Navy attache, driver shot down in Athens

By KERIN HOPE
Associated Press Writer
ATHENS, Greece (AP) — A gunman on a motorcycle killed a U.S. Navy attache and his driver today, pumping at least seven bullets into the officer's car when it stopped at a busy intersection.

Cent, arrived in Greece in April 1983. He was married with three children, and had served a previous tour in the Greek capital. Synodis said embassy records showed Tsantes was from New York, but that he also had recent postings in Washington and a home in Virginia Beach, Va. A police spokesman said two men on a motorcycle came up alongside Tsantes' official car, a black Buick, when it stopped at a traffic light at a junction on a busy street north of the city center. One of the men on the motorcycle "fired at least seven shots with a .45-caliber gun," said the spokesman, who declined to be identified. The motorcycle then roared off down a sidestreet. The shooting took place at 7:30 a.m. (1:30 a.m. EST) as Tsantes was driving from his home in the northern suburb of Psychico to his office at the U.S. Embassy in downtown Athens. Tsantes' driver, identified as Nikos Valoutsas, was seriously wounded in the attack, the police said. A spokeswoman at Hygeia Hospital said he was shot at least three times and was undergoing surgery for stomach wounds. Athens police said the attack occurred during the morning rush-hour. They said the two men on the motorcycle roared off through the traffic after the shooting. It was the first killing of a U.S. official in Greece since CIA station chief Richard Welch was gunned down by three masked men outside his Athens suburban home in December 1975. The case has never been solved. Tsantes was with a unit which advises the U.S. Embassy on military affairs and also acts as a liaison with the Greek armed forces on military training, equipment and military aid to Greece. Last week a gunman killed a security guard from the Jordanian embassy and wounded another in crowded Athens street. Last August, a senior Palestine Liberation Organization official posing in Greece as a Tunisian businessman was killed by two gunmen on a motorcycle as he was driving along a seaside highway, in an attack police said "is very similar to today's." No arrests were made.

Sweet Spill

of sugar beets consequently were deposited over much of the road. Hereford police charged the 32-year-old with traveling at an unsafe speed. (Brand Photo by Mauri Montgomery)

Certificates of obligation

Jail-funding approach authorized

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor
Deaf Smith County Commissioners plan to issue $1.5 million worth of certificates of obligation next month for county jail work, they decided at a Monday meeting. Last week, the commission accepted architectural plans for the proposed $1.55 million project, which is to give the jail a large receiving area, Sally port, recreational area and remodeled interior, among other things. The plans were drafted by Gondeck-Poage Partnership Architects of San Antonio. On Oct. 10, commissioners agreed to seek a $1.5 million, seven-year loan from Kidder, Peabody and Company Inc. to fund the proposed jail work. The loan carries an 8.25 percent interest rate. Bob Davis, a representative of the financing firm, said the average annual payment for the loan would be around $290,000. In other matters handled Monday, commissioners voted to submit an application for matching funds needed for proposed construction of two tennis courts in Walcott. The grant, offered through the Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife, would provide half of the

$69,450 needed to complete the project. During a closed session lasting more than an hour, commissioners met with A.W. Sorelle, attorney for the Amarillo firm of Underwood, Wilson, Berry, Stein and Johnson. Sorelle is representing the county in a class discrimination suit - originally filed by Abel Villarreal - which has been bouncing about in courts for the last few years. Last week, United State District Judge Mary Lou Robinson said the class suit filed against Deaf Smith County will include all Hispanics who have applied for and been denied work in the county since March 6, 1979. Olivia Denning, representative of the ladies division of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, asked for and received permission for her group to decorate courthouse trees on Nov. 28. A contract was approved for remodeling work on the Walker Building, located on the northeast corner of Schley Avenue and Third Street. Jim Collier, Texas Department of Human Resources, said his group would move into the revamped offices and vacate the fourth-floor Courthouse space it now occupies. He did not know how much the work would cost. Deaf Smith County Sheriff's office civil fees were raised to current state averages. According to Harry Hardisty, deputy sheriff of the civil division, Deaf Smith has been operating with the lowest civil fees in the State of Texas. A resolution was made to apply for a $2,432 matching grant for emergency food and medicine. The money is offered through the TDHR's Temporary Emergency Relief Fund. Monday's meeting was interrupted when the county fathers attended the funeral of former commissioner Earl Holt.

Vows scheming days over

Estes released from prison today

By MIKE COCHRAN

BIG SPRING, Texas (AP) — Film-flam artist Billie Sol Estes, once known as a financial wizard and a confidant of Lyndon Johnson, leaves prison today after vowing that his wheeling and dealing days are over. "I'm ready to go, ready to get out," Estes said in an interview in prison. "I'm just going to live a day at a time and not worry about tomorrow." "My values have completely changed." Upon release from the minimum security Big Spring

Federal Prison Camp, Estes was to be met by his wife Patsy and eldest daughter Pam, 35, whose book, "Billie Sol," is due for publication in early December. Estes will spend his first 30 days out of prison at a Salvation Army halfway house in Abilene, a city in which several members of his family now live. The charismatic, flamboyant con-man, 58, has spent almost 11 years behind prison walls since his first conviction in 1962 for federal mail fraud and conspiracy to defraud and subsequent 1979

Veteran teaches karate methods

By KIM THOGMARTIN

In 1967, Ray Blanton was a member of the United States Air Force, augmenting the air traffic control command at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines. He was there a long four months, guiding cargo and medical aircraft in and out of Vietnam during the height of that long war. When he was not manning the tower, Blanton found two hours a day to study Budo Kan, a mixture of Korean and Japanese karate. One week before being transferred from the base he was awarded the black belt, at that time the only American ever to do so in the history of that Phillipine school in Angeles City. He was stationed next at an airbase in Canada and discovered that Budo Kan was not taught in the area. "Although the martial arts are all similar, there are enough differences that a student needs to stay with one method," he said. "I would go to the studios where other forms were being taught and just observe, or work out in the back of the room where I wouldn't be noticed." Blanton continued to study and teach Budo Kan in and out of the military. Now the owner of R&S Electronics in Hereford, he enlisted last December in the Naval Reserves. "With 16 years active duty, I wanted to work toward a military retirement," Blanton said. "They needed an electronics technician at Amarillo, so we got together." The Navy-marine Corps Reserve Center there includes the Navy construction battalion, Marines and Air Force reservists. Not long ago, the commanding officers began discussing the idea of offering karate classes. "I opened my mouth, and ended up with the job," Blanton explained. Blanton enrolled about 20 students in his first classes last month. The reservists meet once a month for drills, and he will be teaching them two hours each weekend. "It's still kind of a joke right now, because it's so new to them and they're a little nervous about it," he said. "But once they learn some blocks and begin to understand the value of the training they'll Cheese, butter and cornmeal are to be distributed Thursday at the Bull Barn, thanks to the Community Action program. Jean Patty of CA said hours are from 9:30 a.m. until everyone is served. She also said the new guidelines announced last month are still in effect. A one-person household may make up to $527 per month, with the maximum for two people set at $709 a month. The figures increase comparably from there.

Green elected president

Former Hereford resident Dr. L. Reed Green was recently elected president of the National Alliance of Independent Crop Consultants. Green is the son of Mrs. H.R. Green, 203 Western Ave. According to a NAICC news release, he now lives in Wharton. The announcement was made following the NAICC's annual meeting Oct. 21 in Minneapolis, Minn.

Chavez completes training

Guadalupe M. Chavez, juvenile officer for Deaf Smith County, recently completed a police juvenile officer training course at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos. Twenty-three police and probation officers from around the state finished the 40-hour instruction, sponsored by the Texas Juvenile Justice Center. The course reportedly addressed the needs of law enforcement officers recently appointed to juvenile units.

Officers to be elected tonight

Officers are to be elected tonight during the first official meeting of the newly-created Buffalo Lake Water District. Board members are slated to meet at 7:30 p.m. at the refuge office. Deaf Smith County member Bill Devers said the meeting is open to the public and will include plans for a Nov. 22 meeting with Rep. Jack Hightower. The board is hoping that Hightower can help the district gain control of the lake now held primarily by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Attic damaged by blaze

An attic fire occurred Friday evening at 712 Thirteenth St., where Della Aguilar resides. Jay Spain, local fire marshal, said the blaze was confined mainly to the attic, which suffered significant damage. The fire began, he thought, on the kitchen stove. Four or five units responded to the 6:39 p.m. call, according to Spain, and spent about an hour at the scene. The house is owned by Chris Jacobsen, 206 Ave. H.

