Highway 80 Included In Huge State Plans

Advance planning has been established on the biggest two-year Texas highway program in history. Highway Commission Chairman E. H. Thornton Jr. said in Austin Saturday that Texas will lay out 211 million dollars in 1955 and 1956 for 2,662 miles of roads.

Tract Engineer J. C. Roberts of Abilene. The segment of Highway 80 in Howard County, from Big Spring east to the Mitchell line, will call for $1,350,000. The western half of the county already is under contract. Opening of Fourth Street through Big Spring as a highway route is under construction.

Pair To Quiz Woman Over Alice Slaying

PENSACOLA, Fla., May 29 (AP)—A Texas Ranger and a South Texas political leader came here today to interview a Corpus Christi woman about the ambush slaying of Jake Floyd Jr. in Alice, Tex., in 1952.

Ranger M. W. Williamson and Jake Floyd Sr., father of the slain man, arrived about noon. Constable W. J. Kelson, who arrested Mrs. Betty Bushey, 29 here earlier this month on a bad check charge, said she refused to talk to them at first.

The advance program work as lined up by the State Highway Commission aims to speed up acquisition of rights of way, engineering and other details. Roberts said these steps will be taken as rapidly as possible to keep construction on schedule. Clarence Rea, resident engineer at Colorado City, will be in charge of work in this area. Rea Saturday advised County Judge R. H. Weaver that he needs for the eastern part of the county will be ready "before very long." Acquisition of right-of-way then will be started, said Weaver.

A break-down of state allocations shows the following: From Cosden to Coahoma, 8 1/2 miles, $594,000; from Coahoma to Mitchell County line, 7.3 miles, $786,000.

In Mitchell County, projects are set up as follows: From Howard line to Westbrook, 9.3 miles, $363,000; from Westbrook to approaches to Colorado City 7.1 miles, $435,000; from eastern approach to Colorado City to Nolan line, 9.6 miles, $351,000. Similarly budgeted projects also are in the list for Nolan and Taylor Counties, also in Roberts' district. Total mileage in this district under the advance-planning program is 79.9. This involves total budgeted outlay of $5,995,000. The whole state program affects 2,662 miles of roads.

SAN DIEGO, Tex., May 29 (AP)—Duval County funds were tied up today by order of Dist. Judge A.S. Broadfoot.

County Auditor C.T. Stansell Jr. resigned early this year during a state and federal investigation of the financial affairs of Duval County and political boss George Parr. He was succeeded by W.M. Benson of Alice, who resigned two weeks later.

The rebels scattered into the hills around Phu Ly, 30 miles south of Hanoi, under heavy air, artillery and ground attack. Yen Phu, a strategic defense post six miles from the big communications center of Phu Ly, had been under siege for 15 days in what was called a "little Dien Bien Phu." City Officials Study 1940 Flood Control Plan For Possibilities

City officials are now re-evaluating a 1940 flood control plan for Big Spring to determine its present possibilities.

Whitney says it would probably be double that cost now. Most costly items in the plan would be the construction of detention reservoirs across Mustang and Sulphur draws.

According to the plan, are just about the point where they converge above Big Spring. The Mustang Draw dam would be approximately nine miles southwest of Big Spring, and the Sulphur Draw dam about three miles above the junction.

Riding

THE GRUB LINE With Franklin Reynolds

Don Stewart, Dawson County rancher, says he is convinced there is no better way to reduce the runoff of water than by having living plants or dead litter, some vegetative cover, on the land.

R. R. Mullins has 30 acres of summer peas up on his farm east of Midway. Several patches of guar have also been planted and these, too, are up to a good stand.

Farmers recently planting Blue Panic Grass in Dawson County include Blanton Charman of Evalue, eight and a half acres; Gus White Jr., three miles north of Lamesa, 30 acres; Bunk Smith of Hancock, three acres, and Bob Koger of Ten-Mile, 20 acres.

Will Brown has a good stand of Blue Panic just west of the Lamesa Airport, and Frank Hogue of Sparenberg has six acres of Blue Panic that has just broken through the ground.

Jess Jenkins of the Lamesa unit of the SCS is urging farmers and ranchers to look on grass planting as a two-year plan.

The first year, he explains, the area to be eventually planted to grass, should be planted to sorghums, in 20-inch rows, to prepare the land and to provide a dead litter in which the grass can be seeded the following spring.

Some of his friends reckoned as how he came from Jack County (Texas) that the cowboys started calling him "Jack County" and that his real name, whatever it was, became lost. Anyway, his name out there in New Mexico was officially Jack County Terrell.

Jack once told me about riding 85 miles over into Texas, to a ranch over toward where Lubbock is now located, to borrow a couple of quarts of nails so a shack under construction out on the New Mexico range could be completed.

Cecil Walker, who brags that he is Big Spring's only real "drugstore cowboy" says he has never seen the grass on his place, northeast of Big Spring, as good as it is right now.

Officers said they believed the prowler was the same in each case. A similar holdup occurred early yesterday near Clovis, N.M.

Near Groom, the prowler accosted Mr. and Mrs. Bill Frazier of San Diego. Frazier resisted and the thug fired several times, wounding him. The man fled without taking any money. Frazier was in good condition at Groom.

A few miles away, the prowler awoke the second California couple, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Honey. He took $25 at gunpoint and drove away in their car. Honey said $200 more was hidden in the car. The couple hitchhiked to Conway and officers brought them here.

In the Clovis robbery, John Reginald of Toledo, Ohio, was accosted while asleep in his car and robbed of $40 and the car. The car was abandoned about a mile away.

Ward said a new class for Women Marines will start July 21 and complete its work Sept. 15. Classes also are to start in August.

Women who are high school graduates, single and between the ages of 18 and 31 are eligible to apply. Applicants who qualify may choose the class they wish to attend. Sgt. Ward may be contacted at Room 17 in the Big Spring Post Office.

lar plants are also showing up on most of the other West Texas ranches since the rains started in April. They are grasses and clovers sown to this country and are growing from seed imported in the bales of "government" hay.

VOW TO GOD

Oliver Reed Perfect In His Church Attendance

The Lord willing, Oliver Reed will be at Mt. Bethel Baptist Church this morning at 9:30 o'clock just as he has been for 312 consecutive Sundays.

Today will round out six years of perfect attendance for Reed, superintendent of the church's Sunday School. Only once, when an emergency ambulance call caught him, was he late—and then only three minutes.

During that interval he has been ill and even a patient in the hospital, but somehow Sunday morning always found him at the door greeting his charges.

"God so arranged that I would go to the hospital after Sunday School and be out before time next Sunday," he said. Reed matched this by arranging his vacation to fall between Sundays.

His work as a porter in the division offices at the Texas & Pacific Railway Company necessitates some service on Sunday, but he tackles this early and comes back after Sunday School and church to finish.

Many times it appeared that it would be impossible to be present, or at least not on time. He invariably made it, although some times he drove off alone, leaving his wife, Lillian, to catch a cab.

When he was elected superintendent in 1948, he said "I promised God I would do my best. If I am willing, the Lord can make me able."

This devotion has been rewarded in a 25 per cent increase in Sunday School attendance. Today there are 112 on the roll and average attendance is 85. In addition to enlisting teachers, organizing and pushing the visitation, Reed has served the past nine years as a deacon. It's almost a family affair for his wife is a supply teacher. He also is secretary of the original West Texas District Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress.

His church as well as other activities (he also is a representative of Universal Life) keep him busy, but he concluded that "I can stay at home and rest when I get old. God wants some of my sacrificial time in my youth." He has a host of friends, white and Maybe they've put their roots down to stay and will become permanent residents. This recalls the fact that one of our most popular grasses, and one that is increasing in popularity year by year, reached Texas just about the same way. This is the King Ranch Bluestem that got its start on the King Ranch from seed that first came to the United States, and to that ranch, in the bedding provided for some Brahma cattle imported from India.

The ultimate benefits from the "government" hay fed in West Texas in 1953 and 1954 may not be fully recognized for several years. Anyway, Groves is finding the study of these new grasses on the Walker range an interesting one.

Whatever the direction out of Big Spring these days the traveler will find cotton planting and re-planting, mostly re-planting, in full swing, and visits to the fields will reveal seed in all stages of germination.

While the weather was cooler and damper some farmers reported early insects but these have lessened with the warmer days.

Apparently there is no reason to now think otherwise than that 1954 is going to provide a bountiful cotton crop, as well as good crops of feed. Likewise, ranges that have not been overgrazed in the past appear to be making enough growth already to safely see any reasonable number of livestock through the grazing season.

