Hundreds flock to assassination site

DALLAS (AP) - Some were too young to remember. Others recalled the moments the fatal shots rang out as President John F. Kennedy downto that tragic autumn

The city planned no official ceremony to mark the 25th year since Kennedy's assassination. But on the eve of the Nev. 22 anniversary, hundreds flecked to the site where Kennedy was mortally wounded by shots fired across Dealey Plaza.

A stone slab inscribed with Kennedy's name and surrounded by partial walls now stands there as a memorial to the slain president. And that was the gathering point for most of those paying tribute to him Mon-

Twenty-year-old Ernest Saucedo of Dallas wasn't even born when the events unfolded in 1963, but he visited the memorial anyway.

"I just made it my business to come by," Saucedo said. "I understand he was a good president. I just feel I needed to come by. This is history."

City okays airport building

By ANDREA HOOTEN Staff Writer

The Hereford City Commission granted permission to Whiteface Aviation on Monday to build a metal building at the municipal airport, replacing the company's two smaller buildings.

Leland Shelton, president of Whiteface Aviation, said the 30-by-50-foot building will be a mixing and loading area for spray planes.

The commission also voted to renew the city's $1,030.45 yearly membership to the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission and tabled its consideration of the annual audit since the audit was not ready for presentation

A small American flagswith a bouquet of flowers lay in front of a plaque at Dealey Plaza, about 200 yards from the memorial and across the street from the Texas School Book Depository Building. Authorities say Lee Harvey Oswald fired from a sixth-floor window of the depository into Kennedy's motorcade.

Gary Mead, who drove one of several tour buses that stopped at the memorial Monday, said attention given to the 25th anniversary has aroused more interest than usual in the site

"They're very much aware of it," Mead said. "They don't want to miss this part of the tour."

Dallas native Darrell Jordan was making his first visit to Dealey Plaza and spent about an hour Monday touring the areas around the assassination site.

"I've been watching all of the specials the past several months and trying to formalize my own opinions" about what happened, he said. "I've been walking all over the place.

Jordan said he is disappointed the city and county planned no formal ceremomes to commemorate the anniversary, but said he thought he understood why

"They (local officials) worked 25 years to try to get the nation to forget it," he said.

Visitors to the Texas Schoolbook Depository from which alleged assassin Lee Harvey Oswald is believed to have fired the fatal shots leave behind messages in the guestbook in the building's lobby.

Many of the messages demand the reopening of the sixth-floor where Oswald is believed to have been perched. Cavazos mending fences with organizations

WASHINGTON (AP) - In just two months as the first Hispanic to serve in the Cabinet, Education Secretary Lauro F. Cavazos has extended an olive branch to teacher unions and other groups that bitterly opposed Reagan administration education policies.

Cavazos' predecessor, William J. Bennett, often blamed those groups for many of the troubles ailing U.S. schools.

After President-elect George Bush announced Monday that he was keeping Cavazos, the education secretary said, "There is much to be done. We will continue our thrust in the directions we've moved in already, and we will have the clear mandate from our department to educate every person in America to their fullest potential."

At his first news conference as secretary two months ago, Cavazos said, "I really bring no agenda other than to try to advance education in America. We're all on the side of the angels."

Education groups praising tactics

Mary Futrell, president of the National Education Association, hailed Bush's action.

"This reappointment is a hopeful sign that Mr. Bush will fulfill his campaign promise to become 'the education president," she said, adding that during his two months in Reagan's Cabinet, Cavazos has brought "a new atmosphere of good will and cooperation that was clearly lacking under his predecessor."

Some of the same qualities that have won Cavazos praise from the NEA and other education groups have raised hackles among conservatives who fear Cavazos is too liberal for their tastes.

For Cavazos, 61, the son of a foreman on the King Ranch in Texas, education has been the pathway to repeated success, first as a physiology Ph.D. and professor, later as dean of the Tufts University School of Medicine and, from 1980 until recently, as president of his alma mater, Texas Tech University. Now he faces the challenge of trying to sustain and expand the reform movement that has reverberated through American education since April 1963, when a panel of Reagan administration advisers warned of "a rising tide of mediocrity" engulfing U.S. schools.

Cavazos began his own education in a one-room schoolhouse on the 800,000-acre King Ranch with other Hispanic children of ranch hands. When he was ready to start third grade, his family moved to the town of Kingsville, Texas, where he became the first Hispanic child to enroll in the local school.

His father stressed the importance of education to all his children. One became a four-star Army general. Another won honors as a college football running back and now owns his own ranch. Cavazos enlisted in the Army upon graduation from high school and was contemplating a career as a commercial fisherman when he was discharged. His father vetoed that idea and took him to enroll instead at Texas

"I am convinced education is the key to many things," Cavazos said when Reagan nominated him. "If you have sufficient education you can solve almost any problem in the world. Famine. Ecological problems. Nuclear problems. Racism. They're all solved with education.

