GAS LEAKAGE PREVENTION--Energas Company in Muleshoe has been in the process this week of installing the last of eight rectifiers which will offer a proven control method for leakage and pipe preservation for gas lines in the City of Muleshoe. If left to let nature take its course, minerals in the soil in this area cause small electrical charges which flake off small pieces of underground pipe and eventually lead to pinhole leaks. The rectifiers installed now and in the past, prevent these leakages.

Muleshoe ISD Student Scores Below Goals

In a recent school board meeting members of the Muleshoe ISD Board considered and passed upon a number of policy changes involving school facilities. Those changes are set forth in the following paragraphs.

The use of the school plant and equipment by non-school agencies shall be determined by a policy fixed by the Board. The school plant and equipment may be used for all school-sponsored activities without cost; for other activities the necessary costs of operation shall be paid in accordance with a schedule fixed by the Board. School facilities are not to be rented to any political group, church group, or commercial entertainment group without special Board approval, according to the new policy. Smoking in the Auditorium is strictly prohibited. No beverages or food shall be distributed or consumed in the Auditorium. The use of alcoholic beverages upon school-owned premises is strictly prohibited. The group(s) or organization(s) renting school facilities shall be liable for any damages to school buildings, grounds, or equipment sustained during their use of said facilities.

Evaluation, Changes Planned For 83-84

In a June 13 regular school board meeting of the trustees of the Muleshoe Independent School District, several informational reports were presented. Among these reports was the release by Mrs. Elizabeth Watson of the results from the Texas Assessment of Basic Skills (TABS) test which was administered this past spring. The report pointed out the fact that scores for the Muleshoe Schools were not at levels that were satisfactory with goals set by the school administration and faculty. The scores are, however, pretty close to the state wide average, according to John Fuller, Superintendent of Schools.

The following is a statement from H. John Fuller, Superintendent of Muleshoe Schools regarding the TABS results for Muleshoe ISD and what they mean.

The Texas Assessment of Basic Skills (TABS) test results this year did not meet all of the goals set by the administration and faculty at Muleshoe ISD. However, the results of the tests should not be interpreted to mean that Muleshoe's students have fallen behind in their academic studies or that the faculty has failed to provide adequate instruction. Muleshoe ISD has scored near the state average over the past two years [see attached results] and Superintendent John Fuller believes that this year's scores will also be near the regional and state average. Fuller stated that "it is extremely important that when one interprets the TABS results that they understand that TABS is a criterion referenced test rather than a norm referenced test." For example, on a norm referenced test, a score of 60% means that 59% of the students taking the test performed at a lower level and 39% performed better. However, on a criterion referenced test, a score of 60% means that 60% of objectives being measured on the test were mastered. There is no comparison with other students in the measure. If the majority of the students taking the test mastered 52% of the objectives, then 58% would be the better score. Hence, the real value in criterion referenced testing is in measuring how well objectives are being mastered. In 1979, the State Board of Education for Texas set as a target for increasing student achievement that by 1983, 85% of students completing high school will demonstrate mastery of essential mathematics and reading objectives as measured by TABS. 90% of Muleshoe's 1983 graduating class mastered the TABS objectives in Mathematics and Reading. However, the results at the third, fifth, and ninth grade levels indicate that Muleshoe, as well as other school districts in the state, needs to close the gap between performance and targeted goals. By law, each school district should utilize the student performance data to design and implement appropriate compensatory institutional services for their students [Texas Education Code, Section 16.176].

"YES" PROJECT FUNDS--Judy Bruns, left, President of the YES Board of Directors accepts a check from Marjorie Merritt, President of the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture in the amount of $200. The funds are to be used for the promotion of the Youth Employment Services program in Muleshoe and Bailey County.

Jennyslippers Hear Report On YES

The Women's Division of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture met for their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, June 14 in the Library Meeting Room.

Committee reports were given by the following Chairmen: Nelda Merriott in charge of the Welcome Committee reported to the group that she had met with the newly formed "Out To Lunch" Bunch and that they had agreed to assuming the distribution of Welcome Packets to newcomers in the Muleshoe Area, leaving the Jennyslippers free to continue with their many other activities. Thursie Reid reported her access to old newspapers and announced that she had started to compile a scrapbook for the organization.

