18 points as the Razorbacks (2-0) held off a second-half rally by the Silverswords (1-2).

No. 5 Ohio St. 94, Miami, Ohio 61

Jim Jackson scored 22 points and fifth-ranked Ohio State's pressure defense produced 25 turnovers.

Chris Jent added a career-high 21 points, Mark Baker and Jamie Skelton each scored 15 and Jamaal Brown chipped in with 10 for Ohio State.

No. 7 Seton Hall 89, Bridgeport 78

Terry Dehere scored 16 of his 22 points in the second half, including four 3-point baskets in a 2:15 stretch.

Dehere and Jerry Walker, who had a career-high 18 points, ignited a 14-5 spurt early in the second half that boosted the Pirates (2-0) to a 50-38 lead.

Bridgeport (1-2), got 20 points from Lambert Shell.

No. 12 Kansas 91, Ark.-LR 80

Alonzo Jamison scored 22 points and Rex Walters added 20 as Kansas struggled past Arkansas-Little Rock (1-1).

The Jayhawks (2-0) won their 20th consecutive home game and their 100th in the last 108. The Trojans never led after the first five minutes but managed to stay within 10 points much of the way.

No. 14 Utah 89, E. Montana 42

Larry Cain came off the bench for career highs of 16 points and 14 rebounds.

Paul Afeaki and Antoine Davison added 14 points apiece for Utah (2-0), which used all 13 healthy players. Eastern Montana (1-2), was led Chris Herriford with 12 points and eight rebounds.

No. 21 Iowa 95, Western Illinois 58

Acie Earl scored 25 points and grabbed 12 rebounds.

The Hawkeyes (2-0) enjoyed a height advantage at every position over the Leathernecks (0-1) and used it for a 27-11 rebounding edge and a 51-25 halftime lead.

No. 25 Arizona State 74, Lamar 64

Tony Ronaldson scored 18 points and Arizona State held Lamar scoreless for four minutes in the second half to beat the Cardinals at the Maui Invitational.

Arizona State (1-1) stretched a 39-32 halftime lead to a 56-44 advantage by holding the Cardinals (0-2) scoreless from 12:09 to 8:17 of the second half.

Wilmer coach says team was trapped

HUTCHINS, Texas (AP) - Coach Robert Woods believes Wilmer-Hutchins was trapped into forfeiting games that kept the defending state 4A football champs from defending their crown.

A University Interscholastic League district committee ruled junior linebacker Glenn Rice Jr. did not fulfill a residency requirement and was ineligible to play, forcing Wilmer-Hutchins out of the state football playoffs.

Lancaster replaced the Eagles in Saturday's playoffs and lost 20-10 to Carthage.

Woods said he questions Lancaster's timing, because Rice played for Wilmer-Hutchins all season and Lancaster football coaches had worked with Rice last year when he lived in the Lancaster district.

"They set a trap for us. They held off on it until they saw they couldn't get into the playoffs any other way," Woods said.

Officials from Lancaster brought the eligibility question to the committee in early November, a week after Lancaster was knocked out of the playoffs by Wilmer-Hutchins.

Lancaster football coach Phil Brasher agreed the timing looks odd, but said he reported the eligibility question as soon as he learned of it.

"No doubt about it, the timing of the whole thing was rotten," Brasher said. "I didn't find out about it until after the (Wilmer-Hutchins) game. You can't report what you don't know."

Rice attended Lancaster in the fall of 1990 and played on the Tigers' junior varsity football team. He moved in with his grandmother in Wilmer in January, and played for Wilmer-Hutchins this fall. When the grandmother moved to Indiana in October, Rice moved back with his mother in Lancaster.

The committee ruled Rice ineligible to play because he did not live with his grandmother a full year before she moved.

Woods told the Dallas Times Herald that Wilmer-Hutchins did not mean to break the rules.

"People need to understand that it was nothing intentional and that we abided by the rules in all instances," Woods said.

"The rules were broken and we have no problem with what happened with the district committee's decision," Woods said. "But if we had known that situation existed, we would have corrected it. We are not outlaws or an outlaw program."

Detmer piling up big stats, but no Heisman

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) - Barring a major upset, Ohio State's Archie Griffin will remain as the only Heisman Trophy winner to repeat. Brigham Young's Ty Detmer, the 1990 winner, accepted that fact long ago. His chances of repeating were shot when BYU lost its first three games, even though he has gone on to post statistics worthy of Heisman consideration. But the Texan isn't moping. Detmer still has a Dec. 30 Holiday Bowl date with No. 7 Iowa to look forward to - then maybe a pro career. Big things have been expected out of Detmer for years. He became Texas' all-time leading high school passer at a San Antonio school before going to BYU. Besides, being out of the running for the Heisman Trophy wasn't all bad. When the Heisman talk evaporated after losses to Florida State, UCLA and Penn State, so did the pressure. "Last year, it got to be such a negative thing," Detmer said Tuesday. "All they talked about was the interceptions. They didn't talk about the good things I was doing."

"This year, they didn't have to do that. I just went out and played and I didn't have the interceptions. I wasn't under a microscope this year. That really made it nice."

BYU's season hit its nadir in the third week, when Penn State overwhelmed the Cougars 33-7. Detmer completed only 8-of-26 passes for 158 yards against the Nittany Lions and was sacked six times.

At that point, the Heisman was the farthest thing from Detmer's mind. He just wanted to win a game.

