Deaf Smith County Sheriff Charles Skelton said the increased number of arrests in the past few weeks has made it necessary to use the City Jail to house many county prisoners.

Arch Dobbins left Thursday for Chicago to attend the American Legion national convention. It was an unexpected trip, but Arch won the expense-paid trip to the Windy City last week when his name was drawn during the state American Legion convention in Fort Worth.

Making out a new card, the Deaf Smith County librarian was started to find the next number to be used, 2030, was the same as the Hereford Brand's telephone number. The (Continued On Page 2)

SIGHTLY DUBIOUS—Wide-eyed Cynthia Gayle Short, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Short, 502 Ave. K, wasn't too sure about getting enrolled at Aikman School Thursday. She was among the many first graders who were getting their initial association with education.

PARENTS THREATEN 'NON-ENROLLMENT'

Conditions Protested At Colored School

"Parkview school will open on schedule Tuesday, Sept. 2, and it will meet accreditation standards of Texas Educational Agency."

The statement was made by Fred Cunningham, Hereford superintendent, Saturday morning, following a protest petition carrying the names of 34 Negro patrons who threatened a "non-enrollment strike on the part of Negro children in elementary grades. The four-line petition read as follows:

"The parents of Parkview School PTA would like to submit the following: We will not enroll our children in the Parkview School under present conditions."

Mr. Cunningham said that no enrollment figures for the school were available Saturday. He also said that enrollment in the Negro school usually ran one to three weeks late before reaching full strength in other years. Approximately 40 Negro students attended the Parkview School last year, while seven enrolled in Stanton Junior High, and one enrolled in Hereford High School. Three Negroes have enrolled in high school this year, but no figures were available on Junior High.

CONDITIONS at the Parkview Negro Elementary School have been protested by the school's PTA. Spokesmen for the group said eight separate complaints have been presented to the Hereford School Board. Parents of children attending the school have stated they will not enroll their children unless the conditions are improved. Hereford school authorities already have corrected most of the alleged deficiencies. (Staff Photo)

AT HEREFORD PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Record 2,075 Enroll Friday

An incomplete enrollment chart of students in Hereford Public Schools shows that 2,075 students registered Thursday and Friday. Only 1,072 had enrolled during the same two-day period last year. When school begins Tuesday, this enrollment is expected to increase up to 2,650 students, according to Fred Cunningham, superintendent.

through six. Central had 376 students on the enrollment list, and 387 students had enrolled at Shirley Friday. Last year Central School had the largest student body in the elementary schools, with 420 students enrolling during the registration period. Aikman had 372 students and Shirley had 311 during the same period.

Central enrolled 84 first graders, 51 second graders, 58 third graders, 62 fourth graders, 62 fifth graders and 59 sixth graders.

Shirley enrolled 15 first graders, 52 second graders, 70 third graders, 52 fourth graders, 55 fifth graders and 72 sixth graders. Stanton Junior High enrolled 13 seventh graders and 130 (Continued On Page 2)

Set Grand Jury Session, Hearing On City's Suit

District Judge Harry H. Schultz this week called for a session of the District Grand Jury on Wednesday, Sept. 3. A pre-trial hearing before Judge Schultz came to an abrupt halt when City Attorney Earnest Langley presented a motion for summary judgment in a suit brought by W. E. Robinson against the City of Hereford.

After reading the motion, Judge Schultz announced the date for hearing on the motion would be Saturday, Sept. 13, at 10 a.m.

The City of Hereford, defendant in the suit, claims a right to summary judgment on the ground that the plaintiff, W. E. Robinson, did not file a written notice of intent to sue the city. The city claims this is in violation of a requirement outlined in the City Charter.

Robinson is suing the city for $23,000, alleging that he received a permanent back injury while working with the city's garbage department in April.

The peak of enrollment in previous years was in 1957, when 2,500 students were registered in public schools.

The St. Anthony's parochial school enrollment was reported complete when about 230 pupils registered Sunday. Sister Aloysia, principal, said the first day of school at St. Anthony's would be Tuesday.

Aikman will have the largest student body in the elementary schools, with 408 students enrolling in grades one

District Court Sets Two Cases

Two cases are scheduled to be heard before District Court in the near future.

Bond for Daniel Leonard Moses, 37, Henderson, charged with theft over $50, has been set at $1000.

Moses was turned over to the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department after arrest in Dimmitt Thursday.

Horace Patterson, 42, Lubbock, charged for violation of probation, is being held in Lubbock pending return here this week. Patterson was originally charged here for non-support of minor children.

A higher enrollment was recorded at Hereford High School Friday, as 619 students had enrolled there, with the freshman class leading with 197. Last year, at this time, only 510 students had enrolled at the high school.

A break-down of enrollment by classes shows that Aikman enrolled 88 first graders, 64 second graders, 88 third graders, 56 fourth graders, 58 fifth graders and 54 sixth graders.

Labor Day Moves DD To Tuesday

Dollar Day will be held by Hereford merchants on Tuesday this week instead of Monday, as Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce recognizes Labor Day as a holiday. Most businesses in Hereford will be closed Monday, according to Bill Lenderman of the local C of C office.

Maize Harvest Estimates Rise Despite Some Insect Problems

Insects still are causing some worry to maize growers, but the prospects remain bright for a bumper harvest, according to County Agent J. W. "Lefty" Thomas. Grain sorghums have been hit within the past week by a mild infestation of head worms. However, Thomas cautioned, farmers should not spray with DDT at this time, as it would be a violation of Pure Food and Drug regulations. Some false chinch bugs also have survived spraying efforts, but they are believed to be a serious threat to the crop. Thomas said most farmers had been quite successful in controlling this migratory insect.

Yield estimates for the fall maize crop have been revised upward from earlier predictions. Gross value of the crop is now placed at around $8,400,000. About 175,000 acres (Continued On Page 2)

Shrine Circus Comes To Town On Wednesday

It's peanuts and popcorn... It's the pink lemonade and cotton candy... It's clowns and excitement!

Hereford's Oasis Shrine Club Wednesday will present two performances of Gil Gray's Shrine Circus at Whiteface Field, at 1:30 and 8:15 p.m.

Local Shriners will get a percentage of the proceeds, which they will use for their annual crippled children's clinic and to continue working for a Shrine crippled children's hospital in Hereford.

The matinee is primarily for school children, and tickets will be distributed through the classroom teachers Tuesday. These tickets are being sponsored by local merchants and professional people.

Tickets for pre-school children will be available at Cooper's Market from 10 a.m. until noon, Wednesday.

Price of admission will be 50 cents for children and 90 cents for adults. Tickets may be purchased at Jim Hill Hotel, Dub's Man's Shop or Robinson-Decker Insurance Agency.

A "story book spectacular" will be the highlight of the show. The show, "Once Upon A Time", will feature a $5,000 Cinderella golden coach.

Slate Meeting On Dumping Problem

A motion to close the Hereford dump grounds to wholesale dumping of vegetables was tabled Thursday night by the City Commission in a called meeting. The commission set Tuesday, Sept. 2, at 7:30 p.m. as the time for a special called session to meet with shed operators and vegetable handlers to further discuss the problem.

"Every person interested in the disposal of produce, especially potatoes, onions, and carrots is urged to attend the meeting," said City Manager Dudley Bayne. "Letters are being sent to all of the sheds, and other interested parties are especially invited."

The City Commission heard reports that handling of dumped vegetables was costing the city as high as $160 per day for labor and operation of equipment. They considered even worse, the fact that all space in the present dump grounds is being used up — and, according to Bayne, will probably be entirely gone before the end of 1958.

"A minimum of five years is required before you can go back in and re-plow the sanitary fills," Bayne told the commission.

Interest in the problem became acute when the commissioners faced the probability of purchasing additional dump ground land this week. They further discussed protests by vegetable men that potatoes were being picked up from the dump grounds and thrown on the market in Amarillo and other areas as "Hereford potatoes."

Hereford Grain Meets Saturday

Election of two directors, distribution of dividends and two speakers will headline the fifth annual stockholder meeting of Hereford Grain Corporation Saturday, Sept. 6, according to Curtis Roach, manager. The meeting will begin at 2:30 p.m., and will be held in the Bull Barn.

"Around 150 attended last year," Roach said, "and we are expecting a slightly larger crowd this year." He said that 80 per cent of the dividends will be in stock and 20 per cent in cash.

Up for reelection as directors are Austin Rose Jr., and C. R. Damron, who are opposed by Bill Gentry and Chas. Packard. Officers for the past year were: (Continued On Page 2)

The group discussed responsibility for handling the non-usable produce, and several expressed an opinion that it was not fair to the tax payers to pay out money for what might well be classified as part of the "cost of doing business" by packers and handlers.

Grain Sorghum Producers Meet This Thursday

Grain sorghum producers throughout Deaf Smith County will take a closer look at their production, marketing and related problems and opportunities at a county-wide meeting next Thursday.

Grant Hanna, Deaf Smith county chairman of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association, says the annual pre-harvest meeting will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Jim Hill Hotel.

Chief topics of discussion are expected to include government farm programs, production and marketing practices and reports on the organized activities of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

MERCHANTS HEAR FIESTA PLANS

Group Votes Ad Ban On Segregated Book

The Merchants Committee of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce recommended to all merchants that they withhold advertising from the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company directory until a decision has been made from the company on the proposed dropping of the integrated-type directory.

The committee also passed a motion that it go on record that it was in accord with the Board of Directors of the Deaf Smith County C of C, City Commission of Hereford and Commissioners Court of Deaf Smith County in their request that Southwestern Bell Telephone Company issue an integrated directory for Hereford in 1959.

Other business taken up at the meeting was in connection with the Mexican Independence Day celebration, which will take place here Sept. 15-16.

Five representatives of the Latin American Club of Hereford attended the meeting, and Fred Gonzales, president of the club, said that plans for the fiesta are now in their final stages.

Herefordite's Brother Is Killed

The brother of a Hereford resident died Friday afternoon in the collision of a car and a semi-trailer grain truck at the intersection of two farm roads at Hub, 8 miles south of Friona. Louis Monroe Billington, 65, brother of John T. Billington, 121 Catalpa, his wife and two grandchildren were killed instantly in the crash. All were from California.

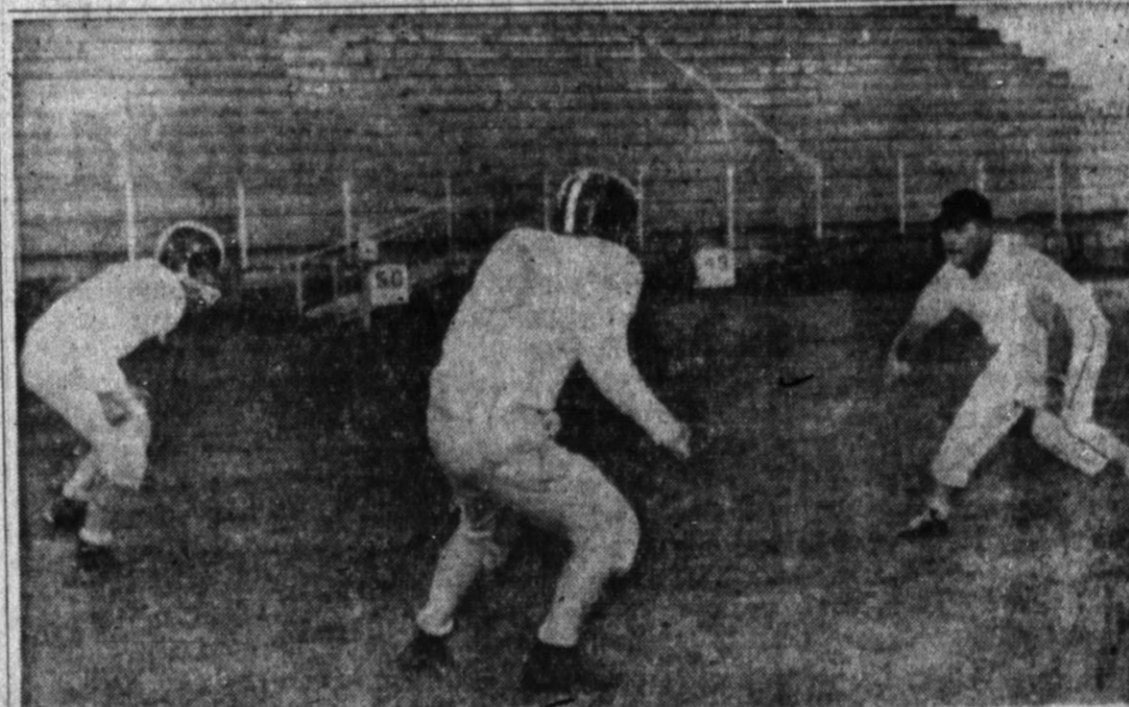

queen of the festival would be named at a run-off dance, scheduled at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 6, in the basement of the old Catholic school on Sampson St. He said a local orchestra would be engaged for the dance.

Gonzales said that a committee from the Latin American Club is now in the process of acquiring sponsors for queen candidates. The queen and her attendants will ride in a street parade Sept. 15.

Voting jars for candidates have been placed in various stores and businesses for the selection of a queen, at 10 cents a vote.

Gonzales stated that the Latin American Club plans to pay all the expenses of the fiesta and donate all proceeds left to the Catholic Church at the Labor Camp.

Advance Tickets On Sale As Herd Begins Practice

Advance season tickets for Hereford Whiteface football games have gone on sale, according to school authorities. Tickets for the six home games are available at Dub's Man's Shop. First choice on the reserved seats will go to the fans who held the seats last year. Price for reserved season tickets is $7.50.

Deadline for purchasing the tickets is Sept. 10, after which they will be placed on sale to all comers. School officials emphasized that no telephone reservations could be honored past Sept. 10.

Home games will include Dimmitt, Sept. 19; Plainview, Sept. 26; Roswell, N. M., Oct. 10; Jefferson of El Paso, Oct. 17; Dumas, Nov. 7; and Levelland, Nov. 14. Out of town games on the schedule are: Canyon, Sept. 12; Olton, Oct. 3; Littlefield, Oct. 31; and Phillips, Nov. 21.

Head coach Bobby Williams, in his first season at Hereford, had 39 candidates out when the first practice session was held Friday morning. Williams and his staff outlined workouts twice daily until Tuesday, when practice will be held each afternoon. Only nine lettermen were on hand for initial drills, with two others slated to report later. Of the group, 30 are varsity candidates and nine are "B" team players. Returning lettermen include: Bill Dirks, Ron Cook, Donnie Renfro, Steve Slagle, Terry Hodges, Danny Martin, Pete Plank, Gary Roland and Durwood Jacobs.