Judy Bruns, President of Y.E.S. and a Jennyslippers member gave a report on the YES Program, explaining the current needs for volunteers in the office and for employers of the participants in the program. The Jennyslippers opted to donate the amount of $200 to support the YES program for the youth of our area. A report of progress was given by Dianne Nieman on the Mule Days Parade progress. Also emphasized was the Chamber of Commerce Garage Sale. Although the donation of used clothing is being discouraged, any items will be welcomed. Ruth Clements volunteered to co-ordinate the luncheons for the organization's noon meetings.

It was also announced to the group that the Child Welfare Board of Bailey County would be able to use used clothing in their clothes closet. A Round-Up Day is scheduled for June 25, Saturday at the 16th and Avenue D. Church of Christ. The Board asks that these clothes be clean and mended. All sizes and types of clothing are needed for the closet.

a father's gift comes full circle

As most any parent knows, children can be trying at times. Probably one of the most difficult times however, comes when fathers and their young sons come to the point where communications cease.

Sometimes quiet words and patience will bridge the gap between parent and sibling -- then again, sometimes stronger measures are necessary. For one Muleshoe family what might well have ended in disaster and heartbreak for a young man and his family became instead the answer to a lot of their problems.

For Todd Holt, the latter part of his high school career had, in his own words, "become a drag." "I was making bad grades in school due to my disinterest and I stayed in trouble at home because of my attitude. Threats and warnings just didn't get through to me," Todd remembers.

Finally, in mid-November of 1982, more or less as a last resort Todd's parents, Ronnie and Sue Holt, offered him the opportunity to take flying lessons for a birthday present. The only stipulation was that he "get his act together."

The flying lessons, though lots of work and long hours of study, were the realization of a long-time dream for Todd, who had been influenced by an uncle's flying activities. The lessons were something that he really wanted -- badly enough to pull his life back in line. "I had always liked airplanes and wanted to fly," Todd said. And, so...he really began to make an intense effort to set things right. A long-time friend and associate had agreed to undertake his instruction.

As the days and weeks and months passed, Todd's life began to come around. He began to get his priorities straight and his home life and school days took on new and different meanings. "I really began to become a more responsible person and was doing something towards my future," the young man stated. Todd graduated from Muleshoe High School in May, 1983 as an honor student.

"I feel that my parents faced a big decision before they offered the flying lessons to me; and I am grateful for the opportunities and love they've given me. I know a little of what my time of trouble cost them mentally, and emotionally and I'll always be grateful for the time and love my family devoted to me," Todd emphasized.

Todd's birthday gift of last November has come full circle now -- back to his family and especially to his father on this June 19 Father's Day. He now has his pilot's license and has completed all his preliminary studies.

In May of this year, Todd entered Texas Tech University as a pre-med student and plans to spend the next eight or nine years becoming a doctor, finishing up at the University of Texas Medical School. He plans to use his flying skills for hire to supplement his income during school and has intentions of advancing them even further for business reasons. Hopefully, Todd's plans include living in Austin and becoming a specialist in some field of medicine.

What better Father's Day gift than to see a gift already given to your son returned a thousand fold?

RRC Adopts Changes In Utilities Division Rules

The Railroad Commission has adopted changes in its rules that will allow the Commission's Gas Utilities Division adequate time for the evaluation of proposed gas rates.

The changes were made necessary by a bill approved in the recent session of the Texas Legislature. It requires the Commission to issue a final order in a case appealed by a utility from the action of a city, within 120 days from the date the appeal was filed. Otherwise, the rates will be deemed approved by the Commission.

The changes enacted by the Commission require a utility filing an appeal to prefile its testimony and exhibits simultaneously with the appeal.

In another action, the Commission approved an amendment to its rules that will give a party 15 days to

MRS. CHARLESON STEINBOCK
(nee Belinda Richardson)

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Miss Richardson, Steinbock

Miss Belinda Richardson and Charleson Steinbock were united in marriage at 7:30 p.m. Friday, June 3 at the Three Way Baptist Church. Bill Hughes of Dallas read the double ring vows.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Homer Richardson of Maple and Mr. and Mrs. Max Steinbock of Lazbuddie.