The following week, though, Detmer bounced back to throw for 340 yards and two touchdowns in a 21-7 victory over Air Force, and he and the Cougars have been on a roll since.

BYU is 8-3-1 and Detmer has passed for 4,031 yards and 35 touchdowns with only 12 interceptions.

"Those teams really put a lot of pressure on us early," Detmer said. "As of late, we went two games in a row without a sack. Our offensive line is playing really good right now and the running backs are picking up things."

"If we can keep a team from putting pressure on us with their four down linemen, we can make things happen. But we need to keep everybody healthy and keep going."

While Detmer and his team were struggling early, Michigan's Desmond Howard became a human highlight film with his diving catches and dazzling kick returns and surged to the front of the Heisman race.

It was a gap Detmer never overcame, but he understands the reasons.

"When a guy gets a hot hand like Desmond did, it's tough to get back up there," Detmer said. "I knew it would have to take a miracle to get back in the Heisman race."

"For a quarterback, if you lose a game, it's the quarterback's fault. Michigan can lose to Florida State and Desmond Howard is still No. 1. He doesn't have much control of that. But if you're a quarterback, as soon as you lose a game, you're out of it. We lost three to start with, so you're going to drop down a little." Still, it has been a noteworthy season for Detmer. By throwing for 977 yards in the last two games, he has become the first quarterback in NCAA history to pass for more than 15,000 yards in a career.

He has broken 65 NCAA records and tied three others during his three years at BYU. And he thinks he's a better quarterback overall than a year ago, when he passed for 5,188 yards but had 28 interceptions.

"This year, I think I was more in control of what's going on out there," Detmer said. "I know exactly what I want to get to when I see a certain defense. I think I quit forcing the ball. If it's not there, I'll scramble or throw it away. I'm not pushing to make something happen like I did last year. I'm just going out and playing real consistent football."

He's hoping to do that one more time in the Holiday Bowl, not only to top off his senior season but to atone for the embarrassment of last year's 65-14 loss to Texas A&M.

Detmer threw for only 120 yards against the Aggies, his poorest outing for the last three years.

"We're going down a couple of days earlier than we normally do," he said. "We're going to be practicing a little bit harder. Before it was a nice vacation for having a great season. This year, it's important for us to get back on the winning side."

Jones, Johnson gain respect around NFL

By DAVE GOLDBERG
AP Football Writer

Just 2 1/2 years ago, the conventional wisdom was that Jerry Jones was mean and petty for firing Tom Landry, a small-timer who could never succeed in pro football.

It was just two years ago when the conventional wisdom was that Jimmy Johnson was in over his head as an NFL coach after he went 1-15 in his first year.

Now? With a lot of help from Mike Lynn and a little from Al Davis, the JJs are on the verge of turning America's Losers of 1988 and 1989 back into America's Team.

"Give this team another year or two and they're up there with the league's best," says Jack Faulkner, personnel director of the Los Angeles Rams.

Faulkner can appreciate what Jones and Johnson have done.

Sure they were handed four years worth of high draft picks when they toasted Herschel Walker on Lynn and the Vikings. But you have to make those picks worthwhile - the Rams got a pile for Eric Dickerson, went 5-11 last season and are now 3-9.

Jones and Johnson may have missed a step or two along the line, but not enough to hurt.

In 1989, they resisted the draftniks who insisted Tony Mandarich was the best player in the draft and took Troy Aikman, who is now the best (only?) young quarterback in the game. In 1990, they used one of their 4,000 extra picks to move up and take Emmitt Smith, who's no worse than the third-best running back in the NFL.

But there's more to it than that. Russell Maryland, one of five Cowboys who played for Johnson at the University of Miami, is starting to assert himself on the defensive line and Alvin Harper, this year's other No. 1, had four catches for 101 yards in Dallas' 24-21 upset of Washington on Sunday.

Another of this year's high picks, third-rounder Erik Williams, is considered an excellent prospect and has done a good job filling in for the injured Nate Newton at offensive right tackle. Larry Brown, a 12th-round draft pick, has earned a starting job at cornerback.

Perhaps more important, Johnson has used his draft picks to trade judiciously.

Knowing he needed more bulk against the run on the defensive line, he traded an excess second-rounder to Atlanta for Tony Casillas, who has done just what he's been asked to do. Knowing he needed more than Babe Laufenberg and Cliff Stoudt to back up Aikman, he traded with the Raiders for Steve Beuerlein.

The Beuerlein deal may be the most important.

Johnson gave up just a fourth-round pick for a guy who started in Los Angeles two years ago before holding out and falling out of favor with Davis. When Aikman got hurt Sunday, Beuerlein stepped in and went 7 of 12 for 109 yards and a touchdown against the Redskins.

Now he'll probably be asked to direct the final four games of Dallas' drive for the playoffs.

"The players have a lot of confidence in him. He has a live arm and he's a winner and a competitor," Johnson says of his new quarterback, who is satisfied with a backup role, even at age 26.

"That's why they got me," he says.

To put it another way, he's a lot better insurance than Laufenberg, who had to try to put the Cowboys in the playoffs last year, and than Pat Ryan and Brad Goebel, on whom Philadelphia had to depend when Jim McMahon followed Randall Cunningham to the sidelines.

Score another round for the guys who were supposed to be poor country boys in over their heads with the city slickers.

Oilers out for league punters

HOUSTON (AP) - NFL punters beware: the Houston Oilers are out to get you.

