Under an agreement announced Monday, Guard pilots on routine training missions will begin to report to lawmen when they spot illicit marijuana fields.

"This agreement permits the Guard pilots to gather drug-related intelligence information and provide it to DPS narcotics investigators," said Col. Jim Adams, director of the Department of Public Safety.

Authorities said that Texas - due to its climate, vast size and numerous remote areas - is an ideal location for illegally growing marijuana.

BOGOTA, Columbia (AP) - Columbia's justice minister, who had received threats for spearheading a major antidrug crackdown, was killed by a volley of bullets when gunmen ambushed his limousine. The government responded today by delcaring a nationwide state of siege.

Although leftist guerrillas had launched a series of attacks over the past two days, killing three policemen, it was believed Lara Bonilla, 39, was assassinated because of his campaign against illegal drug traffickers.

The nationwide state of siege was announced early today by Minister of Government Alfonso Gomez following an emergency Cabinet meeting. Gomez cited the sassination and the general escalation of violence as asons for the action.

Insurance decisions reached

Hospital board okays renovation loan

By REED PARSELL

Managing Editor Details of a seven-year, $350,000 loan for renovation work at Deaf Smith General Hospital were approved Monday during a special gathering of the DSGH board of directors.

Meanwhile, Texas Hospitals Insurance Exchange and Plains Insurance were selected to provide coverage for the district in various areas.

The approved loan is with Hereford State Bank. Rather than having to offer as security its deed of trust on real property - the original plan - the district instead will have its accounts receivable serve as collateral.

Another stipulation of the contract is should DSGH seek another major loan within seven years, the one from Hereford State Bank would have to be paid off in full at the time of the new agree-

According to Frank Zinser Jr., president of the board, the yearly $50,000 principle payments would be made the first week of December. This, he said, would allow the hospital to use much of the tax revenue it usually receives in November.

Interest payments would be due every three months. The loan was granted, DSGH Administrator James Bullard said, at an interest rate of 8.8 percent.

Plans for hospital renovations stem partly from a series of recommendations made last year by Harwood K. Smith and Partners of Dallas. They were capsulized and presented to the board

Allison, one of the six DSGH district directors.

Allison's worksheet included $107,700 for complete renovation of the 19 existing rooms in Station 2. That work would include new blinds, bedroom furniture, headwalls, overbed lights, heating and air conditioning units, consoles and sink cabinets.

More than $86,000 would be spent on Station 1. Among things to be changed would be ceilings, floor and wall finishes, overbed lights and heating and air conditioning units. Seven rooms would be coverted to private quarters, each with a new shower.

Renovation of circular rooms, including new vinyl covering, paint and tile, would run around $28,800. Allison also figured updating and redesigning of the emergency room and hospital entrance would cost approximately $30,000.

Allison was the only dissenting vote in the board's decision to have THIE insure the district for building, contents and general liability. Directors apparently based their move on around $3,600 which would be saved over three years by going with the outof-town insurance firm.

The three-year bid by THIE, at $6,149 per year, comes out to be $18,447. The local Lone Star and Plains Insurance companies bid $22,096 and $22,436.88, respec-

As outlined, the district would have a $3 million policy on its hospital building, $1.6 million on the hospital's contents and $11,000 on the boiler house. General liability would be for a combined Feb. 21 by Dr. Charles single limit of $500,000.

Before the vote, new board member Mariorie Ford wondered "how much goodwill" might be lost should the district bypass local insurance companies for the THIE bid.

"I don't know," Bullard replied. "That's why I brought this proposal to you." The hospital adminstrator did say, however, THIE has served the district well in covering its malpractice needs. "It is convenient to have all your coveage in one packet if you can," he added.

that $3,600," Zinser allowed. Part of the reason THIE has such cheaper rates than the local bidders, Bullard explained, is that it has "no middleman to speak of." Direct communication with the company, he said, is "It's pretty hard to ignore bound to result in savings.

In other board business, it was announced DSGH room rates would be raised today to $125 per day. The $6 increase is to help pay for $327,000 worth of new X-ray equipment the district recently purchased on a five-year financing plan.

U.S. official criticizes suggestion

Leftist unions call for May Day march

By ARTHUR ALLEN

Associated Press Writer SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) - Leftist labor unions called for a May Day march here today, and a U.S. official said the rally would try to "discredit" the presidential runoff election scheduled for Sunday.

The party that placed third in the first round of presidential voting announced Monday that it would not endorse either candidate in the runoff. But a leader of the party said his colleagues were privately backing the moderate candidate, Jose Napoleon Duarte, over ultraconservative Roberto d'Aubuisson.

