Senate Approves Standby Gas Rationing

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says making of YOUR mind is what some people seem to devote THEIR lives to. 000

People who keep on their toes don't have to shell out money for new heels nearly as often as the rest of us.

DESPITE FORECASTS of a recession this year, all signs point only to a slowdown-not as much frosting on the cake but still plenty of business for those who scraich harder:

That's the gist of a report by a national business consultant, who says the optimistic folks in the South, Southwest, and Pacific Northwest are still doing booming business. Some of these think the recession talk is a pipe dream of economists and the news media. Some companies have come up short of merchandise to sell because of the

We all have plenty of gripes... government regulations, inflation, farm prices and production costs, minimum wage, fuel and energy... but most folks are not forecasting doom. Perhaps it's time we rekindled the fire in our community and ket that hustlin. Hereford spirit again!

SALT II Receives Fire, Praise

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate critics of a new treaty to cap the arms race are vowing to change or reject it despite President Carter's plea for ratification to "diminish "the shadow of nuclear war."

The strategic arms limitation treaty with the Soviet Union is expected to produce the most searching national security debate since the end of World, War II. The outcome is far from sure.

SALT II is being denounced by foes as an unequitable and unverifiable pact that will give the Soviet Union a definite advantage in long-range missiles and bombers and a chance of winning a nuclear war with the United States.

"I have a strong feeling the treaty is: likely to be amended or returned for further negotiations." Senate Republi .. can leader Howard H. Baker said Wednesday after Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and Defense Secretary Harold Brown announced that all obstacles to (See SALT, Page 2)

Council Seeks Inflation Violators

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Council on Wage and Price Stability is "just" starting" its assault on companies it claims do not comply with the Carter administration's anti-inflation guidelines. a council spokesman says.

We fully expect to start identifying more companies publicly." the spokesman, who askedsnot to be identified, said Wednesday after the council for the first .. time charged a firm with non-compliance.

Ideal Basic Industries - one of the nation's largest cement producers, with sales of $410 million in 1978 - strongly denied the council's claim and vowed to appeal immediately.

The company could be prohibited from bidding on government contracts if it loses its appeal. The council believes it is "on firm ground" contesting Ideal, the government spokesman said.

The administration has come under fire recently for failing to name names. In late April. Alfred E. Kahn, council chairman. cited 22 major corporations - with annual sales of at least $250 million - as being in violation of the voluntary guidelines; but refused to identify them; saving they could still be elgible for exceptions.

On Wednesday, a council spokesman said at least a dozen firms were still on notice, but it was uncertain whether this meant the others were off the hook.

Cattle Theft Probe Culminates in Arrests

Two men have been arrested and are on their way back to Hereford after they allegedly stole 42 head of cattle Sunday night or early Monday morning from Western Feed Yard east of Hereford. WASHINGTON (AP) - Congressional leaders are predicting the House will join the Senate and give President Carter powers to order gasoline rationing if there is a severe energy shortage.

But a tough fight is expected and the White House was waging a heavy lobbying campaign today to pick up wavering votes for final House action. expected by early evening.

Wednesday's 58-39 Senate approval of the heavily modified plan helps its chances in the House "very significanily." said Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the House energy and power subcommittee. Dingell predicted passage by the House.

However, aides to House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill said a preliminary head count showed victory might be by an extremely slim margin.

House approval would give the president the power to order gasoline rationing - although either chamber of Congress could exercise a veto within 15 days of such a presidential decision.

Senators passed the standby proposal only after wringing a variety of last-minute concessions from the president.

Among other promises, the president agreed not to use the powers except in dire emergencies and to make more gasoline available for farmers, taxicab and truck drivers and for certain energy-related industries.

