AROUND TOWN SIGHTS, FACES SEEN

Missing silver—Part II: Before Police Chief F. S. Buckalew was called to help locate the missing silver after the B & P W Club meeting Monday night the girls did some sleuthing themselves and found it. Several girls brought silver from home and in checking up, found some pieces missing, after searching the Lions-Rotary hall where the club met, and the adjoining kitchen they gave up and went home. Next morning one of the girls reported that some of the family had taken some of hers out before she left home and she had not known about it, so it was a t home all the time.

Another woman's intuition story: Mrs. Travis Caraway whose little daughter Sandra Jo was injured by falling glass when a pane was blown out by a gust of wind in the ninth grade school room Thursday, said she was standing by the window watching the wind blow as she washed dishes and thinking about her daughter, the phone rang and she was asked to come to school and get her daughter since she had been hurt.

Miss Elva Stewart of Lubbock has accepted a position with the Deaf Smith County Soil Erosion office in the courthouse. She arrived here Monday to begin work. She will fill the vacancy recently made by the resignation of Miss Marcy Koelzer.

One month from today is Christmas stocking time. Since the pig tail and book satchel set have probably already begun to do their Christmas dreaming a little early this year, they best be getting it down in black and white so Santa Claus can read about it. So come on children! The Brand is planning a big letters-to-Santa section and we would like to have your letter in the paper. The sooner the better but the deadline is December 10.

All things come to him who waits, even in sports, and Pat Corbett Friday afternoon proved you don't have to be Superman to throw and receive a pass. He did it. It was the B team game between the Whitefaces and the Tulla Hornets and according to Pat's story the pass he threw hit another player's helmet, bounced into the air; Pat caught it, and ran with the ball to make a three yard gain.

Star Theater manager Francis Hardwick has announced the opening time of the re-decorated theater will be 7 p. m. Wednesday instead of the matinee performance time originally scheduled. The two evening performances will signal the kick-off back to regular run of Star movies after the theater's five-week shut-down for remodeling. Formal opening will be held when the finishing touches have been added to the interior and exterior.

Robert Thompson and Alec Thompson dropped by the Brand office this week and upon meeting news Editor Richard Harris. Alec clarified their situation once and for all: "Well, it's like this," he drawled. There are two Thompsons over at the Court House. One of them is smart and the other one is Alec."

