

Kahn: OPEC Decision To Boost Inflation

By O.G. (Speedy) Nieman

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says there has never been a person with an inflated ego who wasn't full of hot air.

WHEN TRAINS started crossing the great prairies, an Indian chief decided he'd take his wife and go visit his brother on the other side of the Rockies. It was an overnight trip, and the chief naturally took the lower berth while his squaw got the upper.

After about an hour in bed, the chief got thirsty, poked the underside of the upper berth and demanded a drink of water. His squaw clambered out and down, goes to the end of the car and returns with a cup of water. The chief liked the service, so he repeated the request a couple of hours later.

About 5 a.m., the chief again asks for water. But this time the squaw came back with the cup empty. "No good," she told the chief. "White man sitting on well."

C-C To Honor Fourth of July With Celebration

U.S. Congressman Kent Hance, Lubbock Democrat who represents the 19th District, will speak at a special July 4th ceremony Tuesday on the lawn of the Deaf Smith County Courthouse.

The ceremony will begin at 2:30 p.m. The public is invited, according to program chairperson Mary Thomas, who represents the Chamber of Commerce women's division.

The Chamber Singers and former Miss Hereford Sherry White Talley will provide special music. Mrs. Talley now lives in Odessa.

Local dignitaries will pay special tribute to Independence Day prior to Hance's talk. The entire program is expected to last slightly more than an hour.

Members of the women's division will serve old-fashioned lemonade.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Inflation, fanned by OPEC oilprice increases, will exceed 10 percent this year, presidential adviser Alfred Kahn is predicting.

Petroleum costs are rising fastest, but food could go up more than 11 percent in 1979, the Carter administration says.

Kahn's inflation assessment Thursday, the gloomiest yet by the administration, is brought home by a private economist's estimate that the average family's bill for gasoline and motor oil will increase at least $230 a year because of OPEC price boosts.

Albert H. Cox Jr., president of Merrill Lynch Economics, also said home heating oil costs for the average family will rise more than $90 a year.

While the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries raised oil prices Thursday from a base of $14.55 per barrel to between $18 and $23.50 per barrel, the Agriculture Department was estimating food prices this year will zoom between 10.2 percent and 11.2 percent.

Department forecasters said they were forced to revise previous estimates upward because of uncertainties throughout the economy - from rising grain prices to fuel shortages and costs which affect the transportation and processing of food.

Kahn's chief deputy, Barry Bosworth testified on Capitol Hill that OPEC risks causing a recession by its latest move. He added that the United States is heading for bankruptcy unless it can cut its appetite for foreign oil.

In a preliminary analysis, administration officials said the OPEC price rise will add one point to the nation's inflation rate this year and another point in 1980.

They said the number of Americans unemployed will increase by 800,000 through 1980 because of OPEC price increases.

Economic growth, as measured by the Gross National Product, will be two percentage points below what it would have been without the world oil price rises, administration forecasters said.

"The OPEC increases raise the real specter of double-digit inflation for the rest of this year," Kahn told the House Government Operations consumers subcommittee.

The inflation rate currently is rising at a 13.4 percent annual rate. Bosworth, who plans to leave the Council on Wage and Price Stability soon, said the inflation situation is "rapidly worsening."

Rationing Extended To 4 More Counties

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements' odd-even gasoline rationing plan will cover four more counties - Galveston, Denton, Fort Bend and Waller - starting Monday.

The governor announced at his weekly news conference Thursday he had added the counties to eight already under odd-even rationing.

Since Monday is an even-numbered day, July 2, only cars whose license plates end with an even number will be able to buy gasoline on the first day of gas sales restrictions in the four new counties.

Clements said authorities in the eight counties already under the rationing plan tell him they "are satisfied with it and are convinced the lines are shorter and the system is indeed working."

He said "misbehavior is at a minimum" in the gasoline lines. "I am not familiar with any incidents in that regard." He mentioned with approval a new Dallas ordinance providing up to a $200 fine for line-jumping.

Clements said "first of the month allocations will ease" somewhat the present tight gasoline supply.

Bill Lauderback, administrative assistant to energy adviser Ed Vetter, said the governor's office would watch the gas situation for two more weekends before deciding about Sunday sales. He said the odd-even rationing system might leave stations enough gasoline to voluntarily open on Sundays.

Clements said he "can't understand" why the U.S. Department of Energy allows new service stations to open at a time when existing ones can't get enough gas.

"They've done such a good job of botching up the program that I just assume this is one of their mistakes," he said. "If there is anything we don't need in Texas at this time, it is more filling stations. We need them like a hole in the head."

On other subjects, Clements said: His talks with striking independent truckers on Wednesday left him hopeful they would start transporting farm produce and other goods again soon.

He believes Attorney General Mark White will uphold his vetoes of several appropriations bill riders directing expenditure of more than $95 million.

"If I hadn't thought those were valid vetoes, I wouldn't have done it," he said. Chairman Bill Prenal of the House

Bell Seeks To Raise Local Bills by $1.55

Single-party household telephone rates in Hereford would go up from $5 to $6.55 under a Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. rate increase request Thursday.

Bell asked the Texas Public Utility Commission Thursday for rate increases that would raise monthly bills for household telephones by $1.55 throughout the state. The commission will begin hearings on the request in September.

Doyle E. Rogers, vice president of the company, said there were two main reasons behind Bell's request.

"First, like everyone else, we're faced with continually higher expenses for virtually everything—including wages, taxes and the many goods and services we purchase," Rogers said.

"Secondly, we must spend billions in construction dollars to provide adequate service to keep pace with the ever-increasing growth in Texas."

Bell's rate increase package, which also includes high prices for PBX Equipment Centrex service, key telephones and installations, would raise the company's revenue by $145.20 million a year.

Rogers said Bell really needs $242.9 million in new revenue but held down its request because of President Carter's wage-price guidelines. He said the request would provide Bell a 6.09 percent average statewide increase in Bell's Texas revenue.

However, consumers in Hereford will feel a greater percentage increase than that. Hereford, classified in Rate Group 2, would have one-party rates increased from $5 to $6.55 under the proposal, two-party rates from $3.25 to $4.60 and one-party-business ranges from $10.50 to $15.15, an increase of almost 50 percent for the latter.

No rate increases are being sought for in-state long distance calls. WATS, coin

Net Farm Income Outlook Looks Brighter, Claims USDA

WASHINGTON (AP) - This month's surge in grain prices has significantly brightened the outlook for net farm income this year, with the Agriculture Department raising the possibility now of a new record.

"Net farm income between $30 billion and $34 billion is now expected and likely will be near the record $30 billion," the outlook and situation board said Thursday.

Less than six months ago, a small drop was expected from the $27.9 billion recorded in 1978 - itself a sharp jump of nearly $8 billion from depressed 1977 receipts.

At the same time, the board raised its estimate of the year's average increase in food prices from a range of 8 to 10 percent to one of 10 to 11 percent.

The grain boom, which could raise crop receipts by $8 billion to $60 billion this season, won't affect food prices much until next year, economists say.

The board said the higher forecast for this year is due to concern that food retailers won't lower retail beef and pork prices to reflect wholesale declines, plus general uncertainty over the energy and transportation situations.

It also wasn't clear what affect the department's separate report on crop acreages planted would have on both the grain price spiral and the income forecasts next time.

The Crop Reporting Board said that farmers now are expected to harvest 79.8 million acres of corn this fall, virtually the same as last year's 79.7 million.

About 68.5 million acres of the total is earmarked for the grain market, the board said, a drop of 1 percent from 1978.

Those figures are based on June 1 field surveys, before reports that the Soviet Union's crops may have been poorer than expected. That would keep the Russians as a big spender in the export markets and give farmers more attractive prices.

In addition to possible large Soviet purchases after harvest, logistical limits in other exporting countries are improving the already bright picture for

Encinias Remains Critical at Clovis

Antonio Encinias, of 226 N. 25 Mile Ave., remains in critical condition in a Clovis, N.M., hospital eight days after he was struck by a semi tractor-trailer while crossing a Clovis street.

Encinias, 71, sustained multiple arm and leg fractures along with facial lacerations in the incident, according to Clovis police.

Encinias had parked his pickup on Highway 60-70-84 inside Clovis and was walking south across the road when he was struck by a truck driven by John Davis, 25, of Clovis.

Health Officials

Urge Rabies Shots

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—Pet vaccination is the best weapon against rabies' alarming rise in Texas, state health officials said Thursday.

"Although 80 percent of all rabies cases this year are among skunks, the domestic pet is the worst potential problem with the human population," said Dr. F.V. McCasland, chief state veterinary health officer.