"We're going to have a pretty light team for 3-A competition," Williams said Friday. "Our speed should be good and we have some good boys back from last year's 'A' and 'B' (Continued On Page 2)

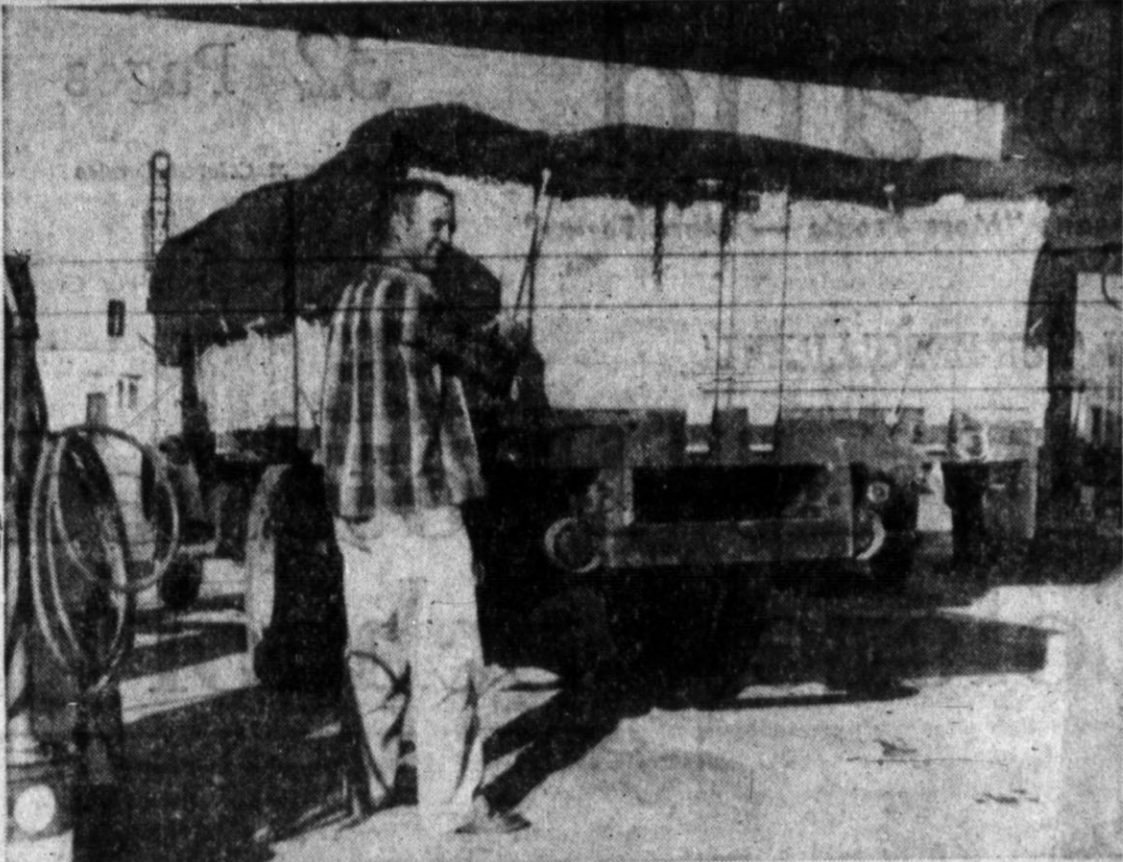

Bullets Fly After Stone Throwing

A 13-year-old Latin-American youth was released in custody of his parents this week after appearing in Juvenile Court on charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

The youth was arrested Monday by Deputy Sheriff L. R. Cherryhomes for firing a .22 caliber rifle at three boys during a stone-throwing fight. Cherryhomes said that the fight took place on the Dairy Road and involved three Latin-American and three white youths.

Cherryhomes said that during the stone-fight, the youth went to his house and returned with the rifle and started firing at the three white youths. No injuries were reported.

After release, the youth and his parents left Hereford to return to their home in South Texas.

market prices which offered little demand for No. 2's; a greater amount of garbage was also thought to have been created by weather conditions, resulting in more culls than usual. The problem, however, was not considered as a new one by the commission — and they estimated a possibly even greater volume of dumping when carrot harvest gets into full swing, again as the result of weather conditions and low market prices.

The City Commission amended the ordinance on trash hauling charges for hotels, motels and inns at the same meeting. Where such establishments previously paid a $2.50 minimum, plus 15 cents per room, the new rate calls for a $1 minimum, plus five cents per room.

Action on this measure followed some discussion concerning the amount of trash handled, and a previous $29.50 monthly hauling charge to Hotel Jim Hill. The new rate applies to all motels and hotels, and was thought by the commission to be a more equitable situation.

Residents in the northeast part of Hereford were ducking wildly last week as spray planes put on an unwanted exhibition of stunt flying. Some of the mothers were upset when the spray planes started making their banks over the rooftops. . . and low enough to see the color of the pilots' eyes.

Bill Dameron brought in a fine speaker for the Kiwanis Club meeting Thursday. Mason King, columnist and public relations director for the Amarillo Globe-News, gave one of his sparkling talks about the early days in the Panhandle. He drew gasps of admiration from the club as he mentioned some of his sales feats when he was a wholesale meat "drummer". And, of course, King was high in his praise of Deaf Smith County and its many accomplishments.

High school students enrolled Thursday and Friday totaled 197 freshmen, 179 sophomores, 221 juniors and 122 seniors. Cunningham said that the total enrollment was by no means complete, and that a good indication of the enrollment peak for the year probably would not be reached until Sept. 8.

Cunningham said all schools would open Sept. 2, at which time busses would begin operation. He said early morning classes at the high school would start at 8 a.m. and regular classes would begin at 9 a.m. and dismiss at 4 p.m.

Junior high classes will begin at 8:45 a.m. and dismiss at 3:45 p.m. He said the time variation between high school and junior high classes was due to working out a convenient bus schedule.

Elementary school classes will begin at 8:45 a.m. and dismiss at 3:45 p.m., except the primary grades, which will be staggered to fit circumstances and schedules.

Hereford students will have an early holiday, as school will be dismissed Wednesday afternoon in order that students will be able to attend the Shrine Circus at Whiteface field.

Cunningham announced that parents of all primary grade children should pick up their children and either escort them to the circus or take them home. All other children, he said, will be released from school to go to the circus at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday.

"All busses will be prepared to leave the bus barn immediately after the circus," he said. "The circus is scheduled to last for 2½ hours, and tickets furnished by merchants for elementary school students will be distributed to the students Tuesday."
He said every school student will be given a ticket, courtesy of Hereford businesses; they set the date and time for the street parade as Sept. 16 at 3 p.m. The high school band, directed by Charles Bell, and the Hereford Riders' Club have been scheduled to appear in the parade, according to Bill Lenderman of Deaf Smith County C of C. Lenderman requested that representatives of the Latin-American Club appoint a parade marshal to head the planning for the parade.

Jeff Gomez, vice president of the Latin American Club, said that a seven-piece band from Larado, "Mike Ornelas and his Orchestra", has been contracted to play at dances on nights of Sept. 15-16 at the Bull Barn. Gomez said he expected many people to attend the festival from out of town. He said posters had been placed in other Panhandle towns to publicize the festival.

is planted, about two-thirds of it irrigated. Average yield is expected to be 3,000 pounds per acre. Although some early maize was cut last week, including fields harvested by Dan Nelson and Fred Wollington, peak cutting is not expected to come until the middle of October. The harvest will be a drawn-out process this year, Thomas said, with cutting from now until the end of October.

Pointing up the late development of some of the maize, Thomas said some of the crop was still in the flower stage.

A few farmers started planting wheat last week, despite a lack of moisture. Most of this wheat, Thomas pointed out, will be used for early grazing. About 125,000 acres will be planted before operations end the latter part of November.

Cotton prospects are fairly good in Deaf Smith County, despite the late date at which most was planted. Early plantings were washed out and most of the county's cotton was planted in June. This means, Thomas stated, a 25 per cent smaller yield than cotton, which was planted in May. There are about 9,000 acres of cotton in the county and the yield is predicted at about one bale per acre.

There was some spotted hail damage and there is a peak count on boll worms right now, but their damage has been very slight.

The vegetable outlook is still uncertain, as the market has cut into potato, and onion harvests and there is "not too much" lettuce nearing the harvest stage.

Church Group Plans Program

F. L. Mickey, a special representative of the Watchtower Society and Circuit Supervisor over nineteen congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the Texas Panhandle and Western Oklahoma, will visit the Hereford Witness congregation Sept. 2-7. Lloyd Reddoch, a local supervisor and spokesman for the witnesses, in making the announcement said, "Mickey's purpose is to inspect our preaching activity program here, looking toward its continuing expansion and increasing effectiveness as a spiritually uplifting community influence. Much of his time here will be spent giving us special ministerial instruction in actual door to door witnessing. "Climaxing his visit, Mickey will give the public lecture 'Is Love Practical among the Nations in our Time?' at Kingdom Hall in the 300 Block on North Ave. E. Sunday, Sept. 7 at 3 p.m." All interested persons are welcome to attend, Reddoch said. The number of homeowners in the U. S. jumped by 55 per cent between 1940 and 1950, rising by 8 million.

Carrot Harvesting Begins On Farm Of Gayle Neal

By MRS. CARL WIMBERLEY
Carrot harvest began Tuesday on the Gayle Neal farm. Approximately 60 acres are ready for harvest, and 40 acres more will be ready by the time the first harvest is over. The manager of the carrot shed has designed some new machinery which is being used here. It streamlines the processing, eliminating some of the work formerly required.

Mr. and Mrs. Rbeort Strain and son and Mr. and Mrs. Baker Womble of Hereford returned late Monday from Colorado, where they attended the Womble family reunion at the Elmer Womble ranch at Gunnison over the weekend. The Strains and Wombles visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fain at Canon City, Colo., on their way to Gunnison, and visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Galley at Center on their way home.

The Fains lived here for a number of years ago. Ted, their son, is reported to be married and living in Farmington, N. M. He and his wife have four children. Wynelle, the Fains' daughter, is married and living in Denver, Colo., and she and her husband have two children.

'Doctor' Rockwell Still Laughing Loudly at Life

By GORDON GLOVER

SOUTHPORT, Maine (U) — On a high point of land overlooking the rich blue of Boothbay Harbor stands a rambling white dwelling known as "Slipshod Manor."

Nearby is a smaller building carrying the name: "Southport Institute of Art — Fine, Medium & Coarse."

As everyone around this resort area knows, George L. Rockwell is the master of both the abode and the institute. Rockwell is a sign painter, an ex-lobster fisherman, and the one-timekeeper of an ill called "Tinker Tavern."

More than that, he is the inimitable "Doctor" Rockwell, one of the sharpest wits in show business back in the 1920s and '30s.

Vigorous at 70, Doc does very well painting signs ("While you wait — and wait, and wait") and writing occasional magazine and newspaper articles.

In the happy days of vaudeville, Doctor Rockwell's specialty was medical tom foolery. He was a master monologist who brought down theater roofs everywhere by holding up a banana stock — stripped of bananas — and delivering a ridiculous lecture on its similarity to the human spine.

Then, as now, the doctor's philosophy was humorous and homely and it was just what the nation wanted in the giddy years of the 1920s. The Shuberts signed him for such revues as "Quack Quack Doctor," "Greenwich Village Follies," and "Broadway Nights." Then came a stint on radio, where Rockwell wrote most of his own stuff ("The writers — oh, they were horrible") and appeared as a

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Barnett visited in Muleshoe Saturday with relatives.

Sunday dinner guests in the Ashford Hill home were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde London and Mr. and Mrs. P. L. London and family of Lubbock. Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Day visited in the Hill home that afternoon.

Judy Barnett returned home Sunday after a two-week vacation trip in Colorado visiting with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carthel and family spent the weekend visiting relatives in Lakin, Kan.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Stone visited in Odessa Sunday with Mrs. Stone's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Rocky Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bengert returned home Saturday from a vacation trip to San Jose, Calif., where they visited in the home of their son, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Bengert. While there, they attended several national league ball games and saw the Chicago Cubs, the St. Louis Cardinals and the San Francisco Giants.

Steve Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Stone, spent a week recently visiting in the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stone, in Lamesa.

Sunday visitors in the Lloyd Prewett home were Mr. and Mrs. Truit Pool and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Talley.

Visiting in the Leslie Deaton home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Crow and family of Hereford. E. Y. Crow of Dumas visited in the Deaton home Wednesday. The Crow men are brothers of Mrs. Deaton.

The first H. D. Club meeting will be held Thursday, Sept. 4, with Mrs. Elmore as hostess. Mrs. Ralph Price will be in charge of the program. She will give a report on the state meeting which she attended in Austin. The meeting will be at the community house at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Coy Patton underwent surgery Tuesday morning in the Farmer County Community hospital. She is reported to be improving.

PHILOSOPHIC PAINTER—George L. Rockwell, former entertainment star, says he's falling apart and enjoying it. His "Institute of Art" will supply painting "fine, medium or coarse."

frequent guest with such established stars as Rudy Vallee and Fred Allen.

Rockwell's one and only television appearance was with Allen, one of his closest friends. In fact, Rockwell often collaborated with the late comedian and supplied him with material.

In the early 1940s, Rockwell retired to his beloved coast of Maine, returning to New York briefly and infrequently for radio shows. He fished for lobsters until he hurt his back, operated "Tinker Tavern" until it closed up, and then took up sign painting ("You learn 26 letters and nine numerals and you're in business!").

Does he crave to return to the limelight? Well, not really. "I'm falling apart and enjoying it," Rockwell says.

Sometimes, he stays up all night in his shop painting signs and listening to the radio. He likes television, too, mainly because it gets the audience close to the players — like vaudeville.

The Rockwell vote for the best comedian of them all — past and present — goes to Groucho Marx. Among the new crop, he likes George Gobel.

Some writers, mused Doc, are always probing for the reasons people laugh.

"As for me, I wonder why they DONT laugh. All you have to do is look at life and..."

That was the introduction for another Rockwell lecture.

Beauty At Home

Q. What hairstyle do you suggest for the girl with an egg-shaped head?

A. Probably best is a three-and-a-half-inch all-over cut, with the hair tapered in length in the back, and at the nape of the neck, from a part that runs completely across the top of the head. Start this parting at the top of either ear, and go across the head just back of the actual crown. The hair in back of the part is set in soft pin curls. When combed out, they provide a balancing fullness to the front, so that the so-called "egg-shape" is effectively camouflaged.

Q. What general astringent do you especially recommend for the skin?

A. I do not think you can do better than with good-quality witch hazel.

Q. Is cologne, in your opinion, a good substitute for perfume?

A. Yes, it is — and especially if you want to economize. It has a good concentration. Keep it in a cool dark place until ready to apply with cotton pads to the skin.

Q. What is a simple and easy exercise for encouraging slimmer hips?

A. The stretching kind of exercise is very good. One consists simply of sitting on the floor with legs apart and backs of knees close to the floor. Then reach forward with the hands and grasp the toes firmly, pulling them gently toward you.

Q. Will you please suggest a good home treatment I can give to a pimple that suddenly pops up on my face?

A. One old and often beneficial treatment consists of applying a thick paste of starch over the blemish at night before retiring.

Q. How can I mix my own hand cream at home?

A. Mix well two-thirds cup of mutton tallow, one-third cup mineral oil, one teaspoon of borax, and three tablespoons water. For a pleasing aroma, add some oil of geranium.

