County healthcare 'in crisis'

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Medical experts at a regional health care forum in Amarillo today heard testimony that health care in Deaf Smith County is in a "crisis situation."

Rose Ann Smith of Hereford was among many persons who testified at a Rural Health Care Forum at the Texas Tech Regional Health Center in Amarillo.

Smith, who has served 22 years in the health care field, is an advanced nurse practitioner at the Hereford Clinic of South Plains Health Providers Organization. The clinic has an active case load of 3,838 patients and is enrolling 39 new families a month.

Those numbers may increase with the recent departure of Dr. Tim Revell and the scheduled departure of Dr. Mary Birdsong in November.

Two other doctors are known to be actively looking at prospects in other cities that could deepen the problems.

"My county is faced with a provider shortage that will soon be severe," Smith told the forum. Revell's practice had 5,000 patients, and Revell worked with Medicaid patients and with the Maternal and Infant Improvement Act Project (MIHIA), which seeks to educate more persons about health care and provide earlier prenatal care for expectant mothers.

Smith told the forum that Birdsong also works with Medicaid patients, the MIHIA project, and has about 3,500 patients.

"Two of our present family physicians do not accept Medicaid assignments," Smith said. "In November this will leave us with only two clinics who will treat Medicaid patients, and only one physician who will take indigent obstetrical patients. This physician is not accepting any new patients and at the present time has an active patient population of 7,500."

"To say that we are medically underserved is an understatement. To say that we are in a crisis situation is a fact."

Smith began what is now the Hereford SPHPO Clinic in 1978 in the San Jose Labor Camp. The clinic is now located on at 600 East Park.

Smith is the only family nurse practitioner in the county and is one of 89 advanced nurse practitioners in the state who has applied for, and received, prescription privileges in Texas.

However, Smith can only practice as a clinician two days a week in order to supervise the entire clinic operation.

The SPHPO office, and Smith individually, are helping relieve the strain on the remaining physicians, including helping persons learn how to care for themselves.

Sometimes, that can be seeking the advice of a pharmacist for possible home care products before seeking medical treatment, Smith said.

"Education is a vital part of using the health care dollar wisely and nurses are the primary health educators on the health care team," Smith said. "They are best suited by their own education and training to teach people that all illnesses do not need to be cared for with a prescribed medication or a trip to the emergency room or doctor's office."

"The people in our county who are most affected by a shortage of primary health care providers, by the lack of available funds needed for medications and for inadequate knowledge on how to best care for their own health needs are the elderly; the working poor who have no health insurance benefits, and young women and children. I face ethical dilemmas daily, trying to ration needed services."

"I see the situation becoming more critical in the near future."

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says if God had meant for man to fly, He would have made it easier to get to the airport.

Temperatures may be hot but, for all practical purposes, summer ends when kids and teachers go back to school. For the parents sending their youngsters off to school for the first time, we'd like to print a column that was written several years ago by Dan Valentine of the Salt Lake Tribune--it contains a message for all of us.

Dear World:

"My young son starts to school today. It's all going to be sort of strange and new to him, for awhile, and I wish you would sort of treat him gently."

"You see, up to now, he's been king of the roost. He's been boss of the backyard. His mother has always been near to soothe his wounds and repair his feelings. But now things are going to be different."

"This morning he's going to walk down the front steps, wave his hand, and start out on the great adventure. It is an adventure that might take him across continents, across oceans. It's an adventure that will probably include wars and tragedy and sorrow. To live his life in the world will require faith, love and courage."

"So, World, I wish you would sort of look after him. Take him by the hand and teach him things he will have to know. But do it gently, if you can."

"He will have to learn, I know, that all men are not just, that all men are not true. But teach him also that for every scoundrel there is a hero. That for every crooked politician, there is a great and dedicated leader. Teach him that for every enemy, there is a friend."

"Steer him away from envy, if you can, and teach him the secret of quiet laughter."

"In school, World, teach him it is far more honorable to fail than to cheat. Teach him to have faith in his own ideas, even if everyone says they are wrong. Teach him to be gentle with gentle people and tough with tough people."

"Try to give my son the strength not to follow the crowd when everyone is getting on the bandwagon. Teach him, if you can, how to laugh when he's sad. Teach him there can be glory in failure and despair in success."

"Treat him gently, World, if you can. But don't coddle him because only the test of fire makes fine steel. Let him have the courage to be impatient. Let him have the patience to be brave."

"Let him be no man's man. Teach him always to have sublime faith in himself. Because then he will always have sublime faith in mankind."

"This is quite an order, World, but see what you can do. He's such a nice little fellow, my son!"

For how much longer?

As the sign says, lane closed: the lane is now the western half of U.S. Highway 385 through Hereford. Work is expected to last through October on the project, which will remove the highway's material down to the base before it is resurfaced. Persons with ideas about "detours" and how they're coping with the project are invited to call Managing Editor John Brooks at the Brand at 364-2030 to pass along ideas and opinions about the construction.

Hostage evacuation off

By CHRISTOPHER BURNS
Associated Press Writer

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) - Iraq is delaying the evacuation of Western women and children and will allow planes to pick them up only if the planes fly food and medicine into the embargo-choked country, diplomats in Baghdad said today.

Otherwise, the Western evacuees will have to travel in convoys over land, most likely to the Turkish border, 370 miles north of the capital, said the diplomats, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

In addition, red tape will prevent any release before Saturday, a senior diplomat said. Iraq promised Tuesday that the thousands of Western women and children would be able to begin leaving the next day.

But President Saddam Hussein has yet to fulfill the promise.

On Wednesday, Saddam said in a television interview that Iraq has God on its side and will never be defeated. He also denied seeking a deal for an Iraqi withdrawal from Kuwait despite mounting international military and economic pressure. Iraqi seized the oil-rich emirate on Aug. 2 and later annexed it.

In other developments: U.N. chief Javier Perez de Cuellar headed for talks in Jordan with Iraq's foreign minister.

Turkey said today that it had rejected an Iraqi request to resume food shipments for needy Iraqi children, saying it will adhere to the U.N.-ordered embargo on trade with Baghdad.