Vows were repeated before an arch of candelabras with spirals holding 75 candles accented with greenery. Bouquets of orchid gladiolas, yellow daisies, spider mums and pink carnations were on either side of the spiral candelabras.

Musical selections included "The Rose," "Endless Love" and "The Lord's Prayer" sang by Gary Scoggins accompanied by Doyleen Terrell, pianist. "The Wedding" was played by Marcelli Jennings of Lazbuddie, organist and Doyleen Terrell of Maple, pianist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white summer tissue satin gown designed by Alfred Angelo. The bodice featured a white off the shoulder ruffle accented with self fabric roses. The fitted bodice was enhanced with re-embroidered Chantilly lace and seed pearls.

The gathered skirt fell to full length and swept the back fullness with re-embroidered lace and pearls applied around the skirt and two rows of wedgewood lace forming a pick-up flounce extending to a cathedral train.

Her waist length veil of silk illusion was held in place by a wreath of white silk roses, accented the gown.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of sonia roses, cybidium orchids, yellow snowflake poms, pink miniature carnations, miniature cymbridium orchids with st-phanotis, purple static with babys breath, tied white lace and orchid satin ribbon.

Keeping with tradition the bride wore something old, borrowed and a blue garter.

Tommy Davis of Lubbock

served as maid of honor and Karma Simpson, sister of the bride, matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Shellie Dunham of San Angelo and Mitzi Altman of Waterford, Okla. Their dresses were lilac with purple satin ribbons and purple bows accents. All of the attendants carried nosegays of miniature carnations accented with orchid ribbons and white lace. They had matching flower combs for their hair.

Kimberly Smith of Lazbuddie, cousin of the groom, served as flower girl. Her dress was lilac trimmed in purple satin and accented with purple bows, matching the bridesmaids. She carried a white lace basket containing flower petals.

Robert Parker served as best man. Groomsmen were brothers of the groom, Terry and Dennis Steinbock; and Ronnie Richardson, brother of the bride. Serving as ring bearer was Beau Barnes of Sweetwater, cousin of the groom. He carried a white satin pillow trimmed in Wedgewood lace.

Welcoming Coffee Honors Nudie Moore

Nudie Cash Moore was welcomed into the Muleshoe Nursing Home Wednesday morning, June 15 with a coffee in his honor. He was born May 30, 1901 at Hollis (Harmon County) Okla. and Married Sammie Cunningham on Oct. 31, 1919, at Hollis. They resided and farmed two miles east and three miles north of Hollis through 1924. In January of 1925, they moved to Muleshoe (Bailey County) and began farming two miles north and three miles west of Needmore. Except for the year of 1928, he farmed the same land until 1968. In 1928, he went to spring training with the