Originally. Carter had wanted to distribute coupons based solely on the number of registered vehicles in a

In an attempt to pick up support from legislators from rural areas with long driving distances, he modified the original approach to make more coupons available in states with a history of heavy gasoline consumption. That change enabled it to pass the Senate, but could pose problems for the plan in the House, with its heavy concentration of lawmakers from urban areas that generally would have fared better under Carters original formula. Under the final revision, 24 states and the District of Columbia would get more coupons per vehicle than they would have under Carter's original plan; five states would get the same number, and 21 would get less. The average nationwide gasoline ration - assuming a 20 percent loss of oil supplies - would be in the vicinity of 46 gallons a month per automobile, based on a rough calculation.

There would be a three-car limit in obtaining coupons. Among other purposes, the limit is intended to keep people from buying junk cars to become eligible for additional gasoline rations. In a last-minute compromise that brought at least 10 Senate Republicans into Carter's camp, the Senate unanimously approved - and Carter agreed to support - a resolution stating

-Gasoline rationing would only be used when there is a 20 percent loss in U.S. oil supplies for at least 30 days. ·This loss of supplies would have to come from an embargo by exporting (See GAS, Page 2)

Seniors Awarded Renovations Grant

A $17.152.50 Title V grant was approved by the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission board of directors Wednesday for the construction of a dining area for Hereford Senior Citizens Association at the old Central School.

The action came following a visit two weeks ago by PRPC representatives to the Hereford Senior Citizens Center and former Central School, where the local non-profit association had planned to remove a stage in the gymnasium to create dining space. The grant, which is in addition to $5,717.50 in matching funds (25 percent of the total) put up by Deaf Smith County, also will pay for improvements in the kitchen area adjacent to the stage in the school gymnasium.

"We're tickled to death." association president Debbs Knox said today. "We got just what we asked for."

Knox said that seniors now eat inside a room at the center. "We had 45 yesterday. Today, we'll have about 55. That many have signed up. We've had about 60 before, and it's awfully crowded in there. That's why we needed this

Senate Says Utilities To Give Written Notice

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Lobbyists bolted from their balcony chairs Wednesday after the Senate amended a bill that would strip city councils of their power to delay electric rate increases.

The House-passed measure had survived eight attempts to change it, but Sen. John Traeger, D-Seguin, broke through with proposed amendment No. 9, winning a 16-15 vote.

City Réceives Tax Rebate

Hereford has received $29,763.80 as its April share of the local one percent sales tax, according to State Comptroller Bob Bullock's office in Austin.

Bullock said that tax rebates to Texas cities totaled $34.9 million in April. compared to $20.1 million during the same month in 1978.

1979 payments to date have reached $135.3 million, which is up from $121.6 million over the same four-month period last year.

The city sales tax is collected by merchants and other tax permit holders along with the state sales tax and rebated monthly to 916 cities.

The City of Hereford this year has received $117,343.78, compared to $116,972.71 over the same period in 1978. Hereford received $22,450.46 in April, 1978. Other area cities and their April rebates included Amarillo, $523,476; Borger, $43,289.21; Canyon, $10,181; Dimmitt. $5,564; Dumas, $27,793; Friona, $15,660; Lubbock, $562,498; Pampa, $71,748; Perryton, $33,991;

Plainview, $51,194; and Tulia, $8,415. All of those cities showed increases over last year except Dimmitt.

The amendment would require utility companies to notify ratepayers in writing of their intent to seek a rate increase.

More importantly for Traeger and other opponents of the bill, the amendment sent the bill back to the House for approval, rather than to the

The Senate tentatively approved the bill, 16-14, with a final vote still needed.

"It was a rather pathetic sight to see Sen. Gene Jones filibustering against the amended version of his own bill so that the utility lobbyists would have time to twist arms in the back room and change one vote on the amendment," said Theo (See RATES, Page 2)

Q.-Why is New York City called "The Big Apple?"

A -- A good question, says the Associated Press Bureau in New York. and one of some dispute. AP sources reported that most historians agree the term "The Big Apple" can be raced to Harlem in the early 1930's when (and where) jazz was king. If you make it big in New York's jazz world, you played "the big apple." Before that, experts believe. the phrase was probably brought to Chicago from Louisiana, Tennessec, Missouri or Texas in black or creole dialects. In 1936, the dance called "The Big Apple" surfaced in New York City.