June is National Dairy Month and the U. S. Department of Agriculture has joined the dairy industry in one of the greatest promotions in agricultural history to increase the consumption of dairy products by the American people.

During June dairy producers in Texas, will join other producers all over the country, in contributing two cents per hundredweight of the milk they sell, and one-half a cent per pound butterfat in cream that they sell, to build a fund to advertise and encourage the greater use of dairy products.

In Texas, it is estimated, this fund will amount to $150,000 and is twice as much as the producers have ever contributed before. There are 30,000 milk producers in Texas.

For the use of the housewife, the USDA has prepared, for free distribution, two very interesting pamphlets, recipes and other valuable information. These are Leaflet No. 275 "How to Use Whole and Nonfat Dry Milk" and AIB No. 125 "Milk and Its Products—Facts for Consumer Education."

Requests for copies should be addressed to: Information Division, U. S. Department of Agriculture, 3306 Main Street, Dallas 26, Texas.

Placements Up, Claims Down, TEC Reports

A drop in unemployment compensation claims and an increase in worker placements combined during the first four weeks of May to brighten the employment picture for the Big Spring area, Leon Kinney, local manager for the Texas Employment Commission, reported Friday.

Kinney said unemployment claims were down about thirty per cent from the April level. Placements increased to 140 from 129 in April.

The TEC received notification of 159 new job openings during the period and there were 15 openings carried over from the previous month.

There were 147 new applications filed for employment, and 210 registrants were referred to jobs, Kinney said. Twenty-eight clerical workers were given aptitude, typing, dictation and similar tests at the request of employers.

The area still is short of stenographic workers, the TEC manager reported. There is a surplus of labor in the oil field lines.

A large number of students are filling for jobs—for the summer months and some for permanent positions—as school dismiss.

Jasper Self Jr., 35, was charged yesterday in the death of deputy J. W. Gamble of Mansfield May 16. Officers disclosed that they had arrested a second man in Houston and that he was brought here with Self for questioning.

Self was arrested in Houston at noon Thursday by about 30 officers who surrounded an apartment building. Scenic Drive Paving Hikes Traffic, Boosts Mishap Rate Traffic has stepped up sharply over the Scenic Mountain State Park drive now that it has been paved.

The project now is complete, Sam McComb, in charge of highway maintenance here, said Saturday. Slightly more than two miles of paving was installed to provide a smooth ride around the rim of the hill overlooking Big Spring from the southwest.

One effect, which McComb feared, has been to step up the accident rate.

"We have done our best to erect signs which will indicate safe driving speeds," he said. "When people try to make 15 mph curves at 30 mph, it just won't work."

In recent weeks there have been two instances of cars leaving the drives on the sharp descending curves.

However, the chief contribution has been to take the rough spots out of the drive which affords a panoramic view of the surrounding country from almost all directions.

Using special funds for the purpose, highway maintenance crews put down hot-top paving on the caliche base portions of the drive. Pre-mix topping was used on top of the limestone rimrock.

The project cost approximately $8,500, said McComb. It brings to fruition a hope expressed here last year by Frank Quinn of the State Parks Board. Quinn, upon visiting the park here, said that the paving was a "must." He contacted the Highway Department and the commission and D. C. Greer, engineer, agreed that the job could and would be done.

DON'T BE MISLED! Know The TRUE FACTS About Your DISTRICT COURT

In the Big Spring Weekly News of last Friday, May 28, an advertisement appeared signed by JUDGE CHARLIE SULLIVAN'S OPPONENT which was critical of the manner in which juries have been selected in the past.

To quote directly from the advertisement signed by Judge Sullivan's opponent, the following statements were made:

"The District Judge selects three citizens, known as a Jury Commission, who proceed, after being sworn to secrecy, to make a list of a Grand Jury Panel for the following term, likewise, these three appointed men proceed to make a list of 36 citizens for the jury panel, one for each jury week for the subsequent term. Now here is the usual procedure: The three men are most usually appointed out of ten or twelve men, year in and year out. It is natural that these men draw up approximately the same jury panels — they usually name those whom they know, or one or more of the three know."

As you can see, Judge Sullivan's opponent has not only seen fit to criticize Judge Sullivan for picking Jury Commissioners out of "ten or twelve men," but he has also seen fit to ACTUALLY CRITICIZE THE RESULTS OF THE WORK OF PAST JURY COMMISSIONS.

THE TRUE FACTS are that Judge Sullivan has not restricted his choice of Jury Commissioners to "ten or twelve men." THE TRUE FACTS ARE that the OFFICIAL RECORDS on file with the District Clerk reflect that since Judge Sullivan has served as your District Judge (since October 5, 1949) he has appointed the following good representative citizens to serve as Jury Commissioners in Howard County.

Table listing names of Jury Commissioners in Howard County, including M. A. Cook, A. W. Dillon, M. R. Koger, Ralph White, Fred Roman, etc.

Regardless of what Judge Sullivan's opponent would lead you to believe, would you say that there are only "ten or twelve" names on this list?

The above men have selected all of the Jury Panels that have served in District Court in Howard County since Judge Sullivan has been your District Judge. Judge Sullivan has followed the practice of suggesting to the Jury Commissioners that no man should be selected on a Jury Panel more than once in any one year, and that jury service should be shared by all qualified jurors in the county.

DON'T BE MISLED! RE-ELECT CHARLIE SULLIVAN Your District Judge

This advertisement prepared, sponsored and paid for by some of the above named past Jury Commissioners who felt that the people should know the facts from the public records.

Outdoor Time Is Pleasure Time . . .

A West Texas summer in the wake of a wet Spring . . . nothing could be finer, as most folks will agree. And the arrival of the warm weather season finds families turning their full time and attention to outdoor living during leisure hours. Patios are popular; grills are kept busy. Picnic suppers and steak barbecues are the order of the day. The older folks and the children enjoy these things together. The trend toward easy-going, fun-in-the-open is growing each year, and if you want to find Big Spring people this summer, look for them in the back yard, as the pictures on this page demonstrate.

LIVING OUTSIDE — The A. Swartz family (left) retreats to their outdoor living room for a little sunshine and a tall, refreshing drink. Sandra is serving to Mr. and Mrs. Swartz, Mrs. C. B. Locke (Mrs. Swartz' mother) and Andy Mike. The large rock terrace and two levels of lawn are highlights of the Swartz home at 909 Mt. Park Dr.

BATTERS UP! — It looks as if Dr. John Fish (photo below) might be showing his son, Gary, the correct way to grasp a nail for a good pitch. John is ready to go to bat, and Kent seems to think he will make a pinch-hitter, even though he is still under the management of his mother. It's another example of how families are enjoying outdoor living.

THE FAMILY CHEF — At least that's what George D. Weeks (above) is on week ends in the backyard at the family residence at 1305 11th Pl. Armed with portabie barbecue pit, apron and condiments he is ready to whip up a meal for Beth (standing beside him), Mrs. Weeks and little John.

MRS. CHARLES WARREN

Charles Warren Takes Miss Riddle As Bride

Shirley Riddle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Riddle, 921 E. 16th Street, became the bride of Charles Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Warren, 605 E. 15th Street, at 8 p.m. Friday in the Baptist Temple, with the Rev. James S. Parks of McKinney reading the vows for the informal, double-ring ceremony. The altar was decorated with a large basket of gladioli and calla lilies, flanked with candelabra and emerald fern trees. Gary Warren

The Peter Pan collar was embroidered with pearls and rhinestones. Her veil fell from a lace cap edged with pearls. She wore white linen-lace pumps. Her flowers were white carnations in a colonial nosegay on top of a white Bible. For something old, the bride wore a ring, belonging to the mother of the bridegroom. Her dress was new, and she had borrowed the white Bible from Beverly Edwards. She wore a blue garter. Beba Riddle, sister of the bride was maid of honor, and she wore a dress of aqua antique taffeta, trimmed in rhinestones and pearls. Billy Ray Warren, brother of the bridegroom was best man. Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the entertaining rooms of the church. The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth over green with an arrangement of Marooni daisies. A three-tiered cake was served by Mrs. Estelene Montgomery and Mrs. Reuben Hill. Karen Montgomery presided at the guest register. After the reception, the couple left for a trip to San Antonio. For traveling, the bride wore a two-piece dress of tangerine and charcoal, trimmed with white. Her accessories were white. Upon their return they will be at home at 708 E. 12th. The bride was graduated from Big Spring High School and attended Howard County Junior College. She is now employed by the Texas Education Agency. The bridegroom was graduated from Big Spring High School and Howard County Junior College. He has been a student during the past year at Texas University, where he was a member of the T Association. ### HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Dress For Your Type And To Suit Occasion