"Blocking a kick's the biggest thing in football," special teams coach Richard Smith says. "It's demoralizing, it's humiliating. It's everything. It's very much a tempo setter. You're talking something that can change the whole game."

That could have helped Sunday as Houston lost 26-14 to the Steelers.

Sunday's game marked the first time in weeks the Oilers' have made it a full-time priority to rush the opposing punter.

With the offense and defense struggling, "We felt we had to make something happen and we saw some weaknesses we tried to exploit," Marcus Robertson said Tuesday.

Then there was the challenge. Pittsburgh's Dan Stryzinski had punted 53 times and opponents had returned just 19.

But rookie cornerback Steve Jackson squeezed through a crack Sunday and dived for the ball on the final punt.

"I was close, but not close enough," Jackson said. "When I saw the opening, I tried too hard to get there instead of just relaxing. I reached out too soon."

The Oilers blocked just one punt in 1990 after blocking three in 1989 and five in 1988. But the speed they added in last spring's draft - Jackson, Mike Dumas, Robertson and Darryll Lewis - could make them tops in the league.

"We could tell the first day we took those guys out, we have some really good ability to take the ball off the punter's foot," Smith said.

Jackson came close on the first and the final punts, while Lewis got a hand on Gary Anderson's 20-yard field goal. But, Smith said, "the strength of the guy's leg pushed it through the uprights."

As tempted as Smith might be to send a combination of his speed rushers - or tough inside guys like Scott Kozak, Eugene Seale, Eric Fairs or Johnny Meads - every punt, he can't. Neither can the Oilers set up a return every time out, something they did when Ernest Givins took a turn at returner.

Smith was working Tuesday on his game plan for Monday night's game against Philadelphia and punter Jeff Feagles, who averages 42.4 yards a kick and has had 27 of 61 punts returned.

"Their punt protection is very, very sound, they do a great job," Smith said. "By looking at their punter on film, he impresses the hell out of me."

The Eagles are probably saying the same about the Oilers.

"I think a lot of teams have been scouting us and seeing how close we've come to the ones we have been trying," Dumas said. "I think that makes them a little nervous."

Aggies look at unfinished work

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) - Tenth-ranked Texas A&M already has wrapped up the host spot in the Cotton Bowl, but the Aggies have unfinished business on Thanksgiving Day and it's not cutting the turkey.

"We have to be ready for them or else they could come in here and beat us," A&M linebacker Jason Atkinson said of the Texas Longhorns. "Texas is still the biggest game for us. We won't have any problems getting up for them. It's a big, big game for us."

The Aggies (9-1, 7-0) defeated Southern Methodist 65-6 Saturday to clinch their 16th Southwest Conference title and a host berth opposite No. 3 Florida State in the Cotton Bowl.

But Coach R.C. Slocum asked Cotton Bowl officials to delay their presentation until after Thursday night's final regular season game.

Atkinson and the other Aggie players understand why. They still have to face the Longhorns (5-5, 4-3).

"Look at what happened last year, when they already had it won," Atkinson said. "We went in there and almost beat them."

Kickoff is at 6:35 p.m. at Kyle Field where the Aggies haven't lost since 1984. A victory over the Longhorns would give A&M its first unblemished SWC record since 1956.

"We've got plenty of motivation for this game without bowls and rankings," Slocum said. "Anytime these two teams play there is momentum. It goes back to 1894."

A&M quarterback Bucky Richardson, who led A&M to 35-10 victory over Notre Dame in 1988 Cotton Bowl as a freshman, has been a key to the Aggie success this season.

"I know Florida State is going to be tough, but we will not be intimidated," Richardson said. "It won't be like Miami did to Texas last year, I can assure you that."

After compiling a 10-1 season last year, the Longhorns were demolished by Miami 44-6 in the Cotton Bowl.

Texas was scoreless against Baylor until 6:57 remained in the game on a 28-yard field goal by Craig Dickey. Their only touchdown came on Peter Gardere's one-yard touchdown pass to Darrick Duke with 46 seconds to play.

The late spurt allowed Texas to extend its consecutive scoring streak to 129 straight games, a SWC record.

But it was another off-day for the offense and a frustrating game for the defense.

Texas coach David McWilliams says he addresses the offensive letdown in team meetings.

"I don't try to go in and say there's nothing to that," McWilliams said.

"They know, I address it, I don't run from it. But we haven't had a lack of effort. The defensive guys know that. They can look out on the field and know the offense is playing hard."

The Aggies have the No. 1-ranked defensive unit in the nation, allowing only 228 yards a game. They lead the SWC with a club-record 51 sacks for a minus-362 yards.

Texas' defense ranks No. 4 nationally and the Longhorns have needed stout defense to prop up the offense, which has not scored in the first quarter in its last 13 games.

Texas Tech (5-5, 4-3) beat Copper Bowl-bound Baylor two weeks ago and was idle last week, getting ready for its season finale at noon Saturday in the Astrodome against Houston (4-6, 3-4). Southern Methodist closes the season against Tulsa.

Mavs coach

Aduabato loves second chances

By PHIL ROGERS
Dallas Times Herald

DALLAS (AP) - Richie Aduabato is a walking second chance. He's too old, too experienced, to take anything for granted but not too jaded to chase a dream that has pushed him for more than 30 years.

He's a grandfather. He's also the not-too-ancient-to-change-diapers father of a son who won't quite be 1 year old on Christmas Day.

Sometime during the day, any day, Aduabato was also likely to talk to his oldest son, Scott. He's an assistant coach to Henry Bibby with the Oklahoma City Cavalry of the Continental Basketball Association.