AmericansBecoming Against Housing

NEW YORK (AP) - The main obstacle to a person acquiring his or her own home isn't the $52,000 median price or the 20 percent down payment or the 10.5 percent mortgage rate, said he real estate man.

Spring snowstorms plus a major airline strike failed to keep 74 dedicated members from attending The Potato Board's seventh annual meeting in Denver April 1-3. They finalized and approved 1979/80 programs for boosting consumption of U.S. potatoes and elected new officers.

Major program elements approved are similar to those used in past years with one exception. The nation's most popular newscaster - Paul Harvey - will be telling devoted followers why the potato is something good that's good for them. More than 87 million listeners will hear about potatoes on 770 ABC radio stations carrying two Paul Harvey shows: the Paul Harvey News and the Rest of the Story. Starting Oct. 1. Paul Harvey will deliver a 60-second personalized potato message in his unique style for 26 consecutive weeks.

Coordinating this and other Board activities is the newly elected Executive Committee headed by President James E. Johnston of Grafton, N.D. Vice Presidents are Steve Connors (Othello, Wash.). Advertising will aim its low-calorie, high nutrition messages at the average to light user of potatoes. Potato Board ads will appear 31 times for 12 months starting July 1 in 12 publications reaching 215 million readers. This past year's anti-stuffing campaign is expanding to include additional. publications reaching millions of consumers with a message designed to make them wonder why anyone would choose stuffing mix over potatoes. New anti-stuffing ads are planned for Reader's Digest and Grit.

These repeat ads will be in Good Housekeeping. Redbook. Woman's Day, Family Health, McCall's Working Mother. Self. Weight Watchers and Women's Sports: Additional advertising will support the board's special programs reaching doctors ... dietitians: foodservice operators and produce merchandisers.

Season Affects Forage Quality

COLLEGE STATION - Season has much to do with forage quality in warm weather

Dr. F.D. Holt, forage in digestibility compared to researcher with the Texas April and May forage. Again, Agricultural Experiment Station, dexas A&M University System, says. Coastal bermudagrass quality, for example, may drop as much as 25 percent from early May to July and August. Quality can then increase in late . August and in September and reach the levels of late Mayour early June

South Texas studies with Coastal Bermuda showed a er spring-to-summer digestibility decline of 18 percent, with a recovery of 9 percent in early fall. Changes were smaller in other species but follow a similar pattern.

Holt says such seasonal trends are not restricted to bermudagrass. Summer-harvested weeping lovegrass, for example, may sag 15-18 percent some recovery in quality occurs. in September, depending on variety and weather.

The decreases were in the order of 7 to 10 percent, and the fall increases ranged up to 7 percent." Holt points out.

AUSTIN . The elected spokesmen of Texas Farmers Union from counties around the state have registered their protest to Administration gas rationing plans, saying the unit allocation would work a hardship on rural families and businesses as well as allowing for "energy carpetbagging."

The board of directors who represent the farm organization's near ten thousand farm families reviewed Department of Energy stand-by rationing plans now before Congress for a deadline vote and listed immediate dissension. The TFU county leaders say it is obvious that rationing on a per vehicle basis would allow those in urban areas to accumulate excess coupons while farm and ranch families would have no options in limiting their travel due to the number of travelled miles necessary to maintain farms. conduct critical business in town and provide rural families with the needed inputs that must be transported from trade centers to farms and homes.

It was further noted that the DOE plan does not take in the vast geographical areas of states like Texas, the number of average miles travelled by the resident's of these states, and the profound differences in access to transportation alternatives of these states, and the profound differences in access transportation alternatives and mass transit services enjoyed in concentrated popula-

Texas Farmers Union leaders also stated that a proposed "white market" that allows conservers to place excess coupons for sale in a speculative market would allow those whose businesses and personal habits require less travel to "prey upon those who have little or no choice about the travel necessary to maintain their very livelihoods."