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Greer Garson went to England recently to lecture in the universities about the filming of "Julius Caesar." "It was very interesting," she explained when I visited her the other day in her beautiful Bel-Air estate. "I had to plan a wardrobe for three distinct types. I had to dress for the class room, as a movie star for appearances in theaters and still another way when I was visiting friends. I wanted to know more about this wardrobe. "For my lectures I wore a tailored dress, buttoned down the front, but the severity was relieved by it being made in a gay red. I wore an evening gown ranging in shades from aquamarine to deep blue for personal appearances, and my friends liked my suit which was a black skirt with a jacket of traditional hunting pink. "There is an undeniable ease and assurance which springs from the knowledge that your clothes are in

Frances King Becomes Bride Of Jack Lee

Before an arch of candelabra, entwined with greenery, Frances King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. King, 505 Johnson, became the bride of Jack Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lee, 1007 Bluebonnet. The double ring ceremony was read in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. C. R. Dunnagan, 1110 Nolan, with the Rev. Maple Avery officiating at 8 p.m. Friday. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of pink antique taffeta, with Peter Pan collar and tiny cuffs. The very full skirt was joined to a pointed bodice, fastened with small buttons. She wore a white lace hat and white linen pumps. Her white Bible was topped with white carnations and white ribbon. For something borrowed and old, the bride wore a bracelet, belonging to her grandmother. Her Bible was new and had been given to her by the YWA of her church. In her shoes was a penny and she wore a blue garter. The matron of honor was Mrs. Francys Rice, who was wearing a Nile green creptlette acetate and silk dress with full skirt and high neckline. Her accessories were white and her corsage was of pale yellow carnations. The best man was Jerry Sanders. Following the wedding, a reception was held with Mrs. Harry Hunt and Mabel Dunagan presiding at the table which was laid with a white cutwork cloth over pale yellow. The centerpiece was of candles and roses. A three-layer cake was topped with a small bride and bridegroom. Other members of the house party were: Mrs. Jerry Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Dunnagan and son, Charles, R. L. Simon, Callie and Darla Sue Dunnagan. Following the reception, the couple left for a trip to Colorado Springs, Colo., after which they will be at home at 1207 1/2 Wood Street. For traveling, the bride wore a two-piece navy and white linen suit with navy and white accessories. Miss King is a graduate of Big Spring High School, and she has attended Howard County Junior College. She is now employed at

DRESS PARADE

To set off her deep tan Mrs. Robert Lipscomb, wife of Major Lipscomb of Webb Air Force Base, is shown in a favorite afternoon dress of turquoise and white. Strips of the imported turquoise cotton are used alternately with strips of dainty white cotton lace to advantage in this style with its gored skirt and wide square neckline.

The wide midriff emphasizes the waist and the gathered bodice. A narrow cord goes around the waistline and ties in back. Undercover is a stiff taffeta petticoat that is attached to the dress.

An ideal afternoon hat is the black horsehair braid with dipping brim. Perfect summer earrings are the white chalk lace ones. Her gloves are black sheer nylon.

At an early evening party, Mrs. Ann Gibson Houser was wearing a soft shade of blue linen, decorated all over with tiny clusters of pearls and rhinestones, and made with a low scoop neckline. Colors in her choker and earrings of floral design matched her dress and her pink linen pumps.

Pat McCormick, at the same party, wore a sheath dress of coral silk, with small white figures. Her low, wide neckline was gathered with coral velvet run through in beading style. Her jewelry was pendant earrings, and her pumps were black patent.

For a recent luncheon, Mrs. Clara McLean wore a shirtwaist dress, with a touch of variety in the skirt, which was lined in lug-gage shade with white polka dots, and which had scallops across the front. The blouse of the dress was of white linen with an inset of the skirt material at the neck and lining the collar. Her hat was a white pillbox; her choker was chalk white and her gloves were white.

Jaynet Graham sang "O Promise Me," with accompaniment by Mrs. Janie Payne at the piano.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk waffle pique dress fashioned with lace sleeves and pockets. Pearl and rhinestone buttons were placed down the front. She wore a white hat and white shoes. Her flowers were red roses and carnations on a white Bible.

As maid of honor, Carolyn Harrington, cousin of the bride, wore a light blue waffle pique dress

EASY TO MAKE International Design Trims With Selvage

The easiest dress you will ever make is this selvage dress, created by Paris-born, American designer, Janet Walker. It is a dress that exemplifies both national sides of her background for it is French in its economy, American in its short-cut system.

The entire collar is cut in one piece; the hem and collar are selvaged which forms the trim, leaving a minimum of hand finishing. The bodice is molded to the figure by the insertion of a dart under the collar. Mrs. Walker's original design was in cotton but it would be equally delightful in denim, linen, sailcloth, but be sure your fabric is reversible.

This pattern is cut in DESIGNER sizes.

Size 12, bust 35, waist 25, hips 36 inches; size 14, bust 36 1/2, waist 26 1/2, hips 37 1/2 inches; size 16, bust 38, waist 28, hips 39 inches; size 18, bust 40, waist 30, hips 41 inches; size 20, bust 42, waist 32, hips 43 inches.

Size 12 requires 4 1/4 yards of 36 inch material for dress. To order pattern No. 1102, address Spadea Syndicate, Inc., P. O. Box 535, Dept. B5, G. P. O., New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1.00. Add five cents for bank clearance, if paid by check or money order. Airmail handling 25 cents extra.

No Longer Sings For Her Supper

Instead of singing for it she serves it to her husband, Lt. D. T. Waddle. She was a professional singer in Dallas before their marriage. Dallas is home for both of them but they're now living at 1517-B Wood while Lt. Waddle works for his wings at Webb.

Blonde Ex-Singer Is Now Air Force Wife

Lt. D. T. Waddle may have curtailed the rise of a new star on the Hollywood and New York scene when he married the feature singer on the "Early Birds" radio show in Dallas. Blonde, blue-eyed Barbara Waddle has had quite a bit of professional experience as a "pop" singer including singing with Durward Cline's orchestra in Dallas and with the Skimay Ennis orchestra. Appearing before the public so often demands that you look your best and Mrs. Waddle's top advice for budding entertainers is, "get a good night's sleep."

She was also the winner of the Texas Disc Jockey Contest in connection with promotion of the movie, "Disc Jockey." The couple has been here just a few weeks. The lieutenant hopes to get his pilot's wings about Sept. 29. When they went into the Air Force they expected to be sent anywhere but Texas, since Dallas is home, but at no time have they been farther than about 300 miles from home. Athletic Lt. Waddle played football for Texas A&M but graduated in industrial management from SMU. He's also a hunting fan, but according to his wife he's all wrapped up in flying now.

HI-TALK

By Libby Jones

The seniors finally reached that long-awaited goal Thursday night as they walked across the stage to receive their diplomas. Congratulations are in order for Alice Ann Martin, valedictorian of the senior class, and Beverly Edwards, salutatorian. Robert Angel and James Day tied for the position of highest ranking boy. Scholarships were also presented to Kenneth Briden, Elouise Carroll, Jimmy Porter and Doris Hahn. Students participating in the graduation exercises included Nina Fryar and Ariene Mitchell, who played the professional and recessional; Patsy Clements and Jackie Shrirey, who sang solos; and Anne Gray and Robert Angel, who delivered talks on the school system of yesterday and today.

Following the graduation exercises, the senior class held a Senior Ring Dance at the Country Club. With the help of Mr. Manely and his shop students, a seven foot replica of the BSHS senior ring had been built to use at the dance. During the evening all of the seniors and their dates lined up to go through the ring and turn their own rings around to signify that they had now graduated from BSHS. Some of the couples seen at the dance were David Westfall, Nancy Pitman; Doss Brookshire, Carolyn Miller; Jim Farmer, Janice Anderson; Ray Shaw, Jeannette Petty; Don Dunbar, Rosetta Flowers; Don Washburn, Roby Flowers; James Underwood, Patsy Clements; Lathe ambitious ones who wanted to go swimming. Bright and early Thursday morning Ann White held a come-as-you-are breakfast honoring some of the graduating seniors. About 14 attended. Congratulations to Don Swinney and Elouise Carroll, Buddy Blankenhip and Mary Ellen Hayes, who became engaged graduation night. As you know, with graduation, out goes the old Hi Talk reporter and in comes a new one. For your new reporter, we have chosen a girl who, we know, will serve you well during the next year, Miss Peggy Hogan. Peggy already has a line of honors behind her for the two years she has been in high school. She was sophomore class secretary, and this year she has been on the annual staff, secretary of the Tri-Hi-Y club, and she was named to Who's Who. For next year she was chosen as a senior class student council representative and vice president of the Tri-Hi-Y club. Best of luck to you, Peggy, with Hi Talk and with your remaining high school days.

