Man arrested in crack bust

Hereford police had known for sometime that "crack" cocaine was available in Hereford.

Thursday night, they made their first crack arrest at a house four blocks from the police station.

Luis Albert Garcia, 34, a Cuban national, was arrested on charges of possession of cocaine. He was booked into the Deaf Smith County Jail on Thursday night, and is being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Garcia was arrested by members of the Hereford Police Department's Special Reaction Team, which was executing a search warrant. The warrant, according to a police statement, was issued after detectives received information that Garcia was selling crack cocaine.

The SRT seized three grams of crack cocaine and $310, which is thought by police to be "drug money."

Crack is a smokable form of cocaine which has been refined and cooked into a more pure form of the drug. It is typically sold in small "rocks" which are smoked in a pipe. The drug is known for brief but intense highs, and is popular because of its relatively inexpensive cost to abusers. The drug, however, ravages the body and intensely speeds up the again process in habitual abusers.

Rogers pleased with paper study

BY SPEEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

A proposal to make paper pulp from grain sorghum residues in this area is still being researched, and the project has "great potential" for value-added ag products, according to Ken Rogers, a past chamber president and industrial development volunteer worker.

Speaking to the Hereford Lions Club Wednesday, Rogers showed samples of paper made from local milo stubble and reported that a community meeting is scheduled here Dec. 18 to update interested citizens in the project.

Appearing at the Dec. 18 meeting to review the research will be a widely recognized leader in producing paper from non-wood products. The technology for making paper from ag residues is all in place, and this area has all the raw materials needed, said Rogers, who sees three options in getting the industry underway.

Those alternatives are (1)Build digester plants and ship the pulp to a paper mill, (2)Build a fully integrated paper plant here, or (3)Produce the chemical furfural from the stubble.

Furfural, a chemical extracted from the ag residue, is used as a selective agent in lubricating oils and can be made into polyimide, used in making rubber and plastic products.

Preliminary studies indicate farmers could reap another $120 or more per acre from milo crops, said Rogers. This is based on a conservative yield of three tons per acre at about $40 a ton. Production costs on the ag-residue paper is estimated at 10 to 25 percent less than wood products.

Rogers initiated research on the project about two years ago with a Baylor professor. In a community meeting here in March of this year, volunteer contributions were raised to do more research. Local donations of $14,000 matched a Texas Department of Agriculture grant, and the Grain Sorghum Producers Association added another $5,000 to the $33,000 total raised.

Rogers had samples of paper and cardboard which were made from milo stubble from this area. "We have the potential of making cardboard boxes for the beef packing plants in the area, which would be a large market by itself," said Rogers. He also showed unfinished paper sheets, which appear to be the same as paper from wood products.

About 1,200 tons of stubble could be produced in Deaf Smith County, alone, said Rogers. Adding Parmer and Castro counties would bring the total to 3,800 tons a day. A paper plant would have a capacity below those totals.

The big advantage of such an industry would be in value-added products, pointed out Rogers. By growing more milo and less corn, farmers could save on irrigation. The project could create jobs, add income for local farmers and widen the tax base.

"This project offers more potential for economic development in this area than any idea I've seen come along in years," Rogers stated.

CHOF entry in Macy's parade

The National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center in Hereford was represented in the 65th Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade by this horse-drawn wagon, pictured here going through Times Square in New York City. The entry featured five CHOF honorees, trick ropers and Patsy Montana, who sang "I Want To Be A Cowboy's Sweetheart" on NBC-TV's national broadcast of the parade. The participants enjoyed Thanksgiving dinner at the Cowgirl Hall of Fame Restaurant after the parade. The entry was designed by Virginia Artho and decorated by Terry Sparks.

Recession stresses charities

By ANITA SNOW
Associated Press Writer

The recession drew larger crowds than usual to charity organizations and community groups, as more people without jobs or money sought turkey dinners with all the trimmings.

In Augusta, Maine, worker Lee Ware said he saw a lot of new faces - including those of entire families - among the estimated 600 people who ate holiday meals at Green Street United Methodist Church.

"You can tell, there are people here who probably a year ago had a job," Ware said.

The ailing economy was even mentioned in President Bush's Thanksgiving Day message to the nation.

"I am concerned and I want to help," he said. "I know that for a person out of a job, the unemployment rate is 100 percent."

But for much of the nation the holiday remained a joyous tradition and an occasion to give thanks.

An estimated 500,000 people turned out to watch the 65th annual Macy's Thanksgiving Day parade in New York City, featuring huge helium-filled balloons of cartoon characters floating down Broadway.

The six Atlantis astronauts celebrated Thanksgiving in space, where some of them used the weightless environment to flip their filled forks in the air, then grab them with their mouths.

Three former American hostages, Thomas Sutherland, Jesse Turner and Edward Tracy, celebrated their first Thanksgiving since being freed from Lebanon.

Sutherland and Turner planned quiet family celebrations, and Tracy, who's been hospitalized in the past for psychological disorders, ate turkey dinner at the Veterans Administration Medical Center in Boston.

But in many parts of the nation the holiday was marred by the threat of racial tension and violence or by economic woes.

In Wellesley, Mass., a small bomb found in a football field forced postponement of this year's installment of the nation's oldest high school gridiron rivalry.

The bomb was safely detonated hours before the scheduled start of the 104th annual game between the Wellesley High School Raiders and the Needham High School Rockets. The game was postponed until today.

In the past, the intense rivalry has prompted graffiti and other pranks from the visiting team before the game.

In Iowa, Gov. Terry Branstad spent Thanksgiving with residents of racially torn Dubuque, asking them to ignore a planned visit this weekend by Thomas Robb, national director of the Ku Klux Klan. The mostly white community has seen at least 10 cross burnings since July.

Volunteers at non-profit organizations serving Thanksgiving meals around the country said lines were longer than in past years.

"The number of people coming in is definitely increasing and donations are not keeping up," said Loretta McGovern, spokeswoman for the Park Plaza Hotel in Boston, which provided free meals to 600 people.

Joanne Esposito of East Boston said she turned to charity for her holiday meal for the first time this year.

"Every year, I buy a turkey, I buy my own food. But we just didn't have that much to share this year," she said.

The Salvation Army fed some 10,000 people in New York, and about 22,000 people got free meals in downtown Atlanta.

"People are without jobs. They have to decide if they want to pay the light bill or eat," said the Rev. Terrell Shields, who coordinated a dinner that by noon had served about 800 people in Rome, Ga.

More than 17,000 senior citizens received free holiday meals in San Antonio, Texas, despite the economic woes of the annual event's founder.

"The recession has been hard on everyone, including me," said event founder Raul Jimenez Sr., a businessman who filed for bankruptcy last year.

Sen. Bivins happy with TEA proposal

AUSTIN--State Sen. Teel Bivins(R-Amarillo) says the reorganization of the Texas Education Agency will pass more control from the state bureaucracy to local school districts.

As a member of the Senate Interim Education Committee, Bivins is reviewing plans by the state Education Board to reorganize the TEA. He and other committee members recently discussed the plans with state Education Commissioner Lionel "Skip" Meno.

