Hereford's two banks will be closed on Armistice Day, November 11, and most of the offices in the courthouse will not be open on that day. Post office officials report that office will also be closed for the day, although city deliveries will be continued as usual. Rural deliveries will not be made.

After Ira Page's cat-type tractor had pulled in second gear all Tuesday night doing deep chiseling on a farm five miles south of Black, the farmer came out and asked the operator, Archie Townsend, what he was doing in his field. Soon the operator learned the tractor had been moved into the wrong field in the plowed field across the road, which was much easier pulling than the stubblefield where it was working.

Spry Little Lady Rounds Out 100th Year of Life

A DEAF SMITH COUNTY PIONEER, although erroneously reported a Parmer County Pioneer, is Mrs. N. B. Thorton, who ebrated her 100th birthday at the home of a grandson Morey Bussell, with whom she lives on a farm 8 miles southwest of Bootleg near the Parmer County Line. Dentists have bothered Mrs. Thornton very little. They pulled two of her teeth and she pulled the others, except for the four remaining teeth. (Two show plainly in the photo. The other two are on the lower left.) Also shown is a box of knitted and tatted edg-ing made by the century-old lady.

A "spry", pleasant little lady Mrs. N. B. Thornton celebrated her 100th birthday Tuesday at the home of her grandson, Morey Bussell, who lives on the southern edge of Deaf Smith County, eight miles southwest Nancy Adeline Alverson was born at Double Spring, Missis-sippi, on November 7, 1850. Though she has lived through the ups and downs of an entire century which included four wars, she still has a cheerful philosophy of life. Mrs. Thornton constantly punctuates her conversation with laughter.

"Aunt Nan" and "Grandma" are about the only two words used to address Mrs. Thornton, whose descendants number 96. She is greatly admired and loved by her great great grandchild-ren who never find her "cranky." Grandma Thornton doesn't want anyone waiting on her She makes her own bed every morning and goes to the dining table for her breakfast and dinner. She never eats an evening meal. Mrs. Bussell vows that Grandma can eat anything she wants to eat. She has always used good judgment in her eating, and she still likes onions, even though she has only four teeth. Two of her own teeth remain on the upper right and two on the lower left. When asked if they do her any good since they don't match, she answered in the affirmative and added, though, that they do make her mouth slightly crooked.

Pulls Own Teeth Mrs. Thornton had a dentist pull two of her teeth, but she has pulled the others herself. They were not rotten, she said, but they did get loose. The remaining teeth are "pretty solid."

A little hard of hearing,

'Grandma" has to listen closely to each word to understand her visitors without too much loud talking. Her eyesight is unus-ually good considering her years. She is still able to read her own Bible, which she loves dearly. The greatest joy of her life has been attending church.

Letter writing is one Grandma's favorite pastimes. Her handwriting is legiblemore legible than that of some of her children, adds the grandson. Knitting and tatting ochas made yards and yards of pretty edging for her descendants. "I don't know what would become of me if I couldn't do my work", she said.

The oldtimer says she hasn't been sick since she was grown, even though she had pneumonia last spring and spent 11 days in the hospital in Friona. Her attending physician said at that

Tuesday afternoon for Robert Benjamin Medley, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Medley, 114 Fuller. The baby was born Monday and died Tuesday.

Services were held at Gililland Funeral Home with Rev. Don Davidson of the First Methodist Church and Rev. Russell Wingert of the First Presbyterian Church in charge Pallbearers were Don Zimmerman and Kenneth Gooch.

The baby is survived by one sister, Janice Susan, age 3, in addition to the parents. Interment was in West Park

What is the cleverest or most numorous remark you have heard made by a child?

Mrs. Edgar Skypala: This is the cutest thing we have had happen at our house. When Eddie Gerald was two years old, my husband brought home a two-month-old Chihuahua puppy in his back pocket. The boy was very thrilled. I continued fixing dinner and went to the refrigerator for something. There was the puppy. I asked Eddie Gerald why it was in the refrigerator. "Mommp, I wanted it to keep", he replied. It kept. The dog is now five years old.

