Supreme Court upholds nuclear plant ban

No immediate effect seen, however

By RICHARD T. PIENCIAK
Associated Press Writer

A Supreme Court ruling upholding a ban on building new nuclear plants in California will have no immediate effect on 57 construction sites nationwide, but could crush the comatose industry's chances for revival.

The court unanimously ruled Wednesday that states can ban construction of new plants until the federal government devises a safe way to dispose of radioactive wastes.

The ruling upheld a 1976 California law that barred construction of nuclear plants on grounds that unresolved waste issues could lead to plant shutdowns and therefore extreme financial consequences.

"Congress has left sufficient authority in the states to allow the development of nuclear power to be slowed or even stopped for economic reasons," Justice Byron R. White wrote in the 9-0 opinion.

The Reagan administration had argued that allowing states to prohibit new plants could jeopardize nuclear power as a source of electricity.

Plants are being built in only three of the 13 states that have some type of restriction on nuclear construction. The California law, for example, exempted units that had already experienced "substantial construction and substantial expense" when the law was enacted.

Industry groups sought to downplay the ruling's impact.

"We believe that the impact lies somewhere in the future," said Carl Goldstein, assistant vice president of the Atomic Industrial Forum. "The impact appears to be potential should someone now come along with a new order or seek a construction permit in one of the states that have such laws."

Only last month, Carl Walske, the AIF's president, had predicted a "good, sustained economic growth" would signal another round of nuclear plant orders, perhaps within three years.

But the industry has been burdened with prohibitive construction costs due to high interest rates as well as the nation's worst commercial nuclear accident in 1979 at Three Mile Island. Plans for 51 units have been canceled since the accident, and there have been no new orders nationwide since 1978.

And the Harvard law professor who represented California in the high court case contended the decision does more than permit states to ban future construction. He said it does not prevent any state from banning ongoing projects if it wants to.

"The decision's underlying rationale is a total victory for the states," said Professor Laurence Tribe. He said the court's ruling "plainly is independent of the question whether the plant has begun construction or not."

However, if any states do enact legislation ordering abandonment of plants already being built, they would have to reimburse the owners under a Fifth Amendment provision that says the government cannot seize private property without just compensation.

Former Mayor Honored

Former Hereford Mayor Bartley Dowell was awarded the Hereford Bull Chip Award to highlight activities at the chamber of commerce's bi-monthly fun breakfast this morning at the community center.

Dowell, who served six years as the city's mayor, retired from that post last year, making way for new mayor Wes Fisher. Dowell also served four years as a city commissioner several years ago.

The fun breakfast was chock full of announcements of coming events, including the Little Miss Hereford Pageant, which will be held Saturday evening at the Hereford High School auditorium.

A total of 66 young ladies are entered in the four divisions in the pageant, which will begin at 7 p.m. Saturday.

The theme for this year's pageant is "Under The Big Top."

The Hereford Board of Realtors sponsored this month's breakfast, which included a "trades fair." Displays by local merchants and service companies were set up, and several attendees were lucky winners of door prizes they offered.

George Kimmerer won a $25 gift certificate from Hereford Glass Co., while

M.D. Gentry and Ron Cook won $25 savings accounts from Hi-Plains Savings & Loan and Security Federal Savings & Loan respectively.

Margaret Schroeter won a plant from Park Ave. Florist & Gifts, while Pat Fisher, Joe Reinaur, Mildred Betzen, Vera Threewit, and Nell Miller each won a cassette tape from Potential Unlimited, and John Faulkner and Dean Herring won steel lock-boxes from State Farm Insurance agents Jerry Shipman and Gentry.

Donna West also won a hand-made tool box from Vasek Service & Equipment Co.

In drawings involving monetary awards, Rick Brown won $25 in Deaf Smith County bucks, while Jody Hamilton walked off with $75. The person who came out as the biggest loser, however, was Teresa Dodson, who lost out on $150 for not being present for the drawing involving chamber members only. Announcements of other coming events included the following:

-A benefit basketball game sponsored by the Deaf Smith County unit of the American Cancer Society, 7:30 p.m. tonight at the La Plata Gym.
-The Mid-Plains Pioneer Association's annual meeting, Saturday, May 8 at the Bull Barn.

-The Campfire Inc. Bean Supper, 5-8 p.m. Tuesday, May 3 at the Bull Barn.

-The Cystic Fibrosis Bike-A-Thon, Saturday, April 30.

-The Kids, Inc. All-You-Can-Eat Barbecue, 4-8 p.m., Saturday, April 30 in the banquet room at the community center.

-The Big Brothers-Big Sisters annual Art Soiree, 7 p.m., Sunday, May 1 at the country club. There will also be an art show, open to the public, at the country club from 1:30-3:30 p.m. Sunday.

Senate nearing withholding repeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Repeal of President Reagan's embattled plan for withholding taxes from interest and dividends is edging toward approval in the Senate, but just how and when the job will be done is an unsolved problem.

"I wouldn't break out the champagne yet," Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., who backs withholding, warned repeal backers who are ready to declare a Senate victory.

The withholding plan remains law, scheduled to go into effect July 1. And, by the time both chambers of Congress finish work on the effort the deadline might have come.

Republicans, who control the Senate, thought their patchwork repeal measure endorsed by the banking industry would win quick approval Wednesday. It would allow no withholding before July 1, 1987, and only then if both houses of Congress voted for it at that time.

Although nothing in the agreement assures withholding would ever take effect, that was not good enough for many Democratic senators. They demanded a chance to vote for outright repeal with no ifs, ands or buts.

"I have told the people of Louisiana I am going to vote for repeal and now we are being denied that right" because of the GOP plan, said Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La. So, Long, a master of the legislative process, rearranged the Senate agenda to provide a straight yes-or-no vote.

That created this situation: —A vote today on Long's motion for straight repeal of withholding. Republicans, who control the Senate, expected to win that test. But defection of a few GOP senators could result in a vote for outright repeal — killing the Republican compromise and forcing a veto confrontation with Reagan.

Defeat of Long's effort could mean a vote later in the day on the GOP compromise.

—Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan said the administration is "standing firm" to retain withholding. Regan said he opposes any delay in the schedule that, starting July 1, requires that 10 percent of dividends and interest be withheld for taxes.

Same man probably responsible for bombs

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A bomb that exploded in a gasoline storage tank here was probably planted by the same "dangerous" man responsible for bombs at Exxon U.S.A. service stations in Dallas and Grand Prairie, authorities say.

"We're dealing with a dangerous man here. The same man is obviously responsible for all of these bombs," Jimmy Wooten, director of the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms in Fort Worth, said Wednesday.

The Fort Worth Exxon station where the detonated bomb was found Wednesday was one of three subjected to thorough searches after they were mentioned in an extortion note that demanded 250 Krugerrands — gold coins worth a total of $114,000.

Federal officials used a special camera and lowered it into an underground storage tank at the three stations, but found nothing at two of them.

In the third station, debris showed up on the film, and authorities used magnets and fish hooks Wednesday to extricate fragments that later were described as part of a bomb that had exploded.

"We don't know when the blast occurred. Nobody heard it, and the tank withstood it," Wooten said. "Fortunately, fumes within the tank weren't ignited. If they had exploded, we could have had a real disaster."

"We are convinced the bomb was placed inside the tank as part of the extortion plot involving Exxon."

A pipe bomb exploded Friday at an Exxon station in Grand Prairie, a Dallas suburb, while police waited in a telephone booth at the station for further instructions from a caller who demanded the gold coin payoff.

NEW CONCORD, Ohio (AP) — Calling for a return to "the simple values we learned in this small town," Sen. John H. Glenn returned to his hometown today to declare his candidacy for president of the United States.

For the 61-year-old former astronaut, whose flight into Earth orbit made him a national hero two decades ago, the declaration was a bid for yet another American dream.

"The issue is leadership," Glenn said in a speech prepared for delivery in the John Glenn High School auditorium in this town of 1,800 midway between Columbus, Ohio, and Wheeling, W.Va.

An opponent of the MX nuclear missile and a recent convert to support of the SALT II arms control treaty signed during the Carter administration, Glenn said, "The first duty of government is to keep our people alive, independent and free."

"Yes, I'll stand up for the military — and I'll also stand up to the military when that is what our national interest demands."

Glenn also called for deferring the 10 percent cut in income tax rates scheduled to go into effect July 1 and for repeal of the law that would index tax rates to adjust for inflation. He said those measures would save $225 billion over the next four years.

Five other Democrats already have entered the presidential race.

Glenn's entry may complete the field of active candidates for the 1984 Democratic nomination. However, black Democrats are discussing the possibility of putting forth their own candidate for the nomination.

Former Vice President Walter F. Mondale is rated the early front-runner in the race. Both Glenn and Mondale have finished ahead of President Reagan in recent opinion polls attempting to gauge public sentiment.

Glenn's strategy is based on promoting the idea that the Ohio senator is the Democrat who would have the best chance to defeat Reagan next year.

"If I were to suggest John Glenn would be the most electable Democrat in November, I don't think many people would disagree," said Joe Grandmaison, the senator's campaign manager.

But the Glenn campaign organization has gained a reputation for lagging far behind the efforts of his Democratic rivals.

A prominent Iowa Democrat, insisting on anonymity, described Glenn as "a sleeping giant. If he ever wakes up his organization he'll be ... tough out here."

The other announced candidates in the Democratic race are Sens. Alan Cranston of California, Gary Hart of Colorado and Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina, and former Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida.

So far this year, Glenn has raised $1,155,000 for his presidential campaign, plac-

Shots fired at embassy guards

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Two shots were fired near the British Embassy today, sending Marine guards and bystanders diving for cover at the bomb-shattered U.S. Embassy 750 yards away, witnesses said.

"Apparently someone didn't stop at a checkpoint," a secretary at the British Embassy told The Associated Press.

U.S. Marine warrant officer Bill Henderson said the shots were fired at about 11:15 a.m. (4:15 a.m. EST) by soldiers guarding a stretch of coastal highway between the two embassies.

"The Lebanese army was shooting at a speeding vehicle," he said, "and our people reacted to that by deploying combat positions."