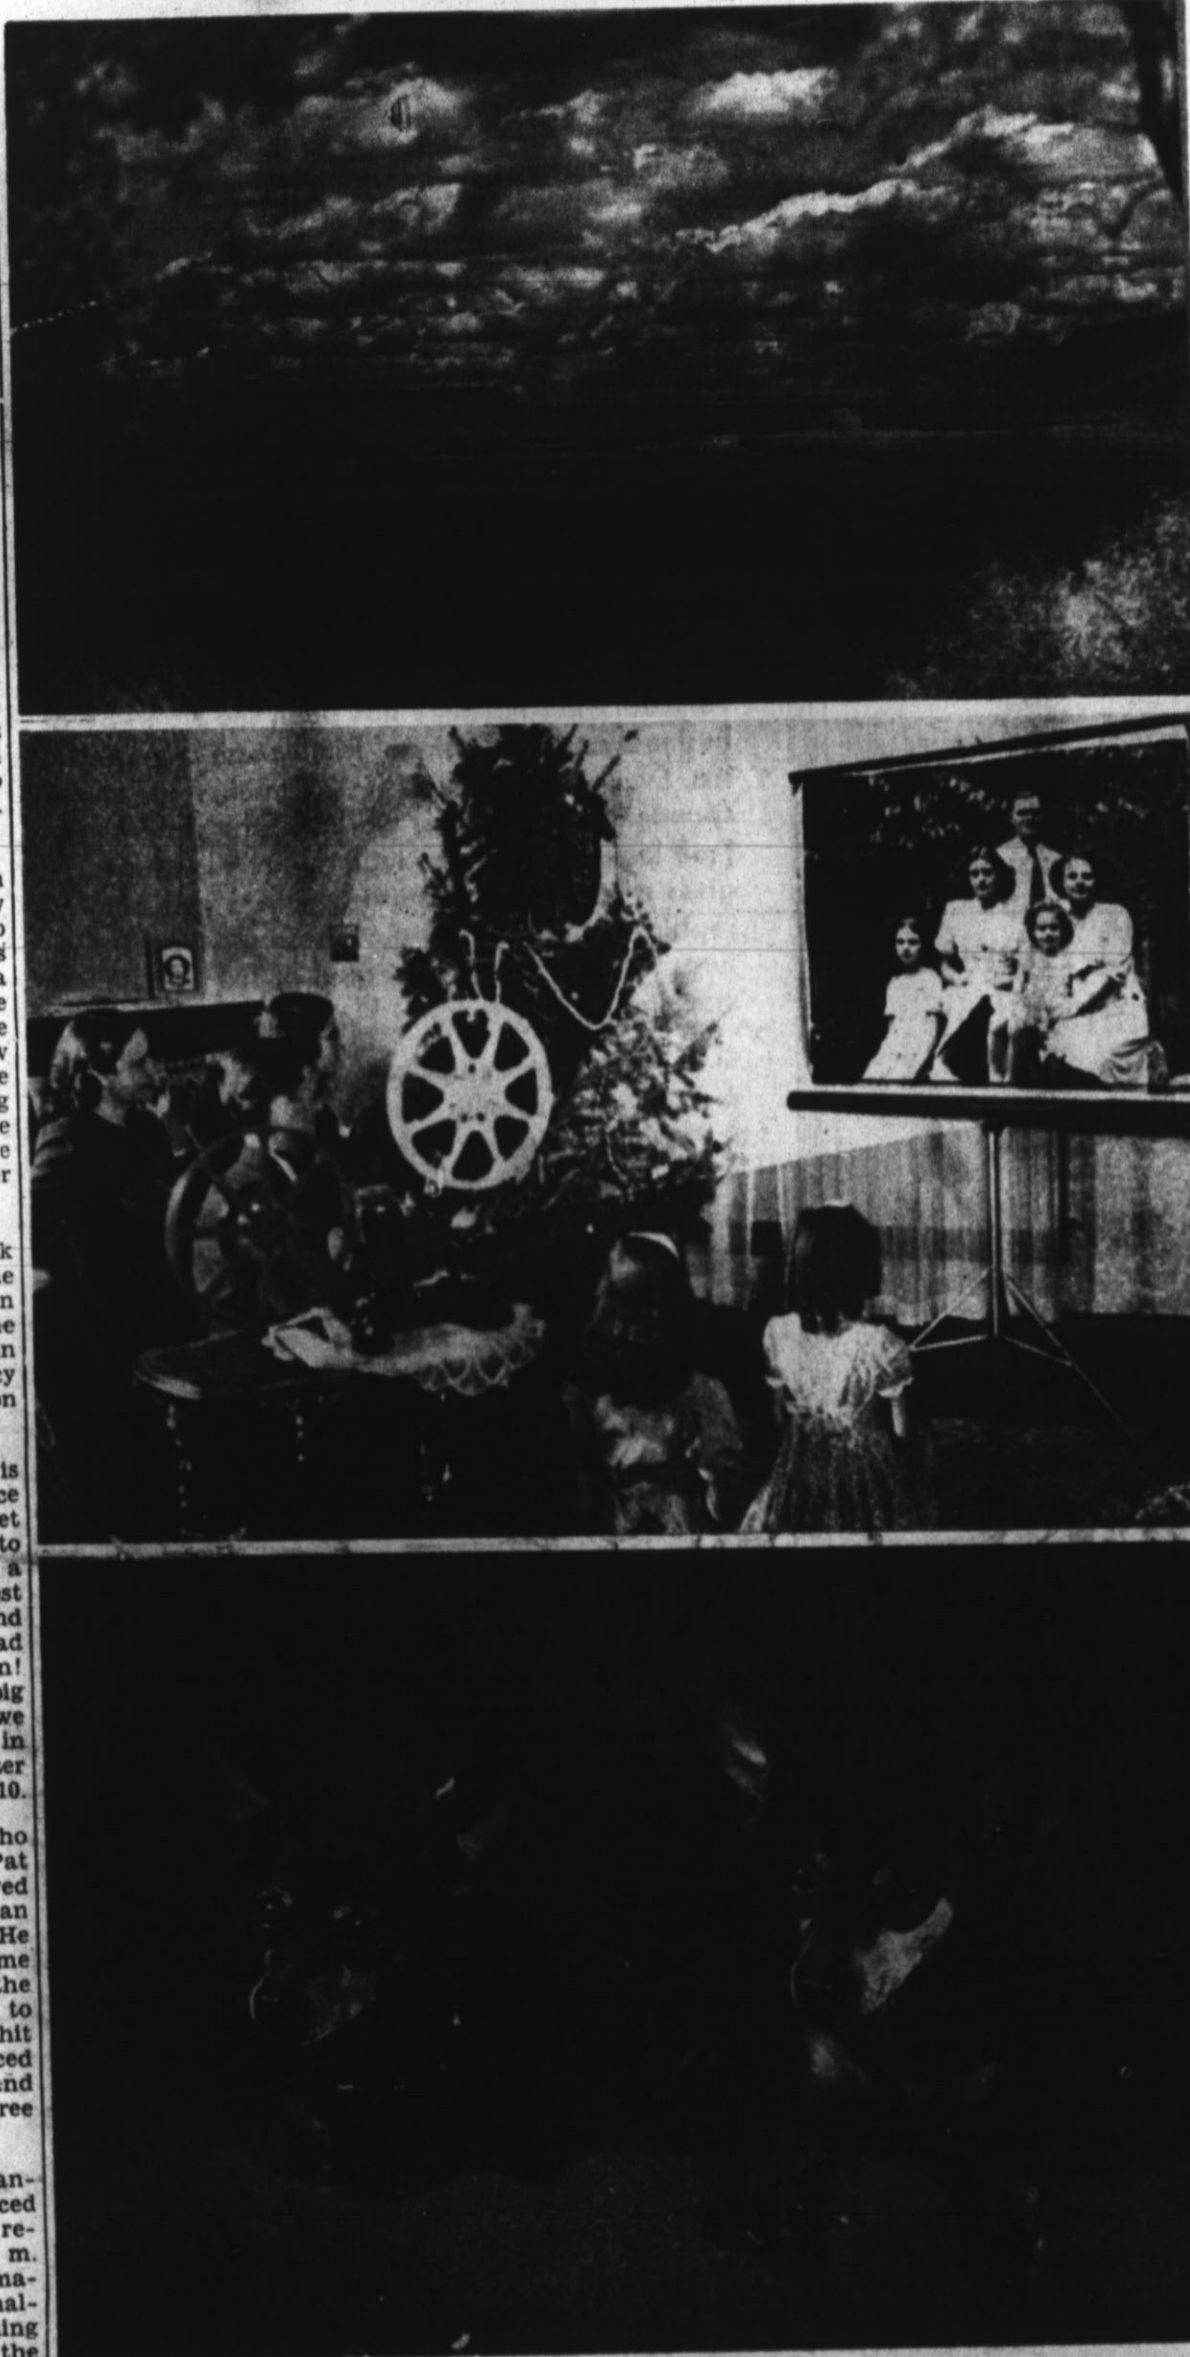

All members of the Beta Etas and others taking part on the Talent Hour scheduled for Tuesday will meet at the High School auditorium Monday at 7 p. m. for rehearsal.

Jeffrey Kirby probably will be a world-wide traveler when he grows up unless his recent experience of being lost proves too much for him. Once last summer he was around in the neighborhood ringing door bells and saying, "I came 10,000 miles to see if you had a little girl for me to play with."

CHECKING MALARIA DEPENDS ON TAMING THE SHREW

NEW YORK, (AP)—The little elephant shrew has been found to be a new host or carrier for malaria, scientists on an African expedition report.

The finding was made during studies of parasitology in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, southeast corner of French Equatorial Africa, and the northeast corner of the Belgian Congo by the U. S. Naval Medical group of the University of California African Expedition.

FATE SMILES

Empty Gas Tank Lucky For Pair

When Mr. and Mrs. "Jug" Hampton drove out of town Saturday night a week ago, with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brown, they left their 1946 Ford convertible in front of their house on Ninth Street. When they came back through Canyon later in the evening, there was the Hampton car beside the road, out of gas. An empty gas tank had thwarted the thieves.

The coupe was one of the cars stolen by three New Mexico boys who landed in the Clovis jail Sunday after they had hoppedscotched from Clovis to Canyon then to Amarillo, Saturday night reportedly by stealing a different car in each town.

The trio is awaiting return of federal authorities. The three were identified by Police Chief F. S. Buckalew as Donald Ray Felton, 17; William Lyle Wheeler, 19, and Harry Alvin Livingston, 28. Wheeler is a parole violator from Santa Fe, Chief Buckalew said Friday.

The Chief said the boys began their escapade in a stolen 1941 blue Mercury which they drove from Clovis to Hereford exchanging it for a Ford. When this car ran out of gas, Buckalew said, they took another car in Canyon, abandoning it in Amarillo.

Tot Seems None The Worse After Being Lost

Four-year old Jeffrey Kirby seemed none the worse for his experience of being lost early Friday night according to his mother, Mrs. B. H. Kirby Saturday morning.

He still was sleeping Saturday morning when a Brand reporter talked with Mrs. Kirby who said she was too happy to say much more than that he was safely home. She said she believed Jeffrey suffered no ill effects of cold, although he was lightly clad at the time he was lost.

Hereford residents heard the Amarillo broadcast concerning the lost tot and joined in the search.

An observing salesman, W. E. Carter, listening to his car radio while driving, heard the news and remembered he had seen a boy playing with some dogs not far out of Hereford. He turned around and came back to find the boy, at 8:45 p. m.

"Are you Jeffrey Kirby?" he asked.

"Yes and I'm lost," Jeffrey answered him.

The child was shivering with cold as he was clad in a light thin sweater which was why the mother called him to come inside about 5:30 p. m.

It was then she discovered her small son missing.

If the five dogs he was playing with at the time, three were strays, the larger dog returned home alone and Mrs. Kirby says the small black Cocker Spaniel puppy which is Jeffrey's own has not returned yet.