Mrs. Jack Porter: My little nephew, Jerry Lowe, age 5, recently told his daddy, Floyd Lowe, "Daddy, I'm just a little boy now, but when I get big you'll be in a wheel chair.' Floyd is still a young man.

Mrs. Carl Bayne: Yesterday, was showing an ABC book to ny four-year-old daughter, Carolyn. One picture showed a fellow taking pictures. I asked her what the man was doing, and she answered, "Mommy, he hasn't got anymore head.'

Mrs. S. S. Williams: A little spook about three years old came to my door on Halloween night. I gave him a treat, and just as he started to leave, he said, "Tome to see me sometime." I had no idea who he

Mrs. H. E. Wester: During the summer months I took Mildred. age 8, and Sandra, age 6, fishing. When we got back home, Sandra told another sister, Louise, she had caught a minnow. Louise asked me about it, and I said, "No, she caught some moss on her hook." "See there I told you I caught a moss" was the comback from Sandra.

When Carol was about two years old, he was up at the table hurrying me for dinner. "You just hold your horses," I told him. He replied, "I can't hold my horses. They're hungry and want to eat.'

Mrs. Britch Hopson: Randy, age 2, was looking over a herd of cattle with her grandfather (B. E. Brumley) recently. She picked out a tiny calf and said, 'That's sure a sorry one, PaPa."

One of the cutest sayings I can remember was that of a cousin, Nancy Fly who told her mother (Mrs. Richard Fly), "I want to unzip the peas."

time she had one chance in 100 of recovering. The 100-year-old lady took that one chance and recovered although she has not been quite as active since then.

Oldtimer Exercises. Daily Before her illness, she could almost touch her feet doing the bending exercise. She still exercises a little every day although she has given up the bending exercise. Her main athletic stunts now are working her arms in a cartwheel motion and kicking her feet while she is sitting in a chair.

As evidence of her alertness at the age of 100, she rose from her chair and told the children she would get the list of the number of her descendants for the reporter. Other members of the family had forgot there was such a list, but not Grandma

Thornton. Though Mrs. Thornton says her education was meager due to the fact the United States was engaged in Civil War when she was the right age to attend school, her conversation is quite precise. Her few grammatical errors give emphasis rather than detract from her statesince last May is too many. Walter Rogers, the newly elected Congressman, is the only candidate who has been in all four-and I'll bet he is glad. He started with the special election, went through two primaries and wound up with the general election Tuesday. I don't see how he stood the strain. Guess the fact that he has six children sort of kept him in condition along the way.

Anyway, I think he is a good man. I said a long time ago that we were going to have a good congressman-regardless of how the election went. I sincerely believe that Ben Guill and Walter Rogers are two of the best qualified candidates to ever seek the post in the 18th District. Understand that they live in the same block on the same street in Pampa; they belong to the same Rotary Club and have a lot of other things in common.

Apparently 10 of the 28 counties in the 18th District are going Republican. A lot of votes are still out and some counties are mighty close-but 10 will be about right. This is an unheard of procedure, and it should touch off an alarm in the Demo ranks. I was really surprised to see Deaf Smith vote Republican. Guess this is the first time it ever happened. Seems like the top portion of the Panhandle went Republican, while the lower Panhandle went Democratic. That is due a lot to the city vote in the top layer which is also the wheat, cattle and oil production area, whereas the cotton counties went

Maybe this Congressional Democratic in a big way. I prebusiness is over. Four elections | dicted earlier that Rogers would carry the district and Deaf Smith County. Anyway, I was 50 percent right-which is pretty good for me.

> Another prediction: If the Democrats nominate Truman-in 1952, the Republicans will win the election. That is, provided we are not involved in a worldwide war.

The American Legion is reorganizing and putting on a big membership drive. They are having a breakfast from 6 to 8 o'clock Saturday morning, Nov. 11, Armistice Day, at the Club House—and they invite every veteran and his wife to attend. Understand they even have a baby sitter for the meetings, but they figure most of the babies will be asleep Saturday morning. However, Jim Wilde says to bring the baby if it happens to wake up. He says he will personally take care of them.

