Nelson denies influence

Used to cause selection of Brown

By O.G. NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

Deaf Smith County Commissioners "were not influenced and there was no conspiracy of any kind" in the appointment of Joe Brown as sheriff, County Judge Glen Nelson stated this morning.

Judge Nelson was contacted after Commissioner James Voyles made a public statement concerning the appearance of a local attorney at a closed session where the appointment was being considered.

"Voyles' statement was true, up to a point, but it left some things untold," said Nelson. "I regret the conidentiality of the meeting was broken, but I believe I should explain what happened as I see it."

Nelson added that "neither the statement made to the court by Schalan Atkinson, nor a letter from MAD (Mexican American Democrats) representative Rinaldo Garcia had any influence on the court's final decision."

Ms. Atkinson this morning said she wanted to make it clear that "she did not endorse Joe Brown or any other candidates" in her appearance before the commissioners. She declined to make any comment on other aspects of the controversy.

Commissioner Bill Brady, Precinct 1, contacted last night, confirmed the statement by Voyles, but Brady also had something to add. "I think the mistake was in allowing Atkinson to appear in the meeting, but I was not the presiding officer. She definitely did not influence my vote."

Brady said he was supporting Butcher and he wasn't sure how the others were going to vote. "Like Voyles, when it became apparent Butcher didn't have the votes, I voted for Brown in the interest in harmony of the court."

Judge Nelson confirmed that Ms. Atkinson came to him and said she had "valuable information" which the court should know about before choosing a sheriff. The judge allowed her to talk to the commissioners, and said she told them they'd be embarrassed if they picked someone who had worked for the sheriff's department in the past.

"She was asked for specific proof, but told the court that she could not present it at that time," said the judge.

"As I recall, one of the commissioners said we should not consider what she said, and I believe that was the consensus of the court."

Judge Nelson further explained how the selection process was handled in the closed session. He said all the candidates were discussed and "the court did not eliminate any names who had been associated with the sheriff's department."

He said after all the candidates were discussed, a

Representative candidates against taxes

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

Desires to maintain current tax rates were expressed Tuesday night by most of the five candidates for 86th District state representative.

The three Republican and two Democrat hopefuls were participating in a candidates forum sponsored by the legislative affairs committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. Their comments were preceded by remarks from one of the Deaf Smith County constable candidates and were followed by the three men wanting to be elected county sheriff.

Primary voting for all three positions is to take place Saturday, May 5.

Five hopefuls offer views Tuesday

Two of the three Republican candidates, John Smithee and Garth Thomas, told the Hereford Community Center crowd they unequivocally opposed any new taxes. Smithee, an Amarillo lawyer and businessman, said, "The money is there to fund the state of Texas. We can do it with $15 billion."

Thomas went a step further, saying he would abolish the ad valorem taxes now levied against farmers. "If you don't make any money," the retired civil serviceman said, "how can you be taxed on it?"

The other Republican hopeful, businessman Roger Ponce, said, "I don't believe in new taxes. If elected to the legislature, I would vote against any tax." However, he added he might be persuaded to support a 1 cent sales tax should it be of benefit to the state's educational system.

Democrat Charles Crow offered a similar response. "I oppose all new taxes...from the word go. Period," he said before claiming, "I'm not inflexible." Crow has a law practice in Amarillo.

Justin McBride, who for 22 years served as agriculture extension agent for Deaf Smith and Oldham counties, is the other Democratic seeking the representative spot. "The only tax I would consider having is the 1 cent sales tax," he said. "I would not favor any other increase in taxes."

Candidates were also asked to comment on recent recommendations for educational reforms by a state committee headed by H. Ross Perot.

Ponce allowed "there's a lot of meat in the plan," but felt there were a lot of questionable suggestions in the committee's final report. He favored gradual teacher salary increases, not the immediate 24 percent proposed by the Perot group.

Smithee and Thomas, meanwhile, said local school boards should decide salary schedules for their own

Sheriff not sure how he was selected

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

Recent revelations have left Deaf Smith County Sheriff Joe Brown wondering exactly how he was selected for the post.

"I don't know who appointed me any more," he said Tuesday night. "The county commissioners appointed me, I thought. That's all I can tell you."

Brown's remarks came during a candidates forum held in Hereford Community Center before approximately 200 onlookers. The other two candidates for sheriff, Dean Butcher and Paul Ramirez, also participated.

Comments from the sheriff hopefuls were preceded by some from one of the two county constable candidates and all five men seeking the 86th District state representative spot. Primary elections for all three races are slated for Saturday, May 5.

Brown's doubts stemmed from comments made Monday night during a Butcher rally in Deaf Smith County Bull Barn. A written statement by County Commissioner James Voyles, read to the gathering by Mary Parker, indicated Butcher would have been appointed sheriff instead of Brown were it not for threats made by a local attorney.

After Travis McPherson announced his resignation as sheriff last August, then Chief Deputy Dean Butcher was one of five men seeking to complete McPherson's unexpired term. According to Voyles, Butcher had at least three of the four court members' support before they were visited by Schalan Atkinson, a lawyer also in-involved in the various investigations of the district attorney's office, reportedly told commissioners they "would be very red-faced and embarrassed in about three weeks" if they hired anyone who was or had been connected with the then sheriff's department. She maintained she had proof of sheriff's department wrongdoings, though she refused to show it.

Parker is Butcher's campaign director.