Q. What is a quickly-prepared and effective facial beauty mask?

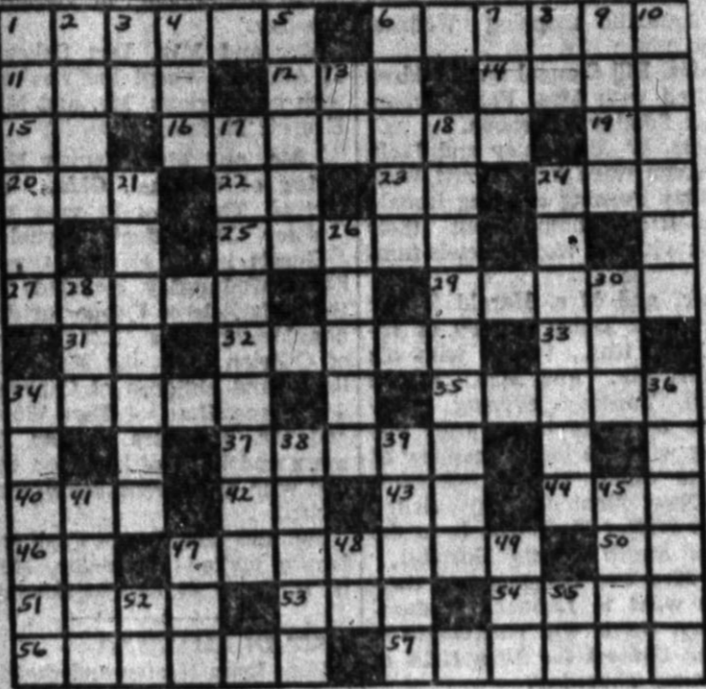

A. A very simple, but good, mask is made just by painting the white of an egg over face and throat, allowing to remain on ten minutes, then washing off with warm water.

Q. Is it all right to use cold cream as a powder base?

A. No. Among other things, all creams of this kind are made to liquefy. The warmth of your skin or the slightest heat or exertion, such as dancing, will cause the cream to break down the facial makeup, rather than to help it adhere.

Q. How can I remove some carbon paper stains from one of my unwashable office dresses?

A. Sponge these stains with denatured alcohol, diluted with two parts of water. Rinse by sponging with some plain water.

Q. How can I bleach the hairs on my arms?

A. Use some peroxide with a few drops of ammonia added. Apply this with cotton pads, as much as the arm will hold, then wash off when dry.

Q. Do you recommend the use of a black eyebrow pencil?

A. Only if you have a naturally high coloring. Otherwise, a black pencil is likely to give you a "hard" and artificial look. Brown pencil is much safer.

Q. How can I bring color back to a complexion which seems to have acquired an unusual paleness?

A. Maybe what your face needs is a good drink. Fill your basin with cool water, close your eyes, hold your breath, and thrust your face deep into the water, holding it there as long as you can. Keep repeating this treatment. It's stimulating!

Q. Do you really recommend the regular use of eye cream?

A. I certainly do, and especially from the mid-twenties on. When using one of these special creams, pat it on from the inside corner of the upper lid — gently. For crowsfeet at the corners, massage the cream in ALONG the lines, using a rotary movement with the fingertip. You can usually "iron" these lines out quite a bit with regular care.

Q. Is it true that pearls are always in good taste with almost any costume?

A. Yes. When in doubt about jewelry, wear pearls — wear them with anything.

STUFFY TALE

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Bearded Al Millikan, who wears chaireuse trousers, a gold belt and an orange T-shirt and carries a stuffed fox, appeared in court on charges of disorderly conduct. He explained to the judge that a man threatened to kick his fox into the street and that he loved the fox. Millikan suggested the man kick him instead. The stranger did. Millikan said he was just expressing his feelings when the policeman arrived.

FAST DIGGERS

CHUTE DES PASSES, Que. (AP) — A construction team has claimed a world record in drilling a tunnel for hydro-electric purposes near this community 250 miles north of Quebec City. Two hundred workers drove a 655-foot tunnel in six days compared with a 587-foot tunnel in six days at Niagara Falls, Ont., in 1952.

HORSE LOSES AGAIN

OWENTON, Ky. (AP) — The machine has won the latest battle in the old war between the horse and the machine.

Dave Agee's horse fell in a gully on his farm and, try as he did, the horse couldn't get out. It was hopeless.

But a machine — a wrecker — did the job in nothing flat.

Stereophonic Sound Invades Main Street

IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

By BETTY BABIONE
I suppose that by now folks in the vicinity of Streu Hardware are used to the unique sounds which have lately filled the air around there. But for someone who is unaware of the true origin of the sounds, it may be rather startling to hear a train passing through the middle of downtown Hereford. . . or to hear the United States Navy Band play a stirring melody as they march, unseen, up the street. . . or to get the impression, except for visual contradiction, that you are at a swimming pool with swimmers splashing and cavorting about. Indeed, these are no ordinary sounds for the 300 block on Main. When you've had a chance to think twice about the matter, your second thought may be that someone turned up the amplifier and left the doors open during movie time at the Star Theater. But the secret lies with Oliver Streu and the demonstration records he uses to show off the latest thing in record-playing equipment. The "latest thing" being stereophonic sound. Stereophonic, high-fidelity records and machines — the record industry's answer to television. And if you twist his arm (ha!), Oliver S. will perform an entertaining demonstration and give an enlightening explanation of this amazing innovation which has only recently been made available for the home — pleasure of Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public. And no kidding, it's really sompin'! From what I hear, the local aggregation of Campfire Girls and leaders who spent last week at Ceta Glen had a very rewarding and eventful time. A handful of Hereford women managed the major responsibilities of the annual area camp this year. . . Ina Mae Gilbreath had no small task as overseer of the food preparation, menu planning, and dining procedures. . . nor had Marian Davis as director of the hand-craft program ably assisted by Ruby Boston. . . nor had Mary Stapp, who supervised the swim periods. Then there was Mrs. Gilbert and Mrs. Shepard, and perhaps a few others whose names I do not know, who helped to make it one of the most successful camps ever. And they were probably all like Marian D., who remarked that she was so tired after the camp was over that she had only a vague recollection of what happened during the first 24 hours after she got home. It was worth it though, wasn't it gals! Dorothea Powell didn't go to Campfire camp, but she's been otherwise occupied with youth activities this summer. Her daughter Shari's birthday party was one of the most cleverly-planned teenage affairs of the year. It was a pizza party, and that in itself was a unique idea so far as birthday celebrations go. But the note which really made it distinctive was that the guests (all girls) arrived bedecked not only in their prettiest frocks, but also in hats, gloves and their "driest" shoes — a different picture from the usual array of jeans, etc., worn at teenage gatherings. The young ladies all looked so pretty and so . . . well . . . like young ladies. And it gave a very special atmosphere to the occasion. Dorothea is also one of the Hereford mothers who have sponsored groups of youngsters on occasional daytime jaunts to Amarillo for ice skating sessions at the new ice rink there. Now there's a new "rinkle" in the way of entertainment for this neck of the woods. Speaking of youngsters: The other day I openly admired a pair of attractive slim-jims worn by Linda Kay Noland, and was then informed that she made them herself. It was just one of many instances which have made me think a lot lately on how smart and creative and talented and wholesome our Hereford young people are. Just thought I'd mention it in passing. A family reunion has been the reason for the recent bustle of activity and the unusual number of cars around Mrs. W. E. Dameron's house. Mama Jane Dameron is beyond a doubt one of Hereford's most gracious hostesses, and she is known to be even more so when entertaining her own family. I think that's one of the finest compliments I've ever heard paid to anyone. Well, The Labor Day weekend is here. And the beginning of school is here. And the end of this column is here. Newsy items, all. My thanks to the three musketeers who so valiantly fought the battle of news, views, and nonsense last week in my place. Happy holiday everyone, and happy birthday, Helen Miller!

Double-Ring Ceremony Read In Baptist Church

Before basket arrangements of gladioli flanked by branched candelabra holding white wedding tapers, Miss Virginia Pat Gandy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Gandy, became the bride of Melvin K. Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Botts of Farwell.

The Rev. Howard Scott read a double-ring ceremony for the couple at 7 o'clock Thursday evening in the First Baptist Church here.

Mrs. Howard Scott, organist, played traditional wedding music, including "The Lord's Prayer," as vows were spoken.

Miss Clydene Thomas attended the bride as maid of honor and Mrs. Ann Shaw served as bridesmaid. They wore floor-length dresses of pink lace with fitted waists and bouffant skirts with matching headbands. They carried identical nosegays of pink gladioli with puffs of white nylon tulle.

Elizabeth Gandy, sister of the bride, was flower girl and Jerry Stewart of Dawn, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. The flower girl wore a pink organdy dress trimmed in white lace with white lace headband.

Candles were lighted by Eddie Gandy, brother of the bride, and Robert Eldon Caraway of Dawn, cousin of the bride.

John Henry Gandy, the bride's brother, assisted the bridegroom as best man and ushers were Bobby Ramey and Ralph Atchley of Dawn, the bride's cousins.

Wearing a gown of white nylon tulle and Chantilly lace over taffeta, the bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father. Her gown featured a fitted bodice with Sabrina neckline embroidered with seed pearls and rhinestones, and long pointed sleeves. The floor-length skirt was bouffant and had a scalloped lace panel extending down the front and back. Cascading down the sides were deep ruffles of tulle. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of seed pearls touched with iridescent sequins. She wore pearl and diamond earrings, belonging to an aunt, and a strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. The bridal bouquet was of gladioli tied with streamers and love knots attached to a white satin ribbon.

The bride's mother wore a blue lace dress with a navy beaded hat and the bridegroom's mother wore a beige two-piece silk suit with black accessories. Their corsages were fashioned of white gladioli.

RECEPTION — Following the wedding a reception was held in the church parlors. The bride's table was laid in lace over pink and centered with pink and white roses. Pink tapers burned in candelabra.

Assisting in the house party were Mrs. Dale Barkley, Kay Cole and Marilyn Jones. Mrs. Ray T. Stewart and Mrs. Reece Stewart provided informal music during the reception.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Carlsbad and other New Mexico points the bride was wearing an olive green and red print chemise with black accessories and the gladioli from her wedding bouquet. Upon their return they will make their home in Farwell where he is employed.

Mrs. Shaw was graduated from Hereford High School and has been employed at Cave's Variety Store. Mr. Shaw also attended Hereford High School.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Orville D. Gaither and Duane of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Emery Higdon, grandparents of the bride of Plainview, Mr. and Beyer Jr. and their small grandson, Michael Gagnon, of Hutchinson, Kan.; a nephew and a niece who are children of the late Mrs. Leila Gregg Wright of Silverton, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wright of Spokane, Wash., and Mrs. Harold Owenby and children of Phoenix, Ariz.

They were joined here by Mrs. Dameron's son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Dameron and children, and other members of the Dameron family, including Mrs. A. M. Jones, Miss Frances Dameron and Harry Seed. Mrs. Wm. S. Dameron's mother, Mrs. Carl E. Wallace of Fort Worth, also attended the reunion.

In a twilight ceremony read Saturday evening, Aug. 23, in the First Methodist Church, Miss Virginia Gayle Sigle became the bride of Byron Frederick Bennett in a double ring service. The Rev. Alby Cockrell, pastor, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Sigle of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Bennett, 115 South Edgewood Ave., La Grange, Ill.

The pale pink gowns of the bride's attendants were silhouetted by flame-tipped cathedral tapers in double seven-branched candelabrum against an altar background framing white gladioli, pink carnations and Emerald palms. A white satin kneeling bench centered the nuptial space and altar vases held pink and white gladioli. The center aisle was marked by pink carnations rising from white satin ribbon bows.

Mrs. William Stanford, organist, played a concert of wedding selections preceding the ceremony and played "Clair de Lune" softly as vows were exchanged. She also played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Miss Nancy Crawford, who sang "How I Love Thee."

ATTENDANTS DRESS ALIKE — Identical dresses were worn by the maid of honor, Miss Nancy Breckenridge of St. Paul, Minn., and the bridesmaids: Marilyn Sigle, sister of the bride; Mrs. Donald Sigle; Mrs. Charles Bennett of De Pere, Wis.; and Mrs. Gregory Lefferdink of Boulder, Colo.

RETURN FROM TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hobson returned Tuesday from a vacation trip to Idaho where they visited relatives and friends. After the stay in Idaho they were accompanied home by his mother, Mrs. H. B. Horner of Twin Falls, and a sister, Mrs. R. L. Milner of Idaho Falls. En route home they visited Brice Canyon, Grand Canyon and points in Arizona. The Hobsons took the visitors back to their homes last week, returning to Hereford Tuesday.

ROBERSONS RETURN

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Roberson returned home Sunday after a two weeks stay with her sister, Mrs. B. C. Beebe in San Bernardino, Calif. While there they attended a reunion of Mrs. Beebe's sisters, children and grandchildren.

They wore pale pink silk organza dresses fashioned with princess bodice with matching lace top and very bouffant ballerina skirt. They wore circles of azalea pink net attached to a seed pearl headband and carried arm bouquets of cascading azalea pink roses. Karen Sue Stanford was flower girl.

Charles Harlan Bennett of De Pere, Wis., was his brother's best man and ushers were Gregory Lefferdink of Boulder, Colo.; Donald Sigle, brother of the bride; Tom Woodford and Joe Hacker.

THE BRIDE walked down the white carpeted aisle with her father who gave her in marriage. Her gown of white peau de soie fashioned with princess bodice with bateau neckline accented with a wide band of Alencon lace which extended over the shoulders to form short cuffed sleeves. Seed pearls and iridescent sequins outlined the lace. The voluminous gored skirt, worn over hoops, was complemented by an envelope bustle back and fell to an aisle-wide train. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a regal-crown of seed pearls and lace and silk gauntlets completed her ensemble. She wore a strand of cultured pearls, the gift of the bridegroom, her grandmother's wedding band for sentimental reasons and a blue button from her great grandmother's wedding dress was fastened to the hem of her dress. She carried a cascade of garnet rosebuds showered with stephanotis and puffs of white net.

The bride's mother chose Dior blue lace sheath with matching feather hat for her daughters wedding, with a baby pink orchid corsage.

Mrs. Bennett wore an ice-blue lace dress with matching sequin hat. Her corsage was a lime-colored orchid.

RECEPTION — For the reception, held in Fellowship Hall following the ceremony, the bride's table was laid with a bluish pink taffeta cloth overlaid with a pale pink net cloth skirted with ruffles of net. Centering the table was an arrangement of American Beauty roses with pale pink candles in crystal holders. The tiered wedding cake featured sugarspun rosebuds and lilies of the valley as decoration.

Members of the houseparty included Mesdames Norman Gray, Bert Boomer, Leroy Aven, C. C. Billingslea, Norma

Nuptials Read Saturday In San Angelo Church

Miss Margaret Lindsey Lyons and Hubert Wayne (Buddy) Godfrey recited wedding vows at 8 p.m. Saturday in the First Methodist Church of San Angelo. Rev. Emnis B. Hill, pastor, read the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lyons are the bride's parents and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Billingslea of Hereford.

The bride walked down the center aisle escorted by her father who gave her in marriage. White gladioli marked the pews along the aisle and adorned the altar in basket arrangements. Cathedral candelabrum, holding white wedding tapers entwined with greenery, formed an artistic background.

Music for the wedding was provided by Mrs. A. W. McMillan, organist, and Bryan Mahon, soloist, who sang, "I Love You Truly" and "Because," accompanied by Mrs. McMillan.