In El Salvador's 40-year-old civil war, an army officer said two captured leftist rebels reported the insurgents were trying to capture San Francisco Gotera, the capital of Morazan province, before the runoff.

Col. Leopoldo Hernadez Segovia said troops killed 80 rebels in weekend combat in the northeastern province, a longtime guerrilla stronghold.

The unions' call for a May Day march today was the first time in four years they have tried to organize a major public rally.

May Day in the past few years has been relatively quiet in the capital. In 1979 and 1980, the left attracted thousands of people to street demonstrations, many of which turned violent.

A U.S. official said called plans for today's May Day march an attempt by leftists to provoke trouble before Sunday's voting. "It's logical to think they will try to discredit the process," said the official, who spoke on condition he not be named.

The Leftist Unified Labor Movement of El Salvador urged workers from across the coutnry to march today through downtown San Salvador.

In a newspaper advertisement, the labor group charged that the U.S. Embassy and the armed forces would be to blame for any violence that occurs during the march.

Most of the labor federations under the group's umbrella were members of the Democratic Revolutionary Front, the political wing of the rebel movement. At the National Conciliation

Party's news conference to announce its neutrality in the runoff, a high-ranking party leader who asked not to be identified said the leadership privately supports Duarte, of the Christian Democrats.

In the March 25 presidential voting, none of the eight candidates not the majority needed for victory. Duarte received 43.4 percent; d'Aubuisson of the Republican Nationalist Alliance, 29.8 percent; the national Conciliation Party, 19 percent. The secretary-general of the National Conciliation Party, Raul Molina Martinez. said the result of the runoff "could mean the establishment of government systems that propose a rollback or annihilation of the economic, social and political advances that the Salvadoran people have achieved up to now."

Asked if he was referring to d'Aubuisson's party, he replied, "You journalists know better than we do which party would endanger democracy."

Orioles on win streak; wind stops Texas game

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles might have come into April like lambs, but they certainly went out like lions.

After a woeful 2-10 start, the defending world champions seem to have turned things around, ending April on a winning note with a 6-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians Monday night.

That was their fifth straight victory and eighth in their last 11 games, thanks in part to the hot bat of Eddie Murray. The Baltimore first baseman rapped a two-run homer in the eighth inning. his fifth game-winning hit in Baltimore's last eight wins.

The Orioles were losing 3-2 when Murray blasted his tworun homer in the eighth off Ernie Camacho, 0-1. Camacho was lifted after allowing a one-out single to Ken Singleton, and pinch hitter Lenn Sakata doubled off Mike Jeffcoat to score Singleton. Ron Kittle blasted a threerun homer in the first inning, powering Chicago over New York. The homer was Kittle's seventh of the season and his fifth in the last seven games.

Winner Floyd Bannister, 2-2, scattered eight hits, including Toby Harrah's tworun single in the ninth, before leaving with one out in the final inning. Britt Burns finished up, gaining his second save after giving up an RBI single to Rick Cerone.

Kittle's homer highlighted a four-run first off Ron Guidry, 1-2. The White Sox picked up a run in the fourth on Julio Cruz's sacrifice fly.

"The last time I faced him he tried to keep the ball away from me," said Kittle of Guidry. "All I tried to do was drive it up the middle and not overpower it."

The game started on time, but two minutes later, home plate Don Denkinger called time with two out in top of first when the winds, up to 35 miles per hour, started blowing out to right field.

The winds had caused Texas Manager Doug Rader to change his starting pitcher from Frank Tanana to Jim Bibby. Rader felt that Tanana, an off-speed pitcher, would be unable to get his breaking ball over the plate.

"It was so bad that you couldn't keep your balance," said Denkinger, who added it was the first time in 16 years of umpiring he has ever been associated with a game being called because of wind.

"My main concern was the game. The way the wind was blowing there wouldn't have been much resemblance to the game of baseball. Behind home plate for me, the batter and the catcher it was like looking into a sandblaster."

The most recent ruling, overturning his one-month drug-related suspension of Atlanta Braves pitcher Pascual Perez, brought some strong language.

Kuhn called the decision, rendered Saturday by arbitrator Richard I. Bloch, "inexplicable, indefensible and highly destructive to baseball's efforts to deal with its serious drug problem."

His opinion falls far short of universal acceptance, but it's not hard to figure out why Kuhn feels this way.

Last month, Kuhn saw oneyear suspensions of two other players Willie Wilson of the Kansas City Royals and former Royal Jerry Martin shortened to five months by

Wallach sparks Expos by Phils

By JOHN NELSON AP Sports Writer

It might not last, so Tim Wallach is going to enjoy it while it does.