"He's 27 and an assistant coach in the pros," Aduabato said. "I could help him (find a job). My father worked in a gas station. He couldn't help me."

Richard Adam Aduabato, the third coach of the Mavericks, does things the hard way. That's how it has always been and apparently how it will always be. He turned 54 Saturday and is still trying to prove himself in the league where Pat Riley won two championships by the time he was 40.

Despite a resume that earns him respect from his peers, and his unbridled optimism over the successful Mavs team he inherited from John MacLeod, Aduabato owns a career record of 87-148 in the NBA.

His current team is the third oldest in the league and has a 5-7 record after Saturday night's overtime victory over Utah.

He calls the 1991-92 Mavs "the most difficult assignment" of his coaching career. With no playoff victories since the Mark Aguirre trade in 1987, Mavs Vice President of Basketball Operations Rick Sund has announced a commitment to "get younger."

There are those who wonder if Aduabato will be included in the changes. He has a rollover contract that extends through next season and says owner Donald Carter told him after the suspension of Roy Tarpley he can accept a losing team provided it shows success on the hustle board (a Reunion Arena feature that charts rebounds, steals and blocked shots).

But since Donovan's reign of failure with the New York Knicks ended in 1965, no NBA coach has lasted more than three seasons in a job with a winning percentage as low as Aduabato's .370. That time schedule gives Aduabato another 370 days, maximum, to turn around a franchise that in less than four years has traded, released or lost Aguirre, Tarpley, Sam Perkins, Adrian Dantley and Alex English.

To understand Aduabato's drive, it helps to look in a chapter he would rather keep closed. No one holds Aduabato accountable for the worst season in the Detroit Pistons' history, but he was sitting on the end of the bench for 70 games when the Pistons went 16-66 in 1979-80. In his own eyes, it almost killed his coaching career.

Aduabato wasn't even thinking about pro basketball when Dick Vitale called him in 1979. He had parlayed nine years of hard work at the high school level into a job as an assistant at Upsala College in his hometown, East Orange, N.J., then taken over the head coach's job at Upsala. He brought that small school its first NCAA bid and had his eye on a job at Seton Hall, Rutgers, St. John's or Fordham.

Then Vitale offered him an assistant's job with the Pistons. It sounded good at the time, but it led to Aduabato getting thrown into the fire when the crumbling franchise fired Vitale the following season. "It took me 20 years to get that job," Aduabato said. "In the next year my career was set back 10 years. I had no chance of getting another (NBA head-coaching) job."

Aduabato's short career as a head coach in the NBA has been constantly influenced by bad trades, bad draft choices and bad risks, none of which was his fault.

Before the 1979-80 season was over, Detroit had released one All-Star, Bob McAdoo, and traded another, Bob Lanier. Aduabato was left in charge when Vitale was fired after one month and won only 12 of the remaining 70 games.

Aduabato was left to roam from job to job as a scout or an assistant coach, emphasizing the defensive end of the floor. He worked for some of the game's most visible coaches - Hubie Brown, Rick Pitino, Motta and MacLeod - as he prepared for another chance.

It came when Aguirre and the Mavs revolted against MacLeod 11 games into the 1988-89 season. Forgive Aduabato if his current job seems too much like what he fondly calls "the disaster in Detroit."

"There are two ways to look at it," Aduabato said. "I think I was very, very lucky to get this job. I think if John MacLeod hadn't been fired 11 games into the season, I wouldn't have gotten the opportunity. But I got a chance on an interim basis, and I had fun that year. We won 47 games. For the first time in 10 years I have a chance to prove I can coach at this level, and I'm 42-29."

Lamont named ChiSox manager

CHICAGO (AP) - Gene Lamont is the newest member of the major league managerial fraternity to arrive without previous experience.

Lamont got his first big-league managing job on Tuesday when he was selected to direct the Chicago White Sox.

"We wanted freshness, a new guy and not someone recycled," said general manager Ron Schueler, who selected Lamont over Bill Russell, Rene Lachemann and Larry Bowa.

Lamont, who turns 45 on Christmas Day, managed in the minors for eight years before serving as third-base coach at Pittsburgh under manager Jim Leyland for the past six seasons.

Leyland, a former Chicago coach, was the No. 1 choice of Schueler and owner Jerry Reinsdorf, but the White Sox were denied permission to approach him because he had two years remaining on his contract.

So, Leyland pushed Lamont.

"I'm elated for Gene," Leyland said after Lamont's selection was announced. "To be honest, I had the luxury of having him on my staff about three years longer than I thought. I always knew he would be a major-league manager some day, and you couldn't ask for a more qualified guy."

Lamont succeeds Jeff Torborg, who helped turn the team into a contender before taking a job with the New York Mets.

"Personality-wise, he's a lot like Torborg," Schueler said of Lamont.

"Jeff had a lot of strengths because the fans, the players and the media all liked him. Gene's a little more aggressive coming over from the National League."

Schueler said Reinsdorf had approved all four finalists.

"I selected Gene because his interview convinced me. He was well-prepared. When I told Reinsdorf, he told me, 'I think you did a good job.'"

Lamont, who had been anxiously awaiting word on the White Sox job, said, "It's nice to breathe again" after learning he was chosen.

"I didn't want to get too high because I thought I had the job at Milwaukee a couple of weeks ago," Lamont said.