Chamber picks its four new directors

Four new directors for Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce have been elected in close balloting by the membership, it was announced Tuesday morning by Mike Carr, executive vice president. Jim Arney, Rex Easterwood, John Hays and Joe Reinauer were named as the new directors for three-year terms on the board. Bob Josserrand and Garth Merrick were the other two candidates on the ballot. "The voter return was very good-over 60 percent, and the results were very close," Carr reported. The new directors will be installed at a January installation banquet. New officers of the chamber are to be elected Thursday when the C of C directors hold a regular monthly board meeting. Directors elect the officers of the board. Six men were nominated for the new positions on the board. Ballots were mailed to all members Nov. 1 and yesterday was the deadline for returning the ballots. Arney is a pharmacist at Edward's Pharmacy and is a former school trustee. He is active in the Kiwanis Club and First United Methodist Church. Easterwood is an attorney. He is a member of the Hustlers organization in the chamber and is also a director of the Hereford Industrial Foundation. He is active in First Baptist Church. Hays is a farmer-rancher and cattle feeder. John is active in the Rotary Club and First Baptist Church. He has been engaged in the farm and ranch industry here since graduation from Baylor University. Reinauer is the owner of Deaf Smith County Abstract and a native of the county. The family attends St. Anthony's Church. He serves on the board of First National Bank and the Hereford Industrial Foundation.

Wavy floors help tired workers

DALLAS (AP) — A podiatrist says workers shouldn't stand on flat floors anymore because a contoured footing would relieve fatigue and promote productivity.

Dr. Charles Brantingham, assistant clinical professor of medicine at the University of Southern California, said a mile of the special flooring developed by his research team was installed in a New Jersey casino and earnings hit the jackpot.

"The reason why people who have to do standing work — like neurosurgeons or machinists or homemakers or teachers or clerks at cash registers — become fatigued is that they have to continually move their legs to stimulate circulation," he said.

"Standing still is very tiring," he said.

"We have designed a surface with some ribs underneath it that can be placed under carpet and a mat for the work place that cause the foot to move slightly," Brantingham said. "The muscle activity produced reduces venous pressure, the study shows, and can even help prevent varicose veins."

Ashley Bailey helped give life

CLYDE, Texas (AP) — Ashley Bailey was remembered not as the infant who touched an American president with her heartbreaking wait for a donor liver, but as a miracle who gave the chance of life to at least half a dozen other children.

The girl whose futile 10-month wait for a liver transplant ended with her death Friday, was buried near her paternal grandparents Monday in a windswept cemetery not far from where she was born almost 15 months ago.

Her parents, Greg and Annette Gossett, said they will be staying with friends as they try to sort out their lives following the death of their daughter.

Ashley suffered from biliary atresia, an incurable disease that hardens the liver. Her frustrating wait for a transplant prompted an appeal by President Reagan during his weekly radio broadcast on July 23.

Pride in Hereford

Local law enforcement officers Vernon Hope and Lupe Chavis presented the first "Pride in Hereford" program at the Camp Fire lodge Monday afternoon.

Designed to help the youngsters avoid peer pressure to participate in vandalism or shoplifting, the program also involves local merchants and court officials.

Shot fired before election

BOSTON (AP) — Hours before the polls opened today in Boston's mayoral race a bullet broke a window in the crowded headquarters of Melvin King, who hoped an upset would make him the city's first black chief executive.

Meanwhile, the white front-runner, Raymond Flynn, predicted victory and proclaimed after a campaign that downplayed race in a city often marked by racial tension, "I can make Boston one city."

No one was hurt by the gunshot late Monday night, and both King and Flynn called on Bostonians to reject violence. Police said early today there were no arrests.

Meanwhile, Miami residents were also choosing a mayor today, and both candidates said the dwindling white vote could be the wild card in a race between two Hispanics. And in Santa Cruz, Calif., the City Council was expected to pick a gay mayor to succeed a socialist.

Mammoth gets more earthquakes

A series of minor earthquakes rocked California's quake-prone Imperial Valley on Monday night, and a moderate quake hit the Mammoth Lakes region hundreds of miles away, officials said.

No injuries or damage were immediately reported, officials said.

The Mammoth Lakes quake hit the same mountain resort region rattled by thousands of small quakes and several large ones in a seven-month period in 1982 and early this year.

It registered 4.1 on the Richter scale of ground motion and was centered 15 miles southeast of Mono Lake, said Robert Krueger, warning controller for the state Office of Emergency Services in Sacramento.

It could be felt throughout the southern part of Mono County, the Mono County sheriff's department said.

Turks in Cyprus make split

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The Turkish-occupied northern part of war-divided Cyprus declared its independence today and named itself the Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus.

The official Turkish Cypriot Bayrak radio said the decision was reached during a special session of the legislative assembly of the self-proclaimed Turkish Cypriot Federated State and was announced to thousands of people waiting outside.

Cyprus has been divided between Greek and Turkish sectors since 1975, a year after Turkey invaded and occupied the northern part of the Mediterranean island following a coup that toppled the government of the late Archbishop Makarios.

An estimated 120,000 Turkish Cypriots live in the northern sector under the protection of 25,000 Turkish troops, while 500,000 Greek Cypriots live in the southern portion.

Soon after the independence proclamation, Turkish Cypriot authorities closed the only crossing point between the two sides. This is located next to the Ledra Palace hotel on the heavily fortified "green line" that splits the Greek and Turkish Cypriot sectors of the capital, Nicosia.

Lebanon crushes tank assault

TRIPOLI, Lebanon (AP) — Syrian-backed guerrilla mutineers mounted a tank assault today to dislodge PLO chief Yasser Arafat from his stronghold in northern Lebanon, but he claimed the attack was crushed.

With shells falling around his quarters in Tripoli, Arafat's office said in a communique that the attackers were driven back after seven hours of fierce combat on the outskirts of the Baddawi refugee camp.

The communique from the Palestine Liberation Organization said 13 Syrian army tanks were destroyed and 50 PLO rebels and Syrian commandos captured in the fighting that collapsed a four-day-old ceasefire.

Another PLO communique, issued in Tunis, claimed Col. Salah Maani, military commander of the Syrian-supported Saiga guerrilla group, was killed in the attack on Baddawi and that his body was brought to Tripoli.

Jewish leader labels Jackson 'Demagogue'

HOUSTON (AP) — A leader in the U.S. Jewish Reform movement says the Rev. Jesse Jackson is a "showman, a demagogue and an opportunist," but that the Democratic presidential candidate may bring some reality to a "stuffy, stifling campaign."

"Jesse will infuriate us and he will demagogue and shuffle and hustle a bit," Albert Vorspan told the American Hebrew Congregations' biennial convention Monday night. "But he may just help to expose the American people to the real world and the real conditions of our cities, our minority families, our children, our youth, our elderly, our future."

Vorspan, vice president of the 1.25 million-member organization, said Jackson's candidacy "stirs deep and justifiable concern among thoughtful Jews. Yet we had better recognize that Jesse Jackson may bring some reality and drama into this stuffy and stifling campaign."

If Jackson articulates "the pain in the streets and the desperation" of minorities who feel outcast by society, Vorspan said, "America will gain even though Jesse loses."

Jackson, a black civil rights leader who recently announced his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination, is opposed by many Jews because he favors an independent Palestinian state and because in 1979 he publicly hugged Palestine Liberation Organization leader Yasser Arafat.

But Vorspan denounced what he called the "vigilante campaign of the Jewish Defense League thugs" who recently vowed they would follow Jackson and disrupt his campaign.

"Jesse Jackson should be subjected to tough and sharp scrutiny, exactly like all other candidates and on issues across the board, not only on the Middle East," Vorspan said.

"To exempt him from judgment because he is black would be supremely patronizing. To seek to delegitimize his campaign and to hold him to a separate standard would be racism. Jesse is a showman, a demagogue and an opportunist, but he has become the symbol of black aspirations in our time," he said.

Soviets leave talks early

By THOMAS W. NETTER
Associated Press Writer

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — The Soviet delegation left the medium-range nuclear arms talks after 35 minutes today, the shortest session in nearly two years of negotiations, but U.S. officials said the two sides will meet Thursday.

Chief Soviet negotiator Yuli A. Kvitsinsky refused to comment to reporters waiting outside the U.S. delegation building where the session took place, but the office of U.S. negotiator Paul H. Nitze said the talks would continue.