"Under the reorganization, local school districts will be responsible for achieving state education goals," Bivins said. "Local districts will have the freedom to choose which method of instruction they want to use to achieve those goals."

"Meno and I agree that TEA should move away from over-regulation that stifles creativity. Teachers should teach and not have to be pencil pushers for the Texas Education Agency," the senator said.

Bivins said he plans to monitor the actions of TEA to ensure the agency's reorganization, indeed, transfers more control to local school districts.

Additionally, the reorganization will create 60 new positions in regional education service centers around the state.

"The role of these new employees will be to help local school districts with problems they're having with TEA in Austin. TEA will have specific instructions to reply to requests within a few days of a request," Bivins said.

Even with the new positions, the number of employees at TEA will shrink from 1,260 to 1,179, he said.

Christmas shopping season hot

NEW YORK (AP) - Having digested millions of pounds of turkey and trimmings and sated themselves on football games, Americans turn today to the next order of business for Thanksgiving weekend - hitting stores and malls for the start of the Christmas shopping season.

Some will be lined up, waiting for stores to open. But consumers are expected to browse more and buy less this year, analysts said.

"There are some good buys out there, but people don't have the wherewithal to take advantage of them," said Susan Tiffany, managing editor of Everybody's Money, a quarterly consumer magazine published by the Credit Union National Association in Madison, Wis.

Retailers will attempt to lure consumers with special sales and markdowns on merchandise before Christmas Day - a phenomenon virtually unknown in retailing until the late 1980s.

Markdowns began showing up several years ago as consumers began shopping later and later in December, giving storeowners a large case of the jitters.

Then, in 1989, several big department store chains, all owned by the Campeau Corp. of Canada, slashed prices in a vain attempt to avert bankruptcy proceedings. Other retailers, trying to stay competitive, cut prices too.

Consumers got used to the idea and held off their purchases until prices came down.

Unlike past holiday seasons, markdowns showing up this season generally will be part of plans drawn up by retailers months ago.

Dayton Hudson Corp. Chairman Kenneth Macke said his battle plan was set, but declined to divulge details.

Thomas J. Tashjian, an analyst with First Manhattan Co., said some retailers - especially those in the Southeast and Midwest - will escape heavy discounting. But in California and the Northeast, where the economy has been most sluggish, retailers will be forced to cut prices to bring in sales, he said.

Consumers don't appear to be in the mood to spend this year. The Commerce Department said Wednesday that consumer spending dropped 0.3 percent in October, the biggest decline in six months.

"People are hunkering down... We still find ourselves in a recessionary setting," said Janet Mangano, a retail industry analyst with Burnham Securities Inc.

"I'm not going to buy a lot," said Barbara Shaw, a 32-year-old teacher's aide who was interviewed on a recent trip to a Milwaukee mall.

Shaw said she's more concerned about putting food on the table than about putting presents under the tree for her three children.

"When you finish paying rent and utility bills and other kinds of bills, there's nothing left," she said.

"When you finish paying rent and utility bills and other kinds of bills, there's nothing left," a shopper

In Detroit, General Motors Corp. said it was canceling bonuses this season for salaried workers in a move expected to save more than $60 million.

About 100,000 GM employees in the United States and another 7,000 in Canada won't get the $600 holiday bonus, company spokesman John Mueller said.

GM's 300,000 hourly workers, covered by the United Auto Workers, will get their bonuses, Mueller said. The bonuses will be paid next week.

GM, which is facing one of the worst economic slumps in its history, has lost more than $2.2 billion through the first nine months this year.

Ector to levy fines on jury no-shows

ODESSA, Texas (AP) - When only 85 of more than 300 people showed up for jury duty last week, Ector County Judge Jim Jordan and County Court-at-Law judges Robert Hollman and James Bobo weren't impressed.

From now on, those who fail to appear will be brought to the courthouse and fined a minimum of $50, they agreed.

"We certainly realize that a person's job is important, but unless they have an official exemption, they will be fined at least $50," Hollman said.

Bobo said the public needs to realize that jury duty is not something to disregard.

"It's something we don't want to do but we have to," Bobo said. "It's gotten to the point that we've come up almost short in our (jury) panels."

Hollman said jury duty is an integral part of the justice system.

"It's important to have people for a jury when someone asks for a jury trial," he said.

Cases in the county courts usually move rapidly - a day to 112 days - and jurors no longer will be excused from duty over the telephone, Hollman said.

"We don't have cases like (Gen. Manuel) Noriega or William Kennedy Smith," Hollman told the Odessa American.

Hollman said legal exemptions from jury duty include anyone over 65, someone with a child under 10 years old who would not have adequate supervision, and students of secondary schools and institutions of higher learning.

Ector County Clerk Barbara Bedford said the court sent 325 notices notifying jurors about their duty last week and "we never heard from the biggest percentage of them."

Prospective jurors have a full week to send in an exemption card or come to the courthouse to be excused from duty.

"During the last six months we've had jurors packed in here, but this past week was the smallest number we've had this year," Ms. Bedford

Urbanczyk earns scholarship

Greg Urbanczyk (seated, right), a Hereford student at South Plains College, was recently honored for his scholarship achievement in high school and college studies at SPC's annual Scholarship Recognition Luncheon. Urbanczyk was named a recipient of the Christine Devitt Scholarship, and was one of over 275 students and parents honored during the luncheon. Pictured with Greg are his parents, A.J. and Loretta Urbanczyk.

Hospital complaints grow rapidly

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - The state official in charge of investigating alleged improper patient care at private psychiatric hospitals says her agency is being swamped with so many complaints that her staff hasn't even been able to keep a running total.

"I wish we had more hands and minds to work on this," said Sue Dillard, director of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation's Department of Standards and Quality Assurance, which investigates consumer complaints.

"This is just unprecedented. We have to handle it on a day-by-day basis. None of us has been working a normal 40-hour week," Ms. Dillard said.

Her staff is working overtime to tackle the workload, she told the San Antonio Express-News.

A flood of complaints about patient treatment at private psychiatric hospitals has been pouring into MHMR since hearings on alleged abuses began in July, officials say.

Gov. Ann Richards has asked for a total by Monday on the number of complaints concerning private psychiatric hospitals. Ms. Dillard said her staff plans to have the tally by then.

"Our workload has increased by at least five or six times what it would be in a normal year," Ms. Dillard said.

Statewide hearings into private psychiatric care began July 3, following published reports across the state about discharge policies and billing procedures.

"This has been a pent-up issue, and now the dam has broken. People have not come forward before because being treated in a psychiatric hospital is not normally something one brags about," she said.

A separate MHMR division, the Office of Consumer Rights and Protection Services, investigates abuse and neglect complaints against hospitals, "and their complaints are rising at a similar level," Ms. Dillard said.

Her department normally has one investigator, Ben Marroquin, but has temporarily pulled in three staff

$1.4 billion costs expected to treat victims of AIDS

NEW YORK (AP) - Treating the nation's AIDS patients will cost $4.4 billion this year while medical care for people infected with the AIDS virus will reach $1.4 billion, a federal study estimates.