Noted TFU President Jay Naman, "Our farmers are aware that a domestic emergency or interruption of international supplies would require a response from every citizen to conserve fuel. But they feel that alloting each registered vehicle an amount based on average consumption is an unfair system that totally overlooks vital demographic differences.

"If an emergency arises, we feel that a stand-by plan should TFU urged Congress to either amend the Administration proposal or defeat it and allow the states to individually construct and administer programs which would result in the same desired cut-back under emergency conditions.

The group also took a position to oppose bills in the state legislature allowing for a presidential primary which 'could damage the two-party system" and "waste taxpavers" dollars." The farmers also resolved to oppose new farm legislation in Washington which dismantles the disaster program so essential to arid regions of the Southwest.

Mexican Produce Inspections Welcome Sign of Cooperation

AUSTIN--Almost 500 million pounds of produce passed through Texas-Federal Inspection Service stations from Mexico during 1978, bound for sales in the U. S. and abroad, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has announced.

Fees collected by the selfsupporting state-federal agency amounted to $283,334.37 for 492,416,921 . ounds of Mexican produce. Produce is inspected for quality and size. It included 88.5 million pounds of onions, 31.9 million pounds of honeydew melons, 120.4 million pounds of cantaloupes and 98.9 million pounds of watermelons.

"This program represents our continued good relations with Mexico," said Brown.

Brown added that Texas commodity groups are actively seeking to expand their trade with Mexico.

The top 2 sorghum hybrids on the High Plains are both from Pioneer.

Even in a rough sorghum year like 1978, farmers all over the High Plains brought in good yields with 8501 and 8451 from Pioneer. Both of these hybrids have outstanding qualities that make them ideal for High Plains growing conditions. Talk to your Pioneer dealer soon about one . . . or both of these hybrids for your place.

Greenbug tolerance without sacrificing yield! Even in marginal conditions this outstanding hybrid makes a good stand. Extremely good earlyseason vigor coupled with outstanding stress tolerance makes 8451 the kind of sorghum you'd choose even if it weren't tolerant to greenbugs. In side-by-side yield comparisons over a three-year period, 8451 has proven its performance potential by out-yielding later maturing hybrids by almost 350 lbs. per acre. If you need greenbug tolerance, but don't want to give up yield, plant 8451 from

Garza said the change in the alien traffic apparently has been caused by a change in the labor needs north of the border. "I have found that the type of alien coming across is very different from the ones that used to come across when I became a judge. Fighteen years ago most of the aliens were coming to participate in stoop labor. But now you're getting the type of people who have an education in Mexico. I don't think the aliens of today are

School Music Programs Reach Into Community

WILMETTE, III. (AP) -Fourth-grade beginning band students at the Stewart School in Garden City, N.Y., have an unusual problem at practice time: getting the instruments away from their parents.

Mom and Dad have rehearsing of their own to do for the school's 35-member Parent Band.

New last fall, the Parent Band grew out of an orientation meeting called to acquaint parents with the problems of the first-year band student, from instrument assembly to the importance of regular practice. The response was so encouraging that parents were invited to form their own group, using their children's instruments.

In expanding the music program to include parents, the Stewart School is following a trend toward community involvement increasingly evident in schools across the country, According to the American Music Conference in Wilmette. schools are turning to community outreach programs as a way to strengthen support for school music

Programs for adults give parents an opportunity to share a learning experience with their children, while building local support by providing a community service. Often, these programs introduce adults to the joys of making their own mu-

'Those with parents in the band have a definite edge. They show more interest in music, and they're better prepared when they come to class because they're getting help at home. The experiment has significantly reduced the dropout rate among first-year band students

In Prescott, Ariz., a popular guitar program at Yavapai Community College was inspired by guitar classes in the city's junior high schools. Each Friday, an ensemble of sev enth, eighth and ninth graders goes into the community to entertain at homes for the aged, Kiwanis luncheons, church affairs or other social events.