A U.S. diplomatic source confirmed reports that resistance fighters in Kuwait are receiving American logistical support.

In New York, 36 expelled Iraqi diplomats and their families left early today on a plane for Jordan. Washington ordered them out in reaction to a series of Iraqi moves including the detention of U.S. diplomats assigned to Kuwait after ordering their mission closed.

CRISIS IN THE GULF

Saddam gave his first interviews to Western reporters since his forces seized Kuwait on Aug. 2 in a lightning offensive, speaking to CBS and a French network.

The Iraqi leader declared flatly during the CBS interview Wednesday that "Kuwait is part of Iraq" and denied seeking any deals that could lead to an Iraqi pullout.

"Iraq will come out victorious," Saddam said. "God is on our side and Satan is on the side of the United States."

A White House official confirmed Wednesday that the Bush administration had received a secret Iraqi offer to free all captives and withdraw from Kuwait if certain conditions were met.

The conditions were that a U.N.-ordered embargo on trade with Iraq be lifted and that Baghdad be granted access to the Persian Gulf and sole control of an oil field that dips into Kuwait, according to a report Wednesday by the New York newspaper Newsday.

The White House official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said the offer was rejected.

The State Department says Iraq has apparently moved 70 Americans to military and industrial installations to prevent a U.S. attack.

Nevertheless, State Department spokeswoman Margaret Tutwiler said on Wednesday that if Saddam carries out his promise to free the Western women and children, it will be "a significant step in the right direction."

About 3,000 Americans were trapped in Kuwait and Iraq when Iraqi forces overran the oil-rich neighbor, then annexed it.

Mother back in county jail

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Paula Tarter, 34, of Hereford, is back in Deaf Smith County Jail after her bond was surrendered this week by Hereford Bail Bonds.

Tarter was charged last Wednesday with two counts of interfering with child custody after she refused to turn her daughters, 4 and 5 years old, over to authorities so they could be returned to their father.

The children were located in Summerfield last Friday when Deaf Smith County officials received a tip. The girls were returned to their father, who lives in Ohio.

Mrs. Tarter was later released on a $50,000 bond on the second interference charge. That bond was reduced to $5,000.

However, Mrs. Tarter was returned to jail this week when her bond was surrendered. The Hereford Brand learned this morning that the bond was surrendered because no payment had been made on the second bond at $50,000. No bond has been made on the reduction to $5,000.

The cost for the $50,000 bond would have been about $3,600. Most bonds require a 15 percent payment, depending on the likelihood of the person to fulfill requirements.

Mrs. Tarter had made an original $2,500 bond on the original count when she was arrested on the second charge. Bond on the second count was, at first, denied, then set at $50,000.

When the bond was made by Hereford Bail Bonds, Sheriff Joe Brown had accepted the $50,000 bond although the bondsman's account was at $52,000, $2,000 over the insured limit.

"I went ahead and accepted the bond," Brown said this morning. "I called the bondsman and told him it was over the limit and he couldn't write any other bonds on that account. I accepted it. I never did question the bond. I never said I wouldn't accept it. I don't know what the question is on that."

Tarter's attorney, David Cluyde, told the Amarillo Globe-News that the bond was surrendered "because she (Tarter) refused to cooperate with the sheriff and district attorney's office."

"We didn't force anyone to surrender the bond," Brown said this morning. "That's there problem, not mine. I don't have any problem with the woman. I wouldn't know her if she walked into my office right now."

The case is expected to go to the Deaf Smith County grand jury on Sept. 20.

Oil prices drive up farming cost

By CHIP BROWN
Associated Press Writer

Some Texas farmers will be forced to abandon their harvest and cut back planting for next year due to increasing oil prices spawned by Iraq's invasion of Kuwait, agriculture officials said.

"It does not look good," said Al Croix, a farmer and agriculture extension agent in Denton. "The farmers who suffered through heavy flooding or severe drought and are borderline whether to harvest will likely abandon their crops because of the rise in oil prices."

"It simply would not be economical to harvest."

Croix said a preliminary study he conducted on wheat planting reveals farmers will lose significant profit growing wheat for next year. Winter wheat planting begins in North Texas in about a month, Croix said.

"A person in North Texas averaging 40 bushels of wheat an acre will lose $23 dollars an acre largely because of oil costs," Croix said. "If new policies permit farmers to plant less wheat I think that is what you will see."

Croix said bushels will sell for $3.30, which pales next to this year's $3.60. After Iraq invaded Kuwait Aug. 2, diesel prices climbed from around 70 cents a gallon to about $1.15.

Farmers will feel the pinch as they begin pouring the fuel into their tractors and combines to harvest cotton, corn, sugar beets, pinto beans and peanuts within the next two weeks.

"Diesel prices have already gone up 40 to 50 cents per gallon and we are not even in a fighting situation over there," Carl King, a farmer and president of the Texas Corn Growers Association in Dimmitt, said Wednesday.

"This has been the most expensive year I have ever seen in agriculture and right now the outlook doesn't look so good. If we get into a war over there, prices will shoot up even higher."

Don Ethridge, an agricultural economics professor at Texas Tech, said Wednesday there is no end in sight.

"We could see general farming production costs increase as much as five percent, which is a pretty hefty increase," Ethridge said. "If oil prices stay up where they are, it can only get worse for farmers."

Texas population over 16 million, up 18 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas' population jumped 18 percent in the 1980s. That's not as high as the Census Bureau projected earlier this year but enough to give the state three new seats in Congress.

Preliminary figures from the 1990 census released Wednesday showed the state's population reached 16,824,665. In 1980, the state's final census total was 14,229,000.

Texas is the nation's third most populous state, gaining on No. 2 New York, which had 17,626,586 in the preliminary count. California remains the nation's most populous state with about 29.2 million.

The Census Bureau before taking the actual headcount estimated the state's population at 17.1 million.