The combined totals could reach $7.2 billion in 1992, $8.7 billion in 1993 and $10.4 billion in 1994, the study said.

By comparison, the annual cost of treating cancer was recently estimated at $35.3 billion, said study author Fred Hellinger.

He said his study is the first national estimate to consider not only people with AIDS, but also people who are infected with the AIDS-causing virus, HIV, but who have not developed the disease.

Hellinger said his figures are underestimates because they exclude several expensive medications approved since he did the calculations, as well as unapproved drugs and services such as counseling that are not covered by insurance or Medicaid.

Hellinger is director of the division of cost and financing at the federal Agency for Health Care Policy and Research. He presents his estimates in the fall issue of Inquiry, a journal dealing with health care organization, provision and financing.

In a telephone interview, Hellinger said a recently proposed change in the federal definition of AIDS would not affect his overall estimates, although it would shift some costs from HIV treatment to AIDS treatment.

Hellinger based his estimates on information from a variety of sources, including Medicaid studies in several states and research at treatment centers.

The calculated cost this year of $4.4 billion for treatment of AIDS was based on an annual treatment cost of $32,000 per patient. The estimate assumes averages of 1.6 hospital stays per year at 15 days per stay, and $1,000 a day for time in the hospital.

The estimate also assumes that outpatient costs comprise 25 percent of the total calculated cost of care for an AIDS patient, an assumption Hellinger called conservative.

The $1.4 billion figure for treating HIV infection without AIDS this year covers only people actually receiving treatment for HIV infection, rather than the cost of treating every infected person. An estimated 1 million Americans are infected.

On the basis of reports from a variety of treatment centers, Hellinger estimated that two people with HIV receive medical care for every AIDS patient under care.

He set the average annual cost of HIV treatment this year at $5,150 per patient. That assumes that at any one time 30 percent of such patients are receiving the drug AZT to suppress the virus and 30 percent are taking aerosol pentamidine to forestall a potentially lethal pneumonia.

The cost of AZT was estimated at $2,700 a year and aerosol pentamidine at $3,000 a year.

The estimate also includes annual costs of $500 a year for other drugs, $700 for visits to medical offices and clinics, $800 for laboratory tests, $200 for other outpatient expenses and $1,240 for inpatient hospital care.

members from other MHMR offices to help take and check out complaints, Ms. Dillard said.

Marroquin said his department has received complaints against psychiatric hospitals all over the state. The two most common allegations have been about improper discharge or transfer issues and inadequate services, he said.

"It's a matter of professional ethics. Doctors direct treatment, and by law they are supposed to decide when a patient should be admitted and discharged," Marroquin said.

"In practice, we have found that sometimes people other than doctors are making those decisions and convincing a psychiatrist to endorse them. It seems clear to me that a doctor is occasionally willing to attest to a decision to admit or discharge a patient against his better judgment, based on a need to get along with the hospital, which is the primary source of his patient referrals," he added.

Whereas a decade ago, most patients admitted to these hospitals were patients of a doctor there, now most seem to be generated by the hospitals' marketing techniques, he said.

"The hospital administrator controls which doctors get those patients, and that may affect the professional judgment of the doctor," Marroquin said.

Peacekeeping forces may patrol in Croatia

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) - Removing an obstacle to the deployment of a U.N. peacekeeping force, embattled Croatia says it will allow U.N. soldiers to patrol battle zones in the secessionist republic.

Previously, Croatian President Franjo Tudjman only supported sending U.N. peacekeepers to the republic's borders in an effort to end the 5-month-old civil war against army forces and ethnic Serb fighters.

In another sign to lessening tensions, Croatian and Yugoslav military leaders plan to resume talks on prisoner exchanges today.

But clashes have repeatedly broken out despite the latest truce effort - the 14th attempted in Croatia. U.N. officials say peacekeepers will not be sent until a firm cease-fire is reached.

Thousands of people have died in battles since Croatia declared independence June 25. The Serb-led army and ethnic Serbs opposed to secession have taken control of more than one-third of Croatia.

Croatia contends Serbia is trying to permanently annex territory. But the army-led forces claim the 600,000 ethnic Serbs would face persecution in an independent Croatia.

Tudjman said on Croatian TV on Thursday night that the republic's leaders agreed U.N. peacekeepers should go "to the areas where war operations were carried out" as well as on Croatia's eastern border with Serbia.

Earlier, Tudjman and other Croatian officials said they feared sending peacekeepers through the republic would lead to a loss of the Serb-controlled areas.

Serbia has urged that U.N. forces be allowed to patrol throughout the republic of 5 million people.

The issue of prisoners is scheduled to be discussed today, and both sides were expected to submit POW lists, Croatian Deputy Defense Minister Stjepan Adanic said.

He claimed the army was holding captive 11,300 civilians from Vukovar, the eastern Croatian stronghold that fell after three months of fighting early last week. A total of 620 Croatian fighters and 156 medical workers are also being held, he alleged.

Much of the recent fighting has been waged around Osijek, Croatia's biggest eastern city of 140,000, under siege from federal forces for months. The city is 130 miles east of Zagreb, the republic's capital.

Cowboys surge by Steelers, 20-10

IRVING, Texas (AP) - A year ago the Dallas Cowboys curled up and died after Troy Aikman was injured. This season they are flourishing without their starter and making a wild-card playoff surge thanks to a quarterback Al Davis didn't want around.

Steve Beuerlein, who started 15 games for the Los Angeles Raiders and was 8-7, paid another dividend on Jimmy Johnson's quarterback insurance policy.

Beuerlein, obtained in August for a 1992 fourth round draft pick, hit

Michael Irvin with a 66-yard touchdown pass that gave Dallas a 20-10 Thanksgiving Day victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

"Troy and Steve are both good quarterbacks," said Irvin. "Troy has a stronger arm but look what a fantastic job Steve did with just a short week. The more we work together the better we will get."

The Cowboys wilted last year when Aikman was injured and backup Babe Laufenberg couldn't produce victories in the final two games, keeping the Cowboys from the playoffs.

Which is why Johnson got rid of Laufenberg in training camp and traded for Beuerlein.

"Beuerlein did just a great job filling in," Johnson said. "He executed the game plan, didn't make any turnovers, then hit the big play."

Aikman suffered a knee injury against Washington last week that will keep him out at least three weeks. Beuerlein came into that game and threw a touchdown pass to Irvin in a 24-21 victory.

"This year it doesn't matter whether we have Steve or Troy back there because they both can move the team," said center Mark Stepnoski.

The Cowboys (8-5) are in a favorable position in the wild-card race. The Steelers' (5-8) were virtually eliminated from contention in the AFC.

Irvin caught eight passes for 157 yards. On the touchdown pass from Beuerlein with 7:22 to play, he shook off tackles by safety Gary Jones and cornerback Rod Woodson.

Beuerlein, making his first NFL start in two years, found Irvin cutting across the middle. Jones missed and then Irvin shook off Woodson at the Steelers 15-yard line to score standing up.