Negotiating sessions have usually lasted from one to two hours since they began in November 1981, but the brief stay of the Soviets today was seen as significant since they have threatened repeatedly to leave the talks when the U.S. begins deploying new missiles.

Kvitsinsky, on arriving at the mission, had to push his way through a crowd of anti-missile demonstrators and reporters outside the U.S. delegation headquarters.

Today's brief meeting was the 109th plenary session since the talks began in November 1981.

become more serious about it."

The reserve center refers to the class as "crowd control." The military does not traditionally teach martial arts to regular enlisted men, although the green berets and other top-line fighting units do get the training. A lot of enlisted men "learn" the skill on their own time.

"Combat training primarily involves weapons. Karate means 'open hand.' To teach it means disarming the person, and that can get complicated."

According to Blanton, most military persons adapt well to the instruction. "But there are some people who should never learn the martial arts," he claimed. "They don't have the right mental attitude for it. In karate, it's injure, maim or kill, and it doesn't take much to do more than you intended. I have, and so would most other students of the arts."

Blanton added there are some people he has refused to teach. "I can usually tell from the first few words a person speaks if he should learn or not. It really worried me back in the '60s when there was a studio opening up one very street corner. A lot of people were really cocky about it, and learned just enough to get themselves hurt or killed."

According to Blanton, the reserve center feels karate is an important physical skill, and hopes it will serve as a morale-builder for those who feel too much of their weekend is spent learning how to do paperwork. Blanton is ranked as a Petty Officer First Class.

The newest EPA study concludes that "acid rain" is such a menace that we must spend $21 billion to control it.

Perhaps. But before we rescue our northeast states lake fish at a cost of $6,000 a pound, let's be sure.

We've let the false-alarmists scare us into some frightful extravagance in the past.

In 1978 HEW reported that 38 percent of all cancer in the United States could be traced to on-the-job chemicals.

It was 1981 before two of the world's leading epidemiologists found that report to be grossly erroneous.

In 1979 a spokesman for the National Cancer Institute testified before Congress that the incidence of cancer was rising toward epidemic proportions.

A 1981 statistical review discovered, on the contrary, our nation's incidence of cancer was not increasing.

In 1980 700 families were evacuated from the area of Love Canal after the EPA reported "chromosomal abnormalities in some residents."

Last May the Center for Disease Control updated that research, found "No excess chromosomal abnormalities of any sort."

And the other informal health studies alleging that residents of the Love Canal area suffered increased epilepsy, birth defects, cancer...

Those studies have since been refuted also.

In 1969 the FDA issued its dramatic alarm about cyclamates, got cyclamates banned from broad consumer use.

"It caused bladder cancer in lab rats," they said. Twenty-one separate studies since affirm that even sustained feeding of high dosages of cyclamates to lab animals produces no significant increase in bladder cancer.

A 1978 Canadian study of bladder cancer claimed it could be caused by saccharin.

Two years later the NCI decisively refuted those findings.

DDT was banned in 1972, suspected of causing liver tumors in mice.

In 1978 the NCI announced "no such evidence exists."

Now we come to the new scare — acid rain.

Now the EPA says coal-fired factories in our Midwest are killing fish and forests in our Northeast.

However, four other studies affirm that "soil formulation" and "vegetative succession" have more to do with acidification of soil and water than anything falling from the sky.

And besides, one active volcano produces more upper-altitude pollution in one year than all our factory smoke. The jury is still out; this time let's wait until the jury is in before we spend $21 billion fixing something that isn't broken.

LAWRENCE J. STRAFUSS
Rosary for Lawrence Joseph Straffuss, 78, will be at 7 p.m. today and Wednesday in Rose Chapel of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Thursday at St. Anthony's Catholic Church with the Rev. Boniface Riedmann, associate pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Rest Lawn Memorial Park under direction of Gilliland-Watson.

Lawrence J. Straffuss

Mr. Straffuss died at 7 p.m. Monday at his home 13 miles north of Hereford.

He was born Dec. 1, 1904, in Ottawa, Kan., and moved to Deaf Smith County from Kansas in 1928. He married Kathryn Paschel June 2, 1931, in Kansas City, Kan.

He was a farmer and rancher and a member of St. Anthony's Catholic Church. Mr. Straffuss had served on the Deaf Smith General Hospital board, the Deaf Smith County school board, and was election judge for many years. He supplied water to the City of Vega Water Department from his ranch south of Vega.

Survivors include his wife; a son, Carl Straffuss; a daughter, Loretta Urbanczyk; a sister, Hilda Straffuss;

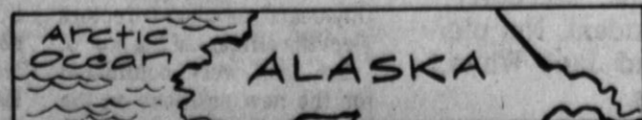

11 grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren, all of Hereford.

CLARISSA GAMBOA

Graveside services for Clarissa Gamboa, age 22 months, will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday at St. Anthony's Cemetery with the Rev. Joe Bixenman, pastor of San Jose Catholic Church, officiating. Arrangements are by Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

She died Monday at her home, 305 Bennett.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mercedes Gamboa; two sisters, Veronica and Venessa, both of the home; and a grandmother, Eva Banegas of Hereford.

Twelve thousand years ago, elephants, lions and camels could have been found in what is now Alaska.

Camp Fire series begins

The consequences of vandalism and shoplifting were explained to members of the Hereford Council of Camp Fire Monday by officers from the local police and sheriff's departments. According to Jackie Flood, program director, it was the first of several meetings that will comprise the "Pride in Hereford" program.

Lt. Vernon Hope of the Hereford Police Department and Lupe Chavis of the Deaf Smith County Sheriff Department told the children how vandalism and shoplifting affect every member of the community either directly or indirectly.

Early tax reporting brings check sooner

State Comptroller Bob Bullock last week sent city sales tax rebate checks a full week early because many taxpayers paid by the 20th of October, as all taxpayers will be required to do this month.

"We're sending these checks early because 134,000 Texas taxpayers paid before the deadline," Bullock said. "This kind of cooperation among taxpayers is helping us avoid new and higher taxes. It's obvious this change will help local governments put these tax revenues to work faster in their cities."

increase over last year's amount.

Starting this month, all taxpayers will be required to file by the 20th of the month instead of by the last day of the month.

Bullock said this month's early payments "show that Texas merchants have accepted this change in the same spirit it was suggested, to save us from a tax increase." Bullock's office has been working with trade and professional organizations to inform taxpayers of the change.

The earlier deadline set by the legislature for reporting taxes will bring in $500 million more for the current state budget without a tax increase.

The check mailed to Hereford was for $71,072.63, bringing 1983 payments to date to $468,860.55. That figure is a 3.46 percent in-

Gals share post

Following what the nominating committee termed "an unusual report," two local women were approved Monday to share the presidency of the Deaf Smith County Republican Women.

Edwina Thomas, current vice president, and Jane White, former president of the organization, will take office Jan. 1 to serve during the upcoming election year. White said this is the first time the club has named two persons to the office, but there is nothing in the by-laws to forbid such a move.

Other officers are Donna Mandina, vice president; Irene Mullins, secretary; and Marjorie Reed, treasurer. They will all serve one calendar year.

White said 1983 will be a busy one for the Republican Women, as they will be bringing political candidates to Hereford, distributing yard signs, encouraging voter registration and working to build their own ranks. She said the group will also strive to educate voters in the county about issues that will affect them directly.

The club voted to hold a Christmas party on Dec. 5, with the next regular business meeting set for January.

New hobby helps to fill long hours for resident

By LINDA CAUDLE
Lifestyles Editor

Being confined to his home after years of working as a heavy equipment operator and doing construction work has not been easy for Homer Logan. Because of illness, he has had to spend many hours in bed, which has often been gloomy and boring. Then eight months ago one of Logan's two daughters purchased a set of looms for him so that he could weave placemats, hot pads, coasters and other items. "She decided I needed to get up off my back and do something with my hands," said Logan.

The hobby, which he picked up quickly, has given his life a new dimension, for now he is not only making useful items for his family and friends, but he sells the handmade creations and this year he will donate four table sets to the Veterans Administration Hospital Christmas gift shop sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Logan, a veteran of World War II in the U.S. Navy, has been a member of the American Legion for over 30 years. His wife, Ethel, who is active in the American Legion Auxiliary, has helped with the gift shop at the Amarillo VA Hospital nearly every year since the couple came to Hereford.