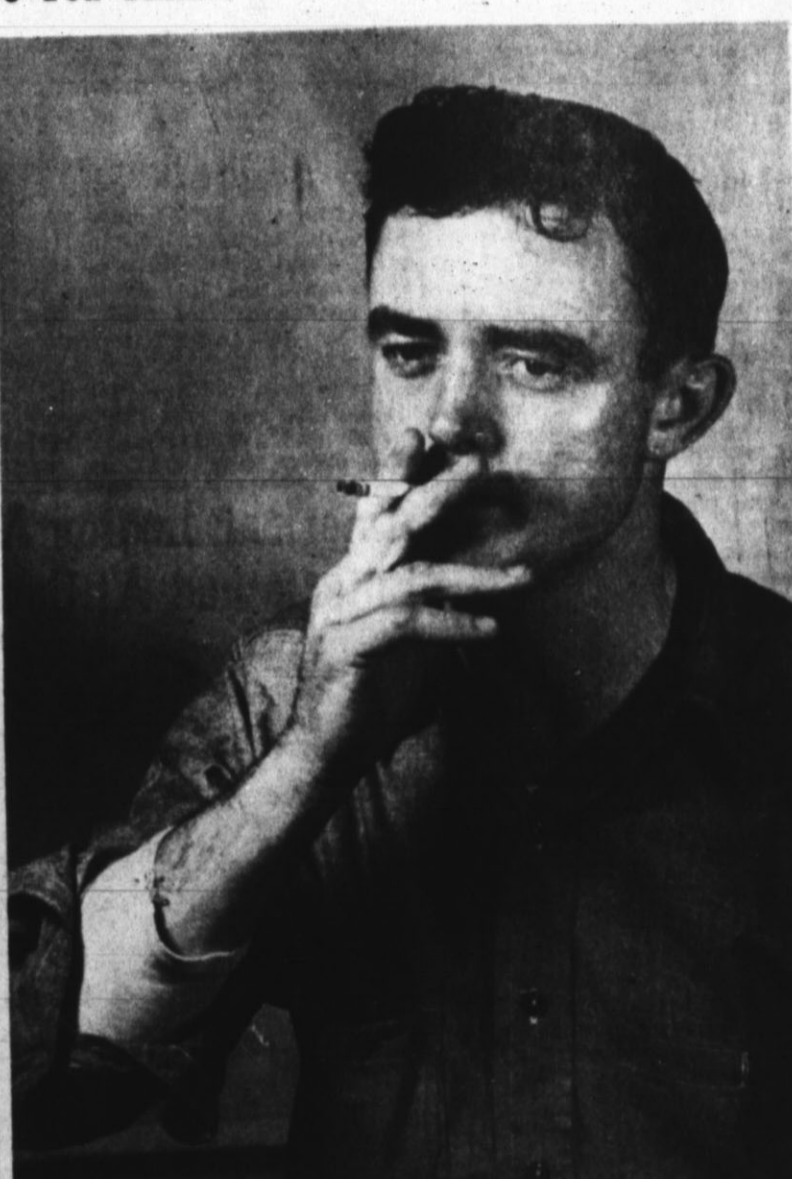

NEED MORE GOOD WEATHER

Survey Shows 24 Blocks New Paving Completed In Improvement Program

Twenty-four blocks of new pavement have been laid since the local street surfacing program started two weeks ago, G. N. Hughes, contractor for the construction company, said Friday.

"If the pretty weather will hold out," he commented, "we can finish this job in six weeks, but we are going to run into sporadic cold spells from now on so it is impossible to tell when we will be through."

Allotments Hiked 30 Per Cent For County Farmers

The federal government has set aside $148,200 to aid Deaf Smith County farmers in soil conservation and crop building programs under the association's 1949 schedule, Faust Collier, SCA head announced Friday.

This is an increase of almost 64 per cent over the $90,500 allotted this year and was enlarged because every farmer's allotment has been increased 50 per cent. Each farmer will be allowed $750 next year instead of $500, Collier said, stressing this limit was per individual not per farm.

The increased local rate is in accordance with enlarged state and national rates also set for next year. Texas will receive $18,417,000 and for the nation as a whole $198,800,000 has been set aside for soil building.

County rates are established by a system drawn up when the program first started. Under this system Deaf Smith has the highest allotment of any Panhandle county.

This Collier said is because Deaf Smith is the largest county devoted so exclusively to agriculture. Other large counties have more rangeland and fewer acres under cultivation.

Deaf Smith's diversified farming program helped put it in the lead also, Collier said.

Thieves Crash Window, Take $2,500 In Jewelry In Early Morning Raid

Loot Includes Thirteen Watches, Diamond Sets; Probe Is Started

The Hembree Jewelry Store, 335 North Main, was robbed of $2,500 worth of show window merchandise early Saturday morning when the thieves crashed a window and made off with the displayed jewelry.

A. W. Hembree, owner, said they took 14 diamond sets, 13 watches, cigarette lighters, necklaces and bracelets. The merchandise was insured.

Officers speculated on the details of the robbery. The thieves probably cracked the window with some heavy object, perhaps a rock, wrapped in a tow sack to muffle the sound. The window was left jagged and slivers of broken glass littered the sidewalk.

A velvet background cloth was smeared with dirt and pulled out of shape, indicating the thieves grabbed hurriedly for the loot. One of the watches which they dropped while making a get-away was found on the sidewalk when police arrived.

Time Indefinite
Time of the robbery was placed indefinitely between 3 and 4 a. m. Night patrolmen said they heaved the building about 3 a. m. turning their searchlight on it. Street cleaning crews working in front of the jewelry discovered the theft a little after 4 a. m.

They notified F. M. Kester, former owner of the store who called Hembree and S. B. Berry, deputy sheriff. Police arrived to investigate about 4:30 p. m.

Store Newly Remodeled
The newly-remodeled store features glass doors and a broad expanse of show windows. The entire store and show windows were brilliantly lighted at the time.

The thieves however, were protected somewhat from being discovered because the window which they broke angles into the door cove-shape.

Hembree said that when the glass was replaced, he planned to install a burglar alarm in the windows.

Parish Charged In Automobile Collision
South Of Hereford

Charged with failing to give the proper hand signal in connection with an automobile collision south of Hereford Tuesday night, Francis E. Parish, local sugar beet worker, was ordered to appear before Justice of the Peace Andy Thomas within five days after the accident.

According to State Highway Patrolman Cecil McNeil who investigated, the accident occurred when Parish turned off Highway 51 about 10 miles south of Hereford, and his machine was struck by one driven by Robert L. Fulks accompanied by his wife. Parish was accompanied by his wife also.

No one was hurt, Patrolman McNeil said.

SUGAR BEET MEN IN A QUANDARY

Transportation Set Up Still Question

Just how the Federal Trade Commission ban on basing point price systems will effect Deaf Smith county beet growers remains this week's 64-dollar question. Factory heads, field representatives, agriculture chairmen and farmers were at a loss to explain the significance of the ruling, should present sugar pricing methods be declared illegal.

Apparently Deaf Smith farmers, new in this field, had not been aware of the indications of defrayed freight rulings as had the aroused beet growers in the Western sections. The possible potential effect tumbled in on them just as they received their first payments on the 1948 crop.

sugar, a return which includes the $2.50 government payment on the same test basis. First payments ranged on a five-and-three-quarter cent basis, but since their participating contract covers a twelve month period, farmers' net payments may be figured on sugar at six-and-one-half cents.

What the western growers protested was the FTC ruling that the cement industry could no longer sell its product at uniform rates over the nation without regard to transportation costs which should create varying expenses between the buyer near the factory and the buyer at a great distance from it.

Court Upholds Decision
When the Supreme Court upheld this decision business men over the country began to double the legality of any seller's paying part of the freight costs in marketing this product. Western sugar beet growers were particularly aroused, for they grow more sugar than can be consumed in the West and must sell it in Eastern markets, in competition with sugar cane growers east of the Mississippi. Unless they can be allowed to defray part of the transportation cost, they can not sell to Eastern consumers at low enough prices to induce them to choose beet sugar instead of cane sugar.

Join Others In Protest
They have joined steel makers, manufacturers and distributors in asking Congress to allow business to pay part of the entire freight charge in marketing their products.

Explanation Not Available
George Nixon, head field representative of the area's contracting sugar beet company, Friday was unable to explain the indications of the trend or determine just how the freight rulings, if upheld, would effect the demand for sugar beets and consequently the price Hereford growers would receive.

A wire to H. E. Knapp, manager of the Rocky Ford Company, brought the following reply: "Am referring your inquiry to company lawyers. Unable to give you the effect basing point price may have on prices to beet growers."

Can't Force Consequences
Faust Collier said he could not attempt to foresee the consequences of the bill, but it had apparently hit hard enough at the cement industry to encourage them to build more factories near their larger markets thus eliminating some freight charges.

Sugar beet growers were hit at a time when they were primarily interested in the demand for beet sugar. Their opinion was that if Congress did not pass a law enabling the seller to defray some of the freight expense, it might mean drastically curtailed reductions on local acreages unless the government could be persuaded to lower import quotas on Cuban, Hawaii, and Philippine sugar, thus creating larger markets for domestic production.

