Low dips to 9 below, roads slick

Hereford's overnight low of 9 degrees below zero prevented the icy, snow-packed roads to thaw and the chill over the Panhandle and South Plains today prompted the National Weather Service to continue travelers advisories for the areas. A high-pressure ridge kept temperatures below freezing into South Texas.

The weekend of snow left 1.57 inches of moisture. Freezing and frozen precipitation ended across the Lone Star State as an upper-level storm system moved off to the east.

Skies were partly cloudy to cloudy across most of the state, except for clear skies over parts of the Red River valley, Trans-Pecos and the Rio Grande plains.

Winds were mostly light and variable over West Texas, and northerly at 10 to 20 mph elsewhere.

Early-morning temperatures remained below zero in the Panhandle and in the teens across the South and Low Plains. Temperatures were mostly in the 20s and 30s across the rest of the state.

Extremes ranged from 9 below zero at Amarillo to 40 degrees at both El Paso and McAllen.

The weather service said icy roads and overpasses should cause hazardous driving conditions in the Panhandle and South Plains but some improvement could come later in the day.

Otherwise, skies were expected to be partly cloudy to cloudy across most of the state.

Chamber banquet slated Thursday

George McKinney of Dallas, manager of community development for Texas Power & Light Co., will be keynote speaker for the annual Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Banquet Thursday night at the Bull Barn.

Other highlights of the banquet, which starts at 7 p.m., will include the recognition of the "Citizen of the Year", introduction of new officers and directors, and the presentation of a community service award. Banquet entry will be on the east end of the Bull Barn.

McKinney, a past president of the Beautify Texas Council, is a veteran civic worker, having served as president of such organizations as Rotary, chamber of commerce, an industrial foundation, and a hospital board. He is a member of the International Platform Association, which includes a "Who's Who" list of speakers and entertainers.

Rex Easterwood, 1985 chamber president, will present plaques to outgoing directors and will introduce the new president, Bill Harris. The speaker will be introduced by Mike Bowles, new vicepresident, and B.J. Gilliland will make other introductions and acknowledgements.

Donald Hicks, Hereford Lions Club president, will recognize the "Citizen of the Year" as the banquet climax. The award has been presented annually since 1946. Last year's recipient was Bobby Owen.

Incoming directors on the chamber board include Allen Parson, Fred Rivera, LaJean Henry and B.J. Gilliland. Carry-over directors are Harris, Bowles, Jim Arney, Joe Reinauer Jr., John Hays, Terry Bromlow, Charlie Bell and Doug Manning.

Outgoing directors include Bobby Owen, Steve Nieman, Betty Drake, Rosie Griffin and Gary Phipps.

The Hereford Hustlers will serve as a welcoming committee, and decorations are being arranged by the Women's Division with Eloise Smith as chairwoman. The Hereford Key Club will assist as banquet servers.

Tickets for the banquet are available at the chamber office at $12 each.

Reagan slates news conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan holds his second news conference of the year tonight and the 34th of his presidency.

The half-hour question-and-answer session with reporters will be broadcast by the major radio and television networks from the East Room of the White House beginning at 8 p.m. EST.

Since Reagan's last news conference Jan. 7, at which he announced new economic sanctions against Libya, the Soviet Union has put forth a proposal for nuclear disarmament

Spy exchange completed on bridge

BERLIN (AP) — Jewish dissident Anatoly Shcharansky walked to freedom today after nearly nine years of captivity in Soviet prisons and labor camps, and was whisked away in a U.S. ambassador's car for a flight to Israel.

West German police said that Shcharansky, wearing a silver fur hat, was handed over to U.S. Ambassador Richard Burt at 10:57 a.m. (4:57 a.m. EST) on Berlin's snow-covered Glienicke Bridge.

The 38-year-old Jewish dissident waved to a crowd of bystanders and well-wishers, as Burt's Mercedes-Benz roared past a crowd of waiting journalists and headed down a road leading along the Berlin Wall.

U.S. and West German officials said that five suspected Soviet bloc agents imprisoned in the West were also exchanged for three Westerners jailed in the East after Shcharansky was freed. The exchange was concluded at 11:30 a.m. (5:30 a.m. EST), officials said.

The release of Shcharansky ended his internment in the Soviet Union after he was sentenced in 1978 to 13 years of confinement after being convicted of spying for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency — a charge he repeatedly denied.

U.S. officials had said Shcharansky was released before the others to emphasize their insistence that the activist in human rights and Jewish causes was not a spy.

Shcharansky and Burt sped to Berlin's U.S. military Tempelhof Airport, and boarded a U.S. Air Force plane headed for Frankfurt, police said. From there, Shcharansky was to fly to Tel Aviv, U.S. officials said, for what Israeli officials said would be a giant welcoming ceremony.

As the prisoner exchange began, two vans pulled onto the bridge from the western side, stopping almost at the midpoint separating communist East Germany from West Berlin. Five passenger cars stopped in front of the bridge, also on the Western side.

They were accompanied by police cars with blue lights flashing, as the temperatures hovered around the freezing point and gray skies covered Berlin. Reporters and about 100 onlookers stood around the bridge as the exchange got underway.

Commissioners to meet

The Deaf Smith County Commission will hold its regular meeting, postponed from Monday due to weather, at 10 a.m. Friday in the courthouse.

On the agenda is: Lawrence Keaton of the Texas Association of Counties to discuss the loss control program, approval of bonds for supervisors of the county fresh water supply in District 1, Charlie Ruiz to discuss a housing project, James Voyles will discuss making Joan Slentz the administrative assistant to the juvenile probation officer, approval of a tax refund, repair or purchase of a vehicle for the sheriff's office, and funding for the Panhandle Organized Crime Unit.

Commissioners will also discuss granting permission to Schlabs Farm to cross a county road with a waterline and County Clerk David Ruland will be discussing the need for additional help for redistricting work.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says a balanced life includes work, recreation, meditation and study.

Nobody wants constructive criticism. It's all people can do to put up with constructive praise.

With the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce banquet scheduled this week, most folks figured a winter storm was due. It seems we've had a number of these chamber banquets in the snow!

The heavy snowfall and cold weather have made many city streets tough to navigate, especially the deep ruts at intersections. We've had several calls at the newspaper office to report that someone had cleaned off driveways, and they wanted to thank whoever was responsible. Hereford has some great neighbors!

This is Teacher Appreciation Week. Perhaps those who appreciate teachers the most are successful business people who can recall teachers who made a real impact on their lives.