In the past, the Logans have usually donated money for the purchase of gift items, which are free to the hospital patients to send as Christmas gifts to members of their families.

This year their donation will be extra special, however, because Logan is giving something which he made. Since there aren't a great number of handmade items donated to the gift shop, his placemat, hot pad, doily, and coaster sets will be especially appreciated by the veterans who are patients at the hospital on Dec. 5 and 6 when the gift shop is open.

The Logans both feel that the annual gift shop is a very worthwhile program and that the people of West Texas have been especially supportive of the idea. "Working in the gift shop has been a rewarding experience," said Mrs. Logan.

Her husband has been a patient at the VA Hospital a number of times and so he knows what it is like to be hospitalized and what an encouragement auxiliary-sponsored programs like the gift shop can be to the veterans.

"If the patients are bedridden, auxiliary members will even take a cart to their rooms and let them choose gifts for their families," commented Mrs. Logan.

Logan explained that weaving is good therapy. It gets him up out of bed and gives him a sense of accomplishment.

Since he started working with the looms, he has made dozens of sets, some 4-piece, some 6 or 8-piece. He said it was not hard to learn the art, but it has taken some time to perfect it. He can vary his designs using various sizes and shapes of looms and hopes to try other designs when he tires of his present items.

Logan's Mexican Chihuahua, Gee Gee, sits on his chair while he is weaving, sometimes for hours at a time, according to Mrs. Logan. Then each day when the newspaper arrives, Gee Gee jumps down and fetches the paper for her master, as she has done since she was too small to get it by herself.

The Logans first came to Hereford in 1940. The couple has spent all but a few years here since then, and they came back to retire here seven years ago.

Anyone who would like to donate gifts or money to the VA Hospital gift shop may contact Beverly Jesko, hospital representative, at 364-5570.

Man's Best Friend

Homer Logan, who began weaving placemats, hot pads and other items about eight months ago to fill the long hours he must stay at home, has a faithful companion in his Mexican Chihuahua, Gee Gee. A WWII veteran and member of the local American Legion Post, Logan is donating several placemat sets to the VA Hospital in Amarillo to be used for the Christmas gift shop operated by the Legion Auxiliary.

Home energy program is presented

Susan Raney, county extension agent, presented a program entitled "Energy Management in the Home" when members of Cultural Extension Club met Friday in the Southwestern Public Service Reddy Room.

She said the greatest part of the energy budget goes toward keeping the house warm and comfortable and that heating fuels consume about 57 percent of the average family energy budget. She also suggested keeping the hot water heater temperature between 120 and 130 degrees.

During the business meeting, members decided to donate gifts to the American Legion Veterans Christmas Family Shopping.

A covered dish luncheon and gift exchange was planned for Dec. 9 in the Energas Flame Room.

Bertha Dettman served as host and read a poem about Thanksgiving written by M.K. Halley.

Roll call was answered with "something I am thankful for" using members' initials.

Those present included Winnie Wiseman, Virginia Sumner, Vernis Parsons, Nell Pope, Fannie Townsend, Edith Hunter, Tillie Scott, Wilma Goetsch and Marie Thames.

Ada Bullard was welcomed as a guest.

Raney presents recent extension club program

Energy management was discussed by Assistant County Agent Susan Raney when the Bippus Home Extension Club met recently at the home of Mary Ellen Homfeld.

Members learned about the importance of having a properly functioning automatic thermostat and were advised to purchase insulated covers to get maximum efficiency from hot water heaters.

The calendar was discussed, including a Thanksgiving dinner on Nov. 20 at 1 p.m. at the Bippus Community House, and the annual Christmas party Dec. 5 at 5:30 p.m. at the home of Flora Homfeld. Families are invited to both events.

The meeting was attended by Kate Brady, Juanita Perrin, Flora Homfeld, Sandi Martin, Louise Hall and Mary Ellen Homfeld.

4-H Around the County

By SUSAN N. RANEY
County Extension Agent
Young people can complement their school curriculum with 4-H as an extra-curricular activity. 4-H Club activities with more than 50 project areas offer opportunities for applying what is learned in school.

Writing a theme or making a speech, for example, are easier when they are related to a young person's pet, camera or clothing project. Other 4-H activities, such as tours and workshops, also offer interesting learning experiences.

4-H is based on "learning by doing," and 4-H'ers also learn by teaching others.

Making exhibits, demonstrations and visual presentations about 4-H projects are proven learning methods used by 4-H. Tests in 4-H come in the form of contests, but there are no grades.

Instead, 4-H'ers are rewarded for their effort with a variety of awards, including ribbons, trophies, trips and cash provided by numerous donors.

Through 4-H, youth between the ages 9 and 19 are exposed to valuable learning experiences that can complement their school tastes and have lifelong impact as well. To get involved in this "action-oriented" program, contact the county Extension office by calling 364-3573 or stopping by the 3rd floor of the County Courthouse.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Herd halted by Permian in bi-district

Scott Takes Off on Panthers

Hereford Quarterback Mike Scott (18) dashed for a short gain when he couldn't find a pass receiver in this action photo from Saturday night's game at Jones Stadium in Lubbock.

The highly-ranked Panthers scored a 40-13 win over the Herd in the Class 5A bi-district contest.

Taylor hopes team uses playoff loss as 'stepping stone' to '84

By SPEEDY NIEMAN

The outmanned Hereford football team had taken it on the chin Saturday night; they had been whipped by a good football team, but they were disappointed they hadn't made a closer game of it.

They'd heard the talk...that they weren't supposed to be there playing the mighty Mojo, that it was a "Cinderella year" for the Herd...but they still believed and they wanted to show they could play against the best.

"The seniors on the team were especially morose," said Coach Jerry Taylor, "because it was their final game for the Herd. My wish for them," he added, "is that they got more from the program than just learning to block and tackle." Taylor said he hoped his returning players could use the playoff experience "as a stepping stone to another good season next year." The Hereford coach said the team needs to "regroup, have a good off-season program and go into spring training with a positive outlook."

Taylor was disappointed the Herd couldn't sustain any offensive punch in the bi-district clash, "but you've got to credit Permian's defense with most of our problems." The Herd mentor said he didn't view Permian as an "awesome team." He said it wasn't that they were so "talented," but they were a well-balanced, well-drilled team "that goes about its business in a methodical manner."

"The defensive line was able to apply so much pressure on us in the first half that we never got anything going except for the scoring pass just before the half. I felt if we could come back in the third quarter and score, we'd be right back in the game," said Taylor.

The team did come back and record three consecutive first downs to start the third quarter, but Odessa choked off the drive after it reached the Permian 36. Mike Scott was sacked on a fourth-down pass attempt to kill the drive.

"Turnovers killed us in the first half," said Taylor adding that he "couldn't fault the defensive effort." Permian drove only 18 yards for its first touchdown, following a fumble recovery, then the Herd defense stopped two drives that were converted into field goals.

And, one of those latter drives appeared halted by a Sammy Suarez pass interception, but the officials ruled the quarterback had gone down before tossing the ball. The Panthers had to move only 2 yards for a touchdown in the third period following a fumble recovery.

That play, too, was a close call. It appeared Scott may have started forward with his passing arm when the ball was knocked loose. However, it was ruled a fumble and a recovery at the Herd 2-yard line, and it took just one play for that Permian touchdown.

The Herd had 30 seniors on the field Saturday night; they also had 14 juniors on the varsity and a host of JV players suited up for the tilt. The coaching staff will apparently have more shoes to fill on offense than defense.

Five defensive regulars are scheduled to return next season—end August Castillo, tackle Dennis Chandler, noseguard David Parsons, linebacker Lee Brockman, and safety Sammy Suarez. Only quarterback Mike Scott returns on offense, if Brockman is counted only on defense.

Hereford had some good prospects moving up from the junior varsity teams, and the two junior high teams send some fine prospects up from the ninth grades. The Herd may not have the element of surprise next year.

In case you have - since Saturday night - come out of a coma, completed a detailed chemistry report or returned from maneuvers in Grenada, you may not know what happened to the Hereford High School football team.

Let the record show HHS fell to Odessa Permian 40-13 in bi-district playoff action in Lubbock's Jones Stadium. The Saturday night affair was seen by an estimated 15,000-20,000 fans who, though not blessed with a close game, were treated to fine autumn weather at the site of Texas Tech University's home grid contests.