McCasland and others met to discuss methods of combating rabies, which is being reported this year at twice the 1978 rate.

The state health department has recorded 567 animal rabies cases this year, compared to 563 for all of 1978. Texas accounts for one-fourth of all reported cases this year.

This year's statistics break down to 450 skunks, or 80 percent; 44 dogs; 24 cattle; 16 cats; 12 bats; 9 horses; 7 foxes; and 5 raccoons.

"It's difficult to believe that with the thousands of rabid animals in Texas that there haven't been more cases in humans," said Dr. Jerome Greenberg, deputy state health commissioner.

Summit Participants

Set Oil Quotas

TOKYO (AP)—President Carter, claiming the economic summit "equaled our highest expectations," announced today the seven participants agreed to set specific individual oil import quotas through 1985.

Speaking to reporters, Carter said the United States would freeze its imports at the current level of 8.5 million barrels a day.

The U.S. president said individual quotas for European nations would be fixed at the next meeting of the European Economic Community in Dublin next fall.

Carter prepared to fly to South Korea for a state visit shortly after the summit concluded.

He said Japan and Canada have agreed to limit their oil imports but did not disclose the figures involved.

Later, joining the other summit participants at a joint news conference, Carter said "we deplore the decision" of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to raise prices by a further 21.5 percent.

Roloff Indicted

For No License

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP)—Evangelist Lester Roloff spent a tearful 65th birthday after being indicted for operating a child care home without a license.

The indictment, returned by a Nueces County grand jury Thursday, came less than a week after Roloff yielded to state pressure to close the Rebekah Home for Girls.

"What is my crime? Is it a crime to do good?" asked Roloff, who shed tears Thursday night as his congregation sang "Happy Birthday" during a celebration at the People's Church.

Roloff is accused of operating the home without a license on or about May 11, a day County Attorney Mike Westergren said was picked at random. The charge, a Class B misdemeanor, carries a maximum penalty of six months in jail and a $1,000 fine.

"Our county attorney, Mike Westergren, was very insistent that the grand jury indict this notorious criminal as a lawbreaker," Roloff told a nearly full house.

July 4th Drivers To Find Gas Scare Scarce

By The Associated Press

A Rhode Island supplier said sales for traditional clambakes at the shore were off and a Maine town offered tourists free gasoline, as the spreading fuel crunch clouded travel plans for the weekend and July Fourth holiday.

A spot check by the Associated Press showed that weekend gasoline supplies were tight in 35 states, with the biggest pinch in the heavily populated cities in the East.

Seventy percent of West Virginia's gas stations were expected to be closed Saturday and 95 percent Sunday. In Portland, Ore., 93 percent were expected to be closed Sunday.

The situation has "stabilized at disaster," said the Automobile Club of New York, where gas lines stretched up to 2½ miles this week and prices ranged up to $1.60 a gallon.

The Automobile Association of America said the average gas price across the nation was 94.3 cents a gallon—and OPEC adopted a new pricing system that will add four cents to that in the months ahead.

In Orange, Calif., a dealer who has been having trouble getting adequate allocations said he will begin selling fuel for $5 a gallon Monday. Tony Grasso said he's aiming at drivers who hate lines.

Grain

U.S. farm exports, the outlook board said.

It added that large stocks and favorable growing conditions so far in key areas "will temper prices over the next year" if they continue.

No forecasts of actual crop production were included in the report. The department's first corn production estimate will be issued July 11 and the monthly soybean estimates begin Aug. 10.

Nearly ideal weather produced a record 7.1 billion bushels of corn, up by more than 10 percent from 6.43 billion in 1977, the previous high. Soybean output went to a record 4.4 billion bushels, up 4.5 percent from 1977.

The Crop Reporting Board said farmers are boosting soybean plantings 12 percent to a record 71.7 million acres, compared to 64 million acres in 1978.

An increase in livestock feeding also is a big factor in the demand for feedgrain and soybean meal, with expansion of pork and poultry supplies providing larger markets.

In all, the report said, farmers will have about 100 million acres of livestock feedgrains for harvest this year, down 4 percent from 1978.

The report said farmers planted 15.6 million acres of sorghum, down 6 percent from last season; 14.1 million of oats down 14 percent; 8.06 million of barley, down 19 percent and 3.07 million of rice, slightly less than last season.

Food-grain acreage for harvest was put at 66.2 million acres, including wheat and rice up 9 percent from last year.

Cotton farmers said they are planting 13.9 million acres, up 4 percent from less than 13.4 million acres harvested last year, the board said. Cotton production, beset by poor yields, dropped 25 percent to 10.8 million bales last year.

Of the major crops, only plantings of spring wheat were not even with or well ahead of the June 1, 1978, pace.

The board two weeks ago pegged the 1979 winter wheat crop at 1.43 billion bushels, up 14 percent from 1978, the smallest crop in five years. Growers are now harvesting about 42 million acres of winter wheat.

telephone calls, private line service or directory assistance calls.

Under the proposed rates, the maximum charge to install one new telephone would increase from $44.60 to $54.30.

"Continuing growth and inflation leave us no choice but to ask for increased rates," Rogers said.

"In the past three years, we've spent almost $3 billion in construction expenses to keep up with increasing demand for customer service across Texas. This year, we expect to spend another $1.2 billion on construction. We have no choice but to spend those dollars. Meeting growth is part of our obligation as a public utility.

"Meanwhile inflation continues at a rapid rate. We've trimmed expenses, we've generated additional revenues through sales efforts, and improved technology has helped blunt the effects of increased cost. Yet, our earnings in Texas still fall well below our need."

House Weakens Oil Profits Tax

WASHINGTON (AP)—The "windfall profits" tax, weakened on the House floor, is headed to the Senate where influential oil-state lawmakers are expected to try to reduce its bite on oil companies even more.

The House watered down the tax Thursday, agreeing with arguments that U.S. oil production could best be increased by leaving oil companies a bigger share of the profits from the decontrol of domestic oil prices.

"The telling argument was energy production," declared Rep. W. Henson Moore, R-La., one of the sponsors of the amendment to weaken the tax bite on oil companies.

The House Ways and Means Committee and the Democratic leadership had favored a tax that would have reclaimed about $44 billion of the oil companies' decontrol-related revenues between 1980 and 1984.

Moore argued that by cutting the tax by about $6 billion over that five-year period, U.S. oil production would be increased by 800,000 barrels a day, compared to 350,000 new barrels a day expected under the committee's tax.

"Congressmen can go home, now for July Fourth and tell their constituents, 'I voted for a tax that will keep you from being ripped off, but it will get you more energy,'" Moore said after the vote.

The Moore substitute is still tougher than the tax President Carter originally proposed and then challenged Congress to toughen.

The Senate Finance Committee, the bill's next stop, is slated to consider the tax next month.

The panel, chaired by oil industry ally Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., is expected to recommend a tax lower than the House measure. But in a letter read to the House during Thursday's debate, Long expressed concern that the Senate might toughen the House bill.

"There is nothing in the history of the Senate to demonstrate that it is less subject to over-reacting to the frustration and emotion of the moment than is the House of Representatives," Long said.

In other energy developments Thursday:

The Carter administration's chief inflation fighter, Alfred Kahn, said that "as a private citizen" he suggests gasoline retailers are engaging in price gouging. He also said the administration ought to consider gasoline rationing.

Two major fuel suppliers said consumers should hope for a mild winter because home heating oil prices will be approaching $1 a gallon.

The Energy Department is considering spending $50 million on radio, television, newspaper and magazine ads to encourage American households to conserve energy.

The House passed the Moore substitute on a 236-183 vote, with 90 Democrats—many from oil-producing states—joining 146 Republicans. Ten Republicans sided with 173 Democrats in opposing the amendment.

The vote was a stinging defeat for Democratic leaders, who had urged approval of the tougher levy.

FBI Seeks 4 for Judge Killing

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP)—

The FBI has information that four men sought in connection with the assassination of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. have been in a Houston apartment complex during the last three weeks, the San Antonio News reported Thursday in a copyright story.

While the FBI has refused comment on any aspect of the month-long investigation, the News said federal agents have been questioning residents and visitors at apartments near South Post Oak Road about persons sought for questioning in the Wood killing.

An area resident shown composite sketches Wednesday of six men and a woman by an FBI agent told the News that four of the men in the pictures looked very much like persons who had been in the apartments and nearby business firms in recent weeks.