"The 'playmaker' made the play," said Beuerlein, who was limping on a sprained left ankle. "He beat the safety to the ball. I was hoping he was get there first. It's the kind of play you expect him to make and the kind of play we needed to break the game open."

Dallas led only 13-10 when Beuerlein made the big play on third-and-10.

"I knew the safety (Jones) wanted to put a big hit on me," Irvin said. "I just caught it and took off."

The Steelers trailed 10-0 at halftime but came back on Gary Anderson's 42-yard field goal and a 3-yard scoring run by Warren Williams with 7:54 to play.

Up to the Beuerlein-Irvin connection, the Cowboys only had a 43-yard field goal by Ken Willis in the second half. Willis missed three field goal attempts.

Pittsburgh coach Chuck Noll said the touchdown pass was "good players making a good play. It could have been a big play in the other direction."

Steelers quarterback Neil O'Donnell said it looked almost hopeless for the Steelers to make the playoffs.

"Our playoff chances are pretty much gone, so I guess from now until the end of the season we play for pride," O'Donnell said. "The defense played well enough for us to win. It's kind of frustrating that we couldn't do more offensively."

Beuerlein hit 14 of 25 passes for 217 yards while O'Donnell had 17 of 36 for 167 yards.

"Steve did a great job when you consider he couldn't even practice Monday because of his ankle," Johnson said.

"I made some good plays and some bad plays," Beuerlein said. "You've got to remember these are the same guys who shut down Warren Moon and the Houston Oilers. They threw us some loops."

Defensive lineman Tony Casillas said it was just the tonic the Cowboys needed for a playoff stretch run.

"We're going to be on a tear now," he said.

Dallas has a 17-6 record on games following Thanksgiving. The Cowboys are host to New Orleans on Dec. 7.

Lions whip Bears, 16-6

By The Associated Press

The San Francisco 49ers are down to their third quarterback and their final quarter of the season.

"Every game we play now is like a playoff game - it's do or die. That's the approach we're taking," San Francisco running back Harry Sydney said as the 49ers prepared for Sunday's key game against New Orleans.

The 49ers, winners of five straight NFC West titles while qualifying for the playoffs the past eight years, have been at their best in the late going. They have a league-best 17-3 record in December.

And they will have to be good if they want to make the playoffs this time. The 49ers, winners of four Super Bowls in the 1980s, are struggling at 6-6.

It's been a tough year all around for the 49ers, who lost starting quarterback Joe Montana at the start of the season and have since lost backup Steve Young, both to injury. The 49ers have played their last three games with Steve Bono at quarterback.

Meanwhile, a victory by New Orleans (9-3) would give the Saints their first NFC West division title, provided second-place Atlanta (7-5) loses to Green Bay.

In Sunday's other games, it's Cleveland at Indianapolis, the New York Jets at Buffalo, Tampa Bay at Miami, Kansas City at Seattle, New England at Denver, New Orleans at San Francisco, New York Giants at Cincinnati, Washington at the Los Angeles Rams and the Los Angeles Raiders at San Diego. In Monday night's game, Philadelphia visits Houston.

In Thursday's games, Detroit beat Chicago 16-6 and Dallas turned back Pittsburgh 20-10. Phoenix and Minnesota are idle this week.

At Pontiac, Mich., the Lions took advantage of a rare display of turnovers by Chicago and tied the Bears for first place in the NFC Central.

The Lions (9-4), who have won all nine games they've played indoors this season, were shaky on offense but their defense intercepted four Jim Harbaugh passes and recovered two fumbles. Chicago, which lost its second straight game, entered the game with just 22 turnovers all season.

Erik Kramer threw a 9-yard scoring pass to Robert Clark in the first quarter and Eddie Murray kicked three field goals, the final one from 37 yards with 2:50 left, to pace the Lions.

The last time the Lions were 9-4 was 1970, when the team coached by Joe Schmidt finished 10-4 and lost a 5-0 playoff game to the Dallas Cowboys. That 1970 team won its final five games to earn a wild-card berth.

"We played one of the better games I can remember us playing in the time I've been here," Lions coach Wayne Fontes said. "We're playing Chicago-style ball the last few weeks. We're playing very good defense, getting ahead and then seeing if the other team will make some errors."

Aggies now thinking about Cotton Bowl, Seminoles

DALLAS (AP) - The Cotton Bowl bid was a consolation for the Florida State Seminoles, but it was the Texas A&M Aggies who withheld their RSVP.

The 10th-ranked Aggies didn't accept the host bid until Thursday night after they whipped arch-rival Texas 31-14 at Kyle Field in College Station.

The Aggies clinched their 16th Southwest Conference title and a Cotton Bowl berth with last week's 65-6 rout of Southern Methodist. But it wouldn't have meant much if they had lost to the stumbling Longhorns (5-6, 4-4), who beat Texas A&M 28-27 last year and won the conference title.

"The race is officially over," Aggies coach R.C. Slocum said Thursday night.

And with that, the Aggies (10-1, 8-0) started thinking Cotton.

And about the third-ranked Seminoles.

"Sure as I'm sitting here," said A&M sophomore safety Patrick Bates, "it's going to be one of the best Cotton Bowls ever."

The Aggies will be making their seventh trip the New Year's Day game in Dallas. Florida State is a newcomer.

A&M has represented the Southwest Conference in four of the last six Cotton Bowls, including three straight from 1986-88. In their last trip, they routed Notre Dame 35-10.

After losing to Texas last year, the Aggies settled for the Holiday Bowl, where they smashed Brigham Young and Heisman winner Ty Detmer 65-14.

Florida State (10-1) settled for the Cotton Bowl after falling to Miami 17-16 two weeks ago when Gerry Thomas' 34-yard field goal attempt went wide right by less than a foot with 25 seconds left.

The heartbreaking loss ended a 16-game winning streak for Florida State. The Orange Bowl-bound Hurricanes took over the top spot, which the Seminoles had occupied all season.

The third-ranked Seminoles play No. 5 Florida (9-1) in Gainesville Saturday.

With the national title only a longshot for either team, Florida and Florida State play for state pride. The loser ends up as the No. 3 school in the state. The matchup features FSU's Casey Weldon against Florida's Shane Matthews, two of the nation's best quarterbacks.

Florida State has a four-game winning streak over the Gators, including two victories at Florida Field. The Gators, though, are 11-0 at home under coach Steve Spurrier.

The Seminoles are 11-7-2 in bowl games and will be making their 10th straight bowl appearance. Under coach Bobby Bowden, the Seminoles are 9-2-1 in post-season play and have a six-bowl winning streak.

The Aggies are 11-7 in bowl games, including 4-2 in the Cotton. Texas A&M is 27-8-1 overall under Slocum.

The young Aggies were picked to finish behind Houston, Baylor and Texas in the SWC on their way to bigger and better things in the next couple of seasons.

But they used an early 35-34 loss to Tulsa as a rallying charge and swept through the conference unscathed while the Cougars, Bears and Longhorns suffered embarrassing and debilitating defeats.