The triumph allows Permian to play El Paso Eastwood this weekend as the state playoffs continue. The Panthers, now 10-1, were rated first among Texas 5A schools by the Harris poll and fifth by the Associated Press going into the HHS match.

Hereford seemed to gain the early momentum Saturday when, on third-and-3 during the night's first possession, Permian running back John Hamilton was dropped for a 2-yard loss on his 38. Making the big play for HHS was Larry Jimenez, a senior defensive back who shot through the right side to corral Hamilton.

The tone of the evening was more aptly established two plays later, however, when Whiteface senior quarterback Mike Scott had the ball stripped while attempting to pass. PHS linebacker Britt Hager, a 194-pound senior who also played fullback, grabbed the pigskin on the HHS 18-yard line.

On its fifth play, Permian scored on a 1-yard blast by Hager. Despite a missed extra-point by Kirk Strahan, the Panthers were ahead to stay with only five minutes elapsed in the first quarter.

Permian increased its advantage to 9-0 on its next possession, which was capped by a 28-yard field goal by Strahan with :32 remaining until the second stanza. The 11-play, 38-yard drive nearly halted on the 10th play, when an apparent interception by HHS junior Sammy Suarez at the goal line was not allowed after officials determined Panther QB Rex Lamberti, a senior, was down when he threw the ball.

Permian scored again early in the second quarter after Hereford's Ronnie Terry, a senior running back, fumbled at his 34. Junior Mitch Madison recovered for PHS, which settled for a 38-yard FG by Strahan with 8:36 left in the half.

The 12-0 lead was upped to 19-0 seven minutes later thanks to a 42-yard toss from Lamberti to Shane Easley. The junior receiver caught only one other pass Saturday, but it, too, was for a touchdown.

Hereford managed to cut the margin to 12 when, on the first snap following a Ronny Collier interception, Terry took a screen pass from Scott and scampered 52 yards for a touchdown. The TD, along with junior Javier Mendiola's extra-point boot, gave Whiteface fans something to feel optimistic about heading into the second half.

The third quarter featured two nearly-successful HHS drives with a Permian touchdown in between. Both Hereford marches ended on foiled fourth-down conversion attempts, one of the PHS 46 and the other on the "vistor's" 20. The second journey into Panther territory was stopped by senior tackle Randy Johnson, a 202-pounder who downed Scott behind the line of scrimmage for one of his many big plays.

Permian's score came as a result of another HHS turnover, this one on the HHS 2 after a mad rush by senior end Jerry Burleson resulted in Scott fumbling again. The Whitefaces had also dropped the ball on the previous play, but were able to cover.

The lead ballooned to 33-7 when, with 9:10 left in the contest, Permian completed a 13-play, 75-yard march with another 1-yard run by Hager. Not pulling any punches, the Panthers made it 40-7 not quite four minutes later with a fullback pass from Hager to Easley covering 26 yards.

With nothing but pride at stake, Hereford recorded another touchdown with 45 seconds left in the contest. Scott hit senior Eric Walterscheid with a 22-yard toss before Mendiola, replacing an injured Mickey Stengel, missed the PAT.

Four lost fumbles were a big factor in Hereford's demise, though a large and aggressive Permian defense forced most of the miscues and allowed HHS rushers only 44 yards on 35 carries. Scott, normally good for 30-40 yards on the ground, carried and was sacked 15 times for minus 43 yards.

Whiteface defenders did a solid job of stopping Permian's running attack, holding the Panthers to less than 4 yards per tote. Junior fullback Dale Watson, though, recorded 96 yards on just 14 carries.

The Whitefaces, who advanced to the playoffs thanks to winning a coin flip over Lubbock-Monterey and Plainview the previous weekend, finished the year 8-3. It was the second time in three years they had qualified for postseason play. In 1981, they lost in the state semifinals.

Rookie SMU back sparks attack

Rams rip Atlanta, 36-13

ATLANTA (AP) — Eric Dickerson's first appointment with the Atlanta Falcons this year ended in disappointment, but the Los Angeles Rams rookie vowed things would be different next time.

The next time was the National Football League's Monday night television contest and Dickerson set two single-season club records.

Akers discusses clash with Bears

AUSTIN (AP) — Coach Fred Akers of Texas says a lot of people have suggested his team might unravel as a result of the offensive team's performance but coaches and players have "not let anyone plant seeds" of disunity.

On Saturday, after Texas Christian had shocked No. 2-ranked Texas with an interception return and pass interception return for touchdowns, Akers said Texas overcame its frustration, anger and disappointment at halftime to win 20-14.

"Every unit that was on the field had two units on the sidelines cheerleading — it didn't make any difference who was out there, and that looked awful good to me," Akers said. "The main thing is every player understands you're part of a team, a whole team, and you just can't let anyone suggest that there are three teams out there. That's just the way it is."

Akers, ever the optimist, told his weekly news conference Monday he had seen an "interesting paperweight" that states, "It's amazing what you can get done if you don't care who gets the credit."

"There's a lot of truth to that," he said. This Saturday Texas, 9-0 and bidding for a spot in the Cotton Bowl, plays Baylor, 7-2-1, which has bowl hopes of its own.

Akers said the Bears, averaging 30.4 points a game, would "without question" put more pressure on his defense than any team the Longhorns have played.

Texas' defense is rated No. 1 in college football, and Baylor will test it with a three-quarterback offense, swift receivers and backs who have averaged 30.4 points a game this season. Kickoff here is at 1 p.m., with up to 75,000 expected.

Baylor has only a tie in 1957 to show at Memorial Stadium since 1951, but Akers said, "We're going to have to be able to do more than just run the football against Baylor."

In the victory over TCU, Texas quarterbacks threw three completions in 15 attempts and had three passes intercepted, with one returned 66 yards for a TCU touchdown.

Asked if he thought his sluggish offense would need

He raced for two touchdowns and ripped off 146 yards in 21 carries to pace the Rams to a 36-13 victory over the Falcons.

The game was played in a steady rain before just 31,203 fans. There were 28,253 no-shows.

"I don't like to be shut down by a team," said Dickerson, who was held to only 64 yards in 29 attempts in the Rams' 27-21 victory over Atlanta earlier in the season.

"I'm going to find a way to play better next time," he said. "The first time I didn't take them seriously after watching them on film. This time I was more serious and it was a personal goal to get more than 64 yards."

Dickerson scored on runs of one and seven yards and increased his league-leading rushing total to 1,369 yards for the year. The yardage total and 19 touchdowns shattered Los Angeles single-season records.

Meanwhile, Rams' quarterback Vince Ferragamo, who sustained a cut right hand when he smashed it on a Falcon helmet during the second quarter and needed "a few" stitches after the game, threw touchdown passes of 61 yards to Preston Dennard and nine yards to George Farmer. The Rams ran their record to 7-4 to gain a share of the NFC West lead with the San Francisco 49ers.

Dennard's TD reception gave the Rams a 7-3 lead in the first quarter. Dickerson then scored his first TD in the second quarter to give Los Angeles a 14-6 halftime lead as the Falcons managed only field goals of 31 and 23 yards by Mick Luckhurst. Atlanta's only touchdown was a fourth-period run of one yard by Gerald Riggs.

The Rams, who had 442 yards total offense to only 209 for the Falcons, broke it open in the third quarter on Dickerson's seven-yard scoring run and Ferragamo's TD pass to Farmer. Chuck Nelson added a 27-yard field goal and Barry Redden had a 40-yard scoring run for the winners in the final quarter.

"Our offensive line dominated them, and I wouldn't say I was surprised. I can run in rain or snow, it makes no difference," said Dickerson, the Rams' No. 1 draft choice from Southern Methodist.

He bettered the old Rams' record of 1,238 rushing yards set in 1977 by Lawrence McCutcheon, and his 19 touchdowns shattered the mark of 17 shared by Elroy Hirsch and Wendell Tyler.

Ferragamo completed 15 of 22 passes for 173 yards while Atlanta's Steve Bartkowski managed to hit on only 14 of 30 for 137 yards. The Falcons' William Andrews managed 52 yards in 14 carries before injuring his shoulder late in the second period and sitting out the rest of the game. He now has 1,007 yards for the season to rank second behind Dickerson.

"I'll take my share of the blame tonight," said Bartkowski, who was the NFC's top-ranked quarterback entering the contest. "I really didn't play well."