Shoplifting

Charge Filed

By Police

Hereford police Thursday afternoon arrested a 27-year-old Mexican-American female for allegedly shoplifting a blouse from T.G. & Y. W. Park Ave.

According to reports, the woman was stopped by store personnel as she was leaving, carrying the blouse in her hand.

Officers received a complaint from Adolpho Rocha, 339 Ave. G, that a prowler was standing near his car Thursday night. The prowler ran when Rocha went outside to investigate.

Police were notified that motorcyclists were racing on Ranger St. near King's Manor Nursing Home after midnight today. Officers issued three citations for exhibition of acceleration in connection with the complaint.

Other traffic citations Thursday included three for speeding, one for no motorcycle helmet (juvenile offense), three for no driver's license, one for running a red light, one for backing unsafely and one for failure to control speed.

Minor traffic accidents were investigated Thursday afternoon in the alley behind 400 W. Main and in the 1100 block of E. 1st.

The agent told the president the four men had been seen in the vicinity of San Antonio's Chateau Dijon townhouses. Wood was shot to death the morning of May 29 as he was leaving his townhouse.

The person interviewed could not identify the other three persons in the picture.

The four men who were recognized, the News said, appeared to be young—from their mid-20s to mid-30s. One had a mustache but the others were clean shaven.

A federal investigator who asked not to be named commented that citizens are often mistaken in making identifications from police composites.

The apartment complex in question is in the same area where a 52-year-old man sought in connection with the Wood killing eluded the FBI last week.

The agents reportedly interviewed the man, then went outside his apartment after telling him they wanted to talk to him more.

It is not known why the agents left the man alone, but when they did, he left through the rear of his apartment, Houston police confirmed to the newspaper.

The FBI has acknowledged that "some aspects" of the Wood investigation are centered in Houston; but that the case is also being investigated in other Texas cities.

El Paso, considered by authorities to be a center for drugs being brought into the United States from Mexico and South America, has been mentioned frequently in the investigation.

Rewards in Wood death now total $125,000.

Truckers Pull Back Blockades

By ERIC KRAMER
Associated Press Writer

Truckers have pulled back from blockades in New England and National Guardsmen have begun to go home in other states, but motor freight traffic remains widely disrupted as violence continues to mark the independent truck drivers strike.

Rigs that had blocked three major central Massachusetts truck stops for two weeks pulled away Thursday, and drivers said they hoped the federal government would meet their demands for more and cheaper diesel fuel, higher speed limits and fewer highway regulations.

Connecticut truckers said they would discontinue sporadic fuel pump blockades. Picket lines came down in Michigan and at a major truck stop near Denver. Washington state truckers returned to the road.

More trucks were reported piling up to produce docks in Virginia, where farmers in Accomack and Northampton counties had been unable to get potatoes and other crops to market.

There were no reports of widespread food shortages, but grocers had to scramble for supplies. Charles Gill of the Associated Grocers in Wyoming, Kansas and Colorado, said he had purchased beef from local packing plants and arranged rail shipments of oranges from Florida and potatoes from California.

In Dallas, Safeway Stores have increased local produce purchases at higher prices. Spokesman Bill Callinan said warehouses were staying open longer to receive disrupted shipments.

California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. promised to announce a plan to ease the diesel fuel shortage so California produce could be taken to market. Fruit and vegetable crop losses already are estimated in the millions of dollars.

Pickets withdrew from oil terminals in Greensboro and Charlotte, N.C., Thursday in response to a court order. National Guardsmen armed with rifles and automatic pistols were stationed at the terminals to prevent disruption of gasoline shipments.

Sorority Attire Modeled by Coeds

College-bound girls who plan to go through rush this fall were entertained by Hereford Panhellenic Association Wednesday evening in the E.B. Black House. Refreshments of finger sandwiches, fresh fruit, cookies and iced tea were served to members and guests.

Informally modeling examples of clothing to be worn to the various rush parties were Hereford sorority girls Dana Hutchins, Pi Beta Phi at Texas Tech; Lisa Lyles, Gamma Phi Beta at Texas Tech; Rhonalea King, Alpha Chi Omega at Texas Tech, and Rhonda Hall, Zeta Tau Alpha at West Texas State. These girls and association members participated in an informal discussion and answered questions from the spring graduates and their mothers.

Guests were Elizabeth Andrews, Mrs. Joe Andrews, Lisa Drake, Mrs. Lee Drake, Jana Green, Mrs. Earl Green, Mary Koozer, Lynn Mitts, Carle Moten, Stephanie Paetzold, Mrs. George Paetzold, Staci Payne, Mrs. G.W. Payne, Sheila Rowe, Kristi Shook and Janis Simpson. Other guests were Cindy Donnell, Jo Beth Nepper and Charlotte Tyler.

In charge of arrangements for the party was association president Janice Carr. She was assisted by Roberta McNeese, hospitality chairman; Terie Beth Line, who was in charge of the program; and Judy Stoy, rush registration chairman.

Other members who assisted were Patty Brock, Sue Brown, Carolyn Cannon, Lynn Carter, Margaret Formby, Dolores Foster, Sharon Hodges, Marsha Jones, Susie Mannschreck, Sheri Sargent, Susan Shaw, Susan Sublett, Meredith Wilcox and Marsha Winget.

Style Show Hosted

The Hereford Panhellenic Association staged a party Wednesday night for girls planning to go through sorority rush on college campuses this fall. The party was held in the E.B. Black House. DEAR ANN LANDERS:

According to The Illinois Church Action on Alcoholic Problems, alcohol is the No. 1 cause of death among persons from 15 to 24 years of age. Here are the facts:

In 1976 (latest official figures) in the 15-to-24 age group there were 46,081 deaths. The leading causes of death were accidents, murder, suicide, cancer, and heart disease, in that order. But actually, alcohol caused most of the accidents and murders as well as a third of the suicides. Here's the breakdown:

Accidents:
Cause of death - Motor vehicle, 16,560 dead, 60 percent caused by alcohol.
Cause of death - Drowning, 2,090 dead, 69 percent caused by alcohol.
Cause of death - Other, 5,576 dead, 50 percent caused by alcohol.
Cause of death - Murder, 5,038 dead, 86 percent caused by alcohol.
Cause of death - Suicide, 4,747, 68.6 percent caused by alcohol.
Total dead 34,101, 68 percent caused by alcohol.
Cancer - 2,659 dead, some caused by alcohol.
Heart Disease - 1,072 dead, percentage unknown.
You can see that alcohol killed over 23,255 of America's youth in one year. This is over half of all deaths in this age group. -- R.M. Of Chicago

DEAR R.M.: Thank you for the figures. I'm not a statistician and can't vouch for them, but I hope all teenagers who read this will ask themselves, "Is getting bombed worth the risks involved?"

DEAR ANN: It's obvious you have never known anyone with an authentic case of telephonitis. Your comment that he wants "to be put in touch with what's happening" is pure rubbish. He wants no such thing. He is enchanted by the sound of his own voice and has no interest in listening. I have actually dozed off, awakened several minutes later, and the yakker was still at it -- none the wiser.

I am not a cold-hearted person. I realize the telephonaholic is lonely, but I'm a busy woman and don't wish to serve as a substitute for therapy. I've said, "I must run now, I'll talk to you later." (The monologue goes on.) I've also tried this one. "I'm expecting an important call and must release the line." Result? Anger and hostility.

I'm afraid there is no way to get away from the telephone pest short of being so blunt that it may end the friendship. I hate to sound like a cynic. Ann, but the best solution is to be brutally frank and let the chips fall where they may. -- Free At Last

DEAR FREE: Thanks for your opinion, but there must be a more humane way to extricate yourself from those lonely, neurotic people. Think harder, dear.

DEAR ANN: We are fundamentalists and believe the Bible is the word of God. Still we do not know how to answer when our son asks us if his pet cat who died last week will be in heaven when he gets there. Can you tell us? -- Hopeful

DEAR HOPEFUL: In the Letter to the Ephesians it says "everything in heaven or earth shall find its fulfillment in Christ. So -- you can tell your son. "Yes ..."

THE DIGNITY OF PRIVACY

By PATSY GILES

Sometimes it seems that we have forgotten the fact that some things are very personal, and therefore should be private. Certain bodily functions, sexual activities, and deep emotional reactions are a few of these.

I'm sure we are all aware of and may be uncomfortable with our being constantly subjected to personal matters via television, radio, and other media. Sure, these matters are a fact of life, and we should have healthy feelings about all aspects of ourselves. What are we doing, however, to people's dignity when nothing is personal anymore? Most people are not opposed to sexual activities, and other necessary human functions, as such. None of these, however, are spectator sports.

