Marcos, 72, dies in Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP) - Ferdinand E. Marcos, former president of the Philippines, died today, ending in exile a life that took him to the pinnacles of power and notoriety in his impoverished land. He was 72.

Corazon Aquino, who came to power in the 1986 uprising that drove Marcos from office, today refused to allow his burial in the Philippines for the sake of "the tranquility of the state and the order of society."

Marcos died at 12:40 a.m., said Eugene Tiwanak, spokesman at St. Francis Medical Center, where Marcos had been hospitalized for nearly 10 months with kidney, lung and heart ailments, pneumonia and bacterial infections.

At 1:17 a.m., Marcos' only son, Ferdinand Jr., emerged from his father's hospital room and announced his father had been taken to "a higher place."

"Hopefully friends and detractors alike will look beyond the man to see what he stood for - his vision, his compassion and his total love of country," the younger Marcos said. He said no funeral arrangements have been made.

"Father's not here anymore. He's gone," Marcos' wife, Imelda, told supporters outside the hospital room, said family spokesman Roger Peyuan.

The canny, combative politician, who governed at times as a democrat, at times as a dictator, was driven from the presidency in 1986, after which he settled into exile in Honolulu at a hillside estate overlooking the Pacific.

Marcos died without facing trial on U.S. criminal charges he plundered the Philippine treasury during his two decades in power.

He had been hospitalized three times since December, lapsing in and out of critical condition. The family had instructed doctors to take every measure to save his life, and life-support equipment was not turned off until after he died, Peyuan said.

Doctors would not comment on Marcos' death, but a hospital source speaking on condition of anonymity said it the culmination of a "slow and steady" deterioration. Doctors had implanted a pacemaker on Wednesday.

Mrs. Aquino, who in May had rejected appeals from Mrs. Marcos that he buried on Philippine soil, turned down a request from President Salvador Laurel today to reconsider.

"In the interest of the safety of those who will take the death of Mr. Marcos in widely and passionately conflicting ways, and for the tranquility of the state and the order of society, the remains of Ferdinand E. Marcos will not be allowed to be brought to our country until such time as the government, be it under this administration or the succeeding one, shall otherwise decide," Mrs. Aquino said in a statement.

Mrs. Marcos said in April she would embalm her husband's body and display it in Hawaii until she could return and scatter his ashes to "fertilize" the Philippines.

A federal grand jury in New York indicted Marcos, his wife and eight others on criminal racketeering charges last October. In April, the judge in the case separated Marcos from the other defendants, saying he was too ill to stand trial.

In an interview with The Associated Press in November, Marcos denied the allegations that he and Imelda had drained the Philippines of billions of dollars, and said he did not expect to live through a trial.

"I'll take my destiny, whatever that may be, but I'm going to fight for my dignity and honor," he said.

Marcos was elected president of his Asian homeland in 1966 and ruled longer than any other Philippine president.

But in his second four-year term he declared martial law, under which thousands of opposition politicians, students and other critics were jailed.

Finally, in 1986, he was toppled by a popular uprising and fled in disgrace. He left behind a nation of 62 million people deep in debt and facing dual uprisings of communist and Moslem-secessionist guerrillas.

The pivotal event in Marcos' downfall was the assassination of political rival Sen. Benigno Aquino Jr., who was gunned down in 1983 as he returned to the Philippines from self-imposed exile in the United States. The slaying, which Filipinos blamed on Marcos and his supporters, galvanized the opposition to the longtime president.

of the local economy for many years. Sunday's issue of the Brand will include a story about Holly Sugar's upcoming 25th anniversary.

3 soldiers die in accident at Fort Sill

FORT SILL, Okla. (AP) - Artillery fire strayed nearly a half-mile off target, killing three soldiers and wounding 23 others as they lined up in formation to leave their training site, the Army said.

If the artillery fired from a practice range had hit 10 to 15 minutes later, the rifle range would have been empty, said Col. John Dobbs.

"If you had to write a worst-case scenario where soldiers are injured or killed by artillery rounds out of the impact area, this is it," he said.

The round landed at a time when the soldiers were in a formation and were in close proximity."

After Wednesday afternoon's accident, remnants of uniforms and helmets littered the ground on the rifle range in the shadow of the Wichita Mountains in southwest Oklahoma. The site was roped off and military police kept reporters from talking with soldiers. A crater a yard across and a foot deep was visible.

At least one round from a howitzer overshot the target area by about one-half mile and hit 10 to 15 feet behind the soldiers, authorities said. What went wrong was under investigation, said Dobbs. He said two possible explanations were that the howitzer was aimed incorrectly or the wrong amount of gunpowder was used.

The injured were taken by helicopter and ambulance to Reynolds Army Hospital. Three of the most seriously wounded soldiers underwent surgery Wednesday night, said Jon Long, a post spokesman.

Staff Sgt. Scott Harris was in critical condition, and Pvt. David Saltsman and David Adams were listed as stable, said Staff Sgt. William Biel, a post spokesman.

The extent of injuries for the other soldiers was not immediately available. The names of those killed and hometowns of the soldiers were not released.

The soldiers were assigned to A Battery, 2nd Battalion, 80th Field Artillery and were a week away from completing an eight-week basic training course, Biel said.

Fort Sill investigators were to be joined today by a team from the Army Safety Center in Fort Rucker, Ala. A preliminary report may not be ready for a day or two.

The post, which is the Army's Field Artillery Center, has three sizes of howitzers, but it was not known what kind was involved.

"We have to analyze the craters and interview all the units on the range," said Long.

He said the accident site was about four miles from the populated area of the post, which has 21,000 soldiers.

Demos want to 'take on Bush'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Democratic Party officials, voicing a determination to "start taking on George Bush," are airing campaign-style themes and encouraging their congressional majority to step up the challenge to the Republican president.

In addition to the rhetoric, a major order of business today for the nearly 400 members of the Democratic National Committee was to roll back part of a party rules compromise reached at Atlanta in 1988. The DNC members also were set to vote themselves a voice when any such deals are cut in the future.

Party chairman Ronald H. Brown told state party leaders Wednesday that everywhere he travels Democrats ask him, "When are you going to take off the gloves, when are you going to start taking on George Bush?"

"We ought to be willing to stand up as Democrats and articulate those differences," said Brown, to "give the American people a choice."

As part of its attempt to become more aggressive, the DNC began airing a 30-second advertisement on Cable News Network that attacked Bush's proposal to cut taxes on capital gains.

The ad featured House Majority Leader Richard Gephardt, D-Mo., saying, "George Bush wants to raid the Treasury by reducing capital gains taxes for the super-rich. And he wants you to pay for it."

The House is debating the tax plan and some Democrats are supporting the president.

The DNC members were poised to restore their status as automatic unpledged delegates to national conventions, a role they lost in the compromise reached between Michael Dukakis and Jesse Jackson at the Atlanta convention in 1988.