Atlanta Coach Dan Henning, whose team fell to 4-7 and last in the NFC West, felt "there wasn't a turning point" in the game.

"You've got to stop people from running before you can win. That's two weeks in a row we haven't been able to stop people," he said, referring to a 27-10 loss to New Orleans.

"Two weeks ago we had the chance to get back into the race. It is obvious we are not good enough to do that right now," said Henning.

Grid panel hit by upsets

It was a tough week for the Brand's Fearless Forecaster panel with the best record posted by Speedy Nieman on 18 of 26. The other three panelists each missed 9 games.

Butch White continued to hold a commanding lead as the best selector, hitting 70.6 percent of his picks this season. Helen Higgins is six games back and Nieman is 10 games back of the leader. Mike Carr held his own this week but is 17 games behind White.

There were only five professional games on the contest last week, and the panelists fell flat on picking those winners. White missed four of the five, while the others missed three. Carr missed only two high school games out of 10; the others missing three. Nieman missed only 2 of 11 college games.

Duggan, Rampley, Loerwald win weekly football contest

Three entrants tied in the Brand Football Contest the past week, each missing just four games, so the Hereford Buck winners were decided by the tiebreaker total once again.

Darla Duggan took the $25 first prize by picking Chicago as the winner and 31 total points on the tiebreaker game. Chicago beat Philadelphia, 17-14, in that game.

Sheree Rampley and S.T. Loerwald picked Philadelphia in the tiebreaker, but Sheree was closer on the total score and won second place and $15. Loerwald on the $10 prize.

Eight entrants missed five games out of the 26. They were Susie Kalka, Lloyd Shultz, Alene Alexander, Teresa Carr, Brian Baker, Dick Sims, J.D. Bryant and Patsy Hampton. A total of 23 entrants missed six of the contest games.

This will be the last week before the finals to decide the "jackpot" winners. Winners this week will join the previous cash award winners in a separate contest on the final week to determine the $100, $35 and $15 winners.

Those who have qualified so far: Mel Charest, Teri Morgan, Patsy Hampton, Bill Sanders, John Streun, Nita Shepherd, Rick Casteneda, Isaac Briones, Herman Benavidez, Cal Jones, David Freeman, Oscar Reyna, Chris Johnson, Joy Stagner, Jim McNaney, Frank Cogdell, Tommy Hickman, Wendell Burdine, Carolyn Schumacher, Dorothy Grasmick, Opal Blakely, S.T. Loerwald, Winston Short, Raymond Lueb, Paula Gamez, Tim Homer, Darla Duggan and Sheree Rampley.

Turn to the contest pages today and get your entry into the Brand office. You could be a lucky winner and have a chance to compete for the season-ending prizes as well!

Herd's great season comes to end Saturday night

(Brand photos by Mauri Montgomery)

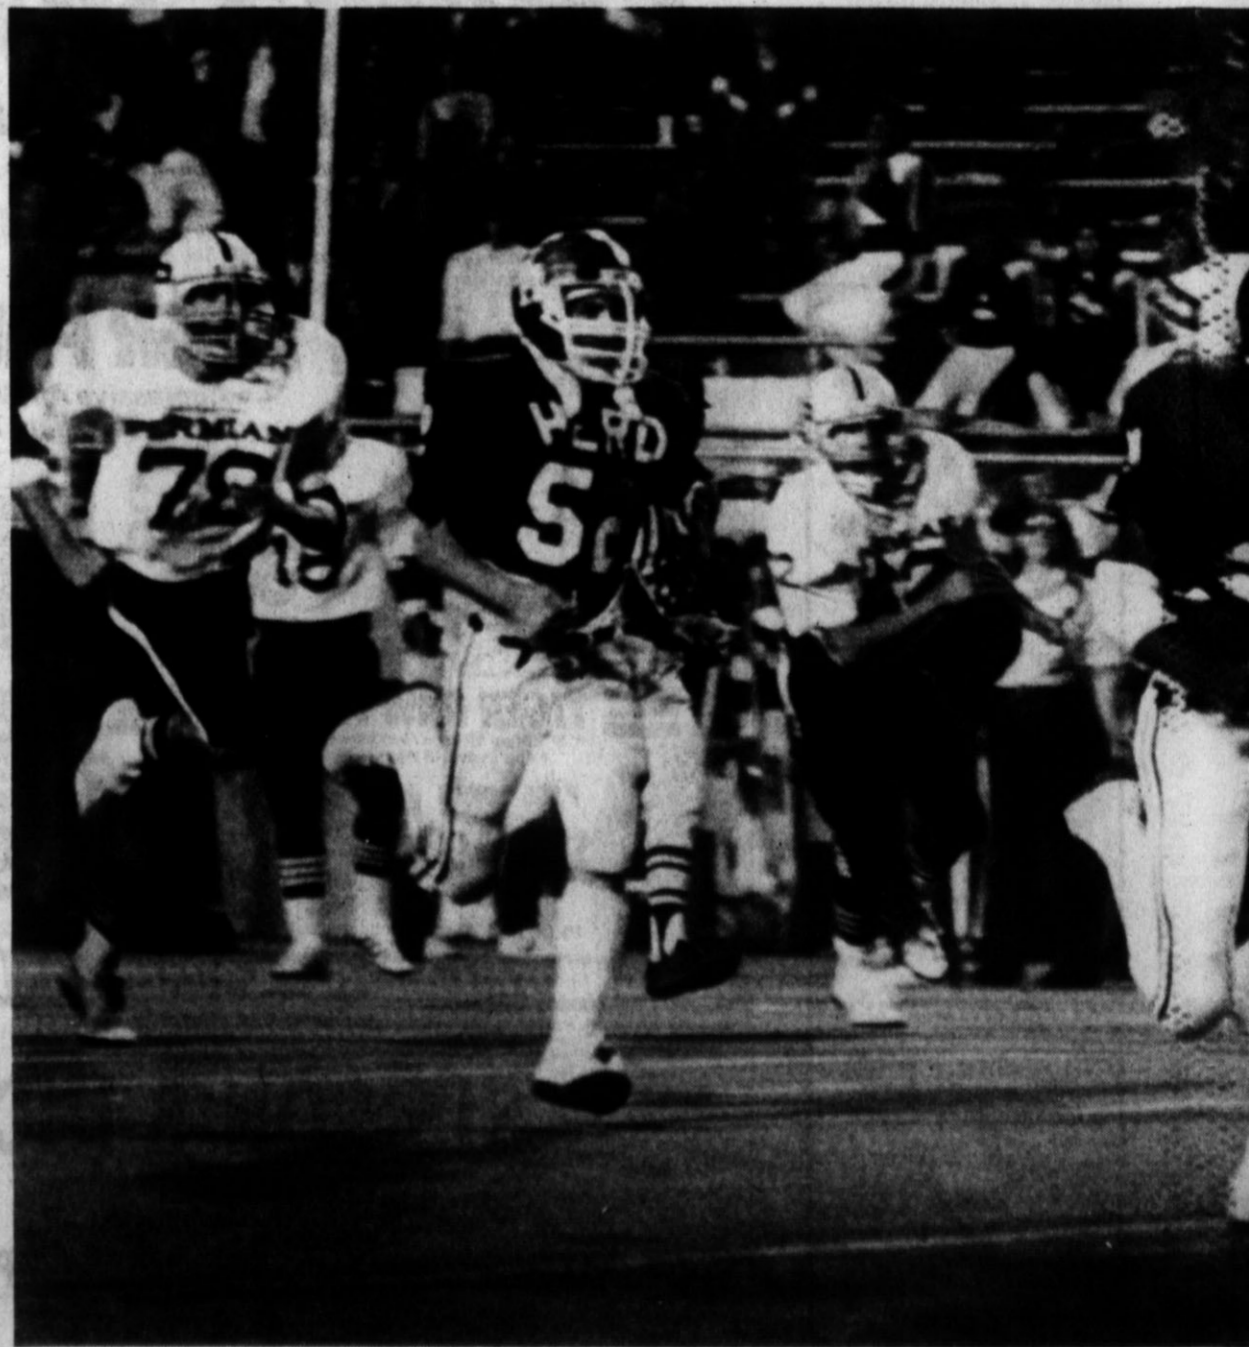

Bi-District Football Action

(1) Ronny Collier gave the Herd great field position with a 61-yard punt return in the third quarter. (2) Quarterback Mike Scott threw over the on-rushing Jim Wilson and Collins King of Permian, while Melvin Kalka (61) and Ronnie Terry (21) were among the blockers. (3) Coach Jerry Taylor worried about that pass rush from the sidelines, but the first-year mentor led the Herd to a great 8-3 season. (4-5) These two sequence photos show a great defensive stand by the Herd in stopping Permian's fullback on a 3rd-and-1 situation. Alan Ritchie (35), and Albert Tijerina (59) help stop the play as Lee Brockman (50), Dennis Chandler (68) and David Parsons (84) fight to get into the action. (6) Ronnie Terry broke loose on a 52-yard touchdown run after catching a short pass in the second period. Robert Martinez (13) and Max Middleton (52) helped make the blocks. (7-8) Another sequence shows one of the turnovers that plagued the Herd. Ronnie Terry (behind a Permian player) lost the ball and Odessa's Jim Wilson pounced on the loose pigskin. Brockman (50) and Middleton (52) are two of the Herd blockers.

