EDITORIALS ..

CITY OFFICIALS ARE

Working For A Song

Appearing in this issue of The Brand is a summary of the City of Hereford budget for 1949.50 The budget is interesting for several reasons. In the first place, it is probably the largest budget ever adopted by the City; second, it shows that city officials kept their promise not to raise the city tax rate and, finally, it will give the tax payers an idea of where their money is being spent.

Perhaps the greatest point to be gained from the budget, however, is the fact that the total administrative costs are set at only $2,160 on the $180,000 operation. Of the $2,160, the mayor draws $1,200 for the year and two commissioners draw a total of $960 for the year, or $480 each.

Few businesses in Hereford spend $180,000 in operation costs-and certainly I none of them can operate with such a low salary for their top executive.

The mayor's salary was set up when Hereford was a small village with a $25,000 to $50,000 budget and the office of mayor required two to five hours each week. Since that time Hereford has grown by leaps and bounds and today represents one of the largest business operations in the community. Furthermore, times have changed; prices have been inflated --but Hereford is still working its public servants for a song

Fortunately for the community, Mayor W. E. Dameron is not interested in his job for the money; likewise, Commissioners J. C. Me-Cracken and Lyle Blanton are more interested in the factors involved. These men have already served notice that they will not again be candidates for re-election. It bhooves our citizenship, therefore, to begin thinking about plans for the City of Hereford at such time as these terms expire. Finding a man capable to handle the job of mayor will be difficult ; finding one who is willing to take the job at $1,200 a year will be next to impossible. For proof, compare the salaries paid school superintendents, even church pastors.

Some people favor a city manager plan, which would entail an adequate salary; others are quick to point out places where this plan has failed. And certainly, it would be difficult to bring in an outsider who would work untiringly, keeping the welfare of the community foremost.

The progress of Hereford as a town has been startling, when compared with other towns. There are many eivie minded eitizens who want to see a continued march of city progress. Leadership is the keynote and it cannot, for certain, be bought at the rate of $1,200 a year.

The County's Paving Program

Recent decision of the Commissioners Court to make slight alteration in the proposed 5.9 mile paving program route has created, by far, more talk than the $500,000 bond issue.

As to the merits or demerits of the court alteration, we do not know. We do know, however, that the paving cannot run by every place in the county-not for $500,000. Likewise, it would appear that the alteration could defeat the entire issue. Furthermore, this county definitely needs some paved roads. Our chief criticism on the current issue would be, perhaps, that it is not large enough in scope. Many farm homes now have electricity and water systems and, we believe, the farmer is entitled to paved roads, too. Surfacing, when compared with long-term maintenance, is a good investment. People, though perhaps unhappy with location of the proposed paving, should think twice before they turn against the program. To be against a paving program because you feel that it is an unsound expenditure is an 'American privilege, but to be against the program because the road does not pass your place is not democratic thinking. To condemn an entire program on this basis is shifting blame from the county official, with whom you disagree, to the entire public. Remember, too, after the initial step is taken in getting paved farm roads, other roads will follow more rapidly, connections will ensue and gaps will be filled. Deaf Smith County is today far behind other counties in the matter of paved roads whereas the City of Hereford is far ahead of most towns. Passage of the bond issue October 1 will be the first step toward equalization of privileges.

GUEST EDITORIAL

Anti-Farmer Propaganda

There is considerable propaganda being generated over the country these days against price supports for farm products, the Maine potato deals particularly being used as a horrible example, and it is true the price support program has been abused some, particularly in connection with the tremendously big farms, but anybody who thinks all price supports ought to be removed should consider the situation right here in Williamson County.

Take cotton seed. A month ago seed was bringing only about $30 to $35 a ton, with the possibility of the price going lower as the season got underway. Then a price support of approximately $50 a ton was announced and the price went right up to $45 on the open market. Without price support, you can depend on it cotton seed this year would have brought around $25 to $30 a ton.

Take corn. Last year, with the same labor and seed costs as this year, Williamson. County farmers got $1.50 a bushel for corn, whereas this year corn is selling for around 90 cents. There may be a price support later, but right now a farmer can get only less than two-thirds of what he got for corn last year. Without price support, cotton very easily could drop to 15 cents a pound.

Now you can argue that prices should seek their own level, but here's the situation : don't all flow at the same rate of speed. The price of a tractor isn't going to come down 30 to 50 percent in one month. Cotton could fall fifty per cent next week, if it weren't for the loan, but you know pretty positively tractors, implements, gasoline, labor, etc., would require two or three years to come down, and in the meantime the farmer would be about busted. And when the farmer is in that shape, you know where business men in Williamson County are

In this age, there is no way on earth to make farming a stable enterprise unless the farmer can have some definite idea at planting time what a crop will be worth at harvesting time____Taylor Times

A HIGH U. S. OFFICIAL just re turned from a tour of the Middle East reports one outstand ing impression It is this:

That, amid the welter of assassination, intrigue and autocratic rule in this ancient cockpit, the prestige and power of the United States stands out like a gleaming beacon.

The official related this episode to prove his point:

Following the attempted slaying some months ago of the Shah of Iran, he imposed iron-handed martial rule. The Iranian press par-ticularly felt the weight of the Shah's fury. Seventeen liberal, non-Communist newspapers were suppressed and their editors thrown into jail. He also ordered them tried on charges of subversive activities.

