Brian Taylor, a starter in three sports this year, and Tiffi Dirks, headed to the girls' regional golf tournament for the second year in a row, were named male and female athletes of the year last night at the 16th Annual Hereford High All Sports Banquet.

A crowd estimated at between 650 and 700 attended the banquet, held in the Bull Barn.

Fan schoolboy football coach Gordon Wood, who has authored some 383 victories, plus nine state championships during a career which has spanned nearly six decades, was the guest speaker.

"I've shot a lot of BULL during my time," he told the crowd. "So, it's kind of appropriate that I speak in a Bull Barn. This is a good place to hold a banquet."

Last night's banquet honored athletes in all sports during the 1982-83 school year.

Dale Christie was named the Fan of the Year. His son Robbie was a member of the football team which fashioned a 8-2 record.

Fighting Heart awards, given to the male and female athlete best displaying courage, determination and dedication, went to Mark Collier, an offensive lineman on the football team, and Sherri Ellis, the basketball team's second-leading scorer and a representative in the recent NWT high school all star game.

Media awards, presented by KPAN Radio and the Hereford Brand, were handed out in all sports.

The winners included: Tim Martin, football; Steve Welch, boys' basketball; Stephanie Foster, girls' basketball; Sandie Cagle, volleyball; Fernando Carrasco, boys' cross country; Olga Alaniz, girls' volleyball; Erasmo Gonzales, boys' track; Lisa Redmon, girls' track; Matt Albracht, boys' golf; Tiffi Dirks, girls' golf; Brian Taylor, baseball; Blair

Rogers, boys' tennis and Vanessa Sims, girls' tennis.

Former head coach and athletic director Don Cumpston, who guided the Herd to the Class 5A semifinals in 1981 and who has since become head coach at Abilene High School, was not at last night's banquet. He did send his regards, though.

Taylor, the wide receiver on the end of the last-ditch, game-winning TD pass from Charles McDowell in the Plainview game last October, was a first-team all-district selection. He also was a member of the Amarillo Globe-News Super Team. In basketball, the 6-1 senior averaged in double figures, while in baseball he is currently hitting near the .330

19 dead in U.S. embassy bombing

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Marine guards raised a single American flag at sunrise today in front of the devastated U.S. Embassy, where officials said an apparent suicide bombing left 19 people dead and 28 others missing and presumed dead.

Embassy spokesman John Reid said the latest casualty count was eight Americans confirmed dead and eight others missing. Ten Lebanese embassy employees were killed, with 20 others believed buried in the huge mounds of rubble, he said, adding that one other person of unknown nationality also was listed as dead.

Police said Monday's blast wounded 120 people, including 22 Americans, ripping open the seven-story embassy's concrete front.

U.S. Ambassador Robert Dillon, who escaped serious injury, said it was "very unlikely" any more survivors would be found.

Soldiers and other search squads used a steamshovel and two backhoes to tear apart the debris, piling large chunks of masonry in a heap that already contained several tons of concrete.

Near the building, a U.S. flag fluttered on a flagpole undamaged.

"The embassy Marines put it up at sunrise," said Col. James M. Mead, commander of the U.S. Marine contingent in Lebanon.

Lebanese soldiers raided the Palestinian refugee camp of Sabra and the nearby Tarik Jedida neighborhood today and made an undisclosed number of arrests in connection with the bombing, the privately owned "Voice of Lebanon" radio said without elaborating.

Details of the attack were still unclear, although it appeared a terrorist drove a explosives-laden vehicle into the embassy compound and may have died in the blast.

Police said two witnesses reported separately that they saw a man wearing a black leather jacket drive a black pickup truck into the embassy driveway. The witnesses said the truck then blew up.

Asked about the reports, Dillon said, "We don't know for sure. Two competent witnesses saw a very heavily loaded van force its way in. How it was detonated, I don't know."

It could not be determined if Dillon and the police were referring to the same two witnesses.

A Lebanese army explosives expert said he believed the bomb was made of 330 pounds of hexogene, a highly explosive gas four times more powerful than dynamite. He said there was no evidence of a remote control detonating device.

Mead told reporters today that the unwarmed embassy complex facing the busy seaside highway was an easy target for terrorists.

"It was not adequately protected, that's for sure," he said. "The location is not good."

In all, according to Dillon, about 130 people were at the embassy when the bomb went off, the worst attack on a U.S. facility in Lebanon.

Neighborhood watch program begun here

By JERI CURTIS
Staff Writer

"If I don't call the police, my neighbor will"—it's the warning prowlers and possible burglars will get from signs posted in Hereford's new Neighborhood Watch blocks.

Off-duty Hereford policemen Randy Williams and Rick Wilkins helped the 200 blocks of Ranger and Northwest organize the city's first Neighborhood Watch program Monday night.

Williams said basically the watch program would mean neighbors would become aware of what is normal for their block and be more alert to call police when something is abnormal. The depth of involvement would be up to each association and may range from simply watching the alleys to having citizen car and CB radio patrols.

Surplus cheese, butter distribution Thursday

Distribution of approximately 8,000 pounds of surplus cheese and butter to needy citizens of the county will begin Thursday at 9 a.m. at the courthouse.

Senior Citizens and all other applicants should report to the south door of the Deaf Smith County Courthouse, according to the County Social Services Director.

The Red Cross workers and Community Action workers along with county employees will be helping with the distribution as well as one of our County Commissioners and his crew, who provides the transportation from Lubbock, and Burney's Slaughter House who helps with storage.

Recipients will be required to fill out a form which will include showing proof of total average household income, and any source of welfare or assistance income as well as proof of residence.

Recipients will be required to bring their own sacks to carry the cheese and butter home in.

Distribution of the cheese and butter will be based on the application information and a social service worker's interview with the applicant.

False statements on the application, with the intent to deceive, could be punishable by fine up to $2,000, a jail term up to one year, or both. All signatures of applicants will be notarized.

Detering crime takes less than to catch a burglar in the act. Williams said, noting that the average burglary case can cost from $10,000 to $30,000.

He said that people are often hesitant to call police over small matters, but told the approximately 30 persons attending Monday that policemen like nothing more

"It may not be of much value to make a difference," he said, "but if he took your 50-cent hoe, he may have walked away with your neighbor's house."

One resident said her home had been burglarized eight times, with a culprit caught

Crime Stop Signs

Signs with eyeballs and a warning can cut down crime in a neighborhood, says Hereford policeman Randy Williams. Residents of Ranger and Northwest street organized the city's first Neighborhood Watch program Monday night with the help of Williams and Patrolman Rick Wilkins. The two policemen are working generous off-duty hours in the program and hope to have the entire city under a Neighborhood Watch system. Williams said the Amarillo police estimate a drop in crime of up to 45 percent in watch areas.

Contrary to some rumors you may have heard, this writer (1) does not have herpes, (2) has not been exposed to nuclear waste, and (3) has not been in a fight with his wife, nor an irate reader.