In 16 seasons with Red Auerbach as coach, the Boston Celtics won 99 NBA playoff games.

Hank Aaron, baseball's all-time home run king with 755, had 12,364 times at bat.

Youth cage leagues set for YMCA

Applications are now being accepted for the 1992 youth basketball leagues at the Hereford YMCA.

The leagues are designed for children in grades 1-6, and teams are coached by adult volunteers. Every game will be supervised and referees are provided. The league specializes in wholesome competition while teaching the fundamentals of team play and good sportsmanship. Every girl and boy plays in every game.

There will be three divisions: first-second grades (six-year-old may play in the division); third-fourth grades; and, fifth-sixth grades. The teams will be drawn at the YMCA office.

The league fee is $12, and all participants must be YMCA members. YMCA membership for youngsters is $25 a year and includes use of the facility for a year. Entry fee must accompany the registration form.

Applications are available at the Hereford YMCA.

Lady Whitefaces lose tourney tilt at Frenship

The Hereford Lady Whitefaces held the Class 2A state-ranked Spearman Lynxettes to just two points in the fourth quarter, but Hereford couldn't come all the way back in a 31-23 loss in the opening round of the Frenship Turkey Classic at Wolforth.

Both teams' offenses were sluggish most of the game, with Spearman leading just 7-3 at the end of the first quarter. The Lynxettes outscored the Lady Whitefaces 15-10 in the second period to take a 22-13 halftime lead.

Spearman outscored Hereford 7-4 in the third period to lead 29-17. Spearman mustered only two points in the fourth period, but Hereford could score just six in the final quarter.

Jennifer Bullard scored five points to lead Hereford. Stephanie Wilcox, Kyanne Lindley and Misty Dudley each scored four points for Hereford, which is now 0-4 on the year. Spearman is 4-0 this season.

Hereford plays the winner of this morning's Denver City-Friona game at 4:45 p.m. today in Wolforth in the consolation semifinals.

A&M raps Texas, 31-14

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) - Texas A&M's offense had trouble scoring against the Texas defense, so linebacker Marcus Buckley and punt returner Kevin Smith decided to help out.

Buckley intercepted Texas' first pass of the game and returned it 19 yards for a touchdown and Smith broke open a rugged defensive duel in the third quarter with a 73-yard punt return, leading the No. 10 Aggies to a 31-14 victory Thursday night.

The Aggies, who clinched their 16th SWC title last week in a 65-6 victory over Southern Methodist, accepted the Cotton Bowl's week-old invitation to play No. 3 Florida State in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1. The Aggies improved to 10-1, 8-0 in the Southwest Conference.

"We accept it, the race is officially over," Texas A&M coach R.C. Slocum said. "We felt if we could hang in there, the defense would win us the game."

"I was prepared to go into the fourth quarter and win with defense."

But Smith's return and a pair of second-half touchdown runs by Greg Hill helped the Aggies to finally wear down the stout Texas defense, ranked fourth in the nation.

"I thought Greg Hill ran hard all night," Slocum said. "He took some shots but kept getting back up for more."

Texas A&M's defense, ranked first in the nation, held Texas (5-6, 4-4) in check in the first half and eased to a 10-7 halftime lead. The Aggies extended it to 17-7 on the first drive of the third period on Hill's 2-yard run.

On his big return, Smith fielded the punt, made a move to his right and darted 73 yards for the touchdown. He also had a 71-yard punt return for a touchdown against Rice earlier this season.

"I'll never forget this," Aggies linebacker Jason Atkinson said. "It's a family feeling the way we pulled together this year. We started celebrating after Kevin's punt return."

The Longhorns capitalized on an 18-yard interception return by Grady Cavness with a 3-yard touchdown run by Rodrick Walker with 8:44 to play. Hill got his second touchdown on a 2-yard run with 3:03 to play.

"This win tonight was a team effort," A&M quarterback Bucky Richardson said. "The defense played great, we played good and the special teams played good. That's what it takes to win championships. You have to have all three and we had all three tonight."

Buckley fueled the Aggies' top-ranked defense in the first half with his 19-yard touchdown interception return, two sacks and a fumble recovery.

"When I turned around and saw the ball coming at me, my eyes got big as my helmet," Buckley said. "I thought if I didn't get my hands up fast enough, it would hit me right in the face."

Florida State still has hopes of national championship

By The Associated Press

The Florida State Seminoles have lost their No. 1 ranking, but not their national championship hopes.

A longshot with their No. 3 ranking, the Seminoles can still win the national title - if No. 1 Miami and No. 2 Washington both stumble. And, of course, if Florida State beats No. 5 Florida on Saturday and Texas A&M in the Cotton Bowl.

First, Florida.

"I've told my players that now we will really see what they are made of," said Florida State coach Bobby Bowden, whose team lost its No. 1 ranking in a 17-16 defeat against Miami two weeks ago. "I have challenged them to bounce back from that loss. I would think that they would. There is still a heck of a lot at stake."

And for Florida, as well.

Coach Steve Spurrier's team won the school's first official Southeastern Conference title and is headed to the Sugar Bowl, yet a victory over Florida State would mean just as much to a group of players who've never beaten the Seminoles.

"We've been playing catch-up to those guys. It's like we've been in the shadows all season," Gators offensive lineman Hesham Ismail said. "It's going to give us some incentive. We beat Florida State, and we're definitely going to get some recognition around the country."

Florida State (10-1) has beaten Florida (9-1) four consecutive times, including twice in Gainesville where the Seminoles have never won three straight. FSU is a slight favorite, but the Gators are 11-0 at home under Spurrier. Florida has won seven straight since an early season 38-21 loss at Syracuse.

In other games Saturday, San Diego State visits No. 1 Miami; No. 8 Alabama plays Auburn at Birmingham, Ala.; Vanderbilt is at No. 9 Tennessee; Duke meets No. 13 Clemson in Tokyo; No. 18 Notre Dame plays at Hawaii; No. 22 Tulsa visits Southern Methodist and No. 25 Georgia is at Georgia Tech.

In action today, No. 19 Oklahoma played at No. 11 Nebraska.

In games on Thursday, No. 6 Penn State defeated Pittsburgh 32-20 and No. 10 Texas A&M beat Texas 31-14.

At Pittsburgh, Tony Sacca led the Nittany Lions on two TD drives in the opening 51 minutes and Craig Fayak kicked four field goals as Joe Paterno became the fourth-winningest coach with victory No. 239.

Pitt (6-5) closed to 26-20 on Alex Van Pelt's 4-yard TD pass to Glenn Deveaux before Richie Anderson scored for Penn State (10-2) on a 29-yard run with 6:43 left. Van Pelt was intercepted five times.

Paterno, probably coaching his last game at Pitt Stadium, scored his 239th victory at Penn State to move past Woody Hayes into fourth place on the all-time career coaching victories list. He trails only Bear Bryant, Amos Alonzo Stagg and Pop Warner.

The Pitt-Penn State series, first played in 1893, will end after next season as Penn State moves into the Big Ten Conference. Penn State leads the series 46-41-4.