Preliminary figures for every state have been below the pre-census estimates. A House subcommittee plans to investigate the Census Bureau's estimating and census-taking methods when Congress returns next month.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, said constituents have told him they are worried that some Texans were left out of the count. He said he would press the Census Bureau "to account for each and every person residing in Texas, even if that requires additional canvassing or a statistical adjustment."

Randy Erben, director of the Texas office of State-Federal Relations, suggested census-takers missed some undocumented aliens who are in Texas. He said he hopes the bureau reconsiders its counting methods for that population, which is hard to reach.

Credibility 'lies' in the hands of Christians

By BEAR MILLS
The Pampa News

PAMPA, Texas (AP) - Christians must do a better job of ferreting out "urban legends" and exposing them as lies if they hope to maintain credibility, according to a recent article in Christianity Today.

The piece, written by radio talk show host Rich Buhler, whose "Table Talk" program is heard around the nation, addresses stories many evangelicals have heard and then pass on as fact, though they have little or no basis in fact at all.

Those fables include the tale of the "disappearing hitchhiker," which Buhler and leading Christian theologians have tried to track down for years, but have since dismissed as a "ghost story" that took a life of its own.

Though many variations of the story exist, the general theme is of a hitchhiker on a lonely road who gets a ride, tells the person that Jesus is returning soon and urges them to repent or work harder to evangelize. Then the person disappears into thin air.

"I first heard the story as a Boy Scout when our Scoutmaster included it in other spooky stories he told around the campfire," Buhler said in the CT article. "I have heard it at least twice in sermons and recently saw it retold on the front page of a tabloid newspaper. I once had an argument with an emotional caller to my program who swore that the experience had actually happened to her grandfather."

Buhler pointed out that the caller's grandfather was now dead and could not confirm the story.

He said he and his staff have tried to find even one person who actually experienced such a "visitation," but has only found those who know of someone who knows someone it happened to, leading to the conclusion the stories are not true at all.

Louis Moore, associate director of the Southern Baptist Christian Life Commission; said during a telephone interview, "We know of newspapers that have tried to check out the vanishing hitchhiker story and have been unable to do so. Despite the fact that responsible Christian leaders, including Southern Baptists, have tried to correct these things, they keep coming back up."

Other myths Buhler addressed are stories that the Proctor and Gamble symbol is satanic, that a porn film on Jesus sex life is about to be released and that famed atheist Madalyn Murray O'Hair is on the verge of getting FCC approval of ban on religious radio and television programming.

None of those stories are true, according to Buhler. Most of the cases have also been debunked by the Christian Life Commission, which has fought to squelch the O'Hair/FCC rumor.

Jim Fox, minister of Hobart Baptist Church in Pampa, said he was recently made aware that such stories were circulating here and that Christians were becoming unnecessarily alarmed by them.

Fox said he was able to determine, via the CLC, that FCC petition RM-2493, known in some circles as "The O'Hair Petition," does not exist and that O'Hair has never attempted passage of such a piece of material.

Buhler noted, "The truth is that Madalyn Murray O'Hair has made no such request of the FCC and, despite her atheistic activism, probably never would. Even she understands the First Amendment implications of trying to ban religion from broadcasting."

Like the "porn film about Jesus' sex life" rumor, the FCC myth is based on an actual event, Buhler concluded. However, just as the porn movie idea was scratched before it ever was committed to film, the FCC petition, which was originated by two men and not Madalyn Murray O'Hair, was denied by the FCC almost 20 years ago.

Further, the FCC petition was not opposing all religious broadcasting, but was protesting religious organizations being given frequencies designated for educational broadcast use.

Moore, of the CLC, said his organization sees such rumors come in waves, usually each spring.

"When we see this pop up, we take every call or letter seriously, believing they would not call or write if they were not concerned," he said.

"The Madalyn Murray O'Hair rumor has been around for 10 to 15 years. I call it 'the lie that won't die.' We try to set the record straight, but don't seem to be able to do it."

Recently, a letter stating that Proctor & Gamble representatives had never made such statements.

P&G told the Pampa News, and Buhler and Moore confirmed, the company's logo was meant to show the once popular Man in the Moon character overlooking the 13 original colonies.

Apparently, someone wishing to "prove" what they believed about the P&G logo, found it convenient to use Gerardo Rivera and Phil Donahue to back up their statement, and the story was then passed on as fact.

Moore said his agency has received confirmation that neither the P&G story, nor a similar myth about the president of McDonald's being a satanist, are true.

"In fact, Proctor & Gamble have gotten to the point where they say they will sue anyone who passes on such a rumor as fact," Moore said.

Buhler wrote in CT that the most recent addition to the Christian Myth bin is "evidence that scientists have discovered Hell in Siberia."

The myth was circulated on a nationwide Christian news program and concerned alleged drilling that went so deep it discovered temperatures over 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit. Supposedly, for some unexplainable reason, the scientists decided to lower microphones into the hole and recorded "human voices, tormented people in hell."

"No one had bothered to ask why the scientists had stuck microphones down the hole or what kind of microphone they used that could withstand 2,000 degrees," Buhler pointed out.

Another common fable is that at some point in the recent past - no one is sure when - the Social Security Administration sent out checks that could not be cashed without proper identification tattooed on the forehead or right hand.

The story goes on to insist that the Social Security Administration then recalled the checks, saying the mailing was a mistake and those checks were being held for distribution in the future, referring to a time the Bible warns of as heralding the arrival of the anti-Christ.

Buhler is one of a host of writers, theologians and investigators who have received endless confirmation that the entire story is false and that no such ever existed.

Pastor Fox, of Pampa, said he believes people pursue such issues because they "want to do good, they want to do the right thing."

"It does discredit us if what we do is not scripturally, solidly based, though," Fox said. "If what we do is not based in fact, we've undermined ourselves. And TV, some famous pastors' lives and such things have done enough to make us all look bad, without us undermining ourselves further."

However, he also said the Christian Life Commission "could not rule out the possibility" that some of stories are started by those who later use the tales as proof Christians cannot be trusted to "get the story straight."