New York Yankees at St. Petersburg, Florida. During the spring session he hurt his arm and was unable to throw with his normal velocity. Due to the arm ailment he was sent to Selma, Alabama, a farm club of the Yankees. His arm failed to heal, so he came back to Hollis where he remained until the end of the year. He returned to his farm at the beginning of 1929, and farmed continuously through year 1967. Due to glocoma of the eyes he retired and rented the land to Son Wiley. Some of the things he remembers include: In the early years this country was a vast sea of buffalo grass as far as the eye could see. The 20's was years of migration for this entire area. The people who came and stayed to settle this vast country were real pioneer's with the will to stick under any circumstances. The late 20's and 30's were very hard indeed. In the late 30's and 40's the country began to recover from the depression. Electricity came to the area, new roads were being built and conveniences came such as running water into the house, indoor bath rooms and many other items to make living a little easier. It was quiet a chore going to town in a wagon and team or a Model T Ford. Most people in and around Needmore communitraded at Sudan in the early years as Sudan was booming at the time. There was only 17 gates between his house and Sudan and only 16 miles. There was plenty of hard work, but not much recreation. What there was had to be made up. They had pie suppers, domino and forty two and ice cream parties. Most communities in the area had a baseball team which played each Sunday afternoon during the summer months. Nudie Moore, (Newt) as he was nicknamed by the neighbors was one of the top pitchers in the area. Some of the teams hired him to pitch, paying $15.00 for a win and $10.00 if he lost. The $5.00 difference was big incentive to pitch harder. Hunting was a fine sport in those days as there was plenty of game. Coyote, quail, dove, ducks and geese were plentiful. Oh yes! there were plenty rattle snakes to watch out for. There was good years and bad years but all and all it is a good place to live and raise a family in. Of course the fine people who have and do live here now make it a fine country. If it was to do over I wouldn't want to change it. Moore has three children, Don D. Moore and Wilcy C. Moore, both of Muleshoe and Francis Glass of ElPaso; seven grandchildren, Donna Black and Sherry Barrett of Muleshoe; Linda K. Moore of Ft. Bragg, Cal., Melenie M. Moore of Houston, Dana Clark of Dallas, Tom Glass of Amarillo and Jerry Glass of ElPaso; and nine great grandchildren, Heather Moore of Ft. Bragg, Cal., Brandy Ferguson of Houston, Starla Black, Lisa Black, Ronnie Gale Barrett, Amy Brooke Barrett and Jason Lewis Barrett, of Muleshoe, Allison Glass and Garrett Glass, both of Amarillo.

Needs Names

Members of the County Line Cemetery Association near Shallowater have begun a restoration and clean-up project on what is known as the County Line Cemetery, according to Audry McGuire, President of the Association. PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: I own a major portion of the property my parents left in a will. My brother owns the rest. What should I do if I cannot buy my brother's share nor agree with him about selling the property?

A: You have a number of options. You could continue your joint ownership. In some forms of co-tenancy you could leave your share, still undivided, under your Will. In other forms, the survivor between you and your brother would own the entire estate. You can agree to value the land, sell to one or the other, or you could market the land and split the proceeds in the same fractions as you inherited.

Q: Can you tell me about inheritance laws and "either, or" savings accounts? Will the surviving spouse inherit the whole amount if one of us dies?

A: Texas laws prohibit a spouse from taking as a survivor under accounts labelled "Husband or Wife, joint tenancy with right of survivorship."

These JTWROS accounts are effective between any other two people in Texas; only spouses may not use them to pass community property.

If a couple has legally partitioned assets or if they hold separate property, these separate assets may be passed to the survivor under the "either, or" accounts you describe.

ATTENTION: Mr. Irrigation Farmer

A new concept in furrow irrigation called "Surge Flow Irrigation" has shown water savings of 20% to 50%. This concept could mean the difference between profit and bankruptcy for today's irrigation farmer.

Surge Flow Irrigation is a concept of applying water for a short time to several furrows, then switch to other furrows for the same length of time. The alternating of surges in furrows continues until the irrigation is complete.

According to Jerry Walker, Irrigation Engineer with USDA, SCS at Amarillo, Surge Flow Irrigation reduces the intake rate of the soil by depositing consecutive layers of silt and/or by air entrapment. On a test on the Melvin Betzen Farm north of Hereford, the Surge Flow concept watered 40 rows in 14 hours and 24 minutes where he had been watering 18 rows in 12 hours. By controlling deep percolation and run off he effectively doubled his irrigated acreage with the same amount of water.

Pivot Products Distributors of Muleshoe has concluded an agreement with the Mfg of the Surge Flow equipment and is offering it to area growers. Anyone interested in either obtaining this equipment or would like to run a trial irrigation with it please come by or call Pivot Products Distributors at 272-5536 or 272-5134.

Contact Pivot Products now for information on a limited time offer to obtain this equipment free.

1984 Summit

Insiders in the Reagan Administration are hinting there will be a summit meeting between President Ronald Reagan and Russian leader Yuri Andropov in 1984. That would be the climax of Reagan foreign policy in an election year.

The meeting would take place only if Mr. Reagan knows there will be a substantial result. It need not be in the area of arms control. In fact, the main item of discussion on the agenda might be trade.