Brown was the principal negotiator for Jackson at that convention. Remaining intact was the decithe Association of State Democratic Chairs.

"I think you'll find support (for restoring the threshold) from a lot of quarters," said Ruvolo.

In another look ahead to 1992, the Democrats were getting an early start on choosing the site for their next nominating convention. The list already has been narrowed to eight cities - New York, Houston, Detroit, Cleveland-Brook Park, Seattle, New Orleans, Miami Beach and Atlanta.

The Democrats met in Atlanta in 1988, while the Republican convention was in New Orleans.

Several major cities, including Los Angeles, San Francisco, Dallas and Chicago, told the Democrats they wouldn't bid for the 1992 convention. Most cited the requirement that the party have unlimited access to the convention hall for three months prior to the convention.

"It can be done any time," said James Ruvolo, the Ohio Democratic Party chairman who is president of

Bush wants education action

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) - President Bush and the nation's governors are searching for an agenda to improve America's troubled schools as they wind up a summit that an administration official says was marred by uninformed discussions and partisan "pap."

In meetings behind closed doors Wednesday, there were arguments about whether the federal government should spend more on education, and complaints that Washington ties up state and local governments with too much red tape.

Moreover, Republicans and Democrats alike said the federal government should do more for pre-school children in terms of prenatal care, nutrition programs, welfare aid and other assistance.

"If they would give us a 5-year-old that is healthy and alert, the system would be much more productive," said Republican Gov. Garrey Carruthers of New Mexico.

Bush and the governors hoped to conclude their two-day meeting today with an accord to draft the first national performance goals for schools and students and standards by which to judge them.

"It's time to stop debating over commissions and studies and set priorities and it's time to get on with it," Bush told the governors Wednesday.

"It's time to stop debating over commissions and studies and set some priorities and it's time to get with it." --President Bush

Iowa Gov. Terry Branstad, chairman of the National Governors' Association, said a set of targets may be ready by the time of the next governors' meeting in February.

Today's final sessions included a series of workshops as well as plenary meetings for all of the governors. Bush was to be the featured speaker at a convocation luncheon.

The summit was staged at the University of Virginia in the lush, green foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains.

The university was founded by Thomas Jefferson, America's first "education president," and is still referred to as "Mr. Jefferson's school."

After the first day's sessions, the governors and their spouses joined Bush and his wife, Barbara, for an elegant dinner in a banquet tent at Jefferson's famous home, Monticello, atop a nearby mountain.

Bush called the first day's sessions "very constructive." However, William Bennett, the president's drug policy coordinator and former secretary of education in the Reagan administration, spoke of disputes in the private sessions.

Bennett, the leader of a discussion group with governors, told reporters there were "a couple of feisty exchanges about education and defense spending."

Bennett said, "There was pap - standard Democratic pap. There was standard Republican pap..."

"Much of the discussion took place in total absence of any knowledge of what works or what's effective in the actual experience of school," Bennett added. "Some people were saying things that other people had written for them, and they were reading them out of books and reading them off cards."

Democratic Gov. Mario Cuomo of New York argued for more federal aid by comparing military and education spending.

"You spent over $300 billion on missiles that you'll never fire," he said in remarks addressed to Republicans. "Now the American people are saying, 'OK, a few less missiles because we don't need them as much anymore. A little more money on education.' I think the people will understand that."

Oregon Gov. Neil Goldschmidt, a Democrat, said, "I'm with Gov. Cuomo - it is a resource issue. But ultimately I'm under no illusion that it's purely a federal resource issue."

There was no dispute over the dimension of the problems in schools.

"We consistently rank near the bottom in every international test of math and science ability and in other subjects critical to our future," Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton said at an opening ceremony with Bush.

Clinton said America has drug abuse rates, teen pregnancy rates and dropout rates "far higher than that of any of our competitors."

Sightseeing plane crash near Grand Canyon claims total of ten victims

TUSAYAN, Ariz. (AP) - A sightseeing plane crashed into a hill while making its final landing approach at Grand Canyon Airport, killing 10 people. Eleven others survived because the plane's fuselage remained largely intact.

The pilot and co-pilot were among those killed Wednesday when the de Havilland DHC-6 Twin Otter suddenly veered away from the runway and crashed into the wooded hillside about 300 yards away, authorities said. Eight people were critically injured.

The Grand Canyon Airlines plane's wings were sheared off by tall Ponderosa pines, but the plane's body survived the crash.

"We were very fortunate that this didn't burst into flames, or we'd have lost a lot more victims," said sheriff's Detective Lt. Jack Judd, one of the first to reach the wreckage.

National Park Service Ranger Paul Crawford said some of the passengers were walking around when he arrived.

"They were shellshocked. They had that empty, dazed look," Crawford said.

The plane hit the runway, bounced back up in the air about 100 feet then veered to the left and struck a power line and into a ridge, Judd said.

Ronald L. Warren, Grand Canyon Airlines vice president and general manager, said the plane was on its second flight of the day and making its final approach to the airport when the accident occurred. He said it was cleared for landing.

Warren said the plane left the airport at 9 a.m. for the one-hour, 100-mile flight over the canyon, and was on schedule for its return when it crashed.

All 19 passengers were Americans, Warren said.

Several were from California and many were from the East Coast.

Two of the dead were John Sutton, a Modesto, Calif., city councilman, and his wife, Donna, said Modesto Mayor Carol Whiteside.

A Coconino County sheriff's deputy removed a video camera from the wreckage, but it was not known what the tape had captured, or even if it had been in use while the plane was landing.

The airport is about five miles south of Grand Canyon. The injured were being taken by ambulance, airplane and helicopter to the Flagstaff Medical Center about 75 miles away.

They suffered fractures, lacerations and head wounds, said hospital spokeswoman Ann Hartman-Kolacky. Eight were in critical condition and two were stable. The 11th survivor was released from the hospital.

Warren said when the 14-year-old plane reached the airport, skies were clear, winds were light, and temperatures were normal.

"There was nothing out of the ordinary," he said.

He said the aircraft had been owned and operated by the airline for two years and had no history of any problems.

The pilot was in his mid-40s and had worked for the airline for 41 years, Warren said. The co-pilot was in his mid-20s and in his first year with the airline.

A team of federal investigators arrived at the scene late Wednesday.

FHA fund now in the red $5 billion needed, auditors say

WASHINGTON (AP) - The fund that has helped millions of Americans buy homes with FHA mortgages is in the red for the first time in history and will need up to $5 billion from Congress over the next few years, government auditors say.

Most of the shortfall stemmed from homeowners in economically strapped areas of the country being unable to make their house payments, the head of the General Accounting Office told a Senate panel Wednesday.

GAO chief Charles A. Bowsher said the much-publicized problems of waste and mismanagement at the Department of Housing and Urban Development, which oversees FHA, also are partly to blame.

Bowsher was scheduled to review the report again today for the House Budget Committee.

