

County settles on TRLA fees

Deaf Smith County Commissioners voted Tuesday to pay $20,000 in legal fees from a case that began 10 years ago.

The motion to pay $20,000 as the county's part of the litigation which is contingent on the other parties involved paying $140,000 was approved unanimously.

Ordered to pay the legal fees and expenses were Howard Gault Co., Barrett-Fisher Co., E.C. Reinauer & Sons, Griffin & Brand, T.J. Power & Co., Tri-Frye Brand, La Mantia-Cullum-Collier and Co. of Dimmitt, Deck Produce Co., Dimco Industries, Smith Potato, Barrett Produce Co., Colville & Wilson, H&S Produce Co., Walker Brothers Produce Co., Boozer Produce Co., High Plains Vegetable Growers & Shippers Council, Inc., Texas Citrus & Vegetable Growers & Shippers, Inc., and Roland Saul, Jerry Smith, Don Davis, Travis McPherson and Deaf Smith County officials.

The above named will also pay $40,000 over a 60 day period in addition to $140,000.

The costly case dates back to June 24, 1980, when farm workers struck and picketed a field owned by the Howard Gault Co. The strike was the first of its kind in the county.

Strikers claimed that while working in a Gault onion field they were paid below minimum wage and were not provided with sanitary facilities and drinking water.

Fifteen packing sheds then operating in Hereford and Dimmitt were plagued with strikers. All but three of the sheds have closed.

Packing companies and Deaf Smith County officials citing six state anti-picketing laws, obtained a temporary injunction against the strikers on June 30, 1980, six days after the strike began.

The injunction was dissolved the same day when TRLA successfully moved the case to federal court.

The growers filed suit in connection with the injunction, but US District Judge Mary Lou Robinson of Amarillo dismissed the suit on March 9, 1983.

A trial in a countersuit by Jesus Moya and TRLA began June 13, 1983. On August 4, 1985, Robinson ruled that the six state laws were unconstitutional and that Deaf Smith County officials conspired with the growers to violate the constitutional rights of Moya and the farm workers to peacefully strike and picket.

Robinson's decision was appealed by the county and the growers, but affirmed by the US Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals on August 20, 1989.

Robinson awarded TRLA attorneys Bill Beardall and William Tuddenham $201,688.58 for fees, attorney time and expenses.

Small crowd at tax hearing

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Only seven persons appeared at a tax hearing on Monday to discuss a proposed 13-cent increase in Hereford Independent School District taxes.

At a special meeting at 7:30 a.m. Friday, the board is expected to approve a 91.43 cents per $100 tax increase. The new rate is up from 78.5 cents per $100 for last year.

Superintendent Charles Greenawalt explained to the small crowd that the increase is necessary to obtain full state funding for 1990-91 and for future years, and to fund pay raises, computer technology programs, remodeling of the high school and other needs.

"I don't like taxes, and I don't like to vote for a tax increase," said school board president John Fuston. "But I believe we are voting to put dollars into the situation where we will have a better school."

In order to obtain a full share of funding from the state, the district was required to increase its rate to 91 cents this year and will be required to be at $1.18 by 1995. That rate was figured by lawmakers in Senate Bill 1, the bill that evolved from six special legislative sessions in an attempt to "equalize" school funding across the state.

That plan, like the old law that had been in effect basically since 1876, may be found unconstitutional by State District Judge Scott McCown of Austin later this year. Plaintiffs in the original case have again sued the state, and McCown is expected to rule in October or November on the new law's constitutionality.

Meanwhile, SB1 is the plan being used by the Texas Education Agency, and will pump $528 million in new funds into public education.

"I'm not pleased with the bill," said Greenawalt. "I don't see how we can avoid a state income tax and a state lottery in the next 10 years to fund public education. ...They don't like to say state income tax in Austin, but I don't see how we can avoid it."

Greenawalt also said throwing money at school districts did not guarantee a better education.

"That's not the only way, and the plan doesn't do anything to equalize state funding. But putting additional funds into our district is a step, and it will allow us to do some things."

Those things include a computer plan that calls for a $500,000 expenditure over the next 4-5 years. Computers will be placed in most classrooms and will be more accessible to students in labs at all schools. The district will also be able to start funding needed remodeling at Hereford High School that was cited by the board two years ago and reinforced by state officials last fall.

The board will put $300,000 a year for at least the next five years for reworking the older part of the high school, constructed in 1954.

This year, the board funded pay increases of at least $1,800 for teachers (for about 279 teachers, a $1,140 raise was mandated by state law, while others were "locked in" and weren't included in the state-required pay increases.

Other employees received a five percent, or more, raise.

Greenawalt explained the district has lost 52 teachers since last school year, and that noncompetitive salaries led to many employees leaving and the district's problems in finding new teachers.

Greenawalt said he was pleased with the new teachers the district has hired, but the district was not able to compete for other teachers who were hired by other, higher-paying, districts.

County to 'spot purchase' printing

By DANEE WILSON
Staff Writer

The Deaf Smith County Commissioners voted Monday to "spot buy" rather than bid out printing and office supplies.

Commissioner John Stribling suggested the county "spot buy" for a six month trial basis after the commission received only one bid of $7,048 for printing services and a low bid of $5,132.61 for office supplies.

"Spot buy" is an attempt for the county to save money and let the department heads purchase their supplies at the lowest possible price.

Commissioners have been concerned with getting the courthouse painted before the centennial celebration of Deaf Smith County.

A committee was appointed to oversee the painting of the courthouse ceiling on the south side. Commissioners Stribling and Austin Rose are heading the committee.

Several bidding items were on the agenda.

Motions were made to advertise for bids concerning fuel, a patrol car in the Sheriff Department and a pickup for the Extension Service office.

Three cars were budgeted for next year, but they have enough left from this years budget to buy a car early, said Sheriff Joe Brown.

There will be two bids for the extension office pickup, one for the straight purchase of a new pickup and one with a trade in of an older four wheel drive pickup.

The commissioners discussed a supplemental death benefit fund for county employees.

Approximate cost of the plan would be .29 percent of the employees annual salary and .46 percent for retirees. This would tack on approximately $5,000 per year to employees life insurance plans.

The motion was passed over for further consideration.

Commissioners broke for executive session to discuss litigation. When the commissioners' court reconvened no action was taken on the matter of litigation.

On regular items of business the commissioners voted to approve the minutes of the last meeting, paid bills and approved reports.

The commissioners also accepted the resignation of Ruben Flores, precinct two election judge.

The next meeting of the commissioners' court is scheduled for September 10 at 9 a.m.

Alaniz named Fiesta queen

Rachel Alaniz was chosen as queen of the 1990 Fiestas Patrias during a program Saturday at San Jose Catholic Church in Hereford.

Alaniz, 16, will reign over the Fiestas Patrias celebration Sept. 13-16 in Hereford. She will be crowned during ceremonies on Sept. 13 at the church.