'Many of the adults in the three college classes are people who became interested in guitar after they heard my students perform," said teacher Duane Burr. "And dozens of students have encouraged their parents to take up the instrument. The adult students, in turn, encourage their children to take guitar when they reach junior high school. The community is really behind

Another possible way for schools to encourage community involvement is to offer equipment and facilities for adult education classes. Tax Bad For Nuke Accidents

NEW YORK (AP) - For income tax purposes, residentsnear Three Mile Island might have been better off had they been hit by a hurricane or a flood. Then they might have had casualty loss tax deductions.

But what does a family or business do about nuclear accident losses? The Internal Revenue Service code doesn't say. It recognizes losses from storm, fire and ships reck. It says nothing about nuclear mishaps.

'Our tax code has not yet entered the Buck Rogers era in which we live, "said Neil Glenn, who as vice chairman of the big s child's dream and joined the Baraboo River in Wisconsin's accounting firm, Pear, Marwick, circus. Mitchell & lo., has studied the

The only tax concession granted residents near Harrisburg. Pa., was a delay until May 15 in filing their returns. Glenn suggests they are intitled to more than that. He thinks the code should be updated

Glenn, who heads the firm's tax practice, maintains there are four issues that residents of Harrisburg and nearby towns need resolved. So far, nobody has come up with any final answers to these questions:

Are those residents who fled their homes entitled to tax the order of march of the benefits, such as itemized deductions for additional living expenses incurred in the

COMMENTARY

Donald F. Graff Made in Japan?

Americans might well ask themselves exactly what it was they wrought 34 years ago this August on the decks of the U.S.S. Missouri in Tokyo Bay.

A prostrate Japan, having surrendered unconditionally, was theirs to do with as they would. What they did was to blueprint the rebuilding of the defeated nation according to the pattern of a Western democracy. Under American guidance, Japan renounced its martial past and dreams of political empire to channel its considerable energies into the development of a modern industrial economy.

That rebuilding process is long since completed. Japan, although still deeply conscious of its past and devoted to many of its ways, is today a parliamentary democracy, one of the world's two or three richest nations and its second largest economy, a close political ally of the United States and the largest U.S. trading partner.

And as a consequence, relations between the United States and Japan are deeply troubled, the number one item on the agenda for currently visiting Prime Minister Masayoshi Ohira in his talks with President Carter, as they will be again in June when the Carter visits Tokyo in

While there are political overtones, specifically as regards policies on China, the Soviet Union and oil, U.S.-Japanese differences are rooted in economics. They have developed and intensified during the past several years of U.S. trade imbalance. It has been a temptation, increasingly indulged in, to see Japan, which has been deriving the principal profit from the massive U.S. deficits, as principally responsible.

Japan, it is widely believed, does not trade fair. While dumping television sets and taking advantage of liberal U.S. duties on a host of products from autos to calculators, it has kept its home market all but closed to American

Washington has been giving ear to complaints of threatened American industries. Protectionist sentiment against Japanese products is rising in Congress and could take an ugly political turn as an issue in the coming presidential and congressional campaigns.

And it could get much worse, should the anti-Japanese mood endanger congressional acceptance of the new world trade pact just concluded in Geneva after five agonizing years of negotiation. That would be the real disaster because the new agreement, in addition to cutting world tariffs by upwards of 35 percent, for the first time cuts through the tangle of nontariff trade restrictions that are more responsible than anything else for the difficulty of American exporters in penetrating the Japanese market.

Japan is well aware of the American mood and apprehensive as to possible consequences. It is currently mounting a major public relations effort - Japan Today, publicizing the nation's contemporary cultural, economic and intellectual life - in seven large cities to improve the Japanese image with the U.S. public.