The invasion of one's privacy through the emotional aspect is perhaps more subtle, but just as undignified. Any type of close group talks may lead to this type of revelation. Church groups, counseling groups, or common-need groups are places where one may be pressured to share more about himself than he really cares to with virtual strangers. Have we left someone with his dignity when he becomes so emotional that he cries publicly or vents open hostility?

Deep emotions also are a fact of life, but again may be personal, and not subject to the scrutiny of virtual strangers. One-to-one counseling, requested by the individual, may alleviate or evoke some emotionally-charged problem. A group leader who pushes someone into a traumatic situation which results in strong emotional release and also leads group members to pressure the individual is, I feel, invading that person's privacy. He also, in a sense, is stripping that person of his dignity.

We deserve the dignity to be a private person in dealing with our deepest emotions.

Harman Family Reunited Here

A family reunion was held Sunday June 24th at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Hendon, 126 Kingwood. Mrs. Bessie J. Harman, now 90 years old, has five living children. All attended the reunion.

There are 15 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren. A highlight of the reunion was a large cake decorated with a family tree, the date and "Gathering of the Clan" written on it. Food and conversation was enjoyed throughout the afternoon and evening.

Those attending the reunion were Bessie J. Harman, Hereford; Mr. and Mrs. Pick Harman, Hereford; Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Butler (Virginia Harman) Richmond, W.Va.; Hugh Harman, Guyton, OK; and his two daughters, Pam Harman, Amarillo, and Mr. and Mrs. Carrie Perkins (Jerre Harman) from Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harman, Dimmitt and their four children and seven of their eight grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Vic Nelson (Dana Harman) and daughters, Brian and Brady of Olton, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Martin (Jo Lynn Harman) and daughters, Holly and Dolly, from Midland; Mrs. Darrell McLain (Linda Harman) and two children, John and Amy, from Hart; Bill Harman Jr., and daughter, Renea, Dimmitt;

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Parker (Cathy Harman) and daughters, Audrey and Erin, Boise City, OK; Julie and Jennifer Nall, daughters of Mrs. Peggy Ogles (Peggy Harman), Boise City, OK; Mrs. La Verne Wells, Boise City, OK; Patti Hendon, daughter of the Hendons. Jane Hennessey from Guyton, OK, also attended the reunion. Dr. and Mrs. Paul Hendon, Miami, Florida and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hendon, Irving, sons of the Hendons, were present through telephone calls.

MALES

A back Doberman pincher, owner-will have to identify to claim.
A German shepherd, mature dog, very nice

Pet owners need to be aware of the current outbreaks of rabies throughout the Southwest and have their pets inoculated for the protection of the owner and animal. Also, individuals who lose a pet are asked to NOT call the animal control officer. Instead, a pet owner should visit the City Shelter on a regular basis and make a visual check of the impounded dogs.

With the current daily load of stray animals, it is not possible for the animal control officer to remember each dog. Pet owners whose dogs are properly identified with rabies tag and Hereford City license tags will automatically be contacted if their animal is found. Otherwise, it is the owner's responsibility to check the pound for a missing pet.

Individuals interested in adopting either of the above dogs are asked to call the animal control officer at 364-2323.

Poultry, Pork Cited As Grocery Bargains

COLLEGE STATION — Best buys at Texas grocery markets this week include poultry and pork, fresh produce and several "specials" along the aisles, says Gwendolyn Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

POULTRY — Eggs are among today's best food values.

Feature prices appear on fryer chickens, both whole and parts, and some features are available on turkeys 10-14 pounds.

PORK — Many specials include Boston butt roasts, end and mixed chops, rib-end roasts and liver. Smoked specials are semi-boneless hams and bacon.

FRESH VEGETABLES — Cabbage supplies are increasing and prices are dropping.

Green beans and potatoes have attractive prices.

Reasonable prices appear on head lettuce, onions, carrots, celery and soft-shell squash.

FRESH FRUITS — More peaches coming to market mean more moderate prices.

Prices are lower on watermelon, cantaloupe and honeydew melons.

Also, consider plums, apricots and cherries.

GROCERY MARKET AISLES — A few sales are underway on processed fruits and vegetables before the new pack starts.

Other key items are peanut butter, tea bags, cake mixes, sugar and an assortment of condiments.

"I knew we had them when we were in their bullpen in the first inning," the Texas manager said after the Rangers' 14-4 victory Thursday night.

Texas erupted for 14 hits and 12 runs in the first two innings against three California pitchers.

Texas' Ferguson Jenkins took care of the rest, racking up his seventh complete game and raising his record to 8-4. He struck out eight and walked only one, holding California to five hits as Texas swept the three-game series.

The win, the sixth straight for Texas, keeps the Rangers in a first-place tie with Kansas City and the Angels two games back. California had a 5½-game lead eight days ago in the American League. Western Division, but has lost seven straight.

Catcher Dave Roberts went 4-for-5 in his second straight night as a replacement for Jim Sundberg, who was hit in the head by a pitch in the first game of the series.

Second baseman Bump Wills was 4-for-6 and designated hitter Eric Soderholm was 3-for-4 with two doubles. Left-fielder Billy Sample was only 1-for-5 but knocked in four runs and scored twice.

"You just have a freak game like that sometimes," Roberts said.

"Both teams will tell you you just have three or four games like that a year and you hope you're on the winning side."

Starting pitcher Jim Barr, 3-and-4, just lasted one-third of an inning. He threw 11 pitches, faced six batters, and was out of the game, having given up five singles.

Reliever Ralph Botting, making his major league debut, also was drowned in the deluge. The Rangers went single, single, single, double, sacrifice fly against him to complete their nine-hit, eight-run first-inning explosion. He lasted two-thirds of an inning and left with an earned run average of 81.0.

"It was just one of those nights. It takes me a while to get going, and everything they swung at in the first inning fell for hits. Some they hit hard, some they didn't," Barr said.

Jenkins said he "felt great the first six innings. The last three, I felt done on both sides." Carney Lansford homered against him in the sixth and Don Baylor in the seventh. Then he gave up a single and a double in the ninth when California got its last two runs.

California, which has now lost back-to-back three game series to Kansas City and Texas, opens another three-game series in Kansas City tonight. Oakland moves in for a three-game series here.

In other American League games, the Kansas City Royals edged the Oakland A's 7-6; the Cleveland Indians beat the Baltimore Orioles 6-3; the New York Yankees stopped the Toronto Blue Jays 5-3 in 10 innings; the Detroit Tigers whipped the Boston Red Sox 6-3; the Chicago White Sox beat the Seattle Mariners 2-1 and the Milwaukee Brewers topped the Minnesota Twins 6-5 in 10 innings.

Billy Sample knocked in four runs for the Rangers while Bump Wills and Dave Roberts smashed four hits apiece. Jenkins gave up only five hits to the slumping Angels, who lost their seventh straight game.

Royals 7, A's 6
Al Cowens' RBI single capped a two-run ninth, leading Kansas City over Oakland. Jamie Quirk led off the inning with a single off Dave Heaverlo and went to second on Willie Wilson's sacrifice bunt.

After George Brett was walked intentionally, Amos Otis singled home the tying run and sent Brett to third before Cowens delivered the game-winning hit. Al Hrabosky was the winner in relief.

Indians 6, Orioles 3

Ron Hassey drove in three runs and Rick Wise and Sid Monge combined on a five-hit attack as Cleveland beat Baltimore and ended a 10-game losing streak. Hassey singled home a run during a two-run second inning and had a two-run double in the fourth, doubling his 1979 RBI total for 14 previous games.

Wise allowed all five Orioles hits, including Lee May's 12th homer, before needing Monge's last-out relief help.

Yankees 5, Blue Jays 3

Jim Spencer doubled home the tie-breaking run in the 10th inning and scored on an error by losing pitcher Mark Lemongello as New York defeated Toronto.

Lou Piniella singled with one out in the Yankee 10th and Spencer, who had entered the game as a pinch-hitter in the seventh inning, drilled a pitch from Lemongello, 1-8, off the center field fence to break a 3-3 tie. Graig Nettles then grounded to second, but Lemongello, covering first base, let Dan Ainge's throw get past him for an error, allowing Spencer to score.

Tigers 6, Red Sox 3

Champ Summers drove in three runs with his third homer in as many games as Detroit defeated Boston. Tiger starter Jack Billingham scattered seven hits in seven innings to pick up the victory with relief help from Aurelio Lopez. Boston starter Steve Renko took the defeat.