Named as princess was Bobby Jo Bodayo, 17. She will also receive her crown during the Sept. 13 event.

Fiestas Patrias is the annual celebration of Mexico's declaration of independence from Spain. Events here will include a parade, events at and around the Bull Barn, and a dance. The Sept. 13 gala will feature State Rep. Lena Guerrero as the keynote speaker, and will also feature mariachis and Ballet Folklorico of Amarillo and Lubbock.

Alaniz will be crowned by 1989 queen Consuelo Castillo. A queen has been crowned each year since 1953.

A panel of five out-of-town judges from Friona, Vega and Amarillo heard multi-media presentations by Alaniz and Bodayo.

Alaniz, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Alaniz of Hereford, is a junior at Hereford High School. She is a cheerleader, president of the junior class, a member of the band, National Honor Society, and track and cross-country teams. She has been named to Who's Who.

Bodayo, 17, is a senior at HHS. She is "Scat," the HHS mascot, for 1990-91. She is also a member of Keywanettes, PALS, band, National Honor Society, and will represent the Panhandle at the Congressional Youth Leadership Council in Washington, DC in October. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rick Bodayo.

Alaniz's presentation was on the past, present and future of the Mexican-American family.

She pointed out that many persons had immigrated from Mexico to the Southwestern Alaniz was named queen and Bodayo princess of the September celebration. They will be crowned Sept. 13 to begin several days of ceremonies revolving around the Sept. 16 anniversary of Mexico's declaration of independence from Spain in 1810.

United States throughout the history of the two countries, but the immigration picked up during the depression to work for pennies a day in the United States to improve their standard of living.

As family members and friends willed farm implements, she said that many Mexicans were skilled agricultural laborers that were proud to do work other would not do. The families always provided for others not so fortunate, she said, a tradition that still holds today.

As family members gathered around a computer, she pointed out how the traditional, strong family must go on while improving their lives through education.

"Education must set goals to work for a better future for everyone," Alaniz said.

Bodayo focused on Mexican-American heroes of the past, present and future.

"A hero doesn't have to be a hero in the military," Bodayo pointed out, and her heroes included persons from public life as well as those in military service.

They included: --Gregorio Esparza, one of the defenders of The Alamo who fought because he felt Texas should be free. He was the only Texas soldier to be given a decent burial by Santa Ana's soldiers.

--Madame Candelaria, a nurse at the Alamo. "She was one of the bravest women of Texas," Bodayo said.

--Lorenzo de Zavala, a signer of the Texas declaration of independence and designer of the first Texas flag.

--Irma Rangel, a Kingsville lawyer who was the first Hispanic woman in the Texas Legislature.

--Tony Melendez, who played the guitar and sang for Pope John Paul II during his visit to the United States. Melendez was born with no feet; he plays the guitar with his feet.

--Henry B. Gonzales, the first Mexican-American to serve in the state senate and in Congress from Texas.

Kuwait 'annexed'; hostage dies

By SIDNEY S. FEINGOLD
Associated Press Writer

Baghdad moved today to tighten its grip on Kuwait by declaring it a 19th province, and an American civilian died in Iraq, reportedly one of 63 Americans who were rounded up for use as human shields against attack.

U.S. Navy warships enforcing the U.N. embargo against Iraq stopped two cargo ships and crewmen boarded one in the Gulf of Aqaba before allowing them to proceed to Jordan, shipping sources said today.

It was believed the first time a ship was boarded and inspected by the U.S. Navy since the embargo began shortly after Iraq invaded Kuwait Aug. 2.

The developments came as U.N. chief Javier Perez de Cuellar said he was intervening with Iraq to try to arrive at a solution to the gulf crisis.

President Bush said he was pessimistic about the U.N. initiative.

The peace effort, however, was enough to send depressed stock markets surging in New York and Tokyo. Stock prices also rallied in London.

Gold, whose value increases in times of turmoil, plunged about $19 to $392.55 an ounce today on London's gold exchange. Oil prices also fell.

In Vienna, 10 of the 13 OPEC ministers tentatively backed a deal that would permit increased oil production by Saudi Arabia, Venezuela and some other nations to help offset losses arising from the gulf crisis.

But the ministers delayed until Wednesday a formal meeting expected to give final approval to the agreement until messages had been sent to Iraq and Libya, whose representatives did not attend the gathering.

CRISIS IN THE GULF

In Washington, the State Department said an American had died in Basra, a southern port in Iraq, but did not list a cause of death. The American was reported to be a man in his mid-50s killed by an apparent heart attack after being taken from Kuwait.

The Cable News Network said the man was one of those Americans who have been taken from their homes and moved to key military or civilian installations as protection against U.S. attack.

Meanwhile, 52 dependents of U.S. diplomats who were evacuated from the American Embassy in Kuwait arrived in Paris today on their way home from Turkey. Three young men from the group were not allowed to leave Iraq.

A furious United States, saying Iraq had "once again reneged on its pledge" that all the dependents could go free, swiftly ordered 36 Iraqi Embassy staff members in Washington expelled from the United States and imposed travel limits on the 19 envoys allowed to remain.

"I talked to the doctors. Everyone was in great shape," said U.S. Embassy spokesman Paul Kozelka, who met with some of the tired

U.S. Navy boarded the Greek-owned container ship Zorba Express and stopped the Indian owned vessel Kalidas on Monday near the mouth to the Gulf of Aqaba.

Both ships were allowed to proceed when the Navy determined the cargoes were not bound for Iraq.

Diplomats and shipping executives said that previously, the U.S. Navy simply radioed ships demanding to know their nationality, cargo and destination.

Lloyd's also said that on Sunday the U.S. Navy denied the French container ship Paris entry into the Gulf of Aqaba.

Centennial Clips

1879-The Texas Legislature passed an act trading 3 million acres of Northern Texas land for a new state capital building. An Illinois company got the contract, then assigned it to Taylor, Babcock & Co., of Chicago, which was headed by Abner Taylor, A.C. Babcock, and John v. and Charles B. Farwell. Legislators thought it was a good deal because the land had been described as "an absolute desert."

Petroleum price increase 'tenuous' for state industry

HOUSTON (AP) - Rising oil prices associated with the Mideast crisis might seem like a godsend for Texans. But industry spokesmen and analysts said such increases are tenuous.

"I don't think anybody sees that these prices are going to persist," said Al Ballinger, economics data manager for the University of Houston's Center for Public Policy.

Already on Monday, the price of oil dropped slightly to $27.15 a barrel - but still remained well above the $9-a-barrel bust price in the late 1980s.

"This is a short-term, knee-jerk reaction," said J. Virgil Waggoner, president of Sterling Chemicals. Once the crisis is settled, oil-producing countries again will pump more than the world needs and the prices will fall, he said.