I remember reading about a nationally-known corporate president who said, "A person is lucky if he had one teacher who challenged him and influenced him to expand his search for knowledge."

As you look back, how many teachers can you think of who encouraged your appetite for knowledge? I remember Armanda Yates, an elementary teacher I held in awe and respect. I remember a Mr. Harris who taught history in junior high, a man who scared me to death at times but kept me alert in class at all times.

And, I remember Mrs. Purcell, my high school English teacher. I got to see her again last year at a school reunion. I was one of many who went by to tell her how much I appreciated her instruction and encouragement. I'm sure there were many good teachers who were instrumental in my education, but some have a special place.

Collectors plan to increase revenues

DALLAS (AP) — The Hopkins County sheriff says the last of 30 people arrested over the weekend at a pit bull dogfight has been released from jail.

Sheriff C.W. Grayson said officers on Saturday raided a rural farm in Northeast Texas where about 50 people from a three-state area had gathered.

"A bunch more people ran off in the woods," said Sheriff C.W. Grayson. "But I think we got their attention."

Grayson said his officers stormed the farm 15 miles east of Sulphur Springs after receiving a tip that a dogfight was planned. The sheriff said that when officers arrived, a woman on lookout blew a car horn to warn spectators.

A blood-stained wooden pen two feet high and 15 feet square was discovered. Grayson said authorities found several pit bull terriers at the scene but no dead or injured dogs.

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A Fort Lauderdale dockworker charged with air piracy in connection with last week's Delta jet hostage situation will be sent to a federal facility for psychological testing, authorities said.

Ralph Adolphus Hughes II, 34, was ordered held without bond and to undergo the testing at a Springfield, Mo. facility.

Hughes should leave for the psychiatric tests sometime this week and may remain under observation for between one and three months, said his court-appointed attorney, R.H. Wallace Jr.

Hughes, 34, is accused of holding a Delta flight attendant hostage with a pocket knife for two hours at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport. No one was injured during the incident.

Passengers were allowed to leave the plane within an hour and the flight attendant managed to break free.

While holding flight attendant Gregory Puhek hostage, Hughes told him that he was being pursued by Mafia members because of a million-dollar drug deal involving organized crime members, said FBI agent James W. Evans of Dallas.

DFW hostage negotiator Gary W. Pinkston said Hughes claimed the underworld gang members were aboard the arriving Delta jet.

Pinkston recalled that Hughes was "extremely excitable" during the incident. "At times he was wild, other times he was rational."

Students vote to keep flag

GRAND PRAIRIE, Texas (AP) — Despite objections from black students and the local black community, students at a high school have voted to retain the Confederate flag as the institution's official symbol.

The Confederate flag, which was one of five finalist flags selected by the student council, won by a large margin Monday, said South Grand Prairie High School Principal Buddy Berry. He did not disclose vote totals.

Officials said the controversy began late last year when a 15-year-old black student was barred from the junior varsity football team after refusing to play while the Confederate flag was used as a rallying symbol.

Berry said the flag would not become the spirit symbol again unless Supt. Hobbs Williams approved. A school district spokesman said Williams will decide Friday whether to endorse the students' vote.

"It seems that if he (Williams) wasn't going to stand behind us, he wouldn't have let us have the competition," said student council president Mike Skinner, 18.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is counting on the Internal Revenue Service to collect an additional $8 billion over the next three years without "raising taxes" for anybody.

According to the president's budget, here's how it would work:

—The IRS would hire 2,500 new employees in each of the next three years, mostly to increase taxpayer audits beyond the 12 per 1,000 returns now contemplated. This would produce about $4.7 billion during the three years.

—Revenue agents would be equipped with portable computers that would permit on-the-spot audits — at a small business, for example — and allow auditors immediate access by telephone link to the taxpayer's IRS files. The yield: $2.3 billion over three years.

—Penalties for failing to pay taxes when due would be raised to more closely reflect the cost of collecting them. Also, failure to pay after a deadline passes would double the minimum fee to 1 percent a month. The IRS expects an extra $1 billion over three years from this change.

—A taxpayer who writes the IRS for a private letter ruling — a written statement of how the agency would treat a specific transaction — would have to pay a fee based on the complexity of the case. A similar fee would be assessed for letters affecting tax-exempt organizations and employee pension plans. This would bring in $100 million in three years.

Tylenol pulled from market shelves

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Investigators are trying to determine whether a woman's death by cyanide poisoning was linked to Extra-Strength Tylenol, and a supermarket chain pulled the popular painkiller from its stores in 24 states.

A&P pulled Tylenol from shelves in its more than 1,000 stores on Monday after police said Diane Elstroth, 23, of Peekskill, was found dead Saturday about 12 hours after taking two Tylenol capsules, officials said.

Ms. Elstroth, who was visiting her boyfriend, "took a couple of tablets the night before because she was not feeling well," said Deputy Chief Owen McClain in a Monday night news conference. The bottle was bought at a Bronxville A&P.