This reporter, in an apartment overlooking the U.S. Embassy, saw Marines crouch behind cars and lie flat in the street, pointing their M-16 automatic rifles in all directions.

Henderson said none of the more than 200 Marines posted at the building since Monday's bombing had been hurt.

The shots rang out as relief workers pulled another body from the wreckage of the American Embassy, where a powerful explosion Monday afternoon killed at least 49 people, including 17 Americans, and injured 130.

Bentsen calls for aid in halting drug traffic

WASHINGTON (AP) — Countries benefiting from the economic aid in President Reagan's Caribbean Basin Initiative should be required to help curb drug trafficking to the United States, says Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen.

Bentsen said at a news conference on Wednesday that if the administration did not propose the requirement, he would try to push it through with a legislative amendment.

Bentsen said "I think it was a serious omission" not to include such standards to begin with in the Caribbean Basin Initiative, a proposal for special economic and trade assistance to 28 Caribbean and Central American nations.

Congress last year approved part of the Caribbean program, providing $350 million in emergency aid to nations of the area.

But it did not approve the portion providing tariff and trade breaks to the countries. Legislation implementing that part of the program was reintroduced this year. Centerpiece of the measure is a proposal for 12 years of duty-free entry into the United States for most Caribbean Basin products.

Bentsen said that at the hearing he raised with Schultz the possibility of barring a country from benefiting from the program unless it agreed to cooperate in drug control efforts.

But Bentsen said that Schultz "hedged his answer."

Bentsen renewed his request in a letter sent Wednesday to Schultz, in which he (See DRUGS, Page 2)

Two officers charged in beating prisoner

HOUSTON (AP) — A police officer and a friend have been indicted on civil rights charges stemming from a beating incident which led to the second man's firing from the police force.

Officer Steve Franklin, 23, and fired officer James Stone, 39, were indicted Wednesday by a Harris County grand jury on a charge that carries a maximum punishment of 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Stone is accused of beating a handcuffed prisoner. Franklin is charged in failure to stop him.

Franklin was suspended for 60 days after the incident. Police Chief Lee Brown, in a letter to the Houston Civil Service Commission, called the beating "illegal and cowardly." Bond was set at $2,000 for each man.

The Commission upheld Stone's firing March 1, saying the officers "displayed the kind of action that gives cops a bad name."

Witnesses at the Crystal Chandelier club said the off-duty officers tried to break up a parking lot brawl Aug. 6 and arrested and handcuffed Craig Stricklin.

The prisoner was taken to a storage room and beaten by Stone while Franklin made no attempt to intervene, witnesses alleged.

The commission, in an apparent reference to Franklin, warned that it "won't tolerate the unwritten code of silence" in which officers refuse to provide information about alleged wrongdoing by fellow officers.

Richard Cobb, attorney for the officers, has denied the charges. Stone has filed a civil lawsuit to overturn his dismissal.

Bill would authorize auto emissions plan

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate has approved a bill that would authorize the state to set up a program to check emissions from new vehicles in Harris County as required by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Sen. Chet Brooks said the bill also would apply to Dallas, Tarrant and El Paso counties if the EPA should find that they are not in compliance with EPA air standards.

Language in the bill says the authority to establish such inspection programs could be extended to any county that does not meet federal air quality standards.

"The EPA has already determined that Harris County is out of compliance," said Brooks, D-Pasadena.

His bill would authorize the Public Safety Commission to adopt emission inspection standards and would permit the commission to charge up to $5 for each inspection.

Asked what penalties the EPA could invoke if Texas communities refused to respond to federal air standards, Brooks said the EPA could reduce highway funds and prohibit new construction that might emit pollutants.

Brooks' bill would cost the state approximately $710,000 over the next two years. It was sent to the House on a 26-4 vote Wednesday.

Yarbrough may have to be indicted again

AUSTIN (AP) — Travis County District Attorney's officials say they may have to reindict Donald Yarbrough, even though the Texas Supreme Court judge has already been re-indicted.

"We may have to re-indict him," said Executive Assistant District Attorney Steve McCleery.

Yarbrough is serving a five-year sentence for a perjury conviction.

Yarbrough was indicted two years ago for failed to appear in court, but his last name was misspelled. When prosecutors decided recently to prosecute Yarbrough on that charge after he was arrested in the Caribbean and returned to Texas, they chose to get a new indictment to correct the spelling to avoid any possible legal problem.

On Wednesday, the second indictment was returned, and prosecutors misspelled what should have been the easy part: Yarbrough's first name. The indictment, which was presented to the grand jury by Assistant District Attorney Bill Williams, charges one "Doanld Yarbrough" with committing the alleged crime in "Trvis County."

Andrews' oilwell draws protest

ANDREWS, Texas (AP) — The proposed drilling of a wildcat oilwell near downtown Andrews and about 150 residences has raised local citizens' ire.

"I'm kind of shocked," said secretary Linda Drake. "I don't want a well or any blowout beside my house."

Drilling of a 2 1/2-mile-deep oilwell in this well-to-do West Texas town is proposed to start next month, following the city's approval of permits that allow Legacy Petroleum Inc. to drill within 250-feet of a notorious private club.

The Redman Lodge, described by locals as a place where "Wild Bill Hickok would drink if he came to Andrews," is the closest facility to the drilling project.

About 150 Andrews residences, including 72 apartments about 450-feet from the site, also are dangerously close to the rig, residents say.

But officials in this city of 13,000 near the New Mexico border dispute allegations the well could explode.

"We don't think there's any real danger," City Attorney Robert Barber said Wednesday. "This is oil country, so we just learn to live with it."

Critics contend the well could endanger resident's lives because the area where they are drilling may be part of a poisonous hydrogen-sulfide gas field.

"There's some danger the well could blow out if it hit a pocket of gas, but the final orders are being drawn up with safety regulations," Barber said. Final drill permits will be ready next week, he said.

Safety regulations on the 18-acre site where the drilling is proposed include the deepening and enlarging of a dry lake bed beside the rig site, where flood runoff can flow to, and flooding the drill site from wayfaring children.

Residents became fearful during hearings last week that schoolchildren could wander onto the site, and that traffic from oilfield vehicles in the area could endanger the tranquility of the town.

"Children play in this area," Malcolm Davis told the Andrews County News. "I know that children don't seem to count much when dollars are concerned, but right now, I'm not afraid to have my child play in that area. After this well is drilled, I'm not sure I'll feel this way."

The well is expected to be both safe and profitable, said Legacy representatives based in Midland. Drilling will take about 60 days to reach a propose depth of 13,300 feet, the company says.

Drilling costs and the expenses of building an enlarged drainoff area and a pipeline nearly a mile out of town to the storage tank may cost up to $1 million.

Andrews presently has two oilwells operating inside city limits that were built about 15 years ago, but they are about one third as deep as the proposed wildcat well.

Few seriously fault the idea of safe wells operating inside the city limits, as long as resident's well-being is ensured.

"Monahans (60 miles southwest of Andrews) has lots of wells inside their city limits," said News Editor Jerry Johnson. "And you know, the reason Andrews exists is because of oil."

Serious crimes rise in Texas

HOUSTON (AP) — Dallas, Houston and San Antonio bucked a nationwide trend last year as their reported serious crime continued to increase, FBI statistics say.

Houston led the worsening situation with an 18.7 percent growth, the city's largest increase in seven years. The FBI figures, released Tuesday, showed the U.S. rate fell 4 percent.

The nationwide decline was the first since 1977, FBI officials said. It follows record high figures in 1980 and 1981.

Reported serious crimes in 1982 increased 7 percent in San Antonio, 3.8 percent in Dallas, 3.1 percent in Austin, and 0.5 percent in El Paso.

Reported serious crime fell .05 percent in Fort Worth and 5.8 percent in Beaumont.

Houston's 18.7 percent increase occurred even though reported homicides and rapes declined in 1982.

The DPS compiles crime figures based on information from local police, then sends them to the FBI for use in developing the national statistics.

According to the FBI's national figures, violent crimes fell 3 percent as the numbers said that "including narcotics control standards in the Caribbean Basin Initiative can assist in our efforts to win the war on drugs."

Bentsen said cooperation on narcotics control is already a standard established for countries applying to receive duty preferences under the Generalized System of Preferences.

In his letter, Bentsen urged of murders and robberies each dropped 7 percent and reported rapes declined 5 percent. The only increase in the violent crime category was aggravated assault, which increased 1 percent last year.

The Houston figures included a decline of 3.3 percent in homicides, from 701 in 1981 to 678 in 1982, and an 8.4 percent decrease in rapes, from 1,387 to 1,270.

But the figures showed the number of thefts increased 36.2 percent and robberies were up 25.8 percent. Houston's increase also included 20.5 percent for aggravated assaults, 8.5 percent for burglaries and 8.4 percent for auto thefts.

Schultz to incorporate an "identical or similar" standard in the Caribbean Basin Initiative.

A spokesman for Bentsen said 27 of the 28 countries covered by the Caribbean Basin Initiative are already eligible for duty preferences under the Generalized System of Preferences, thus would be covered by existing drug control standards.

But the spokesman, Jack Devore, said the Generalized System is scheduled to expire in January, 1985, while the Basin Initiative is a 12-year proposal. He also said "there has been very inadequate enforcement of the (drug) standards" of the Generalized System of Preferences.

"It's one thing to establish standards, it's another to enforce them," said Devore.

Latin America is a major source of illegal drugs entering the United States. However, Peru and Columbia, which authorities say provide a large part of the cocaine and marijuana, are not among the 28 countries that would be covered by the Caribbean Basin Initiative.

Repeal from page 1

House, spokesman Larry Speakes left the impression the GOP compromise might eventually be acceptable to Reagan, who has vowed to veto any repeal. The new plan, Speakes contended, does not repeal withholding but simply delays it.

The GOP compromise on withholding would worsen the federal deficit by more than $5 billion over the next 5 1/2 years, and the figure could be at least twice that amount.

Final details of the plan have yet to be written. But it would stiffen penalties for those who cheat on taxes on their investments; require the Internal Revenue Service to compare tax returns with the 1099 forms on which banks and other institutions report interest and dividends; and allow 20 percent withholding on people who have been caught cheating.

ing him second behind the $2,433,000 raised by Mondale.