Because of a skinned-up face, brought on by a medical treatment to prevent skin cancer, we took a week off work to recuperate and to avoid the questions.

We got a sample of the questions while attending a Panhandle Press Association convention the week before. The first publisher we greeted in Amarillo — Troy Martin of Canyon — wanted to know if the nuclear waste controversy had exposed us to radiation.

We hibernated in Ruidoso last week and enjoyed the peaceful atmosphere. We were amazed at the construction going on in the New Mexico resort-residential and commercial. Last year we were told that many citizens from Old Mexico were building homes there, but the devaluation of the peso slowed that influx of money.

The New Mexicans seem a little concerned about the possibility of Texas voters approving parimutuel wagering on horse races. Should that happen, we think New Mexico might think about voting in legalized gambling. They don't want to miss those Texas dollars that have been pouring in at the horse races!

Reagan pushes new MX basing strategy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, declaring "now is the time to act," today urged Congress to adopt new recommendations for putting MX missiles in launch silos now holding Minuteman missiles in Wyoming and Nebraska.

Reagan met with congressional leaders today to announce his decision to endorse the findings of a presidential commission, which called for installing 100 MX nuclear weapons in Minuteman silos and developing a smaller, single-warhead missile for deployment in the early 1990s.

"Support by the Congress and the American people for this consensus will unite us in our common search for ways to strengthen our national security, reduce the risk of war and ultimately reduce the levels of nuclear weapons," Reagan said in remarks prepared for delivery.

"We can no longer afford to delay. Now is the time to act."

City fathers make board appointments

Hereford city commissioners made two board appointments and corrected tax roll errors in their regular meeting Monday night.

Lynn Jones was voted unanimously to serve on the Juvenile Board. Cal Jones resigned as the city's representative due to his election to the Hereford school board.

Pat Ferguson was appointed to serve on the Board of Adjustment to fill the post of Melvin Jayroe, now serving on the city commission.

The commission was required to make a resolution correcting tax roll errors, since the tax collector has no authority to do so.

All commissioners were present.

Reagan reminded his audience in the East Room that four administrations over the last decade made proposals for arms control and modernization.

"Unfortunately, each became embroiled in political controversy," he said. "The members of the commission, the secretary of defense, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and I have all had to take fresh looks at our previous positions."

"But, despite the wide range of views these groups have held in the past, we now have a program that has our unanimous support," Reagan said, urging Congress to fall in step behind it.

At the same time, Reagan pledged to "work relentlessly to achieve nuclear stability at the lowest possible levels."

"Our words, policies and actions all make clear to the world our country's deeply

Crowd of job hunters saddened by bogus ad

NEDERLAND, Texas (AP) — One man drove from Arkansas to join a crowd of 300 job applicants seeking work at a company named in a bogus classified ad, an official says.

"The guy probably traveled half the night trying to get here," V.C. Guidry said Monday, hours after the disappointed horde was turned away.

Guidry, plant manager for Head & Guild Equipment Co. Inc., said the line of people attracted by Sunday newspaper classified ads stretched "way out to the highway" from the firm's front door Monday morning.

"I have no idea why anyone would do such a thing," Guidry said. "I came in fairly early today and there was a stack of people here."

The ad, which ran in the Port Arthur News and the Beaumont Enterprise-Journal, solicited crane operators, truck drivers, laborers, clean-up crews and welders.

It told prospective employees to apply in person at the company's building in Nederland, a southeast Texas town hit hard by the slumping petroleum industry, at 7 a.m. April 18.

Guidry called the Jefferson County Sheriff's Department to help disperse the crowd, but no violence or arrests were reported.

The prankster gave Guidry's name when he called the Port Arthur News, said Mary Benson, supervisor of the classified ad department.

"We average 100 to 150 ads a day," she said. "Everything seemed to be legitimate with this call."

Head & Guild has not hired anyone for several months, officials said, and the company is run by a crew of about 15 employees.

Senate bill would replace lemon cars

AUSTIN (AP) — Car buyers could get another car or partial refund if they got stuck with a "lemon" under a bill that has cleared the Texas Senate.

The Senate on Monday approved a measure that would let the Texas Motor Vehicle Commission order new car dealers and manufacturers to replace "lemon" vehicles or refund the purchase price.

An amendment specified that the customer also could collect the sales tax, registration and other fees associated with buying the vehicle.

However, a "reasonable allowance" for the number of miles the car had been driven could be subtracted from the refund, according to a printed bill analysis.

The standard for a "lemon" car would be one that was taken to the shop four times without being fixed or was out of service for 30 or more business days while the warranty was in effect.

House kills plan to sell 'Native Texan' car tags

AUSTIN (AP) — An Illinois native's idea to honor Texas natives with special license plates was defeated in the House after a legislator reeled off a list of famous Texans who would not qualify for the plates.

The House voted 89-29 on Monday against the proposal by Rep. Chip Staniswalis of Illinois, now a Republican lawmaker from Amarillo.

Fred Agnich, R-Dallas, ignited the opposition by noting that Sam Houston, Davy Crockett and Sam Rayburn were not Texas natives.

Staniswalis wanted to allow natives who could prove they were natives pay $50 for a special plate bearing the words "Texas Native." The money would have gone to the state highway department.

"I was born in Illinois at a very early age against my will," said Staniswalis.

He said the $50 would have been a "philanthropic contribution by native Texans" to the highway department.

Lee Jackson, R-Dallas, said the bill was a bad idea because it discriminated against non-native Texans. Jackson said he would oppose "any process that discriminates against our residents."

Froy Salinas, D-Lubbock, argued that native Texans should not be recognized for something over which they had no control — where they were born.

"Isn't it true most of us are born wherever our mother is at the time?" Salinas asked Staniswalis. "You might have been born in Texas if your mother had been here."

Bill would make dog fight penalties stiffer

AUSTIN (AP) — State senators have approved a bill that would make it a felony crime to arrange, promote or even encourage dog fights for betting, sport or entertainment.

Maximum punishment would be 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Dogs trained to fight in order to protect livestock, other property or a person from another dog would be exempted.

"This does not make it against the law to raise bulldogs but it does make it a felony to watch two dogs tear each other apart," Sen. Bill Sarpaluis, D-Hereford, told the Senate Jurisprudence Committee on April 12.

Nearly 100 witnesses testified or registered for or against the bill in two separate hearings of the committee.

Paul Harvey News 'Doctored' deaths

It has been 50 years since Dr. Max Thorek, founder of the International College of Surgeons, shocked his colleagues with a volume called, "Surgical Errors."

He dared admit and expose ineptness, mis-diagnoses and the sometimes carelessness in O.R.

He de-deified doctors, for better or worse.

Here we go again.

For 35 days in 1976 most Los Angeles doctors were out on strike, withheld services except for emergencies.

Most of the 7 million people in Los Angeles County were denied any elective surgery.

The death rate went down.

The longer the strike continued, the fewer people died!

As soon as the strike ended the death rate shot upward for one week—then returned to normal.