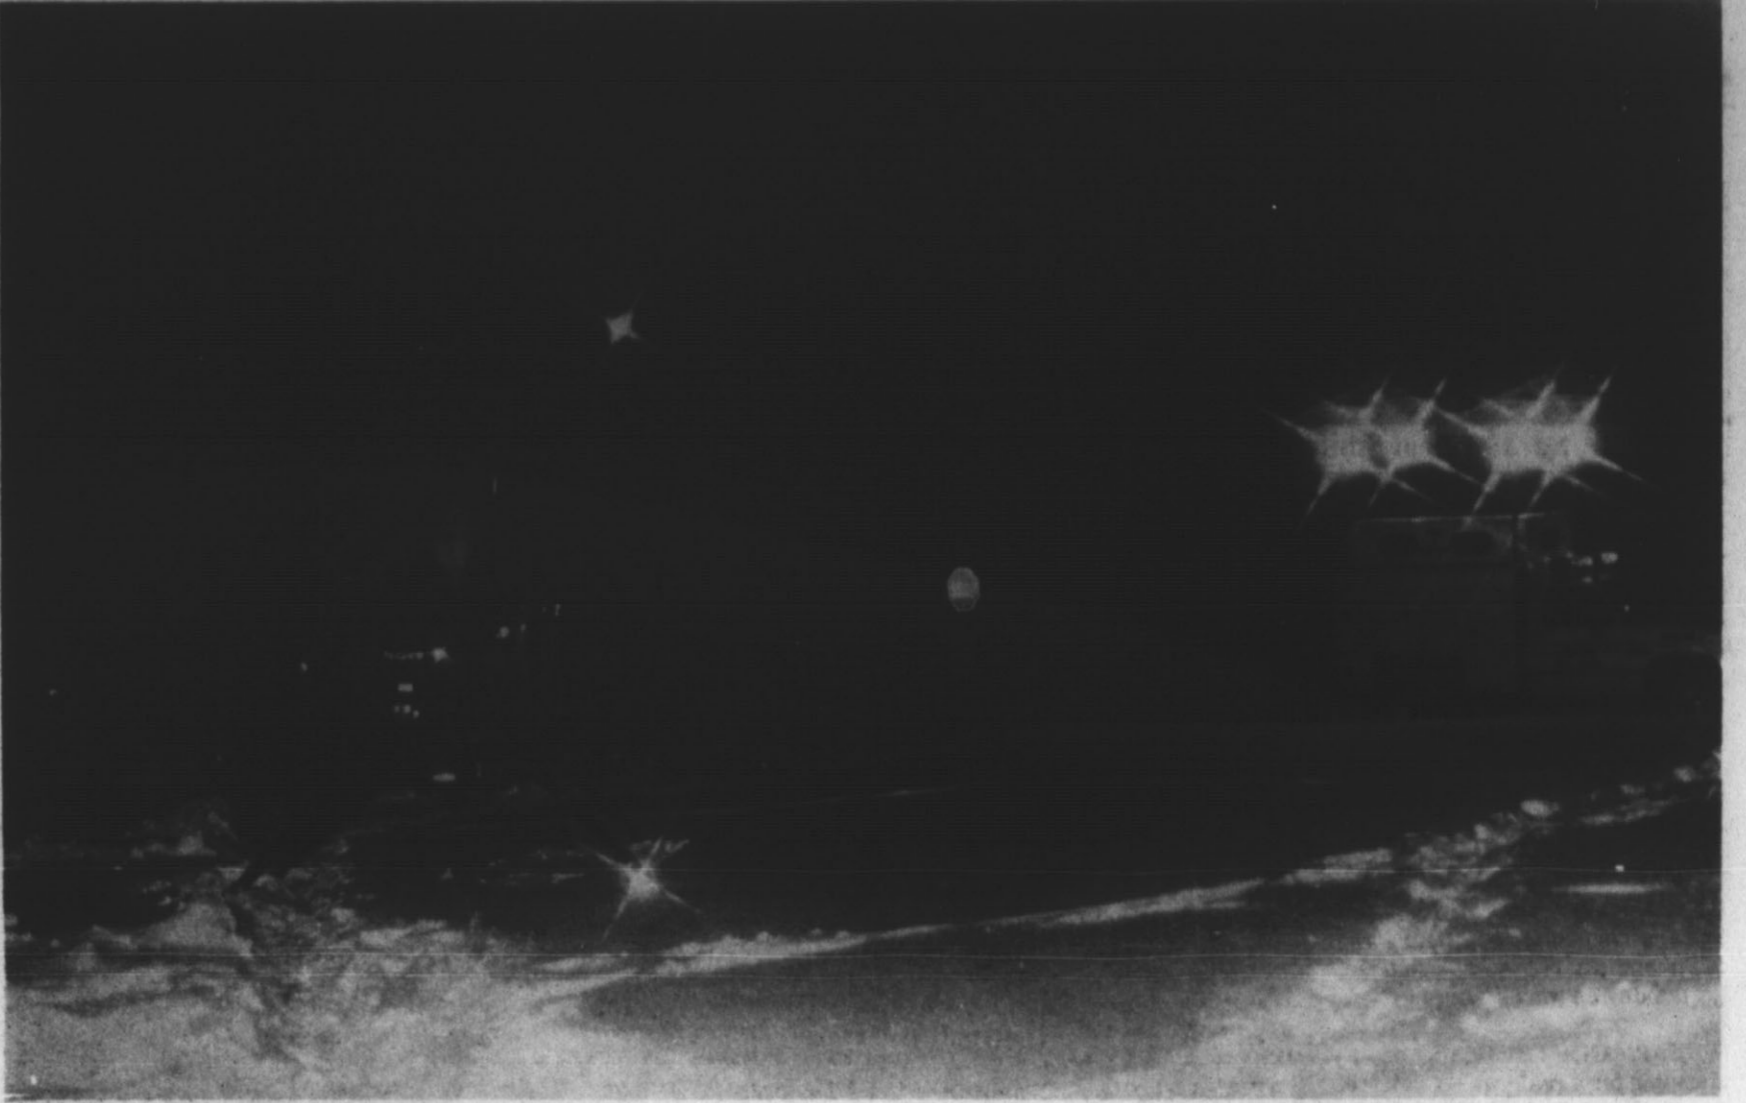

A&P ordered the recall "as a precautionary measure," said Michael J. Rourke, a spokesman for the Montvale, N.J.-based company. "We're still waiting to hear more from the FDA and the Yonkers police and Johnson & Johnson. If this turns out to be an isolated incident, we'll put it back on the shelves."

Westchester County banned the sale of Tylenol capsules and asked consumers to return any containers bought within the past two months, said Clare Palermo, spokeswoman for county Executive Andrew P. O'Rourke.

In nearby New York City, residents were advised not to use the product, said city health department spokesman Marvin Bogner.

Johnson & Johnson, the New Brunswick, N.J.-based manufacturer of Tylenol, said the batch in question was ADF916, shipped Aug. 23, 1985, with a May 1987 expiration date. It was in packages of 12 capsules.

"We checked with our retained samples and there was no problem there," said spokesman Jim Murray. "We're reasonably certain that it's not going to come out of our plant but we had to be sure."

Farm conference to be held

Adapting new innovations in farm management may be one way for producers to increase their farm profits and reduce production expenses. Producers experienced in using conservation tillage and water management techniques will share their expertise at the High Plains Conservation Tillage and Water Management Conference on Thursday at the Hale County Agricultural Center in Plainview. The conference begins with registration and coffee at 9:00 a.m.

Conference speakers include Joe Ike Clay, who practices Ro-Till on Sandy Soils on his farm in Motley County; Burke Slaughter, a Terry County farmer discussing his use of Conservation Tillage with a Cotton/Wheat/Fallow Rotation While Using Limited/No Irrigation; and

Dr. John R. Abernathy, Director of Research, Texas A&M Research Station, Lubbock, discussing Herbicide Consideration of Reduced Tillage. Other topics include a discussion of Conservation Tillage of Cotton by Coy Franks, a Floyd County cotton farmer, and Sam Harlan, a Bailey County farmer, will share his experiences using Conservation Tillage Under a Center Pivot.