Glenn also has had to combat a reputation as a dull speaker, a problem he demonstrated on national television when he delivered the keynote address to the 1976 Democratic Convention.

His best effort as a speaker may have been on Feb. 26, 1962, six days after his orbital mission when he addressed a joint session of Congress.

"I know I still get a real hard-to-define feeling down inside when the flag goes by," he told cheering members of Congress.

Glenn entered politics by challenging Sen. Stephen Young of Ohio in the 1964 Democratic primary but his bid was cut short when he was injured in a bathroom fall. He tried again for the Senate in 1970 but was upset in the Democratic primary by Howard Metzenbaum, then a little known Cleveland lawyer.

Glenn finally was elected to the Senate in 1974. He was re-elected by a record margin of 1.6 million votes in 1980 while Ronald Reagan was carrying the state by 450,000 votes.

Local students receive honors

Three Hereford students were among the winners of the third annual Regional History Fair hosted by the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum in Canyon this past weekend.

Sheila Mullin and Melissa Bowman from West Central Intermediate School earned second place in the junior group projects division with their project, "Remember the Alamo."

Heather Willoughby, also from West Central, received honorable mention in the junior individual projects with "In the Beginning...La Plata, Hereford."

Certificates of achievement were awarded to all entrants in the history fair, while first, second, third place and honorable mention trophies and ribbons went to winners of the various categories.

Out-of-town judges evaluated each entry on the basis of historical quality, quality of presentation, and adherence to theme and rules. Projects were submitted by over 100 Amarillo, Canyon, and Hereford students in grades six through twelve. The projects all followed the theme, "Turning Points in History."

Plaques were presented to several teachers in Amarillo and Canyon for enthusiasm in motivating their students to learn more about American history.

The 1983 history fair competition was co-sponsored by the museum and the Texas State Historical Association. Funding for the awards was provided through a grant from the Plains American Heritage Program of Austin.

The public is invited to view this year's entries and winners in the paleontology hall at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum through Thursday, April 28. Hours are 2-6 p.m. Sunday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and Saturday.

The Rev. Sandy Williams will be the guest preacher and singer at the First Assembly of God, 605 East 15th St., at 6 p.m. Sunday. He is currently pastoring Northwest Christian Center in San Antonio.

Williams is the son of L.H. "Hobby" and Evelyn Williams of Hereford. He is a Hereford native and attended the First Assembly of God here while he was growing up.

The Rev. Steven D. Bookout, pastor, invites the public to attend. For more information, call 364-0305.

set with an arrangement of blue and white silk flowers, small baby toys, and colorful pacifier plate favors decorated the table.

"Games," an original poem by Karan Garrett of Altus, Okla., on anti-aging suggestions and cures, along with gifts and a decorated money tree presented to the honoree, provided entertainment for approximately 30 guests.

Special guests other than the baby and his mother, and Ms. Garrett, were the child's aunt, Nedra Ward from Paris, Texas, and friends Kate Kelley of El Dorado, Ark., Millie Kelley of Shreveport, La., Donna and Judy Norton of Altus, Okla., and Mildred Wyatt of Amarillo.

Hostesses included Ms. Hershey, Ursalee Jacobsen, Mozelle Childers, Roberta Blackburn, Mary Edwards, June Owens, Sharon Johnson, Margaret Smith, Jewel Smith, and Ms. Garrett.

Senior Citizens plan tour of Ozarks in June

Hereford Senior Citizens are planning a tour of the Ozarks June 20-27. Interested persons should contact Margie Daniels at the Senior Citizens Center (364-5681), or 364-0428 in the evening, for more information. Reservations need to be in early.

The group will depart for Amarillo on Monday, June 20, where they will take a bus to Eufaula Reservoir in Eastern Oklahoma and stay overnight at Fountainhead Lodge. From there they will travel across the Kiamichi Mountains into Arkansas.

Four days are planned in the Ozarks, with stops at Roaring River State Park, Opryland USA on the Road, Silver Dollar City, Shepherd of the Hills Farm and Outdoor Drama, Eureka Springs, and the Great Passion Play among other points of interest.

The group will visit Will Rogers Memorial in Claremore, Okla., and Oral Roberts University in Tulsa before returning home June 27.

Summer jobs available to lower income youth

The local Employment and Training Office is now taking applications for the Summer Youth Employment Program. Lower income youth between the ages of 14 and 21 will be eligible to participate according to guidelines.

Any applicant under the age of 17 must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. If both parents work, arrangements may be made to meet with the applicant and a parent after working hours.

All youth who are interested in applying must have a Social Security Card by May 27, 1983.

The purpose of the program is to develop work skills in all youth and to give in-school youth the opportunity to earn money for school expenses.

Jobs will be available at various county and community worksites. Length of employment may average 10 weeks.

Information regarding applications may be obtained at the following locations: Employment and Training Office, Room 301, County Courthouse, phone 364-5722; or VAC (Vocational Adjustment Coordinator) office, Hereford High School, Room 122, phone 364-6591.

$4400 raised in initial drive

The Deaf Smith County Cancer Society's house to house drive was held Sunday, with volunteers walking to raise funds for cancer. This initial opening of the county's Cancer Crusade has amounted to $4400 for the 1983 Cancer Drive.

The county rural and business campaigns are now underway, with the special basketball game for cancer scheduled this evening.

Jane Matthews, chairperson of the house to house drive, wishes to express her thanks for the volunteers who contributed their time and efforts in this quest for support of the Cancer Society.

Jim Bullard, chairman, and Charlotte Clark, vice-chairperson, of the General Crusade, express their gratitude to the community for its support in this endeavor.

Those who were not home when the crusaders visited are encouraged to make contributions to the Cancer Fund at the Hereford State Bank. Each and every person makes a difference in the quest for funds as needed for continuous research, expanded education, services and rehabilitation to individuals, and assistance to families.

Despite a record harvest of over 315 million metric tons in 1979, the amount of grain available per person in China has decreased since 1957.

Portland, Knicks register NBA playoff road triumphs

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD AP Sports Writer

The Portland Trail Blazers and New York Knicks, who didn't clinch playoff berths until the final days of the regular season, played like they have no intention of making their postseason stay a short one.

Both teams registered victories on the road Wednesday night in the openers of their National Basketball Association playoff series. Portland whipped Seattle 108-97, while New York blasted New Jersey 118-107.

The Knicks could wrap up their best-of-3 series tonight at Madison Square Garden, while the Blazers and Sonics will play Game 2 in Portland Friday night. Tonight's other playoff game has Phoenix at Denver, with the Suns leading 1-0.

Bernard King hit 16 of 21 shots and scored 40 points, the most in the NBA playoffs in two years, to lead the Knicks over the Nets.

"The important thing was winning, not how many points I scored," said King, who hit 11 of 12 shots and scored 25 points in the first half, which saw the Knicks take a 58-50 lead. "I wasn't aware of the number of shots in a row I had. I knew my rhythm was good and my release was right."

New York never trailed en route to winning its first postseason game since 1978. Meanwhile, the Nets are now 0-5 in the playoffs since coming into the NBA for the 1976-77 season.

King's 40 points were the most by an NBA player since Moses Malone had 40 for Houston against San Antonio on April 26, 1981. He was only three points short of the all-time Knicks playoff record set by Willis Reed in 1969.

"He's capable of scoring any amount of points almost effortlessly," Knicks Coach Hubie Brown said. "He's the ultimate professional and that's the highest compliment I can pay any player."

Rory Sparrow added 22 points for the Knicks, 11 of them in the third quarter when New York increased its eight-point halftime lead to 86-71. The Nets never got closer than nine points thereafter.

"We shot 57 percent and New Jersey 41 percent in the first half and still led by only eight," Brown said. "The reason for that was that the Nets had 14 offensive rebounds, while we had only 15 defensive rebounds. We set out to negate that in the second half, and they got only one offensive rebound in the third quarter."

Bernard's brother, Albert King, led New Jersey with 17 points, while Buck Williams added 16 points and 13 rebounds. Darryl Dawkins had 14 points, but he didn't play after suffering a 10-stitch cut on his upper lip in the third quarter.

At Seattle, Mychal Thompson and Jim Paxson scored 25 points apiece for the Trail Blazers, who will meet defending NBA champion Los Angeles if they can beat the SuperSonics.

"We've been playing well lately and we did it again tonight," Blazers Coach Jack Ramsay said. "We got better shots (than Seattle), we got people open for high-percentage shots and made them."

"Our pressure defense was not as good as it has been," Seattle Coach Lenny Wilkens said. "They were able to get the ball inside and get good shots."

Portland, which split six regular-season games with Seattle, led 59-45 at halftime and didn't let the SuperSonics get closer than seven points in the second half.

Portland's biggest second-half lead, early in the third quarter, was 16 points. Seattle cut Portland's advantage to 97-90 on a pair of free throws by Jack Sikma with 5:26 remaining.

But a Thompson layup with 5:10 to go and a Paxson layin with 4:13 remaining put Portland ahead 101-90.

Blues planning franchise move to Saskatoon

SASKATOON, Saskatchewan (AP) — The National Hockey League Board of Governors is the next hurdle for the new owners of the St. Louis Blues, who plan to move the club to this Canadian city.

"There's still a mountain to climb ... but we'll make it," Bill Hunter, who heads the buyers' group, said Wednesday after announcing that an agreement of sale had been reached with Ralston-Purina Co., owners of the Blues since 1977.

Akeem meets lawyer; may turn professional

HOUSTON (AP) — Akeem Abdul Olajuwon, the University of Houston's 7-foot center, met several times last week with the lawyer who negotiated Moses Malone's $13.2 million National Basketball Association contract, the Houston Chronicle reports.

The Chronicle's copyright story, printed in Wednesday's editions, quoted sources as saying the 20-year-old Nigerian, voted most valuable player of the NCAA tournament, has met with Washington attorney Lee Fentress.

Malone played for the Houston Rockets before signing a free agent contract with the Philadelphia 76ers and is a close friend of Olajuwon's.

Professional scouts say Olajuwon would be one of the three players picked first in the draft June 28. He must renounce his amateur status by May 14 to be eligible.