Injury-riddled Mustangs face Tulsa Saturday

TULSA, Okla. (AP) - Southern Methodist coach Tom Rossley sat in the locker room reading his team roster after last week's 65-6 loss to Texas A&M. It didn't look good.

Mark Martinez is out with a knee injury. He was Rossley's starting strong safety at season's start.

Receiver Corey Beard is out with a shoulder injury but might be able to play when the Mustangs (1-9) play host to No. 22 Tulsa (8-2) in Dallas Saturday.

Cornerback Richie Butler suffered a knee injury but will play. Quarterback Mike Romo is out with a possibly career-ending knee injury. Johnathon Mumphrey was in a car crash and won't play. He was captain of the Mustangs' special teams.

Cornerback Marcus Malonson suffered a knee injury and is out for the year.

Not that Rossley wants to belabor the point.

"The team is coming off what Rossley concedes was a thrashing by Texas A&M. On Saturday, it plays the one team this year that beat the 10th-ranked Aggies."

"We've just come off a physical beating at Texas A&M, and now we're going to play the one team that beat them," Rossley said. "That says a lot right there."

Birds back in S. Texas

By RAY SASSER
The Dallas Morning News
LA REFORMA, Texas (AP) - The birds are back - at least in the southern tip of Texas, an unsung bobwhite factory where, in years like this, a quail population of one per acre is not unusual. Just because they're plentiful, don't expect them to give up easily. There's a good chance that the typical quail hunter, a fellow who relies on commercial hunting operations rather than going to the trouble to train and maintain his own dogs, hasn't shot a wild quail in years.

Take, for example, the conversation dog trainer Harlen Winter had with a Southern bird shooter last season after Winter's dogs pointed a big covey and the bobwhites flushed low on the backside of a cactus patch, skimming just above the ground until they were well out of shotgun range, then pitching down into cover so thick the dogs could not hunt it.

"Suh," said the indignant sportsman, "yo buhds are not Southern gentlemen."

Maybe the quail are not Southern gentlemen, the mythical bobwhite of yore that fed daily in the lower 40 pea patch, held tight as a tick when the dogs pointed them, then fanned out perfectly as singles in sparse cover along the creek bottom.

Texas bobs are hardy survivors, the favorite item on the menu of virtually every brush country carnivore, including man. If they gave up easily, they wouldn't have survived for this long.

"Truth is," said Winter, who furnishes the dogs for Rick Hodges' Southwest Safaris hunting operation near McAllen, "a lot of quail hunters from outside Texas haven't shot wild quail in years. The birds they're shooting are pen-raised."

That's also true on many commercial hunting operations in Texas, but Hodges specializes in providing clients what he calls "the Texas experience," and that includes a challenging hunt for quail that don't view each passing truck as a meal ticket.

Don Wilson, quail program leader for Texas Parks and Wildlife, used a radar gun to time the speeds of both wild and pen-raised quail. Top flight speed recorded for a wild bird was 36 mph. The best a pen-raised bird could do for Wilson's radar gun was 18 mph. That goes a long way toward explaining why many hunters have trouble shooting birds with Southwest Safaris.

"Last year, we averaged finding about 12 wild coveys a day," Hodges said, "but last year was not a good season for quail. Our goal is 15 to 20 coveys a day."

On opening day of the Texas quail season, Hodges and Winter put our hunting party on 14 coveys, despite the jungle-like vegetation that made hunting difficult on dogs and hunters.

"When you talk to other hunters who hunt in South Texas, the story will be lots of quail but terrible hunting conditions," Hodges said.

The South Texas brush country is the bobwhite capital of the world. Ironically, poor range management - primarily overgrazing by cattle - deserves part of the credit, according to Wilson.

"Everything about the brush country is made to order for quail," Wilson said. "There are seed-producing plants everywhere you look, cattle keep the ground bare enough most places that the birds can get around easily and yet they're never more than 100 yards from overhead cover. In peak years, I think there are places down there with three or four quail per acre."

The only variable is rainfall, and that's what makes the Rio Grande Valley area where Hodges is located more consistent than the interior brush country counties farther from the coast.

"We typically get more rainfall than they get just north of here," Hodges said. "Also, we're near enough to the coast that we get heavy dew most mornings in the spring and summer and that helps the quail, even when it doesn't rain."

Duncanville has rich hoop history

By DWAIN PRICE
Dallas Times Herald
DUNCANVILLE, Texas (AP) - They start out as wide-eyed Little Dribblers with one goal in mind: To one day play basketball at Duncanville High School for Sandra Meadows.

In her 23 years as the Duncanville girls basketball coach, Meadows has seen winner after winner come through her program. The success has garnered national attention and helped the Pantherettes remain one of the state's most talked-about programs.

Meadows has a 834-224 won-loss record and has earned four state championships for Duncanville.

The Pantherettes this season return starters Martha McClelland, 6-4; Christy Lake, 5-8; Lana Tucker, 5-7; and Aimee Thrailkill, 5-8, from a team that last year finished last year 37-1. Add that to a junior varsity team that was 30-2 and an undefeated freshman squad, and it's easy to understand why the Pantherettes spend most of the time reloading rather than rebuilding.

"There's a lot of pride in being a part of this program," Meadows said. "We have the facilities and the backing of this administration, the kids work hard, and all of those things combined create a very consistent atmosphere to win consistency."

"We have a youth league that's sponsored by the city of Duncanville where they start playing in the third grade. And the people who coach those kids do a really good job with them that they're learning fundamentals and learning to have a good attitude while they're on their way up toward me."

Dana McCarroll, in her 15th year as the Duncanville freshman coach, said the competition is fierce for spots on the two freshman teams. She starts the season with about 45 girls and after preseason cuts ends up with two 12-player teams.

McCarroll played against Duncanville when she was at Decatur High School and, while at Saginaw Boswell, coached against Meadows. She never beat the Pantherettes, so she decided to join them.

"When you're here you just know this is one of the best situations for anybody, no matter what level," McCarroll said. "This is a great opportunity, because for all of my life Duncanville has always been a top-notch basketball program."

Duncanville's junior high programs - at Byrd and Reed - have had their impacts, also. After they leave there, they are funneled to McCarroll, and then to Meadows.

"We all have been here so long it's like a family," McCarroll said. "Our kids come in very well disciplined with good attitudes, and none of us are here on a layover."

Two of Meadows' former assistants are coaching elsewhere. Susan Addy is head coach at Lewisville, and Cyndra Anderson is the coach at Texas Wesleyan.

Duncanville's only loss last season was to Victoria, 36-34, in the 5A state semifinals. That loss snapped a 134-game winning streak, which tied for second on the nation's all-time list.

As each day passed, the streak became a daily topic among fans and the media. Is there another one in the offing?

"I certainly wouldn't expect anything like that to ever happen again," Meadows said. "Naturally we want to win every game that we can, but I have not thought about another long winning streak at all."

Southwest Outdoors

with Mel Phillips

Thanksgiving is more than just great food, a day off work, and football. Its time to give thanks as we enjoy the great outdoors.