That job went to Phil Garner, who also had no major-league experience. Others in the same category landing jobs since season's end were Butch Hobson of Boston, Buck Showalter of the New York Yankees and Bill Plummer of Seattle.

Lamont called the White Sox, who finished second in the American League West, "a good team, a team that should contend."

He said he did not consider himself a disciplinarian.

"I don't think that will work," he said. "I'll make some basic rules and make sure they follow them. Things have changed since I was a player, and I like to think I can roll with them."

"I can only promise one thing," he said. "When we start the game every day, I'll put in a good day's work and our players will be ready to play both mentally and physically."

Lamont was a catcher and a first-round draft pick by Detroit in 1965. He played for the Tigers sporadically 1970-75. He had a career average of .233 in 87 games.

Gililand cast in Amarillo play

Amy Gililand of Hereford has been cast as Mrs. Stanley in the hilarious comedy "Man who Came to Dinner" presented by the Amarillo Little Theatre.

The play, written by Moss Hart & George S. Kaufman is sure to delight the entire family.

Kaufman and Hart are the authors of other notable comedies such as "You Can't Take it With You," "The American Way," and "George Washington Slept Here."

The plot revolves around Sheridan Whiteside, a famous radio personality who has fallen and broken his hip while visiting the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stanley, a typically normal Midwestern family.

Whiteside is confined to a wheelchair and his subsequent six week stay at the Stanley living room is monopolized by the irascible invalid, ex-convicts are invited to meals, and strange characters and gifts invade the tranquility of this quiet home.

It would take a stoical housewife to harbor penguins in her library, an octopus in her cellar, and 10,000 cockroaches in her kitchen. Suffice to say this show is packed with surprises.

Other members of the cast include J.P. (Phil) Wedding Jr. as Sheridan Whiteside, Gregg Dunlap as Mrs.

Stanley and Jill Shelton as Whiteside's assistant, Maggie. The rest of the cast includes Kellie Sanders, Patrick Moran, Kerry Campbell, Robert F. Smith, Larri Jo Starkey, Saralyn Moore, Bette Johnson, Don Shipman, Judy Thornton, Dave Samples, Ted Harrison, Bill Riffe, Samuel Brown Silverman, Dana Hagerty, Sam Childers, Bob Reed, Brent McFarland and Loren Strickland.

Production dates for "The Man Who Came to Dinner" are Dec. 6, 13 and 14. KLS preview night will be Dec. 5. All shows begin at 8 p.m.

NEW YORK (AP) - The bond between Nelson Mandela and Mayor David Dinkins grew even stronger with the announcement that the African National Congress leader is returning to New York.

The 73-year-old leader of the anti-apartheid struggle first visited New York in June 1990, just four months after his release from a South African prison where he was jailed for 27 years.

Dinkins visited Mandela in South Africa last week.

Mandela is scheduled to arrive in New York Dec. 2 and to speak before the United Nations General Assembly four days later, Dinkins' spokesman Leland T. Jones said Thursday.

Aikman school presents plays

The second grade classes of Mrs. Judy Bullard and Mrs. Mary Ann O'Rear were two on plays, "Tom Turkey's Thanksgiving" and "Mother Goose is on the Loose" at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center on Tuesday. Mr. Charles Lyles, principal at Aikman, presented Mrs. Margie Daniels with a giant Thanksgiving card signed by all 422 students at Aikman, and students performing "Tom Turkey's Thanksgiving."

Ninja turtles relate to kids' problems today

WASHINGTON (AP) - Those Ninja characters are ugly to you, so why are your kids so attracted to them?

"Youngsters like the shell-encased heroes because they are small creatures with adult responsibilities like many children today," says Thomas Long, an education professor at Catholic University of America.

He thinks children find a healthy respite through the Ninja turtles, who mirror them as fellow children with adult problems.

"Today, many children are completely responsible for complicated household tasks. They are expected to do much more than their parents did at comparable ages." Long contrasts them with children of the 1950s, 1960s and 1970s, who he says looked to adults as problem solvers. "Young children in those times were rarely home alone. They only helped adults do chores."

Today's youngsters are often on their own for several hours before their parents get home, he said. They may be responsible for taking care of their own clothes, preparing snacks and starting meals.

"The turtles are aggressive good guys, small in stature, who talk and act like children, but overcome the bad guys and save the day," Long says.

In arctic and alpine regions, it sometimes snows red due to tiny plants mixed with the snow drops.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I got a kick out of the letter from the young woman who said she had read your booklet, "Sex and the Teenager" and it helped her decide not to have sex with her boyfriend. I'm glad for her, but I am somewhat embarrassed to admit that I'm 45 years of age and have the same problem.

After separating from my husband last October (after 22 years of marriage), I've been approached by several men who have had some fascinating lines. One made me laugh, another made me cry, but none got me into bed until I fell for an irresistible ploy. It came from a married friend who told me that he had been in love with me for years. After a few weeks, his romantic finally wore me down. Now, several months later, he has no time for me. At least I didn't lose my virginity, but I did lose a lot of self-respect. Worse yet, I feel ashamed and guilty around his wife and I have lost his friendship. He avoids me whenever possible and that really hurts.

Perhaps you should consider writing a booklet for older women who are returning to the dating scene and can't seem to make the right choices. We are already hurting from the breakup of our marriages and are not able to say no, even though we know we should. Positive reinforcement from you would help.

I don't intend to beat up on myself forever, and I am moving on. Thanks for allowing me to say this.--Learned the Hard Way in N.Y.