Book Review Feature At Annual LaPlata Club Guest-Night Affair

The annual guest-night affair of the LaPlata Club was held at the home of Mrs. Homer Brumley Tuesday evening with a book review as the featured entertainment. Mrs. Willis Edelman was assistant hostess.

The book review was given by Mrs. S. D. Hay of Sudan who chose "Tomorrow Will Be Better" by Betty Smith whose works, critics say, "cannot be called literary contributions, but whose characters portray real people about whom she writes."

Mrs. Hay commented that the author herself says "The distinctiveness of Brooklyn lies with the people who live by their dreams and their devotion to their city, rather than with the dirty streets and squalor which characterize the city."

author, and his musical career and interest in the theater. She described his travels and told something of his plays and operas, mentioning his singing roles in the operas.

Mrs. Roy Ford reviewed "Red Plush" which is a two-part story of the mid-Victorian era in Scotland with the later scenes taking place in old Vienna. She said in part: "Against the background of Victorian Glasgow, and later of glamorous Vienna, the story of the Moorhouses reveals affectionate humor, ambition and unpredictable happenings. These people have been created lovingly and left to behave according to their natures. The story unfolds in a series of episodes hung together on the thread of human relations and the love of Phoebe, youngest sister of the Moorhouse family."

Those attending the meeting included Mesdames D. H. Alexander, Phillip Barkley, H. L. Benefield, Henry Benson, Essie Cardwell, Colby Conkright, Roy Ford, Howard Gault, E. W. Harrison, George Heard, A. M. Jones, J. W. Kirby, Paul Mathers, John McLean, R. B. Miller, J. W. Spradley, Bob Wilson, Wayne Evans and the hostess.

Following the supper, which was enjoyed by approximately one hundred guests, including members of the Legion and the Auxiliary and their families, games and square-dancing provided entertainment.

The next meeting of the Auxiliary will be held on December 7, when all members are requested to accompany a new member.

Cooperation Builds Hotels--Also Towns, Cities, Nations

"I never thought I would see the day," remarked a hotel corporation director as contracts were signed last week for construction of Hereford's new $300,000 hotel.

The director might well have added that he was one of many persons who never thought he would see the successful culmination of a project which started here more than thirty years ago. Furthermore, it must be recognized that there are many people who feel that the hotel is a mistake.

We believe, however, that it is the answer to a need of long standing in the community. The new hotel should be the logical step in the growth of the entire territory, and without it Hereford would have been stymied.

The new hotel should be a stepping stone toward location of future industry, Shrine hospitals, and projects of similar nature. It will increase the prestige of this area as a marketing center for buyers of cattle and agricultural commodities. In addition, the new hotel will provide a greatly needed community center for many occasions; it will be a show room for the community.

Important though these points be, greater still is the fact that five hundred persons, of large means and small, banded together to accomplish a program which the community has never before been able to secure.

The new hotel will represent progress and community service--due to community cooperation in a greater extent than ever before.

The Bootleg

Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher like most of the experts, is switching from politics to other subjects; his letter this week reveals. We don't blame him.

Dear editor:

I was sitting out here the other day trying to figure out how the editor of Time Magazine, the New York Times and you and me all could have been so confused about the election, and I am especially burned up because my loud-mouthed neighbor from across the road offered to bet 15 to 1 Truman wouldn't win and I didn't have enough sense to call it, although what I would have done with fifteen bushels of onions is more than I can figure out, but I gave it up, the same as you, and picked up a copy of a newspaper and read an editorial where the editor was complaining because too many farmers is eating out of tin cans.

According to this city editor, farmers make a big mistake when they buy their food in tin cans. "The trouble with farmers has always been a cash-crop, eating-from-the-can economy," the editor said.

As I understand this, tin cans is supposed to be reserved for city people and farmers ought to stay out of grocery stores except for salt, grow their own food, and not be botherin themselves with cash.

Personally, I don't subscribe to this theory. If I have 15 cents and a choice between bukin the seed and growin my own food and buyin a can of turnip greens right now, I'll buy the turnip greens, the same as any thinkin person. I ain't never seen nobody's hunger satisfied in the fall by thoughts of a cumber turnip green crop next spring.

Of course I don't practice it, but farmin is a science, a big business, and it may be possible to growin turnip greens in the same category that a car manufacturer finds makin batteries is. Some times he finds it's cheaper to buy the battery and put it in the new car than to produce it himself. If a farmer can spend his time more profitably raisin hogs for the cash market, and buyin food out of tin cans, instead of a hand-to-mouth existence in his garden, that ought to be his business. Farmers ain't prejudiced against tin cans or cash either.

I tested it out one year out here, figured up the amount of time it took me to break my land, buy the seed, plant it, plow it, hoe it, fight the Johnson grass, fight the insects, worry over the weather, gather the stuff, and put it in a can myself, and countin my time at 50 cents a hour, it cost me 43 cents a can, whereas them mass-production methods enabled somebody else to put the stuff on a grocery store shelf at 17 cents a can. Ain't gonna catch me losin money that way no more.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

SWISS VOTE FOR UNESCO

BERN, (AP)—The upper chamber of the Swiss parliament decided at a recent session to apply for the admission of Switzerland to the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

A recommendation to this effect from the parliamentary foreign affairs commission was approved by 22 votes to one. Despite the almost unanimous vote, several deputies expressed a fear that Swiss membership in UNESCO might eventually compromise Switzerland's traditional neutrality. Similar fears have hitherto excluded Swiss membership of the United Nations itself.

Some deputies also objected to the proposed Swiss contribution of 1.67 per cent to the UNESCO budget. The chamber finally approved the commission's recommendation, after Foreign Minister Max Petitpierre had assured the deputies that the constitution of UNESCO would permit Switzerland's withdrawal at any time, if the government considered the organization might interfere with the country's neutrality or vital interests.

Refreshments were served to members and three guests.

Paving Of Harrison Highway Tribute To "Busy People"

Probability is good that engineering and preliminary construction work will be started in January toward the paving of Harrison Highway west to the New Mexico line. Present indications are that eight or ten miles will be let in the first stage, and will be followed by additional lettings until the project is paved to the state line.

The real story behind the project, however, is that of a Chamber of Commerce Committee which actually functioned. Harrison Highway has for approximately thirty years stood as a definite need to this community, along with West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. Much work has been spent on the project only to go unheeded in Austin.

Recognizing the tonnage along the road, plus added need by school buses, the Chamber of Commerce in 1948 listed Harrison Highway as a No. 1 project, and appointed a road improvement committee consisting of Jas. W. Whitterspoon, Henry Sears, Alton Fraser, J. A. Pitman and Cecil Guseman. This committee joined the Commissioner's Court and Chamber of Commerce Secretary O. P. Cowart in conducting a twelve-month campaign—to run longer if necessary.

Adopting the theory that the "wheel which squeaks the most, gets the grease," the group has worked hard and diligently toward pointing out the facts and getting the highway in line for approval. They have had help from many sources, but they can never be given too much credit for the work they have done.

The fact that a committee of this calibre was able to secure approval of a highway is not surprising, but the idea that busy men found time to devote to community advancement is indeed unusual. They spent their own money, gave of their own time and worked as a group toward one goal.

Action of this type is becoming rare in the United States. Too often have we found ourselves "too busy" to contribute our time and efforts—and this situation has led to lobbies and paid employees who speak for scores of communities filled with such "busy" people. As a result our democracy has become endangered and in some instances taken over by Communists and rabble rousers.

Achievements of the Roads Committee, along with those of the leaders of the Hotel Committee speak for themselves. So long as the citizens and tax payers take a serious interest in the progress of the community, state and nation, America has nothing to fear.

God Left Out; Equality In

A two-day argument resulted before the Social Committee of the General Assembly of the United Nations when Brazil suggested an amendment to the declaration on human rights asserting that all human beings are "created in the image and likeness of God."