With a single and a two-run double Monday night in Montreal's 5-2 victory over Philadelphia, Wallach now has gone 8-for-11 with five RBI in three games against the Phillies. "I have no idea why I'm doing so well against the Phillies because they have good pitchers," he said. "I just hope it continues."

His latest assault against Philadelphia came against one of their best. Steve Carlton, who is 1-1 this season and has failed in five straight starting assignments to win his second game.

Wallach, the Expos third baseman, normally is a slow starter, but he's hitting .326 so far this season. He says he got some help from Montreal batting instructor Billy DeMars "to correct some flaws that I had."

"I'm swinging the bat better than I have in years," he

Montreal got 7 1-3 strong innings from Andy McGaffigan, in only his second start of the season. McGaffigan gave up three hits before leaving in the eighth, and Gary Lucas and Jeff Reardon finished up.

Wallach drove in Montreal's first two runs with a bases-loaded double with two out in the fourth innings. Carlton, who gave up four hits in eight innings, walked Tim Raines, Andre Dawson and Gary Carter with two out before facing Wallach.

Wallach's single ignited a three-run ninth inning. Derrel Thomas hit a two-run triple, then scored on a throwing error by Philadelphia second baseman Juan Samuel. Philadelphia, which has lost three in a row, scored both its runs in the bottom of the ninth off Reardon, who loaded the bases on an error by second baseman Doug Flynn and two walks before yielding a two-run single to

Von Hayes. In the rest of Monday night's abbreviated National League schedule, Los Angeles shut out San Francisco 1-0 and St. Louis downed Pittsburgh 5-3.

Valenzuela's shutout was his first of the season but the second in a row and sixth this year by Dodgers pitchers. Alejandro Pena shut out San Diego 6-0 on five hits Monday night.

San Francisco's Bill Laskey allowed only four hits in seven innings and is 0-3 despite owning one of the league's best earned run averages, 1.98.

Oilers sign Nebraska star

HOUSTON (AP) - University of Nebraska lineman Dean Steinkuhler said he talked with two United States Football League teams, but the Houston Oilers was the team he really wanted and the National Football Team was delighted to get the 6-3, 175 pounder.

"This is the place I wanted to come to," Steinkuhler said at a news conference at the Oiler training facility Monday. "This was my choice."

The lineman added: "This team is going to change things and be a winner."

He refused to discuss terms of his four-year contract with the Oilers, but the 23-year-old and Oiler officials were all smiles at the news conference, Steinkuhler's first appearance here.

Steinkuhler played guard for Nebraska, but Oiler coach Hugh Campbell said he'll eventually be tried at tackle for the Houston squad.

"I've never played tackle before," said Steinkuhler, but he added: "Professional football is a learning game and I know I've got a lot to learn." Steinkuhler said he had discussions with the USFL teams in Los Angeles and New Jersey. 'We took a look at it (USFL)" said the lineman. "All of us participate in this sport not just because it's fun,

Nets hoping to continue streak; Dallas takes on Lakers again

By BARRY WILNER AP Sports Writer

The New Jersey Nets are hoping to continue their spacewalk through the National Basketball Association playoffs and keep their road record clean.

The Nets are 4-0 away from home during the playoffs. They shocked the defending champion 76ers in a best-offive opening round series by winning all three games played in Philadelphia. And they eased past the Bucks 106-100 in Milwaukee in the first game of their best-ofseven matchup.

Tonight, the Bucks will try to even the series. Also, Los Angeles will try to duplicate its opening-game rout of Dallas in their series. On Wednesday night, Boston goes after its second straight home victory against New York, and Utah, leading 1-0, hosts Phoenix.

"I was delighted to get one here," said Nets Coach Stan Albeck after center Darryl Dawkins scored a career playoff high of 32 points and forward Buck Williams hauled down 17 rebounds, "This is going to be a long series. I tried to indicate it when I can here. Homecourt doesn't mean a thing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am surprised you don't have a better understanding of professional wrestling. The fans are aware that even though the outcome is prearranged, some of the pain and injuries are are real. Nevertheless, we enjoy watching the Von Erick brothers crush the Freebirds. And everyone is waiting to see Gentleman Chris Adams pulverize Gorgeous Jimmy Garvin so their valets, Sunshine and Precious, can claw each other to pieces.

I believe professional wrestling is less harmful to the viewers than the trash we see in the soaps. Why do I say that? Because professional wrestling is so different from most people's everyday lives, there is no tendency to identify with it.