Bowsher told the Senate Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs housing subcommittee there were a record 203,000 FHA-backed mortgage foreclosures last year - concentrated in what he called the "oil patch" states of Alaska, Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana and a few other areas suffering severe economic downturns.

That rash of personal financial failures, combined with the bankruptcy of three big private companies that help insure the Federal Housing Administration's multi-family and hospital construction programs, account for most of a $4.2 billion one-year loss in the consolidated FHA insurance fund, the report said.

Subtracted from a surplus entering the year, the loss resulted in the $2.9 billion deficit at the end of the year.

Moreover, the GAO chief said a record number of new FHA loans issued in 1985-86 will mean more red ink ahead - no matter what new Housing Secretary Jack Kemp does - as those new mortgages work through the traditionally rocky third and fourth years when strapped homeowners tend to sink or swim.

Bowsher predicted Congress will need to appropriate as much as $5 billion over the next several years to keep the insurance fund solvent.

WT Board could be abolished

CANYON (AP) - The West Texas State University board of regents has voted unanimously to abolish itself, pending a merger with Texas A&M University, officials said.

"I am hopeful that the A&M board will vote on this at their meeting Saturday," said regents Chairman T. Boone Pickens Jr. following Wednesday's vote.

If A&M regents and the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board both agree to the proposed merger, the West Texas State board will cease to exist after Sept. 1, 1990.

A bill passed in the Legislature and signed into law by Gov. Bill Clements this summer authorizes West Texas State to merge with a larger university system.

Pickens, who has been associated with the WT board of regents for about 20 years, said he was a little sad at the board's imminent demise.

"I was on the first WT board," he said. "But I wouldn't have voted for it if the university would not be better off."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The media have been giving a great deal of attention lately to "victims of broken homes." I am what has been referred to as a "victim of an intact home." Here is my story.

I am the oldest of four children whose parents should have been divorced. So far, between my siblings and me there have been eight divorces. (The ninth is scheduled for October.) None of us was good at relationships because we had no role models and we never knew what a good relationship was like.

Mom was cold and distant, more interested in herself than in Pop and us kids. They didn't fight much, in fact they hardly ever spoke to each other. Mom showed more affection to her cats than she did to Pop.

Pop was bright and funny and all our friends thought he was cool. Mom said he was putting on an act. When he wasn't home (which was often), Mom ran him down every way she could.

Pop died last year. I was devastated by his death and the break-up of my second marriage, which occurred the same week. My doctor suggested that I see a psychologist. So many things came up in therapy that I decided to ask Mom some questions about our life when I was growing up. She started to scream at me and said, "You are just as 'goofy' as your father was. People shouldn't analyze their life. They should accept it."

I decided to talk to Pop's sister, a great lady whom Mom despised. She gave me some real insight into my parents' marriage. It was a nightmare for both of them. Pop tried to get Mom to a psychiatrist, but she refused to go. He got himself a lady friend.

If ever a couple should have split, it was my parents. But they stayed together "for the kids." -- A Survivor in Chicago

DEAR SURVIVOR: Half of today's marriages will end in divorce. I don't want to be responsible for inflating the figure, but when a relationship is phony, unrewarding and miserable, it might be best for all concerned to call it a day.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a handicapped person who has a handicapped placard on the dashboard of my car. My wife is hale and hearty and in good health.

Whenever we go to the market or in the mall I sit in the car while "Emily" does the shopping. Will you please advise that stubborn woman that the parking spaces for the handicapped are not for able-bodied folks like her?

If you are wondering why I don't tell her myself it is because she has a hot temper and doesn't like criticism. -- A Coward in California

DEAR COWARD: Maybe you haven't the nerve to stand up to Emily but when you go with her and sit in the car, your presence gives her ploy legitimacy. I suggest that you stay home.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please settle an argument between my husband and me and our adult daughter. All hell is breaking loose around here.

"Marie" is 26, has a very good job and has been living at home ever since she got out of college.

She just put a down payment on a condo and will be moving out soon. She wants to take her bedroom set. Question: Is she entitled to it? She says it's hers because we bought it for her when we redecorated her room six years ago. We do not agree. Who is right? -- Trouble in Conn.

DEAR TROUBLE: Unless you made a special point of presenting the bedroom set to Marie, it is no more hers than the downstairs sofa and the dining room table.

Harriers gain Top 10 state ranking

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Hereford's girls cross country team is ranked No. 10 in the latest issue of Texas Track and Field News, and Coach Martha Emerson believes the girls have a shot at going to the state meet in November at Georgetown with a chance to improve on the fourth-place finishes of the last two teams.

Emerson also bragged on her strong boys' squad during a program at the Hereford Lions Club meeting on Wednesday. Her boys' team finished third behind perennial state powers Randall and Amarillo high schools in last weekend's meet at Veterans' Park.

"I thought the boys team would be down because we graduated four of our top seven runners last year," Emerson said. That team finished second in district, and the biggest loss to graduation was Benny Carrasco, who qualified for the state meet three straight years.

"The boys are a solid second in district, but it's getting hard to look at the back of Randall all of the time," Emerson said. "They are No. 1 in Class 4A, but I feel we are a solid second. I'd be happy right now if we can keep that spot."

The team's top runner is Tim Stagner. "He is much improved from last year and has had three good finishes this year," Emerson said. "He's worked hard to gain his spot as our top runner."

Also leading the team are Juan Martinez, Henry Ruiz, Raul Dominguez, Armando Garza, Blas Cantu and Jesse Torres. Mike Lopez and Jerry Gallegos are also pressing for spots on the boys' varsity team.

"Juan ran extremely well for us last year at district and regional," Emerson said. "Henry moved in from Lockney, and he's been to the state meet the last three years. He has run well and he will help us a lot."

"I have kind of a nice dilemma with so many (16) boys out," Emerson said. "But they've seen what we did last year, with our success and going to regional.

"They've wanted to work hard, and we're increasing our running from 25-30 miles a week to 40-45 miles a week."

The girls' team has been a power in the region for the last two years, and this year's team is no exception.

At last week's meet here the girls were fifth with 128 points in a close team race.

"We were the regional champions in 1987 and second at regional at 1988," Emerson said. "We finished fourth at state both years, and we're kind of tired of going down to state, running hard, and not getting medals. Fourth out of 12 isn't bad, but we want medals."

The team is led by juniors Teresa Castillo and Lisa Zepeda, freshmen Veronica Hernandez, seniors Sally Garza and Aracely Nava, and sophomores Denise Davila and Jill Dutton. Castillo was fifth in the meet here last Saturday and Zepeda.

"We also have eight freshmen and sophomores on the JV, and the whole bunch is just as dedicated to improving on their times," Emerson said. "We have four of the seven girls back from last year's state team and they want to go back to state this year."