Milton Roemer of the University of California School of Public Health and Jerome Schwartz of the California State Department of Health studied the statistics and concluded that American "life expectancy might well improve if there were less elective surgery."

Iatrogenic disease is a name given to health problems caused by doctors.

Dr. David Hellerstein, in a published paper called,

"Cures That Kill," states that in one year of work at two hospitals he saw more cases than he could count of patients suffering iatrogenic disease; anemia, heart failure, bizarre infections, liver damage, blindness, lung scarring and bleeding; doctor-caused.

Enumeration of iatrogenic problems is embarrassing for professionals and unsettling for the rest of us—but urgently necessary.

Dr. Kenneth Barker is on the pharmacy faculty at Auburn. For 20 years he has studied medication errors. Already his ideas have created a quiet revolution in the way hospitals handle drugs.

Yet, in spite of that recent-years' improvement, Dr. Barker calculates that even a good 300-bed hospital still makes 60 to 90 drug dosage "mistakes" every day.

Lesser hospitals the same size may make 300 mistakes a day.

Robert Rodale is the second generation of pioneers in disease prevention through proper nutrition.

His PREVENTION magazine has been earning increasing tolerance, if not respect, from medical practitioners, coincident with the recently increased acceptance of nutrition as a bona-fide science.

Rodale is now risking jeopardizing that relationship. His publication is promoting a Peoples Medical Society, the announced purpose of which is to re-teach self-reliance, remind people to do some thinking for themselves, reconsider their dependence on medication, use doctors and hospitals less casually and more selectively.

Police investigating burglary

Hereford police are investigating the burglary of a house at 306 Avenue H, however no prints were found on the premises. Missing are a set of glass canisters with orange lids and miscellaneous kitchen utensils.

Other reports Monday included theft of an unknown amount of gasoline from a tank behind a feed building, a report of a blond male threatening some children with a knife, McCaslin Lumber's window shot with a pellet gun and a report of harassing phone calls.

Three calls were made to check on prowler reports at 428 and 432 Avenue B; and at Westgate Nursing Home.

One person was arrested for being intoxicated and in control of a motor vehicle.

Weekend reports consisted of:

- A dog bite incident at 736 Avenue G.
- Twelve letters stolen from a sign at 223 N. 25-Mile Avenue.
- A prowler who ripped a fence and tried to get into several houses on Star and Blevins Streets.
- A burglary at 404 Paloma.
- Missing are a color television, clothing, a mirror and a .12 gauge shotgun.
- Nearly $300 in tools and toolbox were stolen from a truck parked at the golf course Sunday.

- A motorcycle stolen from 812 S. Schley.
- A report of someone throwing things at a car at 903 E. 15th.
- About $530 of goods stolen from a Plainview woman's car while parked at 332 Avenue H.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The disputes which arose during the recent election (reported in the Tuesday, April 5th, edition of the Brand) bring attention to certain problems which our organization had identified, and which we have been working to rectify in the past months. Because we believe very strongly in our democratic system of government, our aims have been to strengthen that system by maximizing participation among all the citizens of this community.

For as long as any one of our members can remember, the election judges, clerks, and counters which are appointed by our elected officials, have always been Anglos, except for the County Democratic Party Convention, members of M.A.D. (Mexican American Democrats) introduced resolutions which would require that there be more proportionate representation of the community among those appointed to serve during elections.

We are all aware that although Mexican Americans compose almost 50 percent of the population, their participation in the political process is minimal. At present not one Mexican American serves as an elected official of this community.

Our group is aware that the only way we are going to have true representative government is to encourage Mexican Americans to participate and to vote. Unfortunately we have made certain observations that would indicate that others would rather discourage that kind of participation.

We think that seeing a familiar face, who has no trouble pronouncing Gutierrez, or Ramirez, who would not feel threatened by hearing someone say, "Bueno Dias, como ha estado?", and who would not be suspicious of our intentions when we exercised our right to vote, would go a long way towards encouraging greater voter participation among the Mexican American community.

"Por el Progreso de Nuestro Pueblo"

FOR A PROGRESSIVE COMMUNITY

Sincerely,
Rumaldo Garcia
M.A.D. Public Information Committee

Walesa interrogated four hours; third time in week

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Police interrogated Lech Walesa for four hours today — the third time in a week that Walesa has been grilled about his contacts with underground leaders of the banned Solidarity union.

Walesa was released after four hours of questioning, according to a spokesman at the labor leader's apartment in the port city of Gdansk. The spokesman, reached by telephone, said Walesa once again "refused to answer any questions" from the police.

He said police asked for details of Walesa's clandestine meeting with Solidarity's underground leadership — a meeting held more than a week ago, Walesa and the other leaders say.

He also refused to answer when he was asked what he knew about the preparations of the underground for new actions, and what he knew about the activities of the Solidarity leaders who are still in hiding," the spokesman said.

Walesa was first interrogated on April 13 after announcing he had met with fugitive Solidarity leaders for the first time since his release from internment last November.

Meanwhile, the government newspaper said today that the Solidarity underground is calling for nationwide demonstrations May 1 in order to force the Vatican to "reconsider" Pope John Paul II's planned visit to Poland in June.

"Publication of such an appeal just two months before the pope's visit cannot be described as anything other than striving for confrontation," said the government daily Rzeczpospolita in a front page editorial.

"I don't look for any changes to the technical direction of the report," said an administration source. "I presume he's just going to endorse the report," said another official familiar with the commission's work.

Reagan was expected to bill the new basing package as a necessary ingredient for modernizing America's strategic forces and an important tool for putting pressure on the Soviet Union to negotiate for arms reductions.

Today's announcement starts the clock on a 45-day period that Congress set for itself to judge Reagan's MX basing decision. Congress already has put a freeze on money to produce the 10-warhead weapon pending congressional approval of a basing plan.

The latest basing system was recommended last Monday by the 11-member President's Commission on Strategic Forces, headed by retired Lt. Gen. Brent Scowcroft, the national security adviser in the Ford administration.

Commission members already have started testifying about their proposals to Congress. Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger and Secretary of State George P. Shultz are due to appear Wednesday before the Senate Armed Services Committee.

only twice.

For the 23 houses on the 200 block of Ranger, Williams said the signs would cost about $3.35, what he termed as "pretty cheap insurance."

He said the warnings won't keep all burglars away, but will certainly keep out amateurs looking for an easy strike. Two large aluminum signs would be posted at the ends of the block, with smaller plastic signs attached to each gate.

Wilkins said that the same program in Amarillo had an 87 percent success rate with police, through the neighborhood-help system, catching in the act one burglar per three months.

"If we can get one every six months were in high cotton," Wilkins said.

Amarillo police are guessing that overall crime (not only burglaries, but rapes, armed robberies, etc.) in the watch areas has dropped about 45 percent.

"We would like to eventually get the entire city of Hereford under the Neighborhood Watch system," Williams said.

During his presentation Williams brought out some crime prevention points which can cut down on burglaries.