Brown had been a longtime member of the Hereford Police Department, serving as a lieutenant before his appointment to sheriff.

Ramirez, meanwhile, served on the local police force for 17 years until March, 1983. Since June he has served as a deputy in Potter County.

Several questions were posed by a panel to the three candidates following their opening remarks. The three panelists are members of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce legislative affairs committee, which had sponsored three other candidates forums prior to Tuesday.

One of the panelists asked Ramirez if he was running because Butcher encouraged him to do so, thinking Ramirez' candidacy would steal some votes away from Brown. Did Butcher pay Ramirez' entry fee, Brand staffer Kim Thogmartin asked, and what promises, if any, were made?

"The county judge's office," Ramirez immediately deadpanned to the roaring delight of the audience. He then denied any tampering by Butcher. "There is no truth to this rumor whatsoever," he said. "I want the job."

Brown was asked several pointed questions, including if he had any racial quotas for hiring department replacements. "I don't see what the difference is if a person can do the job," was his response, which also drew hearty applause. He said no quotas existed.

The sheriff was also quizzed whether he had encouraged some department employees to support him. "I have yet to ask for any of my men or women in my department to campaign for me," he answered. "They're doing this on their own."

Butcher denied having ever violated transportation regulations during his stint as chief deputy, which he ended earlier this year to campaign for sheriff. He also said he had never purchased any confiscated property, as such is clearly forbidden by state laws.

In his opening remarks, Brown stressed he has encouraged deputies to enroll in classes and other educational offerings to keep them informed of the latest developments in law enforcement. "I think they need to be better trained," he said, "so they can serve you better."

Ramirez, next to speak, claimed "human compassion" has so far not been a campaign issue. "We in the law enforcement business are involved in the people business," he said. "I will approach this human factor with compassion."

Qualification, education and experience have been the cornerstones of Butcher's campaign, the former chief deputy remarked in his initial statement. He pledged to combat the area's drug and alcohol problems, complete jail reconstruction and reorganize the department.

When asked to give specific proposals for helping lessen drug and alcohol abuse, Brown said he now has four deputies working on the situation. Ramirez said he would encourage community involvement to obtain a solution, while Butcher expressed a similar suggestion.

Regarding establishment of morale and respect among department members, Ramirez said, "Work with them and respect them."

"We have to work as a team," Brown offered.

"In-line" supervision within the staff prompts respect, Butcher said, while morale comes when people take the initiative.

All three candidates said they felt the position of county constable was not needed.

Local Roundup

Forum to be on cable TV

Hereford Cablevision plans to broadcast the county commissioner and Tuesday night candidates forums every weekday at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. until the May 5 primary elections.

That announcement was made Tuesday by Jerry Morgan, chairman of the legislative affairs committee, which sponsored the forums. The committee is a branch of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

Tuesday's forum featured candidates for 86th District representative along with the Deaf Smith County constable and sheriff hopefuls. The Deaf Smith County Commission forum was conducted April 17 in Hereford Community Center, which also hosted Tuesday's event.

The cablevision broadcasts are to appear on subscribers' Channel 3.

Multiple pot plants found

Hereford police this morning arrested a 27-year-old man for possession of marijuana after discovering 144 pot plants growing in the man's house.

L. Vernon Hope said the plants ranged from four inches to two-and-a-half feet tall. Hope, he said, were acting on a tip when they searched the home.

Meanwhile, three juveniles were arrested Tuesday in connection with a series of burglaries that occurred over the weekend. Hope said the youngsters ranged in age from 13 to 15. Two other juveniles were arrested Sunday.

Police also investigated two bicycle thefts, four reports of harassments - including two by juveniles - and a report of vandalism involving an egged car.

The local police department made one arrest for driving while intoxicated and one for public intoxication.

Tickets are to be made available at the door or from any member of Boy Scout Troop 50.

Victim's fingerprint on item

SHERMAN, Texas (AP) — A Dallas County Sheriff's Department investigator says pieces of aluminum tubing confiscated from Lester Leroy Bower's home contained a fingerprint of one of the men Bower is accused of killing.

Lt. James Cron, in the second day of testimony in Bower's capital murder trial, testified Tuesday that the fingerprint was "definitely" that of Jerry Mac Brown, who was shot to death Oct. 8, 1983, in a hangar northeast of Sherman.

Bower is charged with killing Brown, 52, a Sherman interior designer; Bob G. Tate, 51, a Denison building contractor; Philip Good, 29, a Grayson County sheriff's deputy; and Ronald Mayes, 39, a former Sherman police officer.

Prosecutors contend Bower, a chemical salesman, shot the four men at an ultralight hangar at Tate's B&B Ranch and then made off with one of two aircraft at the hangar.

Defense begins calling witnesses

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) — Defense attorneys had the chance this morning to begin presenting Eroy Brown's side of what happened when the former inmate allegedly shot and drowned two prison officials.

Brown, 33, is being tried for murder in connection with the shooting of Ellis Unit prison farm manager Billy Max Moore in 1981.

The Waco native has already been tried and found innocent of capital murder in connection with the drowning death of Warden Wallace Pack, who accompanied Moore when the two were killed.

Brown has said he killed the two in the course of defending himself. He said he believed the men planned to torture him.

State soon to be No. 2

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas will become the nation's second-largest state before the end of the decade, and Austin will be its fastest-growing area over the next 25 years, a new study says.

The study, published by the University of Texas' Bureau of Business Research, says Texas will surpass New York in population by the mid to late 1980s.