Even a 1.5 percent increase in the weekly number of rigs searching for oil and gas may not be directly attributable to the Gulf crisis, said Ike Kerridge, who keeps the figures for Baker Hughes Inc.

On the whole, most observers believe that Houston's economy will get a boost from higher oil prices.

A high, long-term oil price "will be positive for Houston, but it will not be a bonanza with everybody benefiting," Kerridge said.

Despite declining Monday, oil prices remain significantly higher than in mid-June. Oil watchers stand by their overall predictions for the year and explorers are not changing their plans.

In the early 1980s, oil prices were in the $30-plus range, but people invested in exploration thinking that prices were going to $60 and $80 per barrel, Ballinger said. "It depends not on the price now but on what people's expectations of future prices are going to be," he told The Houston Post.

"I don't expect a big increase in activity unless this price persists for a long period of time," said Doug Von Gonten, head of Texas A&M's petroleum engineering department.

Baker Hughes has not changed its projection of the U.S. rig count for 1990, expecting an average of 1,005 rigs during the year for an increase of 15.6 percent over last year, Kerridge said.

On Monday, Baker Hughes said the number of working oil and natural gas rigs in the United States rose by 15 this week to 1,002.

The count had dropped by five last week, but increased 26 rigs the previous week. A year ago this week, the count was 909, Baker Hughes said.

"I don't think you can really say this week's increase is the reflection of higher prices," he said.

"We think 1,005 is still a good forecast," Kerridge said. "We may have to raise next year's if it appears crude prices will stay this high."

The oil companies already have planned their exploration budgets for the year, based on an assumption of $18 oil, Kerridge said. These assumptions will not change until they draw up the 1991 budgets later in the year, he said.

"It's been fluctuating about the 1,000 level, slightly lower, for the last eight or nine weeks," he said.

Cambridge Energy Research is saying oil prices have established a new floor at $21 a barrel, Kerridge said.

But even if oil prices stay in the $25-plus range per barrel for the next few years, economists say not to expect a boom.

Tom Manning, vice president with Purvin & Gertz consultants, said "this price shock just messes things up."

"We were on a good, steady uptick," he said. "The oil business was getting healthy again."

Now, however, gasoline demand will turn down and hurt the refiners and higher feedstock prices will hurt the petrochemical companies, Manning said.

"The drilling business - that sector of the Houston economy - will pick up," but its gains will be outweighed by the problems caused by the rise in oil prices, Manning said.

Higher prices will lower petrochemical profit margins, particularly for products that are in excess supply, Waggoner said. If prices stabilize at a higher level, then it will slow the growth in demand for petrochemicals, Waggoner said.

Kirby disappointed over SAT scores

AUSTIN (AP) - State Education Commissioner W.N. Kirby says he's disappointed over results of Texas students taking the Scholastic Aptitude Test.

The students' SAT scores slipped slightly in both the math and verbal sections, the Texas Education Agency reported Monday.

"It appears that we are caught up in a nationwide pattern of declining SAT scores. This year, there were states which experienced a surprising drop in their results," Kirby said.

The mean score of Texas students taking the verbal section of the 1990 SAT was 413, down from 415 in 1989. The mean score on the math portion of the exam was 461, down from 462 the previous year.

Nationally, the average verbal score was 424, down three points from 1989, while the national math average remained the same at 476.

Letters to the Editor

Dear John:
How much do we need a hospital? Have you ever asked yourself that question?
Our hospital is a vital part of our community. People should put their efforts and energies into helping promote the hospital rather than deliberately try to tear it down.
The majority of your articles relative to the hospital are far from factual. Your article in the Aug. 19 paper (relating to an AIDS patient) was a perfect example.
If your goal is to try to stir up trouble, promote vicious gossip and generally put the staff down, then you always seem to accomplish your goals. My suggestion would be for you to let Speedy cover any articles relating to DSGH and you should vent your frustrations elsewhere.
I have worked at DSGH for 16 years—through ups and downs and realize that there must be teamwork between employees as well as within the community to promote this institution and its physicians. So, John, get on the right track! Bury the axe you seem to be waving at us. You may need this place some day for your health care and it would be nice if the doors were still open and there were still some physicians available to service you.

Peggy Fitzgerald
Dear Peggy:
I believe your letter solicits a response and as publisher I am taking the liberty of answering, even though it is directed to managing editor John Brooks.
If the story on the AIDS patient being denied treatment was not factual, then it was probably because you know more about it than we were able to secure from hospital sources.
But that article, or any other report on the operation of the hospital is not the problem. You may have heard that Brooks is negative about the hospital because he has a personality clash with the administrator. That's not the problem, either.

The problem is that we're losing doctors and hospital employees. When two doctors, who are the top admitters to the hospital, leave for whatever reasons, we have a real problem. To date, the hospital board has had little to say about those problems.

We're not in the business of "stirring up trouble;" we just report the news, we don't make it. Our goal is, and always has been, to blunt vicious gossip by publishing the facts whenever possible. In too many instances, everyone seems to assume that we know all the facts. I suggest that you may be venting your frustrations as a hospital employee in the wrong direction. Perhaps you, and other concerned citizens who want to keep the hospital, should voice your concerns to the hospital board.
Sincerely,
O.G. Nieman, Publisher

"Whether they win a top award or not, all the youth who participate in this show are the greatest," said Beverly Harder, county extension agent. "They competed in local and district competitions to get to the state show and represent the best from across the state."

Harder said the fashion show is just one of the educational activities of the total 4-H clothing program. Youngsters can participate either by modeling home-sewn garments or by modeling items they bought after comparison shopping.

"In addition to learning sewing or shopping skills, the youth develop poise and grooming skills by modeling in public fashion shows," she said.

Clothing skills are taught by volunteer adult leaders or older 4-H members supervised by a county extension agent. More than 9,000 Texas youth participated in clothing projects last year.

While in El Paso participants were treated to a special luncheon and the musical production "Viva El Paso."

Any youth interested in the clothing projects between 9 through 19 years of age or parents who would like to serve as adult leaders are invited to call Beverly Harder at the County Extension Office at 364-3573.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Social Security

The Social Security Trust Fund, which support monthly Social Security benefit payments, continue to experience financial good health, according to the most recent report of the Board of Trustees, Jim Talbot, Social Security manager in Amarillo, said recently.

The Old-Age and Survivors Insurance and Disability Insurance Trust Funds are expected to continue growing for many years into the future. The trust fund balance will peak in about the year 2014 and then begin to decline gradually as "baby boomers" reach retirement age, Talbot added.

In its report on the Medicare Trust Funds, the board expressed concern about the rapid rise in medical expenditures. Program costs for medical insurance have nearly doubled in the past five years, it said.

The Board urged Congress to work to bring future costs and expenses of the Medicare program into balance.