But it is also increasingly resentful of criticism from the American press and politicians, the pressure from Washington to reduce its trade surplus and what from the Japanese point of view is American insensitivity to Japan's own precarious economic situation. Denied significant natural resources by nature, Japan's economic survival in today's world depends upon trade. "Export or perish" has become a virtual national motto during the postwar years of a rapidly expanding economy established upon an inherently infirm foundation. The real objection to the Japanese is that they have been not just successful in their postwar rebuilding but too successful. Theirs is an economic success story that has certainly been made in Japan, but is not entirely of and by the Japanese. The original blueprint was, after all,

And what we have wrought is not only a Western-style democracy and a political ally, but a formidable economic power that is at one and the same time a competitor and an essential partner of the United State. It is that last point that both Japanese and Americans must keep in mind in the process of adjusting to the changed circumstances of their relationship. Whatever their difficulties, that relationship remains essential to take some medicine to dissolve it and what would happen to this stone. Will my diet cause the stone to form?

DEAR READER - We know a lot more about treating kidney stones now than we did a few years ago.

Since you are a man, the likelihood is that your stone is a calcium oxalate stone.

Women are more prone to urinary tract infections and may form other kinds of stones. There is no absolute distinction between men and women in this regard but

The treatment for kidney stones depends a lot on its composition. Of course, as long as the stone is in the kidney it's going to be kind of hard for your doctor to know absolutely what its

We used to think that restricting calcium was an important aspect of preventing kidney stones. We now know that that's important in stones that are associated with infections but in other instances, restricting cal-cium will have no effect whatsoever on the kidney stone. More often the excessive absorption of oxalate may be a factor. Oxalate can come from the excessive ingestion of vitamin C, many.

You can dissolve many kidney stones or prevent them from getting any stone is.

Some stones are dissolved by making the urine acid.

Yet other stones are dissolved by making the urine alkaline. That's why it's so important to know the chemical composition of the stone

You apparently have a silent kidney stone that hasn't caused you any symptoms. The prudent choice would be to assume that it is a calcium oxalate stone and institute the measures used to dissolve stones in your case and see what happens.

As the stone gets smaller, it may eventually pass, de-pending upon its location in

Now and thereafter it would be a good idea to significantly increase your fluid intake. Regardless o the chemical composition of the stone, the one thing that all authorities agree on is that maintaining a copious flow of dilute urine helps to prevent stone formation.

This means that you should drink enough fluid, preferably water, to pass around three quarts of urine a day.

The goal is to keep the urine dilute so that any of those unsoluble chemicals are less likely to aggregate and start forming a stone.

That means you want to form dilute urine throughout the entire 24-hour period of each day, not just for a few hours, so the water intake should be spaced around the the kidney.

14. CARD OF THANKS

IN APPRECIATION Dear Friends

We are extremely grateful to you for helping us in great need. We want to thank the Hereford Fire Department. The Friona Fire Department. The Department of Public Safty and other Law enforcements for the tremendous work under adverse conditions.

Also we want to thank Frito Lay Corp. For the Vac-Avator and crew. Hereford Grain Corp. and George Warner Seed for equipment and men. We want to thank all the neighbors of Big Tex and Friends of Juan Ramirez, also anyone else of which we failed to mention for their help and concern we so urgently needed.

There are no words or expressions capable of portraying my gratitude for everyone involved in the tragedy.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D. Problem with veins

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 32-year-old man. My question concerns blood pooling in the dilated veins on the back of my hand. When my hands are at my side they expand to over five times their normal size in just a few seconds. If my hands are in this position for a long time, my fingers begin to feel like they were filled with lead and the backs of my hands ache. The blood drains out if I raise my arms but the veins don't return to their normal size. They flatten out like large, flat drinking straws. At other times, the veins are small the way they used to be. This condition began immediately after a blood sample was taken from my arm several years ago but I suppose this is just a coinci-dence. I had a similar problem with my leg veins but that has eased somewhat since I returned to a more normal diet and regained 10 pounds to my normal weight

I asked my doctor about this but he discounted my description. I couldn't demonstrate it to him in the cold air-conditioned environment of his office. All he could suggest was cold compresses.