The study also concludes that Texas will continue to experience high economic and population growth during the next 25 years, although that likely won't match the high rates of the past decade.

From 1982 to the year 2007, the Texas population is forecast to increase from 15.1 million to 22.1 million, an average annual rate of 1.5 percent. The state's real gross product also will increase, from $104 billion to $247 billion during that period, a 3.5 percent rate.

Millions in damage reported

MORGAN HILL, Calif. (AP) — Police closed off damaged homes today in the wake of a strong earthquake that caused millions of dollars in damage in Northern California, and authorities marveled that a tremor strong enough to crack bridges and a dam caused only 21 minor injuries.

The quake struck at 1:15 p.m. Tuesday and measured 6.2 on the Richter scale of ground motion. It was centered on the Calaveras Fault, about 12 miles east of San Jose and 50 miles south of San Francisco.

Although the tremor was felt for hundreds of miles, damage was centered in Morgan Hill, about 10 miles south of San Jose. Twenty-one people were reported injured, including two hospitalized with concussions and 19 treated and released, authorities said.

Ships wait out big chill

ABOARD THE MURRAY BAY (AP) — Capt. Kenneth Lowes' voice rose over the clamor of pneumatic paint chippers outside his stateroom as he folded a tattooed arm behind his head, leaned back and surveyed the plight of his crew, led by a spring ice jam.

"No sense in it getting on your nerves," the veteran of 38 years on the Great Lakes said. "Just take it as she comes, you can't do anything about it."

Lowes' ship, the Murray Bay, a 738-foot bulk freighter, sat empty in the Detroit River on Tuesday, one of dozens of ships trapped because of a jam in the St. Clair River.

Since April 6, the 40-mile St. Clair linking Lake Huron with Lake St. Clair has been choked by thick slush driven into the river by north winds and has frozen to the bottom in places.

Announcement expected

AGANA, Guam (AP) — American and Chinese negotiators "are very close" to a nuclear cooperation agreement and, if congressional leaders approve, an announcement will be made during President Reagan's visit to China, says presidential spokesman Larry Speakes.

Another official said he saw no reason why Congress would object and predicted the agreement would be announced while Reagan is in Peking this week. This official insisted on anonymity.

Reagan arrived here today for an overnight visit and the last stop before traveling on to China, a trip he says will "chart the direction" of U.S.-Chinese relations for years to come.

"We journeyed to China in a spirit of peace and friendship, realistic about our differences but desiring to build upon our common interests," Reagan said in a statement immediately before leaving Honolulu on Tuesday.

Witnesses see firing

LONDON (AP) — Witnesses saw someone inside the Libyan Embassy fire at protesters outside, and the gunman — who killed a policeman — is still in the besieged building, a police commander told an inquest today.

Commander Bill Hucklesby, who heads Scotland Yard's anti-terrorist squad, said witnesses reported seeing "smoke and flames coming from the barrel of the gun."

He appeared at an inquest into the death of Constable Yvonne Fletcher, who was shot April 17. Eleven people protesting the regime of Libyan leader, Gamar Khadafi were injured in the shooting.

"I believe the person or persons responsible for the shooting are still inside the embassy and every effort is being made to identify this person," Hucklesby told the inquest.

Price riots rock nation

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Troopers set up steel barricades today to seal off a burned and looted business district, and the death toll from two days of rioting over food price increases rose to least 31.

Police and soldiers used bullets and rifle butts Tuesday in their clashes with the rioters. It was the bloodiest violence since the nation's 1965 civil war.

Police and military troopers fired on rioters or clubbed them with rifle butts as street violence persisted into the early hours today.

The troopers, armed with automatic weapons and tear gas grenades, used steel barricades to seal off the historic "old city" business section of Santo Domingo where scores of shops and supermarkets had been ravaged by arsonists and looters.

Flames from burning buildings, buses and automobiles lit up the old city in the pre-dawn and periodic bursts of automatic weapons fire echoed in the streets. There was virtually no car traffic.

Authorities Tuesday shut down a radio station in Santo Domingo, the capital, and in Santiago, the Caribbean nation's second largest city 80 miles to the northwest. A Santo Domingo television station also was shut down and a TV commentator was arrested.

No charges were immediately filed against the commentator, but all three stations were accused by the government prosecutor of "alarming" the populace.

Tuesday's death toll included 14 people in Santo Domingo, six in Santiago, five in San Francisco de Macoris, 80 miles north of the capital, and one in San Cristobal, eight miles west of the capital.

Schools were ordered closed, although the heads of the army and navy met with police leaders Tuesday and claimed they were "in control of the situation."

A government spokesman said the situation was "still being analyzed" by President Salvador Jorge Blanco, who had made no public statements since the riots began.

Five labor unions called strikes Tuesday. On Monday, businessmen had staged a one-day strike to protest the price increases announced last week by Jorge Blanco as part of terms for a loan from the International Monetary Fund.

Most imports tripled in price and costs of domestic foodstuffs were raised as much as 80 percent in what Jorge Blanco said was a move to control "the national economic crisis."

Jorge Blanco, elected 20 months ago, visited the United States from April 10 to April 15. He met with President Reagan, who praised the development of democracy in the Dominican Republic, saying it "shines like a beacon for freedom-loving people everywhere."