For more information on Social Security and Medicare financing, contact Social Security and ask for Factsheet 12, Financing Social Security, Talbot said. The toll-free phone number is 1-800-234-5772. The Amarillo Social Security office is located in Tascosa Village, S. W. 45th and Maverick Streets.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have been married 25 years. As a young man he was nice looking, but nothing spectacular. During middle age, however, he has filled out, his hair has turned gray around the temples, and the dirty dog is now a very handsome man. Also, he had developed a charming manner which is immensely appealing to the ladies.

The problem is that women will simply not leave him alone. From 25 to 60, beautiful and homely, drunk and sober, they fall like crazy. I used to laugh it off but it's not funny anymore. The women in our social circle, both mothers and daughters, are becoming so aggressive that I am concerned.

Furthermore, there are so many beautiful divorcees running loose these days that I need some advice on how to hang on to what's rightfully mine. Any suggestions? -- L.L.L.

DEAR L.L.L.: If you've been married 25 years, your husband must be at least 45. He is, in my opinion, old enough to protect himself against aggressive women, from 25 to 60, beautiful or homely, drunk or sober -- if he wants to, that is. And if he doesn't want to -- you can't protect him, honey.

Weaver speaks at meeting

"Eulogy for a Toastmaster" was the topic that gave Joe Weaver best program speaker at the Thursday morning meeting of the Hereford Toastmasters.

Bob Lohr presided over the business meeting and Jay Reeve presented the invocation. Joe Walters served as toastmaster and Jay Reeve, wordmaster, introduced "profound" as the word.

Table topic master was Rocky Lee and Roy Shave was chosen best table topic speaker. General evaluator was Bruce Hernandez and Jigger Rowland was chosen as best evaluator.

Margaret Perez presented a reading and Clark Andrews served as grammarian. Dr. Milton Adams served as timer and counter was Joe Don Cummings.

Lynn Cook spoke on "Be Your Best" with Lohr serving as evaluator.

Guests for the evening were Betsy Weaver and Ann Weaver.

Anyone interested in seeking to develop leadership and communication skills in a positive manner is welcome to attend the meetings held at the Ranch House at 6:30 a.m. every Thursday.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'll make this real easy for you because I know you have a zillion letters to read. Just circle one of these: Yes or No.

My cleaning lady has worked for me four years. She's the world's dumbest cluck but I don't have the heart to fire her. Besides, the next one might be dumber.

Last week she asked me how to remove a wine spot from my best tablecloth. I jokingly said, "You'll probably have to use a scissors." She took the scissors and cut the spot. I couldn't believe my eyes.

Should I make her pay for the tablecloth? It would be at least two days' salary and I know she's living from hand to mouth. Please tell me -- yes or no? Sign me--Still Stunned

DEAR STILL: No. If after four years you haven't learned that this woman takes everything you say literally, then you are a dumber cluck than she is.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband's hobby is photography. Jack is a wonderful photographer and has won several prizes. He has taken many pictures of me -- some with clothes on, others with clothes off.

Jack plans to enter a nude of me in an important exhibit this spring. There will be several cash prizes. The photograph he has in mind is really a semi-nude. I am partly, concealed by a bath towel. Jack insists that because my face is turned from the camera and the lighting is heavily shaded no one could recognize me as the model. I am almost sure that a stranger wouldn't recognize me but my friends and family might.

I'm very upset about this, Ann. He says I am being foolish. I can't be objective about this and need your opinion. Please help me. -- Undecided in Glendale

DEAR GLEN: Put on a leotard or a bathing suit and tell Jack to load up the camera and take some more pictures.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CAN'T UNDERSTAND THE SPEED OF GOSSIP -- CAN YOU?: Some people feel they must tell the "hot news" immediately -- before they get the facts and learn the dirt isn't true.

Is life passing you by? Want to improve your social skills? Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.15 (this includes postage and handling) to: Friends, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. MEET THE HERD:

Captains fill leadership role

Spikers eighth at Lubbock

By SAM WALLER
Sports Editor

Editor's note: This is the first of a nine-part series featuring the 1990 Hereford Whiteface football team. Today's installment profiles the team captains and their role in a successful season.

Senior leadership has always been a key to the success of Don Cump-ton's Hereford Whiteface teams. In a program that averages

MEET THE HERD

- TUESDAY: Captains
- WEDNESDAY: Off. Line
- THURSDAY: Def. Line
- FRIDAY: Running Backs
- SUNDAY: Linebackers
- SEPT. 3: Receivers
- SEPT. 4: Defensive Backs
- SEPT. 5: Quarterbacks
- SEPT. 6: Special Teams

between 40 and 50 senior players each season, it comes down to who the players feel best represent leadership ability as the elected team captains. This season, the responsibility of being a leader belongs to five: Chris Steward, Oscar Garcia, Matt Bromlow, Cody Page and Mark Daniel.

"We try to emphasize leadership (with all players)," Cump-ton said, "and we look to our captains to be team leaders."

"We want everyone to be a leader, but we look for the captains to take the lead role. And I think these guys will. They've shown so far that they can accept that responsibility."

Cump-ton said an important factor in selecting captains is allowing the players to have final say in who holds the position.

"We let the team pick their own captains," he said, and it's been our experience over the years that they usually do a good job picking them."

"Cump-ton added that the captains' responsibilities extend way beyond walking to the middle of the field for the pregame coin toss.

"They're kind of the spokesmen,"

Herd captains

he said, "they talk to the guys. I talk to them some about different areas, what's going on with the team and all. Their peers have selected them to be their leaders and that's the way we use them."

The captains themselves expressed gratitude for the respect shown by their teammates.

"This is a great honor because I didn't move here until I was a sophomore," said Steward, a candidate to start at both quarterback and free safety for the Herd. "To be selected captain by my peers means more to me than anything since I came to Hereford."

Tailback Matt Bromlow said the position was one that was unexpected. "I think it's really neat being a captain because I have the chance to be a leader," he said. "I didn't expect to come up on this varsity squad and be a captain and now my teammates are looking up to me as a leader and as a teammate."

Linebacker Mark Daniel and offensive lineman Cody Page said they were honored that their teammates respected them enough to vote them in as captains.

"I think it's an honor that the rest of my teammates respect me enough that if we're in a tight situation I could make the call," Daniel said. "It's going to be a real challenge. People will expect me to know what to do. I just hope I can do my best for the team."

"I think it's a real honor to come up as a senior and have all the teammates and younger players respect me enough to be a captain," Page said. "For some guy to come out and say 'this is what we need to do,' your teammates have to be willing to listen to you."

Dishman learns lesson

HOUSTON (AP) - Cris Dishman is sorry, General Manager Mike Holovak is glad and Coach Jack Pardee says it won't happen again.

Those were the reactions Monday following Dishman's taunting that cost the Houston Oilers a touchdown in Sunday's 22-21 loss to the Minnesota Vikings.