DEAR N.Y.: Life can be a cruel teacher, but most of us need to get the lumps along with the lesson in order to make it stick.

You sound like a great gal with a delightful sense of humor. Here's a quote from "Sex and the Teenager" that applies to older women as well: "The majority of teenage girls don't get a lot of pleasure out of sex. What they really want is to feel the closeness of another human."

Please don't feel foolish. Some of the advice in that booklet applies to females of all ages. I wish you the best of luck and hope you find Mr. Right No. 2--if that's what you want. Not all divorced women do.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our youngest son recently informed us that he and his wife have separated and plan to divorce. To make matters worse, our daughter-in-law is planning to move back to her hometown with their three children, ages 10 through 16.

We fear that "Brad" will not be allowed to see his children and we will lose contact with our beautiful granddaughters. Brad has refused to talk about the reasons for the divorce, and we've been told not to pry. He says there is no bitterness, and they both agree that it would be best for everyone. None of this makes an ounce of sense to us.

My wife and I will be married 50 years in April. We believe marriage should be forever and are heart sick about this breakup. This is not the way our children were brought up. Please talk some sense into their heads--Parents, USA

DEAR PARENTS: It's hard to "talk sense into their heads" when I have no idea what the problem is and no one wants to discuss it.

I can understand your sadness but I suggest that you MYOB about the divorce and concentrate on staying close to the grandchildren. They'll need your support.

Gem of your life (Credit Danny Thomas): If I had to do it all over again, I wouldn't have the strength.

Lonesome? Take charge of your life and turn it around. Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.15 (this includes postage and handling) to: Friends, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been hunting for an ideal letter to run on Thanksgiving and can find nothing as good as this one, which appeared a few years ago. So here it is again:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read this poem a while back and don't know who wrote it, but I thought it was awfully good. Maybe you would like to put it in your column some day.--Sophie I. West, Loves Park, Ill.

DEAR SOPHIE: I like it, too. It's a poem everyone can relate to. Thank you for sending it on:

EVERYDAY THANKSGIVING

Even though I clutch my blanket and growl when the alarm rings each morning, thank you, Lord that I can hear. There are many who are deaf.

Even though I keep my eyes tightly closed against the morning light as long as possible, thank you, Lord, that I can see. There are many who are blind.

Even though I huddle in my bed and put off the effort of rising, thank you, Lord, that I have the strength to rise. There are many who are bedridden.

Even though the first hour of my day is hectic, when socks are lost, toast is burned, and tempers are short, thank you, Lord, for my family. There are many who are lonely.

Even though our breakfast table never looks like the pictures in the magazines and the menu is at times unbalanced, thank you, Lord, for the food we have. There are many who are hungry.

Even though the routine of my job is often monotonous, thank you, Lord, for the opportunity to work. There are many who have no job.

Even though I grumble and bemoan my fate from day to day and wish my circumstances were not so modest, thank you, Lord, for the gift of life.

DEAR READERS: The letter that follows is most appropriate for Thanksgiving. The best way to show how grateful we are for our blessings is to do something generous for the less fortunate.

Now, a single policy with double protection.

Imagine a life insurance policy that protects your family's future in more than one way. Suppose it also protected you from the financial consequences of long term health care while you're living, without reducing the life insurance benefit.

That's the policy our independent agency recommends for many customers thinking about retirement. It's called the Total Protection Plan from the CNA Insurance Companies, one of several we represent. It's the first policy that pays the full cash value or death benefit of your life insurance even after you receive long term care benefits.

To learn more about the policy that protects you now and in the future, give us a call.

Food safety important when preparing turkey

With Thanksgiving only a few days away, a food safety expert remind consumers that a few precautions will keep the holiday turkey safe from bacterial growth that can cause foodborne illness.

Like many other foods, turkey is highly perishable and requires special care when storing, thawing, preparing and cooking, said Dr. Peggy Van Laanen, nutritionist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Most people suffer only mild flu-like symptoms of gastrointestinal distress, nausea, vomiting and perhaps fever," Van Laanen said. "However, foodborne illness strikes millions each year and can cause serious problems for some groups of people--the very young, older adults and those with immune systems weakened by chronic diseases."

"Following are handling practices is your best ally against sickness," she said.

Van Laanen recommends these ways to reduce the risk of getting foodborne illness from turkey:

- * Buy a turkey that's solidly frozen and keep it frozen at zero degrees or below until you are ready to thaw it.

- * Thawing a frozen turkey in the refrigerator is the preferred and safest method. When thawing in the refrigerator, keep the turkey in its original wrap and place on tray. Allow one to two days to thaw an 8 to 12 pound turkey and three to four days to thaw a 16 to 20 pound turkey. For faster thawing, put the turkey in a water-tight plastic bag and submerge in cold water. Change the water every 30 minutes to keep it cold. This method can take from 4 to 12 hours, depending on the size of the turkey.

- * Never thaw a turkey on the counter. Bacteria can multiply rapidly at room temperature, and outer portions of the turkey may thaw and reach room temperature before the inside is thawed.

- * Before cooking, wash the turkey inside and out. Remove the neck and giblets from the cavity. To prevent spread of bacteria, wash hands, utensils and the sink after contact with the turkey.

- * Cooking stuffing inside the turkey creates a high risk for bacterial growth. Cook stuffing separately.

- * Cook turkeys to an internal temperature of 180 degrees. Use a meat thermometer to check for doneness.