The Russian delegate objected, asserting that in his country the postulate that man is created in God's image is "much disputed." Argentina, Columbia, Bolivia and Venezuela supported the Brazilian amendment, but the Chinese, British and Indian delegates urged that reference to God be omitted because of the difference in the religious beliefs represented. Finally, the Committee reached agreement, asserting that "all human beings are born free and equal in dignity and rights."

This did not end the debate because Chile suggested an amendment to insert the words "and remains." Surprisingly, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of the United States, said that it was "ridiculous" to say that all men "do remain free and equal after birth." The lady did not say so, but it is equally "ridiculous" to say that all men are equal at birth.—Wheeler Times.

Clippings From Our Exchanges

Nearer home, Claude N. Harrison of Canyon, has been awarded recognition as a "ham," according to the Canyon News, which reports as follows on Harrison's activities:

TALKS WITH SIX CONTINENTS

"It really is a small world," was the opinion voiced today by Claude N. Harrison, who operates a federally-licensed amateur radio station with the Call W501E at his home at Canyon.

He has been awarded the coveted WAC (worked all continents) certificate of the International Amateur Radio Union for having communicated with at least one amateur station in each of the six continental areas of the world: North America, South America, Africa, Europe, Asia, and Oceania.

To qualify for the award, Harrison was in two-way radio-telephonic contact with amateurs in South Africa, New Zealand, England, Ecuador, Japan, Canada and has the OSLS—radio jargon for contact-confirming postcards—proudly displayed on the wall of his "shack" (radio room) to prove it.

In the early days of "ham" radio an amateur was lucky if he could talk with a fellow-enthusiast five blocks away. Now it is quite possible, through the exercise of perseverance and patience, to talk to amateurs located in the remotest corners of the world.

Radeo amateurs, who were pioneers in the art of two-way communication by radio, have developed equipment and improved techniques in operating their home-made stations which have contributed materially to extending the useful range of radio communications.

The International Amateur Radio Union is an affiliation of amateur radio societies in many countries of the world, with the American Radio Relay League at West Hartford, Conn., as its headquarters society. The union was formed in 1925 as a result of efforts of the late Hiram Percy Maxim, its first president, who saw in the union a means of fostering international amity, tolerance and understanding.

While Hereford has been faced with threats of withdrawal of City Delivery of mail due to poor street marking and numbering, the Guymon Observer announces extension of City Routes in Guymon. When the present street and house numbering program is completed here, a similar expansion should also be considered:

The Post Office department has authorized the extension of city delivery service at Guymon, by establishing a third City Route and extending the limits to include approximately 40 blocks more territory, Connie Curtis, assistant postmaster, said yesterday.

The addition will make city delivery service available to more than 200 residences and people are urged to use this service to help relieve the crowded situation in General Delivery and shortage of post office boxes.

People desiring to avail themselves of this new service must file a change of address at the post office. In the absence of an order on file, mail will be delivered as addressed and with the Christmas season almost here, people are cautioned to have all of their mail addressed correctly. Many having post office boxes, and General Delivery patrons are receiving mail addressed to residences which many times are not within delivery limits. This results in possible delay and in some cases mail being returned.

Some adjustments will be made where the new service overlaps rural routes by changing the rural carriers to accommodate more suburban patrons.

City delivery service is expected to be extended from time to time when sections meet the requirements of the post office department. For territory to be eligible for city delivery it must be 50 per cent populated, contiguous sidewalks, house numbers and suitable mail receptacles.

IN APPRECIATION

We wish to express our heartfelt appreciation and thanks to all those who so zealously and unselfishly aided in the search Friday night for our lost boy, Geoffrey Kirby.

We owe a debt of gratitude to the police department, the Boy Scouts, the telephone girls, the highway patrol, dozens of friends and others who co-operated in the search. We shall always remember gratefully the salesman from Kansas, Mr. W. E. Carter, and Radio Station KGNC whose emergency announcements made possible the rescue. We think this undoubtedly saved Jeffrey's life, as we would not have thought of looking in the country for him. He was thoroughly chilled when found and we do not believe he would have survived a night of exposure.

We think the finest people in the world live here in Hereford and the Panhandle of Texas and we are proud and happy to have our home here. May God bless and keep you one and all!

SPOTLIGHT on SPORT

By Homer Fox

The Manly Art of Boxing

The superior sex has been exchanging blows for fun, fame, fortune, and for the fairest sex, for many many long years. "Boxing" took the form of a combined wrestling and boxing event in the ancient Olympic Game. The rivals battled each other with hands wrapped in metal-studded leather strap and many contestants lost their lives in this sport.

Jack Broughton, bare-knuckled heavyweight king in 1740, introduced a set of rules in England in 1743, and also invented the first boxing gloves, which were used in teaching and training. All championship bouts were without gloves until the 1892 Sullivan-Corbett event in New Orleans. Corbett, at 2 weighing 178, defeated Sullivan, 3 who weighed 212, in twenty-one rounds for the title.

The "Queensberry Rules" were put forth in England in 1866, and called for gloved contests. Amateur and professional rules vary slightly in every part of the world today, but a boxer doesn't have to change his style appreciably to ply his trade in any country.

You can look the world over, and it'll be pretty hard to find a fine selection of fine clothes for men any boys than the present stock at the Fox Man's Shop. Why "don't" you go over and take a "gander" for yourself?

King Winter Routed As Sun Stages Comeback Over Area

If the forecasters were right, the week drew to a close, the Hereford vicinity and plains country in general were in for a spell of good weather after being battered severely by King Winter who made his debut into the scene with the wings of a fierce wind storm, sending the mercury in Hereford plummeting 22 degrees, but who was put to rest Friday when a bright sun warmed and sent the temperature climbing.

Tulia Scores In Each Quarter; Defeats Whiteface Eleven 26-0

By WORTH COVINGTON

The Tulla Hornets soundly outplayed the Hereford Whitefaces by handing them a 26 to 0 defeat in the final game of the season on Younger Field in Tulla Friday night.

The Hornets scored one touchdown in each quarter and Jackie Ramsey added the last two extra points, while the Whitefaces never threatened to score.

The first time Tulla got their hands on the ball they marched 51 yards for the first touchdown. With J. Stallings and Jackie Ramsey alternating carrying the ball, the Hornets moved down to the Hereford 19 yard line. Ramsey circled right end for 18 yards to the one yard line before being knocked out of bounds. Ramsey carried the ball over on the next play for the first touchdown. Ramsey failed to convert.

Hooper Makes Touchdown

Early in the second quarter the Hornets moved to the Hereford 48 yard line. On third down Ramsey faded back and heaved a 38 yard pass to B. Hooper who rotted the remaining 10 yards for the second Tulla touchdown. Again Ramsey failed to kick the extra point and the first half ended with the score 12 to 0.

Tulla took the kickoff at the start of the second half and marched 86 yards for the third

Hornet touchdown. Ramsey, Stallings, and Griffith hitting first one side of the line and then the other moved the ball to the Hereford one-yard line where it was carried over by Griffith. Ramsey sent the ball through the uprights for the extra point and Tulla led by a score of 19 to 0.

Bill Engman Punts

After battling back and forth in the fourth quarter, Bill Engman punted to the Tulla 40-yard line. On the first play Elliott took a handoff from Griffith going over the center of the Hereford line and then cut back to the right in the secondary and scampered 60 yards for the final touchdown. Ramsey converted which made the final score 26 to 0.

In the line for the Whiteface Kimbrough, Owens and Schroeter played a good game on defense. Jack Reynolds, playing right guard all season, was shifted to the fullback slot for the Tulla fracas and really looked good by ripping off some nice gains for the Whitefaces. Don Davison played a good game in the backfield.

Tulla Line Shines

The entire Tulla line played a good game on offense and defense both and soundly outplayed the Whiteface forward wall. The Hornet backfield of Ramsey, Stallings, Griffith and Elliott all looked good going through the Hereford line at will.