He met his wife, Peggy, a registered nurse, at Texas Tech. They married 33 years ago and have 10 children - seven of them Texas Tech graduates - including a physician, an architect, a teacher and two pilots.

Cavazos has voted Democratic in past elections and angered some conservatives by refusing to record a blanket endorsement ad for Republican congressional candidates. But he did campaign across the S for Bush, who is a fellow Texan and old frie

Insurance company marks golden year

Plains Insurance Agency of Hereford was given a 50-year plaque on Monday as a representative of the St. Paul Insurance Companies.

The agency is 62 years old, founded in 1926 by John Patton, who operated the agency until 1967. His son, Bill, joined the agency in 1946.

On July 1, 1970, Bud Eades moved to Hereford and assumed management and partial ownership. He purchased the interest of his partners on Jan. 1, 1983, when the agency was incorporated.

Several employees have long terms of service with the agency.

Marvin Coffey has been with the agency since October 1959 in property and casulaty insurance. For many years, Marvin specialized in crophail insurance.

Bill Johnson, now head of the Amarillo office, joined the agency on May 1, 1974, and Roger Eades joined Plains on July 1, 1983. David Alvarado, a solicitor, began work in June 1981.

Faye Dirks, financial secretary, started in April 1970; Shirley Wyssmann joined the staff as a customer service representative in July 1970 and Jean Watts began work in April 1978 as claims secretary.

In a letter with the plaque, St. Pual chairman Robert J. Haugh said St. Paul's "has been a major strength throughout the company's history and is typified by the friendly and cooperative relationship our two firms have enjoyed over the past 50

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I heard you speak in Las Vegas recently and you said you write 365 colums a year. If anyone deserves a day off, you do, and I'm going to help you get it.

On Nov. 23, 1967, you ran a column I liked so well I had it preserved in plastic. I'm sending it and asking that you run it again—on Thanksgiving Day of 1968. It would mean a day off for you and a new column for my wallet.—California Friend

DEAR CAL.: I accept! But do you mind if I run it the day before? I already have my Thanksgiving column written, Thanks, pal.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: On this special day I want to thank you for having the courage to deal openly with human problems such a homosexuality, rape, incest, VD and masturbation?

Your frank, enlightened columns have educated millions who otherwise would continue to wander in the wilderness of ignorance.

Thank you for reminding parents that discipline is a special kind of love. And thanks, too, for letting the world know that some chidlren go wrong even though they've had good upbringing and plenty of love and attention.

Thank you for the thousands of miles you travel to speak to all kinds of audiences. When they see and hear you in person, they know you are for

DEAR IOWA: What a beautiful letter! And no here's one to keep me from getting swell-headed.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Who appointed you God? Your smugness makes me sick. For example: You are always criticizing people who drop in unexpectedly. Who are you to write the rules of conduct for the whole human race? It so happens I enjoy company any time. I consider it a compliment when people drop in.

Recently you were asked how to get guests to go home when they've had too many drinks and don't want to leave

Your advice was, "Just stand up and say, 'Good night, folks. Tomorrow is here." I can't imagine anyone being so rude. I'll bet you don't have a friend in the world.—No Admirer

DEAR NO: Your letter was a perfect balance for the one above. We all need to get our sails trimmed

Herd demolishes No. 1 Mustangs

By JOHN BROOKS Managing Editor

On the frozen artificial tundra of Lubbock's Jones Stadium, the Hereford Whitefaces played their usual game of solid defense and attack-when-needed offense to defeat the Sweetwater Mustangs 29-12 in a Class 4A area playoff game on Saturday night.

The unusual part was that Sweetwater had been ranked No. 1 in the state since the third week of September, and the Mustangs were solid 10-point favorites going into the game over the unranked Whitefaces.

The Mustang offense had been averaging 330 yards an outing. The Sweetwater defense had given up 1,446 yards in 10 contests.

Sweetwater got a little better than half its normal offense (224 yards), and Hereford doubled the normal offensive production (306 yards) against the Mustang defense. Hereford tailback Keith Brown gained 38 more yards (182 on 39 carries) than most teams had racked up against the Mustangs this season.

Sweetwater can look back on those statistics, good statistics, all winter. Hereford doesn't have time to look back. The Whitefaces must get ready to play Cleburne on Saturday at 1 p.m. at Mustang Bowl in Sweetwater. "Our effort and intensity were the two main factors," said Hereford coach Don Cumpton. "We probably hit as hard and well as well as have in a long, long time. We were physical and they were pretty physical. It's a physical game, the way it's supposed to be played."