-If you have moved into a house which was owned before by someone else have the locks changed. The previous owner's lost or discarded keys could be picked up by a burglar.

-Women should never leave purses unattended. Williams said a crime wave in Houston was connected to burglars getting keys and addresses from womens' hand-mark with four homers and nearly a dozen runs-batted-in.

Miss Dirks was the District 3-5A medalist in the girls' golf tourney. She either shared, or led after every round, and finally wrapped up the crown with a final round 80 (the lowest competitive round for her) a couple of weeks ago in Hereford.

A special thanks was given to the HHS Booster Club, and to banquet coordinator Dave Hopper in particular, by outgoing president Ron Osborn.

Those who attended were treated to a meal consisting of barbecue beef, potatoes, beans and numerous salads and desserts. The salads and desserts were provided by high school students, while the beef was donated by a member of local businesses.

Wood told the crowd, "things generally succeed when everyone pulls together in the same direction. When you get a lot of people pulling and working toward the same end an athletic program will be a success. And, that's what it looks like Hereford has."

He talked about offseason preparation to the athletes, and stressed how important it was to prepare toward the upcoming season.

bags. The burglar would call saying he was from a store security service and asked the lady to come pick up her "lost" purse. Meanwhile, as the woman drove to the store, moving vans drove to her home and picked up valuables.

--Williams noted that several of the persons attending the meeting didn't know each other. He said neighbors need to know what vehicles are normal for a street and which ones might be suspicious.

-Getting nosy — within reason — may pay off in fighting crime.

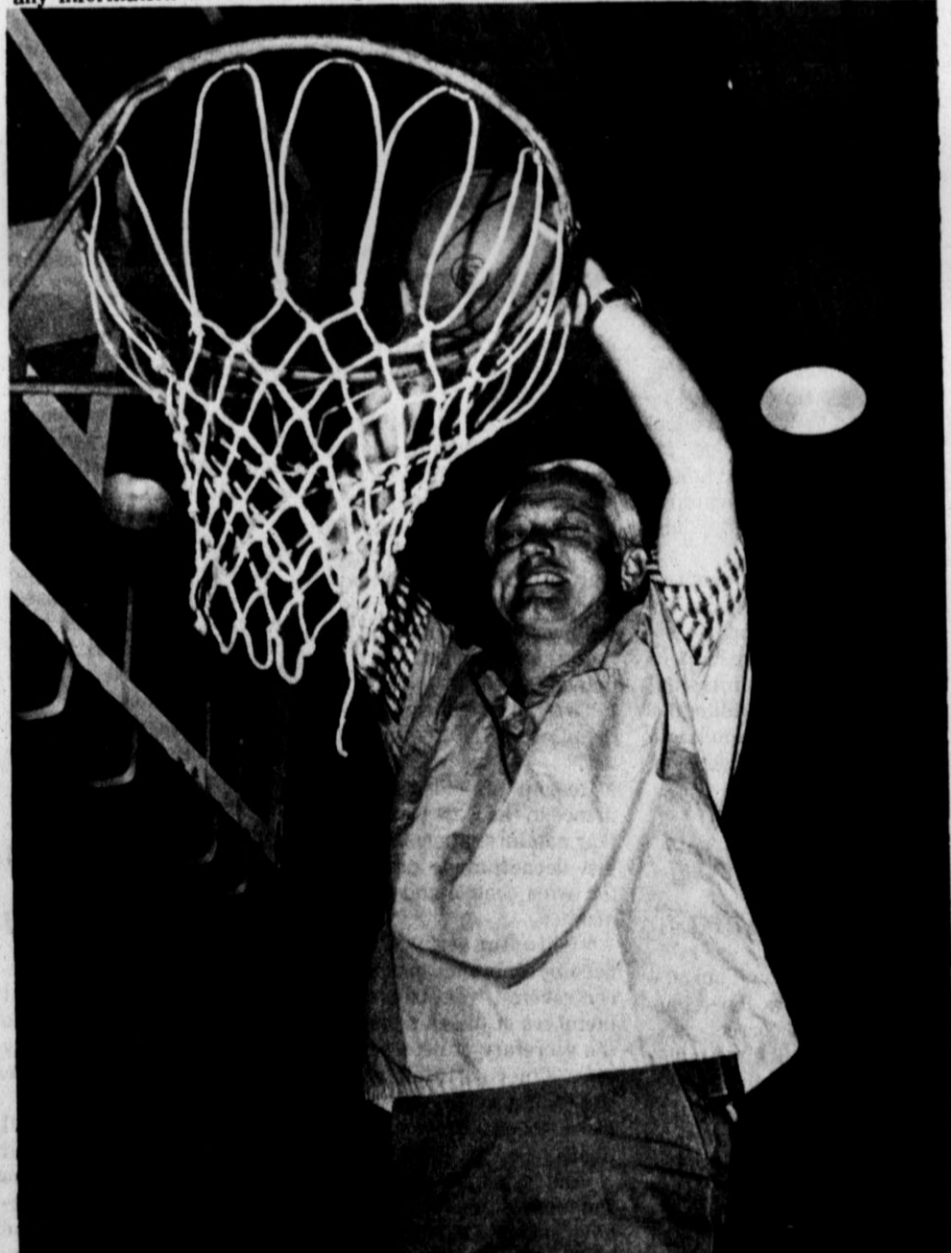

Wilkins said he and Williams plan to set up an office in a room at the police station, but noted that all Crime Prevention work will be done on their off-duty time.

"I think what helped sell this, is that we are doing it on our own time," Wilkins said.

Block representatives were elected Monday. For the Ranger block Mrs. Jack Wilcox will be president; Nadine Hill, vice president; and Maarki Hutto, secretary-treasurer. Northwest's leaders will be Betty Martin, president; Bonnie Sublett, vice president; and Gracie Shaw, secretary treasurer.

Williams said the persons elected will do the organizing for the block. He said some watch groups have cookouts and block parties to keep neighbors acquainted.

Persons interested in an organizational meeting for their neighborhood may call Wilkins or Williams at the police stations, 364-2323.

Meet Your Neighbor

New family appreciates residents' friendliness

By LINDA CAUDLE
Family News Editor
Working for Swift Independent Packing Company was what brought Jerry and Darlene McKinney to Hereford.

That's also how they met. Jerry, operations manager at SISCO, has been with the company for 20 years. The couple became acquainted when both were working at Swift Independent in Des Moines, Iowa, where Darlene is from originally. She worked as a management support person in the variety meats department.

Since moving to Hereford in October from Des Moines, Darlene has started working part-time at Mode-O-Day in Sugarland Mall. "I'm enjoying that," she comments. "It's a good chance to meet people."

Darlene says that her family has made many new acquaintances since moving here and that it has been especially enjoyable meeting the other families coming here with Swift Independent.

"The move has been most exciting and rewarding," she says, "because the local residents are genuinely warm and make you feel welcome. Our neighbors are so open and friendly and ready to help."

"I have lived in a small community, basically, most of my life and I really like it here. We both genuinely enjoy being around people and that's why it's been so exciting to move and meet so many new people."