Had a letter from Gov. Allen Shivers the other day in which he urged a representative of The Brand to attend a statewide Emergency Traffic Safety meeting Dec. 8. Gov. Shivers says that the meeting will be the first step in a movement to curb traffic deaths and accidents. He says that Texas traffic deaths in 1950 are up 23 percent over 1949, showing a total 1.660 deaths in Texas from Jan. 1 through Oct. 31. Remember, this is Texas alone. Furthermore, it does not include the maimed, permanently crippled or the economic loss incurred.

Although brief, Gov. Shivers' letter said that an emergency plan will be invoked to step up law enforcement on violations, stiffer court penalties, more frequent suspension of driver licenses and thorough traffic enineering-whatever that may morning when he comes to work. This is right in the Hereford area. Amarillo handles a lot, so does Clovis and Plainview, and these lap over into this territory-but he still averages two a day. Furthermore, he is only one of several who handle such work in Hereford, along with others in Dimmitt, Friona, Farwell, Tulia, Canyon, Vega and other points.

If Stalin was smart he would just take the armament money of Russia and spend it on making possible a car for every American. In a few years we would eliminate ourselves.

.Is Hereford a friendly town? Some say, "No", others say, We generally hear the gripes, but here is one of the Xes-men on the subject: Dear Sir:

"For the past five weeks I have been employed in this area handling sales of lettuce and carrots for one of the new vegetable packers in the area. Before leaving I would like to express my sincere gratitude to the business men and townspeople in general for their warm friendliness and gracious hospitality.

"I hope to return next year in the same capacity and look forward to seeing the many friends I have made here this

What about Nov. 11, Armistice Day? It looks like another hag day in Hereford. It was not included on the Chamber of Commerce closing cards and since it comes on Saturday most stores will probably be open. However, Hereford stores generally wait until the last minute before announcing anything. One thing is sure, there will be considerable wailing and gnashing of teeth-pro and con.

On the other hand, it would appear that we may again be stuck with two Thanksgiving Days this year. Texas has de-clared both Nov. 23 and Nov. 30 as Thanksgiving Day, depend-ing upon pleasure of the observers. My guess is Nov. 23 for Hereford. This date is printed on most of the calendars and the ladies at St. Anthonys plan to serve their big Thanksgiving Dinner on Nov. 23. J. W. Robinson, however, is holding out for Nov. 30. He says that's the date of the traditional A & M-Texas football game, which he further declares is always played on Thanksgiving Day.

On account of Sara's seventh birthday and a foolish promise lmost 12 months ago, 4 had to get up at 6:30 a few Sundays back and take her to Uncle Jay's funny paper reading program. However, I got quite a kick out of the deal. Uncle Jay entertains the kids and Bernie Howell keeps the adults in an uproar. Jessie Wofford and his bunch were also there. Everyone had a good time except Uncle Jay and Bernie-and maybe they did too. Anyway, I found out that you cannot make false promiseseven twelve months in advance. The kids remember like an ele-

Up More Members

The Deaf Smith County Farm Bureau federation met Thursday to review progress made in the organization's membership drive now underway.

According to Frank Ford, in charge of the drive, more than 30 percent of the farmers in the county now belong or will belong to the Bureau when the drive ends. Last year approximately 225 members worked with the farm bureau.

Sixteen persons were present at the Thursday night meeting, acording to County Agent Hugh Clearman. Approximately 25 persons actually are working on the drive, the county agent said. Hartland Caraway, president of the organization,

IT'S YOUR PM A COMMITTEE

YOU & YOUR PMA FARMER COMMITTEE

Your County and Community PMA Committees have some big jobs ahead of them in 1951. Changing conditions will require many adjustments in established patterns of farm production and the marketing of farm products. Working through your committees you are better prepared to apply cooperative action in licking these problems of adjustment.