The teams will run at Seminole this weekend, then run at Lubbock, Dumas and Dalhart. The District 1-4A meet will be at Lubbock on Oct. 28, and the Region 1-4A meet will be at Lubbock on Nov. 4.

Here are the results of local runners at Saturday's meet at Veterans' Park in Hereford:

- VARSITY BOYS
12. Tim Stagner, 16:18; 23. Juan Martinez, 16:52; 24. Henry Ruiz, 16:58; 25. Raul Dominguez, 17:03; 35. Armando Garza, 17:43; 45. Jesse Torres, 18:06; 46. Blas Cantu, 18:18
- VARSITY GIRLS
5. Teresa Castillo, 13:44; 20. Lisa Zepeda, 14:36; 29. Veronica Hernandez, 14:43; 33. Sally Garza, 14:48; 41. Denise Davila, 15:16; 43. Jill Dutton, 15:20; 52. Aracely Nava, 15:46.

Herd spikers enjoying success

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

The Hereford Lady Whitefaces are almost halfway through their District 1-4A volleyball schedule, and Hereford has a firm grip on first place in the conference.

Hereford is 18-3 overall and 5-0 in district. The Lady Whitefaces have beaten District 1-4A rival and defending Class 4A state champion Dumas, at Dumas this half.

The varsity is just one part of the successful volleyball program in the Hereford schools: The junior varsity is 15-2 overall and 5-0 in district; the freshman team is 2-0 early in the season; and the junior high program sports a gym-full of seventh and eighth graders.

Varsity volleyball coach Brenda Reeh told the Hereford Lions Club on Wednesday that the sport has gained prominence here because it is "fun, very challenging, and a very quick game."

"It also requires a lot of skills," Reeh told the Lions. "You have to have good visibility to see the holes in the other team's defense, and it's a high intensity game."

"There's an 8-foot net and a 30-foot area on the other side, and you have to try to get the ball out of the reach of the 6 players on the other side of the net and within that 30-foot area.

"You have six players on the same team trying to do the same thing, so it is a total team sport," Reeh said that players of differing abilities can be "hidden" in other sports, "but there's no place to hid in volleyball. If you make a mistake, everyone sees it and everyone knows it. That's why it is so important to support each other well."

Reeh said the support of the community has helped boost the program in recent years. "We're unique because all of the community gives us support," Reeh said.

"Amarillo High and Tascosa are supposed to be the real big powers, but they don't broadcast their games. It's a big deal for our girls to hear their names, to see their names and pictures in the paper, to know what they are doing is being seen and heard and read by people in and out of Hereford."

"We also have great parental support. They are proud to support their kids 100 percent most of the time, and that reflects on our kids and the program."

Reeh said the team of Jill West, Kelli Thames, Nikki Self, Candee Robbins, Poppy Richardson, Libby Kosub, Shantel Cornelius and Jessica Dearing excels in areas outside of volleyball and athletics.

"They're involved in band, several are in the National Honor Society, Keywanettes and other organizations," Reeh said. "They also go to the junior high games and give those youngsters a pat on the back. They don't have to do that, but they do, and it's important for those younger kids."

"We also let a few of the younger kids sit on or behind the bench during varsity games. It helps to bond everyone together, and that gives us a lot of hope and expectations for the future."

The Lady Whitefaces will be back in action at home Saturday against Pampa, with the JV match at 2 p.m. and the varsity match at 3 p.m. at the HHS gym. Hereford will host Berger next Tuesday night, then host the Demonettes on Oct. 7.

JV gridgers set to take on Farwell

While the Hereford Whiteface varsity is taking a week off, the junior varsity picks up the banner and heads back into varsity competition Friday at Farwell.

The Steers enter the contest with a 3-0 record after beating Gruver, 20-0, on Saturday. The Herd JV sports a 1-2 mark after last week's 18-8 loss to Monterey.

Farwell head coach Rex Cumpston, the younger brother of Hereford head coach Don Cumpston, said the Steers' offensive and defensive sets will be similar to what the Herd runs.

"I don't know if that's by accident or by design," he said. "Don and I just picked up on the same things, I guess."

Farwell's attack is powered by a pair of juniors, quarterback Greg Actkinson and tailback Shawn Stewart, both of whom started as sophomores.

"We're a relatively young team," Cumpston said. "We've got only four seniors starting both ways for us."

"Greg has done a real good job for us. He's completed 26 out of 52 passes for 452 yards, and Shawn has rushed for 298 yards with an average of about eight yards per carry. Our tight end, Darren Haseloff has caught passes for 293 yards and is averaging 13 yards a catch."

Cumpston added that not being able to scout Hereford posed a problem for the Steers.

"We've had all our junior high and JV games on Thursdays when they've been playing and haven't had a chance to see them. We're going off our film of last year's game."

"But we know they'll play hard and get after it. That's something we've been trying to impress upon our kids."

Herd JV coaches Ron Young and Stan Carter said the key to the game will be controlling Actkinson, who was named Lubbock Avalanche-Journal Player of the week after he passed for 224 yards and a touchdown and intercepted three passes, and Stewart.

"If we can stop them we've got a chance," Young said. "We're going to try to do something to contain the quarterback. We're not going to stunt very much because we sure don't want to get out of position with that guy. A lot of times he'll just take off."

"Actkinson likes to throw to No. 10 (SE Chad Byrd) and No. 32 (Stewart)," Carter said. "Stewart will line up outside or at I-back. That's something we've got to watch."

Carter added that Herd tailback

Larry Brown will play after sitting out most of the Monterey game with a bruised leg.

"He has worked out all week," Carter said. "He's just going to have to play tougher. He's going to have to learn to play with a little pain because we need him."

I watched the video of the Monterey game and we could move the ball when he was in there. When he was on the bench we were without a weapon."

"Offensively, we're just going to line up and move the ball and not have any turnovers," Young said. "That's what killed Gruver, they just kept turning the ball over, whether it was a fumble or an interception. That Actkinson goes over to the secondary and intercepts everything they threw."

"They did a good job against Gruver," Carter said. "I was impressed. We'll have to play well to have a chance. We could play well and still get beat."

Loss drops Herd to No. 42 in Harris Ratings

The Hereford Whitefaces' 22-14 loss Friday to Estacado proved costly in this week's Harris Ratings as the Herd fell 20 places to No. 42 in Class 4A. The Herd's power rating also dropped four points to 172.

Hereford takes an open date this week while the rest of District 1-4A continues battling for a spot in the playoffs. This week's competition features:

Pampa (2-1, 1-0) at Estacado (2-1, 1-0) -- The Matadors and Harvesters come into this Saturday matchup at Lowery Field as 1-4A's top rated teams.

Estacado jumped 14 places to No. 30 after handing the Herd its first home loss in four years. The Matadors rating went up four points to 176 with the win.

Pampa comes off a 29-9 beating of Dumas, but fell 7 spots in the rankings to No. 36 and lost a point off its power rating to 173.

Estacado is listed as a three-point favorite for the contest.