And it was a ball-control effort by the Whitefaces, who ran 72 plays to just 38 for Sweetwater, that keyed the win.

"I never thought I'd give the ball to one guy (Brown) 39 times," Cumpton said. "It's kinda like feeding the guy who's hot, and he was hot. "It was a courageous effort on his part, too. He was hurt and he kept going after them."

"I pinched a nerve in my neck," Brown explained. He suffered the injury late in the second quarter after he had carried the ball 23 times for 102 yards and scored a touchdown. He carried the ball 19 times in the second half, and played most of the last two quarters at cornerback.

Hurting the Mustang attack were six fumbles. Hereford recovered five of them.

The first fumble came on the game's third play, when Norman had picked up enough yardage for a first down before the ball squirted free. Defensive end Roger McCracken recovered at the Hereford 48.

Hereford moved to the Sweetwater 41 before quarterback Jason Scott was sacked at the Mustang 46, but a 36-yard Brian Fowler punt went outof-bounds at the Sweetwater eight.

On third-and-six, Mustang quarterback Robbie Pierce fumbled the ball. Herd defensive tackle Darren Nikkel recovered the ball at the Sweetwater

Two plays later, Sweetwater was flagged for a face-mask penalty that gave Hereford a first down at the four. Brown gained three yards on three carries, then Scott called his own number on fourth-and-one, carrying the ball down the right side then veering inside for the score with 4:20 to go in the first quarter.

"It was a keeper all the way, Scott said. "I'm just supposed to find the hole. It was kind of tough to run for those first two series because there was so much snow and ice out there, and it was so cold (31 degrees at game time). But, we got used to it.

good up front, but our offensive line did a great job again. I didn't have any trouble finding the hole."

On the conversion, Hereford lined up in kick formation, but holder Carl Delozier scooped up the ball, rolled to his right, and threw to Clint Cotten, who was wide open in the end zone, to give Hereford an 8-0 lead.

Hereford stopped the Mustangs on three plays on Sweetwater's next possession. Hereford moved from its own 38 to the Mustang 35 on a drive keyed by a 24-yard run by Brown, his second-longest rush of the night.

Later, a holding penalty moved Hereford out of range, and Fowler's 31-yard punt pinned the Mustangs at their own 11.

Norman and fullback Ernie Munoz moved Sweetwater out to the 18 as the first quarter ended. On the next play, the Mustangs almost got on the board.

Norman took a Pierce handoff and darted untouched through the Hereford defense. Hereford's last defender, safety Pat Mercer, made a less-than-a-shoestring tackle at the

"I don't know how I tackled him," Mercer said. "I reached out and got a knob on the bottom of his tennis shoe, and he went down."

Sweetwater gained just two yards on the next three plays (defensive end Brad Smith got one of his two pass knock-downs on the third-down play) and Gregg Ruffin's punt moved Hereford back to its 18.

Brown carried the ball on six of the next eight plays, but Hereford was eventually forced to punt from the Sweetwater 44. Fowler's punt was fielded at the Mustang 15, but was fumbled. Hereford's Chuck Lemons recovered the ball at the Mustang 14 with 6:19 to play in the half.

Scott picked up nine yards on a first-down keeper, and a face mask call moved the ball to the three. Brown carried the ball on the next three plays, scoring on the third from a yard out with 4:44 left in the second quarter. Aaron Savage's PAT kick gave Hereford a 15-0 lead.

Sweetwater immediately got back into the game on a busted play. Pierce ptiched toward Norman, who scooped up the ball on one bounce and raced down the east side for a 77-yard touchdown with 3:57 to play in the half.

On the two-point try, Norman tried the right side, but stumbled and was stopped at the one to leave Sweetwater trailing by nine points, 15-6.

Sweetwater threatened later in the half, moving the ball to the Hereford 34, but Cotten, at safety, picked off a Pierce pass at the Whiteface 10 and returned it to the 28.

Cumpton had stressed ball control before the game and the Whitefaces kept the ball for the first seven minutes of the second half, going from their own 32 to the Mustang 20 before turning the ball over on

The drive was keyed by a 14-yard ass from Scott to Cotten, a bouncin pitch picked up and advanced five yards by Glenn Parker, and a fourthdown conversion at the Mustang 30. On fourth-and-four at the Sweetwater 21, Scott picked up just a yard, giving Sweetwater the ball after running off the first seven minutes of the

"That was a crucial drive," Cumpton said. "It took a lot out of Sweetwater. We fought for yardage on every play, and it made the difference between winning and losing. Ball control like that is the name of the game. We've done that in most of our games lately, and we need to continue to do that."

Norman picked up a first down on an eight-yard run to the Mustang 31. Three plays later, Pierce completed Sweetwater's only pass of the night, a 54-yard strike to wingback Phillip Martinez, who was hauled down by Cotten at the Hereford 18.