Ruled by dictator Rafael Trujillo for 31 years until his 1961 assassination, the Spanish-speaking nation that shares Hispaniola island with Haiti burst into civil war on April 24, 1965, because of rebellion against a military-appointed government.

President Lyndon B. Johnson sent U.S. Marines to evacuate U.S. citizens and protect American interests during a five-month insurrection that led to new elections in 1966.

Work beginning on draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — An emergency package of Central American military aid will soon be put into final draft form by a House-Senate conference committee in an atmosphere of waning public support for undercover aid to Nicaraguan rebels, according to key members of Congress.

"I think what support existed for the covert war against Nicaragua has diminished," House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas, said Tuesday as Congress returned from its 11-day Easter recess.

Wright, who opposes aid to Nicaraguan guerrillas but supports military aid to El Salvador, also said, "I don't discern any change in the attitude toward our responsibilities with regard to El Salvador."

Alan Safran, a spokesman for Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Percy was in downstate Illinois during most of the recess and "found no support for the mining of Nicaragua's harbors."

"He found no real sentiment in downstate Illinois for leaving Central America entirely either," Safran said. He said Percy reported receiving "a lot of questions from people about U.S. policy in Central America" but not necessarily more questions than usual.

Before leaving on recess April 13, the House and Senate overwhelmingly passed a non-binding resolution condemning CIA participation in the mining of Nicaraguan harbors by guerrilla forces.

Before the CIA's role in the mining became known, the Senate approved a $21 million appropriation for continued support of the guerrillas in the current fiscal year, plus $62.7 million in emergency military aid for the beleaguered government of El Salvador.

The money, along with a variety of other appropriations, was grafted onto a House-passed bill that originally provided only $150 million in African drought relief. Altogether, as it cleared the Senate, the measure totaled $1.3 billion, including appropriations for bankruptcy judges and a lock and dam on the Columbia River.

Hart wins in Vermont; Mondale blasts Reagan

By WILLIAM M. WELCH

Associated Press Writer

Gary Hart has won another delegate contest in Vermont's caucuses and is attacking Walter F. Mondale for "failed vision," while the former vice president keeps his focus on President Reagan, saying he has pushed the world closer to nuclear holocaust.

Hart's margin of victory in Vermont's Democratic caucuses Tuesday night, where just 13 national convention delegates were at stake, was short of the 71 percent majority he ran up in that state's non-binding presidential primary in early March.

The Colorado senator had 49 percent of the vote with 81 percent of the caucuses reporting, compared to 33 percent for Mondale and 14 percent for the Rev. Jesse Jackson.

Both Mondale and Hart were in Tennessee today and were traveling to North Carolina to campaign in that state's May 8 primary before moving on, Mondale to Texas and Hart to Ohio.

Another contest comes tonight when Utah Democrats caucus to decide 22 national convention delegates. Next, on May 1, Tennessee and the District of Columbia hold primaries.

In Cleveland on Tuesday, Hart chided Mondale for what he called "old and tired ideas, held together by paralyzing commitments to special interests and constituent groups." "It will take more than changing parties to save our economy," he said. "If we seek merely to exchange one failed vision for another, our nation will still be in a period of dramatic decline."

Hart also attacked the Reagan administration and the past three years of record budget deficits. He said Mondale's program may be more humane, but it has "no less failure in its soul."

Mondale, also in Cleveland on Tuesday, maintained his newfound practice of focusing primarily on Reagan, this time attacking the president's backing for space weapons systems and proposing his own "space freeze."

"Reagan wants to open the heavens for warfare," Mondale said. "If Mr. Reagan is re-elected the arms race on earth will be extended to the skies."

"Every president since the bomb first went off ... has done something to reduce the risk of nuclear war until this guy came along," Mondale said later in Nashville.

He ridiculed Reagan's space weaponry program as a "fairy tale" and "a hoax on the American people."

"Thousands of workers still take paycuts, thousands more lose their jobs," Hart said. "A bailout is not a cure; it is simply a symptom."

SHERIFF

The post has not been filled for several years, with the police and sheriff's department having performed whatever duties are usually done by a constable.

One of the two constable candidates, Mark Campbell, was said to be unable to attend the forum due to a work scheduling conflict. Leroy Johnson Jr., however, was present to give a short statement and answer questions from the panel.

Johnson said his decision to run was based on Campbell announcing his candidacy. "I felt I was better qualified than the other candidate," he said. When asked if the county needed a constable, Johnson admitted the duties could be handled by other local law enforcement agencies.

Mondale gets endorsement

FORT WORTH, Texas

(AP) — Democratic presidential candidate Walter F. Mondale, who starts a Texas tour here tonight, has received the support of 12 Texans who previously supported Sen. John Glenn.

Mondale stops at Meacham Field, north of here tonight, and will be in San Antonio Thursday.

On Tuesday, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, former Gov. Dolph Briscoe and 10 other Texans who supported Glenn, endorsed Mondale for his presidential bid.

"Walter Mondale understands how to adapt unchanging principles to changing circumstances," said a statement released by the group. "That's why we believe he is the best candidate to lead us into the future."

But former Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, one of those listed in the statement, said his name should not have been released.

"Up until this time, I have not publicly endorsed anyone," said Barnes, a businessman based in Austin. "I am not going to endorse Mondale, but I had not given permission for them to use my name. I'm sure it's a legitimate mistake."

The statement was released by Dallas mortgage banker Jess Hay, who said he had understood Barnes agreed on the endorsement.

"As far as I was concerned, we had cleared it when I talked to him week before last," Hays said.