Randall (2-0, 0-0) at Frenship (2-1, 1-0) -- The Raiders open district play after sitting last week out while the Tigers mauled Dunbar, 34-13. The win boosted Frenship 18 notches to No. 74 and raised its rating four points to 166.

Randall moved up a spot to No. 87 with the open date and held steady with a 163 rating.

Frenship has been rated a seven-point favorite for the contest.

Dunbar (0-3, 0-1) at Borger (1-2, 0-1) -- The Panther's Thursday night warriors will be looking for their first win as they play their first Friday game in their road opener. Dunbar's loss to Frenship sent its ranking plummeting 16 places to No. 91 and its rating slipped four points to 161.

Borger opened district with a 6-3 loss to Levelland, but remained at No. 84 while its rating dropped a point to 163.

Harris picks Borger by eight points.

Levelland (3-0, 1-0) at Dumas (0-2-1, 0-1) -- The Lobos put their undefeated record on the line against the winless Demons.

Levelland moved up 10 spots to No. 81 with its win over Borger and added two points to its rating to 164.

Dumas remains near the bottom of the stack in Class 4A, but rise six places to No. 137 and gained two points on its rating to 143 after losing to Pampa.

The Lobos are picked to win by 16 points.

Vols' turnaround getting notice

By RICK WARNER
AP Football Writer

This time last year, Tennessee's football team was so bad that a local sportscaster climbed on a billboard platform and vowed to stay until the Volunteers won a game.

Thirty-two days and three losses later, he finally came down after Tennessee beat Memphis State 38-25. The Volunteers have been winning ever since.

They head into Saturday's home game against Auburn with an eight-game winning streak and No. 12 ranking in the Associated Press poll.

"It's certainly a lot different than last year," Tennessee coach Johnny Majors said. "I'm very pleased with the progress we've made."

The turning point occurred after a 52-24 loss to Washington State, when Majors ditched defensive coordinator Ken Donahue and switched assistant Doug Mathews from offense to defense.

"We were going nowhere fast," Majors said. "We had to make some changes."

Tennessee lost its next game to Alabama to fall to 0-6, but finished strongly with victories over Memphis State, Boston College, Mississippi, Kentucky and Vanderbilt. The Volunteers opened this season with victories over Colorado State, UCLA and Duke.

The most dramatic part of the turnaround has been on defense.

After giving up 35 points and 460 yards per game during the losing streak, the Volunteers have limited opponents to an average of 13 points and 324 yards in the last eight games.

"This time last year, we were not as disciplined on defense," Majors said. "We were not fundamentally sound and had to rely too much on blitzes and gimmicks. You live with the blitz, you die with the blitz ... and last year we died with it."

Although Majors had led Tennessee to seven straight bowl games, he came under fire after last year's horrible start. But he never considered leaving his alma mater, where he was an All-American tailback and runner-up for the Heisman Trophy in 1956.

"I wasn't brought up to be a quitter," he said. "Nobody wants to win more than I do, but you have to take the good with the bad. It's not a dream world we live in. Everyone's got to deal with hard times."

Hard hitting is what Majors expects against fourth-ranked Auburn, which won its first two games by a combined score of 79-3.

"Year in and year out, they're as physically strong as anyone in the country," he said. "To beat them, we'll have to play a real hard-nosed game."

Both teams have plenty of motivation. Tennessee wants to avenge last year's embarrassing 38-6 loss, while Auburn coach Pat Dye was miffed by Majors' recent claim that the Tigers benefit by recruiting many academically suspect players.

Majors tried to downplay the remark this week.

"I have no problems with Pat Dye," he said. "What he's done is perfectly legal and a lot of other folks have done the same thing."

Renegade team irks UTPA leaders

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) - Meet the football team without a school.

Every member of the Broncos squad attends The University of Texas-Pan American, practices daily on campus and wears the school's green and white colors.

The university wants nothing to do with them. The team is the creation of a football-hungry faction of the Alumni Association.

"Pan-American University does NOT have a football team, DOES NOT PLAN to have a football team, and CANNOT AFFORD a football team," university Athletic Director Sam Odstreil said in a letter distributed after the team started practice in August. "The current effort by the Pan American University Alumni Association is IN NO WAY connected to the university."

Even the name "Broncos" grates on university officials who have suffered through decades of countless mispronunciations by those adding an "o" to the school's mascot, the Broncos.

Too bad, says Eddie De La Garza, president of the UTPA Alumni Association.

"This is going to continue whether the school supports us or not," he said.

The Edinburg attorney and other Broncos supporters believe it will be easier to get a football program at the school with a team already in place and some community support. The Broncos are meant to create that momentum at the school in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, 15 miles from the Mexican border.

It has been a 40-year crusade, said Broncos' head coach Don Pendergrass, an electronics marketer.

"After 40 years, something's better than nothing," Pendergrass said. "We don't have aspirations of being (NCAA teams) Oklahoma or Nebraska or anything like that, but with this school of 13,000 we see a big void out there that's not being filled."

Pendergrass is president of the newly formed Gridiron Chapter of the Alumni Association. He said the chapter so far has invested about $10,000 in the team.

The Broncos are playing teams from Mexico in a 14-game schedule at area high school stadiums.

Their first game on Sept. 2 ended with a 20-7 loss to the Zorros from the Instituto Tecnologico de Queretaro.

De La Garza blamed the defeat on "jitters" and that the team never before had worn pads, helmets and uniforms. The shipment of pads arrived three hours before the game, and some of the pants didn't fit, players said, forcing a last-minute scramble to sporting goods stores.

The Broncos did better in their second game Sept. 9, beating the Universidad Mexico Americana del Norte 36-0.

"It's a start," said 29-year-old Clint Cobb, the team's largest and oldest player. "You have to start from scratch. This is the scratch."

"Now I can tell my kids I played for UT."

Cobb, a Floridian who played basketball for Pan American in 1981-82, left and returned in 1986 to finish his physical education degree. Pan American became UT Pan American on Sept. 1, when it joined the UT System.

The school, originally called Edinburg College, had a football team from its founding in 1927 until 1950, but has stayed away from the sport since then.

"People are going to start accepting us once we start to do something," said 18-year-old Danny Diaz, from La Feria, who said he was all-district linebacker in high school.

Most on the 40-man squad played in high school, but for various reasons were unable or chose not to go to colleges with football programs.

The team keeps high spirits, but anxiety is all the Broncos bring to university officials, especially during the three weeks of tackle football practice without pads or helmets.

Late last week, Broncos promoters still were trying to firm up a liability insurance policy.

"The liability. That's the big thing. The liability," said school athletic director Odstreil. "We need to be clear that they're not associated with us."

Odstreil said he keeps an open mind about a football team for the school, "but there's a lot of thought that needs to go into it."

Baseball, basketball and 12 other sports are all the university is equipped to handle now, he said. It has a well-kept soccer field, but none for football.