The hunters give thanks because it's open season for quail, turkey, deer, duck, goose, crane, and aoudad. The economic downturn has reduced the cost of many 1991 hunting leases. Now may be a great time to tie up some choice hunting property at bargain prices.

The anglers in Texas give thanks because, with the possible exception of Lake Meredith, fishing has never been better. The three major factors that have caused this outstanding fishing are: 1. The anglers who now practice catch-and-release (during our 1991 tournaments, I have witnessed fishermen release walleye and bass up to 10 lbs)

2. the vigorous stocking of Florida bass (the late Bob Kemp, of the Texas and Parks and Wildlife Department, had the courage to explore uncharted waters and defy the experts who smugly proclaimed that Florida bass would die in our cold water lakes);

3. and finally, learning how to catch fish is easier because of the many articles that share accurate 'how-to' information from the winners of fishing tournaments.

Yes, in America we have many reasons to give thanks and one need only watch the horrors in Croatia, Russia, China or Laos in order to appreciate our many freedoms.

When we relax and enjoy Thanksgiving let us not forget that our liberties came from the sacrifices of all those who fought to win and preserve our freedom.

As I stand on the soapbox of lofty ideals, it fitting to remember that our rights are guaranteed in a written Constitution and Bill of Rights. And it is a free press that scares both tyrants and bureaucrats from the Kremlin all the way to the local courthouse.

Warning: The Lyme Disease bacterium, normally carried by an infected deer tick, remains in the blood of an infected animal. Hunters, in addition to avoiding ticks, need to exercise caution when field dressing wild animals. A company called Impact Agency, 105 Blossom Drawer A, Cartersville, IL, 62918, is offering 5 latex gloves and a pair of long sleeve latex gloves for the bargain price of $1.50.

No locally contracted cases of Lyme Disease have been reported, but health officials note that this threat is moving our direction. It just makes sense to use long sleeved plastic gloves when field dressing big game animals.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why is it that all kinds of noise is considered a normal part of life and quiet is viewed as threatening?

I refer to the ever-present racket we put up with every day, for example, the deafening warning signals of vehicles in reverse, the ear-piercing boombox of the car next to us in traffic and the insipid commercials and corny stuff we are forced to listen to while on hold during telephone conversations. There's music in elevators, in shopping malls and even at the car wash. Heaven forbid there should be a moment of silence.

Are people so uncomfortable with their thoughts that they must be blasted out of their head by some external force?

I am appalled at the need of so many people to have the TV on even though they aren't watching. Does silence frighten them?

Should the construction worker next door be allowed to wire his car telephone to his horn so it will blow when his phone rings? Does the restaurant in a commercial district have the right to play music so loud that it disturbs home owners in a quiet residential area three blocks away? Must every Saturday morning of my life be ruined by the man next door blowing leaves for two hours directly under my bedroom window?

I know you can't do anything about this problem, Ann, but I had to express my frustration and you are the perfect outlet. Thanks for being there.--A Faithful Reader in North Carolina

DEAR FAITHFUL: What you have described is actually a form of pollution. If enough people band together and say, "We are not going to tolerate this intrusion on our lives," we could get rid of a lot of it. Don't give up.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In this era of technology when humans are reduced to numbers on a computer rather than people with names, many employers are desperately trying to achieve the "personal touch" by instructing their receptionists to use first names. I find this appalling.

A 75-year-old man whose first name is Robert is not flattered when an 18-year-old kid opens a door, shouts into a crowded reception room "Bob!" and then looks around for someone she obviously does not know.

Maybe I'm old-fashioned, but I feel insulted when some young kid calls me by my first name. First names are for close friends and family members.

Don't tell me to take my business elsewhere. They all do it. What has happened to manners? Have the barbarians taken over? Please print my letter, Ann. I now others must feel as I do.--Insulted In Durham, Calif.

DEAR DURHAM: You are right. Others do feel insulted when a young person, a stranger at that, calls them by their first name. It is rude, and those who do it should be hauled up short. Incidentally, it's not always 18-year-olds.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Settle a bet. A steak dinner is riding on this: What is the longest running show that ever hit Broadway? I say it's "The Fantasticks."--Iowa Reader

DEAR IOWA: You're wrong. "The Fantasticks" was OFF Broadway. The record holder for ON Broadway performances is "A Chorus Line." It had 3,389 performances at the Shubert Theatre in New York. Approximately 23 million people saw it. Check "The Guinness Book of World Records."

Drugs are everywhere. They're easy to get, easy to use and even easier to get hooked on. If you have questions about drugs, you need Ann Landers' booklet, "The Lowdown on Dope." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Lowdown, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Social, economic prosperity helps heart

By PAUL RAEBURN

AP Science Editor

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) - People with few social or economic resources had triple the heart disease death rate of those with money or someone to confide in, a study shows.

"If you are a patient with heart disease, and you have neither love nor money, your prognosis is worse," said Dr. Redford B. Williams of Duke University.

In a separate study, researchers reported what they said were disturbing findings that women were treated much less aggressively for heart disease than men. Both studies were scheduled for presentation today at the annual meeting of the American Heart Association.

Williams said that people who were not married and had no one to talk to had three times the heart disease death rate of people who were not socially isolated.

Fifty percent of the socially isolated patients died within five years, Williams said. "In contrast, among those who were married or did have someone to talk to, only 17 percent had died by five years," he said.

Poorer people likewise had nearly three times the death rate of their wealthier counterparts.

After five years, 24 percent of those with incomes less than $10,000 per year had died. Among those with annual incomes of $40,000 or more, only 9 percent had died, Williams said.

A number of studies have suggested that low social and economic status is associated with a poorer heart disease outlook. The new study refines the earlier work by showing that social isolation and low income are independently correlated with poor prognosis, Williams said.

The importance of the finding is that it suggests relatively simple ways to lower the heart disease death rate, he said.

"The social isolation could be a target for intervention by simply having a nurse visit once a month," Williams said.

The costs of such social support are far less than bypass surgery and other medical procedures used to lower heart disease mortality, he said.

Further research is needed to evaluate the effectiveness of various social support treatments in much the same way that studies are done to evaluate the effects of lowering cholesterol or blood pressure, Williams said.

The other study, by Dr. Charles Maynard and colleagues at the University of Washington in Seattle, reported that clot-dissolving drugs used to treat heart attacks were given to 26 percent of men studied but only 14 percent of women.

Women were also less likely to receive treatment with inflatable balloons used to open clogged arteries, Maynard said.

The findings "call into question whether women are being appropriately treated for heart attacks," he said.

"We don't know why women receive treatment less often than men," he said. "We need to address why this is occurring."

Williams, meanwhile, said he is extending his findings on low income and social isolation with new research to discover precisely how these adverse factors raise the mortality rate.

Avoiding Holiday Problems

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) - As guests and visiting relatives crowd America's homes during the holiday entertaining season, household sinks, drains and toilets often give trouble through over-use.

To avoid seasonal mishaps, Roto-Rooter Corp. offers these suggestions:

- Use a strainer in the drains of bathtubs and bathroom sinks to catch pipe-clogging hair and soap particles. Clean the strainers regularly.