White Sox 2, Mariners 1

Ross Baumgarten and Steve Trout scattered nine hits to lead Chicago over Seattle. Trout came on in the ninth with Seattle leading 2-0 and two runners aboard and nobody out. The reliever gave up a bunt single to Dan Meyer to load the bases, but then pitched out of the jam as Seattle scored its only run on a double-play ball.

Jorge Orta's RBI single in the first inning gave the White Sox a 1-0 lead and they built it to 2-0 on Chet Lemon's run-scoring single in the top of the ninth.

Brewers 6, Twins 5

Ben Oglivie's tie-breaking home run in the 10th inning powered Milwaukee over Minnesota. Oglivie's blast came off Mike Marshall, 9-7, with two out and overshadowed a comeback rally by the Twins, who had tied the game with two runs in the ninth. Bill Castro picked up the victory in relief.

But Giants Need Pitching

Madlock Trade Creates Stir

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — There was considerable clubhouse grumbling over the trading of second baseman Bill Madlock, but then the San Francisco Giants went out and demonstrated why pitching help was urgently needed.

The Giants, who have made a habit of squandering early leads, went ahead 4-0 in the first inning and then made general manager Spec Richardson look good when the Houston Astros roared back for a 6-5 victory Thursday.

Again, the club was betrayed by its bullpen — one reason Richardson sent Madlock to Pittsburgh for right-hander Ed Whitson and two minor league hurlers. Earlier in the day, Heiry Cruz was dealt to Cincinnati for reliever Pedro Borbon.

Pitching is obviously not an Astros problem, one reason Houston leads the western division. Right-hander Rick Williams, 3-3, survived a shaky start and Randy Niemann registered his first save.

Bill North's triple and Willie McCovey's three-run homer, his 12th of the season and 517th overall, got the Giants going in the first before Williams settled down and pitched shut-out ball until the eighth.

"I got everything together after McCovey's homer," said Williams. "It didn't bother me because I realized a lot of other guys are on his homerun list. But then I got into a groove and all my pitches were working."

Giants' right-hander Ed Halicki, making his first appearance since May 26 after coming off the disabled list, survived the first two innings, but was touched for two runs in the third.

The Astros' Terry Puhl walked, stole second, advanced to third on a wild pitch and scored on a grounder, igniting the comeback. Cesar Cedeno followed with a single, stole second and scored on Enos Cabell's double.

"I stunk," said Halicki, who was tagged for a leadoff homer by Alan Ashby in the fourth and lifted shortly thereafter. "I actually threw the ball fairly well, but I had no control."

Halicki was replaced by loser John Curtis, 3-4, who yielded successive singles to Puhl, Craig Reynolds and Cedeno before walking in what proved to be the winning run, concluding the four-run fourth.

The Giants made it interesting when Jack Clark and McCovey started the eighth with singles, chasing Williams. Niemann yielded a sacrifice and a run-scoring grounder by Terry Whitfield before working out of trouble.

"Our pitching is in much better shape now," said Astros' manager Bill Virdon. "Ken Forsch is back, so Williams and Niemann are battling to stay in the rotation."

Joe Strain, recalled by the Giants from Phoenix to take over at second base, was hitless in three at bats, but handled six fielding chances flawlessly in his major league debut.

Borbon, anxious to join the Giants, arrived in time to warm up in the eighth inning. "I'll be ready any time they need me," offered the rubber armed right-hander.

Borbon's former teammates, the Reds, begin a four game series here tonight. Houston, which has won nine of its last 11 games, opens a series tonight at San Diego.

Six-Player Trade Has Some Pirates Looking Over Shoulders

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two-time National League batting champion Bill Madlock won't arrive in Pittsburgh until Sunday. But the six-player trade involving the former San Francisco Giant already has a couple of Pirates looking over their shoulders.

Manager Chuck Tanner said Thursday he would alternate Madlock with third baseman Phil Garner and second baseman Rennie Stennett.

"It will depend on who is going good or who isn't going good," Tanner said, following the deal, which also sent pitcher Ed Whitson to the Giants.

Madlock, 28, began this season with the highest career batting average of any active player in the league, .325, although his average so far this season stands at .261.

"We have three big leaguers, all regulars, to play two positions," said Stennett, batting .235. "I'll go along with the program. Eventually, though, something will happen. Anybody who has been around baseball knows something will happen," he said, declining to elaborate.

Garner, hitting .292, had this to say:

"Madlock is an established hitter, and he will help us. But I don't know how I'm going to feel if I stop hitting and find myself on the bench."

The trade also brought to Pittsburgh relief pitcher Dave Roberts and former major league infielder Lenny Randle. Roberts will join the Pirates this weekend, and Randle will be assigned to the minors.

Meanwhile, Pittsburgh sent the Giants two minor league pitchers, Al Holland and Fred Breining.

"We're giving up a good pitcher in Ed Whitson and two good young prospects," said Pirate General Manager Pete Peterson. "But to get something, you have to give something good."

Madlock said he was not disappointed with leaving San Francisco, where he had some angry words with team officials.

"I don't worry about what his problems were out there," said Tanner. "I just want to get him here and see what he can do for us."

Madlock, who won batting titles in 1975 and 1976 with the Cubs, isn't expected to arrive until Sunday due to a death in his family. When he arrives, the Pirates will send utility man Matt Alexander to the minors.

Meanwhile, Whitson said he was surprised.

"Everyone thought Rennie was going to be traded," said Whitson, 2-3 with Pittsburgh in 19 appearances.

"I'm not unhappy about it."

Gold Sox Edged by Midland, Santone Defeats El Paso

By The Associated Press

Chico Alfaro's three-run homer was the big blow in a five-run outburst in the fifth inning Thursday night as the Midland Cubs edged the Amarillo Gold Sox, 6-5, in a Texas League baseball game.

In other Texas League action, Arkansas slipped past Jackson in 10 innings, 7-6. San Antonio defeated El Paso, 6-2, and Shreveport trounced Tulsa, 18-0.

It was Alfaro's ninth home run of the season and helped Mark Parker, 5-5, pick up the pitching victory. Mark Thurman, 0-1, was the loser.

Gene Roof's double and Neil Fiala's sacrifice in the 10th inning helped the Arkansas Travelers to a 7-6 victory over the Jackson Mets. Jody Davis and Ronald McDonald each homered for the Mets.

Ray Searge, 6-0, was the winning Arkansas hurler. Pete Hamner, 1-2, was charged with the loss.

Catcher Pop Kearney gave his Shreveport Captains teammates a going away present in the 18-0 rout of the Tulsa Drillers. Kearney had a grand slam home run, his third homer in the last four games, in his final outing with Shreveport before leaving AA to go to the AAA Phoenix team in the Pacific Coast League.

Bob Brenley had two homers and a triple and drove in five runs for Shreveport and Craig Landis had four doubles and scored four runs.

Mike Tucker, 3-1, who allowed only five hits, was the winning pitcher. Len Whitehouse, 1-4, who tossed a no hitter at the same Shreveport team last Friday night, was the losing Tulsa hurler.

McCumber, McGowan Lead Memphis Classic

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) - Mark McCumber was taking it one shot at a time while Pat McGowan was following the advice of a colleague's caddy, but both golfers were leading the pack when the first round of the Danny Thomas Memphis Golf Classic ended Thursday.

McCumber, 28, winner of the Doral Open in March, and McGowan, 24, a second-year touring pro from Colusa, Calif., went into today's second round at the Colonial Country Club as 7,240-yard course with a pair of five-under-par 67s.

One stroke behind were Gary Koch and Tom Jenkins. At 69 were Gary Player, who won here in 1974, Wally Armstrong, Brad Bryant, Mike McCullough and Victor Regalado.

Defending champ Andy Bean was at 71 while two-time winner Lee Trevino, winner of the Canadian Open Sunday, was at par. Four-time winner Dave Hill was far back with a 77.

McCullough challenged the leaders with a front-nine 34 and moved to five under at 16, but he double bogeyed No. 17 and finished two strokes back.

McCowan, whose best effort this year has been a tie for fourth at Phoenix, roared into contention late in the day with a string of birdies and a pair of long putts.

McCumber complained that he hasn't been playing well in recent weeks. He took two weeks off to return to his Jacksonville, Fla., home where he and his brothers are building a golf course. The rest did him good.

"This is the best I've done in seven or eight weeks," he said in the clubhouse.

McCumber collected birdies on 6, 7, 9, 13 and 14. He holed out on 13 with a 30-foot putt.

"I'm taking one shot at a time and ignoring the consequences," he said as he explained his theory of isolating shots.