ATTENDANTS TO THE BRIDE included Mrs. J. D. Beeman, matron of honor, Miss Betty Malay and Miss Mary Ann Lindley of Waco; Miss Patty Eubank of Dallas; Mrs. Alton Warren, sister of the bridegroom, of Whitharrel; and Miss Susan Thomas, cousin of the bride of Tahoka, bridesmaids. Junior bridesmaid was Nancy Elizabeth Sour, cousin of the bride, of Shreveport, La.

All the bride's attendants wore identical frocks of pink organza over taffeta, styled with a bouffant skirt with deep hem attached to a fitted bodice finished with a fichu at the low neckline and a fold of pink satin outlining the natural waistline. Each attendant wore a bonnet-brim of pleated pink tulle with crown outlined in iridescent sequins, and carried the popular basket design of with Sweetheart roses.

Bill Koehler of Dalhart assisted the bridegroom as best man and groomsmen were Lee Mc-Collum and Orman Hubbard of Midland, Joe Easley of Denver, Colo.; Bobby Sean Smith of Sengraves; Dennis Knight of Lubbock; and Ken Lyons, brother of the bride. Donald G. Newman served as usher.

THE BRIDE wore a traditional gown of Dupont silk and hand-clipped Venetian lace fashioned with a portrait neckline traced in sequins and pearls. The long fitted sleeves came to petal points at the hands caught by tiny lace covered buttons. An intricate design of applied lace adorned the front of the voluminous bell-shaped skirt which swept into a court train. Panels of lace accented the fullness at the sides. The skirt was attached to the slightly elongated bodice by silk folds caught in the back by a graceful double pouf.

Her triple tiered veil of imported illusion fell from a colonial crown of lace accented with a single pearl drop over the forehead, and she carried a cascade of delicately tinted orchids combined with stephanotis.

The bride's mother wore a rose lace dress over taffeta with small feather hat and rose satin shoes. Her corsage was of white rosebuds.

Mrs. Billingslea wore a pink lace sheath trimmed in pink velvet. She wore a pink feather hat and white satin shoes with a corsage of white rosebuds.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Cactus.

The bride is a junior student at Texas Technological College and is affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. The bridegroom is a senior student at Texas Tech, majoring in finance. He is affiliated with Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He is also employed at the Citizens National Bank.

REMEMBER WHEN?

By CHARLIE SEEDS
 The attention of Americans was largely on Germany that year... and the spreading terror which had engulfed all Europe. The United States was sending aid to Britain and adopting a stiffer attitude toward her enemy, Adolph Hitler's Nazi Germany.
 In November that year two Japanese envoys arrived in Washington for peace talks between Japan and the United States. The negotiations dragged on through the month and into December, and little seemed to be accomplished. Still America looked toward the war that raged in Europe... and wondered when we would be drawn into it.
 Then, on a Sunday morning, December 7th, came the world shattering attack. The Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor, inflicting disastrous damage on the American fleet in the harbor. On the following day, Congress voted to declare that a state of war existed with Japan. Remember the year?
 People who bought cars earlier that year weren't thinking about the possibility of not buying another car for many years to come. They little realized how much service those cars had to give... and how important dependable auto service would be.
 The year was 1941. Dependable service is important to every car buyer... from the initial "shake down" checkups to the periodic service and repairs which every car needs as it begins to wear. We're proud of our complete automotive service... and of the fact that most of the people who buy a car from us bring it back for dependable service when needed. CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR CO., INC. 146 E. PIONEER OF AREA

Henry Tiefel Helped In Building Hereford

Henry Tiefel, pioneer farmer, stockman, carpenter and builder, likes to recall the early days in Hereford when he was having a part in the development of this area.

In 1910, he and his family came to Texas from Indiana and settled on a farm near Friona. He prided himself on his farm and cattle, but when the drouth came, he moved in to Friona where he hauled lumber and materials and helped build the first brick schoolhouse. In 1911 the family moved to Dawn, where he began farming and raising cattle again.

At that time the only buildings in Dawn were the depot and the section house, and he began carpentering, helping to build most of Dawn—the Neal properties and the hotel. In 1914 he helped build Dawn's first school.

He says he will never forget 1918 and the terrible blizzard and snow storm, when hundreds of cattle died. That was when he quit the cattle business for good.

In 1920 the family moved to a farm at the edge of Hereford, and he began carpentering in earnest, priding himself on being a good roofer. He recalls working on the roof of the courthouse and all the buildings where the Chocolate Shop used to be; in fact, he made a list of roofings he had done and found he had worked on every roof from First St. to Fourth

Auxiliary Learns About Freedoms

The Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars met in the VFW Hall Monday evening with Mesdames Leonard Davis and H. S. Hodson serving as hostesses.

A program on "Freedoms" was presented. Mrs. Leonard Davis discussed the meaning of "Americanism". Mrs. Perry McMinn discussed "Freedom from Want and Fear". Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Jr. told of "Freedom of Speech" and Mrs. Wayne Lawrence spoke on "Freedom of Religion".

Members attending were Mesdames Wayne Lawrence, Lloyd Olson, Perry McMinn, Arnold Wall, Bill Craig, Dub Maddox, L. H. Lookingbill Jr., and the hostesses.

Street except the Odd Fellows Hall.

Now, as he looks back on the past, there comes a note of sadness as much of the old is being torn down to be replaced by the new. It is not so much the fact that what few business buildings are not torn down, are having new fronts or being remodelled, but that he is unable to have a part in the progress made.

Two years ago he retired when he began to lose his eyesight. An operation restored his sight, but at 82 he finds that he is content to read and watch television, to work in the garden and attend Immanuel Lutheran Church every Sunday with Mrs. Tiefel.

The couple have two children. Mrs. Thurman Johnson and Mrs. P. B. Sowell, who live near, and they consider their seven grand children and seven great grandchildren their most prized possessions.

RETURNS TO CALIFORNIA

Mrs. Geo. Guinn, who has returned to her home in Los Angeles, Calif., after spending the summer here with her son and his family, J. T. Guinn, who live on a ranch west of Hereford, was entertained at several get-togethers while here. Mrs. Guinn entertained with a luncheon for old-time friends of her mother-in-law, and Mrs. W. J. Stanford honored her with a coffee the past week. Those attending were Mesdames C. C. Ferguson, Henry Hastings, J. L. Mauk, J. J. Clark, Geo. Millard, D. H. Alexander, Willie Daniel, J. F. Gilbreath, Dick Barnard, the honoree and Mrs. J. T. Guinn. Spending a day with many of her friends in Hereford was also a highlight during her stay.

ALL FOR NOTHING
DENVER (AP)—Elvires Martinez, 21, paid $3,600 for a hard-top automobile, then decided it wasn't low enough to the ground. He spent $600 more at a garage to take four inches off the top and lower the body six inches.

The first time Martinez drove his reconstructed car, a policeman stopped him and ordered the car hauled to the police pound. Not enough windshield space, the policeman ruled.

By JIMMIE GILLENTE
 Never before in the history of the town have there been so many controversies at one time as we now have in Hereford. First, it was the labor camp, then the dump grounds, the telephone directory and now the Negro schools. I believe if I were Cleo Meharg or Johnny Simms, I'd make it a point to go fishing — and stay for a week or two.

Maybe it is a matter of growing pains, but it seems more like a lot of things have been simmering for a long time — and suddenly came to a boil. It might also be the weather.

Mostly, though, it is a case of too much prosperity. Folks, instead of sitting down with a give-and-take attitude, seem anxious to pass the buck to someone else. All of us are too independent when, honestly, we would have a hard time getting along by ourselves. Meanwhile, Bovina is building a nice, new Labor Camp. The same thing is in the wind down Dimmitt way. Instead of bickering among themselves, a lot of other towns are quietly working away. Already, they are making a dent in the produce market; already, they are providing stiff competition. We are meeting the threat of competition with inner-tumult, and squabbles.

There isn't anything wrong around here that a little consideration and horse sense won't cure.

All of these things seem to pretty well over-shadow the Shrine Circus, slated for next Wednesday. Back when Paul Harvey was a boy, it was quite an event when the circus came to town. These days, it doesn't seem to cut much ice. Even the great Ringling Bros. — Barnum Bailey folded a few years back. Guess the circus is going to follow the old Chautauqua into oblivion. If you don't know what a Chautauqua was, ask Cliff Estes. He will probably remember.

Mermaids, it seems, are a lot nicer than people or, in this case, other people. Some weeks ago, I got away out in left field and jumped to a conclusion that no one but "Old Folks" would get up at 6 a.m. and go swimming. It turns out that this 6 a.m. class had a group of young women who call themselves the "Mermaids". Instead of protesting and screaming their heads off, they quietly organized a swimming party, invited me out, and presented me with a gigantic tractor inner tube from the "Old Folks". They all had their names on the tube, and I felt pretty silly, but I still think they are about the nicest bunch of people I ever knew.

The group includes Ora Hale, Georgia Fisher, Mrs. Werner Koelzer, Mrs. Charles Frye, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Earnest Langley, Mrs. Harold Murdock, Mrs. James Headstream, Mrs. Irvin Robinson, Mrs. D. R. Johnson, Marie Evans and Eugene Noel. And I do apologize. Furthermore, I hope they invite me back some time. I enjoyed it — even if my ears did get stopped up and it cost me three bucks to get them washed out; all of which shows I was right about the "Old Folks". I just used the term about the wrong people.

I hear that C-C Manager Bill Underman is giving us a bad time because we ran the picture of potatoes being dumped at the city grounds. He may be right but, after all, we don't make the news. We just try to print it like it happens. We wish it could all be good, but if we didn't make an attempt to reflect a true picture of things, we would have a propaganda sheet instead of a newspaper.

I hear by the grapevine that Band Director Charlie Bell conducted a band clinic at Kamp Karankawa, near Fredericksburg, Tex., and had as his assistant Jim Jacobson, who directs the T. C. U. Horned Frog Band. Art Kowert, who runs the Fredericksburg Standard, took a picture of Charlie for us, but said it didn't turn out — and he couldn't send it. This is Charlie's second year as clinician for the Kerrville Band, and they seem to think a lot of him. Charlie's marching routines seem to be attracting a lot of comment in band circles around the state.

J. W. Robinson has been in a huff ever since Kent Snare sided up to him the other day, and confidentially asked: "Do you think A. & M. will even field a football team this year?"

Nor did it help any when J. W. got a copy of the "Pigskin Parade" (in which he had purchased an ad) and discovered that the Aggies were picked to end the season in fifth place — if they are lucky.

I have been trying to talk Virgil Hennen into letting me help move the First National Bank next Saturday, but it's worse — than trying to borrow money. Besides, he says that they will have a police escort when they haul the money across the street. I figured they would load up a wheelbarrow — and who could help it if there is a high wind and some of the bills happen to blow away. However, he seems to have his own ideas on the subject. I didn't get to first base. And that's for sure.

School will get really rolling Tuesday. I was just reading about a teacher who always had trouble getting his students to settle down and pay attention. He finally adopted the routine of opening a new term rushing into the room and announcing he had just read about a remarkable thing: a man had invented a device which allowed people to walk right through a wall.

When the students were all

Mrs. Joe Easley Receives High Honor in Denver

Mrs. Joe Easley, who graduated with a bachelor of science degree from the University of Denver in Denver, Colo., on Aug. 15, was chosen by the members of the graduate faculty of the University and the education committee of the Boettcher Foundation to receive a $2,400 Fellowship grant for the year 1958-59 toward a 'masters' degree in science.

Mrs. Easley, a physics major, was elected to the Physics Honor Society her sophomore year at the University of Texas and received the same honor at the Denver School the past year. She is also a member of Alpha Delta Pi, social sorority. Mr. Easley is also a student at the University of Denver, where he is majoring in advertising. He is an employee of the Beatrice Food Company of Denver and both will continue their studies at the University this fall. The couple left Friday for Fredericksburg for a short stay with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cameron, after a week's stay here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Easley. They will return to Denver next week.

With school opening a lot of parents will, sooner or later, start worrying about the teenagers and their customary "Coke and Aspirin" duets. However bad it may look, nature seems to be on our side. Gene Moore, up in Moore County, recently reported on some laboratory diet tests in Sioux Falls, S. D.

The science project involved two white rats. One rat ate a perfectly balanced diet, as recommended for growing youngsters. The other rat got the "Coke-Aspirin" fare: pickles, hamburgers, hot dogs, candy.

The rat on the teen-age diet is reported to be thriving. The other one died several weeks ago.

RETURN FROM VACATION
 Mr. and Mrs. George W. Schulte, Shirley and Judy, returned this week from a trip to the Black Hills and the Badlands of South Dakota. They attended a celebration in the "Corn Palace" in Mitchell, S. D., and saw the tribal dances of the Sioux Indians. They also visited friends and relatives in Nebraska.

VISIT ROBERSONS
 Patti and Frank Nobles, children of Dr. and Mrs. M. W. Nobles visited recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Roberson and Marie of Black.

VISIT SISTER
 Mr. and Mrs. Bill Crow and family visited in Black Sunday in the home of his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Deaton.

ATTEND CONVENTION
 Patsy Hollenstein, Virginia Isbell, Carol Ann and Bernadette Bezner, and Eugene Vascek attended a district Catholic Youth convention in Lubbock Wednesday, Aug. 27, at Christ the King auditorium. Max Hoffman of Umbarger accompanied them home.

Texas A&M Professor Tells Of IGY Oceanic Research Information

COLLEGE STATION (Sp) — Dr. Dale F. Leipper told delegates to the 21st annual meeting of the American Society of Limnology and Oceanography at Indiana University recently of some of the oceanographic accomplishments of the International Geophysical Year, as reported in Russia earlier this month.

Dr. Leipper, professor and head of the Department of Oceanography and Meteorology at Texas A. and M. College, is president of the Society.

He was in Moscow, Aug. 1-10, for the fifth meeting of the Special Committee for the International Geophysical Year. Four hundred and 50 scientists from 60 countries participating in the IGY program attended the Moscow meeting.

Dr. Leipper said that in this massive, cooperative scientific venture, many areas of the earth are being explored systematically. "For example," he said, "in the North Atlantic a joint polar front survey has been conducted by scientists of the U. S., Germany, the United Kingdom and Russia." The polar front is the southern bound-dary of cold water mass which has much to do with the general ocean circulation.

"Another enlightening point is that for the first time, all of the cooperating countries are depositing oceanographic data at two world data centers where copies may be obtained by any scientist wishing to use them," Dr. Leipper said. One of these centers is in Moscow and the other is at Texas A. and M. College.

The speaker also brought out that during this research study, several new scientific instruments have been brought to perfection.

"One is the Swallow float, a device that may be floated at any given depth in the ocean and traced by means of underwater sound signals in order to determine its drift and the deep ocean currents which cause the drift. This instrument was developed in the United Kingdom."

Dr. Leipper said another instrument which has been brought to perfection is the "very accurate electronic device used to measure the salinity of the ocean." This instrument, which aids in the calculation of water mass movement, was developed at the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution in Massachusetts.

The A. and M. College staff member said that the most extensive oceanographic surveys during the International Geophysical Year have been conducted by ships of the US SR. "One particular ship, the Ob, conducted one 314-day survey, mostly in the Antarctic region, which covered 44,000 miles," Dr. Leipper said.

HOLY SMOKE
BLACKSTONE, Va. — The new Sonesboro Baptist Church parsonage was built from leaf tobacco.