Olajuwon told the Chronicle he would definitely declare himself eligible for the NBA draft if he could be sure of staying in Houston.

"If I was eventually drafted by a team in another city, I would have to go there and see how I liked it," he said. "I have not seen anywhere else. Maybe I would like it, maybe I would not. But I do know Houston and I love Houston. I would like to stay here."

Houston lost to North Carolina State 54-52 in the finals of the NCAA tournament. Olajuwon, a sophomore, scored 41 points, grabbed 40 rebounds and blocked 15 shots in that game and the Cougars' semi-finals victory over Villanova.

He also said his plans will be influenced by junior forward Clyde Drexler's decision on whether to stay with the Cougars another year.

"Because I love to play basketball with Clyde Drexler," he said. "And if Clyde Drexler decided to turn professional, the I definitely would not have as much fun next year in college."

Drexler, a 6-6 forward who was the best leaper on last year's team, has remained non-committal about his plans.

The Rockets will have two of the first three picks in this year's draft. They have set their sights on Ralph Sampson, the University of Virginia's 7-foot-4 center. Olajuwon said he would have a hard time explaining his decision to turn pro back home.

"My parents do not understand," he said. "I have sent them some more clippings from the tournament, but they do not know what I am talking about."

"They own a cement company and they expect me to come back home after I finish school and work there. They do not realize that I can make a great deal of money here playing basketball. If I told my father how much money I could be paid playing basketball, he would not believe me."

FOR SEASON-LONG GREENBUG CONTROL IN SORGHUM, GET COUNTER.

For the first time ever, COUNTER® 15-G soil insecticide-nematicide is available to sorghum growers. No other insecticide can provide longer-lasting, more effective greenbug control.

When applied knifed-in at bedding or planting, COUNTER provides full-season greenbug control with no crop injury. That means a full 120-days or more of greenbug control. And that means better yield potential.

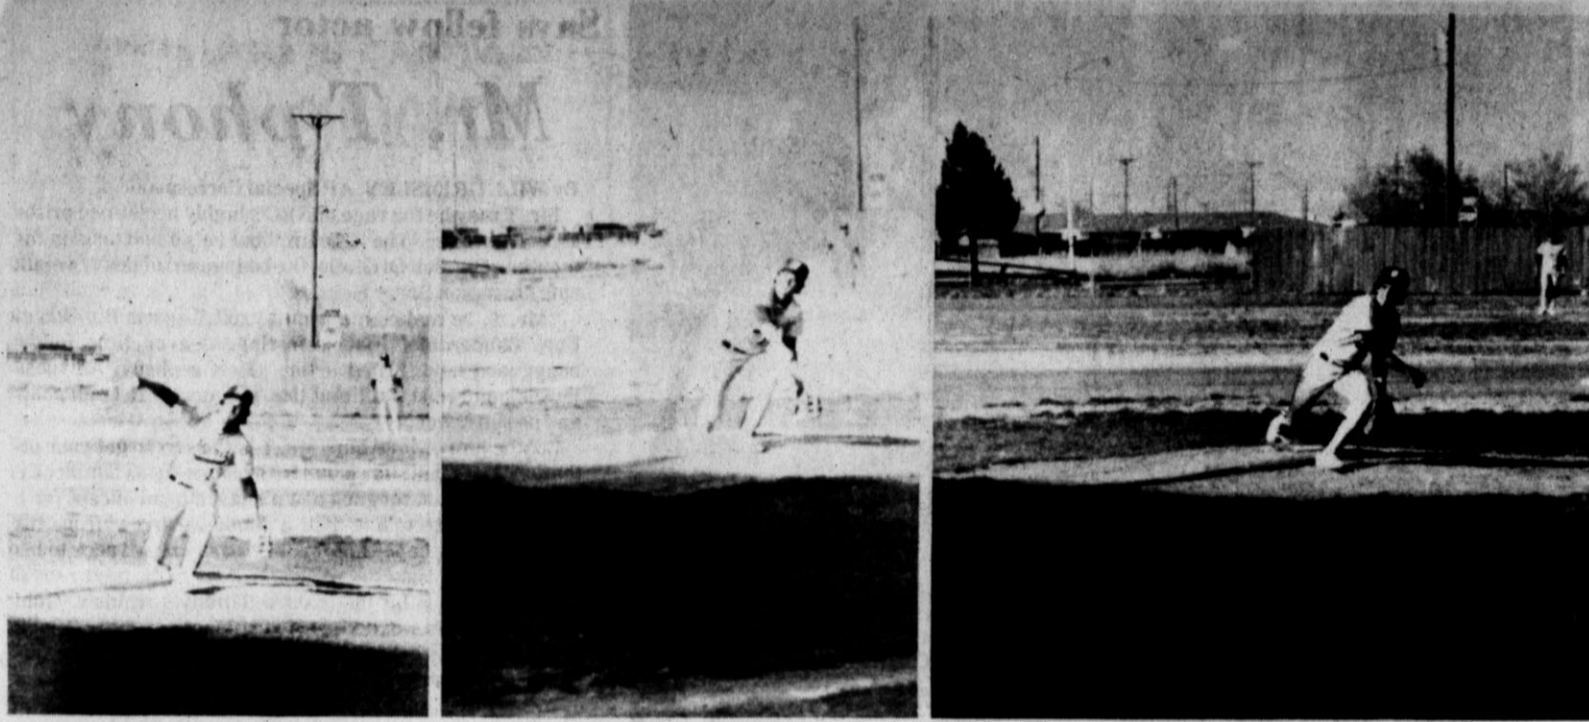

COUNTER provides systemic control of greenbugs with no feeding restrictions. And you can rotate to any crop the following season.

So for the most effective greenbug control you can buy, get COUNTER. You can depend on it this year, next year and every year. Always follow label directions carefully.

Trend toward youth

Sutton is among T of C favorites

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) - If there is a trend on the pro golf tour this year, it has been a move toward youth.

The $400,000 MONY Tournament of Champions, which brings together only the winners of PGA Tour titles from the last year, provides an example in its 28-man field. The tournament, offering $72,000 to the winner, began today on the La Costa Country Club course.

Among the missing, who failed to win in the 12 months are such frequent T of C participants as Lee Trevino, Hale Irwin and Hubert Green. In their places are such newcomers as Hal Sutton, Bobby Clampett, Payne Stewart and Gary Hallberg. Clampett gained international attention with his challenge last year in the British Open and later won the Southern Open. Hallberg qualified by edging Tom Kite in San Diego. Stewart won the 1982 Quad Cities Open.

Cal Peete and Bob Gilder each has won four times in the eligibility period, which stretches back to this tournament a year ago. Floyd has won three times.

In addition to Sutton, Watson and Wadkins, the two-time winners are Keith Fergus, Craig Stadler, Jay Haas and Gil Morgan.

The relatively large group of eight men making their first appearance in the T of C, besides Sutton, Clampett, Hallberg and Stewart, are Bob Shearer of Australia, Isao Aoki of Japan, Tim Norris and Mike Nicolette.

Others in the field are former winner Johnny Miller, Scott Hoch, Ed Sneed, Tom Weiskopf, Bruce Lietzke, Wayne Levi, Gary Koch, Bill Rogers and Fuzzy Zoeller, winner of last week's Heritage Classic.

put the Travelers ahead for good. They added their final run in the eighth when pinch-runner Doug Wabeke, running for Tommy Herr, scored on an error.

In other league play Wednesday, San Antonio vanquished Midland 8-2, the Tulsa Drillers blasted Shreveport 10-4 and Arkansas edged Jackson 3-2.

Tulsa erupted for five runs in the fourth innings in an effort crowned by Kevin Buckley's three-run homer to aid the Drillers in its win over the Captains.

Jerry Johnson, 2-1, was the winning pitcher. Kurt Keshpshire got his second save of the season. The loser was Roger McDowell, 2-1.

The Diablos' Juan Castillo hit a sacrifice fly to drive Felder in, ending a 2-0 lead by Beaumont after two innings.

Before the Tulsa rally, Shreveport led 4-1 after two innings.

Eric Heiden, the winner of five gold medals in speed skating at the 1980 Winter Olympics, was the only one in his event chosen in the first 20 persons named to the American Olympic Hall of Fame.

El Paso added a run in the seventh. Stan Levi drove in the first and two more in the fifth and two more in the seventh. Stan Levi drove in a triple, and Joe Henderson, who went three for four and scored three runs, singled in Levi.

Tony Fossas, 1-0, won the game in relief. He allowed only a bloop double over the last eight innings. The loser was Kevin McKenna, 0-1.

The Travelers' shortstop Rod Booker scored one run on an error and doubled in another run.

Bob Schroeck, 2-1, claimed the win for the Diablos. Jim Leopold, 0-2, had the loss.

He gave Arkansas a 1-0 lead in the first, beating out an infield hit to reach base, then scoring when a throw to first on an attempted double play was wild.

Brett's 3 home runs lead Royals past Tigers

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

The Kansas City Royals have played only 10 games, but it may be time to start the George Brett watch again. Harken back to 1980, when Brett flirted with the magic .400 mark for much of the season, finishing with .390, the highest batting average since Boston's Ted Williams hit .406 in 1941.

In the first 10 games of 1983, Brett is hitting a sizzling .475 — 19-for-40, with eight doubles, four homers and 13 RBIs. Three of the homers and seven RBIs came Wednesday night as Brett powered the Royals to an 8-7 triumph over the Detroit Tigers when he greeted reliever Howard Bailey with a two-run blast in the top of the ninth.

"I thought about it (.400) in 1981 and I hit .314," he said. "It's just one of those things that when you're swinging the bat good, you can hit anybody. When you're swinging bad, you can't hit anybody."

Three years ago, Brett was hitting "only" .337 at the All-Star break, then was a torrid .420 the rest of the way.

"I've never really gotten off to a fast start like this, except maybe in 1976," Brett said, referring to the year in which he won the first of his two American League batting crowns with a .333 average. "I had a lousy 2-for-32 my last week in spring training." In other AL games, Boston nipped Milwaukee 5-4, Texas crushed Baltimore 11-2, the New York Yankees downed the Chicago White Sox 6-4, Toronto defeated Cleveland 4-1 and Minnesota thumped Seattle 11-2. Oakland and California were washed out for the second night in a row, the first time consecutive rainouts have occurred in Anaheim in the Angels' 18 years there.

bottom of the ninth inning and pinch hitter Tony Armas walked with the bases loaded and two out as the Red Sox pulled it out against Milwaukee relievers Pete Ladd and Jamie Easterly.