Billingsley receives Lions honor

Gary Billingsley received the Lion of the Month Award on Wednesday from Benny Womble, left, boss lion of the Hereford Lions Club. Billingsley was honored for his work with Boy Scout Troop 50 in Hereford and other Hereford Lions Club projects.

"Right now, the focus of any adjustment formula is the homeless and others of like class in large urban areas," Erben said. "We want to make sure that undocumented aliens, which we think are a significantly undercounted class, receive similar treatment."

The gain is still enough to enlarge the state's delegation in the House of Representatives from 27 seats to 30. Texas' electoral college representation will grow from 29 to 32.

"This will increase Texas clout in Washington and provide better representation at home," Erben said.

"The other thing that's important about this is the funding formulas that are based on population. We will get a larger share of the federal dollar than we have been because of the higher number of residents in Texas," he said.

The preliminary figures are an important first step to the reapportionment process that will take place in the Texas Legislature next spring. Planners previously have said the state could gain 2, 3 or 4 seats.

As figures trickled out for smaller states last week, some said the lower than estimated results would yield Texas only 2 new seats.

The figures are being sent to local and state housing authorities to check for discrepancies. The key figure to those agencies is the number of housing units within their jurisdiction. The results show that Texans live in 6,986,330 housing units.

The local agencies have 15 days to report possible mistakes to the Census Bureau. Commerce Secretary Robert Mosbacher may decide next summer whether an adjustment is needed before the figures are called final.

A breakdown of the figures shows a widening gap between the size of urban and rural counties. The state's cities gained residents while many of the state's rural counties lost.

Three counties on the north side of Dallas-Fort Worth grew the most. Denton County's population grew by 88 percent. Collin County was up 81 percent and Rockwall County was up 75 percent. Williamson County grew 81 percent boosted by Austin suburbs.

The state's least populous county also grew. Loving County in far West Texas has 107 residents, up from 91 in 1980 years ago, the Census Bureau said.

MEET THE HERD: Talent, depth highlight defensive front

By SAM WALLER
Sports Editor

Coming into the 1990 season, the Hereford Whiteface defense has been a definite strong point.

The Herd works the defensive ends and tackles as separate position groups during practice. Bill Bridge handles the tackles while changes in the coaching staff have caused head coach Don Cumpston to take over the ends with the assistance of sophomore coach Ed Coplen.

Cumpston said working with the ends has kept him more involved with the defense as a whole.

The defensive front four for the Herd features one returning starter in end Mike Daniel, but Cumpston said talent is abundant at filling the other three spots.

Defensive line candidates

there on varsity a year ago. But we feel like we've got some talent there, we've got some pretty good size.

"Eric Trujillo is extremely quick for young man his size. We're expecting a lot out of him.

"Santos Liscano has looked good early and we've got T.J. Samples, Phillip Pesina there. All those guys are very capable."

Defensive tackle coach Bill Bridge echoed Cumpston's sentiments about the group.

"These guys have really worked hard out there," he said. "We're real young, but these guys can play football. They just need to get some playing time."

One other advantage the group has, Cumpston said, is the quantity of the quality.

"This should be a position where we've got good depth," he said. "We've got lots of guys who can play there."

ENDS

Cumpston acknowledged that Daniel, a second-team All-District selection in as a junior, is the leader for the group.

"He had a great year last year," Cumpston said. "We're counting on him heavily."

Daniel said the responsibilities of the role have helped make him a better player.

"The other guys will ask me what they're supposed to do," he said, "and they ask the same questions I did last year. I have to know what I'm supposed to do before I can help them, so it's really helped me learn my assignments."

Cumpston said while the other candidates for a starting job are inexperienced at the position, ability is readily available.

"Several of them have the ability to play," he said. "We try to give them all a chance to play. Right now we have four others working with the varsity. A couple of guys are working more on offense or with the JV."

"I think that particular group has a chance to be pretty good."

TACKLES

The defensive tackle position is one where both 1989 starters, including District 1-4A Defensive MVP Aaron Savage, must be replaced. But, again, Cumpston said the players have the necessary tools to get the job done.

"This is an area where we're inexperienced," Cumpston said. "We don't have any returners who played

Call Return - enables the customer to automatically redial the telephone number of the most recent incoming call. If the number is busy, Call Return will continue to dial the number for up to 30 minutes, or until it completes the call.

Priority Call - provides the customer with a distinctive alerting signal, ring or Call Waiting Tone (if the customer has subscribed to Call Waiting), when the customer is called from a maximum of three preselected telephone numbers.

Call Trace - enables the customer to initiate a trace of the last incoming call received. The number, date and time will be recorded by Southwestern Bell Telephone so that the call's origin can be identified.

Selective Call Forwarding - enables the customer to forward incoming calls from specified telephone numbers (maximum of three) to another telephone number.

Opening day of dove season is Saturday, but don't forget to get your new hunting license because the old one expires Friday. The number of dove is good and hunting should be excellent. Until first cold front blows through, the area around Wellington could provide this region's best hunting.

More neat lures arrived from the fishing tackle show and I have just got to tell you about some of the new items for 1991.

Bulldog spinner baits and jigs are new in our region but very popular in Central Texas. All Bulldog lures use the Gamakatsu hooks and Sampo swivels. The company is located at 3609-A.S. College, Bryan, Texas 77801.

Bagley's has added florescent black light style to their Silver thread II line. Many local anglers fish for walleye at night and will appreciate this new hi-viz line.

The folks at touchdown lures have introduced a neat pre-rigged Carolina-style worm complete with weedless worm, leader, appropriate weight and swivels. Carolina rigs and weanie worms don't look 'right' but I guarantee they will catch fish. For information on Touchdown rigs write the at P.O. Box 1683, Columbus, Ind. 47203.

One of my pet peeves is sunglasses. First, I forget to take them to the lake and then I leave them in the car. If sunglasses somehow make it to the boat, then somehow they occasionally jump overboard. The folks at Total vision can't improve my memory but they have solved the sunglasses-in-the-lake problem with "floaters." These lighter-than-water glasses are polarized and 100 percent UV protected. With a shatter-proof lens of polycarbonate, they give the angler maximum protection from the sun and accidents with flying worm weights or lures. Write Floaters, 6924 Plainfield Rd. Cincinnati, Ohio 45236.