DEAR J.K.C.: I'm in favor of escape. Lord knows, we all need a respite from the daily pressures. But I would derive little pleasure from seeing the Von Eick brothers crush the Freebirds, and the thought of one human being pulverizing another leaves me cold. Army recruits in a new way

NEW YORK (AP) - A cardboard poster proclaiming "Uncle Sam Wants You" was the old way. Now, the U.S. Army recruits with cuddly, heart-tugging commercials on television.

Today is the first day of May, a time when the fancies of America's teen-agers turn away from the classroom. Some of those restless souls want to remake the remake of "Where the Boys Are." The Army wants another kind of kid, one who has loftier ambitions, a sentimental streak, and isn't turned off by khaki. That kind of person might be influenced by one current Army-recruiting TV commercial, featuring a high school senior who tells his blue-collar father that he's joining the army to pay for his college education and to learn electrical engineering. He says it's a payback for all 1970s. his dad's sacrifices.

Then they embrace. "Our main target is high school seniors, male and female, in the upper education levels," said Ted Regan, executive creative director of the NW Ayer advertising agency. Ayer has handled the Army recruiting account, off and on, through World War II, the Vietnam War (and its antimilitary aftermath) and the military drug scandals of the "Drug scandals did not impact on our advertising," Regan said. "The best answer to negative images whether the product is cereal or the Army — is to stress the positive." And when the military is applauded by the public, in the case of the rescue of American students on Grenada last year, the Army doesn't change its basic strategy, either.

As a government contractor, Ayer - whose other clients include Clorox, Avon, AT&T and J.C. Penney must bid on the Army recruiting account every three years. The account has more than its share of red tape, but Regan says personnel and recruiting officials in the Pentagon are good

The panel had just approved billions of dollars in federal highway aid with almost immediately. OUESTION: Is testicular cancer a rare form of cancer?

ANSWERline: No. Cancer of the testes, the male reproductive glands, is the most common cancer in men 15 to 34 years of age. It accounts for 12 percent of all cancer deaths in this group. When detected and treated early, testicular cancer has a 50-year survival rate of about 70 percent. Men who have an undescended or partially descended testicle are at a much higher risk for the disease. All men, though, should practice a monthly self-examination in which they check for hard lumps or nodules. If any are found, a doctor should be notified immediately. Other symptoms of testicular cancer include a dull ache in the abdomen and groin,

Gouty arthritis

DEAR DR. LAMB About once or twice a year I have a painful gout condition in one of my big toes. After only three Indocin capsules, one per meal, it clears up. A bothersome arthritis condition in my right elbow is also relieved.

Can you explain why? And why not take Indocin occasionally to also relieve my arthritis? DEAR READER - It's good you only have attacks of gout once or twice a year. although it would be better to prevent them entirely. Perhaps the arthritis in your elbow is gouty arthritis. If this is the case, or if your uric acid level is persistently high, you'd be better off on a program that lowered your uric acid level enough to help prevent the acute attacks and the development of gouty arthritis. People generally think of gout as causing a red big toe.

But any joint may be attacked by the steady deposit of uric acid salts (urate) that causes joint deformity and arthritis. This complication of gout can usually be prevented with proper control.

Indocin and Colchicine are often used to relieve acute gout pain. Indocin is an antiinflammatory medicine and is indeed used to relieve painful arthritis. It has a number of other applications to control pain from inflammatory conditions.

I'm sending you the Health Letter 16-10. Gout, the Uric Acid Disease. After reading it you'll understand why you need to control your gout and what can be done. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, selfaddressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY

DEAR DR. LAMB - A year ago my 19-year-old son. who had never been sick a day in his life, suffered spontaneous pneumothorax while watching TV. Prior to this he had been very active in track and was training to run cross-country.

About six weeks before his lung collapsed he carried 50 pounds of feed on his back for two miles. He believes this is what caused the lung collapse. But his doctors told him the cause was uncertain. Apparently he was born with a weak spot on his lung that ballooned and finally burst.

and a sensation of heaviness QUESTION: Do more men than women get colorectal cancer?

American Cancer Society

ANSWERline: This is a common misconception. Actually, about the same number of men as women develop the disease, with slightly more cases occurring among women. Men, though, report being tested for colon and rectum malignancies more often than women, according to the Amerifor heart disease will be reduced can Cancer Society

QUESTION: Why do new cancer therapies reported in the media take years to get into medical prac-

ANSWERline: By law, new medicines must be tested first on animals, and then on humans in careful clinical trials. Some cancers take decades to develop, and after treatment, patients must be followed for at least five years to check for possible recurrence.