Darlene joined the Hereford Newcomers Club shortly after coming here. "That's just about the most important thing in a community that's growing like this one," she comments. "I am really enjoying meeting the other newcomers."

She is also a member of Hereford CowBelles, and like several other wives of SISCO employees, she has found that the programs are very interesting and relevant to those close to the beef industry.

The McKinney's 16-year-old son, Truman, a sophomore at Hereford High School, has also gotten involved in local activities, especially through sports. He plays basketball at school and at the Nazarene Church, where he is also involved in the L.I.F.E. youth program.

Two older sons, who stayed in Des Moines, are Bill, 21, and Steve, 20, who was recently married. "We miss seeing them and our new daughter-in-law, Jessie," comments Darlene.

As a family, the McKinneys enjoy bowling, horseback riding, traveling and sightseeing, and athletics.

"The first football game we attended here was homecoming," states Darlene. "We were really impressed. We had never witnessed such support from the community."

"And we've found that it's not just for the young people, but for every activity which helps the community. The people here are very special. I don't feel like I've left home, but brought home with me."

Through the help of another newcomer to Hereford, Elaine Holly, Darlene has started working with ceramics. "The fun thing about not working full-time," says Darlene, "is having time for things like that."

She adds that her biggest hobby is her family. "I have always worked, so I may not have had quite as much time with them, but the time we do have together is quality time," she says.

Besides working for Swift Independent, Darlene has also been a heavy equipment operator and a nurse's aid, as well as a VISTA volunteer and a volunteer with the Extension Service.

Working with VISTA was something Darlene found to be very challenging and something she really enjoyed.

She was a volunteer in Newton, Iowa, about 30 miles from Des Moines, and helped in a variety of areas including finding available grants, setting up food and education programs, and organizing community members to help each other with their present skills working through existing programs.

"It is very rewarding if you don't allow yourself to be disillusioned," comments Darlene. "You have to realize that you can't change the world by yourself, but you can change one little corner of it."

Ann Landers Man's retirement disruptive

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been married 40 years to a man who has changed completely since he retired 10 months ago, and I need to know what to do.

He says he is too young for "senior citizens" and too old to take up a hobby, so he has devoted himself to making my life miserable by hanging over my neck 24 hours a day. I'm ready for the funny farm.

The man never boiled water before. Now he thinks he is a great cook. Nothing I prepare tastes right. He has to go grocery shopping with me and decide on everything I put in the cart. He never bought his own underwear, and I had to fight with him to get a new suit and buy shoes. Suddenly he's an authority on everything.

When the phone rings, he runs to answer (although no one ever calls him up) and he stands around while I talk. When the conversation is over, he wants to know all the details. He never gave a damn before.

Last summer we had a

Child abuse seminar scheduled

Parents Anonymous of Amarillo, in conjunction with Amarillo College, is sponsoring a one day conference Saturday to address the issues of abuse, especially child abuse. The event is scheduled from 8:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. at Austin Junior High School auditorium, 1808 Wimberly in Amarillo.

Several area agencies are to be represented at the conference allowing comprehensive coverage of related facets of this problem. Registration is $4 per person.

Show us an executive with a lot of push, and chances are, you'll find his spouse exerts an even greater amount of shove.

lovely lawn with flower beds. He dug up everything and planted a vegetable garden. We have vegetables coming out of our ears. Then he got mad because I wouldn't preserve it all.

The last straw was this week when the car insurance came due. He never said a word to me—just sold my car. For God's sake, tell me what to do, Ann. My daughter is on his side. She says I am lucky to have a husband who is in such good health. Meanwhile, I am—Worn Out And Wear In Erie, Pa.

DEAR WEARY: Retirement can be depressing and disruptive (especially for wives), but your husband sounds as if he might have a neurological problem. Such radical changes in behavior may be organic. Ask your husband's doctor to instruct him to see a neurologist. If he checks out OK, I hope you will seek counseling for yourself. You can't handle this problem alone. You'll crack up.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'll bet a lot of people ask you if the problems have changed over the past 27 years since you've been writing this column. I am sure they have. My problem did not exist even five years ago because the cordless phone had not yet been invented.

My Mom is a phonaholic. It was bad enough before, but now that she can carry a phone anywhere in the house she is worse than ever. I need to know how polite it is to talk on the phone during dinner when others are trying to carry on a conversation. Mom insists on doing this night after night, and it knocks the stuffings out of all communication because our talking interferes with her telephone conversation. So far I've never seen anything on this subject. Please comment.—Strangled By A Cordless Phone In N.J.

DEAR STRANGLED: When one is dining with others—family or friends—any phone conversation is rude unless, of course, it is an emergency. It makes those present feel that they are considered less important than the party on the other end of the line. This can foid, spindle and mutilate family relationships.

4-H program encourages preventive health care

By BRAD MORRISON
County Extension Agent
When it comes to health, the old adage still holds true that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Eating a variety of wholesome and nutritious foods, getting enough exercise, and scheduling regular physical, dental and eye check-ups are all good ways to guard against potential health problems.

Encouraging young people to practice preventive measures is one of the major objectives of the national 4-H health program. Kraft Inc., sponsors this learn-by-doing program, which offers 4-H members practical educational experiences that focus on the physical, nutritional, intellectual, emotional and social aspects of good health.

In the 4-H health program, youth 9-19 can participate in projects and activities that help them develop healthy living patterns and identify and meet individual and community health needs.

They also learn to share their knowledge and skills with others.

This year, eight national winners in the 4-H health program will receive $1,000 scholarships and be honored at the National 4-H Congress in Chicago. One program member in each state will attend Congress on an expense-paid trip, and four members per county can earn medals of honor.

In addition, ten 4-H clubs per state and four clubs per county can win certificates of recognition for outstanding health programs.

Awards are arranged by the National 4-H Council, a non-profit educational organization serving 4-H, and are donated by Kraft Inc., with corporate headquarters in Glenview, Ill.

More information on the 4-H health program is available at the county Extension office.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

The everlasting mountains are transient things, indeed, when compared to the durability of a temporary tax.

I have the ability to concentrate on a single objective; you, on the other hand, have a one-track mind.

Celtics host Atlanta

NBA playoffs get underway

By The Associated Press
The Boston Celtics hope to cut some "trees" down to size tonight in the opening of their National Basketball Association playoff mini-series with the Atlanta Hawks.

"Atlanta is a tough team for us to play because they have such a big front line," says Boston's Kevin McHale. "But I feel as good about playing them as I do anybody. In a mini-series it's not so much who we play, it's how we play."

Tree Rollins, the Hawks'

7-foot center, will be one of the players the Celtics have to deal with in the Eastern Conference contest at Boston, one of two playoff games tonight. Phoenix plays host to Denver in a first-round game in the Western Conference.

First-round action continues Wednesday night with New York visiting New Jersey in Eastern action and Portland playing at Seattle in the West.