On the next play, Norman fumbled into the hands of linebacker Jason Lueb at the Hereford 17.

Hereford picked up 20 yards on six rushing plays and another 15 on a Sweetwater personal foul to move to e Mustang 48 before nunting the ball away. Fowler's 33-yard kick pinned Sweetwater at its own 15.

The Mustangs got just six yards, and Hereford got the ball back at the Sweetwater 48.

On third-and-one at the 39, Brown went through the middle of the line, then cut to his right where split end Mercer blocked down the last Sweetwater defender at the Mustang 25. Brown went untouched into the end zone. Savage added the extra point to give Hereford a 22-6 lead with 8:03 left in the game.

"The cornerback was coming at me, but Pat had the angle on him and cut him down," Brown said. "It realgreat to win. They outweighed us, and they were big and quick, but our line reached down and got the extra stuff it needed to get.'

Sweetwater was stopped on downs at its own 48 on its next possession, but Hereford could pick up just three yards. After taking a five-yard delay penalty, Fowler lined up to punt.

Noseguard C.C. Carr rushed through the line to block Fowler's kick, and Robert Williams picked up the ball at the Hereford 46 and raced to the end zone.

On the two-point try, Smith tackled Norman at the five to leave Sweetwater 10 points behind, 22-12, with

The Mustangs tried an onside kick on the ensuing kickoff, but Hereford recovered the ball at its own 49. The Whitefaces could move only to the Mustang 44 before having to punt. The Whitefaces were twice called for illegal motion on fourth down before Fowler got away a 41-yard punt

It's called gang tackling

Sweetwater's Kenneth Norman (20) was one of the state's top rushers going into Saturday's area playoff game in Lubbock, but that was before he faced a swarming Hereford defense that limited Norman to 132 yards on 14 carries. Identifiable Whitefaces on this play are Keith Brown (2), Roger McCracken, Brian Wagner (31), Kirby Kaul (52), Brad Smith (72) and Jason Lueb (52). Hereford won the game, 29-12.

under a heavy rush. On second down, Norman took a Pierce pitch and attempted a halfback pass that was picked off by Cotten at the Sweetwater 34 with 2:32 left in the game.

On fourth-and-10, Scott went down the right side of the line on the option, but found a huge gap, cut to his left, and went 34 yards for the touchdown. Savage added the extra point to make the score final, 29-12.

"It was supposed to be a pitch to Keith, but our line really spread their defense out and I just cut it upfield," Scott said.

On the first play after the kickoff, Sweetwater lost its fifth fumble of the night. Brown recovered the ball at the Mustang 24, and Scott fell on the ball three times to end the game.

"We were just determined to win the game," said Hereford middle linebacker Joe Medrano. "We won because we worked extremely hard all week and went out played good, hard football.

"I really think we were better prepared than they were, but they played hard. Their mistakes just killed them, and everytime they made a mistake we capitalized on it."

"We knew if we went out there and played hard we could make miracles happen," said Smith. "We didn't do anything different. We just played

"If Norman hadn't gotten those two plays he wouldn't have had anything all night," said linebacker Brian Wagner. Outside of the 32- and 77-yard runs, Norman had just 23 yards on 12 carries and a long gain of stop Norman the game was ours. "Everyone else had better watch out for us, because we are going all the way one step at a time, beginning with Cleburne.' Cumpton said he couldn't point out one person as the key to Hereford's success on either side of the ball. "This was a total team effort." Cumpton said. "We had to keep Norman from breaking the lone ones, and the defense did what it needed to

"Everybody told us we couldn't run on them, that nobody could run on them all year. Our offensive line decided that wasn't true, and our line was extra-determined to prove a point."

Saturday's game is a rematch of the 1986 regional game, when Hereford appeared to be a 7-6 loser only to recover a fumble with 20 seconds to play and watch Mark Artho kick a last-second field goal to give the Herd a 9-7 win on its way to the semifinals.

"At this point, there are 16 teams playing, and one of those teams is going to win state," Cumpton said. "Hereford has as good a chance as anyone else. I think our players understand that they now have a golden opportunity because they've already beaten the top-ranked team in the state.

"That doesn't mean we have it won. That just means that we're one of the 16 with a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity.

"Cleburne has an excellent ball team with a great quarterback and a great fullback. They run a lot of traps and sweeps and bootleg passes; it's a well-balanced offense. It will definitely be a big challenge for us.

"If our kids continue to give it everything they've got, then we know what the final result could be."

Football fans are still talking about Hereford playoff victories in the past-such as Fort Worth Eastern Hills at Texas Stadium in 1981 and Cleburne in 1986 at Abilene, but the Whitefaces gave fans a new game to talk about when they upset No. 1 Sweetwater Saturday night.