Congratulations to Hutchinson County Deputy Sheriff Mike Harber for winning $620 at the Fun Tournament on Lake Meredith last Thursday evening. Next Fun Tournament at Meredith is Sept. 6. Registration starts at 3:30 p.m. and fishing is from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Cost is only $15.

A's suffer rare shutout

Mark it down - the Oakland Athletics may never be shut out again. At least, not until they finish winning another World Series.

Kevin Appier pitched a four-hitter Wednesday night as the Kansas City Royals won in Oakland 6-0, handing the Athletics their ninth shutout of the season.

But, that was against the old Athletics. From now on, pitchers will face a new lineup that includes a pair of four-time All-Stars - Willie McGee and Harold Baines.

The Athletics swung two big deals Wednesday, a day before postseason rosters must be set. They got McGee, the National League's second-leading hitter, from St. Louis for Felix Jose and a pair of minor leaguers, and acquired Baines from Texas for two players to be named later.

"We've been saying over the past two or three months that we felt we needed left-handed hitting help," said Sandy Alderson, Oakland's vice president in charge of baseball operations.

Even without McGee and Baines, the defending World Series champion Athletics seem headed toward their third straight American League West title. Despite the loss to Kansas City, Oakland maintained its 6 1/2-game lead over second-place Chicago.

In other games, Minnesota beat Chicago 6-1, Boston defeated Cleveland 7-1, Toronto topped Milwaukee 7-3, Detroit downed Seattle 4-2, New York beat Baltimore 3-2 and California clipped Texas 9-2.

Appier (11-4) won his sixth straight decision. He did not allow a hit until Rickey Henderson's infield single with two outs in the sixth.

Appier struck out five and walked one in his third shutout of the season, and beat Oakland for the first time in three decisions this year. "I'm in a real good rhythm right now," he said. "I'm feeling really confident and my control is pretty good with all of my pitches."

Bo Jackson, Danny Tartabull and Jim Eisenreich homered as Kansas City won for the seventh time in nine games. Jackson hit a three-run homer, his 21st, in the fourth inning off Scott Sanderson (13-9) and later had a sacrifice fly.

Red Sox 7, Indians 1
Dana Kiecker pitched seven shutout innings as Boston won its sixth straight game on the road.

Ellis Burks homered and Wade Boggs got three hits as the Red Sox extended their longest winning streak on the road since an eight-game string in 1986.

Kiecker (6-6), a 29-year-old rookie, gave up three hits, struck out six and walked one. Mike Walker (1-4) took the loss.

Blue Jays 7, Brewers 3
Tony Fernandez hit Toronto's first home run in 12 games.

Jimmy Key (9-6) gave up six hits, including Paul Molitor's two-run homer, in six innings. Duane Ward pitched three innings for his 10th save.

Mark Knudson (10-7) took the loss. He was chased during a five-run fourth inning, capped when Fernandez hit a three-run homer off Paul Mirabella.

Twins 6, White Sox 1
Mark Guthrie pitched a five-hitter for his first major-league complete game as Minnesota sent Chicago to its fifth straight loss.

Greg Gagne homered, doubled and stole three bases. The Twins scored four runs in the second inning, helped by four errors. Third baseman Robin Ventura made two miscues, first baseman Carlos Martinez made one and so did left fielder Ivan Calderon.

Guthrie (5-7) struck out five and walked one.

Tigers 4, Mariners 2
Cecil Fielder hit his 42nd home run and Alan Trammell also homered as Detroit won at Seattle. Fielder leads the majors in homers and with 109 RBIs.

Walt Terrell (3-2) gave up five hits in 7 1-3 innings and Jerry Don Gleaton got his ninth save. Terrell is 3-2 with the Tigers after going 2-7 for Pittsburgh.

Matt Young (6-14) was the loser. Alvin Davis hit a two-run homer for the Mariners.

Yankees 3, Orioles 2
Matt Nokes and Kevin Maas homered on consecutive pitches in the sixth inning.

Maas hit his 16th home run of the season. He had gone 30 at-bats without connecting, the longest drought of the rookie's career. Nokes hit his 11th home run off Anthony Telford (1-1).

Tim Learsy (8-16) gave up one run on four hits in seven innings.

Angels 9, Rangers 2
Lance Parrish hit a three-run homer, capping a tie-breaking, seven-run seventh inning.

Jim Abbott (9-12) gave up two runs on eight hits in 7 1-3 innings. He struck out seven and walked one.

Drabek masters Braves

By The Associated Press

Doug Drabek's domination of the National League West has the Pittsburgh Pirates still clinging to the lead in the NL East.

Drabek (17-5) pitched a two-hitter and became the NL's first 17-game winner, and Barry Bonds matched his career-high with five RBIs as the Pirates snapped a four-game losing streak by defeating the Atlanta Braves 10-0 in a rain-shortened 6 1/2-inning game Wednesday night.

Drabek's career-high 17th victory gave him an 11-0 record against the NL West. He struck out five and did not walk anyone. Drabek is 8-1 since the All-Star break and 10-2 following Pirates losses.

"Doug Drabek has been remarkable, and if he gets the Cy Young Award it will be well-deserved," Manager Jim Leyland said.

"Drabek is always very tough on us," Atlanta's Lonnie Smith said. "You expect it. He didn't throw hard, but he hit the spots. His curve and slider were excellent."

Pittsburgh remained two games ahead of New York, a 2-1 winner over San Diego. Elsewhere, it was St. Louis 9, Cincinnati 1; Los Angeles 12, Philadelphia 2; San Francisco 6, Montreal 5; Houston 1, Chicago 0.

Bonds, who has 97 RBIs, hit an RBI single in the fourth inning, a two-run single in the sixth and a two-run double in the seventh just before the game was called.