Vows Read For Miss Wilma Jean Miller And Jerry Jacobs Recently

A recent marriage of interest here is that of Miss Wilma Jean Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Miller of this city, and Jerry Jacobs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jacobs of Spearman. The wedding took place in the home of the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. C. L. Schell with the pastor of the First Christian Church of Perryton, Rev. C. E. Boatman, officiating.

An archway decorated with asters and greenery and lighted tapers in branched candelabra formed the background for the exchange of vows.

Miss Jane Campbell, of Canyon soloist, sang "Because" by D'Hardelot with piano accompaniment by Miss Colene Schell. Miss Schell also gave pre-nuptial music and played the traditional wedding marches. Joyce Miller, sister of the bride, lighted the candles.

Mrs. J. J. Miller of Hereford was matron of honor and Mrs. Harold Erwin of Canyon served as bridesmaid. Charles Head of Canyon was best man and Charles Brockus of Amarillo was groomsmen.

The bride was attractive in a woolen suit of gray gabardine with blouse in flesh pink.

A reception in the Schell home honored the couple after the ceremony and later the couple left on a trip to Denver and Greeley, Colo. They have returned to Canyon to make their home and she has enrolled for classes at West Texas State College.

The bride is a graduate of West Texas High School, Canyon, and has been attending West Texas State College where she is a member of Gamma Phi sorority and Mu Kappa Delta, journalism fraternity.

Mr. Jacobs, a graduate of Spearman High School, received his bachelor's degree from West Texas and has completed work on his M. A. degree. He is a member of Tri Tau fraternity. He served 30 months in the Army during World War II and at present he is head of the mathematics department in the Canyon Public Schools.

SMUGGLING WON HONOR FOR JEFFERSON

FLORENCE, S. C. (AP)—A smuggling job on rice gained Thomas Jefferson an honorary membership in the Agricultural Society of South Carolina. Attorney W. Marshall Bridges, a student of Jefferson's life, reports that the 1787 ambassador to Great Britain found rice there superior to that grown in South Carolina.

He looked into the matter, and found that the superiority derived from the rice, grown in Piedmont, Italy, being of a different strain than that grown in the United States. In one of his notebooks Jefferson wrote that an Italian muleteer "will smuggle a sack of rough rice for me to Genoa; it being death to export it in that form." The smuggler was successful, and the new rice thrived in this country. In recognition, Marshall says, Jefferson was accorded the membership.

L. A. E. Club Has Lesson On Foreign Relations

Mrs. Boyd Knox was hostess for the L. A. E. Club meeting held at her home Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Bob Higgins, president, conducted a business program when plans were discussed for the annual Christmas party which will be held at the Lions-Rotary Club banquet hall on December 7, with husbands as honor guests.

In keeping with the program theme — "Foreign Relations", the roll call featured foreign events of interest.

Mrs. George Suggs read a paper on "The United States—Master of Its Fate" in which she described the U. S. as the architect of the future and discussed the Chinese situation as related to the role the United States must take in the Orient.

Mrs. Altus Higgins told of the Marshall plan, its origin and named the countries in its scope. She also discussed the kind of aid given and the aims of the Marshall Plan and concluded with the statement "Good will always be the United States' best investment."

Members of the club present included Mesdames George Benson, W. R. Black, Altus Higgins, Bill Jones, T. W. Roberson, George Suggs, Robert Viegler, Robert Wagener, Bob Higgins and the hostess.

CHINESE GENERALS LOSE LUMP SUM PAY

NANKING, (AP) — President Chiang Kai-shek has won the opening rounds of a battle to take government funds out of the hands of his generals through a system of modern military finance. The new procedure—once opposed so vigorously by some commanders that American advisors literally were chased from one headquarters and told not to return—became effective Sept. 1 in 91 units of the army, and were applied Oct. 1 to 94 more. Eventually they will be extended to cover all military activities of the Chinese government.

President Chiang Kai-shek requested the American Advisory group in China several months ago to draft a finance system for his armies. The result was a simplification of finance and accounting practices now used by the United States armed forces. The new system ends lump-sum payments to commanding generals, a practice which critics said bred corruption and allowed dishonest commanders to grow rich at the expense of poorly fed and equip-

The goals for achievement are first, "Citizenship," second, "Appreciation of Home," and third, "Appreciation of their work."

Mrs. Draper then presented two "outstanding" 4-H girls Marilyn Henderson a high school senior and Gracie Fathringham, a younger girl of the Happy Home 4-H Club.

Marilyn has been a 4-H Club member for seven years. She told of her bed room improvement program which is her present project in 4-H. One example, we shown, a beautiful chenille bedspread which she had made at cost of only $4.

Gracie told of her bedroom improvements also and demonstrated how she had improved drab plywood walls with paper and decals. Another example displayed was a hand decorated lamp shade, and stool cover all of which was made economically constructed.

Fliers Combine Business And Pleasure To Pursue Hobbies

With fall rivaling summer for good flying weather, Hereford fliers find themselves up-in-the-air, combining business with pleasure from town to town, coast to coast, or visiting with relatives or friends. Flying is more than a luxurious way to travel. For many it is the realization of a childhood dream to follow the bird-soaring through space, the answer to an inner urge that prompts small boys and girls to use the family umbrella for solo flights from the roof-tops. It's a way of thinking—and today's picture section shows a group of air-minded citizens whose enthusiasm never wanes.

Gives Wings To Business Jim French, one of the most enthusiastic of the group, says flying has not only given wings to his business but has provided the most wonderful experience of his life. He began training for a pilot in 1940, more or less as a hobby, and traveled 150 miles for lessons. Later he helped build the field at Creed, Colorado, which is one of the highest in the world, almost 9000 feet above sea level.

He learned to fly over mountain ranges, usually at about 14,000 feet and has had considerable experience with high winds, down drafts and up-currents. He likes his two-place "Luscombe" better than any plane he has owned. He usually makes about 105 miles per hour on trips, and sometimes flies 16,000 feet above sea level.

Flying Childhood Ambition Lyle Blanton, who probably does more flying than all the rest of the group combined, can't remember when he didn't want to fly. It has been his ambition since early childhood. His first opportunity came in 1945 and now with about 1200 hours to his credit he feels safer in a plane than in a car. He uses his four-place Stinson Voyager which is his pride and joy, for business trips in the main, and makes hops to California, Dallas, Austin, San Antonio and Oklahoma City almost every week in hours and minutes, when otherwise he would be days on the road.

Mr. Blanton considers flying the safest way to travel but he isn't about to take chances with the weather. When weather conditions are doubtful he stays on the ground. He never fails to get a thrill out of taking his friends with him on trips and hopes someday to have more time for pleasure flying.

The two feminine members of the group are Helen Ann Pitman, who posed for the photographer rearranging her hair in the mirror-finished surface of her plane, and Carlie Rae Frye who with all the accompanying thrills and pleasures and a deep sense of satisfaction in achievement, she says. Carlie Rae now is employed at the Hereford State Bank and has done little flying the past few months, but she hopes to keep in practice enough to always be able to use this modern mode of travel when she desires.

Flew As Student She began flying while a student at Hereford High School and when she enrolled at Stephens College, Columbia, Missouri, a flight course was first on her schedule. She won top honors in the course. Last year she whipped down to Fort Worth, and with two others from Stephens, climaxed a cross-country flight tournament, held by Texas Christian University, with top honors.

At present she is a student in the University of Texas, and while she devotes most of her time to other fields of study, she expects to give enough time to flying to keep up her license.

Father Was Inspiration Carlie Rae, daughter of Carl Frye, caught her interest in flying from her father and her brother, Charles. She made so many trips with them that she decided to try it herself. The result—a full fledged air-traveler with all the accompanying thrills and pleasures and a deep sense

The big headline story of the week: "ADD-RAN COLLEGE DEDICATION". Hereford's Great Institution of Learning Will Be Dedicated on Thanksgiving Day with appropriate exercises.