"That's the greatest game I've been associated with at Hereford High," coach Don Cumpton told the Whiteface Booster Club Monday night. "Because of the situationgoing against the number one-and ice-covered field, I told the kids it was the greatest win in the history of Hereford High and a game that fans would be recalling for years to come."

Cumpton told the team Monday that "there are pretenders and contenders, and now the pretenders are all gone. "We've got to be physically and mentally ready to play because it's a sudden-death situation all the way. Some of the state's best 4A teams have already lost--like Brownwood, Highland Park and Sweetwater, and Denison and Kilgore play each other this week."

boosters that he couldn't pick the outstanding players of the week from the Sweetwater game-"we just announced that the whole team would be recognized this week." While boosters viewed the film of Saturday night's triumph, Cumpton pointed out a bunch of key plays in the game.

Cumpton said the Herd's offensive line has come a long way. "The word was out that you couldn't run against Sweetwater-they had given up an average of 146 total yards per game, but our offensive line did a heck of a job and we had 282 yards rushing, alone."

all members of the team. The defense gave up only six first downs, only two in the second half. Except for two plays, Sweetwater's great running back was held in check.

The scouting report on Cleburne, said Cumpton, is that they may have more overall talent than Sweetwater. The Yellowjackets were runnerups to Brownwood in District 7-4A play and advanced to regional with a win over Taylor, winner of District 6-4A. Cumpton said Cleburne had a big quarterback who can throw the

Basketball teams home

The Hereford Lady Whitefaces will try to establish a winning streak tonight when it faces a veteran Dimmitt girls team at 6:30 p.m. at Whiteface Gymnasium at Hereford Junior High.

The Hereford boys team, without the help of several "regulars" who are on the Hereford football team. will face the perennial Bobcat powerhouse at 8 p.m.

Coach Mike Fields will have a mostly-junior varsity squad until the end of the football season.

"It would suit me just fine if football last another month," Fields said Monday. "We'll worry about that later."

The Bobcats will have one of their youngest and smallest lineups in several years. The Bobcats graduated most of last year's state semifinal team, but bring back starting point guard Emilio Arce for the 2-0 Dimmitt squad, which has played in the last three Class 3A state tournaments under Coach Kenneth Cleveland.

The Hereford girls will have a decided height advantage in their game, but coach Frank Belcher is worried about the smaller-butscrappy Bobbies.

"They'll be a tough test for us," Belcher said.

The Lady Whitefaces are 2-2 after finishing seventh last weekend at the Big Spring Tournament. Hereford won its last game, 71-38, over El Paso Parkland after losing in the first round to Estacado and in the second round to Big Spring.

The Hereford girls will play in the Amarillo Tournament this weekend. The boys game this Saturday with Tulia has been cancelled. Here are the results of the Hereford girls' games last Friday and Saturday at the Big Spring Tour-

Accent on Health

HYSTERECTOMY By Robert C. Park, M.D., President, The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists

Hysterectomy is the second most common major operation performed on women. For that reason alone, it's important that women know what a hysterectomy is, why it is done, and how it may affect your life.

During a hysterectomy, the uterus or womb and the cervix or opening (mouth) to the uterus is removed. Sometimes, your doctor may recommend taht the fallopian tubes and ovaries also be removed along with the uterus-but removal of the tubes and ovaries is not a part of what is' considered a hysterectomy.

Two things are considered when your doctor recommends a hysterectomy-the medical purpose and quality of your life. The four main medical reasons for a hysterectomy are noncancerous tumors of the uterus (fibroids), a uterus which sags or bulges (uterine prolapse), endometriosis, and prlonged and abnormal bleeding which cannot be controlled by other means. Cancer is another reason for the operation.

The longer glass stays under water, the stronger it gets.

Hysterectomies are not recommended as a method of sterilization. There are other forms of sterilization that are safer, easier, and less expensive.

Quality of life is important to consider if the reasons for your hysterectomy are not lifethreatening. If you have problems with very heavy and painful periods, and you are sure you don't want more children, you may choose to have a hysterectomy. On the other hand, you may choose to live with the discomfort so that your uterus is not removed. This is a decision only you can make. Your doctor is there to give you advice.

If you have a hysterectomy before menopause, the most obvious result is that you will no longer have periods and can no longer have children. Your ovaries will continue to release hormones, however, so you will not go through menopause until the normal time.

Because the outer genital organs and the vagina are not removed by a hysterectomy, in most cases sexual satisfaction should not be negatively affected. But some women do report that their sexual satisfaction is af-

If the reason for your surgery is not life-threatening, take the time to discuss and understand why your doctor recommends this operation. If you have any questions, don't hesitate to ask for and get a second opinion. An informed decision about a hysterectomy is the best decision.

allowable level), but these have been decreasing at a time when pesticide it's just not realistic. "It's the same situation with numerous other products," he said. "Unless you consume large quantities on a daily basis, there won't be a problem."