"I went through a period where I was thinking 'total.' My personal goal on the tour is to hit one shot at a time...pick a spot and hit the shot that has to be hit the best that I can."

McCowan, with $72,616 in earnings during less than two years on the tour, started slow, sank a 40-foot putt on No. 3, followed that with three par holes, then three birdies. He dropped a 55-foot putt for a birdie on No. 15.

"You know you're going to have a pretty good round if you don't have any bogeys," he said.

McCowan said Lee Lynch, who caddies for 1977 winner Al Geiberger, suggested that he change his grip and slow his swing for the colonial course.

"I've been swinging too hard," he said.

McCowan said his attitude has changed in recent weeks.

"I've been satisfied just making cuts instead of trying to win golf tournaments," he said.

"I'm trying to win this one."

Ayala Faces Bout In Political Ring

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - Boxer Mike Ayala, who lost a fight for the world featherweight title June 17, faces Round 2 of a bout in the political ring Monday.

That's when he is scheduled to receive the honorary Hidalgo title and a bronze medal from Bexar County, but his legal problems may get in the way.

The commissioners' court voted Monday to present the award to the 21-year-old boxer Thursday, but Commissioner Jeff Wentworth objected Wednesday because a constituent had pointed out Ayala's legal dilemma.

Ayala, who took World Boxing Council champion Danny "Little Red" Lopez into the 15th round, received a 10-year probated sentence earlier this year when he pleaded guilty to aggravated assault in the 1977 shooting of a sparring partner. He originally was charged with attempted murder.

The Bexar County Hospital District also has sued Ayala to collect more than $1,500 the boxer owes for treatment of his wife.

Hidalgo and bronze medals should be reserved for people who are not convicted felons and who have not had to be sued by the Bexar County Hospital District for collection of a debt," said Wentworth, who voted for the idea Monday.

Borg Faces Dual Problem: Thigh Injury, Hot Player

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) - Three-time Wimbledon champion Bjorn Borg faced dual threats to his title today, one in the form of hard-servicing American Hank Pfister and the other a thigh injury.

Borg rested Thursday and he and his coach were clearly worried about continuing his campaign today.

Referee Fred Hoyle ruled out any chance for a day's grace.

"If he is scheduled to play he must. There are no dispensations or favors for champions," he said.

The cool Swede apparently strained the leg during a tough five-setter against Indian No. 1 Vijay Amritraj Wednesday, but also found time to practice a Queen's Club.

Seven seeds have lost in the first two rounds. The two losing seeds Thursday were No. 6 Guillermo Vilas and No. 12 Manuel Orantes.

Tim Wilkison, a fresh-faced, 19-year-old from Shelby, N.C., beat Vilas 5-7, 6-2, 6-1, 7-6 to earn a third-round match against Tom Okker.

Little-known Frenchman Gilles Moretton conquered Orantes 7-6, 3-6, 7-6, 3-6, 6-1.

Vilas, who has won every major tournament except Wimbledon, was bitterly disappointed at his loss to the agile Wilkison.

No. 13 Manuel Orantes of Spain also fell Thursday, losing to little-known Frenchman Gilles Moretton 7-6, 3-6, 7-6, 3-6, 6-1.

Third-seeded Jimmy Connors lost the first set of his second-round match against 37-year-old Marty Riessen but went on to win 6-7, 6-3, 7-6, 6-0.

Connors, who has been elusive all week, once again refused to meet reporters.

Eighth-seeded Paraguayan Victor Pecci gave another impressive performance by beating veteran Australian Phil Dent 6-4, 7-6, 6-3.

In the women's singles, top seed Martina Navratilova and Chris Everett Lloyd had a day off, but fourth-seeded Tracy Austin opened her bid, dropping the first set before coming back to beat South African Brigitte Cuypers 4-6, 6-4, 6-2. Austin had had a first-round bye.

In contrast to the men, only two of the women's seeds failed to come through the second round.

Britain's Sue Barker was beaten in the first round, while U.S. teen-ager Pam Shriver withdrew with a shoulder injury.

Austin, who hasn't played for a week because of a groin muscle injury, was happy with her form against Cuypers.

"That was just the sort of match I needed," said the 16-year-old schoolgirl from Rolling Hills, Calif. "I just need a couple more matches to get my concentration back."

Austin has won 20 of her last 21 singles matches.

Astros, Reds Score Wins, Pirates' Foli in Brawl Again

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

Tim Foli is a scrapper from way back. Now with the Pittsburgh Pirates, the journeyman shortstop has had two stints with the New York Mets. And he has had run-ins.

During his first go-round with the Mets, in 1970 and 1971, he was involved in two different fights with his teammates. One was with Coach Joe Pignatano in spring training and another in the dugout with Ed Kranepool - two very unlikely sparring mates.

After several years with Montreal and a brief outing in San Francisco, Foli returned to the Mets in 1978. After a very quiet season, he was traded to Pittsburgh for Frank Taveras last April.

Thursday night, Foli picked on Mets catcher John Stearns, but this time it was during the heat of competition, not in anger.

With the Pirates trailing 2-1 in the bottom of the sixth, Foli doubled. Bill Robinson, who had homered in the fourth, singled in the direction of right fielder Joel Youngblood.

Youngblood threw the ball home on one hop, and Foli came crashing into Stearns. Stearns held onto the ball for the out, then grabbed Foli by the legs. The two rolled around, and both benches emptied toward the plate. No punches were thrown, and order was restored quickly.

"If I had to do it again, I would do the same thing," Foli said. "There was no malice. I wasn't trying to hurt anybody."

In the next inning, Stearns slammed a homer, his fifth this year, to give New York a 3-1 lead, and the Mets hung on to beat Pittsburgh 3-2. The Mets won three of five in their home-and-home series with Pittsburgh.

Reliever Neill Allen, 2-5, got the victory.

Elsewhere in the National League, Houston edged San Francisco 6-5, Cincinnati downed Los Angeles 2-1 and San Diego got by Atlanta 6-5.

Reds 2, Dodgers 1

Cincinnati sent the Dodgers to defeat for the third straight time and sixth time in seven games on the strength of first-inning RBI hits by Joe Morgan and George Foster.

Reds right-handers Tom Hume and Doug Bair limited the Dodgers to six hits.

Los Angeles scored its first earned run in 24 innings in the sixth when Reggie Smith doubled and later scored on Ron Cey's sacrifice fly.

Hume, 6-5, was the winner and Burt Hooton, 7-5, who went the distance scattering 10 hits, was the loser.

Padres 6, Braves 5

Jerry Turner doubled twice and drove in two runs, and John D'Acquisto, 4-5, went 7 1/2 innings in relief to beat Atlanta.

San Diego scored four runs after two were out in the fifth. Paul Dade doubled, Danny Briggs singled, and Turner doubled home two runs. Gene Tenace then singled home runner, kayaking rookie right-hander Tony Brizzolara, 2-3.

Braves reliever Mickey Mahler then walked Jay Johnstone, and Bill Almon's RBI single made it 6-2.

Joe Nolan hit a two-run homer for Atlanta in the eighth, and Padres reliever Rollie Fingers came on in the ninth to record his 11th save.

Unselfish play for the team is the motto of player Ron Plummer, second year participant in the American Legion baseball program.

"Ron is a great team player," coach Joe Dow Cummings said. "He will do the things needed to help the team win, regardless of what it does to his individual stats."

Plummer is a senior-to-be at Hereford High where he plays baseball for the Whitefaces. During this year in Legion he has provided some strong outfield play as well as being a stopper on the pitching staff in relief.

Plummer throws and bats from the right side and in his time away from the diamond is involved in Key Club and Boy Scouts. Other hobbies include playing the piano and flying model airplanes.

Game Competition Not Enough, Teams Go for 'Show Business'

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

Some people may recall when the chief attraction at a major league baseball game was the game itself. There was raw drama in a Babe Ruth home run and tingling excitement when Ty Cobb charged into second base spikes flying. Joe DiMaggio's grace and power; Willie Mays' flair for the spectacular and Sandy Koufax's 90 mph speed were appeal enough for the fans.

"No more: Today you've got to have exploding scoreboards, sexy cheer leaders, guys in chicken suits, bat days, helmet days and days when the Yankees, George Steinbrenner changes managers, is sports' age of gimmickry and press agency. Innovative Bill Veeck was largely the pioneer with his fireworks, midget batters and horse lotteries at Cleveland and Chicago. At Oakland, Charles O. Finley responded with his mule mascot, his bearded athletes, flashy uniforms, white shoes and orange baseballs. The game's hierarchy took a dim view of such shenanigans.