- * Take care of leftovers promptly and properly. Remove turkey from bones and store leftovers in the refrigerator in small, shallow containers. Do not leave food at room temperatures of more than two hours. Never store foods in a warm oven or on the kitchen counter for the next meal. Leftover cooked poultry will keep in the refrigerator for three to four days. Stuffing and gravy should be used within a day or two.

Bring leftover gravy to a rolling boil before serving. Freeze food for longer storage.

- * If you bought a turkey and decided not to use it, remember that frozen turkey can be stored in a freezer for about one year without much loss of quality.

A few simple precautions in food handling can prevent happy holidays from becoming miserable ones, Van Laanen said.

She advises consumers to follow these rules when preparing all foods:

- * Keep everything clean--hands, utensils, equipment and working surfaces.

- * Cook foods thoroughly. Don't leave perishable foods at room temperature of more than two hours.
- * Chill perishable foods immediately after buying and after serving at a temperature of 40 degrees or below.

- * Avoid cross-contamination. Keep raw meats, poultry and fish away from cooked foods during storage and preparation.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I've always used trash bags to store food. A friend recently told me this is not a good idea. Is she right? If so, why? — Reader, Baltimore, Md.

Although using plastic trash bags as throwaway containers for storing foods and beverages seems to be a good idea, especially in this recycling age, it shouldn't be done.

Trash bags have not been tested for food safety, and some contain substances that could leach into the food and make it toxic. Also, some trash bags are treated with deodorants which may contaminate the food as well as give it an undesirable odor and/or flavor. — Heloise

FDA to decide implant safety

GAITHERSBURG, Md. (AP) - A Food and Drug Administration advisory panel is trying to determine whether silicone-gel breast implants, which have been used for nearly 30 years, are safe enough to remain on the market.

The advisory committee was beginning a three-day meeting with testimony today from more than 100 consumer groups, physicians and women on both sides of the issue - those whose implants caused illness and disability, and others for whom they proved a great benefit.

More than 2 million women have had the implants, but critics say they should be banned because of risks of infection, hardening of surrounding breast tissue, false mammography results and silicone leakage. Questions also have been raised about long-term dangers of immune reactions and cancer.

Plastic surgeons and many of their patients, meanwhile, argue that the psychological benefit of the implants far outweighs the risks. The risks are small and mostly minor, and the possibility of serious disorders is remote, they say.

At their meeting in this Washington suburb, members of the panel will evaluate the data submitted by implant manufacturers on Wednesday and Thursday and make a recommen-to reconstruct breasts after cancer surgery, "it restores a feeling of wholeness," and for women who want larger breasts, the implants "improves their confidence," Lynch said.

Some health activists are urging that the implants be taken off the market, or at least made unavailable to women who want them solely to enlarge healthy, normal breasts.

"The biggest factor retarding the development of a safer substitute has been the failure of the FDA to ban silicone-gel implants," said Dr. Sidney Wolfe, director of the Public Citizen Health Research Group. "I am 100 percent certain that within a year or two, or the sooner a ban occurs, there will be a safer substitute."

About three-quarters of the women with silicone implants got them for cosmetic reasons and the rest for reconstruction after a mastectomy.

The long-term safety of the products has never been demonstrated to the FDA. The implants were already on the market in 1976 when the agency was given authority over them.

Last spring, the FDA told companies making the silicone implants to submit safety and efficacy studies or remove the products from the market.

Herbs discussed at XEA meeting

Members of Xi Epsilon Alpha met in the home of Dona Hendrickson for a regular meeting.

Hendrickson presented a program on herbs. She explained how certain herbs are used for flavoring food, as medicine and as fragrance.

She gave instructions on how to grow herbs and she handed out little bunches of lavender tied with ribbon to each member.

President Holly Bixler conducted a short business meeting, recapping the style show business and discussed the Crimestoppers Carnival.

Members voiced concern with the Hereford Community Center policy.

"Thank yous were heard from Kay Williams, Dona Hendrickson, Deann Harris and Danell Culp.

It was announced that the Sweetheart ball and brunch had been changed to Feb. 1 for the brunch and Feb. 8 for the ball.

Rosebud chairman, Sharon Bodner gave a report on Terry sparks after his knee injury, she said he was doing fine. Scrapbook chairman Denise Hafliger reminded her committee to save items for the scrapbook.

After the closing ritual and mizpah, the meeting adjourned and members were served a pumpkin cake, iced tea and hot apple cider.

Members present were: Linda Arellano, Bixler, Sharon Bodner, Dalene Burns, Susan Cardinal, Culp, Hafliger, Harris, Hendrickson, Melinda Henson, Peggy Hyer, Ruby Lee, Connie Matthews, Gaye Reily, Susan Shaw and Williams.

La Afflatus Study Club makes BB/BS donation

Big Brothers/Big Sisters will be getting a donation from La Afflatus Estudio Club. Members voted during their recent meeting in the home of Louise Kinsly to make the donation.

The club will be hosting a Christmas luncheon in the Herring home Dec. 3 at noon.

Lydia Hopson, vice president led the club in the club collect, roll call was answered by each member giving as interesting news article, quip or other statement of interest.

Mary Williamson gave a program on the first Thanksgiving. She read the poem "Over the River." She told of the hardships the pilgrims endured and how their Indian friend Squanto helped them survive.

Those present include Marie Harris, Lydia Hopson, Della Stagner, Alberta Higgins, Virginia Beasley, Pet Ott, Emily Suggs, Williamson and Kinsey. Opal Roberson was a guest.