Rangers 11, Orioles 2
Jim Sundberg and Mike Richardt drove in two runs apiece as Texas scored seven of its nine unearned runs in the third inning.

Yankees 6, White Sox 4
New York's Dave Righetti flirted with a no-hitter for 51-3 innings and allowed two hits in eight shutout innings before Chicago scored four times in the ninth. Righetti allowed only three baserunners until he walked two batters to start the ninth.

Blue Jays 4, Indians 1
Dave Stieb pitched his way out of a bases-loaded jam in the first inning and went on to scatter nine hits. Cleveland loaded the bases with none out on a walk and two singles, but Stieb struck out Andre Thornton on three pitches, got George Vukovich on a soft liner to third and fanned Pat Tabler.

Twins 11, Mariners 2
Gary Gaetti backed the five-hit pitching of Bobby Castillo and Rick Lysander by driving in three runs with a single and double as Minnesota had a club record seven doubles and posted its fourth straight victory.

Benefit Shooters

Miss Blevins earned $122.50 and Miss Brown made $239.10 for the charity. Easter Seals thanked them for their help by awarding ribbons and t-shirts. Miss Brown will also receive a plaque for her efforts.

Mr. T phony

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent

Mr. T may be the rage of NBC's highly acclaimed prime time TV series, "The A-Team," but he's a bad taste in the mouth to Big Bob Di Giulio, the bodyguard of heavyweight ring champion Larry Holmes.

"Mr. T, he makes me want to spit," snarls Big Bob of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., referring to a onetime fellow bodyguard now turned actor. "He's a phony. All those jewels and racist stuff and that big mouth. He's all show and no substance."

Loathe him or love him, Mr. T is the sort to get your attention. He is built like a bull withiceps big as hamhocks, arms like wagon tongues and a shaved head except for a line of hair stretching like a Mohawk arrow from his forehead to the nape of his neck. A heavy beard adds to his sinister mein.

He looks as if he just raided Tiffany's window. Gold chains, thick as a bullet-proof vest, hang from his 24-inch neck. Bracelets in layers grace both wrists, flashy earrings fall almost to his shoulders and bejeweled rings are on every finger, plus his thumbs.

He looks like a refugee from a bad nightmare. It isn't simply this ostentation that offends Big Bob Di Giulio. Big Bob said he recognized this as an act when Mr. T first surfaced publicly as the bodyguard of Leon Spinks when Spinks first won the WBA heavyweight title from Muhammad Ali in New Orleans and lost it in Las Vegas in 1978.

They didn't become social buddies. They just swapped icy stares from 20 paces.

Big Bob, who is 6-feet-4 and weighs 260 pounds, felt Mr. T was overstating the case and casting aspersions on every bodyguard worth his muscle, and Big Bob is willing to take him on in duel.

Mr. T, who likes to create a cloak of mystery, caught Sylvester Stallone's attention at the fights and got his first part in "Rocky III." Then came the role in "The A-Team," a wild, blood-and-thunder series about a maverick SWAT team operating outside the law. It was voted the season's most popular new show.

Mike Nelms, the punt-return specialist of the Washington Redskins, set a Super Bowl record by returning six Miami kicks in the 1983 game at Pasadena.

Seaver, Carlton post shutouts

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP
Sports Writer

Tom Seaver proved he still had it. Steve Carlton continued to show he has it ... even when he supposedly doesn't.

Mowing down batters right and left, two of baseball's most enduring pitchers each fashioned shutouts Wednesday night — Seaver blanking the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-0 and Carlton stopping the Chicago Cubs 2-0.

"If I could pitch like that every time out, I wouldn't ask for anything more," said Seaver after pitching a three-hitter in the opener of a two-night doubleheader. The Mets also won the second game, 7-5.

Seaver, who returned to the Mets this season after 5 1/2 years in Cincinnati, recorded his first victory since Aug. 2, 1982, a year in which he struggled with a 5-13 record. And it was his first victory as a Met since June 12, 1977, the year he was traded to Cincinnati.

"Now, I just have to keep it going," said Seaver after recording his 55th career shutout, tops among active National Leaguers. "It's a day-to-day thing, a game-by-game thing. It's not just a matter of one game. I'd like to get a long string together."

In Philadelphia, Joe Morgan belted a two-run homer in the fourth inning for all the runs Carlton needed.

"I hit a breaking ball outside," said Morgan of his first home run of the season, off Chuck Rainey.

"I finally stayed in there and hit the ball properly," said the second baseman, who has been struggling with a .161 average.

Morgan attributed his lack of production — he has just seven hits and three RBI — to the unseasonably cold weather.

"I'm not using it as an alibi — other hitters have the same problem — but even in San Francisco I didn't have to wear gloves," he said.

The temperature at game time was 42, dropping into the 30s before it was over.

Reds 6, Astros 4
Cesar Cedeno's two-run double highlighted a six-run fifth inning to lift Cincinnati over Houston.

Houston went in front 2-0 in the second inning when Ray Knight belted an RBI double and Alan Ashby, who had four hits, drove in a run with a single.

Losing pitcher Mike LaCoss had retired 11 straight batters before the fifth inning, but the Reds sent 12 batters to the plate in taking a 6-2 lead.

"We just want to play some baseball," Cincinnati Manager Russ Nixon said after the Reds raised their record to 9-5. "After what we went through last year (a 61-101 record), we have to get a new identity. We're certainly not the same ballclub. We had a lot of young people out there."

Giants 3, Dodgers 2

Jack Clark's bases-loaded, fielder's-choice grounder with one out in the 10th inning broke a tie and lifted San Francisco over Los Angeles. Left-hander Fernando Valenzuela, 2-1, was the loser, dropping his sixth consecutive decision to the Giants dating back to 1981.

Clark came through off reliever Alejandro Pena after the Giants had loaded the bases off Valenzuela on singles by Mike Vail and Johnnie LeMaster and a walk to Joe Pettini.

Greg Minton, 1-1, survived a bases-loaded, no-out jam in the eighth to retire nine of the last 10 batters and pick up the victory.

The Dodgers announced that Valenzuela's father-in-law had died earlier Wednesday in Mexico.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Faced with the problem of whether to cut state spending or raise taxes, legislators last week began to trim — disheartening advocates for the prison system, teacher pay raises and increases in state employees salaries.

The preliminary trims brought bellows from the gored oxen, but more bad news surfaced, even as committees tried to grapple with dwindling state revenues.

Because of a post-War II record in unemployment, Texas employers must pay at least $1 billion in new payroll taxes over the next few years to repay federal loans and refill the state unemployment benefits fund, consultants told the leadership late last week. The report is headed to Gov. Mark White's office for his reaction.

Meanwhile, last Thursday Comptroller Bob Bullock predicted that state sales tax revenues for 1983 will decline almost two percent, largely because of the oil industry slump and the peso devaluation. Other tax collections may also drop by one percent, a revelation shocking to lawmakers who are used to Texas tax revenues growing by 14 percent yearly.

Budgetary Games?

Some lawmakers reacted by calling for more taxes, while others began belittling for a "no-growth" budget — but many are grumbling suspiciously that they may be pawns in budgetary political games being waged by the governor and Bullock.

Bill Sims of San Angelo, an anti-tax senator, told reporters "something funny is going on between the governor and the comptroller. Nothing could be more embarrassing than if the governor had to raise taxes, and then the comptroller manages to find a couple of million dollars."

Prisons, Teachers

Angered teacher groups opted for new taxes last week after House and Senate budget panels voted to hold the line on teacher salaries for the next two years. The Senate approved a plan to funnel as much as $600 million to local school districts for property tax relief, but set aside no money for the fund.

Governor White stuck to his campaign guns insisting on a 24 percent pay raise for teachers, a viewpoint termed by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby as "absolutely" unrealistic.

The Senate budget panel also cut more than $70 million from the prison system budget, and prison officials argued it would create a loss of prison employees.

Speaker Lawsuit

Problem-plagued House Speaker Gib Lewis caught another one last week when he was named in a lawsuit accusing him and an associate of forming a bogus corporation to reduce his tax liabilities. The suit seeks recovery of $450,000 in debts from the firm owned by Lewis which filed for bankruptcy last year.

The House

Last week the House heard Lewis and former Speaker Bill Clayton testify to a committee for the creation of an ethics commission to oversee Texas politics.

The House also approved, after hard debate, a bill partially deregulating trucking for some agricultural products, like citrus.

Also passed was a measure enabling the Legislature to function in case of nuclear attack.

Universal City Representative Alan Schoolcraft said a quiet straw poll of House members reveals a majority favor reform of mandatory legislative continuances, or the postponing of trials for legislator-lawyers while they are in session.

The Senate

The Senate approved a measure tightening bingo regulations, including prohibiting minors and barring anyone from playing for free at games where revenues are subject to the comptroller.

Senators also passed a bill setting up a state board to license dieticians, a bill sought by dietician groups to upgrade their profession.

Also approved was a bill allowing counties and cities to buy insurance covering juvenile offenders on a work program.

Republican Party

Following the forced resignation of Republican Party chairman Chet Upham and vice chairman Dorothy Doehne, the state GOP attempted to rally around its new chairman, George Strake, former Texas Secretary of State.

Face Slapping

Upham resigned and Strake stepped in at a party executive committee gathering in Midland. Amid bitter party in-fighting, which saw two Republican women slap each other's faces during an informal session, the GOP forged a base of agreement which leaders hope will not be short-lived. Immediately after the leadership switch, the delegation voted unanimously to pass the 1983 budget and eight resolutions.

GTE agrees to reduced rate hike

AUSTIN (AP) — General Telephone Co., which two months ago said it needed an $85.5 million rate hike to continue improving its service, has decided to settle for the $32.5 million increase recommended by the Public Utility Commission staff.