Other headline stories: "THE LAIRD-HILL WEDDING." D. C. Laird and Miss Q. B. Hill were married at the residence of the father of the bride, Harvey Cash of Dimmitt, on Wednesday November 18. Mr. Laird is one of the most progressive young business men in this section of the state, and is manager of the fancy improved OYO Ranch. The bride is the sister of Harvey Cash, the popular and efficient clerk of Castro county. None is more deeply in love than she. Her vivacious and bright sunny disposition makes every acquaintance an admirer. Rev. A. W. Crawford united the pair in marriage. The new wedded pair will make their home at the OYO Ranch.

She thinks flying makes a man more considerate of his family because she says in his desire to eliminate any worry, he keeps up all the little courtesies of letting his whereabouts be known when on a plane trip. She admits that the attitude might be different if her husband were not so considerate but, she says "when the flying bug bites a man his wife might be good natured about it, for there isn't anything she can do one way or the other." Flying Lifelong Desire Mrs. Blanton thinks it's wonderful for Mr. Blanton to be able to realize a lifelong desire in flying. She gets air-sick and has made few trips with him, but she is not afraid because she has perfect confidence in his control. "Flying does something fine for a man" she said. POPULARITY SNOWBALLING Hereford Shares Square Dance Craze Sweeping Across Country

By PHYLLIS RADOVICH The square dance craze that has swept along share of Hereford advocates of the honor-your-partner and do-it-do rhythms in its growing snowball of popularity. Every other Monday night the Square Dance Club congregates at the Club house to whip and whirl in the rollicking shennigans that first gained popularity when the country was in its teens. The dancers of today drive 35 horsepower automobiles, but show as much enthusiasm for the promenades and old steps called co glad gals and guys in buckskin enjoyed when conveyances really were horse powered. Psychologists could probe the renewed popularity of the dances and declare that 1948 moderns were subconsciously seeking a return to the more tranquil horse and buggy days, but busy though the couples are in the square aren't bothered about subconscious motivations. Things Not Tranquil As they honor their partner and bow to their corner this is far from tranquil. Callers Pat Smith or Palpa Smith warm up to a lusty ring and their voice so in rhythm to the busy fiddler waxed in the phonograph recordings. "Ladies to the middle and back to the bar Gents to the center and form a star." The caller sings out and the gents and their partners swing out in a Texas star formation. The floor often is crowded as four or five groups "find that pretty girl and pass her by, catch the next one on the fly." After a brisk turn at some square dance, they will take on a few old folk dances for relaxation. The "professionals" prance out variations of "Put Your Little Foot" or "Little Brown Jug" or try a primer rendition of "Ten Pretty Girls" and "Cotton Eyed Joe." Not For the Delicate It's an energy plus evening. Square dances weren't made for the delicate. In frontier days men worked and played vigorously and it may take vitamin pill supplements to see today's novices through an evening of Virginia reels and Sally Goodin. Folk dances represent the social spirit of a nation. The ones which the United States took to heart found their ancestors in the grand old folk games of Ireland, Germany, Spain, France, wherever American hearts bears called home. In the new country they underwent variations. Regularly however, as life mellowed to the niceties of culture, the boisterous dances gave way to waltzes and minuets. But wherever the frontier stretched, the caller and the fiddler soon arrived and pleasure starved people welcomed them into their homes, their barns and even fields for an evening or night-long entertainment. Days of Frontier Justice Those were the days of frontier justice, unfenced prairies rip roaring saloons and Indian wars. It moved into the gaslight era when a girl's fashion sense was measured by the width of her leg-o-mutton sleeves and her social sense by how gracefully she rounded out a grand right and left. And men were Stetson-hatted, hard riding specimens able to shoot a home rolled cigarette from a man's mouth at 50 paces and cut a

Nonagenarian Is Feted On Birthday

H. C. Doak celebrated his 90th birthday Sunday at a birthday party given in the home of his granddaughter, Mrs. George L. Olson. A candle-top ped cake and other decoration carried out the birthday theme for the table. Four of the nonagenarian's children were present for the event. They included Mrs. Mary Ellen Woolery of Hereford with whom he makes his home, Mrs. R. E. Brookshire, Silverton, Mrs. V. P. Gardner, Tulla, and E. E. Doak of Hereford. Others attending were R. E. Doak, V. P. Gardner, Mr. E. E. Doak and son Dale, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hill and a granddaughter, Mrs. Alma Hill of Silverton.

fancy figure eight on the dance floor. Today the Square Dance still carries a strong flavor of the old west. It's friendly and has a "come on in, everyone's welcome" atmosphere. It's democratic. No Inhibitions Young or old, age doesn't matter. It's independent. Nothing except fiddling was ever less inhibited. The Shishinta Campfire Girls aged about 12, are learning to dance because it's fun. Square Dance Club members, some of whom are grandparents, get just as much kick out of it. About 11:30 p. m. on Monday when they settle down for sandwiches, cookies and coffee (and ash, to catch a few deep breaths) they probably aren't thinking of the romantic past of the square dance. They wouldn't trade electric coffemakers for coffee pots boiling on a wooden range or a radio for the pony express. But, shades of a bouncing buckboard, they prove you can pick the best from any age and take it right on through progress.

If the Santa in your family is the kind who likes to get Christmas shopping over early... or the kind who waits until the last minute, now is the time to drop a hint or two about an "all-electric" Christmas.

You might talk about how good food is, cooked electrically... how well food is preserved in an electric refrigerator or home freezer... or talk about the programs you could get on a new radio... or how much the living room could use a new lamp... then drop a few hints about how electric service is cheaper than ever before... chances are good that your Santa will make it a time and labor saving electric Christmas for you this year.

Car for the Czech Worker

This lightweight auto is a leading contestant in a Czech contest in Prague to find a low-consumption, inexpensive car within the means of the average worker. Driven by a two-cylinder engine, located in the rear of the car, it has a maximum speed of 50 mph and travels 63 miles to a gallon of gas. It was built by a Prague office clerk in his spare time.

AP Special Washington Service

Washington, (AP)—Texas will have a versatile team in the Senate next year.

The veteran 71-year old Tom Connally and the dynamic Lyndon B. Johnson—whose 40 years make him a youth compared with the average senator, should complement each other.

Twenty years of service in the Senate, coupled with the power and prestige that goes with the chairmanship of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, will make Connally a top-flight figure in the government when the Democrats assume complete control next Jan. 3.

The mere mention of his name when a state matter is being taken up with a governmental department commands respect and attention.

Senator-elect Johnson has a vigor and personality—assets that will help offset his lack of seniority counts for much. Johnson knows his way around.

Of course, Johnson is wise in the ways of Washington and he has more experience in congress than the average colleague with whom he will serve. His service in the House, dating from April 9, 1937, is longer than 72 of the 100 senators who have served in the upper body—and two of those men will not be senators when the 81st Congress convenes.

Connally is renowned as an orator of the old school, and though the years are slowing him up somewhat, he is still a master both of flowery speech and invective.

Johnson, on the other hand, seldom has spoken on the House floor. But he has been able to get things done through making friends with the right people in the right places.

Presumably, Senator Johnson will operate in the same manner as has Rep. Johnson.

Assignment A Question
Johnson's senatorial committee assignment is a question. When he took his House seat 11 years ago he went immediately on the Naval Affairs committee, a major assignment. Most freshmen congressmen have to start off on minor committees. But Johnson got off to a fast start with the personal backing of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The young Texan's service on the House Armed Service's committee (created by a merger of the naval and military affairs groups) would seem to qualify him for the same committee in the Senate.

Johnson also has been on the joint Senate-House committee on Atomic Energy. Whether he continues in that group is a big question, for Connally also is on it as a senate representative.

After his appointment to the atomic committee, Johnson spent many long evenings pouring over scientific works in quest of knowledge of a stupendous subject. Should Connally find his Foreign Relations committee chairmanship a full-time job, he might yield his atomic assignment to his junior colleague.

On the House side of the capital, Texans will be involved in a number of committee shifts.