PHOENIX (AP) - Arizona will have to wait to see the prince and princess of Belgium, Armand and Dian de Merode, galloping through the chaparral.

Belgian royal couple and Christine Janin, who conquered Mount Everest.

The Old West horseback ride has been postponed until March. The 10-day, 300-mile expedition was approved by the Navajo tribe last week, but not in time for a fall excursion, Patrick Sance, president of Great Expeditions, said Monday. Among the rich and famous signing up for the $3,500 ride: the

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	15	3.00
2 days per word	26	5.20
3 days per word	37	7.40
4 days per word	48	9.60
5 days per word	59	11.80

If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO changes, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 More free. The regular charge for that ad would be $4.00.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines, those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch, $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

The Commissioners' Court of Deaf Smith County will open proposals for the leasing of a copy machine for the library at 9 AM on December 9, 1991. Specifications may be obtained at 242 E. 3rd, Hereford, Texas. The right to reject any and all proposals is reserved.

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS AND PARTIES

You are hereby notified of the opportunity for written public comment concerning the application for Renewal of Permit No. R-4411A by Frito-Lay, Inc. for a corn drying and storage facility in Hereford, Deaf Smith County, Texas. The location is Highway 60 and progressive Road. This facility proposes to emit the following air contaminants: Volatile Organic Compounds, Nitrogen Oxides, Sulfur Dioxides, Carbon Monoxide and Particulate Matter. A copy of all materials submitted by the applicant is available for public inspection at the Texas Air Control Board Region 2 office at 5302 South Avenue Q, Lubbock, Tx. 79412 and at the Texas Air Control Board, 12124 Park 35 Circle, Austin, Texas 78753. All interested persons may inspect these materials and submit written comment to the Executive Director of the Texas Air Control Board. Any person who may be affected by emission of air contaminants from the proposed facility may request a hearing from the Board on the application for renewal pursuant to Section 3.271(c) of the Texas Clean Air Act. All comments and hearing requests must be received in writing by December 11, 1991. All written comments submitted to the Executive Director shall be considered by the Board in making its decision on the application. All comments will be made available for public inspection at the Texas Air Control Board office in Austin.

The Commissioners' Court of Deaf Smith County will open proposals for the purchase or lease of a copy machine for the District Clerk at 9 AM on December 9th, 1991. Specifications may be obtained at 242 E. 3rd, Hereford, Texas. The right to reject any and all proposals is reserved.

Due to seasonal demand, we are unable to offer rain checks on toys, Christmas trees and decorations are not available through Mail Order.

PRICING POLICY: Not all items in this publication are on sale. Prices marked "Only" refer to our everyday low prices. BEST VALUES are our way of highlighting exceptional buys at our regular low prices. PREFERENCE RETAIL: An item's Reference Retail price is your guide to its regular selling price at department stores and similar retailers. It is not our present or former selling price. You may want to make an exact comparison of retailer prices before you buy. Our Reference Retail price is either the suggested retail price recommended by the manufacturer in this publication's distribution areas or our own determination of full retail price based on customary retailer markups for similar merchandise. LOW PRICE GUARANTEE: If you find a lower price within 30 days on an identical item, just bring us the proof and we'll match the price! And if we advertise it for less within 30 days, we'll refund the difference. The BEST Low Price Guarantee cannot apply to clearance prices, manufacturer's rebates, going-out-of-business sales, floor samples, one-of-a-kind items or limited quantities, nor can it apply if the item is available only through Mail Order or if the local retailer does not have the merchandise on the premises and available for sale at the advertised price. We will match the competitor's advertised price for up to 30 days after you purchase an item from BEST. Simply bring us your receipt. Because quality and workmanship vary so greatly in jewelry, no two items are ever truly identical and our standard guarantee cannot apply. JEWELRY SATISFACTION GUARANTEE: After you buy your jewelry from us, take up to 90 days to consider your purchase. If you're not completely satisfied, just return the item to us and we'll offer you an exchange or refund. 30-DAY RETURN POLICY: If for any reason you're not pleased with your purchase, return it to us within 30 days with your receipt and original packaging, and we'll repair it, replace it, or give you a full and courteous refund. Even if you don't have a receipt, we'll be happy to issue you a showroom credit.

WARRANTY INFORMATION: Our own limited and full warranties, as well as all manufacturers' warranties for products we sell for $15 or more, are available in our showrooms or by writing: Best Products Co., Inc., P.O. Box 26303, Richmond, VA 23260, ATTN: Warranty Department. RAIN CHECKS: If ever a temporary shortage of any advertised item occurs, we will offer you a RAIN CHECK assuring you the advertised price on re-supply, unless the advertised price is marked "Limited Quantity," "Clearance" or "Special Purchase." Rain checks may not be available on merchandise that is seasonal in nature. IN ORDER TO ASSURE THE FAIR DISTRIBUTION OF MERCHANDISE, WE RESERVE THE RIGHT TO LIMIT QUANTITY PURCHASES PER CUSTOMER. Please see address uses for showrooms which may not carry all the merchandise in this publication. SYMBOL KEYS: *Cannot be shipped parcel post or UPS. Must be shipped by truck. †Ready for assembly. ‡Batteries required. ‡Not available through Mail Order. ‡Cannot be shipped to Alaska, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, Virgin Islands or APO/FPO addresses. Any typographical, photographic, clerical or other discrepancy is subject to correction in pricing and description.