Five years ago the church members, mostly tenant tobacco farmers, began plaiting, harvesting and selling tobacco from a plot for the church. The crop from an acre and a half enabled them to construct the building.

DIVING COMEDIAN—Eddie Rose, world-famed diving comedian, will be featured in Sam Snyder's Water Follies, water and stage show, at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo Sept. 22-27. The show will be presented in the world's largest portable pools and stage.

Beauty At Home

Q. With the shorter skirts, I am very conscious of my red and roughened knees. What can I do about these?

A. One of the quickest, simplest, and most effective treatments is to rub camphor ice directly on the offending skin, incidentally, to look graceful in these short skirts, especially if they're slim, sit in a slightly sidewise position in your chair, and be sure to keep your knees together.

Q. What do you have to say regarding the types of shoes women should wear?

A. For one thing, few women look really well in fancy shoes, and in any case such footwear should never be worn unless a special costume definitely calls for it. The average woman and the average foot is displayed to best advantage in a simple, well-cut pump. Women with heavy ankles or big feet should NEVER wear fancy shoes.

Q. How can I remove ice cream stains from an unwashable dress?

A. To remove any grease in the stain, sponge with carbon tetrachloride. Allow to dry, then sponge with cold water to dissolve the sugar and egg.

Q. How can I exercise to help reduce fat knees?

A. Lie flat on back; draw one knee up sharply as far back to your chest as you can raise it; then kick your leg straight up in the air. Repeat with other leg. Work up to 25 kicks per leg.

Water Follies Scheduled At Tri-State Fair

The world-famed Water Follies of 1958, direct from the World's Fair at Brussels, will be the feature indoor attraction at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo Sept. 22-27.

Nine performances, including matinees on Monday, Friday and Saturday afternoon, will present scores of girls, singers, dancers and musical comedy in two portable pools and on a stage.

The production is directed by Producer Sam Snyder. Mail order tickets are now on sale.

Q. What is a good regular treatment for dry hair?

A. One very good practice is to add a few drops of olive oil to your regular liquid soap shampoo.

Q. How can I induce more plumpness into the front of my neck?

A. Massage some olive oil or a pure cold cream freely into the skin with the fingers of each hand, massaging first the right of the neck, then the left. Use a rotary movement, which is circulation-inducing.

Q. What makeup will seem to shorten the appearance of a rather long nose?

A. Apply a darker foundation shade than you use on the rest of your face right down the center of the nose, and be sure to darken the tip of the nose, too.

Wheat and other small grains need plenty of nitrogen and URAN supplies it handily.

The circus theme was carried out throughout the party with the birthday cake topped by the traditional Mr. Clown. Balloons and lollipops were favors and games were played in the back yard.

Children attending were Joe Hampton, Paula, Joan, and Donna Grady, Russell Gilenwater, Brenda Burdine, Linda Sue Alston, Jana Rene Self, Billy and Donny Wilson, Carmella and Lawrence Burges, and the hoporee's baby, sister, Tammi.

Mothers present were Mesdames A. W. Self, Wendell Burdine, Jim Alston, Lee Roy Burges, Kenny Wilson, Johnny Gilenwater, and Roy Russell.

Farmers Welcome Jackrabbit Hunter

ROANOKE, Ok. — Fred Meredith, who has chased down and captured alive as many as 70 jackrabbits in a single night, makes a lot of people happy.

Farmers welcome him because a dozen jackrabbits can chop down as much greenery or grain as a hungry cow.

And greyhound breeders and trainers, who can't get enough live rabbits to give their dogs a workout, are happy to pay Meredith $3 for each jackrabbit.

A greyhound breeder himself, Meredith has developed an efficient method of bagging the elusive, long-legged rabbits that can travel cross-country at between 38 and 40 miles per hour.

Meredith's jackrabbit safari consists of himself, two men, a pickup truck, a spotlight and a net.

The truck is driven across a field and the spotlight man finds a rabbit and turns the light on him. This usually confuses the rabbit and he starts running in circles. The net man throws the net over the rabbit as the truck is driven alongside.

Meredith says this year is "a pretty good year for the rabbits." During a recent 6-month period he captured 972 jackrabbits alive on the Ben Law Ranch at nearby Crescent. His total annual catch is several thousand rabbits.

Meredith gets a lot of mileage out of the jackrabbits he furnishes to the greyhound

FRIENDLY FOLKS

NEW CASTLE, Ind. — A tavern owner applying for a liquor license renewal was asked by the county Alcoholic Beverage Board if there were ever any unescorted females in his place. "Not for long," he replied.

etly of the escape hole can be resold by Meredith.

"I sold one jackrabbit 11 times," Meredith recounts. "He never was caught."

SERIOUS PROBLEM

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. — The University of Virginia is trying to solve a serious problem — parking of student automobiles. Freshmen, sophomores and juniors will not be allowed to operate or possess automobiles, although present students will not be affected. This means that come 1960-61 only seniors will have cars. Exceptions to the rule will be made by a special traffic committee if a need can be shown.

Section Three

As Regards Our Telephone Books:

Monopoly Is Not Licence To Create Dictatorship

The words, "integration" and "segregation" flared up on a new front this week, when Southwestern Bell Telephone Company announced that the 1959 Hereford telephone directory will carry listings for Hereford, separate and apart from those on West Texas Rural telephone lines.

At a Chamber of Commerce sponsored meeting of business men, an effort was made to reason with the company. Still later, official action of the Commissioners Court of Deaf Smith County and the City of Hereford protested the proposed segregation plan for the new book.

All of this, we admit, sounds as if someone were overboard on the subject of telephone directories. The people who live here and use the book, however, still recall the inconveniences, inaccurate long-distance information and other hardships resulting from a segregated book published by the Bell Company two years ago. The very fact that a telephone book could create so much interest, turmoil and official action, within itself, is testimony that the book is a matter of public interest—and that the people who ultimately pay the bill do have a preference.

All of us know that Southwestern Bell has its problems. We appreciate their efforts to standardize directories; we also appreciate the possibilities of possible legal entanglements, along with the fact that an integrated directory could result in some extra work and some additional trouble.

We even appreciate the fact that the telephone company operates as a monopoly, and grant that such operations creates efficiency; likewise, we can understand how some official, located in faraway Dallas, New York or Chicago, might not understand the problems which appear on the local level of a small community, due to lack of information, or to indifference. These faults are common with big corporations, but they do not establish a license to create a dictatorship.

On the other hand, the Southwestern Bell Company has been forward-looking in the field of research. It has also been forward-looking in the construction of a substantial plant and the installation of modern facilities in Hereford. Why do they not adopt the same forward looking approach in the field of service to the community, and in their public relations department?

A telephone book is a little thing, compared to the thousands of dollars the Bell Company has invested in Hereford but, in view of past experience, it can nullify all of the physical improvements by resulting in honestly inferior service—and this is true in Hereford equally as much as on the connecting rural lines.

Any squabble Bell or West Texas Rural Telephone Companies may have among themselves is definitely their own business. When it reaches the point that telephone service to the community is impaired, however, the situation becomes a public problem, Deaf Smith County, the City of Hereford, the Chamber of Commerce and a large group of business men are already on record in protest against the proposed segregated listings as such a problem. The Brand also joins these groups in official protest, full-well realizing that it expresses the sincere opinion of hundreds of telephone subscribers now using both systems.

Dump Grounds

Once again the City Dump Grounds, located east on Highway 60, has reared its ugly head to present a community problem. Instead of the former unsightly appearance of the grounds, the trouble this time appears in the form of community responsibility and public health.

Packing sheds, as in the past, use the grounds to dispose of culls and second grade produce. This year's low market prices and unfavorable weather have resulted in a deluge of dumping on the city acres. The load has been so heavy, in fact, that city representatives report that they are "running out of space." The question also arises as to whether the community should spend $900-per-month in tax money to handle a problem which results indirectly in profit to industrial packers and shippers.

All in all, it is a pretty good question. Certainly, Hereford does not want to discourage or drive away industry. At the same time, the city cannot favor one firm without offering pretty well the same patronage to other firms, including cotton gins which have presented similar disposal questions.

A joint meeting between vegetable packers and city officials has been called for Tuesday night with the idea of working out a plan to meet the present emergency, along with future dumping problems which are bound to arise.

Success of the meeting depends on the attitude of all concerned. If both sides go into the meeting with an idea of cooperation and an eye toward future growth, there appears to be no reason why a practical solution cannot be reached. On the other hand, the meeting could easily result in chaos.

The vegetable business is part of Hereford, and Hereford is part of the vegetable business. The factor of being able to sit down and work out mutual problems is probably the most important problem which the community will ever face. The outcome will measure Hereford's interest in industry—and industry's interest in Hereford. The ultimate goal should be the same on both sides.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

A. E. Edwards Courted At Parties, Taffy Pulls

By MRS. R. L. CRISWELL
Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Edwards, Ave. F and Thirteenth St., Hereford, have been married 68 years. Their anniversary was April 10, 1898. They were married in 1890 in South Carolina, and are 92 and 88, respectively, and at the present time are living alone and have a happy outlook on life.

"I am afraid our story will not be very interesting," said Mr. Edwards. "We were born in the same community and grew up together. We did our courting at church, singings, parties and taffy pulls. There were no Hug-me-tight buggies in that day. We walked, rode horseback or went to places in wagons. Most of the time it was in wagons. We went in groups, not in couples.

"I had built a house near a bubbling spring, near the foot of Tubb Mountain. The water was clear as crystal and cold as ice. I suppose it must have been volcanic at one time and got so hot the sand was turned to glass.

"It was a beautiful creek, with huge blocks of glass, some as large as 30 by 40 inches and in all kinds of forms from pebble size to the larger ones. The bottom or bed of the creek was solid glass in many places, and sometimes it was in sheets as thick as plate glass and you could look through it. There would be no distraction, and it seemed to be perfect.

"We farmed for several years and used Georgia stock plows. In those days, I have seen as many as three or four girls plowing in the same field, walking behind a one-horse plow all day. I would never let my wife work in the fields, as I considered that it was my job, and her job was in the home and caring for the children. We reared six children, four boys and two girls.

"We came to Texas in 1908. We got very homesick for South Carolina and went back for a visit. I bought a carload of horses, planning to sell them after I got to South Carolina. My wife and the children had gone on a through train, and I rode with the stock. It took so long that I gave up and sold the horses to the railroad and bought a ticket and went on by passenger train. Later, we came back to Texas.

"Our wedding day was rainy," said Mrs. Edwards. "We drove to the Baptist pastor's house, as people did not venture out in the weather in those days unless it was an emergency. We were afraid the pastor would not think it was an emergency to perform a wedding ceremony.

"The Rev. Tyra Singleton read the ceremony for us. He was pastor of the Mary Etta Baptist Church, near Ebenezer, S. C. We did not have a honey-moon, but moved to the little house near Tubb Mountain as soon as the weather cleared.

"My wedding dress was of deep, green wool and trimmed in red velvet. It had long sleeves, with the collar and cuffs of velvet and a long panel on one side of the skirt. The skirt was floor-length, flaring wide at the hem.

"The days of our youth were very different from today. We made our own living from the soil. We raised and preserved our food and got our fuel from the woods.

"We seldom saw a doctor, and had our own remedies for the many ills of the day. For rattlesnake bite we would take a large bottle of turpentine, put the mouth of the bottle over the wound and turn it upside down.

"Immediately, the poison would go up into the turpentine in a green spiral. We kept the turpentine on the wound as long as the poison kept going up in the turpentine, then we would make a poultice of baking soda and water and spread it thickly on the wound.

"My husband also can stop bleeding and drive fire from burned flesh. He can teach a woman the art of this healing, but cannot teach it to another man, and vice-versa, a woman cannot teach it to another woman. In the same way, my father taught me to settle honey bees. I have settled several swarms in one tree and never was stung.

"There are many cotton mills and saw mills in South Carolina. The cotton mills would weave the cotton into cloth and send it to the bleachery, who would bleach and dye the material for the storehouse, which would be five or ten yards per bolt.

"After bleaching, the cloth would be dyed in all colors, and can be bought for ten or 15 cents per yard. There was a lovely white silk for lingerie which was only 10 cents per yard and the finest of material of wool, silk, rayon or rayon-cotton mixtures which could be bought for not more than 25 cents per yard.

"On our return to Texas, we came to Plainview and lived about 12 miles south. The railroad was being built on west and we heard they were using machinery to lay the rails. We put the children in the wagon and went to watch them. It was amazing to see them lower the rails into place while the men waited with spikes and hammers to nail them down. In a short time, they were ready for the next pair of rails.

"I remember the first poem that I memorized when a small child. I learned it in Sunday School. I do not remember the title, but here it is:

"Some people think its a hardship to work for their daily bread,
Although for our good it was meant.

And those who don't work have no right to be fed,
As the idle are never content.

"Honest employment brings pleasure and gain,
And makes us our troubles forget.

While those who work have no right to complain;
It is better to work than to fret.

For if we had riches we could not procure
A happy and peaceable mind.

"Rich people have troubles as well as the poor,
Although of a different kind.

It signifies not what our station has been,
Nor whether we're small or great.

Happiness lives in the temple within and not
In the outward estate.

"We only need labor as hard as we can,
For all our bodies may need;
Still doing our duty to God and to man.

Then we will be happy indeed."

Survey Reveals 1 In 38 Here On Public Payrolls

NEW YORK (Special) — For every 38 people residing in Deaf Smith County, there is one person employed in some capacity by a local governmental agency.

This is disclosed in a comprehensive survey of public employment in the United States, conducted by the Department of Commerce as part of its 1957 Census of Governments. The number on the payroll of each local governmental division — county, municipality, township, school district and special district — is listed in the new report. Federal and state employees are excluded.

In Deaf Smith County, the ratio of one public employee for every 38 people is higher than was encountered in most parts of the nation, where the average was one for every 48.

It is also above the rate that prevails in the State of Texas, one employee per 47 people. The actual count locally showed 344 on the payrolls of the various branches of government, 308 of them on a full-time basis. The remainder, part-timers, were translated into their full-time equivalent to permit comparison with other counties.

On a per-capita basis, residents of Deaf Smith County paid slightly less for the operation of their local governments than did people in most parts of the country. Whether they got more or less for their money is not taken into account.

Their total payroll, during a test month last year, came to $83,600. This cost was equal to $7.10 in the month for every inhabitant of the county.

Elsewhere across the nation, the cost of meeting local government payrolls averaged $7.12 per capita each month.

In the State of Texas, however, it amounted to $6.46 per capita.

All over the country, the report shows, the drive to cut local governmental spending and taxes is running into obstacles. The pressure is for more and more services. New schools, roads, water supply and sewers, as well as the many other needs of communities, have necessitated bigger payrolls, larger capital outlays and even higher taxes. No end to the expansion is in sight.

GRASSHOPPERS CONTINUE

Grasshoppers continue to plague the county agricultural picture. With wheat seeding time getting close, many Moore County farmers are becoming quite concerned with grasshoppers, which pose a serious threat to fall-seeded small grains. There are many species of grasshoppers which infest farm land at the present time, according to County Agricultural Agent Martin Gossett. Some young grasshoppers which have hatched recently are the migratory Mexican type. This is the breed that brought federal and state forces pouring into the area early this summer and which, Gossett fears, may become even more troublesome this fall. Farmers may control these grasshoppers, or at least reduce their population, in two ways: by spraying or putting out poison bait. If there is green vegetation growing in the area to be planted to wheat, Gossett recommends spraying with four ounces of Aldrin in three or four gallons of water per acre. Where there are no large numbers of hoppers on the land to be seeded to wheat, it may be advisable to use poison bait on an area 40 to 50 feet wide around the field to be seeded. This bait may be prepared by mixing 100 pounds of bran with three parts of sawdust by volume and adding eight ounces of Aldrin to the mixture. Dieldrin also may be used at the rate of four ounces.—MOORE COUNTY NEWS (Dumas).