Atlanta rookie Steve Avery (3-8) had a 12-inning scoreless string halted when the Pirates combined three hits, a walk and two sacrifice flies for three runs in the fourth. Pittsburgh added three runs off Avery and Tony Castillo in the sixth and made it 10-0 against Rick Luecken in the seventh.

Mets 2, Padres 1

Daryl Boston hit a bases-loaded run-scoring single with one out in the ninth inning.

Howard Johnson led off the ninth with a bloop single off Greg Harris (7-6) and took second on Tim Teufel's sacrifice. Harris walked Todd Hundley and pinch-hitter Kelvin Torpe to load the bases and Boston greeted Craig Lefferts with a ground single through a drawn-in infield.

Winner Bob Ojeda (7-5) pitched two innings, giving up one hit, for the victory.

Cardinals 9, Reds 1
Bob Tewksbury pitched a six-hitter, hit an RBI double and sacrificed two runners into scoring position.

Tewksbury (9-4), who pitched shutouts in two of his previous three starts, snapped Cincinnati's four-game winning streak by blanking the Reds until Chris Sabo hit his 23rd home run with one out in the eighth inning.

The Cardinals scored seven runs off Tom Browning (12-7), who gave up 10 hits in 7 2-3 innings.

Dodgers 12, Phillies 2
Chris Gwynn hit two home runs, including his first career grand slam in an eight-run sixth inning.

The Dodgers led 3-2 entering the sixth. A pinch single by Mickey Hatcher drove in one run and a throwing error by Phillies third baseman Charlie Hayes let in another for a 5-2 lead. That left the bases loaded for Gwynn, who hit his second homer of the game and fifth of the season off reliever Darrel Akerfelds.

Giants 6, Expos 5
Kevin Mitchell and Robby Thompson rallied San Francisco with solo home runs in the ninth inning against rookie Bill Sampen.

Mitchell, who brought the Giants within 5-4 with a two-run homer in the sixth against Dennis Martinez, hit his 30th homer leading off the ninth. Two outs later, Thompson hit his 13th.

Jeff Brantley (5-3) pitched two hitless innings for the win.

Astros 1, Cubs 0
Chicago's Rick Sutcliffe held Houston to a run and two hits in five innings in his first appearance of the season following shoulder surgery but came away a loser when Mark Portugal and Larry Andersen combined on an 11-hit shutout.

Portugal (8-9) won his fourth consecutive game, scattering eight hits in seven innings and striking out nine to equal his career high. Andersen pitched two innings for his sixth save. He yielded three hits.

Rhinestone Roundup a success

The 12th annual Rhinestone Roundup Weekend held June 29-30 was a great success and attracted its largest audience ever, according to Margaret Formby, president of the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center.

The main attraction of this year's weekend event was the new and first-ever Feedyard Challenge.

The Rhinestone Roundup Weekend is an annual fundraiser event which the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center hosts. The Hall of Fame, located in Hereford, is a non-profit organization dedicated to preserving the history of western women. This year the fundraiser received over $22,000.

The Feedyard Challenge had eight teams from the Texas Panhandle area competing in a tournament of games with each other. Each team participated in five events which included a golf scramble, tennis doubles, ladies paint gun shoot, team stray sorting and washer pitching.

The weekend has steadily increased in popularity and the 1990 Roundup Weekend saw over 500 participants which was double from the previous year.

The newest activity for the weekend, The Feedyard Challenge, entertained spectators and challengers.

Winners of the ladies paint gun shoot were first place, Bar G Feedyard; second place, Keeling Cattle Feeders; and third place, Cattle Town Inc.

Winners in the tennis doubles were first place, Champion Feeders; second place, Tri State Cattle Feeders; and third place, Cattle Town Inc.

The golf scramble winners were first place, Champion Feeders; second place, Barrett and Crofoot Inc.; and third place, Tri State Cattle Feeders.

Winning in the team stray sorting event were first place, Keeling Cattle Feeders; second place, Seven X Cattle Feeders; and third place, Tri State Cattle Feeders.

Keeling Cattle Feeders garnered the points to be the All Around Feedyard Challenge Champions making them the winner of the travel trophy, presented by the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center. There was a three-way tie for second and third places between Cattle Town Inc., Champion Feeders and Tri State Cattle Feeders.

The other major event of the weekend was the induction of four honorees into the Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center. The two Cowgirl Honorees were Shelly Burmeister of Aledo and Betty Sims Solt of Roswell, N.M. The two Western Heritage honorees were Elsa Spear Byron of Sheridan, Wyo. and Ruth Thompson of the White Horse Ranch near Naper, Neb.

Benefits of the Rhinestone Roundup Weekend help in preserving the history of women of the west. The Hall of Fame displays a collection of western art, original Wild West Show photographs and an extensive collection of cowgirl memorabilia.

Social Security provides toll-free phone service

Social Security's toll-free telephone service is available now from 7 a.m. - 7 p.m. on weekdays, Jim Talbot, Social Security manager in Amarillo, said today.

Most Social Security business can be handled completely by phone, Talbot said. Appointments for office visits can also be arranged by telephoning first.

The best times to call are early in the morning and late afternoon. And if possible, it is best to call later in the week and later in the month. People calling during those times may find that the teleservice representatives have more time to help, Talbot said. If people have urgent business, however, they should call anytime.

Social Security's toll-free number is 1-800-234-5772. The Amarillo Social Security office is located in Tascosa Village, S.W. 45th and Maverick Streets.

In 1809, when he was 27, Captain Allardyce Barclay of Ury, Scotland, bet he could walk 1,000 miles in 1,000 hours. He did!

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband passed away three months ago at the age of 67. We were married 37 years, and I must confess, they were not happy years. We were always poor. Our three children wore hand-me-downs. It was nothing for me to walk 3 miles to save 3 cents on a can of soup or a nickel on a can of beans. We never owned a car. The only trips we ever made were to funerals. Whenever I think of my husband, I picture him turning off lights or turning down the heat "to save."