Water management topics will be addressed by Steven Smith, a farmer in Lamb County who practices Soil Moisture Monitoring; Doug Hlavaty, who uses Surge Irrigation on his farm in Lubbock County; Ralph Diller, a farmer in Deaf Smith County who uses Low Energy Precision Application (LEPA), and James Wedel, who uses Furrow Diking on his Bailey County farm.

Conference speakers will relate details of their successes and the problems they encountered in implementing these farm management systems.

Other featured conference participants are Hale County Judge Bill Hollars, and session moderators, Norman Wright, Loan Officer, First National Bank of Plainview, and Lee Barron, farm director for KLBK Televisions in Lubbock. Paul Robertson, Board of Directors, Hale County Soil and Water Conservation District will make special award presentations.

The conference is sponsored by the Hale County Soil and Water Conservation District, the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, the USDA-Soil Conservation Service, the USDA-Agricultural Research Service, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and the Soil Conservation Society of America - South Plains Chapter. For more information, contact Jimmy Lewis, District Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, Plainview, Texas.

Wind may have caused crash

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Higher than usual aerodynamic loads, possibly the result of sharp wind changes aloft, may have cracked open a seal in the shell of a solid fuel rocket booster and led to the explosion that destroyed the shuttle Challenger, experts said Monday at the Johnson Space Center.

A source who spoke on the condition he not be identified said a failed seal between segments of the shuttle's right-hand booster appears to be "the most likely cause of the problem."

Photos of Challenger's launch show that flame burst through the side of the right-hand booster near its bottom, at a point called the No. 4 field seam.

Challenger blew up just 73 seconds after lifting away from the Kennedy Space Center on Jan. 28. The explosion killed the seven crew members.

by the end of the century, the United States suffered its first catastrophic accident in space, and Reagan unveiled his new program of budget cuts while calling for an overhaul of the welfare system.

In recent days, a new government has come to power in Haiti following three decades of authoritarian rule by the Duvalier family, and Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos held a special election in which he was challenged by Corazon Aquino. The outcome of the election is still in doubt.

At a luncheon for editors and broadcasters from around the country, Reagan said he disapproved of California's recent decision to establish a state lottery.

"Call me a prude if you want to," Reagan said, "but I just think that there's something a little bit undignified in appealing to people's desire to gamble for a state to raise its revenues."

When asked about pending legislation requiring selection of nuclear waste-storage sites around the country, Reagan said, "I know that everyone's going to say, 'Do it in somebody else's backyard, not ours.'"

Reagan said he believes "We can guarantee that every precaution will be taken so that this will not become a hazard to anyone."

Potential sites have been chosen in Georgia, Maine, Washington, Nevada, Texas, Minnesota, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Wisconsin and Virginia. The president will choose the first site in 1991 and a second in 1996. The first underground repository could begin receiving nuclear waste by the year 2006.

said the seal is located near a strut that attached the solid rocket to the shuttle's external tank, and "structurally, that would be the place that takes the biggest loads."

"Maybe the seals were just fine and we took some unusual loads," he said.

Wind shears, or sudden changes in wind direction, "may have caused some rapid changes" in forces pounding on the shuttle as it rose through the atmosphere at almost 2,000 mph, he said, and "we're trying to understand what effect that might have had on the seals."

Christian named to board of directors

Wendol Christian of Bovina has been selected by Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative's Board of Directors to serve the remainder of the unexpired term of A.W. "Dub" Anthony, Jr., who passed away recently.

Christian and his wife, Louise, are life long residents of Parmer County. They are the parents of four children, Gwen, Lanelle, Loy, and Tammy.

He farms, ranches and is also a part owner and a director on the boards of Agri-Sprayers and Bovina Pump Company.

Christian is a lay leader of the Amarillo district of the Methodist Church and in 1962 he was selected Bovina's Man of the Year. He is also past-president of the Bovina School Board.

SPY

The West German Bild newspaper said the swap was endangered near the end because the Americans insisted Shcharansky be separated from the other prisoners on grounds that he was really a human rights activist and not a spy.

Bild did not give sources for its report, but the Hamburg-based tabloid has had other exclusive reports involving the Soviet Union that have proved accurate.

The issue was resolved when the two sides reached agreement that Shcharansky would be handed over to the West ahead of the three other prisoners, Bild said.

Gliencke Bridge has been the site of other East-West prisoner exchanges in the past 25 years.

Ann Landers

Tastes are raunchier

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am "Betsy in Dubuque." A letter I wrote to you several years ago appeared in your column. Because of your large reading audience I was certain that others who felt as I did would join my crusade and we would change things, but not one darned thing as happened. In fact, the situation has become worse. Will you please run my letter again and see if we can't wake up America?—Thank You—Me Again

DEAR YOU AGAIN: America isn't sleeping. Her tastes have become raunchier. But here's your letter and my response, which is as good today as when I wrote it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I went shopping for a really sweet valentine a few days ago—something special for a person very dear to my heart.

You wouldn't believe what the stores have on their racks these days. For every valentine expressing tenderness and love there are at least a dozen that are downright mean and insulting.

Will you please give me (and others) your opinion of this rotten new idea? Am I crazy or is it a symptom of a sick society?—Betsy in Dubuque.

DEAR BETSY: I hate to disillusion you, dear, but very few ideas, good or bad, are really new.

—According to Sally Hopkins, Director of Hallmark's Historical Collection, some peculiar valentines first appeared in England around the time of Queen Victoria.

They were called "Penny Dreadfuls," "Rudes and Crudes," also "Vinegar Valentines."

Mostly, the cards were insulting. Example: a grotesque-looking woman was pictured wearing a bell for a hat and a clapper sticking out of her mouth. The message:

"Your tongue is ever on the swing and has a harsh, discordant ring. 'How I hate its scolding tone. Your clapper is the curse of home.'"

Another:
"I'll treat you with scorn whenever we pass."

"You deceitful, oily-tongued snake in the grass."

Some say the Penny Dreadfuls were a reaction to the stuffy morality of the mid-Victorian era. People wanted to get away from the sickeningly sweet sentiments and phony puritanism expressed in valentines. They gobbled up these insulting cards and sent them anonymously, of course.

One year in the 1800s, the Chicago Post Office refused to deliver 26,000 of the nasty messages on the grounds they were "vicious and obscene." If those folks could see what passes through the mails TODAY, they'd be whirling in their graves!