The Celtics avoided the best-of-three mini-series the past three seasons because they had the Eastern Conference's best record.

"A mini-series is a tough time because if you blow one (game) you're struggling," said Boston guard Quinn Buckner. "What we really have to do is play great defense."

Despite the problems the Hawks present inside, the Celtics dominated them during the regular season, winning five of six games. However, Boston Coach Bill Fitch doubts his players will be overconfident.

"The success we had against them means nothing," he said. "The last thing you want to think about is that you just have to show up. We know a little better."

changes we have made. Only the uninformed could say we don't deserve to be in the playoffs."

Though the Suns have the home-court advantage, Coach John MacLeod says he knows they "have to play high-quality basketball" to beat Denver. "Our guys realize what kind of team they have."

During the regular season, Denver beat the Suns in four of their five meetings — and the game the Nuggets lost was one in which center Dan Issel was unable to play. He's back in good health now.

"We're going to be ready," says the Suns' Maurice Lucas. "We've been playing well and not to continue playing well would surprise us all."

The Suns finished with six straight victories and took 12 of their last 13.

The second game is scheduled for Thursday night in Denver. The third, if needed, will be back in Phoenix on Sunday.

Ball, Rodriguez eye district meet

Alfred Ball and Armando Rodriguez tuned up for this weekend's District 3-5A track meet last Saturday by turning in season bests in the South Plains Relays at Levelland.

Ball ran a 39.45 in winning the 300 intermediate hurdles, while Rodriguez turned in a 4:36.85 in placing second in the 1,600 meter run.

As a team, Hereford placed fourth in the 5A division with 57 points. Midland Lee scored 169 points to take top honors. Coronado was second with 119 points, while Hobbs took third with 101 points.

Erasmus Gonzales won the discus event with a toss of 141-10. It was well under his season best (151-6), however. He also took fifth in the shot with a heave of 48-11 1/2.

In a girls' regional qualifiers' meet at Plainview last weekend, Lisa Redmon placed second in her specialties. She ran a 12.2 in the 100 meter dabs and a 25.8 in the 200—finishing behind Clarendon's Linda Weather-ton in each event.

Cooney to meet Brown

'Gentle Giant' sets return

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent
Boxing's "Gentle Giant" — is he real or is he, like the fabricated King Kong atop the Empire State Building, an inflated beast destined for a puncture and another fall?

All you can do is listen and take your choice.

The resurrection of Gerry Cooney, the "Great White Hope" of 1982, began Monday in the plush Terrace Room in New York's Plaza Hotel.

Cooney's co-manager, Dennis Rappaport, likened it to the sequel of a movie. "When Gerry lost to Larry Holmes last year it was Rocky I," he said, referring to Sylvester Stallone's celluloid ring saga. "Now we are going into Rocky II. Just as Rocky did, Gerry will redeem his defeat this second time around."

"It'll be like the Joe Louis-Max Schmeling fights in the 30s. Schmeling stopped Joe but Louis came back to destroy the German in the return fight."

The analogy is interesting if a bit transposed. Holmes is the black undefeated champion of the world. Cooney is the middle-class Long Island suburbite seeking to become the first white heavyweight champion since Sweden's Ingemar Johansson's brief reign 22 years ago.

Young, strong, with supposedly lethal power in both hands, Cooney was built into a media phenomenon in scoring 25 straight victories, 22 by knockout, over a collection of untried and over-the-hill heavyweights. On this record, he earned a shot at Holmes in Las Vegas last June, dividing the purse at $8 million each.

Holmes hammered the 6-foot-7 Hercules into submission in 2:52 of the 13th round.

The bubble burst with a resounding roar.

The deflated, brooding Cooney went into an immediate shell. He refused interviews. He disappeared from public view. He quit training and gained some 25 pounds. He refused to get in touch with his trainer, Victor Valle. He had only infrequent telephone contact with his co-managers, Rappaport and Mike Jones.

Speculation was that he would never fight again. What people had pictured as an awesome ring talent was reassessed as a bear of a man with a marshmallow heart.

Then, Monday's press conference was called to announce that the 26-year-old pride of Huntington, N. Y., was returning to the ring, meeting Philip "Bazooka" Brown, a relatively obscure heavyweight who has a 21-0-2 record in his three-year pro career.

Bunch, High pace JV win; varsity hosts Tascosa today

Chet Bunch slugged a pair of home runs and Clarence High another as Hereford's junior varsity outlasted Plainview, 12-9, in a high-scoring baseball contest Monday afternoon here.

Sammy Suarez went the distance for Hereford, now 2-4, striking out 11. Charlie White had three straight hits for the winners, who travel to Pampa Thursday afternoon.

Meanwhile, the Herd varsity hosted Tascosa this afternoon at 4:30.

The Whitefaces went into the game with a 4-7 District 3-5A record, and a 7-10 season mark. Tascosa is 2-8 in league play and 6-13 overall.

With two weeks left in the regular season, Hereford was in sixth place in the loop standings. Monterey, a big winner over Caprock Monday, was on top beginning play today with a 9-2 record. Coronado and Plainview were next at 8-2. The first and second place teams, as in all other sports this year, will advance to the playoffs.

Following today's game against Tascosa, Hereford will host Coronado Friday at 4:30 p.m. and Caprock Saturday at 1 p.m. The Whitefaces will close out the regular season next week with games at Amarillo High on Friday and at home Saturday against Plainview.

The Whitefaces are now being coached by Don Long, who took over for Gary Ashby. Ashby, the head coach the past six seasons, left Hereford to join the staff of former football coach Don Cumpton at Abilene High.

Jesse Owens, the winner of four gold medals at the 1936 Olympics in Berlin, was the top vote-getter among the 20 charter members named to the U.S. Olympic Hall of Fame.

Penguins find Antarctica

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Truckloads of penguins, resembling tuxedo-clad waiters on holiday, trooped in noisy confusion down ramps and hallways into a frozen wonderland—a bit of Antarctica in Southern California.

Like true tourists, the penguins of Sea World craned their necks for a better view of the mini-South Pole, scrambled cautiously up an imitation mountain, jumped over genuine whale bones and sampled the crushed ice that masquerades as snow.

Many gave in to temptation and flopped on their oversized bellies to skid across the ice as they moved into their elaborate new home Monday night.

The marine zoo's $7 million "Penguin Encounter," which opens for the paying public May 28, was conceived as "a window on Antarctica—the most pristine, spectacular place on this planet," said Frank S. Todd, Sea World's curator of birds.

With a wall of mirrors that gives the illusion of endless expanse and almost countless penguins, the exhibit is "the only place anywhere in the world where you can see penguins doing what penguins do," without going almost to the South Pole, Todd said.

Todd said more than 300 penguins, the largest collection anywhere and the world's only self-sustaining captive colony, will settle in the exhibit, offering a tiny version of the Antarctic rookeries that can hold 80,000 birds packed shoulder to shoulder.

ROYAL TREATMENT—OR THE BUM'S RUSH?