Featured in the film are William Holden, June Allyson, Barbara Stanwyck, Frederic March, Shelley Winters, Paul Douglas and Louis Calhern.

All have roles in the struggle for power in a giant corporation with which the story deals. The struggle is initiated when the long-time chief of the company dies without having designated anyone to fill his shoes. All the junior executives have their eye on the job and there the fun begins, except it's anything but fun for most of those involved.

Film 'Perilous Journey' Due At State Theatre

"A Perilous Journey" is made that way due to the kind of cargo Capt. Charles Wintinger is carrying on his ship. The cargo happens to consist of 49 European ladies bound to Sacramento at the height of the gold rush to get rich husbands.

The picture shows at the State Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday.

Vera Ralston as Francis Landreux is at the height of the adventures, for she jumps ship in steamy, tropical Panama in hopes of finding the man that she had married but who had deserted her. The missing hubby (played by Lief Erickson) is there all right but is temporarily out of circulation. He had tangled with the cowboy Shard (played by Scott Brady) in a crooked card game and Shard had been quicker on the draw.

Shard doesn't fare as well in his next adventure for Monty Breed (David Brian) takes him for a loss in gambling. Broke but needing a way to get to California and get back his stake, Shard makes a deal with Wintinger for passage to gold mine country in exchange for getting the missing Francis back on ship. She goes willingly enough after failing to find her mate.

More action follows in California as Shard and Breed continue their war, this time over a diversion dam that is cutting the vital water supply of miners off.

The picture is a Republic production and was based on the novel, "Golden Tide" by Vingie Roe. Songs in the picture include "On the Rue de la Paix," "Bon Soir," "California," and "Abide With Me."

'Decision' Movie To Show At Lyric

"Decision Before Dawn," a film dealing with the collapse of Nazi Germany, shows Tuesday and Wednesday at the Lyric Theatre. Starring are Richard Basehart as the young German and Gary Mitchell as an American officer. Basehart is sent as a spy back to the German lines to see what he can find out.

'Walking My Baby' Due At Jet Drive-In

Donald O'Connor and Janet Leigh team for "Walking My Baby Back Home," Technicolor musical which is to show at the Jet Drive-In Tuesday and Wednesday.

O'Connor is an heir who must become a classical music star if he is to get the fortune left to him. However, he has bent for jazz instead.

Miss Leigh is the record shop cutie who abets O'Connor in his plans.

Jane Russell Featured In 'French Line,' 3-D Musical

Jane Russell makes her well-publicized bow in three-dimension films in "French Line," RKO film which studio chief Howard Hughes, who produced "The Outlaw" in which Miss Russell won her first fame, personally supervised. It shows four days at the Ritz, starting Wednesday.

As well as 3-D, this musical has Technicolor. Miss Russell plays the richest girl in Texas en route to, Gay Paree and cutting up some ship board capers with Gilbert Roland.

Songs include numbers such as "Any Gal From Texas," "Well, I'll Be Switched," "With a Kiss," "Comment Aidez Vous?" and "What Is This I Feel?"

Miss Russell, as every newspaper and magazine reader should know by now, is featured in somewhat abbreviated costumes during the course of the picture.

Lloyd Bacon was the picture's director.

'Fort Algiers' Now Showing At Lyric

"Fort Algiers" shows today and Monday at the Lyric Theatre. Starring in the film are Yvonne De Carlo and Carlos Thompson.

Miss DeCarlo appears as a beauty who is actually working for French intelligence. Thompson is an old boy friend who does not realize this and thinks she is a tramp. Stars of "French Line," 3-D musical in Technicolor which is to show at the Ritz Theatre starting Wednesday for a four-day run, are Jane Russell and Gilbert Roland. Miss Russell cavorts around a rich Texas girl on a trans-oceanic liner.

OUTDOOR LIVING

A picnic, a back-yard barbecue, a vacation, a garden . . . summer fun in outdoor living . . . here are suggestions and ideas for enjoying many pleasant days.

Back-Yard Activity Centers Around Fireplace; They're Easy To Build

Warm, sunny days and balmy evenings just naturally inspire outdoor living—and outdoor cooking over charcoal or wood goes hand-in-hand with this pleasant weather source of entertainment.

Designing, planning, then actually building an outdoor fireplace can be fun for the whole family. For even a novice can create an attractive fireplace by fitting brick, stone, or other masonry around the ready-to-use metal parts that are available today.

There are many designs to choose from for your fireplace. They include every type from the simplest, chimney-less, masonry-and-grill cookstove to the finest outdoor counterpart of a living room fireplace, complete with cooking facilities.

Can't you just picture your "backyard kitchen" surrounded by a congenial group of friends and with the magic of glowing embers transforming even the simplest of foods into the choicest of delicacies? Ummm, real living.

It can be fun, too, for the teenagers in the family for their hamburger parties and get-togethers. There are various fireplace designs that are readily adaptable to different garden or lawn locations and landscaping.

Here are a couple of style tips that every fireplace builder should know:

First of all, select a type of fireplace that suits the surroundings and space that is available. A low or rambling design is ideal for restricted garden areas or somewhat open spaces, while a unit with a tall chimney is better for heavily foliated spots surrounded by trees.

Metal Parts Available
With the proper metal parts and masonry materials you can either build your own fireplace—or have it built—easily and at a surprisingly low investment.

Until recent years a major handicap in building an outdoor fireplace was the difficulty of locating essential metal parts, such as grills, doors and grates. This is no longer a problem.

One firm, the Burr-Southern Corp., has a complete line of chrome steel grills and built-in units.

Another producer of fireplace materials is The Majestic Company. It carries metal fireplace units of all types and sizes and a wide variety of parts.

These manufactured items are easy to install in outdoor fireplaces of any design. In fact, these firms will send all types of designs, plans and methods of construction upon request.

Briefly, here's all it takes to build a typical outdoor fireplace: Mark off desired size with stakes

- List of Materials
The materials you'll need for the construction of a typical outdoor fireplace are:
- 1 Outdoor fireplace metal unit.
  - 30 Full corner blocks 8 x 8 x 16 inches.
  - 14 Bull nose blocks 8 x 8 x 16 inches.
  - 7 17x21 inch chimney blocks.
  - 2 4x8x16 inch blocks.
  - 2 1x2x32 1/2 inch wire reinforced caps.
  - 1 Bag of brick mortar.
  - 300 lb. sand.
  - 3 Sacks cement.
  - 1/4 Yard gravel or stone.

and string. The base should be at least 70 by 33 inches with a projection 17 inches deep and 21 inches wide centered at rear of the chimney. Dig out area to depth of 10 or 12 inches for foundation. Make wooden forms that rise above ground two or three inches.

Lay in a few inches of concrete; then lay a strip of heavy wire. Then fill form clear to top and smooth. Let this set for two or three days.

Lay up chimney consisting of seven 17 by 21-inch chimney blocks, including base joint. Cut a smoke inlet opening about five inches square into the flue, close under the top edge of the metal firebox to insure best draft conditions. This can be done with a hammer and cold chisel.

Lay out the first course of blocks being sure they are perfectly level. Put six blocks in the center on their sides to form a smooth surface for the asphalt. Lay one course of blocks on each side to begin the sides of the fireplace. A maximum width of 19 inches should be maintained in the center section. Lay two more courses of blocks on each side, remembering to alternate the vertical joints.

Now you are ready to install the metal fireplace unit, and set the 1 by 25 by 32 1/2-inch cement caps in place. Be sure the caps are set in a good bed of mortar. The fireplace is now complete, but do not fire it until the mortar and concrete have had sufficient time to set and harden.

PATIO FIREPLACE is chrome-steel firebox and grill built in masonry foundation. Manufacturers supply plans.

OUTDOOR COOKERY and living area floor are masonry that can be built by the man-of-the-house.

Proper Lights Give Outdoor Life At Night

Long as the summer days are, they are invariably all too short to satisfy most garden lovers. For lavish though Mother Nature is in most of her moods, she persistently "blacks out" her handwork, and yours, when the sun sets.

The enjoyment of a lovingly planned and planted garden can be prolonged, however, by going in for outdoor lighting. You'll find it great fun to dine and entertain outdoors on balmy summer nights. Most people think a lighted garden is a luxury only for those whose grounds are large and formal. But Miss Myrtle Fahslander, director of home lighting for Westinghouse, says any garden, be it ever so modest, can come to life in the evenings inexpensively and easily. In fact, she says, the investment can be planned to fit your budget and still provide ample lighting. It can range from a few spots of light using temporary, outdoor-type extension cords to a well-planned, permanently installed system.