Betzen, nutritious snacks and desserts; Jill Dutton, fruits and vegetables; Cindy Meiwees, main dish; and Jennifer Hicks, breads and cereals.

4-H members take top honors at food show

Five area youth took top honors in the Deaf Smith County 4-H Food Show, held at the Church of the Nazarene on Saturday.

Winners earned first place awards in two divisions, junior and senior, which included four classes.

First place winners in the junior division are Cindy Meiwees, main dish; Jill Dutton, fruits and vegetables; Jennifer Hicks, breads and cereals; and Camille Betzen, nutritious snacks and desserts. The first-place winner in the senior division was Polly West, nutritious snacks and desserts.

Other participants receiving blue awards were Trisha

Teel and Annette Thorell, main dish; Donna Grotegut, fruits and vegetables; and Monica Grotegut, nutritious snacks and desserts. The Best Place Setting award was given to Monica Grotegut.

Top winners will travel with to the District 1 Food Show to be held in Amarillo on Dec. 10. The 4-H Show is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Morrison Milling Company of Denton.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last March we lost our 5 1/2-year-old daughter in a freak accident. I still believe she was killed by a growing attitude in this country that scares the hell out of me.

While visiting my family in a small town, I went to a laundromat. The place was in a sorry state of disrepair but open for business, nonetheless. The tables used for folding clothes were so poorly made I couldn't believe it. The legs were not strong enough to support the weight of the tabletop. A table fell over on our daughter, hit her squarely in the chest and ruptured her heart. She died in my arms.

What has happened to pride in workmanship? Today no one cares about quality. Everybody wants to get the job done as fast as possible. No one is interested in anything but shorter hours, more pay, more vacations and retirement benefits. Please tell your readers that our nation's future is at stake. No country can survive without people who care about what they are doing.

Thanks, Ann. Putting it in words has helped a little.—Grieving Mom

DEAR MOM: The larger question here has nothing to do with pride in workmanship, but rather the safety standards of places that serve the public. Why was that laundromat permitted to remain open with such hazardous facilities? It is hard to believe you did not consult a lawyer about that appalling situation. I hope your grief did not prevent you from seeing to it that no other child meets the same fate as yours.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was upset by the letter from the woman who married a widower and was ill at ease because her new husband had a large picture of his deceased wife hanging on the bedroom wall over the bed. Every morning he gets up and whispers, "Good Morning, Sweetheart," and says a little prayer.

I have a solution for her. She should get out a picture of her deceased husband and hang it next to the picture of the departed wife. When her husband says, "Good Morning, Sweetheart," she should hop out of bed and greet her former mate in the same fashion.

I can assure her that the ritual soon will come to an end and both picture will be off the wall.—Sympathetic In Georgia

DEAR S: Would you believe at least 50 readers suggested the same solution? Thanks to all who wrote. And now I'd like to hear from my original correspondent telling me if she took your advice—and if so, what was the outcome.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been bothered by a problem for many years but am too ashamed to discuss it with anyone. I hope you can help me.

I am a 32-year-old woman, married nine years, and I still suck my thumb at night. My husband has never mentioned it but I have an idea he knows. Am I the only adult who does this? Is there any way I can make myself stop?—Toledo

DEAR TOLEDO: Many adults are unable to shake this habit. If you want to stop, however, see a behavioral therapist and go to work on it. (P.S. All my experts say thumb-sucking is not harmful.)

Flower arranging tips given

Members of Bud to Blossom Garden Club met Thursday morning in the home of Mrs. James D. Hamby for a regular scheduled meeting.

Mrs. Hamby presented a brief program on the basics of flower arranging while members and guests enjoyed refreshments of pumpkin bread, cheese, crackers and coffee.

The program covered the elements of design which include space, form, line, texture, pattern, size and color. The principles of design were also discussed. They are balance, proportion, scale, rhythm, dominance and contrast.

The speaker stated that the principles of design are used to obtain beauty, harmony, distinction and expression in flower arranging. She stressed that a convenient guide to follow when choosing a color scheme for arranging is to use no less than three colors;

no more than one-third of the color wheel; and no more than one primary color. Selecting colors that are related or contrasting is the first step in achieving color harmony.

Conventional designs were also discussed during the program. These designs are based on geometric forms and have one center of interest near the center axis where all lines converge but with no evident crossing lines.

The three main types of conventional design are line, massed line and mass. Each of these were discussed in detail.

Following the program, each member was asked to give her fall gardening hints. These included gathering flower seeds, labeling plants or mapping beds, providing shelter for delicate plants and soil improvements. All agreed that one should plan early in good weather so that materials are readily available.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Hap Wiseman was accepted as a new member.

Also, members discussed the Holiday Flower Show to be held Nov. 20 at the Community Center.

Mrs. Gaylon Bryan gave a program on the preparation of horticultural specimens and plant material for design. This program designated the correct time of day for cutting flowers and greenery and the proper way to make the cuts.

She concluded her lecture with tips on reviving cut plant material and suggested using one teaspoon of sugar to one quart of water or one teaspoon of honey to a gallon of water. She then demonstrated several styles of flower arranging.

Mrs. Jess Robinson, corresponding secretary for District I, gave a brief summary on the District I Fall Board of Directors meeting she attended recently in Lubbock. Mrs. John Jacobsen Jr. and Mrs. O.G. Hill Sr. from the Hereford Garden Club also attended.

Members present included Ms. Bryan, Jane White, Tracey Duncan, Linda Seth, Ms. Robinson, Betty Hughes, Naoma Spann, Ms. Hamby and guests, Pat Faulkner and Karen Barala.

CANCER ANSWER LINE American Cancer Society
M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute

QUESTION: What are some high-risk factors relating to cancer?

ANSWERline: Genetic and environmental factors have been associated with several of the most common forms of cancer. These include family history of cancer, environmental exposure to cancer-causing substances such as may be found in the workplace, and hazardous life-styles such as smoking.

QUESTION: If you smoke cigarettes but don't inhale, is there any danger?

ANSWERline: Wherever smoke touches living tissue, it does harm.

Cholesterol in shrimp

DEAR DR. LAMB — Your column on pinworms brought back memories. When my children were toddlers we had continuing problems and each time our doctor gave us medication which worked but the problem was soon back again. I called our local health department and got a leaflet on the life cycle of the pinworm. After reading it we continued our medication but tried two additional things.

First we carefully folded the sheets from the infected person's bed each morning and washed them in very hot water. We also vacuumed the bedroom carefully each morning. This was an effort to eliminate any eggs that had been laid during the night in the anal area and fallen to the bedclothes. Also, all night clothes were laundered carefully each morning.

Second, a friend said her doctor had suggested putting a dab of petroleum jelly on the anal area before bedtime because this would help confine any eggs laid during the night to the anal area and help prevent reinfection of the person being treated or of others in the family.

The eggs do live for two to three weeks in night clothes and bed linens. The measures you suggest help to eliminate these sources of continued reinfection.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I think your letter is very important. And I agree with you program. Doctors have come to depend too much on medicines alone.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please give me the facts about cholesterol in shrimp. I have read that shrimp is high in cholesterol. Is it the same type of cholesterol you find in meat? Would it be harmful to have a lot of shrimp in your diet?

DEAR DR. LAMB — Shrimp should be considered moderately high in cholesterol. A 3 1/2 ounce (100 grams) serving contains 150 milligrams of cholesterol. That is the weight of the raw flesh, not including the shell or anything else that is inedible.