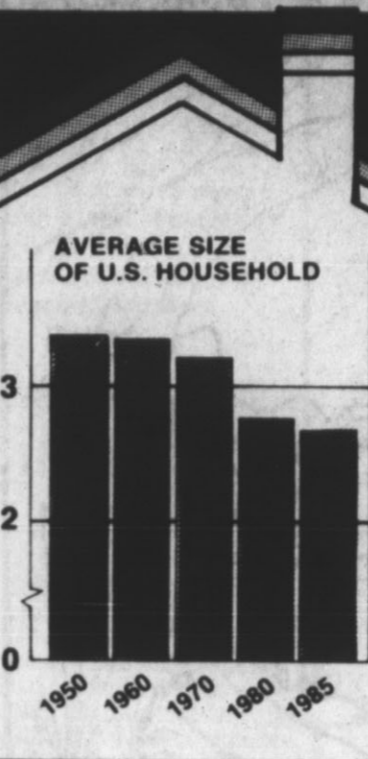

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Don't you get sick of the minor irritations that people complain about? Sometimes I just sit and shake my head when I read them.

My husband, 69, is in a nursing home, the victim of severe diabetes. I wouldn't care if he left the toilet seat up or down, put toilet paper in clockwise or counterclockwise, laid on the davenport and watched football for 10 hours straight, dripped shaving cream on the bathroom floor and wore his golfing shoes to bed. All I would like to have him do is walk in to this room and give me a big hug.

Unfortunately, he can't walk or do much of anything. Too bad it took me 47 years to learn to appreciate him.—Wisconsin Wife

DEAR WIFE: No comment. Just a big thank you for writing.

POLLY'S POINTERS

DEAR POLLY — Cover the padding on an infant seat quickly and inexpensively by pulling a pillowcase down over the padding and tucking the extra material around the end of the seat. Use pillowcases you already have on hand, or sew an infant-seat cover using baby-design material to give as unique shower gifts. — N.K.

DEAR POLLY — When I buy boxes of food such as rice or spaghetti, I cut out the recipes and put them inside a canister with the product. If the canister is not a see-through, then I cut the name off the product from the box and tape it on to the canister. Putting the products in containers keeps the bugs away and the product fresh. — LUELLA

DEAR POLLY — Before working on our car, my husband coats his hands with a little petroleum jelly, especially under his fingernails. The grease and dirt is much easier to wash off.

Even though he spends a lot of time tinkering with engines, his fingernails are always clean since the petroleum jelly keeps grime and grease out. — ANITA

To find the circumference of a circle, you multiply the diameter by 3.14159265 (usually 3.1416). It's as easy as pi.

The lucky winner of the door prize will receive a $50 choice meat pack from Frosty's Meat Market.

During the evening affair, leaders of the year will be announced as well as the sponsor of the year.

The annual event is the meeting of all voting members of the council held once a year for the purpose of electing new officers and members of the board of directors, hearing annual reports concerning the council and its operations.

It is also a dinner hosted by the board of directors to honor all adult volunteers especially leaders, assistants and sponsors.

DR. GOTT Hairiness isn't manliness

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a 30-year-old man. My father and grandfather both have very hairy chests, but mine is completely hairless. Several of the girls I have dated have ridiculed me for this. I have been told that there are hair-growing remedies around to help this condition. Can you give me some information on this?

DEAR READER — I'm sure you have noticed a wide variety of hair patterns in other men. If not, an afternoon on the beach or at the gym may convince you (and the women you mention) that "masculine" men do not always sport an abundance of chest hair. In fact, bodybuilders often shave their body hair (chest included) in order to achieve the appearance of better muscle definition.

I do not know of any legitimate product to promote the growth of chest hair. In my experience, women are usually more interested in what's under the skin than what grows on it. Rather than fret about being smooth-chested, why not embark on an exercise program to develop your torso? Then you could turn an apparent disadvantage into an asset.

A final note of optimism: Have you ever noticed that men with thick body hair often grow bald prematurely? Be happy knowing you'll probably have a full head of hair long after your hairy-chested colleagues have turned wispy and balding.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My daughter is 12 and she has stretch marks all over her buttocks and legs. She has never been fat. She begs me to have them removed. She is really having an emotional problem with this and I am very concerned about her mental attitude and condition. Can you give me any advice?

DEAR READER — Although stretch marks (stria) usually result from rapid weight accumulation and growth, some people seem to develop stria as a normal consequence of development. If your daughter is truly concerned, have a board-certified plastic surgeon examine her to see if she is a candidate for cosmetic surgery.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have been enduring chronic hemorrhoids for about seven months now. They are internal, but very close to the anal sphincter. None of the simpler home remedies work for me. I'm beginning to explore the possibility of having the hemorrhoids removed. I've heard there is a rubber-band method that is just as effective as the surgical procedure. I've also heard of an injection that will shrink them overnight. Can you compare these methods for me?

DEAR READER — Both techniques you mention — hemorrhoid injection and the rubber-band method — are a real boon to patients with piles. For the most part, they are an improvement over the older operation of surgical hemorrhoidectomy, which required hospitalization and extensive anesthesia, not to mention the postoperative discomfort every patient suffered.

I cannot tell which of the newer methods would be appropriate for you. This is a highly individual decision that depends on the extent of your problem, the location of your hemorrhoids (internal or external) and the preference of your surgeon. I suggest that you engage your doctor in a frank discussion of the relative merits of each procedure as they relate to your specific case.

On Dallas Cowboys coaching staff

Nolan to move to secondary

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Veteran Dallas receivers' coach Dick Nolan will be moving into the secondary spot left empty by Gene Stallings who is heading to St. Louis as head coach for the Cardinals.
Nolan, Landry's former New York

Giants teammate, has coached with the Cowboys since 1982 and was a player-coach for the team in 1962 as well as Dallas' defensive coach from 1963-67.

Landry's Monday staff shuffle follows the Friday hiring of San Francisco 49ers' Paul Hackett as Cowboys' quarterbacks and receivers coach.

Landry said he doesn't expect any more changes in his staff.

"We're kind of set right now," said Landry. "I don't know if there will be another change. We have enough people in place to move forward. I'm satisfied at this point."

Nolan left Dallas to become head coach of the San Francisco 49ers from 1968 to 1975 and was the National Conference Coach of the Year in 1970. He also was head coach at New Orleans before returning to Dallas.

Nolan and Landry played for the Giants together during the 1950s. Nolan was a player-coach and Landry was his pupil.