Now everybody's doing it.

Broadcasters Howard Cosell and Keith Jackson almost swallowed their Adam's apples when the Houston Astros sent out their "Blonde Angel," Sue Laws, in skin-hugging white satin to lead a songfest at Monday night's network game in the Astrodome.

The San Diego Padres are still going daffy over their talented "Chicken," a vaudeville act worth the price of admission in itself.

It's not exactly new stuff. Early in this century, an imaginative entrepreneur named Cash "n' Carry Pyle was mesmerizing the public with his carnival promotions in Madison Square Garden and P.T. Barnum was proving "a sucker is born every minute."

They were geniuses in their art. Pyle, Barnum, Veeck and Finley, but all have their match in a young man now beating the drums for the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Strikers soccer team.

His name is Andy "Satch" Furman. He is 29, Brooklyn-born and educated, sports information director at Brooklyn's St. Francis College and Tulsa's Oral Roberts University before joining the Strikers earlier this year.

The Oral Roberts basketball team had a high jumper named Lamont Reid. Furman dubbed him "Apollo 8." When ORU played a visiting Bulgarian team, Furman offered to let all persons of Bulgarian ancestry in free. Five thousand people with accents responded.

The privilege was accorded Indian Chiefs if they appeared with feather headdress for a game against the Oklahoma City Chiefs. One questionable Sitting Bull showed.

When a Strikers' star lost his sandals running on the beach, Furman offered two free tickets to anyone finding the footwear. He has sponsored "Grandma Night" (grandmas accompanied by a kid free) and "Gold Fish Night" (kids under 12 get certificates for gold fishes).

When the Strikers hit a four-game losing streak, a hypnotist was brought in to impart motivation.

Furman, "a boss once said, 'has an extreme dislike for empty seats.'"

Barnes Seeks Dismissal Of Assault Charge

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) - Former basketball star Marvin Barnes is attempting to have an assault charge that was filed against him by his estranged wife dismissed.

Raul Lovett, lawyer for the former National Basketball Association forward, said Thursday at the start of the state District Court trial of the case that Barnes' wife wants to drop the charge.

Because neither Barnes nor his wife were present at the hearing, the proceeding was postponed until today by Judge Vincent Ragosta. Lovett said he spoke with Barnes after the session and expected the former Providence College All-American to be in court today.

Barnes pleaded innocent May 29 to the charge after a dance they attended separately.

Lovett gave the judge the affidavit from Mrs. Barnes stating she wished to withdraw her charge, and he then moved to dismiss the charges.

But Sgt. William Schlageter, representing the city police department, objected to Lovett's request, arguing that Barnes and his wife should have to appear in court for cross-examination about the affidavit. Ragosta agreed.

Barnes was released last season by the Boston Celtics after a five-year professional career during which he played for the Spirits of St. Louis of the American Basketball Association and the Detroit Pistons, Buffalo Braves and Celtics of the NBA.

He has expressed interest in playing for the San Diego Clippers next season. San Diego Coach Gene Shue has said he will invite Barnes to the team's training camp.

Barnes has had legal problems throughout his college and professional career. In 1974, he pleaded guilty to assaulting PC teammate Larry Ketvirtis with a tire iron.

New Iran Government Wants Production Limits

BANDAR ANZALI, Iran (AP)—Iran's anti-royalist revolution has brought caviar, that most aristocratic of delicacies, within reach of Iranian proletarians for the first time in years.

But the new Islamic revolutionary government is just as anxious as deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi to impose tight production limits.

Such a move would inevitably make caviar once more available almost exclusively to the richest gourmets of the world.

Before the revolution caviar used to be sold in this Caspian port known as the world's caviar capital for a price set by a state monopoly of about $100 per kilo. A kilo is 2.2 pounds.

Now it is readily available, though illegally, at a black market price frequently less than $10 per kilo.

This has come about because the state fisheries and caviar monopoly has all but collapsed in the confusion following the revolution.

The monopoly is the only organization allowed to fish for sturgeon—a fish whose tiny black eggs are known as caviar—and to market the precious roe.

The sturgeon of the slightly salty, blue-green, landlocked Caspian produce the most coveted caviar in the world.

The virtual dissolution of Iran's police and security forces has provided local fishermen with a golden opportunity to fish for sturgeon. A single grown sturgeon can weigh several hundred pounds and net a poaching fisherman up to $1,500 more than a month's wages.

Fishmongers, both here and all along the Iranian-Caspian coast, openly display freshly cut sturgeon, a delicious fish, in the teeming bazaars of the coastal towns, or at stalls along the busy highways leading to the beach resorts. Caviar, kept in special round tins, is produced on request from iceboxes, where it must be kept to prevent it from going bad.

"The poachers are a serious threat to the very preservation of sturgeon, for such continued overfishing may lead to the species' extinction in the Caspian," warned Abbas Keshavarz, who as director of the main state fisheries and caviar depot, is the local caviar king.

Sturgeon poaching has been a lucrative tradition among local fishermen, but never before with so much profit and such impunity.

"It's a very serious problem and we hope the government will soon be in a position to control it once more," Keshavarz added.

The state monopoly has had strictly limited fishing quotas since it was established in 1952.

This has inevitably increased world prices, but it has at least preserved a continuing steady supply of caviar, a commodity that has been synonymous with something too lofty or delicate for the masses since Shakespeare's day.

Annual production has been around 200 tons, all but 10 percent for export. Of that kept for domestic use, a large quantity went to the royal court of the deposed shah and to Iranian embassies that became renowned for caviar and champagne parties. A large proportion was also snapped up by tourists, leaving little for the Iranian public.

Of the export quantity a little more than half goes to the Soviet Union, where caviar has long been considered an indispensable accompaniment for straight vodka. The rest goes to the United States, Europe and elsewhere where gourmets are prepared to pay high prices.

The current price at the monopoly's shops in Iran is still around $100 per kilo, but delicatessen shops in New York command as much as $625 per kilo for the top quality.

"Our main concern has been how to increase the sturgeon population and so increase caviar production in a controlled way," explained Dr. Hossein Emadi, the American-trained expert in charge of the monopoly.

To help achieve this, the monopoly invested $5 million six years ago to set up a sturgeon spawning farm. Additional units are expected to result in a doubling of caviar production in five years.

The female sturgeon are caught as they swim upriver to spawn. They are then induced to lay eggs at the farm in controlled conditions, ensuring that eventually as many as four million young sturgeons are released into the rivers flowing into the Caspian every year.

Experts believe as many as 4 percent of these grow to maturity, compared to less than 1 percent under natural conditions.

But, Emadi complained, the large Beluga sturgeon, which provide the top quality caviar, need 12-14 years to mature. This may leave an unfillable gap between when the offspring of the spawning farms are old enough to reproduce and when the poachers are controlled.

It could be that Caspian sturgeon are becoming a dying species—that the revolution that ended the world's oldest monarchy may also bring closer the end of a favorite food of kings throughout the ages.

Names in the News

MOSCOW (AP)—Malcolm Forbes, the Forbes in Forbes magazine, is taking his capitalist preachings right into the heart of the Soviet Union—and on a motorcycle yet.

Forbes and five other Americans arrived in Moscow after a week behind the Iron Curtain on the first-ever motorcycle tour of the Soviet Union by U.S. citizens.

"It's not like touring in America," the 60-year-old Forbes said. "There are no 28 delicious flavors of ice cream and very little cold drinks along the way. But if you want all that, then stay home."

Forbes, an adventurer as well as a publisher of the business magazine, relished his role as a "harbinger of capitalism in the land of communism." He tied to his bike a blue scarf emblazoned with his magazine's advertising slogan: "Capitalist Tool."

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Charlie Finley, flamboyant owner of the Oakland A's, has asked a federal court to dismiss an $11.5 million suit that alleges he failed to "reasonably" promote attendance at his team's baseball games.

The Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum filed the complaint April 25 saying Finley breached a 1968 contract agreement to "endeavor in good faith to obtain the maximum occupancy of the stadium.

The suit, filed before the 1979 season began, said that since 1975, A's home attendance has been down 50 percent. A hearing is set for July 30.

In his motion Wednesday for dismissal or summary judgment, Finley said the suit is "not only groundless but unquestionably premature."

NEW IBERIA, La. (AP)—Faced with community opposition, sponsors have withdrawn a request for permission to hold a 19-hour rock festival as the backdrop for a movie featuring Linda Ronstadt and other rock stars.