I have a severe heart murmur that comes and goes and sometimes I'm slightly short of breath when resting and have a slight wheeze but I seem to be able to exercise without difficulty. Do you have any idea what could be causing my

DEAR READER - Part of what you consider a problem is a normal phenome-The location of the heart is the center level for blood flow. Any of my readers who want to can demonstrate this point by just dropping their hands to their side as you described in your letter. In that position the back of the hand is below the heart and the veins fill with blood Now if you'll raise your hand up to just above eye level, the blood runs downhill to the heart and the veins collapse. That's the influence of

Silver Saves At Clemmons Gas

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) - Clemmons vows his motives are The price is right at Gomer Clemmons' service station - if you've got silver coins. A gallon of gas can be had for less than two bits, a soft drink for a dime.

Clemmons also sells at today's prices - if you offer today's currency. But if you want his bargains, the purchase must be made in silver coins.

"I'd trade anything I've got" for the shiny, no-copper-added coins minted before 1965, said Clemmons, who adds with a laugh, "I'd trade by wife for Clemmons' abiding passion for silver coins lured him to begin trading merchandise and gasoline for them in 1973. Besides his Lexington service station, he owns wholesale autoparts businesses in Lexington, Frankfort and Louisville.

"We'll take silver for anything," he said. "I sold one man a set of radial tires. I think I took $60 in silver for a $270 set of tires. He paid me in Washington quarters. He had piles of silver. But he died."

Clemmons estimates he has swapped about $1,700 in merchandise for silver coins worth about $9,000.

The coins are worth about five times their original value. But "I'm not trying to make money on 'em," he said of his coins. "I just like old coins. That's true."

However, he said, "if they weren't going up in value, I probably wouldn't like old

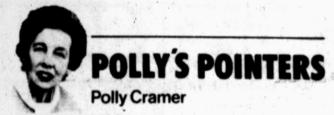

"I never sell 'em," said Clemmons. "I wouldn't sell 'em unless I absolutely had to for food. I wouldn't even pay a hospital bill with 'em, I don't believe." Clemmons said he began his coin collecting 25 years ago. That's how he spends his money, although "my wife doesn't always approve." he

But it's getting tough to find people who have silver and are willing to swap for gasoline valued at 17.6 cents a gallon in silver, especially when folks can save 10 cents in today's currency by pumping it themselves, he said.

"People don't have silver anymore," he said. "These coin dealers and others have it snapped up.

'You wouldn't get a silver coin out of $1,000 in change," said Clemmons. "You can spot one a mile away."

Dishwasher leaves mark

DEAR POLLY - Sometimes an aluminum pan rubs against dishes in the dishwasher and leaves a silvery mark on them. I hope someone can tell me how to overcome this. - PAT

DEAR PAT - Of course, the best thing is to arrange things in the dishwasher so no aluminum or stainless steel rubs against china. But when this does happen the only way I have found to remove the marks is to use toothpaste. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - J.K.H. wrote about a problem with perspiration odor in shirts even after they were laundered. The solution for this was given to me many years ago by a dry cleaner and I have used it on all kinds of fabrics with no color damage. Pour white vinegar on the area, rub in gently and then wash the garment the usual way. I have done this to cotton T-shirts, cottons with blends, sweaters and cotton and blend dress shirts. - PAULINE

DEAR READERS — Even though Pauline has had constant luck with the white vinegar, do test on your own particular fabric before diving in and putting it on everything. - POLLY DEAR POLLY - After using my scouring pad I always put it in the freezer section of the refrigerator. It is easier to work with when frozen and does not rust. - MRS. A.N. DEAR POLLY - I am in my 80s and a denture wearer. When I am troubled with sore gums I find relief by removing the dentures and running cold water over them before putting them back in my mouth. Hope this helps