Committeemen determine local conservation needs, and recommend the soil and water conservation practices for which Federal assistance should be offered if these needs are to be met. It is up to them to see that Federal funds allocated to the county are used to secure a maximum of conservation for each dollar expended. Deaf Smith County was assigned $192,414 for conservation payments in 1950.

Committees determine eligibility and are directly responsible for the local administration of many Commodity Credit Corporation pricesupport programs including cooperators' loans, purchase agreements and direct purchases.

Committeemen gather acreage, production and other data on which acreage allotments are based. They are responsible for equitable distribution of the County's share of the National allotment among growers, and determine compliance with individual farm allotments. (This may be adjusted to call attention to commodities important locally).

When marketing quotas are in effect for one or more crops grown in the County, committees determine individual farm marketing quotas, issue marketing cards to eligible growers and advise non-cooperators of legal methods of disposition of farm marketing excess.

Committeemen handle all local activities except lost adjustment. They gather actuarial data, determine coverage areas and premium rates, and supervise sales. They are also responsible for the preparation of acreage reports and the collection of premiums, and accept reports of losses to be relayed to the Corporation for ad-

BE SURE THE MEMBERS ARE YOUR CHOICE

IT'S VOTIN' TIME AGAIN - time for elections of county and community PMA farmer-committeemen. These are the men who are responsible for the local administration of such Federal farm programs as Agricultural Conservation, Price-supports, Acreage Allotments, Marketing Quotas, the Sugar Program and Federal Crop insurance. These annual elections make it possible for farmers to have the committeemen who are most familiar with local problems and needs

"DEMOCRACY IN ACTION"—is a true description of the farmer-committee system. But democracy works only if citizens make it work. One way is by voting-by expressing your wishes through the ballot. The important thing is to make sure that the committeemen who are elected represent the choice of the majority of farmers in each community. This will be certain if every eligible farmer votes!
YOU ARE ELIGIBLE TO VOTE—If you are a landowner, tenant or sharecropper on a farm that is cooperating or participating in one or more programs administered through County and Community PMA Committees.

Describing her life as a girl, the elderly lady said, "I've went to church many a time wearing homespun dress and shoes my father made." The family at-tended a primitive Baptist Church, she said, where sermons were quite lengthy. The father had a tanning yard and nade shoes for his entire fam-

At the age of 18, Nancy Alveron was married to N. B. Thornton, and the young couple lived 10 miles from Fort Worth.. Mrs. Thornton describes Fort Worth as a small place at that time.
As a young bride, she was very

Tells Indian Stories Perhaps the most interesting of the many vivid stories this oldtimer can tell deals with Indian troubles while the family was living in Shackleford County. A group of hostile Indians were constantly looking for good horses to steal and homesteads to raid. Mrs. Thornton's nephew, John Ledbetter, age 7 would go. arted to school one started hunting mesquite Two Indian warriors, who sked John if he wanted to go A daughter and her family, a with relatives and friends com-go home; so he allowed a warrior to lift him to his horse. Instead of taking him home, the Indians stole him and later traded him to a white trader who educated the young boy quite well. When John was about 17 he made his way back to his home community by catching rides with traders who dealt in Buffalo hides. He did not know his family, but they felt certain of his identity because of birthmarks; however, he later decided he was a member of a family by the name of "Wesley."

Mrs. Thornton frequently tells an exciting story about an In-dian raid in which her husband was one of the defendants before he was married. The hostile Indians attacked him and two other men at a salt works where they had been drying Buffalo hides; quite a battle ensued. The white men finally wounded two Indians; then the entire group of 25 Indians retreated. These Indians were soon killed by the Tawanka Indians, a group of civilized Indians who cooperated with the military.

Story of Negro Britt. Perhaps a more interesting story is one Mrs. Thornton tells of "Old Negro Britt" and his dealings with the Indians. A slave who had bought his freedom, Britt spent years gathering up horses over the country from white settlers who wished to help and trading them to the Indians n return for white people they had captured. Among the captives he brought back was his own wife, a large negro woman who in later years handled the Indians quite well and they came to call her "Bueno Squaw" (good woman).