The Broncos practice on a scrubby field between two parking lots.

The school has refused to authorize use of its name, facilities, personnel, colors or mascot, but Broncos coach Pendergrass said he doesn't see much the university can do about it, given that all the players are students.

A's win AL West; O's, Jays face off

By The Associated Press
While Oakland finished off the American League West, Toronto and Baltimore will have to finish off each other to settle the East. The Athletics became the first team to repeat as a division champion since Kansas City in 1985 by beating the Texas Rangers 5-0 Wednesday night. In the East, Toronto beat Detroit 8-1 to maintain a one-game lead over Baltimore, which beat Milwaukee 4-0. The Blue Jays and Orioles finish the season with a three-game series at Toronto beginning Friday night. "We went out and did the job for six months," Oakland manager Tony La Russa said after the Athletics won their eighth AL West title. "I don't know many teams that could have survived the loss of a Jose Canseco, a Mark McGwire and a Dennis Eckersley," Carney Lansford said. "It shows the character and depth of our ball-club." No one will repeat in the East, won by Boston last year. Toronto wants to atone for 1987, when the Blue Jays went into the final weekend with a two-game lead only to be swept by the division-winning Tigers. "Nobody's going to give it to us," Toronto pitcher Dave Stieb said. If Toronto wins two of three, the Blue Jays will win the division. If the Orioles win two of three, the teams would be tied with 88-74 records and the title would be decided in a one-game playoff at Baltimore on Monday. If the Orioles sweep, they would win the division. In other games, Kansas City beat California 8-3, New York beat Boston 3-0, Minnesota beat Chicago 6-1 and Cleveland beat Seattle 4-1. Athletics 5, Rangers 0 Mike Moore, 19-11, became the A's third 19-game winner by allowing one hit and no runs over seven innings. Rick Honeycutt followed Moore and got two outs. Gene Nelson then relieved and got four outs, completing the four-hitter. Jose Canseco hit a two-run

Padres lose, give Giants NL West

By The Associated Press
San Francisco manager Roger Craig is heading to the playoffs to meet old friend Don Zimmer and the Chicago Cubs in style. It took a while, but the Giants finally won the National League West championship on Wednesday night. While the Giants were losing their third straight game, 1-0 to Tim Lincecum and Los Angeles at Dodger Stadium, the Cincinnati Reds beat San Diego 2-1 in 13 innings to eliminate the Padres. The Giants needed a victory - or a Padres loss - to win the West. Belcher pitched four-hitter to deny San Francisco a chance of doing it on its own for the third straight day. The Padres' result came 90 minutes after the Giants lost. Craig said the outcome was definitely worth the wait. "I don't care what they say about us backing in," he said. "We won 91 ball games and that's the bottom line." Craig and Zimmer, the Cubs' manager, were teammates with the New York Mets in 1962. The Mets lost 120 games, Craig lost 24 and Zimmer hit .077 in 14 games. "Don and I are great friends," Craig said, "but we both want to win this." Game 1 of the playoffs is scheduled for Wednesday night at Wrigley Field and Scott Garrelts is the Giants' probable starter. Garrelts, 14-5, allowed only three hits to the Dodgers in seven innings Wednesday night, but Belcher, 15-12, pitched his major league-leading eighth shutout. Elsewhere in the NL it was Chicago 7, Montreal 2; Philadelphia 5, New York 3; Pittsburgh 1, St. Louis 0, and Atlanta 5, Houston 4. Reds 2, Padres 1 Eric Davis doubled home the winning run in the 13th inning to eliminate San Diego.

Herm Winningham led off the 13th with a single off Calvin Schiraldi, 6-7, and stole second. Two outs later, Davis doubled home Winningham for his 101st RBI. Had the Padres chosen to walk Davis with first base open, Todd Benzing-er was the on-deck batter. Norm Charlton, 8-3, pitched three innings for the victory. Phillies 5, Mets 3 In a brawl-marred home finale, the Mets lost to Philadelphia as Roger McDowell and Gregg Jefferies fought in the ninth inning. McDowell, who was traded by the Mets in June, relieved Jeff Parrett to face Jefferies with two outs in the ninth and got Jefferies to ground out to second. As the out was being made, McDowell said something to Jefferies and the rookie charged the reliever and wrestled him to the ground. Players from both benches then ran out on the field and McDowell landed a flurry of punches on Jefferies' face. Ken Howell, 12-12, allowed six hits in seven innings and McDowell got his 21st save. Von Hayes hit his 25th homer in the first - with a runner on - to give the Phillies a 3-0 lead off Ron Darling, 14-14. Cubs 7, Expos 2 Chicago, fresh from clinching the NL East title, kept its momentum going by beating Montreal at Olympic Stadium despite hitting into a triple play for the second time this season. Mike Bielecki, 18-7, pitched five innings and allowed five hits for the victory. Jeff Pico finished for his second save, yielding five hits. The Expos turned the sixth triple play in club history in the second inning when Domingo Ramos lined out to shortstop with runners at first and second. Rookie Greg Smith and Lloyd McClendon each drove in two runs for the Cubs. Rich Thompson, 0-2, allowed five runs in 4 2-3 innings. Pirates 1, Cardinals 0 Doug Drabek pitched a four-hitter. Drabek, 14-12, pitched his fifth shutout. He walked one and struck out six. Joe Magrane, 18-9, allowed Dann Bilardello's RBI single in the fourth. Braves 5, Astros 4 Pinch-hitter Oddibe McDowell hit a home run leading off the ninth inning. McDowell hit the first pitch from reliever Jim Clancy, 7-14, over the right-field fence. Mark Eichhorn, 5-5, pitched two innings and Mike Stanton worked the ninth for his seventh save.

Jones, Lowes to serve as parade marshals

Two very special members of the West Texas State University class of 1925, W. Mitchell Jones and Ruth Lowes, will serve as co-marshals of WTSU's Oct. 7 homecoming parade.

Jones was assistant football and basketball coach in 1926 following graduation and served as head football coach during the 1929-30 season. Later he joined the faculty of the department of education and psychology, and beginning in 1941 assisted Harris M. Cook in the office of the dean of men. Jones was appointed dean of men after Cook's retirement, a position he held until 1971.

A seven-story residence hall for men, completed in 1971, is named Mitch Jones Hall in recognition of his distinguished service to the University.

Lowes was a student in the Training School at West Texas State Normal College beginning in 1912, graduated from West Texas State Teachers College in 1925 and retired from West Texas State University in 1972. During her long tenure with the institution, her teaching assignments ranged from kindergarten to graduate-level classes. She also served as head of the department of education and psychology for nine years.

The homecoming parade does not mark the pairs first collaborative effort. Jones and Lowes co-authored "We'll Remember Thee," a book released in conjunction with WTSU's seventy-fifth anniversary. The authors and artist, 1957 graduate Carolyn Husbands Stallwitz, have generously contributed all proceeds from the sale of the books to the WTSU Ex-Students Association.