"We've made the cycle now," said Landry. "Dick will do a good job for us."

Landry said he was happy for Stallings, who had been with the Cowboys since 1972.

"It's a great break for Gene," said Landry. "He did a tremendous job in our secondary. He took four free agents on our team in recent years and made them into a respectable unit. He was a good teacher and really did a good job."

Landry has four other former assistants holding down head coaching jobs in the NFL — Mike Ditka, coach of the Super Bowl champion Chicago Bears; John Mackovic of the Kansas City Chiefs; Dan Reeves of the Denver Broncos; and Raymond Berry of the New England Patriots, the American Football Conference champions.

Stallings was noted for his ability to take free agents and lower draft picks and develop them into All-Pro defensive backs. Charlie Waters and Cliff Harris were two Stallings pupils who led the Cowboys to the Super Bowl. Other All-Pro's that Stallings developed included Everson Walls and Michael Downs.

Stallings joined the Cowboys after seven years as head coach at Texas A&M University.

"It's going to be a busy spring for us getting reorganized," said Landry. "There's a lot to do. Some golf games, including mine, might suffer."

Fernando Valenzuela of the Los Angeles Dodgers set a record with 41 consecutive innings without an earned run at the start of the 1985 season and had it broken by a home run from the bat of San Diego's Tony Gwynn.

Through the 1984 season, the New York Yankees had won both halves of a doubleheader by a shutout 13 times while having had it happen to them only four times.

The ball does not become dead in baseball immediately when there is an interference.

Plans are made to revive Crosby tourney

NEW YORK (AP) — Kathryn Crosby's plans for a revived golf tournament in her late husband's name will stick to the concept Bing Crosby intended it to have.

"It will return to the original format that Bing started in 1937. Good friends share good times to promote good causes," said Crosby as she announced the new tournament, to be held June 5-8 at Bermuda Run Country Club in North Carolina.

Crosby said Monday that the new tournament will consist of 100 two-person amateur teams competing for $2 million in prize money. All of it, she said, will go to charity. Actors, comedians, ex-athletes and business executives will replace the big-name pro golfers who played in the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am golf tournament at Pebble Beach, Calif., in recent years.

That tourney became the AT&T National Pro-Am this year when Kathryn Crosby withdrew her sponsorship after AT&T insisted that the additional cash it provided be accompanied by the use of its corporate name.

"Bing gave me clear instructions," she said Monday of her husband, who died in 1977. "If the money to charity ever dropped below 50 percent we were going to leave and if the name was ever changed we were going to leave."

"That was a very clear mandate." The theme of the new tournament will be "Celebrating America" and will consist of two divisions, each with 50 two-person teams. One will be the "USA division," composed of one representative from each of the 50 states and one of the more than 100 celebrities expected to attend. The other will be the "Builders of America," a representative from a major corporation paired with a celebrity.

The old tournament began in San Diego, then shifted to Pebble Beach, where it was played over three courses and involved big-name pros teamed with amateurs. The pros took home PGA prize money and the rest of the proceeds went to charity.

But a year ago, after the board of the Crosby invited more corporate support, Kathryn Crosby withdrew the Crosby name. One reason she cited was AT&T's insistence that its name be attached to the tournament.

Crosby said at a news conference, attended by Gov. James Martin of North Carolina, among others, that among the celebrities who have already committed are Bob Hope, her husband's partner in numerous movies; ex-athletes Fran Tarkenton, Roman Gabriel and Jim Palmer, and actors Glen Campbell, Jose Ferrer, Craig T. Nelson, Robert Stack, Bruce Weitz and Efram Zimbalist Jr.

Lopez invited to try out with Astros

HOUSTON (AP) — Relief pitcher Aurelio Lopez, who helped the Detroit Tigers to the World Series championship in 1984, has been invited to the Houston Astros training camp as a non-roster player, the club announced Monday.

Lopez, 37, whose fastball earned him the nickname of Senor Smoke, compiled a 10-1 record with 14 saves and a 2.94 earned run average, struck out 94 batters and walked only 52 in 137.2 innings in 1984.

Lopez was not offered a Tigers contract following the 1985 season, which he finished with a 3-7 record and five saves.

Lopez was a member of the American League All-Star team in 1983.

Unanimous again in basketball poll

North Carolina remains No. 1

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — North Carolina unanimously remains the No. 1 team in college basketball today, while neighbor North Carolina State has climbed back into The Associated Press' Top Twenty for the first time since the second week of the season.

The top-ranked Tar Heels have been first in every poll since the season began. They were unanimous choices twice before losing to Virginia but still remained No. 1 last week.

All 63 sports writers and broadcasters voting in this week's poll tabbed 24-1 North Carolina as the top team. The Tar Heels collected 1,260 points in the balloting, far ahead of the 1,186 for runner-up Duke. The Blue Devils, 22-2, second in the poll for the second time this season, moving up two spots this week.

North Carolina State, meanwhile, jumped back into the ratings thanks to an upset of Louisville last week. The Wolfpack is 17-6 overall.

"I told the kids at the beginning of the season that being in the Top 20 doesn't mean anything then," Coach Jim Valvano said of the preseason poll, which placed N.C. State 17th. "But at the end of the season to be playing Top 20 basketball has got to make you feel good."

"I think we have an outstanding basketball team at this point. But it is the quality of the opposition that we face that most concerns me."

The Wolfpack still must face all of the top teams in the Atlantic Coast Conference, plus eighth-ranked Oklahoma.

"The kids have rallied from a low point in the season at Tallahassee (a loss to Florida State which dropped the Wolfpack to 3-3) to get where we are," said Valvano. "That means we have gone 14-3 since being 3-3 and to beat the teams we have along the way, I couldn't be happier."

There was considerable movement throughout the Top Twenty, thanks greatly to a slew of upsets last weekend.

Kansas, 22-3, moved from sixth to third, while 22-3 Memphis State dropped one spot to fourth and Georgia Tech fell from second to fifth. Memphis St. lost to Nevada-Las Vegas on Saturday, while Tech was beaten by Duke.

UNLV, 23-2, used its one-point win over Memphis State to surge from ninth to sixth. St. John's is seventh, up three spots, followed by Oklahoma, which dropped three places, No. 9 Georgetown and 10th-ranked Michigan.

Georgetown, which lost 60-58 to St. John's Monday night, improved two spots in the poll, while Michigan went from seventh to 10th.

The Second Ten also has Kentucky, Syracuse, Bradley, Notre Dame, Texas-El Paso, Indiana, Alabama, Louisville and Virginia Tech.