Who'll Get West's Job?
When the late Representative Milton West of Brownsville announced early in the year that he would not seek reelection here was considerable speculation as to who might take over his coveted spot on the House Ways and Means Committee.

The Texas delegation will have to put up a scrap to keep a spot on that powerful committee, but with Bonham's Sam Rayburn serving as Speaker they might succeed.

Both Clark Fisher of San Angelo and J. M. Combs of Beaumont have been mentioned for the position.

Combs also has shown considerable interest in international problems and with the Democrats, as the majority being entitled to more places on standing committees, Combs might get on the Foreign Affairs Committee. Not since Federal Judge Luther Johnson resigned two years ago to go on the U. S. Tax Court has Texas had a member on that group.

Another Fight Looms
Texas also may have a fight on its hands to keep the place on the Armed Services Committee which Johnson surrenders. The Lone Star state still has a member on that body, Representative Paul J. Kilday of San Antonio, who will be only two positions behind the chairman.

Representatives Ollie E. (Tiger) Teague of College Station and Ken Regan of Midland, whose district includes Fort Bliss and Biggs Field at El Paso, would like to get on Armed Services.

Some Texas members are high up on other committees and

Local Minister Speaks At Dimmitt PTA Conclave On 'Home and School'

Bob Wear, minister of the church of Christ, was the guest speaker for the regular meeting of the Dimmitt PTA Tuesday night. The subject for discussion was "Home and School."

Wear said, "Let us remember that the home is a divine institution. It was conceived in the mind of God and put into operation by him. The home is the place where children are to be trained. From Proverbs 22:6 we read, 'Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it.'

"In connection with this thought, we must heed the advice in these words, 'Chasten your son (or daughter) while there is hope and let not your soul spare for his crying.' (Prov. 19:18. Wear continued.

"We are told that the preschool years of the child are the most important years, and I believe they are. I am afraid that we as parents are shifting our responsibility to teachers, ministers, and youth workers. If we are, we are doing wrong. The best way to do our job well is to show by example what we tell our children in words. When we teach our children the virtues of life, then let them be seen in our lives."

Religious instruction is the responsibility of the home, not of the school. Revealing to children the facts of life is also the responsibility of the parents.

Let us prepare ourselves to do our job well, the minister said. He added: "In many homes the parents are afraid of the children. The parents don't run the home, the children run it. This condition must be corrected at once."

Turning from the responsibility of the home to that of the school Wear continued the discussion by saying, "Our public school system is essential to the maintenance of our American way of life. The work of the school should be confined to the teaching of the curriculum as prepared by those who do such work. Of course, the curriculum should be altered when the need arises. In school our boys and girls learn the principles of democratic living, they learn how to get along with others, they are taught the lessons of give and take, they learn more about respect for rightful authority, and learn how to work with others for the common good."

"I repeat, it is not the responsibility of the school to give religious instruction. Efforts made to do so weaken the position and the influence of the home, church and school. Neither should the schools be allowed to teach anything that is intended to destroy the religious convictions to which our boys and girls hold. "Our teachers should be men and women of good character. We must tolerate nothing less."

Members Of Civic Chorus Asked To Be Present For 'Messiah' Rehearsal

With only one regular rehearsal left on schedule before the dress rehearsal of the "Messiah," Miss Mattie Mae Swisher, director of Hereford Civic Chorus has asked all members to be present for the Monday night chorale.

The annual presentation of Handel's Oratorio will be made at the First Baptist Church Dec. 4, the first Sunday in the Christmas month. Rehearsals are held at 7:45 p. m. in Methodist Church auditorium.

Two new members were added to the soprano section of the choir last Monday when Reba Dore and Betty Kathryn Hodges joined the group. Mrs. A. J. Schroeter was accompanist, and Mrs. J. C. McCracken directed probably would not care to change.

Representative W. R. (Bob) Poage of Waco will be third on the Agriculture Committee; Rep. George Mahon of Colorado City and Lubbock will be third on Appropriations (Albert Thomas of Houston will be fifth); Representative Wright Patman of Texas will be third on Banking and Currency and will lead the special House Small Business Committee; Rep. Lindley B. Beckworth of Gladewater will be third on Interstate and Foreign Commerce; Rep. John E. Lyle of Corpus Christi will be second on Post Offices and Civil Service.

Representative Tom Pickett of Palestine will move up on the Public Works Committee, which handles all flood control and navigation projects, such as the Trinity River Improvement program and dredging of shipping channels connecting with the Louisiana-Texas Intracoastal canal. Rep. Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls likewise moves up on the Judiciary Committee, a group on which every lawyer aspires to serve. It handles such important legislation as that concerning immigration and parts of the civil rights program recommended by President Truman.

Practice Of Paying Child For Good School Work Is Discussed By Educational Group At High School

Should a child be given home work and should he be paid for making good grades? These were featured topics in the Panel Discussion on the P. T. A. program Monday night at the High School Auditorium.

The committee of teachers, parents, and ministers on the program included Mrs. Faust, Mrs. Della Stagner, Mrs. Phil Barkely, Roy Ford and Don Martin.

Mrs. Caraway President During the business session, Mrs. H. H. Caraway, first vice-president, presided in the absence of the president. She announced the P. T. A. had 460 members in this second active year of organization. A five dollar prize each was awarded Mrs. Elizabeth Bonesio's first grade room and Mrs. Faust Collier's fourth grade room as tie-winners in the Central School membership campaign. Five dollars was awarded the sixth grade at Junior High as winners. Varied opinions underwent analysis during the program. One member declared home work, home plans and school schedules were too crowded. Rev. Ford makes suggestion Rev. Ford suggested perhaps a child's life was too burdened with work, to which the faculty replied that students are permitted, not made, to take home for study.

Paying children for good grades is bad, one parent said, as it places too much pressure on the teacher. On the other hand a reward for good grades may be the countering argument.

The panel agreed parents should investigate their children's falling grades and see the reasons for low averages. That parents really didn't become well enough acquainted with the teachers who had so much to do with the training of their children and that Hereford was lax in its welcome, warmth and reception of teachers.

Cogdill Plays Piano After the panel, Jack Cogdill, high school speech teacher, played the piano during group singing lead by Mrs. Merlin Kaul, and played informally while the group was gathering. Four Tri-Hi-Y girls, Nan Buckner, Gayle Foster, Earline Phillips and Betty Cawthon served as ushers at the meeting.

Retirement Pensions For Ex-Guardsmen Over 60 Announced

National Guardsmen who are 60 years old or more will begin to receive retirement pay checks January 1. Forms now are available from the adjutant General of the army, Washington, D. C. for making application for this pension.

The adjutant general of Texas received a telegram recently from the National Guard bureau stating Guardsmen tentatively qualified by age and service may get application forms on request to Washington, D. C. Form NME 108 will be sent only to those 60 or more, or are close to that age, who have had at least twenty years or service with some time spent on active service in World War I or World War II.

YOUR NEW
will hold its
INFORMAL OPENING
WEDNESDAY NOV. 24th
SHOWING

We are opening Nov. 24, although construction will not be entirely completed, due to manufacturers and distributors having failed to fill commitments on schedule.

The Star Theatre has been rebuilt solely for your enjoyment and your convenience; its erection has been a pleasure to us, and it will be a greater pleasure to serve you each day of the year with its greater accommodations. Incidentally, it still is our intention to be the biggest baby sitter in Deaf Smith County!

Frankly, we have spent in excess of $40,000 for your comfort and entertainment, and we expect this property to be cared for and protected as though it were your own home. During the last year we spent a great deal of money and time repairing damaged facilities; youngsters damaged the screen in the amount of over $500.00 by throwing articles. You may be surprised to know we spent $1,000.00 for seat covers, and labor to replace covers slit by knives and otherwise damaged.

It will be our future policy, without exception, to correct these conditions; children disturbing anyone or molesting any equipment will be retained in our office until the parents call for them. We do not intend for any person or any group of persons to disturb other patrons of this theatre.