The 1989 homecoming parade, complete with Grand Marshals Jones and Lowes, floats, marching bands, cheerleaders and riding clubs, will begin at the First National Bank, 1401 4th Ave. In Canyon, at 10 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 7. The parade will travel south down 4th Ave. and will end at the Dining Hall on the WTSU campus.

Other homecoming activities include a pep rally, golf and tennis tournaments, Class of 1939 reunion, Pigskin Review, bonfire, fun run, inspirational breakfast, sports card extravaganza, barbecue, alumni basketball game, agriculture reunion, Jack B. Kelley Student Center tours, student and alumni dances and the football game versus Cameron University.

For more information regarding homecoming events, contact the Ex-Students Association at 806-656-2311.

Hints from Heloise

OFFICE HINT

Dear Heloise: At our place of employment, I use a coffee filter rather than a paper towel or cloth to clean the copy-machine glass every morning. The filter leaves no lint, unlike paper towels or a cloth. This makes for clearer, neater copies.

Try it, it works! — Pat Dolamore, Seabrook, Texas

HINTS FROM HIM

Dear Heloise: With the snow and ice here the windshield washer jets get frozen, so the windshield washer fluid can't get through to clean the windshield.

Instead of stopping at every gas station along the road to wash the windshield until the jets thaw, I carry a small spray bottle filled with windshield-washer fluid. I spray the windshield while the wipers are running. It does a super job.

It has really come in handy out in the country where there isn't a service station or they are all closed. I hope this helps someone else with a similar problem. — Frank Bell, Terre Haute, Ind.

Enjoying field trip

Kathy Guseman's third grade class at Northwest School recently took a field trip to an Indian campground west of Hereford. On their venture, the children found various mineral and clay samples, pieces of petrified wood and a bullet. Assisting on the trip were Chip Guseman and Vi Moore, who works in the geology department at West Texas State University.

4-H Around the County

BY BEVERLY HARDER
County Extension Agent

A lot of special programs and activities are being planned for the week of Oct. 1-7, National 4-H Week, as Deaf Smith County 4-H'ers join others in festivities around the nation.

Locally planned activities for 4-H Week will begin on Monday, Oct. 2, with the Annual 4-H Achievement Banquet at 7 p.m. at the Community Center.

There are more than 388,000 4-H'ers in Texas and 4.5 million across the nation who will participate in this annual youth celebration.

As we observe National 4-H Week, we recognize that the program is truly a people development program. The agency is the parent organization of 4-H.

The program assists youth in developing skills that will be useful in the real world. Program concepts help boys and girls discover their strengths and weaknesses, and exposes them to activities in a variety of career fields. Additionally, 4-H helps them build positive self-concepts for directing their lives, while learning and having fun as well. Families can add to the fun by learning and growing together.

Volunteer leaders assisting in the 4-H program also learn new skills while sharing their expertise with young people. Through a valuable network of volunteer leaders, state landgrant universities, state and local governments and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, 4-H continues to stimulate youth to develop life skills and explore many career options.

About 170 adult volunteer leaders work with 4-H boys and girls in Deaf Smith County through six different 4-H clubs.

The 4-H'ers can choose from some 70 different project and program areas designed to help them prepare for the future.

For more information about the 4-H program, contact the County Extension Office at 364-3573.

Tax practitioner workshops scheduled

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is cooperating with the Internal Revenue Service in offering many tax practitioner workshops across the state, report Beverly Harder, County Extension Agent.

Twenty-six general workshops will be held in all major Texas cities. The general workshop nearest this county is in Amarillo on Nov. 16-17. There will also be 15 advanced workshops offered in major cities. The general tax workshops will concentrate mostly on personal taxes -- the advanced workshops' emphasis will be on business tax problems.

In addition to the general and advanced tax workshops, there will be four partnership taxation workshops, four estate planning workshops, four problem resolution workshops, three income taxation of trust and estates, and two agricultural tax problems workshops.

The tax practitioner educational program has been highly successful. Last year about 5,500 people participated in this state-wide series. These practitioners reported filing more than 615,000 tax returns.

For additional information, please contact Deaf Smith County Extension Office for a brochure explaining more about the program and registration information.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I had my cholesterol checked at a station set up near the pharmacy in a local supermarket. The reading was 286. I had never had it checked before. I am a 56-year-old female with a history of heart trouble on my father's side. I am under a doctor's care for arthritis and had back surgery for ruptured disks two years ago.

I told him about my cholesterol count and he said to get a true one. This was done within two weeks of the first reading and the count was 257. My doctor gave me no explanation of my last reading. Please send me your report so I can understand what my level means.

DEAR READER: There are variations in a person's cholesterol level in response to stress and other factors. And there are variations because of different laboratory techniques used in measuring the level. Finally, the idea of what your level should be to avoid fatty-cholesterol deposits in your arteries has changed over the years. It's not surprising that there is some confusion.

Although it is often said today that your total cholesterol level should be less than 200, in a person who is 40 or older, depending on which laboratory method has been used, you can have higher levels that do not mean an increased risk factor. I have discussed this point and provided tables for the common methods used in Special Report 44, Understanding Cholesterol and Triglycerides, which I am sending you. Others who want this report can send $1 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/44, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

The truth is that the lower your total cholesterol the less your risk. Even with the laboratory methods that give the highest readings, a level over 240 means you would be better off if it were lower. That value of 240 (by the aca method) is equivalent to 200 by the standardized testing methods (Lipid Research Center method - LRC). That means you would benefit from lowering your cholesterol level regardless of what method was used.

A family history of heart disease, particularly with heart attacks at an early age, is a good reason to do your best to modify all the major risk factors, including keeping your blood pressure low. Eliminate body fat, don't smoke, exercise regularly and follow a diet program to lower your cholesterol levels at least below 200 with the LRC testing method.

DEAR DR. LAMB: Does a normal healthy person have a substance in his system that fights cancer?

DEAR READER: More than one. One such factor is known as the tumor necrosis factor. It has been shown to destroy certain tumors in tissue cultures and in the body. It is one of the substances under active investigation. Interferon has long been known to have some effect, but the hoped for results were disappointing, although it has cured hairy-cell leukemia.

The study of using the body's defenses, or augmenting them, to attack tumor cells is a hot area in the search for cures for cancer and leukemia.

It has long been believed that we constantly produce some abnormal cells which are capable of becoming a cancer. But as long as the number is limited and the immune system is sufficiently active, it would destroy these occasional rogue cells and prevent cancer.

Aid flows into areas hit by Hugo

ST. STEPHEN, S.C. (AP) - Marines on bulldozers cleared the path for volunteers as they began driving carloads of baby food, canned goods and clothing into rural areas cut off by Hurricane Hugo.