Company officials on Wednesday agreed to a settlement that would mean about a 90-cent per month increase for most GTE residential customers. The company had asked for an increase of up to $4 a month for home service.

"Although the amount is well below our full financial need, we feel that agreeing to this amount now will allow us temporarily to improve our financial picture on a more timely basis for 1983," said GTE President Buddy Langley.

The settlement now goes to Hearing Examiner Angela Williams, who plans to make a recommendation to the commission in time for a May 19 meeting, according to PUC spokesman Rick Hainline.

GTE, a San Angelo-based company, serves 800,000 Texans, including residents of several major suburbs of Dallas and Houston.

The PUC hearing on the GTE request opened Monday with testimony from dissatisfied GTE customers, including a Crosby woman who called the service a "nightmare."

Negotiations on the settlement began Tuesday before GTE began putting on its case. The amount was agreed to by GTE, the Texas Municipal League and other intervenors. TML had recommended a $28 million increase.

"While our financial integrity will not be at the point we require, the revenues will permit us to meet many of our short-range service objectives and commitments," said Langley, adding that the decreased revenue was justified by a drop in interest rates and other changes in the financial picture.

The settlement would bring GTE a rate of return of 12.71 percent, slightly higher than 12.5 percent granted last year when GTE was granted a $46.8 million increase after a $110.6 million rate request.

GTE wanted a 14.03 percent rate of return this year.

Endangered plants overlooked

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — There probably won't be a committee to save the orchids.

On the whole, the endangered flowers of the United States are just not as recognizable as the nation's endangered animals. There hasn't been an impassioned actress who stood up for an orchid or a cactus — only the whales and whooping cranes.

That lack of interest is partly because the federal government has only been working to list plants as endangered species since 1975.

There are now only 64 endangered plants listed in the United States.

But 12 of those grow in Texas, and one is in Brazos County.

Navasota Ladies' Tresses — Spiranthes parksii — are located in the proposed right of way for the Texas Highway 6 expansion south of College Station.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife office is preparing a biological opinion to determine whether the orchids will be affected by the highway expansion.

The purpose of the opinion, requested by the Federal Highway Administration, is not to halt progress — the highway will be built. But if the orchids will be affected by current design plans, federal authorities will have to come up with a solution that at least takes into account the endangered flowers' chances for survival.

"We want the highway and the flower, both," says botanist Russell Kologiski of the federal endangered species office.

But official concern for such plants is a relatively recent phenomenon.

"Nobody thinks about plants," said Dr. Hugh Wilson, a Texas A&M University assistant professor of biology. "Were there plants on the Ark?"

Wilson is studying the habitat of the 100 to 150 existing Navasota Ladies' Tresses to learn more about why the grow in only selected spots in southern Brazos County.

Earlier this month, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Board listed as either endangered or threatened the same 12, federally recognized plants on the state's newly written list of endangered plants. The Texas Legislature passed a law to protect endangered plants from commercial sale or destruction on state property during its last session.

Most of Texas' 12 plants are species of cacti growing in West Texas, and many are located only on private land.

It was news of "cactus rustlers" that led Rep. Debra Danburg of Houston to introduce the state's endangered plant bill. Europeans and Japanese residents visit this country every year to pick cactus, Kologiski said.

"Every summer, they come over with lists of cacti they want to send home. They have very detailed maps and seem to know exactly where to go," he said.

"They put the cactus in a box and mail them home. And then, when they get back, they sell them and pay for the cost of their trip."

David Riskind, the director of resource management with the state's park division, says the rustlers are seldom interested in plants that can be reproduced in greenhouses. They want the real plant from its native habitat. Federal and state laws now protect against this kind of wholesale picking of endangered plants, which could force the rare species into near extinction like the wolves and buffalos that once ranged throughout much of the Southwest and Great Plains.

The S. parksii is not the only endangered plant to run afoul of official planners.

Another interesting and rare plant listed in Texas is Texas Wild Rice, which grows only in the upper reaches of the San Marcos River, along with a couple of endangered species of salamander — the San Marcos Salamander and the Texas Blind Salamander.

The listing of that portion of the San Marcos River as an endangered habitat spurred a lawsuit against the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Department.

The Edwards Underground Water District filed the suit and the City of San Marcos joined in.

Based on some studies, if the Edwards aquifer is pumped dry — a future possibility — the endangered habitat portion of the river would be dry by the year 2010, said David Bowman, an endangered species biologist with Fish and Wildlife.

All parties to the suit agreed to a federal court stay until a recovery team can develop a plan to protect the rice, one of the few endangered aquatic plants listed in the United States.

Kologiski predicted that the number of truly endangered plants in Texas may turn out to be double the number now listed.

Dr. W.F. Mahler, a botanist and associate professor at Southern Methodist University, is researching some 90 species of plants that may be endangered or threatened in Texas for the federal endangered species office.

The search for an understanding of rare plant species is so far behind animal research on similarly endangered species that some relatively recent plants may have reached extinction without anyone taking notice, Mahler said.

While on a field trip last week to locate the Navasota Ladies' Tresses, Mahler looked for another potential endangered plant — the Texas

Meadow-Rue, a member of the buttercup family, scientifically known as Thalictrum texanum.

The Meadow-Rue was last sighted in 1970 and there were only four other known sightings prior to that. It seems to grow, the scientists think, in habitats similar to the Spiranthes orchids.

But the Meadow-Rue may be Texas' version of the extinct passenger pigeon, scientists fear.

To Riskind, who helped work on the state's endangered plant bill, and biologists like Wilson, Kologiski and Mahler, Texas is blessed with its many rare and unique species of plants and animals. Only Florida and California have more numbers of endangered plants than Texas, Riskind said.

That is because Texas, like California, has such a variety of environments — ranging from desert to piney woods to coastal lands.

In addition to the 12 endangered plants, there are 26 endangered animals in Texas.

The Newspaper BIBLE

DO YOU WANT TO CATCH A LOT OF FISH?

One day as Jesus was preaching on the shore of Lake Gennesaret, great crowds pressed in on Him to listen to the Word of God.

He noticed two empty boats standing at the water's edge while the fishermen washed their nets. Stepping into one of the boats, Jesus asked Simon, its owner, to push out a little into the water, so that He could sit in the boat and speak to the crowds from there.

When He had finished speaking, He said to Simon, "Now go out where it is deeper and let down your nets and you will catch a lot of fish."

"Sir," Simon replied, "we worked hard all last night and didn't catch a thing. But if you say so, we'll try again."

And this time their nets were so full that they began to tear!

A shout for help brought their partners in the other boat and soon both boats were filled with fish and on the verge of sinking.

When Simon realized what had happened, he fell to his knees before Jesus and said, "Oh, sir, please leave us--I'm too much of a sinner for You to have around."

For he was awestruck by the size of their catch, as were the others with him, and his partners too--James and John, the sons of Zebedee. Jesus replied, "Don't worry! From now on you'll be fishing for the souls of men!"

And as soon as they landed, they left everything and went with Him.

'Tales' doesn't make monkey of Caitlin

Veteran New York stage actress Caitlin (pronounced Cathleen) O'Heaney wasn't a big fan of series television, but the economy forced her to abandon the Big Apple for Hollywood and so far the switch has been successful.

Miss O'Heaney co-stars in ABC's "Tales of the Gold Monkey," playing the classy Sara White, an American spy who uses the cover of a torch singer in the South Pacific.

"One of the reasons I did this series is because it is so different. It isn't your basic sitcom," she says.

"Originally I auditioned for 'The Quest.' I just needed a job, because last year was the roughest year in my career. I'd been in New York for the last 12 years doing stagework but I decided that I couldn't turn my nose up at jobs.

"I didn't get 'Quest,' so I figured I'd turn around and go home. But then Universal Productions asked me to read for 'Gold Monkey.' " she continues. "I didn't get that part either, but then ABC called me back and asked me to read for the part again. I liked the script and found out that Stephen Collins (who plays series star Jake Cutter) was going to star in it and I thought he had the same school of thought about TV as I did, and I was impressed.

"Universal originally didn't think I fit the 'TV image.' I looked different from the typical TV woman and the part was originally written for a blonde. I guess I wasn't the kind of woman who had a 'Charlie's Angels' face. But ARC liked me and I got the part anyway."

"Gold Monkey," which borrows its action-adventure format from "Raiders of the Lost Ark," has been an interesting experience for Miss O'Heaney.

Program focuses on family traditions

Mike Moon of the Family Services Center was the guest speaker for the American Association of University Women Monday at the Energas Flame Room. His topic was "Family Traditions and Transitions."

The members were all given a questionnaire on family traditions and transitions. After they had answered the questions and discussed their answers, Moon gave some thoughts from the book, "Passages." He concluded by giving several ideas on how to keep close contact between family members. It was announced that a salad supper will be held May 16 at 7 p.m. in the Flame Room. All college graduate women are entitled to attend. Rosemary Shook and Carol Armor reported on the state AAUW convention in San Antonio April 15-16.

One visitor, Lavada Shannon, was welcomed. Della Stagner and Lucille Hughes serves as hostesses. Other members present were Frances Kirkland, Carole McGilvary, Dorothy Szydoski, Bertha Dettman, and Virginia Garner.

Reinauer recognized at CowBelles meeting

The Hereford CowBelles met for a covered dish luncheon at the Cowgirl Hall of Fame on Tuesday. Twenty-eight members and guests were present.

The group was entertained by a quartet from the Hereford Music Study Club, consisting of Joyce Allred, Susan Shaw, Ginger Wallace, and Sue Sims.

Peaches Reinauer was recognized and presented an appropriately decorated cake in honor of her being one of ten recipients of the Texas Panhandle Distinguished Service Awards at West Texas State University this week. Ms. Reinauer was nominated for the award by the Hereford CowBelles.

Charmayne Klett gave a report from the state convention held recently in Austin. A report on Ag Day and Ag Week was given by Glenda Hansen.

After a short business meeting, the group closed by singing the CowBelle Song which was composed by Ms. Reinauer.

Ann Landers

Phone calls irritating

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a married woman (in my 30s) and live in Dallas. My parents live in Chicago. Mom phones me every week. Her calls give me very little pleasure.