Miller said that there is no evidence of increasing cancer rates that might stem from food contaminants or other materials. "It's (the evidence) just not there. Most cancer rates are coming down, people are living longer, and their quality of health is better."

Miller said that a major educational effort is needed to ensure the safe use of pesticides and new safety procedures. "You as producers have a responsibility to provide safe food for the public," he said. "That should be your goal."

Dr. Al Wagner, a food technologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, echoed Miller's comments regarding pesticide residues in food products.

"It's refreshing to see someone of

Dr. Miller's caliber take such a common-sense approach to the issue of pesticide residues in food," Wagner said. "So many people get all worked up about this issue, yet all the data and sampling show that there is no problem.

"Our main concern regarding food safety-which was the same voiced by Dr. Miller-is that of microbiological agents such as bacteria, yeasts and molds," Wagner said. For example, listeria is a bacteria that is currently presenting a lot of problems through its flulike symptoms. It is found in food products that are improperly refrigerated or improperly cooked before use, he said.

"Dealing with these microbes is one of the main issues we are trying to address as far as food safety is concerned." Wagfer said. "Of course, we are continuing to emphasize the safe use of pesticides by producers of food products."

HEALTHIER BABIES

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) - A recent study has found that home visits by a nurse can make a dramatic difference in the health of babies born to socially disadvantaged mothers a group that includes unmarried, poor and teenage mothers.

Dr. David Olds of the University of Rochester's Medical Center, who headed the study, said that compared with mothers who received no visits, the group of mothers whom nurses visited had fewer pregnancy complications, better diets and reduced cigarette use.

For two years after delivery, nurses continued visiting mothers assigned to them, making suggestions about child care, safety, nutrition and discipline.

Seafood case offers variety

By NANCY BYAL Better Homes and Gardens Food Editor

There are some great catches in your grocer's seafood case, and they come in all shapes and sizes. Because the thickness of the fish is especially important for uniform microwave cooking, we base our timings on 1/4-inch thickness. Perch, turbot, walleyed pike and orange roughy fillets are usually about 1/2-inch thick. Flounder, sole and whiting fillets are usually thinner; haddock, red snapper and cod are often thicker. If your fillets are not exactly 16-inch thick all over, you can compensate. Just halve thicker fillets, or fold, stack or trim thinner pieces.

GAZPACHO FILLETS 1 pound fresh or frozen fish fillets I large tomato, peeled, seeded and chopped (% to 1 cup) 1/4 cup chopped, seeded cucumber ¼ cup chopped green pepper 1/4 cup chopped celery 2 tablespoons chopped onion

1 tablespoon lemon juice 1/2 teaspoon sugar 1/2 teaspoon instant chicken bouillon granules 1/2 teaspoon pepper sauce. Arrange fillets on top of vegetables with thicker portions toward edges of dish. Turn under any thin portions of fillets to obtain an even thickness of about 1/2-inch. Sprinkle fillets with salt and pepper. Cover with clear plastic wrap, folding back a corner to allow steam

Few dashes bottled hot pepper

Thaw fish, if frozen. In a microwave-safe 8- by 8- by 2-inch baking dish combine tomato,

cucumber, green pepper, celery,

onion, lemon juice, sugar, bouillon

granules, pepper and hot pepper

2 tablespoons tomato paste to escape. Cook on 100 percent power (high) 6 to 9 minutes or until fish flakes easily with a fork, giving dish a half-turn after 4 minutes. Carefully transfer fish to a serving platter. Cover to keep warm. For sauce, stir tomato paste into tomato mixture in baking dish. Cook, uncovered, on high about 1 minute or until heated through. Serve over fish. Serves 4.

ASK DR. LAMB

Is Reader Too Old for Exercise? BY LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am a 62-year-old retired secretary. I began working when my family was raised and I was 45 years old. I was in good physical condition then and was thin. I am now physically soft. Does a woman ever get too old to firm up her muscles, particularly abdominals? I have lower back problems which limit just how much I can do in bending over for too long a period and in lifting.

DEAR READER: Age is usually not the limiting factor in starting a proper fitness program. Illnesses that are ever, can curb some physical exercises. In your case, I wonder if you should be doing any lifting. If you have osteoporosis, which is common in women after the menopause, lifting could lead to fracturing a vertebra. The vertebra could simply crumble because it lacks calcium and normal bone strength.

The key to improved levels of fitness for most older people is to start at a point that is right for their current fitness level. Then very gradually increase their exercise. It takes longer for older people who are not in good physical condition to achieve a proper level of fitness.