Caesar Comeaux, president of the Iberia Parish Police Jury said Wednesday night organizers of the concert withdrew their request for a permit required by the parish for all mass meetings except those involving labor and church groups. He said he understood Lafayette Parish was being considered as an alternate site.

Ed Clahan, executive producer of the movie, "Plantation Hill," had said earlier that the proposed film venture was well planned and well financed.

The concert was to have served as the backdrop for the movie starring Miss Ronstadt, Neil Young, the Beach Boys, Poco, Jackson Browne, Kenny Rogers, Boz Scaggs and others.

"YES, WE HAVE some bananas," is the new tune at this market in the Ugandan capital of Kampala. Before the overthrow of President Idi Amin, most fruits and vegetables were sold at inflated prices on the black market because many farmers were afraid to attempt to sell their produce. A stalk of bananas that now costs about $3 was priced at about $20 just three months ago.

NBC News Show Has High Rating

NEW YORK (AP)—It was a week heavy with ferrets, and that fact may have given a boost to the premier episode of "Prime Time Sunday," NBC's new entry in the news magazine field.

Indeed, the reception for "Prime Time Sunday," ranked 25th among 65 programs checked by the A.C. Nielsen Co. during the week ending June 24, would be encouraging for NBC under any circumstances.

The rating for the NBC News magazine's first show was 15.5, more than five points better than the average for "Weekend," NBC's entry last season.

Other programs being broadcast for the first time, only 16 shows during the week had not been seen in full before, and well, including "Julie Farr," M.C. on ABC, No. 15, and "Carter Country," likewise from ABC, No. 22 in the ratings.

But it was an old standby, and a repeat episode of "Three's Company," the most watched show for the sixth week in a row. The rating for "Three's Company" was 24.9, Nielsen says that means of all the homes in the country with television, nearly a quarter saw at least part of the program. NBC has been quite definite about its commitment to "Prime Time Sunday," which features Tom Snyder, host of the network's late night "Tomorrow" show. "Weekend" suffered in comparison to the competition, and relatively speaking, the takeoff for "Prime Time Sunday" was a good one.

CBS' "60 Minutes," consistently among the highest-rated programs, was No. 5 for the week, with a 21.9 rating, and ABC's "20/20" finished 41st for the week, with a rating of 12.7.

Despite the bright sign from "Prime Time Sunday," NBC failed to place a program in Nielsen's Top 10. CBS listed six of the week's 10 highest-rated shows; ABC had the other four, and the two tied for first in the networks' ratings race. The average rating for CBS and ABC was 14.9, with NBC last at 12.9.

The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 14.9 percent of the homes in the country with television were tuned to each of the front-running networks.

NBC's top-rated show was a movie, "Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore," on which the CBS situation comedy is based. The movie was tied for 18th in the ratings with CBS' "Dukes of Hazzard."

Here are the week's top-rated programs:

"Three's Company," with a rating of 24.6 representing 18.3 million homes; ABC's "The Jeffersons," 22.7 or 16.9 million; CBS' "Alice," CBS, and "Taxi," ABC, both 22.1 or 16.5 million; "60 Minutes," 21.9 or 16.3 million; CBS' "Mork and Mindy," 21.8 or 15.6 million; ABC's "Barnaby Jones," 20.9 or 15.5 million; and "All in the Family," 19.9 or 14.8 million; both CBS, and "M-A-S-H" and "One Day at a Time," both CBS, and "Happy Days," ABC, all 19.5 or 14.5 million.

Recession Means Lower Standards

NEW YORK (AP)—The combined effect of the dreaded I-R-S package, that is, inflation-recession-shortage, is likely to force Americans to cut back. But does a cutback mean a lowering of living standards?

No question: The I-R-S combine can do enormous damage to the economy, which is built on the assumption of plentiful supplies, an inspired consumer to want them, and a supply of money with which to buy them.

But what happens to the economy, assuming it occurs on a limited time scale, is not the very same question as what happens to the consumer.

The elderly, the infirm, the poor—some living at the limits of their finances and requiring special transportation, foods and medicines—could very well suffer if special measures aren't taken.

So could the unskilled, the poorly skilled and those whose skills are temporarily not in demand. So could the indebted household, and there are millions of them, whose loan repayments are beyond them.

But for millions of Americans the answer is not clearcut; it isn't at all certain that for them a cutback means regressing to an earlier, less advanced standard. Inconvenience might be confused with suffering.

So far, however, the answer—even by some government officials—has been yes, individuals must lower their standards. But only a little reflection suggests that for many the demotion may be in mind only.

The explanation lies in attitudes, habits, excesses. In rich food, needless travel, wasted energy. In calorie-larded diets, over-powered cars, overheated homes. In short, it lies in the family garbage heap.

Waste is an almost natural consequence of the super-consumer society, one in which acquisition doesn't stop when the need is met but continues in search of needs that might not have been discovered yet.

Statistically, a preponderance of evidence indicates that Americans can indeed cut back without materially lowering their living standards. And that in so doing, they might improve the quality of their lives.

Don't confuse today's longevity with soft living, the medical people say. They maintain it's a consequence of better medicine. They even insist that the modern consumer society is medicine's enemy.

The issue then is whether cutbacks lower living standards, or raise them instead. Even before I-R-S, the debate was on, with people wondering if somehow the quality of life was deteriorating.

Studies now show wealthy societies are demanding more fish, chicken, vegetables and grains, including pasta, foods long associated with less advanced societies. The trend is changing; people are reverting.

Musing about life as the industrial revolution was gathering steam, William Wordsworth observed: "The world is too much with us; late and soon, getting and spending, we lay waste our powers."

It's conceivable that some Americans, given time to reflect, might come to the same verdict a century-and-a-half later.

July 4th Gasoline To Be Expensive

HOUSTON (AP)—Texas service stations will be selling gasoline at a Fourth of July, but motorists will be paying at least a penny more a gallon for the fuel than they did last week, says the American Automobile Association.

About 71 percent of 415 service stations across the state surveyed by the AAA indicated they would be open July 4th, but planned to continue their policy of closing Saturday night and all day Sunday.

The AAA said gasoline supplies for the last week in June will tighten in Austin and San Antonio, while remaining about the same as last week for the rest of the state.

The price of self-service regular has risen to 80.3 cents a gallon, compared with 79.3 last week. Other new prices, and last week's costs, are:

Self-service, unleaded 84.3, 83.4; premium 86.1, 85.7; fullservice regular 82.7, 81.7; unleaded 86.7, 85.5; and premium 88.1, 87.2.

Diesel fuel soared 1.4 cents per gallon in the past week to 87 cents.

The survey showed that 75 percent of the stations will be closed Sunday, 72 percent weekday nights and 61 percent by 6 p.m. on Saturday.

While the station owners said the odd-even allocation system now used in Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth and counties bordering the big cities had reduced the length of lines at the gas pumps, almost none of them planned to change operating hours.

The AAA said the Beaumont area has below average fuel availability at night, while Amarillo, Corpus Christi, El Paso, Midland-Odessa and Waco were above average.

Assassination Attempt Refuted by Officials

MEXICO CITY, Mexico (AP)—Police and top security officials Wednesday denied reports from Tehran that an assassination attempt was made against Iran's exiled Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi at the Cuernavaca home where he and his family are living.

The head of Tehran's revolutionary court claimed that Iranian guerrillas attacked and slightly injured the shah, but "the jackal ran away this time."

"It is totally false. The reports circulating are just not true," said Capt. Miguel Mengochia Lopez, director of the judiciary police in Cuernavaca, 50 miles south of the Mexican capital.

Robert F. Armao, the shah's chief of staff, said in a telephone interview in New York that reports of an attack were "absolutely false." Armao made his comments before departing for Cuernavaca.

"There have been no attempts on his life or the lives of any members of his family whatsoever. Security remains constant. He's in excellent health," Armao said. He and the shah conversed by telephone at 2:35 a.m. EDT, he said, and "there are absolutely no problems."

Other security sources in Mexico, including one involved in guarding the shah, also denied the report, but asked that their names not be used.

A Mexico City newspaper, Diario de Mexico, reported a helicopter attack on the shah's retreat Tuesday night. No injury to the shah was mentioned. Other Mexican newspapers did not carry the report.

Armao, asked about the report of a helicopter attack, said there was no truth to the story and that on Monday afternoon a personal friend of the shah arrived for a visit via helicopter. He declined to identify the visitor.

Victoria Day was first observed in 1902, 16 months after the death of the queen. The holiday was held on May 24, Victoria's birthday, until 1952 when it was changed to the first Monday preceding May 25.