Dishman, criticized for his hotdogging antics last season, intercepted a Vikings pass and was running for a touchdown.

As he approached the goal line he turned to show the ball to the pursuing defense and was tackled from behind, fumbling the ball.

It was a good lesson learned in exhibition play when the games don't count, Holovak reasoned.

"I don't think anything any of us could say or do would have had the impact on Dishman that play had," Holovak said. "I'm just glad it happened in preseason."

Pardee said Dishman was embarrassed by the incident and will continue to hear about it.

"That will be on the follies film from now on," Pardee said. "I've seen that a couple of times. That's one of the most unique ways to self destruct."

"He'll never do anything like that again."

Dishman had spent the preseason modifying his antics. He even helped opponents up after knocking them down.

He reverted to 1989 form Sunday after intercepting a pass by the Vikings' Rich Gannon.

Dishman was headed for a sure touchdown at the 10-yard line when he looked over his right shoulder and extended the ball to the pursuing defense.

Minnesota receiver Cornell Burbage hit Dishman on his blindside, causing him to fumble and Allen Rice recovered for the Vikings.

"I apologized to my teammates and coaches, that's the only people I have to apologize to," Dishman said. "It was a mistake and it won't happen again."

"I'm a human and humans make mistakes. I'm sorry if anyone expects me to be inhuman."

Dishman's wild man act of 1989 often gave the appearance of being inhuman.

In the regular season opener against Minnesota, he stood over fallen Viking Carl Hilton and barked at him.

The following week, the Oilers had apparently stopped a San Diego drive on third down but a personal foul by Dishman allowed Jim McMahon to throw a 63-yard touchdown pass on the next play.

Whitson finally getting noticed after 13 years

MONTREAL (AP) - After nearly 13 years in the big leagues, Ed Whitson is finally making people take notice of his pitching.

Whitson, however, believes it shouldn't have taken this long. "I'm in a groove right now, but I've been in a groove for the past 3 1/2 years," the San Diego right-hander said after defeating Montreal 4-1 on Monday night in the National League's only game. "I should have had 20 wins right now and I should have had 20 last year (when he was 16-11 with a 2.66 ERA)."

Whitson (11-7) held the Expos to nine hits and one run for 8 2-3 innings, lowering his NL-leading ERA to 2.35 in the process.

It was the fourth straight win for Whitson, who hasn't lost in seven starts covering 56 1-3 innings. In that span, he has allowed just six earned runs, two in the last 35 innings.

The 1989 season aside, the numbers don't support Whitson's claim: In 1988 he was 13-11 with a 3.77 ERA; in 1987 he was 10-13 with a 4.73 ERA.

A major contributing factor to Whitson's season has been his ability to cut down on allowing home runs. He has given up just one in his last 13 starts, covering 97 innings. The opposition has hit 12 round-trippers in 26 starts compared to 20 at this point in 1989.

Even with his new-found success, Whitson says he just wants to be durable.

"I haven't set any goals," he said. "I just want to go out and pitch every game I'm supposed to start."

In Monday's start, Whitson got the offensive support he needed from Joe Carter, who hit his 21st homer, tying the game 1-1 against Montreal starter Oil Can Boyd (7-5) in the fourth, and Garry Templeton, who hit a two-run homer in that made it 4-1 in the seventh.

The Padres pulled ahead 2-1 in the fifth on Bip Roberts' RBI single.

Roberts, whose six-game hitting streak has raised his average to .301, had four hits and went 9-for-17 in the four-game series, which the teams split.

"Hitting is a matter of feeling good," Roberts said. "So I make sure I'm feeling good when I get to the park."

"I listen to music in my hotel room and I just let it carry over," he explained.

Carter, who didn't have an RBI for eight games, picked up his 97th with his homer to move into a tie with San Francisco's Matt Williams for the NL lead.

After scoring a run on Mike Fitzgerald's sacrifice fly in the second, the Expos made a bid to tie the game in the ninth, loading the bases on singles by Tim Wallach and Mike Aldrete and a walk to Fitzgerald. But Craig Lefferts came on to pick up his 22nd save, getting pinch-hitter Andres Galarraga to line to left for the final out.

Cowboys' deal with Solomon falls through

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Cowboys owner Jerry Jones says veteran linebacker Jesse Solomon is running out of time to sign with the team after refusing its most recent offer.

"I don't think Jesse Solomon will be a Dallas Cowboy in 1990," Jones said Monday. "We're looking at all the options we have now."

Said Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson, "I do not anticipate Solomon playing for the Dallas Cowboys."

The team immediately began trying to find NFL teams who wanted to trade for Solomon.

"He's not in camp so he won't count against the roster," Johnson said. "I'm very happy with the linebackers we have."

Solomon was all smiles in a tentative agreement on contract terms over the weekend, praising Jones for his efforts.

"We had a major misunderstanding," Jones said of the latest developments. "The offer we had on the table is now off the table. I'm just concerned now with the players who are willing to pay the price for the Cowboys."

SPIKERS

"We did some things very well against Lamesa. We got our attack going and we were able to run a new offense where the middle hitter is the setter with success."

"That match gave us a good look at what we can do and need to work on," Reeh added. "Lamesa (who eventually lost in three games to Dumas for the championship) is a very solid team. They will most likely be one of the playoff teams out of that district (2-4A)."

Reeh said the Herd showed the affects of two tough matches early on

"We're back to square one with Jesse. He's a fine young man and fine football player but we can't go beyond what our parameters are," he said.

Solomon, who came to the Cowboys from Minnesota in the Herschel Walker trade, flew back to Florida Sunday morning.

"We had the making of an agreement, but when you reduce it to writing you have a long way go," Jones said. "I'll take some of the blame for there being a misunderstanding that we had a deal."

"I'm disappointed," he said. "It's not proper to discuss what the Cowboys plan to do regarding Solomon's rights."

The Cowboys had called a press conference on Saturday to announce a deal with Solomon.

"It was premature," Jones said. Solomon joined the Cowboys on Oct. 12, 1989. The next week, he made a season-high seven tackles against Philadelphia. The fifth-year linebacker played in college for Florida State.

during Saturday's play before rebounding in the final match.

"We were probably a little tired, both physically and mentally, after those first two matches," she said. "We played real cautiously against Austin and it hurt us. We seemed to be waiting for something to happen instead of going out and making something happen."

The Lady Whitefaces will get back on the court this evening with a match against Canyon High in Canyon. The junior varsity match is scheduled to start at 6 p.m. with the varsity following 20 minutes after the end of the JV match.

Brewers, gnats SWAT Jays

By The Associated Press

The Toronto Blue Jays got some of the bugs out of the fly swatters they've been using for bats. Getting the bugs out of the SkyDome was another matter.