In terms of firming up your abdomen, you don't need to do a lot of bending exercises. Some are useful for the spine. The most important exercise is literally "sucking in" your abdomen as tight as you can, hold it, then relax and repeat. You can do this sitting in a chair. This uses the muscles of the abdomen that act like chance that a good recovery will a girdle to hold your stomach in. They are more effective than sit-ups.

I would like to encourage you to develop a well-rounded fitness program. I have discussed the effects of poor levels of fitness and how to start an exercise program for older people in THE HEALTH LETTER 29-09. Exercise for Older Adults, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send $1 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/29-09. P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

Developing a proper level of fitness in your later years is essential to maintaining your physical independence. Studies show that sedentary people over 70 can do a lot to improve their level of fitness.

DEAR DR. LAMB: When I was about 10 years old, I almost drowned. For about 10 minutes, a young man tried to pump the water out of my lungs. Then I was carried unconscious up a hill to the front porch of my grandparents' house. There, a doctor who had been summoned gave me artificial respiration

Now I am an old lady, 78 years of age, and wondering if I could have suffered any brain damage because of the time that elapsed between my being rescued and revived. Before this happened, my private school teachers seemed to consider me very bright. Later, I felt that I really had to struggle to learn, through high school and three years of college. I wasn't a college drop-out. My parents could not afford to send me through my senior year. I suspect that I was unconscious at least 20 minutes. I am curious to know if you might have an answer to my question.

DEAR READER: It cannot be proved or disproved now. But if there is inadequate oxygen to the brain beyond four or five minutes for any reason, there is a chance of brain damage. That can mean a decreased ability to learn and think. Fortunately, the younger a patient is, the better the occur. However, if you did have 10 minutes or more without breathing. some brain damage was quite likely, although considering your educational achievements, it was minimal.

Who gets the kids for the holidays?

Ten-year-old Jimmy spend last Christmas with his father in Cleveland. Already a seasoned solo airline traveler, Jimmy spends every other holiday with his father in Ohio. So this year, he will share Thanksgiving turkey with his father, and open Christmas presents under his mother's tree.

How does all this switching and shuffling around during the holidays affect Jimmy and his family?

"Holidays are already a tremendously stressful time of year," according to Doreen Virtue. psychotherapist, joint-custodial mother, and author of My Kids Don't Life With Me Anymore: Coping With The Custody Crisis (CompCare Publishers, 1988). "When you add the burden of making visitation arrangements, as well as the emotional pain of spending the holidays without your child, you've got a holiday season that's really overwhelming."

Here's what Jimmy, who lives with his mother, has to say, "Everything my dad and step-mom do on Christmas is different from the way my mom celebrates it." he complains. "My step-mom won't let us open presents until Christmas Day, after we get back from church. At home, we rip open the presents Christmas Eve and then spend Christmas Day playing, eating and watching television."

Adjusting to the different styles of celebrating holidays has added to the

GREETING CARDS

Dear Heloise: Greeting cards always have such pretty pictures on them. When I write to my grandchildren, I take out the cards that I have later. This will give everyone received over the years and cut out the pictures and mail them along with letters that I send to them.

It makes for a nice greeting and they in turn make scrap picture books with them. - Mrs. Ruth Davis, Medford, Ore.

Jimmy's mother deals with a different set of emotions. "The first Christmas I spent without Jimmy was the worst Christmas of my life,' she remembers. "I was so lonely and there was nowhere I could turn to feel better since all the stores and gyms were closed for the day and all the restaurants were booked up."

Jimmy's mother also says she worries about her son's safety when she sees his airplane take off. In addition, she struggles with accompanying feelings of resenting her exhusband for "taking Jimmy away from me on Christmas" and guilt for harboring the resentment.

Different styles of celebrating. geographical distance between families, and emotional pain all add up to make the holidays especially stressful for divorced families. How can you alleviate some of the stress on your child, plan happy holidays, and take care of yourself? Here are five tips on coping with the special problems that are the result of the custody crisis this holiday season:

1. Plan well in advance with everyone concerned.

2. Spend time talking with your children about their feelings on the arrangements set for the holidays. Invite them to share feelings of disappointment or sadness, but also talk about ways to make sure the holidays are a fun, close time. Be sure to let your children have input on some aspect, even minor details, of the holiday visitation schedule.

3. If you won't have your children with you on Thanksgiving or Christmas, plan on celebrating with a "little holiday" with them-that is, a second Thanksgiving or Christmassomething to look forward to, and will help ease the feeling that you're "missing out" when you spend a holiday without each other.