Hobby, Glenn's state campaign chairman said, "I think Vice President Mondale pretty well has the nomination and it's time to unite the party."

The statement referred to the Reagan administration as "the most fiscally irresponsible in our nation's history" and said it "will have mortgaged the future of this country."

district's teachers. This would be more sensible than statewide controls, they agreed, since cost of living levels vary greatly throughout the state.

McBride said local control should extend beyond teacher salaries. "I really think that the problems at school," he remarked, "need to be solved at home with local school boards."

The other Democrat, Crow, said he could "in no way whatsoever" agree with most of the Perot committee's recommendations. Such proposals would be "unacceptable to at least this area and possible the whole state."

Regarding a possible state water plan, Ponce said, "I believe you farmers should (conserve) and show the rest of us how to do it." He added he would favor controls of groundwater use. Smithee said he could not give an answer on the groundwater controls issue. "I think we need to watch the situation as it develops," he said, "and see what happens in the future."

"There's no doubt about it," Thomas claimed, "we need to import water." He said he would not support establishment of groundwater controls.

A rise in energy costs has prevented water importation from having occurred, McBride explained. "We must look at areas of water conservation which can make that water (we have) last longer."

Crow said "we're playing games" by thinking the current water supply is adequate to support rural and municipal industries. Control of groundwater use is something he supports. The 86th District covers all of Deaf Smith and Randall counties, an area which includes part of Amarillo. Candidates were asked sheet of paper with the candidates' names was passed around. Each commissioner was asked to put a check mark by the name of any candidate who they could not support. "The only name that did not have a check mark beside it was that of Joe Brown." After that, the court voted unanimously to appoint Brown, said the judge.

"Before we started the voting, I told the commissioners that we needed to make the decision in harmony, and that I would not break a tie vote," added the judge. "I sincerely believe that no undue influence was placed on the commissioners' court in making the decision of who to appoint as sheriff."

The judge said he, personally, "was not against any candidate, and he was not endorsing any of the candidates in the sheriff's race. The people will make the choice and I will support and work with the man who is elected."

Commissioners Austin Rose and Bruce Coleman could not be reached for comment this morning.

Child molester speaks

DEAR ANN LANDERS: OK - I've molested the beautiful, willing 11-year-old blond nymph next door. Now what? The gamey little sextop is returning every afternoon for more. I would like to stop but see no way other than to move out at midnight and leave no forwarding address.

Don't advise me to go see a clergyman or a counselor. All are required by law to report such incidents to the authorities. It appears George Orwell was right. Big Brother IS watching.

You won't answer my letter because you are a member of the do-good establishment that has created the current hysteria chillingly reminiscent of the dark ages. Where can a man turn for help? - Frustrated.

DEAR FRUSTRATED: You are mistaken about the law requiring clergymen and counselors to report such incidents. I beg you to listen to me.

Your sick behavior can have a lifelong effect on that child. It is a hideous and destructive thing you are doing. Get therapy at once. Your physicians or the psychiatric head of any medical center can direct you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I work in the salad department of a fine restaurant. The woman I work with had dozens of repulsive-looking warts on her fingers. I asked why she didn't have them removed. She said she used a medication that caused them to dry up and fall off but they always grew back.

Three months later I developed several warts on my hands. I complained to the manager. He laughed at me. I then saw a doctor, who said I probably did get the warts from that co-worker because seed warts are quite contagious.

Again I told the manager, but he did nothing. After several customers noticed her hands and complained, the woman was told to have the warts removed by a doctor or quit her job. She agreed to see a dermatologist.

Now she is back at work and her hands are free of warts for the first time in 20 years. Why aren't there state health regulations and restrictions for food handlers for the public protection? - No Warts In My Salad, Please.

DEAR N.W.P.: There are many health restrictions and requirements to protect the public against food-handlers who may carry infectious illnesses. Warts, however, do not constitute a health hazard because they cannot be transmitted through food.

All the dermatologists with whom I checked said you may well have gotten your warts from your co-worker.

It seems to me this would have been ample reason for the boss to insist that your co-worker have her warts removed.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why is it that whenever I lose anything it is always in the last place I look? - Dizzy Lizzy.

DEAR LIZ: Because when you find it you stop looking - and that's the last place you looked.

Highlights of recent trips discussed

Club members who participated in recent trips to the Big Bend area and attended the Easter pageant at Kenton, Okla., presented the program when the Deaf Smith Lapidary Club met Monday night in the Flame Room.

The business meeting was conducted by President Jack Nunley. Members discussed taking out a group insurance policy which would cover participants on the rock trips.

Further information will be made available at the next meeting, set May 28 in the Flame Room. Anyone interested in joining the Lapidary Club is welcome at this meeting.

Joe Williams announced that the Amarillo Rock and Gem Show is to be held at the Civic Center May 12-13. The club decided to show two cases of jewelry and other items at this show.

The cases are to be filled Wednesday, May 9, at the Dale Henson home. Items should be brought at that time.

Hosts for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Julian Perrin and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pearson. The door prize was furnished by Nunley and won by Weldon Roberson. Twenty-seven members were present.

Speaking of Sports

By STAN GODEK
Sports Editor

Usually when a person wants to see all the memorabilia of baseball, he just plans a trip to Cooperstown, New York and the Baseball Hall of Fame.

But most people can not afford to take a weekend outing to travel to New York. But now thanks to Chevrolet, a baseball fan's dream has come true.