What really mattered, however, was that the Blue Jays suffered two more losses Monday night. They blew a 2-0 lead and (a) lost to the Milwaukee Brewers 4-2 and (b) lost another game off the pace in the American League East, falling five games behind Boston.

The game was delayed for 35 minutes in the bottom of the fifth when swarms of gnats invaded the SkyDome.

"They were all over everybody," said Milwaukee's B.J. Surhoff, who doubled home the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning.

While the Blue Jays, coming off three straight shutouts against Boston pitching, scored two runs in the same inning, Boston's Ellis Burks became the first American Leaguer in 13 years to hit two home runs in one inning. He triggered an eight-run fourth with a homer and capped it with a three-run shot as the Red Sox hammered Cleveland 12-4.

Elsewhere in the AL, it was Minnesota 7, Chicago 0; New York

4, Baltimore 0; and California 7, Texas 3.

After the Blue Jays fell behind, they never had an opportunity to call on relief ace Tom Henke, the Terminator. Rather, they needed an exterminator.

"I've never seen anything like it," said umpire Don Denkinger, the crew chief. "I've seen games called by rain, wind and snow, but never bugs."

He ordered the SkyDome's retractable roof closed and the air conditioning was turned up. It seemed to work after the bug barrage had players spraying themselves with insect repellent.

The Blue Jays' bats, however, took the rest of the night off after the second inning, when Glenallen Hill had an infield hit and Kenny Williams and Manny Lee hit RBI doubles. Milwaukee's Teddy Higuera (8-6) finished with a six-hitter and 10 strikeouts.

With one out in the seventh, Rob Deer singled and Surhoff grounded his tie-breaking double just beyond the reach of first baseman Fred McGriff. Surhoff took off for third on the throw home and scored when catcher Pat Borders threw wildly trying to get him.

Losers Jim Acker (2-4), who relieved starter Frank Wills in the sixth after the battle of the bugs, yielded three runs - two unearned - in the last four innings. Red Sox 12, Indians 4.

Burks became the second player in Red Sox history to hit two home runs in one inning and Mike Boddicker extended Boston's shutout streak to 33 2-3 innings.

Burks, who had an RBI double in the first inning and singled in the ninth, opened the fourth against Tom Candiotti (13-9) with his 14th homer and capped it by greeting Colby Ward with a three-run shot.

The streak of 33 2-3 scoreless innings by Boston pitchers ended when Boddicker was touched for a solo home run by Chris James, his 10th, with two outs in the seventh.

Burks' feat was the 25th time in major-league history that a player hit two homers in one inning. The only other Red Sox player with two in one inning was Bill Regan on June 16, 1928.

Twins 7, White Sox 0
Gene Larkin drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a single and 16-game loser Allan Anderson pitched a four-hitter for his first shutout of the season.

Anderson (6-16) pitched his third straight complete game and fifth of the season. He struck out five and walked two.

Losers Melido Perez (11-12) gave up all seven runs and eight hits in 7 1-3 innings.

Yankees 4, Orioles 0

Jesse Barfield, Matt Nokes and Roberto Kelly homered off rookie Ben McDonald (5-3), who had yielded only two homers in 57 previous innings, and Andy Hawkins (5-10) held Baltimore to four hits in 8 2-3 innings.

Dave Righetti retired pinch-hitter Ron Kittle on a fly ball with the bases oaded for his 28th save.

Angels 7, Rangers 3

Dick Schofield's single with two outs in the eighth inning snapped a 3-3 tie, and Devon White followed with a three-run homer.

Lee Stevens singled to open the inning off John Barfield (3-1). Brad Arnsberg retired two batters before Jack Howell singled Stevens to third and Schofield's single made it 4-3. White then hit his 10th home run.

Willie Fraser (5-3), who relieved Chuck Finley in the seventh, pitched two innings for the win.

U.S. Open off to stormy start; Graf, Becker win in first round

NEW YORK (AP) - In the Old West, the fastest gun was always being challenged. So are defending U.S. Open champions.

Both Steffi Graf and Boris Becker won their opening-round matches Monday as the U.S. Open began its two-week run in typical New York weather - hot and muggy with scattered thunderstorms, hail and high winds. It made it the longest day in Open history, more than 13 hours of tennis.

Today, their top challengers took the court, beginning the chase for the year's final Grand Slam tournament title.

Stefan Edberg, the top seed among the men, faced Alexander Volkov of the Soviet Union, and No. 3 Ivan Lendl, seeking his fourth U.S. Open crown, played Canada's Martin Laurendeau, a qualifier.

In the women's draw, today's matches included No. 2 Martina Navratilova, going after her fifth singles title, playing Argentina's Federica Haumuller and Jennifer Capriati, seeded 13th, taking on West Germany's Anke Huber.

"It was raining quite a few times, so it was pleasant to play," Graf said after defeating Canada's Maureen Drake 6-1, 6-1. "The storm came up quite quickly, so the wind was a problem for a few points."

It was the only problem the top-seeded Graf found at the National Tennis Center. Although the match took two hours, 11 minutes to complete, only 41 minutes were actually spent playing.

"We spent so much time warming up, it's not something that you look forward to," Graf said.

Becker, the men's No. 2 seed, followed Graf onto the stadium court and into the victory column, stopping Spain's Juan Aguilera 7-5, 6-3, 6-2.

"It was difficult after the long rain. It was very humid. It makes it slower," he said. "The balls get much bigger."

While the defending champions made it through to the second round, 1988 winner Mats Wilander was a first-round casualty, falling to eighth-seeded Brad Gilbert 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5.

In fact, all of the seeds seeing action on Monday were successful.

No. 6 Thomas Muster was leading 5-7, 6-4, 6-0, 3-0 when Finland's Aki Rahunen retired; No. 12 Pete Sampras downed Dan Goldie 6-1, 7-5, 6-1; No. 14 Jim Courier eliminated Australia's Wally Masur 6-4, 6-0, 5-7, 6-1; and No. 16 Martin Jaito stopped Martin Blackman 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

In the women's singles, No. 3 Monica Seles crushed Bulgaria's

Elena Pampoulova 6-0, 6-0; No. 8 Mary Joe Fernandez defeated Ann Henricksson 6-1, 6-1; and No. 11 Helena Sukova survived Britain's Jo Durie 1-6, 7-6 (7-3), 7-6 (7-5).

Wilander took over the No. 1 ranking when he won the U.S. Open two years ago, then began a slide that has seen the Swedish right-hander drop to 59th in the world.

By the luck of the draw, he faced a seeded player in the opening round, and seemed ready to send the match into the fifth set when he led 5-2 in the fourth. But Gilbert won the next five straight games, breaking Wilander in the ninth and 11th games, to close out the victory.

It was Wilander's earliest exit from the U.S. Open.

DISHMAN

Pardee was waiting for Dishman when he came off the field Sunday after his fumble.