JAYCEES OFFER PETITION

Littlefield Jaycees, making their second appearance before the city commission, asked the city Thursday night to follow through on the club's petition for an overpass or underpass at the Santa Fe Railroad's crossing with Highway 51. Elmo Jones, president of the group, told the city he had learned from further investigation that it is "up to the city" to make any requests for relieving rail hazards at the crossing. Jones said the city would have to discuss the problem with the State Highway Department to "get the ball rolling" on the project. He said the county commissioners' court had told representatives of his organization that the crossing is within the city limits and out of the court's hands. The Jaycees circulated a petition for an overpass or underpass at the crossing earlier this month after a child was killed while attempting to crawl under a train. The group presented the petition, signed by almost 100 persons, to both the city and the county.—COUNTY WIDE NEWS (Littlefield).

FIRST MAIZE REPORT

Believed to be the first 1958 maize reported to Floydada was that at McCoy where Dick Smith received a load of 13,500 pounds from the Simpson brothers. The load arrived at the elevator at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 16, and came from the Assler place north of McCoy. Growers L. D. and Jim Simpson received a premium price for the load which ran near 14 per cent moisture test. Further support to the probability that early grain will begin moving in volume from all parts of the county was indicated by Manday's report from Bob Vickers at Dougherty Producers Co-operative Elevator. He had a load of maize from a dry land field of J. B. Colston, Baker. The maize was 106 Texas Hybrid and was slightly high in moisture content, Vickers said. Vickers estimated the dry land field would cut about 2,000 pounds.—FLOYD COUNTY HESPERIAN (Floydada).

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm may be taking a narrow view of the international way of doing things, his letter this week indicates, but you'll have to decide that yourself.

Dear editor:
After considerable reading on the subject for the past few weeks, I have come to the conclusion that the trouble with our foreign policy is that it's used on foreigners more than it is on us folks at home.

For instance, I was reading last night in a copy of a newspaper which an insurance salesman left out here earlier in the day—incidentally, my foreign policy toward all salesmen showing up out here on my bindweed farm is to accept their newspapers and free samples but don't buy nothing from 'em—where the King of Jordan over in the Middle East says his country can save itself if we'll just let it alone, except for one small item.

"We can solve our own problems without outside interference, provided we can get some financial assistance from the United States," the King said.

Now that's the kind of foreign policy I'm talking about that I'm in favor of, if it's used at home.

For example, as a farmer, I don't want any interference from Washington; I can solve my own problems, with of course a little financial help. Me and the King of Jordan see eye to eye on this sort of thing.

Me and the King aren't asking for any Marines, especially me, I like the Marines but I can't think of a thing I could use 'em for on this farm, don't even have a place for 'em to land, and further more him and me don't want anybody telling us what we have to do. We'll make our own decisions. Let Washington just mail us the money and we'll decide for ourselves what to do with it. This old idea that you have to be dependent on Washington for everything doesn't set well with me and the King of Jordan. If a man can't take some money and spend it like he thinks best, without calling up Washington to find out what to do with it, then the world has come to a pretty pass and old-fashioned independence and self-reliance have disappeared from the earth, but me and the King will stand as a bulwark against this weak-backed trend.

All I'm asking is that Washington foreign-policy me the same time it does the King of Jordan, and me and the King will take it from there. We've got minds of our own, and we can make it on our own, if somebody will pay the bills.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

County Economy Saves $14,000

In these days of rising costs, a drop of $14,000 in the $682,112 county budget comes as somewhat of a shock to many citizens. To say the least, the county operation is out of step with state and federal trends.

A careful check of the budget indicates that the Commissioners Court effected the decrease chiefly through careful operation of county affairs, and while the amount is small compared with the overall budget it does indicate an effort to keep Deaf Smith County in good financial condition.

At the same time, the situation is bound to draw some criticism from circles where some people may feel that a more aggressive county operation would make any saving impossible under present day conditions. This criticism—when you stop to consider the condition of the county jail, needed improvements in the courthouse and a few other phases of county operation—does have some merit.

To many people, the commissioners appear to concentrate on roads and roads alone, and certainly, roads are an important phase of county responsibility. With a budget of $632,112, however, it becomes apparent that other phases also appear in modern day county government; otherwise, we are definitely spending too much on roads.

To the average person, the $14,000 cut-back is a welcome announcement. All in all, it seems to us that the commissioners are making a sincere, honest effort to give the people of the county a good, clean administration. Careful spending and sensible economy are two factors most needed today in all governmental circles—and we feel that the commissioners are doing their best to achieve just such a goal. As the old saying goes, "You can't eat your cake, and still have it."

Alaskan Suckers

We notice with some interest that people are being warned against schemes which might arise from entrance of Alaska into the United States. Already, it seems, the schemes are showing up in spotted areas.

As Texans, this seems to be the straw that broke the camel's back. Alaska came along and outdid us in size, length of rivers, and tall stories. Now, it seems, they will also provide the No. 1 target for suckers. One consolation, though, if they bilk more people on Alaskan gold mines than have previously been bilked on Texas oil wells someone had better offer Mr. Barnum's statement; surely, more than one sucker will have to be born every minute.

Cotton Bowl Gaining In Favor Each Year

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

Chances of the Cotton Bowl obtaining a tie-up with the Big Ten Conference aren't better than one to 10. But the Dallas New Year's Day football festival will keep on trying.

This question arose when the Pacific Coast Conference, which furnishes the home team for the Rose Bowl, decided to disband as of June 30, 1959. The Pacific Coast Conference has a contract with the Big Ten to furnish a team for the Rose Bowl for the next two years.

Without a conference to provide the home team, the Rose Bowl apparently will have to make some different arrangements.

The Cotton Bowl would just love to get a team from the Big Ten each year to play the Southwest Conference champion, which is the host in the Dallas classic each time. There are indications that some of the Big Ten folks would like that, too. But the Pacific Coast Conference undoubtedly will reorganize. And as for that, it appears the Big Ten might be willing to go on with the same schools that are quitting the Pacific Coast Conference, taking the one with the best record.

There's a lot of color and glamor attached to the Rose Bowl. It also has the biggest crowd and of course pays the most money. But if the Rose Bowl ever gets to the point where it can't provide an attractive home team, its prestige will drop.

The Cotton Bowl obviously is gaining in favor each year. It is well conducted, has made no enemies with double dealing and is the only bowl game operated by a college conference. The Big Ten could do a lot worse than perfecting a tie-up with it.

Anyway, the Cotton Bowl will be waiting for the mail man, or the telephone to ring, in the next 10 months. It may be next June before the Big Ten makes a definite decision.

If such a union could be perfected, sending the Southwest Conference champion against the Big Ten champion each New Year's Day in the Cotton Bowl, it might settle an argument that has raged for years over which conference is stronger.

Records show that the leagues are mighty close together. Not all members of the two conferences have played each other. None ever met Michigan or Illinois.

But Chicago (when it played football), Minnesota, Iowa, Michigan State, Purdue, Wisconsin, Northwestern, Ohio State and Indiana have been met over the years. The all-time record shows 12 victories for the Southwest, 11 for the Big Ten and one tie.

Southern Methodist has a perfect record — victories over Indiana and Ohio State. Texas Christian has done well, beating Ohio State once and Indiana three times while losing to Ohio State once and Michigan State twice.

Texas has lost to Chicago, Minnesota and Northwestern but beat Wisconsin and Indiana and Purdue twice. Rice beat Purdue but lost twice to Wisconsin. Texas A&M beat Iowa but lost to Michigan State twice.

Baylor never has played a Big Ten team.

Arkansas never has beaten an outfit from the Big Ten, losing to Wisconsin and Iowa and gaining a tie with Chicago.

The record is good enough to indicate that this conference has done better against the Big 10 than any other league over the years. It would be appropriate for the Southwest Conference to meet the Big Ten each New Year's Day in the Cotton Bowl.

BUSY RITCHARD
NEW YORK (AP) — One of the theater's busiest actor-directors, Cyril Ritchard, has been invited to supervise a Broadway project for next fall, "The Pleasure of His Company," starring Cornelia Otis Skinner.

Ritchard currently is touring in "Visit to a Small Planet," after which he has several commitments in the opera, "La Perichole." Next December he is to direct and perform in a London import, "For Amusement Only."

SHE PUT IN HER THUMB
BROCKTON, Mass. (AP) — Unlike Little Jack Horner, 2-year-old Laura Jean Valley put in her thumb — into a can of potato sticks — but failed to pull out anything. Including her thumb.

But Laura Jean wasn't upset when hospital doctors freed her hand and took two stitches in her cut thumb. She kept on eating the potato sticks.

'MUSIC MAN' MOVIE PLAN
NEW YORK (AP) — This season's top Broadway musical, "The Music Man," will eventually be converted into a movie in Iowa, the state that gave it birth.

Meredith Willson, author and composer of the show, who hails from Mason City, admits however, "We'd have to take the Iowa weather as we found it — that's part of the setup."

TAKE QUIP SERIOUSLY
UNION, N. J. (AP) — Technicians at the Tenney Engineering Co. here take Mark Twain at his word — they not only talk about the weather, they do something about it. They build artificial weather chambers to test machine parts. The chambers produce temperatures ranging from 65 below to 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit, and can simulate conditions in sand, wind or rain storms.

Fashions of Italy Turning to Tweed

By SUE CARDOZO

ROME (AP) — What are fall fashions made of? Sugar and spice, the Italian designers answer. Spun-sugar yarn, and peppery tweed.

From the edict laid down at the Rome and Florence fashion openings, every fall wardrobe this year should have something of filmy, basket-weave yarn, if only a pink collar on a purple jersey coat.

And every woman should have a tweed daytime combination composed of a collarless empire-sleeved and a short semi-fitted jacket with a separate choirboy collar.

What else will the wardrobe need? Judging by the Italian style openings, there should be one straight-skirted suit with a high-belted three-quarter-length tunic. The well-dressed woman will want a crushable silk and wool high-waisted Bo-peep dress, and a rose-printed velveteen for Sunday tea.

Then there are the new purple coats. They can be marbled, mohair, and mount a muffling collar which rises from the shoulder and sits away from the neck. They are lined in bright lime, tangerine or strawberry.

Italian designers also like high-necked cocktail dresses, pinched at the shoulders, with a back decollete reaching down to a high-inset cummerbund.

Ruth Chatterton Now A Successful Writer

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — When a movie queen or stage star suddenly starts writing, the result is usually a memoir or tall tale, full of show business lore, about Hollywood or Broadway. And the cynical reader instantly suspects the presence of a ghost or press agent.

No one, however, has ever suggested the existence of a hireling spook in the literary life of Ruth Chatterton, a stage star at 15 and, once the movies found a voice, one of its brightest femmes fatales and biggest money makers.

Eight years ago Miss Chatterton's first novel, "Homeward Bound," was published. It was concerned, not with the theater world she knows so well, but with anti-Semitism — and it turned out to be a best seller. Since then she has written three more novels, each on a more or less controversial subject. There was one about the Senate investigations at the time of the McCarthy furor; another about divorce and broken homes, and now there is "The Southern Wild," dealing with problems of integration.

And today Miss Chatterton, still a little surprised at the whole thing, considers herself primarily a novelist although she takes an occasional fling at the theater.

A fourth generation New Yorker, Miss Chatterton lives with her husband, Barry Thomson, in an old house set in the middle of 17 secluded acres just beyond the commuting area in southern Connecticut.

In addition to writing and taking an occasional holiday by acting in summer theaters, she is interested in raising French poodles.

She was in her early teens when she started her theater career — on the dare of a playmate. A friend goaded her into trying out for a child's part — a chocolate ice cream soda was at stake — and little Ruth accepted the dare. She got the part and stayed with the repertory company.

A short time later she made her Broadway debut and became a big star in "Daddy Long Legs." After that came a succession of big hits and Miss Chatterton was firmly established in the Broadway galaxy.

In 1929 she made her first motion picture — which was one of the last of the great silent films, "The Sins of the Fathers," with Emil Jannings. Her first dip into movies was impeccably timed: the talkies were just coming in and Miss Chatterton, unlike so many of the other stars, could talk.

Miss Chatterton recalls few films of which she is proud — one was Susan Glaspell's "Brooke Evans" which reached the screen as "The Right To Love." One of her biggest money makers was a little horror called "Frisco Jennie," and she was a great success in both "Dodsworth" and "Madame X."

"I hated motion picture work," she says firmly. "In those days you didn't make as much money as people thought, and even then there were taxes and agents and press agents to pay. And if one star had a Cadillac, you had to have two Cadillacs. Silly."

ARTIST AT EASE—Ruth Chatterton, still a bit surprised at her success as an author, relaxes at home with husband Barry Thomson and some of her French poodles.

Most Rev. John Morkovsky Named Bishop of the Amarillo Diocese

The Most Rev. John L. Morkovsky, auxiliary Bishop of Amarillo, has been appointed Bishop of the diocese by Pope Pius XII.

The announcement was made by Archbishop Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, Apostolic Delegate to the United States.

Bishop Morkovsky, 49, succeeds the late Bishop Laurence J. FitzSimon who died July 2. The new Ordinary of Amarillo was elevated to the episcopacy in January, 1956. He was consecrated titular Bishop of Hieron and auxiliary Bishop of Amarillo. As Bishop of the diocese he will no longer hold a titular title.

A native Texan, Bishop Morkovsky was superintendent of schools of the Archdiocese of San Antonio for 12 years before his consecration. He was born on Aug. 16, 1909 in Praha, Tex., the son of Alois J. and Marie Theresa Morkovsky.

He attended St. John's Seminary, San Antonio and the North American College and the Gregorian University, both in Rome. He was ordained in

It was a period, too, when Miss Chatterton had two unhappy marriages, first to actor Ralph Forbes and then to actor George Brent. Both ended in divorce.

Her distaste for Hollywood overflowed in 1936 and she came back east. She starred in several successful Broadway plays and was acclaimed in London for "The Constant Wife."

As for her writing, she says enthusiastically, "It is hard work but satisfying, and I suppose I shouldn't say it, but I like writing. After all, it seems to me that the training of an actor is ideal for a writer. Acting stimulates the imagination, sharpens the ear to catch accents and ways of speech — and we are disciplined to emphasize dramatic moments. I think we should be the best writers of all — if we can write."

YOUNG MODERNS

Clothes, Etiquette Vex College Girls

By VIVIAN BROWN

When do you take your gloves off at a formal gathering? Do I have to buy a chemise? How much money should I spend on my room at school? These are a few of the questions that bother young people as they prepare to go back to school.

"I cannot afford to buy more than a few dresses a year," writes an 18-year-old college sophomore, "so I must take a date dress back to school with me, and I don't want to buy a chemise. I have a nice figure but I'm just a little too hippy for a chemise."