Another woman he rescued from the Indians was a grandmother who had been captured with two of her grandchildren. She and a daughter were spinning in a small cabin one day and discussing what each would do in case of an Indian raid, when the Indians did attack. The grandmother grabbed her two grand children and sought defuge under a bed, but the daughter, refusing to hide, fought until the Indians killed her. They then took captive the other three persons. Negro Britt bought back the granddaughter, but died before he was able to get the grandson.

Mrs. Thornton has always owned some farming property and has a farm in Deaf Smith County. At the age of about 55 or 60 she still rode her horse (side saddle) just as fast as it

Son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Engman, he has lived in Hereford 10 years and is now a senior. He has been interested in football "as long as I've known of it," and likes that sport better than any other. Although he likes golf best, he also plays basketball. A veteran of one year's experience in high school football, he has also played three years in grade school and two in junior high. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Shirley. He plans to attend North Texas, but does not intend to play football.

Shorthand

By Neida Guy Lawrence

Shorthand is one of the sub-jects of the Business Education Department of Hereford High School. It is primarily for the people who expect to become secretaries or stenographers; however other students are enrolled in the course.

Those who are particularly interested can, with further study, become a court reporter al-though the course in Hereford High School is to teach the students to take unfamiliar dictation at the rate from seventy to one hundred words per minute. It also teaches the students to transcribe from shorthand notes to the typewritten page. In connection with the study and practice of shorthand, the students learn the fundamentals of business letters. They learn, for example, how to compose sales, advertising, and collection

A Vital Course of Study MARILYN BARKLEY

Mr. Frank Jones is the teacher of Freshman English.

At the first of the year the class studied short stories written by American authors. During this time, they wrote original short stories and drew illustrations for some of the scenes and events depicted in the stories.

After short stories, the class took up poetry. They got acquainted with American and European poets; wrote original short poems and set some poems to well-known melodies.

The rest of the semester they will study Biography and do class work on one-act plays and debates. Some time will also be spent on essays and articles.

Next semester will be spent on grammer and you can be sure classes will be interesting in many ways.

DO YOU KNOW whether a wife can be forced to testify against her husband in a criminal case?

Neither the husband or wife may be called by the State to testify against the other member of the marital relationship. Even after divorce, neither may be called upon by the State to testify about matters that were communicated to them during the marriage that would be against the other.

On the other hand, either the husband or wife, may be called by the Defendant to give testimony for the other, and on cross examination the State may not go into any new matters, and question him or her on any matters not brought out on direct examination.

There is one general exception to huband and wife testifying against the other in criminal cases. That exception is, that if one party is being tried for the Pep Rally down town. # Are Our Texas Highways Being Destroyed by 1% of Highway Users?

This question is presented squarely for the first time by the Texas Tax Journal in its booklet, "The Case of the One Per Centers."

Every Texan who wants good highways, adequate for 99 of every 100 users, should write for a free copy of this revealing book-

Approximately 99% of all Texas motor vehicles are registered for a gross weight of 20,000 pounds or less."*

All Texas taxpayers, including your Texas Railroads, have reason to be concerned about the high cost of constructing and repairing our highways and the prospect of building more costly roads made necessary by the operation of highway "box cars."

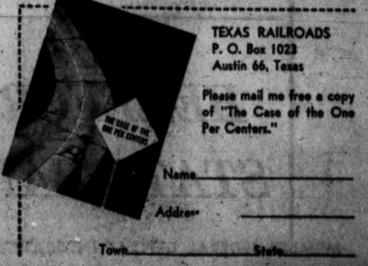

No one has any desire to bar vehicles of reasonable size from our highways, so long as each pays its fair share of construction and repair costs.

Other Texas taxpavers should not be required to shoulder the burden of a roadway system for highway "box cars", representing only 1% of highway users.

Every Texan interested in good highways without increasing the growing tax burden should fill out the coupon below and get a copy of this valuable booklet.