"When he came off I let him know how I felt," Pardee said. "Put the ball away. Don't celebrate until you're in the end zone."

Pardee's first-year goal with the Oilers is to cut down on penalties that stopped so many Oilers drives last season.

"It's a shame to see that come up at all," Pardee said. "I don't know why it had to come up at all."

Would Pardee consider a trade if Dishman continues his antics?

"We won't trade him, he's too valuable to our football team," Pardee said. "I don't think I'd trade him for any defensive back in the league right now."

Oilers quarterback Warren Moon criticized Dishman on the sidelines last season after one of his penalties.

"I don't think you have to worry about seeing that from him again," Moon said. "I guess you have to know his personality. That's just him."

Dishman is starting at cornerback because Steve Brown is recovering from foot surgery.

Brown got his first playing time against the Vikings.

The Oilers close out their exhibition season Saturday against the Dallas Cowboys.

They open the regular season against the Atlanta Falcons, coached by former Oilers coach Jerry Glanville.

Eagles edge Colts, 17-16

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Indianapolis coach Ron Meyer sees no reason to rush in naming a starting quarterback. Veteran Jack Trudeau believes the decision already is made and top draft pick Jeff George has the job.

"I like both quarterbacks and I'm just not in a position to make that determination on who will start when the season comes around," Meyer said after Philadelphia beat Indianapolis 17-16 Monday night, dropping the Colts to 0-3 in the preseason. "I don't see any great urgency for me to name a starting quarterback."

George, making his second consecutive start, completed 11 of 21 passes for 153 yards and one touchdown in the first half. Trudeau played the third quarter and one possession in the fourth period, completing 10 of 12 passes for 113 yards. Each quarterback had one touchdown pass.

"I just went out and took what they gave me. We came out intending to pass and that's exciting for a quarterback. I think our offense has a lot of potential," Trudeau said. "I can't control the situation, so I go out there to have a good time. I think I've proven myself before. Sure, I want to play but as I said when I came to training camp, I think the decision has been made and Jeff will start."

Meanwhile, veteran Matt Cavanaugh gave Philadelphia coach Buddy Ryan something to ponder by completing nine of 10 passes for 109 yards, bringing the Eagles back from a 16-7 deficit in the final quarter.

"We might have to go with three quarterbacks," Ryan said. "We may have to cut short the defensive safeties or something. Matt did a good job."

Cavanaugh, a 13-year NFL veteran, moved the Eagles 63 yards in seven plays to start the comeback.

Robert Drummond, who had a 25-yard reception during the drive, scored on a one-yard plunge with 4:26 gone in the final period.

He then brought the Eagles from their 18 to the Indianapolis 11, setting up Ruzek's winning 33-yard field goal with 1:56 to play.

"The Colts played with emotion. We didn't play well," Ryan said. "Just well enough to win. We didn't look good."

"I hope we're not as bad as I thought we looked," he said. "We've got to get a rush. Any quarterback, if you give him enough time, can eat you alive in this league. You have to have pressure."

The Colts finish their preseason action Friday at New Orleans. The Eagles (2-1) finish their exhibition schedule the next night at Pittsburgh.

Meyer, who went with rookie Gene Benhart at quarterback for his team's final two possessions, said victory wasn't his primary objective.

"I felt this was going to be a big test on Jeff George, a big test on our offensive line, a big test on our offensive unit and at times it answered that challenge," he said.

George gave the Colts an early lead with a one-yard touchdown pass to Pat Beach late in the first quarter. The Colts opened a 9-0 advantage on a 23-yard field goal early in the second quarter.

Jim McMahon, who relieved Randall Cunningham midway through the second quarter, then led a 67-yard, six-play drive that ended with a nine-yard touchdown pass to Maurice Johnson with 4:31 left in the half, making it 9-7.

Trudeau moved the Colts 79 yards in six plays to score on a four-yard touchdown pass to Ken Clark midway through the third quarter for the final Indianapolis score.

Ware, Thomas sign contracts

By The Associated Press

Thurman Thomas and Andre Ware have a million reasons to be happy.

While a lot of NFL hopefuls spent an uneasy night waiting to see if they would survive today's cut to 60-man rosters, Thomas and Ware enjoyed their first hours as millionaires after reaching contract settlements on Monday.

Thomas, the NFL's leader in yards from scrimmage last year, signed a four-year contract with Buffalo that he said is worth an average of more than $1 million per year.

Thomas had two years left on the four-year deal he signed after the Bills selected the former Oklahoma State star in the second round of the 1988 draft. He said the new deal covers those two years, plus an additional two.

"The terms are great for me," Thomas said. "I think I proved myself for the last two years so I could get this kind of deal."

Thomas said he and his agent, Dr. Charles Tucker, went to Rich Stadium Monday night to negotiate with Bills general manager Bill Polian.

"It was getting to a point where it just needed to be done," Thomas said. "I told them, 'If it takes until 2 or 3 in the morning, we're going to get it done.'"

"It took less than an hour. We were pretty close. We came down on our offer and they came up on theirs and we met in the middle," he said. Thomas was scheduled to sign today and start working out.

The Bills' defense also got a lift as linebacker Shane Conlan, who agreed to a new contract last week, signed his deal and began working out.

Ware, last year's Heisman Trophy winner, got a four-year deal worth $1.2 million from the Detroit Lions.

Ware, who passed up his senior season at the University of Houston after setting 26 NCAA passing records in 1989, originally wanted about $2 million per year. But the preseason play of Rodney Peete, who has led the Lions to three straight victories while running the "Silver Stretch" offense, probably hurt Ware's bargaining position.

"I have to play catchup now," Ware said. "How much I play will depend on how far I come."

"He has to prove he can play in this league," coach Wayne Fontes said. "Right now Rodney Peete is our quarterback. But the way I look at it, I just bought a nice insurance policy. And don't forget Bob Gagliano. I feel we've got three fine quarterbacks here now."

While Thomas and Ware got ready for the new season with big-money contracts, teams began chopping their rosters to meet the 60-man roster limit. The deadline is 4 p.m. today.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: Are hair dyes for men to cover gray harmful to the hair and scalp? I would like to try it. I have not used any dye yet because I don't know if it is safe. If you do not approve of dyes, are there any harmless effective substances?

DEAR READER: Hair is hair, whether it is on men or women. A lot of men do color or tint their hair today to look younger — or at least to look better in their view. I see nothing wrong with it if you want to do it. You would be surprised how many politicians and entertainers do so because their public appearance is so important.

The facts about hair dyes or tints for men are exactly the same as for women. The hair shaft itself is not living tissue. It is like the tips of your fingernails. I often think of it as "dead wood" or cloth. Like these substances it needs to be treated properly for the best appearance. Too much drying or bleaching makes it look like weather-beaten wood, and sometimes like a Brillo pad.