A. One of the few styles to emerge from the sack is the Empire silhouette, and advance fall showings predict that it will be all the rage with the younger set, for whom there couldn't be a prettier style. This was the style worn by some of history's most romantic figures.

Q. I have been invited to a very formal party where gloves will be worn. What shall I do when I want to eat or when I must shake hands with someone? Should I leave the gloves on or remove them?

A. Everybody has a different conception about how to wear gloves, it seems. The French, who produce elegant little leather gloves, believe that gloves should be worn, and shown off like a hat, not carried. Etiquette books emphasize, too, that gloves should not be put on in the street, and they shouldn't be carried bunched up or dangling limply. When you are at a party where liquid refreshment or a tiny sandwich is served, you may remove the right glove, holding it casually in your left hand or putting it in your bag.

At a dinner or supper dance, remove both gloves and put them with your bag before dining. Never tuck the hand part of the glove into your wrist. Shake hands with your gloves on, except when shaking the hands of royalty or the President of the United States. Keep your gloves on, too, when you are on a receiving line.

Q. What sort of allowance should I have for furnishing my room at college? Is my roommate supposed to share the expense of it with me?

A. It usually works out so that roommates ferret out of their attics and basements just what their respective families can afford to part with in the way of furniture. After that if additional items are needed — new curtains, floor mat, lamps or bed throws, the two get together and decide how much they will spend on those items, sharing the cost.

Q. Do you see any harm in my boyfriend driving me back to college? It is 150 miles from where I live.

A. Not if your parents permit it.

Bible Words for Today

LUKE 2-3, 8-9 — "And there was a man named Zacchaeus; he was a chief tax collector, and rich. And he sought to see who Jesus was . . . And Zacchaeus said to the Lord, 'Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have defrauded anyone of anything, I restore it four-fold.' And Jesus said to him, 'Today salvation has come to this house.'" (RSV).

Zacchaeus was what the world would call a successful man. He was chief collector of internal revenue in Jericho. And he was rich. What more could any man want?

You might think that such a man of affairs would be self-sufficient, hard-boiled, caring nothing for spiritual things. But Zacchaeus felt in his heart a spiritual need. Jesus found the way to this man's heart and filled his need.

Jesus had told His disciples "how hard it is for those who have riches to enter the kingdom of God." Not impossible, mind you, but hard. This is the story of one rich man who did it. Zacchaeus came to Jesus and received him joyfully; he put himself and all that he had at the command of God.

Jumping Firefighters Flirting With Death

By DWIGHT L. JONES
MCCALL, Idaho (AP) — When the horn blared, the smoke jumper station exploded with activity.

Fifteen minutes later an old Ford Trimotor lumbered into the air from a nearby airport. It climbed over 9,000 foot mountains and headed toward the unspoiled primitive area of central Idaho — a mountain domain bigger than Delaware. The fire was easily spotted. After an exploratory circle the pilot came over low. Carl Rosselli, acting as spotter on this flight, peered out the cargo door. Two figures crouched before him. They looked like men from Mars in yellow suits, helmets and face masks.

"Now!" They leaped. "Geronimo-o-o-o-o-o" the jumpers' classic cry, floated back, distorted and cut off as the pilot gunned the engines.

Rosselli hauled in the static lines and watched the orange and white chutes float down. One landed in a tree. Another circle to drop the supply bags and the plane headed home.

This jump, at 6:30 p.m. June 26, put Ken (Moose) Salyer, a muscled college wrestler from Iowa State, and Larry Clark, a school teacher from Fairfield, Idaho, on a fire which could not have been reached in less than a day by other means.

It was the first fire jump of the 1958 season from the McCall, Idaho, smoke jumper station, but it most certainly wasn't the last. Every year the tempo picks up as the forests dry out in late summer. The men at McCall average six to ten fire jumps per man every summer. Last year the station made 45 fire jumps in three successive hectic days.

The smoke jumper program started in the Payette forest with five conscientious objectors in 1943, and gradually expanded. During the 22 years prior to 1943 fires burned an average of 10.3 square miles of forest each year.

From 1943 to 1951 the burned area dropped to 2.2 square miles per year. It's now down to nine-tenths of a mile.

Some smoke jumpers have been killed, fighting fires or in plane crashes. But no jumper has yet died in the act of parachuting. The Forest Service attributes this to careful selection and training of men plus use of special equipment.

The training is tough. New men at the McCall station get three weeks of it. They learn to use fire-fighting tools. They leap off 30-foot towers shouting "Geronimo" at the top of their lungs. (Smoke jumpers say they originated this cry, which later spread to the paratroopers of World War II.) They swing off platforms on ropes to practice the proper turn and roll for hard landings. They take callisthenics and run obstacle courses.

GERONIMO—Two smoke jumpers drop into a central Idaho forest. Old Ford Trimotor is popular with jumpers because of its reliability, slow speed and maneuverability.

"It's rougher than football training," said 29-year-old Grant Landes, an engineering student from the University of Wyoming. But they come back for more. Of McCall's 80 men, 60 are returnees. The 20 new men were selected from 250 applicants.

The jumpers work on an incentive system that keeps them moving. They are paid a base rate of a little more than $300 per month. But when they go out on fires they make overtime money. This can boost their earnings to $500 or $600 per month — maybe as much as $1,700 for a season's work. Not bad for a guy working his way through school.

Imagine yourself flying out on a fire — maybe 70 miles from a road in an area slashed by deep canyons and pierced by 10,000-foot mountains. By the time you hit the ground — or tangle with a tree — you are through being scared about jumping. First you and your partner (smoke jumpers always work in pairs) gather up your chutes. It's traditional you always bring them back. Then you get your tools and go to work. And back breaking work it is, for there is no easy way to put out a fire. You use a shovel and pulaski (a combination axe and grubbing tool).

After the fire is controlled you stay there 24 hours to make sure it's out. Then you start the race back. And it's a race, for the quicker you return the sooner your name will be on the jump list again.

Getting back is a problem. If things are popping they might pick you up by helicopter and you could be on two fires in one day.

But usually you hike — with 85 pounds of equipment on your back — to the nearest air strip or road. That might be 25 or 30 miles.

The nation's biggest smoke jumper station is at Missoula, Mont., about 180 miles north-east of McCall. It has 150 men. Then comes McCall with 80, and units of 20 men each at Redding, Calif., Cave Junction, Ore., and Winthrop, Wash. The Park Service also has 10 at Yellowstone Park.

Last year the men from McCall jumped on 329 fires in seven national forests in four states — Idaho, Montana, Oregon and Washington. They also rescued one man — a fire lookout who accidentally shot and wounded himself.

The two boys sold six boxes of berries to the chief operator and seven more to other telephone employees.

Paralysis from Polio Doesn't Stop Teacher

POLIO PROFESSOR—Dr. Robert Stewart breathes and using microphone to make his voice audible. On his left is John Laysor, teaching assistant and constant attendant.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Twice each week promptly at 3:30 p.m., Dr. Robert Stewart—professor of psychology and education—arrives at San Francisco State College.

He is carried from his chauffeur-driven car to his office in the Education Building. He rests on a couch while two assistants strap a respirator on his chest and its mechanical help restores his breathing to normal. After a few relieving moments, he smokes a cigarette or makes last minute preparations for his impending class.

Dr. Stewart has had polio. He is unable to breathe without artificial assistance for more than brief periods. His admiring students call him the gamest man on the campus.

The 47-year-old professor was appointed to the faculty in 1947. He contracted polio in 1952. For two years he was completely paralyzed and for three was unable to speak. But now he again teaches, conducting his class from a contour-type chair on wheels with a portable respirator over his chest and a microphone for voice amplification.

Despite his condition and the mechanical apparatus necessary to keep him alive, his students report they are completely at ease. He describes his teaching program as "general education of the upper division level." The course deals with behavior problems, mental hygiene, and developmental psychology.

"Dr. Stewart's classes are definitely classes in thinking, not memorization," one of his students says.

Why Do Brother And Sister Fight?

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M. D.

Do your children fight and bicker and make home life bedlam? Fighting between brothers and sisters is pretty frequent. A little of it you just have to take. But if the bickering is pretty constant, it's time to take a careful look at what is really the matter.

Deep underneath the most frequent cause of friction between children is jealousy. Often it doesn't show up on the surface. Ted may feel that his parents prefer Susan to him, so because he feels mean and hurt inside he makes nasty remarks to Susan. Susan on the other hand may feel that Ted gets all the breaks. He is older than she and a boy besides and he's allowed all sorts of privileges she is not. Nobody cares, she says, whether she ever has a good time but Ted always manages to do what he wants.

Neither Ted nor Susan is right, but it's how they feel about themselves, their parents and each other which determines how they act. It's a hard job for parents to make each child feel comfortable but it's worth a good hard try. A child who feels accepted in his home, who feels his parents love and respect him for what he is and are not constantly trying to change him into something he isn't, is on the whole an easy child. He feels good inside and his behavior will reflect his composure. He doesn't need to pick a fight to establish himself.

But how, ask bewildered parents, do you make a child feel comfortable? First, don't every compare one child with another. "Why can't you do as well as your sister?" only makes the inadequate one feel more inadequate, makes him feel he's got to change himself before his parents think he's worthy of their love—and he knows he cannot change himself. Second, treat each child as an individual. Do not try to fit them all into the same mold. Ted is interested in cars and spends all his free time tinkering with an old jalopy in the backyard. This is all right; express an interest in what he's doing and learning. Susan is crazy about ballet dancing. Well, that's all right, too. She doesn't have to be a mechanic and Ted doesn't have to dance, but each needs to feel that in the eyes of his parents his interest and activities meet with approval. When children can accept themselves, when they are comfortable in their relation to their parents, they fight much less than when they are worried about their own worth.

Labanese President - Elect Has Interesting Background

AP Newsfeatures
Destiny just won't let Gen. Fuad Shehab alone. The dark, stocky, deep-voiced Lebanese president-elect has always insisted that all he wants to do is command his 8,000-man army and stay out of politics.

Yet, in 1952, he filled a crisis void as acting premier and last year, when rioting broke out, the government turned to him to hold the defense minister's portfolio temporarily.

Each time he returned to his army post when affairs settled down. This time he won't get off so easily. He has been elected formally and overwhelmingly to a six-year term as political chief of a nation torn by rebellion since last May. He is scheduled to take office Sept. 24.

Few men of power acted as strangely as did Shehab during the revolt—but, then, few revolts have been conducted as strangely.

He kept his well-trained troops on the sidelines, ordering them to fight only when attacked. Although his decision permitted the revolt to sputter for months, it may have kept the revolt from becoming a religious strife.

Lebanon is divided roughly half-and-half between Moslems and Christians. By law the president must be Christian, the premier Moslem. Shehab is a Christian of the Maronite Rite, allied to Rome.

Shehab was born in June 56 years ago and still makes his home in the little town on the Mediterranean about 15 miles north of Beirut. He commutes to the capital in a guarded automobile.

He comes from an old and eminent family. His ancestors once ruled Lebanon under the overlordship of the Ottoman emperor. He is entitled to use the title of prince but he never has.

Shehab attended Fratr's College in his hometown, a French military school in Damascus and, later, St. Cyr, France's war college. He is married to the daughter of a French army officer.

POSTAGE DUE
MORRISTOWN, N. J. (AP)—Paul Rochelle was a bit surprised the other day when a post card was returned for a penny additional postage. He'd mailed it 31 years ago—when postage was a penny—to a seed company for a free 25-pound trial bag of fertilizer.

A LURING SMILE
BALTIMORE (AP)—The little girl of five was irresistibly cute to two baseball patrons in a car as she waved a flashlight and directed them to a parking space near Memorial Stadium. The child's charm faded, though, when a woman appeared and said the parking fee would be $1.

HANDY GADGET
WESTFIELD, N. J. (AP)—Peter Lanza has patented a bite-proof hand he hopes will earn enough to feed him. Tired of being nipped while training his pet parakeets, he invented a plastic imitation hand, which can be placed in the bird's cage to accustom it to handling.

He served in the French army and was a major with the forces in Lebanon and Syria when World War II broke out. He became commander of the Lebanese army in 1945 shortly after the nation gained its independence.

Shehab is a quiet man who refers to himself as the "big speechless one." He's not given to friendly small talk unless it's on military subjects. He has a small library in his home—almost all military books. Not much is known of Shehab's private life. If he had ever been interviewed by Western newsmen before he became president-elect no one recalls it.

Shehab will be a compromise president, chosen to succeed Camille Chamoun—largely because both sides in the Lebanese revolt trust him.

His whole career has been conducive to that trust.

Adjournment Of Congress Meant Return To Families

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Adjournment of the 85th Congress means going home for most of the 24 Texans who represent their state. Unlike most of their colleagues from other states who face campaigns against a November election foe, the Texans, with a single exception, are free from that sort of worry the next two years. Only Rep. Bruce Alger of Dallas, lone Republican among the Texans, faces opposition in November. His Democratic opponent is Barefoot Sanders. In Houston, in a new district, Democrat Bob Casey faces Republican T. Everett Kennerly. The winner succeeds the now Rep.-at-large Martin Dies of Lufkin, who is not seeking re-election. Many of the Texas congressmen waited impatiently for the rap of the gavel by House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Vice President Nixon ending the two-year period that comprises each congress. A few planned to stick around town a while to clean up odds and ends affecting their districts or committees. Rayburn himself looked forward, as usual, to getting back to his farm near Bonham as soon as possible. He plans to remain there throughout the rest of the summer and fall, except for a possible speaking engagement or two before November to help a Democratic colleague in some important doubtful district elsewhere in the country. Senators Lyndon Johnson and Ralph Yarborough likewise look forward to spending most of the remainder of the year in Texas. Both have homes in Austin and Johnson has a ranch near Johnson City. Undoubtedly, both will be asked to make speeches in other states to help put a Democrat across for a Senate seat. The problem of rearing school age children is one that complicates the lives of congressmen and will partially determine the whereabouts of several of the Texas legislators during the fall months. Take the situation of Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen. Pointing out that his three boys, eight, nine and 10 years old, have gone to school in the Rio Grande Valley in the fall in the past and had undergone readjustment hardships after transferring to Washington area schools in February, he said: "I think the time has come when we should let them continue through a school year in one place. They will enroll in the schools here in September." That means, he added, that he will have to divide his time between Washington and Texas in order to be with his family as much as possible and at the same time keep up his political fences. About the same situation prevails for Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa, with six children ranging from 10 to 20 years old, and for Rep. Frank Ikard of Wichita Falls with two boys, 12 and 16. Rep. Jim Wright of Fort Worth hasn't decided whether his three children, seven to 13 years, will enroll here or at home. "My immediate plans with adjournment," he said, "call for the first family vacation in five years. I do know that I'll spend all of September in Texas. My plans beyond that are indefinite." Rep. Lindly Beckworth, whose wife and five children, ranging from five months to 15 years, have already gone back to Texas and will spend the rest of the year at their Upshur county home, four miles outside of Gladewater. His children will go to school there this fall, while he keeps an office open in a two-room cottage behind the family home. Alger's wife and two sons, seven and nine, remained in Dallas throughout this year. He plans a vacation with them first, then will launch into his campaign early in September. Representatives Jack Brooks of Beaumont and J. T. Rutherford of Odessa, World War II combat Marines, plan to spend the fall in their home districts, except for two or three weeks of active duty as Marine Corps reservists, probably in October. Rutherford will keep an office open in El Paso, and do a lot of traveling while spending as much time as possible with his family 200 miles away in Odessa. There has been and will be little traveling overseas by congressmen this year. Rep. W. R. (Bob) Poage, recently returned from Rio de Janeiro as an American delegate to the Inter-parliamentary Union, plans to be in his district all fall with an office open all week in Temple. Rep. Olin Teague of Bryan has gone to Europe at the request of the Pentagon for a checkup on living and work-

Top Secretary Is Homebody at Heart Seek Local Applicants For Maid Of Cotton Competition

By GALE TOLLIN
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The nation's top secretary says she is a homebody at heart. Brown-eyed Genevieve Bell, of Portland, Ore., recently named secretary of the year, says firmly:

"I am not a career woman!"