No. 19 Louisville beat No. 20 Virginia Tech 93-83 Monday night.

Western Kentucky was the only team to fall out of the rankings.

Bob Richards won the Olympic pole vault title in 1952 and 1956. He also won U.S. decathlon championships in 1951, 1954, and 1955.

The only two National League players to win the Most Valuable Player award three times are Roy Campanella and Stan Musial.

A ball is hit to the outfield where the fielder has both feet in foul territory. The fielder touches and drops the ball while it is over fair grounds. This is a fair ball and not a foul ball.

PEDAL PUSHERS
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — On the Utah Jazz, if you don't get enough playing time you have to pedal.

Basketball Coach Frank Layden came up with the idea that any player who doesn't get at least 20 minutes of court time in a game has to put in some overtime on a stationary bike.

If a player doesn't get in the game at all, he does 20 minutes on the bike. If he sees 10 minutes of action, he does another 10 pumping the pedals. But the players are not complaining. One substitute who spends a lot of time on the bike, Fred Roberts, said: "It keeps the men who are not playing a lot in good shape."

BASEBALL
NEW YORK (AP) — The baseball old-timers' games, previously a limited series, has been expanded to a barnstorming tour that will put games into every major-league ballpark next season, major league baseball announced.

The three-to-five inning games, to be sponsored by the Equitable Life Assurance Co., will begin in Boston May 17 and continue through Sept. 20, when the final contest is scheduled to be played in Cincinnati. There will be games almost every weekend and two games in two cities on some.

AUTO RACING
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Bill Elliott picked up where he left off last year, running off to the pole position for the Daytona 500 with a fast lap of 205.039 mph.

His Ford Thunderbird will share the front row with the Chevrolet Monte Carlo SS of Geoff Bodine, who was just behind at 204.545, a separation on the clock of just .11 of a second.

BOXING
ATLANTA (AP) — The Georgia Boxing Commission postponed a scheduled hearing into reports that Tim Witherspoon may have used drugs before his World Boxing Association heavyweight championship victory over Tony Tubbs last month.

The panel was to decide whether to fine or suspend Witherspoon. Promoter Don King announced last week that post-fight tests showed traces of marijuana in the fighter's system.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., (AP) — The University of Tennessee will investigate whether college rules were violated after a Volunteer booster's credit card was found in former quarterback Tony Robinson's car, a school spokesman said today.

University officials planned to tell the National Collegiate Athletics Association of the probe and later will turn over their findings to both the NCAA and the Southeastern Conference, said Hayward Harris, sports information director.

Pitcher Harris agrees to Rangers' contract

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Outfielder Gary Ward was left as the Texas Rangers' only potential arbitration case after pitcher Greg Harris agreed to a one-year contract.

Sources said Harris, who had filed for $354,000, accepted a $310,000 offer from the American League team, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported. Texas had filed an arbitration figure of $277,500.

Harris, 5-4 with a 2.47 earned run average last season, had been scheduled to face the Rangers across an arbitration table in Los Angeles Wednesday.

"Under the circumstances, Greg is satisfied," said Harris' agent, Steve Compt. "I think we've come a long way and 1986 will provide the second half of the story."

Ward, whose arbitration hearing is scheduled for Feb. 19 in Chicago, is asking for $930,000. The Rangers have offered $865,000, a $135,000 raise over his 1985 earnings.

Meanwhile, the Rangers' attempt to deal outfielder George Wright for Houston pitcher Mike Madden remains unsettled. Rangers general manager Tom Grieve said his late-afternoon telephone call to Astros general manager Dick Wagner on Monday went unanswered.

In a spring training note, the Rangers announced they will have 52 players in camp after extending invitations to 13 non-roster players.

The non-roster invitees are pitchers Paul Kilgus, Al Lachowicz, Don Welch and Bobby Witt; catchers Chad Kreuter, Luis Pujols, Mike Stanley and Don Werner; infielders Willie Lozado, Jose Mota and Greg Tabor, and outfielders Bob Jones and Ellis Valentine.

System in operator's hands

WASHINGTON (AP) — The District of Columbia had set lofty goals for its cable television system — local ownership with strong minority involvement, 80 channels with 16 set aside for public and municipal access and a two-way communications link for businesses, hospitals and schools.

Yet nearly two years after it negotiated the original contract for cable service, the system is in the hands of the country's largest cable operator, the proposed services have been scaled back and still none of the city's 250,000 households has been wired.

"There were a lot of unrealistic expectations on both sides about what cable operators could provide," said Richard Maulsby, executive director of the District of Columbia's office of cable television.

The District began debating cable legislation in the mid 1970s, finally passed a law in 1982 and two years later negotiated a contract with District Cablevision Inc., whose lead investor was Robert L. Johnson, a local black businessman.

But financing problems developed, and a new agreement was forged. While Johnson remains president of District Cablevision, Denver-based Tele-Communications Inc. is providing the lion's share of the financing and controls the operation.

In the new pact, the city made contract concessions, agreeing to fewer channels and reduced public access programming and abandoning the two-way communications link.

"If you look around the country, these are the same kinds of concessions being made" by a host of other cities trying to settle on a framework for cable, Maulsby said.

Johnson said through a spokeswoman he had no comment.

Of 32 of the largest cities where initial cable franchise awards were made over the past decade, there have been lawsuits in 18, said John Mansell, an analyst for Paul Kagan Associates, a research and consulting firm for the communications and financial industries. Contracts were renegotiated in eight cities before cable construction began and in 15 others after operators began building.

"This is something that has gone on in Chicago, Los Angeles, Minneapolis, Pittsburgh, Miami, Atlanta, Denver ... you can go right down the line," he said.

The process began as long as 20 years ago in some cities, where officials have tried to decide who should award franchise contracts, how many cable companies should operate in the city, what services operators must provide and how much control the city should retain.

There's a trend toward shorter TV commercials — but far more of them. On the networks alone, the weekly ad total has nearly tripled since 1965.

Newswriters move meeting

HOUSTON (AP) — The Religion Newswriters' Association of America will meet with Southern Baptists in Salt Lake City because Mormon officials said female reporters could not cover a church meeting, the association's head says.

The 200-member group of U.S. and Canadian newspaper and magazine religion writers usually holds its annual meeting along with a national religious group.

It had picked the Mormons' annual meeting in April, said association President Louis Moore. The church said all sessions except a priesthood meeting would be open to female reporters, and suggested transcripts or closed-circuit television of that meeting to accommodate women.