- At turkey-cooking time, never pour grease down the kitchen drain. It forms a coating on pipes and can cause serious clogs. Put grease in a container with trash.

- Don't let your toilet become a garbage can. Ban all trash except toilet tissue. Heavier materials such as cotton balls or facial tissue are made of strong fibers which don't dissolve.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: About two years ago I was diagnosed as having Crohn's disease. I am a male, age 57. My symptoms were rectal bleeding, arthritis and skin rashes. An endoscopy exam showed three abscesses just above the ileocecal valve, which probably caused the bleeding. Also, a few polyps were removed. Sulfasalazine stopped the bleeding and cleared up the arthritis.

How can I tell when the next onset of this disease is happening? Are there any new medications currently available? I go to sea for a living. Is it safe to be totally removed from any possibility of medical treatment? Are there any restrictions on diet or lifestyle that would hinder or help?

DEAR DR. LAMB: I've had pain and terrible soreness all through my tail bone for a year now. I went to two different bone doctors and they took X-rays and tests of my back bone. They did not tell me anything, just prescribed some pills. One was Clinoril and the other was Naprosyn. I could not take either one because I broke out in a rash and itched real bad. So they don't want to see me any more. Is what I have very rare? I did not injure myself or fall. I'm in my 60s. Could this be a form of arthritis? DEAR READER: Both Clinoril and Naprosyn are prescribed for arthritis, joint and muscular pains. Have you tried aspirin?

You may have spasm of the muscles around the coccyx. That involves the muscles that support the anus. Movement of the coccyx on examination would provide useful information. If so, warm sitz baths, daily massage of the area as best you can, may help. A sympathetic doctor might give you some injections into the muscular area. Improved sitting habits may help. Instead of seeing an orthopedic or bone specialist, perhaps you should see a family doctor to help unravel your problem.

Abdominal pain in the lower right abdomen is the usual first sign of an attack and it may resemble an attack of appendicitis.

When I am startled by almost anything or anyone, I lose muscle tone and fall. It can be a sudden loud noise, a flash of light or simply meeting someone coming around a corner. I hit the floor and am up immediately. I do not lose consciousness, even for a moment.

My present neurologist has me on Anafranil, but I see no improvement. He is having a blood test and, if positive, he will try Ritalin. Any comments?

DEAR DR. LAMB: For the last 30 of my 49 years I have lived with cataplexy. I have had many diagnoses such as neurosis, epilepsy and even agoraphobia. I have taken anticonvulsants, antidepressants and tranquilizers.

DEAR READER: Cataplexy is as you have described it. The loss of muscle contraction you need for body support is sudden and usually occurs with laughter or a surprise. It is usually seen as part of narcolepsy, a condition when a person frequently falls asleep during the day to the point of being dangerous if driving. No, cataplexy is not epilepsy. But its association with narcolepsy is why your neurologist is considering giving you Ritalin, a brain stimulant. I hope it works for you.

sonally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

WHO WROTE THE BIBLE?

AUTHORSHIP OF THE BIBLE, NATURALLY, CAN NOT BE ASCRIBED TO ANY ONE PERSON, OR GROUP OF PERSONS, BUT, WHEN WE VIEW ITS AUTHORSHIP CLOSELY, WE CAN ONLY GASP WITH AMAZEMENT OVER THE VAST ARRAY OF PARTICIPANTS WHO, WRITING OVER A PERIOD OF 1500 YEARS, CAME FROM EVERY WALK OF LIFE. ASSUREDLY, ALL OF THEM WROTE UNDER THE INSPIRATION OF DIVINE GUIDANCE FOR, ALTHOUGH SOME WERE INTELLECTUALLY GIFTED, OTHERS WERE HARDLY LITERATE ENOUGH TO FASHION THE WORDS THEY WROTE/ THEY WERE:

KINGS, PEASANTS, PRIESTS, FISHERMEN, SHEPHERDS, GENERALS, LAWYERS, DOCTORS, TAX COLLECTORS, POLITICIANS, NOBLEMEN, MARTYRS, SOLDIERS, AND SLAVES!

THEY USED EVERY AVAILABLE FORM OF EXPRESSION:

PROSE, POETRY, PARABLES, PRAYERS, SERMONS, SONGS, HISTORY, LAW, LETTERS, DIALOGUE, ANECDOTES, RITUAL, ROMANCE, BIOGRAPHY, EULOGY, ALLEGORY, PROPHECY!

THEY WROTE IN WIDELY VARIED SITUATIONS:

IN PRISONS AND PALACES, CITIES, TOWNS, AND VILLAGES, DARK CAVES, AND ARID DESERTS, BY RIVERS, ON MOUNTAINS, IN DEFEAT, IN VICTORY, IN EXILE!

THEY WROTE ON ALMOST EVERY SUBJECT FOR MANKIND:

GOD AND THE DEVIL, CHRIST AND THE HOLY SPIRIT, CREATION AND SIN, THIEVERY AND CHARITY, HATEFULNESS AND KINDNESS, HONESTY AND TRICKERY, PROPHECY FALSE AND TRUE, LIFE, DEATH, HEAVEN, HELL!

ABOVE ALL, THEY WROTE OF GOD'S PROMISES AND PLANS FOR HIS UNIVERSE, AND OF HIS LOVE FOR US, HIS CHILDREN... WHAT A MAJESTIC HERITAGE IS OURS—THE HOLY BIBLE!

SAVE THIS FOR YOUR SUNDAY SCHOOL SCRAPBOOK.

CLASSIFIEDS
364-2030
Fax: 364-8364
313 N. Lee

CLASSIFIED ADS
Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.
TIMES RATE MIN
1 day per word .15 3.00
2 days per word .28 5.20
3 days per word .37 7.40
4 days per word .48 9.60
5 days per word .59 11.80
If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO changes, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 more free. The regular charge for that ad would be $4.00

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines, those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.
LEGALS
Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.
ERRORS
Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

TIPS ON — HOW TO WRITE A CLASSIFIED AD THAT SELLS

REFRIGERATOR/FREEZER, General Electric, 19 cu. ft., three years old, gold, automatic ice maker, automatic defrost, like-new condition. $400 or best offer! Moving, must sell immediately. Call Saturday between 8AM and 9PM. 000-0000

1. Use a KEYWORD. This immediately tells the reader exactly what it is you have to sell.
2. Make your description CLEAR and FACTUAL. State the year, make, model, color, size, and tell what condition the item is. Also state the special features.
3. State the PRICE. Successful Classified advertisers have learned that the price in an ad helps increase the chances for results.
4. If there's a genuine sense of URGENCY, say so. The words, "We're Moving" or "Must Sell Fast" suggests that readers respond immediately.
5. Include your PHONE NUMBER. Classifieds get results fast and often generate immediate sales. If you cannot be available to answer the phone at all times, be sure to specify special calling times such as "after 6 PM" or "Before 11 AM".

If you need assistance ask one of our friendly AD-VISORS to help you word your ad.