One Sabbath as Jesus was in the home of a member of the Jewish Council, the Pharisees were watching Him like hawks to see if He would heal a man who was present who was suffering from dropsy.

Jesus said to the Pharisees and legal experts standing around, "Well, is it within the Law to heal a man on the Sabbath day, or not?" And when they refused to answer, Jesus took the sick man by the hand and healed him and sent him away.

Then He turned to them: "Which of you doesn't work on the Sabbath?" He asked. "If your cow falls into a pit, don't you proceed at once to get it out?" Again they had no answer.

When He noticed that all who came to the dinner were trying to sit near the head of the table, He gave them this advice: "If you are invited to a wedding feast, don't always head for the best seat. For if someone more respected than you shows up, the host will bring him over to where you are sitting and say, 'Let this man sit here instead.' And you, embarrassed, will have to take whatever seat is left at the foot of the table!"

"Do this instead—start at the foot; and when your host sees you he will come and say, 'Friend, we have a better place than this for you!' Thus you will be honored in front of all the other guests!"

"For everyone who tries to honor himself shall be humbled; and he who humbles himself shall be honored."

Luke 14:1-11

It's estimated that 75 percent of Americans know their astrological sign.

He said he's tried to give penguins everything they could want. "About the only things we can't do is, I can't have penguins diving to 900 feet and I can't let them migrate—I just can't produce 500 miles of pack ice," he said.

But with lighting keyed to Antarctic time and crevices and barren rocks, the birds should breed and raise babies for visitors watching, invisibly, behind a 70-foot one-way glass panel, he said. The big Emperor fathers will each carry one egg on their feet for two months, until the mothers take charge of the newborns.

The colony, established originally at the request of the National Science Foundation, is used by researchers from many institutions, Todd said. The colony has succeeded, where others failed, in hatching the only Emperors ever bred in captivity. The little Adelines reproduce in unprecedented numbers.

The 3-foot-tall Emperor penguins strutted regally like members of a formal wedding party. Their stately bearing was tarnished a bit by a habit of sledding over the ice, propelled by their toes and guided by their wings.

The little 15-inch Adelines were much less sedate. Cackling and squawking, they were herded up the last ramp. A few decided against the trip and snapped at their wranglers' gloved hands.

One ruffled bird, the stereotype of an absent-minded professor with an unruly mop of yellow feathers on top of his head, was so overwhelmed that it required step-by-step guidance with firm hands on back and

Scouting membership increasing

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Unable to relate the decades-old motto of "Be Prepared" with the youth of the 1970s, the Boy Scouts of America succeeded in mapping out a strategy of policy and program changes to make Scouting more relevant and reversed a trend of decreasing membership.

The plan, mapped out by J.L. Tarr, is pushing membership upwards, officials said. The group now claims 3.3 members and an annual growth rate that rivals the Boy Scouts' glory days of the 1960s.

Scout executives say their decision to create a fourth branch and admit boys at an earlier age may have been the most important factor in the turnaround. Since it was introduced last September, the Tiger Cub program has enrolled more than 84,000 7-year-old boys who accounted for 86 percent of all new Scouts signed up during that period.

"We are out to hit new kids and get them interested in Scouting," said Mike Whitaker, Scouts' director of advertising. "Tiger Cubs is one way to do that."

Other strategies included uniform modifications, a new program that teaches Scouts to care for themselves when home alone and two new merit badges—Handicapped Awareness and American Culture.

Scouting executives also acknowledge that the turnaround can be attributed in part to external factors, such as increased conservatism.

Tarr says he believes the membership surge will continue, and he points to the November 1979 capture of the American embassy in Iran as the turning point.

"There was the realization that we weren't as good as we thought we were," he said.

"There was a sudden return to the values (President) Reagan has emphasized—personal responsibility and patriotism."

"There was," he added, "a return to the values of Scouting."

The Boy Scouts, who moved their headquarters to this Dallas suburb in 1979 from North Brunswick, N.J., say they face obstacles that never occurred to leaders in years past.

"There are those who challenge us," said Tarr, himself a former Cub Scout.

Second Bomb Found

Another Exxon Station hit

DALLAS (AP) — A bomb containing about a pound of gunpowder — the second explosive device discovered at area Exxon service stations — was found stashed in a pipe leading to an underground gasoline tank, authorities said.

The bomb was found by the station's co-owners, who were inspecting the line at the Dallas station, and was disarmed by police explosives experts, authorities said.

Another bomb exploded Friday at a Grand Prairie service station after a caller telephoned the Exxon regional office in Dallas and warned officials about the device. No one was injured in the blast.

The caller directed company officials to a note attached to a telephone booth at the service station. The note demanded payment of 250 gold kruggerands, worth about $112,000.

Police went to a telephone booth at the station, found the note and were awaiting phoned instructions when the bomb exploded in a garbage can.

The bomb found Monday was similar in construction to the first device, police said.

The station's co-owner, Jack Throne, said the device was wrapped in plastic near the opening of the gasoline tank.

"We thought it was trash or something that someone had stuck in it," he said. "We brought it inside to examine it. We cut the plastic, and it had a lead pipe in it. We got suspicious and took it back outside."

Company officials had received no new communications from the extortionist, Exxon spokesman Joe Tucker said Monday.

"We're working with the authorities on this ... We've been advised not to comment on the form or content of the note," found at the Grand Prairie station, Tucker said. "As an additional precaution, Exxon is inspecting all of its stations ... in the Dallas-Fort Worth area," Tucker said. The inspection was being conducted by company experts, he added.

After Friday's explosion, Exxon asked its area dealers to conduct their own safety inspections, but "nothing unusual was reported," Tucker said.

Police Sgt. Ron McCracken said Dallas police had entered the case, which already was being investigated by the FBI, U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms and Grand Prairie police.

"We're investigating an attempted bombing," he said.

FBI agent Don Baxter acknowledged that the FBI had included Monday's attempted bombing in its investigation of the extortion threat against Exxon.

"We only have one investigation going," he said.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Even slow walks help

DEAR DR. LAMB — I think your column on walking to better health was very misleading. My wife and I were walking with another couple who are grossly overweight when they remarked that we were walking too fast. I told them a walk must be brisk in order to benefit the heart, lungs and circulation. In other words, the exercise must produce a "training effect."

My friends replied that just walking, even slow walking, was sufficient to maintain good health and cited your column. I disagree with your statement that walking even two miles an hour can be beneficial. But is such a slow walk of any benefit to my overweight friends?

DEAR READER — I'm glad you are interested and glad you are able to exercise rather vigorously. But don't spoil it for those who are not in as good shape as you are.

The answer to your discussion rests entirely in why a person is exercising. If a person is walking to lose calories, the speed is of less importance. Good studies have shown that normal people use about the same number of calories per mile at any speed between two and four miles an hour. If you walk faster than four miles an hour, the body becomes less efficient mechanically and the calories used per mile increase somewhat.