After 90 seconds she tells me how much their phone bill was last month, then says, "I'll put Dad on for the rest of the call, which is 90 seconds." (As you can see, the split the three minutes.)

Mom then runs upstairs to remind Dad to "hurry up and finish." This makes him mad and they start to argue. That's how his 90 seconds are spent.

Should I hang up when the harangue starts? Or tell Mom to stop calling and write? I can't believe they get any more pleasure from those crazy phone calls than I do. Please tell me what to do.—Too Old For This know many women who want one and their physicians won't do it.—Happy In Reading, Pa.

DEAR HAPPY: Many females insist their sex life improved after a hysterectomy, for the very reason you stated. Incidentally, it's refreshing to know there are still some physicians around who refuse to perform surgery even though their patients request it. I doff my bonnet to the medical profession in Reading, Pa.

VFW Ladies Auxiliary elects new officers

The Ladies Auxiliary to VFW Post 4818 met in regular session Monday night with Doris Wilson presiding. Officers for the coming year were elected.

They include Rose Goheen, president; Marta Williams, senior vice-president; Betty Boggs, junior vice-president; Helen Bishop, treasurer; Doris Wilson, chaplain; Edith Richardson, conductress.

Also, Mabel Yocum, guard; Maisie Heath, three-year trustee; Marie Goheen, two-year trustee; and Essie Martin, one-year trustee.

Loyalty Day, which is May 1, falls on Sunday this year so the auxiliary decided to observe it on Monday, May 2. The group will present a flag and flag etiquette pamphlet to each of the fifth grade pupils in the Hereford Public Schools.

Also, on Monday, May 2, the auxiliary will honor the teachers by serving cake and presenting patriotic corsages to them at each of the public schools.

Members were reminded that the auxiliary will serve as one of the host clubs for the Women's Forum which meets Monday, April 25, at noon at the Community Center.

Members in attendance were Leona Buckley, Doris Coffin, Rhonda Coffin, Rose Goheen, Erma Murphey, Ann Walker, Marie Goheen, and Mrs. Boggs, Bishop, Heath, Martin, Richardson, Williams, Wilson, and Yocum.

The next meeting will be Monday, May 2, at 8 p.m., with a covered dish supper preceding.

DEAR TOO OLD: If your parents' phone bill is high, it's not because of their calls to you. A three-minute direct dial call from Chicago to Dallas can be as low as 50 cents plus tax, if placed Saturday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. or Sunday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

My advice is to call THEM. It will cost a mere pittance and eliminate a continuing source of irritation.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Sorry to hear so many women have lost their appetite for sex after undergoing hysterectomies. My experience was just the opposite.

When I was freed from the fear of pregnancy, sex became more enjoyable than ever. I'm sure there must be millions more like me.

Maybe one of the reasons some women find sex less exciting after having this operation is because their doctors tell them it will happen. Better the doctors should stress the benefits.

I will be forever grateful to my obstetrician for recommending a hysterectomy. I

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are not wealthy, but we do have some money we would like to leave to charity. Our children have been a disappointment, and we have helped them perhaps more than we should have in the last several years. Our grandchildren have paid no attention to us whatever and we feel no closeness to them at all.

We have heard that many of the well-known "causes" spend so much on administration, salaries, fund-raising and expense accounts that a shockingly small amount of the money given actually goes to the people who need it for the purpose intended. Can you recommend an organization that helps humanity and does very little skimming off the top?—The X's In Fort Worth

DEAR X's: The Hereditary Disease Foundation, 9701 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, spends less than 1 percent of each dollar of promotion, salaries, etc. No other organization comes close. Its integrity is exemplary.

Ruland tells members about Cancer Crusade

Lavita Fitzgerald presided as members of the Hereford Rebekah Lodge met Tuesday

Chili supper slated

Senior citizens are invited to a chili supper at 7 p.m. Friday at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center, 406 West 4th St.

Those who wish to attend should call the center at 364-5681 to make reservations by 5 p.m. Thursday.

Women's Forum to meet at noon Monday

The Women's Forum will meet Monday at noon in the banquet room of the Community Center.

Each member attending should bring a covered dish and will be asked to pay $1.50 at the door to cover incidentals, such as baby-sitting, clean-up, etc.

Hostesses for this meeting will be Summerfield Study Club, Sugar Works Cake Decorating Club and VFW Ladies Auxiliary. Hostesses should arrive at 11:30 a.m. so the luncheon can get underway at 12 noon.

Since the January meeting had to be cancelled because of snow, everyone is urged to attend this meeting.

The first railroad station in the U.S. was the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad depot in Baltimore, Maryland.

night at IOOF Hall. Kee Ruland spoke about the American Cancer drive and a donation was made to the Cancer Fund.

Members made plans to purchase and install two ceiling fans. They also bought a new coffee pot. Committee reports were given and visits to the sick, cards, and food sent were counted.

Billie Sims was hostess to Irene Merritt, Anna Conklin, Nellie Beauford, Ada Hollabaugh, Peggy Lemons, Lydia Hopson, Edna Mathes, Ms. Ruland, Verna Sowell, Beth Hall, Karrol Rettman, Dorothy Lundry, Ms. Fitzgerald.

Also, Ruth Rogers, Roberta Combs, Bessie Lawrence, Faye Brownlow, Helen Bishop, C.D. Fitzgerald, Guy Lawrence, Fred Ruland, Gene Bishop, and Elmer Combs.

Fourteen artists featured at show

Fourteen area artists will be displaying their works at an art show and sale sponsored by Big Brothers-Big Sisters of Hereford from 1 to 3 p.m. Sunday at the Hereford Country Club.

The show and sale, which is free and open to the public, precedes the annual BB-BS art soiree and cocktail buffet, scheduled at 7 p.m. Sunday evening at the Country Club. Proceeds from the soiree will benefit Big Brothers, Big Sisters of Hereford.

Two artists who will be exhibiting their works and who have donated art for the soiree are Bob Hunnicutt of Channing and Rodney Watson of Plainview.

Hunnicutt is known for his bronze sculptures which depict actual scenes from present day ranches and rodeos. A native of Achille, Okla., he moved to Channing at 8 years of age and began working on area ranches at an early age, developing a strong love and admiration for the outdoors and the working cowboy.

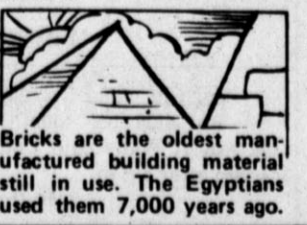

His memories of rodeoing seven years and bunkhouse tales, as well as actual experience, have enabled him to reproduce in bronze authentic Western scenes. He has a studio on the banks of the Canadian River near Boys Ranch where he does his research and waxes, which he then casts at his Bronze Art Foundry in Channing.

Watson was born and raised in the farm and ranch country around Plainview and he appreciates the country's true, harsh history and the slowly fading ways of the modern cowboy. He has transposed his early drawing efforts on the inside of textbook covers into talents in bronze sculpture, oil painting, charcoal, colored pencil, and pen and ink drawings.

He is fast gaining recognition in a field populated by artists who are much his senior in age and experience. As a matter of personality and style, Watson sees the humor in the way of life he tries to portray in his art and seeing it, he gives it prominence.

Several other artists who will be participating in the events this weekend are R. Russell Brown, Jean Green, Ben Konis, and Rheta White. For more information about the art soiree or the show and sale, contact a Big Brothers-Big Sisters board member or call the office at 364-6171.

Electrical appliances potentially dangerous

COLLEGE STATION — "Consumers are often unaware of the hazards of electrical appliances," says Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

To avoid potential danger, the Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers (AHAM) and Underwriters Laboratories (UL) now warn consumers to always unplug any small electrical appliances after using them, says Granovsky.

Don't assume that if the switch is "off" there's no danger of electrocution. This may not be true if the product comes into contact with water.

Electrocutions may occur in kitchens, bathrooms or outdoors—anywhere near water sources.

Never use any electrical product while bathing or put it where it can drop or be pulled into the tub or sink. If the appliance accidentally falls into the water, don't reach into the water for it. Unplug it immediately at the wall outlet.

Never leave a small portable electrical appliance within the reach of small children. Children left unattended could pull the plugged-in, but switched-off appliance into the tub or sink and risk being electrocuted.

According to Granovsky, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service is cooperating with the AHAM and UL in their nationwide effort to promote product safety.

Artist 'surviving' absence of 'Doonesbury'

NEW YORK (AP) — While Joanie Caucus delights in her new baby and Zonker Harris zeros in on the perfect tan, Donald Carlton will just keep on drawing.

Carlton is the freelance artist who for 11 years finished the drawings in Garry Trudeau's award-winning Doonesbury comic strip. Trudeau started 20-month sabbatical in January, but Carlton is not idle.

"I'm a freelance artist in town and I have other jobs," Carlton, 46, said in a telephone interview from his home in Kansas City, Kan. "Of course, nothing else I do has quite the impact of 'Doonesbury.'"

Carlton, who also draws for the National Catholic Reporter, met Trudeau at the corporate headquarters of Universal Syndicate in Fairway, Kan., in 1971 while the cartoonist was still a student at Yale University.

"Garry was on his way driving back to New Haven for graduate school and needed someone to help him with the strip," Carlton said. "He sent me some penciled drawings to, quote, practice on. We were going to practice as long as possible, but Garry was busy in school, so we started right away."

Carlton would finish the tightly sketched pencil drawings Trudeau sent, adding ink and shading.

"He does a reasonably complete processed drawing," Carlton said. "He still sends me a pretty tight penciled drawing. It's more than just a block diagram."

It usually takes Carlton an hour or two to finish a daily strip, but the Sunday comic strips "seemed to take forever."

Carlton said he didn't feel abandoned with "Doonesbury" suspended.

"He'll be back, at the latest, by fall of next year," he said of Trudeau.

A native of Fort Worth, Texas, Carlton majored in art at Texas Christian University. He went into the Army and moved to Kansas City in 1966.

"I'm not an art hobbyist," he said. "My hobby is theater. I do some amateur acting."

"Doonesbury," he continued, is a "play-like environment." And if he were to give advice to would-be cartoonists, he said he'd tell them to become playwrights first and then learn how to draw.