Yes, the cholesterol is the same cholesterol you find in meat. It must be considered in your daily allotment for cholesterol.

The average American diet contains 450 to 700 mg of cholesterol. The diet recommended to limit risk of heart attacks or strokes, for those who have any elevation of their cholesterol, limits the daily cholesterol intake to 300 mg.

Since cholesterol is an animal product it follows that if you were careful to not eat any other animal products on the day you ate shrimp you could eat seven ounces and still be within that limit.

Cruise missile arrival stems from 1979 NATO decision

LONDON (AP) — The arrival of the first U.S. cruise missiles in Britain comes nearly four years after NATO made a historic decision to counter a Soviet buildup by modernizing its Western European nuclear arsenal.

But the decision by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization on Dec. 12, 1979, was coupled with an offer to negotiate nuclear arms reductions with the Soviet Union.

The "two-track" NATO decision was controversial from the beginning and brought hundreds of thousands of anti-nuclear demonstrators into the streets of Western Europe.

Although successive governments of the NATO countries said repeatedly they hoped they could avoid deployment of 572 U.S. cruise and Pershing 2 missiles, they steadily reaffirmed the decision to start stationing the missiles by the end of this year if U.S.-Soviet arms reduction talks in Geneva failed.

With little hope of a breakthrough in Geneva, British Defense Minister

Michael Heseltine announced Monday the first of Britain's scheduled contingent of 160 cruise missiles had arrived earlier in the day in two crates, under heavy military security.

He stipulated that technically the missiles were still not operational, but that they would be by the end of the year. He gave no numbers or other substantive details.

In addition to Britain, the missiles also are scheduled for deployment in West Germany, Italy, Belgium and the Netherlands over the next five years and are meant to balance the Soviet deployment of about 360 triple-warhead SS-20 missiles already in place.

The 1979 decision was prompted by concern among European and U.S. officials that the Soviet Union was leaping ahead with its modern SS-20 mid-range nuclear missiles and that NATO had nothing comparable in its arsenal.

Two years earlier, Helmut Schmidt, then West Germany's chancellor, had put up a warning signal, saying the "disparities of military power in Europe" should be removed.

Talks between the Soviet Union and the United States opened in Geneva on Nov. 30, 1981, on the basis of President Reagan's "zero option" proposal.

This called for dismantling of the SS-20 missiles and two other types of Soviet missiles. In return, NATO would cancel deployment of 464 cruise and 108 Pershing 2s.

The Soviets rejected the proposal and on March 30, under pressure from the European allies, Reagan modified it. He called instead for an "interim" agreement — reductions in Soviet missiles and in NATO's planned deployment.

This again was rejected by Moscow and on Sept. 26, Reagan refined the NATO proposal, saying nuclear-capable aircraft also could be discussed in Geneva, that the number of Pershings would be reduced and that NATO would not attempt to match Soviet global missile deployments.

The Soviets, who did not accept this offer either, contend a virtual nuclear balance already exists and has most recently called for a reduction to 140 SS-20s.

The United States was planning to present a new proposal for the Geneva talks scheduled to resume today, administration officials said. This proposal called for limits by each side to 420 warheads.

If deadlock continues in Geneva, the cruise missiles at the U.S. Air Force base at Greenham Common, 50 miles west of London, will become operational by the end of the year, Heseltine said. He gave no precise numbers.

Britain is scheduled to deploy 96 of its total of 160 cruise missiles in the first phase of the deployment program. The remaining 64 will be deployed later.

Italy is also to begin deploying 112 cruise missiles and West Germany is to start taking the 108 Pershings by the end of this year.

West Germany is also due to take 96 cruise missiles and Belgium and the Netherlands are scheduled for 48 cruise missiles each.

But as U.S. and other NATO country officials have said, "what goes in can come out," if the arms talks succeed.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Vanilla covers odors

DEAR POLLY — I tried cleaning my deep freeze with baking soda and then leaving activated charcoal in it, but the smell still exists. Can you suggest something else? — DIANE

DEAR DIANE — Repeated washing with full-strength vinegar will remove many odors and may help out your freezer. Another remedy that comes highly recommended by many readers: Wipe out the interior of the freezer or refrigerator with a few drops of vanilla extract on a soft cloth or paper towel. Or place a small cloth saturated with vanilla extract in the freezer and close it up for a day or two. The sweet aroma of vanilla can go a long way toward masking other less desirable odors. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — To increase clothes hanging space in bedrooms, bathrooms or anywhere more room is needed, try putting up the expandable wooden or plastic mug racks behind doors. The racks can be nailed or screwed to the door. For hollow doors, the mug racks will be most secure if special hollow-door screws are used.

No string in the house when you need just a piece to finish up that garden row or fix a broken toy? Head for the bathroom cabinet and pull out the dental floss. For heavy jobs, double the floss or twist two strands together.

Do you need something other than written directions to remember how to thread a sewing machine or how some household tool or appliance fits together? Take a close-up picture of the appliance when it is set up correctly. Have the picture blown up to a 5-by-7 or 8-by-10 size if small details are needed. Keep the picture in a drawer near the appliance or in a folder reserved for directions pictures. — NICKI

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle, who this year came onto the statewide picture via his present prosecution of Attorney General Jim Mattox on commercial bribery charges, said recently the public is demanding a higher standard of conduct from public officials.

The image of the public official has been more than a little tarnished this year, what with House Speaker Gib Lewis being fined $800 for financial disclosure irregularities and a former legislator sentenced to prison for cattle rustling.

Now another legislator is being investigated by the House ethics committee for alleged misuse of state funds in '81 and '82. This time the legislator apparently is going to investigate the committee, too.

Houston State Rep. Ron Wilson won't say why he is doing it, but he obtained the office expense accounts of 25 other representatives and two former members.

One legislator speculated Wilson, if found guilty, was going to take a few other careers down the tubes with him. Whatever the motive, another legislator warned, Wilson may have trouble getting his targets' votes when he needs an important bill passed.

stages, but yet another challenge to the plan must be resolved.

This one, a joint effort by the Texas Republican Party and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, seeks to redraw district lines in Dallas County.

In 1981, the Legislature drew lines which created two GOP districts and a minority district. Later, the federal court altered the plan to produce two white Democrats and one Republican.

But with the challenge back in court again, one of those judges, controversial William Wayne Justice, has excused himself from the case. The judge dropped out after Republicans hired a Tyler attorney who had represented Justice on private legal matters.

The Newspaper BIBLE

DID YOU EVER TRY ARGUING WITH GOD?

The next day, as the men were nearing the city, Peter went up on the flat roof of his house to pray. It was noon and he was hungry, but while lunch was being prepared, he fell into a trance. He saw the sky open, and a great canvas sheet, suspended by its four corners, settle to the ground. In the sheet were all sorts of animals, snakes and birds (forbidden to the Jews for food).

Then a voice said to him, "Go kill and eat any of them you wish." "Never, Lord," Peter declared. "I have never in all my life eaten such creatures for they are forbidden by our Jewish laws."

The voice spoke again, "Don't contradict God! If He says something is kosher, then it is!" The same vision was repeated three times! Then the sheet was pulled up again to heaven!

Peter was very perplexed. What could the vision mean? What was he supposed to do? Just then the men sent by Cornelius had found the house and were standing outside at the gate, inquiring whether this was the place where Simon Peter lived!

Meanwhile, as Peter was puzzling over the vision, the Holy Spirit said to him, "Three men have come to see you. Go down and meet them and go with them. All is well, I have sent them."

So Peter went down. "I'm the man you're looking for," he said. "Now what is it you want?" Then they told him about Cornelius the Roman officer, a good and godly man, well thought of by the Jews, and how an angel had instructed him to send for Peter to come and tell him what God wanted him to do. So Peter invited them in and lodged them overnight. Acts 10:9-23A

Today in History

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 15, the 319th day of 1983. There are 46 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On Nov. 15, 1492, the first recorded reference to tobacco was made by Christopher Columbus, who noted in his journal the use of tobacco among the Indians.

In 1777, the Continental Congress adopted the Articles of Confederation.

Five years ago: Anthropologist Margaret Mead died in New York at age 76 after a yearlong battle with cancer.

One year ago: Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev was buried in front of the Kremlin Wall following a state funeral.

Today's birthdays: Statesman Averill Harriman is 92. Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker is 58. Actor Ed Asner is 54.

Thought for today: "The way many a driver speeds through traffic, you'd think the driver was late for his accident." — Anonymous.