Arms control and reduction would, of course, be discussed, and if something were accomplished in this area, that would be additional icing on the cake. But neither Mr. Reagan nor Andropov would be likely to meet with arms reduction the main topic and no agreement assured.

Since Mr. Reagan will be campaigning in the later months of the year, the 1984 summit is likely to be held in the first half. Expressions from Democrats and Republicans on the Hill have been positive.

Members of committees handling foreign relations believe it would be a good idea for the two leaders to meet, if only to break the ice and establish a personal contact, and perhaps, a rapport of some sort.

Though they differed widely, President Nixon and Leonid Brezhnev, and also President Ford and Brezhnev, found a certain mutual respect and even friendliness in their face-to-face meetings.

If this is all that comes of a 1984 summit, plus trade agreements, the meeting would be worthwhile, as a first step in the effort to get the world's two super powers committed firmly to peaceful competition.

PBS

Despite reductions in federal funding and other difficulties, the Public Broadcasting Service is growing in popularity all across the nation. That's highly encouraging in a country where all VHF channels were turned over to commercial interests just after World War II.

Handicapped in some ways, public television is nevertheless showing impressive growth. Public television's share of the prime time audience has more than doubled in the last five years.

PBS now reaches into more than fifty percent of America's households. And studies show the viewing of public television is higher in homes with cable TV than in those without cable TV.

In other words, PBS is gaining its audience among all-including those who have a choice of all TV viewing. It's growing because of quality telecasting, without those constant commercial interruptions.

Two years ago some were voicing doubts about the future of PBS; not only have these fears proved unfounded, PBS continues to grow at a steady pace in all income-bracket homes.

This is a gratifying trend in a country where television generally is looked upon as a wasteland of garbage.

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

Russian Arms-
Western Arms-
Aircraft Gap-
High Cost Problem-

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- The sale of 72 U.S.-built F-18 fighter aircraft to Spain, a $2.6 billion transaction, was of immense importance to the U.S.

It will help hold down the unit cost of this expensive Navy-backed aircraft, which has been the center of much controversy, and at times in danger of being cancelled.

The F-18 is big, expensive and highly complex, and very sophisticated. McDonnell-Douglas had hoped to sell 84 of them to Spain, for $3 billion. Both German and French companies with competing aircraft had hoped to land the contract.

Thus U.S. companies are to be building F-15's, F-16's, F-18's and others for some years to come. All, however, are several years old. (The new F-20 is unsold as this is written.)

Meanwhile, it's reported the Russians have half a dozen new fighters on the drawing boards or in preliminary stages of construction.

One aircraft industry spokesman recently admitted a gap might be developing in performance and numbers between Russian and U.S. fighters.

The western nations retain a superiority in the field of electronics. But Russian pilots are thought to be very good today; and Russian factories are turning out more new fighters than the West.

That's because the Russian economy is strictly controlled, and costs held down. Inflation has pushed the cost of fighters such as the F-18 almost beyond reach.

The high cost prevents even the richest countries from acquiring enough modern fighters.

A British-German consortium is now hard at work on tomorrow's fighter for the Luftwaffe and R.A.F.

But it will not be ready until the 1990's. Some sources think it will then be the world's best fighter. But costs are so high the British have ordered only 388.

The West Germans could order only 340. Thus, looking ahead to the 1990's, this country's two major NATO partners in Europe will have some 700 plus modern fighters.

The Russians will almost surely have thousands of their best fighters.

The F-18 is now estimated to cost far more than the $35 million per copy being talked a year ago.

Even the U.S. can't buy many aircraft with such a price tag. The F-15 is also quite expensive. Thus western emphasis may be forced to shift to less expensive fighters, such as the F-16, perhaps the F-20, and others.

LINK FOUND

British medical research, unpublished but known to the U.S. government for two years, establishes the "missing link" that ties the chemical dioxin to a host of diseases, according to Rep. Tom Daschle, (D-SD). The 1978 study connects dioxin to the wide variety of dissimilar ailments which Vietnam veterans attribute to their exposure to Agent Orange, which contained the chemical.