Chevrolet's Traveling Baseball Hall of Fame will be making its way into the Texas Panhandle. In conjunction with Shopping Center Network and Major League Baseball the exhibit is touring selected shopping malls across the nation.

The exhibit will be in Amarillo at Westgate Mall May 3-6. Modeled after the Hall of Fame, the traveling facility carries with it some of the actual artifacts that are on display in Cooperstown.

Now, I'm no great fan of Chevrolet and I've never been to Westgate Mall but I am interested in the evolution of "America's Pastime."

Some of the things to be on display include wooden bats from the days when ballplayers made their own; some of the original baseball uniforms, made of heavy wool; the first baseball used in the mid-1800s; the oldest gloves; and career highlights of Babe Ruth among other presentations.

There are all kinds of tidbits that the baseball diehard thrives off of. For instance, Jackie Robinson wasn't the first black player in the majors after all. A guy named Jimmy Claxton passed himself off as an Indian and played in the major during the 1916 season before he was discovered to have black blood and was kicked out of the majors.

The best hitters and pitchers are examined from Ty Cobb to Cy Young to Randy Hundley. There will also be an exhibit on one of my personal favorites, baseball cards. The cards were started by tobacco companies in 1886 with ballplayers' likenesses on the front and the players' career statistics on the back.

The only thing that has changed with regard to baseball cards is now photos are in color and bubble gum accompanies the cards instead of tobacco.

There are six touring units used coast-to-coast. Each Traveling Hall of Fame consists of 14 free-standing panels which offer a panoramic backdrop of baseball's greats and features all the vital statistics of each player, among other things.

It is estimated that more people will view these traveling shows than the 200,000 who visit Cooperstown. And the best thing is - it's free.

Hebner pops one for Cubs

By BEN WALKER AP Sports Writer

When the Chicago Cubs signed free agent Richie Hebner in January, they were looking for someone who could fill in at third base, first base and the outfield, and also help bring a winning attitude to the clubhouse.

What they got was all of that, plus someone who could hit game-winning home runs off star relievers.

Hebner, now 36 years old and with his sixth major league team, lashed a solo homer in the top of the ninth inning Tuesday night off Bruce Sutter to propel the Cubs past the sliding St. Louis Cardinals 3-2.

The blast, Hebner's first of the season, put Chicago in first place in the National League East, a half-game ahead of Philadelphia and Montreal, and sent the Cardinals to their seventh straight loss and into last place.

"We're like any other team in the NL East," Hebner said. "We've got to get consistent pitching. If we get consistent pitching, we'll score a ton of runs. In this division, if you play .500 ball by Labor Day, you've got a chance."

Chicago General Manager Dallas Green, in St. Louis to watch his team, was pleased.

"When we looked at our situation, we didn't have anyone in our organization that we thought could take over the job should (third baseman) Ron Cey break down," said Green, explaining why the Cubs signed Hebner. "I know he's a winner."

In other NL games, Pittsburgh held off Philadelphia 3-2, Atlanta downed Cincinnati 4-2, San Diego stopped San Francisco 6-1, Los Angeles beat Houston 5-3, and New York at Montreal was rained out.

"I hit it good, but it's a big ballpark," Hebner said of his game-winning homer.

Dallas whips SuperSonics

SEATTLE (AP) — Now, it's the gritty Dallas Mavericks' turn to try to eliminate the Seattle SuperSonics from the National Basketball Association playoffs at home.

"If we played on a playground, I'd be glad as long as it was in Dallas and not in the Kingdome," Mark Aguirre said after pouring in 29 points to lead the Mavericks to a 107-96 victory Tuesday night.

The Mavericks' pressure-packed triumph in Seattle's Kingdome kept them alive in their first-ever playoff appearance and knotted the clubs' best-of-five game series at two victories apiece.

The series will be decided Thursday night in Dallas, but not in Reunion Arena. Instead, the fifth game is scheduled at Southern Methodist's 9,007-seat Moody Coliseum.

The Sonics were supposed to finish off the underdog Mavericks, a fourth-year NBA franchise in its first playoffs, Tuesday. But Dallas wasn't ready to end its season.

"You always think you have an opportunity to win," Aguirre said. "But I'm quite sure there were a lot of prayers said and maybe some of them were answered."

Dallas Coach Dick Motta pointed out his team had nothing to lose in game four — because it was supposed to lose. "This is an exciting situation," he remarked of the teams' series standoff. "There's nothing like it. It's very stimulating."

Asked about the chances of the Mavericks eliminating the Sonics from the playoffs in Dallas, Motta retorted, "Well, they can eliminate us, too."

Cracking 100 points for the first time in the series, the Mavericks refused to wilt in the second half after holding a 49-46 halftime lead. They led by 19 points at 98-79 with 4:34 to go.

In Seattle on Saturday, Dallas had a 5-point intermission advantage but wound up losing by 10. "The difference," assessed Motta, "was we maintained our intensity in the second half tonight."

ABC extends USFL contract

NEW YORK (AP) — The ABC network plans to pick up its option to televise United States Football League games for the 1985 season.

Members of the league's executive committee were informed Tuesday of the network's intention by certified letter, read to them at their regularly scheduled meeting at a midtown hotel.

"We feel that this gesture on our part demonstrates our feeling about the league," said Jim Spence, senior vice president for ABC Sports. "In no way was it a difficult decision to make. We feel positive about the status of the USFL, and at the midway point of its second season we feel that it has made significant strides in its year and a half in existence."