Use Light And Shading
Miss Fahslander offers the following tips and suggestions for an attractively lighted garden: The night-lighted garden is not supposed to duplicate the garden by day. In fact, a skillfully lighted garden will present a completely different—sometimes more alluring—appearance by night. Therefore, no attempt should be made to "whitewash" the entire garden in imitation of nature's sunlight. The result may be flat and monotonous, and the natural colors may be lost.

Experience has taught that white lights usually look best on flower beds. Green and yellow lights are complementary to fountains, pools and trellises. Blue lights are disappointing for they are apt to create an eerie and unearthly look in the night.

Even where night-flying insects are a problem, the enjoyment of a night-lighted garden need not be sacrificed. It has been found, for instance, that yellow light has the most discouraging effect on insects, and a specially designed yellow bulb, called "Bug-away," comes in 60-, 100- and 150-watt sizes.

Summer Cosmetics On The Counters

Time was you couldn't expect to have fun in the sun and look pretty, too. But today, you can stay attractive right through a day of tennis, golf, hiking, swimming or sun-worshipping.

You'll find a spray net very effective in coil control. Use it before brushing your hair. Then, after your hair is in place, spray on a little more to lock in the set. Firms now making spray nets include Revlon, Helena Rubinstein, Helen Curtis and Liqueur Corporation.

Wisp-Stick, made by Good Grooming Products, is also a handy hair-grooming aid. It is small enough to slip into your skirt pocket. Yet whisk it out between sets or swims to tame fine hairs that tend to tumble over the forehead.

To keep your skin from becoming dry after exposure to sun, wind and water, use one of the lanolin-rich night creams or lotions that are offered by all leading cosmetic houses. If your skin is very sensitive, apply a thin film of the preparation before putting on your make-up.

Bring Those Kitchen Appliances Outdoors

Eating outdoors can be fun for everyone including the cook. That holds true whether you stage a picnic at a favorite far-from-home spot, or serve breakfast, lunch or dinner on your cool shady porch or terrace. And when it comes to the "cats," you can let your imagination go.

The lack of an outdoor fireplace shouldn't stop you from going in for back-yard picnics. If the family porch or lawn is equipped with a weatherproof electrical outlet, or you own a long extension cord, cooking outdoors becomes simple. Here is a wonderful chance to try out all the latest portable electrical appliances—grills, rotisseries, blenders, coffee makers, deep fryers, and many others.

Just toe out whatever table appliances you have and plug in. One big advantage that portable cookery has over the barbecue pit, as pointed out by Sarah Alexander, home economist for Roto-Brod, shows up quickly when it rains. Just move the appliances to the porch or living room and your party can still go on. If it isn't always practical or possible to cook food outdoors, or bring it to the "picnic" table in the utensil in which it was cooked, then "plate" the meal in the kitchen. Go in for paper plates and place mats and your sturdiest glassware. Use a salad bowl instead of individual dishes, and use serving trays to save steps back and forth.

Julia Kiene, home economist for Westinghouse, stresses that your meal can be nutritious and simple at the same time. Include one hot dish, and serve it with a salad or cold slaw or a relish dish. For dessert, plenty of cookies or fresh fruit, or delicacies from your freezer.

Minnow Bucket
For fishermen there are molded pulp minnow buckets that remain strong when they carry water. Minnows can live in these buckets for many hours because the buckets "breathe."

Swim Pools Within Reach

No longer the exclusive property of millionaires, hotels and movie stars, the swimming pool now is found in more and more middle-class yards.

According to expert estimates, some 10,000 pools are installed each year throughout the nation. There isn't much doubt about it—a swimming pool is a definite luxury. But those who have made the investment rarely have regretted it.

Depending upon your income, you can have a pool made by experts at prices which start at $400.

This amount will get you a readymade plastic liner, installed on a wooden frame, which fits into a hole of 12 by 27 feet.

Custom-built concrete and steel jobs cost considerably more—usually about $4,000, including filtration systems.

Many families, however, have built their pools themselves at costs as low as $100 or $200. The job isn't child's play, but results in fun and neighborhood prestige both are great.

Food Market Has Items To Cut Work Of Picnic

Included in "good old sayings" that ought to be given the boot are the many variations of this one:
"Picnics are lots of fun—for all but the woman who plans them, and has to prepare the food."
This may have been true once, but it sure doesn't hold up today. Planning a picnic outing now is a simple task indeed, and that includes preparing the food.
The woman who does the job herself can save many hours in the mealtime department by enlisting the aid of her freezer.
Most of the goodies she'll need, such as sandwiches, cakes and meats, can be frozen days in advance and taken to the picnic site in a new-style, easily-packed food basket. The foods will defrost en route.
Her other home appliances are equally helpful—especially those which are portable.
An electric roaster-oven, for instance, will prepare a full-scale meal for as many as eight persons—or a one-dish meal for 40 persons—in one operation.
Food cooked in advance will keep hot for six hours if the roaster is wrapped in a blanket while you drive to the picnic area.
If she wants to avoid even this much, she can have her picnic virtually ready-made with a trip to two or three stores.
Down at the market, she can take her pick from a wide variety of pre-packaged, ready-to-serve foods that Grains would have thought amazing. From the baker comes cakes and breads; from the delicatessen comes potato salad. Ice cream packed in dry ice and bottled or concentrated beverages whisk away the dessert problem.
Once the food is set, there's hardly any planning needed at all. Beautiful picnic sites with tables, grills and water fountains can be found in state or local parks. The amount of equipment you take is entirely up to you.
But don't forget these: a flashlight or lantern, a small insect spray, plenty of napkins, and some games for the children.

EASILY STORED during indoor months, all-aluminum furniture folds away compactly. Outdoors, the chairs, stools, tables are light enough to be moved to any spot for backyard parties. The metal takes weathering well.

AT FINGERTIPS are cool drinks, books, cigarettes with this automatic tray on six-legged garden chair. The tray comes up to position as the chair is unfolded. Extra legs add steadiness. Frame is aluminum, seat cotton.

Furniture Dresses Up Yard

The latest trend in furniture is toward pieces that can be used outdoors as well as indoors. Of course, the basic item for easy living is the chair. There are many types to choose from that are both comfortable and easy to move around. Chairs with tubular steel legs are popular because of their durability and all-weather construction. Then there's the new-fangled folding aluminum type that is lightweight and easy to store. Maybe you'll want to transport your favorite wooden loafer chair outdoors. Or if you have a glider or swing on the porch try moving it outside, too. It'll make pleasant relaxation for the whole family. Snack Cart Handy If you don't already have a table to move outdoors, look into the new line which features hardwood tops and wrought-iron legs. The tops of these fashionable tables are also stainproof so the children won't be a mealtime hazard. The snack cart is another item that is mighty convenient to have around the house for any occasion. It's just the thing for that long haul from the kitchen to the patio or yard with that summer supper. You can also store a scabbie board or card-game equipment underneath the snack cart in order to have recreational facilities at arms-length. Match Colors To House If you decide to re-do your present furniture, let yourself go when you paint it and use bright color accents. For you're decorating your outdoor living room, and outdoor living is gay and usually festive. The furniture should reflect that mood. However, some discretion should be used in selecting colors, or a jumbled, disturbing effect might clutter your yard or patio. Color experts say it's a good idea to pick up the color accent of the shutters, doors or roof of your house and repeat it on your furniture. Such colors as turquoise, aquamarine, coral, or yellow are effective when handled this way. A gay color accent also can be derived from one of the bright hues of the house awnings or from the conspicuous sun umbrella. Soft Pinks Good Also, decorators say soft pinks go well in front of greenery and blend nicely with stone and brick colors. As a contrast, they suggest patterned wrought iron painted black. It stands out effectively against light concrete or crushed stone patios. Incidentally, when painting wrought iron the metal first should be scraped free from any rust or scale. Experts of the Martin-Senour Paint Company say a red lead chromate metal primer should then be applied and allowed to dry from 24 to 48 hours. Then, they suggest an outdoor enamel which dries quickly and does not soften under heat. One or two coats are sufficient. There are many pieces of outdoor furniture that can be painted in color accents. These include chairs, benches, settees, tables, barbecue equipment, sandboxes and swings. Regardless of the type furniture or color you decide on, the main thing is to get outdoors this summer. If you don't have a terrace, patio or yard, then convert a room into a sun-terrace.

Rods To Rowboats, Plastics Take Over

With the reinforced plastics industry less than 10 years old, the time has come to talk of many things: of ships and pools and furniture, of fishing rods and swings.

For this infant industry, which turns out molded items that are practically weatherproof and stronger than steel, is making deep inroads into outdoor living. And, more times than not, doing it better than metals and ceramics.