4. Arrange to have some kind of contact with your children. Plan what time you'll talk on the telephone on Thanksgiving or Christmas. If your only contact during the holidays will be a phone call, keep the tone positive but honest. Encourage children to share their feelings, and be honest about your own sadness at not being together, but focus on looking forward to the next

5. Holidays tend to intensify competition between ex-spouses. When making holiday plans and especially when picking up/dropping off the children, don't spoil the day by allowing your self to be drawn into an argument with your ex-spouse. Avoid gloating over who has the kids for the holidays. Don't compete with your spouse in gift-giving. Concentrate instead on finding enjoyable,

Raspberry Cheesecake

- 1 cup graham cracker crumbs
- 2 tablespoons margarine, melted 1 cup low-fat cottage cheese
- 1 cup part skim ricotta cheese
- 2 egg whites 1/2 cup egg substitute or 2 whole eggs
- 1/2 cup evaporated skim milk
- 1/3 cup sugar 1 tablespoon lemon rind, grated
- 1/3 cup fresh lemon juice 1/4 cup flour

In a small bowl, combine the crumbs and margarine. Press into bottom of a greased 9-inch loose-bottomed or spring-form pan. Place pan in freezer while you prepare the filling. In a blender or food processor, place all remaining ingredients except the flour and raspberries and blend until smooth. Add flour and blend for 10 seconds until ingredients are thoroughly mixed. Remove crust from freezer and pour in the filling. Bake at 300 degrees for 1 hour or until the filling has set. Cool, on a rack. Loosen edges of cheesecake with a knife and remove the sides of the pan, but not the bottom, from the cheesecake. Place on a serving platter and top with raspberries.

New cookbook stresses fresh foods

By CAROL DEEGAN Associated Press Food Editor

NEW YORK (AP) - Betty Crocker is a well-known name in American cooking. Since 1950 more than 50 million copies of Betty Crocker cookbooks, including the classic "Betty Crocker's Cookbook" (now in its sixth edition) have been

Now, Betty Crocker has come out with a new cookbook, "SmartCook: The Essential Everyday Cookbook," that features a new format, 90 full pages of color photography, and 300 no-fuss recipes, updated for today's

"SmartCook" has cooking shortcuts and fresh presentations, microwave instructions, helpful hints, grilling and broiling options, and recipe variations, all backed with the experience of Betty Crocker's test kitchen, where each recipe has been developed, tested, refined and proven.

Marcia Copeland is director of the Betty Crocker Food & Publications Center in Minneapolis. She has a staff of 50, including a group of home economists who track consumer trends in food - with special attention to food preparation.

Copeland described the new cookbook - "we're very proud of it because it's a very different book for Betty Crocker" - and the philosophy behind it in a recent interview here.

She says Betty Crocker looked at several important lifestyle trends in planning the new cookbook. Two important trends: families have less time to be in the kitchen, and everyone is cooking - Mom, Dad, kids and singles.

"There are so many demands on people's time today that people want to prepare meals quickly," Copeland explains. "People are tired of frozen convenience foods, they are tired of takeout, and they are tired of deli foods."

Another important trend: "Because we are all living longer, we want to eat better fruits and vegetables; we want less fat, less sugar, less salt," she says. "We have far better choices."

"I think now, too, we are also demanding better quality food. People are demanding better quality for their food - and they're willing to pay for it. They want good value, they won't pay outrageous prices, but they want better flavors, they want truer flavors, and they want it to be good for them. They also don't want to take a lot of time preparing

"So taking all of those trends, we tried to use them in putting together this new cookbook."

"SmartCook" is really two cookbooks in one. When time is at a premium, "Fix It Fast" offers dishes that can be prepared in 45 minutes or less. The recipes in the "Fix It and Forget It" section of the cookbook are make-ahead specialties that are designed to be long on flavor but short on tending time.

Some of the recipes included in the "Fix It Fast" section: Winter Fruit Salad with Ham and Walnuts, Mozzarella and Tomato Melts, Swiss Cheese and Vegetables in Pita Breads and Baked Maple Apples. Recipes in the "Fix It and Forget It" section include: Turkey and Apricot Salad, Sauerbraten-style Stew and Hawaiian Ice-cream Dessert.

"The thing I like about the book is that I could stop at the salad bar and pick up ingredients and take home and stir-fry, or I could stop at the store and with minimal amount of fuss, I could have a meal on the table in 30 minutes," Copeland says.

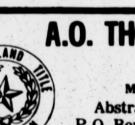

Cooking shortcuts, like not precooking noodles, make baked pasta dishes such as Vegetable Lasagna quick and easy to prepare.

"We've used a lot of salads and we've used the combination of fruit and meat together, which is tending to be more popular," Copeland says. 'Now you will not find recipes for bread or for vegetables in here, this is primarily a main dish and a dessert cookbook, because we know those are the two things people want."