Now all of a sudden I'm a rich widow. Three days before my husband died, he told me to look in his tool box for some papers. I was shocked to find a life insurance policy, payable to me for $78,000. A week later I found a bank book taped under a kitchen chair and discovered he had $11,000 in a savings account. That very day I began to look in all kinds of crazy places. I found stock securities in a leather pouch nailed to a beam in the attic. I found another savings book under a rug in our bedroom. He had started it in 1949 and saved $8,200.)

Instead of being happy, I am hateful and bitter. I feel that his whole life was a lie. Why did he make us live like paupers when we could have had a decent home, college for our children and vacations? Please answer this question and help me enjoy what years I have left. -- Rags to Riches Widow

DEAR FRIEND: Your husband was mentally ill. In a strange way he enjoyed saving money in secret far more than most people enjoy spending it. Of course, it was unfair to you and the children -- a cruel game to put it gently. But the past is over and done with, so forgive him, dear, and go on from there. I sincerely hope that you and the children will enjoy the comforts so long denied you. Treat yourself to some luxuries and have some fun. You deserve it!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Kenneth and I were married a year ago this month. His ex-wife remarried the same week.

I am writing about their children, 3 and 7. Kenneth's ex-wife has custody. She has left the children alone on numerous occasions. Last week, Kenneth went over there and found the kids alone again. It was 7:30 p.m. When he asked, "Where's Mommy?" the boy replied, "She went to get Tom (her new husband). He's drunk again." (How's that for a 7-year-old?)

I hate to see these two lovely children raised in such a crummy environment. My husband is furious. We have no money for lawyers and court action. Who can we turn to? -- Color Us Blue

DEAR BLUE: You can turn to Legal Aid. Look in the phone book. And if you don't find it listed, you can turn to the juvenile authorities the next time your husband finds the kids alone. If your letter is an accurate report, it shouldn't be difficult to obtain custody of the children.

Confidential to Sick of This Anemic Relationship: I'm not surprised. It sounds as if the money in his blood is eating up the red corpuscles. I promise you that marriage will not improve the deficiency. It will probably make it worse. Please read the first letter in this column. How interesting that your letter and hers should arrive on the same day!

Is that Ann Landers column you clipped years ago yellow with age? For a copy of her most frequently requested poems and essays, send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.85 (this includes postage and handling) to: Gems, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $5.87.)

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Altovise Davis, widow of Sammy Davis Jr., says there is no truth to rumors circulating in Hollywood that the entertainer died a pauper.
British and American tabloids have said Mrs. Davis and her 14-year-old son, Manny, were to be evicted from their home by the Internal Revenue Service.
"If you were to believe the alternative press, the IRS is sweeping down on her (and) Altovise is emotionally very disturbed," her lawyer, Visilios Choulous, said at a news conference Tuesday. "All of those things are totally untrue."
Mrs. Davis did not attend the news conference.
Choulous estimated the Davis estate, consisting of a mansion, antique guns, books and jewelry, is worth $6 million to $8 million. David died of throat cancer May 16.

HURON, S.D. (AP) - Bob Hope says if asked he'd take a road show to Saudi Arabia to perform for soldiers stationed there.
The 87-year-old comic, who has entertained American troops around the world since World War II, also said at the South Dakota State Fair on Tuesday he hopes the Persian Gulf crisis is over soon.
"We've sent too many wonderful men over there. I don't want to see any of them hurt," he said.
Hope was honored at the fair with a bronze statuette.

For your health's sake, eat like the Swedes

Here's some food for thought: In spite of brutally cold winters, Swedes live an average of two years longer than Americans and have a significantly reduced likelihood of suffering from many major illnesses compared to Americans. One reason, say experts, may be wise dietary choices and regular exercise.

Swedes enjoy one of the highest life expectancies in the world, exceeded only by Japan. Swedes also have a dramatically lower incidence of stomach ulcers, cancer, cirrhosis of the liver, diabetes, osteoporosis and other diseases than Americans. That good health record may come from a fitness-oriented lifestyle--many Swedes bicycle to work--and eating a diet that is low in fat, cholesterol and calories and high in fiber. Here are five secrets of the healthy Swedish lifestyle:

* Eat more fish--Swedish people eat nearly ten times more fish than Americans do. That comes to about 50 pounds of fish per Swede annually, compared to our consumption of just 5.6 pounds of fish per American per year. So pass the hering!

* Eat less red meat and fat--Swedish people eat 75 percent less red meat than Americans. Instead, Swedes choose to eat more chicken or fish for a diet that is lower in fat and cholesterol. The result? The Swedish diet contains 30 percent less fat than the average American diet.

* Eat more fiber--The Swedish diet contains as much as 70 percent more fiber than the American diet. For instance, the average Swede eats more than two slices of crispbread a day. Traditionally, Swedes eat crispbread instead of bread with every meal. Its a natural way to increase fiber while reducing calories, salt and fat, compared to bread, crackers and cereal.

Swedes cover crispbread with just about anything in the kitchen--cheese, eggs, asparagus, tomato slices, shrimp or marmalade. Crispbread is also used as a topping for soups or croissants for salads.

* Eat fewer calories--Swedish women eat about 700 fewer calories per day than American women. This is a direct result of eating less fat and more fiber. Studies show that cultures with a lower intake of calories enjoy longer life expectancies.

The real name of James McNeill Whistler painting of his mother was "Arrangement in Grey and Black."

Navratilova, Lendl advance in U.S. Open singles field

NEW YORK (AP) - Winning might not be everything, but it gets more precious with age.

"When you are 17 or 18, you figure you have 20 more U.S. Opens to go," Martina Navratilova said. "I don't have that many to go. Every one could be my last one, so it is precious."

The 33-year-old Navratilova, who captured a record ninth Wimbledon crown earlier this year, took another step toward her fifth U.S. Open singles title Wednesday when she breezed past Britain's Clare Wood.

Also thriving on the hard courts of the National Tennis Center is Ivan Lendl, who at the age of 30 is going after his fourth U.S. Open championship. Lendl advanced to the third round by downing West Germany's Michael Stich.

Today, the pretenders to the throne are much younger. Then there's the defending men's champion, Boris Becker, who battled Yannick Noah in his bid to keep pace with Lendl.