Plastic Rods Popular Take fishing rods. Last year there were more than 10 million reinforced plastic rods in use, according to the Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corp. And these rods will take breaking forces up to 120,000 pounds per square inch.

Take sail and motorboats. The Anchorage Boat Company, long known for its Dyer Dinks, is turning out reinforced plastic boats as fast as they can to meet the demand. Their boats, like others of the same material, will never rot, warp, decay or fall heir to marine disease. Besides, these boats never need painting, caulking or seasoning. They simply don't leak.

Take porch furniture. Molded of reinforced plastic, it will take any amount of weathering without losing its strength or graceful shape. It will also take spilled liquids, food stains, sunlight and clean up bright and shining.

Take swimming pools which never corrode, are always watertight; take luggage that withstands terrific beatings easily; take awnings that withstand anything the elements might do; take a thousand and one other items that make life easier and less costly and you've got the reinforced plastics industry.

Glass Fibers Tough There are two component parts to this business: fiber glass which lends its high strengths; and polyester resins that turn from liquid to strong solid and assume any shape of any mold. According to Bigelow - Sanford, one of the largest weavers and suppliers of glass - fiber fabrics, new methods of weaving and pressing the staple are yielding even higher strengths. Their new "Rovcloth," for example, is woven of untwisted fibers and has a breaking strength of over 1,000 pounds per square inch. Hess-Goldsmith, another major weaver of glass fabric, has come up with a similar weave. They have stockpiled ten tons and are weaving 20,000 yards per month to meet the new demand. In production, the glass fiber—either woven or matted or simply scattered on the mold—is held in shape by the polyester resins. The molded product is far stronger than either resin or glass.

Test Plastic Sails American Cyanamid, one of the biggest producers of this plastic, notes its corporate head wisely at the suggestion that Americans may well see an all-reinforced-plastic boat from truck of mast to bottom of keel. They are currently experimenting with a coated paper that might replace the standard cotton canvas in sails. And other plastics, like vinyl, seem to be strong enough for rigging.

Just where this industry is going is pointed out by Richard Savage of the Marco Plastics Division of the Celanese Corp., which makes resins. "Last year," he said, "reinforced plastics fabricators bought $20 million worth of glass and resin and turned it into an $80 million industry. This year it should approach $100 million."

Fan Will Work Outdoors, Too Outdoors as well as indoors, there's one technique for stirring up a breeze that's rarely been known to fail, even on the doggiest "dog days." Namely the use of a fan. The indoor usage is well accepted. The fan has been a precious aid in moving stagnant household air for years now. But for no apparent reason, you seldom see a fan used outdoors. Actually, the fan is just as potent on the front porch or backyard terrace as it is anywhere else. When a sweltering, breezeless evening comes along, all you need is a long, inexpensive extension cord and coolness lurks at the flick of a switch.

Steaks Cooked Over Charcoal A Taste Treat

According to qualified picnic observers, the reason that picnic-goers are hungrier than anybody else is the fact that picnic parties always seem to get started late. And while it is generally agreed that the best part of any meal is the food, it is hardly emphasized enough that this is especially true of outdoor eating. The first—and one of the most important—factors governing the taste of grill-cooking is the fuel. Green twigs, kerosene-soaked wood, too much paper in the fire will impart exotic, if not sickening, flavors to otherwise good food. Most picnic grounds do not abound with loose-lying kindling. And wild spots often have only green wood. And so most outdoors take their own fuel—charcoal. Try Hickory Charcoal. Among the many brands, there are some with special aromas built in. Bar-B-Kets, for example, are pressed wood pellets with hickory essence that impart their flavor to foods. Most grocery or hardware or general stores carry bags and cartons of grill fuel. In the building of the fire, it is wisest to start with a bed of loosely crumpled paper upon which has been heaped dry, thin kindling wood. If no kindling is available, newspaper that has been twisted tight will do the job. The charcoal or pellets should be put on as the blaze gets going. It works this way: the loose paper creates quick flame which sets the kindling on slower fire and gives the prepared fuel a chance to get hot enough to glow. It is this glow which will do the cooking job. Three Sample Recipes Here are several recipes you might want to try. STEAK—On top of the grate place a thoroughly wetted out piece of paper toweling and spread a layer of coarse salt on it. The salt, about an eighth of an inch thick will soon become hot as the paper dries. Place the steak on the hot salt.

The salt, closing the pores of the meat and sealing in the juices, does the actual cooking. Turn the steak within 20 minutes, to seal the other side, and allow it to broil until done. Excess salt can be brushed from the meat, although not enough remains to do more than give the steak a delicious flavor. WESTERN STEAK—This one's done like the regular salt-broiling job, but without the bed of salt. Merely rub the meat with whatever seasoning you like—garlic, salt, sauce—and place on the grill about four inches above the embers. This time, the embers will pass their essence on to the meat. It's wise to remember that you can test the meat at any time to note its progress by making a small cut near the bone. SHISH KABOB—This one's the Old Faithful of back-yard chefs and it's simply marinated lamb broiled with bacon or pork and tomatoes on a metal skewer. Cut lamb into 1 1/2 inch chunks. Soak 24 hours in marinade. Arrange lamb alternately with bacon or pork and small tomatoes or onions on skewers. Broil over hot coals until tender, turning frequently. A marinade for three pounds of lamb: 1/2 cup olive or peanut oil; 1 cup red wine; 1 clove garlic peeled; 1 teaspoon of salt; 1/2 teaspoon black pepper; 1/4 teaspoon of oregano; 1/4 teaspoon thyme. Bay leaf.

More Outdoor Life Means Protection For Your Skin

Now that most people recognize the value of suntan oils and lotions for acquiring an even tan without discomfort, the manufacturers of these products are working both to improve their products and their scope.

Charles of the Ritz, for example, has just introduced a lotion that's said to help keep your skin moist and smooth as it filters the harmful rays of the sun. Called Sun Bronze, its formula includes an ingredient that is found in the firm's treatment creams and lotions.

So that the user will have a minimum of messiness in handling, Sun Bronze comes in an easily wiped off plastic can. Ease of application and added protection are both featured in a new suntan oil made by Anole, Incorporated. It comes in a spray can and is said to act as an insect repellent. It will also protect the skin from harsh winds as well as the sun. Name of this new summer aid is Sun Dress.

For the person whose skin is allergic to the sun's rays, the J. B. Williams Company, makers of Skolex, have brought out a cream called Skolex. The firm says the colorless and greaseless preparation is safe to apply to lips and ears as well as to the face and hands.

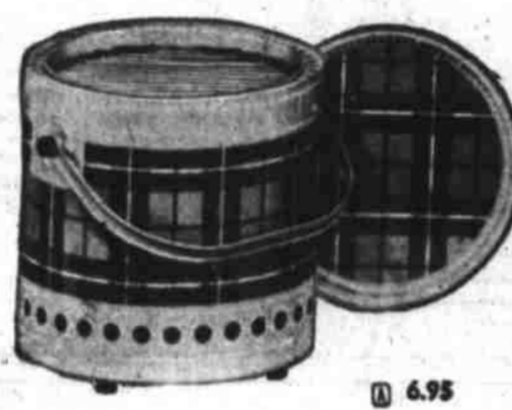

Everyone loves them... so smart... so comfy... so very versatile.

ROLL OUT THE GRILL Cooking Outdoors Is For Everybody

Ever since the discovery of fire people have enjoyed gathering around an open flame to sing, cook and eat tangy food. Today, these outdoor get-togethers are better than ever because modern barbecue gadgets turn out food easier and tastier.

Do you sit around the house every summer and wish for that meat cooked over an open fire out in the yard, but you don't have an outdoor fireplace? Then stop wishing.

The old-fashioned barbecue pit was fine for cooking delicious, wood-smoked meat. But modern designers have put an end to the smoke and mess. For now you can get almost any type and size grill to fit your budget and space that will barbecue meat to an out-of-this-world flavor.

Many Sizes in Stores

Whether you have a patio, or just some space out in the yard, you'll be able to find just the unit to fit your needs. Most dealers carry all types of barbecue units—bucket-shaped, square, flat, vertical and all kinds of portable jobs.

Even though there won't be a crackling fire, the gang can still gather around and sniff the wonderful aroma of sizzling meat. They can sing, too, without eating smoke and rubbing their eyes.

If you're interested in a portable grill, one company, the Burr-Southern Corp., has developed a unit that is easily adaptable for either indoor or outdoor cooking. It has two wheels like a pushcart with a 16x20-inch grill that is heavily chrome-plated.