At between two and four miles an hour, a 150-pound person will use about 60 calories more per mile than he would if he had been sitting still during that interval. Let your friends enjoy walking two miles a day and in a year's time they will have used the calories found in about 12 pounds of body fat. Four miles a day would equal 24 pounds.

Now, if your goal is to benefit the heart, other than the benefits that occur from losing weight, it is true that more vigorous exercise is better. Of course that presumes the person doesn't have a cardiac problem that he or she might not know about which could be adversely affected by more vigorous exercise. You can use the heart rate as a guide to how hard the heart is working. A person who has not been exercising very much will have quite an increase in rate.

The best way to do this is train your circulation — not strain it. You sound like a strainer. As a person continues a walking program he can gradually increase his pace and distance in relation to the heart rate. Most people find that if the heart rate is 100 when walking a mile at a slow speed, after walking daily for about a week they will be able to walk the mile at the same speed and the heart rate may not be above 80. At that point they can pick up the pace or the distance and again the heart will catch up. This slow method of training is best for the general public.

The people who get in trouble with exercise are the ones who try to do too much too fast.

I can't agree with you about having to walk briskly to train. Remember that training is improving your physical capacity. A patient at bed rest is training when he starts walking down the hall and his training continues as he gradually progresses to more vigorous activities.

And then there's the fellow who assaulted a jolly chum who claimed he could read minds. The perpetrator was booked for striking a happy medium.

The world's first physician known by name was the Egyptian Imhotep, who lived about 2700 B.C. Egyptians later worshipped him as the God of Healing.

Anniversary Tea

Defendant's mentally ill mother to testify

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — An attorney for a man accused of killing two people, one who unwittingly tape recorded his own death, says he plans to put his client's mentally ill stepmother on the witness stand.

Attorney James Mardis is attempting to prove 21-year-old farmer Paul Wolf was temporarily insane when Wolf bludgeoned his wife's former husband and his fiancée July 16, 1982.

Wolf is on trial in state district court for the slaying of Leticia Castro, 26, a fourth-grade teacher in Pharr.

He faces trial later for the slaying of construction foreman Billy Staton, who had intended to record the animosity displayed toward him by his ex-wife and Wolf, her new husband, over court orders giving him rights to visit his daughter, Melanie, by Mrs. Wolf.

Instead he recorded his own killing in a tape prosecutors call "23 minutes of murder."

Mardis said Wolf was unable to cope with the stress that led to his sudden act of violence because Wolf was raised by a mentally ill stepmother and a hard-driving father who didn't display affection toward his children.

Wolf returned to the witness stand in his own behalf a third time Monday, but often slurred his words, hung his head and seemed confused.

State District Judge Darrell Hester called Wolf's demeanor "strikingly strange."

"Mr. Wolf, if you think you've got 12 fools for a jury you're going to be sadly surprised," Hester said after Wolf continued to disobey his orders to speak clearly Monday.

Wolf broke down several times during his testimony last week, but answered his attorney's questions lucidly.

Hester said Wolf was suddenly acting "crazy" Monday.

"Any 10th grader could see through the act," Hester told Wolf after he excused the jury Monday. "You're only hurting yourself."

Earlier in the day, Hester said he had to presume Wolf had taken drugs or alcohol and ordered him to remain in the Cameron County Jail until the trial is finished. He had been free on bonds totaling $100,000.

Wolf testified he hit Staton on the head with an iron bar, went outside where Miss Castro was waiting, and then he and friend Glenn Henderson each clubbed her with a hammer. Wolf said he and Henderson then dumped the bodies in separate Rio Grande Valley drainage canals.

Cameron County District Attorney Rey Cantu, however, alleged Staton's tape recording "doesn't lie" and shows that Miss Castro and Staton were ambushed.

Henderson had planned to videotape the visit between Melanie and Staton to demonstrate how the 2½-year-old child reacted.

But Melanie began to cry when Staton came to pick her up and "I just lost control," Wolf said.

Henderson, who is serving a life sentence for his guilty plea to Miss Castro's murder, has testified the attack was planned.

Several witnesses, including social worker Connie Ellis, Mrs. Wolf's brother John Ziegler of Corpus Christi and Mrs. Wolf's stepfather Leonard Pyle of La Feria, testified Monday that Melanie would scream and cling to her mother when Staton came to pick her up.

"The worst part was her (Melanie) saying, 'help me, mommy, help me,'" Ziegler testified.

But Cantu alleges the Wolfs got "so worked up" over the visitation arrangements that Melanie also became upset.

Cantu's cross-examination of Wolf was aimed at getting Wolf to acknowledge he was not temporarily insane when he killed the pair.

Wolf testified he put mud on the steering wheel of Staton's car to hide his fingerprints after he dumped the car in a drainage canal.

There are no atheists in lifeboats — or on traffic islands.

Today In History

Today is Tuesday, April 19, the 109th day of 1983. There are 256 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On April 19, 1775, the American Revolution began with fighting against British forces at Lexington and Concord, Mass.

On this date: In 1783, Congress announced the end of the Revolutionary War.

In 1824, the English poet, Lord Byron, died in Greece during the fight for Greek independence.

In 1951, Gen. Douglas MacArthur appeared before Congress after being relieved of his command in Korea and attacked the Truman Administration's policies.

In 1971, Charles Manson and three followers were sentenced to death for the seven murders in the Tate-LaBianca case in Los Angeles. The sentences later were reduced to life in prison.

Ten years ago: The United States suspended its mine-clearing operations along the North Vietnamese coast because of alleged Communist violations of the cease-fire agreement ending the Vietnam War.

Five years ago: The U.S. Supreme Court threw out a provision of the Tennessee Constitution that barred clergymen from running for public office.

One year ago: Alberto Salazar won the 86th Boston Marathon, edging Dick Beardsley by two seconds and setting a race record with a time of two hours, eight minutes, 51 seconds.

Today's birthday: Entertainer Don Adams is 56 years old.

Thought for today: "Human nature is not of itself vicious." — Thomas Paine, British-born political philosopher-author.

Club holds 50th anniversary tea

Thirty-four persons attended the 50th anniversary tea of La Plata Study Club Sunday afternoon in the E.B. Black House. Special guests were members of the sponsoring club, Pioneer Study Club, and past club members.

Out of town guests included life members, Jean Streu of Apache Junction, Ariz., and Bessie Patterson of Tulsa, Okla., and a former member, Nancy Hall of Jayton.

As the women looked back over the 50 years since the club was first organized as the Junior Pioneer Study Club by Pioneer Study Club, yearbooks and club scrapbooks were passed around.

Mmes. J.O. Clark, O.G. Hill Sr., Herman Ford, and Ray

Johnson, all from Pioneer Study Club, served punch and coffee. Other refreshments included sandwiches and cookies. The serving table was decorated with a yellow tulip bouquet arranged by Clara Brown, a member of La Plata Study Club.

At the guest registry, a bouquet of gold mums given by Pioneer Study Club adorned the table.

Historians say the Egyptians were probably the first people to keep cats, probably between 2,600 and 5,000 B.C.