One of the major reasons for ABC's decision to pick up the option on the 1985 season, according to Spence, was that the league had "provided good programming for us" in the spring and early summer. USFL games also are carried on cable television.

Hereford Warriors plan carwash

The Hereford Warriors, a local semi-pro football team forming this year, is having a car wash Saturday from 1-5 p.m. to raise money to help purchase team uniforms, according to club spokesman Matt Morgan.

Morgan said a final team roster of about 25 players is in the process of being completed. The Warriors will have a full-contact practice 1 p.m. Sunday at the La Plata practice field.

Hereford will be opposing teams from Amarillo, Wellington and Amarillo when the semi-pro season begins this fall according to Morgan.

Judging contests are 'valuable tool'

FFA members eye busy spring

Hereford High School Future Farmers of America are busy this spring competing as members of livestock, dairy, land and meat judging teams.

According to FFA advisor Marcus Phillips, the judging contests are not only competitive extensions of classroom instruction, but are valuable teaching tools in themselves.

"The judging contests teach students to rapidly make decisions and to take the responsibility of living with their decisions," he said.

FFA members who are on judging teams do their training after school hours and in some instances, in the field. Contests began early last month and will culminate with the state judging contests at Texas A&M University later this month.

Phillips said the livestock judging team won second place at the Sweetwater contests in March and third at the West Texas State University Contests the week of April 9. It also placed first in the Amarillo District and Keith Kalka was the third place individual in the WTSU contest.

The livestock team placed fifth in the Texas Tech University contests and second in area competition, with Rickie Vogel capturing fifth at Texas Tech University. Phillips said team members, who qualified for the state contests, are Kalka, Robbie Phillips, Vogel and Chris Urbanczyk.

The dairy cattle team also qualified for state competition by placing seventh in area competition. Those members are Robby Wells, Dennis Paetzold, Heath Bell and Brent Davis. There is also a dairy products judging contest, with the local team placing second recently in the Amarillo district meet.

Phillips said land judging contests are designed so that students can learn to determine land productivity and what needs to be done to improve the quality of the soil. The land judging team from Hereford FFA placed third in the district contest at WTSU. Members of the meats team evaluated carcasses of beef, pork and mutton, grading the meats and identifying the retail and wholesale cuts. That team competed in the WTSU and Texas Tech contests.

Students in Bracan, Brazil, a village about 50 miles from Rio de Janeiro, can now complete the eighth grade. A grant by a subsidiary of R.J. Reynolds has enabled the village to add grades five through eight at the school.

Corn stockpile down 48 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. corn stockpile as of April 1 totaled 3.26 billion bushels, down 48 percent from the year-earlier record level of 6.25 billion bushels, according to an Agriculture Department report.

Corn production dropped sharply last fall because of the 1983 drought and the government's payment-in-kind acreage program to help cut surpluses. There is no PIK program for the 1984 crop.

The department's Crop Reporting Board said Monday the April 1 inventory included 1.94 billion bushels of corn stored on farms, down 55 percent from a year ago, and off-farm stocks of 1.31 billion bushels, down 33 percent.

Sorghum supplies totaled 465 million bushels, down 25 percent from April 1, 1983. Those included farm holdings of 86.5 million bushels, down 42 percent from a year ago, and off-farm stocks of 378 million bushels, down 20 percent.

Other April 1 inventories included in the quarterly report:

Oats: 269 million bushels, down 19 percent from a year earlier, including 227 million on-farm stocks and 42.5 million off-farm.

Barley: 273 million bushels, down 8 percent, including 174 million bushels stored on farms and 99.7 million bushels off farms.

Wheat: 1.75 billion bushels, down 7 percent from a year ago, including 772 million bushels on farms and 981 million bushels off.

Soybeans: 753 million bushels, down 36 percent from a year ago, including 339 million bushels on farms and 414 million bushels off.

In a separate report, the board said U.S. inventories of "rough," or unmilled, rice as of April 1 were estimated at 79.5 million hundredweight, down 27 percent from a year ago. Farm stocks were indicated at 15.8 million hundredweight and off-farm supplies at 63.7 million.

On Sept. 30, 1946, an international military tribunal in Nuremberg, Germany, found 22 top German Nazi leaders guilty of war crimes and 11 of them were sentenced to death.

SMOKERS
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) - About 90 percent of the people who stop smoking and then "slip" with one or two cigarettes reportedly become full blown smokers again. Deborah Ossip-Klein, assistant psychology professor at the University of Rochester, says, however, that just under half of the ex-smokers who slipped and then called a telephone hotline for ex-smokers were able to stop smoking again after a two-week followup. In addition, "two-thirds of the callers who were tempted to smoke, but had not yet slipped when they called, were still abstaining after a two-week followup," she said.

The Newspaper BIBLE

YOU'RE GOING TO RISE FROM THE DEAD!