The tints are permanent dyes and may sensitize the scalp in some people, but in the main, they are quite safe. They contain a dye that is activated by an oxidizing agent. Too frequent use of oxidizing agents may be hard on the hair shaft. They cause the dye to be absorbed inside the hair shaft.

The more temporary dyes also contain a dye that is activated by oxygen, only they are all readily mixed and the oxygen in the air activates them. The pigment is deposited outside the hair shaft and is gradually — sometimes not so gradually — lost with subsequent shampoos.

Metallic salts such as lead or bismuth are the basis for other preparations. They don't penetrate the hair shaft either and are not absorbed by the scalp. They are said to be safe, but I have always been concerned about using lead products. I guess it is possible to get too much lead on your fingers from the treated hair, and lead isn't good for the body.

In any case, read about the preparations that are available, about hair loss and other hair facts in Special Report 49, About Your Hair, which I'm sending you. Others who want this report can send $2 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER 49, P.O. Box 787, Gibbstown, NJ 08027-9908.

DEAR DR. LAMB: My wife is 47 and has a cholesterol level of 305, but it is now down to 245 after taking niacin. That affected her liver so I was discontinued. She is now on a diet only with moderate exercise. She weighs 128 pounds and is otherwise in good health.

When we walk, her skin becomes very cool and clammy, like the symptoms of shock or exhaustion. She also never has perspiration. I fear she might have a heart attack because of this small amount of exercise. Perhaps it would be better for her health if we didn't exercise and maintained her diet. What advice can you give on this limited information?

DEAR READER: Individuals who have symptoms with exercise, particularly with something as light as walking, should have an exercise test. Your wife's response to exercise can be monitored with a treadmill test to see what is really happening — and to see if she is able to sweat. That is also a good basis in such cases for determining how much exercise should be done. I would much prefer this approach to just not doing the exercise that has been recommended. And she needs to know what her HDL-cholesterol (good cholesterol) is.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 787, Gibbstown, NJ 08027-9908. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

If We Ran This Ad On Radio, You'd Only Have 30 Seconds To Hear It.

Now you'd only have 25 seconds, and you wouldn't be able to go back and look at the opening line or pause (19...18...17...) to consider its significance. You wouldn't be able to spend a lot of time with this advertisement and it wouldn't be able to spend a lot of time with you. Abundant Life

Worth The Living
BY BOB WEAR

Is life worth the living? Different people have different answers to this question, and we often read about whose answer is "no". Generally, however, most of us seem to be saying, "yes" life is worth the living. It may be that some of us never find the answer. It is admitted that life, with the burden of our humanity can become difficult; however, it seems that most of us find ways to cope successfully. This is, of course, a great challenge; but it is one we can meet reasonably well. Experience has taught us that we can make life worth the living.

It is important that we try to develop the right view of life, if we wish to make it worth the living. If we see life as nothing more than an unhappy experience, and a burden to bear, we will develop a resentful and rebellious state of mind. With this state of mind, we may be cursing the day of our birth. We will live miserably in the shadows created by the feeling that life is not worth the living. On the other hand, if we consider life as a blessing and, even with its problems, we think of it as a delightful experience; our state of mind can be wholesome and joyous. With this good attitude, we will be glad we were born, live with enthusiasm and alertness; and life will indeed be worth the living. "A wise man does not expect to find life worth living; he makes it that way." - Anon.

If we make life self-centered, we will find some difficulty trying to make it all that it can be. Of course, we must be wholesomely interested in ourselves; but we must be interested in the welfare of others, and, to the extent of our opportunities and abilities, be helpful to others. It will also be helpful to be devoted to something greater than we are, something that has been proven to be worthwhile.

The conclusion is that for life to be worth the living we must make it so, and we can do this.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Delta Burke is back on the set of "Designing Women" for the series' fall season, but the bickering with the producers continues.

Producers of the Emmy-winning CBS comedy have contended Miss Burke is difficult to work with. Miss Burke, an Emmy nominee for her role as sassy Southern belle Suzanne Sugarbaker, said she has been mistreated for putting on weight.

Miss Burke's husband, Gerald McRaney, who stars in the sitcom "Major Dad," on Monday accused the producers of making an "idiotic attack."

For their part, executive producers Linda Bloodworth-Thomason and Harry Thomason issued more than a dozen pages of statements from crew members, network executives and co-star Dixie Carter, attesting to their fairness.

4-H Rocket Project concludes with launch

The Four Leaf Clover 4-H Club completed an aerospace project with 14 4-H'ers launching model rockets Aug. 15. The launching concluded a year-long study of space flight and how the technological advances have affected everyday living. An innovative program designed entitled "Blue Skies Below My Feet" was the basis for the year-long project.

Blue Sky is a stimulating introduction to the world of science and technology which uses features from the space program. The three programs, dedicated to the memory of the late astronaut Ellison Onizuka and other Challenger crew members, use space technologies to teach skills for daily living on earth.

The videotape introduces "Impulse" a friendly, animated character who appears in each episode of the series. The initial segment concentrates on gravity and forces. It uses colorful footage of shuttle flights and astronauts working in weightless conditions.

The second episode focuses on fiber and fabrics as used in the manufacture of space suits and everyday clothing. This segment addresses the difference between synthetic and natural fibers and the consumer's role in selecting and caring for clothes designed for specific uses.

The third episode focuses on nutrition, food and fitness. It includes scenes of astronauts preparing food in space, graphics of basic nutrients and their benefits, demonstrations in food processing and footage of NASA fitness programs.

In addition to the three, 30-minute video/films, the blue Sky package includes curriculum materials such as a mission manual in comic book format and a leader handbook which have been developed to further enhance the learning experience of the young people. These and other support materials are available through the Deaf Smith County Extension Office.

Blue Sky was developed by a public-private team of educators representing 4-H and specialists in the Cooperative Extension Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), Arthur Young, and National 4-H Council.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Registration for AC set Wednesday

Amarillo College will conduct late registration for the fall semester from 6-7 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 29, at Hereford High School.

Schedule changes may also be made at that time. For more information, call John Matthews at 364-4456.

NEW YORK (AP) - Amateur footage of CBS anchorman Dan Rather talking to sailors in the boiler room of the USS Independence was offered to other networks, but there were no takers.

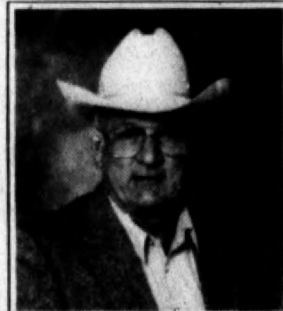

"I thought it was shabby," NBC foreign editor David Miller said of the tape's quality.

Rather was among network correspondents on the aircraft carrier Monday as it steamed the Gulf of Oman.

The rules of the press pool required CBS to share the footage that a sailor took of Rather as he explored the ship and interviewed crewmen.