Another feature of this unit is an adjustable firebox that is easily lowered by a crank. It has a shelf area in the warming oven with more than seven square feet of space. This provides ample room for utensils and other equipment.

Curving over the grill of this portable is a hood-like gadget which also can be used for a warming shelf. You can even attach a hardwood cutting board—either single or double—on the end of the unit.

The Rochester Can Company is another firm that produces a variety of popular-priced portables. They feature a big "family" type grill with a 24-inch round cooking surface that is large enough to accommodate an entire meal at one time.

A special feature of this grill is a unique draft control which makes fire-starting simple, and provides flameless heat control for better cooking results.

Grill-loving Americans will also get a kick out of their new "bucket" grill. It's a neat charcoal burner that looks just like its name.

You can carry it in one hand to the picnic area with the dinner packed inside which will later be cooked on top.

Steel Skewers Handy

If you're looking for an oven or kitchen type barbecue grill the Majestic Company has a line that should suit your taste.

The bottom bar grates of this unit are adjustable in height for use of either charcoal or wood fuel.

This firm also makes a vertical wire grill broiler that is ideal for picnickers and sportsmen. It is

Let The Children Help On A Picnic

Let the children help, too, in preparing for outdoor dining. Include them in your plans for picnics and back-yard cook-outs. Simple but enjoyable jobs to do will make them feel a part of goings-on.

Author Carolyn Coggins, party consultant to Fanny Farmer Candies, suggests a simple peppermint and ice cream dessert which any youngster can decorate himself for your next outdoor treat.

The idea is to crunch peppermint sticks into small bits and sprinkle them as a topping for ice cream loafs and sundaes. Let the child do the serving, too, and watch him grin with pride at the compliments.

compact, light and easily assembled.

If you back-yard chefs want to get fancy with shish kabob skewers or flaming sword servers then look over the new assortment that Ekco Products Company has added to its line of outdoor chef tools.

These handy servers are 24 1/2 inches long with square-shaped shafts of stainless steel and food guards that slide up the shaft to remove food without contact with the hands.

So, stop wishing for that outdoor barbecue treat. Get down to your hardware or appliance store and look over his line of grills. You'll be surprised how easily and reasonably you can make your wish a reality.

Tasty Sauce Is The Cook's Master Touch

When it comes to barbecue sessions, there used to be one special field where the novice chef could always be spotted: the making of savory sauces.

This was true, however, before the perfection of versatile electric blenders. These exciting kitchen aids, which will grind, chop, liquefy, blend and grate, have revolutionized sauce making, just as they did the job of beverage making.

With a blender to help, even a raw beginner can turn out sauces for fish, meat and fowl that cannot be told from those of an expert. And all in a matter of five or 10 minutes.

Here are some sauce recipes, contributed by the makers of the Waring Blender, that will soon convince any skeptic:

Mushroom Brown Sauce
(Makes 2 cups)
One dozen medium sized mushrooms (sliced), 2 tablespoons butter or fat, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 cup beef stock, 1/4 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, few drops of Worcestershire sauce.

Saute mushrooms in butter or fat, stir in flour, cook until brown, stirring constantly. Add remaining ingredients. Place in glass container of blender, turn blender on and off for 3 seconds, so mushrooms will not be chopped too finely. Cook in double boiler, stirring constantly until thickened.

Note: One cup water and 1 bouillon cube, or 2 teaspoons beef extract may be substituted for beef stock.

Tomato Hollandaise
(Makes 1/2 cup)
Two egg yolks, 2 teaspoons tomato paste, 1 tablespoon tarragon vinegar, 2 tablespoons cream, 1/4 teaspoon salt, few grains of cayenne, two tablespoons butter.

Place all ingredients in glass container or blender. Blend 15 seconds. Place in top of double boiler and cook over hot water, stirring constantly until slightly thickened. Pour over fillet of sole or baked or poached fish.

Steak or Fish Butter
(Makes 1/2 cup)
One-half cup butter, 1/4 garlic clove, peeled; 1/4 teaspoon black pepper, 1/4 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon finely minced tarragon (or basil, savory, dill or sage), 1 teaspoon finely minced chives.

Place all ingredients in blender. Blend thoroughly about 30 seconds. Do not chill. Spread on steak or fish before serving.

Currant Orange Sauce
(Makes 1 1/2 cups)
Break 1 cup currant jelly into small pieces with fork. Place in glass container with 1/4 cup orange juice and 1/4 cup minced leaves. Blend about 15 seconds. Let stand 1 hour in refrigerator before serving.

Orange Juice Sauce
(Makes 1 1/2 cups)
Two tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter or drippings, 1/4 cup water, 1 cup orange juice, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon grated orange rind, 1 tablespoon brown sugar. Blend 30 seconds. Cook 5 minutes, stirring until thickened.

Lawn Care Tips

The new 2-4-D weed killers can put broad leaf lawn intruders under control. Plantain, buckhorn, ground ivy, chickweed and pusley will disappear within a few days after an application.

Keep 2-4-D away from valuable plants. It can kill them also.

Before You Hint, Take A Hint

Before you start painting that outdoor furniture that's going to rejuvenate your terrace, be sure to lay newspapers down to catch the drippings. There won't be many if you're careful not to overload your brush, but there are bound to be some.

Another thing you can do to ease your clean-up tasks is to rub a film of baby oil over your hands. The baby oil keeps the paint from sticking to your skin and enables you to wipe it off quickly.

Remember to stir the paint thoroughly, right from the bottom of the can, before you dip in your brush. To maintain the same shade and thickness, continue to stir from time to time. Make sure the first coat of paint is completely dry before you apply the second.

Cameras Essential To Your Vacation

It wasn't so many years ago that people were shy about taking pictures. They felt that photography was for the professional, or the man with lots of money to buy expensive equipment.

However, photographic equipment manufacturers have developed cameras and flash attachments that make both indoor and outdoor shots very easy for even the beginner, the eager vacationer or the hurried tourist.

Many different kinds of film have been developed to fit into different picture situations, but the amateur who wants to shoot pictures of his family at home and on picnics or other events needs only to purchase a low-priced camera, a roll of film that suits his needs and the designated flash bulbs.

Depending on the individual's desire for flexibility, he may select an easy-to-operate 35-mm. camera, or an inexpensive reflex-type, fixed-focus camera that will offer him a large view-finder to show the actual picture being taken before it is snapped.

Read instructions

Good examples of these cameras are the reflex-type Argus 75 and either the 35-mm. Argus A-4 or C-3. In the case of any camera it is wise to follow the instruction booklet which clearly defines operating techniques. Each camera manufacturer supplies these booklets through your local camera store.

Some of the main elements to remember in picture taking are: Distance from subject; lighting (whether subject is in shadows or bright sunlight); background (for contrast); and movement of subject.

Most people are interested in capturing the everyday events of their family, happenings at a party, or a chronology of a vacation trip. Since these types of pictures do not present any profound problems that require intricate photographic knowledge, the photographer need only apply common sense for good results. Have the camera always ready to take pictures, whether indoors or outdoors.

Workhorse Film

Regular Verichrome film is best for the occasional shooter, since it is the most versatile black-and-white film and, for flash, requires clear bulbs.

A more sensitive film is Plus X which captures more of the picture and also requires clear flash bulbs. This film makes pictures that enlarge with good sharpness.

For stopping action with a fixed-focus camera, it is wise to use Sylvania SF or similar bulbs. These will stop action down to 1-1000 second.

For good snapshots any place, it is well to remember that the camera picks up just what it sees.

Take Travel Iron, And You Can Take Fewer Clothes

Wherever you go on vacation, a well-supplied laundry and grooming kit is sure to make your stay more pleasant.

Your kit should contain these items:

A supply of those handy new detergent capsules for washing lingerie and blouses; a good folding iron; a wash cloth in its own tiny plastic container for repacking while still damp; a good stiff brush and folding plastic hangers.

Convenient, too, is a plastic cosmetic container with cream jars, bottles and tissue compartments. And a new folding tooth brush—no larger than half a pack of cigarettes—which holds its own dentifrice.

Probably most valuable of the lot is the travel iron. This accessory can be purchased in several styles and price ranges, and will prove to be worth the investment.

Most models are amazingly compact. One, made by Durabilt, folds into a unit only one-inch high. You can tuck it flat and smooth in any traveling bag, or buy it in its own convenient case. A heat indicator, on top of a full-size soleplate, shows the right ironing temperature for five types of fabric.

To press a collar or restore a gown to pristine freshness, all you have to do is to flip the plastic handle into ironing position, snap the lock-clip into place, plug in the cord and start ironing.