But tell me this! Since you believe what we preach, that Christ rose from the dead, why are some of you saying that dead people will never come back to life again?
 For if there is no resurrection of the dead, then Christ must still be dead.
 And if He is still dead, then all our preaching is useless and your trust in God is empty, worthless, hopeless.
 And we apostles are all liars because we have said that God raised Christ from the grave, and of course that isn't true if the dead do not come back to life again.
 If they don't, then Christ is still dead.
 And you are very foolish to keep on trusting God to save you, and you are still under condemnation for your sins.
 In that case all Christians who have died are lost! And if being a Christian is of value to us only now in this life, we are the most miserable of creatures.
 But the fact is that Christ did actually rise from the dead, and has become the first of millions who will come back to life again some day.
 Death came into the world because of what one man (Adam) did, and it is because of what this other man (Christ) has done that now there is the resurrection from the dead.
 Everyone dies because all of us are related to Adam, being members of his sinful race, and wherever there is sin, death results. But all who are related to Christ will rise again.
 Each, however, in his own turn: Christ rose first; then when Christ comes back, all His people will become alive again.
 After that the end will come when He will turn down all enemies of every kind.

Mayor quits

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — State troopers stood guard over documents in a corruption investigation at City Hall today after the police chief refused to be fired, and the city reeled from the resignation of its popular mayor, who was sentenced for assault.

State troopers arrived Monday night at the request of Police Chief Anthony J. Mancuso, capping a stormy day in which Mayor Vincent A. Cianci Jr. resigned after being sentenced to probation for beating a man he thought was having an affair with his estranged wife.

Mancuso meanwhile refused to obey an order from Public Safety Commissioner Sanford H. Gorodetsky to step down. Gorodetsky accused Mancuso of undermining him during the corruption investigation.

At a news conference late Monday night, Mancuso said he arranged for state police to "protect the integrity" of all documents pertaining to an investigation by his department into alleged corruption in the public works department.

"There are state police and Providence police still on duty there," Providence Police Lt. Robert Erso said today.

The divisions in the government of the city of 152,000 come against the backdrop of six corruption indictments in the past year.

"We have many problems as you well know," City Council President Joseph R. Paolino Jr. told reporters Monday. "There are allegations of corruption, which are running rampant throughout the city."

Superior Court Judge John P. Bourcier gave Cianci a five-year suspended sentence Monday on felony and simple assault charges.

After consulting with his aides, Cianci announced he was resigning effective Wednesday. The delay, he said, was to allow an orderly

The workshop is jointly sponsored by the Wayland Lifelong Learning Office, in cooperation with the Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE) and the U.S. Small Business Administration of Lubbock.

All sessions will meet in the auditorium of the Nunn Business Administration Building, located at the corner of Sixth and Smyth Streets on the WBU campus.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
Male breast cancer

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 38-year-old man and had a modified radical mastectomy for cancer of the left breast. I'd had a fibrous breast condition since I was 13. I found the cancerous lump myself. I'm undergoing cobalt-radiation and am being watched by my surgeon and oncologist. One of seven lymph nodes was affected.

I'd be interested in your comments.

DEAR READER — I wanted to use your letter because people don't realize that breast cancer strikes men as well as women. There were about 900 cases of male breast cancer, resulting in about 300 deaths, in the United States last year.

The important lesson here is that lumps in the breast in either men or women deserve careful evaluation. This shouldn't be confused with the nodules that commonly develop in many young men from hormonal changes around puberty. It's the lump in the mature male that's suspicious.

Treatment of male breast cancer is not greatly different than that for women. If the cancer is estrogen-dependent, using estrogen antagonists is the best treatment, as well as the administration of testosterone.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 70-year-old man and need some exercises that will strengthen my shoulder muscles so I won't go around with an old-age stoop. I'm in good health and play tennis and volleyball when I'm not afflicted with periodic tennis elbow.

My attempts at maintaining an erect posture diminish as the day progresses and I become fatigued.

DEAR READER — You

probably need both strengthening and stretching exercises. As people get older they need to pay particular attention to stretching.

As those muscles over the front of your chest tighten and contract, they pull the shoulders forward. The contraction is mostly of the tendons and fibrous tissue that encase the muscle fibers.

It's a good idea to be warmed up for the best effect. Then stand in an open doorway. Put one hand on each door jamb. Now lean forward through the open doorway. As you do so you will feel the pull on the muscles across the front of your chest. Stay in the leaned-forward position for about 30 seconds and repeat the maneuver. Do this about 10 times. It's a good idea to move your hands up and down the door jamb to use all the muscle area that fans out over your chest.

Then you want to do exercises like a back stroke to use the muscles between the shoulder blades. Stretching devices (springs and cords) with handles at each end are good, but be sure you don't overdo it.

There are some basic principles of stretching you need to know, which I've discussed in the Health Letter 19-10, Stretching and Flexibility. I'm sending you a copy. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

You may have fewer tennis elbow problems if you use a complete stretching program both before and after playing. Let a tennis coach help you with these and also show you how to use the racket properly.

Stumped by altitude

DEAR POLLY — Is there anyone out there who knows how to cook dried beans (pinto, navy, etc.) in the state of Colorado? It takes all day to cook them, even after soaking them overnight. I might be moving there, so I'd like to know. In Missouri it takes only two hours or so, with no soaking.

RUTH
DEAR RUTH — I suspect the problem is high altitude. Water boils at lower temperatures the higher the altitude, so food cooked in boiling water takes longer to cook, since the cooking temperature is lower.

You might try bringing the beans to a boil for several minutes before soaking them overnight. Or try using a pressure cooker, which should shorten cooking time (be sure to follow the cooker's directions for use at high altitudes; you must increase the pressure required the higher up you are). Meanwhile, how about some advice from those Colorado — and other high-altitude — cooks out there? Any tricks with beans? We'll be looking forward to hearing from you. — POLLY