To support these charges, articles dating back as far as 20 years were brought into court against the editors.

Despite these extreme measures, only six were convicted. U.S. ambassador in Iran is John

SUNDAY'S CURRENT OUESTION

Associated Press carried a story this week saying that after a poll of parents in Goshen, New York, a special smoking room was being set up in the basement of the school building for teenage students. Questionnaires were sent to all parents. Most of the 86 of 287 that answered said "let the youngsters smoke". What is your viewpoint towards such a matter?

Mrs. E W. Allen : (has 2 teen age children) Well, if they are allowed to smoke at home I guess it is all right for them to smoke at school. But I don't like the idea.

I. E. Kissenger: "I read that—yes, if their parents didn't care I'd say it's o. k. If I had children and they wanted to smoke I would let them. If they're going to smoke you might as well let them smoke, cause I remember that's the way I used to do.'

Worth Covington: two small children) Why encourage teenage children to smoke. Some of them are going to smoke anyhow, but with a smoking room such as this more of them would take it up."

Mrs. Roger Corbett : (four sons High school age and college) She had read the story and said, "I'm just not that modern I'm not in favor of it. They smoke soon enough after they get out of high school nowadays and I don't think they should encourage it any sooner in such a manner."

Cecil Boyer: (one child pre-school age) "I definitely don't approve of it. I don't think it has any place in our school setup what-so-ever. There's a certain number of children that are going to smoke, but there is not any use encouraging it or making it the proper thing to do."

said that the first meeting will be held at the Scout Hut, Tuesday evening, Sept. 13. Bob Brummell will serve as scoutmaster for the troop, assisted by Worth Covington and Don Zimmerman.

The Gilmer-Aiken bill seems to have had some fine print which was overlooked by quite a few persons.

STATE BUYS SCHOOL BUS

Weslaco Independent School District began learning the hard way Tuesday about the manner in which one unit of the State of Texas conducts its business.

School District Business Manager sent in his first requisition to the Gilmer-Aiken Foundation at Austin a few days ago and found what it means to have the State of Texas handle the school district's business. The requisition asked for the purchase of a new chool bus for the Weslaco District

Tuesday, the G-A Foundation telepphoned Mr. Holman to tell him his new bus was on the way, would be delivered in about 30 days and that the bus or the 60-passenger bus body would be delivered from Arkansas.

Mr. Holman asked his informant, L. H. Grifin, head of the traffic division of the G-A Foundation, why Weslaco automobile dealers had not been given an opportunity to bid on the bus. It has been the custom of the Weslaco District for many years to buy buses from Weslaco dealers and taxpayers on sealed bids, but the new Gilmer-Aiken program calls for bus purchase for the District by the State Board of Control.

Mr. Griffin was quoted by Mr. Holman as saying that applications had been sent to Weslaco dealers, but none of them had entered a bid. A check by Mr. Holman and the News of the seven Weslaco car dealrs revealed that none of them had received such an application, as late as Wednesday afternoon. -- Weslaco News

A British correspondent tele-phoned Sen. Kenneth Wherry, Nebr., Republican floor leader, for an interview on the forthcoming international monetary conference.

"All I can say," remarked Wherry, "is that Sir Stafford Cripps is obviously coming here to promote a new loan. He wouldn't be interrupting his rest cure in Switzerland for any other reason."

The British newsman protested this view.

"Well," observed Wherry, he's coming over to lend us some money, I'll be glad to see him."

"Can I quote you on that?" "Certainly," replied Wherry. Then, turning to a friend, he added, "I was safe in letting him quote me. After all I can't lose any votes in England."

DEARBORN HEATERS

Here are the UNBEATABLE REASONS why Dearborn leads the field in dollar volume of gas space heater sales!

SAFETY, BEAUTY AND UTILITY-these important features make the Dearborn Saf-T-Cabinet radiant circulators the best unvented heater buy on the market today. The exclusive Dearborn Saf-T-Cabinet stays cool on top, sides, back and bottom—always—serves as an additional table all year 'round. . . Even when the heat is on, books, lamps, flowers or bric-abrac are perfectly safe on its top. There is no worry about scorched drapes or walls, or blistered woodwork. The Dearborn's smart styling and warm, hammered coppertone finish of lifetime, baked-on enamel will blend pleasingly with wood finishes and fabrics—harmonize with the color scheme of your room. But the safety and beauty of your Dearborn are plus values—first and foremost the Dearborn keeps your "living zone" comfortably warm with a constant supply of fresh, warm air.

Our present stock includes several sizes (20,000 BTU, 25,000 BTU, 35, 000 BTU, 45,000 BTU, 65,000 BTU) in most models. In addition to Low First Cost, you will also find them to offer low Cost Operation. Come in today and let's talk over your individual Heating Problems -- that's where Dearborn is best!

> EVER WONDER HOW MANY STEPS YOUR TELEPHONE SAVES? Like most people, Mrs. Sivley was amazed when she looked at the actual record of the calls she made and received . . . and at the actual cost of those calls.

Every year the telephone becomes more and more important in our daily lives. And every year brings further progress in telephone service. New telephones added so you can reach and be reached by more people. Improvements made so you can hear better, get your calls through quick-er, enjoy more trouble-free service.