When you're home again, the travel iron comes in handy for lingerie, frothy blouses and the tricky tucks and corners of baby's things—a marvelous "second" iron for quick jobs throughout the home.

MEN'S WEAR OF CHARACTER

Loose Fitting Clothing Is One Of The Joys Of Summer

Summer brings with it a welcome change of pace — weekend gardening, swimming, tennis, golf, sailing, the outdoor barbecue supper. Just as welcome is the change from winter wear to cool, loosely-cut summer clothing. Just being cool, of course, does not answer all of our needs. There's still the problem of looking fresh and wrinkle-free — and that can be tough. One solution for men—the crisp, tropical worsted suit — has now been adopted and adapted by thousands of their fashion-conscious ladies. Wool's resilience and stand-away coolness, which has made the tropical worsted a summer standby for men, has long been known by women. But they rarely wore sheer wool fabrics later than the end of spring. Leading designers, however, have adapted this absorbent material for use in their top summer fashions. Now the well-dressed woman can spend an idle hour at the country club or evening in town in costumes of wool as light as five ounces to the yard—so light it can go through a wedding ring and bounce back into shape. In addition to the usual bright colors — reds, blues and greens — which highlight summer designs, there's a strong feeling this year for rich-looking charcoal gray. Especially popular are combinations of white sweaters and blouses with charcoal gray skirts. Not all news in summertime fashions is geared to the interests of women. There are several "new directions" for men to explore also. One is the lightweight sports coat, another is the "slack cut off at the knee"—walking shorts. Summertime calls for a sports coat for many occasions, and the new lightweight wool and worsted wool fabrics used this year make them a warm weather natural. For example, worsted jersey, which has been used in women's dresses and blouses for years, enters the men's wear field this summer in sports coats. They appear in solid colors—navy, with brass buttons, like a yachting jacket—and in vertical stripes, such as quarter-inch dark brown alternated with black. They are lined throughout with handsome tie-print silk and feature extra-comfortable fit. Walking shorts make sense. They have been worn for decades in some parts of Europe. Men of courage who declare their independence from social pressure this summer will find many cool, wrinkle-resistant tropical worsted shorts for leisure wear.

GET TOGETHER TO BUY TOOLS

Lawn mower dealers in several suburban cities have reported an interesting trend. More and more sales of power equipment, they say, are made to groups of neighbors, who buy and use it collectively. The cost of such items as power mowers and hedge trimmers is small when divided among them, and each uses the equipment according to a pre-arranged schedule. Owners of small and medium-sized yards thus get mechanical aids that they couldn't afford by themselves. And according to all reports, the arrangement has worked out well.

BASIC TO GARDENING PLEASURE are comfortable, durable work clothes. Sturdy denim blue jeans are practical for both men and women. Her jeans have tapered legs and pearl button pockets. Shirts are look-alikes.

Rough-It Garb Sturdy, Still Trim, Smart

A picnic—leave us face it—is not the best place for a girl to look glamorous. Many a lass has learned this the hard way. She's succeeded in looking her best by wearing a smart frock or skirt, then spent a miserable day when her clothes proved largely impractical. The average picnic means outdoor cooking, active games, sitting on the ground and similar diversions — all on the "rough-it" side. Pretty skirts and dresses, which limit a girl's activity and often wind up ruined, can drain off much of the fun. Jeans Grow Smart This doesn't mean that picnic clothes must be drab. A costume that's thoroughly practical can be just as flattering and trim—in a slightly different way—as a fashionable party dress. Tops for all-purpose wear are good of denim blue jeans. Newest models are smartly tailored, with tapered legs and pretty flapped pockets. But the beauty treatment hasn't detracted from their basic forte, durability. Smart-looking slacks, in cotton twill and cotton gabardine, offer the same protection from ants, dirt and mosquitoes, but are slightly more on the glamorous side. So are tapered pedal pushers. Sturdy Shorts Available Shorts offer less protection, but are excellent picnic companions for those who can wear them. Some of the newer ones are made of such sturdy materials as washable leather and canvas. To go with any of these, there are dozens of fine outdoor blouses, in solid colors or brilliant plaids. Many have extra-long tails so they won't slip out once you've tucked them in. And don't forget to take along a sweater, in case the day turns cool.

Avoid Going At A Killing Pace

In hurried Sunday night numbers you can see summertime weekenders returning exhausted to a restful week of work. And the usual answer from a guest just back from his annual two weeks is: "Boy! Am I tired." Medical authorities advise that vacation and fun can be as fatiguing to the body as any occupation. They warn that vacations should break the usual routines of work, but not the routines of living. Several good rules to follow on vacation schedule: 1. Keep regular sleep habits. 2. Eat meals at your usual times. 3. Plan trips to include rest breaks and early arrivals. 4. If you plan to work on house and garden, stop for a breather at the first signs of tiredness. You're probably not used to it.

For Porch Decoration

If you have a butter tub available you can make it into a very attractive porch decoration. One lady paints the tub white and then rubs off some of the paint. This gives a pickled look when dry and covered with thinned shellac. On top of that she paints attractive Swedish designs.

For toadstools soak the infested areas thoroughly with Bordeaux mixture. It is harmless to the grass.

By Warren Tufts

LILLI HAD SO MANY NEAR MISSES... IT'S HARD TO REALIZE SHE'S GONE.

THERE'LL NEVER BE ANOTHER LIKE HER, SAM. GIVEN ANOTHER 20 YEARS THEY'D HAVE WOUND UP NAMING THE STATE AFTER HER...

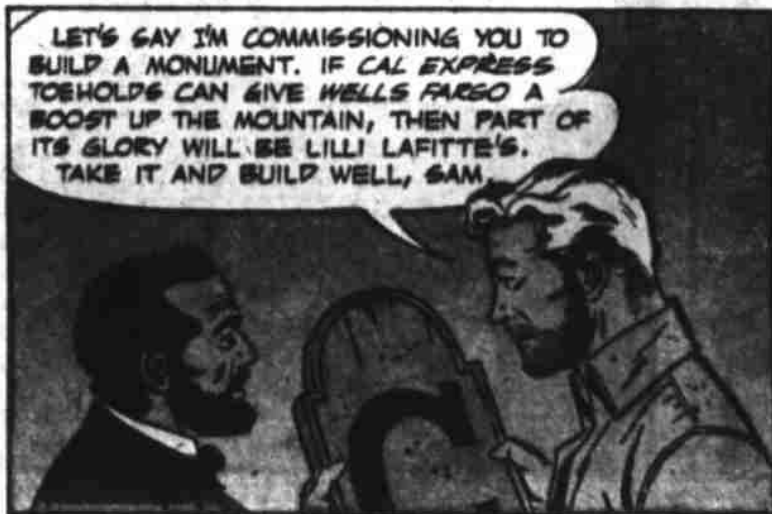

MAYBE THEY'LL NAME IT AFTER YOU. THIS DOESN'T HAVE TO MEAN THE END OF CALIFORNIA EXPRESS.

MORE THAN YOU THINK. LILLI WAS THE HEART OF CAL EXPRESS, AND IT DIED WITH HER.

THE COMPANY PROPERTY SHOULD STILL OUTWEIGH ITS LOSSES AFTER THIS—MAYBE YOU'D LIKE TO PAY THEM OFF AND TAKE OVER.

I'M SURE SOMETHING CAN BE WORKED OUT, BUT CASEY—YOU'RE GIVING IT AWAY!

LET'S SAY I'M COMMISSIONING YOU TO BUILD A MONUMENT. IF CAL EXPRESS TOSHOLDS CAN GIVE WELLS FARGO A BOOST UP THE MOUNTAIN, THEN PART OF ITS GLORY WILL BE LILLI LAFITTE'S. TAKE IT AND BUILD WELL, SAM.

TARZAN

Edgar Rice Burroughs

SLUG STRIPER SNEERED AT TARZAN, THEN ADDRESSED THE NATIVES. "BEHOLD WHILE YOUR WHITE GOD PROVES HIS SUPERIORITY OVER THIS BUMBLING SAVAGE—"

"WE WILL DUEL--A GUN AGAINST A BOW AND ARROW!" THE APE-MAN GRIMACED. TREACHERY WAS IMMINENT, BUT HE HAD NO CHOICE--

"I PRESUME YOU CONSENT," MOCKED STRIPER, "SO WE WILL PROCEED TO THE EDGE OF THE VILLAGE"... MEANWHILE, GOVAT SNEAKED AWAY FROM THE PIT.

"WE STAND APART, OUR WEAPONS ON THE GROUND," EXPLAINED STRIPER. "AT THE FIRST BEAT OF THIS CEREMONIAL DRUM, WE DRAW-- AT THE SECOND WE FIRE!"