Trudeau won a Pulitzer Prize for "Doonesbury." Carlton shared vicariously in the glory.

"This probably sounds terribly self-effacing, but the reward in 'Doonesbury' comes in just working on the strip," he said. "I was very happy for Garry to get the award. It was a natural pride in what one does. ... I believe in it very much."

The 34-year-old Trudeau took a breather from the strip because he said his characters — Zonker, Joanie, Mark Slackmeyer, Michael J. Doonesbury, the Rev. W.S. Sloan Jr. and Uncle Duke — had remained mentally in another era.

"For almost 15 years, the main characters have been trapped in a time warp, and so find themselves carrying the colors and the scars of two separate generations," Trudeau said in a statement when he announced his leave.

"It was unfair to stretch their formative years to embrace both Vietnam and prep."

When Trudeau returns next year to parodying public figures and national and international issues, Carlton will be ready with ink well filled and pen poised.

He said he probably wouldn't start his own strip. "Having worked on 'Doonesbury' for 12 years, I've been spoiled," Carlton said. "It's the best. It's the standard I'd hold for myself."

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Correcting cataracts

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like to know what kind of surgery a person should have for cataracts. I have heard that some surgery is quicker and safer than other surgery.

Also what about curing my cataracts with aspirin? I have read that taking two aspirin tablets twice a day cures cataracts.

DEAR READER — Let me say that cataract surgery has never been considered a dangerous operation. The interest in different techniques really centers on the best results possible and the least amount of time in the hospital. The stage of the cataract also has something to do with deciding what type of operation should be performed. Surgical techniques are changing constantly as new techniques become available.

Some of the new techniques allow the surgeon to make a very small incision compared to the incision that was used commonly 10 years ago. The small incision may cause less distortion.

The type of operation chosen has to be related to the individual's state. Not every patient with cataracts even requires an operation. And if a lens is to be implanted as the lens with the cataract is removed, that too will determine the technique to be used.

Now, about aspirin. There are some encouraging studies that salicylates may delay the formation of cataracts by as much as 10 years or perhaps slow the changes that occur. This is still very much in the experimental stage. Dr. Edward Cotlier at Yale University School of Medicine reports encouraging results from two aspirin twice a day. It may work by preventing tryptophane from accumulating in the lens. But there is no evidence that aspirin helps with cataracts that have already formed. I don't recommend taking aspirin for this purpose on the basis of what is now known. Better wait. Taking aspirin regularly is not entirely safe.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I was in the middle of a fairly successful weight-loss plan when I discovered I was pregnant. I would like to know what the current opinions are on weight gain during pregnancy. Should I stop dieting and concentrate on maintenance during the next few months, or can I continue losing weight on a balanced, low-calorie diet?

DEAR READER — I do not like to see any woman on a weight-loss diet during pregnancy unless her physician specifically approves her diet program. During pregnancy there are increased requirements for vitamins and minerals that may be very hard to get in a diet that restricts too many calories. If calories must be curtailed, your doctor may want to provide additional vitamin or mineral supplements for you.

Remember that the baby's skeleton will require calcium and the blood will require iron. The new body will require protein. Yes, within reason, you can be on a weight-loss diet if your medical condition warrants it, but be careful not to deprive yourself or your baby of essential nutrients.

Bangladesh

Chronic destitution among the densely crowded population of Bangladesh has been worsened by the decline of jute as a major world commodity. A 1970 cyclone killed 300,000, and 1974 floods, combined with the world oil price hike, caused famine deaths to soar.

Deadly War Games

Nevada Desert is site

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Residents of the tiny eastern Nevada town of Pioche say the mammoth B-52s pass over at an altitude so low you can almost see the rivets in the bellies of the aging warhorses of America's nuclear fleet.

The 225-ton giants cut west across 200 miles of rugged desert terrain for a realistic rendezvous with jet fighters bearing ominous red stars.

Several times a year, for six weeks at a stretch, electronic war games are played out as the giant B-52s and more sophisticated F-111s zip through canyons carved between 9,500-foot mountain peaks, homing in on targets on the desert floor. More than 40 men have died since Operation Red Flag was initiated in November 1975 by an Air Force worried about heavy losses in Southeast Asia. Seven B-52 crewmen died on a Red Flag exercise last week when their huge bomber slammed into the side of a Utah mountain during a blinding snowstorm.

Yet the Air Force says the losses in the peacetime war raging over the three million acre desert bombing range are a necessary price to pay if American pilots are to hold their own in real combat.

On a clear day, the 600 residents of Pioche and the 40 people in the nearby hamlet of Caselton, 180 miles northeast of Las Vegas, watch the powerful B-52s lumber down the valley between their communities.

"They're so close to the ground you can practically hit 'em with a rock," says Lincoln County Sheriff Larry Wilkinson.

He says people at higher levels of the valley can look down on the camouflage-speckled wings, which stretch nearly two-thirds the length of a football field, as the bombers sneak in low to the ground to avoid radar detection.

Awaiting the huge bombers and escort fighters are elaborate Soviet-style tracking gear and an aggressor squadron trained in the latest techniques of Warsaw Pact pilots.

"It's almost impossible to go in there and not get in a fight," says Col. Joel Hall, commander of the 4440th tactical training group at Nellis Air Force Base. "Everybody's gotta die at least three times or we're not doing our job."

Hall's "job" consists of orchestrating battle conditions so realistic that pilots return totally drained to Nellis or their home base — the B-52 that crashed was flying out of Robins AFB in Georgia — after a mission.

While the pilots and crew evaluate the mission, a threat analysis section spends the night viewing videotapes of the battles. It is then the pilots and crew learn whether they survived their encounter in the desert, 200 miles north of Las Vegas.

Eight times in the morning and seven times in the afternoon planes of all descriptions lift off the Nellis flightline for their desert battles.

Temperature test

DEAR POLLY — How do I know how long to heat my oil when deep-frying if I don't have a deep-frying thermometer? — J.N.

DEAR J.N. — You can make a very simple test with an ordinary slice of white bread. Cut a one-inch cube of bread and drop it into the hot oil. Then get out your watch or clock with a second hand and measure the amount of time it takes for the bread to turn golden-brown. If the bread turns brown in exactly 60 seconds, your oil temperature is approximately 360 degrees Fahrenheit. This is a fairly good temperature for most frying needs. If the recipe specifies a slightly hotter temperature (370), continue heating the oil until a one-inch cube of bread will brown in only 50 seconds. At a temperature of 350, the temperature will brown in 65 seconds. For really perfect results, however, an accurate deep-fat thermometer is highly recommended. They are not terribly expensive and a good one should last you for a long time. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Puree a can of yellow beans into the blender or food processor to make an invisible vegetable addition to macaroni and cheese. Adds vitamins for your reluctant veggie-eaters. If they like tuna, it, too, makes an excellent addition to macaroni and cheese. A touch of sweet relish is also tasty. — HELEN

DEAR POLLY — When lowering the hem on a cotton dress, you can easily cover the hem mark by just sewing over it narrow rickrack braid in either the same color or of a contrasting shade.

Instead of using a small paint brush to varnish the natural wood doors in your home, saturate an old terry wash cloth with varnish and rub that over the wood. In a few minutes, the door will be aglow with a fresh coat of varnish. It also works on the baseboard and other trim. Wear rubber gloves to keep your hands clean. — OLGA

Today In History

Today is Thursday, April 21, the 111th day of 1983. There are 254 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On April 21, 753 B.C., according to lore, Rome was founded by Romulus, the mythological son of Mars.

On this date: In 1500, Pedro Alvarez Cabral landed in Brazil, which he claimed for Portugal.

In 1509, Henry VIII became king of England upon the death of Henry VII.

In 1836, Texans led by Gen. Sam Houston defeated a Mexican force in the battle of San Jacinto, thereby assuring the independence of Texas.

In 1966, surgeons in Houston used an artificial heart to keep a patient alive while awaiting a transplant.

Ten years ago: The United Nations Security Council condemned Israeli military attacks in Lebanon.

Five years ago: Thieves broke through a skylight at the Pitti Palace in Florence, Italy, stealing a Rubens masterpiece and nine other priceless Flemish paintings.

One year ago: A nine-month cease-fire between Israel and the Palestine Liberation Organization ended after an Israeli soldier was killed by a land mine in southern Lebanon and Israeli planes bombed guerrilla positions north of Beirut.

Today's birthdays: Actor Anthony Quinn is 68 years old. Queen Elizabeth II is 57.

Thought for today: "Though familiarity may not breed contempt, it takes the edge off admiration." — William Hazlitt, English essayist (1778-1830).

House tentatively OK's vehicle registration fee hike

AUSTIN (AP) — County commissioners could tack a $5 surcharge on motor vehicle registration fees under a bill tentatively approved by the House.

Bill opponent Rep. Gene Green, D-Houston, warned his colleagues Wednesday that they would regret their decision later this year when they might have to raise taxes to balance the state budget.

"I don't think we in the House can be benevolent this session and send $5 to the county commissioners when we are looking at our own budget problems," Green argued.

But Rep. Lee Jackson, R-Dallas, won overwhelming support for his bill, which Green branded as "the first tax bill we're going to see this session."

The House voted 121-15 against Green's motion to table the Jackson bill. Jackson then won voice vote approval for the bill, which faces another vote before moving to the Senate.

Jackson said counties — which depend heavily on property taxes for revenue — need the $5 fee to pay for repairs on 160,000 miles of county roads and 9,000 county bridges. Under the bill, the counties would get 97 percent of the additional fees collected. The rest would go to the state highway department to offset administrative costs.

Green complained the bill would take "$5 away from what we'll be able to do" later in the session when state tax hikes might be needed to balance the budget.

State budget problems have sparked talk of raising any of several taxes, including the fuel tax, "sin" taxes, and others.

Bill supporter Ed Emmett, R-Kingwood, said county commissioners "know better how to spend the money" than state officials do. The Jackson bill also was supported by Rep. Billy Clemons, D-Pollock, who said county commissioners are "more efficient" in spending money.

Green admonished his colleagues to remember their vote later in the session "when we come down to looking for money at the state level." He predicted "most counties" will decide to add the $5 fee to motor vehicle registration charges.