The group's executive board decided to move the meeting to Atlanta, where the Southern Baptist Convention holds its annual meeting in June.

The U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., was established in 1802.

Sir Gregory Gander, born 1745, re-named the 12 months: "Snowy, Flowy, Blowy; Showery, Flowery, Bowery; Hoppy, Croppy, Droppy; Breezy, Sneazy, Freezy."

In 1921, baseball lovers thrilled to the first radio broadcasts of a World Series.

Plant manufactures research balloons

PARIS, Texas (AP) - Long before the days of NASA, Americans were exploring the near-reaches of space—in balloons.

Thirty-eight years ago, German balloonist and entrepreneur Otto Winzen provided the means to develop and perfect what was to become the world's premier high-altitude research balloon; a balloon that was manufactured in Texas by Winzen Research Inc., later

Winzen International Inc. The Winzen balloon factory moved to Paris last spring after its Sulphur Springs plant was irreparably damaged by fire, but a related plastics plant remains in Sulphur Springs. Winzen emigrated to the United States in the mid-1930s to escape the imminent war in Europe. According to Loren Seely, manager of the Paris balloon plant and a man who claims to have known Winzen "as well as anyone could have known Otto Winzen," he was driven by a consuming passion for balloons. Many of his profitable business ventures were merely means to acquire the necessary funds for his balloon obsession. He was a scientist, a chemist, who routinely sold away the patents to devices that since have proved very successful, such as the "bag-in-the-box" one might see inside a cafeteria milk dispenser.

Winzen was an inventor, a car collector and an eccentric who married several times. Ultimately, he committed suicide in 1979 by carbon monoxide poisoning.

Before his death, he sold controlling interest in Winzen Research Inc. to the company's employees who then changed the company name to Winzen International Inc. A minority share of stock is still retained by his widow. Winzen International Inc. has few competitors, Seely said, and of those few companies in the world that make high-altitude research balloons, most buy the polyethylene StratoFilm material to make them from the 80,000-square-foot Winzen International extrusion plant on Elm Street in Sulphur Springs.

Much of the first high-altitude research was conducted by men in Winzen balloons, which are often mistakenly referred to as "weather balloons." However, Seely said: "Very rarely does a man fly in the balloon anymore. Most everything now is done by instruments."

The height reached by some of these balloons is truly awesome, and must understandably exclude manned flights. The world records for largest balloon and highest altitude achieved by balloon are held by a Winzen product and are listed in the familiar "Guinness Book of World Records."

At altitudes of 100,000 feet and beyond, certain types of research can be performed that would be stymied at ground-bound stations. Experiments in upper-atmospheric chemistry, such as ozone levels, are ideally performed by instruments held aloft by balloon.

Winzen International has been commissioned by NASA and the Defense Department to engineer numerous projects, none of which Seely would discuss in detail, but he said some work is related to the controversial Star Wars missile defense system and post-nuclear attack communications systems. One project currently in production — a 40-foot by 10-foot balloon made of metalized polypropylene — will be used as a radar target for the space shuttle, he said.

Seely said he believes every country in the world, except the Soviet Union and China, have used Winzen research balloons. Even those two nations may have "acquired" Winzen balloons in some way, Seely said. The Paris plant makes balloons of all different sizes by contract only. The most expensive is around 700 feet long and costs in excess of $100,000. The cheapest is about 70 feet long and costs about $1,500. Compared with the mega-million dollar cost of a single space flight, balloon research has consistently proved to be very efficient. Of course, the relatively low cost of a balloon can be offset by the cost of the payload — instruments that can run into the millions of dollars.

These payloads can carry devices for just about any imaginable scientific use. For example, physicists once believed that by using high-altitude balloons they could solve the riddle of the elusive "mono-pole" — theoretical, single concentrated magnetic pole that, if discovered and harnessed could give birth to inventions with fantastic and as yet only dreamed of electrical properties.

The balloons are assembled in a modified chicken house 700 feet long and 42 feet wide located three miles north of Paris. There the strips of StratoFilm material are placed on tables 600 feet long and fastened together with a type of plastic tape, called "load tape," which is reinforced by polyester filaments. Sometimes a metalized-film load tape will be used so the balloon can be traced by radar. The metalized tape is the same that has been ejected by fighter jets since the Korean War to create a "ghost" image to confuse radar tracking.

Once assembled, the balloon is folded, accordion-fashion, into a box and shipped off to the user.

Many balloon flights in the United States are launched from a facility in Palestine, run by NASA. Seely said the Palestine facility is like the Cape Kennedy of balloon-borne space exploration.

As launch time nears and wind and weather conditions are right, the balloon is attached to a gondola containing whatever instruments to be used and inflated with helium. When it is ready to go, the balloon stands tall and thin, like an absurdly long, inverted teardrop. A 600-foot balloon when fully inflated can easily hoist a 6,000-pound payload.

As the balloon approaches maximum altitude, the decreased atmospheric pressure causes the helium inside to expand, and the balloon assumes the shape of an enormous mushroom.

Once the mission is completed, the payload is detached by radio control and is floated to earth by parachute. A cord is attached from the parachute-payload assembly to the balloon that, as the gondola drops, rips open the balloon, rendering it useless. Many an East Texas farmer has risen from his bed to find his barn, house or fields blanketed with a strange plastic film.

The Newspaper BIBLE
THIS IS YOUR ONLY HOPE!
While the apostles were talking to the people, the chief priests, the captain of the Temple police, and some of the Sadducees came over to them, very disturbed that Peter and John were claiming that Jesus had risen from the dead. They arrested them and since it was already evening, jailed them overnight.
But many of the people who heard their message believed it, so that the number of believers now reached a new high of about 5,000 men!
The next day it happened that the Council of all the Jewish leaders was in session in Jerusalem. Anna the High Priest was there, and Caiaphas, John, Alexander, and others of the High Priest's relatives.
So the two disciples were brought in before them. "By what power, or by whose authority have you done this?" the Council demanded.
Then Peter, filled with the Holy Spirit, said to them, "Honorable leaders and elders of our nation, if you mean the good deed done to the cripple, and how he was healed, let me clearly state to you and to all the people of Israel that it was done in the name and power of Jesus from Nazareth, the Messiah, the man you crucified—but God raised back to life again. It is by His authority that this man stands here healed!
"For Jesus the Messiah is the one referred to in the Scriptures when they speak of a stone discarded by the builders which became the capstone of the arch. There is salvation in no one else! Under all heaven there is no other name for men to call upon to save them."
Acts 4: 1-12