"We're trying to get it to people," Gloria Pipkin, director of a relief station in Jamestown on the edge of the Francis Marion National Forest, said Wednesday. "We found today a family that did not have food for three days."

The devastating hurricane struck South Carolina a week ago today.

President Bush, who has declared parts of the Carolinas disaster areas but has been criticized by some local officials for not responding faster, was expected to fly to South Carolina on Friday to inspect the damage. A White House survey team was en route to Charleston late Wednesday to review sites where Bush might visit.

"It's 99.9 percent sure that he'll come," said Gov. Carroll Campbell.

The opening of rural areas came after several days of reports that families had been found cut off from food and water since Hugo and its 135 mph winds and 17-foot tidal surge smashed into the state.

Hugo contributed to 29 deaths in the United States mainland, 18 in South Carolina. The storm also killed at least 33 people in the Caribbean.

Almost 18,000 miles of South Carolina roads were damaged or left covered with debris, said state Highway Department Director Joe Rideoutte. He said it could take 18 months to clean all the roads.

All major roads in rural Charleston and Berkeley counties are now passable, but some dirt roads remained blocked by twisted and fallen trees.

"They're coming in cars, pickups, vans and tractor-trailer trucks," bringing food, clothing, baby formula and diapers and paper plates and napkins, said Bobby Hoffman, mayor of St. Stephen, a community of 1,970, 40 miles inland from the state's devastated coast.

Hoffman said volunteer fire departments and churches have opened relief distribution points and, from there, volunteers were driving into remote areas to deliver goods.

To speed access, about 400 Marines from the 2nd Marine Expeditionary Force in Camp Lejeune, N.C., moved into Jamestown and McClellanville with bulldozers to clear the roads and bring generators and water purifiers for residents still cut off from electricity and drinking water.

"I feel good to see them," said Earthale Simmons, 53, a relief worker in nearby Awendaw. "That makes me think everything will go smoothly."

Relief materials have been flowing into hard-hit Charleston at an estimated 20 to 30 tractor-trailer loads a day.

Twelve food and clothing distribution centers opened Wednesday around the 300-year-old city.

"The stuff is streaming in and people are pouring in to get it," said Orlando Brockington, who was coordinating distribution.

Many Charleston residents stood in lines run by National Guardsmen and sailors from the Charleston Naval Base. In addition to food and clothing, there were ice, disposable diapers, bottled water, plywood and roofing nails.

"It's much needed," said Charlene Leach, who went away with food and clothing from the Citadel Mall, a suburban shopping center. "These are things we need to survive."

But while aid poured in, some officials said they could do with less federal red tape. Charleston Mayor Joseph P. Riley Jr. said the federal government has been slow to respond to some aspects of the disaster.

Riley, full of praise for federal relief efforts earlier this week, told reporters he has had to seek help from Sen. Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., to get more electricity generators.

An estimated 233,000 customers in South Carolina remain without power, more than half in the Charleston area. An estimated 50,000 Charleston residents remain homeless.

Rains makes school proposals

AUSTIN (AP) - Republican gubernatorial candidate Jack Rains says he believes Texans want "citizen-soldiers" to hold public office, not lifelong politicians.

In a blast at GOP front-runner Kent Hance, Rains said he thinks voters will favor a candidate who has spent most of his career in private business.

"(Thomas) Jefferson said it best. We're supposed to be citizen-soldiers," Rains said.

"When we use our offices to keep leveraging a career in politics, I think that leads to some abuses ... It's what I call the flea looking for a larger dog syndrome," he said.

Rains, a Houston lawyer, resigned as secretary of state before launching his bid for governor. He criticized Hance for staying on the Railroad Commission.

Rains said he wasn't worried about a recent poll showing him trailing Hance and Midland oilman Clayton Williams in the GOP race, but he said he would be required to raise more money than some candidates.

"I'm not a career politician that has run every two years for 12 years, that has run statewide in the last three elections and has never disbanded a political organization," he said.

Hance first was elected to Congress in 1978, lost the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination in 1984, ran for governor as a Republican in 1986 and for the Railroad Commission in 1988.

Hance's press secretary, Mark Sanders, said Rains was off base.

"He didn't ask George Bush to resign (as vice president) and he didn't ask (U.S.) Phil Gramm to resign (as a congressman) before they ran for another office. Kent Hance was elected to serve the people of Texas as a Railroad Commissioner and he will continue to serve in that capacity," Sanders said.

Rains also unveiled educational reform proposals that he said would pick up where House Bill 72 left off and create "an educational renaissance" in Texas.

Heading his list was a proposal to allow the state to take over schools which consistently perform poorly.

Rains called for state-paid vouchers to enable poor children to attend pre-school and day care; allowing students to transfer from one school to another within a district for increased competition among schools, and improving classroom environments by removing disruptive students.

In other developments Wednesday:

- U.S. Rep. John Bryant, a Democratic candidate for attorney general, joined those asking Gov. Bill Clements to include campaign finance and lobbying reforms in the Legislature's November special session. Among his suggestions: prohibit elected officials from becoming lobbyists for two years after leaving office.

- Attorney General Jim Mattox was asked for a legal opinion on whether sitting state senators may seek higher offices in the 1990 elections. The Texas Constitution prohibits sitting senators from seeking an office for which they increased "emoluments" - salaries or benefits. Lawmakers didn't raise salaries for top state jobs this year, but they did increase retirement benefits.

Sen. Buster Brown, R-Lake Jackson, is running for attorney general and Sen. Chet Edwards, D-Duncanville, is running for lieutenant governor. Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, is considering a bid for governor.

Braniff files for bankruptcy, cancels flights

By MARCY GORDON
AP Business Writer

Braniff Inc. filed for bankruptcy protection and laid off 2,700 employees early Thursday, a day after canceling flights through its major Kansas City hub and its Orlando home base for several hours, a spokesman said.

Braniff sought protection from creditors to allow it to reorganize under chapter 11 of the U.S. bankruptcy code in the Florida city, said Don McGuire, the airline's vice president for corporate communications.

"We expect to operate four flight segments, that's non-stop services, between two cities today and we want to raise that to more than 40 by Monday," McGuire said. "We'll gradually expand the service."

The flights will be between Kansas City and Orlando and Kansas City and Dallas, the company said.

The employee layoffs were to begin Thursday, it said.

On Wednesday, rumors that Braniff planned to file for Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection for a second time pushed the company's stock down $1.75 in over-the-counter trading to $3.125 a share.

The airline issued a terse statement late in the day saying it began canceling "selected flights" at 2:45 p.m. EDT and some additional flights would be scrubbed later.

Braniff had given no explanation for the action or the state of the airline in general.

Braniff filed for Chapter 11 protection in 1982 with nearly $1 billion in debts, the first major casualty of deregulation of the domestic airline industry in 1978. It emerged from bankruptcy and started flying again in 1984 as a low-cost, no-frills carrier. Last May, it moved its headquarters from Dallas to Orlando.