Michael Chang, who at 18 has one Grand Slam title, the 1989 French Open, played Jimmy Arias. In women's singles, 16-year-old Monica Seles, the No. 3 seed, took on Ros Fairbank-Nideffer in a match that was postponed by rain from Wednesday night, and No. 13 Jennifer Capriati, who at 14 is the youngest competitor in this year's Open, met Canada's Patricia Hy.

Tonight, the women's defending champion, Steffi Graf, plays Rachel McQuillan of Australia.

"I play my own game," Lendl said after downing Stich 6-4, 5-7, 6-3, 6-3.

Lendl has won eight Grand Slam titles, including the Australian Open for the second time earlier this year.

John McEnroe also was victorious on Wednesday, defeating David Engel 6-2, 6-3, 7-5. But, unlike Lendl and Navratilova, McEnroe doesn't give himself much chance to win this year.

"It's a real long shot for this particular tournament," McEnroe said. "It's very difficult to win majors."

Two men's seeds weren't as fortunate. Luiz Mattar of Brazil eliminated fifth-seeded Andres Gomez, the French Open champion 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3, and Paul Annacone ousted No. 16 Martin Jaito of Argentina 7-6 (7-5), 6-2, 6-2. Also falling was Natalia Zvereva, the women's 15th seed, to fellow Soviet Lelia Meskhi 6-4, 6-0.

"I wasn't really prepared for it at all," Gomez said of the Open. "You might come to the match poorly prepared as I was or have a great preparation like (Stefan) Edberg had."

Edberg, the reigning Wimbledon champion and No. 1 seed at the Open, also was upset in a first-round match.

In men's play, seeded players who won Wednesday included No. 6 Thomas Muster, No. 7 Emilio Sanchez, No. 10 Andrei Chesnokov, No. 12 Pete Sampras and No. 15 Goran Ivanisevic.

Women seeds who were victorious were No. 5 Gabriela Sabatini, No. 7 Katerina Maleeva, No. 8 Mary Joe Fernandez, No. 9 Manuela Maleeva-Fragniere, No. 11 Helena Sukova and No. 15 Judith Wiesner.

Lendl was not the sharpest he has been, but he was sharp enough, especially when it counted. Ranked third in the world, Lendl appeared to be outplayed by Stich, if you look only at the numbers. Stich had 26 service winners, including aces, to 41 for Lendl. The West German hit 24 winners in the four sets, compared to 32 for Lendl.

But Lendl won the key points, and Stich made 21 more unforced errors. Navratilova sailed through the first set of her match, losing only eight points. But Wood settled down and played the left-hander even in the second set until Navratilova broke her British opponent in the ninth game, then held for the match.

"I got nervous in the second set," Navratilova admitted. "She played lousy in the first set and all of a sudden she started to pick her game up."

Ryan hints at returning in '91

ARLINGTON (AP) - Nolan Ryan has dropped a rather large hint that he plans to return to the Texas Rangers for another season, but the final decision will be up to the Rangers although it shouldn't be a tough decision for them.

The hint came Tuesday night after Ryan allowed only three singles while losing 2-0 to the California Angels.

Ryan was asked if it was his last game at Anaheim Stadium, where he played for eight seasons with the Angels.

"I certainly didn't think the last game I pitched in a (Houston) Astros uniform was going to be the last, but it worked out that way," Ryan told The Dallas Morning News. "I've learned you never know in this game, but I do hope I get another chance here."

Ken Griffey Sr. to join son with M's

SEATTLE (AP) - The Seattle Mariners earned a niche in baseball history by signing Ken Griffey to join Ken Jr. as the first father-son combination to play together on the same major league team.

They also hope for a strong late-season contribution from Griffey, the last active regular from Cincinnati's Big Red Machine of the 1970s.

"A lot of people are going to look at this as a dog and pony show," Seattle manager Jim Lefebvre said Wednesday after the Mariners announced the signing of the elder Griffey. "It's not going to be that way. He's going to play and he's going to make a contribution."

The 40-year-old Griffey said he wasn't ready to play Wednesday night, but Lefebvre said he would put him in the lineup as soon as he feels comfortable.

"We're shooting for this weekend," Lefebvre said. "It may be sooner than that."

Griffey said the chance to play with his son was the highlight of his career.

"This to me is number one," he said with a smile. "It's a dream come true being a father. It all happened because he made it happen. I didn't think he would get to the big leagues as fast as he did."

"I'm just very proud of what we've accomplished," Griffey said.

Ken Jr., 20, the Mariners' starting center fielder the past two seasons, attended the news conference with his father before Wednesday night's game with Detroit. Ken Jr. was the starting center fielder for the American League All-Star team in Chicago on July 10.

"This is my team," the younger Griffey joked to his dad. The father-son duo later took batting practice with the team.

Since the Rangers won't return to Anaheim again this season, Ryan would have to wait until the 1991 season.

The final decision on whether Ryan returns rests with the Rangers since they have an option on his services for next season at a salary of $3.3 million. He is earning only $1.4 million this season.

"I try not to get excited about what somebody else has to do," manager Bobby Valentine said. "But if he finishes strong, I'm pretty sure he'll come back. I don't have any concerns about that."

The Rangers have made it clear that they want the 43-year-old hurler to return. He is second on the team in victories with 12 and has held opponents to a league-low .198 average.

Plus there is the fan appeal.

The Rangers are likely to draw two million at home for the second consecutive season. In the franchise's previous 16 seasons, all without Ryan, the Rangers never drew more than 1.76 million.

Ryan has been bothered with back problems this season, but he has pitched a no-hitter and reached his milestone 300th victory on July 31.

"I would still like to pitch in another World Series," said Ryan, who appeared with the New York Mets in the 1969 series. "That's always been a goal of mine. I think with our ballclub we're not too far from being in that type of situation."

"Some of the factors that come into play each year are how I'm holding up physically, my performance, the ballclub's attitude and my family situation, whether everybody's still enjoying it," Ryan said. "You also have to have the desire to play. I can honestly say to this point I've never had a problem with that."