She puts first the job of making a home for husband, Keith, a forestry instructor at Portland State College. She adds that there is no reason why marriage and a career cannot be combined, if the woman is careful not to slight either role.

Mrs. Bell has been a secretary for 26 of her 44 years, and considers her job a heaven-appointed task. Says she:

"A secretary should give her best always, with eternal values constantly in view. If she puts Christianity first in her life, all relationships with her co-workers and employer will be right. Instead of being bitter or jealous, she will see the best in other people."

Mrs. Bell won her championship title at the convention of the National Secretaries Assn. here. Contest judges put oral questions to the six finalists, who gave their answers onstage, before a crowd of hundreds. Asked to tell the difference between a secretary and a professional secretary, Mrs. Bell said:

"A secretary chews gum. A professional secretary does not."

Quickly turning serious, she added that a secretary may be an "office housekeeper" while a professional secretary has a managerial voice and is the bridge between personnel and management — "the shock absorber."

How about the coffee break? Is it a good thing or not?

"The coffee break is a problem," Mrs. Bell replied. "A top-level secretary will not take advantage of it. It's a good chance for relaxation but it must not be overdone."

Is her job fun? Does she really enjoy it?

"Oh, yes. I look forward to work every day. A top-level secretary doesn't like to be idle, but wants lots of work."

Mrs. Bell is a member of the Evangelical United Brethren Church. Her employer is Dr. Vermer D. Lindgren, a plastic surgeon in Portland.

GENEVIEVE BELL—She's 1958 Secretary of the Year.

The search is on! For the ninth consecutive year, the South Plains Maid of Cotton Committee of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the National Cotton Council, is conducting a search for a young lady who likes to travel, meet people, and win friends at home and abroad for the American Cotton Industry.

Dixon White, Chairman of the 1959 South Plains Maid of Cotton Committee, in announcing the opening of this year's contest, stated, "This is by no means a beauty contest. The Maid of Cotton, as a representative of the 13 million people in the American Cotton Industry, has a tremendously important public relations job to do. She is chosen on the basis of poise, personality, and background as well as appearance."

Among the qualifications required of an applicant for South Plains Maid of Cotton, she must be between the ages of 19 and 25; be at least 5 feet 5 inches tall; never have been married; not wear glasses; and have been born in a cotton-producing state.

In addition, the South Plains Maid of Cotton must have her home residence in one of the following South Plains counties: Bailey, Borden, Briscoe, Castro, Cochran, Crosby, Dawson, Deaf Smith, Dickens, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Howard, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Motley, Farmer, Swisher, Terry, and Yoakum.

Applications, together with photograph, must be submitted to the South Plains Maid of Cotton Committee, P. O. Box 561, Lubbock, not later than 12 noon October 8. Official entry blanks may be obtained at the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, 902 Texas Ave., or at the local Chamber in any of the South Plains counties, or through the directors of the Plains Cotton Growers Association.

The South Plains Maid of Cotton Contest includes two full days of activity on Oct. 20 and 21, 1958. Preliminary judging will start at 9 a.m. on Monday, Oct. 20. At noon the contestants will be the guests of the South-western Lubbock Rotary Club at a luncheon in the Hillcrest Country Club. Judging will resume in the afternoon. At 7:30 p.m. the contestants and their escorts will be the guests at a dinner in the Lubbock Country Club followed by the Third Annual Maid of Cotton Ball at the Lubbock Country Club from 9 to 1 a.m., with the Big Bands Orchestra providing the music. Judging continues on Tuesday, followed by the judges' luncheon.

rehearsal and the glittering finals on Tuesday evening in the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Honorable Waggoner Carr, Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, will be Master of Ceremonies, and Bernie Howell will provide the musical accompaniment.

The young lady selected as the South Plains Maid of Cotton becomes an automatic finalist in the National Maid of Cotton Contest in Memphis, Tennessee in January. She will be presented with a $1,000 all-cotton wardrobe and receive an all expense paid trip to Memphis for herself and the chaperone of her choice.

Speaking for the South Plains Maid of Cotton Committee, Chairman White said, "The South Plains area is blessed with a great number of attractive and charming young ladies, and there is no reason why the 1959 National Maid of Cotton should not come from this largest cotton producing area. We urge participation in this most exciting, interesting and rewarding experience."

Dwindling Water Supply Points Up Need For Proper Irrigation

By MAX SCHRADER

In many localities throughout the southwest, cities, industries and agriculture have reached the point in the use of available water supplies that serious competition has started. Both expanding industries and cities have increased their water needs many times the past 20 years.

Our total available water resources have actually decreased and the use increased during this period. This leaves us one alternative and that is to use the supply of available water as efficiently as possible.

More efficient use of irrigation water and rainfall can be expected where proper attention is given to laying out irrigation systems to take the greatest advantage of the more gentle slopes. Another factor involving the efficient use of irrigation water is the row lengths. Rows that are excessive in length often cause inefficient use of water.

Many irrigation systems are laid out where the rows point down the steeper slope and the ditches on the least. The use of underground pipelines makes changes in row directions possible. By using gated surface pipe the use of troublesome ditches is eliminated. Much of our tailwater is the direct result of too much grade and, too long rows. This creates a situation where, in order to get a something approaching a uniform application of water, the upper part must be over-irrigated and the lower under-irrigated with a resultant loss of tailwater.

Irregular grades in the rows have the same effect even when the overall grade is desirable. This also causes uneven watering. Here is a situation that can be helped by a land leveling operation. A uniform grade can easily be established in the entire irrigation run.

To get the maximum use of all available water, consideration must be given to our rainfall. Fields that lose tailwater easily will also let rainfall get away. This is another factor that speaks for using the most nearly level row directions. Rainfall that gets away means more costly irrigation water.

Pipelines need not be placed in the same location as the ditches. Many ditches were run in the direction of least slope because running in any other location would have made them difficult to handle. Place the pipelines so that you can irrigate in the direction giving the most uniform and gentle grade and save your water and time.

Mrs. Detton's Recipe for APPLE STRUDEL

Beat one egg in cup. Fill cup with lukewarm water. Add 2 cups of flour (a good pint). Add a pinch of salt and mix well. Beat and knead (by picking up dough and throwing or hitting it on table) until white blisters appear. Divide into 4 parts and cover each. Let stand 2 hours. Roll and pull tissue-paper thin. Spread with sliced apples, sugar, cinnamon, butter and sour cream. Roll up — place in greased pan. Bake in moderate oven for one hour, basting with hot milk. Apple strudel may be frozen unbaked. After removing from freezer, bake, basting with hot milk. Bake slightly longer than one hour.

Trapeze Offers Fall Challenge

NEW SILHOUETTE—Requires new technique for home sewing. Fit at bust and shoulders important for graceful line.

By DOROTHY ROE
That daring young girl in the flaring trapeze offers a challenge to home seamstresses this fall.
Women are flocking to their sewing machines to try out some of the new silhouettes, precipitating a brand new sewing boom. After all, it costs less to stitch up a new fashion at home than it does to buy one ready-made.
After the form-fitting sheaths of the last few years, the new looser styles may prove confusing to home sewing fans. In the new relaxed fashions the bust and shoulder measurements are the important ones, and the inside of the dress is as important as the outside.
Local sewing center experts offer a few suggestions on how to make a trapeze. For the first attempt at the new fashion, they advise following the pattern directions exactly. Later, when you have learned the new fitting tricks, you may improve.

Pattern suggestions on suitable fabrics also should be helpful. For the flaring trapeze, the experts suggest crisp fabrics with considerable body, such as silk-and-wool combination, faille or worsted. For the underlying petticoat, taffeta is recommended.
Linings and interlinings also assume new importance, to achieve the right flare. Non-woven interlinings often are used to hold out a flaring skirt or maintain the sweeping line of a back panel. And for a lining China silk is a favorite, since it disciplines heavier fabrics without adding extra bulk.
Perfect fit is essential at bust and shoulder, since wide skirt lines must be balanced by trimness at the top. Correct placement of darts will help in achieving a smooth bodice line.

Bible Words for Today

1 Thessalonians 1:2,3 — "We give thanks to God always for you all, constantly mentioning you in our prayers, remembering before our God and Father your work of faith and labor of love and steadfastness of hope in our Lord Jesus Christ." (RSV)

In this writing Paul points out three of the great Christian virtues. The first is what he calls "work of faith." It is faith resulting in work which is the fruit of true faith. Each of us need to show our faith by our work which in turn is prompted by our faith in right and righteousness, and in God, who is the Author of both.

Then Paul speaks of a "labor of love." This is labor entered into because of love for God, for His kingdom, and for one's fellow man. As Paul points out elsewhere, labor entered into without love is empty and valueless.

Then there comes "steadfastness of hope." Man's faith needs to be fixed, certain, and sure. Our faith must not be dependent on the sunshine of the moment, but must be sufficient for the trials and difficulties of life. A steadfast hope can say, "Though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; for Thou art with me." May we work in faith, labor with love, and hold steadfastly to our hope.

How Can I?

- Q. How can I remove old wallpaper?
A. There are several methods of removing wallpaper, but one good way is to add alum to warm water as long as the water will dissolve it, then apply this solution with a white wash brush. After it has dried the paper will come off easily.
- Q. What is a good tonic for the hair, and one that will arrest grayness?
A. It is claimed that pure castor oil rubbed into the scalp is an excellent tonic, and will also arrest grayness.
- Q. What can I use as a polish for linoleum?
A. Linseed oil rubbed into clean linoleum makes an excellent polish. The floor will not be slippery.
- Q. How can I make filled grapefruit?
A. By cutting the fruit evenly and removing all the pulp and juice, then filling the shells with pieces of grapefruit, diced
- strawberries, and fresh pineapple.
- Q. How can I remove burnt spots from granite?
A. Cover the stain with a teaspoonful of soda and a little water, and heat to the boiling point. Wash at once, but never scrape it with a knife.
- Q. What can I do with a wire clothesline that has rusted?
A. Paint it with aluminum paint and it will last for a long time.
- Q. How can I remove small pieces of soap that have gotten down the drain pipe?
A. Pour boiling water down the pipe to melt it. But soap will not clean the pipes, and should be prevented from clogging them.
- Q. How can I remove oil stains from a rug?
A. Dampen a cloth with cleaning fluid and rub around the edge of the stain, working towards the middle. Change to a clean part of the rag as soon as one part is soiled.
- Q. How can I soften an old ball of putty that has hardened?
- Q. How can I remove old wall-paper?
A. Place it in boiling water and allow it to stand until the water cools.
- Q. How can I make cooked peas more savory?
A. If the peas seem a little tasteless, put a teaspoonful, or a tablespoonful of sugar in the cooking water. Even sweet corn can often be improved by adding a little sugar.
- Q. How can I clean porcelain?
A. Probably the best household cleansing agent for porcelain is kerosene.

- Blankets
When blankets and quilts are stored away for the summer they will be kept in good condition if they are rolled up with a quantity of camphor flakes and placed in the paper bag in which clothes come from the cleaner. Fold in the ends of the bag, tie with a string and it is ready to be stored away.
- Sunburn
A good remedy for sunburn is to add the juice of one lemon to a teaspoonful of milk, let it stand until the milk curdles, then apply to the sunburn with a piece of cotton.
- Bananas
Bananas should not be kept in the refrigerator as they will flavor every uncovered food in there, and they themselves will turn black.
- Blistered Woodwork
A hot sun will blister a piece of furniture, or any woodwork, if it is subjected to it throughout the summer. But warm olive oil rubbed gently into the wood will help wonderfully to restore it. It is often necessary to repeat this treatment several times a week to get satisfactory results.
- Kills Weeds
If grass and weeds are growing between the bricks on your garden walk, they can be killed and prevented from regrowing by pouring gasoline along the cracks.
- Bluing
Dissolve a lump of soda in the bluing water on washday and it will prevent the bluing from streaking the clothes.
- Weed Exterminator
Was your garden overrun with weeds this summer? If so, fill an oil can with kerosene, cut each weed off, even with the ground, then squirt about one tablespoonful of kerosene into the heart of the weed.
- Tar
Tar can be removed from the hands by rubbing with a slice of orange or lemon peel. The volatile oils in the skin dissolve the tar so that it can be wiped off.
- Coll Bed Springs
Probably the best way to remove dust and dirt from coil springs is to place the springs in the sun and turn the hose on them. The sun will dry them within a very short time.
- Eggs
Add a teaspoonful of salt to the water when boiling eggs and it will prevent any of the contents from leaking out, if the shells should crack.
- White Spots
White spots on furniture that have been caused by heat can sometimes be removed by applying in the order named: Kerosene, alcohol, and linseed or sweet oil. A different cloth should be used for each treatment. Continue rubbing in the linseed oil until the spot disappears.
- Sour Milk
When preparing the ingredients for a sour milk cake, dissolve the soda in the milk and whip with an egg beater. This will assure a fine-grained cake.

- Clogged Drains
To prevent the drain from clogging, place three or four tablespoonfuls of soda at the opening of the drain about once a week, and then wash this down the pipe with boiling water.
- Labeling Jars
Instead of pasting labels on all the jars of preserves and jellies, place small paper bags over them, labeling the bags. This will keep out the dust and dirt, and is claimed also to preserve the bright color of the jellies and preserves.
- Linoleum
The linoleum will last a much longer time if it is waxed regularly. Wash with steaming hot water and apply the wax while the linoleum is warm. This should be done after each washing.
- Indelible Pencil
Indelible pencil marks can be removed from linens by soaking the fabric in denatured alcohol and then washing.
- Testing Cakes
A cake is ready to be taken from the oven when it is firm to the touch when lightly felt on top, when it has shrunk a little from the sides of the pan and when a toothpick thrust into it will come out perfectly clean and dry.
- Drying Clothes
It is much more desirable to have sunshine dry the clothes than a high wind. Sunshine both sweetens and bleaches them, while a high wind may tear them and will take the stiffness out of starched goods.
- French Dressing
An unusually pleasant flavor will be added to French dressing if half a lime and half a lemon are mixed with the dressing.

Thanks Folks

It has been a little over a month since the big hail hit Hereford, and by this time most of the claims have been paid or are in the process of being paid.

At this time we would like to express our sincere gratitude to all our policy holders for their patience and cooperation during this period.

And, we are especially grateful to the folks at the Hereford lumber yards who cooperated and helped us to settle all our claims in record time.

To all of you go our sincere "Thanks." Again the spirit of cooperation has prevailed and all have benefited greatly.
